Father and Son Re-Open Garage

Gerald Parsons and his son, William Parsons, have leased the former Al Torrance garage on Maple street. They plan to open the garage October 15. Parsons has been in Mason automobile business almost all of his life. The partnership plans to sell Sinclair gas and oil and accessories and do light service work.

Parsons has been employed at the A. A. Howlett Implement Co. before that he worked 33 years for his father, J. B. Dean and Roy Christensen, 3 Ford dealers in Mason.

The son is employed by the Ingham county road commission. He plans to continue working for the county until the business is definitely in motion, he stated. The younger Parsons returned from serving in Korea about a year ago.

Council Will Clamp Down on New City Plats

Mason's city council plans to clamp down on wild acceptances of platted building sites. Under present conditions, the city makes individual arrangements with each subdivider. Sometimes the city pays for half the cost of curb and gutter, sometimes more and sometimes less. There is no set standard for a subdivider to count on.

"The acceptance of plats on an individual basis is not good," Mayor C. H. Hall stated at the meeting. "There is a chance for favoritism plus the added hazard of the city holding the money bag for completion of the plat. I believe that the plats should be serviced with water, storm and sanitary sewer and streets before the city ever accepts them. The cost of the services can be added to the price of the lots."

The proposed clamp would have a double benefit, Hall explained. It would reduce shoe-string developments which do little to benefit the city. It would also encourage construction on available desirable lots scattered throughout the city, he added.

The council held up an ordinance which would regulate the acceptance of plats by the city at the meeting Monday night. City Attorney Howard McCowan was asked by the council to further prepare the ordinance for adoption at the next meeting.

Councilmen agreed at the Monday night meeting to fix a 50% increase minimum for water furnished outside of the city. The council was prompted to the decision after the Vevay township board applied for city water service.

"People who use water outside of the city should expect to pay a higher rate than those who live within," Hall claimed at the meeting. "They have made no investment in the $1,000,000 water and sewer plant as the townspeople have done."

Vevay board members accepted the increase without a qualm. The increase will make little difference to the township for the trickle of water which it will use in the town hall.

The water rate increase is only to set a precedent, according to the mayor. Some time, a larger user outside the city may ask for water and the city could not afford to furnish it at the regular rate, he stated.

Crash Hurts Two At Intersection

Mrs. Max Bement received deep cuts on her face when the car in which she was riding crashed with one driven by Delores Bowser, 18, Wednesday night. The accident occurred at the Maple and Rogers street intersection.

Janette Bowser, 13, sister of Delores, received a broken nose and tooth and cuts. Neither of the drivers, Max Bement nor Miss Bowser, was injured.

The Bowser car was traveling east on Maple street. The Bement car was driving south on Rogers which is a stop street. For years Maple street was the stop street and Rogers was the through street. Two weeks ago the Mason city council agreed to the sign switch upon the recommendation of Councilman Ralph Strope.

The Bowers were returning from seeing the show. They live on Rogers street. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowser.

The Bowser girl was released from the hospital Wednesday night. Bement was held until Thursday morning. His wife is being treated at the Mason General hospital.

City Plans to Take Vote on Sewer Bonding

Mason's city council plans to put an estimated $117,843 bond issue before the people at the spring election. The proposed bond will finance the rebuilding of the disposal plant at an estimated cost of $21,648, a sewer which would cover the southwest section of the city and a lifting station and sewer line from Mable Court north to Jefferson avenue.

The sewer program has been recommended and urged by the state stream control commission. Sewage now seeps into the Sycamore creek to the point of pollution, according to the commission.

The re-vamping must be done by 1953, according to the state commission.

Julius A. Hanslovsky, consulting engineer from East Lansing, will appear before the councilmen at the next meeting to organize the procedure for bonding.

Plans for the disposal plant include a new digester at an estimated cost of $84,205.

The proposed plan in the southwest section calls for a new sewer line from Oak street west of the Sycamore creek to Cherry street with a lift pump at the corner of Lansing and Cherry streets.

Sewer construction in this area would amount to an estimated $5,290. The lift station is necessary because the southwest sewer level would be on lower ground than the existing sewer system. It would cost $10,950. A force main and the engineering costs would add another $3,450 and $1,068.

At the present, homes in the southwest section, meet sanitary requirements with septic tanks and field drains.

Hanslovsky will recommend the best types of bond issues to present at the spring election when he meets with the council a week from Monday.

Auto Crash Hurts Dr. A. V. Smith

Dr. A. V. Smith of Mason received a broken shoulder and deep cuts in an automobile crash at the corner of Harrison and Mt. Hope roads Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Shirley Butler of Lansing drove the other car. She received a fractured left collar bone and cuts. With Mrs. Butler was Mildred Sibert of Lansing who received fractured ribs and cuts and Vivian Rogers of Williams-ton who received a fractured left arm.

Dr. Smith was traveling north on Harrison road. The Butler car was going west on Mt. Hope. Clarence Diehl of Dansville was the first to arrive at the scene of the accident. He found the doctor broken through a fence and into a field.

Dr. Smith was taken to the Mason General hospital. He was released Sunday. Riders in the Butler car were taken to the Sparrow hospital in Lansing for treatment.

Dr. Smith is recovering at his home south of Mason. Dr. William Clark is his physician.

WILEY HURTS LEG

Elwin Wiley, employee of Consumers Power Co., injured his leg with a climbing spur while walking through brush on W. Columbia road Tuesday.

Husband Will Not Sign Complaint Following Knifing

Charles McMann of Leslie lies in the Mason General hospital with an ice pick wound near his heart. His wife has admitted to sheriff's officers that she stabbed him with the pick following a drinking bout and quarrel early Wednesday morning. The husband refuses to testify or to sign a complaint against his wife.

The prosecutor has not issued a warrant to the woman.

According to Mrs. McMann, her husband, another man and herself were out Tuesday night on a drinking party. The 3 returned to the McMann house where McMann turned on the other man and Mrs. McMann. They both were beaten. The man left and McMann went to bed.

Mrs. McMann told officers that she stabbed her husband while he was in bed.

The woman, mother of 7 children under 9 years old, ran to the home of Justice of the Peace J. W. Grugel and said she had killed her husband. McMann was found alive. Mrs. McMann signed a warrant charging her husband with assault and battery. McMann was taken to the Ingham county jail in Mason. He was later removed to the Mason General hospital.

Record Register For Fall Election

Mason people chalked up a record registration list for voting at the general election November 4. City Clerk George Kellogg registered 183 new voters. The new voters in addition to the 1897 residents who registered for the primary election make a total of 2082.

However, the actual registration list will be somewhat smaller, Kellogg stated. Deaths and those who have moved away since the last election will reduce the number, he explained.

The compiled list of registered voters was not available Thursday.

There were 87 new registrants in the first precinct. Ninety-eight were registered in the second precinct. The precinct division splits the city evenly. According to the rough figures, voters registered in the first precinct amount to 1063. In the second precinct there are 1019 registered voters.

Council Appoints New Constable

Members of the city council appointed Chief of Police Ralph Hall as city constable at the meeting Monday night. His term will expire at the pleasure of the council.

Under the city charter, the city may have two constables. In the past, Milton Beebe and Emory Colby, acted as constables. Beebe's term expired last November. Colby will expire a year from November. Hall is taking Beebe's place as constable.

SUPERVISORS WILL MEET

Members of the Ingham county board of supervisors will meet for the October session on Monday. The bulk of the year's appointments to county boards, approval of the 1953 budget and the setting of county salaries will occupy most of their attention. The October session is the biggest and busiest session of the year, according to County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard.

Court Rules Town Boards Sit Illegally

Township justices of the peace have been serving illegally on township boards since 1846. The decision on the justices was reached by the Michigan supreme court Monday.

The court declared that justices of the peace cannot legally sit as members of a township board. The statutes since 1846 have stated that the 2 township justices whose terms first expire shall, with the supervisor, clerk and treasurer, form the township board.

The case grew from a controversy in Dearborn township in Wayne county.

The court declared that justices, being in the judicial branch of government, cannot legally serve on the boards which are part of the administrative branch. However, for more than a century, they have served in that capacity. Never before has the high court been asked to decide the legality. The court now declares that the justices are violating the constitutional provision that the powers of the judicial, legislative and executive branches be kept separate.

Township governments in heavily-populated sections of the state are big. They operate fire departments, police forces and float huge bonds. In these townships, the justices enter into judicial work and also play a major part on the township boards. However, in most townships, the justices have little to do with judicial work. Their sole job lies in serving on the board.

Asked as to the possible effects of this radical departure from accepted procedure, an assistant attorney general stated Wednesday that the department has not made a formal interpretation of what is left of existing statutes. The matter will undoubtedly come up before the October session of the Ingham county board of supervisors which opens Monday. It will probably also be taken up by the 1953 legislature.

To make the membership of the present township boards legal, new statutes providing for justices will have to be established.

To Make 1952 A Record Year

Ingham's cold snap hasn't meant a thing to the steady climb of polio cases. There are 16 new cases of the dread disease in the county this week. Two cases were reported in out-county Ingham. The others are in Lansing.

The county has spiraled to a total of 162 polio cases so far this year. In the record year of 1949, there were 154 cases. Thirteen have died so far this year from polio. There were 18 deaths in 1949. However, the 1952 year has nearly 3 months to go.

Leslie Girl Dies

Judy Ann Howe, 4, died Sunday from polio. The little Leslie girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Howe. She became sick 4 days before her death. Funeral services were held at the Luecht funeral home in Leslie Wednesday afternoon.

George Rouse, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rouse, was removed from the isolation ward at the Sparrow hospital annex Wednesday. The Mason boy was diagnosed as a polio victim last Wednesday. On Saturday, surgeons inserted a tube in the boy's throat in the fight to save his life. He has improved, but is still not out of danger, doctors stated Thursday.

