- The Capital Area Reads campaign ended with the Imbolo Mbue event at the Lansing Center on April 28.
- Outreach Librarian Jill Abood led a stop animation program at the Leslie Branch where participants could create a movie set, film it and then take home what they created. It was a great program.
- The RFP for a feasibility study has been posted on the City of Mason website. CADL staff will take part in the interviews along with City of Mason staff. The project was originally scheduled for some time in 2018. It will now occur in 2019.
- Downtown Lansing, South Lansing and Okemos branches have had issues with petitioners trying to gather signatures in the library or right outside the doors of the library. Scott did talk to the petitioners’ supervisor and asked that they first talk to a staff member before gathering signatures so that staff can direct them to the correct areas.
- Public Services Librarian Anne Rau retired in May. The Board signed a letter that will be sent to Anne thanking her for all the wonderful work she did during her time at CADL.
- The Grow with Google programs are continuing with partnerships between CADL, the Small Business Development Center and Lansing Community College in offering classes to small business owners. Scott mentioned that he highlighted these programs at the meetings with Senator Stabenow and Representative Bishop during ALA’s National Legislative Day. Scott invited both to attend a Grow with Google class when they are in Michigan.

- Scott sent the letter to Ingham County Treasurer Eric Schertzing that the Board saw at the April Board meeting. Scott and the Treasurer had a very good conversation about the issues CADL was experiencing and the steps that the Treasurer’s Department is taking in resolving them.
- CADL did receive a FOIA request from the group American Transparency for the job title and wages of all employees. This is a very common request that many municipalities in Michigan have received. CADL did comply with the request.
- Scott mentioned that he received a very nice card from Williamstown Township supervisor Wanda Bloomquist congratulating him on all the successful services that were highlighted in CADL’s 2017 Annual Report.
- The Director’s Award in May was given to Holt’s Public Services Librarian Aneesa Iqbal. Aneesa is a fantastic employee who continues to offer innovative programs at the Holt Branch.

PUBLIC, STAFF, AND BOARD MEMBER COMMENTS

- Deb Bloomquist thanked the Management Team for attending the annual report presentations at the municipalities.
- Marge Bossenbery asked if CADL is getting a new outside book drop for Downtown Lansing. The Downtown Lansing Branch has had issues with the book drop leaking, so a cover was added to the top. A new book drop will be installed at a later date.
- Jeff Croff commented that he saw on Facebook that a family started a Go Fund Me campaign for a Downtown Lansing patron who passed away. The purpose of the campaign is the raise enough money so that the patron can have his name added to the Donor Tree in the lobby. Jeff commended the work of the Downtown Lansing staff.
