THE 1944 LANTERN

Edited by the
SENIOR CLASSES OF
JUNE '44 AND JANUARY '45

EASTERN HIGH SCHOOL
LANSING, MICHIGAN

FOREWORD

Out of the past arises our inspiration to edit a yearbook equal to the standards put forth by former Lantern Staffs.

In the present we find our immediate duty in portraying the functions of our school life in a way that will reflect the conditions surrounding this student body in these days of uncertainty.

Into the future we extend our hope of modeling an example of true workmanship that will attract the attention of later generations. Stepping forth into an imaginative dream we conjured a progress in living never before predicted. Carrying with us the experience received while perfecting this book, we cherish the memories of our high school years.

ADMINIS- TRATION

Extending a guiding hand to the student body of Eastern High School are Mr. Rich and Mrs. Leyrer, through whose cooperation and capable leadership we may approach the oracles of the future in undaunted spirits, with an inspiration which lends itself to hope and progress.

Mr. Don Wheeler and Mr. Hyrtl Feeman, assistants to Mr. Rich, are endowed with those qualities of character and personality which stimulate friendship and cooperation among the students. Controlling tardiness and truancy, their responsibilities as teachers are greatly augmented. Mr. Wheeler is the school's Director of Athletics and each instructor teaches his respective classes.

STUDENT COUNCIL

- Row 1: M. Banham, M. Jensen, J. May, C. O'Connor, M. Harrad, G. Whitford, M. McClard, B. Atwell, A. Vermeersch, C. Rich.
 Row 2: R. Clark, B. Carlson, M. Scamarcia, C. Vining, V. Gates, J. Sargeant, L. Van Syoc, L. Nelson, F. Thompson, D. Oscarino, H. Jones.
 Row 3: C. Lautzenheiser, R. Whitford, R. Castellani, B. Trumene, D. Mattson, A. Seling, T. Halsey, B. Boyer, D. Denton, G. Cousins.
 Row 4: B. Elsinheimer, B. Marklewitz, D. Clausen, C. Benson, B. Baker, C. Smith, D. Poole, J. Braman, D. Jennings.

Liberal in character and constructive in accomplishments, the functions of the Student Council prove an invaluable boon to the administration of the school. It is from such self-reliant groups that emanate those flames of knowledge and experience which brighten the paths upon which we seek the realms unknown.

Last semester officers included Rudy Castellani, vice-president; Arnold Abent, president; Bonnie Atwell, secretary; and Hugh Jones, treasurer.

Presidential aspirants for the spring semester were Rudy Castellani, Norm Pollard, and Russ Robinson. After a heated campaign Norm Pollard proved to be the students' choice.

BOYS' LEAGUE

BOYS' LEAGUE OFFICERS

Left to right: Dick Massuch, Ed McClernan, and Jack Hoover.

To effect a more favorable future for the principles by which he abides, Uncle Sam has made a few demands respecting our masculine population. For this reason, Boys' League meetings during the past semester consisted essentially of pre-induction lectures by which the young men of Eastern acquainted themselves with all branches of the armed services.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Besides encouraging friendship within the feminine set of Eastern, the Girls' League offers entertainment and recreation for all students. Two informal dances were sponsored which terminated their highly successful activities during the year.

GIRLS' LEAGUE OFFICERS

Second Semester Officers

Jackie Jarrad, Bonnie Atwell, Charlotte Rasmussen, and Pat Grams.

First Semester Officers

Norma Hollister, Sophia Goslewski, Bonnie Atwell, and Jackie Jarrad.

The future can do very little to increase the efficiency of office secretaries Donna Butler and Beatrice Graham, who have well proved themselves to be essential in the administration of our school. Both were graduated from Eastern, and their friendliness and cooperation have won the favor of countless students.

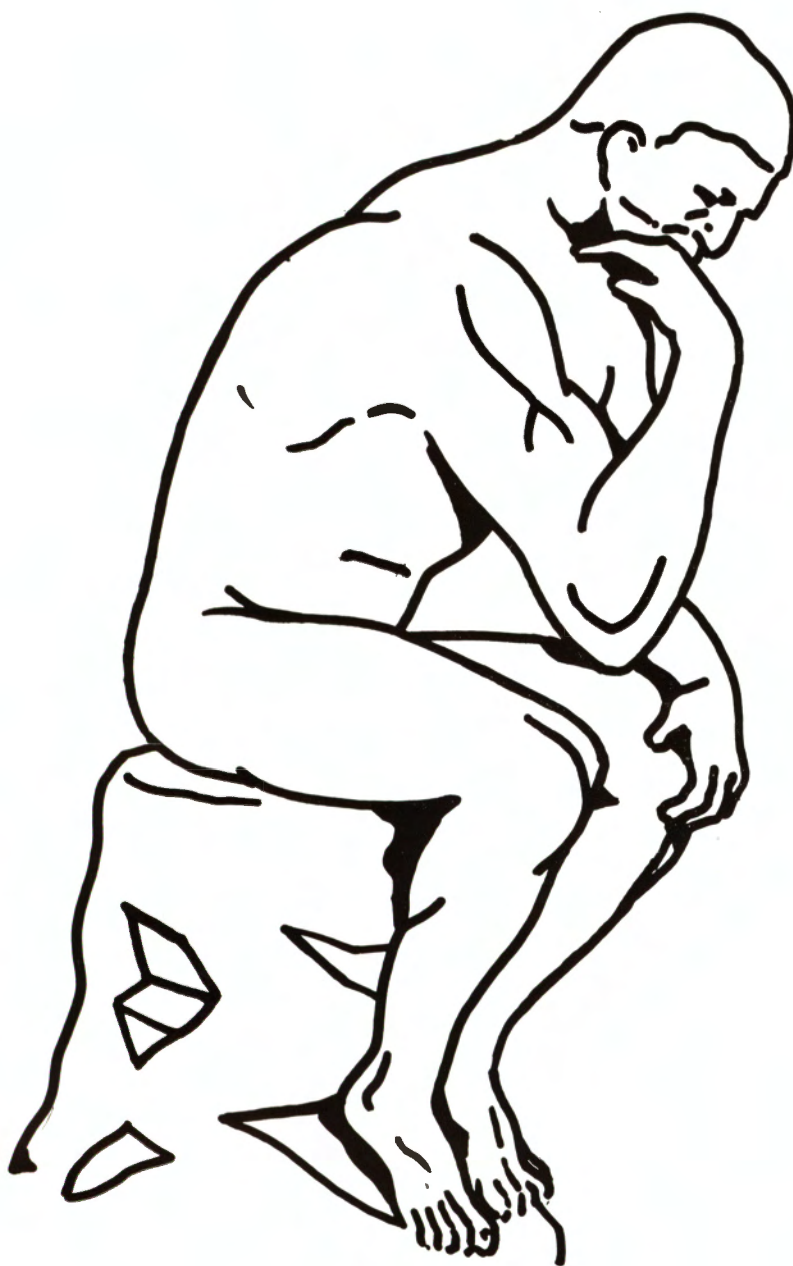

Under the leadership of Bill Baker, chief student duty guide, Eastern's hall officers last semester minimized problems in hall traffic. Of course, in time to come, we hope to further improve this system, but the job being an ever trying and difficult one, we must commend any success attained; for it is the past upon which the future builds.

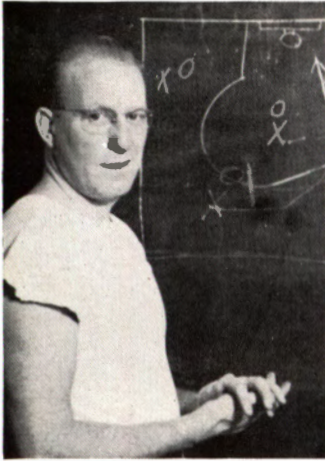

Joe Shields, ever displaying that outstanding personality, is shown with Mr. Rich and Mr. Peterman at the Victory Ball, which rewarded Eastern's successful magazine campaign. Surpassing their former record and once again overcoming the pre-established quota, the students of Eastern this year turned in the staggering and unexpected sum of $9,600.

At the right, "Joe" presents Mrs. Shields to Eastern students at the Victory Ball.

RUMORS AND REVERBERATIONS OF THE FACULTY

It has been the custom of Eastern High School since its founding in 1928, to have on hand a group of elderly people known by various names, the more polite of which are faculty or teachers. Some of these people have survived the turmoil that is Eastern for a full 16 years and still show no signs of cracking.

Contrary to Miss Toogood's assertion that she has taught at Eastern for 50 years, a falsehood apparent from the start, we find she is relatively new here, with but 14 years to her credit.

It isn't too simple a matter to pick out the members of the Faculty's Old Guard, which, incidentally, comprises more than a third of our teaching staff, for they are, in general, remarkably well preserved. By dint of much research and persuasion, the names of these exponents of the theory that life begins at forty may now be revealed.

