

THE PURPOSE OF THE STATE FARM BUREAU

TO ELIMINATE UNNECESSARY HANDLING AND EXPENSES.

Between Producer And Consumer—Movement Aimed At Man Who Speculates On Necessities.

Concern over the rapidly extending activities of the Michigan State Farm Bureau has been expressed by some business interests, who, not understanding the purpose of the farmers' organization, believe they see competition that might cause them a loss in trade. To shed light on this subject and end misunderstandings, the following statement is issued from the State Farm Bureau headquarters: The State Farm Bureau is strictly a cooperative institution, doing a selling and purchasing business for its more than 60,000 members on a cost basis.

Business men engaging in activities which do not make for unnecessary handling of farm products or farm supplies, and not including values of such products or supplies, have no reason to be apprehensive of competition with the Farm Bureau. This organization has enough to do without attempting any activities of a commercial nature which would conflict with any businesses now satisfactorily and efficiently serving the thousands of farmers in the state or any groups of these thousands.

Purpose of the State Farm Bureau is to see that products of the farms of its members are sold and distributed as economically as possible and that the purchases of supplies for these farms are made as economically and as efficiently as possible. Obviously, it is more economical to do business in large volumes than in small, hence, pooling of commodities for sale and orders for purchase by farm bureau members must be the program of the organization.

Of course, this pooling arrangement affects some interests by taking business away, but these interests represent a mighty, small minority when compared with the benefited majority composed of the farmers and the ultimate consumers of their products. The only interests affected are middlemen, superfluous handlers doing business largely in a speculative way.

For example, in the Farm Bureau wool pool direct shipping of the farmer's wool to the Farm Bureau warehouses for grading and sale direct to the mills eliminates the local buyers and the jobbers who in the past have taken a profit of several cents per pound on the wool handled by them. Under the pooling arrangement, this profit which the local buyer and the jobber ordinarily took, goes direct into the pocket of the farmer. In this particular commodity, the pooling arrangement cannot be of great benefit to the ultimate consumer, as it is "unfinished" when leaving the farmers' hands and must be prepared at the mills for the consumer.

However, there are many other farm products which could be set down for consumers much more cheaply if unnecessary handling between farms and cities were eliminated. For example, potatoes, fruit, etc. These go from the farmer to some rural assembler who sells to a jobber, who sells again in the city, at ways once and sometimes two or three times before the commodity reaches the consumer's kitchen.

When the consumer sees the advantages of cooperation with his neighbor, and acts, there will be cheaper food products available in the cities and the reduction in cost will be made without forcing the producer to sell below cost.

EVEN DEATH RECORDS MUST BE IN STYLE

HIGH FLOWN NAMES GIVEN AS DEATH CAUSES.

From a comparison of death records of several years ago with those of today, it is found that one who dies from a common disease today is absolutely "out of style."

In the death records filed at the county clerk's office years ago, it is possible to learn the cause of all deaths occurring within the county, but the physicians of today have made such an advancement in their study of the human body, that the causes of death which they give on the death certificates are beyond the ordinary person. For instance in the old records the death causes are most common, as consumption, heart disease, kicked by horse, toothache, etc. In the records of the past few years, one can only learn the cause of one out of eight or ten deaths, as the name given usually consists of a conglomerate of eighteen or twenty, or possibly more letters, which mean nothing.

BIG INCREASE FOR POSTAL EMPLOYEES

CLERKS AND CARRIERS TO RECEIVE $1800 PER YEAR.

New Scale Of Pay Places Them Near Level With Other Workers.

Through efforts of Senator Townsend, the pay of postoffice clerks and rural carriers has been materially increased. Clerks will now receive $1,800 per year as a minimum and carriers, rural and city, the same.

While admitting that their salaries will not be as large as those of automobile factory workers, the Senator says they are equal and in many instances greater than the pay received by clerks in other lines. When the high cost of living goes down postal salaries will remain as at present fixed and will be comparatively high, he says.

"Postal employees should remember that they have received a total of about $100,000,000 in pay increases from Congress since the beginning of the war," said the Michigan senator. "First, there was the bonus of $240 a year; then last November we gave them a $40,000,000 raise, and now we have given them a raise equal in amount. If the postal employees cannot live on these wages they will have to seek employment elsewhere. Uncle Sam cannot pay them the extremely high wages that some factory workers are now demanding and receiving."

"Clerks and city carriers will now start at a salary of $1400 a year, and $100 a year will be added until $1800 a year is reached. This is a higher wage than clerks in other lines of business receive. The rural carriers, who are complaining most about the inadequacy of the raises just granted, will also receive $30 extra for each mile that their route exceeds the standard route of 24 miles."

$2.00 a Year After July 1st

The above caption tells the story. Beginning next Thursday, July 1st, the yearly subscription rate of the NEWS will be raised from $1.50 to $2.00. We believe that our subscribers are fairly well acquainted with the reasons which make this advance necessary. However, we again briefly outline the contributing factors:—Print paper has advanced over 600% in four years. —Labor has advanced 100% in three years. —Ink has doubled in four years. —Heat, light, power, postage, repairs, machinery, have all increased from 50% to 150%.

Weekly papers of 4, 6 and 8 pages all over the country are increasing their yearly rate to $2.00 and $2.50 per year. The NEWS prints an average of twelve pages through the year.

Advertising rates were advanced January 1, 1920. At that time we hoped to leave the subscription rate at $1.50. Sharp advances in costs since that time have made the $1.50 rate impossible.

Should there be anyone who thinks we are profiteering, we will accept his subscription at the old rate in effect forty years ago, viz., a cord of wood, two bushels of wheat or, four to six bushels of potatoes for a year's subscription.

WELL KNOWN MASON WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

MRS. IDA BATEMAN WAS ACTIVE CHURCH WORKER.

After being in poor health since early last winter, Mrs. Ida Bateman passed away at her home on East Ash street last Saturday, June 19th, aged 66 years. The cause of her death was creeping paralysis. Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. F. G. Elliott with burial in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Bateman was born in White Oak township and has lived all her life in that township and in this city. She was married to William Bateman of Owosso in 1871 and he passed away in 1887, leaving her with one son, Frank A., who has made his home with his mother. She has been an active member of the Baptist church and will be sadly missed in the church and by her many friends. Besides the son, she leaves one sister, Mrs. Frank Royston, of Vevay.

DANSVILLE WOMAN DIES AT CITY HOSPITAL SUDDENLY

MRS. ADELINE HEALD A LIFE-LONG RESIDENT OF COUNTY.

