2. Inclusivity Workgroup Update
   The CADL Inclusivity Workgroup is a combination of staff at all levels and from a variety of branches. The workgroup meets monthly and subcommittees have been developed to research the following topics:
   1) Staff Training
      a. This subcommittee has developed new hire training where staff take the Harvard Implicit Bias Test and discuss why it’s important and their impressions with the trainer. For the July Board meeting, Board members will be taking the Harvard Implicit Bias Test and discussing it at the meeting.
      b. Staff are also working on a quarterly book club where the focus is on making staff more aware of diversity among authors, titles, and subjects.

   2) Library Services for Persons with Dyslexia
      a. October is Dyslexia Awareness Month. To help promote library services and collections for those with dyslexia, this subcommittee is working on book lists, display recommendations and podcast guests throughout that will be promoted throughout the month of October.
      b. The age groups that CADL will initially focus on are K-3rd grade.
3) Land Acknowledgement
   a. This is a long-term project. To begin, the subcommittee is working on potential programs and speakers to raise awareness and recognize the ancestral, traditional, and contemporary stewards of the lands in which our libraries and communities reside. CADL will be looking at what other libraries and universities have done as a starting point.

4) MBE/WBE Recommendations
   a. The goal of this subcommittee is to broaden CADL’s diversity of suppliers by raising awareness of the library for minority-owned and women-owned businesses in our service area. Whether it’s having the businesses view CADL as a potential customer or as a partner in promoting their services, we want to build relationships not only with minority and women owned businesses, but also veteran-owned, LGBTQ-owned and persons with disabilities owned businesses.
