

Berrien Hires Hoekzema

Ingham county stands to lose one of its most valuable men to Berrien.

Berrien county has offered James P. Hoekzema the job of county agent. He has accepted the offer, subject to confirmation by the state board of agriculture. The state board meets next Thursday at East Lansing. The Berrien county supervisors held their meeting Monday.

Hoekzema came to Ingham as county agent to serve during the leave of absence granted Donald Curry. Curry went to India under Point Four and is completing his second year there. By an exchange of cablegrams it has been learned that Curry wants to return to Ingham when he finishes his foreign assignment.

Berrien's county agent went to South America but has decided to do graduate work upon his return. That left vacant the post of county agent in one of the most important agricultural counties. The agricultural committee of the board of supervisors chose Hoekzema.

Michigan's southwesternmost county is one of the top agricultural counties in the state. Instead of having 16 townships like Ingham, Berrien has 22. It leads in peach, apple, strawberry and other small fruit production, is one of the top counties in dairy-farming and is out in front in many other lines of agricultural production.

The Berrien extension staff has a county agent, a horticultural specialist, a club agent, a home demonstration agent and an assistant county agent. Berrien lists 4,700 separate farms. Hoekzema resigned as field editor and the assistant editor of the Indiana Farmer to fill the vacancy in Ingham. He had been in editorial work for 7 years. He was graduated from Michigan State in 1922 and served as club agent in Lenawee county and county agent in St. Joseph county before going to Indiana.

If the state board of agriculture approves Hoekzema's Berrien assignment, Ingham will be left without a county agent until Curry's return in November or December. It is probable, said extension officials, that a young man may be assigned to Ingham as acting county agent for 6 months. July 1 is the tentative transfer date for Hoekzema.

SEWER IS CHANGED

Ingham's Hall Memorial library is getting a new lawn as a result of a sewer change. When the library was built the storm water hookup was to the sanitary sewer. To change over, a power shovel was employed. The lawn and driveway were both ruined. The county appropriated $1,000 for the sewer changeover and the rebuilding of the driveway and lawn.

Youth Comes to After 2 1/2 Weeks

After 2 1/2 weeks of unconsciousness Harold Jenks, 13, came to Sunday. He still occasionally lapses into a coma, yet he is able to distinguish members of the family who visit him and can converse. He does not yet have full use of one side. He is at the Sparrow hospital.

The Jenks boys is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jenks, 2853 Phillips road. He was riding his horse on Sandhill road April 19 when the animal galloped out into the intersection with Phillips road. Dogs had been barking at the horse. In the intersection the horse and rider were struck by a car driven by Herbert Johnson, East Lansing.

The crash killed the horse and so mangled the right leg of the boy that amputation was necessary.

Cyclone at Waco Spares Bradmans

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence (Evo) Bradman were unharmed in the Waco, Texas, twister Monday.

Mrs. Bradman was at work in a downtown store. The roof and front of the store were blown away and the wind carried much of the merchandise into the streets. She was unhurt, however.

Bradman was off duty and home when the cyclone struck. No damage was done in the immediate neighborhood and he did not realize the severity of the storm until he started for the business section.

Word from Mr. and Mrs. Bradman was received by telegram by the father, Floyd Bradman, and the sister, Mrs. Clarence Eifer, Tuesday.

Promotion Plans Are Arranged for Eighth Graders

Rural eighth graders will receive their promotion certificates at exercises next week. Some will get their certificates at Mason, others at Williamston.

At Mason Wednesday night in the school auditorium eighth graders from schools in the townships of Onondaga, Leslie, Bunker Hill, Stockbridge, Aurelius, Vevey, Delhi, Alaledon, and from the Pollok in Wheatfield will be presented in exercises.

On the following night, Thursday, May 21, rural eighth graders from schools in Locke, Leroy, Williamston, White Oak and Wheatfield, except Pollok, will be presented in the school auditorium in Williamston.

The Rev. Paul L. Arnold, pastor of the Mason Presbyterian church, will address the eighth graders and their parents at Mason. Eighth graders and their parents at Williamston will hear the Rev. Samuel Seitzer, Dansville Methodist pastor.

There are 4 rural schools which will complete their work this week. They are schools where only a week for Christmas vacation was had, explained Alton J. Stroud, county school superintendent. Most other rural schools will let out the following week. A few will have to run into the week of May 26 to complete schedules, the superintendent said.

Johnny Morlock Appears on TV

Johnny Morlock, 3, of Mason will make his debut on TV Thursday afternoon. He is in Chicago on the Welcome Travelers network show, seen locally at 2:30.

The Mason boy, youngest of 9 children of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Morlock, was born without adequate legs. He has spent much of his life in Grand Rapids undergoing surgery and learning to walk on artificial legs. He's a bright child, packed full of courage, and he's going on TV to show people how even youngsters can learn to overcome handicaps.

Kindergartners First

Mothers Will Help Decide Who Goes Where to School

At Mason next Tuesday the mothers of next year's kindergartners will help decide who goes where to school next fall. At Mason's new Cedar Street school on the west side will be a spacious room in a beautiful building. School officials don't like the present prospect of having such a nice room used only half a day, while the present building will have 2 sections. On an area division that's the way things might work out.

If enough mothers of kindergartners want their children to have more elbow room they can ask to have them sent to the new school, even though the present kindergarten building is closer. If enough mothers want it, there could be 2 sections at the Cedar Street school and only one at the present building. The mothers of boys and girls who will enter kindergarten next fall are asked to gather in the school gymnasium at 3:30 next Tuesday afternoon to decide how the classes should be divided. Superintendent James H. Vander Ven said. There are other things to be discussed also, he added.

Making up room enrollments for other grades will not offer the problem of the kindergartners, the school superintendent explained. Older children will be able to walk farther to the west side school, he said.

US-127 traffic will not endanger youngsters going to school, except for the few who live west of the by-pass.

Clouds Protect Fruit Blossoms Against Frost

Cold weather scared but didn't hurt fruit growers Wednesday night. The overcast sky, and at times a light mist, protected the blossoms. The mercury went down to 36 instead of below freezing as was prophesied Wednesday. The outlook Thursday was for a low of 38 Thursday night and a slowly rising temperature Friday.

Bees quit work on blossoms Tuesday when the rain and cold set in. They had done a good job pollinating peaches and plums and cherries and were waiting for apples to burst into full bloom. If the weather warms up so bees can work this week end no cold weather damage will result, Leslie orchardists said.

This week end apple orchards should be in full bloom. Tuesday's rain further delayed farming operations. What farmers need is a warm, drying wind with some sunshine.

A young cyclone whipped buildings and utility lines and uprooted trees in the Pleasant lake and Battesee lake areas Monday. Some farm buildings were damaged and a few went down.

Gas Tank Driver Is Badly Burned As Cargo Ignites

Donovan Barr is in the Mason General hospital with severe burns on his arm and face.

Barr was burned when his gasoline truck caught fire at the Clifford Allen farm on Clark road, north of Dansville, Monday forenoon. He was filling the Allen gasoline tank when a spark from the pump ignited the gasoline. Barr was at the rear of the truck changing over to a full compartment on the tanker.

Flames belched from the rear and burned off the hose pouring flaming gasoline over the ground. Barr tried to shut off the valve and received his burns for the effort.

Allen was plowing in the field just west of the truck. He rushed to the phone and called the Ingham township fire department. Dick Hayhoe noticed the flames shooting into the air from his farm on down the road. He rushed to the Allen farm and drove Barr to the hospital.

In the meantime the Dansville firemen arrived. They sprayed water onto the truck to keep the tanks cool, and Allen hooked up 2 tractors and dragged the burning truck into the plowed field.

Flaming gasoline, fanned by a strong wind, whirled about Allen's house and tool shed but did not ignite the buildings. The E. D. Barr & Sons truck was a complete loss.

A quick call was put in to the John Bean company in Lansing for its crew of firefighters but the blaze was under control by the time they arrived.

Barr received third degree burns on one arm and second degree burns on the side of his face.

Teacher Regains Consciousness

Maurice Boon, Mason teacher, regained partial consciousness Wednesday. He is in a Blodgett hospital, Grand Rapids. Up until Wednesday he had not regained consciousness following the accident on the morning of May 7. He sustained a skull fracture when the car he was driving left a curve on M-36 near Gregory and struck a tree.

Riding with Boon was James Ankenbrant, also on the Mason teaching staff. He was not seriously hurt and was able to return to his classes Monday. After the accident both men were taken to McPherson hospital in Howell. Boon was transferred to the Grand Rapids hospital Saturday. Doctors said Boon might recover enough so he could be taken on to Ludington. The teacher's brother is a Ludington surgeon.

Boon will not be able to return to his classes. Mrs. Louis Stid has been hired by the board of education to finish out the school year. Boon taught seventh and eighth grade history.

The 2 Mason teachers had been visiting a friend in Ann Arbor before leaving for Mason last Wednesday night.

Criminal Trials Are Scheduled to Start on Monday

Jurors summoned for the May term of court will start work Monday. They will start on criminal trials.

Prosecutor Paul C. Younger announced that there will likely be 19 or 20 criminal cases for trial.

The trial of Walter Smith of Lansing, charged with murder and convicted of manslaughter at the January term in Mason, has been set to start June 8.

Charles P. VanNote, Lansing city attorney, was present at the formal opening of the May term Monday. Several of the Lansing traffic ordinance cases carried on the criminal calendar will be brought on for appeal at this circuit court term, he said.

Judge Charles H. Hayden, presiding for the May term, was on the bench Monday forenoon. He tentatively set 20 jury civil cases for trial at Mason during the May term.

For want of progress during the past year Judge Hayden dismissed 10 law and 36 chancery cases.

Five men were arraigned Monday. Lonnie Marshall, Stockbridge, and Raymond J. Fulton, Lansing, charged with drunk and disorderly, 3rd offense; Donald Robert Coon, larceny from person; Edward A. Guy, robbery unarmed; and Donald R. Pemberton, robbery unarmed.

Marshall and Guy pleaded not guilty. Coon pleaded guilty. Pemberton stood mute. He was represented in court by John W. Bird. Pemberton had no lawyer when he waived examination in lower court. On motion of Bird, and with the consent of the prosecutor, the case was remanded to justice court for examination.

Fulton stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. He appeared just in time to save himself from a stay in jail. He was in the court room when Judge Hayden called court to order. He went out to get himself, so he said, a cup of coffee. It took him 45 minutes. When his case was called and no one answered, the judge entered an order to have Fulton jailed. When Fulton did appear he was admonished before the bench and the order was rescinded.