Mrs. Adeline Heald, a lifelong resident of this county and well known here, died at the City hospital about eight o'clock Tuesday evening from heart failure. Mrs. Heald was brought to the hospital Monday morning and was not considered seriously ill until her death came as a shock to her relatives and friends.

Funeral services will be held at the home in Dansville Friday morning at 10:30 and will be conducted by Rev. C. J. Whiting. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Orva H. Blackmore, of Rome, Italy, a brother, Wallace Hewes, of Syracuse, N. Y., and a sister, Mrs. D. R. Jessop, of Williamston. The daughter had been here but a few weeks, only recently being released from war work in France.

Mrs. Heald was born in Aialodon township February 9, 1846, and moved to Ingham township with her parents when only a year old. For some time she was employed as a school teacher and on October 21, 1866, she was married to Charles H. Heald of Dansville. She has since resided in the same house which was being built at the time of her marriage. Mr. Heald died October 23, 1910. Mrs. Heald was an active member of the Eastern Star Order and was a member of the White Shrine of Jerusalem of Grand Rapids.

WILLIAM DEVERS RIES.

William Devers, who went to the City hospital about two weeks ago, and had one foot amputated, died at the hospital Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock. Burial will be in the Bell & Kelly cemetery Friday.

Crowds Enjoy Band Music--Not Noise

The fact that people begin to assemble each Tuesday evening as early as six o'clock and the big crowd that is present each week is ample proof that this community enjoys the concerts given by the Mason City Band. Last Tuesday evening Main street in front of the court house was packed with autos and many were parked on the side streets.

Back of the band stand there is always a number of children and lately they have become so noisy that their yells have annoyed those who gather to hear the music. Officers are loathe to take a hand in quieting the youngsters, believing that parents should do it. It would please a big majority if the officers would take the matter in hand if this annoyance continues.

Another thing which repeatedly happens during the concerts and which could be easily corrected is the driving back and forth of automobiles. Many run with mufflers wide open and while passing, it is almost impossible to hear the band. Common courtesy to the musicians and those who wish to enjoy the music should prompt these offenders to refrain from this practice. Last Tuesday evening two machines passed in front of the stand while Mrs. Bond was singing.

Many business men and citizens have subscribed to the fund to help the boys buy the new uniforms. There is still about $100 needed and those who wish to contribute may do so at Barry's grocery.

Mrs. B. M. Baldwin is the soloist for next Tuesday evening.

MASON HIGH SCHOOL SENDS OUT 650

ALUMNI TO TAKE PLACES IN WORLD.

Of Number Graduated From Local High Fifty-Three Are Deceased.

Beginning with two graduates in 1873, Mason high school has sent out 650 Alumni to take their places in the world. One other class has contained but two members, while the largest number to receive their diplomas at one time was thirty-seven, this being the class of 1916. Of these 650, fifty-three are deceased, the last name to be added to this list being that of George Huntington, '98, who passed away very suddenly but a few days ago. There were also about fifty Alumni whose addresses the secretary was unable to procure, in time for her to send them invitations to the recent banquet.

It is hoped that next year, if it is decided to hold another reunion, preparations may be started sooner, invitations sent out earlier, and a complete mailing list secured.

Besides the large percentage of Alumni who reside in Mason or its immediate vicinity, there are a goodly number in other parts of the state. Fifty or more invitations were sent to Lansing, fifteen to Detroit, and a few to several other large and small cities throughout Michigan. Invitations for this banquet also made their way to twenty-seven other states of the Union, California having the largest representation. Several Alumni reside in Canada, one in the Philippines, one in New Zealand, one is on his way home from missionary work in China, and one is enroute to Lima, Peru.

The roster of M. H. S. graduates includes four ministers, the Rev. F. M. Field, who acted as toastmaster at the banquet two weeks ago, Rev. Floyd Wilcox, who has been for several years a missionary in China, the Rev. Cecil M. Pollok, who is now located in Kalamazoo, and the Rev. E. E. Dresser, who was last reported as being in Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin. Ten members of different branches of the medical profession have finished their high school course here, and the list also shows nurses, lawyers, engineers, in short, all classes of business and professional work. There has been a very large number of teachers, school superintendents and college professors and an equally large number of college graduates.

INGHAM PROBATE COURT HANDLES UNUSUAL CASE

ENGLISH NOBILITY AND U. S. ENGLAND TREATY ENTER CASE.

Also Property Amounting To Over $300,000—Viscount Brassey And Lady Brassey Sailed The Ocean.

Last Tuesday Probate Judge L. B. McArthur was called upon to make an important decision, unique in the history of his court. Involved in the case were some of the nobility of England, property amounting to over $300,000, and a question as to whether a treaty made between Great Britain and the United States had precedence over a recent law passed by the legislature of Michigan. The Michigan law referred to provides that American subjects shall pay an inheritance tax of 5% under certain conditions, while non-resident aliens shall pay 25% on the transfer of property. The facts brought out in the case make a nice story.

Years ago there sailed on the seas of the world a beautiful steam yacht, The Sunbeam. It was owned by Viscount Thomas Althut Earl Brassey, who with his wife, Lady Idina Mary Brassey, spent the greater part of his time visiting different lands and countries in search of promising mining properties. Being a man of considerable wealth, he invested in many countries, and was singularly successful in selecting dividend-paying mines. Among other investments in this country, he owned 12,000 shares of the Michigan Iron and Land Company. This company operates today a rich iron mine in the Upper Peninsula. The stock had a par value of $1.00 per share and is today worth $27.00 per share. Lady Brassey was a woman of considerable literary ability and from the knowledge acquired while traveling with her husband wrote the book, "The Voyage of The Sunbeam." This book gained considerable favor in England and is found in the libraries of the best homes in that land.

Viscount Brassey left a will which, after his death, was found to award the Michigan property to certain of his heirs. His whole estate ran into the millions of dollars, personal property alone amounting to $2,600,000, beside the home at the Village of Battle, Sussex county, England. Under the Michigan law, the 12,000 shares of Michigan Iron and Land Company stock, which is today worth over $300,000, was subject to an inheritance tax of 25%, or $78,833.72.

In behalf of the Brassey estate Robert P. Hudson of Sault Ste Marie and Atty. Joseph Dunnebeck of Lansing, appeared at the Probate Court in Mason last Tuesday. Deputy Atty. Genl. Clare Retan represented the State and after going into the case thoroughly Judge McArthur decided in favor of the Brassey heirs. It was found that in many cases where laws of states conflicted with treaties made between this and foreign countries, that the Supreme Court had upheld the treaty. The treaty affecting this case was made between United States and Great Britain on March 2, 1899, and provided that "the same property rights should be enjoyed by subjects of Great Britain in United States, and citizens of United States in Great Britain, as apply to the subjects of the country wherein the property is located."

