

Mason Seeks Dog Warden Applicants

Applications for the position of Mason dog warden are now being accepted at the Mason police department following action at the Monday night's city council meeting.

The new dog warden will be paid on a fee basis of $3 for an animal pick-up, $1 for answering a complaint and $1 for removing a dead animal. In addition he will be responsible for feeding and watering the animals at the shelter in addition cleaning the facilities.

To finance the program councilmen authorized the city attorney to draw up a resolution which would change the fee charged for returning a dog to its owner from $5 to $10.

When dogs with licenses are picked up, all attempts will be made to return the animals to their owners. If the animal is not licensed, it will be turned over to the county dog warden for transportation to the county animal shelter within 24 hours.

Need of a dog warden became apparent when the city moved to take over emergency ambulance service within Mason through use of the patrol cars. In the past police have handled the dog complaints and transported the dogs in police vehicles.

Fair Share Taxation For Education Proposed

In an effort to create a more adequate and equitable source of revenue for education some Michigan legislators are proposing an increase in state personal and corporate income tax and the removal of all school operating millage from real and personal property tax rolls.

Based on the idea that the property tax is regressive and is totally unrelated to a person's ability to pay, the increased income tax would take the burden off retired persons and low-income homeowners.

There would be some limitations in the proposed Fair Share program, however. Bonding proposals for school buildings, for example, would still be included in the property tax since only property owners are allowed to vote on such proposals and new school buildings do increase the value of property.

Under the program municipalities would still be permitted to levy property taxes while counties and townships would be limited to 8 and 2 mills, respectively.

In order to change the type of tax used to finance education, a state-wide petition is now being initiated. If the petition drive is successful a Constitutional amendment will then be submitted to the people in November 1970.

The petition drive is being spearheaded by State Representative Roy Smith, 5780 Whittaker road, Ypsilanti, 48197.

Happy Birthday, George! (Washington-That Is)

Next Saturday will be the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the first president of the United States.

Mason stores generally will remain open on Saturday.

News Story Locates Cats

An Ingham County News story got results this past week. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Miller, 331 Steele street, Mason, were desperately searching for 2 cats who may have bitten their 4-year-old daughter, Susie.

Through efforts of friends, neighbors and Mason police the cats were located on Wednesday and Thursday. The cats are now being observed for evidence of rabies. The Millers are very grateful for everyone's help.

Nice Weather Ahead

Temperatures during the next 5 days from Thursday through next Monday will be near or slightly above the normal high of 26 to 31 degrees and the normal low of 12 to 17. Mason School District's Millage Request Goes Down to Big Defeat

L.C.C. Question Follows Suit

Millage issues presented to the Mason school district voters went down to big defeats in the Monday election, which drew a large number of the electorate out to the polls.

Voters turned down a Mason operational millage request for 9-mills by a 2 to one margin. Unofficial returns show that 610 ballots were cast approving the increased millage while 1,209 voted against the proposition with one spoiled ballot.

Lansing Community college's request for one additional mill to finance building projects and operational costs was defeated by a vote of 445 yes and 1,364 no votes and a total of 9 spoiled ballots.

Mason board of education members were optimistic about the election, but also indicated this was a rather poor time for an election.

Commenting on the election, Robert Watts, superintendent of schools, said: "I think and hope that the election results are a revolt against all taxes in general and are not meant in any way as a slam against the educational program within the Mason district."

"We will have another election, but as yet the board has not indicated to me when it will be—possibly at the annual school board election in June, if not before."

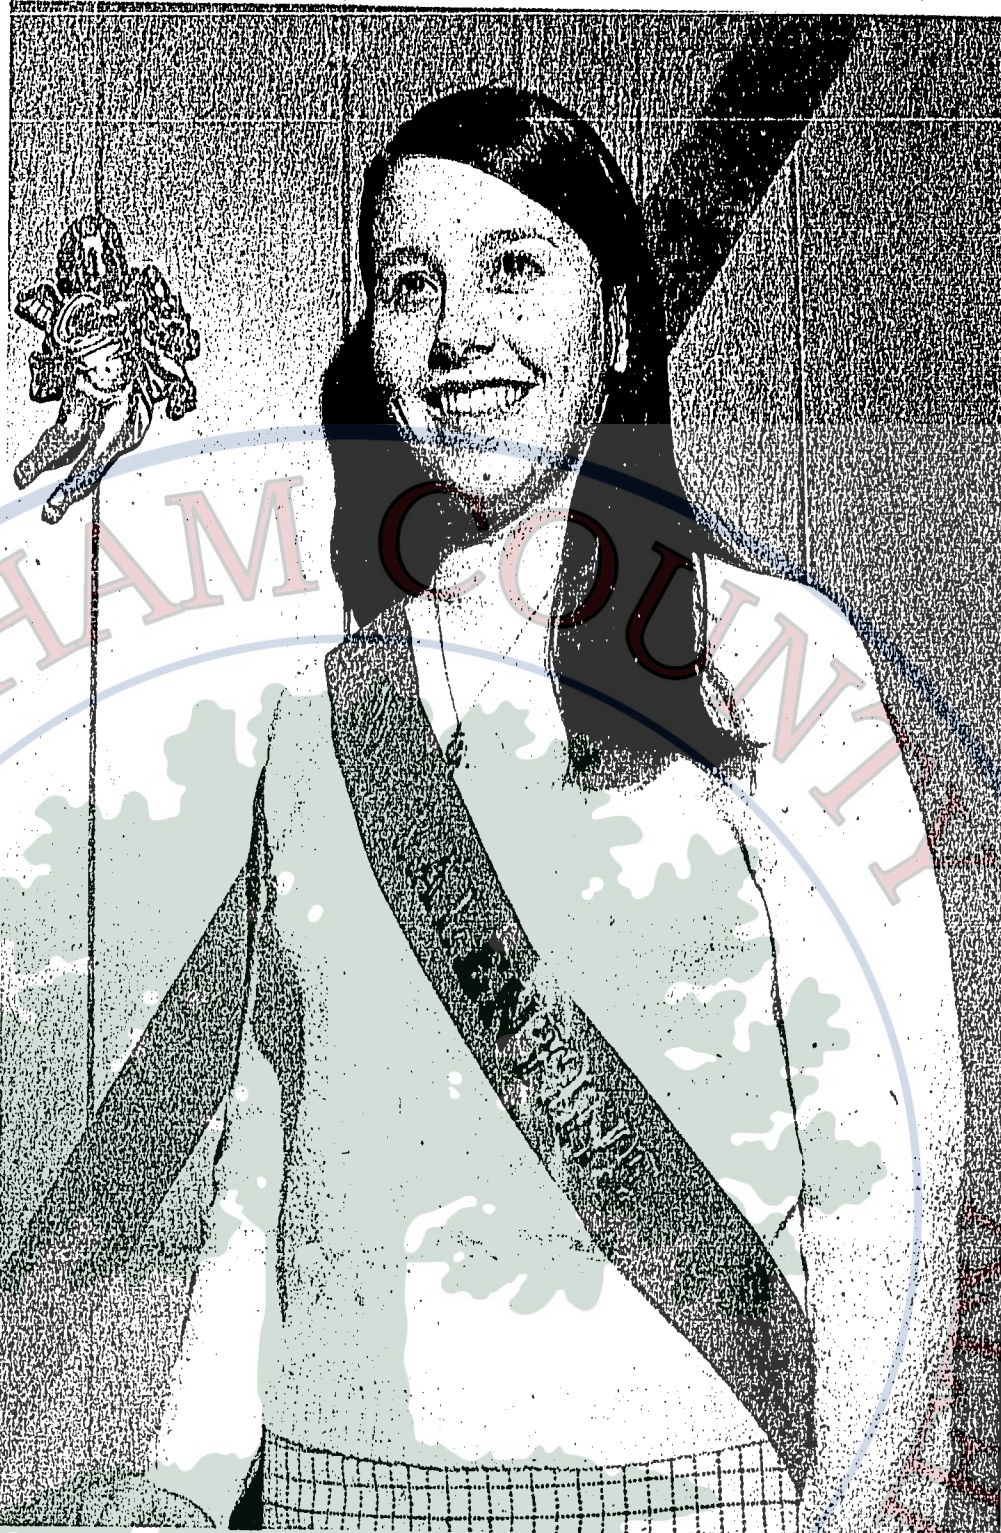

The school's request asked for the renewal of 6 mills which would not have increased any property taxes and the addition of 3 new mills, 6 of the mills represents approximately $180,000, which the school district has had in the past. "I don't know how we can cut this much operational funds out of the budget, therefore, I do not see how any future millage request could be any smaller and with teacher negotiations approaching the request could be higher."

Election officials for the Mason district were kept constantly busy throughout Monday, but from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. there were lines of voters waiting to place their X's on the ballot at the manual arts building. In an attempt to keep things organized and as comfortable as possible for the voters, people were seated in the band room so that no one would have to stand in the cold.

Compared with other county elections, Mason had an exceptionally big voter turnout. Those working during the election were praised for their efficiency in handling the electors as rapidly as possible. Those counting and recording the votes were on the job from Monday at 7 a.m. until Tuesday at 1 a.m.

There were 11 contestants and over 500 ballots were cast. Louise is part of the school musical, Pep club, school photographer, vice president of College club and FHA historian. She plans to attend Central Michigan university.

Three Rural Libraries May be Closed

An edict from the state may force the closing of 3 rural libraries in Ingham county according to Marvin Mounce, director of Ingham county libraries.

The problem of what to do with the Aurelius, Onondaga and Webberville libraries has faced the county library board since 1965 when the state gave notice that state and federal grants to county libraries would cease if certain standards were not met.

One such standard was that each branch was to be open and staffed for at least 15 hours per week when serving a population of 3,000 persons and under.

These 3 rural libraries do not meet this requirement. Some time ago thought was given to closing the libraries, but no deadline for complying with regulations was established so they continued. This time of grace is soon to end.

A letter from Francis X. Scannell, state librarian, indicated that all Ingham county libraries must comply or finance their own system locally by June. Ingham county is the largest unit within the Central Michigan Library system and is the only one which does not meet the state standards, according to Mounce.

To fill the gap in the rural communities, Mounce has suggested use of the county bookmobile unit which will provide a larger book selection for the people with a more active and current selection. Members of the Ingham county library board are expected to decide the fate of the rural libraries at their March 12 meeting.

Once before the bookmobile substitute plan brought forth protests from several persons in Aurelius township, particularly from the Supervisor Dorr Eckhart. When asked about having the bookmobile service the area, Eckhart commented: "I can't believe rural people want to be served by a bus which is very similar to the big grocery wagons used 50 years ago—I don't call this progress."

The county library director looks upon the bookmobile unit in a better light. "We have got to get the books where the people are and the mobile library unit (Continued on page B-13)

"Michigan Liquor Laws Nullify Mason's Ordinance," Says City Attorney O'Brien

For 26 years owners and operators of taverns in Mason have been observing an ordinance governing the sale of intoxicating beverages which requires an 11:30 p.m. closing time.

Through the years tavern owners have requested extended hours for holidays and have been refused by city fathers.

Now these tavern owners within the city can pat themselves on the back for being "good guys" for they have been observing an ordinance which has no real authority over them.

According to an opinion rendered by John P. O'Brien, Mason city attorney, the taverns are governed by the State Liquor Control commission which sets forth the operation requirements including hours—which traditionally have been, sales stop at 2 a.m.

The city's ordinance was adopted on December 20, 1943. There is also a law on the books which states that restrictions can be placed on tavern operations, but only with a vote of the people. Officials consulted could remember no election ever having been conducted on the adopted ordinance.

Following the reading of the attorney's opinion, Councilman William Jacob moved for the repeal of Mason liquor ordinance No. 44 at the Monday night council meeting.

Fire Department May Move Friday

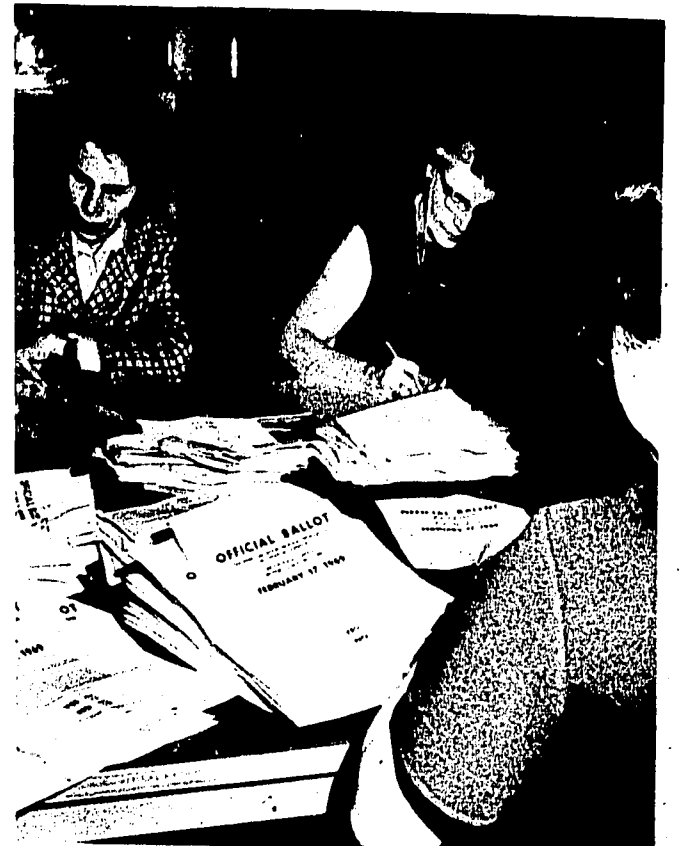

Mason's fire department may be housed in its new quarters at the intersection of Oak and Jefferson streets on Friday.

According to William Bopf, city administrator, the city will begin moving some of the department things over this week and Friday night volunteers will determine whether or not the trucks will be moved.

Anticipating the department move, the Mason board of education requested the city to determine a westerly route for the trucks from the new fire building and that it be on Ash street rather than Oak street where students are crossing with regularity.

In the letter Rexford Stribley, board secretary indicated that responding firemen and vehicles enroute to a fire via Oak street would only increase the hazards to school children.

In other business concerning the fire department, Mason councilmen at a meeting Monday night agreed to purchase a hose dryer for $895. This piece of equipment can dry up to 500 feet of fire hose in just a few hours, whereas the department's present drying tower requires about 2 days.

TEDIOUS JOB—Women who worked on the Mason school election were still counting ballots at midnight on Monday. Recording the yes and no votes are (from left) Mrs. Lester Kleen, Mrs. Harold Barnhill and Mrs. Joyce Darling.

Czechoslovakia.. Today and Tomorrow

The following is the first in a series of articles, written by Donald E. Miller on his recent experiences in Czechoslovakia. Miller has visited that troubled nation 3 times in recent years. He is an administrator at The University of Michigan. He is 30. He is a graduate of that university and of Brown university and has been on the staff of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco as well as Michigan.

He asks that readers of this series send books and other library materials to the Department of English at Safarik university, U1, Groszova 3, Prasev, Czechoslovakia. They can be mailed duty free. Miller noted that there is a lack of books in English at universities in Czechoslovakia but there is a tremendous interest and admiration for the United States.

Since the Russian invasion this past August, and during the days of the Dubcek liberalization in the months before, thousands of articles, and perhaps millions of words have been written about Czechoslovakia. They have sought to examine the country and its people politically, economically, socially - and in every other conceivable way.

Yet few articles have discussed Czechoslovakia in human, or individual terms. We know about groups cheering, fighting, protesting, and demanding. But we have read little about individuals in Czechoslovakia. Assuming one of the purposes of the liberalization was to re-assert the dignity and worth of the individual - and that of the Soviet invasion to suppress individual freedoms - what is the individual in Czechoslovakia thinking about these days? What does he think about the events of the past year? How does he regard the future?

I recently spent two weeks in Czechoslovakia, my third trip there in the past four years. During my visits I have come to admire the people greatly; perhaps, too, I even understand them just a little bit. I hope that in this forthcoming series of articles you will gain a greater understanding of the people who fight for freedom has lasted almost a thousand years and may perhaps last a thousand more.

As my plane, a sleek British European Airways jetliner, broke out of the cloud cover and approached the runway of Prague's Ruzyně Airport, I had mixed feelings. I couldn't help being excited at the thought of being back in Czechoslovakia; but this excitement was tinged with the normal amount of apprehension, in view of the events there these past months.

My excitement mounted as the plane came to a halt before the main terminal building. I looked out the window at it - new, modern, and functional like so many thousands more around the world. Above the building in huge block letters I could read the word PRAGUE. I wondered how much Prague had changed from my visit three years before. It wasn't long before I would find some answers!