On Monday morning, May 8, the X-ray unit will be at the Holt high school to take X-rays of 10th, 11th and 12th graders. Not until next fall will the mobile unit return to Holt for the community survey, Wideman said.

In speaking of the Mason tests, Wideman said, "Experience has shown that in other areas of the county, participation drops as much as 50% from one X-ray survey to the next in the same areas. Mason had a turnout of approximately 1,200 compared with 2,000 in 1951. This year's program purposely X-rayed about 300 less students, however, so that community participation showed only a 500 total decrease."

"With all factors considered," Wideman added, "Mason's program was highly successful. I think that Mason owes a debt of gratitude to all the groups working on the program. Included were the co-chairmen, Dr. George R. Clinton, Dr. William E. Clark, the P. T. A., the American Legion Auxiliary, Senior and Junior Child Study clubs, the College club and Principal Richard Demlow at the Mason school. There were also many merchants who helped sponsor advertising, the Mason Boy Scouts, the Consumers Power Co., which made the electrical power available, and the Ingham County News, whose fine handling of all stories and advertising made the program known to all."

"If all communities were as aware of the TB program as Mason, the goal of elimination of the disease would be much closer," Wideman concluded.

CLOCK RECEIVES FACIALS The court house clock received 2 new faces this week. March storms damaged the north and east faces.

State Pays Out Almost Million In School Aid

Ingham schools may be able to finish up their terms with cash on hand. A state check of $818,245.49 for school aid arrived at Mason Thursday morning.

Deputy Treasurer Laurence Parker said the money will go out to schools Friday or Saturday.

Lansing will get $408,310 with East Lansing getting $52,240; Stockbridge, $37,310; Mason, $35,938; and Leslie, $22,906.

Other high schools getting big checks are Holt, $27,483; Haslett, $24,818; Okemos, $19,624; Williamston, $22,087; Ingham Township Agricultural, $23,417; and Webberville, $11,102.

Delhi, Lansing and Meridian suburban schools will receive: Island, $2,857; North, $16,283; Maple Grove, $17,569; Lansing Northwestern, $3,611; Pleasant Grove, $23,005; Winemore, $7,355; Horsebrook, $2,975; Stoner, $12,496; Community, $2,708; Forest Road, $8,761; Carl, $6,459; and Marble, $6,503.

Onondaga Riverside has $1,652 coming and the Kinneville district, where all pupils are transported to Eaton Rapids, will get $3,096.

Mason Sets Pace For Other Areas In Chest X-Rays

Although Mason's count dropped 800 from 2 years ago, the city still leads the rest of the county on chest X-rays.

Two years ago Mason reached the 2,000 mark. During the 4 days of the tests last week the total dropped to 1,200. Even with the drop, Mason still holds first place in percentages, reported Don Wideman, executive secretary of the Ingham County Tuberculosis and Health society.

Mason people who failed to get free chest X-rays last week may still do so next Thursday, May 21, at Aurelius Center. The mobile unit will be at the town hall from 1:00 to 4:30 and from 6:00 to 7:30.

Mrs. George Green, community chairman for the Aurelius survey, is forming telephone committees to notify all township residents. The survey is open to all, she said. Children between the ages of 5 and 15 must be accompanied by parents. No tests are made on children under 5.

On Monday morning, May 8, the X-ray unit will be at the Holt high school to take X-rays of 10th, 11th and 12th graders. Not until next fall will the mobile unit return to Holt for the community survey, Wideman said.

Auditors Suggest Full Accounting Of Fair Payments

State auditors have cast doubt upon the propriety of the county making lump sum payments to the fair board.

In the audit released Wednesday, state auditors suggested that the prosecuting attorney advise the board of supervisors on the way the accounting should be done. No question was raised as to the legality of the appropriations to the fair board, or to the use to which the money has been put.

Last year $10,000 in tax money was used to build 3 barns for livestock exhibits. Another $10,000 is being used this year to build 2 hog barns. At the April meeting the supervisors included $10,000 in next year's tentative budget to continue the building program. Also used last year was $2,500 from county funds for general operating expense of the fair.

"The complaint of the auditors is that the 'central accounting records of the county clerk and county treasurer do not reflect the individual expenditures made from these appropriations by the fair board since individual county disbursement vouchers and county warrants were not issued in the regular manner for these expenditures by the fair board.'"

"It might take a little more bookkeeping to separate the county money from fair money received from other sources," said Fair Secretary Joy O. Davis. "If the auditors and the supervisors want it that way we can change our system. The county money is used for the specific buildings for which it was appropriated. The premium money also goes for paying premiums. Our books are available at all time for anyone to check."

More Revolving Wanted

Auditors also commented on the deficits in individual revolving drain fund accounts.

Under the drain law the cost of preliminary proceedings is paid from the revolving drain fund with the provision that if the drain is not built the petitioners pay the costs. If the drain is built, the assessment levied against property owners must include repayment of the amount used from the revolving drain fund.

The report of the auditors for 1952 showed an appropriation of $41,000.00 to the revolving drain fund plus a credit of $294.16 from the Spross drain. Deficits came to $34,832.62, sending the net credit balance down to $6,401.53.

"An immediate effort should be made," said the auditors, "to liquidate the deficits in the individual revolving drain accounts by assessments against the drainage districts on established drains wherever possible, or by authorized charge to the general fund of the county."

Auditors didn't check their figures far enough, commented Drain Commissioner Gerald L. Graham. He produced figures showing that the debit balance is $22,609.21 as of April 15.

"The debit balance reported by the auditors was the balance before taxes on the drains were collected," Graham said. "On April 15 when tax collections were credited to the drain funds the balance was reduced about one-half. The rest of the refunds must wait until proceedings on the drain mature. There is no need for anyone to worry over that revolving drain fund balance."

The treasurer took in $10,517,906.44 during the year. He disbursed $3,346,616.42 for county functions, $469,337.02 for capital outlay and $6,494,703.20 to cities, townships and school districts.

Out of the $3,346,616.42 spent for county government functions, $639,685.72 (19.11%) went for administrative and operating expense; $1,033,918.40 (30.9%) for highways; $1,414,713.99 (42.27%) for welfare and medical assistance; $195,364.14 (5.84%) for drains; and $62,934.15 (1.88%) for miscellaneous.

County departments were commended for the accuracy with which their records were kept. E. E. Nolan and A. J. Sayotevich were the examiners assigned by Auditor General John B. Martin to the Ingham audit.

Widening of 127 South Past Leslie Scheduled for 1954

Building of a new US-127 from Mason south past Leslie is on the 1954 highway program.

The right-of-way plans have been completed, the state highway department disclosed Wednesday, and some of the right-of-way has already been bought. The right-of-way is east or west either side of the present route, according to the prices asked by land-owners.

Tentative construction plans call for a new route from the present curve north of Leslie down Hill road south. That route will by-pass Leslie a half-mile or more to the west. The new route will strike the present US-127 in Rives township, southeast of Rives Junction.

The only big "if" in 1954 construction is money. It is a federal highway project and federal funds for it will have to become available. The state has its own money earmarked for the job.

There is also the little "if" of cement. The cement industry is not keeping up with the demand for its product and the lag could prevent 1954 construction, state highway engineers pointed out.

State highway plans cover the entire route from Mason south to Jackson. However, state highway officials stated, it is not likely that the entire stretch will be built in one year. Probably the 8 miles between the south end of the Mason by-pass and Leslie, or on to connect with the present route in Rives, will come first, highway officials indicated.

North Lane Is Open The east lane of the Mason-Holt widening was scheduled to be opened Thursday afternoon. The one lane of pavement from Harper road into Holt was completed last spring.

A 1,400-foot strip on the east side of the Mason by-pass south of the Dart road intersection was completed this week. A temporary 8-inch slab was laid. Engineers explained that within a few years, possibly 4, that section will be ripped out and widened. The south-bound lane will be standard 8-inch depth with reinforcing steel.

Thursday morning, Sargent paving crews were moving their equipment north from the Mason by-pass to Maple Point. By Monday, Sargent workmen stated, they hope to begin pouring the concrete on the west lane south to Harper road. The section of old highway on the S curve from Harper to the Country Kitchen will be torn up within a few days, workmen said.

When further grading on the by-pass is complete, probably sometime next week, the paving crew will head west to that. If grading is completed across the muck in time, the south-bound lane will be extended first. If the fill is not settled in time for paving, then a jump across the muck to Columbia road will be made, engineers said. In that case, the fill will be paved on the trip back.

Sargent Construction Co. of Saginaw is doing the paving. William J. Muehlenbeck of Saginaw has the grading contract.

Tourist Trade May Take Over Junction Site

Where the big hill stood north of Mason's city limits, a tourist center may develop.

John N. Angell, owner of 1,000 feet of frontage on the west side between Pryor road and the north end of the by-pass, is dickering with oil companies, restaurateurs and hotel operators.

The high hill has been taken away load by load, almost 400,000 cubic yards, to make the fill for the by-pass. What's left around the edges is being pushed back to fill part of the lake made when the East Lansing Sand and Gravel company went down to bedrock.

The south end of the little lake will be filled in. The water averages about 18 feet deep. About two-thirds of the pond will remain and it will be partially filled and the banks will be sloped down to the water's edge. Angell plans to plant cedar trees on the slopes.

Because a creek runs through the pond the water does not become stagnant.

While operating the pit the East Lansing Sand and Gravel Co. took out an estimated 800,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel, getting it from the top of the hill, then 50 feet above the highway, down to bed rock 18 feet below ground water level.

Angell owns about 150 acres. He is plating

Ray Fisher is giving his Packard garage front on Cedar street a new finish. Dick's Suncor Service station will sell gas from the new modern station next month, according to latest estimates. The old Jim's Market building has been torn down to make way for the long concrete approaches to the new station.

Gus Kean left Monday on an 18-day fishing trip with a party of Adrian businessmen to the Lake-Of-The-Clouds in Ontario and Manitoba, Canada.

Charles Peacock started work Monday in the processing plant at the Mason Dairy. He was formerly employed at Perkins Hardware.

Herschel Jewett is on a fishing trip this week at Newaygo. Don Cady gave his hardware store a fresh coat of green paint over the week end.

Bob Betcher, owner of Bob's Standard Service, is selling Ford's for Roy Christensen. His brother, Ralph, is operating the station.

Presbyterian Men Discuss Projects

Members of the Council of Presbyterian Men discussed council projects at their meeting Wednesday night. It was held in the church dining room and was preceded by a dinner.