"It is not an every-day occurrence to handle a case where the validity of a treaty of the United States is involved," said Judge McArthur in relating the particulars of the case, "nor are many of our cases graced with the lengthy and aristocratic names of English nobility."

The Republican Treaty Plank

Following are the important paragraphs of the Peace Treaty plank of the Republican platform adopted at Chicago. Inasmuch as this treaty promises to be one of the live questions during the coming campaign, we offer it for the consideration of the readers of this column without comment. "The Republican party stands for agreement among the nations to preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice, and must provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by development of law and the decision of impartial courts, and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened by political action, so that the nations pledged to do and insist upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war.

Subservients

How many people do you know who are slaves to an idea, a habit, a creed—or something? On first thought you will say that everyone you know is devoted to some particular "hobby." True, for man is a creature of habit. However, we refer to those who blindly stand for some idea or ideal. Those persons who are "for" or "against" without knowing why or without sound reasons. By taking advantage of this class of people (for they are numerous) many things are "put across,"—some great good is accomplished and much that is not good. It is a well established fact that people will rule rightly if they understand rightly. The great difficulty is to get them to even pretend to understand. Too many follow a beaten path, or rather, continue on the same path no matter how rough, and regardless whether it leads to better and smoother roads. Anything spoken or printed, which conforms to their ideas is RIGHT; anything which conflicts is WRONG.

A Widow's Appreciation Of Help In Time Of Need

READ IT!

To whom it may concern:

To show my appreciation of the prompt and satisfactory settlement of the insurance on the life of my late husband, Montelle J. Byrum, I wish to make this statement for the benefit of any one who may be interested.

On May 7th, 1919, Mr. Byrum was induced, through the efforts of Mr. M. L. Campbell of Leslie, agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society, to insure his life for $1000 running to me.

On January 30th, 1920, he was persuaded to take an additional policy for $1500 running to his estate.

Both of these policies contained the Double Indemnity Provisions.

On the 13th of May, 1920, my husband died as the result of an injury to his finger which developed blood poison.

About one week after his death Mr. Campbell delivered to me a check for $1000 on the policy running to me and informed me that the balance of the insurance would be ready to deliver as soon as an Administrator had been appointed to receive it.

On June 15th, 1920, Mr. Campbell delivered to me two checks, one for $1000, being the amount granted me under the Double Indemnity Provision in the policy running to me, and one for $3000, covering the $1500 policy and the Double Indemnity on this policy, running to the estate.

The service rendered me by the Equitable Life Assurance Society and by their local representative, Mr. M. L. Campbell, has been in every way entirely satisfactory.

Signed: PEARL BYRUM,

Beneficiary and Administratrix of the Estate of Montelle J. Byrum.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ida Houghtlin Bateman was born in White Oak Oct. 17, 1853. She died at her home in Mason June 19, 1920, at the age of 66 years, 8 months and 22 days. She was one of eight children, seven girls and one boy, three sisters dying in infancy. At the present time only one of these children is living, Mrs. Frank Royston, of Vevay.

Her girlhood was spent in the place of her birth but later she moved to Mason where she lived until the time of her death. She was married to William Bateman of Owosso in the year 1871. Her husband passed away April 24, 1887, leaving her one child, F. A. Bateman, who has been her strength and support during the many years of widowhood. She united with the Baptist church in 1889. Her interest in the activities of the church never abated. She was retiring by nature but her desire to further the Kingdom's interests was evidenced by personal sacrifices quietly and sincerely made. She did not scorn the humble tasks but did them willingly and nobly.

She was loved for her bright sunny nature, her open hospitality and her strict adherence to duty. Her home was her chief delight. Here she could minister to those she loved and from this place could radiate those virtues which give life its grander meaning. Her illness began several months ago and she steadily grew weaker until the tired heart gave out and "she was not for God took her."

She was so very tired—her steps were faltering, her heart beats slow. Yet still she could not rest; for thought of need kept falling strength, and so she lingered, ever glad and hopeful, making bright the day. Until at last—God took her—worn and worn—to rest always. Rest, mother, rest; your work is done. Fold now your hands in sleep.

The angel's guard the work begun on earth, and o'er it vigil keep. The sacrifices made are not in vain—the toll—the ceaseless strife. All, all are God's and God is thine and thou hast entered into life.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Weak Links in a Strong Chain

That's just what imitation parts are when they become a part of your Ford car. They look strong enough, but the metal isn't there—the strong, durable Vanadium steel that goes into the Ford chassis and every Ford part. Ford parts are specially cast and heat-treated, each according to its use. Some require a hard, flint-like wearing surface, others need resiliency, and some need just "toughness."

Ford metallurgists have been studying these problems for sixteen years and know just how each unit should be made to endure a maximum of wear and tear. They know the best results can be obtained only by the use of special formulas for different parts, and that honest Ford parts wear from thirty-five to one hundred per cent longer than counterfeits.

We carry complete assortments of genuine Ford parts for passenger cars and trucks. And our garage is equipped to give careful, prompt Ford service—from minor adjustments to complete overhauls. Drive in, it's better to be safe than sorry. Come to the authorized dealers for service.

Large percentage of that class to whom social economists tell us we shall be on our knees in another year, to-wit: the farmer.

Many family groups have attended and finished at Mason high as the years rolled past, the largest number of any one immediate family to graduate here being five. The Tubbs sisters, the Misses Anna, Eva and Helen Tubbs of Lansing, Mrs. J. Merritt Hewitt of Lansing and Mrs. Guy D. Smith of Mankato, Minn., all hold diplomas from the local seat of learning, as do Roy, Ralph, Ethel and Henry Adams of this city, and Edgar Adams of Flint. Six family groups of four each have graduated here: Mrs. G. Lawrence, Mrs. M. C. Cady, Sr., Mrs. Bertha Shafer and Miss Olla Fanson; Carl, Ralph and Arthur Jewett and Mrs. Lynn Jewell; Mrs. Winifred Sheldon, Mrs. Paul Barnard and L. W. and E. P. Mills; Jay C., Frank M., Nellie and Florence Field; Mrs. John Moore, Maud, Katherine and William J. Barber; and Almon M., Julius W., Alice and Martha Chapin.

