

Price Supports On Beans and Wheat Now Above Market

Farmers Who Ignore Plan Are Now Losing Out, AAA County Chairman Declares

Farmers who are holding their grain stand to lose heavily unless they avail themselves of price support program, Ralph Glynn, chairman of the Ingham AAA pointed out Tuesday.

Only 40 farmers have applied for loans or purchase agreements in Ingham county.

Many farmers mistakenly believe that the government is supporting prices at the market level, Glynn explained. Actually there is no limit to which market prices can fall. Market prices are held up only indirectly when a large number of growers secure government loans or purchase agreements.

Market price of beans is now $7. Dee Bray, manager of the Mason elevator, indicated his belief that the price won't go much below that.

Last week the grain market strengthened all along the line, except for beans. The elevators last week were paying $2.23 on wheat and only $7.00 on beans. With wheat at $2.23, Bray explained, the bean price was too low. He explained that it costs more to raise beans than wheat and that based on other grain prices, beans were low.

If farmers store their beans in approved warehouses, they will receive a net of about $6.80 from the government. If they store them on their farms in approved bins, they will receive $7.25 from the government. If the market price goes higher than $7.25, farmers can sell on the open market.

Farmers can get $5 of the $7.25 about three weeks after they apply, if they choose the loan. The remaining $2.25 will be paid in May.

To get the loan, the farm storage must be approved by the local AAA. There are no approved elevator warehouses in Ingham. They lack adequate storage space.

The beans under loan will be taken May 1.

If farmers don't have approved storage or don't want to store their beans in an elevator, they can get a purchase agreement.

Under this program the government agrees to buy $7.25 per cwt. of beans. The farmer receives the money next May when he delivers the beans to an elevator. Approved storage is not needed. The beans may be stored wherever the farmer chooses.

The difference between a loan and a purchase agreement is explained by Glynn as follows: Under loan the farmer receives his money in about three weeks but he must have approved storage. Under a purchase agreement the farmer does not need approved storage but he does not get any of his money until next May.

Applications for either loans or purchase agreements may be made at the AAA office in Mason.

In effect, the loan or a purchase agreement is a guarantee that the farmer will receive at least $7.25 for his beans, or $6.80 if he stores them in an elevator.

A similar program is available for wheat.

Wheat is now about $2.25 per bushel. The government guarantees $2.07 for wheat stored on farms. There is no warehouse space available for wheat.

Both purchase agreements and loans are available for wheat. Under loans, $2.07 is paid in about three weeks and the remaining 7 cents for storage is paid next May after the wheat is delivered.

Loans or purchase agreements at 7 cents a bushel are available for oats. Under a loan, the full amount is paid in three weeks.

Under either loan or purchase agreement, the grower is at liberty to sell his grain at any time. Thus, if the market price goes above the support price, the farmer can sell and receive the full price. He can't lose.

The last date for making application for loans is December 31.

Al Rice Heads Kiwanis Club

Heading the Mason Kiwanis club in 1949 will be Al Rice, Mason Chevrolet dealer. He is now president of the Mason Chamber of Commerce.

Howard McCowan, an attorney, was elected vice-president with Merton Collins, Ben Weaver, Vernon J. Brown, Lloyd R. Doane and Howard Seibert named to the board of directors.

Installation of the Kiwanis officers will be held January 4. Tuesday night's meeting of the club Rev. Eadon Davis, pastor of the Baton Rapids Methodist church, gave an inspiring Thanksgiving address. He declared that the pilgrims back 300 years ago recognized that they were doing the tasks which they had been sent into the world to do, and that people today should realize that they were created for this century, for this day, and so do the work which has been set before them.

Highway Workers To Honor Sweeney

To show Willard N. Sweeney that his service of 8 1/2 years as an Ingham county highway commissioner has been appreciated, a banquet is being held in the Masonic hall at Mason on Friday night, December 10. The banquet is being staged by employees of the county road commission.

Sweeney will retire as road commissioner December 31. He was elected to the commission March 4, 1940, to fill one of the vacancies caused when two commissioners were removed from office. Sweeney was re-elected for a six-year term in October of 1942. He will be succeeded on the commission by Roy B. Moore of Lansing township. Moore, a former supervisor, was elected in October.

For many years prior to his retirement, Sweeney was purchasing agent at Michigan State college.

Elaine's Yelp For Help

ELAINE'S YELP FOR HELP is stifled by the villain in this scene from "Arsenic and Old Lace" being presented by Mason seniors in the school auditorium next Thursday and Friday nights. This murder mystery was a recent hit on Broadway, but with a different cast. Elaine, in this picture, is petite Joan Rusch. The gangster who is rudely shushing our sweet young heroine is Ronald Stolz, appearing as Jonathan. Dr. Einstein (Don Wiley) is a spectator in this horrific scene. On the stairs are Nancy Johnson and Beverly Barry, who appear on the stage as two old maids, specialists in arsenic poisoning.

Because there are only a few female leads in the play, Mrs. JoAnn Glatt, the director, has carved up the parts. Faith Dakin will be Elaine at the Wednesday matinee. Marian Burns takes the part Thursday night. Miss Rusch takes over on Friday night. Besides Miss Barry and Miss Johnson, Kay Curtis of the Alaiedon Barrymore Curtis family takes one of the old maid parts one night.

Lynn Gardner Dies From Heart Attack

Lynn Gardner, 71, of Stockbridge dropped dead of a heart seizure at his farm home near Plainfield Tuesday night at eight o'clock. He had just returned from Gregory. As he entered his house he was stricken.

Tenants in the other side of the farm house heard a thud and ran to Mr. Gardner's aid but he was beyond help.

Mr. Gardner was widely known throughout the state. He had been a member of the state fair board since 1939, being first appointed by Governor Frank Fitzgerald and being reappointed by Governors Murray D. VanWagoner and Harry P. Kelly. He served in the state legislature three terms and was speaker of the house of representatives in 1927. He was a member of Grange, Farm Bureau and Farmers Union, the Maccochees, Unadilla lodge of Odd Fellows and was a life member of the Stockbridge F. & A. M., having joined the order in 1905. Mr. Gardner was a member of the Presbyterian church in Plainfield until it disbanded. He became a member of the Plainfield Methodist church in 1942.

Born of pioneer stock, Lynn Gardner was hardy, thrifty, energetic and above all, a man of high character. He was largely self-taught and devoted many years of his life to teaching others. He died on the farm where he was born, the land he loved.

Mr. Gardner attended the district school until he was 16. Then he taught five winter terms, two in the Munsell district and three in the Thayer, before giving full time to farming. Later he taught one year, 1900 to 1901, in his home district, The Mapes. He probably held the record for school board service in Michigan. He was elected school district treasurer in 1898 and had held the office continuously up until his death. He had also served his neighbors as justice of the peace and as supervisor of Inosco township in Livingston county. He was first elected to the state legislature from the Livingston district in 1922.

On April 18, 1900, Mr. Gardner and Nina Younglove of Marion township were married. She died in 1944.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Gardner had driven to Gregory to see about repairs which had been made to the car of his niece, Miss Frances Lister of Ypsilanti. Miss Lister had met her uncle there and had driven her car back to Ypsilanti.

Mr. Gardner is survived by the niece and a nephew. The nephew is William Lister of Fresno, California.

Funeral services will be held in the Plainfield Methodist church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Special Election On December 4 For Holt School

Awarding of Contract Ordered Held Up Until Electors Make Decision

On the outcome of a special election in the Holt school district December 4 depends the building of a new elementary building. At a special meeting of the school board Monday night following a public hearing the election date was set.

There are two issues to be decided at the election: Shall the extra five mills tax now authorized for the school building fund be continued for another two years, through 1953; and shall the board of education be authorized to use the extra five mills for building a new school for kindergarten and first grade pupils. By virtue of the adoption of proposal No. 5 at the November 2 election, only a majority instead of a two-thirds vote is needed now on raising the tax limitation. All qualified electors are entitled to vote on raising the limitation. Only property owners and their spouses are qualified to vote on the issuance of bonds for building the school.

At the hearing Monday night several people asked why a separate building instead of an addition to the present building is being considered. School board members explained that a new elementary building will cost less than an addition to the present building, and that the lower grades should be set aside from the high school anyway.

With the 1948 tax collection, the school district will have $43,000 in its building fund. About $75,000 will be needed to build the new school which will be located north of the temporary building now being used.

Adding five mills a year to the building fund on present assessed valuations will yield about $12,500 annually, school board members pointed out.

Beasley Bid Low Bids on revised plans and specifications for the new school were received by the Holt board of education November 12. The bid of W. H. Beasley & Son of Lansing was low at $69,271. No award of the contract has been made, explained Superintendent Benton Yates. He pointed out that the decision is now up to the electors.

If the extra millage is voted and the school board is authorized to proceed with the construction, the low bidder will be awarded the contract.

So that construction, if authorized, can proceed without delay, the school board has authorized Beasley & Son to go ahead with the excavation and the pouring of footings. Superintendent Yates pointed out that if the contractor waits until after December 4, the ground may be frozen and construction can't be started until spring, even if authorized at the special election.

If the electors vote in favor of the propositions submitted, the school board will be able to borrow money against the five mills authorized annually and the new building can be financed, using the present balance to cover preliminary construction, Superintendent Yates explained.

Phone Takes Place Of Telegraph Key

Transfer of the Western Union telegraph service in Mason from the Michigan Central depot to Our Cab company was effected this week. No direct wire service is available now. Telegrams will be telephoned from the Lansing office to the cab company, who will in turn phone the message to the addressee or make delivery. Hours for sending and receiving messages continues to be from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., although the cab company operates on a 24-hour basis. An expansion of these hours is being planned, it was said.

The contract between the Michigan Central and Western Union was cancelled more than a year ago. Mason is the last station in the Jackson to Mackinaw City area to make the change, according to O. D. Campbell, station agent. The change was not made sooner because a substitute agency could not be found.