Nathan S. Davis presided at the meeting. Rex Gillen was program chairman and Robert Seyfarth served as chairman of the discussion which followed the showing of a sound movie. Laurence Parker led the devotions. His father, Stanley Parker, led group singing.

good records are meant to be beaten

THE INFANTILE DEATH RATE in the United States is very low. From 1934 to 1936 we ranked seventh in the world, led only by New Zealand, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Yet 70,000 infants die annually in the first month of life, and 53,000 more from the second to the twelfth month. How many of these precious infants might have lived had their mothers had adequate prenatal care under the direction of a competent physician?

It is now up to the mothers to take advantage of the knowledge and skill of the physician during the trying months of pregnancy. We are ready to supply the needed dietary supplements and other medication ordered by your physician.

Two Plowmen Tie for County Title

Dan Waltz and Stanley Bryde, both of Mason, tied for the 4-11 and PFA plowing title Saturday. Just a single point behind was Carl Minnis of the Vantown club. The plowing was done on the Carlyle Waltz farm on Annis road in Onondaga.

Minnis captured both first places in the backing and in the belting contests. Waltz won the safety contest with Eugene Craft Stockbridge, placing second and Bryde, third.

William Bravenor of the White Oak club placed third in the plowing; Bernard Aubuchon, Stockbridge, fourth; Clayton Hayhoe, Mason, fifth; Charles Hawkins, Williamston, sixth; and Eugene Craft, Stockbridge, seventh. Hawkins was only 11. He was operating a caterpillar job with 3 plows.

Young Minnis had things all his own way in belting and backing. He had low score of 87 in belting. Clayton Hayhoe placed second with 117, Waltz third with 128, Bryde fourth with 133, and Bravenor fifth with 148.

Minnis had only 140 points charged against him on backing. Bravenor was second with 210, Bryde third with 411, Merwin Hall of the Crossroads Farmers fourth at 526, and Hayhoe fifth with 600.

Perfect weather after a long wet spell cut the number of contestants in half and affected the spectators the same way. The weather turned so good so quick that farmers stayed home and kept their sons there to catch up on their own plowing. The original entry list numbered 16. Only 8 were on the starting line, actually 7, because one came late.

Plans called for the plowing to be done on the Dave Beatty farm in Leroy May 2. Rain forced postponement of the date and also the switch to the Waltz farm in Onondaga.

Backing and belting contests were held in the forenoon with the plowing getting started about 1:30. All the contestants did well, the judges agreed. Each boy operating 2 plows covered 4-rod strips, and those with 3 plows covered 6-rod strips. Then they all plowed into the plots left in between when contestants were forced to withdraw in order to work on their home farms.

Zane Clark of the Standard Oil Co. was general chairman of the contest. Ingham county implement dealers hung up generous prizes.

Chellis Hall, Frank Wieland

JUDGES had to do a lot of close figuring before the winner of Saturday's plowing contest was finally decided. Just one point separated the first 3, and only 1 could be picked for the state contest. The final decision was that Dan Waltz and Stanley Bryde, both of the Mason club, tied for first. Waltz was chosen as the county's contestant with Bryde the alternate. They are shown above receiving a plaque from Zane Clark, district manager of the Standard Oil Co. He promised that each will receive a duplicate plaque attesting to his plowing prowess.

Below at the right is Carl Minnis of the Vantown club. He won both the backing and the belting contests and was just that single point behind Bryde and Waltz in the plowing. He will enter the state tractor operating contest as the representative from Ingham county.

and - Carol Clean, Harold Sheehin and Ray Lott were plowing. Ralph Hayner, Clarence Minnis and Ray Lott were safety judges. L. A. Cheney and Phil Hayhoe judged the belting contest, and Gordon Monroe, Harold rows, straightness of the dead furrows and their shallowness, the evenness of the crown, uniformity of the depth and the correctness of the depth of the furrows, pulverization of the soil, trash coverage and the safety precautions of the tractor operators.

Auxiliary Plans For Poppy Sale

Mrs. Grace Ankney, chairman of Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary's 1953 poppy campaign, announced this week that plans are made and workers ready for the annual Poppy Day, to be held in Mason Saturday, May 23.

"In asking members of the community to wear an American Legion poppy on this day," said Mrs. Ankney, "we remind them that the little crepe paper flower is a nation's memorial to its dead and living heroes, and that every penny contributed to the campaign is used to help disabled veterans of 3 wars and all children of veterans." "The poppies, made in veterans' hospitals during the fall and winter months, provide work for the disabled and renew the hopes of many who thought they could no longer engage in useful work."

"The poppy is not just a crepe paper flower," explained Mrs. Erma Smith, president of the local Auxiliary unit. "It is a symbol of the sacrifice made by thousands who entered their country's service and who now sleep beneath the crosses, row on row in all parts of the world. It is the symbol, too, of the sacrifice of thousands of others who have returned home broken in body and spirit to spend years, perhaps the rest of their lives, behind hospital walls. In remembrance of these, the American Legion Auxiliary asks each resident of Mason to wear a Legion poppy."

Auxiliary members will be assisted by Girl Scout groups and junior members of the Mason Auxiliary unit in distributing the poppies next week.

BARTLETT'S TO OPEN

The Joe Cappo band will open the season at Bartlett's Pleasant lake resort Saturday night. The band is under the direction of Don Tatroe. Donna Durbin is the featured vocalist.

LETTERS to the Editor

Hawaii Is Delightful

I have now spent exactly 24 hours in these enchanting islands and I can already understand your enthusiasm. This is probably the most delightful spot on earth.

This is their spring and everything is in bloom. The air is fragrant with the scent of flowers that are nearly all strangers to me.

We arrived last night after a 10 1/2-hour flight from Los Angeles. The flight over was very smooth and comfortable. On arrival the stewardess greeted each man with a lei and a kiss. The purser did the same for the ladies. Then the manager of the hotel had sent down leis for each of the ladies. Today he sent around an orchid corsage to Marjory so you know he's a very popular man.

You have no idea what a thrill it was to have your letter waiting for us at the hotel as well as an official looking document from the navy informing us that you had contacted them and asked that we be allowed to inspect naval installations. I called them this morning and they invited us out this afternoon at 2. We were met at headquarters by a young apprentice seaman by the name of Donald Ross from Detroit, Mich. He took us aboard a launch and showed us all around Pearl Harbor pointing out points of interest including the old battleship Arizona which has now become a national shrine with 1,110 dead who were never recovered from the ship. It is still leaking oil and will probably do so for another 40 years.

It might interest you to know why you, a small town newspaper editor, were selected to make the trip you did last fall. The young seaman said the navy believes a small town newspaper with a circulation of 5,000 or more subscribers is read thoroughly by all its readers whereas a big newspaper is only superficially scanned by its readers. Hence your story actually gets more actual readers than a big paper.

He also told us that the report which you published and sent them in booklet form was very well received and read by navy personnel. The news in your letter of the death of Lloyd Doane was a great shock to us. The community has lost a valuable citizen and friend.

We are looking forward with pleasure to a week in the islands. Marjory has called Francis Davis who used to live in Mason and roomed with Louise Kellenberger. We are having lunch with her on Saturday. She is now teaching at the University of Hawaii. On our return to San Francisco we are expecting to call on the Corsauts.

D. ROSS LEITHBRIDGE
Honolulu, Hawaii

Support for X-Ray

We wish to thank you for the excellent handling of the news and publicity for the recent Mason chest X-ray program.

The success of the program is directly traceable to your paper's support, of that we feel certain. We offer our commendation for a continuing line, informative newspaper and for your sincere efforts in helping the community of Mason to protect itself against tuberculosis.

DONALD G. WIDEMAN,
Executive Secretary, Ingham County Tuberculosis and Health Society

Another Hawaiian Report

We have had a very enjoyable first day in Hawaii. With the Leithbridges we photographed and photographed the Hula dances which the Kodak people put on every Thursday from 10 a. m. to 11. You probably saw it when you were over here. Anyway I assure you the Kodak people don't lose any money on the venture. It's a camera holiday.

Thanks to you and your efforts: Mrs. Bolin and I can truthfully say the afternoon trip through Pearl Harbor was really one of the highlights of our whole trip. I venture to say very few tourists ever get to see what we did this afternoon. The surprising part was that we could take as many pictures as we wished. Our guide who was a sailor, informed us he would mention the areas where picture-taking was prohibited. He didn't mention any, so we were not hampered. I had a still camera and a Cine 8 Movie so I hope my pictures turn out O. K.

We saw, among many things, the wreckage of the battleships Utah and Arizona and were on deck of the latter; also several subs of the latest design and the cruiser Los Angeles which docked yesterday, having come from Korean waters.

Tomorrow we are taking the Gray Line tour of the whole is-

Four Town Corners

Mrs. Ed Mullen
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin and daughters were in Detroit Saturday and attended open house held for Mrs. Martin's brother and sister-in-law.

Earl Howe of Lansing was a Monday caller at the Wemple home.

Mrs. Remi Cromer is back in Mercy hospital in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frost entertained Miss Lila Frost of Jand. Later we will see the big island of Hawaii and then Maui. Saturday the Lurline docks so we will be there. They say it is quite a holiday affair.

ROBERT E. BOLIN

Phnt, Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and family of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schultheiss and family of St. Louis, Miss Hilda Schultheiss and Miss Rosemary Baebman of Ann Arbor for Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rogers and Mrs. Sarah Rogers were in Detroit Saturday to attend the wedding of a relative.

Mrs. Joe Martin, Mrs. Clare Smith and Mrs. Ed Mullen attended the Community Aid Thursday at the Johnson home in Williamston.

Miss Mary Mullen and Frank Mullen of Detroit spent the week end at the Mullen farm.

An estimated 16,500,000 American women get professional beauty treatment each week.

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models. The remarkable gasoline economy. The extra ruggedness and strength. And that the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity.

So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us, won't you?

TODAY'S Meditation

The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. (Acts 4:19.) Read Acts 4:13-22.

He had been a Christian for 3 years, but his mother, an earnest Buddhist, continually urged him to return to Buddhism. She accused him of lack of respect for parents and ancestors. Unable to endure this censure, he made up his mind to return to Buddhism. On a Sunday morning he went to church for the last time. In his heart he bade farewell to his friends and started home. However, just as he was about to enter the house, these words thundered into his soul: "Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye."

From that day he never strayed again, but always listened to the voice of God. He gave his witness to Christ through 50 years of faithful living.