Duane Luke, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Luke of Kinnerville road near Leslie, was taken to the Jackson isolation hospital last Tuesday. He has a mild case, doctors said.

Victim Has Birthday

Robert Steadman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. X. Steadman, observed his 14th birthday in the Sparrow hospital annex Sunday. The Mason boy is in fair condition. He was taken to the hospital September 25 with bulbar polio. Both arms are paralyzed.

The polio season has gone wild, according to doctors. Past years indicate that the polio cases drop sharply with cold weather. That hasn't been the case this year. Health department officials warn parents to keep children as quiet and relaxed as possible and above all to get plenty of rest.

Farm Home Burns While the Owners Work in Lansing

While Mr. and Mrs. Guy Elliott were working in Lansing Tuesday night, their home on Aurelius road was gutted by flames, smoke and water. The fire was caused by a faulty radio connection, according to Mason firemen and insurance adjusters. The damage will approach $8,000.

Albert Wolf of East Lansing discovered the flames as he was returning home from seeing his

OFFICERS SEEK ARSONIST

Detective Russell Kitzinger of the state fire marshal's office and Lt. Versie Babcock of the sheriff's department began an investigation Thursday morning to seek a possible arsonist in the Elliott home. There have been 8 fires within a mile radius of the Elliott home in the past 4 months, Babcock stated. There are some definite clues which point to deliberate fires, he added.

brother-in-law, Ernest Nichols, on Elliott road. Wolf and his family ran to the darkened house to arouse the occupants. However, the house was empty. All doors to the house were locked. Wolf called the Mason fire department.

The fire started in the kitchen. Flames cut a vertical hole in the south side of the house which reached the roof. Smoke and heat penetrated the rest of the house. Heat was so intense in one bedroom that 4 boxes of shotgun shells exploded, yet no flames entered the room.

Elliott has $3,000 insurance on contents. He stated that the loss will surpass that figure.

"I figure a complete loss on the furniture and rugs," Elliott stated Wednesday. Clothing was scorched and burned.

The Elliotts had a new refrigerator and stove in the kitchen. Those and other appliances were ruined.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Elliott work at the Fisher Body Corp. in Lansing. They left the house at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon. They were notified of the fire while at their jobs at 10 p. m.

Ford Lenon of Mason owned the house. He had a $2,000 insurance policy with the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

FARMERS And Country Home Owners

Whether you have a 300-acre farm or a 3-acre country home

Are You Satisfied with the Amount of Fire Insurance You Carry on Your House and Barns?

Remember—As A Rule When Country Buildings Get Started They Usually Burn To The Ground. Would you like your FARM, FIRE and WIND POLICY COMBINED into one policy, one company, one agent?

FARM OWNERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO. is noted for giving farmers and country home owners more coverage per building than some companies.

We found a man whose fire insurance company would not let him have more than $2,000 on his house. That would just about do a good job building a two-car garage. We wrote it for $4,500 fire and wind, all in one policy, all with one company—The Farm Owners Mutual.

FIRE AND WIND POLICIES COMBINED—Extended Coverage (Wind and Cyclone) is also extended to include HAIL, EXPLOSION, FALL OF AIRCRAFT and other protections not usually found in a common wind policy. We can write your fire and wind protection all in one policy. Come in and get our low rates on old insurance.

Let us show you why we believe you will be more satisfied with fire and wind (extended coverage) all in one policy, one company and one agent. If your wind policy expires now, and your fire policy expires at a later date, we can combine the two without having double coverage. But be sure to contact us before you pay your wind insurance premium.

Let us appraise your property, show you how much coverage we will allow on each building. Did you read about a $10,000 fire partially covered by insurance—probably about $4,000 to $6,000? Can you afford to take a loss? Remember, as a rule if a barn or house in the country catches on fire—they are likely to go to the ground. Don't wait until the last minute to find out about this sensational insurance proposition, as we are expecting to hear from more country people than we can possibly call on before the next two months are up. Last year we could not call on every one.

Send me a post card, give us a call or stop in at the office and let us give you complete information. We will try to get to your place as soon as possible to appraise the property.

P. S.—Ask your lumber dealer—He will tell you lumber has gone up from at least 20% in the last 36 months.

Auxiliary Plans for Membership Drive

Returning from the fall conference of the American Legion and Auxiliary held in Lansing last week, Mrs. Isabelle Miller, membership chairman of Browne-Cavender Unit of Mason reports that the national organization expects to increase its membership beyond the million mark this year. Already the largest patriotic group of women in the world, the Auxiliary has begun re-enrolling its 975,000 members for 1952. "Using the Legion's slogan, 'Count on me for '52,' the Mason unit is working to enroll new members as well as last year's," said Mrs. Miller.

October is the month set aside to stress educational activities. As chairman of the education committee, Mrs. Ivah Sawyer states that there are several projects included under the term of education. On a national level, she said, there are many scholarships, loans and forms of state and federal aid available to orphans of deceased veterans. A booklet listing these aids and giving other information has been prepared by the American Legion for distribution to schools and student counselors. In the Auxiliary, 10 scholarships are awarded each year by the National president to daughters of deceased veterans, providing $600 to each of them for first year college expenses.

"Because of the many requests for them," said Mrs. Sawyer, "a number of scholarships for nurses training are now available also." "Beginning this year," continued Mrs. Sawyer, "the Department of Michigan will award 6 instead of 5 scholarships to Michigan colleges to daughters of World War veterans. These need not be orphans. A girl between the ages of 17 and 21 who is the daughter of a man or woman who saw service in either World War may apply for a scholarship."

The sixth scholarship was newly instituted this year in memory of Mrs. Ada Sangster, first president of the department of Michigan, who died last spring.

Favored Mason Loses Ground When Orioles Dish Out Loss

When the chips were down Friday night Mason came up with a combination of too much John Betty and not enough drive and desire. The result was an 18-13 victory for the Orioles and a start down the road to the Capital Circuit crown.

Friday night Mason and Everett will meet on the Viking field. Everett has a strong team but is hampered by injuries. Jerry Bentley, as good a passer as there is in the Capital Circuit, is out for the rest of the season.

Everett has won only 1 game this year. The Vikings roared by St. Mary in the opener and have been stopped by Eaton Rapids and Howell. Against Howell last Friday the Viking defense held the loaded Highlanders during the early stage of the game. Then Paul Powers, a rock in the middle of the Viking defensive unit, was taken out of the game with a leg injury. From there on in, the Highlanders had everything to themselves.

Coach Lou Lort will also be hampered by injuries for the Everett contest. Jon Davis is nursing a bad knee and Don Lyon has missed practice so far this week with a bad shoulder. Gordon Slee has moved into the fullback slot held by Davis and Dale Burgess has moved over to the pivot spot vacated by Lyon. Both of the Mason casualties will be available for at least limited service.

Betty Has Too Much

John Betty, the Charlotte quarterback with the handicapped left arm, was too much for Mason Friday night. Betty tossed passes all over the field in the second half to overcome a Mason first-half touchdown.

Mason was slow in starting. The first quarter was played in the middle of the field. Then in the second period the Mason attack smoothed out. With Davis and Jewett doing the bulk of the running the Bulldogs pushed to the Charlotte end of the field. Jewett finally bulled the ball over from the 7-yard line. The kick was wide. That ended the scoring for the first half.

Mason received to open the second half. Right off the bat the tide of battle turned. The Orioles tried an on-side kick which the Mason front line let go. It was Charlotte's ball. The Orioles were not to be denied. They marched to the Mason goal line with Dean Carey taking the ball over. Mason blocked the kick.

Charlotte came back strong after its first touchdown and took over the lead with another drive which ended with Ken Oinstead skirting around end for the marker. Again the kick was blocked.

Mason's attack bogged down until late in the quarter when the Bulldogs started up the field. Then all the gaining was erased when the officials failed to change the chain at the start of the last quarter. Mason lost the ball on downs.

Mason did not stay down for long, though. The Bulldogs drove up the field and scored with Davis lugging the ball over. With the pressure on, Jewett split the up-rights with a perfect kick and Mason was out in front 13-12.

It looked like Mason was going to be able to hold off the Orioles until Betty started to toss his perfect passes. Twice he hit Jim Young for long gains. Mason stiffened on the 20-yard line and with fourth down coming up Betty faded back for his last attempt. The Mason line converged on him. He shook off one tackler and tossed to Young waiting in the end zone for the winning tally. Time ran out before Mason could get going.

It was Betty's night all the way. The Oriole junior sparked the offense with his hard running, expert ball handling and super passing.

County Race Narrows Down To Stockbridge and Haslett

It is now Haslett and Stockbridge at the top of the Ingham County league ladder. The Panthers handed Leslie its first defeat Friday and in the process ran out its own victory string to 3 straight.

Haslett had no trouble in dumping Fowlerville 19-0.

Friday's games set the stage for the battle of the year over at Stockbridge. The Panthers and the Lakers will meet in what should be a whale of a game Wednesday, October 15.

Stockbridge hopes rest in the ability of the big Panther line to bottle up the running of Herb Hagenbuch and the passing of Jim Metro. Over at Stockbridge the accent so far this year has been on defense while Haslett has rolled up the big scores.

Friday night Williamston will play at Fowlerville. Leslie will play at Haslett. Stockbridge will meet Holt and in the afternoon Okemos will play Dansville.

There will also be a full slate of games Wednesday. All games were moved up to Wednesday from Friday because of the teachers institute to be held at Michigan State college.

Williamston will play at Dansville. Okemos will play at Holt. Fowlerville will square off at Leslie and then comes the big game with Haslett and Stockbridge.

Stockbridge will have a battle on its hands getting by Holt this Friday. The Panthers are getting better with every game.