Before telephone lines were brought into Mason, the town depended entirely on the telegraph key for the relay of messages and news outside the city. The line was direct to Detroit, then to Grand Rapids and finally to Lansing. Old timers place the time of its installation in Mason somewhere in the 1870s, with its operation continuing since that time, first in the old station on Ash street, and then to the present one on North Mason street.

Loader Bid Is Filed

The Miller Equipment Co. of Grand Rapids filed the only bid with the road commission Wednesday afternoon on a gravel loader. The Grand Rapids firm offered a Barber-Greene Model 545-A heavy duty loader for $8,097.00, offering an even $1,000 for a used bucket loader now operated by the county, making a net bid of $7,097.00. The board of road commissioners took the bid under advisement.

Churches Unite To Give Thanks

Mason's churches are holding a union Thanksgiving service in the Methodist church Wednesday night.

Dr. L. A. Reed, a professor on the faculty of the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, is to preach the sermon. Mrs. George McArthur of the Presbyterian church choir is to sing a solo. The anthems will be sung by the Methodist choir.

The offering received at the service will be used toward meeting the cost of next summer's vacation Bible school.

SANTA CLAUS DUE IN MASON SATURDAY

Santa Claus is due to arrive in Mason at 4:15 Saturday afternoon. His pack will be loaded with free gifts for youngsters. He will distribute his gifts from a platform in front of the county building immediately following a parade, which will start at 4:30.

This year Santa Claus is traveling by plane instead of using reindeer. He is scheduled to arrive at Jewett airport at 4:15. He will be met there by Mayor S. A. Morrison and Al Rice, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and will be transported to the school, where the parade will form.

Mason business men plan to greet Santa Claus with specially decorated store windows and with Yule lights and festoons hanging from light standards. The street decoration is a chamber of Commerce project. City workers and Mason firemen have put up the decorations.

The parade will move from the school north on Jefferson to Ash, west on Ash to the postoffice, north on Park to Maple, east on Maple to Barnes, south on Barnes to Ash and west on Ash to Jefferson.

Following the parade Santa Claus will be formally welcomed to Mason by Mayor Morrison and Al Rice. From the platform Santa Claus will close the switch to light up the street decorations.

The parade will be mostly on wheels. Signed up for the parade will be a decorated 1949 Ford from the J. B. Dean agency, an Our Cab Co. car suitably decorated for the occasion, a jeep from Tom's Food Market, a truck from the Jewett Appliance Co., a new Kaiser from Bartholomew Sales and Service, a new Dodge from Dart Motor Sales, all trimmed up for Christmas, a Cadillac from Robinson Motor Sales, also decorated, trucks from Henson's Modern Dry Cleaners and Miller's Market, a truck from Collins Sales and Service, a decorated car from the Jewett Flower Shop, and floats from the Mickelson-Baker Lumber Co. and Silsby Implement Co.

Mason School Board Studies New Building On West Side

With voters on November 2 taking out most of the restrictions on the 15-mill limitation, members of the Mason board of education are pondering a new elementary building, probably on the west side.

There has been no agreement among members yet. There has been no commitment of any kind, school officials have reported, but a representative of the Warren S. Holmes architectural firm of Lansing has been closeted with the board and he was talking about a new school building for Mason.

The 15-mill limit was eased so that it now takes only a bare majority instead of a two-thirds majority to approve going beyond 15 mills. Another change was to take out the five-year bonding limitation. The bonding limitation is now 20 years.

Where the new school, if there is one, will be located has not yet been decided by the school board. A former school board tentative plans on two elementary buildings. The board traded other property for a site west of the new business section on Cedar street, south of Columbia. The other tract adjoins Athletic field on the east side.

A new dividing line may be used to determine which school will be built. Superintendent James Vander Ven indicated, at one time the west side school was known as the Second ward school. That building was abandoned when the present building was constructed. There are more children in the second ward than in the first. Sycamore creek or the Michigan Central tracks may be used as a dividing line. If the tracks are used there are probably more children who live east of the tracks than west.

The new school will be built where it will accommodate the most children, the superintendent said.

After the taxes are collected this year the district will have about $90,000 in its building fund. Before the war that would have brought an adequate building within reach. Now the $50,000 will have to be tripled to even make a start on a building to relieve the overcrowding at the present school.

The school board intends to move cautiously in deciding on a new school and where it will be built. Vander Ven explained. He pointed out that the present board may even choose a different location for either of the schools in prospect. The west side property might be traded for another tract east of US-127.

Before any decision is reached on a west side school, the superintendent pointed out, the state highway commissioner will be asked about plans for re-routing 127. If the highway is re-located farther west the land west of Cedar will likely be used. If there is to be no re-location of the highway then the school district may try to trade the west side tract for a new site away from the heavy truckline traffic.

Floyd Fitzsimmons Lodged In Prison

Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor fight and race promoter, was taken to Jackson prison Tuesday by state police officers after exhausting most of the appeals left open to him. On February 1, 1945, he was convicted of conspiracy to bribe a legislator. Appeals were taken to state and federal courts and finally pleas were made to stay the sentence because of Fitzsimmons' failing health.

Judge John Simpson of Jackson, who presided at the trial of Fitzsimmons, passed the sentence of from 3 to 4 years in prison.

Fitzsimmons was charged with conspiring to bribe legislators to gain passage of a dog racing bill. The act was not passed, however.

Clearing House Plan Reactivated For Yule Charity

Food, Used Clothing, Toys Are Needed for Filling Family Christmas Baskets

Baskets for needy families and for those who might otherwise be forgotten will again be prepared and delivered through the Mason Community Clearing House this year. Officers and counselors met Monday night to lay plans for collecting funds and goods and to distribute them to those in need.

On the executive committee of the Clearing House are Marshall W. Simpson, president; Frank Dakin, vice-president; Milton Beebe, treasurer; Mrs. Sam Cotton, secretary; Mrs. Leon Cowdry, Mrs. R. R. Robins and Chester Smith, counselors.

The organization was set up a year ago for the dual purpose of seeing to it that all needy families will get Christmas baskets and to prevent duplication. The program was given such good support that a continuance was decided upon.

There are 35 church, club, school and lodge groups represented in the Clearing House. All have agreed to the clearing house program. Individual organizations can designate who should get the baskets they prepare.

Individuals and organizations are asked to prepare referral cards of families in need. Names and addresses should be provided, along with the ages of children and clothing sizes, and the needs.

Goods to be distributed will include clothing, food, fuel and toys. All organizations in the community, in town or country, interested in cooperating with the Clearing House are asked to have representatives at a luncheon meeting to be held in the Ingham library Friday, December 3. At that meeting, the names of families in need and the contributions of individual organizations should be reported, the executive board members pointed out.

The need for used clothing is urgent, members of the executive board have found. They are asking that closets and attics be cleared of all garments and bedding which can be spared.

Cash contributions will be sought to buy food, fuel and garments not contributed.

Money from organizations or individuals may be sent to Milton Beebe, the treasurer, at 204 North Cedar street. Referral cards are being handled through Rev. Simpson's office at the Presbyterian church.

Deliveries of the baskets will be made a few days before Christmas. Mason firemen, Boy Scouts and church groups will help in the distribution, it is planned.

Citizenship Open To Leslie Farmer

Developments Wednesday pointed to the admission of Leslie Farmer to U. S. citizenship.

Raymond H. McLean, Mason attorney, received notice that Kirschner is to appear in circuit court in Lansing December 7 for a final hearing on his citizenship application. That indicates, McLean explained, that the bureau of immigration and naturalization probably does not intend to appeal from the verdict of Circuit Judge Archie McDonald of the Barry-Eaton circuit.

Until McLean received the notice Wednesday morning there remained the threat of an appeal. In fact, the Detroit office of the naturalization bureau had previously announced an intention to appeal. The matter of the appeal, however, was left to the justice department in Washington.

Granting of citizenship to Kirschner had been opposed by the U. S. naturalization bureau on the grounds that the Leslie farmer had been a member of the Nazi party in Germany before he came to the United States in 1937. Kirschner declared he was forced to become a member of the party in order to hold his government job.

Government attorneys never made any charges that Kirschner continued as a party member after reaching the United States. In fact, the record showed he at once applied for citizenship. Neighbors testified the Kirschners were regarded as loyal to the American cause during the war. A daughter and son of the Kirschners were admitted to citizenship. The son served in the U. S. army air force during the war.

Upon the recommendation of the naturalization examiner last January the petition of Kirschner for citizenship was put over until March. In March it was denied, again on recommendation of naturalization examiners. Kirschner appealed for a rehearing and it was granted by Judge Marvin S. Salmon. The federal officials opposed the rehearing and fought the case when it was heard before Judge McDonald in circuit court in Lansing last July. Judge McDonald handed down his opinion September 8, holding that Kirschner is entitled to citizenship.

 Speed is always a serious accident hazard — every week of the year. But especially during these winter months — when sleet, snow or cold winter rains impair vision — make streets and highways slippery, and driving more difficult.

THOUSANDS OF FINGERPRINTS:
 MICHIGAN STATE POLICE MAINTAIN THE LARGEST COLLECTION OF FINGERPRINTS OF ANY OF THE 48 STATES. ONLY THE F.B.I. HAS A LARGER FILE OF FINGERPRINTS.

Michigan Motoring
 Do you know that speed contributes two out of every five fatal accidents? And that speed too fast for conditions is one of the greatest highway "killers" of all? Remember... the higher the speed, the more difficult it will be for you to avoid an accident — especially if the streets are slippery — if snow or rain limits your visibility. Just look at these figures: Out of every 1,000 accident fatalities:

- 19 drivers were killed in cars going 20 miles an hour.
- 61 drivers were killed in cars going 41-50 miles an hour.
- 160 drivers were killed in cars going 50 miles an hour.

Yes, these figures are correct. If you should be involved in an accident when you are driving 60 miles an hour your chances of being killed are EIGHT TIMES as great as they would be if you were crawling at 20 miles an hour. Think it over! Keep in mind the fact that the life you save may be your own. And remember, too — speed takes more gasoline, oil and rubber. Play safe — slow down and stay alive!