We are prone to listen to the voices of men rather than to God. Yet there is no other voice to which we should listen. Fortunate is the man who seeks to know God's will and heeds the voice of God.

PRAYER
Holy Father, who dost support us who are so prone to err, help us not to heed the voices of men but ever to hear and obey Thy voice. Help us to walk today, tomorrow and forever, not by the wisdom of men but by Thy wisdom. In Christ's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Under all circumstances I will try to obey the voice of God.—Kozue Tomoi (Japan)

Gold Rush Theme Is Used for Annual Junior-Senior Reception

On Friday night the Dansville seniors were guests of the juniors at the annual junior-senior reception.

The theme, a secret until that night, centered around a "Gold Rush" idea. As the seniors entered the gym the Gold Diggers played "California Here I Come."

For stage decorations the juniors had moved in a red covered wagon. This later served as a background for pictures taken by LeClear Studios. The stage took on the form of the Gold Nugget Hotel and on either side were the livery stable and the postoffice.

Table decorations consisted of kerosene lamps, as centerpieces, and pieces of gold scattered about for effect. As favors each person received a miniature covered wagon with his name linked on it.

The waitresses, sophomore girls, wore bonnets suggestive of covered wagon days. Alan Nemer acted as toastmaster (spectator). There was a welcome to the seniors by Don Douglas, junior class president, and a response by Jack Freeman, senior class president. Following this the Gold Dust Jamboree was presented by the Gold Diggers (Bill Sly, Lorna Underwood, Suzie Thompson, Janet Wygant, Catherine Brady, Dorwin Sheathelm, Carl Oesterle and Dick Stenske).

"Here's the other thing: we're celebrating Packard Invitation Month in honor of the new Packard Program—and the factory is awarding 12 new Clippers, 12 new Packards, and a Grand Award of the sensational sports car, the Packard Caribbean—to people who participate and follow the rules. Local Units Get Gas Tax Shares From State Fund

Ingham county got for itself $140,872.50 from state gasoline and weight tax revenues for the first quarter of the year. Cities and villages of Ingham received an additional aggregate of $341,117.00.

Lansing had $275,609.92 coming; East Lansing, $10,269.89; Mason, $9,987.43; Williamston, $5,161.00; Leslie, $1,336.03; Stockbridge, $2,697.49; Webberville, $1,191.89; and Dansville, $1,636.19.

Net receipts of the state motor vehicle highway fund for the first quarter of 1953 amounted to $57,806,265.02.

Under the 1951 act, all of the state gasoline and weight taxes, the diesel fuel tax and a small amount of miscellaneous fees are deposited in the state motor vehicle highway fund. After deductions for non-highway uses and collections costs, the rest of the money is divided as follows: 44% to the state highway department for expenditure on state trunkline highways in both rural and urban areas; 37% to the counties for expenditure on county roads; and 19% to the cities and incorporated villages for expenditure on their roads and streets.

Under the above distribution formula, the state highway department will receive $25,447,958.19 as its share of the first quarter of 1953 collections; the counties will receive $21,399,419.39 and the cities and incorporated villages will receive $10,988,891.04.

Payments to the cities and incorporated villages during the last 2 quarters of 1951 and the first quarter of 1952 were based on estimated mileages of city streets as records showing exact mileages were not available. During the first quarter of 1952, exact mileages were determined and it was found a number of cities and incorporated villages had less mileage of streets than had been assumed and so these cities had been overpaid. Hence, starting with the second quarter payments of 1952, deductions were made to correct the overpayments.

The sum of $250,000 also is being deducted from the counties' share of the first quarter motor vehicle fund collections as a part payment on the $5,000,000

Fun and Guns Come to Fox Theatre

Happiest of the happy hunting grounds for movie scene stealers are western motion pictures.

Authority on the subject is movie hero Robert Ryan now starring with Julia Adams and Rock Hudson in Universal-International's Technicolor "Horizons West," opening Friday and Saturday at the Fox theatre. Ryan has appeared in his share of horse operas and has watched scores of scene stealers come and go through the years.

"A leading man in an enter has to be on his toes every minute, or he's liable to find a scene pulled from under his feet by anyone from the villain to an obscure extra player," says Ryan.

Introducing 2 of the funniest comedians to hit the screen in many a year, "Gobs and Gals," Republic's new laugh hit, comes to the Fox Friday and Saturday. Although both American by birth, the Bernards had to cross the ocean to gain their greatest fame. Now the toast of the crowds at the Palladium in London and the gay bistros in Paris, it is safe to predict that once the American movie-going public sees them in "Gobs and Gals," their future in this country will be assured.

In the film the Bernard boys are a pair of Navy yeoman, Salt Conners and Sparks Johnson, stationed on the bare little South Pacific atoll of Mona Palu. They are in charge of weather-reports and, as such, must send up observation balloons. To each they attached a photo of their handsome commanding officer with a pathetic note asking for a letter from the girl who finds the balloon.

Comedy partners Bud Abbott and Lou Costello soar to new laugh heights in Universal-International's hilarious "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." Former model Mari Blanchard heads the large supporting cast in the role of a Planetary ruler. Eight contest winners from the recent Miss Universe contest are also seen in the new comedy.

Hundreds of letters come back plus packages of cookies, cakes, candy and hand-knitted socks.

Salt and Sparks set up a store and sell the loot to other gobs at outlandish prices.

The racket backfires when the unit returns to the states and their C. O., Lt. Smith, is mobbed at the docks by admiring girls. His own niece, daughter of a senator is furious. Her father, already anti-navy minded, vows to get the navy appropriation cut down to where it won't be enough to buy a leaky row boat. Comely favorites Bud Abbott and Lou Costello skyrocket to new laugh heights in their latest comedy, "Abbott and Costello Go To Mars," which opens Sunday and Monday at the Fox.

Howard Christie produced and Charles Lamont directed this initial invasion by any movie comedy team into the realm of science-fiction, and the studio's special effects, wardrobe and property departments have contributed greatly in making this new comedy a success.

In "Abbott and Costello Go To Mars," Bud and Lou are added to their mad and triumphant quest for laughs by such unusual props as a rocket ship, a flying saucer and the lavish type palace which might house the ruling powers on the planet Venus today, plus space suits, ray guns, jet-propelled automobiles and seven-league boots with magnetic soles.

After accidentally starting the rocket ship, which is being prepared by a group of scientists for a flight to the planets, the comical "buzz" familiar New York City landmarks and then land near New Orleans where, dressed in space suits, they participate in the Mardi Gras. A pair of escaped convicts seek refuge in the space ship, check their prison garb to space suits and rob a New Orleans bank during the Mardi Gras celebration.

Bud and Lou are accused of the theft and the ensuing chase returns them to the space ship where they are joined by the convicts. Then, quite by accident again, they start the space ship and it soars to Venus where the fans are surrounded by beautiful girls. After some hair-raising and hair-raising adventures they are returned to earth and halted for making the first planetary flight.

Based on the popular novel by Luke Short, "Ride the Man Down," Republic's spectacular story of a bitter range war of the 1890s will come to the Fox Tuesday.

A picturesque cast dominates this exciting production with the top star roster headed by Brian Donlevy, Rod Cameron, Ella Raines, Forrest Tucker, Barbara Britton and Chill Willis. In stand-out featured roles are J. Carroll Nash, Jim Davis and Taylor Holmes.

The fast-moving story which was serialized in the Saturday Evening Post, concerns a relentless scramble for rich cattle grazing lands precipitated by the death of a wealthy land baron who has developed the fabulous Hatchet Ranch property from a green sea of wilderness.

A prolonged and bitter fight develops between the Hatchet Ranch foreman, portrayed by Cameron, who has carried out his owner's orders with vigilant dispatch, and Bide Mariner, Brian Donlevy, and his henchmen, who move in on the territory when Cameron's owner dies.

The Cure for Vandalism

People who believe that the new law on vandalism will work a sudden cure are quite apt to be disappointed.

The new law holds parents responsible for payment of damages. They always have been morally responsible. The law makes them legally responsible. But if a parent didn't accept his moral responsibility it's going to be hard to get him to accept his financial responsibility, and to have it do him any good.

This vandalism isn't confined to Detroit and the bigger cities. It's everywhere. One of the biggest items of expense in state, county and municipal parks maintenance is vandalism, smashing of benches and tables, breaking of windows, damage done to toilets, scribbling names on walls, littering the areas with papers and candy wrappers.

Here in Mason within the past month windows have been stoned out of 2 residences, boys attacked a business building with rocks, and on a night last week they stoned windows out of 2 power shovel cabs.

The cure for vandalism must start in the home, and a long way ahead of the time the financial responsibility act takes hold.

There must be public responsibility, too. When anyone sees another damaging property a report should be made of it. Parents and officers should be told.

Some people scoff at property rights. Yet always when property rights are ignored personal freedom becomes imperiled. If a boy grows up having fun stoning windows out of a house the next step is to attack persons. That's even more fun for him.

A good place to start, after improved home training, would be the schools. Take a look at the litter around most school buildings, even inside some buildings. See the paper on the floors and on the lawns. Five hundred boys and girls can throw it around a lot faster than 2 or 3 men can pick it up. School authorities should use more of their authority. Children who litter the streets with candy wrappers should be forced to pick them up and deposit them in wastebins the city has provided.

Vandalism has grown into its present size because few people have accepted their responsibilities. Vandalism can be cured only when all of us assume more responsibility, over our own and over our neighbors' youngsters.

Gravel Pits Are Off-Limits

Two little tots wandered away from their home one pleasant afternoon last week. An hour later they were found a mile away, playing on the edge of a pool in the Ferris gravel pit.

Gravel pits in Mason should now be off-limits for every child. For years the pits were virtually abandoned. Now operations have been resumed, and resumed on a scale much bigger than ever before. Big shovels scoop down to bed rock. Sides of the underwater pools are left sheer. So are the sides of the pit above water. There is danger to anyone of any age playing in the pit. There is the ever-present danger of cave-ins above ground, and the danger of drowning in the pits. There is the added danger of being hurt around the giant machinery.

The city council as well as the pit owners and the parents of youngsters all have their responsibilities. When Ed Ferris sought council permission to dig down to bedrock he agreed to fence off his operations. He'll do it just like he does everything else he agrees to. He also asked the council to launch an educational campaign about the danger of play in the pit.

All the pit operations are not Ferris operations. The city also owns a section of the pit. So do others.

Operators of any pit, and especially these in the midst of the residential section, should have them fenced in.