My first few hours in Prague were crowded with what seemed like a million impressions. A few things stand out above the rest: the friendliness and interest of the people - it was there and strong - exactly as I remembered it from my last visits; at the airport, my luggage hadn't been inspected or opened; on the way from the airport into town, I saw the names of the Czechoslovak leaders, Dubcek and Svoboda written literally a hundred times on the sides of apartment buildings, grocery stores, and fences. On many buildings, writings had been already white-washed - I could only wonder what these had said.

After registering and settling in at my hotel, I took a short walk on Prague's Wenceslas Square, the main street of the city, a combination of New York's Fifth Avenue and London's Piccadilly Circus. At the head of this broad avenue, and on a height commanding the whole street, is the National Museum. It was here where much of the fighting between the Russian tanks and the Czechs took place - and it is very evident.

The Museum is a dull implacable gray - much like many of the buildings in Paris before the French embarked on a government program to white-wash them. The Museum had, in fact, had a white-washing of its own - not by a government program as in France, but by the guns of Russian tanks. The front of the Museum, facing on Wenceslas Square, had been riddled by thousands of Russian bullets. In a thousand places, the dull gray of the Museum had been chipped away by Russian gunfire, leaving gaping white holes. It was an awesome sight. I will never forget it. The Museum became the symbol to me of the Russian presence and power in Czechoslovakia. If life on the street had gained a semblance of normality once again, as indeed it had, one had only to look at the National Museum to understand the magnitude of the problem lying beneath the normality in the streets.

To understand how the Czechoslovaks were facing up to this problem you didn't have to walk very far from the National Museum - in fact, only about one hundred and fifty steps to be exact, to the base of the statue of Good King Wenceslas. (Wenceslas had been one of the most famous kings of Bohemia, which encompasses Prague and the western part of Czechoslovakia; and many years ago this statue had been erected here in his honor.) The Czechs had turned the Wenceslas statue into a memorial for those who had died during those first days of the occupation. The first to die was a 14-year-old boy, killed near the statue, and people began bringing flowers and laying them at the base of the statue as a memorial to him. Others died in Prague, and they were similarly honored with flowers at the base of the statue.

Soon the statue became more than a memorial honoring the dead of the Soviet invasion. It became the focal point of passive Czech resistance and defiance to the Russian presence in Czechoslovakia. Today, the statue is always crowded with people looking at the flowers placed there daily and reading messages of sympathy and support placed there by Czechoslovaks and foreigners. One wreath placed there especially touched me. It was placed there by Americans. On one side was the Czechoslovak flag; on the other, the American flag. The message, in bold large black letters, read simply:

We are with you
We care about you
Signed:
Two USA Students.
Before I left Prague, I decided to place a tribute of my own. I took my luggage tag - red, white, and blue American Tourister -- reversed the address side and had some Czech people I had met write in Czech: "Our sympathies and our Admiration. From one American and from All Americans." I was given a commemorative wreath free of charge by a florist when I happened to mention to him what I was planning to use it for. Slowly, carefully, on Christmas Day, with many persons watching, I placed the wreath and the tag carefully wrapped around it, at the base of the statue. This was not only my tribute but the tribute, I thought, of the many Americans who could not be there with me. I think often of this tribute. I wonder if it is still there and what people think as they read it.

In the United States, just prior to my trip, I had taken some Czech lessons. In Czechoslovakia, I determined to, and did, speak Czech. One of those with whom I spoke was a very pretty young girl, a student at Charles University in Prague. After talking with her for some time, she called her home and then invited me to spend Christmas day with her and her family. This was something I really had not expected, for Christmas in Czechoslovakia is a very personal holiday, a family holiday, and not many foreigners are invited into Czech homes to share it with them.

To spend Christmas with a Czech family, less than four months after the Russians had invaded their country, would be a very special experience. I wondered, as we drove there, what it was going to be like.

First of all, I can say it was charming. In the corner of the living room, was a huge Christmas tree. Instead of multi-colored electric lights, there were real candles and sparklers on the tree - an enchanting sight. A while later, one of the lighted candles fell, setting fire to a part of the tree. We put it out with wine.

Christmas dinner was delicious. Fish is the traditional Christmas fare in Czechoslovakia, with potatoes, salad, chocolate cakes, and wine. All very special, and very fattening, I thought to myself, as I let my belt out a notch.

After dinner came the exchange of presents. This especially touched me, for the presents were simple and the family feeling strong. (Bars of soap for the daughter, a scarf for the son, cigarettes (Kent for the father.) At least, superficially, Christmas in Czechoslovakia 1968 did not seem so different from Christmas elsewhere in the Western world. Later on, when we began discussing politics, I realized how different it really was.

Our discussion began humorously. I learned that this year in Czechoslovakia, people were sending one another special Christmas and New Years greetings. Instead of the traditional "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," Czechs were wishing one another: "Merry Christmas and a Better New Year."

The Soviet invasion, all thought, was a sign, not of Soviet strength, but of Soviet weakness. From the Czech point of view, perhaps the invasion's most telling and long-lasting effect would be its impact upon Czechoslovak youth. Until now, the Germans had been looked upon as the great enemy.

Though the Russians were never exactly considered buddies, it had generally been felt that they weren't such bad guys and that it benefitted Czechoslovakia to have them around looking after Czechoslovak interests.

Today, this had changed. The Russian invasion and the continued Russian presence in Czechoslovakia is considered by the country's youth to be the act of a mortal enemy. This they will never forget, and this is bound to have a telling effect on Russian-Czechoslovak relations far into the future.

On the streets, Czechoslovak kids still play their favorite cowboys and indians game. But it now has a new twist. The cowboy now says to the villain, "You're a Russian soldier, and when I say 'Bang,' you fall down dead."

On August 20, 1968, Russian tanks crossed the border into Czechoslovakia. Life there would never again be the same.

Register of Deeds Collected $245,073 in Fees in 1968

The Ingham County Register of Deeds office collected $246,073.32 in fees and the Michigan transfer tax in 1968 and a balance of $171,015.47 was received by the county, according to the year-end report presented by Mia Bell Humphrey, register of deeds, at the Ingham County Board of Supervisors meeting Tuesday night.

Mrs. Humphrey reported that fees collected total $115,672.62 and Michigan transfer tax monies collected amounted to $130,400.70. Disbursements totaled $75,057.85.

Broken down fees were collected accordingly: Real estate papers 54,731.75; financing statements, 42,839.00; abstracts and certifications of financing statement 824.25 and photocopies and searches 3,505.34. Photocopy work done for outside agencies totaled 13,772.28. Mrs. Humphrey said.

She explained that the number of plats recorded dropped to 18 from 31 because of tight money conditions but the mortgages issued were for very large amounts as funds were available for building apartments, shopping centers and industrial complexes. Thus, fees collected for real estate papers recorded totaled $54,751.75, only slightly lower than the $55,878.55 recorded in 1967.

In 1968 fees collected for filing Chattel mortgages or discharging such mortgages totaled $43,663.25 which was almost a 4,000 increase over 1967. The number of mortgages or financing statements recorded also jumped by 4,000 from 31,353 in 1967 to 35,059 in 1968. Ten years ago this figure totaled only 19,199.

New Patrol System Set up for County

A new system of patrols to cover Ingham county by the sheriff's department is now in operation. It is designed, according to Sheriff Kenneth L. Preadmore, to provide better protection for rural areas through better police distribution.

Under the new system the county has been divided into 4 districts.

District No. 1 includes the townships of Meridian, Delhi, Alameda and Lansing. The area has a population of approximately 49,000 persons.

District No. 2 embraces the townships of Aurelius, Vevay, Onondaga and Leslie. District No. 3 includes Williamstown, Locke, Wheatfield and Leroy townships.

In District No. 4 are Ingham, White Oak, Bunker Hill and Stockbridge townships.

Residing in Districts 2, 3 and 4 is a total population of about 28,000 persons, according to Sheriff Preadmore.

In District No. 1 are 3 townships—Delhi, Meridian and Lansing—which have their own police departments but which are attached to the sheriff's department. Each of these 3 townships operates 2 patrol cars. With the new district car, this will bring the total to 7 cars for 49,000 persons or 7,000 persons per car, Preadmore points out. This is regarded as about the proper ratio.

The sheriff's department has been augmented by the addition of 13 new patrolmen who will enter the Michigan police academy at Lansing Community college on March 15 for a 7-week course in police duties. Upon their completion of the course they will be assigned to the various districts, Preadmore said.

HOUSE DAMAGED—A vehicle driven by Jeffrey Palmer of Holt, crashed into a house just south of the intersection of Howell and S. Cedar street, after having been involved in a 2-car crash on Wednesday.

Car Crashes into House

No injuries were reported but one car did crash into the side of a house in a 2 car accident on Cedar at Howell road Wednesday afternoon, according to Ingham County Sheriff Kenneth L. Preadmore.

Preadmore stated that Douglas Paul Wolfgang, 20, of 2574 Dansville road, Mason, was traveling south on Cedar street when he struck the car driven by Jeffrey Wayne Palmer, 18, of 1864 Schoolcraft, Holt. Palmer, traveling west on Howell, pulled out in front of Wolfgang, the sheriff said.

Palmer's vehicle then struck the side of a house owned by Francis Platt at 487 N. Cedar, according to Platt. Wolfgang complained of possible injuries.

Pittenger Denounces What he Terms 'Filth' In MSU State News

State Representative Philip O. Pittenger (R-Lansing) has angrily denounced the use of what he termed "filth" in a recent page one article in the Michigan State university State News.

Pittenger was referring to an article in Wednesday's M.S.U. newspaper using "4 letter words that most people would never use in private let alone print in a newspaper." Representative Pittenger said he would ask Ingham County Prosecutor Raymond Scodeller to investigate the matter and determine if there is any legal action that could or should be taken to prevent any future occurrences of this kind.

"People who espouse this type of journalism in the name of freedom of the press are not acting responsibly to my way of thinking," Pittenger said. "Responsible journalists don't use dirty words, and so I can see no need for dirt in a paper designed to teach responsible journalism. This is a state supported university and the taxpayers of this state should not pay for operation of this paper if it is not training students for their future profession. If a university paper only degrades the profession, then we don't need the paper and it ought to be abandoned," Pittenger said.

Representative Pittenger added that he has received information that the article is not even factual in addition to being in poor taste. "The story said that the phrases using the 4 letter words were made by a 'black student from Michigan State!'" "Apparently this was false and the reporter knew it was false when he wrote the story. I have heard from a reliable, informed source that the reporter knew that the statement was made by a black militant, non-student from Chicago."

Representative Pittenger concluded, "Using 4 letter words just for the thrill of printing them has enraged the citizens of my district and with good reason. I personally think that the reporters of the article should be fired immediately and an investigation into the activities of this newspaper be started by university officials at once."

$302,160 Improvement

Onondaga and Aurelius Phone Merger is Sought

The Rural Telephone company, with headquarters in Stockbridge, is planning to spend more than half a million dollars for improvements in 1969. Nearly two thirds of that amount will be used to upgrade service for its Aurelius and Onondaga exchanges while the rest will go for improvements in Stockbridge, Webberville and Gregory.

Present plans call for combining the Aurelius and Onondaga exchanges into a central dial office to be constructed at Craine and Kinneyville roads. If an application for the merger, now before the Michigan Public Service commission, is approved, the company will spend $302,160 to build and equip a new office.

The remaining $290,000 will go to improve service for subscribers on the Stockbridge and Webberville exchanges.

The reason for combining the 2 exchanges, according to Charles Webb, president of Rural Telephone company, is to centralize equipment in that area, and to reduce maintenance costs. He added, however, that it will take at least 34 weeks to obtain delivery of the necessary equipment after receipt of PSC approval.

When the hoped for installation is completed, subscribers on both exchanges will be able to make toll free calls to Rives Junction and Mason. Direct distance dialing will also be available to them, a service which they do not have now.

Construction of an addition to the Webberville exchange is now underway and should be completed by late June, according to Webb. He said the new facilities will provide service for an additional 300 subscribers, nearly double those of a few years ago. He explained the reason for the growth at Webberville is because of the increased demand for private lines.

Webb said that 450 new lines will be added to the Stockbridge exchange this year. This is more than twice the number now in use. He said the increase will answer the demand for more private lines and will also ease the overload on the present equipment.

Rural Telephone company's lines now cover approximately 250 square miles in Ingham, Livingston, Washtenaw and Jackson counties. The utility serves a total of 4,605 subscribers, of which 1,174 are on the Stockbridge exchange. Other exchanges include Rives Junction, Munith, Gregory and Fitchburg.

The firm is a wholly owned subsidiary of Mid-Continent systems. The merger was approved by stockholders of both companies in 1967.

TO BE REPLACED...These 2 dial exchanges of the Rural Telephone company, Aurelius, (left) and Onondaga, (right), will be combined into one office during the utility firm's planned half-million dollar improvement project.

State Distributes Motor Highway Fund

The state highway commission has started the distribution of fourth quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said net highway fund receipts during October, November and December totaled $86 million, an increase of 29.5 percent compared to the same period in 1967.

The increase is attributed, for the most part, to the cent-a-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax which took effect January 1, 1968, and the vehicle weight tax increase which took effect several months ago when the 1969 license plates went on sale.

Ingham County's share totaled $646,515 while Mason received $15,296. Dansville, $1,826; East Lansing, $88,175; Lansing, $418,289; Leslie, $6,699; Stockbridge, $3,236; Webberville, $2,852; Williamstown, $8,922.

The highway fund includes all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees. After deductions for collection costs and the State Waterways Commission's share, 46 percent to the counties is distributed to the Department of State Highways, 34 percent to the counties and 20 percent to the state's 528 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula, the Highway Department will receive $39,579,589; the counties $29,254,479, and the cities and villages $17,208,517.

No Room for Cover-Ups

Every era has a tendency to use catchy phrases. Some of the popular ones being used today includes the lamenting of the "credibility gap," "lack of respect for law and order," and "rights of the people to know" when it comes to the machinations of our government institutions.

When it comes to the courts and the other agencies of the law, there is a lot of crying on the part of court officials and law officers about lack of respect on the part of the general public and lack of interest in what these agencies are doing for the protection of the public.

Yet there is an ever-increasing reluctance on the part of the people charged with enforcing the law to lay the facts before the general public.

Since an instance happened here in Ingham county last week. There was apparent scurrying around on the part of the district court and the Ingham county sheriff over a case involving an ex-deputy - a case in which the former deputy eventually ended up pleading guilty in circuit court to a morals charge.

The general public is not naive. The public and the news media charged with informing the public are both well-aware that all law officers are not saints any more than all newspaper reporters are responsible, all lawyers wear halos, all doctors abide by the hypocritical oath or all preachers are good to their wives.

In the case in question there appeared to be a reluctance to discuss the court particulars of the situation for fear that some taint would be splashed on an agency for the law.

The point has been completely missed by those attempting to thwart the process of news gathering. That point is that Sheriff Kenneth Preadmore acted swiftly and justifiably in discharging an officer involved in such a charge.

The point is that the general public would have more respect for the law because of that discharge and public knowledge of the situation would have been more beneficial than attempting to sweep the matter under the rug and allowing rumors to overpower the facts.

A resident of Turner street in Lansing township, a resident of Stockbridge, Leslie or Onondaga or any other person in the county would not have warranted so many phone calls or attention or produced such a lack of cooperation with the news media on the part of the court or the sheriff.

Law enforcement is part of government and there is no place in government for the withholding of information from the people through manipulating of the news.

Six Sure Ways To Discourage Industry In Mason

Over the last several years there have been individuals and organizations interested and involved in procuring industry for Mason. Success has been minimal. From time to time the News has editorially attempted to point out what was needed to bring industry and business into Mason. The positive approach in each case has not brought much in the way of results.

So, let's forget the positive approach. Let's use the negative approach. Let's offer a little advice on how to discourage industry from settling in Mason.

Accordingly, here are 6 ways to discourage industry.

Step one in the industrial discouragement program is to let everyone know your views. Tell everyone you know and particularly tell the strangers you encounter what you think of industrial development effort. Let them know that you think we ought to keep Mason just the way it has always been.

It's a comfortable town, we don't want to see it changed.

Another help in the industrial discouragement program would be to run the town down. Complain about city government, complain about the schools, gripe about the Merchants association, the banks, the newspaper or anything else you can find fault with. The effect of this policy will be to call attention to the discouraging aspects of living in Mason. Such complaints will make everybody conscious of shortcomings in order that they might become discouraged in their industrial development effort. Incidentally, this matter of running the town down is particularly effective to strangers. Who knows, you might run into an industrial scout looking for a plant site and be so convincing in pointing out the faults that he will leave town without further investigation.

