PROMISING LETTUCE PLANTS are selected for seed production by Deran Markarian, Michigan State university horticulturist. The seed from these plants is either increased in the MSU winter greenhouses or, more often, sent to Australia where seed can be propagated in time for growing in Michigan the following spring. Ingham will get direct benefit for the Stockbridge Lettuce Growers are taking part in the project.

Stockbridge Growers Join MSU in Australian Seed Experiments

Many of Michigan's up-and-coming lettuce plants will be grown "down under" this winter. This place "down under" is, of course, Australia. Growing lettuce there is part of an effort by the Stockbridge Vegetable Producers aimed at increasing their chances of producing top quality, high yielding crops.

They simply take advantage of Australia's "mixed-up" growing season.

Australia has her summers while Michigan has winters, making it possible to grow and multiply promising lettuce plants while growers in the Wolverine State are shoveling snow. Best of all, this climate "mix-up" saves a year in the time it takes to propagate varieties and get them into Michigan fields.

Here's how the project works: When lettuce is ready for harvest in June or July, Michigan State university horticulturists go through the fields and select those plants which seem best adapted to Michigan growing conditions.

Deran Markarian, the MSU researcher in charge of this phase of the lettuce program, then takes these selected plants into the greenhouse where they are allowed to mature and produce seed. Markarian says that he can get 3 to 1,000 seeds from each of the original heads of lettuce, depending on the success of his transplantings.

This seed is then either increased in the MSU winter greenhouses or more often sent to Australia by October 1, for the foundation stock increase. Foundation seed is given a thorough test the following growing season in farmers' fields and the MSU muck farm to determine which "head" selections were best.

In the "down under" country, a commercial company called Seed Breeders Australia plants the selected foundation seed and allows it to grow. After the heads are formed and off-type plants removed, the Australian firm cuts away the head portion by hand to allow a seed stalk to form.

As a result, about 150 pounds of seed can be produced from each pound of foundation seed sent to Australia from the Stockbridge area. Last year, growers got 500 pounds of seed—enough to plant 250 acres.

The multiplied seed supply arrives in Michigan by air around April 1. Even with freight costs, the Australia-produced seed is at least a dollar lower than any which can be produced in the United States.

Each year, the Stockbridge growers over-order a year in advance and use less expensive boat freight to bring the seed into this country.

The results of the Michigan-Australia lettuce program have been most rewarding. Michigan growers can save a year's time in getting selected lettuce varieties into their fields. MSU scientists and other plant breeders save large amounts of greenhouse space for other plant breeding projects.

In fact, the entire Stockbridge lettuce story has been an immense success from its very beginning. Just 4 years ago, growers who were producing mostly onions and mint, first made the switch to lettuce. At that time, verticillium wilt was ruining their mint crop and profits in general were not always up to par.

Today, about 1,000 acres of lettuce are grown in the Stockbridge area, compared to about 400 acres in 1960. This acreage figure is expected to top the 2,000 mark within the next few years.

And growers are becoming more and more conscious of what it takes to make money with their new specialty crop. For example, more than 90 per cent of the orders for new lettuce varieties submitted this year have been for those adapted to hot weather. Many growers paid a high price for learning that lesson this year when a large share of their crops literally lost their heads and, in some cases, produced no heads at all because hot weather forced plants to go directly into seed.

When next spring rolls around, many Stockbridge growers will be raising varieties released from Cornell University in 1961 and 1962 which carry with them this hot weather resistance.

In the years ahead, these growers will continue to take advantage of Australia's "summer in the winter" for propagating only their best plants for higher lettuce quality and production than ever before.

Supervisors Approve Largest Budget Ever

The final figure on the Ingham county budget didn't change any Tuesday but there was plenty of scrambling by supervisor committees to make changes on individual items.

With the county asking for the maximum amount possible from Ingham taxpayers, the increases approved in individual items had to come from the contingency fund, a move which brought dire warnings from Supervisor John Patriarche and his ways and means committee.

Patriarche pointed out that the contingency fund was already too low at $136,000. Before the supervisors were through they had pared the contingency fund to $106,000.

Approved was an additional salary increase of $2,000 for the judge of probate on top of a $1,000 increase already granted. The boost places the judge's salary at $17,500.

In addition the board created a new department, an equalization office which will get $30,000.

This department will assist supervisors and assessors in placing more equitable valuations on personal and real property.

Supervisor Delmar Carr, in pleading for the department, said that the office would more than pay for itself in picking up valuations.

When it came to a vote the measure was approved.

Dennis Hills Picks Winners

There was no need for a tie-breaker in last week's football contest. Dennis Hills of Mason came through with 14 correct picks out of 16.

Biggest stumbling block for most of the contestants was not enough faith in Duffy's Demolishers at Michigan State.

If Dennis will stop in at the News office he will be able to pick up a check for $10.

Join the fun. Be an expert. Try your hand at picking the winners—and maybe you will have a $10 check waiting for you next week.

Fitchburg Couple Dies In Mysterious House Fire

Meeting Is Set On Pool

The Mason board of education has set up a special meeting for next Wednesday, October 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the office of Superintendent M. Chandler Nauts to develop swimming pool plans. A representative group from the pool committee which steered the campaign for a pool, will be invited.

The board, meeting Monday night also discussed the possibility of offering adult education. It is hoped to have the plan ready for presentation at the October 14 meeting. The course to be offered is expected to include several courses, especially one in art this fall. Interest in art is mounting in Mason Nauts said.

The board also is looking into the matter of educational television in Mason schools and appointed Robert Leonard to serve on a committee to investigate educational television instruction.

In other action the board: Decided to request from the Mason city council an additional crossing guard at Elm and Barnes streets. There now are 3 crossing guards and the new man would bring the force to 4. The city pays half the salary of the guards and the board of education the other half.

Appointed Robert Ware as a member of the high school athletic council, which is the policy-making group for athletic programs in all Mason public schools.

A rural Fitchburg couple, trapped in their burning home, were burned to death Saturday night as fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the 2-story frame dwelling.

Dead are Edgar Saferite, 46, and his wife, Mary Lou, 43. The Stockbridge fire department responded to the alarm which was turned in at approximately 10:50 p.m. By the time they arrived, the house was completely destroyed.

Since the couple's 2 cars and pickup truck were parked in the yard, it was presumed the couple was inside. At 3 a.m., both bodies along with that of their dog, were found.

Coroner Jack Holmes of Lansing pronounced the pair dead at the scene and the bodies were removed to the Caskey funeral home in Stockbridge.

In addition to all the equipment from the Stockbridge fire department, the Henrietta department dispatched a tanker truck to the scene. The Stockbridge assistant fire chief, Howard Ashmore, said 14,000 gallons of water were pumped into the smoldering ruins before firemen could begin their grim search.

The state fire marshal's office and the Ingham county sheriff's department are investigating the tragedy in an attempt to determine the cause of the blaze.

The dead couple had no children and other relatives are all from out of state.

Funeral services for the 2 fire victims were Tuesday afternoon at the Caskey funeral home in Stockbridge. Burial was in the Fitchburg cemetery.

Farhat KO's Moonlite Ban

Moonlighting and salaries of assistant prosecutors drew some heated discussion Tuesday at the county board meeting.

The discussion developed when the salaries committee offered a resolution forbidding outside practice of law by assistant prosecutors.

Prosecutor Leo Farhat told the board he agreed with the idea but that salaries must be made more realistic.

"It is increasingly difficult to get experienced assistants right now at the salaries being offered," he said. "Forbidding outside practice would make it impossible."

After the discussion a move to table the resolution for further study was passed by a 19-17 vote.

County Votes Sewer Share

Mason and the county came to terms on another storm sewer project Tuesday.

Up for consideration at the next council meeting will be the assessment roll for the Cedar street storm sewer addition. At Tuesday's supervisors meeting the city asked the permission of the board to place the county on the assessment roll at a figure of $6,965.