Mason Cagers Prepare For Opening Of Tough Schedule

Mason high school cagers have been busy for two weeks whipping up a team for the 1948-49 basketball season. Coach Don Funk had 50 men report for opening practice. With a nucleus of seven veterans from last year's squad back, Coach Funk is busy molding his team. Jack Davis, Joe Johnson, Windy Fell, Dan Garver, Harry Freeman, Merritt Snyder and Bob Lyons are letter winners back from last year. Also on hand are lanky Jim Kelly, Denny Stolz, Doug Barr, Skip Jennings and Bob Boyne, of last year's reserve team. Kelly has plenty of height that would help the varsity. Davis and Fell are a couple of fast breaking ball hawks who were consistent point makers last year. Mason should floor a fast stepping ball team.

Mason has a fifteen game schedule with the added possibility of at least two more games to be played in a holiday tournament. This holiday affair will be played in Lansing with most of the Capital Circuit teams and several of the Lansing city and parochial schools taking part. This is the first year a tournament of this kind has operated in Lansing.

Mason opens the regular season with non-conference tilt with Leslie at Mason on December 7. Last year the Blackhawks split in two of the most closely matched games of the year.

The rest of the Mason schedule is as follows:

December 10, Eaton Rapids, there; December 14, Michigan Center, here; December 17, Everett, there;

January 7, Charlotte, here; January 14, Grand Lodge, here; January 21, Howell, there; January 25, Leslie, there; January 28, Eaton Rapids, here;

February 4, Everett, here; February 8, Dansville, here; February 11, Charlotte, there; February 18, Grand Lodge, there; February 22, Holt, there; and February 25, Howell, here.

Mason has five non-conference games, two with Leslie, one each with Holt and Dansville and one with Michigan Center.

Skating Question Up For Discussion

If winter winters, where will the youngsters skate? The annual question is up for discussion again. The school board, the Kiwanis club, the Lions club and the city council are all pondering the matter.

The usual arguments are being raised—that the county park ponds will provide the best skating, or that a better deal would be to flood Athletic field, or part of the city park.

There has been no meeting of the minds yet. Neither has there been any ice. Within another week or two a skating program may be worked out, members of the Mason Lions and Kiwanis clubs desire.

New Drug Attacks Virus Diseases

A new drug, phenosulfazole, also known as Darvisul, has been brought to market under direct chemical attack. This may mean that it can be used against infantile paralysis, which is a virus disease, but it has by no means proven ready for any such use this far.

The tiny viruses (an average bacterium is 100 times bigger than the biggest virus) have steadily resisted chemical attack, and no drug has yet been found that will direct its effects at virus infections in man. The chief importance of phenosulfazole is that it has crossed this barrier under direct laboratory experiments and some clinical trials, has controlled and cured virus infections.

Still an unknown quantity, the drug is the newest of the sulfa compounds. So far, no one knows for sure exactly which genes it attacks, how many of them it attacks in human patients, who it may do to those patients, or how much of the drug those patients should get. Investigators feel that while it may turn out to be the drug of the year, it is more likely to be simply the starting point for a whole new chain of sulfa drugs.

The regular sulfas, penicillin, and streptomycin, while they take care of an astonishingly large number of ills, work only against bacteria. Chief promise of the new phenosulfazole is that it may represent the beginning of an equally effective set of drugs against the many virus diseases.

EAT A BIG Thanksgiving Day dinner and then go and inspect the following:

MASON, listen, this house is cheaper than building, and it's a 4 1/2 room "Cape Cod" built in 1941 with oak floors, and full basement for recreation room with hi-fidelity stereo and hot-air furnace. Price reduced to $8,000. Cash or terms. Possession now.

ADMINISTRATOR, Mr. Baker, says sell the best farm in Ingham county, 200 acres, 5 miles south of Williamston, known as the Baker farm. Best of land, extra good buildings, and plenty of fruit. Glad to show this farm by appointment, is exclusively offered by me at $10,000.

Democrats Seek Recheck Of Votes In Sixth District

Blackney's Lead of 784 Is Challenged, Congress Committee to Make Tally

A recount of votes cast November 2 for sixth district congressman looms.

George D. Stevens of Flint, Democrat, announced Saturday that he intends to petition congress for a recount. On the basis of the official canvass of the three counties in the district, William W. Blackney, incumbent Republican, defeated Stevens 73,465 to 72,681.

Recounts on county offices are conducted by county canvassing boards. For state office the recounts are conducted by the state board of canvassers. When congressional offices are at stake congress itself conducts the recounts.

Stevens announced Saturday that the decision to ask for a recount was reached last Friday after a conference with the high Democratic command in Lansing.

The defeated candidate was quoted as saying that he knew of no fraud or irregularities in the count.

Stevens carried Genesee county over Blackney by a margin of 14,081. Blackney carried Ingham over Stevens by a majority of 10,492. The votes Blackney needed to win came out of Livingston. In Livingston Blackney gained 4,383 votes over Stevens.

Stevens said the recount petition will not be filed with congress until the 81st session is convened January 3. If the petition is approved, a sub-committee of the committee on elections will make the recount, setting up a headquarters in the sixth district.

Useful Cyclones
Not all cyclones are disastrous. For many years man-made cyclones have been used by industry as dust collectors. The large metal contraptions with inlet and outlet pipes and cone shaped bottoms are familiar sights on the outside of certain factory buildings. Dust laden air is whirled around inside, then the dust settles out, leaving the clean air to be vented to the atmosphere.

Common Cold Still Defies Science

With about 94 per cent of the American population due to come down with at least one cold during the next twelve months, scientists throughout the country are continuing their fight against the nation's number one disease.

Although no cure for colds has been found, there are ways to avoid them. Medical authorities state that their work pointed only "to the possibility, not the probability of producing a vaccine."

Keep healthy by eating proper foods and getting enough fresh air and exercise and plenty of rest.

Avoid chilling by dressing properly—wear warm clothes in cold weather and wear overcoats, rubbers and protective covering when it rains or snows.

Whenever possible, stay strictly away from anyone who has a cold and keep out of drafts.

If you fall victim to the common cold, go to bed and rest, eat light meals, and drink plenty of water. Call a doctor if you have a fever, aches or a racking cough for more than 24 hours.

What do we have to be thankful for?

Just three short years since V-J Day—and once again the headlines talk of war and the threat of war.

Prices have skyrocketed—and even for the bare necessities of life, a dollar goes hardly half as far as it once did.

Tens of thousands of families are still doubled up—or living in trailers because of the critical housing shortage.

Brother, it may be Thanksgiving—but what do we have to be thankful for?

What do we have? Listen . . .

We have a land where people vote in or vote out the government. We have a land where we can yawp to high heaven about our very troubles—and do something about them.

We have a land where we can leave the shades up at night—and meet in more than two's and three's—and discuss politics, religion, personalities or anything we please.

We have a land where we can go to the church of our choice, send our children to schools where we know they'll be taught the truth, pick and choose the job that we like best—and leave it if it doesn't live up to our expectations.

We have a land where the police tip their hats to us, where we can cross state lines without submitting to inspection by border guards, where what we buy is not determined by whether we belong to the governing political party or not.

We have a land where the Four Freedoms are not a distant hope but a present reality.

What do we have to be thankful for? Brother—our American heritage.

Let's not lose it!

Freedom is everybody's job

Hospital Visiting Hours Arranged For Primary Benefit of Patients

Hospital visiting hours are fixed not necessarily for the accommodation of visitors but for the benefit of patients, explained Beatrice McDonald, supervising nurse at the Mason General hospital.

Usual visiting hours, Miss McDonald pointed out, are from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and from 7 to 8 in the evening. This arrangement is necessary, she said, so that patients can secure adequate and necessary rest as well as routine care, treatments and extra care when needed. Special requests are granted to visitors who are employed from 2 to 10 and cannot visit the hospital during regular hours. The nurse said special visiting hours are also permitted on the day when a patient goes to surgery. Miss McDonald stated:

"If a patient's condition is poor or critical, the hospital staff is glad to have a member of the family present," explained Miss McDonald.

"On the maternity floor," continued the supervising nurse, "proper care of mothers and babies automatically limits the visiting hours to 3-4 and 7-8 p. m. That only husbands and grandparents are permitted to visit in this department is a necessary regulation if we wish to continue a licensed maternity department."

"Let us look at a day in the hospital. Breakfast is served about 7:30 and from then until noon patients are bathed, linens are changed, treatments and dressings are done, doctors visit and examine patients, X-rays are taken, laboratory work is done, and routine housekeeping duties are performed. Sometimes emergency patients are admitted. All in all, every morning is a busy one."

"Dinner is served between 11:30 and 12:00 after which most patients require some attention before the visiting hours commence. The same procedure occurs again before and after supper. By the day's end patients are usually tired and ready for bedtime care and the peace which comes with rest and sleep. The patient overstimulated by too many visitors is not so likely to have a good night, and who can say that the day has not been long when it has been a sick day?"

"I Remember Mama" Coming to Fox Theatre

"I Remember Mama" will be presented at the Fox theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 30 and December 1.

Irene Dunne is co-starred with Barbara Bel Geddes, Oscar Homolka and Phillip Dorn in the cheerful and inspiring story of a Norwegian mother in early-day San Francisco and her efforts to pilot her family through the economic troubles of a low-income household.

Miss Dunne has the central role of "Mama," and Miss Bel Geddes portrays the oldest daughter, Katrin, with Homolka as the fierce but kind-hearted Uncle Chris, and Dorn as the easy-going father, Sir Cedric Hardwicke as a penniless actor, Edgar Bergen as a timid undertaker and Rudy Vallee as the family doctor, and Barbara O'Neill as the heart interest of Uncle Chris, are featured.

The Hanson's modest home on the slopes of San Francisco's Russian Hill shortly after the turn of the century is the setting for most of the action. The family's experiences with their worthless boarder, an aunt's shy romance with her undertaker friend, Katrin's ambitions to become a writer, family problems of illness and schooling, are all surmounted by their knowledge of a "Bare Account" of which Mama always speaks proudly, but which eventually turns out to have been a myth she created to bolster up family morale in times of stress.