Since industrial inspection teams look a community over before making a decision, it's a good idea to leave your property in a rundown condition. Don't mow your lawns, shovel your sidewalks or pick up the trash. Be sparing in the use of paint, let leaves and papers pile up in the yards and gutters and generally try to create an impression of not caring about your house or town.

The same holds true for the business establishments in town. Since we know that industrial concerns want their businesses in thriving, wide-awake communities, we should try to create every impression of decadence we can. So put away those plans for modernization and cleaning up. Show off the merchandise in a sloppy manner. Don't keep the shelves filled with up-to-date inventory.

If such discouragement practices don't work and industry becomes genuinely interested in spite of what we have said and done then it would be a good idea to try and buy up or gain control of all the desirable industrial sites in or near town. Then put an inflated price on the property. After all, no plant can locate where there is no land and if an industry still insists on coming in then you can at least make a terrific profit on the sale of the land.

Just in case your best efforts have come to naught and the prospect plans to locate in town, there is a possibility you can get him to change his mind by pointing out to him the shortage and high cost of labor. Or maybe you can convince him that if he doesn't follow the low wage policies of the community and upsets the community work force by offering more, there will be economic reprisals.

If you can't discourage his starting up in town it might be possible to make him leave by demanding of the city council that new tax policies are needed to soak industry so the tax burden will ease on everybody else in town.

After all, you didn't want him to come, but since he is here we might as well get all the traffic will bear in taxes.

So get the valuation as high as it will go. Soak it to him. Maybe he will leave.

These methods are tested. They have worked in many communities for years. They have worked here. They discourage industry and they discourage those trouble makers and busybodies who are constantly rearing their heads to attract more industrial growth to town.

Close Loopholes Of Tax Systems

Many problems are facing the new Nixon administration, and one which is most certainly high on the list is the problem of a taxpayer's revolt. The middle-bracket wage earners are rapidly getting fed up with the kind of income tax they are being forced to pay to the federal government.

Families with incomes from $7,000 to $20,000 a year generate about half of the personal income tax revenue accruing to government. Yet in 1967, 155 returns on incomes above $200,000, including 21 with incomes of more than a million dollars resulted in no tax payments.

Now when a little guy pays a whale of a tax and a big guy making a million bucks pays nothing-it is pretty darned evident that some loopholes someplace need some plugging.

Not all of the loopholes can be plugged-but the wealthy should be paying at least a minimum tax of some sort- even if all their income is from tax exempt sources such as interest on municipal bonds.

Another area which is screaming for attention is the status of more than 30,000 tax-free private foundations.

While most of them serve a worthy purpose, there is reason to believe a large number of the exemptions are seriously questionable. Organizations win tax exemption if they promote charitable, educational, religious or scientific purposes-but there are no solid rules which cover the goals.

The Los Angeles Times recently stated that Rep. Wright Patman, a Texas Democrat who has been fighting for closer scrutiny of such foundations for the last 8 years notes that there is no government regulation once exempt status is gained by such a foundation.

The 91st Congress and the new President should make the matter of tax loopholes, the surtax and the tax-free foundations an item high on their priority list of things needing close attention . . . and action!

No Man Is an Island

If any one word characterizes this world, it is "conflict."

On every level, local, state, national and international, we see conflict between individuals, between communities, states, nations, races, religious groups, political groups, between corn growers and grain sorghum growers, between business and labor, between city and farm. . . the list has just begun!

Invariably this conflict is caused because people are selfish. They cannot see beyond their own little world. The prevailing attitude is that "I want things arranged perfectly for my own little empire . . . to heck with the rest of the world!"

The segregationist says, "All that matters is that I be free to associate with my kind, that the world be ordered so as to fit my philosophy."

The cattleman says, "All I want is a high price for my cattle and cheap feed . . . also I want the government to keep out all foreign meat to protect my market . . . to heck with the government and its problems as a member of the family of nations!"

Labor says, "I want high wages, short hours, lots of fringe benefits . . . and cheap prices in the stores."

Business says, "We want cheap labor and a good markup on our product."

The United States says, "We want to export lots but import little."

City people say, "We want high wages and cheap groceries."

Farmers say, "We want good prices for our products . . . and freedom to grow all we can produce."

All this is the result of one thing . . . nearsightedness. People simply refuse to view this planet as one world. The world is a unit. For things to run smoothly, for conflict not to exist, every part of the world must be operating properly, just like the human body. If a man has the headache, he is sick all over. So long as one part of the body is ill, all the body is affected.

Everything is related, is a part of the whole. No man lives on an island, isolated from the rest of the world.

The lesson man refuses to learn is that he can never be secure, regardless of how high the fence of isolation around his little kingdom, so long as the rest of society has problems.

Only when we learn to accept the truism that what is good for the group is good for me will we be on the road which leads to a lessening of tensions and conflict, the road to security which we all seek.

Inconsistent Farmers

Delegates to the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation in Kansas City approved policy resolutions with some high sounding statements about phasing out federal subsidy and crop control programs and returning agriculture to a market-oriented economy. They also called for a balanced federal budget.

But when a few of the delegates suggested that perhaps it was time to come out in favor of limiting subsidies to, say, $20,000 per farmer per year, the suggestion was shouted down in an overwhelming chorus of "nays." Thus the delegates worked themselves into a uniquely inconsistent position. On the one hand they declared they were opposed to the subsidy provisions of the present farm bill, while on the other they made it clear they will brook no tampering with the federal handouts as long as they are forthcoming.

One obvious way to phase out farm subsidy programs and help balance the budget is to limit the payments that range from $50,000 to as much as 4 million dollars annually for several thousand big farmers who don't need them. Fortunately for taxpayers, it will be up to Congress rather than the farm bureau delegates to settle the matter. An effort to limit the subsidies was only narrowly defeated in the last session of Congress, and proponents of limitation believe they have a good chance of winning when the issue comes up again next year under a new administration.

Farm bureau policies about phasing out subsidy programs would have a more convincing ring if the delegates who formulate them didn't talk out of both sides of their mouths-or if farm bureau members would simply stop taking the handouts.

Barbs and Praise

By DICK BROWN

It's no secret that the world has been, still is and will be under the influence of a population explosion. Educators talk of a knowledge explosion. Industry and science generate technological explosion.

There's nothing new in that paragraph but how many know about the "word explosion?"

Would you believe that dictionary editors are hard-pressed to keep up with this word explosion? New dictionary editions have 14,000 added starters to confuse the scrabble players and expand the communications gap.

Where do these new words and phrases come from? The blame rests primarily with the politician, the scientist, the economist, the fashion designer, man on the street and the teen-ager.

What new words or expressions have the politicians given us recently? Well, there's conspiracy of silence, which means "a conspiring to keep something wrong, damaging, etc., from being divulged."

And then there's gapolis, meaning "any conspicuous or abnormal gap, deficiency, etc." Now when you read about the credibility gap, you'll understand gapolis.

The scientist gave us endoradionode; the economist came up with macroeconomics and micro-economics; and the fashion designers, bless them, came up with minidress and miniskirt.

Here is a handful of the new words and phrases added to the World Book Dictionary for 1969. How many can you identify?

Aerial jeep, ballhawk, beatman, beefcake, body check, brain-picking, British English, campy, car jockey, center-left, chicken colonel, cliffhang, Colonel Bogey, cutesy;

Dawn patrol, daymare, deep six, defang, didact, diploma mill, dysphemism, earthshaker, easy money, end-run, Escoffier, eye-popper, familygram, fifth estate, file 13, flab, flappable, freedom walk, funk, ghost surgery, glass cloth, goodie, gramphile, groupthink, gucky;

Head Start, hobbit, in-joke, inner space, instant replay, Jane Q. Public, jet bus, knuckleballer, lachrymist, lotus-land, make-do, meshuga, Mitty, nebbish, NFL, nudnik, off-hour, old-shoe, ordered pair, plain-Jane;

R and R, read-in, rice Christian, roadeo, schlepp, schlock, sheila, shook-up, ski bum, slanguage, space gun, squaw winter, suitcase farmer, swing-back synanon, telephonitis, ten-percenter, tin god, tin pants, underground film, video recorder, Vietnik, wailing wall, yoo-hoo.

Some of these words and phrases have been around for a long time, of course, as slang or argot. But now that they're in the dictionary they're official.

No fair asking anybody. Look them up!

The above lists do not contain the phrases "Tiny Timism" and "the blahs," but perhaps they'll be included in the next new dictionary edition.

Bob Inghram has increased the credibility gap. Last week he conspired with Sally Trout to slip an old Sunday school class picture past the editor.

Many readers found it impossible to believe that those curly-haired, wasp-waisted angels of the 1938 Methodist Sunday school class carried names like Lyle Oosterle, Hugh Silsby, Fred Silsby, Bob Inghram and the others listed.

There has been quite a change in hairlines and in girth.

That Sunday school group pictured was the personal cross Mrs. Viva Riker had to carry as its teacher. She was a top notch Sunday school recruiter, possibly due to a great degree to the fact that she was also the Mason algebra teacher and some of us would do anything to pass the course. That's why a lot of those Methodist class members were recruited from Presbyterian backgrounds.

Most of that Sunday school crew were bad actors (except for the second one from the right in the front row).

The Melting Pot

By HAYDEN PALMER

I am a great admirer of dogs as family pets.

No one can ask for a more loyal companion, or steadfast friends whose devotion never changes.

I had such a dog until about a year ago when she died. Her passing left a void in our home that has never yet been filled.

The house has never been quite the same since Sheba passed on.

She was always there to meet me when I arrived home from work. She watched over every member of the household and she was the guardian of the premises day and night.

And so I can sympathize deeply with Mrs. Patricia R. Mitchell of 2087 Dean Avenue, Holt, who, too, has lost her beloved dog Mitch. Mitch, like Sheba, was a German Shepherd.

Mitch was gunned down by someone who apparently had hatred in his heart for pets like Mitch or like my Sheba, perhaps.

Mrs. Mitchell sent me a letter about Mitch. She addressed it "To Whom It May Concern", Whom it does concern, is the person who fired the fatal shot. The letter follows:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
"I wish you could have heard my 13 year old son cry today when he came back with his father, carrying in the trunk of his car his dead German Shepherd dog, MITCH. Maybe during that hour your conscience might have bothered you just a little.

MITCH must have been running from you as your bullet hit him in his hip. Also, he must have suffered quite a long while in the cold before he died.

At first my husband and my son wanted only to get their hands on you, but by doing this it would only have made them as cruel as you. Instead we all began to pity you because anyone wanting to kill a fine pet must be a very bitter and unhappy man.

You really must have disliked MITCH. We had him for two years and he was part of the family. We all miss him, and so will the Holt Boy Scout Troop 705, for MITCH never missed a meeting.

I only wish you had the courage to call and explain to my three children why you did a thing like this. We have no hard feelings or hate for you now-only pity and a prayer-hoping you will realize your mistake and become a better person. Then our MITCH will have died for a reason."

Down by the Sycamore

By Nelson D. Brown - Edited by Margaret Doolittle

May 17, 1956

A kindergarten girl shed her clothes and was about to plunge into the Sycamore by the city park bridge Friday when Mrs. Rolph Silsby glimpsed the scene. The water was deep and the current was swift. Mrs. Silsby shouted a warning. The girl picked up her clothes and fled, stopping every little way to put on another garment.

Ruben Droscha, who did no trumpeting until a year ago, was one of the stars at the Mason band concert last Thursday night. He has a great talent and has probably blown himself from the cadet band into the varisty band. His mother, Mrs. Willard Droscha (nee Glenna Childs) accompanied Ruben.

The most heartening news I picked up at the Leslie school reunion at which I was a guest of my wife is that Willie Wardowski has switched from chemical engineering to pomology at Michigan State. Somehow I felt sad to see a

By Jim Fitzgerald

You probably think I am the only newspaper columnist who didn't sell the Saturday Evening Post when he was a boy.

Or perhaps you think I am an original thinker who doesn't write about the things everyone else writes about.

Wrong, both times.

There's a long list of things that paid scribblers always turn to when they can't think of anything else. Boyhood nostalgia is at the top of the list. And there's nothing more nostalgic than reminiscing about the depression days when a runny-nosed little boy had to sell 10 Saturday Evening Posts a week or his dad would put him in a bag with 10 kittens and throw the bag into the St. Clair River (I remember once when Mother tried to use Dad's bag for collecting coal along the railroad tracks. He wouldn't let her. "That's my bag," said Dad, thus becoming the world's first hippie).

Anyway, I did sell the Post and I am going to write about it. I'd have done it sooner but I've been in a slump.

You've probably heard that even the greatest writers go through dry spells in which they mean that the Muse has deserted them. A Muse is any of 9 Greek goddesses which inspire creative artists. That sounds pretty classy and I wish it applied to my slump. The truth is that I suffered a small paper-cut on the tip of my typing finger and then, like a fool, I swiped a handful of popcorn from my son's bag. That's pouring salt on the wound (I may have coined a phrase there).

When I was about 10 years old, I sold the Post for my cousin, Bobby Smith. He was only a couple of years older but already he was a neighborhood foreman for a magazine distributor. Bobby was one of those kids that a guy's mother was always pointing to and saying, "Why can't you be like Bobby? He has 2 paper routes and 10 magazine routes and an Essex dealership. And you won't even get out of bed in the morning."

That's the kind of a cousin I had to have, boy. He was a real nice kid but gee, he was always working and putting money in the bank and buying his mother presents. One Christmas, I remember, he gave her a new coat. I gave my mother a clay ash tray I made in school -- and I gave it to her in front of Grandma who didn't know Mother smoked. Boy, Merry Christmas.

Mother thought I would become more like Bobby if I sold more magazines. But it never worked. I was the world's most reluctant salesman. I would ring neighborhood doorbells only because Mother was watching out the window. My sales pitch went like this: "You don't want to buy a Saturday Evening Post, do you." I was always right.

Each week I'd pick up 10 Posts from Bobby. A few days later I'd bring back 10. The day he suggested I retire was when I brought back 11. A woman had browbeaten me into buying back a Post she'd bought downtown. One of the cartoons was dirty, she said (I never did find which one and I looked for 6 hours).

I went back to my wastrel life but Bobby kept hustling. That kid worked hard at dozens of jobs until the day he was drafted into World War II. He was killed in the Battle of the Bulge.

I always associate the Post with Bobby and the 1930's when a nickel double-feature could turn a boy on for weeks. Those were days of simple pleasures, one of which was reading the Post, starting from the back and ending up with Alexander Botts, the incredible tractor salesman.

Those pleasures seemed to disappear sometime during the war. I guess I became more sophisticated. Maybe I simply grew up; or grew bitter. Anyway, I quit reading the Saturday Evening Post. I guess I don't really know why.

But I think it had something to do with the fact that the most patriotic pictures Norman Rockwell painted could never make me understand why my cousin Bobby, age 19, had to die.

Michigan Mirror

'Slice' House

By Elmer White

A proposed constitutional amendment to reduce the size of the Michigan House of Representatives and revamp the state's legislative reapportionment machinery has been submitted to state lawmakers. Understandably, it faces an uphill struggle.

Key provisions include restructuring the controversial state apportionment commission and designating the State Court of Appeals as an arbiter of basless which are sure to develop.

The measure was sponsored by 16 Republicans and 3 Democrats. It takes a two-thirds vote of both chambers to get the proposal on the general election ballot.

Under the amendment, House membership would be limited to four times the number of Congressmen from Michigan. This would put the House total at 76 instead of the present 110 as Michigan has 19 U.S. representatives.

Senate membership would be continued at 38, though any increase in congressional representation would boost the number of senatorial districts.

The apportionment commission, the unit which must realign the Legislature after every federal census, would be appointed by the Governor and Secretary of State rather than the political parties. The partisan breakdown, though, would continue at four Democrats and four Republicans.

Michigan's 1963 constitution created the first commission. Its initial effort at reapportioning the Legislature resulted in a deadlock, and the State Supreme Court ended up doing the job.

The proposed amendment, sponsored chiefly by Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, would provide that the Court of Appeals would reapportion the legislature if the commission failed to do so.

And if the Appellate court could not agree on proposals within 60 calendar days, then the Supreme Court would again inherit the task.

If the constitutional revision were approved by the people, the first reapportionment under it would take place in 1974, based on the 1970 census.

Lawmaker districts would be as "equal in population as practicable," with "due consideration" to county lines, community interest and compactness of territory.

Senators would still be elected for four years and Representatives for two years.

A stormy battle over the amendment is certain in the House, where members frown on efforts to cut their numbers.

Library Nook

Antiquing anyone? Chances are if you haven't caught the antique "bug," some of your friends have. "Attacking" both the young and the old, this latest craze takes on a myriad of forms. It may be an interest (ranging anywhere from mild to avid) in glassware, in old postcards, in old furniture, in simulating the "antique look" in old dolls, or in what have you. But in virtually every case the product is a collector. And the Ingham County Library has books to satisfy just about any collector, whether he is a beginner or advanced.