Hagenbuch Rolls

Herb Hagenbuch hit his stride against Fowlerville. The Laker flash scored all 3 touchdowns as the indicators were shut out 19-0. He picked up one on a 40-yard reverse, picked up the second on a 40-yard punt return and scored the last one on a 4-yard plunge.

Fowlerville failed to get within the Haslett 25-yard line.

Aggies Make It Tough

Coach Ted Bauer and his Holt squad had to dig down deep in their bag of tricks in order to get by Dansville.

It was not until the last quarter that the Rams managed to get out in front to stay. Holt won 12-6.

Holt looked like the Holt of old as the Rams marched to a quick touchdown in the first quarter. Then the Aggies stiffened. For the rest of the first half and most of the second the Rams were the second best ball club on the field.

Don Douglas tied up the game with a 64-yard touchdown run on a reverse.

Then in the last minutes of the game Holt started clicking. Rex Merriott recovered an Aggie fumble on the Holt 40-yard line. Gary Dorner banged through the middle of the line for sizeable gains deep into Aggie territory then Bucky Phillips smashed over from the 7-yard line for the winning tally. Stockbridge had to come through with a touchdown in the last 2 seconds in order to save its victory streak. Up until that time it looked like the Panthers would have to settle for a scoreless tie with Leslie.

Stockbridge had hard luck most of the night. One touchdown was called back and another drive was stopped on the 1-foot line.

Passes set up the winning touchdown. Vic Jurkan passed to Bill Fouty on the 5-yard stripe and he went the rest of the way with 2 Leslie defenders trying to drag him down.

Leslie made only one serious threat. In the third period Leslie's Dick Hecksel moved the ball to the Stockbridge 20. The Panthers said that was all and took over the ball on downs.

Okemos made a first half scoring spree do for a 31-9 victory over Williamston. The Chiefs rolled up 18 points in the first half. They counted two more times in the second half. Russ Burch was the sparkplug of the Okemos attack.

Williamston could not get rolling until the final quarter. The Hornets pulled down Burch for a safety and then Dick Latham skirled end for 20 yards and a touchdown in the closing seconds of the game.

Launsteins Plan Meetings

Special evangelistic meetings are being held at the Aurelius Center Baptist church under the leadership of Evangelist and Mrs. Donald Launstein. The Launsteins are local young people, both of them having attended the church. Launstein is a graduate of Holt high school and Taylor University. Mrs. Launstein was the former Belva Townsend of Onondaga.

Since graduation from the University in 1950, they have been engaged in Christian work, which has taken them to Colorado, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other states.

Mrs. Launstein is a chalk artist. Her drawings are made unusually interesting by the use of "Black Light" which makes it possible to hide one picture in another, then at the proper moment reveal it with climactic effect. While her drawings are not movies, they have movement which leads from one step to another and by this progression illustrates the message being given.

The meetings are being held at the Aurelius church each night at 8:00 including Saturday night. They will continue until October 19. Dan Karney, student at Michigan State college, will appear Friday night. Other visiting musicians will attend other nights. The public is invited.

Stockbridge School Gets New Name

Stockbridge Community Agricultural schools is the name which has been given to the 15 newly-reorganized school districts around Stockbridge. This was the name suggested by the board of education at its first meeting last Thursday evening. County Superintendent Alton Stroud concurred with the suggestion and so the district has been legally named and numbered.

The first step of the new board was to elect officers. Dr. A. J. Spencer of Stockbridge was named president; Wilbur Osterlander of Stockbridge, secretary; and Robert Titus of Munith, treasurer. Eldon Katz of Munith and Raymond Lane of Fitchburg are the trustees.

The board discussed a budget for the new district and a possible tax rate which would be equitable for all. The district extends into 4 counties with their district assessed valuation. The board also met Monday, October 13, at 7:30 p. m. as the time for all the former districts to make their financial accounting and the turning over of all property to the new district. This meeting will be held in the office of the superintendent. The board will also meet this Thursday evening to discuss urgent business.

Buses will be used to transport students from Fitchburg, Bache and Derby to and from Stockbridge. It might be possible to service more of the schools at a later date.

Says Wonderful Things About You!

The instant your beautiful Cadillac points its golden crest into view, it begins to say wonderful things about you.

It says, almost as plainly as if the words were written out, that you are a person of achievement in your own world of affairs.

It talks of your good judgment and your splendid taste—and indicates your sense of responsibility for those who ride with you as passengers, or drive beside you in the traffic lanes.

It speaks of your family and your home and your friends and your way of life—and, in general, paves the way for the respect of those you encounter as you sit at its wheel.

This is true because those who own Cadillacs form a virtual "Who's Who" of America's highways. In almost every community in the country, Cadillac is the favored car of the leading people.

The reason for this, of course, is found in the history of the car itself.

For fifty years, it has been the unwavering purpose to make Cadillac as fine a car as it is practical to produce. Goodness has always been the watchword—craftsmanship has always been the creed.

As a result, Cadillac has long been known and accepted as—"The Standard of the World." And, inevitably, people who want and seek the finest have turned to Cadillac.

That's why the man who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac is an accepted and respected member of the most distinguished motoring family to be found anywhere.

If you are ready for membership in this incomparable group, better come in and see us soon. How about making it today?

Farmer Peck's Wife

Silence is golden.
It's a sign of mischief, too!
Little girls climb high.

When Pete came up from the field he said, "What have you been doing? Sleeping?"

I said, "No. What makes you think that?"

He said, "Well, 2 little girls have been up on the tool shed running back and forth having a whale of a good time. They started out easy crouching low, but got braver and were running the ridge when I decided to come up. I couldn't imagine why you didn't stop them for you are always afraid something will happen to them."

I was ironing and those gals weren't on the roof all the time for I saw them teeter-tottering and swinging and getting a drink and holding a cat and they played school quite a while and pulled some carrots and washed and ate them. I could always hear them and they sounded happy. It's when I don't hear them that I wonder what or where they are.

"They had been climbing on the new corn crib and shed combination which is pretty much in the skeleton stage and right next to the old shed—3 or 4 feet over. Sally thought by laying a board across from the new to the old that she could get over. She could and she did! It isn't safe, as you know."

"They asked their dad if he was going to spank them and he said, 'No, I wouldn't the first time you did something wrong and didn't know it was wrong. (?????) I'd warn you once and then if you ever did it again you'd have to be punished. It isn't because I don't want you to have a good time. It's because it is dangerous being up so high where if you fell it might break your legs, arms or maybe even kill you. Besides it's very hard on shingles to be running around on a roof like that.'"

I heard Sally asking Susy if she didn't think it was the most fun. Little 5-year-old Susy said, "Well, I didn't think it was fun at first, but now that we can't ever go up there again, I'm awfully glad I did and I think it was fun."

'The Merry Widow' Featured at Fox

Fox movie patrons are due for some diversified film entertainment during the next week. Suspense, laughs, music and action are on the Fox menu.

Friday and Saturday the Fox opens with a double hit. The first attraction will be the Bowery Boys in "Feudin' Fools." The second hit is "Her First Romance," starring Margaret O'Brien.

"Feudin' Fools" is a comedy, according to advance reports from Hollywood, that is one of the funniest in the popular series featuring Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall and the rest of the Bowery Boys.

In it the boys and Louie, the proprietor of the beat-up sweet shop, find themselves in the midst of a hillbilly feud, with shot guns roaring at them from every crag and canyon of the mountains. This happens when Sach, formerly known as Horace DeBussy Jones, inherits a southern plantation adjacent to the holdings of the eight-membered Smith family, which for long has been out-shooting for every Jones they run across.

Anne Kibbell, a comparatively newcomer to the screen, and surely one of the prettiest girls ever to go to Hollywood, has the leading feminine role, and gives it adroit handling.

Loves comes to Margaret O'Brien, as the star of Columbia Pictures' "Her First Romance."

Allen Martin, Jr., Jimmy Hunt and Sharyn Moffett are featured in the new film, which shows Margaret as a junior miss with senior ideas about love.

Hollywood predicts that moviegoers accustomed to seeing Miss O'Brien in gingham with her hair done in pig tails, will get the surprise of their lives when they see the teenage star in "Her First Romance." Quite the grown little lady now, Maggie wears an off-

Fernando Lamas, this year's Hollywood "find," is co-starred with Lana Turner in M. G. M.'s saucy new Technicolor musical, "The Merry Widow," at the Fox Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The shoulder white eyelet formal dress for a party sequence in the film, her hair is done in a glamorous upswept style, and she performs a "hot" Charleston.

Oriental Intrigue Is Next
Intrigue, mystery and romance are wrapped into one exciting package of film fare in "Macao," which plays at the Fox Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Starring Robert Mitchum, Jane Russell and William Bendix, the drama has its setting in the notorious Portuguese colony of Macao on the Chinese coast, a popular refuge of crooks because of its lack of any extradition treaties. The trio arrives on a ferry from Hongkong, apparently with no ulterior motives—but one of the two men is in reality a New York police officer seeking to en-lure a badly-wanted criminal outside the three-mile limit.

The criminal, aware that a trap is being laid for him, suspects the wrong man. The ensuing complications build up to a stirring climax, enlivened by a colorful romance between Mitchum and Miss Russell. The latter's rendition of several popular numbers accents the action.

Supporting the excellent performances of the three stars is a notable cast, in which Thomas Gomez and Gloria Grahame are co-featured; Brad Dexter portrays the villain in the RKO Radio film.

Great Musical Stars Lana
Franz Lehar's famous musical romance, "The Merry Widow," will be brought to the Fox screen in a vibrant and opulent Technicolor production, starring Lana Turner and the romantic new film personality, Fernando Lamas.

Its haunting songs, sumptuous settings and costumes, its brilliant staging of the memorable "Merry Widow Waltz" and other lavish production numbers and, last but not least, the impassioned love affair which permeates the story, make for a motion picture which not only provides effective escapism but is a delight to eye and ear.

