ANNUAL SCHOOL DISTRICT MEETINGS ARE NEXT WEEK

MASON-VEVAY DISTRICT FACES IMPORTANT MATTERS,

Would Sell West Side Side And Purchase Land Near Present Buildings, Other Districts Consider Changes.

Next Monday evening, in most districts, and in other districts through the day, will be held throughout Michigan the annual district meeting of all public schools, except the larger city districts which are generally ruled by special charter provisions. In Mason the district meeting is scheduled to be held at the auditorium at eight o'clock in the evening.

Two trustees are to be elected for the Mason-Vevay district. The term of office of J. B. Dean will expire. The term of office of Claud Post would have expired on the same date except that he resigned late in the winter and was succeeded by Silas A. Bement who was appointed to fill vacancy. It is expected that both members will stand for re-election and that no opposition to either will develop.

Monday evening's meeting here will be an important one. A proposal to sell the old second ward school property, not used since the construction of the new building up-town some 13 years ago, will be presented by the board. If approved the property will be offered, either in parcels or as a whole. The property includes four full lots, well located on the west side, with plenty of shade. They would make an ideal tract for the construction of modest cost homes greatly needed in this city at present.

Sell Second Ward School Also there will be submitted a proposal to purchase lots on the north side of Oak street across from the present building upon which at some future time the board proposes to erect a structure for housing the manual arts division, the band and orchestra sections and for other purposes thus being able to build on the land acquired a type of structure at lower to the present building, at the same time saving for playground purposes to be held in September. the already overcrowded site. Money in the general fund, received from collection of delinquent taxes and from other sources is available for purchase with caution so as not to increase the present tax load.

Ingham Township Schools Two places on the Ingham township rural consolidated school district board are to be filled at the annual school meeting and election to be held at the school house on Monday, July 13. Roy Hobart, secretary, is opposed for re-election by Paris Witt and Arthur J. Miller, treasurer, by Roy Rae. Okemos Grows

"Rural electrification is now a permanent activity of the federal government under the terms of the Norris bill which became effective on July first. Under this act a definite amount of money is available for loans to groups of Michigan farmers. If not used in Michigan, the appropriation expires," said Mr. Murray.

According to a map of electric service lines already provided for rural residents of this county there are certain open areas where frequently is found a small group of residents indifferent to the advantages of securing electric service. Frequently it is found that farms in such localities are heavily involved in debt, have actually been subjected to foreclosure and are now ies, or in some cases are held by estates under tenancy which does not encourage installation of electric ser-

The commissioner emphasized that maintenance organizations in each county had been instructed to watch movement of farm machinery. Where damage is discovered the operator will be required to either change lugs on his machinery so that no damage can be done or else take a different route. The section of the law which requires that any operator damaging a road must pay the cost of repairing it, will be enforced. Farmers are urged to be particularly careful on asphalt, tar and macadam surfaces. Commissioner Van Wagoner pointed out that the greatest damage was done to the edge of the pavement. One of the greatest sources of difficulty are the lugs used on "The commission is agreed," states Mr. Murray, "that it will not build blacktop roads road commission will merely move its blacktop operations to another township leaving the offenders to eat the dust which comes from the ordinary gravel road. Delhi Farmer Succumbs To Apoplectic Stroke

FUNERAL RITES HELD WEDNES-DAY AT FAMILY HOME.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from the home west of Holt for George Thorburn, 57, who suffered a stroke of apoplexy last week and whose death occurred on Saturday. He was the son of the late Dr. W. W. Thorburn and Anna W. Thorburn, Dr. Thorburn for many years being among the more prominent of Michigan veterinarians. The services were conducted by Rev. C. P. Andrews of Holt Presbyterian church.

After his mother's death when he was three years old he lived with his father's parents later going to Lansing where he attended public school and graduated from high school. November 27, 1899, he was married to Miss Ulah Fisher, immediately beginning their home life on the farm where he was born, living there for 30 years with the exception of 11/2 years he spent in installing rural water and lighting equipment. Five years after his father's death in 1924, he moved to his present home operating the farm and engaging in threshing.

He is survived by the widow, two sons, Wesley J. of Holt; Wilbur G. of Lansing; four daughters, Mrs. Anna LaValle of Lansing; Mrs. Marion Robb of Mason; Mrs. Marjorie May of Holt; and Mrs. Ulah Drake of Holt; a stepmother, Mrs. Marian Thorburn, a brother Leonard L. of Lansing, and seven grandchildren. TAX THOUGHTS

With a proposal that all foodstuffs be exempted from the retail sales tax and another that all real and personal property be taken off the tax rolls, both on the ballot this fall by initiative petitions, it looks as if the average voter would be forced to take a course in economics and political science in order to vote intelligently.

The food tax exemption will reduce state revenues nearly one-third and abolishing all property tax will absolutely destroy all taxing power on the part of local units of government.