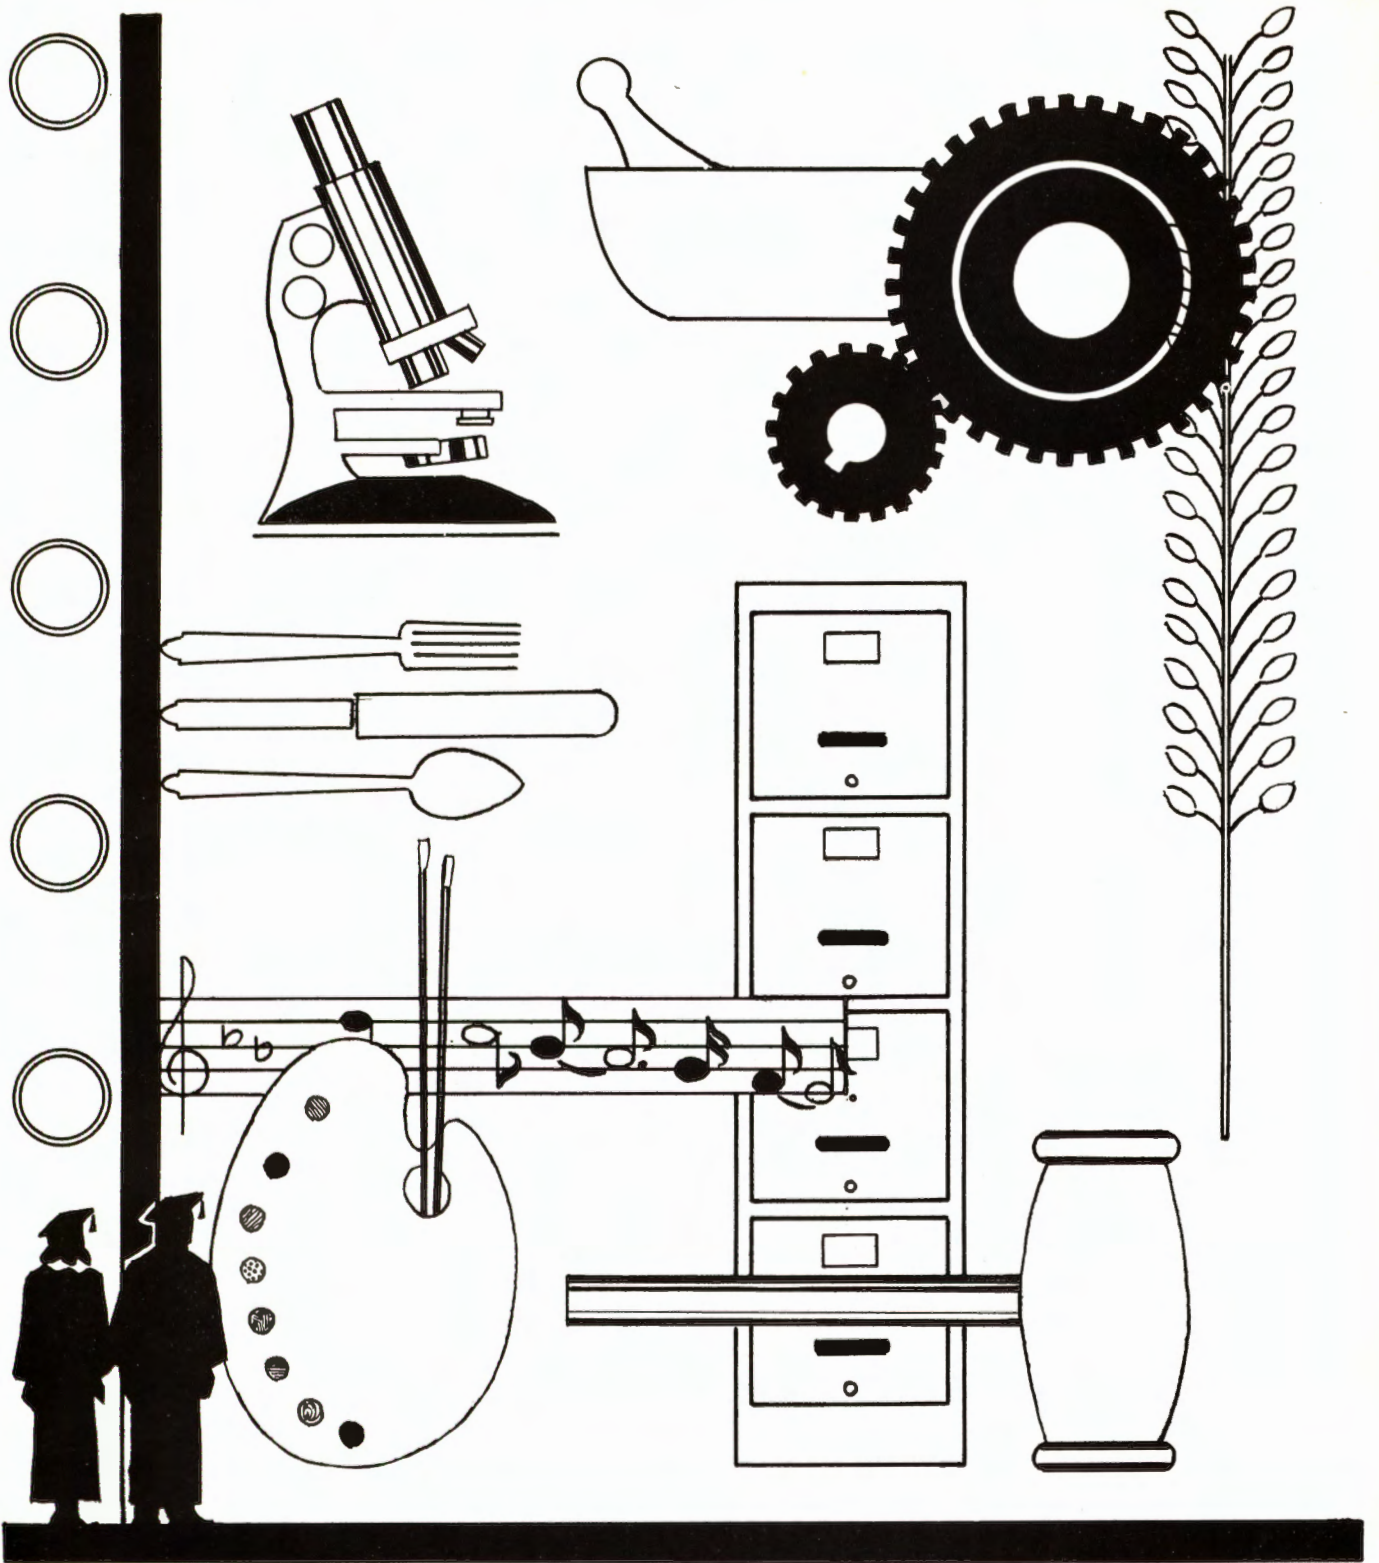

The discerning student will find that this list divides itself roughly into two groups, male and female. The males include Mr. Leach, Mr. Lange, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Chadwick, Mr. Van Liere, Mr. Burnham, Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Peterman, Mr. Winston, Mr. Flory, Mr. Gilson, and Mr. Sage. On the distaff side we find Miss Knevels, Miss Garrity, Miss Grohe, Miss Smith, Miss Wood, Miss Cline, Miss Gunnison, Miss Reynolds, and Miss Vollmer.

Most of the aforementioned are remarkably active, considering all they have endured through the past decades. We haven't the slightest doubt but what they will be still going strong when Eastern itself crumbles into dust. Since there is no way known to mortal man by which one may extract the true ages of these people, we must forego the pleasure of this expose and content ourselves with the knowledge that we can escape their clutching hands by the simple trick of graduating.

In the past couple of years a shot of adrenalin has been injected into the veins of a systematic faculty in the shape of the effervescent Mr. Lott and the romantic Mr. Ross. Mr. Ross, however, collapsed under the strain of a year at Eastern and retreated into the refuge of a dry-cleaning career.

Veterans of several years of turmoil and still retaining some measure of their sanity are Messrs. Brisbin, Harris, and Feeman. These gentlemen still derive considerable enjoyment out of life and yet instill in their classes sizable tidbits of knowledge, notwithstanding the attempts of the students to forget all they learn.

Taken as a whole, the faculty of Eastern deserves mingled credit and condemnation for their sterling job of preparing young hopefuls for release on an unsuspecting world.

Accompanied by the usual confusion and bewilderment, we, the Seniors, class of June '44, first set foot in the halls of Eastern three long years ago. Not only did we survive our first year creditably, but many of us actually enjoyed it. No doubt the Sophomore Mixers aided no little in this last. Sparked by the ready wit of our first president, Don Sherman, we were fairly well prepared to begin our second year of High School.

The advent of a new year brought us a new president, Bob Bruegger, who was to remain as prexy for the remainder of our stay at Eastern. Our Junior A semester saw the production of our zoot J-Hop, "Harlem Nocturne," under the direction, no less, of Don Sherman.

Two years of patient waiting now brought their reward, entrance into our Senior year, with the dignity and poise we thought all seniors possessed conspicuous by its absence. Our Senior B semester passed almost before we knew it, with the Senior B play, "Every Family Has One," as its highlight. With our last term ushering in the grand confusion that is graduation, we were up to our necks in name cards, announcements, caps and gowns, diplomas and, for a change, a little actual work. Looking forward to our Prom, "'Till We Meet Again," we view graduation with mingled relief and regret, for after all we have had a lot of fun here.

One frigid February day in nineteen hundred and forty-two the Senior B's of today crossed the breach separating the high and mighty 9A's of Junior High and the lowly, downtrodden Sophomores of Eastern. Jerry Gallop was elected to lead them through the trials and tribulations of the tenth grade and Mr. F. Donald Manz was their class advisor. Before the fall semester Uncle Sam called Mr. Manz to the service of his country and Mr. Spitler became chief justice. They distinguished themselves early in their high school career by presenting a commendable Sophomore Mixer.

Their Junior Class president was Rudy Castellani. Co-chairmen Judy Biber and Jim Jarrad got their heads together with other social-minded Juniors and produced their J-Hop, a spectacle in ice and snow, "Winter Wonderland." The Senior B play, "Ring Around Elizabeth," left a deep and lasting impression in the minds of its audience. With Lyman Skory at the helm the Senior B's are looking forward to a successful Prom and the final graduation exercises which live in the minds of Seniors forever.

With eager eyes the Soph B's are looking to the future; that dim, distant future when they too will become seniors. In the short time they have been here they have already done much to prepare themselves for the time that is to come. The Soph A's, in keeping with time honored tradition, gave a successful Sophomore Mixer and are now seeking other worlds to conquer. With three semesters in Eastern finished, the Junior B's are resting on their laurels, anticipating a lively future. The Junior A's standing on the threshold, separating the lowly underclassmen from the lofty seniors, have turned out a prizeworthy J-Hop "Klompfen Stomp" and are expecting to do great things in their next year at Eastern.