George Stevens, executive producer and director of the film for RKO Radio, and Harriet Parsons, producer, have transferred the John Van Druten play and Kathryn Forbes' novel to the screen with a warmth that is said to make it exceptionally appealing. Peggy McIntyre, June Hedin and Steve Brown are seen as "Mama's" children in the picture.

Double Feature Saturday

"Wallflower," starring Robert Hutton, Joyce Reynolds and Janis Paige, is a rollicking comedy booked for Saturday of this week with a thriller, "Perilous Waters," on the screen, too.

The accent is on youth in the comedy. Warner Bros. assembled three of its brightest luminaries in this school, Robert Hutton, Joyce Reynolds and Janis Paige, for this filming of the stage hit of the same title.

The Hutton-Reynolds combination well established now as a popular duo, is aided by Miss Paige, who is fast climbing to the top as a svelte comedienne. The trio moves through a series of junior-age situations, all within the confines of a typical American family. Miss Reynolds, labeled wallflower for her shy personality in the opening part of the tale, turns on her hidden charms when she becomes determined to win Hutton. This assignment affords her wide scope for her talent and she is more appealing than ever.

Contrasting her demure sister is Miss Paige, as the flashier belle of the country club set. Between these two, Hutton, disports in his winning style, which he does well. Not to forget Edward Arnold, who again is cast in a father role here.

One thrill follows another as "Perilous Waters" unfolds on the screen.

In the title role of a disgruntled navy veteran who becomes involved in a potential murder for hire, Don Castle gives the tough, realistic performance now expected from him because of his outstanding work in Wrather's two previous thrillers.

A Walt Disney Hit

Distinctly unique in its composition, Walt Disney's current feature production, "Melody Time," in color by Technicolor, assembles in one musical package subjects dealing mainly with salient items of Americana. The film will be at the Fox Sunday and Monday.

Seven different sequences are projected on the screen in cartoon form, each accompanied by musical renditions by screen and radio notables and featuring either a humorous or a sentimental appeal.

Sequences claiming particular attention are Johnny Appleseed, and Pecos Bill, both prodigious legends of the American scene.

Johnny Appleseed is the humorous but tenderly inspired account of a beneficent pioneer, who actually was John Chapman, and who devoted the best years of his life to planting apple trees throughout the midwest as a fruitful labor of love for posterity. Dennis Day is the narrator and singer of songs applying to the action, melodies written by Elmer Gannon and Walter Kent. "The Pioneer Song," "The Lord Is Good to Me and Apple Song."

Pecos Bill is the more fantastic account of a mythical robbing western character who tamed legendary feats, Roy Rogers and Sons of the Pioneers, seen in a prairie with the juveniles Bobby Driscoll and Luana Patten, narrate and sing the title song, and a mood number, Blue Shadows, for this sequence, both written by Johnny Lange and Eliot Daniel.

Also seen in live action is organ soloist Ethel Smith, her performance blended with that of Disney's Donald Duck, Jose Caricoa and the Araucan Bird, their number being Blame It on the Samba. The Dining Sisters provide vocals for the song by Ray Gilbert and Ernesto Nazareth.

Buddy Clark, as musical master of ceremonies in the picture, intones the title number, Melody Time.

The Andrews Sisters musically relate the droll New York waterfront legend of a tiny, troublesome tugboat, Little Toot, words and music by Allie Wrubel.

To cartoon action, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians and his Choral Group render a lyrical vegetable Trees, set to music by Oscar Rasbach.

Frances Langford sings, to the antics of a pair of sweethearts who are parodied by cartooned rabbits in a decorative romance, Once Upon a Wintertime, by Bobby Worth and Ray Gilbert.

Freddy Martin and his orchestra, Jack Fina at the piano, do the pulse-stirring fantasy of a bumblebee's adventure, Bumble Boogie, made famous by the recording of Fina's adaptation of Rimsky-Korsakov's Flight of the Bumblebee.

Under Melody Time

"Pecos Bill," fabulous champion of all cowboys, appears as a widower in "Melody Time," Roy Rogers and Sons of the Pioneers narrate the legend in song and in live action for Bobby Driscoll and Luana Patten. The Walt Disney picture in Technicolor is at the Fox Sunday and Monday.

Another Double Feature

Next Thursday and Friday nights there is another double bill. Gene Stratton Porter's "Michael O'Halloran" and a crime thriller, "Trapped by Boston Blackie," make up the film fare.

Every now and then Hollywood finds in the great field of American literature some novel tailor-made for cinema telling.

Hollywood has done it again, this time bringing Gene Stratton Porter's famed "Michael O'Halloran" to the screen, with Scotty Beckett and Allene Roberts in the starring roles.

That wily rascal Boston Blackie the most suspected refined crook of fiction, radio and films, appears in Columbia's "Trapped by Boston Blackie."

Methodist Forum Inspires Pastors

Rev. Henry Liddicoat of the Mason Methodist church declared that the November forum of the Albion-Lansing district of the Methodist church was an inspiration to pastors.

Speakers at the conference held in Albion included Rev. Russell King of Coldwater, Rev. William Beckett of Charlotte, Dr. Spencer Bacon Owens of Albion and Rev. Claud Satterlee of Grand Ledge.

Rev. King declared there should be a return to the preaching on themes which are important to the salvation of the people and that there has been too much preaching in the form of debate in which two sides of a question are presented without leaving any positive convictions of right or wrong.

Protestant Christians, declared Dr. Owens, are threatened with the loss of sensitivity to spiritual things. To avoid the dangers Christians must let faith possess them, Dr. Owens asserted.

"the original Leslie" and describes it as follows: "It's an inland town in Fifeshire situated on the River Leven and occupying a picturesque location overlooking the Leven valley with the Lamond hills to the north. Population is about 2500. In the town and surrounding area there is flax spinning, paper making, bleaching, and manufacture of fountain pens (the well known Onoto brand)."

"Leslie, Scotland, is a very old place. Earlier than the 13th century it was named Potyhill, but in the year 1283 grants of land were given by Alexander III to Norman de Leslie who bestowed his family name on the village. Another explanation of the name Leslie is that it derives from the Gaelic "Islaevan" meaning a garden on the Leven river.

"Christ's Kirk on the Green, the old town Kirk, claims to be the original of a poem composed by King James I of Scotland. The town green was once the site of robust sports and games played by hardy Scots of other days. Even bullfighting was included. A massive stone pillar, with a groove worn by chains, tells of savage bulls tethered while awaiting contests. Leslie House, a nearby mansion is a residence of the Earl of Rothes."

He wants to know who were the settlers of "their cousin community in U. S. A." and how it got its name. He also wants to know about the climate, population, industries, location and general activities. He asks for some pictures of the Michigan Leslie which he could use in his paper in connection with the article which he expects to write.

Irvin Holmrey, publisher of the Leslie Local-Republician, is preparing the material, and will soon forward it, including an aerial photograph, to the Scottish editor.

The united service next Sunday evening will be held at the Methodist church.

Electric power was cut off from Leslie for a half-hour near midnight Friday due to a break in the high power line south of Rives Junction.

The December family night of the Leslie Baptist church will be held Wednesday evening, December 1, with Rev. Ralph Taylor Anderson, executive secretary of the Michigan Baptist convention, as the speaker.

Writes From Germany

After having lived among the German people for two full years, we are not always in accord with the things printed in the Ingham County News. It is good, however, to know what the people at home are thinking and doing; and we'd surely miss the weekly issue of paper.

TRIPPS to the 27th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago were given four Michigan club members as rewards for their outstanding records in the 1948 National 4-H Better Methods, Health, Home Improvement and Poultry programs. The state winners and brief outlines of their records follow:

The practice of best personal health habits and aid to home and community health service has won Helen DeWitt, 19, of Flint, State honors in the 1948 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program. During six years in 4-H she has raised 2,731 chickens, mostly New Hampshires. He has completed 15 4-H projects including six in poultry, and has served his local club as president. As a recognition of his many achievements, Dearborn Motors Corporation provided Dick an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Congress, Chicago.

If you visited her home in Beulah, you would readily see why Elizabeth Lawliss, 16, has been named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Home Improvement program. Elizabeth made over her room, painting old furniture a pale green. She put rose decals in the center of the drawers, of the dresser and chair back, painted her door a deep tile red to set off the green furniture. Elizabeth made bright printed chintz draperies and dressing table skirt to complete her room. In recognition of her achievements, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation is providing Elizabeth with an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

Meddy Paciorek, 17, of Clark Lake, distinguished himself as a labor saver by ingenious use of an old car pump, motor and hose to carry water to the milk house. Skill achieved through the National 4-H Better Methods Electric program enabled this and many other improvements made by Meddy on his home farm. In recognition thereof he has been named State winner in the program. During six years in 4-H he has completed 14 projects, including four in Better Methods, and has held all offices in his home club. Meddy received an all-expense trip to the national 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by The Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

Williamston Couple Exchange Wedding Vows in Home Rites

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Bartlett in Williamston was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday evening when their daughter, Doreen Fay, became the bride of Robert LaVern Lott, also of Williamston. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lott of Williamston are the bridegroom's parents.

Rev. Harold T. Reese, pastor of the Williamston Baptist church, read the double ring service at eight o'clock in a candlelight ceremony. Palms and white chrysanthemums decorated the Bartlett home.

To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, the bride entered on the arm of her father. Members of the immediate families witnessed the rites.

Jayne Putman of Williamston attended the bride as maid of honor. Robert Webb, also of Williamston, assisted the bridegroom as best man.

For her marriage, the bride chose a powder blue suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was made of white baby mums and pink roses. A gray suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations was worn by the maid of honor.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Bartlett selected a gray tulle dress. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lott, was attired in a gray suit. Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, ice cream and cake were served by the bridegroom's sisters, Lawretha and Wanda Lou Lott. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Lott left for a short honeymoon. When they return they will make their home in Williamston.