Under state law the county can not be assessed without its permission.

A special committee consisting of Supervisor Robert Robinson, Supervisor Louis Neller and Harold Slater met with Supervisor Russell Bement of Mason and came up with the $4,000 figure.

Half-Hour Vacation

According to Mason public schools superintendent, M. Chandler Nauts, school will be dismissed at 3 p.m. Thursday, October 8, 1/2 hour early, for a teachers' meeting.

Escaped Jackson Convict Caught in Ingham Field

Anthony Kozakiewicz, 46, an escaped convict from Southern Michigan prison at Jackson was captured in a cornfield at Meridian and Columbia roads here early Tuesday afternoon by details of state police, Williamston police and Ingham county sheriff's officers.

Kozakiewicz escaped from the prison last Saturday afternoon. He was a trustee employed in the blacksmith shop.

He was attired in prison clothing when found. He was brought to the Ingham county jail to await the arrival of prison officials who returned him to the prison that has been his home for the past 22 years.

He was sentenced from Shiawassee county in 1942 on a charge of first degree murder.

A little man, Kozakiewicz appeared to take his capture nonchalantly. Asked how long he had been in prison he replied: "A long long time."

Kozakiewicz is the second prison escaper from Shiawassee county to be captured in Ingham county this week. Another, Robert L. Gorman, 22, of New Lothrop, Shiawassee county who was captured early Monday after he had stolen a truck loaded with crates of onions and had led police on a wild chase through and beyond Stockbridge.

Gorman scattered crates of onions all along his route by swerving the truck from side to side to impede his pursuers.

But Gorman left a wide open trail. Police followed the onion crates from a farm near Jackson to Stockbridge where they caught up with the truck and the chase began at speeds that at times reached 60 miles an hour.

Finally police fired 3 shots at the truck, flattened 2 rear tires and forced the truck off the road on Murray road west of Dexter Trail, near Stockbridge.

Gorman was sentenced in Shiawassee county November 18, 1963 to a term of 4 to 15 years for breaking and entering in the night time.

He made his escape Sunday evening and was captured about 6 hours later.

New School Named For Jim Vander Ven

Mason's new elementary school at Aurelius and Columbia roads will be known as the James H. Vander Ven Elementary building, the board of education announced at its meeting Monday night.

This is the first time in Mason's history a school has been named for a person and the board's action is an honor to James H. Vander Ven who retired last June as superintendent of schools after serving in the office for 18 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Vander Ven now reside in Portage, near Kalamazoo.

The Vander Ven school is expected to be completed by March of 1965.

