If a man wants tew get at his aktual dimensions let him visit a grave-yard.

If any man wants tew be an old bachelor, and get sick at a boarding tavern, and have a back room in the 4th story, and a red-haired chamber maid bring his water gruel to him in a tin wash-basin, I have alwus sed, and I stick to it yet, he has got a perfect rite to go it.

Owing to the high price and scarcity of veal in Nu York sitty, meny of the first families are using artificial calves. They say it helps to finish out the leg of mutton fast rate.

If yew want to save trouble and expense, buy your carpets of I. H. Fonda & Co.

When a man loses his helth, then he fust begins to take care of it. This is good judgment! This is!

It is getting so now-a-daze if a man can't cheat in some way he ain't happy.

Success in life iz apt to make us forget the time when we wasn't much. It is so with the frog on the jump, he can't remember that he was a tadpole—but other folks can.

If you want tew save trouble and expense, buy your carpets of I. H. Fonda, & Co.,

When you buy your groceries, remember that Easelstyn's is the place tew go for he has all kinds.

An individual tew be a fine gentleman, has either got to be born so or be brought up to it from infancy; he kante learn suddenly any more than he can learn to talk injun korreclty by practicing on a tommyhawk.

"Papa," said a little urchin to his father the other day, "I saw an editor go down street the other day."

"Did you, sonny? How did you know he was an editor?"

"Cause I did."

"But, my son, he might haya been a carpenter, a blacksmith, or a shoemaker."

"Oh, no, papa, he was an editor, for he was gnawing a bone, he had no stockings on, the crown was out of his hat, and his coat was torn. I am sure he was an editor."

Had this man just stepped into the store of Hitchcock & Co., at a trifling expense, he could have saved himself from that vile insult.

DETROIT WHITE LEAD.—It will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere, that the white lead used in painting the north wing of the Russell House, that part fronting on Michigan avenue, is of home manufacture, having been made at the Detroit White Lead Works of Messrs. Worcester, Laible, & Standish. The building is particularly distinguishable for its remarkable whiteness, and has been universally admired. The testimony of two practical painters, employed in painting the building, is that the Detroit white lead is of superior body and better covering qualities to that used on the remainder of the building for the outside coat. This is a worthy testimonial to home manufacture.—Advertiser and Tribune.

Pure Peninsula Lead is unsurpassed in whiteness, fineness, and durability. It is whiter, more finely ground, and contains greater body and duration than any White Lead in the United States.

Sold by Brisbin & Conely, Agents for Detroit White Lead Works.

TRUE MERIT NEEDS NO PRAISE.

This is the case with the Tremont House, Jackson. The well-known reputation of the hosts of this popular house could not be bettered by anything we might say. Mr. F. L. Soren, has been connected with hotels for nearly twelve years; and has, during that time, been employed in most of the First Class Houses of the State. L. D. Hurd, has long been known as the Landlord of the Tremont. This, we think, is a sufficient guarantee that they know "how to keep a Hotel," and we but reiterate the sentiments of all who may have had the pleasure of stopping with them, when we say: "They are the right men and in the right place." Those who may have business in Jackson cannot find a better House for the same price than the Tremont. Give them a call.

A radical change is about to be effected in the mode of shoeing horses in France. The old fashioned shoe is to be altogether discarded; the hoof of the horse will be allowed to grow naturally, and it will be protected against accidents and wear and tear by being enclosed in a thin circle of iron, which will preserve it from danger without compressing it.

J. L. SMITH, of the Star, favorably known as the leading first class Restaurant of Central Michigan, has recently associated with him P. H. CRISSMAN, of Grand Rapids, and the firm have removed the above Restaurant, from the Hinman Block, opposite the Capitol, to the 5th door north of 2d National Bank, on Washington Avenue, where they are prepared to serve Warm Meals at all hours, day and night. They have also a few pleasant rooms for the accommodation of transient guests. A large stock of choice Ales and Wines; also, pure Havana Cigars and best brand Tobacco always on hand. They also keep a good assortment of Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Candies, Nuts, Holiday Toys, etc. It is the only house in the city where Clams and Shell Oysters are kept; Can and Keg Oysters warranted fresh, at wholesale and retail. Farmers having produce to dispose of will find it to their advantage to stop at the "Star," where they will always get the highest market price in cash, for Butter, Eggs, Dried Fruits, Honey, etc., etc.

THE SUNKEN LAKE.—The Sentinel published at Jacksonville, Oregon, of the 12th ult., says: Several of our citizens returned last week from a visit from the Great Sunken Lake, situated in Cascade Mountains, about seventy-five miles north-east from Jacksonville. This lake rivals the famous valley of Sinbad the sailor. It is thought to average 2,000 feet down to the water all round. The walls are almost perpendicular, running down into the water, and leaving no beach. The depth of the water is unknown, and its surface is smooth and unruffled, and lies so far below the surface of the mountain that the air currents do not affect it. Its length is estimated at twelve miles, and its breadth at ten. No living man ever has, and probably never will be able to reach the water's edge. It lies silent, still and mysterious, in the bosom of the "everlasting hills," like a huge well, scooped out by the hands of the giant god of the mountain, in unknown ages gone by, and around it the primeval forests watch and ward are keeping. The visiting party fired a rifle several times into the water at an angle of forty-five degrees, and were able to note several seconds of time from the report of the gun until the ball struck the water. Such seems incredible but is vouched for by some of our most reliable citizens. The lake is certainly a most remarkable curiosity.