The eight students who have successfully passed both of the difficult mental and physical examinations for the Naval Air Corps will be called to duty on the 1st of July or later. Upon entrance they will be dispatched to a college for 12 months of intensive study. After completion of the college training they will begin their flight training and when completed, they will be commissioned Flight Ensigns in the Naval Air Corps Reserve.

A similar plan of study will be ensued by the five students who have completed the tests for the Army Air Corps. On completion of their course they will be commissioned 2nd Lieutenants in the Army Air Corps Reserve.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

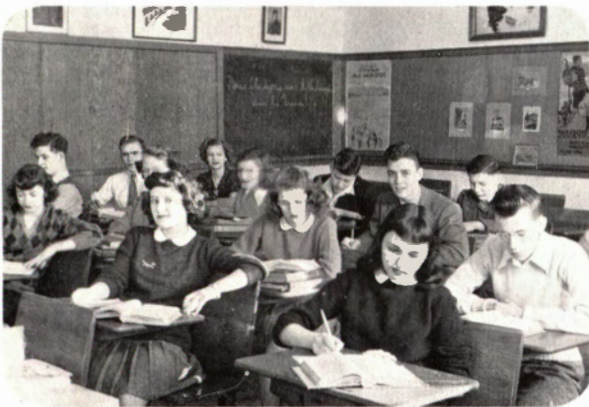

Mr. Harris teaching an American Government class.

As part of a program of curriculum coordination this semester the English IV students were privileged to hear masterfully conducted lectures on American History rendered by faculty members of the History Department.

One of Mr. Brisbin's History sessions.

LANGUAGES

A studious group of Mr. Sage's students.

The various activities and "mores" of the people of the French, Spanish, and the ancient Latin Lands are taught to students of Eastern in the language courses.

SCIENCE

Left: Carol Collins and Leon McNutt experimenting in Mr. Feeman's Chemistry laboratory. Interested students like these will do much to build a better world in the future.

Below: "Rip" Payne, Mr. Leach, and some of his aviation students observing the results of their work in theory of flight.

The Science Department of Eastern High School has a large competent faculty to train students for better positions in the coming world. Courses are offered in Physics, Chemistry, Biology and Aviation. The Aviation course has been formulated in the last two years to prepare boys for work in the Army and Navy Air Corps.

Left: Here Eugene Harris, Dave Gardner, and "Bud" Bailey are seen experimenting on the static electricity machine in the Physics Laboratory. Physics is of great interest to the Seniors as a preparatory to immediate military service and later for post-war research and experimental work.

ART

Right: The Art department has brightened the atmosphere of the art foyer by the display of art work of various outstanding artists. They have also done much to advertise many student activities throughout the building with the painting of signs and posters.

MATHEMATICS

After the decision as to the theme of the annual publication, the Lantern Art Staff, under the advisory commands of Miss Bettie Holland, tore their hair, retrieved their imaginations from a dusty corner in the upper story and started drawing something futuristic.

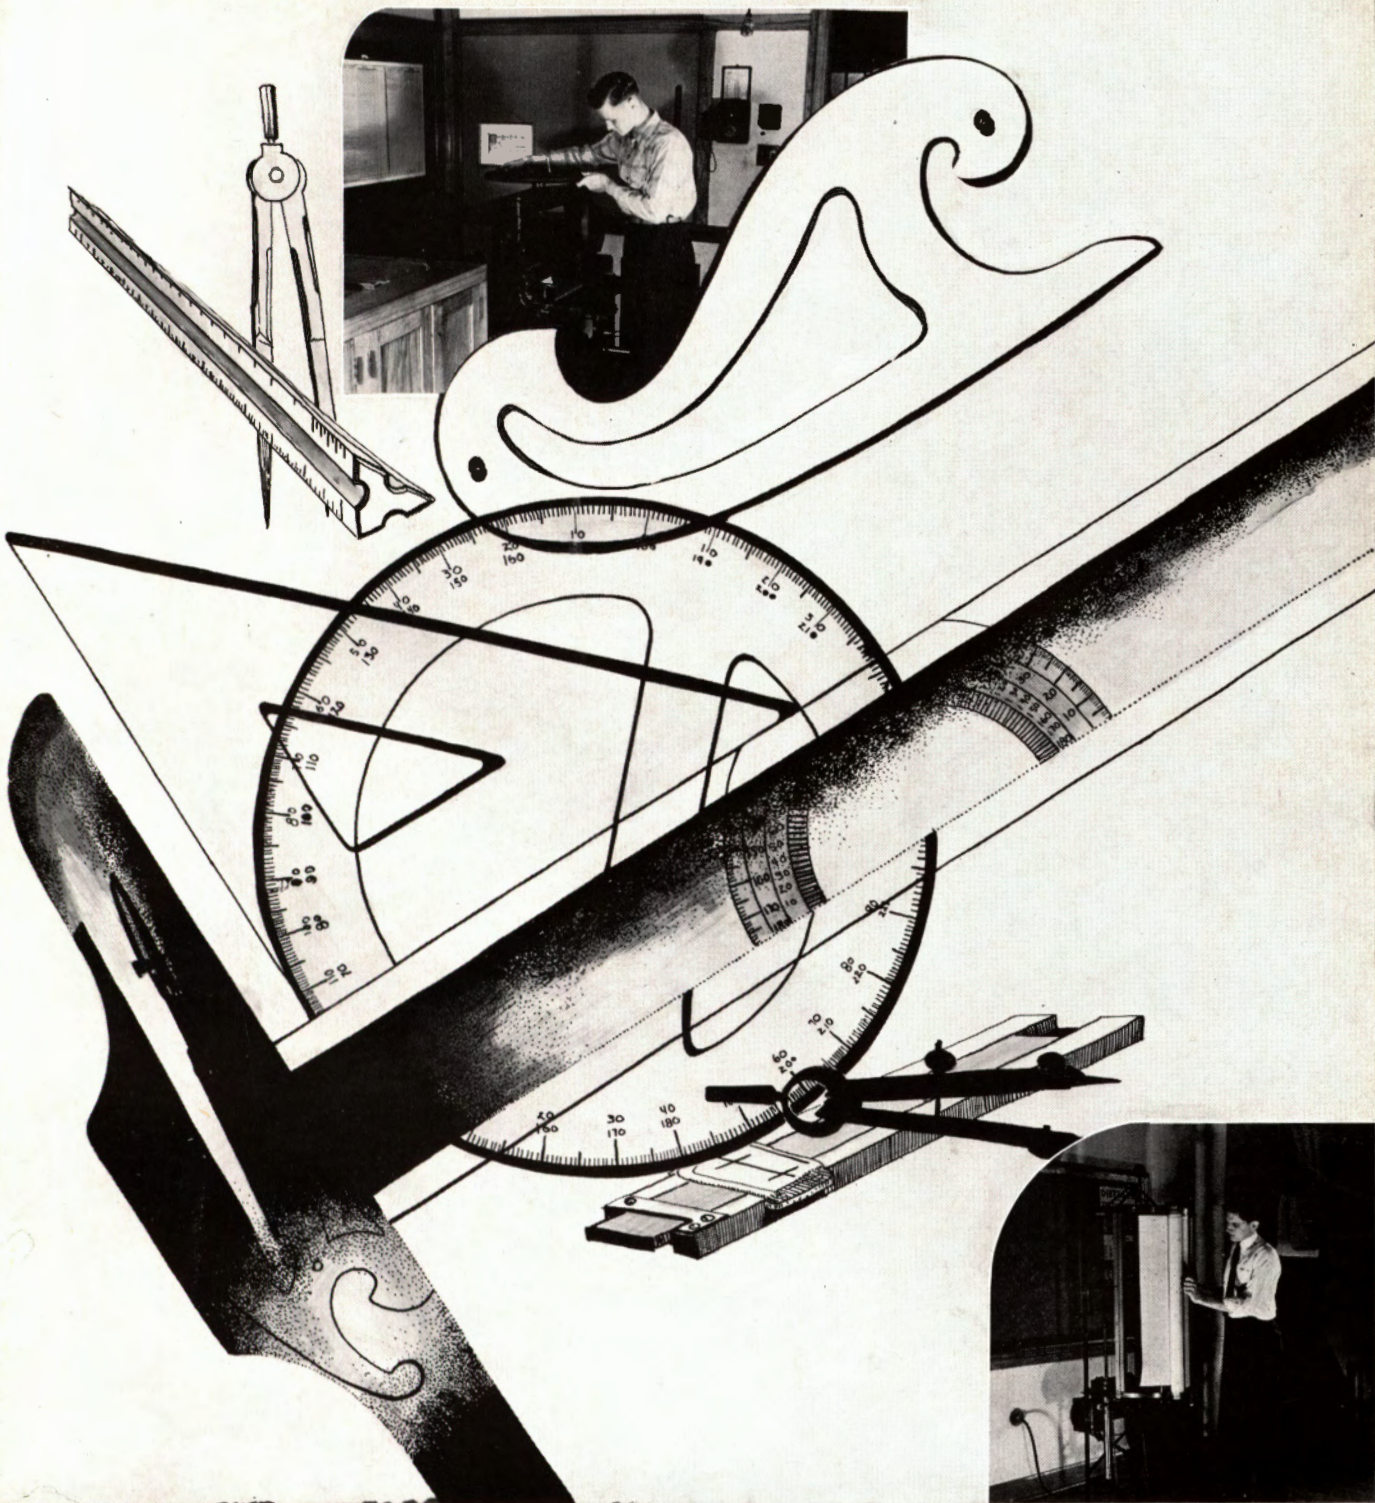

They produced highly original panels with classic, modern, and surrealistic art which was skillfully intermingled in the Senior Section. The various modes of modern travel, the architectural designs of coming generations, and modernistic, classic, and fantastic drawings lend a sparkle to the section.