The role of the "Merry Widow" is a made-to-order one for the voluptuous Lana Turner. Dressed to the hilt in an arresting array of costumes (among them a black hourglass corset with a chignon train!), Miss Turner is not only stunning looking in Technicolor hues but brings a vibrant warmth to her love scenes and an engaging humor to the episodes in which she hoodwinks her mercenary admirer.

Fernando Lamas is equally effective in the role of the amorous Danilo. He has the handsome looks and dashing personality of the late John Gilbert, who appeared in a silent version of "The Merry Widow," and he has in addition a brilliant singing voice. It is to Lamas that the brunt of the songs in the beautiful Franz Lehar score falls. He sings "Girls, Girls, Girls," "Villia," "Maxims" and "Night," with Miss Turner joining him in the sequence in which they perform the haunting waltz, one of the picture's outstanding production numbers.

October

October in Michigan is a wonderful month. To the artist it is the month of the year when color runs riot and when every nook and corner presents a picture, that is to say, except where the highway fiends have sprinkled their blighting dope to leave a trail of desolation where otherwise beauty might have brought delight to the eye. To the people of the countryside whose business is producing crops, October is the month of realization. To the city dweller, October offers every encouragement for seeking nature at its best and at the same time this month assures city folks that harvest has again been a generous one and that in this land of plenty there need be no hunger.

Once upon a time the poet sang about the frost on the pumpkin and corn in the shock. To this modern generation this has little meaning. Modern farm equipment leaves no place for pumpkin vines in the corn field and no longer do we see many fields where corn is cut and shocked awaiting husking time.

October marks the end of summer. It opens autumn and points toward the coming months of winter. Almost every type of retail business looks upon October as a month of bustling sales. Men and women of the professions set themselves for busier days. The farmer looks back upon the hustling days of spring planting, and summer cultivation and harvesting, and early fall sowing and sort of takes stock of his own doings. College folks are settling into the tasks of fashioning careers and schools begin preparing youth for life.

To our ordinary folks October offers something else—the chance to get outdoors and just to revel in the sheer loveliness of a rich and fertile region. The side roads are best for this and hill tops the best places to stop for that good, long look. Over there is that field, but a few weeks ago one of waving green corn, now drab and heavy with long yellow ears of rich grain, awaiting the cut and slash of the modern corn picker. Just beyond one sees a field of rich green third growth of alfalfa legume. To the left is the lighter green shades of new-sown wheat, and off the right is seen grazing a fine dairy herd or one of beef cattle browsing about. Comfortable dwellings, conveniently located and equipped barns and sheds, maples of red, darker hues on the oaks, hickories of spun gold, sassafras of every hue, scarlett sumac—all these go to make Michigan in October a wonderful place and a wonderful season.

One need not go away from home to enjoy color tours. Any afternoon, any morning, any noon, any eventide, even any night with this wonderful October noon, will suffice. There's nothing finer than October. There is no country better than ours. There is no spot in all America that excels Michigan as a place to live, and right here, in and about Ingham county, we share with others one of the best spots on earth.

Common Sense Is Needed

It must be easy for public officials to forget who put them in office and whose interests they should serve.

Here in Mason it is now impossible for residents to toss away their trash at the city dump after 5:30 at night. The gates are locked and remain locked until 7:30 in the morning.

In other words if a Mason resident has to make a trip to the dump he must do it on Sunday morning if he holds a job which does not allow him to visit the dump during the bankers' hours prescribed by the city council.

It hardly seems as if this ruling is in the best interests of the majority of Mason people.

Possibly this is one reason there has been an increase in complaints by farmers concerning the dumping of rubbish along roadsides and fence rows.

Courtesy Would Help

Ingham county fields will soon be swarming with the once-a-year army of pheasant and rabbit hunters. The time for the annual battle over the privilege of hunting is near.

Here in Ingham county the army will be especially large. Wayne county hunters will come out in droves.

Hunters and their organizations are already bemoaning the fact that there are many thousands of acres of farmland posted with no hunting signs. There is a reason for it.

If those same hunters who do the most moaning, actually a very small number, would observe a few common courtesies, they would find that farmers would be more cooperative.

Who can blame a land owner for posting his land when he surveys the damage a few of these hunters do to his property? Fences are cut to allow dogs to cross from one field to the next, crops are trampled, livestock is fired at, and windows, signs and mailboxes are blasted. To the farmer this can hardly be classed as sport.

If city hunters would first ask permission, then conduct themselves as they would want others to act if the positions were reversed, there would be no problem.

Fire Prevention Pays

Results of fire prevention education should take hold in a few weeks. Mason firemen are doing a commendable job of stressing fire prevention to school-age children. Constant stressing of fire prevention among young folks ought to bear considerable weight when they, as adults, have the power of destruction by flame in their hands.

Down by the Sycamore . . . Hawaii - Land of Enchantment - Aloha!

ON BOARD U. S. S. MISSOURI: This dispatch is being written as the Big Mo nears Pearl Harbor. We left Long Beach, California, Friday noon. This Wednesday morning and the islands lie off the port bow.

The Missouri is a big ship—one of the biggest and mightiest battleships in the world. It is so big that there are only 9 inches to spare on each side in going through the Panama Canal.

Here are some Missouri facts. The length is 888 feet. That's almost 300 yards. It's 54 rods; one-sixth of a mile. The width is 108 feet. It displaced 45,000 tons without stores or crew, probably 50,000 or better as she put to sea. The ship has 4 main engines, each developing 53,000 horsepower.

Battleships of the Iowa class (Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri and New Jersey) are floating forts. They are floating skyscrapers, too. There are 7 decks below the main deck, and 11 decks above.

Living aboard are more than 2,500 men. This traveling city has its own water system. Each day it converts 80,000 gallons of sea water into fresh water. This city has its own bakery, restaurants, hospital, laundry, telephone system, even churches. In addition it is packed with guns, big ones for bombarding enemy ships and reducing shore batteries, smaller guns for covering landing parties, and anti-aircraft batteries for self-protection against planes.

Officers and men eat well. The mess lines move fast. The food is well cooked and there's lots of it.

Stored on board is food enough to feed this city for 60 days, repair parts for engines, guns and other machinery to meet almost any emergency, and shops to turn out new parts as well as to make repairs to worn ones.

These are some of the facts about one of the mightiest ships afloat. A ship isn't worked with facts, though. Navy-trained men won that way. Men—trained men—are more important than the facts of size and speed and armor, the big guns or the electronic devices. Just as the 2,500 men would be helpless without weapons, so are the ship and its weapons useless without the trained men to operate them.

Yes, the Missouri is a big ship. It's known in the navy as a happy ship because it has had an unbroken line of able officers. Men are proud to serve aboard the Missouri. She is now being made a taut ship with every man in the crew trained to do his job.

The Missouri is not excursion-bound to Hawaii. War duty lies ahead. The 13 civilian guests aboard are just going down the road a piece with the boys. We leave the ship at Hawaii.

On this cruise which started at Norfolk a month ago 1,000 young men from boot camp and navy schools came aboard. Few of them had ever been off shore before. In ship drills, in work details, in target practice, the men are being sorted out from the boys.

You see, the navy needs men, good men, trained men, dependable men. Without them at every station the Missouri's size and speed, its millions of dollars worth of war gear, would be useless.

It's just as important to teach a man to live straight on ship and on shore as it is to teach him to shoot straight. No branch of military service—the navy least of all—has room for men who don't behave themselves. They don't want them, they can't use idlers, loafers, trouble-makers.

This new navy we are building is going to be, it already is, a better navy because by command, by example, and by plan, young men are being encouraged to be decent afloat and ashore.

Responsibility for growing and keeping young men straight is not the navy's alone. It is shared by parents and the friends back home, and by the men in home ports and in foreign ports. The churches, the schools, and all of us have responsibilities.

The navy has embarked upon a course to return young men to civil life better trained, healthier physically, mentally and morally, even spiritually, than when they enlisted.

Here aboard the Missouri, Captain Warner R. Edsall, and the executive officer, Commander J. E. Smith, have called upon all officers to give full support to that program. The Catholic chaplain, Commander A. F. McQuaid, and the Protestant, Lt. A. J. Schutz, aren't just pleading with the boys to heed the Seventh Commandment, and to be sure to take their VD shots. They are carrying out a positive program to teach young men to think straight and to act straight. They need and they merit the help of everyone back home.

For the 13 civilians this indoctrination cruise, as the navy calls it, has been packed with interest and made pleasant by hospitality. We have the run of the ship, from the bridge to the secret recesses far below where combat information comes in and is instantly evaluated and charted.

Ships 200 miles away, planes, friendly and hostile, reefs, shores, shoals; they are seen and reported by radar. The speed of ships and planes, their courses and elevations are almost instantly computed. If they appear as a threat the guns can be trained upon them long before they show up on the horizon.

Officers have explained to us everything that goes on aboard ship and why. We have explored the shop fore and aft, from the keel up to as far as we can climb. We have crawled into the turrets to see how the big guns are loaded and fired. We have watched the officers on the bridge plot the course, have seen the helmsman steer the ship, observed the firemen and water tenders down in the boiler rooms. Some of the mysteries of radar have been revealed to us. For 4 hours Tuesday afternoon we watched and felt the Missouri speed through the water under full power, 155,000 horsepower. That's making knots.

Our indoctrination has took. We have acquired an education we could have gained in no other way. And we have enjoyed every minute of it.

The weather has been good. The Pacific has been that way, with gentle swells to rock us to sleep at night. The expanse of blue water under the high canopy of heaven, the soft breezes have all added to our pleasure.