This latter group holds the distinction of being the children of an alumnus, as their mother, Mrs. Carrie Lyon-Chapin, is a member of the class of 1879. Mrs. Julia Minar Freshour, '99, was the first child of a graduate to receive a diploma from the same school, and since then there have finished here thirty-three of the second generation: Lyman Freshour, who is a member of this year's graduating class, and the son of Mrs. Julia Freshour, is the first grandchild of an alumnus to complete his high school course here; his grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Clark Minar, being a member of the class of 1874. Two of Mason's alumni, Mrs. C. F. Seely and Miss Lora Young, are doubly the children of the school, as both of their parents, Harvey M. and Mrs. Carrie Snook Young, are members of the class of 1889.

Harlow Beech and Miss Nellie Gue Beech, '80, were the first two alumni to think so highly of the possession of a diploma from Mason high that they chose each other as life partners; since then, eighty other graduates have followed the example set them, and a prophetically inclined person might hazard a prediction that the number may be increased as the years pass by.

Several interesting letters were received in response to the invitations sent alumni who were at a distance and unable to be present at the banquet.

Mrs. Minnie McLearn Maxon, '81, who now resides in Walworth, Wisconsin, sent greetings to her classmates, expressing the hope that if the Alumni Assn. became a permanent affair, she might be able to attend a meeting in the future.

Mrs. Blanche Irish Gardner, '87, of Mt. Pleasant, and Mrs. Madge Irish Bridger, '95, of Perry, sent notes of remembrance to their schoolmates, regretting their inability to be present at the reunion, as did Mrs. Zelle Moody-Bishop, '01, of Mt. Pleasant.

On the day of the recent Alumni banquet, a telegram of best wishes and greetings was received from Toledo, Ohio, signed by three graduates of Mason high school: Maude Ferguson, '07, Alice Gunn VanTassel, '07, and Lou Ferguson Delpanty, '06. A night letter was also sent by J. Emmet Fuller, '02, who resides in Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. Fuller stated that eighteen years seemed a short time, as he looked over the list of officers and committees on the banquet invitation, and saw so many names which were familiar, and said that he hoped to be able to gather around the festive board with the Alumni some time in the near future.

Another member of the class of 1902, Erle H. Casterlin, of Salmon, Idaho, wrote an interesting letter, commending the organization of an Alumni Association, and hoping that the banquet may become an annual affair, and a pleasurable institution to be observed by the graduates of M. H. S. Mr. Casterlin also said that memories of his school days were especially strong with him at this time, as he had just been living them over with Victor Sitts of this city, who stopped in Salmon for a short visit on his way home from Washington. While Mr. Sitts was visiting Mr. Casterlin, the occasion was made still more a miniature M. H. S. reunion, by the presence of Don M. Casterlin, '06, who lives in Lead Ore, Idaho, and who was spending a short time with his brother.

Ralph W. Lammann, '03, wrote from Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he has been for the past eleven years with the National Trust Company, Ltd., of Canada. Mr. Lammann states that since completing his high school course he has acquired two degrees, that of Chartered Accountant, Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Manitoba, and that of L. I. B. from the University of Manitoba.

Another M. H. S. graduate, Ira H. Blakely, '04, sent a note of regret from Indianapolis, Indiana. Mr. Blakely did not give much information concerning himself, but from his stationery could be gathered the fact that he is the Indiana state agent for the Ridgley Protective Assn., of Worcester, Mass.

Ion J. Cortright, "Cort", '07, wrote from South Bend, Indiana, where he is with the Oldsmobile Sales Company. Mr. Cortright asked to be remembered to his former schoolmates, and regretted that it was impossible for him to attend the banquet, as he had promised to attend commencement affairs at M. A. C. the week following. He further wished to be reported fat and happy, and stated that he was married Oct. 4, 1919, lived at 2204 Kerslake Court, on the banks of the St. Joe river and extended a cordial invitation to all his old friends to drop in any time.

The class of 1908 seems to have been struck by the western fever, as about half of its seventeen members are in that part of the continent. Rollie and Colton Miles are in Canada, as is Mrs. Grace Walter-Leyton. Mrs. Olive Winfield Bell is in California, and Mrs. Winifred Davis Maguire is expecting to leave soon to make a permanent home in that state. Herbert Sanders is in Billings, and Fred Groh in Dupinger, Montana. Miss Florence Field has been for the past two years an instructor in the Mathematics Department of Park College, Parkville, Missouri, and she reports that next year she is to be the head of this department.

An invitation addressed to Ernest L. Cook, '10, sent to Kalamazoo in care of his father, Rev. J. C. Cook, former pastor of the M. E. church here, was returned with the information that Ernest Cook was deceased since January, 1919.

A large number of regrets, written and verbal, were received from members of the more recent classes, who being either teachers or college students, found it impossible to attend the Alumni banquet, as their school work for the year was not yet over. Of course, it has always been customary to hold such a banquet as a part of the festivities of Commencement week, but the suggestion has been made, that those who finished several years ago, appreciate the features of a reunion more than those who have diplomas for only a few hours, and the officers of the local association are wondering if a later date, perhaps the fourth week of June, would not be a better time for the observance of this function, and result in a much larger attendance.

Saving 3 Hours 53 Minutes on Every Bushel of Corn

MR. Frank D. Gardner in Successful Farming says that, with man power, from plowing to feed trough it takes four hours and thirty-four minutes work to raise one bushel of corn. The use of power machinery has reduced this to forty-one minutes, thus enabling one man to do the work of six.

The importance of this saving of time may be realized when we learn that for 1920 Iowa is short 50,000 farm hands. Similar conditions are reported from the Middle West generally. This presents a serious problem.

The answer is gasoline power used in tractor, truck and automobile. The food supply of the future depends upon gasoline.

Last year the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) provided the Middle West with power for 16,438,000 motor miles a day. Much of this went to the farms to help multiply the crops. Much of it was used in motor trucks to help the farmer get his crops to market.

The demand for gasoline was great, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was ready with the supply. That silent, watchful readiness was based upon the foresight and resourcefulness of an organization trained to its task through years of experience.

The manufacture of gasoline is not the sole function of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Equally important is its service of placing the gasoline where the consumer can get it easily and quickly.

More than 1,300 Service Stations and over 7,000 tank wagons and trucks are operated by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to make gasoline and lubricating oils constantly available for increasing the 1920 crops.

Why a Christian Should Join the Church
By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—And the Lord added to the church daily such as were being saved.—Acts 2:47.

Why does a soldier enlist in the army? Because there he can render the most effective service; there his influence will help, and not hinder; there he can have the sympathy and co-operation of other soldiers.

In every war, however, there are some soldiers who refuse to join the army. They prefer to fight independently. They are called guerrillas. But guerrilla warfare as a rule is ineffective, demoralizing, and disreputable. It damages the very cause it tries to help.