Probably the worst feature of the property tax abolishment, if accomplished, is the fact that thereafter all local governmental units will be at the mercy of the state legislature and the last vestige of local control over local affairs will have vanished. Neither the income tax which is hinted at nor the sales tax nor any other form or indirect tax can be collected by the smaller units of government. Such taxes must of necessity be collected from the people of the state at large by state officials and then parceled back on some basis yet to be determined. Whatever that basis may be it is certain to lead to everlasting chiseling on the part of every municipality-counties, cities, villages and school districts.

Property owners who have been led to sign these petitions had best give this matter some attention before they cast their vote in accordance with their petitions.

Moreover it ought to be well known, and to date it is not well known, that those who are pushing this tax amendment are the real estate speculators of this state. If there is any single group who can be held responsible for the terrific loss of investment in real estate bonds and city properties, it is this same class of realtors so-called. The prime purpose of the move now is believed to be to take the lid off for another skinning of the public.

STATE HIGHWAY FINANCE

Perhaps the least understood of all the transactions in which the state is involved is the money which passes. through the funds of the state highway department. Especially is this true in the areas served solely by the metropolitan press and away from the activities of the county road commission and outside of the regions which have seen the passing of the township road, once the largest consumer of the property tax dollar. Most daily papers in the larger cities are obsessed with the idea that it is their job to frighten their readers with the awful amount of money collected and spent by the state.

Figures just released by the state department of highways disclose the fact that for the fiscal year ending June 30, the state received from motorists alone the sum of $42,358,466.39. This is a huge sum and the statement left to stand at that point would offer cause for alarm. It will be so left by many newspapers. But that comes far from telling the true story.

Of this sum of $42,358,466.39 collected by the state, exactly $24,822,233.25 was transmitted directly to the several counties of the state, there to be expended solely by the county road commissions and by city and village councils where the full division is made as in Ingham county. In counties still struggling under the Covert act debts of former years, the money goes to retire bonds before the cities and villages get any. All weight tax, $18,522,233.25, went to the counties in which it was collected. In addition to all the weight tax, the Horton act requires $2,522,233.25 out of gas tax collections and still an added $3,750,000 required to meet the demands of the McNitt act which compels the counties to take over all township highways for maintenance and improvement, a total of $24,822,233.25.

But that is not all. Before the state highway department can set aside a cent for state trunk line road improvement or maintenance or administration costs it must lay aside $2,342,809.29 to meet the demands of the sinking fund set up to retire the fifty million dollar bond issue voted by the people back in 1917. Then there are the Grand Trunk and Detroit widening contracts entered into several years ago and the costs of maintaining city streets over which state trunk lines pass, all of which costs run into substantial figures aggregating $2,539,

All of these fixed charges amounting to a total of $27, 361,876.47 are ear marked and encumbered before the state highway department sees the money. They cannot be escaped. They should not be charged against the state highway department at all. Three-fifths of all motor vehicle revenues belong to and are returned to the counties under the several acts now in effect. The state merely acts as collection agent.

Actual maintenance of existing highways cost $5,230, 886.49 last year. Expense of gas tax collection cost $127, 407.54 and administration of the department of highways cost $115,623. In fact it cost more to collect the money than it did to spend it.

When all these fixed and unavoidable charges were met and some necessary equipment purchased and bridge maintenance cared for the state highway commissioner saw his huge original sum of more than $47,000,000 dollars dwindling to a little more than $7,000,000 available for actual road construction costs.

It is fortunate indeed that Michigan has been able to dig deep into the pockets of the federal WPA for road building. Had federal officials looked with the same glassy stare upon highway construction for the state as they have upon other projects urged by state authorities, Michigan would have little road construction under way except that undertaken by the counties out of their state

HENRY FORD, FIRST CITIZEN

Oft times matters of great importance assume but slight significance to the average individual merely because the thing is so close to us that it loses its perspective. Here in Michigan the existence of the great motor industry is taken as a matter of course. In other sections of the world, wherever one travels, Michigan is heralded as the motor capital. Frequently also the problems attendant upon the presence of any great undertaking are lost to sight and only its advantages are heralded. Perhaps that is one reason why certain of the industrial states have suffered so in the matter of taxation and in the distribution of the proceeds of revenue thus obtained. Public attention was focused on the tremendous importance of the motor industry recently when William J. Cameron, spokesman for the Ford Industries, in one of his inimitable Sunday evening broadcasts, revealed certain facts concerning the magnitude and expanse of the operations of that single unit of the motor industry.

When these forms are considered and there is added to the sale of liquor to indigate them first-hand from some When these figures are considered and there is added viduals, also advocate strict licensing of the members, these are: equally impressive figures of other units, then indeed is and strict control of the sale of liquor Michigan impressed with its own place in the sun.

Deducting the $60,000,000 owed by the company in current accounts, these totals disclose a net upon the human element with both its posal to put the distribution of relief profit for the company over the years amounting to upwards of $782,000,000.