The Underclassmen panels are arranged in such a way that they gyrate around the imaginative School of Tomorrow. The very first panel introduces to the reader the Eastern High School of (....?....) A. D. The following panels depict the Social Room, Auditorium, Gymnasium, Natatorium, Library, Science Labs, and other parts of the school. Doug MacIntosh, with genuine artistic capacity, designed the cover according to the demands of the theme. Along with this, Doug, in untiring fashion, drew up the various sectional division pages which stimulate a greater appreciation of modern and futuristic art.

Under the leadership of the Art Editor, Marv Pearson, the staff functioned in a highly successful manner. To Bob Busley goes the credit for drawing the designs in the Industrial Section, and to Janet Byam the credit for completing the Underclassmen Panels.

INDUSTRIAL

The connections of this page with the futuristic theme of this year book may seem somewhat puzzling at first appearance, but a study of the pictured implements will reveal their unquestionable powers. It is this type of drafting board and drafting tools, so commonly found in Mr. Clark's drafting classes, that design the present day modes of the industrial era. In like manner, they will also design the necessities and comforts of the future. Who knows exactly what lies behind the possibilities of these tools in designing the car, the plane, the train, the bridges, and all other walks of future industry? We already have faint visions of the future automobile, airplane and various other types of industry, but no one can actually tell at the present time what shape these machines will take year after year.

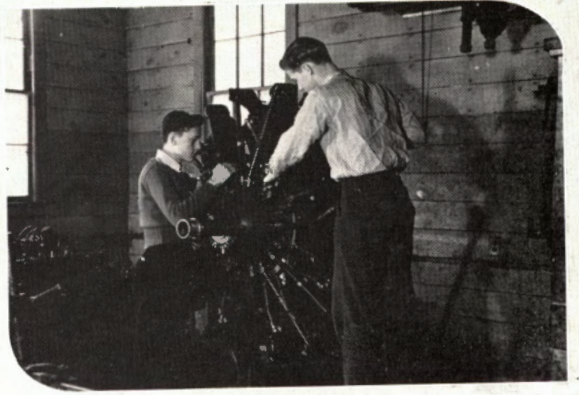

Time forges ahead and with it vast changes are and will be made in our style of living. Our new homes and buildings are even now showing a different type of architecture and designing and the post war planning of new and modern inventions will greatly improve our present system of modern conveniences. Our skylines are assuming strange shapes.

The war years have demonstrated that our rail transportation is still, and will be for years to come, our biggest and best means of transportation. Here freight and passenger service assume volumes never heretofore attained in any other means of transportation.

As to what our future trains will look like and what form they will take it is impossible at this time to tell, but, needless to say, their efficiency will be unquestioned.

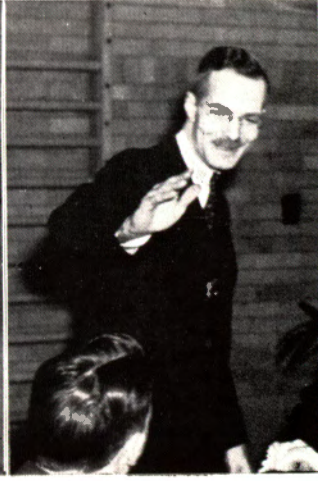

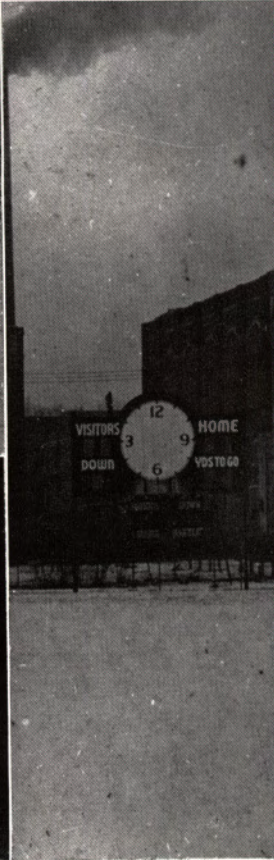

Eastern's boys are receiving training along both of these lines of housing and travel to enable them to cope with the coming industrial problems.

Unquestionably travel by air is going to become more popular and practical as time goes on. Already postwar planning is looking to air travel as a new avenue for industry. The war has shown the value of cargo ships in the transportation of supplies and equipment to our fighting fronts. Does it not follow logically that a considerable amount of the freight in the following peace times will be air borne?

Passenger transportation will be more popular than ever due to speed of travel as well as comfort and convenience. For individual travel the helicopter is rapidly assuming shape, because of its convenience of landing in limited spaces as well as speed. It will undoubtedly become one of our popular modes of transportation.

The boys in the above picture are getting an early start in this industry, as they are already learning the fundamentals of airplane motor mechanics.

COMMERCIAL

Lillian Bowling takes dictation at the board.

In the Office Practice class Enid Smith learns how to work a Sundstrand Machine.

A great deal of important work will be turned out annually by the many students of Eastern High School who have been trained to be stenographers, secretaries, bookkeepers, and typists of the future world.

Various subjects, such as Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Commercial English, Commercial Math, Office Practice, Typing, Commercial Law, Salesmanship, and Store Merchandising are offered in the Commercial Course.

In the Office Practice class students became acquainted with machines such as the comptometer, calculator, Sundstrand, dictaphone, and typewriter. The students of this class also have had experience working in our main office as if they were under the direction of their future employer.

Under the direction of Mr. R. B. Peterman, the Commercial Department has obtained a high degree of efficiency.

Who knows, a day may come when some of these students may be private secretaries to such great men as Henry Ford or Mr. Cecil B. DeMille. It is the Commercial Students of today that will build the business world of tomorrow.

Under the superb direction of Miss Garrity, the Senior B's displayed their thespian talents on Eastern's stage last October, 1943. A stellar cast headed by Charlotte Rasmussen, Mary Gregg, Richard Payne and Roland Young furnished the audience with a brand of entertainment seldom enjoyed by a high school group. The supporting players excelled in their parts; notably Gloria Smith, hilarious as the maid, Essie. The audience departed well satisfied by an evening well spent.

Miss Garrity, for the thirty-second time since the founding of Eastern, has produced and directed another outstanding Senior B play. The title of the production was "Ring Around Elizabeth," a hilarious comedy concerning the antics of a slightly mad family, the mother of which develops amnesia. Marilyn Rowley was admirable as the amnesia victim. The contributions of an excellent supporting cast aided in making this play one to be remembered for some time.

Eastern's light-stepping damsels and their beaming escorts were entertained by the January Class of 1945's semi-annual J-Hop in the Quaker Ballroom. The name of the 'Hop was Winter Wonderland, but the weatherman failed to collaborate as a heavy dew prevailed. The light, airy tunes so ably supported by Gene Devine's Band put everyone in a dreamy trance.

The Girls' League tried something new for their dance this year. Instead of the usual date dance, the boys came as special guests and it was run on the same idea as the Stage Door Canteen in New York and Hollywood.

The Class of January 1944 presented one of the most successful Proms in the history of Eastern. Club "44," the original title, was carried out through the chorus girl decorations and the crystal ball. For the first time, this class had a refreshment bar adjoining the gym. A capacity crowd enjoyed the music of Red Drennan and his Band.

After Eastern's over-successful magazine campaign the faculty entertained the student body at the Victory Ball. Two bands were engaged, and both gyms were filled with enthusiastic dancers. Several rooms were opened for games and refreshments were served by some of the parents and the teachers.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM

D. Hathaway, Mr. Harris, D. Redburn.

VICTORY SPEAKERS

A group of Victory Speakers has been formed to enlighten the minds of the students with regard to the aims of the Red Cross and other worthy organizations. Members of this group have spoken in the home rooms of Eastern and in other schools. To the outstanding speaker will be given a debate award and also the Forensic Key.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM

Eastern's debate team this year, sparked by the golden tongues of Don Hathaway and Dale Redburn, easily crushed all but one of its rivals to gain the semi-finals in the state tournament, falling only to the superior talents of a powerful Hazel Park squad.

We engaged in practice debates with Kalamazoo, Hazel Park, Albion, and Marshall. For the first time an exchange radio broadcast was held over WJIM, Eastern easily beating Kalamazoo.

The voices of Eastern's debators have dominated the airways of the Kalamazoo, East Lansing, and Lansing radio stations, providing an interesting experience for our statesmen of the future.

The team has given several enlightening panel discussion for meetings of the PTA and other clubs.

HONOR SOCIETY

Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are the qualities which admit one to the Eastern chapter of the National Honor Society. The Society is composed of quotas elected from the upper ten per-cent of the Junior and Senior classes. Its purpose is to help develop the character of its members, and in doing so, make it easier for them to face the vicissitudes of life. Under the leadership of its Presidents Elaine Brandt and Roland Young, and the expert guidance of the advisor, Mrs. Leyrer, the Society has had a very successful year.

FRENCH CLUB

This club is supervised by the versatile Mr. Sage, whose pleasant congeniality has aided more than one awed sophomore. Because of its increasing numbers, the French Club has been compelled to move to the spacious Social Room for its weekly meetings. It is truly to the benefit of "Free France" that these inspired students go out into the world and relay Mr. Sage's teachings.

PAN-AMERICAN CLUB

A broadened attitude toward our Pan-American friends is now expected in this country, and our Pan-American Club is making a good account of itself in the studying of Latin American problems. Americans have slighted the people of the southern Americas in the past, and according to diplomats who know, this attitude has constructed a great barrier in forming our foreign policy. Among the first to assist in breaking down this barrier will be Miss Knevels and her club.

BIBLE CLUB

Delving into the mysteries and interrogatives of the Bible is the popular Bible Club, the faculty advisor of which is the capable Mr. Grein. This pursuit is gaining rapidly in its popularity as more and more people are turning to God to bring peace to disturbed minds.

Row 2: S. Horton, V. Hackney, N. Swan, M. Hefton.

POST CARD COLLECTION CLUB

To gain a better knowledge and appreciation of the picturesque cities and scenic landscapes of many foreign countries, the Post Card Collection Club, under the supervision of Miss Budde, has collected innumerable picture post cards. Miss Budde has traveled extensively and through her talks and exhibits has helped many to become more closely related with the vast beauties of other countries.