The Bartletts are former Mason residents.

CLUB SETS TABLE

Mrs. Carl Jewett and Mrs. A. V. Smith, representing the Garden club, have decorated a table at the library as a sample one for Thanksgiving. A brown cloth is used with a centerpiece of a pumpkin filled with gold and red painted weeds and red berries. Bowls of fruit are also included in the arrangement.

Mrs. Nora Harkness of Eaton Rapids was a supper guest at the home of Mrs. June Harkness, and family of Mason Thursday evening.

In a ceremony at the Nazarene parsonage Sunday morning, November 21, Margaret Elizabeth Baker became the bride of David Arthur Pollok. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Murray Morford, pastor of the Nazarene church in Mason.

The bride is a graduate of the Mason high school with the class of 1948. She is the daughter of Mrs. Madge Baker, S. Jefferson street. She has recently been employed in the office of O. J. Hood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pollok, East Columbia road. He is a graduate of Ingham Township Agricultural school, Danville, with the class of 1948. He is engaged in farming.

Wed Saturday

MRS. THOMAS MICK

Here Ivah Waite became the bride of Thomas Mick in a quiet candlelight ceremony performed at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Gladys Hunter, 320 West Columbia street, Saturday evening. Rev. Henry Liddicoat, pastor of the Mason Methodist church, read the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Newman and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eugene Ribby.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride was attired in an ankle-length gown of baby blue tulle styled with a bustle effect. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias and red roses, and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Her cousin, Betty Hunter, acted as maid of honor. She wore a yellow satin ankle-length gown. Her arm bouquet was of gardenias and yellow roses.

Jack Hetzer of Holt attended the bridegroom as best man.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Newman selected a two-piece gray dress with a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Ribby, the bridegroom's mother, chose a black crepe dress with black accessories. She also had an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds received their guests at a reception which followed their marriage. Classmates of the bride served a five-tiered wedding cake and ice cream.

SHOOT STORY

Childhood Encore

By ROGER S. VREELAND
THE house still stands at 215 Inwood Lane, Claremont. Remember that. The number doesn't make any difference, because then there wasn't another house within 500 yards.

Honeysuckle at the end of the piazza entwined a lattice screen and you could really suck the honey. Uncle Clem—who wasn't really my uncle—had shown me how. Cannas grew funnel-shaped up past the piazza railing. Mother's round peony garden on the side lawn by the swing that my father had made (I never remembered him) grew luscious creamy pink and white flowers.
Inside was the brick fireplace before which the three of us would sit in the winter.
Uncle Clem taking care of the fire and telling us stories while Mother sewed, and I would watch the picture of Nero's Horses over the mantel until I saw their eyes roll and breath steam out of their nostrils.
This was the house I was born in. It was big and it was old and it was full of orange nooks from cellar to attic. I knew Mother liked it for she often said she hoped some day to buy it.
Considering she was a widow, my mother did well in providing for the two of us until Mr. Hale came. That was Uncle Clem's real name. She didn't need the small amount he paid her. It was just from the kindness of her heart that she gave him a home. He was old, feeble, bent over; he carried a cane most of the time. I know these things now. But strangely I remembered him as a young, full of pep and fun. He was good and kind and always thinking of things to do.
MOTHER never knew where he came from, until after he was gone. The first I ever saw of him was when he appeared at the door into the living room and "entertained" him until Mother came in from the chicken coop.
Mother was cool to him at first. She was always suspicious of strangers. But I saw the kind of fellow he was right away. He told her his family was gone and asked if she had a room to spare. He said he had a little money, enough to pay for his room and board.
Uncle Clem spent nearly all his time with me. Sometimes he would forget what we were playing, and sit with a kind of dreamy, faraway look. Then he would snap back into what we were doing. He got to calling my mother Mom and I guess she didn't mind.
Once I heard him tell her that his working days were over and he enjoyed trying to be a boy again.
But there were some things I couldn't understand about him.

Deer at Stockbridge

Although no one yet reported shooting any deer in the Stockbridge sector, a number of deer have been seen. A big buck jumped across the road in front of Dick Price Sunday night as Price turned the corner at Nichols lake. Men in planes spotted several deer Sunday but were unable to get close to them when they stalked the animals.
The American Legion post will sponsor a basketball team this year.
Don Griffes, president of the Stockbridge F. F. A., attended the National F. F. A. convention at Kansas City last week.
The second family night of the Presbyterian church will be held on Monday evening, November 29, at the church. The potluck dinner will be followed by a moving picture.

High Building Costs Hits Community Hospital Plans

Editor's Note: People ask why there isn't something done about a community hospital in Mason. A committee has been set up. A site has been secured. This article on hospital plans gives some of the reasons why there has been no actual start in Mason and a lot of other towns. It is reprinted from the Detroit News.

The days of philanthropic deficit financing of voluntary non-profit hospitals are past, according to Willis J. Gray, director of Charles Godwin Jennings hospital and chairman of the public education committee of the Michigan Hospital association.

With the passing of the era when the generous rich kept hospitals operating and cost to patients down, the cost of all hospital materials—equipment, maintenance, replacement, and the care of patients—has risen to an unprecedented high level.

In other words, inflation has hit the hospitals of the country and money gifts to hospitals do not begin to buffer the blow.

A report by Roy Rudenburg, secretary of the council on hospital planning and plant operation of the American Hospital Association, states that financial arrangements originally made for postwar hospital construction anticipated costs of $5,000 to $7,000 per bed.

"The hospitals now find that their costs for new construction will run $14,000 to $15,000 per bed," Rudenburg reported.

Private units suffer. "Detroit hospitals share this predicament in common with all other non-profit hospitals in the country," Gray said.

"Then how can hospitals break even financially when costs are out of proportion to income?" Gray was asked.

"There are several alternatives," he said. "But no single one or any combination of them would be desirable from the public point of view.

"The first alternative would be discontinuance of a portion of the hospital's services, such as training and educational programs which amount to about 10 per cent of hospital costs. This, however, would result in serious lack in the future of properly trained personnel.

Book Talk

From Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Main Street, every second Sunday and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Tuesday, Friday, 11:45-12:45; STORY HOUR, Saturday, 1:30.

OUR SUMMER WITH THE ESKIMOS is the third of a series by Comtance and Harmon Heinicke of that life in the Arctic circle, living off the land and as the winter there do. Although still interesting reading, there is not the same thrill that one experiences in reading the first—WE LIVE IN ALASKA. However, if you like out-of-door things, you will enjoy this too.

FRANCIS GOES TO WASHINGTON undoubtedly should have been read by all before the election. Some of you will remember Francis, the mule who was responsible for many of the Burma campaigns. Now he has followed his friend, Peter Stirling, and helps him in his campaign for congressman. It's a good takeoff on many of the disgusting phases of politics, and will serve as good entertainment for an evening.

LAST STRAW FOR HARRIET is a light romantic novel whose setting is a large, crowded country home in England. Harriet is the mother, and reminds you somewhat of Mrs. Miniver—going charm, unable to fend off those who take advantage of her. There's her brother who comes to rule her home when he has difficulties with his latest wife, her son Charles who has had unhappy experiences with one young woman, so runs into all with a romantic glow in their eyes, small Sue who is cooperative with all, and last—Henry, who at 15 would like to have the world revolve around and for him. It's good family material.

KING OF THE WIND is one of Marguerite Henry's latest horse stories, and is one worthy of purchase if you have youngsters who read practically nothing but—. It is based on the story of the lost pedigree of the great Arabian ancestor of Man of War. It is the story of a small boy's great love for a horse, and a horse that repaid him in abilities many times.

Forest Fire Loss Reduced in 1948

Michigan forest fires during 1947 averaged slightly less than 15 acres each, according to a survey just released by American Forest Products Industries. The state has maintained a five-year average of 20.6 acres per fire. In 1947 the average forest fire in the United States burned over 119 acres.

The report, based on latest U. S. forest service figures for the nation, shows comparative effectiveness of forest protection in 47 timber producing states. Michigan is one of 28 states with all forest land under organized fire protection.

Commenting on the state's forest fire record, Chief Forester Charles A. Gillett of the industrial organization called for increased public support for adequate protection against fire.

"The Keep America Green program, active in 24 of the major timber producing states, is becoming an ever more potent factor in industrial drive to awaken public interest in forest fire prevention," Gillett declared.

"By pointing out what woods fires mean in terms of wages, raw materials, profits, taxes and recreational facilities, local Keep Green committees are putting an effective pocketbook punch into the forest fire prevention campaign," he continued.

The AFPI forester stressed the need for full public support of federal and state fire control agencies. In 1947 forest fires, 90 per cent of them preventable, burned over 23,225,932 acres of wooded land in continental United States, an area larger than Maine and nearly as large as Indiana.

LANSING—Is the "power of the press" waning in Michigan? Republicans are inclined to crow that the 1948 election majorities in Michigan fully vindicate the press. Did not a majority of the voters favor a Republican nominee for president, a Republican nominee for the United States senate, a substantial majority of Republican nominees for congress, a 23 to 9 Republican majority in the state senate and a 61 to 39 majority in the state house of representatives?

Democrats point gleefully to the Truman upset in the face of pollsters' prediction of a Dewey triumph. And the surprise defeat of Republican Governor Kim Sigler by Democratic Nominee G. Mennen Williams is held up as proof of a declining press.

In both assumptions the power of the newspaper is predicated on a belief that the press influences through the editorial page. Actually such assumption is far off base!

Under the American plan the public wields power at the ballot box by strength of majority action. The people arrive at their decision, wisely or unwisely, as the result of information, right or wrong, as made available through various media of mass communication. Such information appears in the news column; in pamphlets, magazines; on lecture platforms and motion picture newsreels; on the radio air waves; even over the back fence among neighbors.

If there has been any power, it has been the power of the PEOPLE.

This power is derived directly from NEWS.