In order that the average person may comprehend these astonishing totals, the Michigan Manufacturer and

In contrast two women got mad at an old man of 86 because his cow nipped some of their corn, beat him up with a heavy stick so that he died from the effects, and for this they were each fined $29.15 or 12 months at the state farm. Incidentally the wife of the victim who came to the rescue of the old gentleman was herself severely beaten. Of the 43 criminal actions disposed of by the court during the week, two were for larceny; 10, drunkenness; $16.70. three, having liquor; 15, assaults; three, disturbing divine worship; five, profanity; two, sex crimes.

Lenawee Participants To Draw Highest Rate, Roscommon Low-est At $7.70, Others Listed.

The average rate of the Class I or soil-conserving payment for Ingham county under the 1936 farm program is $11.00 an acre, according to Maurice Doan, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Conservation committee. Mr. Doan points out that the rate for each farm will depend upon the pro ductivity of the land on the farm and may vary considerably from the average rate for the county. Farms more productive than the average for the county will receive rates higher than the county. Less productive farms will receive lower rate.

The county average payment applies only to the diversion of acreage to soil-conserving crops or uses from the general soil-depleting crops, such as corn, oats, wheat and barley. Special payments apply in connection with the production of sugar beets and flax, The maximum acreage upon which farmers can receive Class I payments is 15 per cent of the general soil-depleting base acreage for the farm. These Class I payments are distinct from the Class II or soil-building payments which will be made to cooperating farmers who follow approved soil-building practices on their farms. Producers may qualify for one or both of these payments. The soil-building payment to each farmer is limited by his soil-building allowance which is the same number of dollars as there are acres of soil-conserving crops on crop land on his farm this year.

In most cases, the Class I rate for an individual farm will be established by comparing the appraised yield of the farm's most important soil-depleting crop with the average yield of that crop for the entire county. In every case, Mr. Doan said, only the crop or crops were used which accurately in-dicate the productivity of the farm as compared with other farms in the

As an example, suppose corn is the principal soil-depleting crop on the farm, and the appraised normal yield of corn for the farm is 36 bushels an acre. Then suppose that the normal average yield for the county is 40 bushels an acre. The productivity of the farm would be 36|40, which is the same as 90 per cent. The rate of the soil-conserving payment for the farm, then, would be 90 per cent of the coun-

Bonus Depletes Ranks Of CCC Veteran Camps

ONE EX-SERVICE CAMP FORCED TO REORGANIZE.

A sufficient number of veteran CCC men have withdrawn since payment of the soldiers' bonus, to require reorganization of the Black Lake veteran camp in Presque Isle county into a junior CCC camp.

Ex-service men at Black Lake who are continuing their enrollment will be transferred to other nearby veteran camps and juntor men from a nearby camp, together with new enrollments will be assigned to the Black Lake company to make up the personnel.

George A. Young, in charge of the Emergency Conservation work office at Lansing, stated that 22 CCC camps working on state and private forest lands, are still under administration and doubtless will be continued without major change until their respec-tive work programs are exhausted.

Gum Boils

cheapest and most effective insurance the harassed taxpayer can have of the proper spending of his hard-earned kale.

When you look into the matter, there ought to be more. Some of the offices of a public or semi-public nature would be handled much better if the newspaper printed their financial reports. And some of the ones that are printed today ought to tell a great deal more than they do.

Today I have given you the lowdown on one kind of legal advertisement, the "public accounting" kind. Next time I expect to smite my lyre

Mrs. M. K. states that her six-yearold daughter is troubled with gum boils and asks what causes them and how they can be prevented. The gum boil is an abscess from a diseased tooth, which has broken through the jawbone and burrowed under the gum tissue to form the hard elevated pimple so commonly seen in the early stages of such an infection. The hard pimple softens and develops a yellow head as the pus in the abscessed tooth increases in amount.

It often is difficult to realize that gum boils are the result of diseased teeth (abscessed teeth). Frequently the child has not complained of toothache or other dental pain, the tooth dying so slowly that there-has been only a tiny amount of pain. This is true particularly, if the tooth had died under a large filling.

In other instances gum boils result from the death of a tooth injured in a playtime accident. During rough and tumble play children may fall and injure one of the front teeth so badly that it dies eventually, yet the pain incident to such a case is confined to a few seconds or minutes at the time of the injury.

Neglected and carious teeth may eventually cause gum boils. Usually these teeth have given definite pain, but it may have been confined to a single attack of short duration as the nerve is actually exposed and dies. There is only one treatment for gum boils which affords a permanent cure and that is extraction of the offending tooth. In some instances it is possible to treat the tooth and save it for a short time, but usually the danger of future complications warrant immediate removal of the diseased tooth, for infections which cause gum boils also cause grave disorders of health. All of the infection does not drain through the gums, part of it being absorbed by the blood stream spreads to other parts of the body.