For the beginning collector or hobbyist, good general information can be found in such works as The Beginning Antique Collector's Handbook by Ann Cole, The Complete Book of Small Antique Collecting by McClinton, and The Collecting of Antiques by Singleton. Each of these are guides to the collecting of the many items (over 1,000 are listed in Miss Cole's work) of antique interest. Other books written along similar lines include: Carl Dreppard's Dictionary of American Antiques, Know Your Antiques by Ralph and Terry Kovel, and Fortune in the Junkpile by Dorothy Jenkins.

Included among the collectible items listed in these works are glassware, handpainted dishes, woodenware, ironware, pewter, quilts, rugs, paperweights, cards, mechanical banks, dolls, guns, furniture, and many more -- all of which provide the major topics of at least one book owned by the Ingham County Library. To list a few: Patchwork Quilts, One Hundred One Patchwork Patterns, Oriental Rugs and Carpets, Two Hundred Years of American Blown Glass, Old Mechanical Banks, Early American Ironware, The Romance of Greeting Cards, Old Glass Paperweights, ABC of Old Glass Pewter, The Curious History of Music Boxes, and Early American Woodenware and Other Kitchen Utensils.

Favorite collectables with many are glassware and pottery. Those interested in the former will find Ruth Webb Lee's books particularly helpful in identifying patterns. These are: Early American Pressed Glass, Antique Fakes and Reproductions, Victorian Glass, and Sandwich Glass. She has also written The Revised Price Guide to Pattern Glass, a valuable aid to both the buyer and the seller of authentic antique glassware.

In the case of pottery, china, ironware, and other handpainted items, the collector is usually particularly interested in identifying the markings on the underside. The books to help with this chore are the Dictionary of Marks, Pottery and Porcelain by the Kovel's, and Marks and Monograms on European and Oriental Pottery and Porcelain by Chaffers.

Furniture being bought these days by antique enthusiasts is not merely "collected." It is also considered for its usability. Much of it is in need of refinishing and repair. Available from the Ingham County Library for the do-it-yourselfer are: Knowing, Collecting and Restoring Early American Furniture by Taylor, With Love and Elbow Grease by Browning, and The Care and Repair of Antiques, (the latter work deals with antiques in general, not just furniture).

Other antique furniture lovers merely try to simulate the "antique effect." For them we have: American Antique Decoration, Early American Decorative Patterns and How to Paint Them, and Guide to Decoration in the Early American Manner.

Stamp collecting has long been enjoyed by both the young and the old. Familiar to most collectors is Scott's Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue. Published yearly, this work lists and illustrates all known issues of stamps, shows complete sets, illustrates watermarks, tells the number of perforations present, the value of the stamps, and where to buy them, etc.

For the coin collector we have the following titles which should prove helpful: Coins of the World, Treasury of the World's Coins, and the Catalogue of the World's Most Popular Coins. These guides picture all known coin issues -- old and new -- and indicate their current monetary values.

Other much treasured and often collected items are antique dolls, clocks, and guns. Those interested in doll collecting will be pleased with such books as Complete Book of Doll Collecting by Young, Gwen White's European and American Dolls and Their Marks and Patents, Dolls by Fraser, and History of Dolls' Houses by Jacobs. For clock collectors we have The Clock Book by Nutting and Pennsylvania Clocks and Clockmakers by Eckhardt. Gun collectors will welcome Charles Chapel's Complete Book of Gun Collecting and his Gun Collector's Handbook of Values. Firearms by Rickett may also prove enlightening.

If you shy away from traditional collectables, you might like to take a look at How to Collect the New Antiques by Callahan. This is a field of greatly rising interest of late.

Of special value to those interested in pricing antiques should be Ralph and Terry Kovel's latest book: Complete Antiques Price List. Featured in this work are "mini" descriptions of all types of antiques with price estimates of their worth. Thus, if you are interested in buying or selling an antique, you will have a general idea of what you should pay or be paid.

Antique enthusiasts may buy, sell, or trade through the newspaper "Antique Trader." This periodical arrives twice a month. Dealers all over the United States advertise in this paper with satisfaction guaranteed or your money back. For those who wish to travel and see the antiques before they buy at a certain place, we have the "Great Lakes Antiques Directory" to give the necessary names and addresses.

"Hobbies" magazine arrives monthly and has informative articles plus ads for buying, selling, and trading. Strictly for the advanced and collector extraordinaire is the monthly magazine "Antiques." Ingham County Library is also soon to have a stamp collector's magazine. So I repeat, antiques anyone?

If you are not a collector of antiques, perhaps you enjoy looking at things of yesteryear. If so, for you we have such books as Window on Williamsburg, Vanishing Crafts and Their Craftsmen, Treasure House of Early American Rooms, and Second Treasury of Early American Homes. Its fun to reminisce too!

NOTICE TO MASON AREA RESIDENTS

Beginning March 1, 1969 The Mason Police Department augmented by Volunteers will provide Emergency Ambulance Service to persons requiring this service in the City of Mason. Such persons will be transported to Mason General Hospital.

Due to the fact that it would cost the taxpayers of Mason approximately an additional $50,000 to extend this service beyond the City Limits. We regret that this service must be limited to the City of Mason only.

Residents outside the City should call the Sheriff's Office for emergency ambulance service. Any person wishing non-emergency service should call a private ambulance service still in operation.

In order to make the Mason Service self-liquidating and not increase taxes the following fees will be charged.
A. $30.00 for each Emergency Run
B. If a Doctor or Nurse in charge at Mason General directs the ambulance to another hospital the charge will be $1.00 per mile plus the $30.00 for the run.

Volunteers are still needed - Call Mason Police Department. Volunteers will receive advanced Red Cross Training. Each Volunteer will receive $10.00 for each run they make.

The City has entered this Service due to the fact that after many years of excellent Community Service -- the two local Funeral Directors have elected to withdraw from Emergency Ambulance Service due to new Federal and State Regulations and associated increased labor costs; "Ingham County News, February 5, 1969."

Garden Club Previews Spring

Spring was in the air at the Aurelius Garden club meeting, Friday evening, at the Aurelius Town hall, Burpees, Stark Bros., Emlongs, and Spring Hill Nurseries, all cooperated with president, Mrs. Lewis Bugbee, in sending her catalogs and information to make an interesting and informative meeting. After Valentine's day spring is not far behind, and members enjoyed hearing about the new varieties of plants, such as the "Butterfly" gladioli, the new mums, and vegetables. The aluminum greenhouses and other gardening aids, as well as the penny sales, give one the desire and perhaps renewed energy to start the new growing season with a bang, according to club members. Of course, the important thing in the garden is still the old-fashioned hoe.

The Inter-City Council meeting at Grand Ledge for the 15 Federated Garden clubs which belong, was announced for Tuesday, February 18. A workshop to make pins from all kinds of seeds from garden plants, trees or weeds, to be used as table favors at the District 2B meeting in October was held. The Council will host the meeting at Kellogg center.

A thank you from Guy Hudson for the get-well communications he received from Aurelius club during his illness was read by the secretary. The 1969 program books were discussed and it is hoped they will be ready for distribution at the next meeting.

The next Aurelius meeting will be at the town hall on March 14 at 8 p.m. This will be another horticultural meeting in season.

Mrs. A.B. Ziegler and Mrs. Bugbee served refreshments from a table decorated for Valentine's day. Permanent carnations for a garden club were questioned. The program took the curse off of that, the hostesses said.

Women's Society Presents Play

"Two In a Tussell" was the play presented by Mrs. Richard Lyon, Mrs. Keith Hayes and Mrs. Ray Ryan at the February meeting of the First United Methodist Church Women's society meeting.

Mrs. George Raymond accompanied by Mrs. Duane Marlan, sang a solo during the program.

The play brought out the idea that everyone hides behind a mask. It asked how we can be helpful to the ones who depend on us, yet be free to do things to develop the "real me" or take on new duties. A question period brought out the suggestion that we schedule our time and energy and that we let others take on responsibilities to help.

Mrs. Marva Smith was presented a corsage and she signed the new membership book. Mrs. Abe Cohn reminded members to sign the new book.

Refreshments of Valentine cookies and punch were served from a tea table decorated with pink carnations and tiny hearts hung on branches. Mrs. Elmer Schofield and Mrs. Herbert Maier of the Naomi circle served.

Check Given Center

The auxiliary to the Central Michigan Optometric society recently donated $50 to the Michigan Optometric center in Lansing. The check was presented to Dr. Walter Springborg, center board member, by Mrs. Ted VanderBoll of Mason, auxiliary treasurer.

The center provides professional eye care to referred patients who otherwise would be denied such care, either because of lack of financial means or availability of such care in their area.

Library Shelves Offer New Recipes

Let's go to the kitchen by way of the library, the Ingham County library, that is. Sometimes a new dish is one way to perk up lagging midwinter appetites.

The Ingham county library system has a variety of cookbooks on its shelves. In addition to the standards such as The Good Housekeeping Cookbook and the American Home All-Purpose Cookbook, there are many specialized cookbooks, available for borrowing from the library. Thousands of recipes, gourmet and everyday fare are waiting to be tried.

James Beard's Treasury of Outdoor Cooking, as its name implies, is a text aimed at the outdoor chef. All kinds of food - beef, lamb, veal, pork, poultry, game, fowl, fish, seafood - are dealt with as are all the favorite cooking methods - grilling, spit and skewer cooking, pit roasting, and cooking with smoke. Suggested gourmet sauces, complementing drinks, and exotic salads round out the text. Special chapters are devoted to planning and preparing the foods for picnics and for patio parties. And not the least of this book's attractions are the beautiful illustrations dispersed throughout the text.

Calorie-conscious gourmets might wish to take a look at The Slenderella Cookbook by Myra Waldo. Included in this fine cookbook are 90 days of menus for reducing: 1200 calorie menus for 30 days, 1500 calorie menus for 30 days, and 1800 calorie menus for 30 days. These menus require the use of recipes given in the text - recipes, by the way, which do not require separate cooking for the dieting member or members of the family. The hundreds of recipes included range from appetizers to desserts and include all the dishes most people want.

Special care has been taken to see that the caloric content is low. Also helpful in this text are chapters on the psychology of weight control, food for children, eating out, out-door cookery, healthful freezer management and all the simple facts you need on calories and weight.

What is the subject of just one chapter in The Slenderella Cookbook provides the main substance of Jean Simpson's Frozen Food Cookbook and Guide to Home Freezing. The latter work informs its reader in two important areas. 1) It represents easily understood directions for the selection, preparation, and freezing of all foods commonly frozen in the home. 2) It presents the latest authentic information on the defrosting and cooking of all kinds of frozen foods. In addition, it provides the answer to such often-asked questions as: how does the cost of frozen foods compare with the cost of fresh ones? Can thawed foods be refrozen? Should you be a member of a frozen food plan or similar organization? etc.

Catherine Plagemann's Fine Preserving takes as its subject, not frozen food preserving, but canned food preserving. Hence here you will find "elegant and unusual" recipes for jams and jellies, pickles and relishes, preserves and chutneys, and branded fruits.

If you enjoy one food more than others, perhaps there are more ways of preparing it than you have discovered. A number of Ingham county Libraries deal with one particular food - chocolate, poultry, lamb, wine, omelettes, cookies, candy, etc. An example of this treatment would be The Cheese Book by Vivienne Marquis and Patricia Haskell. Designed as a definitive guide to the cheese of the world - from fresh country cheese to Cheddars and blues, Parmesan, Camembert and Brie, pungent goat cheese and the richest cremes - this text attempts to describe and tell how they taste, how they are made, how to select and use them, and their history and lore. In addition, it gives a collection of great cheese recipes.

For those who like to try their hand at something different than good American cooking, something like Everyday French Cooking for the American Home by Henri-Paul Pellaprat may be in order. 1200 easy to prepare French recipes supplemented by 80 full-color photographs combine to make a beautiful and most useful work. In addition to French cookbooks, the Ingham County Library owns cookbooks which specialize in Mexican, German, Portuguese, Swiss, Italian, and Swedish cooking.

One final work we might look at is the Ford Times Cookbook which is designed to be "a traveler's guide to good eating at home and on the road." In it are included hundreds of delicious and varied recipes from restaurants judged as good eating places across the country. Each restaurant (one page) is depicted by a painting and described as to location, hours, accommodations and special features. Following these details are recipes for one or two of the dishes for which that eating place is celebrated. The result is a cookbook which serves not only as a collection of recipes for the adventurous home chef, but also as a guide to good eating for the explorer on American highways.

Boughner-White Engagement Told

Sue Boughner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Boughner of Mason have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sue of Farmington to James Burton White of Rochester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt N. White of Huntington, New York.

Miss Boughner is a graduate of Mason high school and Western Michigan university, where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi. She is a Latin teacher in the Southfield public schools.

Her fiance is a 1967 graduate of the University of Michigan and is a sales engineer for General Motors Truck and Coach in Pontiac.

They are planning a June 28 wedding.

Chinese New Year Rates Tasty Dish

It may be 1969 to the rest of the world, but to the Chinese it's 4667-the Year of the Rooster, according to Mrs. Sheila Morley, district extension consumer marketing information agent.

Actually, it wouldn't be too difficult to assign the chicken symbolism to 1969. In the weeks since January 1 chicken has held a prominent position on the value parade at area grocery stores...and every indication is that this pleasant state of affairs will continue on into the spring. There are several reasons for this, Mrs. Morley says.

First, and very important, is the supply situation. The USDA reports that February marketings of broiler-fryers are expected to top last year's totals by about 4 percent with no immediate evidence of planned cutbacks by producers. Second, generous supplies of such competing meats as beef and pork hold chicken prices at low levels in order to tempt the homemaker to choose chicken.

Although chickens and eggs would seem to be inextricably bound together, this is not necessarily the case in terms of food marketing. The chickens that are bred for meat production are not the same kinds that are most highly regarded as egg producers. Thus, while meat type chickens abound, creating a low price situation for consumers, there is no such abundance of laying hens and consequently no great supply of eggs during the first quarter of 1969 (or 4667-take your choice).

It is expected that when egg prices are averaged out at the end of the year, they'll about equal the levels of 1968 but in a reversed marketing pattern. This year, egg prices are expected to average about 5 cents more per dozen for the first six months than they did a year ago. In the second half of the year they are expected to drop well below 1968 levels. Since we can hardly operate in the kitchen without eggs, as consumers we'll have to be philosophical about egg price ups and downs and conclude that if we figure on yearly average price we're getting a good deal in eggs, Mrs. Morley suggests.

Since this is the Year of the Rooster...and since the Chinese show such great skill in devising chicken dishes distinct in flavor, texture and appearance, Mrs. Morley recommends Oriental Stir Chicken as a very special way to observe a special occasion. Broiler-fryer chicken breasts are boned, then cut into strips that will cook quickly and remain tender and juicy. "Stir in the title means that the chicken and accompanying vegetables must be cooked quickly over high heat. Take this rule seriously and the onion will retain its crispness, the peas will be really green and the dish will have the freshness of appearance and aroma that makes Chinese food so delightful.

ORIENTAL STIR CHICKEN
2 broiler-fryer chicken breasts, boned and skinned; 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate; 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 2 tablespoons water; 2 tablespoons soy sauce; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 or 3 slices fresh ginger, or ½ teaspoon powdered ginger.

¼ cup salad oil; 1 small onion, sliced; ¼ pound mushrooms, sliced or 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms; ½ cup blanched almonds or walnuts; 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts; 1 can (5 ounces) sliced bamboo shoots; ½ cup fresh or frozen peas.

Cut chicken breasts into thin strips. Sprinkle chicken with monosodium glutamate. Combine cornstarch, water, soy sauce, salt and ginger; mix with chicken. Heat oil in skillet. Add chicken mixture, onion, mushrooms and almonds. Cook over high heat, stirring occasionally, 3 minutes or until chicken is white. Add water chestnuts and bamboo shoots with liquid and peas. Cover, cook 2 minutes over low heat or until mixture is heated through. Makes 4 servings.

Grand Rapids Man New Head of State Education Board

LANSING--The State Board of Education last week chose Dr. Peter Oppewall of Grand Rapids as its president for a two-year term and gave the go-ahead for expansion of community colleges at Flint and Jackson.

Oppewall, an English professor at Calvin college, had been secretary of the Board for the past 2 years. Elected to the other Board posts were Thomas Brennan, vice-president; Michael Deeb, secretary; and James O'Neil, treasurer.

Oppewall, a native of Massachusetts and a former Fulbright scholar, received his doctorate in English from the University of Michigan.