UNITED STATES CASUALTY.
 That system and management render everything possible is proved by the success which has been won by this company, even from misfortune. That all should mutually agree to afford relief and indemnity to any suffering from accidents to which every one is liable, is the principle upon which this association is based, and the skillful adjustment and consummate execution of the plan have made it a blessing to many and a source of profit to those who have embarked in the enterprise. As our only mutual accident company, —as one that has amassed during the short term of its existence a handsome surplus, and which, by the excellence of its organization and remarkable executive ability, has undoubted claims to general favor and confidence, we commend it to the favorable consideration of insurance agents and the insuring public, which should include all who are subject to accidents and have the wisdom to provide against their worst consequences.—N. Y. Insurance Monitor, for October, 1867.

Insurance effected on the lives of Horses and Cattle, by House, Jones & Porter, Lansing, Michigan.

CINCINNATI HOME FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

In the July number of the Monroe we alluded as delicately as possible to a communication from a highly respectable source, charging some of the officers of this company with borrowing $103,000 in U. S. bonds, merely for the sake of defeating the Illinois insurance law. This accusation is reiterated more circumstantially in the St. Louis Insurance Review. How long will the company remain content to lie under this infamous imputation, including perjury and a shameless betrayal of public confidence? We shall be only too happy to open our columns to a refutation of a charge so damaging to its interests and which ought to be no longer ~~enforced~~ unchallenged.—N. Y. Insurance Monitor, for October, 1867.

"Julia, here are two cakes—one for you and one for Mary. Mary don't want hers now, and you may carry it for her till we get home." After a while the mother observed that Miss having already disposed of one. Of course she thought it was time to speak.

"Julia, whose cake are you eating?"
"Mine, ma." "And where is Mary's?"
"Why, I eat hers up first."

A paper tells of a visit to a cave near Augusta, Ga. While the party were within, investigating the gloomy interior, there was noticed an old colored man standing on the outside, who was asked: "Say, uncle, why don't you go into the cave?" "Ah, my master,"
said he, "de Lord knows I see trouble

Quilp, seeing his friend bow to an

WORKING MASONs.

We fully endorse the views of our cotemporary as expressed in the following article:

"Included under the general head of Freemasons, there are several varieties of craftsmen, of which it is well, occasionally, to 'take due notice.' It is not a difficult task on visiting a lodge, and comparing the names of those present with the names on the roll of members, to divide the latter at once into two classes—the working Masons, and the idle ones—let us look at them and note their characteristics. The working Mason is one who not only feels a deep interest in the welfare of the lodge and the general prosperity of the Order, but proves by his acts the reality and sincerity of that feeling. He is present at every meeting of his lodge, unless prevented by duties which have a still higher claim on him—his duty to his country, to his family, or his God. We do not mean by working Masons, particularly, one who takes a part in what is technically known as the work of the lodge—that is the rituals, or the conferring of degrees; but one who regularly attends his lodge, and while there discharges any duty that may be assigned to him. If nothing of this kind falls to his lot, he is still attentive to the proceedings, gives his counsel and advice to preserve the harmony and prosperity of the lodge, and is competent to fill any station where he may be required for the time being. This is a working Mason.

"Now for the idle: They go to the lodge when summoned, or when there is some great occasion, or when they have to pay dues to avoid being suspended, and scarcely ever at any other time. And even then they feel no interest in the lodge, unless that interest should center upon themselves. They attend so rarely that they are not qualified to do anything when they are present, and as soon as the special object of the visit is accomplished, they ask permission to retire, they wish to go to the theatre, or to a political meeting, or to meet a business friend, etc. These are generally very worthy men, industrious, thriving, honorable, but they are not working Masons.

"It would be interesting and furnish a curious exhibit, to know what portion of the members of lodges are working Masons. Say in a lodge of one hundred members, how many are regular attendants? Are there twenty-five, or one-fourth? We doubt if, in a large majority of the lodges, there are more than that number; now if we set aside as many more who have legitimate excuses for non-attendance, there will remain just fifty per cent. of drones! The remaining members may be called working Masons."

NEWSPAPER.—In a lecture upon newspapers, delivered in Philadelphia by Rev. Dr. Witt Talmadge, he said:

"I now declare that I consider the newspapers to be the grand agency by which the Gospel is preached, ignorance cast out, oppression dethroned, crime extirpated, the world raised, heaven rejoiced, and God glorified. In the clanking of the printing press, as sheets fly out, I hear the voice of the Lord Almighty proclaiming to all the dead nations of the earth, 'Lazarus, come forth!' and to the retreating surges of darkness, 'Let there be light!'"

"Will you have a daily Sun?" said a news boy to Mrs. Partington. "Will you have a daily son? Why, you little scamp! How dare you insult against a lone woman! No, indeed—I guess I won't have a daily son. My dear, poor husband used to complain awfully when I presented him with a yearly son, indeed! Begone, you little upstart imp!" And the old lady called for the turkey-tail fan to keep from swooning.