Who are we? George H. Boldt, attorney, and Howard A. Lincoln, banker, both of Tacoma, Washington; Thomas A. Ferns, Equitable Life Assurance Society division manager of Akron, Ohio; Remi J. Gils, Chicago manufacturer; George W. Hill of the Western Lithograph Co., San Diego; Charles P. Howard, Jr., port terminal operator, Oakland, California; Walter W. Johnson, San Francisco, owner of Alaskan mines and forest lands; Andrew E. Miller, manufacturer of Terre Haute, Indiana; Edmund Morris Pease III of Burbank, California, in the developing and manufacturing business; Frank A. Phillips, field sales manager of Bay City Shovels, Inc., Bay City, Michigan; O'Neill Ryan, Jr., president of Ryston Company, Inc., Mount Vernon, New York; and R. S. H. Venable, real estate broker of Santa Monica, California.

Lieutenant Commander John W. Thiele of LaJolla, California, is our escort officer.

Land we saw off the port bow Wednesday morning was not Hawaii, but one of the other islands. It was 9 o'clock before Hawaii was sighted. Then quickly as the Missouri steamed on the specks on the starboard horizon grew into teeth, and soon into a mountain range. The ship had to round Diamond Head before the buildings of Honolulu and Pearl Harbor could be seen.

The Royal Hawaiian hotel, built of pink material, dominates the foreground at Waikiki. Homes built up the mountainsides and towering government hospitals overlook the harbor.

All the wreckage of the Japanese raid had not been cleared. Skeletons of the Utah and Arizona are still there with parts of the superstructures showing. The Missouri saluted the Arizona as our ship moved past.

Quickly the tugs helped the Missouri to the pier.

While there is little formal ceremony aboard ship, there is color entering and leaving port. The crew musters on the main deck, all those not working the ship. The men are in their dress uniforms. The marines stand tall and straight.

As the Missouri made fast to the pier, Hula girls started staging a welcome dance. I guess that's what it was. It called for a lot of waving.

Then up the gangplank came wives and daughters and friends carrying leis. They festooned some of the officers and all the guests.

Then we left the Missouri, torn between our loyalty won during the 5 days and our urge to see the sights of Honolulu. Honolulu won.

HONOLULU, T. H.—Readers who have followed my advice to sell or mortgage their property for a flight to the West Coast should now raise more money and continue on to Hawaii. This is paradise.

The beauty is beyond description. Flowers and shrubs color every dooryard in the city and around country homes. Flowering shrubs bloom along the roadsides and on the mountainsides. Happily, no one has yet dosed them with spray.

When the U. S. S. Missouri docked we were met by Lt. David Tyson, U. S. N. He has led us on expeditions designed to increase our knowledge of what the navy, marine corps and army does, and why they are doing it.

We follow a rugged schedule, usually starting out each morning at 8 and returning at 5 or 6. Part of each day is spent in briefing sessions where we hear lectures from the top command in the Pacific. We look at maps and charts which are kept under heavy guard. We are given first-hand accounts of how World War II was won in the Pacific, and how the Korean war has been salvaged and how it can be won.

Our first day ashore we were briefed by the staff of CINCPac-Ft. That's navy talk for Commander in Chief Pacific Fleet. We learned at first hand how the war is going from the navy standpoint.

The following day we were taken by bus up to Schofield Barracks, the big army camp, then through Kulekole Pass to inspect the Naval Ammunition Depot and the Naval Radio Station at Lae-luael. Both the depot and the radio station (both of which are the largest in the world) occupy the crater of an extinct volcano. From there we went to the Naval Air Station at Barber's Point.

It was at Barber's Point that we were shown a uncensored movie of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

After we had learned to fly Link Trainers we were taken aboard a Marine Corps troop transport plane for a flight over Oahu Island. Then we landed at Ford Island where we embarked on launches for a sight-seeing trip around Pearl Harbor.

The wreckage of the Arizona has been made a national monument. We stood on the part of the upper deck which extends above the water. Entombed below are the bodies of 1,102 men who went down with the ship.

On Saturday we were briefed by the top command of the marine corps. That was at FMFPac (Fleet Marine Force Pacific) headquarters. Officers told how and why marines are trained and how much they did to stem the tide in Korea, and how much they are now doing there.

Still to come is a submarine cruise and a flight back to the Mainland on a Mars flying boat.

That's how we are being indoctrinated, and it's fun.

We've had time to ride the surf at Waikiki, and to see some other civilian sights of Hawaii. Tomorrow (Sunday) we are to inspect the Marine Corps Air Station at Kaneohe Bay, and then go on to Kailua Beach to be guests of navy and marine officers at a beach party. That's over on the windward side of the island.

Honolulu is on the island of Oahu. There are 5 major islands, Oahu, Kauai, Molokai, Maui and Hawaii. Hawaii is the biggest one. Smaller islands include Miihau, Lanai and Kahoolawe.

Hawaii is as much the United States as any of the 48 states and is expected to be No. 49 or 50, with Alaska.

The population of Hawaii is 459,521 (1951 census) besides thousands of sailors and soldiers. Japanese make up 40% of the population. Part-Hawaiians come next with 17%, with Filipinos adding up to 13%. Chinese make up 7%, Puerto Ricans 2.3% and Koreans 1.6%.

What about pure Hawaiians? The figure stood at only 2.8% last year. The race is dying out.

When Captain Cook discovered the islands in 1779 they were populated by 300,000 of the healthiest, happiest people on earth. Under what we call civilization they have declined to 13,000 pure-bloods and 78,000 part-Hawaiians.

Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos and other Orientals have been brought to Hawaii to work in sugar cane and pineapple fields.

Caucasians number about 15%. In Hawaiian schools Caucasian children are in the minority. Most of the teachers are of Japanese descent. Most of the business places are owned by Japanese and Chinese, and nearly all the clerks even in the American stores and hotels are of Oriental blood. But all these Orientals are Americans and good ones. There was no act of disloyalty charged to them during the war. Then and now they do much of the work around the navy yards and ammunition depot. They are good citizens.

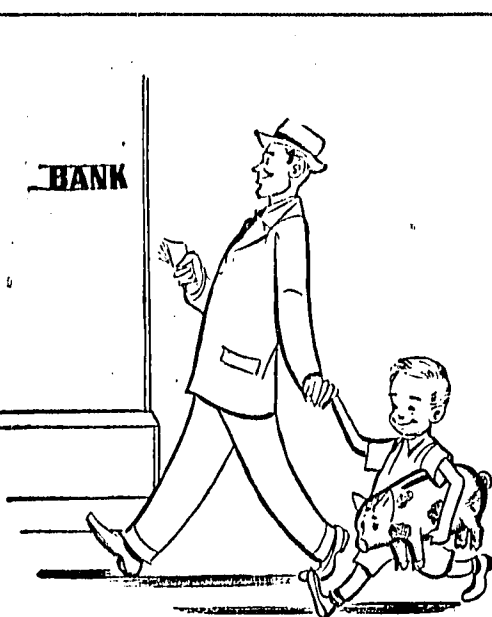

Sugar is the biggest industry here. Pineapples come next. Tourists are third.

Life is pleasant and informal here. Men seldom wear coats or ties. They wear gorgeous Aloha shirts. Women wear Aloha dresses. Some of the Japanese women wear kimonos.

These Japanese and Chinese girls are beautiful. They are slim and have delicate features. They are clean and neat and friendly.

Ed Campbell, Bill Cummings and Charlie Johnson should get on the ball and import some of these Japanese lady barbers. They are expert with clippers, scissors and razors, and nice to have around.

Hawaii . . . color . . . glamour . . . fragrance . . . sunshine . . . laughter, Aloha.

Northville Hospital Will Be Most Modern in the Country

By Vernon J. Brown

For 3 days of last week I attended a conference of representatives of half a hundred organizations, clubs and societies, all interested in some form of social work connected more or less with the question of mental health. Nearly 2,000 persons registered for the sessions which filled 2 days and which were held in the new Veterans Memorial building in Detroit. The third day was devoted to formal ceremonies marking the dedication of Michigan's new hospital for the mentally afflicted near Northville.

It is now 20 years since my interest in mentally ill persons first was really kindled. Prior to that, like most people, I had of course realized that the number of persons mentally disturbed or mentally incompetent to meet the ordinary problems of life was large and that the cost of maintaining institutions for their care and treatment was high. It is now about 40 years since I was escorted through one of the state's largest hospitals and really shown the inside workings of such institutions. At that time I was a member of the staff of a large state institution, not a mental hospital. As a visitor at another institution, I was shown the courtesy of an inspection tour not ordinarily available to the casual visitor. That trip made a deep impression, but it was not until 1932, when the state was broke and a commission of inquiry into state governmental costs led me to inquire further. Years later I allied myself with the Michigan Society for Mental Health and I still am active in its affairs.

The Michigan Society for Mental Health is devoted to doing whatever it may to reduce the toll of mental illness and to whatever endeavor is pointed toward the better care and treatment of those who suffer from mental illness or incapacity in any form. The society is made up of individuals, both lay and professional, who are interested in any manner in the promotion of public interest and in the activation of any movement which to any degree might promote the prevention of mental illness. Because of the scope and character of its work, any conference such as was held in Detroit last week, attracts many people from many walks of life. Contributing to the discussions are experts in many lines from every part of the country. Speakers from 8 different states of the Union, one from Canada and many distinguished authorities from our own state were heard at Detroit last week.

The Michigan Society was the chief sponsor of the conference, but, as has already been said, more than 50 other local and state organizations took part and sent delegates to the discussion sessions.

Northville Is Dedicated

On Friday there was formally opened to the public and appropriately dedicated to its great future work, the beginnings of what will eventually become known as the most modern facility to be found anywhere in the world devoted to the diagnosis, treatment and care for the mentally afflicted. Right now less than 350 patients can be cared for. Six months from now the population will probably be in the neighborhood of 1,000. Ultimately the Northville hospital is planned to accommodate 3,500. Administrative and clinical offices, heating plant, reception centers, kitchens and storerooms are all laid out with the ultimate size in mind. Surgery rooms and clinical laboratories of all types are planned and equipped with the most modern devices.