The Board also gave its approval for an April vote in Genesee county for enlargement of the present Flint Community Junior college district. If voters approve, the district will be expanded to cover all of the present Genesee Intermediate District which includes 20 additional school districts.

Voters in April will be asked to approve a 1.4 mill levy for the college, select a board of trustees and establish the new district. The present college, established in 1923, is operated by the Flint Board of Education.

The Board also approved the holding of an election in Hillsdale county on the question of annexing that county to the present Jackson Community college district.

Both the Genesee and Hillsdale-Jackson proposals were recommended by the State Board for Public Junior and Community colleges and both are in line with the state community college districting plan.

Seminars Planned On Drugs

By TONY GENCO
News Staff Writer
OKEMOS--Drugs, uses and abuses will be the subject of a series of seminars in February for middle and high school students, parents, and teachers.

Two separate seminars will be held, each meeting once a week for four weeks. One seminar will be for adults and the other for students.

The students are meeting alone because they expressed a preference to do so, according to Dr. Marcia Boznango, curriculum coordinator.

Interested community citizens will be used in the program.

The first meeting will discuss the characteristics and their effects on users.

The second meeting will question the social impact and the legal policies both present and future.

The effect of drugs on society will be the subject of the last meeting.

The seminar program will revolve around small roundtable discussions with a group leader to answer questions.

The Okemos schools health and sex education committee will direct the program. Additional information is available from the curriculum office, phone 337-1775, extension 43.

40 Persons at Senior Citizens' Get Together

OKEMOS - Forty persons attended the February senior citizens get-together last Friday in the Okemos Community church lounge.

The Okemos Kiwanis club is sponsoring the project as a community service program with Orson Winslow as chairman of arrangements. A bohemian dinner at noon was followed by games planned by Miss Evelyn Peterson. As it was Valentine day that theme was carried out for table decorations and in the afternoon's program.

Ron Bacon, faculty member of the Okemos school, invited older residents to acquaint themselves with the various facilities at the school open to their use, such as meeting rooms, athletic and cultural activities. Any older citizen may have a courtesy pass to all events.

The March 14th meeting of this group has been designated as "Show and Tell." Any item of craft, hobby, collection, memento of the past or travel interest will be displayed and told about by the owner. This informal program will be preceded by the usual carry-in dinner at 12 o'clock noon in the church lounge.

Work Moves Along On New Mall

OKEMOS--Cold winter weather has not deterred the construction of the building program of the Meridian Mall along Okemos, Haslett and Grand River avenue, nor the Meijer complex between Okemos-Haslett and North Okemos roads. What last fall had been rolling fields of pasture land is now leveled off, and steel girders of the new building create a new landscape and the village is fast losing the appearance of its small town look. The history of Okemos antedates that of Lansing and it has always had a charm of its own as its homes and early businesses were built along the winding Red Cedar river.

Leslie Girl Musician Wins Honor

LESLIE - Nancy McMurtrie scored 1st place rating at the District No. 8 solo and ensemble program at Hartland last Saturday.

Second place ratings were awarded to Steve Brattain for his cornet solo and a 2nd to the French horn quintet which included Bill Gingas, Joan Wright, Robin Marshall, Denise Corser, and Sally Hayhoe.

Weirauch left the United States November 11, as one of a group of laymen of the Men for Missions Crusade under the auspices of the Oriental Missionary society. He spent 3 weeks in these countries, made a short stop in the Panama Canal zone, and arrived home Thanksgiving day.

He visited a number of mission-administrated schools and attended graduation ceremonies at an academy in Columbia. He observed urban and rural conditions, the poverty and prejudice against which the missionaries work, and the visible reasons for them are shown in his picture and narration.

Mason Has Easy Time Taking Howell 89-53

Mason's rampaging Bulldogs had another night of fun and games Friday. The Bulldogs raced over, around and through Howell for a no-sweat 89-53 victory.

With only 2 games left on the regular schedule the fun and games nights are over. Friday night Mason tangles with Okemos at Okemos. The Chiefs have been up and down all year. When Coach Stan Stolz has his team up it is a powerful one as the Chief's record of upsets this year would indicate.

Mason can not afford the luxury of a loss. The Bulldogs are in third place behind Holt and O'Rafferty. The Bulldogs can do a little something about O'Rafferty on the following Friday night when these 2 teams meet but Gabriels or Howell will have to do something about Holt to further the Mason cause.

Okemos has a good rebounding club and on occasion has had some hot shooters. What has been lacking all season is consistency. Terry Applegate and Marc Neifert are the 2 big guns in the Okemos attack.

Howell just didn't have the horses to keep up with Mason Friday night. Mason moved in front 26-16 in the first quarter and held a commanding 45-27 lead at halftime. The third quarter was the big one for Mason, though. The Bulldogs came up with 28 points to close out the period with a one-sided 73-38 lead.

Coach Art Frank used his starters sparingly. Craig Webster topped the scorers with 20 points. Marv Oesterle was next with 14. Dave Snider, seeing quite a lot of action for the first time, came through with 12 points.

In the field goal department Mason hit for a 52 percent average with 32 shots going in. It was even better in the free throw department where the Bulldogs dropped 25 in at an 82 percent conversion clip.

Howell bagged only 19 field goals and made good on 15 of 30 free throw attempts.

Grapplers Win

Mason defeated Howell 33-19 Thursday night in a dual wrestling meet at Mason.

Larry Smith took the 103-pound class with a pin in 3:24; Bill Krawczyk took the 112-pound class with a pin in 4:36; Craig Kinney pinned his man in the 120-pound class in 1:52.

Jim Engle had a pin in the 138-pound class in 2:42; Terry Spink won the 145-pound division on a forfeit; Dan Diller took a decision in the 154-pound class; and Chris Cochrane pinned his heavyweight opponent in 3:37.

Saturday Basket ball

There are only 2 more weeks of the Mason Recreation Basketball program on Saturday mornings. The grade school boys (4th-6th) play from 9 to 10 a.m., junior high boys, 10 to 11 a.m., and high school boys and men from 11 to 12:30 p.m. March 1st will be the final Saturday.

John King and Marv Miller led the Highlanders in scoring with 11 points each.

CC Wrestling Titles Awarded Saturday

Capital Circuit grapplers put on an all-day show at Mason Saturday for individual honors. There was no official team competition but Gabriels and Haslett shared most of the glory.

Gabriels, No. 1 team in state Class B rankings, took home 4 individual championships. Haslett equalled that mark with 4. Howell came through with 2 while Eaton Rapids and Holt each had one champion.

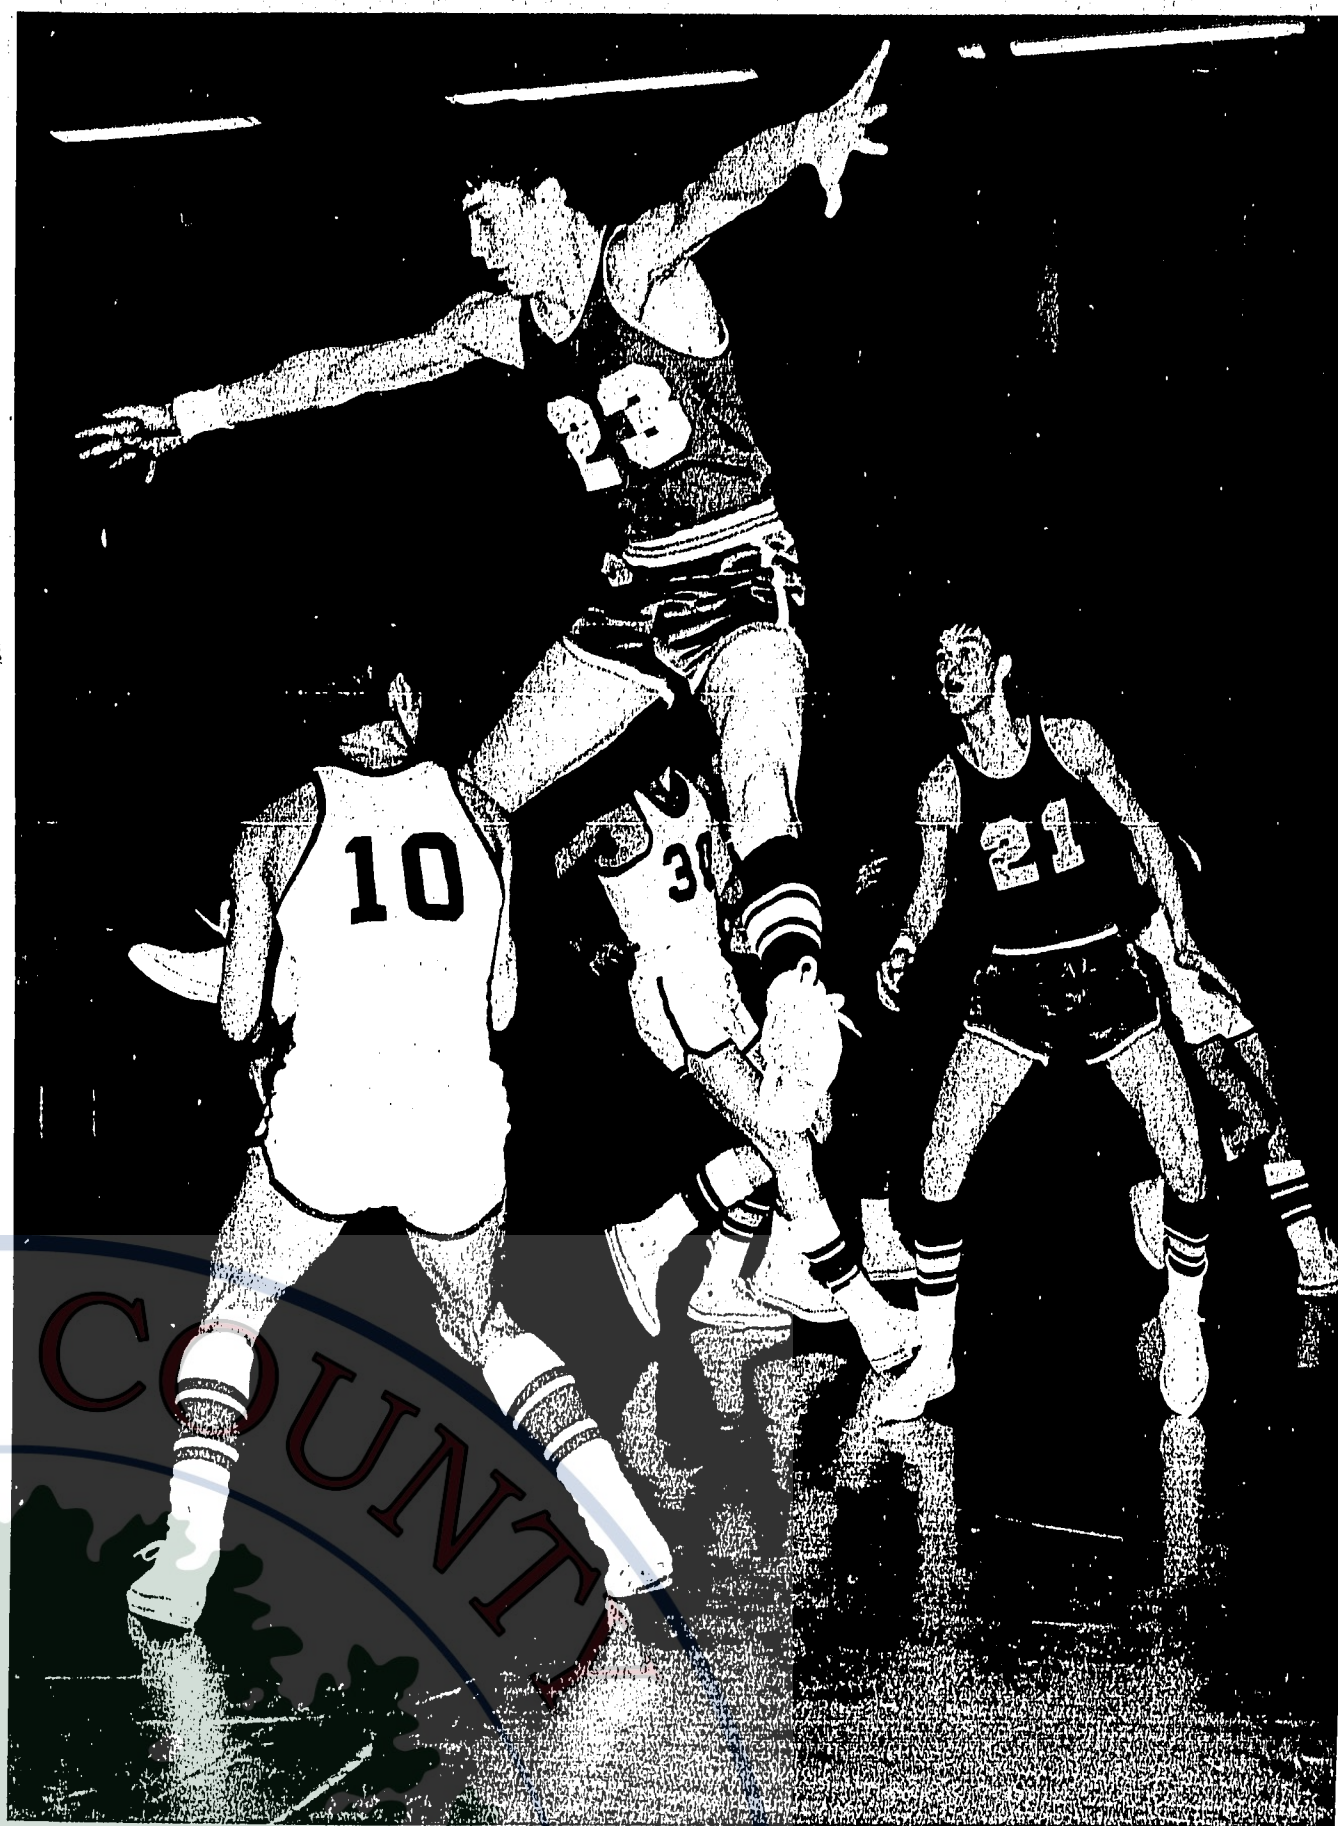

Mason, Okemos and O'Rafferty were shut out.

Classes and the champions were:

- 95-lb, Jim Bissell, Haslett
- 103-lb, Chris Early, Haslett
- 112-lb, Steve Cantin, Howell
- 120-lb, Tom Rudolph, Gabriels
- 127-lb, Steve Auvenshine, Gabriels
- 133-lb, Tom Carroll, Haslett
- 138-lb, Steve Peters, Eaton Rapids
- 145-lb, Bill Vogel, Gabriels
- 154-lb, John Hogarth, Holt
- 165-lb, Bob Hopkins, Howell
- 175-lb, Greg Thom, Gabriels
- Heavyweight, Mike Spawr, Haslett.

Mason wrestlers Chris Cochrane and Bill Krawczyk finished third and another pair, Craig Kinney and Scott Johnson, came in fourth.

Saturday Mason wrestlers, along with others from the Capital Circuit will be at Parma for the district team meet.

THOU SHALT NOT PASS-Howell's Marv Miller takes to the air after being faked off his feet by Craig Webster, Mason's hot shooting guard. While Miller was gliding to a landing, Webster fired the ball in to Marv Oesterle for an easy 2-pointer.

Raiders Survive To Stay in Race

For one quarter Eaton Rapids had O'Rafferty on the ropes Friday night. The Raiders re-grouped, though, and came on to post an 81-61 victory. The win enabled O'Rafferty to stay even with Holt for top honors in the Capital Circuit. O'Rafferty now has a 10-2 league record while Eaton Rapids is firmly entrenched in seventh place with a 2-10 count.

Friday night O'Rafferty will go to Haslett, another one of the poor record but good basketball teams in the league. The Vikings are in sixth place.