A genius living in California made a nerve and bone all-healing salve, and thought he would experimentalize a little with it. He first cut off his dog's tail and applied some of the salve to the stump. A new tail grew out immediately. He then applied some to the place of tail which he cut off, and a new dog grew out. He did not know which dog was which.

"How do you and your friends feel now?" said an exultant politician in one of our Western States, to a rather irritable member of the defeated party. "I suppose" said the latter, "we feel just like Lazarus did when he was licked by dogs."

A young lady after reading attentively the title of a novel called the "Last Man," exclaimed: "Bless me! if such a thing should happen, what would become of the women?" We think a more pertinent inquiry is, "what would become of the poor man?"

A band of Indians made a sudden attack on a detachment of our soldiers in the mountains. The soldiers had a mountain howitzer, mounted on a mule. Not having time to take it off and get it in position, they backed up the mule and let drive at the Indians. The load was so heavy that mule and all went tumbling down the hill toward the savages, who, not understanding that kind of warfare, fled like deer. Afterward one of them was captured, and when asked why they run so, replied: "Me big Injun, not afraid of little guns or big guns, but when a white man load up and fire a whole jackson at Injun, me don't know what to do."

One of the unfailing sources of comfort on a cold day, is a Key Stone Stove.

Don't you know that people are rejecting elevated Reservoirs, and are buying those that are on a level with the top of the stove?

If you should ax us if we have any axes, we would ax you yes; and ax you if you want a good axe. Then if you should ax us the price of our axes, we would ax you from $1.35 to $3.00 an axe.

"EAT, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow ye may die." This is an old saying, and should it be true, we know of no better place to begin than at the Star Restaurant, on Washington Av. This place is under the control of old and experienced caterers, who have made it their business for years, and as they are both gentlemen, we have no hesitancy in recommending them to the public.

Persons wishing to purchase Lamps, should not fail to call and see the splendid assortment just received by A. R. Thayer.

At a crowded concert, a young lady standing at the door of the hall, was addressed by an honest fibernian who was in attendance, "Padade, Miss, I should be glad to give you a seat, but the empty ones are all full."

GERMAN IMMIGRATION.

The increasing immigration from Germany to the United States, says the Philadelphia Press, is accounted for by foreign journalists, as arising from the fear, of the new Bund, and more particularly of Prussia, that a vast increase in the army will be requisite to carry out the ambitious projects of Count Bismarck. As it is, every able-bodied man in Prussia must begin life with a certain amount of military service. A pressing conscription would almost ruin the peasantry, as well as the skilled artisans in the cities and towns of Prussia. Hence the strong flow of the tide of immigration to this country. These Germans are industrious, saving, well conducted, and fairly educated. They have a passion for music and a penchant for lager, but generally speaking, exhibit few of the flagrant vices which fill our calendar of crime. If there were any means short of actually prohibiting immigration, it is almost certain that Count Bismarck would put it into operation. As it is, thanks to his ambition, Prussia loses and we gain a large and excellent description of industrious Germans.

It is well said that whisky is a non-conductor, because it never conducted wealth into a man's pocket, happiness to his family, or respectability to his character. In all these things it has proved a non-conductor and therefore it is best to let it alone.

HONESTY.—An honest man is able to speak for himself, when a knave is not.—Shakespeare.

THE STUDY AND PRACTICE OF ECONOMY.—In times like these it behoves all classes to economize, to make a dollar go as far as possible; consequently it is an object with all, in purchasing any kind of goods, to find where the greatest bargains can be had. To those in want of Books, Bibles, (Family or Pocket) Prayer Books, Hymn Books, Photograph Albums, Pocket Diaries, Portfolios and Stationery of all kinds, we would suggest a place where great bargains are constantly being given to buyers—Bordwell's Bookstore, 106 Washington Avenue, opposite Capitol.

The special attention of Builders, Mechanics and Farmers, as well as all other consumers of Hardware, is called to the stock of goods kept by T. B. Thrift. There is not perhaps, a more carefully selected stock of general Hardware kept in any retail store in the State, than is to be found in this establishment. Mr. Thrift has made the hardware trade a specialty for several years, and feels confident in saying to the consumers of goods in his line, that he can give them better goods at lower prices, than any other establishment in the country. Call and see, at No. 106, Washington Avenue, opposite the Capitol.

ENGLISH LAND MONOPOLISTS.—In Ireland a deputation of progressivists have been holding energetic assemblies, and have, through Mr. Ernest Jones, caused a stirring revival of the "land question." Mr. Jones shows, among other interesting facts, that the 71,000,000 acres of land, in the three kingdoms are wholly in the possession of 34,000 owners; and adds some not more important, but rather more suggestive, details, proving the enormous power now wielded by an extremely limited number of property holders—such as that the Marquis of Bredellane can any day "ride one hundred miles in a straight line through his property from his own door;" that the Duke of Cleveland may do likewise for a distance of twenty-three miles; that the Duke of Richmond holds 3,000 acres in the heart of England; and that the Marchioness of Stafford not long ago wielded her power so unwisely as to deprive her tenants of nearly 800,000 acres, for the selfish purpose of turning their farms into deer forests or sheep walks.

Go and look at Bordwell's Wall Paper, Window Shades, (oil paper), before purchasing elsewhere.