A free press will continue to report honestly the news as it happens, and the American people will continue to arrive at majority decisions—right or wrong—through their own appraisals of the facts at hand.

A free press will continue to offer personal opinion, qualified and openly presented as editorial expression of the newspaper editor. The reader has the right to agree or to disagree. He may even write a letter for newspaper publication.

If there is any mandate in the 1948 election, Michigan or otherwise, it is a mandate for the press to report truthfully, to interpret honestly, and to let the people choose their own path. In the fulfillment of this mission lies the real power of the press.

Farmers Overlook Tax Exemptions

Many farmers have not taken full advantage of the exemptions to which they are entitled in computing their net farm incomes, asserted Donald Curry, county agricultural agent, Wednesday.

"To better acquaint farmers with the exemptions provided, a meeting has been arranged for December 7. It will be held in the board of supervisors room in the county building at Mason, Everett Ellwood of the farm management department of Michigan State college will conduct the meeting.

"Income tax time for farmers is just around the corner," Curry pointed out. "The 1948 tax law provides for certain changes in computing the tax on farm 1940. The form 1940P remains fundamentally the same."

A Welcome Awaits The New Church

Mason people of all denominations hail the announcement that there is to be a Catholic church in Mason. Up until the war there was not even a Catholic mission in Mason. Catholics had to drive to Bunker Hill or Lansing to attend services. Then came the mission, primarily as a war measure. But the mission attracted enough more Catholic families to Mason so that with the close of the war there was no thought given to abandonment of the mission. Those who attended the mission grew determined to have a church and that is now in sight.

Many of our forefathers came to the New World so they could have freedom of worship. Those who settled in New England fled from the tyranny of the established Church of England. Yet there were strong Church of England colonies. There were many of the Roman Catholic faith. In fact, priests followed the French and the Spanish explorers. Priests of the Catholic church established missions throughout Canada and in Michigan and Wisconsin. Father Marquette made an illustrious name for himself and his church throughout the Great Lakes region. In the Southwest the Catholic fathers followed the Sante Fe Trail. They established missions throughout the Southwest and in California.

The Catholic fathers converted many Indians to Christianity. Just about the only Indians remaining are those whose forefathers lived near the missions and came under the influence of the church. French Canada, New Mexico, Arizona, Southern California, Mexico and most of Central South America have many Indians. The early Indians were saved from savagery by the Catholic priests. They were thus spared the savagery of the white settlers.

The mission established by the Catholics in Mason a few years ago was not to convert savages but to minister to the spiritual needs of Catholics here. Yet it well to reflect upon the great history of the Catholic church. It is well for all of us to recall that the freedom of the Pilgrims and Puritans to worship as their consciences dictated was the same freedom granted the Catholic colonies throughout the New World. The history of the Catholic church is as much intertwined with the glorious history of this nation as is the history of the Pilgrims and Puritans and the Quakers.

All church groups of the community join in welcoming the decision of the mission leaders to build a church in Mason.

Political Corpses Are Lively

Rigor mortis and putrefaction come on slowly with political corpses.

From May until November 2 nearly every political dopest in the country had the Democratic party dead. The last rites were to be conducted November 2. Strangely enough, the corpse revived. Now the same dopesters are claiming that the Republican party is dead or dying, that the death throes started to set in on November 2; that everything the party stood for is dead and should be buried.

The prophets are as wrong now as they were on November 2, as they were last May. The Republican party is not dead, or even dying. The Democratic party was not dead November 1. It wouldn't have been dead had Governor Dewey been elected.

Americans learned that the prophets know nothing about the outcome of an election. Americans know that the prophets were as wrong as they could be about the death of the Democratic party. Why should anyone believe that the prophets are right this time when they come up with the prophecy that the Republican party is dead?

We Must Build The Street

There should be no delay in extending Mason street when the right of way is provided. And every member of the city council should see that every effort is made to secure the right of way for the street extension.

Twenty-four families now use the twisting trail which winds around the brink of the old Waggoner pit. The roadway is so narrow that cars cannot pass over a third of the route. In winter the men and women who are employed have to leave their cars at the road, in some cases a half-mile away. Children have to wade the snow drifts to and from school. In the winter milk trucks and cars driven by doctors can not reach the homes.

The building lots were sold because they were cheap. People bought them so they could build homes of their own. Some of the houses are in the process of building, and the process is stretched over two or three or four years as family building funds become available.

Legally the city may have no right to expend public funds on a private right of way. Yet the legal technicality should be waived if a right of way can not be provided and a passable road built on the new right of way before winter comes. Whether the present trail is private property or has become a public thoroughfare by continued use, city equipment should be used to improve the road, to improve it to the extent that snowplows can be operated this winter.

The people who live north of where North Mason street ends are entitled to a safe road, whether it is on public or private property. And after the road is provided, sewer and water services should also be extended. The city permitted the residential area to be developed. It is now up to the city to provide streets, sewers and water.

We'll Count The Votes Again

George D. Stevens of Flint, defeated by Rep. William W. Blackney for congressman, isn't satisfied with the way the votes were counted. At any rate, he isn't satisfied with the result. The official canvass gives Blackney a lead of 784. Stevens has announced his intention of asking congress to have a recount.

In his announcement regarding the congressional recount, Stevens was quoted as saying he knows of no instances of fraud or irregularities. But he intends to ask for a recount anyway.

So we'll count the votes again in the sixth district. In Lansing and Flint the count will mean little as voting machines are used. In the balance of the district the ballot boxes will be reopened and employees of the elections committee of congress will check the count. If it were a state office the state board of canvassers would conduct the recount, but congress has the right to pass upon the qualifications of its own members.

Shortly after January 1 we'll again count the votes cast November 2 in the sixth congressional district—the 73,465 which the canvassers said were cast for Blackney and the 72,681 for Stevens. With no charges of fraud or irregularities made the recount should be just a matter of arithmetic.

Constitutional Convention Might Consider One-House Legislature as Needed Change

By Vernon J. Brown

There appears still to be some doubt as to whether or not the proposal to call a constitutional convention was carried at the November elections. The governor and some of his legal advisors contend that in order for such a convention to be legally called, those who vote in favor must constitute a majority of all those who voted on any and all matters at the election when the proposal was submitted. Other good lawyers, including the attorney general and members of his staff, contend that such an interpretation cannot be supported. They point out the difficulty if not the impossibility of determining with exactness just how many voters did vote at such an election. Those who hold to the latter belief say that a majority of those voting upon this particular question is the deciding factor.

The courts will probably be called upon, sooner or later, to decide the question. Until then there is no harm in speculating on just how such a convention would proceed and just how far its membership could be expected to go in framing a new constitution for Michigan and further just how far the people will go in accepting the innovations which have to be finally adopted. There will be many innovations offered.

Just to stimulate discussion and perhaps to center interest on the whole matter of our 40-year-old constitution, I should like to take up two or three subjects which in my opinion would promote more efficiency in state and local government.

One-House Legislature
The state of Nebraska several years ago adopted the so-called unicameral system of operating its legislature and electing its members. Unicameral is a term used to denote a one-chamber legislature. Nebraska has no senate or house, as such. The single unit constituting the legislature is all there is to it. Its members are elected by districts like senatorial districts, their number being somewhat greater than their old senate and yet considerably less in number than the former house of representatives. Its members are full-time, full-salary.

In view of the many faults of many people have driven to Mason to see those windows (some have even attended church services so the beauty of the windows could be viewed from the inside.) Readers remarked about the item of a few weeks ago which set forth the local Nazarene budget as $14,000.

It's big news that the Tugs have signed some bush leaguer for a try-out at second base and it's played up big. It's just as much news when the Baptists sign a new man for first base, or when the Nazarene rescue Joe Deaks from the burning, or when the Methodists take on a new batch of probationers.

For instance, here's big news that the Presbyterians overlooked (and they don't overlook much in the way of publicity) this week! The biggest class of communicants in 72 years joined the church Sunday morning. Thirty-two men and women stood up to confess their faith in Jesus Christ. That's news. It can be the biggest thing that ever happened to those 32. Yet the names of the 32 didn't even appear on the church bulletin. In the general course of events they wouldn't have rated a line in the Ingham County News, even though mention would have been made had they won a trinket at a state fair before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven," have gone unheeded.

Just to again prove that Gallup can be wrong twice within a few weeks, here's the news of the 32 and I'll leave it to Gallup himself to poll readers of the Ingham County News as to the readership.

Those admitted to membership on profession of faith Sunday were Mrs. Donald Cady, Ed Ferris, Dan Garver, Mrs. Harold Hosley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kidder, Miss Betty Miller, Mrs. William Murray, Arthur Nichols, Jim Rickly, Miss Erma Rose, Miss Jeanne Swaininger and Lewis Werner. On reaffirmation of faith Donald Cady, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Henson, Mrs. V. L. Palmer, Howard J. Schlichter and Mrs. Lewis Werner were admitted. New members by affiliation are William Fox from St. Paul's Episcopal church in Flint, and Mrs. R. B. Inghram, Jr., from the All-Saints Episcopal church, Bayside, New York.

Those who were accepted into membership by letter Sunday were Mrs. Ed Ferris from the Lutheran Apostolic church, New York Mills, Minnesota; Mrs. William Fox, First Presbyterian church, Flint; Mr. Presbyterian church, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hamman from the Bethesda Evangelical Lutheran church of Detroit, Harold Hosley from the Vicksburg Methodist church, Robert Inghram from the Mason Methodist church, William Murray from the Holt Presbyterian church in Flint, and Mrs. Ed Inghram, Jr., from the Olivet Baptist church of Lansing, Mrs. Harold Scodell from the Woodlawn Avenue Baptist church of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith R. Taylor from the St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church of South Bend, Indiana.

All readers who didn't read the two preceding paragraphs are asked to notify George E. Gallup at once.