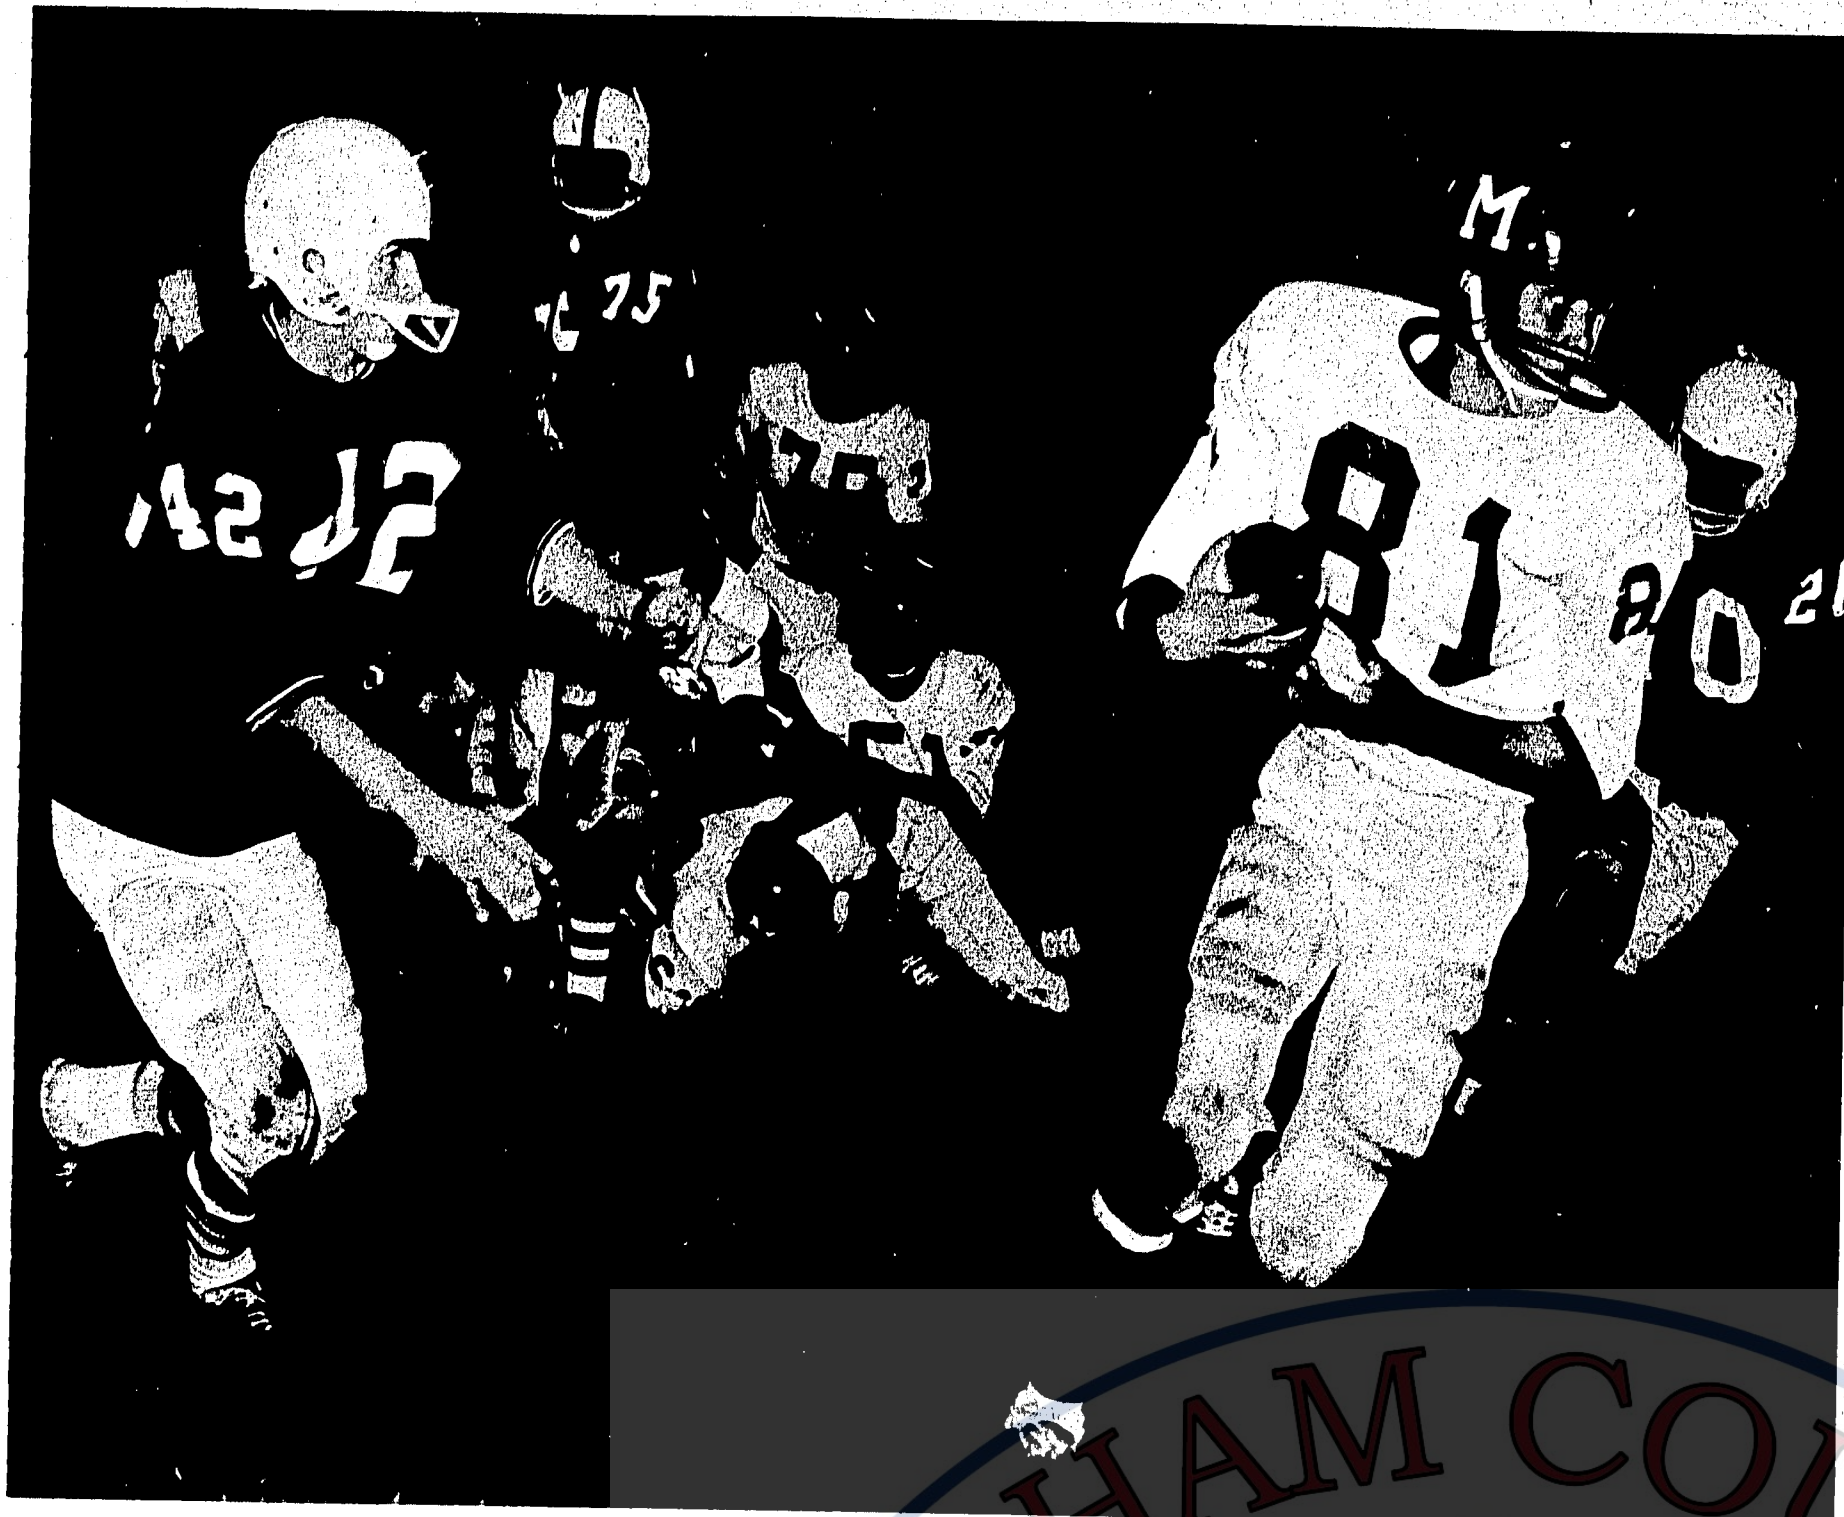

The board in a special session last week Wednesday selected the colors for the new Vander Ven school. The outside brick will be a light tan and under each window will be procelain panels of turquoise and yellow.

The walls in the interior of the school will be of beige with accent panels of 4 different colors in different rooms. These aqua blue, sky blue, coral and gold.

The board is getting prices for gasoline storage tank and pump and for installation of equipment to provide headblot heaters for new engines at the Vander Ven school.

JIM STUBBERT is officially Mason's new acting postmaster. He received a telegram Thursday from Sen. Pat McNamara announcing the choice of the successor to Postmaster Leslie Palmer who died a few weeks ago. Stubbert was born in Pennsylvania. He is an army veteran with overseas duty in Germany where he was wounded. After discharge from the service he moved to Lansing and then moved to Mason in 1947. In 1953 he started work at the Mason postoffice. Mr. and Mrs. Stubbert and their 2 daughters, Jackie and Sherry, live on Hall Boulevard.

WATCH OUT -- Mason end Joel Schaeffer takes a quick look to map a route through Okemos tacklers after picking off a pass Friday night. Ron Cleary, No. 42, didn't catch up with him but Jay Guertin, No. 20, did.

Things were a little jammed up at the line of scrimmage as the pile of Mason and Okemos players in the background would indicate.

Field Goal Trips Up Highlanders

Howell topped from the list of unbeaten teams in the Capital Circuit Saturday night when the Raiders from O'Rafferty eked out a 15-13 win thanks to a fourth quarter field goal by Mike Sandborn.

The win enabled the Raiders to move into a 2-way tie with Holt for the league lead with 2 victories in 2 league starts.

O'Rafferty should be able to add another win Friday night over at Okemos. The Chiefs are struggling for their first league victory. The way the Raiders are rolling the Chiefs will still be struggling the next week to find a victory.

Howell will bump into more trouble Friday night when Holt comes to town. The Rams were favored to win the title this year and so far they have done nothing to cloud their role as favorites.

It looked as if Howell was going to be an easy winner Friday night. The Highlanders moved to a first-period lead when Dick McKeon skirted end for 46 yards and a touchdown in the first series of Highlander plays. The extra point attempt was good.

O'Rafferty came back at the start of the second quarter with a 75-yard touchdown drive with Mike Lynch going the final 39 yards on a quick hitter up the middle which caught the Howell secondary napping. The try for the extra point was not good.

Taking the kickoff after the touchdown on its own 40, Howell started another touchdown march which covered the 60 yards. Bill Simmons sneaked the final yard for the score. This time the kick try was not good.

O'Rafferty controlled the second half. After Steve Sivak recovered a Howell fumble on the O'Rafferty 30 the Raiders used 10 plays to punch across the touchdown. It appeared dark for the Raiders though when the extra point try failed and Howell still stayed out in front 13-12.

That's the way the score remained until all but 3 minutes were used up. Then the Raiders started to move again. Dan Stump started the rally by tossing a 40-yard pass to Mike Hayes. After momentarily losing momentum Sandborn went back and booted the field goal for the victory.

Rocks Upset Greyhounds With Strong Ground Game

Gabriels made it back to the winning side of the ledger Friday night by upsetting Eaton Rapids 21-6. It was the first defeat for the Greyhounds and evened the Rock record at 1-1 in league play.

Friday night the Rocks and Mason will lay their identical records on the line in a game scheduled for Lansing.

Eaton Rapids will try to get back in winning stride over at Haslett and chances of doing just that are good for the Lakers have had a hard time getting organized.

Chris Brooks was the main gun in the Gabriels win over Eaton Rapids. The junior fullback crunched out 2 touchdowns. With seconds left in the first half Bill Mertz intercepted a pass and was downed on the Eaton Rapids 25. The Rocks pushed from there to the 4 and then Brooks went over. Jon Grace kicked the extra point.

In the third quarter Dave Fellows hit Fred Szedlak with a pass which put the ball on the 5. Clark again jammed over the middle for the score and Grace again kicked the extra point.

In the last period Fellows broke into the scoring by going across from the one with Grace adding another extra point.

It wasn't until the last quarter that Eaton Rapids was able to cross the goal line.