GIRL RESERVES

Helping the Red Cross, filling charity baskets at Christmas and Thanksgiving are just a few of the many helpful services graciously rendered by the Eastern Girl Reserves. The club is a branch of the International Y.W.C.A. and under the supervision of Mrs. Somerton have enjoyed many friendly activities throughout the year.

HI-Y CLUB

In the future our Hi-Y club members will be instrumental in the civilizing facilities of our country. The objective of the club is to attain high ideals for each and every member. Mr. Douglas' able counsel is frequently considered in their "trials" and "errors" of the years.

MODEL AIRPLANE

Under Mr. Flory's careful supervision many aircraft have come off the assembly line, but whether their trial flights were successful or not remains a secret. At any rate, from the blue prints and work benches of the Model Airplane Club will pour forth the commuter's dream vehicle of the approaching era.

FUR, FEATHER AND FIN

The Fur, Feather and Fin Club is striving valiantly to overcome the effects of a sports trip into the Northland. In fact, it's a hard job for Mr. Feeman's charges to adjust themselves to the jeopardy of school life. The club profitably supplied the football rooters with popcorn this fall, and carry out other similar projects during the year.

LIBRARY CLUB

Few people realize to the fullest extent the importance of the Library Club. It is organized with the sole purpose of serving the school and the students, and has done very well in keeping the Library well managed and running smoothly. We have all noticed the many conveniences the members have added to the Library to make it more pleasant. The club has been very successful under its new advisor, Miss Moore.

SOCIAL DANCING CLUB

The Social Dancing Club is under the supervision of Miss Rossow and has done much to help the newcomers to Eastern feel more at home at our all school parties. Miss Rossow teaches those who do not dance the fundamentals, and for those who do dance but wish to develop their dancing ability, she teaches the more complicated steps.

The less glorified side of the band is in the band room where the boys roll up their sleeves and put in one good hour a day of stiff rehearsal for public enjoyment in the future, in the field, or on the stage.

Bright yellow stripes on blue gray pants set off with yellow belt on navy blue coats adorning sixty-three snappy marchers identify Eastern's "well liked" band. You see them at football and basketball games whether it rains or shines, the boys join their best with "Mac's" best, and snap with precision.

The Pirates of Penzance was presented December 9-10, 1943, in the Eastern Auditorium. The choir was assisted by the orchestra and the entire program was under the direction of Mr. W. R. McIntire. The setting of the story is the rugged coast of Cornwall, England, in the year 1860. Frederick, through a misunderstanding by his nurse, was bound to serve the pirates until his twenty-first birthday. Frederick had been born on the twenty-ninth of February and therefore he was forced to serve the king until 1940. The Opera proved to be a high success and it was enjoyed by all who attended.

The primary function of this group is the advancement of Eastern's athletic program. While exercising full control over expenditures, athletic equipment, and schedules it grants awards to worthy participants and acts on the advisability of advancing emblems to other extra curricular activities.

COACHES

Row 1: M. Morrison,
R. Altenhof, W.
Edgerton, J. Burnham.

Row 2: C. Spitler, B.
McCann, D. Wheeler,
R. A. Winston.

Any athletic success enjoyed by teams of Eastern High School must be ascribed in very great measure to the respective coaches. It is through the patience and cooperation of each coach with his team that it is changed from an inexperienced group to a perfectly functioning machine striving for victory. The greatest pleasure any coach receives is the listing of his team in the winning column at the season's end.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

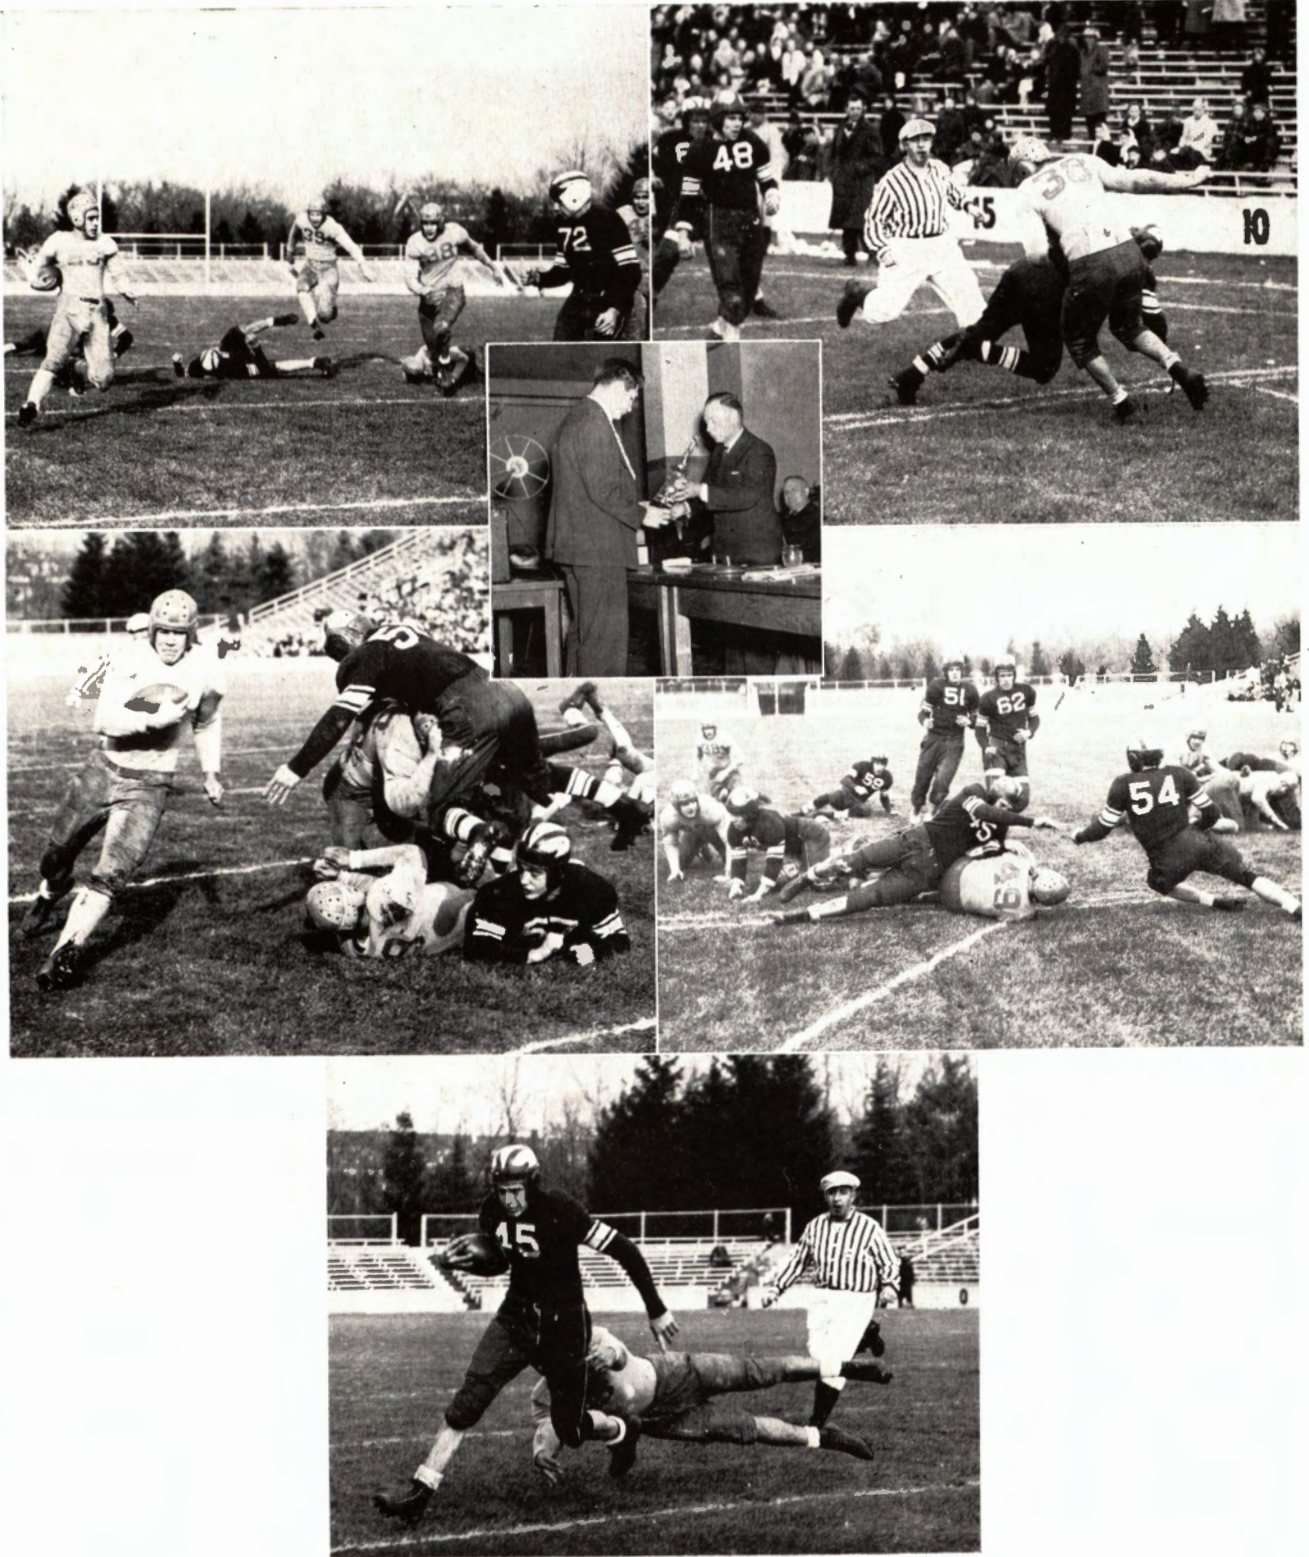

Row 1: W. Wood, R. Castellani, H. Whipple, V. Corey, D. Brewer, M. Morrison, coach, T. Devlin, C. Lewis, B. Hanley, D. Webster.
 Row 2: J. Burnham, coach, R. Munn, B. Siedelberg, D. Ernsberger, Ed McClernan, D. Smith, F. Smith, W. Korroch, R. Tiedman, C. Surato, B. McCann, coach.
 Row 3: B. Rich, A. Moshkoski, E. Kamins, manager, D. Hardy, J. Assid, C. Taschner, A. Turik, B. Bruegger, D. Massuch, A. Abent, K. Hope, T. Petroff, K. Taylor.