A FISHING JAUNT.—An English nobleman who had heard glowing accounts of our blue fishing on the south side, became so enamored of it that he determined to visit the country to enjoy it. He crossed the Atlantic in a Cunard steamer, when he reached the dock he hired a hack to take him to the Long Island railroad depot, which was then at the South Ferry. He arrived when a train was about leaving, and stepped on board, went directly to Islip. There he fished for two weeks, having, fortunately, excellent luck. At the end of that time he returned by the early train to New York, took another hack from the depot and caught the same steamer that brought him over, in time to leave by her at 12 o'clock. In bidding America good by, he said that he had had delightful sport, and had enjoyed himself exceedingly, and thought he should come again. All he had seen of our land after a trip of a few thousand miles, was a few dirty streets and a strip of sand beach. He did not even take the trouble to spend a day in New York. All he came for was the fishing, and that was good enough to remunerate him.

We should have mentioned that he bought his fishing tackle of A. J. Veille, who always keeps a full assortment.

THE AWARDS AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

According to the previous authentic reports, fully corroborated by a dispatch just received at this office, four gold medals have been awarded to exhibitors of pianos at the Paris exposition. To Messrs. Broadwood, of London, a house nearly one hundred and forty years in existence, closely identified with the rise and progress of pianoforte manufacture, and still the most extensive firm in Europe, having done much for the social welfare of their workmen, a complimentary gold medal. Exhibit grand pianos only, parallel strings. To Messrs. Steinway & Sons, of New York, showing the greatest perfection in all three styles, grand, square and upright, and new and valuable inventions, representing the greatest progress in the art of pianoforte manufacture, a gold medal. All overstrung scale. To Messrs. Chickering & Sons, Boston, for great perfection in the old system of constructing grand pianos, with parallel strings, a gold medal. To Streicher, of Vienna, grand piano with overstrung scales, after the Steinway system, fourth gold medal.

The International Jury consisted of seven gentlemen, the United States not being represented. It is therefore a matter of no little pride to the musical public of America that the first and second gold medals, in order of merit, were awarded to this country. The above is a synopsis of the report of the Jury, which we shall give to our readers as soon as officially published and in our hands. We shall of course confine ourselves strictly to the award and doings of the Jury, decorations and orders being outside and personal matters, without the slightest connection with the merits of the instruments exhibited.

A cable telegram, dated Paris, July 14, informed the Messrs. Steinway & Sons, of this city, that, in addition to the First Gold Medal of Merit awarded to them by the International Jury at the Universal Exposition, the Société des Beaux Arts, after a careful examination and comparison of all the pianofortes exhibited, awarded to Messrs. Steinway & Sons their Grand Testimonial Medal for greatest perfection and novelty of construction in grand, square, and upright pianos. This voluntary testimonial, from a society of such high standing, is only second in importance to the verdict of the International Jury.—N. Y. Review.

MUSIC AT HOME.

The last campaign of the pianofortemakers in Paris exhibits many amusing traits. One of the funniest is undoubtedly the statement originating from the fertile brain of the mouth-piece of Messrs. Chickering & Sons, in New York, to the effect that our friend Liszt, according to these disinterested persons, had but two wishes in the world, namely, to see Niagara Falls and to play on a Chickering piano. We can readily understand that Liszt laughed heartily when he heard of this little extravagance; and we can also understand that the attempt to make his bust the means of a base reclame met with his greatest displeasure, just as it was looked upon by all respectable European papers, a class which, as a matter of course, does not include La France Musique.

WATCH, CLOCK & JEWELRY

REPAIRING, BY

B. P. RICHMOND,

In the CITY CROCKERY STORE, Wash. Avenue.

Engraving done on Short Notice

The attention of the people of Lansing and vicinity, is called to the advertisement of Messrs. Shattuck & Murphy, who have taken rooms over the store of D. G. Peck, and who propose to carry on the painting business in all its branches. They are both young men and good fellows, and we most heartily wish them the success their efforts most truly deserve.

The "Collon Dental Association" have during the past three years given the celebrated Laughing Gas, to over thirty thousand different patients, and without accident, Dr. Rockwell, whose advertisement will be found on this page, has introduced and is using it in this city, and with the experience of 2,000 cases, during a time of four years, and with a new and improved apparatus, will be found ready at all times to operate for such as may desire.

Call and see the names of those who have taken it during the past few months in this city, and be convinced.

"RICHMOND'S HIMSELF AGAIN."—Mr. B. P. Richmond, has located himself at the City Crockery store, where he is prepared to do all kinds of work in the jewelry line. Judging from the past, we predict that the time is not far distant, when he will be compelled to procure larger quarters. All those in want of anything in the line of repairing, engraving, &c., would do well to leave their orders with him.

It is with pleasure that we refer our readers to the advertisement of Mr. L. S. Jenison, of the "Union Market." He has by strict and careful dealing won for himself a reputation second to none; and it is his intention to continue to merit a share of the public patronage. "Jen" knows his business thoroughly, and makes it a rule to serve all alike. Those in want of anything in his line will do well to give him a call.

The custom prevails in Russia of cutting off the hair of a widow and burying it with the body of her husband. So rigorously is it practiced, that the blonde locks of the young and beautiful Countess de Mony were not spared, though she was the wife of a Frenchman. So exacting and barbarous a custom is almost enough to make a widow wish her husband back again.