Deadline P P & K Is Near

Tom Christensen, competition director for the Mason Punt, Pass & Kick competition open to boys 8 through 13, has warned that only a few days remain in which Mason area boys can register for this event. Top performers can win a Washington, D.C., "Tour of Champions," plus an appearance at a National Football League championship game on January 3, 1965.

"Registration will close Friday evening, October 9," Christensen pointed out, "and none can be accepted any later, since we must draw up our competition lists and get everything ready for the big program on Saturday, October 10."

Headquarters for PP&K registration, open to all boys 8 through 13, is at Roy Christensen Ford Sales. There is no charge for registration nor is any special equipment needed. Competitors will vie with others of their own age in punting, passing, and kicking distance and accuracy. There is no body contact.

Prizes in the Mason competition include Detroit Lions warm-up jackets, place-kicker outfit and autographed footballs. These are first, second, and third place awards for boys 8, 9, and 10. Boys 11, 12, and 13 will be awarded gold, silver, and bronze trophies.

Zone winners, determined by comparing scores of all local winners, will meet in a district competition. From the district champions, 168 boys will meet in NFL game area competitions to determine 12 national finalists. The national finalists and their parents will go on a "Tour of Champions" to Washington, D.C. This will be followed by a trip to an NFL championship game where the national winners in each age group will be determined by a half-time competition in the crowded stadium.

The Mason Punt, Pass & Kick competition is sponsored by Roy Christensen Ford Sales with the Kiwanis club of Mason as co-sponsor. The program, in which nearly 500,000 boys took part last year, is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers and the National Football League.

Tackle Rocks Friday Mason Finds Its Offense And Downs Chieftians 27-7

Mason picked up its first Capital Circuit win Friday night at the expense of Okemos. The Bulldogs came out on top 27-7 with the big cushion in the score coming in a last half spree.

Friday night Mason goes up against Gabriels. The Rocks started out slow but have come on strong. They were especially impressive last week when they stopped Eaton Rapids, a team which beat Mason the week before.

Mason's attack finally jelled against Okemos. In the first 2 games of the season Mason stayed on the ground, punching out its yardage in short chunks. Against Okemos it was a different story, especially in the second half. Going to wide-open game Mason scored almost at will.

Mason started out on the plus side when Bob Brown pinned Russ Boykin in the end zone for a safety and 2 points. In the second quarter Mason started a march which featured a sharp running exhibition by Mike Lennon. Accounting for 43 yards of the drive, Lennon finally went over.

Okemos came back with a drive of its own to narrow the gap to 8-7. Jay Guertin tallied the touchdown and Dave Hassel kicked the extra point.

Gary Blood starred on offense in the last half. He picked up 3 touchdowns on short plunges.

Mason's defense again throttled the opposition with the extra line coming up with its best effort of the season.

Hornets Take Black Hawks

The Leslie Black Hawks lost their third straight game last Friday night when they journeyed to Williamston. The Hornets eked out a 12-0 victory in a hard-fought defensive struggle.

Leslie coach Richard Moon said that his defensive squad played a great game, but his offensive line failed to give the quarterback the necessary protection to allow the Black Hawks a chance to really move. Leslie's only serious scoring threat came in the final period when the Black Hawks moved to the Hornets' 20-yard line before a pass interception nullified the drive.

Hoping to avenge a 13-7 defeat by Stockbridge last year, the Hawks return to the home field Friday night. Stockbridge and Leslie will take identical 0-3 records into the game. The Stockbridge 11 was defeated by a strong Fowlerville team last Friday.

Leslie scoring so far this season has been led by fullback Jim Bobzien with 19 points on 3 tds and one point after touchdown. Bob Bodell and Ron Ekins have each tallied 6 points on one touchdown each. Dave Lubahn and Lon Cooper round out the scoring with one PAT each.

The Williamston game marked the first time this season that Leslie has been defeated by more than one touchdown. As a team the Black Hawks have tallied 33 points while allowing the opposition 55. Most of the scoring against the Hawks has resulted directly from Leslie mistakes. Fumbles have been especially costly for the Leslie 11.

For the second straight week the Leslie junior varsity held its opposition scoreless. The junior Hawks battled Williamston's reserves to a 0-0 tie last Thursday to bring their record to 1-0-2. The Hawks have now allowed just one touchdown to be scored against them in 3 games. Game time Friday night is 7:30 as the Black Hawks complete the first half of the season.

Aggies Take Potterville

Dansville worked its way to a 14-7 win over Potterville Friday. The Aggies handed the first defeat of the season on the Central Michigan D league leaders.

Friday Dansville will find the going a little rougher over at Fowlerville as the Aggies return to the Ingham County league war.

Fowlerville has mowed over all opponents with ease.

Against Potterville Dansville jumped into a lead thanks to Don Damon's 27-yard run and the extra point provided by a run by Jack Prince.

Potterville came back to knot the score when Dave Guy raced 25 yards to score and Gary McNamara booted the extra point.

It wasn't until the fourth quarter that the Aggies were able to break the deadlock. Colin Curtis broke away for a 16-yard touchdown run and Prince again picked up the extra point.

Fowlerville Tops Panthers

Everything good happened to Fowlerville Friday night, including a 100-yard touchdown run, as the Gladiators continued their sweep through all opponents with a 31-6 win over Stockbridge.

The 100-yard run came when Dave Copeland intercepted a Panther pass on the goal line and raced down the sidelines without a hand being placed on him.

Along with Copeland's runback, Chuck Liverance added 2 touchdowns on runs of 15 yards and one yard. Greg Braun went over from the 2 and Kerry Devine went over from the 20. Jim Perard kicked the lone extra point.

Stockbridge scored its touchdown through the air on a pass play from Tim Howlett to Phil Collins.

IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG for Boss Bullen to get his arrow into a deer. Starting the chase at 6 a.m. at the Fort Custer hunting area near Battle Creek, Bullen saw 30 deer. The buck dressed out at 135 lb. He did it the hard way, too, shooting the 5-pointer on the run.

Next Week Is Y-Teen Week

Y-Teens of Lansing's Young Women's Christian association will join with the members of more than 7,000 Y-Teen clubs throughout the country in observing their annual Y-Teen Roll Call Week October 11-17, Miss Robin Fox, teen-age program director, announced yesterday.

Celebrated this year by approximately 340,000 Y-Teens, teenage members of the YWCA, in this country, the week, an annual event, has been a national observance of the YWCA since 1948 and keynotes the year's program of work with youth.

Intensive membership drives geared to the nation-wide Y-Teen theme, "You Count as a Y-Teen", will be conducted in local schools throughout the week. All girls of the community are invited to visit Y-Teen meetings and the YWCA headquarters here, 217 Townsend, to get acquainted with members and to observe the wide variety of program activities offered in the teenage program.

A special invitation is issued for teenagers of the community to participate in the week's observances and to join the Y-Teens. The slogan, "You Count as a Y-Teen" means exactly what it says and is the basic principle on which they conduct their program. New Well At Leslie About Set

LESLIE - A testing of Leslie's new well at a sustained flow of 1,000 gallons a minute, has driven the sand out of the well and the facility is now ready for permanent installation of pump and well house, Raymond Smit, village engineer, told the village council Monday night.

However, one more test 36 hours will be made to determine the amount of pull on the other Leslie well, if any. Both wells are in the same area.

Because of the problem of ridding the well of sand, it is expected the cost of the well will run about $4,300 instead of the estimated $3,000, council members said.

The council received a letter from the Michigan highway department designating Pennsylvania and Kimball streets as major thoroughfares, and another letter from the Leslie board of education dedicating 554 along Kimball street to the village.

In other action the council: Voted to transfer $5,000 from the construction and sewer receiving fund to operation and maintenance and $1,000 from the Race No. 2 sewer fund cash to Race No. 2 sewer fund time certificates.

Approved a request of George Vanderoock to install 2 no parking signs between the sidewalk and curb on his property on Church street to prevent blocking of his driveway. Permission was granted because he operates a business there.