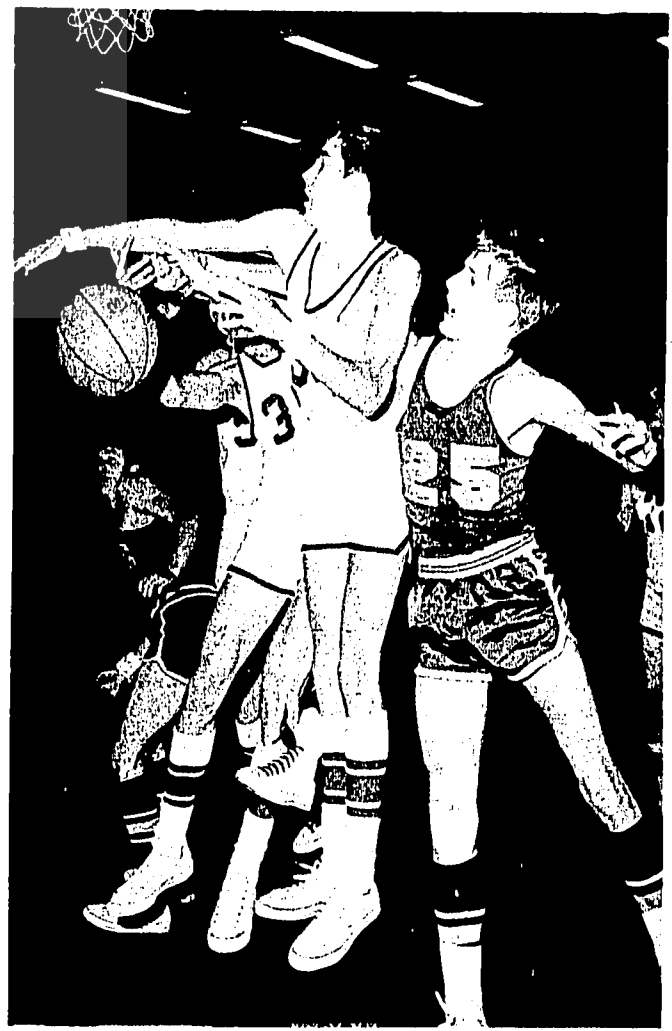

Eaton Rapids has another tough night scheduled. The Greyhounds will tangle with Gabriels.

The first quarter was all Eaton Rapids. The Greyhounds steadily moved in front through the first period, taking a 19-12 lead into the second period. The Raiders pulled themselves together and finally evened the count on George Bridson's jumper with 2 minutes left in the first half. From there on out the tide of battle shifted with O'Rafferty moving in front in the second half to win going away. In the final quarter the Raiders really broke

The game open with a 27-point spree while the Greyhounds were picking up only 12.

Bill Newhouse was the big shooter for O'Rafferty with 23 points. Bridson chipped in with 19, Tom Decker added 15 and Hoster contributed 12.

For Eaton Rapids John VanArk had himself a night with 26 points. Bob Thompson came through with 18.

THERE'S A FOUL HERE SOMEWHERE--Sorting out arms and legs in this bit of action Friday night was difficult as Rick Smith and 2 teammates out-position Howell rebounders. Mason had the boards all night.

Jr. High Takes 3

Mason's junior high cage teams had a busy week. The seventh graders split in 2 games while the eighth graders took both of their contests.

Thursday night the seventh graders lost to Okemos 34-27 but Mason bounced back Monday night to stop Webberville 47-16. In the Okemos game Wright was top scorer with 11. Against Webberville Cole came through with 11.

The eighth grade topped Okemos 47-42 with Brad Kalember tossing in 21 and Chris VanSingel adding 11.

Mason won the game with Webberville 52-45 with Kalember hitting for 27 points and VanSingel coming through with 14.

The junior high cagers will play Thursday at Charlotte and will wind up the season a week from Thursday at Holt.

Gabriels Rallies For Win

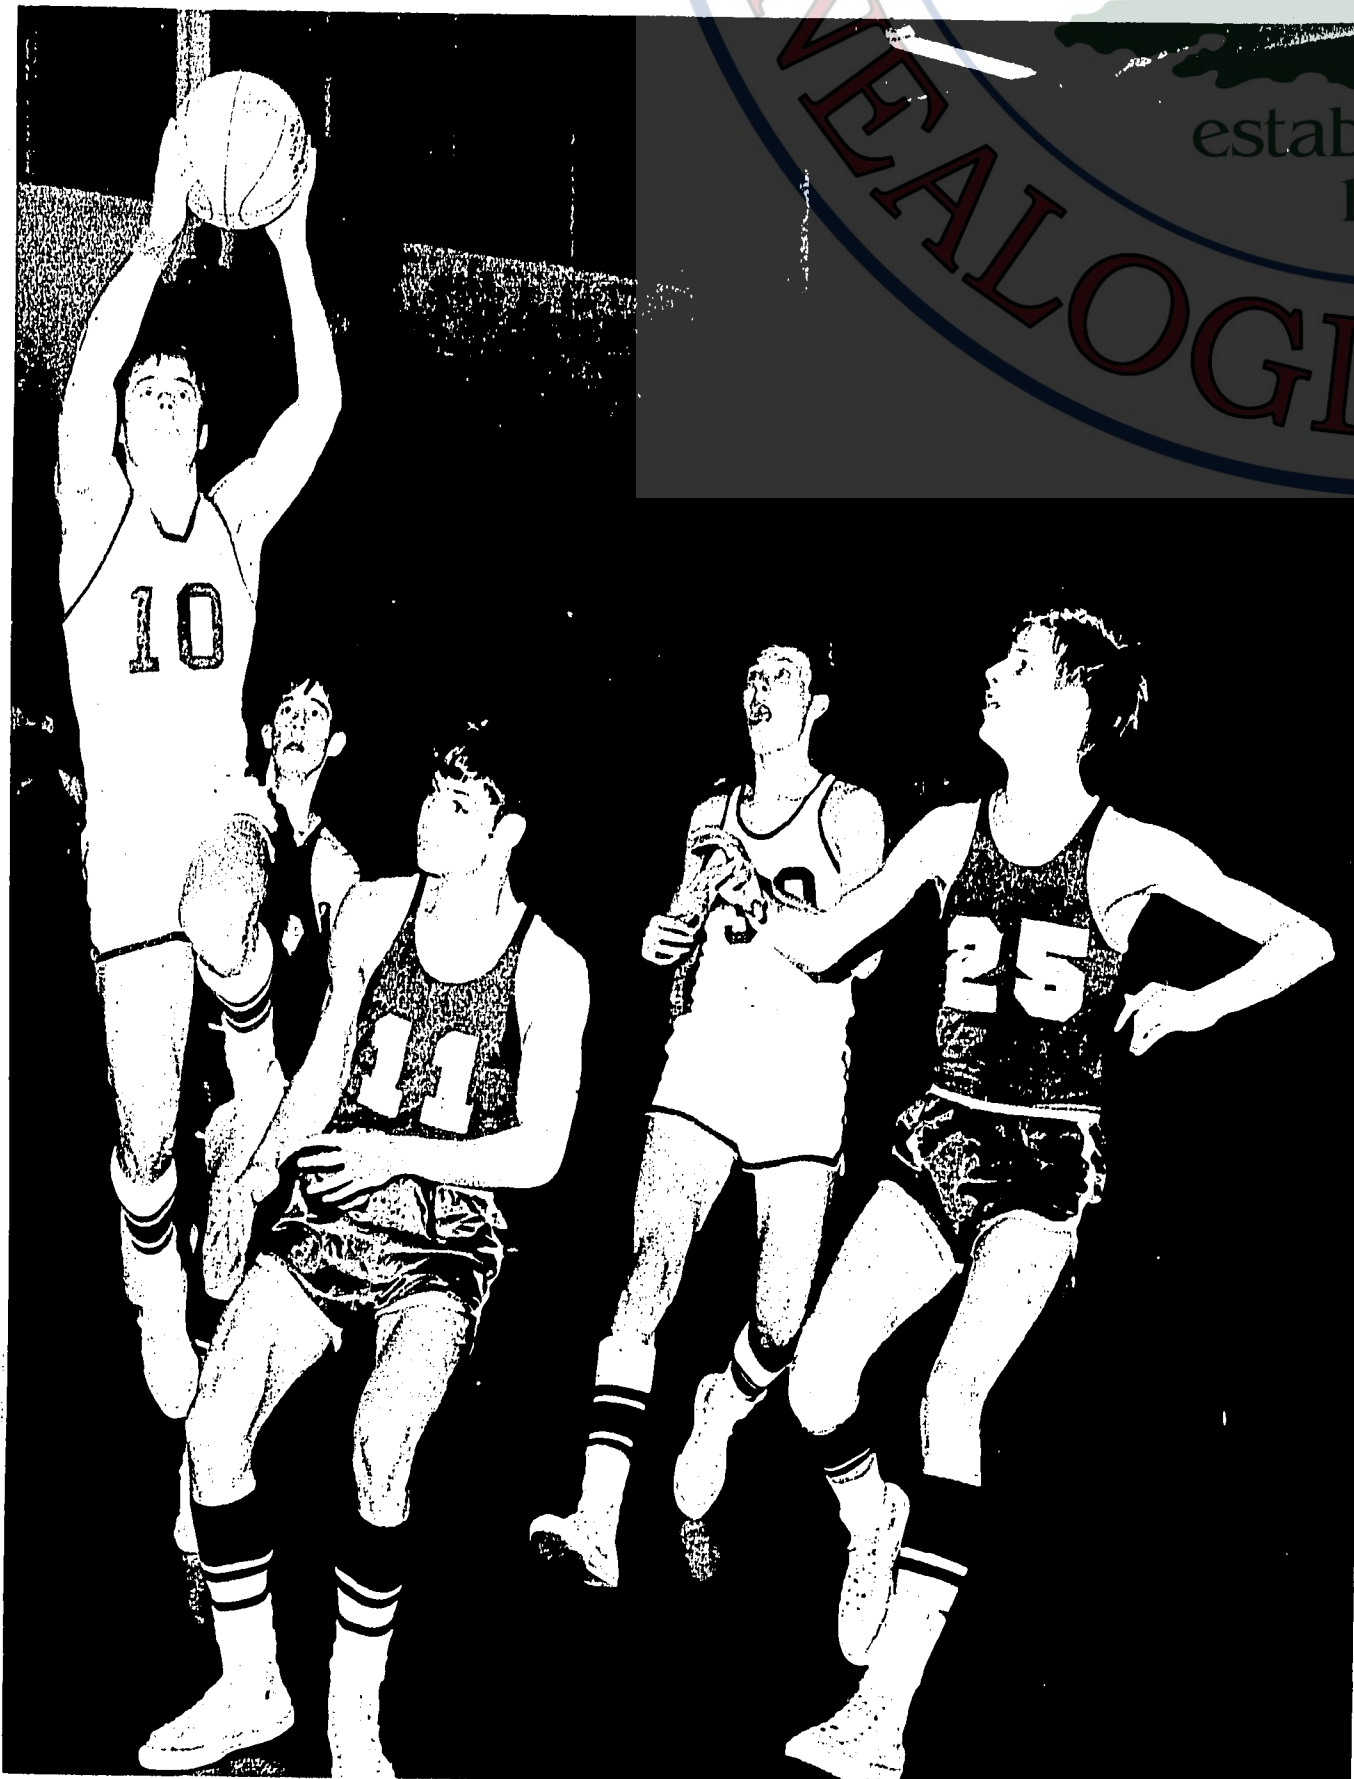

Lou Baldino had himself another one of those big nights Friday. The end result was a 77-57 victory over Haslett. The little Rock guard tossed in 29 points in pacing the Rocks to their ninth win in 16 starts. Seven of the wins and 5 of the losses have been in Capital Circuit competition, putting Gabriels in fourth place behind Holt, O'Rafferty and Mason.

Friday night Gabriels will move over to Eaton Rapids. The Raiders can't take this one lightly. Eaton Rapids threw a scare into O'Rafferty and the Raiders are close enough to the end of the victory trail to be inspired.

It was a night for guards in the Gabriels-Haslett game. Steve Cook, the other half of the Gabriels guard combination, had his best night in the scoring department with 16 points. Tim Curtin added another 16.

For Haslett Jeff Robinson was high with 15. Dale Campbell came through with 11 and Mike Rogers came through with 10.

Haslett held a 15-13 lead at the end of the first period and was in front 31-26 at halftime but the Rocks came through with 2 good quarters to win going away.

FAMILIAR SIGHT for Mason opponents for 2 years has been Craig Webster driving in for a layup. Denny Dancer is the Mason player trailing in for a possible rebound which wasn't needed.

Glads Get Big Win

Fowlerville broke a long losing streak Friday night in downing Williamston 60-54. Not since 1963 have the Gladiators been able to get past the Hornets - a streak covering 11 encounters.

The Glads used good first and fourth quarters to do the job. In the first quarter Fowlerville moved in front 18-9 but the Hornets rallied to take over a 26-24 lead at halftime.

The Glads were not to be denied, though. They opened up with a string of baskets the last quarter after battling to a stalemate in the third and won with ease.

Mel Lewis topped the Fowlerville scorers with 17 points. Jack Mellen and Tom Schubel shared the Williamston scoring honors with 14 points each.

Defeat Howell

Mason's Jayvee basketball squad came up with a win over Howell Friday night. The Bulldogs edged the Highlanders 54-52 to add to an earlier victory over the Howell Jayvees.

All Mason players shared the playing time with 12 of them figuring in the scoring. After a shaky start in which Howell moved out in front 16-9 in the first quarter, the Bulldogs came on strong. By halftime Mason had cut the Howell lead to 27-24 and by the end of the third quarter the lead went to Mason 35-31.

Dan O'Brien paced the Mason attack with 10 points. Dave Rockey was next with 9 and Dan DeMartin put in 8.

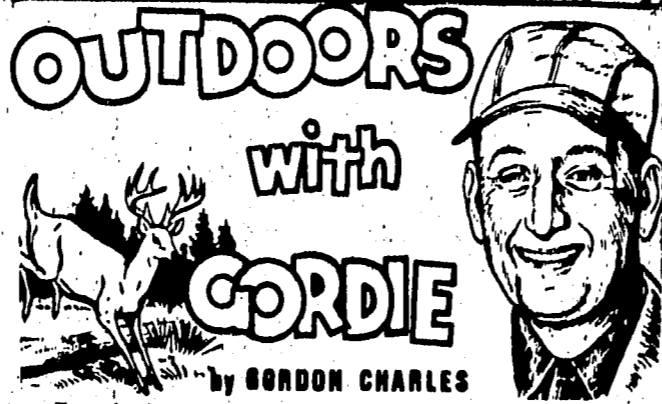

Pinckney Picks on Dansville

Pinckney may be getting out of the Ingham County league too soon. For the past several years Pinckney has had a hard time getting into the win column. Last Tuesday Leslie was upset by the former league doormats. Friday Dansville felt the sting, bowing to Pinckney 62-42.

Pinckney is leaving the league after this season. Pinckney did the trick against Dansville with good first and third quarters. At the end of the first period Dansville was on the short end of a 14-9 count. Dansville came on in the second period to cut the margin to 26-25 but in the third quarter Pinckney opened up with a 22-point spree while holding Dansville to 10 and then outscored Dansville 14-7 in the last period to win with ease.

Warren Yoder was the big shooter for Pinckney with 18 points. Bill Reck contributed 14 and Nelson Haas added 10.

For Dansville Steve Botsford was high with 13 and Rex Wilcox came up with 12.

Everybody, without exception, has a wistful desire to turn back the clock to those "good old days" as they remember them. Even our children, growing today toward adulthood, will want to do this in future years.

Right there is where we are sure to have a lot of trouble.

We "old timers" on the outdoor scene have been trying for years to keep some of our natural waterways in a clean, pure state. Or, failing this, to roll back time to a point where dirty waters are all cleaned up.

Congress only recently got the idea and came up with its now famous "Wild Rivers Bill" which will keep the finest streams in the United States unspoiled. They even picked out a couple in Michigan and others are sure to be added to the list as time goes on.

This may be all well and good for most of us but what about our kids who have grown up thinking most streams were meant to be flowing sewage lagoons? After all, nostalgia is worth something! Think of the shock to the person who grows up remembering those, sinus-tingling odors from Mill Creek, near the sewage outlet. Then, one day he journeys back there and finds nothing but disgustingly clean, pure water.

It is, however, only a matter of time before some far-thinking lawmaker takes this into consideration and introduces a "Polluted Rivers Bill." This, of course, will be designed to keep some of our waters in a perpetual state of pollution. Or, lacking that, perhaps some cleaner waters can be properly polluted so they won't all have to be alike.

Chances are a few of the more civic-minded industries or more progressive cities will be willing to pour enough wastes into nearby waters to give them the proper polluted texture. Even the more reluctant ones should agree to this when they learn they are doing it to benefit future generations, rather than for the measly profit involved.

Help also appears to be coming from an entirely unexpected source. Our own Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has undoubtedly been bothered by the prospect of pure, sweet water in all of the state streams, too.

They are already solving this by introducing salmon into the very cleanest streams we have in an effort to bring them down to the same level of other, polluted waters. This is working most admirably, since the salmon die by the ton and create an aroma designed to make industrial pollution, by comparison, smell like the finest Paris perfume.

Holt Scalps Okemos Chieftains

By MAX GUENTHER News Sports Writer
The Holt Rams went on a 49 point scoring spree in the last half of the game against Okemos Friday night to down Stan Stolz' Chieftains 84-55.
Holt built up a 9-point lead in the first quarter but Okemos closed the gap by halftime to 4 points, 35-31. The Rams hit a cool streak in the second quarter and scored only 16 points while the Chieftains gathered 21.