LIFE.—Prior.

Thus we act; and thus we are,
Or tos'd by hope or sunk by care.
With endless pain this man pursues
What, if he gained, he could not use;
And t'other fondly hopes to see
What never was nor e'er shall be.
We err by use, go wrong by rules;
In gesture grave, in action fool:
We join hypocrisy to pride,
Doubling the faults we strive to hide.

MAN.—A man that is temperate, generous, valiant, Chaste, Faithful, and honest, may at the same time, have wit, humor, mirth, good-breeding, and gallantry. While he exerts these latter qualities, twenty occasions might be invented to show he is master of the other noble virtues.

RELIGION.—If we are told a man is religious, we still ask, what are his morals? But if we hear at first that he has honest morals, and is a man of natural justice and good temper, we seldom think of the other question, whether he be religious and devout?—Rutherford.

ACQUAINTANCE.—What makes us like now acquaintances is not so much any weariness of our old ones, or the pleasure of change, as disgust at not being sufficiently admired by those who know us too well, and the hope of being more so by those who do not know so much of us.—La Rochefoucauld.

ACTING.—It is hard to personate and act a part along; for where truth is not at the bottom, nature will always be endeavoring to return, and will peep out and betray herself one time or other.—Tillyson.

CHARACTER.—The best rules to form a young man are, to talk little, to hear much, to reflect alone upon what has passed in company, to distrust one's own opinions, and value others that deserve it.—Sir William Temple.

ACQUIREMENT.—That which we acquire with the most difficulty we retain the longest; as those who have earned a fortune are usually more careful than those who have inherited one.—Collon.

ACTING. There is no secret in the heart which our actions do not disclose. The most consummate hypocrite cannot at all times conceal the workings of the mind.—From the French.

ACQUAINTANCE.—It is good discretion not to make too much of any man at the first; because one cannot hold out that proportion.—Lord Bacon.

NEW WAY OF PRESERVING MILK.—
Gay Lassac has proved that milk kept from the air is preserved for a long time perfectly good. Profiting by this experience, says the London Merchant's Magazine, Mr. Maburn warms milk in a moderate temperature in a tin vessel, furnished with a tube of lead, to expel the air; then the tube is compressed, and the orifice is closed with solder. When the tank is used at the end of several months, it will be found desirable to stir up with it the cream which is formed on the upper part of the liquid. Mr. Maburn having laid this process before the Academy of Sciences for their examination, the committee report that milk thus preserved, after six months still possesses all the properties of fresh milk. A prize of fifteen hundred francs has been awarded to Mr. Ma-burn.

NEW MEAT MARKET.—Messrs. Carmichael & Stephenson have recently opened a shop on Michigan Avenue, two doors east of the Post Office, for the purpose of carrying on a business of this kind; and as they buy none but prime meat, their customers can rest assured they will be served with the best of everything in the country.
Success to the new Market.

A GOOD THING.—As will be seen by the advertisement of Mr. C. T. Marks, a gentleman who during his short stay with us, has already won the respect of all, we now have one of the best Omnibus and Hack lines in the State, and you can ride to any part of the city for a mere trifle. We understand that he has also opened in connection with the above business, a first class Livery and Sale Stable, where all who may wish anything in that line can be accommodated. Passengers conveyed to all parts of the country at reasonable rates.

NEW PLANING MILL.—Messrs. Burgess & Wolcott have recently opened an establishment of this character on River Street, a short distance east of the Lansing House, where they are prepared to do custom work at as reasonable rates, as any place in the city.
As everything is new, they cannot but do good work. Satisfaction always given.

An editor published a long leader on lage upbraids him for obtruding his family matters on the public.

THE COUNTERFEIT SEVEN-THIRTIES.—An employe in the secret service division of the Treasury Department gives the following description of the counterfeit $1,000 notes of the second series of seven-thirties recently put into circulation:

1st. The red seal in the counterfeit is larger than in the genuine, as will be seen by measurement, or—holding one of the notes through the seal. The projecting star points on the edge of the seal are blurred and uneven in comparison, and the whole seal is coarser than in the genuine.

2d. The border of the counterfeit is blurred and indistinct, while in the genuine the lathe-work is clear and regular.

3d. The best test and one that will enable any person familiar with bank notes to throw out the counterfeit at sight, is the border of the coupon. In the genuine the star comes out very clearly—in the counterfeit it is dark, blurred and indistinct. A critical comparison of all the lathe-work of the counterfeit and genuine (face and back) under a magnifying glass, will detect numerous points of difference, as well as features in the counterfeit, that would enable an expert, without comparison, to condemn it.

4th. In the vignette on the genuine, the arm of the female figure just touches the top of the P in "Pluribus," while in the counterfeit the sleeve covers all but the lower part or stem of the P.

THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE.—The Smithfield Times tells a story illustrative of the old saw, that "the course of true love never did run smooth." A young couple in Smithfield laid a plan to outwit the vigilance of cruel parents and elope. The sequel was thus: the youth stood beneath the window—the lady attempted to climb out—when, oh, horror, some one detained her from the rear! "Why dost thou not come, gentle Amelia?" She answered in an agitated voice, "I can't, Bill, mam's got hold of my tilters!"