The Northville hospital, in its inception and its development, is a far cry from the "snakepits" and cruelties of fiction writers. Northville is also, it must be confessed, far ahead of the older institutions now operated by the state of Michigan. Moreover as far as that goes, Michigan in most respects is ahead of many other states in its concern for the mentally afflicted.

Helped Pick Site

I am particularly interested in Northville because I was a member of the Michigan planning commission which during 1943 and 1944 set about considering the needs of the state for added facilities for those who need mental care.

Additions, alterations and improvements at all existing hospitals were decided upon as necessary and southeastern Michigan was pointed to as needing an entire new facility. As chairman of the finance committee of the state administrative board in 1945 and as a member of the buildings committee at the same time, it became my task to pass upon the sites proposed for location of the new hospital. Herman Dignan, then secretary of state, was chairman of the building committee.

Neither of us particularly favored the sites proposed by land appraisers and engineers employed to seek a site. Accordingly one day, the two of us set out on our own to look around. Just driving about with certain requirements in mind, we came upon the land where now rises the majestic buildings forming the first unit of the new hospital. Mr. Dignan and I set in motion some inquiries as to ownership, price and other factors such as water supply. The state eventually acquired the property and now the first units are in operation. I suppose because it might be called in part, my baby, I am more than casually interested. I regret indeed that because of illness, Mr. Dignan could not be with us at the formal dedication Friday.

Results Are Worth Cost

Why is all this important? Because more than ½ of all the available hospital beds in this nation are occupied by someone mentally ill. One child out of 18 born into this world will sometime during life require some type of mental aid. In the order of total amount extended, the amount required to meet the expense of state care for the mentally afflicted in Michigan stands in fourth place. Public education, welfare and operation of all administrative agencies lead it in the amounts found in the annual budget.

Mental health is not only important from an economic standpoint, its tragic results can be traced in the courts, in our prisons, in juvenile delinquency and in almost every other field where public money is spent. It leaves a trail of domestic unhappiness, distress, crime and all sorts of other evils behind it. Anything which will prevent it, aid in its correction, extend a helping hand in the care of its victims, or help in its pathological treatment is worth all its costs.

Airline Plans It's Trans-Polar Route

Scandinavian Airlines is ready to fly the first trans-polar commercial route from America to Europe via U. S. Air Force's giant base at Thule, Greenland.

Permission from U. S. and Canadian government authorities has already been received for exploratory flights during November, according to Torbj. Nilert, president of the system.

The SAS route the culmination of 82 years of balloon and plane flights in the polar regions will offer San Francisco, Los Angeles and the Pacific Northwest a direct route to Europe via Edmonton, Canada.

"Our regular trans-polar commercial flights will start just as soon as negotiations now pending for bi-lateral air treaties and air travel permits have been completed," the SAS executive said. "The technical side of the flight is well in hand. For 2 years, SAS technicians have been working on the problems connected with this route. Our latest type DC-6B aircraft will fly passengers in shirt-sleeve comfort across the Polar region at 25,000 feet."

The Scandinavian Airlines official explained that the proposed West Coast-Europe Polar route would lop off more than 1,600 miles from the present air trip between West Coast points and Europe via New York. West Coast passengers will arrive in Europe on an overnight flight without changing aircraft.

Have you heard Stevenson condemn the outrageous tax settlements given the mobsters who control the big city political machines on which his election depends?

And have you been offered a chance to pay your taxes at five cents on the dollar?

Korean casualties still mount. I hope and pray for an early end but I see no way out except a change in November.

The foregoing are extracts from Mr. Clardy's regular radio broadcasts, heard each Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. on WJLS (Lansing) and WBBC (Flint).

Mr. Clardy is the Republican nominee for congress from this district.

Canners prefer Michigan navy beans because they're the only pea bean that doesn't lose its shape in the cooking and canning process. About 60% of Michigan's group is bought by well-known brand name canners for soup and a variety of canned baked beans.

You'll discover this about a Buick:

The more you drive it, the more you like it; the longer your trip, the louder your praise.

That's what people tell us. And we'll tell you why.

You can drive a Buick three, four, five hundred miles in a single day, and feel fresh enough to keep right on going.

You can romp up high hills, cruise straightaways, ease through traffic-tangled towns, clock off hour after hour of relaxed and pleasurable driving—and be no more tired than a neighborhood jaunt would make you.

How come this comfort-rich ground-covering ability in a Buick?

There's the ease of deep, soft seats for one thing—and plenty of move-about room for arms, legs, shoulders.

There's the Dynaflo Drive® taking all the chore out of driving, and giving your whole ride a satiny smoothness without trace of jerkiness or driving tension.

There's a hostful of thrilling, tireless power from a high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball 8 Engine that whips out miles like a tarpon reels off line.

There's the soft, steady, solid, swerve-free going of a coil-spring-cushioned ride that's well worth the million-plus dollars it cost to engineer.

There's all this and more—much more—that makes your heart grow fonder of this trim and thrifty traveler.

But words can't do justice to a Buick in motion. Only you can.

When will you come sample this experience yourself?

The student council is sponsoring the Williamston homecoming October 24 at the athletic field when Williamston football team will meet its opponent, Leslie. The main feature of the evening will be the crowning of the king and queen, who are chosen by the student body from candidates of the classes. A dedication service for the school flag will also take place.

The Williamston and Leslie bands will participate in the parade. Floats will be entered by the classes and organizations. Each will be competing for the $10 prize offered by the student council.

Study Club Has Family Picnic

The Senior Child Study club held a family picnic in the basement of the Methodist church Tuesday evening, October 7, at 6:30.

Following the picnic dinner William Crumbaker, ventriloquist, an eighth grader from Dansville, provided the entertainment.

On October 21 there will be a meeting in the Williamston high school with Mrs. Helen Tewes of the University of Michigan as the guest speaker. This meeting, sponsored by the Senior Child Study club, will be open to the public and free of charge.

Woman's Club Luncheon Held

The Williamston Woman's club met at the home of the new president, Mrs. Bernice Adams, for a one o'clock luncheon Monday. The lunch was served from small tables where the club colors of pink and white were carried out in the flower arrangements and favors.

The luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by the executive board. Nearly the entire membership was present at this first meeting following the summer vacation. The meeting was called to order by the retiring president, Bertha Gulick, who formerly introduced the new president, Hazel Adams.

Lydia Fraser, chairman of the executive committee, gave a report of the coming year's work, after which the president spoke of her aims and ambitions for the coming year and the hope of bringing more music into the meetings.

There will be a change in the next meeting, which will be held October 10 with Lulu Howarth as hostess at her home on Meridian road.

Methodists Plan For Rally Day

Sunday, October 12, the Williamston Methodist church will observe rally day. Each member is asked to take one or more guests to Sunday school and church. A guest pastor will deliver the sermon.

Special opening will be given at the Sunday school hour at ten o'clock. The Youth Fellowship of the church is being organized for the coming year, and their activities will be numerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Swiger and sons, Denny and Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Singer and son, Joe, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barnes. They series of Earl and Stewart Swiger.

Vote Campaign Is Underway

The Kiwanis club, along with several organizations, has sponsored the movement to register all qualified voters, and get the vote out on November 4. Many citizens have already voted on their absent voters ballots, which were received earlier than usual this year so that service men might receive them in ample time to be returned by election day.

City Clerk D. Howard Gorsline reports that by last Tuesday applications had been received for 32 absent voters ballots. Electors who will not be able to go to the polls and vote on election day, he stated, for valid reasons such as physical inability or absence from the city, may apply to him for their absent voters ballots.

Bull Rates Proof Report Before Kill

Dairy farmers who rush their 3-year-old bulls to slaughter may be sorry when the final reports are in, cautions George E. Parsons, dairy extension specialist at Michigan State college.

"If he was good enough to use as your herd sire he is good enough to keep alive until the proof is made," Parsons urges.

Farmers buy bull calves, nurse them through the first year, start using them occasionally at a year of age, and head most of their 3-year-old bulls off to the slaughter house, explains Parsons. Then, 2 years later a farmer has a daughter milk production average or a U. S. D. A. proof of the value of his herd sire, but no sire left, he explained.

In many cases, the proof indicates the bull might better have been butchered as a calf, Parsons admits. In other cases the proofs are so good that everyone wants to buy the proven sire—but he's gone on the fateful trip to the slaughter house.

Some dairymen are equipped with bull pens to handle these 3-

4 and 5-year-old bulls and find it comparatively easy to keep them around until the proof is made. Others work out an agreement with a neighbor to keep the bull as a herd sire for a couple of years, Parsons suggests. The original owner can keep ownership or sell his neighbor a part interest, according to the dairy specialist. In other cases, a 3-year-old bull may be sold to another dairyman, but at least he is alive in case his record indicates he has greater value living than butchered, he added.

Producers Will Vote on Changes

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan has indicated that he will make several amendments to federal milk marketing order No. 24. The order now governs the fluid milk supply in the Detroit area. The Michigan Milk Producers Association petitioned for a number of amendments last spring.

Of the 6 proposed changes in the existing order, 4 would have a direct effect on the prices received by producers, including an increase of 8¢ per 100 lbs. in premium above basic formula for Class I milk and an increased hauling allowance to buyers on milk received at plants more than 105 miles from Detroit. Other new provisions include revision of the supply-demand price adjustment, requiring a lower milk supply in relation to sales for a price increase and a smaller excess above sales for a price reduction.