Leslie Teachers Study Plan for Team Teaching

LESLIE - Hoping to gain new insight in the methods and procedures involved in team teaching, 5 Leslie high school teachers visited Harper Creek high school last Thursday where team teaching has been in effect for 2 years.

Representing Leslie were Mrs. Velma Bissel and Mrs. Ruth Ritchie, English and social studies, Kenneth Parr and Richard Moon, social studies, and Harvey Miller, English.

All 5 Leslie teachers are involved in the team teaching program. Social studies teachers, the high school principal, the foreign language teacher, and 4 seniors from Harper Creek met with the Leslie delegation.

As team teaching has just been adopted in Leslie schools this year, the group was especially interested in procedures which work well, and in procedures which were not successful so the same mistakes could be avoided here.

The consultants from Harper Creek discussed both the advantages and disadvantages which they have found. The four student delegates gave their candid opinions of the program as it has been used in Harper Creek.

Outlines Plans for Church

OKEMOS - A 6-year program of improvements at the Community church in Okemos was outlined to a cabinet meeting of the church last week by Hal Neumann of the maintenance committee.

Neumen, in his report, told of plans to have the entire exterior of the church painted. This would be included in the regular operational expense of the church.

Under consideration also, he said, are plans to enlarge the parking area northeast of the church and have the entire lot blacktopped.

Looking further into the future, Neuman said it is hoped to build on the church property in 1967 and by 1970 to enlarge facilities to accommodate 1,200 members.

Carol Hardt Reigns As Homecoming Queen

By RUTH ANN CAMP
Stockbridge High School

Last week the student body elected Carol Hardt as our 1964 Homecoming Queen, and a very beautiful queen she was too.

Escorted by Douglas Howlett, Carol was crowned during the halftime activities of the Stockbridge-Fowlerville game last Friday night. Placing the sparkling crown atop her head was Theresa Kimberauskas who was the 1963 homecoming queen.

Other class queens who made up the court for Miss Hardt were: Susan Mason, seniors, escorted by Richard Streets; Linda Prentice, juniors, escorted by Brian Sommer; Monika Skepenalis, sophomores, escorted by Thomas Clark and the freshman queen was Debbie Glenn, escorted by William Haverty.

All of the queens were introduced at the football game and were escorted to the front of the field, accompanied by the ruffles and flourishes of the drums. Queen Carol and her court later reigned over the homecoming dance at the high school following the game.

printed on them and attached to a ribbon.

No homecoming is complete without floats and Stockbridge had such an array of excellent floats this year that the judges had a most difficult time choosing a winner.

Using Roman Times as the general theme this year, some very clever designs emerged with the junior class winning first prize with an excellent piece of work titled "Cleopatra." They had a half panther-half Cleopatra seated on a huge throne.

Coming in second and missing first by only one point was the sophomore float featuring a huge moving catapult, heaving a football over a goal post and bearing the slogan, "Panthers Catapult to Victory."

The freshman class took third with a float titled, "Panthers Fiddle While Gladiators Fall." The FFA-FHA float was the fourth place winner while the senior class came in fifth.

Everyone worked hard to have the floats ready for Friday night and we appreciated the extra time made available to us when the teachers attended the MEA meeting on Thursday and Friday. There were some new rules in effect regarding the building of the floats this year. One was that there had to be a teacher or parent in attendance at all evening work sessions. This was a vast improvement, with more work being accomplished in a shorter time than in years gone by.

Next Friday night when the Panther football team travels to Leslie to meet the Blackhaws, they will be accompanied by the band who will furnish the half-time entertainment.

We have every right to be proud of our band and the shows they put on at the games. While the pre-game shows are pretty much the same except for the salute to the visiting team, the half-time presentations are entirely different for each game.

These shows take many hours of practice each week and much thanks is in order for Mr. Saxton, the director who is responsible for every detail.

Some of the selections played during the homecoming festivities were: "Happy Days Are Here Again", "Everything's Gonna' Be Alright", and the school fight song.

GERRY ROSS (center) is the new drum major of the Holt high school band. With him in the picture are 2 majorettes, Shirley Robertson on the left and Connie Smith on the right.

STOCKBRIDGE - The Stockbridge high school cheerleaders have been working hard for their team, leading the cheering section at the games. They also sponsored a pep meeting last Friday before the Fowlerville game.

The pep meeting was opened with the pledge of allegiance after which the varsity cheerleaders led the students through several new yells. Robert Boyd, head football coach, was introduced and he and Co-captain Mike Barbour put on a skit. The junior varsity cheerleaders then led several yells following.

GAA Initiates Class At Holt High School

The Girls Athletic Association met Wednesday, September 30, All girls who wished to join attended.

Initiation day was October 6, during school hours and in the school gymnasium in the evening. The girls wore skirts below their knees, a sleeveless blouse with a man's necktie, leotards and bobby socks rolled to their ankles during the day.

In the evening the dress was the same except their hair had to be smoothed to their heads on one side and "ratted" on the other. They also wore paint on their faces. Each new member had to do a sister to tell them what to do.

The main event of the night was a scavenger hunt.

Refreshments of milk and cookies were served. According to the girls it was lots of fun.

G.A.A. officers for the 1964-65 school year are: Margo Thornton, president; Mary Richmond, vice-president; Eva Roath, secretary; Sue Phelps, treasurer; and Linda Hoisington, point chairman.

Miss Tomek is the G.A.A. leader.

They arrived at 8:30 a.m., and stayed until 3 p.m. During this time they attended lectures, after which they took part in a question and answer session.

The advisors including Dan Hovanessian of Holt, met in separate classes.

After lunch they attended classes on leadership, relationship to the student body and the administration.

There were about 1000 students from schools in Central Michigan.

The Foreign Language club had its first meeting Wednesday evening September 30 in the Holt high school cafeteria.

Mr. Millet, who lived in France and recently moved to the United States, discussed life in France. Members of the club and Mrs. Steinfort, foreign language instructor and club counselor, were present.

Games of pit and cootie were played and refreshments of hot cocoa were served.

Officers for this year are: Dewey Mariatt, president; George Vernon, vice-president and Judy Lester, secretary.

Members of the Holt Future Homemakers of America club met October 6, in the home economics room of the high school. They planned the program for the coming year.

Plan FHA Activities For Year

By CHERI RUEST
Dansville High School

The Dansville F.H.A. Chapter's program of work committee met Monday September 28 after school. Those present were: Mrs. Briggs, the F.H.A. advisor; Mrs. Bissell and Mrs. Leonard, the chapter mothers; 2 representatives from each class and the F.H.A. officers.

The representatives are: Freshmen, Linda Battige and Kathy Diehl; Sophomores, Marian McPhee and Elaine Galbreath; Juniors, Kathy Ludwig and Rose Mary Pugh; Seniors, Lynn Freer and Marie Warfle.

The officers present were Sharon Bissell, president; Martha Freer, vice-president; Corrine Webster, secretary; Barb Hicks, historian; Kathy Whitney, song leader and Wanda Patrick, reporter.

The purpose of this committee is to plan all the F.H.A. activities for the year. It also is its job to put all the F.H.A. members in our chapter on a working committee. They then evaluate last year's activities and set up this year's plans accordingly. To make the club meetings more interesting they have set up themes and appointed 2 chairmen to plan and carry out the program with a special committee. They planned the dates for all meetings and activities and set up committees for each. The club's social activities are: the Spring dance, Homecoming ball, a record hop, Daddy date night, and Mothers' Tea.

The service projects include: Unicef, Christmas Sharing and Thoughtfulness Committee. Money-making projects are: Hat and coat check, and the cookbook sales.

Pizza, coke, relish, and a fruit dish were served at 5:30 p.m. The meeting was adjourned at 7:30 p.m.

The pep club officers were elected two weeks ago from the senior class. The results were: Jerry Laxton, president; Don Damon, vice-president; Chuck Wilcox, secretary-treasurer.