Following the intermission the Rams went on a scoring rampage that gave them a 50 percent shooting average for the evening (37 of 74), dumping in 49 points in the last half. Scott Somers led the scoring for the Rams with 25 points, hitting 11 from the floor and 3-3 from the foul line. Jerry Lester with 16 and Joe Bauer with 13 were the other Rams in double figures. Holt out-rebounded Okemos 44-24 as Chuck Henderson picked 13 off the boards and Lester and Tom Harmon each gathered in 8 rebounds apiece.

Coach Dan Hovanessian was "very pleased with the game." The Ram guards contributed heavily in scoring and Joe Bauer was credited with recovering the ball 8 times from Okemos' mistakes, when the Rams applied a very effective press.

Two Okemos players hit double figures - Don Read with 16 and Terry Applegate had 10. The Chieftains hit only 38 percent from the floor, and managed to nose out Holt at the foul line by one percent 60-59.

The evening opener between the JV ball clubs was a slam-bang affair that saw Okemos leading at half-time by 6 points.

In the third period Holt's Tim VanHouten took charge of the scoring to give the Rams a lead that they never gave up. VanHouten scored 17 points in the third period and finished the game with 33 points and 30 rebounds.

Okemos managed to close the gap to 5 points by the end of the game but found themselves on the losing end of a 67-62 final score.

Panthers Drop 2

The Stockbridge High School Panthers lost two key games last week in the Ingham County League to drop their league record down to 6-5 and their overall record to 8 wins and 8 losses. The Panthers lost to the Williamston Hornets by a 63-55 score as they committed 28 team turnovers that spelled their doom.

The Panthers trailed at the end of the first quarter and could never quite get that lead back as they trailed 29-26 at halftime. The Stockbridge team managed to keep things close at the end of the third quarter as they trailed 44-41, but were outscored in the final quarter as Williamston poured in 19 compared to the Panthers 14.

Bruce Barbour was the leading Panther point-getter with 17 points on 6 of 7 field goals and 5 of 6 free throws. Center Dan Wilson and forward Gerald Whitaker also hit in double figures for the panthers with 15 and 10 points respectively.

Against Perry the Panthers didn't fare much better as they lost a close contest 89-85, with too many turnovers and a low free throw shooting percentage two of the main causes. The Panthers led at the end of the first quarter 16-13, but by halftime Perry had nudged ahead of Stockbridge 41-36.

Freshman Jesse Campbell had his finest game of the year as he scored 20 points on 8 of 10 goals and 4 of 7 free throws. Chuck Chrisnske with 18 points, Dan Wilson with 15 points, Ed Zick with 12 points, and Bruce Barbour with 10 points couldn't offset the scoring punch of Perry's high scoring duo of Colby and Stuart.

The Panthers hit on 33 of 69 field goals for 48% and on 19 of 37 free throws for 52%. The team pulled down 45 rebounds with Chrisnske pulling down 11 of those, Gerald Whitaker had 10 and Dan Wilson had 9 rebounds.

Mr. Bopf presented the easement for the Temple Street Sewer which has been tentatively accepted by the Ferris Stricklands.

Councilman Evans present:
Mr. Bopf recommended he be authorized to present this easement to the Stricklands and to pay them $1,000.00 therefor. Also to be authorized to purchase 3 Spruce Trees which are in direct line with the easement. Councilman Jacobs so moved. Seconded by Councilman Sheldon. Carried: Yes, 7, No, 0.

Ambulance Service Item. Mr. Bopf said he had conversed with each of the Mason Services and they definitely said they were not going to continue service after March 1, 1969.

Traver Family Operates Dairy and Feeder Farm

By CLARA STRANGE
News Special Writer
WILLIAMSTON - It is difficult to pinpoint the G. Richard Traver family, since their address is Williamston and their children are from the Dansville School District.

In addition to the Travers having a Centennial farm they also have a Farm Bureau Queen daughter, Diane, who won not only in the county but also in the state. She was photographed on the cover of the State Farm Bureau publication with the State President and the Reverend Norman Vincent Peale.

Diane is a sophomore at Michigan State university majoring in home economics education. Her brother Marc, 17, will graduate this year from Dansville high school, with Kirk, 12, and Keith, 11, also attending the Dansville school.

The Traver farm has been a Centennial farm since 1965. Mr. Traver's grandfather, George Richard Traver had 40 acres originally. The farm now consists of 185 acres but since Mr. Traver also farms the Marc Traver farm he has 252 acres with an additional 80 which he hires for pasturing the cows in the summer.

The Travers have been interested in the Vantown 4-H for years. They are almost unique in that they still have Jersey cows for milking. Most of these are registered. There are a few grade cows. They are milking about 35 at the present time. They also have about 50 head of Black Angus. They are raising all heifers and selling the bulls for the most part as steers.

In addition to this they have about 15 heifers and calves they are raising in the Jerseys.

The family hauls milk and has, except for about 2 years, since 1905. They own their own hauler which carries about 25,000 pounds of milk per day to Detroit. The milk trailer is kept at the Marc Traver farm in a new barn.

A stanchion method in milking is used. They, of course, have milking equipment but keep their milking herd down to accommodate the 15 stanchions. They have a bulk tank but no pipe line to the milk house.

Theirs is strictly a dairy and feeder farm. They have no chickens, pigs, or other livestock. They do own one horse that belongs to Diane "and it is a beloved nuisance. It is about 5 years old."

Their square house has 11 rooms. This was built by Marc Traver who was the last member of the G. A. R. (Civil War Veterans) in the county. He died several years ago at 95.

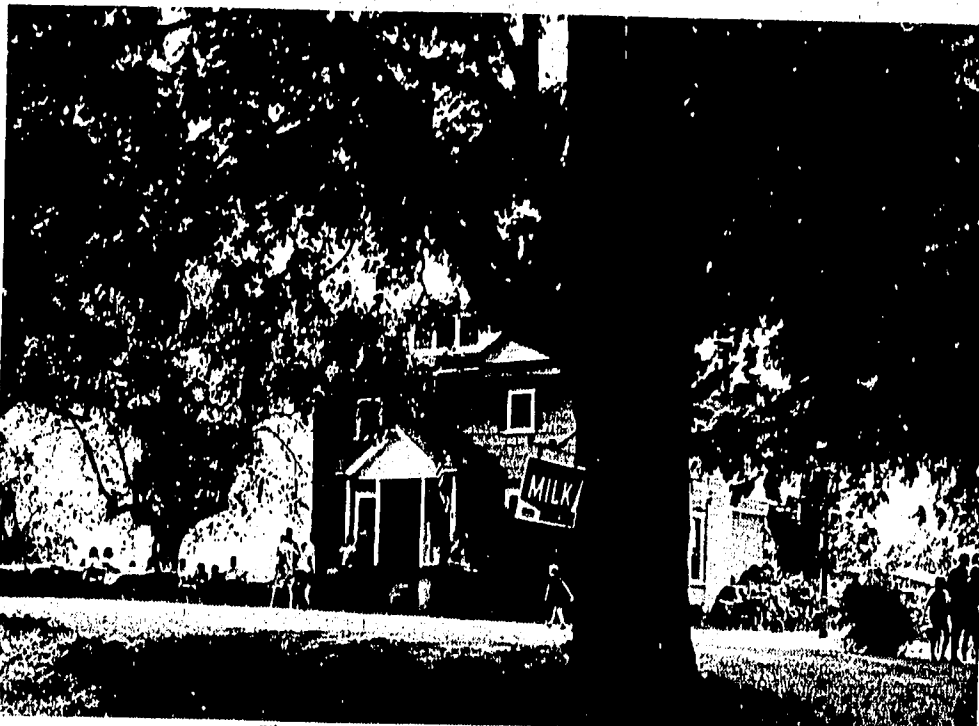

He was a stone mason. The outer walls of the house are 18 inches thick. The kitchen has been done over so that it is most attractive and functional.

The Travers travel a great deal and were in Florida for Christmas seeing the moon orbiting astronauts.

Today farming is a family affair with the Travers. Perhaps the greatest boon to raising the production and type of animal is artificial insemination service utilized on the Williamston farm.

The Travers grow mostly corn, hay, oats, in addition to some cash crops. They have a new 10 by 45 foot silo that is filled with shelled corn.

The Travers still work with the Vantown 4-H club. Their children have shown Jersey cattle as projects for many years.

Pork Producers Group Established in State

To strive for quality meat and to work with processors, retailers and other agencies and organizations to improve the image of pork, 200 Michigan swine growers have organized the Michigan Pork Producers association.

The association is made up of purebred breeders, commercial swine producers and others associated with the Michigan swine industry. Michigan farmers annually produce about one million swine for slaughter.

Chip Ray, Gobles, (Van Buren county) was named president of the association. Other officials were: Robert Norris, Route 1, Berrien Center, vice-president; James Ballard, Route 1, Onondaga, secretary; and Robert Bussing, Route 3, Coldwater, treasurer.

Ten directors were also named at the organization's meeting held in early February. Edward Miller, Michigan State university extension swine specialist, believes the organization will help make it possible for hog producers to organize one voice for the swine industry of Michigan.

He believes the emphasis of the group will be on stressing quality production which he says will provide an incentive for higher prices for top quality hogs compared with the less-desirable, less-meaty type animals.

The group will meet again at MSU during Farmers' Week, March 20.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION Farm Bureau Takes Trip Through Time

BY MELVIN WOELL

The Michigan Farm Bureau will celebrate its golden anniversary this fall, and the occasion has sparked renewed interest in the changes which have occurred in farming in the past 50 to 100 years.

Old-fashioned churns, hair-curling irons, kerosene lamps and lanterns serve as reminders of how it was in "the good old days." But few people would care to live now, as it was then - when nearly every housewife baked her own bread, churned butter and scrubbed clothes on a washboard perched in a tub. Water was hand-carried and heated on a wood stove.

And, most everybody lived on the farm.

Recently, the chairman of Michigan's important 5-member Commission of Agriculture, Walter Lange - who farms near Sebawaing in Huron county, acted as master of ceremonies at a community gathering where the group took a "trip back through time" by means of an exhibit of antiques, among them early farming tools.

A threshing flail and an ox-yoke served to illustrate an important point. "This flail probably cost the farmer of that time about one or two dollars, if he didn't make the flail himself," Walter explained. "Now it has been replaced by a complex machine costing today's farmer between $15,000 and $20,000," he said.

The flail, a wooden-handle, hinged by leather thongs to another shorter length of wood, was swung by muscular threshers to beat kernels of grain from the stalks and husks on the threshing floor. The self-propelled combine was the modern threshing counterpart against which it was compared.

In similar fashion, Lange told how the team of oxen have been replaced by a modern tractor "costing from $10,000 to $15,000 - but immeasurably more effective. At the conclusion of the trip-through-time, both Lange and his audience of farm and city folks agreed they much prefer things the way they are now.

But the point was well made that progress does not come cheaply, and that a large part of the cost-price-squeeze about which farmers complain, has been caused by replacing once abundant farm manpower, with high priced machine-power.

Profit of Meat Packer is Small

Meat packers and processors averaged less than one-half cent profit on every sales dollar during the 1965-66 tax year, according to a report published recently by the department of agricultural economics, Michigan State university.

The report, compiled by MSU agricultural economist W. Smith Greig from Internal Revenue service data, includes balance sheets, income statements and financial operating ratios for the meat industry and 10 other food processing industries.

It reveals that of the 2,678 meat processing firms reporting to the IRS in the 1965-66 tax year, 935 (slightly more than one out of 3) lost money. Firms with assets of less than $50,000 contributed heavily to the total number of negative income firms. Of the 617 firms with assets of less than $50,000, 395 lost money. In contrast, only 4 of 27 firms with assets of at least $10 million went in the red.

Total industry sales were $20,520,940,000. Net profit after taxes was $91,887,000. The 3 biggest firms accounted for 27 percent of all industry earnings.

Total industry earnings represented a 2.6 percent return on total assets, and a 4.5 percent return on owner's equity, lowest of all 11 food processing industries in the report.

Farm Views And News

By JIM MULVANY

Most of the important decisions affecting farms and farmers are made outside the barnyard gate. Your management abilities are not the only factor determining your opportunity to remain in agriculture.

Some farmers are optimistic about agricultural organizations that will learn to negotiate with processors and retailers for a fair share of the consumer's dollar. But to be effective, growers must first learn some of the rules of the ballgame. What do modern day wholesalers look like, what do they think----what makes them tick?

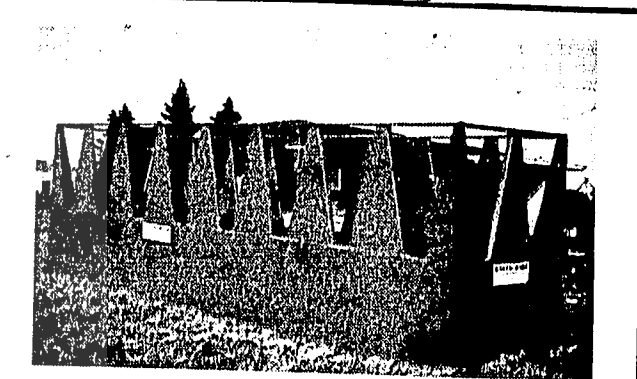

That's why your Extension Service has organized a 2-day marketing tour to Detroit. Most farmers are so close to the farm they haven't seen the market place, and if you saw it 2 years ago, it's different now. Send in your reservation now. You can't afford to stay home if agriculture is your future.

The Detroit tour will take you to places such as Krogers new dairy processing plant, the largest and most modern in the world. Here over one-half million pounds of milk are processed daily.

We will talk to management of the Kroger firm located there about the retail business and why they have integrated into the processing business. Other tour stops include the new Awreys bakery, Chelsea Milling, and the Western Fruit market. Markas Rothbart of Great Mark Western Packing will discuss with us his plans for a 90,000 head feeder cattle yard.

Reservations can be made by making a $10 deposit at the Extension Office. The cost of the trip complete will be $30 per person. Ladies are, of course, welcome.

Students Provide $500 For Public Address Unit

Members of the student council at Leslie high school have turned over to the school the sum of $500 which is the council's share of the cost of installing a public address system in the high school.

David Eddington, superintendent of schools, made this announcement to the board of education at its meeting this week.

In other action, the board voted to offer Robert Howe, high school principal; Larry Ley, intermediate principal, and David McCullough, elementary principal a renewal of contracts for the coming year.

Voted to ask Ray Blank to complete the electrical work at the elementary school.

Decided to participate in the data processing program in conjunction with the Ingham Intermediate district and approved a .12 mills for this purpose.

Supported up to 1 mill increase for the Intermediate board special education depending on the state contribution.

Voted to invest the anticipated general fund balance in savings deposit receipts with the Michigan National bank of Battle Creek.

Hired - Morris Whitney to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of James Bobzien maintenance man.

Russell Miller, Leslie agricultural teacher appeared before the Board to explain his latest project for the FFA group which has accumulated $2,500. This will be used to install a 10-foot high fence around 80 of its 100 acres on Perrine road for conservation practices where deer are concerned. This comes under the heading of game conservation. The cost, using FFA labor and some of the "Wild Eighty's" own trees to be especially treated for fenceposts is estimated at $2000. It is planned to do the fencing work this summer. Board members found the plan highly worth while.

Federal Aid Program Aimed At Solving City Traffic Woes

LANSING - The state highway commission has taken initial steps to implement a new federal-aid program aimed at solving critical traffic problems in large urban areas, it was announced today.

Commission Chairman Charles H. Hewitt said the program "gives a shot in the arm to the cure of urban traffic ills, short of major surgery."

Names by the Commission to coordinate the program as supervisor of a new special studies unit in the Department of State Highways Traffic & Safety Division was Richard J. Kuzma of Lansing, a 31-year-old traffic engineer who has been with the Department 10 years.

Kuzma is a graduate of Purdue university with a degree in civil engineering, and is a registered professional engineer.

The increased emphasis on urban traffic problems was made possible when Congress funded the Traffic Operations Program for Increasing Capacity and Safety (TOPICS).

Michigan is eligible to receive $18 million in TOPICS money over a two-year period, to be matched 50-50 with local funds.

TOPICS permits the use of Federal funds to improve traffic capacity and safety on city streets which previously could not be financed with limited available federal-aid funds.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafsteth said the major thrust of the program, initially, will be in urban areas of 50,000 or more population where traffic congestion is most critical.

He said the program will employ proven traffic engineering techniques in a concentrated effort to reduce congestion, expedite traffic and improve safety.