Only tragedy can result from further negligence to guard these pits against visits by children. If the cost of permanent fencing is considered too great then picket fences used against drifting snow can be placed. Not another week should pass before some remedial action is taken.

Seasoned With Salt

Underlying all the lower peninsula of Michigan except the southern two tiers of counties are vast beds of salt. The thickness of the salt beds vary from a few feet up to 2,000 feet.

Dow Chemical Co. and other big chemical companies have used and are using this mineral storehouse to make hundreds of new products. Because in with the salt are many other minerals.

Michigan has barely scratched the surface of its mineral wealth. We have found some iron and copper, a little coal and a little oil. The state's greatest wealth in this age of chemistry may well be these vast salt beds.

Michigan is a great state. No state in the union has greater natural resources.

Losing $5 to Gain 50c

That's the average of what a farmer loses when he pastures a woodlot. He may save 50c an acre on livestock food. He'll lose $5 in timber production.

Farmers originally pastured timberland to help clear more land and to leave the land which was cleared for cultivated crops. Successful farmers and foresters alike advise against attempting to use woodlots for pasture now. Both the livestock and the timber suffers.

Losing $5 to gain 50c is poor management.

What's the use of drinking a barrel of water for a little fluoride?

Schultz, Pabst, Coca Cola, Vernors and the dairy industry have overlooked a good bet, even better than chlorophyll. All they would have to do would be to advertise that their products had been reinforced with fluoride and the sales charts would show that red line leaping off the top. We're that anxious to protect our teeth that we would drink anything to keep 'em. But we won't quit drinking pop or eating candy and other sweets in order to save 'em. Another example of why the positive approach is better than the negative, of why it's always better to add something than it is to take it away.

"Drink 7 Up with fluoride added to protect your teeth," make more sales than "Drink 7 Up with sugar removed to protect your teeth." Put the coughs in the carload and put in fluoride to cure 'em. That's the way to merchandising.

I've had my last drink of Vernors until that sign next to the Consumers roadside park on M... is moved. To close off the beauty of such a spot by a hideous sign is desecration that borders on vandalism, that really invites vandalism.

Jim Haase, Bill Bullen and Ronnie Clark did their good deeds the hard way. When Sidney Grayson lost his eye and temporarily the sight of his other eye, his 3 young neighbors took rakes and lawnmowers and prettied up the Grayson lawn.

The miracle of spring never unfolded faster than on Saturday. At dawn there were just a few blossoms on my cherry trees. By noon the trees were white and Ken Shattuck's and Mrs. Leo Hawkins' bees were ready for work. I made arrangements for them to start in at time-and-a-half for Saturday afternoon. They did such a good job that I paid them double-time for Sunday. I also recruited some wild bees and bumblebees to help lug the nectar away.

Saturday afternoon when I arrived at the plowing contest on the Waltz farm in Onondaga, the woods to the south and southeast looked black. By 4 o'clock the tops were yellow green—the miracle of spring took place that fast right before my eyes.

Sunday was a perfect Kodachrome day. Forsythia, flowering almond, flowering plum and flowering apricot and the peach trees filled the day with beauty.

Who's going to beat the walnut trees at the John Ridgley farm on Kelly road? You know:

A woman, a dog, and a walnut tree. The more you beat 'em, the better they be.

The Ridgley's planted 400 walnut trees this spring. They got the nuts from Michigan State college and planted them with an old-fashioned corn-planter.

"They won't do us much good," commented Mr. and Mrs. Ridgley, "but if the youngsters stay on the place they'll bless us for that stand of black walnut. And of course the squirrels will, too."

My memory of Mother's Day will long retain the picture I saw Sunday, Mrs. Erwin Duchane sitting in the Presbyterian choir and struggling to keep back the tears as her daughter so melodiously sang, "A Shrine Within My Heart."

We have dudes but they don't go by that name anymore. The word is now seldom used except when coupled with ranch—dude ranch. The accepted definition of a dude used to be one who rendered himself conspicuous by affectation of dress, manners or speech. Dude came from the word dudes, or duds, meaning clothes.

Here at the Ingham County News we seldom use the word lady. Woman is a stronger term, just like man is used instead of gentleman.

At the Perkins hardware store 2 women entered about the same time, and both entered the same aisle. Mrs. Merle Swan, the clerk, walked over. Of the nearest customer she asked, "What can I do for you?" (She isn't one of these "May I serve you?" clerks.)

"I don't know what I want yet," said the customer. "I'm just looking. Wait on that lady there."

The second woman turned and asked, "So I'm a lady, am I?"

"Why, yes," replied the first customer. "You are, aren't you?"

"Well, I guess I must be a lady," the second customer answered. "I never seem to have any fun."

Book Talk

from Ingham County Library

An inspiring new book, concerning a tragic incident in World War II, is SEA OF GLORY, by Francis B. Thornton. This is the story of the individual lives of the 4 heroic chaplains who gave their life-jackets to men who had lost theirs in the confusion of abandoning the troopship which was torpedoed in January, 1943. This great sacrifice made by the 2 Protestant, one Catholic, and one Jewish chaplains, while written as straight reporting, with little comment from the author, is an inspiration to the reader who finds so many authors deploring the selfishness of modern society.

BACK DOWN THE RIDGE, by W. L. White, was condensed in the Reader's Digest recently, but the book is well worth reading for the additional information which could not be included in the condensation. It is not a book which is meant to amuse, but to furnish a true account of the experiences of American soldiers who fight in Korea, soldiers who are usually boys very little older than their younger brothers who are our high school students.

In a lighter vein, THUNDER HILL, by Elizabeth Nichols, is the fascinating story of a young woman who left an advertising agency to buy a farm and raise goats. She also raised sheep, dogs, bees, cats, geese, etc., all with amusing results as she struggled with the frustrations and limitations of rural life. There is even a romance in the book. This is pleasant reading for the person who dreams of buying a little farm and settling down in rural peace, although the author did not really find her life with the goats too peaceful.

PRINCE OF PLAYERS, by Eleanor Ruggles, is the biography of that great American actor, Edwin Booth. It describes his sad youth as companion to his famous but difficult father, and goes on through his own years of triumph and personal sorrows, including that of having his own brother assassinate President Lincoln, to his death in the last years of the 19th century. It was a dramatic life, and the book is as interesting as a novel.

THE BEST YEARS OF YOUR LIFE, by Marie Ray, discusses ways of planning for the 20 additional years which have been added to man's life during the past half century. As the author says "Today we remain 40 for a long, long time and are at the peak of our powers at 60." The book is also an excellent primer against boredom and stagnation at any age. There are suggestions for continuing one's education, either formally, or informally; for creative hobbies such as painting, music and photography; for collecting anything from stamps to paintings, etc.

Other new books which the Ingham county library has for readers, include:

Pictorial History of American Sports, by John Durant and Otto Bettman.

The Magic Lantern, by Robert Carson.

Adam Brunskill, by Thomas Armstrong.

The Pilgrim Soul, by Anne Downes.

Whetstone Walls, by Lella Warren.

Turbulent Era, by Joseph C. Grew.

How to Attract Good Luck, by A. H. Z. Carr.

Cancer, by Dr. Boris Sokoloff.

The Teacher of Teachers, by Harold Rugg.

Thelma, by Vern Caspary.

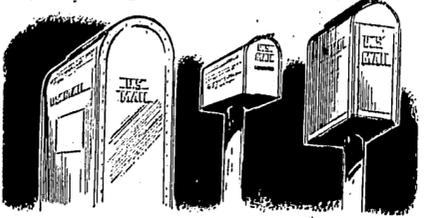

The Days Before, by Katherine Porter.

Bob Myers Wants to Write Own Ads

Secretary of State Pat Cleary dreamed up a smart political stunt when he staged the contest for a license plate slogan. It gets him a ream of publicity and the Democrats can't oppose it. You can't very well argue against an idea to advertise the g-r-r-r-a-t state of Michigan.

The Democrats can't but I can. A license plate is a means of identification and is necessary, so we put up with them. I don't want to be forced, though, to carry an advertisement for Michigan or anybody else. I've got just about all the government I want right now. If I'm going to plaster a slogan on my car, I'll write my own. If Mr. Cleary wants publicity, or wants to advertise Michigan, let his stick his ads on highway signs, or bridges, or paint them on the highway. Government owns plenty of things they can splash their boasts on. Let 'em keep their big mitts off my car.—Bob Myers, Lapeer County Press.

School Problems Change With Years

By Vernon J. Brown
I just returned from attending a special meeting of the residents of Hawley school district. I was struck with the difference between the meetings I attended with my father three score and ten years ago and the one held this evening.

Back in the days of my youth there were not even kerosene lamps at the school house. Men of the district attending any meeting at the school would take along their lanterns, first to light the way across the fields or along the country roads and, second, to hang along the walls of the school room and to stand on the long desk provided for the teacher where the board members sat during school meetings.

My first recollection is of the old hand-made desks and crude seats. What a rumpus was raised when the school board bought fancy desks with iron sides and seats that could be raised when one desired to make an exit.

I recall one occasion later when a light-fisted taxpayer attempted to chide the board for paying too much for a leather valve for the old pump. He charged that 25c was too much, that he had just bought one for 15c. When he was told that the director had bought 2 valves, both upper and lower, for the two-hits, he subsided but without apology.

In my youth I attended the Hawley school when the total enrollment was recorded at 8. This evening's meeting was called to consider transporting the seventh and eighth graders to Manson to relieve the congestion of an enrollment now anticipated for next year to reach more than 50. Even with the 2 upper grades going away to school, the old Hawley school room will bulge with nearly 40 pupils.

Mothers present this evening called attention to the lack of playground facilities for the little tots. They complained there was too much scuffling and tumbling; all because available and modern facilities are available at most playgrounds for the older boys and girls. There was less complaint about spending money for playground devices than there was about that pump leather business. On the way home I did some figuring and what is now proposed to be paid for something for kids to play on and with used to pay the teacher for a 9-months school.

So one might say there is more change than can be discovered in modern electric lights as compared with the old-time smoky lanterns.

Another thing surprising to me was the discovery that with the vagaries of state aid for transportation and tuition and the generosity of the Mason school authorities, there is no extra charge for relieving the congestion and saving the teacher a dozen or more class-periods to be devoted to the lower 6 grades.

At any rate, there was a good representation of parents and residents who are interested in having good schools so that the school room was filled to capacity. All decisions were made by unanimous vote after full discussion. Everyone was evidently happy about the way the school is run. That is democracy at work under the most favorable conditions. It is nice to belong among such folks—and in that respect Hawley district folks are no different than most others.