To help send the cheerleaders to camp next summer, the pep club plans to sell pencils with the school song and basketball schedule on them. Also they will be selling black and white school banners.

Juniors Plan for Projects

By KATHY ISHAM
Leslie High School

The Junior class at Leslie High had its first class meeting Wednesday, September 30. Presiding president, Tom Haskell, was elected last fall along with the other officers: Jeanne Chamberlain, secretary; and Jim Bobzien, treasurer. Committees were set up for money making projects, citizenship conduct, the homecoming, and for a dance. The class rings which were ordered last spring were received on Monday.

At W.H.S. This Was The Week That Was

By LOUISE MILLER
Williamston High School

This was a week our student body thought ideal. We only went to classes Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The latter 2 days were reserved for the teachers as they had Teacher's Institute. Although we could look forward to our long weekend our younger colleagues, the junior high, were dismissed from school Tuesday through Friday, because of the uncompleted heating system in their building.

Monday, our Student Council, sponsored by Mrs. Constance Eck and Mrs. Rule, went to an institute at Ann Arbor. The first thing on the agenda was to hear a talk given by Dr. Peter Reticch, consulting psychologist from Detroit. He followed by answering questions from the group. After lunch was served, they divided into discussion groups. The topic being, Relationship to Student Body, Relationship to Faculty and Administration, Aims and Activities of the Student Council, Group Leadership. Our twenty-six members had a very worthwhile trip.

On Tuesday, our summer foreign exchange student, Linda Lowrie, gave an account of her Costa Rican trip. This assembly sponsored by our American Field Service consisted of beautifully colored slides, taken by Linda and various comments she had on each. They made our students start the morning by thinking how lucky we are to have efficient school, housing, and plenty of clothing as many of these youth are lacking. It was evident that Linda enjoyed her trip by all of her enthusiasm so promptly given.

Our Junior class ended their magazine sales Tuesday morning. The total amount came to $1,776. There will be prizes given to the top 4 salesmen and to students who have sold 3 to 6 magazine subscriptions.

The sophomores were hosts to the freshmen on Tuesday evening. The freshmen initiation, according to some involved, consisted of male "beauticians" and Ashamed!

Dear Editor:

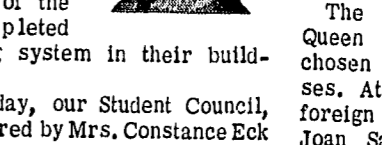

I am writing this because I just passed the Teen Center and there were about 30 kids outside in the street smoking. I was so ashamed of those kids I could have denounced myself from being a teenager.

An argument some kids raise about the smoking and drinking is that they don't allow it inside the Teen Center. That's fine, except the minute you step outside you're on your own, it's all right then.

Another argument is that it's the only place to go. Mason is going to have a swimming pool, and we have tennis courts, a bowling alley, and a library.

I have no great solution to this problem but something has to be done to bring the Mason teens back to the nice, intelligent kids they really are.

WORRIED TEEN

digging in a bowl of flour for an unknown object with their noses. Quite an experience! Adance followed.

The Homecoming King and Queen candidates have been chosen by their respective classes. Ates Onocar, our Turkish foreign exchange student, and Joan Salsbury, Seniors; Herb Shear and Dee Dee Shields, Juniors; Rob Koss and Marcia Graham, Sophomores.

The Cheerleader's Bake Sale was at the convening of school on Tuesday. They set tables up in the main lobby to catch the hungry teenagers as they walked by. The profits amounted to $16.25. This really is worthwhile if we consider the entire sale lasted about ten minutes and each item cost 5 to 10 cents.

The band, making its second home performance, made us all extremely proud, coming from the Leslie side, with a catching cadence, then into full cadence, to form in front of the Williamston crowd. The selections played were "Percussion in Review", "Rhapsody in Blue", "Java", and "Anchors Aweigh". Then, honoring Leslie with their fight song and coming back with Williamston's.

The after game "Victory" dance had, again, a plentiful turnout. It seemed everyone enjoyed themselves as Denny Hunt, our Disc Jockey, spun the records. For most, it was very hard to stop swingin' when the clock struck the hour of 11.

The spirit will come to a returning climax next week, when the cheerleaders lead a string of vivacious "Hornets" in a snake dance before the game. Preceded by a bon-fire when a dummy dressed in Pinckney's colors will be burned! This is an annual ceremony at one home game. Gangway for Williamston, ya better watch out.

Short Week Packed With Activities

By HOLLY HILL
Mason High School

The 3 days of school that we had last week were packed with activities.

First of all, the sophomores and new students had aptitude tests on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. These tests assist the counseling staff in guiding the students as to their vocational interests.

Every month the Future Farmers of America plan an extra activity. This month's trip was to the Detroit Lions-Green Bay Packers football game. With boys went M. Chandler Nauts, John Axford, Roger McIntosh, and Mike O'Malley.

The after-game dance held in the cafeteria attracted a lot of teens. The student council bought some new records and everyone had a real nice time. Robert Prudon, Mrs. Virginia Elliott, Mrs. Dorothy Fink, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guerrero were the chaperones.

This Monday a photographer took group pictures. These were of the Latin Club, Pep Club, M-Club, and the Marching Band, and others.

The Girls' Athletic Association met last week after school. The girls played softball and then the new officers conducted the meeting.

Because of the sophomore testing, the band didn't have any rehearsals last week. On account of this, its half-time performance consisted of marching to the center of the field and playing six old favorite tunes plus the Fight song to the Okemos and Mason audiences.

A Junior high dance took place after the ninth grade football

Short Week Packed With Activities

Holt Student council officers attended classes Monday, September 28, at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The game, which was a victory, Wednesday night. The dance lasted from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

The Junior High National Honor society met Tuesday noon to set up tutoring schedules for each hour of the day. At least two Honor Society members will be available each period for students who need additional help.

Mrs. Phyllis Stid's social studies classes took a poll of half the 9th grade in connection with the study of the family, which showed the following interesting results:

1. There are 3.9 children in each family (larger than national average).
2. Forty percent of the mothers work outside of the home.
3. Sixty-three percent of the families attend church more or less regularly.

Chorale Member Relates South American Experience

Yolanda Dillon of Mason presents the second installment on her trip with the Michigan Chorale last summer through South America. Her stay was a little longer inasmuch as she stayed behind to undergo surgery.

Our host in Buenos Aires was a Methodist school, Colegio Ward, or, in English, Ward College. One or two Chorale members stayed with a family, and in most cases, one person from the family either taught or attended classes at Ward.

My father was secretary of the Buenos Aires YMCA, and arranged for us to give a concert at the Y, and also for a tour of the Colon theatre, an important theater in downtown Buenos Aires.

Here, we had our second taste of the slow pace of things in South America. We were to make another television show, but unfortunately, we didn't start taping until 11:00 p.m. It was an hour television show, but we didn't finish taping it until 5:00 a.m. the next morning!

After one week in Argentina, it was time to leave on the last lap of our trip. Our final stop was Santiago, Chile, where we would stay for twelve days.

The Rotary club of Chile acted as our host during the stay in Chile. They even sponsored several dinners in our honor.

On our first day in Chile, Mr. Cole, United States ambassador to Chile, invited us to a reception in the North American-Chilean Institute. We were then invited to visit the minister of education of the government of Chile.

Chile is well-known for its high choral culture, so the Michigan Chorale was expecting it to be harder to please our audiences. Almost every factory or club has its chorus, and there are several national choirs, so you can see that a small group of 66 teenagers from some place called Michigan probably wouldn't cause much of a stir; people probably wouldn't beat down the doors and pack the concert halls to hear us. In only we had known.

On August 6, the Chorale took a long train trip to Valparaiso, Chile, home of the Escuela Naval, similar to our Naval Academy. The cadets acted as our hosts, showing us their beautiful school, and the coast of the ocean, approximately 100 yards from the front gates of the school.