It will also enable qualifying urban areas, working in cooperation with the Department, to do something about their total traffic problem rather than being limited to isolated, individual problems, he said.

New High School Talked in Haslett

By TONY GENCO News Special Writer

HASLETT-A preliminary report on the needs of a proposed new high school has been made by a committee.

The Haslett Public Schools Educational Specification committee made the study as a guide for the preparation of drawings for the proposed new high school. The committee worked in co-operation with the senior high teaching staff.

The architectural firm of VanderMeiden, Koteles, and Associates will prepare the drawings.

The Haslett school district lies within three counties—Ingham, Shiawassee, and Clinton—with the major portion in Ingham. The local governmental agency is represented by the four townships which are located in part within the district.

Haslett school district is largely rural with the exception of limited concentrations of population around Lake Lansing and in a limited number of subdivisions. Haslett has a limited business and industry area.

Business is represented by a small shopping center located at the intersection of Haslett-Okemos and Haslett roads and several taverns, an amusement park and a night club located near the lake.

The proposed building will be designed to house 750 students in grades 9 through 12. The building will be designed so that later additions of classrooms will retain aesthetic and functional qualities of the building.

A comprehensive high school program will be offered with the area of vocational and industrial arts being supplemented by a county area skills center.

In order to provide practical application experiences, students enrolled in art, home economics, science, industrial arts, business education, mathematics, English, and social studies will have access to appropriate laboratory facilities.

a prayer for everyone

"Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

"On World Day of Prayer, children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

"Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

"You are lucky because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darling, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished... ask Him to bless everyone."

we care

what does A&P stand for?

(Besides The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Inc.)

Fairness, honesty, dependability and quality. Our founder established these business guides for A&P over 100 years ago.

It is from this basic foundation that so many of our current-day policies have grown:

Our Raincheck policy, for example, which assures you that you will never miss out on an advertised item.

Our policy of packaging meats, that guarantees that the side you can't see is equal to or better than the side you can see.

Our complete and unconditional guarantee of anything you buy at A&P, no matter who makes it.

Our dedication to quality in the production of our own brands. Quality standards so high that we guarantee any product bearing the A&P Seal is equal to or better than the nationally famous brands.

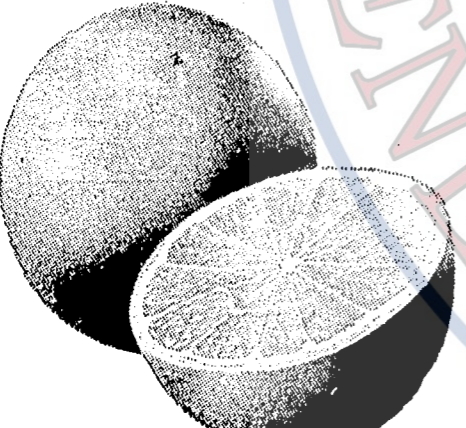

You can probably sum it up in one word, "CARE." We care about you.

When you think about it... shouldn't A&P be your store?

Musical "Girl Crazy" Selected at Mason

By BECKY BABCOCK
Mason High School

The all-school musical for this year will be "Girl Crazy," Tryouts for this musical will be soon.

Students have had a chance to read the script this past week to determine which part they would like to try out for.

There has been a little change in the directors this year. Mrs. Josephine Oesterle will be the cast director, as before. Mr. Warren Emrick will direct the singers and Mr. George Murthum will conduct the orchestra.

teachers of the junior high. The action starts at 7:30 so come on and cheer your "favorite" teacher on.

Mason was the host of the Capital Circuit wrestling tournament last Saturday. The day was full of wrestling. Even though Mason came out second to last, it was a very exciting tournament.

Mason's basketball teams didn't have any trouble beating Howell last Friday night. The Seniors of the Mason Varsity team were introduced.

Playing their last game at home were Mary Oosterle, Craig Webster, Denny Dancer, Rick Smith, Ron Perrine and Paul Mudgett. They all have done a splendid job for Mason this year.

Lunch Hour Bake Sale Nets Profit For Holt's F.H.A.

By GAYLE STEVENSON
Holt High School

The Holt Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met Tuesday to discuss the plans for their bakesale on Friday. This was one of the most successful ventures of the year, because the sale was held during the lunch periods, and gave the students a chance to buy some dessert other than ice cream for a change.

The FHA will be having a bowling party at Mason's lanes March 1 at 3 p.m. After the games, they will go to Shakey's Pizza Parlor.

Wednesday night there will be a basketball game, not the usual type of basketball game, however. This game will be between Mason high school teachers and the work meeting Thursday after school in the cafeteria.

Three of the Y-teens, Joyce Frazier, Wendy Wadsworth, and Janet Clark were elected to attend clear Lake camp in Dowling for a Y-teen winter conference. The theme of the conference will be "What in the World is Going On?"

Each group of girls selected must take a project along with them to share with the other girls. Our girls are taking the Ram dolls. The girls will meet guest speakers and girls from all over the state of Michigan.

The 3 girls from Holt will leave for the conference February 21 after school and return on February 23.

This Wednesday many of Holt's junior class members took the National Merit Scholarship Test. The cost for the test was $1.25.

The costume committee for the junior class met Wednesday after school to debate on the costumes for the junior play. The play is supposed to take place in the 1910's, and the costumes have to be chosen accordingly.

All the members of the junior class to be on committees signed up Wednesday after school. If there is anyone who would like to be on a committee and has not signed up, it is permissible to still do so.

The Holt Ski club held a meeting Wednesday in room 103 to discuss any future ski trips. All those wishing to go on the trip planned had to sign up on Friday. The members of the Ski club are allowed to use the Lansing club any time, for the cost of $1.50 and the cost for all year is $15.

The pep club met twice last week to make signs to pep up the student body and the team members since there was no pep rally. There were quite a few signs up, more than we have seen in quite a while, not counting pep week. Although only a few members showed up, everyone present put forth all the energy they had Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Stockbridge High, Junior High Host Open House Evening

Faye Camp
There will be an open house at the Stockbridge junior-senior high school tonight, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Teachers will be on hand to visit with parents and answer questions. There is no longer a parent-teacher association at the school and there has been little opportunity for parents to learn first hand how their children are doing in school.

Brenda Lohrer, a Faye 17 year old junior at SHS, became somewhat of a celebrity when she was crowned Queen of the Oldsmobile Club at Houghton Lake February 8. She caught a bluegill that weighed more than one pound, qualifying her for prizes of a wristwatch and a camera.

The National Merit Scholarship Test will be given to members of the senior class February 18. Previous winners are Tim Howlett and Eldred Yerks.

All freshmen who desire to do so will take the National Educational Development test February 19. The exam is not compulsory and a fee of $1 is required.

Girls in the Future Homemakers of America, under the direction of Maureen Messner, student leader, are making a stuffed snake which will become a mascot for the organization.

The serpent is red and white and will bear the names of all F.H.A. members.

The F.H.A. girls recently presented Mrs. Fox, their advisor, with an electric frying pan as a wedding present.

Last week was "Spirit Week" at Stockbridge and in spite of all the activities designed to build team spirit, the Panthers lost both their Tuesday and Friday night games.

Each day during the week two athletes were designated as mystery players. Clues to their identity were announced at various times and the first student to correctly name the athletes were awarded a kiss...a candy kiss, that is.

Despite the double loss at Stockbridge, spirits soared when it was learned that Pinckney had defeated Leslie Tuesday night.

The eighth grade gym class put on an excellent demonstration of tumbling during the half-time of Friday night's game. The varsity cheerleaders did another of their famous pom-pom routines.

Tryouts for the junior play will be staged this week. This year's production calls for a cast of nine people, two boys and seven girls.

All seniors who wish to go on the class trip to Washington are reminded that class dues of $45 must be paid in the near future. The deadline for the first payment of $10 is March 1.

Second and third payments on the 1969 edition of the yearbook will soon be due. Payments should be made now to assure prompt delivery of your copy of the "Panther."

On Dean's List

Ronald L. Webster, a graduate of Mason high school and the son of Mrs. Glenn L. Webster, recently was named to the dean's list at Michigan Technological university. To qualify for the dean's list, a student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. Ron's average for the first term this year was 3.82.

Leslie Class Meetings Produce Many Decisions

By SALLY HAYHOE
Leslie High School

Things really got moving during class meetings staged last Thursday at Leslie high school. Senior class members were able to make several important decisions during their meeting.

Graduation arrangements were the topics of discussion for the seniors. They voted on a motto and selected a flower. There were 3 mottos to choose from. "Let not the joys of youth bring pain in old age" was the motto finally selected.

Official flower selected for the senior class was the yellow sweetheart rose. Seniors also decided the colors of graduation robes. The guys will be in green and the girls will wear white robes.

During the meeting, class members also discussed the possibility of different march music instead of the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance."

Announcement was made of the senior class play production which will be "Cheaper by the Dozen." The play is to be presented on May 1 and 2.

Sophomore class members were also busy. They have been selling LHS pennants this past week and these sales were given consideration. Immediate business the class had to attend to was the selection of 2 sophomores to run for student council president.

Elections for this post will take place within the next few weeks. Nominated to run were Dennis Craddock and Steve Haskell.

The class also talked about the possibility of having a physical fitness day for the elementary students. At a day like this the sophomores would supervise the playground and gym on a Saturday afternoon. They could teach games, relays, and other sports.

The junior class also selected candidates for student council president. They are Bob Rameriz, who is presently serving as student council vice-president, and Don Robinson, who is the junior class president.

Also discussed in their meeting was the prom.

Freshmen talked about school spirit and the reaction of spirit week on the school and money-making projects.

An assembly was held Friday morning. At this time the junior class presented the school with a Michigan flag.

Harold Borgert presented it on behalf of the class to Bob Rameriz who accepted for the school.

After this Mr. Howell, school principal, recognized a group of students in the school that has never been recognized openly before. These were the students that were on the honor roll every time so far this year including the semester honor roll. He called each of the students up to the front of the gym. When he finished only 34 students had been named.

He told everyone there was no reason why only 34 had been named instead of the possible 80 per cent of the student enrollment.

Each of these students was given a certificate that enables them to miss one day of school.

Saturday several Leslie musicians participated in the District 8 Solo and Ensemble program in Hartland. Those who attended were Nancy McMurtrie, who played a clarinet solo and received a I rating; Steve Brattain, who played a cornet solo and received a II rating; Margaret Carlson and Kathy Jones, who played a clarinet duet and received a III rating; and Bill Gingas, Joan Wright, Denise Corser, Sally Hayhoe, and Robin Marshall who played a french horn quintet and received a II rating.

Teeny Bopper Newspaper Makes Jr. High Scene

By SUE BURLESON
Mason Junior High School

On Friday, February 14, Mason junior high was reading its first school newspaper published since last year. It was edited by the general business class, taught by Mr. Livemore, and was entitled "The Teeny Bopper Times."

The paper was sold during lunch hours for 10 cents by class members. Proceeds will be used for school books and supplies.

The paper contained the latest school gossip and talk. Also, a special editorial was written on the customary "Slop Day." This may become obsolete in the near future.

Recent school sports and news was to be found within the paper. An interview with 2 persons of the faculty, Mr. Thomas Craig, the school principal and Mr. James Houser, math teacher, were also included. A special teacher puzzle was one of many brain teasers. A school-wide poll was taken on deodorant and mouthwash, which provided amusing results.

"Happy Birthdays" were wished to all born in February. The newspaper was a complete success and will be published every other week.

On February 10, the freshmen delivered defeat to the Eaton Rapids Greyhounds with a score of 68 to 36. The "Hounds" showed that they were trying very hard, but were crushed by the Bulldogs.

The cheerleaders held a Pep Assembly Thursday, February 13, for 7th and 8th grades. Great enthusiasm was shown by all students. Later that afternoon, the Okemos Chieftains saw defeat as the 8th grade won with a score of 47 to 42. However, the 7th grade lost their 6th game of the season by a score of 28 to 24.

BEHIND THE COUNTER

Drug Abuse by Basil Chesley

Americans now consume $4 billion worth of drugs annually, for everything from a stomach ache to massive depression. Most of these have reduced suffering and have saved lives. But doctors and druggists are worried about the problem of drug abuse—not opium and LSD, but the careless use of prescription drugs. We're worried about the effect of indiscriminately taking pills for several years, in many dosages and combinations.

There are patients who demand—and sometimes get—unnecessary and even dangerous drugs. They go from doctor to doctor, and from pharmacy to pharmacy, building up supplies. They forget (or ignore) the fact that popping all sorts of pills into one's system can make a condition worse, or can even create new disorders when the drugs intermix with the body.

Medical and pharmacy groups are seeking ways to block the casual writing and filling of prescriptions. We're trying to balance the wonderful effects of drugs with the potential danger.

Because the advances made in drug therapy in the last 40 years has been remarkable. Drugs have helped extend the life span of many people. Tranquilizers and other drugs have been effective in treating mental illness and emotional problems. Antibiotics, vaccines and other medicines are conquering infection and communicable diseases.

It would be a tragedy if these benefits were curbed because of a few pill abusers in our midst.

3 Rural Libraries May Be Closed

serves this purpose," he said. "Bookmobile shelves are always full (containing some 2,000 books) and it gets the first copy of a new book to be put in circulation within the system.

"With the bookmobile we can provide more open library hours and offer a better selection of books to all 3 communities without maintaining 4 separate collections of library books."

The library director indicated it cost about $1,600 per year to provide each rural library with new books. Life expectancy of a library book is approximately 5 years.

"At one time the library board considered extending the hours in order to meet state requirements, but Supervisor Eckhart and the Aurelius librarian indicated they didn't feel added hours would be necessary."

Mounce proposes to maintain the bookmobile in the various communities for the usual number of hours per week in addition to providing evening hours once a week at another location within the townships.

During 1967 the number of books used from the branch libraries were Aurelius, 6,449; Onondaga, 2,701, and Webberville, 6,397 while the total number of books handled that same year by the bookmobile was 40,286, according to Mounce.

Should the board decide at its March 12 meeting to close the rural libraries, there will be a necessary time lag to organize the change over, he said.

What Lent Means to Me

The beginning of Lent is Wednesday, February 19. Each week until Easter the Ingham County News will publish a special feature on "What Lent Means to Me" as told by Mason residents.

By KENNETH WOODRING
Ingham Intermediate District
Diagnostician

The Lenten season is a time for preparing for one of the highest festivals of the church year, Easter. One of the most meaningful ways to prepare, for me, is by evaluating. This evaluation consists of asking questions about the institutional church and of asking personal questions as a member of the church. In searching for the answers, some beliefs will be reinforced and some will be altered.

Some important questions that we as members should ask ourselves about the role of the church are:

Is the church living for itself? Has it become self-centered and so absorbed in the personal needs and problems among "its people" that it has little time to develop a sense of social responsibility?

Is the church doing what it can to become unified, to promote the oneness of the Church?

Is the church effectively utilizing its senior citizens? Is it meeting the needs of youth, helping to give them causes that count?

Is it the role of the church to condemn modern man for what he is or the modern world for what it has become, or is the church making imaginative and creative use of the new possibilities in today's world?

Of course, collective evaluation must be accompanied by individual evaluation. This requires looking inward with strange eyes and determining how one feels personally about such things as the ecumenical movement, parochialism, and social responsibility.

From evaluation hopefully will come a course of action based upon conviction and belief. J.S. Mill writes, "One person with a belief is a social power equal to ninety-nine who have an interest." The Lenten season to me is a time to evaluate so to better establish and revise beliefs.

Voucher Education Augenstein Offers Solution To Reestablish Equity in States, school Systems

Charging that many of Michigan's school students are being short-changed of their constitutional rights, State Board of Education member, Dr. Leroy Augenstein stated that the constitutional guarantees of a free and equal education for all children are, in many cases, not being provided.

Dr. Augenstein said: "Some school districts cannot provide the education which they desire and which their youngsters so desperately need because they don't have enough funds, whereas in most districts while the educational quality is good, it is not really at the level of excellence we should have. Our present system of funding is quite inequitable and is not providing adequate operating funds in far too many communities around the state. The financial stability of many of our non-public schools had deteriorated quite badly in recent years."

Dr. Augenstein proposed a solution to re-establish equity in the school systems in Michigan with a voucher plan. Each child in Michigan would be given a voucher by the state for sufficient funds to assure him or her an adequate education.

"At the discretion of the parents," Dr. Augenstein said, "The voucher can be redeemed by any school which meets the following five criteria:

"The teachers all hold proper certificates and the curriculum and program of the school is certified by an appropriate agency to meet the minimum requirements for adequate educational opportunities;

"The school neither selects nor rejects students or faculty on the basis of race, creed or national origin;

"The school does not impose discipline upon the basis of religious belief;

"Students are not required to attend religious exercises