In like manner there are some people who claim to be Christians, but who refuse to join the church. Like guerrillas, they unconsciously damage the very cause they ought to help. They cannot give a single good reason for their position, but there are many reasons why every Christian should join some church.

I. There he can render the most effective service. He is one of many, who are all working under one commander and for the same end, and who, collectively, can accomplish what could not be done separately. If it is a good thing to have churches in a community, then Christians should support them.

Remove the churches from a town, and property would depreciate, business would decline, and all good people would move away. Sunday would become a holiday, life and property would be unsafe, and the town would soon have such a bad reputation that no decent person would move into it. For this reason every Christian owes it to himself, his family, to society, and to his God, to join and support some church.

II. It is the only consistent position for a Christian. In the church his influence will help and not hinder; for an outsider, who ought to be in the church, damages the cause of Christ just as much as an insider who ought to be out. A Christian who refuses to join the church practically says to the world that the commands of Jesus are not binding or important, which is not true.

III. A Christian who does not join the church will soon lose his joy, and perhaps his hope. If, knowing his Master's wish, he refuses to comply with it, he cannot be a happy person. He may be a saved man, but he will lose the joy of his salvation. And if he loses his joy he will also lose his power, for "The joy of the Lord is your strength."

IV. To be a member of Christ's church is the highest honor this world affords. Its sacraments are the most sacred, its literature the most sublime, and its fellowship the most sweet and enduring. All lodges and other organizations are man-made affairs, but the church is a divine institution, founded by Jesus Christ, guided and guarded by the Holy Spirit, having for its mission the evangelization of the world, and for its destiny eternal fellowship with God and heaven.

V. If it be objected that there are some hypocrites in the church, the answer is: "Yes, it may be true, but Jesus Christ is no hypocrite, and he is the life of every church."

Remember also that when the church goes through the pearly gates there will be a sitting, and the hypocrites will be left on the outside of the gate, on your side, unless you obey Christ, and you will have to spend all eternity with them. Would it not be better to live with them a few years in the church than to spend all eternity with them elsewhere? You must spend some time with those hypocrites somewhere. Where shall it be?

VI. The Christian who refuses to join the church, dishonors Jesus Christ. It is like proposing a secret marriage. He is willing that Christ should die for him, but he is not willing to live for Christ, or even to acknowledge his relation to him. He desires to be saved, but he is not willing to serve. He wants the benefits of Christianity without the sacrifices, whereas the sacrifices constitute nine-tenths of the benefits.

The meanness of it is well illustrated by the following story: Doctor Lorimer once asked a man why he did not join the church. The reply was that the dying thief did not join the church and he was saved. "Well," said the doctor, "if you do not belong to a church, you help support missions, of course?"

"No," said the man. "The dying thief did not help missions, and he was saved, was he not?"
"Yes," said the doctor. "I suppose he was, but you must remember that he was a dying thief, whereas you are a living one."

DAIRY

MILK RECORD IS EXCELLENT

Shipment Made From Los Angeles to Chicago Found Sweet Eighteen Days Afterward.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
When a bottle of cream shipped from Los Angeles to the national dairy show at Chicago, was opened and tested 18 days after it had left the cow, it was pronounced in perfect condition by those who examined it. Other samples of milk and cream entered in the national milk and cream contest and examined 15 to 18 days after production were also found to be sweet.

Because of the number of bacteria present, ordinary milk will not remain wholesome for such a long time, even if kept cold. The milk and cream which made such long keeping records were produced under very sanitary conditions, and every precaution was taken to keep them clean and to keep the bacteria count low. Furthermore, the milk was cooled to a low temperature immediately after it was drawn, and held there. The success attained in producing milk of such long-keeping qualities and low bacterial count is due in a large measure to the educational value of the local milk and cream contests which have been especially popular in cities of the Pacific coast states.

The bottles of milk, which were placed in boxes, and surrounded with crushed ice, were kept at a temperature from 32 degrees to 34 degrees F. at all times. The boxes were shipped in baggage cars to Chicago, and most of them were not re-loaded along the route. An inspection of the samples on arrival at Chicago showed that of the various methods of packing, the insulated box filled with crushed ice was the most effective. The bottles of milk in these boxes were entirely surrounded by the ice, which was packed in as tightly as possible: One or two samples packed in ice and sawdust arrived in a spoiled condition, due to the fact that a low enough temperature had not been maintained. The ice in the insulated boxes lasted well, and one box from Portland, Oregon, which was re-loaded at Minneapolis on Tuesday did not arrive in Chicago until the following Saturday, but was still in good condition.

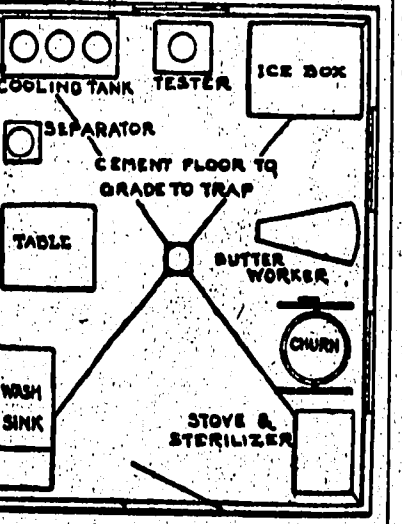

When milk is produced and handled under the right conditions it can be shipped to almost any point in the United States, or to foreign countries, and arrive in good condition. At present considerable quantities are being shipped to Panama, and are used on ocean liners plying between this country and Europe.

FAVOR ONE-STORY BUILDINGS

Recent Survey of Milk Plants Indicates That Low Structures Are Most Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A recent survey of more than 100 milk plants, made by the dairy division, bureau of animal industry, shows that for establishments handling more than 1,000 and less than 5,000 gallons of milk daily, the typical structure is two stories high; where less than 1,000 gallons of milk are handled daily, the plants are usually housed in one-story buildings. Although there are a few plants of three or more stories, this record would seem to indicate that fewer stories prove more satisfactory in most cases. One of the most noteworthy disadvantages of a milk plant having several stories is the increasing quantity of labor needed, in proportion to the size of the business.

BALANCED RATION FOR COWS

Combination of Ground Oats, Gluten Bran and Cottonseed Meal Is Quite Economical.

A balanced ration for dairy cows, used largely by New York farmers who feed silage, hay and some corn fodder for roughage, consists of 300 pounds ground oats, 200 pounds gluten, 100 pounds bran and 100 pounds cottonseed meal. Considering nutritive value it is about the cheapest ration a farmer can buy.