On August 10, we gave the biggest concert of our tour at the Teatro Municipal de Santiago (Municipal Theater of Santiago). All of the top choirs in the area around Santiago were invited to a very formal concert. Our director warned us that the audience would be expecting the best from us. However, we did have one strike against us—they had never heard of us. Everyone gave everything they had in musical effort that night. The Chileans accepted us so well that they gave us seven curtain calls! (We were told later that this honor is reserved for groups like the Mormon Tabernacle Choir!)

August 12, we left for Rancagua, Chile, where we would be sponsored by the Rancagua Rotary Club. On the 13th, we left from Rancagua to go to Sewell, a copper mine up in the mountains, elevation - 14,000 feet. We had been invited up by the Braden Copper Company. However, just after we arrived, it started snowing and soon, we were caught in a real, honest-to-goodness blizzard!

Unfortunately, two hospital cases marred the fun. A girl from Ferndale fell in the street and broke her ankle, and I was hospitalized with an attack of appendicitis.

Carol and I stayed in Sewell all night, and returned to Santiago the next evening. Carol had a new cast and I still had my appendix.

On Sunday, August 16, our flight to the United States was scheduled to leave at 6:30 p.m. The weather was bad, so the flight was delayed until 8:30 p.m. It was a good thing because by 8:30 p.m. I had been checked into the Clinica Santa Maria with acute case of appendicitis. My operation was at 9:00 p.m. that night.

I have heard talk that all of South America is backward and ignorant. Through personal experience, I can say that this is not true. Medical science of South America has come a long way in five years and is now equal to the U.S. medicine and it is very possible that it is more advanced in some cases.

I would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Ken Thomas, a young couple from Washington, D.C., who were counsellors with the Chorale, for staying with me after my operation. One good thing about this incident however, was that the Thomases and I had an extra week's vacation in Chile.

This tour was more than a pleasure trip. A recent bill went through the legislature declaring the Chorale members "ambassadors of good will." This was a great honor, needless to say. We met an entirely different type of people. They had different social customs, and different beliefs, but still, despite all of these differences, we got along wonderfully with them because they are people, just as we are.

Politics played an important part in our lives during our stay in Chile. As many of you probably know, a big presidential election was held on September 4th of two weeks ago. There were two main candidates, Salvador Allende, a pro-Marxist and Castro supporter, and Eduardo Frei, from a party called the Christian Democrats. The Chorale came to Chile a month before the elections, and for two weeks we were caught up in the political tide. By the time we left Santiago, we were pretty sure that we knew who would win the election. The final count was 65 to 1 that Frei would win; if any of you heard the news September 5th, Frei did win, by over 50,000 votes.

We had the opportunity to give several concerts in front of school students during our stay in South America. It may interest you to know that most of the schools in the country are not mixed like schools in the United States. The boys go to one school while the girls go to another. All students must learn to speak English, and the boys are encouraged to take German. Many of their courses are similar to our school's courses of the same level, such as chemistry and physics; however, in some places they are more advanced. For example, in several schools and academies that we visited, courses in astronomy were offered. Two schools, one in Uruguay and one in Chile, had built observatories for their astronomy students.

The reception that we received from young people our own age was simply unbelievable. By reception, I don't mean praise of our singing in particular, but the way they swarmed around us after a concert, asking us many questions, particularly about life in Michigan. These "jam sessions" usually ended by the South American teen-agers shouting, "We'll see you when we come to Michigan!"

I honestly believe that this way is the only way to create true world friendships. Programs of this sort are of no expense to the government but the students who participate in these programs will soon be making world policy decisions based upon the premise of "peace through understanding."

Maybe the hands clasped in friendship, as a result of such programs, will eventually circle the world and prevent it from being blown apart by an unthinking hand that might press that "little red button."

Letters to the Editor

If You Can Keep It

It is high time someone explains the difference between a "Democracy" and a "Representative Republic."

It is high time that farmers and other minority groups realize the dangers they face from those who would twist our nation into a new form of government where mass votes control.

Without thinking, many of us have been to blame for this transition. We have all been proud of our "democratic way"—we have stressed the importance of the individual—and rightly so. But what happens to individual rights when mobs control?

The term "democracy" as it is being used in America today, refers to a form of government in which the power of the vote is vested directly in the people.

The work comes from two Greek words, "demos" meaning "the people", and "kratein" meaning "to rule." And the people ruled directly in the small city-state of Athens on one-man, one-vote basis. It worked because at that time all of the citizens could gather in the marketplace and minority groups were unknown.

But our United States of America is not a "true" democracy and never was intended to be. Our Constitution calls for a representative form of republic, with built-in checks and balances against mob rule or abuse of power by persons or privileged masses.

When the first Constitutional Convention adjourned in Philadelphia in 1789, a citizen asked Benjamin Franklin what sort of government had been established. Franklin replied, "We have given you a republic—if you can keep it."

The Convention had spent much time over the issue of whether voting power should be in direct proportion to population. The Convention rejected this idea as dangerous.

James Madison, one of the men who helped draft our Constitution, pointed out why such a government was rejected. He warned that an area holding a deciding voting power over the rest of the country could "ride rough shod" over the rights of people in areas of lesser population.

Yet, the United States Supreme Court has now ruled that voting power should be in direct proportion to population. So far, Congress has not seriously challenged the decision.

Said Franklin: "We have given you a republic—if you can keep it."

Okemos Lists 2,395 Students

OKEMOS - The enrollment in the Okemos Public Schools hit a record high of 2,395 this fall. At the same time last fall a total of 2,156 pupils were in attendance, thus an increase of 239 pupils or a percentage increase of 11%. This is the greatest percentage of increase since 1959, and is a result of the tremendous building program that is presently going on within the school district.

As I See It

By Hayden Palmer

Mason and Holt have been much in the limelight these last 2 weeks at the convention of Michigan Kiwanis clubs at Lansing. The Holt Kiwanis club was host to the 163 clubs attending the gathering and the Mason club was honored by having one of its members, Paul Richards, elected lieutenant governor of Kiwanis division No. 9, which embraces clubs in Ingham, Eaton and Ionia counties.

There are 206 Kiwanis clubs in Michigan which was the birthplace of Kiwanis when the first club was organized in Detroit on January 21, 1915. The organization will observe its golden anniversary in January 1965.

The Mason Kiwanis club was one of the first Kiwanis clubs organized in Michigan. It came into being about 1920 and the late Vernon J. Brown was its first president. Two of the club's charter members—Walter Zimmer and J.B. Dean—are still active in the affairs of the Mason club, which has a membership of 60. Thomas Christensen is the current president.

The Mason Kiwanis club started out as a booster club to push the first disposal plant deal. When that was completed its members decided to turn the organization into a service club and voted to affiliate with Kiwanis International.

The Holt club was organized in May 1949. It has a membership of 45. Richard Huber is the president. Ernest Hunt, head of the Holt Products, was general chairman of the state convention and the Holt club served in various capacities in providing entertainment for delegates. Hunt is a charter member of the Holt club and a lieutenant governor in 1952.

The organization formed in Detroit in 1915 now spreads throughout the United States, Canada, Hawaii and Alaska. Its membership embraces more than 250,000 business and professional men in more than 4,200 clubs. Collier's Encyclopedia for 1958 lists these as the objectives of Kiwanis clubs throughout the world:

- To give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than to the material values of life.
- To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.
- To promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business and professional standards.
- To develop by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.
- To provide through Kiwanis clubs a practical means to form enduring friendships.
- To render altruistic service and to build better communities.
- To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and idealism which make possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will.

The movement that started the first Kiwanis club really got under way in August of 1914 when Allen S. Browne, a professional organizer, employed by the Loyal Order of Moose as a state organizer. He called on Joseph G. Prance, a Detroit business man and asked his help in organizing a fraternal club which Browne planned to call the Bemvolent Order of Brothers (BOB). Browne planned to make this a national organization which would include a sick benefit gesture.