In parenthesis it might also be added the school structure is materially the same as it was built during the years before the Civil War. To be sure, the old frame has been recovered outside, renovated inside, raised above a modern recreation basement. Its grounds added to, many new gadgets installed and the people have changed. From what I could learn from listening, the job of rearing children still presents difficulties and perplexities.

RAW GARBAGE CONTROL
Eliminating raw garbage feeding is a must in controlling vesicular exanthema in swine, says Dr. Glen W. Reed, extension animal pathologist at Michigan State college.

If you feel tired most of the time, take stock of your work habits, advise Michigan State college home economists. After a thorough physical examination you may find that fatigue comes simply from just dreading to do a job. If that is the case, break the job up in several parts over a period of several days, they suggest.

When I tend the young chickens I dash in and out of the house like a Banshee. If I tarry I get carried away and stay out longer than I intended.

My fruit trees are sprayed... for the first time. There are 17 with 5 new ones this year. It does seem like extra work right now. Pete said I should have waited another year. (Not at all is what he meant, I think.) I've waited 12 years too long now. If they had been set out when we were first married we might be having some good of them now.

As I've mentioned before, this orchard venture is strictly my idea. Pete says we can buy the few bushels of fruit all worm-free cheaper than he can fuss and trim and spray every other minute which is what he says it requires. But I want some blooming trees and the thrill of picking it off fresh from our own trees.

If you want something hard enough it seems you ought to be able to do it, (able to manage it and not to have your own way, I mean).

Pete told Burton Tabor the other evening that he could just see the rows of pines he'd ever get out of any of these trees. Cackle! Cackle!

Well, we do have 2 beautiful peach trees out my dish-washing window. They are so cheery. I started them from pits several years ago and waited until last year to prove to pa that they wouldn't turn out to be cling-stone marbles! I knew it was a gamble but it seemed like nothing lost to try. This is not the best way, I know.

I would have had more but it seemed every place I set them out was right on top of a tile and Pete insisted they be moved and they died. Then those pigs... those eternally-forever-getting-out-pigs that we have every spring actually ate 2 trees right off. The same time they finished up on my tulip bed for dessert. I sat right down on the well-curb in dismay and vowed I'd never go away again.

So there are only 2 peach trees left and I do treasure them. If I should die today I'd consider it a fitting place to be buried beneath them, and they could be my marker! Last year we had the most delicious peaches I ever ate off these trees. I felt so happy. Pete even tells, "I'll admit she did produce some mighty fine peaches."

If I'm still writing this 6 years from now you'll be hearing if he got any cherry pies. Don't you think he will?

This week I'm still going to write about babies. Although I'm going to prove that I think there are babies worth mentioning besides Sammy. One of them is Barbara Jo Cartright. We visited them one afternoon this week. After hearing them talk and show their baby off I don't feel at all unnatural the way I go on. If we love our babies that's the way we are.

She's a nice baby and good. Grandma was right in there praising and proving, too, that she was a good baby. Sammy did not back up my words as well. But Alice Bishop who was there took him and by some magic had him asleep in a second. He told me afterwards that he wished she could do any baby-sitting for him if it was necessary to be left sometime.

I enjoyed this little visit so much. Yes, it's a busy time but long after we're dead and gone there will still be grass growing. Babies grow up so fast. One day you see them and the next time they are walking, it seems. We don't need to be so busy we can't be neighborly and go calling once in a while.

COATING OF SEEDS
Fungicides can be sprinkled right into garden seed packets and shaken around to coat the seeds and fight disease, suggests Dr. Edward A. Andrews, Michigan State college plant pathologist.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Women's work is never done—in spring.
Neither is the man's work.
Boughten fruits are not sweetest.

I can't bear to look out the window! There are a dozen things crying for attention. I shouldn't be sitting here writing! The lawn needs a haircut something awful, the flower beds should be worked up and around in and weeded, the trellises painted before any more rose leaves start, lots of things to be transplanted, the chickens have got to have more feeders... and so on just like lots of you folks who are reading this this very minute! Because most of us farm women have pretty much alike. Many jobs we have to do for ourselves if they get done. There is too much to do on a farm that is more important... that "brings in more money" than posies and "making the yard look nice."

I should be boiled in oil for making it sound like that, Pete goes on a trot hardly stopping for meals. Even during this rainy spell he was busy with more jobs than he had hands to accomplish. He tends 40 hogs, 15 milch cows and a barn full of helpers besides farming 300 acres with his dad. He almost falls asleep at the table he's so tired. And sometimes he does in church!

When I tend the young chickens I dash in and out of the house like a Banshee. If I tarry I get carried away and stay out longer than I intended.

My fruit trees are sprayed... for the first time. There are 17 with 5 new ones this year. It does seem like extra work right now. Pete said I should have waited another year. Kent 4-H Clubs To Show Exhibits

Kent county people, are presenting something new to Michigan this year in the way of telling the story of 4-H clubs.

Ralph Kireh, county club agent, said a "4-H Panorama," designed to present a sweeping view of 4-H club work in the county, will be held May 21 and 22 in the civic auditorium at Grand Rapids. The exhibition hall, an acre in size, will be filled with 4-H club members as they demonstrate various club activities in each of the project fields.

Livestock of all classes and breeds will be in the auditorium for the first time in history. There will be 150 head of prize stock featured along with 50 some project divisions available to 4-H club members in Michigan.

The event is sponsored by the 4-H club leaders' organization of more than 300 local leaders. It's designed to show Kent county people what 4-H club work is and to boost membership and parent participation.

THERE is at least one casket in our display room which will exactly meet the requirements of any family, for we show an exceptionally wide variety of funeral merchandise. The family is invited to make their casket choice without any influence from us. The price of the service decided upon determines, of necessity, the quality of the casket, but the quality of the service rendered is always the same.

Central Put $140,000,000 Into 1952 Rail Progress

- THE NEW IN NEW YORK CENTRAL includes the largest investment by any road in streamlined passenger cars. Plus 60,000 new freight cars. Plus 2 1/2 million new diesel horsepower. Plus vast right-of-way improvements. During 1952, Central's payment on progress totaled $140 MILLION!
- WHERE DID THE MONEY COME FROM? Freight revenue yielded $581 million. Revenue from passengers added $124 million. Mail, express and other sources brought New York Central's 1952 revenue up to $807 million. It sounds like plenty to meet last year's price tag on progress. BUT...
- REVENUES AREN'T EARNINGS! Of $807 million revenue, $492.6 millions went for payroll and benefits. Fuel, supplies and materials took $189 million. Interests, rents, etc., $65.6 million. Depreciation, $38.7 million. Taxes, $36.6 million. That left $24.7 million for earnings—a net return of less than 2 1/2%!
- MORE EARNINGS NEEDED! That's why Central is studying money-losing trains that ought to be dropped. That's why Central is making a record drive for new, paying traffic. Your Railroad news! earn more to go on investing in finer transportation for you. That is the whole CENTRAL IDEAL!

Safe Trash Burner

Here's how one farmer made a safe, but very effective incinerator for trash and rubbish: He used an ordinary 50-gallon steel drum; and cut the top from one end. Four small holes were punched along the rim at the bottom of the other end to serve as a rainwater drain. A half dozen larger, 1 1/2-inch holes were punched six to eight inches above the bottom for a draft. It'll burn rubbish fast, but he kept a sheet of metal for the top to shut off the flames—in case the fire burns too fiercely.

Jackson County Will Be Host To Area Grass Day on June 12

Don't wait until 1954 if you are not satisfied with the grass and legume production on your farm.

This year probably will be your last chance to attend an area grass day program sponsored by the Michigan State college grass days committee, advises James P. Hoekzema, Ingham county agricultural agent.

More than 100,000 farmers have attended these area grass days in the past 6 years, he notes, and it's time to "graduate" to season-long or other new type grassland programs. No plans are being made by the MSC committee for any 1954 grass days although a few counties may have them.

Your last chance to attend a one-day grass day in this area will be Friday, June 12, in Jackson county. Invitations are being extended all over this area—to 49 counties—by County Agricultural agent, Fred C. Sackler. The program will be at the Howard Hall and Ford Southworth farms located three-quarters of a mile east of Tompkins on the Maple Lane road. Tompkins is about 12 miles north and west of Jackson on Highway M-50.

There will be morning tours of the farm, luncheon at the farm at noon and a noon time chance to look over grassland farming exhibits, the county agent points out. During the afternoon, visitors can attend an interview of the host farmers, Howard Hall and Ford Southworth. Farm machinery dealers will display their latest models and there will be field demonstrations of forage harvesters, field balers, crop blowers, forage wagons, bale loaders, hay crushers and other units. Also included in the program will be demonstrations showing the result of spittle bug control, quack grass and yellow rocket control. There will be plots in regard to top dressing with fertilizer on alfalfa and bromes. Some plots in regard to seeding Empire and Italian Birdsfoot Trefall and Hardigan and Ranger alfalfa. There are plots with 600 lb per acre of fertilizer applied at seeding time; some with 300 lb applied at seeding time and some plots with no fertilizer at seeding time.

College Sends 4 To Help Colombia

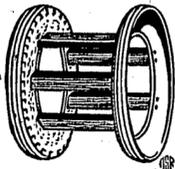

Four more Michigan State college staff members will leave in June for Colombia, to take part in Michigan State college's international educational mission there.

The 4 will replace Michigan State college staff members who have been working in South America. Leaving for Brazil June 5 will be Hugh W. Hough, soils specialist; John D. Johnson, dairy specialist; Leonard J. Braamse, soil scientist; and Lewis Swanson, agricultural engineer.

Hough will go to Palmira, in western Colombia, where he will replace Nathan A. Willis. Remaining at Palmira will be Forster John E. Mausteller.

The other 3 men will go to Medellin in central Colombia. Johnson will replace Woodrow W. Snyder; Braamse will replace Lynn S. Robertson; and Swanson will take over duties from Merrill L. Bailey. The Colombian program is being conducted by Michigan State college in conjunction with the U. S. government.

Barbed Wire Reel

It's easy to make this reel for barbed wire from an old automobile tire and five 16-inch two by fours. Just split the casing around the center so it is in two equal halves. Then, with the outside of the two halves towards the center, space the two by fours, and nail them to the casings through the concrete sides, as shown. This reel, used by an Illinois farmer, will roll easily on the ground to wind, or unwind, barbed wire.