"Wonders never cease." And this is particularly the case with Dart & Davis' Store. We often wonder what they ever intend to do with that enormous stock of Hardware!

So far as is known, the first steam-whistle was made by a workman named Adrian Stephens, at Dowlais, England, about 1832, and fitted to one of the boilers there as an alarm when the water fell short.

INSTRUMENTS REQUIRING STAMPS.

The following are the instruments to be stamped and the stamps to be used in ordinary business transactions. Cut this out and preserve it for reference:

All notes and evidences of debt, 5 cents on each $100; if under $100, 5 cents; if over $100, 5 cents on each additional $100 or part thereof.

All receipts for any amount without limit over $20, 2 cents; if $20 or under, nothing.

All deeds and deeds of trust, 50 cents on each $500 in value of the property conveyed or amount secured; when a deed of trust is duly stamped, the note secured need not be, but should be indorsed to show the reason why.

All appraisements of estates or estrays, 5 cents on each sheet or piece of paper.

Affidavits of every description are exempt from stamp duty.

Acknowledgment of deed, &c., are also exempt.

Contracts and agreements, 5 cents, except for rents; when for rent, 50 cents for $300 of rent or less; if over $300, 50 cents for each $200 or less over $300.

Any person interested can affix and cancel stamp.

HARDWARE.—As will be seen by advertisement, the old firm of A. N. Hart & Son, still continue to supply the market with every thing in this line. As they have been long and favorably known to the farmers and mechanics in this vicinity, anything we might add would be of but little avail; but we do know that this firm is composed of gentlemen of honor, and that they will do all that they advertise. For the truth of this, call upon them at their well furnished store on Franklin Street, Lower Town.

PAINTS AND ONS.—Those in want of anything in this line, will find it to their advantage to fall upon A. N. Hart & Son.

MATHEMOSY.—We would say to those contemplating anything of this kind, you had best call upon A. N. Hart & Son, and examine their splendid stock of Cooking Stoves.

TINWARE.—Anything you may want in the Tinware line, you will find at the establishment of A. N. Hart & Son. They always keep a large and complete assortment on hand.

THE HAIR TRADE.—The trade of the world in human hair is chiefly supplied from France; but Italy, Germany and Belgium are rapidly coming into competition with her. Nunneries and other religious houses supply large quantities. The price of undressed hair varies from $4.50 to $6 a pound, whilst in 1865 it was as high as $10 a pound. In France 150,000 pounds of human hair is sold annually, of which 30,000 pounds are exported. The sale of the raw material and its value when worked into plaits and chignons or other forms, represent the value of $16,000-000 annually.

Charles Martin always keeps a full supply of Curls, Waterfalls, Wigs, Twists, Rolls, Toupees, and in fact, everything pertaining to a first-class Ladies' Hair Dressing Establishment.

THOSE IN WANT OF A HOME, will do well to read the advertisement of Mr. C. C. Dodge. This gentleman is well known to the citizens of this city, as one of our most enterprising mechanics, and is also known to have erected more buildings than any other man in the place; but it is not to be wondered at, for he has at times, as many as sixty carpenters in his employ. He has recently connected the business of painting with that of building, and is prepared to attend to all calls in each branch.

SEP.—A small boy out west one cold day was assisting his father to mark sheep with paint and brush. The father would catch a sheep and say to the boy, "Mark that." After the job was done the boy started for his home, which was some distance, and overtaken by a minister on horseback, who seeing the boy barefooted invited him to ride behind him. After the lad was seated he began to catechise him thus:

"My lad, do you attend Sabbath School?"

"No," was the reply.

"You should attend the Sabbath School, mark that! all good children attend both Church and Sabbath School, mark that!"

After many other things the minister ordered the boy to do he replied:

"I've marked your back all over now, and it looks like thunder!"

The reverend gentleman was somewhat astonished when he examined his coat.

SEP.—The figures say that the average duration of life is greater in the United States than in any other country.

DANIELLS & PARMENTER.

"TOBACCO—'Tis a poisonous weed," but as there is a great many people that will persist in using it, they should be always careful to procure the best and purest. To those in search of this we would say, before you look elsewhere, try Nichols & Co.'s, for they, although but a new firm, are fast gaining the reputation of always having on hand the choicest brands of both tobacco and segars.

GUY SMITH STORE.—The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mr. Fred Trostel, who has recently restocked his place and is now prepared to attend to all who may favor him with a call. Those in want of anything in his line can do no better than to give him a trial, as he is thoroughly conversant with the business, having had a very large experience.

TIME IS EVERYTHING—We are pleased to see that Mr. Charles Shaffer still continues to attend to the wants of the community in regard to the matter of time, and this is as it should be, for we know of no one more competent. He has had a large experience, having been employed in several first-class establishments. Mr. Shaffer warrants his work, and cannot but add to the very large run of patronage which he already enjoys.

How to ENJOY LIFE.—Hire one of those fine buggies at Daniels & Parmenter's and take your wife and little ones out for an airing occasionally.

DENTIFRICES.