Eastern's Quakers enjoyed a successful season with six wins and two losses. Starting off without many regulars back the Quakers molded a potent gridiron machine as the scores show, losing its only two games to two of the most powerful teams in the state.

THE GREAT DAY

That day set a record which will be the goal of future Eastern High football teams. On this day Eastern defeated its cross town rivals by the record score of 26-0. This was our first game with "new" Sexton, alias "old" Central.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

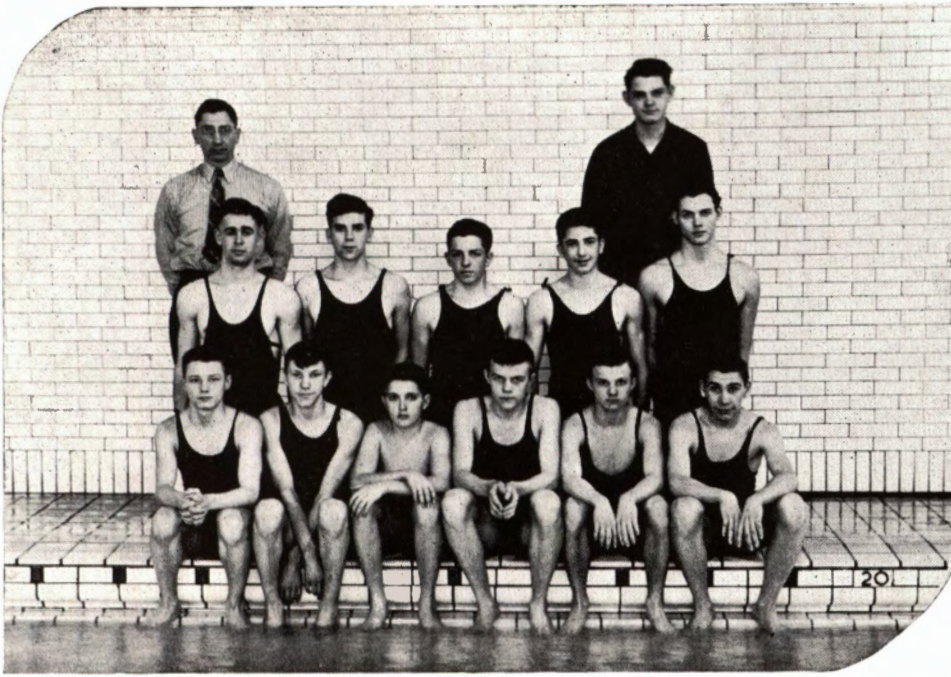

Row 1: W. Wood, S. Terranova, A. Abent, R. Castellani, B. Siedelberg, T. Petroff.
Row 2: R. Altenhof, coach, D. Massuch, C. Taschner, C. Valkanoff, M. Estee,
B. Bruegger, D. Eldredge, manager. Not pictured—E. McClernan.

The Quaker basketball team enjoyed one of their best seasons in recent years. Coach Ray Altenhof's quintet brought Eastern its first undisputed 5-A League title in ten years. Opening with Kalamazoo, the Quakers conquered them 24-17. After losing to the Quakers, the Maroons hit their stride, which carried them into the state finals. Then journeying to Flint Central with Coach Altenhof remaining home with the flu, the Eastern team, under the substitute coaching of Cadwell Spitler, downed a strong Flint Central team 31-20. Returning from Christmas vacation the Quakers opened their 5-A League season with resounding victory over Ann Arbor 32-21. With high hopes the team encountered Muskegon on the Reds' court and were dealt a stunning upset, 27-23. Coming back from this defeat strongly, the Quakers copped their second 5-A League game at Jackson.

A thrilling game was enjoyed by the Easternites as the strong Sexton quintet was defeated in the last few minutes by a fighting Eastern team 26-25. In the last game of the semester the fans witnessed the final performance of Chris Valcanoff, Dick Massuch, Ed McClernan, and Arnold Abent who paced the team throughout the first semester. They finished their colorful career with a victory over the Bearcats of Battle Creek. With the help of many newcomers and reserves, a revamped Eastern lineup crushed Ann Arbor 45-30. They then played a brilliant game against Jackson, winning only to be handed their only 5-A League setback of the season by their cross-town rival, Sexton, on the Big Reds' court. Ending their victorious season of 9 wins against 2 losses the Quakers downed Battle Creek. In the State Tournaments, Eastern was downed by Jackson 39-34, who was not stopped until the semi-finals.

SWIMMING

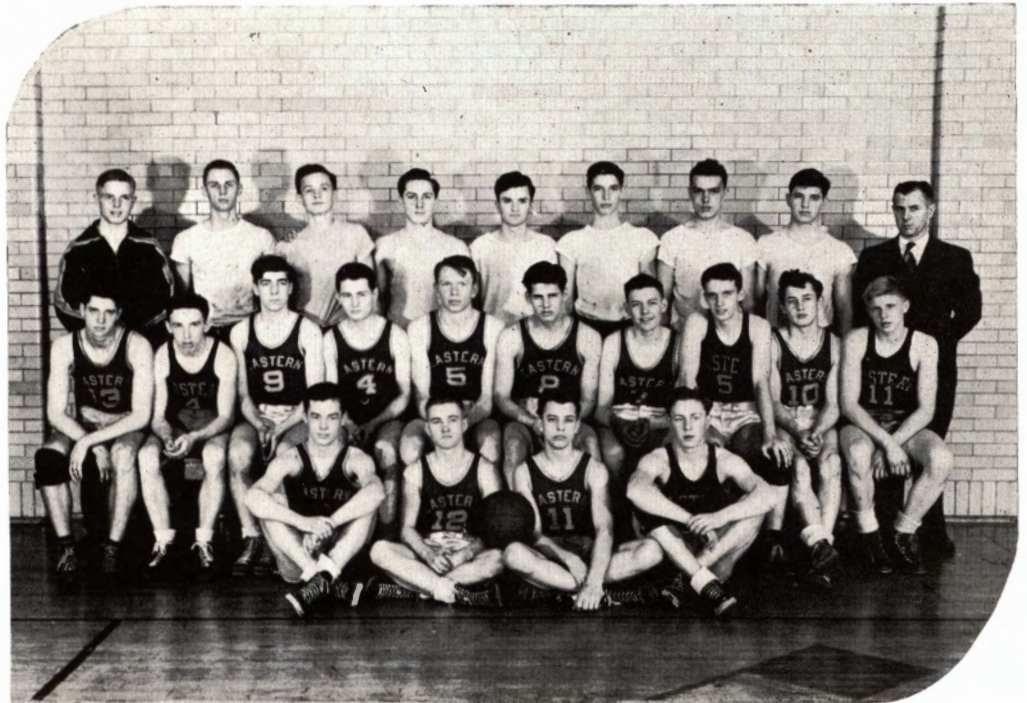

Row 1: B. Salin, D. Guernsey, T. Lakins, D. Paulsin, S. Gibb, G. Stevenson.

Row 2: B. Lloyd, R. Mercer, C. Tyler, T. Ballas, J. Perry.

Row 3: R. A. Winston, coach, C. Benson.

Coach Winston's tank men suffered many hardships this past season. Their practice was delayed several weeks due to a default in the chlorine mechanism. Graduation dealt a hard blow to their success in that only two lettermen returned from last year's team. The Quaker mermen suffered five losses during the season in which two defeats were inflicted on them by Jackson, 60-24 and 59-25, while the State Champions from Battle Creek downed the Eastern team in the third dual meet 59-25. In the 5-A League meet Eastern finished third behind Battle Creek and Jackson. Largely through the efforts of Gordon "Termite" Stevenson who finished second in the one hundred yard breast stroke, the Quakers placed ninth in the state meet.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

Row 2: J. Anderson, E. Roiser, R. Whipple, P. Gates, B. Benedict, A. McClernan, B. Henderson, R. Little, C. Quick, E. Leiby.

Row 3: H. Gates, manager, B. Swets, J. Nixon, B. Fleming, N. Ricketts, V. Hosler, J. Wickem, D. Sterans, S. Spitler, coach.

Displaying Quaker spirit a group of Sophomore Basketeers made themselves outstanding. After the mid-term graduation this group was promoted, strengthening the varsity squad but definitely weakening the Reserves outfit. Due to Coach Spitler's tremendous effort Coach Altenhof will be able to utilize the group in setting up the coming year's team.

CROSS COUNTRY

Row 1: J. Hoover, M. Estee, D. Summers, D. MacIntosh, W. Graham, B. Marklewitz, J. York (captain).

Row 2: B. Smith, R. Clark, B. Wiese, H. Schlichting, J. Frazee, Mr. Winston (coach).

Embarking upon the 1943 season with an inexperienced group of boys, Coach Winston nevertheless, succeeded in shaping out a well balanced squad of harriers. Returning from four contests with the spoils of victory, while winning second place in the 5-A League, a seventh place in the state meet crowned an unexpectedly successful year.

RESERVE FOOTBALL

Row 1: G. Trowbridge, B. Babcock, C. Tyler, M. Crandall, B. Henderson, R. Divine, J. Jarrad, F. Webb.

Row 2: D. Havens, L. Hekhuis, D. Belding, S. Terranova, R. Vederese, C. Seger, C. Kennedy.