BOUGHT A GOLD BRICK PAID $850 FOR IT

ST. JOHNS—A foreigner came before the local officers yesterday, claiming that he paid a stranger $850 for a box containing a machine that would make gold and silver money. He was not to open the box until a week had elapsed, but he got nervous after waiting two days, so opened the box, which contained nothing but clay. The man was taken to Lansing where the police are on the lookout for a gang of counterfeiters.

FLINT DAYLIGHT BANDITS GET HAUL OF $1,000 BEMS

FLINT—Daylight burglars took more than $1,000 worth of jewelry and clothing from the home of B. W. de Guichard, a local factory official. Pickpockets took $226 from Roy Briggs, of Crystal, Mich., on an interurban car between Saginaw and Flint.

William Stange told the police that two men slugged him with a piece of iron pipe and then ran without robbing him. They left the pipe with which he had been struck.

ELOPING COUSINS RETURNED TO KALAMAZOO HOME

Bridegroom Faces Trial On Charge Of Perjury.

KALAMAZOO—Claude Lohnas, charged with perjury in obtaining a license to marry his first cousin, Miss Olive Hartley, of Grand Rapids, has been brought here from Herkimer, N. Y., by Deputy Sheriff Curtis Pringle.

The arrest was the combination of the couple's elopement from Grand Rapids on Memorial day and their subsequent marriage here.

Miss Hartley was a student at Western State Normal when she met her cousin.

The complaint on which the young bridegroom was arrested was made by W. Leslie Hartley, of Grand Rapids, the girl's father. Deputy Sheriff Pringle reported arrangements for a re-marriage in New York were being made at the time of his arrival in Herkimer, marriage of first cousins being legal in the Empire state.

Mrs. Lohnas or Miss Hartley, insisted on accompanying the prisoner to this city.

OLIVET FARMER USES MAPLE SYRUP FOR OIL

Automobile Turns Maple Syrup Into Sugar.

OLIVET—A farmer living a half mile north of the village thought he had nearly discovered how to defeat the high cost of sugar. This is how it happened: Wanting to drive to the county seat, he told one of his boys to "get the car ready," and to see that it had plenty of cylinder oil. The boy picked up a can nearby and proceeded to pour its contents into the places where cylinder oil does the most good; but he unwittingly got hold of a can of maple syrup, thinking it was oil. Accompanied by his wife and some of his friends, he started for Charlotte, and all went well until the engine began to warm up, and then it started to "boil down" the maple syrup, making it into sugar. The engine finally stopped entirely and had to be taken to a garage, and when the engine was partially taken down the maple sugar was discovered.

The farmer now says that he has always liked his car, but he was never so much "stuck" on it before.

KALAMAZOO MAN KILLED BY PRANK OF BUZZ SAW

PASTIME THEATRE

An intense story of heart throbs, of distorted ideals and the wandering fancies of a young girl is told in "Home," the newest Universal Jewel production, in which Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris) is cast as Millicent Rankin, daughter of a small town plumber.

No more fitting title could have been found for this absorbing photoplay than the one selected for it. Two homes are contrasted in the play...

Through an unusual chain of circumstances, Millicent has an unassailable excuse for leaving her mother with the care of a sick sister and going to the home of Beatrice Deering.

Advertisement for Parsons-Dean Co. featuring 'Clean Seats Mean Clean Clothes' and 'Easy-on Tire Covers'.

ing. Millicent has only one thought in her mind—that of marrying a wealthy man. She finds in Elmer Lacey a man who is ready to drop his perfidious intriguing with Mrs. Deering and devote his attention to a simple small town girl.

Mildred Harris has contributed a large share to making a classic of "Home." How a girl learns the value of a real home, sincere friends and a true-hearted lover is told in a most humanly interesting photodrama, the product both as to story and directing of Lois Weber, and in her supporting cast are many of Universal's most popular players, among them being William Crittenden, Lydia Knott, Helen Yoder, Al Ray, Frank Elliott, John Cossar and Clarissa Selwynne.

Charles Ray, popular juvenile star, will be seen here next Wednesday in "His Mother's Boy," adapted from Eugene Hughes well known story, "When Life Is Marked Down," and produced by Thomas H. Ince.

Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, supported by Anne Cornwall and a strong cast of clever players, will be seen here next Saturday evening in their first five reel feature play, "Everything But The Truth."

Among the popular stars to be seen here during the next few weeks are: Charlie Chaplin in "The Floorwalker," Locklear in "The Great Air Robbery," Jack Pickford in "The Dummy," Priscilla Dean in her $500,000 super-special, "The Virgin Of Stamboul," Bessie Love, Vitagraph's appealing little juvenile star, in one of her latest plays, John Barrymore in "The Lost Bridegroom," and William Farnum in "The Last Of The Duanees," from the famous Zane Grey story.

"The Vanishing Dagger," Eddie Polo's great mystery serial, filmed in locations covering every known spot on the globe, including many scenes in Europe, Asia, Australia, etc., starts showing at the Pastime Theatre in a few weeks.

When The Paper Doesn't Come

My father says the paper that he reads ain't put up right.

He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusin' it at night.

He says they ain't a single thing in it worth while to read,

And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need.

He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum—

But you ought to hear him' holler when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the weddin's, and he snorts like all git out;

He reads the social doin's with a most desisive shout.

He says they make the papers for the women folks alone.

He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan;

He says of information it don't contain a crumb—

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He's always first to grab it, and he reads it plumb clean thru,

He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—that is true.

He says they don't know what we want—them durn newspaper guys—

I'm goin' to take a day some time an' go an' put 'em wise.

Sometimes it seems as tho they must be deaf and blind and dumb,

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

Who Is Jesus Christ?

By REV. W. W. KETCHUM
Director of the Evening Classes,
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Whom say ye that I am?—Matthew 16:15.

Christ asked this question of his disciples ages ago, and he is still asking the same question today.

Not only is Christ asking this question, but men are asking it of each other. "Who is this Christ?" they ask. "A mere man, one individual of the race like the rest of us, or something more?" It is the challenging question of the ages, and calls upon us to determine what rank Christ holds in the hierarchy of beings.

There are those who try to make us believe that Christ is a mere man, and nothing more; but we are not persuaded that they have answered the question correctly. We readily admit the humanity of Christ. It is rarely ever challenged today. In fact, the tendency of the age is towards the humanizing of Christ altogether. But after we have admitted that Christ is a man, there is that about him which tells us that we have not fully answered his question.