Preparations for cleansing and purifying the mouth should be free from all acids, and contain as one of the principal ingredients, an alkali (such as enters into saponaceous substances), to neutralize the acid, and destroy the animal and vegetable parasites that are secreted by the fluids of the mouth. It has been found, by microscopical examination, that the secretions of almost every person's mouth contain more or less of vegetable and animal life that will withstand the application of acids and astringents, and will only succumb to alkalies, which not only appear fatal, but a preventive to their formation. The mouths of persons who have been in the habit of using soap freely, as a dentifrice, are completely free from these productions. Every preparation, then, should contain this substance.

By no means use powdered charcoal or pumice-stone as a dentifrice. These substances are the same that are used to polish the surface of iron and steel; they are insoluble, and so acrid in their nature that, no matter how fine you may reduce them, their little grains will not only insinuate themselves between the neck of the tooth and the gum, causing an irritation of the parts which, in the end, may destroy the investing membrane of the tooth, but scratch the surface of the enamel. Not long since we had to remove the four upper incisors of a young lady who had been in the habit of using charcoal as a dentifrice, because their surfaces were seamed over with minute black lines that could not be erased, and the teeth loosened, and the gums abraded and irritated from its constant use. It would be well for every one, before using a tooth-powder, to see if it will scratch glass, moistened and rubbed over its surface. If so, it will produce the same effect upon the glossy, glass-like surface with which God has covered the teeth. The use of tooth-powder is to keep the teeth clean, and not to change their natural color. If the teeth are of a dark or yellowish hue, they never can be made white, except at the expense of the material of which they are composed; any powder, then, which whitens such teeth, is only acting chemically, and therefore injuriously, upon their structure.

"THE RIGHT MEN IN THE RIGHT PLACE"—This can be truly said of Messrs. Esselstyn & Sons, who are and have been engaged in the business of selling Groceries. They are wide-awake, hard working, active men, ever ready to take advantage of any slight decline of prices, and by so doing, are enabled to sell at as low or lower figures than any other house in the city. They also deliver goods to any part of the city free; and thus save to the weary laborer many a heavy load that he would otherwise be compelled to "tote" home in his basket. They always keep a full stock of everything usually kept in an establishment of this kind. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Mistress—"For goodness gracious sake, Martha, go take that ridiculous thing off, do!" Martha, ("which I were well aware it were my new bonnet she were alluding to")—"Well, there, mum, I declare mum, I give my milliners orders to make it precisely similar to yours, mum!"

D. G. PECK,
No. 113 Washington Avenue, Lansing.

A clergyman, on a Sunday school occasion, was speaking to a large audience of children, when he saw that he must do something to rouse their attention. Just then he had spoken of Peter, so he paused, and asked if any of the children could tell him anything about Peter? but their mouths were all closed. He appealed to the older scholars—yonger scholars, and then at last he came to the youngest, and he said, "come, now, little ones; shame your elders, and tell me something about Peter."

"I can," exclaimed a little four-year old.

"Can you? that is a good girl. Well, come right up here, and tell us all that you know about Peter."

The little girl was passed forward to the stage.

"Now," said the speaker, "let us hear what you know about Peter. Speak right out."

The little girl spoke:

"Peter, Peter, Pumpkin eater," etc.

Oh, dreadful fall. Had the speaker spoken of St. Peter, perhaps the little girl might have done better. But let those who address children beware how they trust those little minds, for no one knows what associations he may wake up.

PETER FUNK ROUTEN.—The attention of those in want of Clothing is called to the advertisement of Mr. D. G. Peck, who has recently filled his store from cellar to garret with the latest and most fashionable styles; and we understand that it is his intention to sell them at prices that bid defiance to the Peter Funk mock Auction Shoddyite concerns, that have been recently perambulating through the country. As it behoves every man to support home institutions, he cannot but meet with the success that he is justly entitled to. Mr. T. W. Weacott presides over the cutting and fitting department which is a sufficient guarantee, and none need have any fears as to perfect fitting garments.

A man boasted of having eaten forty-nine hard boiled eggs. "Why did you not eat one more and make an even fifty?" asked Sounds. "Humph! you want a man to make a hog of himself just for one egg!"

When you buy your groceries, remember that Esselstyn's is the place few go for he has all kinds.

A. R. Thayer keeps a full supply of all the popular Dentifrices.

HARNESS SHOP.—Mr. G. H. Cook has opened a shop for the manufacture of harnesses, and in fact, everything that pertains to a first-class establishment of this kind. And as he warrants all his work, we do not fear but what he will meet with the most hearty support from the farmers in this vicinity. Give him a call, and do not take our word for it.

To the Larissa.—Your attention is called to the advertisement of Mrs. C. A. Northrop, who has opened rooms for the purpose of carrying on the Millinery and Dress-Making business, in all its branches. She is daily receiving the latest and most fashionable styles and patterns, and we have no hesitancy in recommending her to the attention of all who may wish anything in that line.

New York Clothing Store.—As will be seen by advertisement, Mr. Schadt has purchased an interest in the above House, and as he is a practical workman, is prepared to cut and manufacture garments in the most fashionable styles. See for yourselves.

Agent.—A gentleman called on a rich miser, and found him at the table endeavoring to catch a fly. Presently he succeeded in entrapping one, which he immediately put into the sugar bowl and shut down the cover. The gentleman asked for an explanation of this singular sport. "I'll tell you," replied the miser, a triumphant grin overreaching his countenance as he spoke, "I want to ascertain if the servants steal the sugar."