Revision of the base rules which would permit any producer, on request, to be paid the average market price during November and December of this year, and an extension of the time for payment by buyers by 1 day when a holiday occurs during the first 15 days of the month, are other changes. Another amendment provides for discontinuing the use of the butter-cheese formula in pricing Class I milk and the butter-powder formula in pricing Class II milk. The producer butterfat differential will apply in pricing both classes and 4 additional manufacturing plant prices will be included in arriving at Class II prices. The Wayne county health department will be permitted to sanction a country plant operator as a handler.

George Irvine, administrator of the Detroit market, is named as referendum agent in taking the vote among all producers in the milkshed, a majority of whom must approve the amendments to make them operative.

He is mailing ballots to all producers who are not members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association and they have until midnight, Saturday, October 11, to mail their ballots to the Federal Milk Market office at 5701 Second Blvd., Detroit 2.

Poultrymen Plan 2 Fall Meetings

Two poultry meetings are scheduled for Tuesday, October 14. The morning meeting will start at 1:30 at the township hall and in Stockbridge.

J. M. Moore, extension specialist in poultry from Michigan State college, will discuss fall management of the laying flock and proper care of eggs.

Poultrymen are invited to attend the meetings and take in their questions and problems. Some of the important fall management practices that may be discussed are feeding, lighting, housing, fall molt and similar topics. At the present time the price of eggs is almost at the high point of the year. It is impossible to have May- or June-hatched chicks lay eggs at the present time, so time of hatching is important in profitable fall management, according to James P. Hoekzema, county agricultural agent.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

One rabbit wasn't enough for Bonnie Gale Elfert, 6, and her brother, Chris, 3. So their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elfert, decided to have the rabbit bred and thereby have another rabbit.

Ho! The Elfert doe rabbit gave birth to 17 more. Four died, but it must be a record of some kind, the Elberts claim. I claim nothing when it comes to rabbits. I grow potatoes.

Hawaii, the Grand Canyon or even Michigan's own Keweenaw peninsula have nothing on Sycamore canyon. I gave my 8-week-old Setter pup a taste of the great outdoors Sunday afternoon and hiked from the city water pump located on South Jefferson to the city dump about 3/4 of a mile southeast.

There is no greater beauty any place.

The canyon used to be a ridge full of gravel. Now it's a dying gravel pit. But gorgeous sumac and flowering bushes are doing their best to cover up the scars from mining gravel. Through the bottom of the pit runs the broken, rotted ties of a rail system probably used to haul out the gravel. Some of the sheer cliffs tower 200 feet above the heads of those who travel in the gorge.

Further south, the canyon floor rises to a level above Barnes street. Here jungle growth makes the going tough. The only signs of civilization are the play camps left by boys.

The real sights are south of the plateau near the Ferris company excavation. The company is the only one operating at the present time. The gravel now being excavated comes from the blue water man-made lake. The gravel is becoming harder to find. No longer can men dig it from the side of a mountain. Instead, they must scoop it from the lake with expensive equipment.

This is the time of the year to make the gorge trip. The colors of fall and the high, thin air take your breath away.

I can hardly wait until Segar Rice starts piling up his squash harvest beside Meridian road northeast of Leslie. His squash and funny-face pumpkin are some of the best you've ever seen.

Have you noticed the cool nights lately? Winter is coming. Throw that beaver coat over the radiator at night.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

A decisive percentage of farmers haven't made up their minds which presidential candidate to vote for. A concentrated drive for the farm vote is expected to reach its climax about 2 or 3 weeks before election day. Eisenhower may be forced to be more specific. Stevenson probably will play up the congressional GOP voting record on farm legislation. Don't be surprised if Secretary Brannan goes on a speaking tour of principal farm areas. Brannan is a hard-hitting speaker. His plan for subsidizing sales of perishables may not be as unpopular in some specialty areas as reports have indicated. For instance, recent polls in Iowa show considerable interest in Brannan's plan to subsidize pork prices as a support plan for hogs.

The big turkey crop this year has forced USDA purchase of large quantities of frozen, ready-to-eat turkeys from the 1952 crop had been bought by the government. Major purchases have been in California, Oregon, Minnesota, Missouri and Ohio. Distribution of the dressed birds will be to schools participating in national school lunch program. USDA probably will be in the market for turkeys for a while yet, attempting to stabilize farm prices.

Supplies of primary fertilizer elements—nitrogen, phosphate and potash—are expected to be about 12% larger in 1953 than during the past year. It's still a good idea to get your order in early for next year's needs so your local source can take care of you when you need them.

Dairy industry's demand for import materials on dried whole milk and dried buttermilk has been turned down by USDA.

How much lower are hog prices going to get? The old rule, according to Wallace's farmer, is a 20% drop from the peak in August to the low point in November or December. On that basis, the December average price at Chicago would be $17 to $18. Many expect it to go higher. The farm paper goes on to say that September and October prices in 1952 may not be much better than 1951. But November, December, January and March should beat last winter's score. This paper has a good record of calling the shots on hog prices.

USDA's October crop report on corn should be an interesting one. Lots of people are wondering how much total corn production has picked up in the last month. Ideal corn weather has existed throughout the corn belt. Yields are reported way above average. Quality is excellent. However, the bumper crop will be confined to the corn belt. Dry weather has cut yields greatly in fringe and southern areas. Total output won't make for national surpluses. Prices should strengthen materially later on. There should be lots of corn to go under price support loans this fall and winter in anticipation of better prices in late winter and spring.

Hogs are being put to sleep be-

Added Nitrogen Gives Less Boost In Hot Weather

If nitrogen side-dressing of corn, beans or sugar beets or top-dressing of small grains didn't pay off in extra yields in Michigan this past summer, don't reach the conclusion it never pays.

Dr. Ray Cook, Michigan State college soil scientist, explains it this way:

In a summer of hot weather, extra nitrogen application does not "pay-off" as effectively as it would in a normal or cool summer. When the soil is cool, the small organisms do not work to break down the organic matter quickly. That means less nitrogen is liberated to help the crop. So the nitrogen you add gives yields a boost.

When the summer is hot the organisms work faster and let off nitrogen which the plants can absorb. As a result, the extra nitrogen which the plants can absorb. As a result, the extra nitrogen applied is not as efficiently used. In 1951 experiments at the Fend Farm near Chesaning, side-dressing of corn made extra bushels cost only 18.6¢ each when 40 pounds of corn made extra bushels at a cost of $2.14 a ton with the same amount. Extra beans made possible by 40 pounds of nitrogen cost only $2.33 a bushel.

For the same year, 40 pounds of top-dressed nitrogen produced extra bushels of wheat at 22¢ a bushel, barley at 19¢ a bushel and oats at 23¢ a bushel.

But the soil scientist is not expecting such good returns from nitrogen applied to crops this year. On the average, however, it will give good returns for the cost of fertilizer and labor to add nitrogen to these crops during the growing season.

It Takes Practice To Lift Correctly

"Correct lifting should be practiced until it becomes a habit," according to James P. Hoekzema, county agricultural agent. Each year thousands of persons are victims of sprains, strains, hernias and other injuries caused by improper lifting.

According to records of Michigan State college safety specialists the most common causes of lifting injuries are: lifting and lowering with the back muscles; insecure grip or footing and unsafe placing of hands or feet; using quick, jerking, twisting or awkward movements of the body; obstructed vision, unstable loads or inadequate control; and insufficient help or failure to use mechanical aids.

One common practice is to bend at the waist when reaching down to grasp an object. Lifting in this position places a severe strain on the sensitive back and abdominal muscles. Always bend your knees and keep your back straight when it becomes necessary to lift, Hoekzema suggested.

The county agricultural agent advises rearranging work to eliminate or reduce the amount of lifting required. He also suggests exploring the feasibility of using simple and safe mechanical aids, such as rope hoists, wooden skids, hand trucks or inexpensive conveyors.

Plant Nuts for Lumber and Food

"Now that we are harvesting the nut crop I recommend that we plant a few nuts for the use and enjoyment of the future generation," Elton Tworck, district forester, claims.

The black walnut is the most valuable nut in the area. Besides being a delicacy for us it provides food for the squirrels.

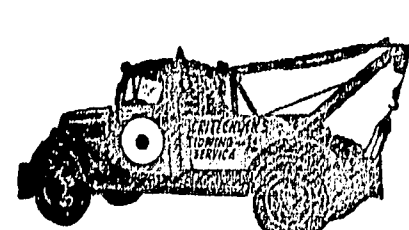

Tworck says that black walnut lumber is the most valuable lumber grown in the forest. Walnut does best on a well-drained, rich loam soil.

It is an easy matter to pick up the green nuts in the fall and plant them shuck and all. This can be done by pressing them into the ground with the heel or by using such a tool as the hand potato planter. The nut should be placed about 1 1/2 inches below the surface. It is usually best to select seed from trees which produce good quality nuts.

Plantings should be made in the woods where there is an opening in the forest canopy. The young trees require plenty of light. They can also be planted in the open. Trees planted in the open should be pruned, starting when the tree has become an inch in diameter. By cutting the lower branches off close to the trunk at intervals of 2 or 3 years, you can develop a tree of good form which, at maturity, will be worth from $30.00 to $100.00 at stumpage.

Squirrels will probably find some of the nuts you plant so be sure to plant enough.

Timely Agricultural Topics

By James P. Hockema,
County Agricultural Agent

This past week several Ingham county farmers took some of their best rams to Ram Day, held at Michigan State college. More than 200 rams were on display. The sheep were divided according to quality and were priced from $55 to as much as $150. Some of the farmers from this county purchased rams at this event.

Many ask the question as to the value of a good purchased ram. It is difficult to tell exactly how much a ram is worth. One purebred breeder near Grand Rapids recently paid $1,100 for a ram. This is more than most of us think we should pay, but this owner hopes to sell many sons and daughters of this ram at a high price.