Row 3: G. Cousins, J. Wickem, V. Hosler, F. Crippen, J. Deady, E. Fronczak, R. Wipple, A. Feguer, R. Harris.

Row 4: R. Whitford, E. King, G. Thomas, R. Himelewicz, V. Davis, W. Bailey, T. Ballas, V. Anderson, E. Kamins.

Row 5: W. C. Spittler (coach), F. Harns, D. Letherman, J. Rowlett, W. Guernsey, R. Altenhof (coach).

The reserve football squad as usual played their games in the worst of weather—wading in mud and bouncing on frozen ground, getting experience the hard way, hoping someday to be on the varsity eleven. In their annual game the Sophomore team beat the Junior team 7-6.

GOLF

Row 1: S. Malatensky, D. Wheeler, G. Stevenson.

Row 2: W. Wood, N. Pollard, M. Estee, T. Powis, M. Morrison (coach).

TENNIS

Row 1: E. Dychoff, J. Duncan, F. Crippen, D. Stephens, D. Havens, L. Scutt, K. Kelly.

Row 2: A. Dalrymple, B. Freeman, T. Glogofsky, R. Clark, D. Jewell, N. Joseph, E. Kulpa.

Row 3: E. Deady, J. Swets, B. Hanley, B. Highfill, D. Miller, K. Maclean, D. Ernsberger, R. Altenhof (coach).

CHEER LEADERS

Row 1: R. Whitford, J. Bates, T. Powis, E. Roiser.

Row 2: B. Bahan, G. Lieby, F. Shepard, T. Goyt.

TRACK

Row 1: H. Ward, B. Bradley, H. Schlicting, B. Bailey, F. Verderese, D. MacIntosh, D. Sherman.
Row 2: M. Estee, W. Graham, J. Frazee, D. Summers, B. Bruegger, T. Devlin, B. McFadden.
Row 3: J. Hoover, H. Gates, D. Bauer, D. Wheeler, R. Young, G. Couzens, R. Payne, D. Smith, R. A. Winston (coach).
Row 4: H. Pinksa, D. Paulson, D. Leatherman, B. Bruinsma, G. DeFeyter, B. Smith, D. Barton.

Track is no longer an individual sport as there are many events that call for team work. With one of their largest squads W. Edgerton and R. A. Winston are hitching their wagon to a goal of victories.

BASEBALL

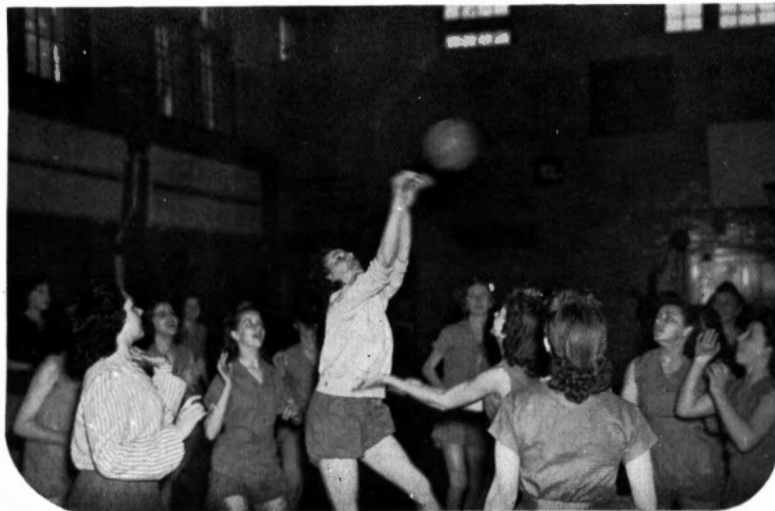

Row 1: D. Webster, C. Seeger, R. Whitford, R. Castellani, S. Terranova, H. Yeo, P. Palmer, A. Kern, J. Fleming.
Row 2: B. Nixon, E. Leiby, W. Wood, L. Hekhuis, V. Davis, M. Barr, J. Assid, T. Petroff, G. Thomas.
Row 3: R. Peterson, B. Price, R. Divine, C. Quick, B. Benedick, C. Schurman, J. Jarrad, N. Ricketts, B. Burt, K. Leiby.
Row 4: J. Burnham (coach), A. Fritz, K. Briggs, D. Brooks, J. Anderson, R. Oliver, J. Fenner, J. Deady, R. Medlock, B. Mitchell, D. Poole, R. Bononson, Mr. Spitler (coach).

When you hear the cry "Batter up" you will know that the Quakers will be right in there pitching. With few regulars back, the coaches have a hard job ahead of them but they are sure to lead the team to a victorious season.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Bathing beauties and actresses of the future require muscular coordination in their movements and dances. In order to obtain this they must go through vigorous and tiring exercises. It has been proved that dieting alone can not give a trim figure. Sometimes we fail to appreciate fully what some of the slender beauties have gone through to be gifted with such divine forms.

In preparing for the future, whether in the home or the office, health and physical development are the basic requirements for success. Under the able direction of Miss Anderson and Miss Rossow this is carried out, not only through calisthenics but through various sports.

TIMBER

"Timber!" "Oh, she missed the strike." "That's 'O.K.,' let's pick up the spare, it's not a split, easy does it." "Oh, darn it, it went right down the gutter!"

This is what happens at the Strand bowling alleys as Eastern's girls are trying to make bowling their favorite sport.

WHO'S WHO IN QUAKER SPORTS

This last season has seen many outstanding athletes rise to glory under Eastern's colors heaping fame and respect on our already proud name, and emblazoning in our records a mark never to be erased. Our powerful football and basketball squads carried a victorious Eastern banner to innumerable foreign fields and courts.

Truly can it be said that this last season has been a successful one—one to be remembered for some time in the hearts of our graduates.

FOOTBALL

"Bully" Dick Brewer, who has now entered the Marine Corps, paced the Quakers through the season with his superlative blocking and powerful running. Often the opposition were set back on their heels by his tremendous punts. His efforts were awarded by being made honorary captain.

"Ron" Tiedeman held his own as a brutal tackle. Many times he sifted through the opposing line to bring down the ball carrier.

"Ed" McClernan played a consistent game at his end position and portrayed his versatility by also playing tackle in several games.

"Blind" Dick Massuch put on one of the most brilliant performances of the year. After injuring a knee severely in practice a few weeks before, he hobbled into the Sexton game to kick a point after the touchdown. After kicking the first point, the team was penalized fifteen yards for holding. At this point he kicked an extra point from twenty yards out.

"Bull-legged" Bob Bruegger gave that extra punch that was needed to push the pigskin over the goal. Besides calling the plays, "Bullet" Bob galloped down the gridiron from his wingback position. Bob was well-known in the state for his leadership of Eastern's powerful team.

TRACK

Don Sherman running for Eastern placed in the 100 yard dash and the 220 sprints. He represented Eastern in the State Meet at Michigan State College.

Frank Verderese, also representing Eastern, won a fast 440 race.

SWIMMING

Jim Perry and Ralph Mercer paced the mermen through the season and were given the honor of being co-captains of the tank squad.

Gordon Stevenson, to climax the season, made a brilliant finish in the 100 yard breast stroke at the state meet, in which he finished a strond second.

BASKETBALL

Chris Valkanoff hit the meshes for seventy points in the first semester of basketball. His outstanding performance came as the Quakers were subdued by the Muskegon Reds. In this game Chris chalked up eighteen of the twenty-three Quaker points.

Arney Abent, who did not play regular but saw a great deal of service with the team, entered the Navy upon graduation in February.

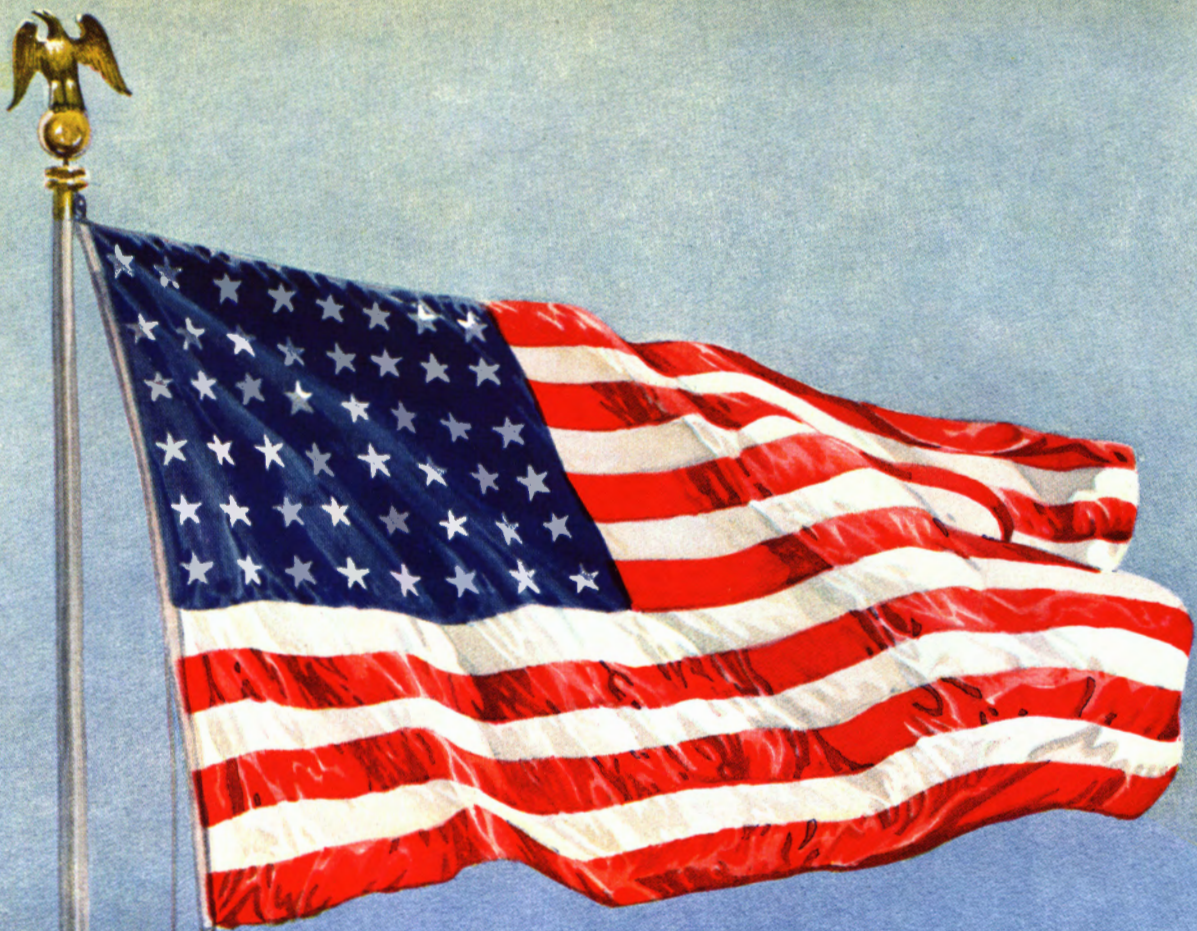

Bud Siedelberg paced the Quakers from his guard position by his stellar dribbling and uncanny basket shooting. He was placed on the all 5-A League squad.