It was Napoleon Bonaparte who said: "I know men, and I tell you that Jesus Christ is no mere man." That is just it; we, too, know men, and, because we do, we know that Jesus Christ is no mere man. Everyone agrees that Jesus Christ is the one sinless personality of the race. Twenty centuries of hostile criticism have not found a flaw in his character. It is as stainless and spotless as ever. Of what man can you say that? There has never a man lived whose character could stand the white light of criticism as has the character of Christ.

And his character is no figment of the fancy. It is not the product of the imagination of a few unlearned fishermen. As Theodore Parker says: "Shall we be told such a man never lived? His whole story is a lie? Suppose that Plato and Newton never lived? But who did their works, and thought their thoughts? It takes a Newton to forge a Newton. What man could have fabricated a Jesus? None but a Jesus."

Before, then, we can answer Christ's question aright, we must consider his stainless, spotless character, unequaled by any man in the past and unattained by any man in the present.

Robert Ingersoll, who never admitted more than he was obliged to, acknowledged that Christ was "a good and heroic man." That was a great concession for the avowed infidel, and, when weighed carefully, it is seen to be an argument in favor of the unique character of Christ, which lifts him above mere men. For it is obvious to anyone that there can be no discrepancy between a good man and his word. If Christ is all Robert Ingersoll is willing to admit—a good man, then Christ's word must be "a good word." What he says of himself must be true, or he at once loses his good character and becomes a charlatan.

So Christ, then, must be heard. It is absolutely unfair to pass judgment upon him without hearing him. And it will help us, in view of all that is admitted concerning him, if we listen to him speak.

First, he hears testimony to his own character by publicly challenging anyone to convict him of sin (John 8:46). No one was ever found who accepted the challenge, and Pilate, who examined him on a spurious complaint of the Jews, said: "I find no fault in him." By his own testimony, confirmed by the word of Pilate, he stands before us as the one without spot or blemish.

Again, he claims that the record he bears of himself is true. If it be not true, then we are shut up to one alternative, and that he was not, as Robert Ingersoll has admitted, "a good man"; for a man is not good if he ever breathes falsehood.

He plainly states that he knows whence he came, and whither he goes (John 8:14), and who he is. Hear him as he says: "No man hath ascended up into heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of Man, which is in heaven" (John 3:13). To the woman of Samaria, who says: "I know that Messiah cometh which is called Christ," he replies: "that speak unto thee am he" (John 4:26-27); and to the one born blind, whose eyes he had opened, he asked: "Dost thou believe on the Son of God?" To which the man once blind replies: "Who is he, Lord, that I might believe?" To which Jesus answered: "Thou hast both seen him, and it is he that speaketh unto thee" (John 9:35-37).

Having solved the mysterious, sinless life of Christ, and heard his wonderful words concerning himself, how does he reply to his question?

Count it a blessing when God gives the answer to your prayer, for it is always more than you expect.

BOYS AND GIRLS' CALF CLUB

Question for Farm People and Extension Workers to Think About, Say Dairy Experts.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Why shouldn't a boys and girls' calf club grow into a men and women's cow club? Or, more immediately speaking, a larger boys and girls' calf club—larger boys and girls, that is, not larger club. Or, getting nearer the meat—or the milk—of the thing, why shouldn't the club boy or girl who raises a calf milk that calf when she becomes a cow, watch her development, keep a set of books on her production, and, in a small way, learn the essentials of dairy farming, taking the figures to school and getting them interpreted, and incidentally teaching "the old man" a new trick or two? That is the question, in one form or another, asked by the experts of the dairy division. It is a question that farm people and agricultural extension workers might think about. There may be more to say on the subject after a while.

GENTLE TREATMENT OF COWS

The following, printed on blotters, was distributed by a dairymen agent for the United States department of agriculture and the Utah Agricultural college:

Our Domestic Animals Have Acute Hearing. WHY YELL!

DAIRYMEN! SAFETY FIRST Cleanliness is Safety.

Gentle treatment of our cows, horses, hogs and sheep will put money in our pockets and peace in our hearts.

MORE MILK AND BUTTERFAT

Of Greater Importance Than Improvement in Breed Type—Purebred Bulls Essential.

Far more important than the improvement in breed type due to the use of purebred bulls, is the increase in milk and butterfat production of the daughters of purebred bulls from high-producing families. It goes almost without saying that a purebred bull, when introduced into a herd of scrub cows, will produce daughters that produce more milk and butterfat than their mothers.

DAIRY NOTES

Winter cow comfort means more winter profits.

A cow that ranks with the best of her breed is worth half a dozen average cows.

Good dairy cows are hard to find and high in price. The best way to get them is to raise them.

There may be some roughage the cows like better than silage, but the average dairymen hasn't discovered it.

It is becoming more evident daily that a herd of cows on the farm offers the owner an opportunity to increase

Dealers Report Bean Stock Low in State

Good Market Predicted—Still Time To Plant, Says M. A. C. Crops Man.

EAST LANSING—That the available supply of Michigan beans on hand at present is lower than it has been for a number of years is indicated by reports from prominent members of the Michigan Bean Trade. Indications point to practically a cleaning out of a hold-over in the Michigan market, when this year's crop is marketed in the fall and winter.

A report issued to Michigan bean jobbers on June 19 by Frank B. Dreese, Secretary of the Michigan Bean Jobbers Association, stated that 159 Michigan elevators show a total of only 260 cars of beans, including picking stock—or only about one and two-thirds cars per elevator. According to Mr. Madson, of H. E. Chatterton and Sons, one of the state's largest jobbing firms, the stocks on hand are lower than they have been for the past 10 years.

"The bean grower has apparently excellent chances of marketing his crop under good conditions," says Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the Farm Crops Department at M. A. C., "and an increase of the Michigan acreage appears warranted.

"There is yet time for growers in Michigan bean districts to increase their plantings. Beans planted as late as June 25 will make a crop under average conditions; and, with a good fall, beans may be planted as late as July first with a fair assurance of a crop."

Politics Up Before Women at Conference

Questions of Government Find Place On Program of Household Subjects At M. A. C. Gathering.

EAST LANSING—Mixing pleasure with business, and a discussion of home subjects with consideration of the political questions of the day, women from all parts of the state will gather at the Michigan Agricultural College from June 28 until July 2 for the annual Women's Conference, which is given as part of the Summer School activities at the college.

While much of the work of the conference will be planned especially for teachers and extension workers, most of the subjects discussed will be handled from the point of view of the housewife who is not a specialist in home economics study.