Prance told him it wouldn't work and asked Browne if he would like to organize a club composed of business men and professional men with some definite purpose in mind. Browne said he would.

So Prance and Browne started out. Several meetings were conducted with business men and finally in November a definite meeting was called and 35 men attended. More meetings followed and in the latter part of December 1914 temporary officers were elected and the membership fee was set at $5.

Clarence M. Burton, historian of the city of Detroit was consulted regarding a new name for the group.

Burton spent many hours going through his historical collection to find a name. Among several Indian words was one "Kee-wan-is" which was translated to mean "I make a noise. This was translated to mean rather "to make oneself known".

This word was chosen for the name of the new club but was later changed to Kiwanis which also meant "We Trade". This became the motto of the club but in 1919 this slogan was changed to "We Build", which is still the club motto today.

On January 15, 1915 the group met at the Griswold Hotel in Detroit and elected Donald Johnston as the first Kiwanis president. Among the charter members is one man still a member of one of the several Detroit Kiwanis clubs. He is Harry Young.

Kiwanis International has many projects. One is Key Club International for outstanding high school boys. Membership in this club includes more than 30,000 teen age youths in about 1,400 clubs in the United States and Canada. The Holt Kiwanis club and the Lansing Everett Key clubs are the only known ones in this area. Mason had one at one time but it no longer is in existence.

Another project is a college level service organization for men known as Circle K. International with about 3,500 members in 165 colleges in the United States and Canada.

The Michigan district of Kiwanis has one project which is a district-wide undertaking, the Forney W. Clement Memorial project which is a district-wide project which originated with the Ann Arbor club in 1922. The name of the former secretary of the Plan Changes At Church

DANSVILLE - The board of trustees of the Dansville Free Methodist church have released the fall schedule of improvement to the church and parsonage. Repair work on the church steeple is first on the agenda. By this next Sunday there should be a new look on top of the church.

The next item of improvement is a garage at the parsonage. Other plans include minor repair work at the church and parsonage to put them in shape for winter.

Leland Perrine is chairman of the board and Lawton Heuglin and William Frefermuth also serve on the board.

Year's most talked-about new cars

'65 Chevrolet Impala

It's '65's biggest, most beautiful change. There's striking new styling. New length, width and lowness. A roomier new Body by Fisher housing an interior that's a knockout—with richer looking fabrics and new curved side windows. Also a showpiece of an instrument panel with the look of walnut in the Impala series. And a more serene Jet-smooth ride that's rooted in a new Full Coil suspension system and Wide-stance design. Fact is, if you overlook just one thing you can easily convince yourself you're onto a big expensive car here. And that one thing is its Chevrolet price.

'65 Corvair Corsa

There's never been anything like it from either side of the Atlantic. From the new top-of-the-line Corsa series to the Monzas and lowest priced 500's, there's new thin-line hardtop styling for all closed models. More length and width, more entrance and shoulder room in all models. Dramatically new interiors. A flatter ride with a more solid feel stemming from a new independent suspension and wider wheel stance. And a higher powered range of engines—with up to 180 hp available in the Corsas. How sporty can a car get? Your dealer's got the Corvair that'll show you.

WILLIAMSTON - Raymond Powell, who farms on Germany road near Williamston, returned on September 21 from a "once in a lifetime" farm tour of Russia and Europe. This was a People to People tour, sponsored by a Kansas City firm. Each individual paid his own way, but the invitation came after recommendations by county agents or other farm groups.

Sixty men went along on the trip, one from Indiana, 2 from Ohio and the rest from lower Michigan. Two other men from Ingham county, Lloyd Neargarth and John Dannehl, from the agricultural economics section of Michigan State university, also were in the party.

They left August 31, switched planes in New York, then flew directly to Brussels, Belgium. The group was there for a day and a half and then went to Holland for a day.

After this they boarded a Russian plane to Moscow and were in the city for 3 days, before proceeding on to Baku on the Caspian sea to spend another day. After that Tbilisi was their destination and their visit to a state farm.

While at the state farm they were kept extremely busy. They saw no machinery and very little farming. Only 15 minutes were allotted to seeing the agricultural end of the farm. The rest of the time they were feted at an elaborate lawn party.

Then the group returned to Moscow. While there they saw the Russian exposition (similar to the United States World Fair) but were unable to even take pictures because of darkness. There they saw some farm machinery, but found that the majority was only in the planning stages and not in general use.

According to Powell, the group as a whole did not feel too controlled, but they did feel that the trip was planned to show them as little as possible. Everyone was kept busy seeing statues and monuments.

When this was mentioned to the 2 Russian women guides, their explanation was that the size of the group prohibited them finding adequate hotel space in most areas.

Powell said they did see one milking parlor, which was very high by Russian standards, but would not be up to the ones the United States is used to now.

As a whole the entire group felt that the Russian people are happy; their standards are definitely better than they were 10 years ago. Their sanitation or ventilation would not be comparable to America's. (As an example, Powell said that during the day beer wagons go out, not refrigerated, and everyone that drinks uses the same 2 or 3 glasses all day.)

The food seems plentiful, but due to the lack of refrigeration, there are lines at certain times of day to pick up a particular item such as milk or meat while it is fresh.

Moscow, Powell said, is one series of giant apartment buildings, even more so than New York, and the maximum amount of space allowed per person by the government is 60 square feet, in the city.

After Russia, the tour went into Poland and there the visitors were permitted to see private, state and collective farms. He said the Polish people are natural farmers and all the crops looked better. Their yields were good and all the crops were particularly good.

There they were feted again with another lawn party with a banquet type meal. Everything was prepared in Polish style and there was always too much of it. An orchestra provided music during the meal.

According to Powell the people went out of their way to be exceptionally nice to the Americans, but there still was a feeling that the people were missing something, he said. Ninety percent of the population was Catholic, but the remaining 10 percent who are Communist dominate the others.

The tour proceeded to Czechoslovakia and Prague then on into Switzerland for three days. Mr. Powell particularly enjoyed Switzerland, which he felt was a beautiful country. He said he would like to return there.

After this there was a 2 day visit to Berlin, both East and West. West Berlin is industrious and thriving, but due to the constant Communist threat, the young people are leaving in large numbers, Powell said.

In East Berlin the war damage is still very visible, even though there are a number of new apartment buildings going up. The East Berliners told the group that they hope the Americans will not forget them, and they hope someday that this matter will be settled. The wall itself looked exactly like a cold, prison barrier.

From Berlin the group flew home.

Aspirin-Allergy Test Advanced By WSU Medical Researchers

DETROIT—The most widely used drug in the world, aspirin, has been found to cause allergic reactions in five per cent of its users, research at Wayne State University's School of Medicine has shown.

In some instances, a small dose of aspirin has been known to cause death. "Although the percentage of allergic reactions is small," says Dr. Lawrence M. Welner, chairman of the microbiology department, "the large number of individuals taking the drug makes the total hazard a considerable one."

A research team at Wayne, composed of Dr. Welner and Dr. Homer Howes, has recently devised a test to aspirin. The test is one which detects specific antibodies in the blood serum.

The investigators are currently refining the test procedure to increase its sensitivity while continuing their studies of the reasons for aspirin allergy.

"One of the difficulties to date has been that the test in its present form does not detect 100 per cent of the aspirin-allergic individuals," says Dr. Welner. "It has proved successful, however, in detecting those who are most sensitive to the drug."

Common reaction in those allergic to aspirin are hives, sneezing, bronchial asthma and nasal polyps.

"The reliability of the test is indicated by the fact that when more than 100 non-allergic users were tested, not one was found to have the tell-tale antibodies in his blood serum," Dr. Welner says.

Up to the present, the physician has had no method at his disposal for testing allergy to aspirin. It is hoped that the Wayne-devised test will soon be available.