The trouble is, church leaders have not presented the real news of the churches; just the comparatively trivial items have been printed. The admonitions, "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven," have gone unheeded.

present and former members of the Michigan legislature and in view of the antics of our present state senate, there might be considerable advantage for Michigan in adopting the Nebraska plan or some modification of it. May I suggest discussion on the basis of say three members of the single house from each of the congressional districts of the state. With the present 17, U. S. congressional districts the single-house legislature would number 51 members. Whenever more congressional districts might be created, then the number making up the unicameral legislature would be increased by three for each such additional congressional district.

A Shorter Ballot
The next subject I would like to have considered is the matter of shortening the state ballot. It is my contention that there should be not more than three state administrative officers elected by direct vote. These three would be the governor, the lieutenant-governor, who would preside over the single legislative house, and the auditor general. The last mentioned should be granted broad powers of control over appropriations made by the legislature and should in fact be responsible to that branch of government rather than to the governor. In short, the auditor general could well be considered a balance wheel or a check against an over-ambitious governor and his administration. All other administrative posts now filled by election are merely functional. Highway and education should be placed under strong commissions.

Whatever else might be considered for possible change the whole article on county, township, city and village government should be re-written. There is such a vast difference between such a township as Vevay and Lansing township in Ingham county, to cite but two in the whole state as examples, that no rigid constitutional requirements can possibly be written to serve both. As for the strictly rural townships, local autonomy has just about disappeared or been rendered to the counties and the townships surrounding the larger cities of the state, the old type of township government no longer is adequate or suitable.

The whole field of the public schools and tax-supported colleges should have a complete overhaul. District boundaries and the means of meeting the cost of operation are sadly out of tune with modern day demands. I repeat what I said last week about a possible constitutional convention. Those who seek the honor of serving in the capacity of members should have the most rigid screening possible. Only those of proved integrity, acknowledged capacity, personal and practical knowledge of the operations of state and local government and understanding of today's social and economic problems should be considered. No text book experts or technical experimenters ought to be allowed to sit. The place for these individuals is on the sidelines as advocates of their pet theories and fanciful ideas.

It has a large pouch in each cheek where it stores quantities of food, taking it back to its nest and depositing it for future use. The hamster is a very clean animal and he washes himself thoroughly after the slightest touch from human hands. Mr. Smith said that the breed was first imported from Syria about 1930. This is the only one as far as is known in this community.

CROP Relief Quota for State Is Set at 100 Carloads of Food

The Christian Rural Overseas Relief program—C. R. O. P.—has set 100 carloads of foodstuffs for the needy overseas as the goal of the state drive opening this week.

President John A. Hannah of Michigan State college, chairman of the committee, has announced that the state CROP office under the direction of Ben Hennink has completed organization of the 12 districts in the 83 counties.

With the opening of the CROP drive Michigan joins 33 other states where the church-sponsored program of relief for Europe and Asia is now in operation.

The program is sponsored by Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief, church agencies of Catholic and Protestant groups which have active relief agencies now operating in foreign lands.

Through this program, which avoids the pitfalls of "black market" distribution and inadequate family coverage of needy groups, the farmers of America give gifts of their crops which are distributed to the needy of the world.

The drive in Michigan is stressing the whole grain, wheat, soybeans, oats, dried milk, beans, sugar, corn and honey.

State Director Hennink stressed the fact that "all gifts will actually go into the hands of those who need them most. Letters come into the national CROP office almost daily telling the officials there that CROP contributions get into the hands of worthy, needy people."

Further information on this program can be secured from the office of the county agent.

Farm Week Set For January 24-28

Michigan's biggest winter agricultural event, Farmers' Week, is set for January 24 to 28 on the Michigan State college campus in East Lansing. Record crowds are expected again this year.

Committees appointed by the dean of agriculture, E. L. Anthony, are now engaged in scheduling the week's programs. Demonstrations, feature speakers, exhibits, and displays are being arranged. Many farm organizations choose Farmers' Week for meetings.

The general outline of programs will follow previous years. Monday, January 24, will be Dairy Day; the annual farm building conference will also begin then. Wednesday evening is again set aside for banquets by a number of organizations.

Evergreen Windbreak Protects Farmstead

When planning the layout for improving the farmstead include a good evergreen windbreak to provide protection from prevailing winds. Plant the windbreak back about 150 feet from the buildings that are to be protected. As for depth of the windbreak, one row is good, two rows better and three rows will give still more protection. Space the trees about 18 feet apart.

Improved Homes Head Want List Of Many Farmers

Many farm families will be in a good position to make home improvements in 1949, since it promises to be another good year for farm income.

Farm families who expect to make necessary home improvements or buy needed equipment, and have the money to do so, should not wait, advises Olivia Meyer, home management specialist at Michigan State college.

Farm families who have not accumulated savings may have to wait for improvements, payment of debts or investments.

There is the possibility that should prices be lower in the future, funds may not be available. Although it may cost more to put running water at present, the family can enjoy its comfort and convenience now. This may pay off greater dividends in labor savings, health and happiness than the amount of money saved by waiting, Miss Meyer believes.

Farm produce will buy more of some things today than it did before the war. For example, the milk from one dairy cow would pay nearly twice as much on a refrigerator in 1948 as it did in 1935-39. It would buy about the same amount of lumber as it did in the pre-war period.

Before farm families go all out for making home improvements they need to do some planning. One of the first considerations they need to make is whether the farm can pay for and maintain the improvements they expect to make.

It may be necessary to make some improvements in the farming business to insure a continuous income for the family and the home, adds the home management specialist. For some families it may mean buying a new tractor, more fertilizer or building a new milk house before home improvements can be made.

Market Trends Viewed By Expert

Production in the Detroit milkshed is running about the same as in the corresponding period of 1947, but the week of October 25th was approximately two per cent below that of the previous week, according to H. H. Varney in the "Michigan Milk Messenger."

Production in the other Michigan markets generally is running below that of one year ago. Recent releases indicate that the cattle-consumer ratio this winter is about one cow per 6.5 consumers, the lowest in many years as compared with one to 5.5 ratio in 1944. High production per cow that is being obtained is the result of heavy feeding, and good pastures in the last few months, he said.

Production in the Detroit area has been running 17 per cent below September sales, which indicates that allocation of milk to the various distributors may be necessary. Prices in many of the federal order markets have declined, both to producers and consumers, as a result of the farmer price being tied directly to the condenser prices.

Average price paid by the 18 Midwestern condenseries for the first fifteen days of October declined to $3.61 for 3.5% milk. The decline in producer price has been so rapid that immediate steps have been taken to place a floor under the price, for fear it might seriously endanger the milk supply during the next few months, if something is not done, for example, the Toledo area held a hearing November 4, at which time a proposal was made that Class 1 and 2 milk for the remainder of 1948 and through February, 1949, sell for not less than the prices in effect for the same classes of milk in September, 1948, Varney said.

The prices of manufactured dairy products is continuing to be unsteady, but it is hoped that since the election is a matter of history, the government may step in the picture, and stabilize the manufacturing market. Even though at the moment the relationship of the fluid milk prices in Michigan is somewhat out of line with normal relationships that exist between fluid milk markets and milk purchased by the manufacturing plants, it is not anticipated that there will be any reduction because of increased milk that is available to meet the requirements during the short months just ahead of us.

The October issue of the Marketing Transportation Situation, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, carried a notation stating that eleven dairy firms, engaged in the processing and distributing of dairy products, averaged profits of 10.7 per cent of the invested capital, the highest rate of return on invested capital with the exception of 1946, since 1935. When the increased capital in the United States is taken into consideration, the operating profit for dairy farmers on their enterprise is far below any such average.

Fluid milk prices in all the markets which the association is operating for the month of November will be the same as prevailed in the month of October, and with the exception of one market, there will be no requests for price meetings. The October price in the Detroit market was $3.37 for base milk and $3.62 for excess milk.

Drying Wet Corn Prevents Mold

Since the corn crop has been cribbed, reports have been coming from various sections of the state about the high moisture content causing the corn to mold.

Agricultural engineers at Michigan State college say that high moisture corn should be spread out on the barn floor, machinery shed, or any other place available.

If no protected area is free, corn can be spread out on a mat of straw or hay, or on poles or boards. The layer of corn must not be more than two feet thick. Inspect the corn daily for evidence of mold on the top, spread in thinner layers if necessary.

Blowing cold air through cribs will keep corn cool and prevent molding, the engineers say. Heated air is needed, however, to accomplish satisfactory drying. If you have a blower for drying hay, county agents and engineers can give details for its use in corn drying.

Hannah Is Named Grant Group Head

When congress passed legislation in 1882 establishing funds whereby other states could set up a college patterned after Michigan Agricultural college it was quite an honor to Michigan.

This month Michigan was again honored when the president of the nation's first agricultural college was named president of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

Presidents and deans of the 58 land grant institutions, located in every state and territory, picked Hannah as their president of Michigan State college during the coming year. He succeeds J. L. Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota, who was last year's association president.

During the past year, President Hannah headed two committees of the association which held particular importance to agricultural and rural people. One was the legislative committee which allowed him to make several appearances before senate and house committees on agriculture and education. He also was chairman of a joint committee studying the cooperative extension program. This committee, named by the secretary of agriculture and the association, reviewed the extension program and made suggestions of ways it could further serve the people.

Tests Named For Quality Masonry

A few helpful things to look for when buying cement blocks were listed recently by James S. Boyd, agricultural engineer at Michigan State college.

He points out that quality block should have sharp straight edges and corners and should meet strength, absorption and moisture content tests. Strength requirements apply to block made of cinders, processed slag and burnt clay or shale as well as those made of sand and gravel.

It is highly important that the block be dry when placed in a wall. Blocks that are not dry should be piled with the cores horizontal and aligned so that the air will have a free passage through the pile. Protect the pile of blocks from rain.

Results of recent tests will help to identify good quality concrete masonry. Ask to see them when you make your purchase, the engineer advises.

Alfalfa Needs Fertilizer
Fertilization is the key to successful alfalfa production. The less fertile the soil the more commercial fertilizers must be applied to get a good yield.