Widely known authorities from outside the state will address different meetings of the conference. Among these will be Mary Swartz Rose, Associate Professor, Department of Nutrition, Teachers College, Columbia University, who will discuss recent developments in child feeding. Miss Rose is recognized as one of the country's leading nutrition authorities. Laura L. Baldi, also from Columbia University, will take up the question of clothing for children at the Tuesday afternoon meeting.

A modern flavor will be given the conference by a series of lectures on political questions which will be given by Mrs. Mary Hendrick, Assistant Professor of History at the Michigan Agricultural College. Political Parties, Party Organization, Party Processes, and Citizenship and Suffrage will be the subjects of Mrs. Hendrick's talks, one of which will be given on each day of the conference. Numerous household and home economics subjects will be treated during the conference, while features of entertainment are to be scattered over the four days.

Short Season Brings Call For Late Crops

Alfalfa And Sweet Clover Can Be Planted Safely Until Aug. 1.

EAST LANSING—That Michigan land which has not been planted because of the brief planting season and general labor difficulties, can in many instances be seeded to alfalfa or sweet clover with reasonable safety as late as August 1, in lower Michigan and the middle of July in other sections, is the information given out by Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the Farm Crops Department at M. A. C.

"Because of conditions this year," says Professor Cox, "instances have occurred where land, which has been fitted for a crop, has not been planted. Such land could readily be put into condition to receive alfalfa or sweet clover during June or early July.

"The seed bed should be harrowed at intervals if possible, and firmly compacted with roller before either of these crops is seeded. Scarified sweet clover seed should be used. The majority of Michigan land will need a dressing of one or two tons per acre of finely ground limestone, or several cubic yards of manure to pave the way for these crops. Northern grown alfalfa seed and the white blossom variety of sweet clover are recommended.

"Culture for inoculation can be secured from the Department of Bacteriology at the Michigan Agricultural College, at a cost of twenty-five cents a bottle. Further information regarding these crops may be secured from the Farm Crops Department, M. A. C., East Lansing, Michigan.

Pork Production Cost Cut By Forage Crops

High Price Of Concentrated Feeds Raises Problem—Pasture Saves Grain.

EAST LANSING—Forage crops should be provided wherever possible to aid in the production of pork, if satisfactory returns are to be expected, declares Prof. W. E. J. Edwards, of the Animal Husbandry Department at M. A. C. The high cost of concentrated feeds is said to make "pasture" crops vital this year in the feeding plans of pork producers.

"Many tests at the Michigan Agricultural College and on numerous farms have demonstrated that from one-third to one-half less grain is required to produce a given amount of pork when the hogs are on pasture than when they are in a pen or dry lot," says Edwards. "Alfalfa and the clovers provide excellent pasture for hogs. Where these crops are available the hog pasture problems is solved, although alfalfa must not be pastured too closely for fear of injuring the stand. June grass is excellent early in the summer but dries up badly during hot weather.

"Rape is the best emergency pasture crop for hogs in Michigan, as well as one of the best regular pasture crops. It grows rapidly on any type of soil except very light sand, and furnishes a large amount of succulent feed at low cost. It remains fresh and green throughout the dry summer months.

"Rape can be sown as late as the middle of June, or even later under certain weather conditions. It should not be pastured too closely, and the provision of two lots, so that the hogs can be alternated, gives new shoots a chance to develop and keeps the crop fresh and green. The rape seed is usually broadcasted, using about five pounds to the acre.

"While forage crops are very valuable, their use does not mean that grain can be done away with entirely. Hogs on pasture should get at least about half as much grain as if they were being fed in a pen, without pasture."

THE TRAINING OF LITTLE CHILDREN

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, City N. Y.

By Charles F. Powlison
We hear a great deal of the sanctity of motherhood and of the sacred responsibilities of the mother; but who talks about the nobility of fatherhood and the wonderful privilege of being a father? One would almost suppose that children had but one parent, or that, beyond the obligation of support, a father owed nothing to his children.

As a matter of fact, just what does he owe them?

In the first place, he owes them the best possible inheritance of health and natural strength. If the fathers of the present generation had been taught, as schoolboys, that they owed their children a heritage of physical health, the present generation of children would be a far healthier, happier lot of youngsters.

And having given his children a healthy heritage, the father should share with the mother the oversight of their children's well-being. I may say, "Happy is the father who knows his own child!" Happy because there is no more delightful study than that of the development of a child, as he progresses from infancy, through childhood to youth. Happy because of the inspiration that comes from the companionship of children. Happiest of all because, in the trying times of their youth and a woman's affair is formed so naturally that, later in life, it seems an instinct.

How much children miss, how much fathers miss, by this one-sided parenthood! Happy the boy who looks up to his father as an ideal of bodily vigor, wisdom and goodness. And this does not mean that Father must stand on a pedestal. Far from it! Anyone who has read the charming letters of Theodore Roosevelt to his children sees, as in a mirror, the picture of a father utterly devoted to his children, and utterly adored in turn. Whether he is leaping from haymow to haymow in a wild game of tag, or reading aloud with his children gathered around him, he is always their chosen companion, their best friend, their greatest hero. And there are many devoted fathers!

Francis E. Leupp gives us a charming picture of one in his little book, "A Day With Father."

Reversing a well-known quotation, we may say, "Happy is the father who knows his own child!" Happy because there is no more delightful study than that of the development of a child, as he progresses from infancy, through childhood to youth. Happy because of the inspiration that comes from the companionship of children. Happiest of all because, in the trying times of their youth and fully fussy."

On the mental side, a child, as he grows older, looks more and more to his father. Wise is the father who takes an active interest in current events or allies himself on the side of local civic improvement, for through his example his children naturally acquire a love of good citizenship.

And on the moral and religious side, how often is Father a mere figure-head in his own family? Usually it is Mother who represents the moral law, or, if Father does take a hand, it is merely as the executor of her decreed punishment. "Wait till your Father comes home!" is either an empty threat, or, in rarer cases, a phrase filled with terror for the small rebel.

Too often church attendance is left entirely to the women. The children see Mother start off alone for church, while Father remains at home to read his paper. The notion that church is early maturity, he will be able to understand his children. He can guide and counsel them, instead of standing helplessly by an outsider. If only American fathers would know their children, they would find them more interesting than any business in the world, and as for the children, who can measure their gain?

The imposing, clear-voiced Grafonola is worthy of a place in the most beautiful home. The range and power of its sweet sonorous tones do justice to the ability of the operatic stars who sing exclusively for the Columbia.

The purchase of a Columbia is usually a lifetime investment, and in such a purchase genuine quality is always the truest economy. It is like buying sterling silver, mahogany furniture or oriental rugs. Such things cost more in the beginning but less in the end.