Cooked Garbage Is the Safest

Cooking garbage which is fed to swine is the newest step being advocated by federal and state authorities for controlling vesicular exanthema in hogs, according to James P. Hoekzema, Ingham county agricultural agent.

Hoekzema cited the 27 cases of V. E. in 10 Michigan counties since last October 5. The outbreaks cost the state $11,756.81 besides the share contributed to matching federal funds.

Dr. Glen W. Reed, Michigan State college extension veterinarian, says that 26 out of the 27 cases of the disease in Michigan were in garbage feeding establishments. The other one was traced to the feeding of seraps which also are garbage.

Now, Macomb, Wayne and Oakland counties are under federal quarantine because of the disease.

Dr. Reed says that proper cooking of garbage fed to hogs can eliminate losses from V. E. and can aid greatly in the control of hog cholera. Garbage containing raw meat seraps, he adds, can spread other damaging diseases such as foot and mouth, Newcastle disease in poultry, swine tuberculosis and erysipelas.

A law requiring the cooking of garbage to be fed to livestock was introduced at the current session of the Michigan Legislature.

Centenarian Hen Dies of Cancer

Esmerelda, the 12-year-old hen who has received fan mail from all parts of the country since her last birthday party several months ago, died this week of cancer at her home in Cranbrook school in Bloomfield Hills.

Her age, which corresponds to a 100-year human life span, was only one of Esmerelda's distinctions. The month before her 12th birthday she had a 50% laying average, a percentage few hens reach after their second year. The oldest chicken known to science, a 14-year-old, stopped laying at 9.

Esmerelda also figured in numerous experiments in heredity, laying habits and longevity at Cranbrook school, where students under the direction of Holland R. Sperry conduct original research as part of their science courses.

Forty per cent of all the food consumed in the United States is sold through self-serve super markets. The housewife makes her own choices at the point of sale without any sales talks by clerks. That's why advertising and merchandising play big roles in the competition for the consumer dollar.

That's why the American Dairy association has undertaken a program to bolster attractive dairy product packaging and advertising.

Look for milk cartons and bottles that will be more appealing than whisky bottles, more tempting than soft drink slop. Cheese manufacturers have already done a great job in packaging their products. Oleo has moved right up beside butter in color, taste and packaging. Butter folks might well look to some new packaging ideas.

It looks to me like it will have to take a combined organization such as the American Dairy association to unite the dairy industry toward better merchandising. When the policy-makers at Coca Cola or at Old Forester decide to change the advertising pitch or the label on the bottles, steps are taken.

Not so with such a diversified group as the dairy industry. The dairy interests must act as one if they hope to compete with the rest of the food and drink people, the way I see it.

Plow while the sun shines was the attitude a lot of farmers took Saturday while the county plowing contest was in session. Several young contestants were scratched at the 11th hours to plow on their own land instead of at the contest grounds.

A hot, sunny week end put a lot of Ingham plows back in the sod.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

The corn-hog ratio in Chicago was near 15 to 1 the forepart of May. That's the best since September of 1950. Also it was the best for early May in 11 years. The ratio a year ago the forepart of May was 10.6 to 1.

Some reports indicate that farmers have held back a lot of gilts for summer litters. The favorable hog-feed ratio certainly encourages this. Some market people say keeping back gilts has helped increase current prices for market hogs.

If you rescal 1952-crop corn and oats and finally deliver them to the Commodity Credit Corporation next year, you will be paid for storing the grain. If you repay your loan instead, you are not entitled to the storage payments which amount to 13 cents a bushel on corn and 10 cents on oats.

The U. S. imported nearly 28,000,000 lb of onions from January 1 through April 18. That's 80% more than a year ago. Chile supplied 60% of this year's imports. Mexico was the second largest supplier.

The current early onion crop is about 44% larger than a year ago. Prices have tumbled because of the prospective bumper crop. Texas growers are reported plowing up ripe onions because of the poor prices they would get. As many as 8,000 acres have been plowed under in recent weeks, according to grower reports from Texas. If this large acreage has been plowed up it means that about one-fifth of the early onion crop in the area has been destroyed.

Placement of chicks for broiler production continues above a year ago. That means more chicken to eat in a few weeks. Competition for consumer's meat dollar could be right snappy what with large supplies of beef expected throughout the year. Pork output, however, will be down somewhat for the rest of the year.

Speaking of competition for the consumer's meat dollar: Tentative figures show that last year the retail value of the meat consumed per person in the U. S. averaged $81. Of this amount, $41 was spent for beef, pork accounted for $32. The remainder, or $8, was spent for lamb and veal.

Farmers favor price supports by a margin of 2 to 1, according to Dr. George Gallup. However, he points out that about 3 farmers out of every 10 disapprove of price supports.

Value of farm land is falling. Largest decline in farm land values have been in the west. They are particularly affected by sharply lower cattle prices. Farmers' debts, exclusive of real estate, are now reported at a record high. They've increased from $3,400,000,000 to $9,200,000,000 since 1940.

The average hog going to market yields about 35 lb of lard. That represents from 14% to 15% of the live weight of the average pig. Lard output in this country has been around 2,500,000,000 lb a year. During the past 3 years per capita consumption in the U. S. has been close to 14 lb per year. Expanded use of vegetable oils in many food lines and greater use of vegetable oils in industry have kept per capita consumption of lard low in recent years.

Some time ago we reported on the ability of some crop seeds to be dormant for many years. Now comes a story from Ohio State college telling about some corn seed, 20 years old, that grew into healthy, vigorous plants when they received the stimulating action of sun and soil.

In 1933, Ohio State scientists sealed a handful of corn seed in glass tubes and placed the tubes under refrigeration at about 25 degrees. Moisture content of the corn was 11 per cent. This spring the scientists opened the tubes and found that 95% of the kernels developed into normal plants.

Miscellany—Hogs were 102% of parity in April, the only meat animals to sell above that level. . . . Cattle prices were only 82% of parity in April, lambs 91 and calves 84. . . . The U. S. Weather Bureau is closing some of its stations because of budget cuts. . . . USDA may have some $4,500,000,000 tied up in farm products through price support programs by 1954. . . . Unexpected April slump in farm prices may mean more than 10% drop in farm income this year as forecast by BAE economists a few weeks ago. . . . Vegetable prices probably will be lower this year because of the big output. . . . Spud prices probably won't strengthen much this year unless growers cut acreage more than their March intentions indicated. . . . USDA is trying to give away 100,000,000 lb of dry milk it bought under the dairy price support program. . . . Michigan wheat production this year will be about the same as last, if we have normal weather conditions for the rest of the growing season.

Iodine Will Help Premature Lambing

Premature or weak lambs in Ingham county may be caused by a lack of iodine, says James P. Hoekzema, Ingham county agricultural agent.

Graydon L. Blank, extension animal husbandman at Michigan State college, says that if lambs have been born with goiter or there is a large number of weak lambs, adding one ounce of potassium iodine to each 100 lb of mineralized salt for the ewes ration will help.

County Agent Hoekzema says that tincture of iodine also has no equal for disinfectant purposes for sheep and lambs. He says it should be put in the lamb's navel at birth. It's also the best material for docking and castrating. Iodine is effective for a long time.

The county agent advises using a 2% to 3% tincture of iodine solution. You can buy a 5% solution and dilute it with an equal part of rubbing alcohol.

Michigan Pioneers in Fight Against Cattle Tuberculosis

Twenty-five years ago, Michigan was the first state in the nation to declare cattle free of tuberculosis due to the constructive testing program that was started some years earlier, according to Dr. Lee Davidson, state veterinarian, Michigan department of agriculture.

During the past 15 years, a similar state-wide cattle testing program for Bang's disease control has been underway. Before long it is hoped that the 2,000,000 head of cattle in the state may be Bangs free.

The latest move in Bang's disease control work in cattle was started in Michigan about 18 months ago when the Abortus Ring (ABR), or what is now commonly called the milk ring test, was introduced into the state to aid in the blood testing program already in use.

Dr. R. L. Aldred, Brucellosis field supervisor of the U. S. bureau of animal industry, and the Michigan department of agriculture, cooperating, state that the ABR test is a herd test and that a blood test must be conducted upon the reacting herds in order that individual reacting animals may be identified. Its advantages are that an area may be rapidly screened at regular intervals and newly infected herds located before the infection becomes widely spread.

One phase of the Bangs testing program during the past year has included the use of a laboratory trailer in the 27 counties under the test and slaughter area plan in the northern portion of Michigan's lower peninsula. In February, 1953, the initial test of herds was completed through the collection of milk and cream samples at dairy plants. Included as part of the project was the follow-up blood testing of all milk-reacting herds. The trailer laboratory, presently located at Reed City in Oscoda county, is starting on its second coverage of the area.

In the 20 counties (Alcona, Alcona, Iosco, Oscoda, Montmorency, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Arenac, Clare, Crawford, Roscommon, Missaukee, Osceola, Lake, Mason, Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Osegen, and Manistee) involved in the ABR initial test, 9,100 herds were ABR tested. Of these 565 herds were positive to the ABR test. On the follow-up blood test, 216 of the individual animals of those herds showed positive, and 84 herds contained suspicious animals. In the herds blood tested there were 653 reactors and 385 suspects. As in this case, the ABR test usually shows some herds as containing reactors but which are found to be clean on the follow-up blood test. There were, however, 173 new reacting herds found and quarantined and blood tests made at a much sooner date than had the departments waited until the next regular 3-year test.

It is estimated that 73.8 per cent of all cattle in those counties were tested on the milk test. This test is variable due to the fact that some cattle are dry at the time the milk test is made on the herd, and it does not take in the beef cattle and the family cow.

In Michigan's upper peninsula, a county-wide blood test of Baraga county was completed in March for reaccreditation. At present the personnel there are engaged in county-wide blood tests of Houghton and Dickinson counties for reaccreditation.

In southern Michigan, using a combined blood and ABR or milk ring testing program, Muskegon, Oceana, Barry and Bay were recently completed, with Montcalm, Ottawa, Tuscola, Eaton and Calhoun soon to be finished.

In addition, work is proceeding in Isabella, Newago and Kent with a similar program. These southern Michigan counties are on a deferred slaughter program with regulated retention of reactor cattle. Recent county-wide retests of this area show that many owners dispose of their reacting cattle soon after tests are made. Infected herd owners have found that the disposition of these diseased animals to be an effective method of achieving a brucellosis-free herd.

Timely Agricultural Topics

By James P. Hoekzema,
County Agricultural Agent

Some of the land that was to be planted to oats may be used for corn. Some of the land is too late to prepare for oats, and it is late to obtain good oat yields.