Speed of Jack Rabbits
A jack rabbit can run faster than a race horse, according to World Book encyclopedia. The jack rabbit has been clocked at 45 mph while top race horse speed is only 42.3 mph.

Let's hope you never see smoke coming from your silo caused by spontaneous combustion. But if it does happen, take a tip from the Kansas farmer who conferred hastily with extension agents and then called a chemical company to bring a number of cakes of dry ice. The ice was dropped in from the top of the silo and the fire went out. The dry ice or carbon dioxide method has also been used to fight fires in hay mows.

KEEP WATER DRINKABLE

If you've ever tried to drink a glass of frozen water, you'll know how the hens feel when they get up in the morning and find the water solid. They need plenty of water for egg production. You'll help the hens and help your income if you'll keep their water drinkable. It's cheap egg production insurance.

Extension Plans June Grass Days

Grass days will be held in Michigan again next June to encourage the use of more high quality legumes and grasses on Michigan's farms.

Michigan's cooperative extension service, with cooperation from soil conservation district officials and others, will again sponsor the events throughout the state. Last June, approximately 30,000 farm people saw the dozen demonstrations.

Richard W. Bell, Michigan State college farm crops specialist, again headed the state committee announced this week by C. V. Ballard, director of the extension service. Bell says the same general plan will be followed in the 1949 grass days as was used in the 1948 events. Foot tours of the demonstration plots will be held in the morning. After a brief speaking program at noon, there will be demonstrations on the use of modern haymaking machinery.

"We hope to stress the utilization of good grass and legumes in the 1949 events," Bell said, speaking for the committee in charge. Others serving with Bell on the state committee will include: E. D. Longnecker, soil scientist; J. J. Bell, agricultural engineer; Graydon Blank, animal husbandryman; J. G. Hays, dairy husbandryman; and Earl C. Richardson, extension editor. All except Hays served on the committee for the first series in 1948.

J. G. Wells, Jr., supervisor for the extension program in the upper peninsula, said agents there had not definitely determined whether three grass days would be held in the upper peninsula again in 1949. Decision will be reached soon, officials say. The eight locations for grass day events in lower Michigan have been selected and dates will be picked later. They will all be held in June.

The following locations have been selected and the county agricultural agents in charge of arrangements include:

Hillsdale county, Duane Sanford farm near Allen, 6 miles west of Hillsdale on M-49, Blair Woodman, county agent; Livingston county, Krause farm at Hartland, Charles R. Kaufman, county agent; Barry county, Reginald Crider farm, 5 miles west of Middleville on M-37, Leven S. Armbruster, county agent; Isabella county, Ed Block and son farm, five miles west and three miles north of Mt. Pleasant on Beal City road, E. C. Mellencamp, county agent;

Ogemaw county, Leo Greiner farm, eight miles northwest of Hart, Harvey Elliott, county agent; Sanilac county, Floyd Dale farm, three miles east of Marlette, Clarence E. Prentice, county agent; Ogemaw county, Fred Sheppard and Sons farm, seven miles east and one and one-half miles north of West Branch, Ralph B. Coulter, county agent; Cheboygan county, Arnold Ostrander farm, one mile north and one and one-half miles east of Afton, E. W. Alchin, county agent.

Livestock Men Expect Good Year

Michigan livestock producers can look forward to 1949 as another good year. This word comes from Michigan State college farm economists who say that high personal incomes will probably keep meat and livestock prices strong.

They point out that at a time of high prices, short term operations are less likely to result in losses than in the past. There's a severe price decline. There's a caution, however, seasonal prices for livestock are again approaching prewar patterns, the economists believe.

Last year cattlemen were faced with high-priced feed. Now, feed supplies have become more abundant and feeders are high-priced. Demand is keeping the price of stock and feeder cattle high. Feeders should plan to make their profit on efficient feeding—it won't be safe to depend on the "spread."

Hog producers face a good year. Pork is expected to be the one meat that increases next year's red meat supply. A favorable hog-corn ratio is expected throughout 1949 but economists think it will pay to push hogs for early fall slaughter to avoid the expected big increase of marketing of spring pigs. Hogs will be supported at 90 per cent of parity until the end of 1949. Farmers who have plenty of corn and are tempted to feed hogs to heavy weights are cautioned to watch price differentials between weight classifications before adding those last few pounds.

Sheep are at the lowest number since any time after the Civil War. The 1949 output of lamb and mutton is expected to be even smaller than 1948. Lamb feeding is expected to be profitable this year for those who have a good supply of grain and roughage. Only good-looking feeders should be fed, the economists conclude.

The 1949 Outlook In Brief

From "Michigan Farm Economics," published by Michigan State college extension service.

A strong demand for most farm products is expected in 1949. Farm product prices and cash receipts from farm marketings in 1949 may average almost as high as in 1948. Farm production costs are expected, however, to remain high. The result will likely be less net income to farmers in 1949.

General economic activity will be maintained at a high level in 1949. There is even a possibility of further inflation—but further price advances will be chiefly in non-farm commodities.

Although there is no immediate prospect of a farm depression, caution is the watchword on long-term credit commitments.

Favorable Factors

1. A period of inflation still exists. Consumer incomes will continue high in 1949.
2. Government spending already committed for defense will add further inflationary pressures.
3. Public spending—national, state and local governments—for roads, schools and other needed improvements will be at a high level.
4. Private spending for construction—homes, factories, stores and public utilities—will continue high and help maintain full employment.
5. The European recovery program will continue in high gear to bolster the export market.
6. Population in the United States will be about 1 1/2 million greater in 1949 than in 1948. That expands our home market.
7. Lower grain prices means more favorable feed ratios for Michigan livestock farmers.
8. Farm price supports will cushion most declines with a 90 per cent of parity floor—and the parity index (prices paid by farmers) will continue high.

Unfavorable Factors

1. Marketing costs will be high. Transportation and wage costs are still going up. The farmer will get a smaller share of the consumer's dollar.
2. Special sales, price wars and reduced production will be evident in some industrial lines.
3. The foreign market for agricultural products is dwindling. Food production in Europe is getting back to normal. Scarce dollars will be used first for machinery and other industrial goods.

field and temporary. Much depends on how much is spent in 1949 for rearming Western Europe and our own country. A decrease would favor a slow-down of our economic machine—a major increase would result in more inflation. Actual war would change the entire economic outlook, with controls being reimposed in rapid order.

Speaker Insists Seventh Day Is Proper Sabbath

"The seventh-day sabbath (commonly called Saturday) was instituted by Christ, the Creator, set apart and sanctified by Him and remains until the present time the Lord's day," declared Bible Lecturer R. K. Krick at the Legion Memorial building Sunday night. The speaker asserted that Christ, as the Creator, made only one sabbath and kept that same sabbath when He was on earth nineteen hundred years ago.

"The seventh-day sabbath will be kept in the earth made new when all the righteous will come to worship the Lord from one sabbath to another," the speaker asserted. Krick quoted scriptures to show that Christ was the Creator and therefore He made the sabbath, as recorded in Genesis.

"Jesus Himself said in Mark 2:27, 28 that He is for all mankind, not only for the Jews," Krick insisted. "The Lord's day is none other than the seventh day sabbath," continued the speaker, "for the seventh day of the week is the only day that the Lord claims as His own. He has promised us a blessing if we 'turn not away our feet from the sabbath, from doing our pleasure on His holy day.'"

"The Sabbath is the birthday of the world; therefore another day cannot be substituted in its stead," Krick insisted. "If your birthday is November 21, but you want to celebrate it on November 22, the fact still remains that the 21st is your birthday. No one can change the fact that you were born on that day. So it is with the sabbath. God made the earth in six days, then on the seventh day He rested. Congress cannot change it. God Himself cannot change it. Thus the Lord's day, Saturday, is the memorial of this world, and the recreation which Christ performs in a Christian."

Next Sunday night's subject is announced as "The Mysterious Number 666." The lecture will be based on the prophecy of Revelation, Chapter 13. A musical program begins each Sunday evening at 7:30, the speaker announced.

Successful Blood Filter Developed in Detroit

The story of the development of a much-needed new type of blood filter at Harper Hospital in Detroit, was recently revealed in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The new filter, of "bakelite"-impregnated cotton cloth, is the first to successfully meet all the requirements of being efficient, free from technical difficulties, disposable, and inexpensive.

The need for such a filter has existed ever since earliest investigations showed that fibrin particles, clumps of white blood cells, and even small blood clots occur in blood stored for even a few hours. These must be filtered out before the blood can be safely used for transfusions.

Until about two years ago, the best type of blood filter developed was made of stainless steel mesh, formed into closed cylinders and enclosed in a glass housing. They were so costly that repeated use was necessary, and they were difficult to clean properly.

Just before the close of World War II, doctors of medicine concerned with the blood bank at Harper Hospital procured some "bakelite"-impregnated filter paper. Through this early material did not prove suitable for blood transfusion purposes, the principle of resin-treated materials did seem very promising.

With salvaged red blood cells from Red Cross blood donor service, dozens of fabrics were tested. It was finally decided that cotton cloth with a mesh of 90 to 100 square per inch, when impregnated with the resin, was ideal for filtering human blood. The cloth was then thoroughly treated for any possible toxic effects.

Since then, over 11,000 transfusions have been given with this filter at Harper Hospital, and it has been standard equipment in four other Detroit hospitals.

BARK THAT BITES—To test various types of insulating coatings for telephone wires, Bell Laboratories maintain a dense birch forest in New Jersey. Wires strung through the forest show how different materials resist the rubbing action of tree limbs under actual outdoor conditions.

50,000 GRAINS OF COAL—Did you know there was coal in your telephone? Actually, there are about 50,000 grains of it—behind the diaphragm of the mouthpiece. This is enough to cover a surface about the size of a dime. Coal is used in telephones because it can translate the vibrations of your voice into electric waves on wires. These waves can be sent to another telephone, where they are converted back into your "voice."

HANDY HUNTING GROUND—It's easy to locate a doctor, veterinarian, farm equipment dealer, feed and grain supplier or any of the countless other people you need to call at one time or another.