BASEBALL

Rudy Castellani pitched brilliantly for the Quakers throughout the season. The veteran hurled a three-hitter against the Vikings of Jackson.

Tommy Petroff's bat produced many runs that brought victories to the Eastern ball club.

Ward Wood highlighted the season with a brilliant no-hit, no-run game against our neighbor Resurrection.

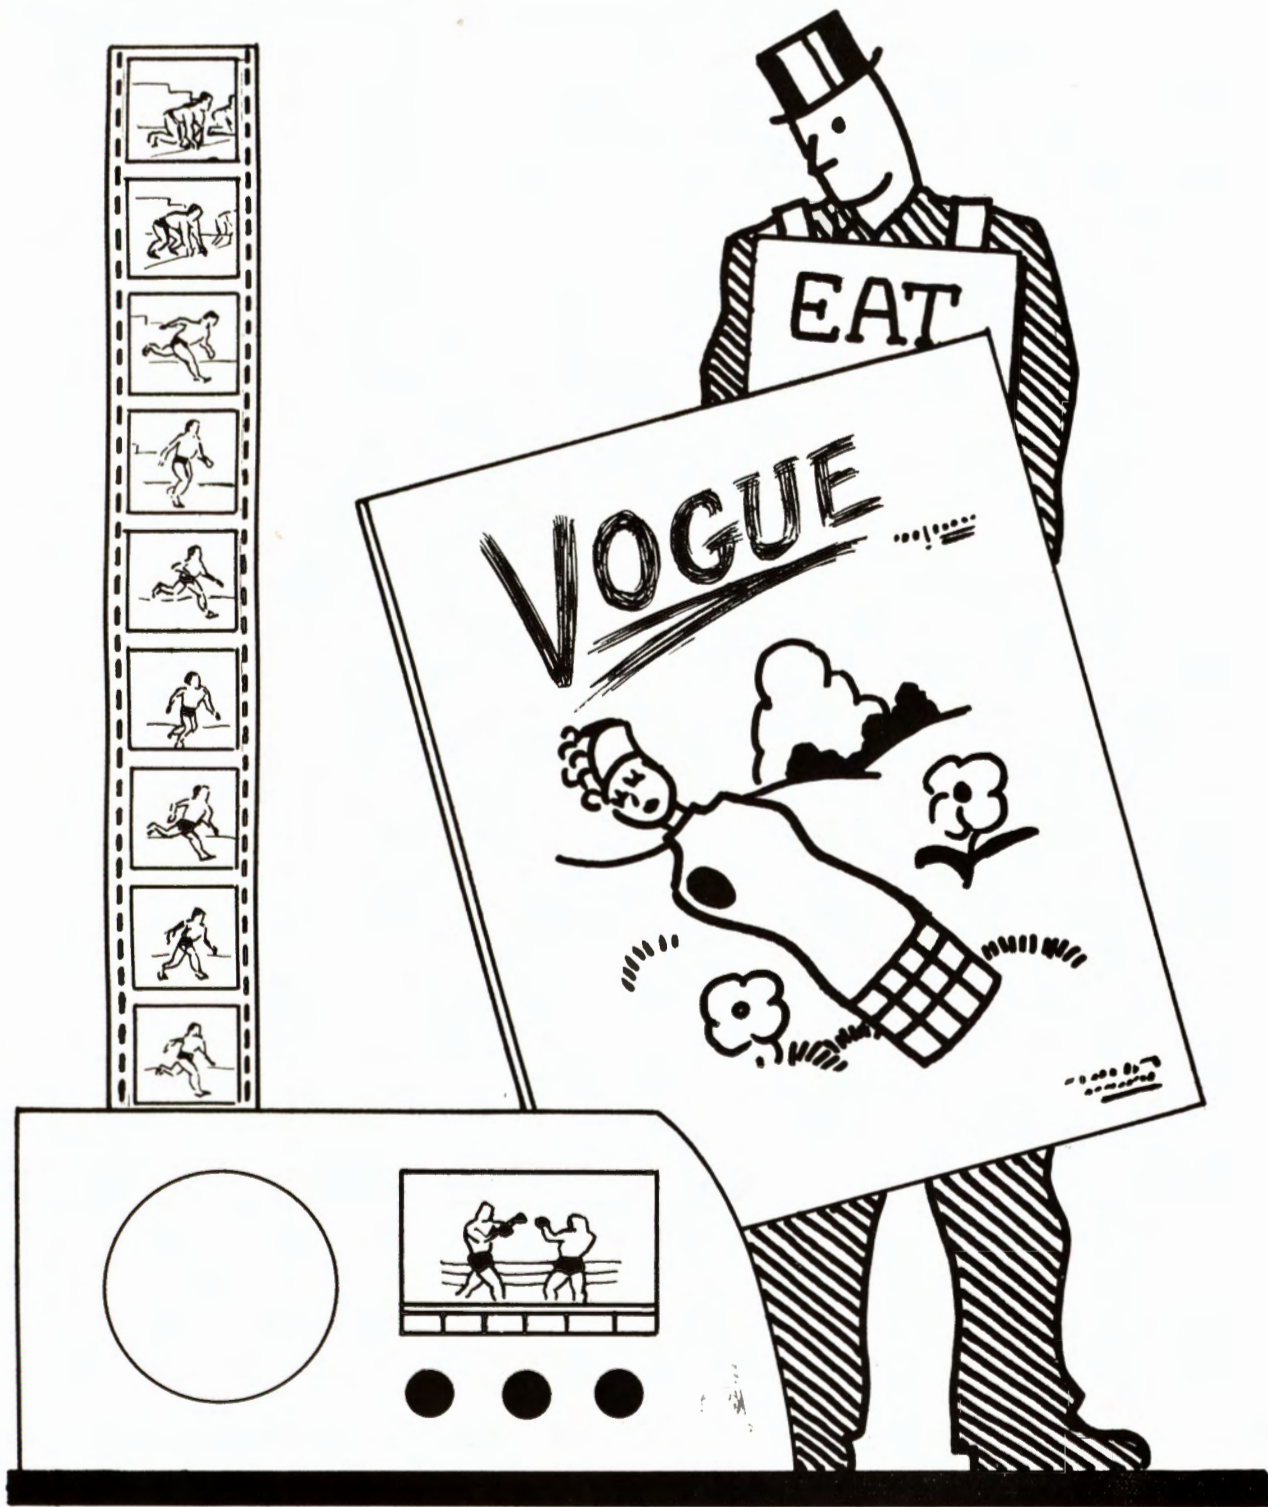

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all”

DEDICATED TO MEN OF EASTERN
WORLD WAR II

*When Mars in all his fury would descend upon His flock,
My Shepherd should endow with strength the choicest of His stock,
Present for them His standards, abet them on the plain,
That when the pall was lifted, might they endless peace
sustain;
Whence the inspiration of the men, below, on high,
As yet a-sea, resigned to win, oppression to defy.
May calm adorn their glories all, and them that death con-
strains;
For from these seeds though sown in gore, we reap the ripest grains.*

ADVERTISING

The doing of my share to promote the 1944 Lantern has been a privilege. I have thoroughly enjoyed working with my fellow members of the staff. To the faculty advisers, I want to express my sincere thanks for their words of wisdom and encouragement. Our yearbook will be a financial success due to the cooperative spirit of our students, the faculty business adviser and the business firms of our city. My responsibility is shared with Jeanne Hunt, the Assistant Business Manager, who has contributed greatly to the success of our publication. Together, we hope the students of Eastern High School will enjoy their yearbook as much as we have enjoyed doing our part to make it a success.

Dawn Kittel,
Business Manager
— 1944 Lantern

As Advertising Manager of the 1944 Lantern, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the business men and citizens of Lansing for their whole-hearted cooperation in sponsoring the 1944 edition of our yearbook. In trying to do our share in cooperating with the War Production Board it became necessary to change from the traditional type of advertising to a sponsorship form. This was done primarily to conserve space thereby effecting a saving in the use of paper. We hope the students, parents and patrons of our school will approve of this departure. Much of the success of this section of The Lantern can be attributed to my assistants, Yvonne Burcham and Jack Bates. It is the wish of the Lantern Staff that our students be as loyal to our sponsors as they have been in showing their loyalty to us.

Two country boys were kicking a football around one day. One of them kicked it into a neighboring yard, where there were some chickens. The rooster walked up to it, looked it over, and said to the hens: "Girls, I'm not complaining, but look at the work they're turning out over in the other yard."

Mr. Williams went into a restaurant and ordered a vegetable dinner. When the waitress brought his order, he took a handful of string beans and began rubbing them into his hair. The waitress, alarmed, said, "But, Sir, you are rubbing your string beans in your hair!" He answered, "Oh, I'm sorry—I thought it was my mashed potatoes."