When corn follows corn additional plant food is needed. This is especially true with nitrogen which may be a limiting factor. About 95 lb of nitrogen are needed to produce a 60-bushel (shelled) corn crop. When corn follows a soil, crops, considerable nitrogen is present, but on second year corn the addition of extra nitrogen either in the form of barnyard manure or in a chemical form becomes more important.

In Ohio the average yield is 49 bushels. One of the extension specialists states this could be raised to 85 bushels by using the following methods. If a state averages this amount many individual records would be much higher than 100 bushels of shelled corn.

Many good hybrids are used but by using the very best there should be an increase of 3 bushels. Proper use of manure would add 4 bushels. If the proper soil crops were grown, corn yields would increase another 8 bushels. Leaving crop residues on the land would add 3 bushels more. Removing excess moisture would add 7 bushels. Five bushels would be added from renewing and maintaining soil tilth. Adding more fertilizer would add another 6 bushels.

It is not likely that everyone will use all 7 methods, but most corn producers can use one or more, and increase his crop yield. Here in Michigan, E. C. Rossman, corn grower, has found that by increasing the number of plants per acre corn yields will increase materially—providing there is plenty of plant food and moisture in the soil. Sixteen thousand plants should be planted on good corn soil. When corn plant populations were increased from 8,000 to 16,000 plants the yields were increased by 40%.

In order to have 16,000 plants per acre in 40-inch rows one plant is needed every 10 inches. In 36-inch rows one plant every 11 inches will provide 16,000 plants per acre. Grow more corn per acre and fewer acres will be needed.

Farmers make good use of oats as feed. Many oats are used to feed the dairy animals, but many are also used as hog feed. Young pigs make more efficient use of oats than do the older animals. Grinding the oats will increase the efficiency. Baby pigs on a creep like rolled oats, steel cut oats or ground oats.

If one has plenty of oats and a shortage of corn it is possible to feed one-third ground oats, and two-thirds corn, plus the protein supplement. Illinois found that with this ration 100 lb oats had the same feed value as 80 lb corn. Whole oats are worth about 75% as much as ground oats, for young pigs.

Indiana suggests a ration of 8 parts corn and 2 parts oats for the young pigs, plus protein X. As the pigs become larger and older they make less efficient use of the oats.

The younger the pigs the more protein they need and as they get older the amount of protein fed may be decreased. Michigan animal husbandmen state that most of the 35% sow and pig supplements (commercial) contain protein with minerals, vitamins and antibiotics added. The B vitamins are particularly important for young pigs. They also state that good legume pasture will save 10% to 15% of the grain and 20% to 50% of the protein fed in a dry lot.

Feeding antibiotics will usually increase rate of gain 10% to 20% and improve efficiency 5% to 10%. The greatest response is in young pigs so antibiotics are especially good in creep rations and when feeding weaning pigs. Other advantages are: increased feed consumption, less scouring and greater uniformity of the pigs.

Another important factor is the condition of the feed. At Michigan State college it was found that pelleted feeds appear to give better results than finely ground feeds. This was especially true with the young pigs.

"No Nib!" is the trade name of a new repellent that has proved quite effective in preventing rabbit damage in gardens. If you want the correct name it is zinc dimethyl dithiocarbamate-cyclohexylamine complex. This is a product of B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co.

This repellent is a powder and can be dusted or mixed with water and used as a spray to lightly treat the leaf surfaces of peas, beans and other plants. It should be applied during the early stages of growth before the edible parts of the plants are used.

Some of the soil in Ingham county will produce rye that can be used for pasture—without doing damage to the soil itself. Some fields are so wet and have such heavy soils that rye can not be used to the best advantage.

A few dairymen have been pasturing rye in this county since about May 1. This is a late season but in spite of that some good dairymen are saving barn feeding by having the cows harvest their own grass. Rye pasture saves hay and silage in both the fall and in the spring. Last fall the rye started slowly but plans must be made now if dairymen want rye pasture next fall and spring. It may be seeded in the corn, on a summer-fallowed field, or it may be planted where the corn was removed for silage. Keep the ground covered, and rye is one crop that may be used for this purpose; and provide some extra feed as well.

Even though corn hasn't been planted it is not too early to make plans about the first crop of hay. Will it be used for hay or for silage? This may depend upon conditions on the farm. Many of our good dairymen are making the first cutting into hay silage. So often we do not have good drying weather, and some of the hay is weedy or coarse. This can be made into very good hay silage. According to experiments by the USDA wilted silage was the most efficient method of preserving the nutrients, followed in order by barn-cured and then field-cured hay. According to these tests more labor and machinery were required to harvest rain-damaged, field-cured hay and it had the poorest feeding value.

Patrons of the local egg marketing cooperative have improved the grade of their eggs from 66% to 86% Grade A, during the past year. Consumers are becoming more critical of what they buy. It is important that good eggs be produced and marketed, if we want to keep the consumers buying our products.

Dairy Cows End Production Tests

Several registered Holstein cows belonging to Ingham dairymen have completed production tests. They averaged more than 20 quarts of milk daily during the testing period.

Several cows in the herd of Coe F. Emens of Mason took part in the test.

Highest producer among these was Lymarian Modest Betty, with 659 lb of butterfat and 18,597 lb of milk, produced on 2 milkings daily, in 365 days at the age of 6 years 5 months. Her record averages approximately 24 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Another high producer was Coemans Dictator Helen Judy, with 653 lb of butterfat and 17,146 lb of milk testing 3.8%, produced on 2 milkings daily, in 361 days at the age of 4 years 8 months. Her record averages approximately 22 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

With 598 lb of butterfat and 15,251 lb of milk testing 3.9% to her credit, Segis Harlog Pobes Girl, a registered cow owned by Mrs. Bernice Eifert & Sons of Mason has completed a 362-day production test in official herd improvement registry.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 5 years 6 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 20 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

With 620 lb of butterfat and 14,975 lb of milk testing 4.1% to her credit, Mar-Jo-Lo Modest Master Lady, registered Holstein cow owned by Ray Lott & Son of Mason, has completed a 342-day production test.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 5 years 6 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 21 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

GUERNSEY COW GIVES

Longbarn V. Rita, registered Guernsey cow owned by Dr. Franklin L. Troost of Williamston, put 14,771 lb of milk and 694 lb of butterfat into the country's breadbasket. "Rita," a 5-year-old, was milked 730 times while on test.

Michigan Farmers Report Custom Rates

Many Michigan farmers are hiring custom work to ease the labor and machinery loads on their farms. Operators of both large and small farms look to custom work as one way to obtain the advantages of modern machinery. Some farmers use custom work in order to keep their farm machinery investment low; other farmers look to custom work as a means of financing the purchase of modern machinery, and of supplementing farm income.

To help farmers better determine the custom rates being charged, a survey has just been completed of 196 farmers doing custom work in 1952. Comparing 1952 rates with rates in 1950, slight increases have occurred in the custom charges for the following:

Field chapping, blading, cutting grain, cutting corn, plowing, mowing, mowing hay, plowing, muck, bulldozing, tilling, blizzing wood, and trucking. Rates for about 40 additional custom jobs have remained the same.

Rates for some of the major jobs commonly custom-hired are included in the table below.

Breeders Finance Trip to Europe For Judging Team

Michigan's national champion 4-H club dairy cattle judging team will take part in the International Dairy Judging Contest in July at the Royal Livestock Show in England. The Michigan purchased dairy cattle associations are heading up the fund raising.

All the dairy groups have done their part in raising funds for the trip, points out Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H club leader, who will accompany the team. Some groups gave outright cash gifts and others sold calves to raise money for the travel fund.

The team will leave June 30, cross the Atlantic by plane and arrive July 2 in England. The show will be at Blackpool, north of Liverpool. Also on the trip will be stops at the Jersey and Guernsey (Channel) Isles—where those breeds were developed—and a tour of France, Belgium and Holland. They will see the home of the Holsteins in Schleswig-Holstein before returning July 25 by plane.

The team members are David VanDenHeuvel of Ithart, Robert Meyer of Ypsilanti, Marilyn Tyje of Traverse City and Donald Proctor of Chelsea. They won national honors at Waterloo, Iowa, and VanDenHeuvel was top entry in the contest.

Color of Exhaust Tells Whats Wrong

The color of the exhaust may be the indication of what's wrong with your tractor engine, says Robert G. White, extension farm machinery specialist at Michigan State college.

If the tractor's exhaust pipe fumes black smoke, for example, it's getting more gas than it needs. The air-fuel mixture may be too rich. Or, says White, the black smoke may mean an improper fuel level or a plugged air cleaner.

When your tractor fumes bluish smoke, the engine is burning oil. Oil in the combustion chamber means that valves or piston rings are worn or stuck.

White suggests having a mechanic find out the trouble and repair it before the job becomes more costly.

Sanitation Is Answer to Rats

The only sure way of eliminating rats on the farm is through a program on sanitation, says James P. Hoekzema, Ingham county agricultural agent.

He says poisoning is not the only answer. Farms must be rat-proofed to do the job completely. Don W. Hayne, Michigan State college zoologist, says poisoning has its limitation. Poisoning, he explains, reduces the rat numbers but makes it easier for the remaining rats to survive. And rats are prolific—more so when there are fewer rats.

With a program of sanitation, however, the zoologist says, the

Voters Reject Propositions to Build Addition

At the special election held at the high school gymnasium last Tuesday for the issuing of bonds and erection of an addition to care for the students of the large classes now enrolled and about to enter the kindergarten, the voters rejected the propositions. Voters cast their ballots as follows: On the bonds, 206 no to 151 yes; and on the millage for building, 208 no to 167 yes.

The kindergarten has been divided into 3 classes this year and with these entering the first grade and many enrolling in kindergarten, the board deemed it necessary to build an addition of 7 rooms on the present building.

The city and outlying districts which consolidated with the Williamston school district thought they were building the present new elementary school large enough to take care of the increase for some years, but with the rapid growth of the city and the many new children moving into the district, the present building is inadequate. There are now 2 divisions of grades and 3 divisions of the present kindergarten. The third division of the kindergarten has been placed in the Crossman building on South Putman.

No solution to the problem, which is also a problem of cities of the surrounding communities, has been found. It has been suggested that students might have to go half days so that all sections could go to school either morning or afternoon.

The scholarships cover tuition fees for the recipients. They are awarded for one year, but may be renewed for 4 years if the student maintains a satisfactory scholastic average.