If a ram sires 40 lambs a year for a period of 2 years he would still be able to be used in another flock. Many of the good rams will increase the size of their lambs by 10 pounds each. This would be 800 pounds of lamb. If the lambs are sold at 22¢ a pound this would amount to $176, and one ram would still be usable. However, many of our sheep producers are realizing that size is important, and are selecting rams with plenty of size, as "like produces like," and lambs are sold by the pound.

Many good purchased sheep breeders are located in Ingham county, and have good rams for sale. Most of the important and popular breeds are available, too.

Gilts that will be bred this fall to farrow next spring should have been selected from the fattening herd before this date. However, if they have not been removed from the fattening hogs do so at once. When the gilts become over-fat they are likely to produce small litters.

Proper feeding and care are also essential for producing large litters. Gilts should be kept out on good pasture as long as possible. Lardine pasture has proved the best, but good alfalfa, clover or rye are also good.

The gilts should be fed plenty of minerals. They can be self-fed or mixed in with the protein supplement.

Feed a balanced ration. Many good feeds are available but it is important that the gilts be kept in a thrifty condition. Keep them gaining but do not allow them to become too fat. Some farmers feed a protein supplement at the rate of about 1/2 lb a day along with corn at the rate of 5 to 6 lbs a day.

One suggested protein supplement that may be used is 100 lbs of tankage or meat scraps, 100 lbs soybean oil meal, 100 lbs alfalfa meal, and 5 lbs each of salt and steamed bone meal. Many good protein supplements are on the market. These usually contain from 34 to 40% protein, and contain a variety of proteins. Some also contain some of the antibiotics. Keep the gilts thrifty and free from internal and external parasites for best results.

Wheat responds more to fertilizer than does any other common field crop. The amount of fertilizer being applied to wheat has been increasing rather consistently. We have been using about 200 lbs an acre previously, but have been increasing the amount until some farmers in the county have applied as much as 600 lbs an acre.

Wheat makes use of some of the fertilizer in the fall, and if there is more available has another opportunity of making use of it in the spring. With spring-sown crops the plant has only one opportunity of utilizing the fertilizer, and during a dry season may not utilize much of it.

This fall, wheat is making an excellent growth and needs plenty of plant food. The more plant food available the faster the growth and the more growth should be made. Fertilizers for wheat pay big dividends.

Steps take time and cost money in the poultry business. Keeping hens in larger units will keep steps to a minimum and thus save time spent in caring for several groups of chickens. There is a tendency to increase the size of our laying flocks and some states have adopted slogans of "30 or 300" or "40 or 400." Keep just enough for the use of the family or have enough birds to make an efficient unit.

Other methods of saving labor are grouping the nests near the door and letting the hens do the walking; putting automatic waterers in the poultry house so that no water will have to be carried by hand; placing the feeders so they may be filled with a minimum of effort; using built-up litter and dropping pits which do not have to be cleaned more than once a year.

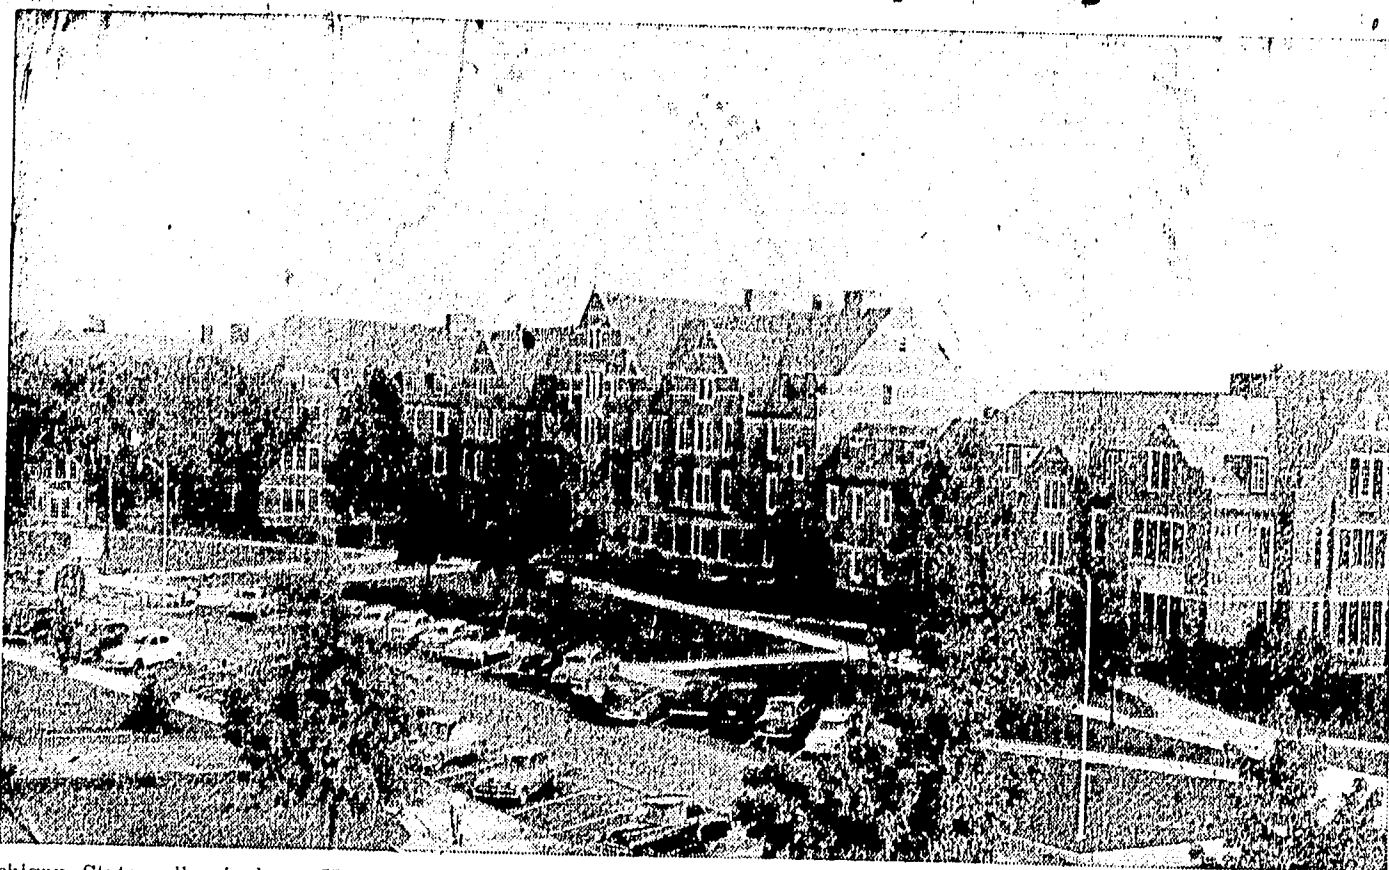

The use of built-up litter is a great labor saver, and more poultrymen are using this method after they have become acquainted with it. At the start, 4 to 6 inches of material are used, and during the year more is added, as needed. This deep litter acts as an insulation on the floor, and must be kept dry. Adding lime to the deep litter has proved helpful, and some poultrymen remove some of the moist litter around the waterers.

Dry cows require proper care and feed. It has been said that the feed given to dry cows pays bigger dividends than feed provided at any other time. If you expect the cow to milk well when she freshens she should have a good ration during the dry period. Good pasture is excellent for dry cows, but from now on we can not expect to have much good pasture available.

When pasture is not available and cows are average in flesh, a cow should be given 4 or 5 lbs of grain per day. If the cow is very thin she can be fed more. A good milk cow will lose body weight when she freshens.

Some dairymen feed the same ration to the dry cows as they feed to the cows that are in milk. This is a good practice, though there are several commercial fitting rations that are now on the market and are available. These are especially made up for dry cows. Every dollar that is put into a good dry cow ration is a wise investment.

MSC Opens New Veterinary Building

Michigan State college's huge new building, designed to promote better living for both animals and humans, has been put into full use for the first time this fall.

Giltner Hall, new $2,400,000 home of the MSC school of veterinary medicine, serves a vital role for the people of Michigan, according to President John A.

Hannah. Extensive research in dozens of fields relating to human and animal health is combined with the important training of skilled veterinary doctors.

Giltner Hall gives MSC facilities second to none in the nation in the fields of veterinary medicine and bacteriology and public health, according to Dean C. F. Clark. The building contains 3, 327,000 cubic feet of space, and includes 60 teaching and research laboratories; 5 operating rooms; specially designed quarters for X-ray treatment and research; and the capacity of the large animal clinic has been increased from 38 to 80.

Dean Clark said that the college's extensive work in teaching, research and extension will be improved tremendously due to the new facilities.

"This investment by Michigan people will be repaid a hundred-fold in the years ahead, not only in the form of increased earnings from the animal industries, but also because of the relationship between much of this work and an even more important field—the health of humans," he added.

Ancients Saw Rain In Autumn Skies

Associated by the ancients with rainy and inclement weather, the constellation Hyades makes its appearance in the autumn skies this month, according to Professor Hazel M. Losh of the astronomy department at the University of Michigan.

Professor Losh explains that this group consists of Taurus (the bull), a large "V" shaped figure of stars, lying on its side as it rises slightly north of east. At the lower end of the "V" is the red star, Aldebaran, fiery eye of the Bull, meaning "the follower." It received its name because it follows the Pleiades constellation in the sky, she pointed out.

Aldebaran also joins with Capella (the goat) and Jupiter in another constellation to make a large triangle, with Aldebaran as the right angle. Capella is a corner of Auriga (the charioteer), a large 5-sided constellation, Professor Losh said.

Jupiter, one of the 2 brightest planets, appears in the northeastern sky at approximately the same time Venus, another bright planet disappears in the west, she explained.

All these stars and planets are considered comparatively close objects to the earth, for light left Capella only about 40 years ago, Aldebaran around 1900 A.