Easelstyn has a large lot of the finest sugars which he offers cheap.

Agent.—"Everything French is more elegant than that of any other nation," says a Parisian enthusiastic chronicler. "Even the crocodile brought from our possessions in Cochin China to the Jardin des Plantes is more elegant than the horrid beast of a crocodile brought from the shores of the Nile." As a bit of self-complacency that will do.

Easelstyn has for sale the French Dressing for leather which makes old boots and shoes as good as new.

Agent.—Horace Greeley, in his Recollections, says that he studied oratory while he had the measles, and the Boston Post remarks that "it is enough to give one the measles to hear him practice it now."

REVOLUTION.—Strolling through town the other day, we chanced to step into the new store of Mr. E. E. Gould, on Michigan Avenue, and was both pleased and surprised to see the large and complete assortment of goods that he has on hand; and if he sells them at the figures that he has been selling, it cannot but completely break down and cause a revolution in the prices heretofore charged for drugs in this place. We are glad to see this, and call upon our citizens to sustain him in this undertaking.

SOWERS.—Whatever a man sow shall he also reap.

It is well, with sturdy blows to transform the wilderness into a beautiful home; it is victory to fashion the crude ore into almost defiant engineering; it is joy to make Nature give up her secrets, and vie with her in combining the elements; but to go within the dark, hollow walls of the Soul and take it from its peg and light, and coax, and fret it, till its latent powers shine forth and fill its whole house with divinest glory, this is rest.

Our sales, we confess, are slow, for our wares never wear out.

SEE—The "local" of the Lynchburg, (Va.) News thus describes a happy sight which he witnessed on Monday, in that city: "We saw a woman yesterday from the country, promenading Bridge street, underneath a new spoon-bowl hat decked with a rooster feather, inside of a tilting "skeort," before a huge water fall, having in her mouth a corn-cob pipe, and in her arms a baby about two months old. She looked like she felt she was in Mehemet's Seventh Heaven, and was just ready to exclaim 'cut my straps and let me go to glory.' She was a curiosity."

SEE—A "Down-Easter" happening a passenger on a Western steamboat which suffered the misfortune of sinking from the effects of running upon a snag, struck out boldly for the shore. A large crowd had assembled on the banks to witness the exciting scene; but Yank, disdaining any proffered help, reached the shore safely, remarking coolly as he did so, "He didn't care a straw for himself, it was only a danged old life insurance company he was swimming for." He was insured for $5,000. House, Jones & Porter did not insure this man, but they are prepared to insure all who may give them a call.

CITY MEAT MARKET.—There is no doubt in the mind of any one, that when they see a person advertise liberally, deal honestly and uprightly by all, they must succeed in whatever they undertake. This fact has been fully demonstrated in the case of Andrew Bertch, Esq. He has by strict attention to business, and taking for his motto the fact that a "penny a sixpence" is better than a slow shilling, succeeded in establishing a business in the most line, that is not surpassed by any in the State. His Market is always supplied with the choicest of Meats, fresh, salt and dried, poultry, sausage, and in fact, everything that is usually kept in first-class, well ordered shops. This establishment is one of the oldest in the city, and we understand that his custom has always been increasing from the first opening day, which speaks well for him. To those who have lately come to dwell with us, we would say give him a call before purchasing elsewhere, and we do not think that you will ever, by any lack of attention, or from quality of meats, regret the fact that you dealt with Andrew. We think our citizens, one and all, will acknowledge that it is "the place" above all others.

TO THE FARMERS AND MECHANICS.—It is not our wish to dictate to you, but simply advise. When you are about to make a purchase, of any very great magnitude, the question naturally arises: Where can I get the best and the cheapest? We propose to prove to you where those places can be found. Buy of the men that advertise and you will then have found the goal. They are the live men, the business men, the wideawakes. They always buy cheap and sell cheap, and generally take for their motto "Quick sales and small profits." When you find a man that does not advertise shun him. They are the drones, and if let alone will soon die out. This class of men generally are not "posted," and buy their goods either of "Peter Funk" Auctioneers, or pay such exorbitant prices for them that they cannot afford to compete with the live business man. There are, we are sorry to say, a few of this class of men in Lansing. They are a curse rather than a benefit, and if you only will it, they will soon come to the ignominious end which they so richly deserve. Shun these "penny-wise and pound-foolish" shave shops. They are generally occupied by old skin-flints that will not hesitate to cheat you out of your hard-earned wages with all the gusto imaginable.

DEAR FATHER COME HOME.

Oh, father, dear father, do please hurry home,
My confidence no more stains,
You've promised again and again when you came,

You would bring me a new pair of shoes,
My big toe sticks out like the head of a nail,
And you of neglect doth accuse,
Because you have failed to do as you said,
And bring home my new pair of shoes.

It is not very oft that a favor I ask,
And this one you cannot refuse,
For you know that it costs but a very small sum,

To purchase a new pair of shoes.
Then hurry, dear father, do pray hurry home,
No more of your precious time lose,
Oh, think of the cold, of your child and his toes,

And pray hurry home with the shoes.

Oh, how can you bear the soul-stirring tho'!
As you read in the papers the news,
That Johns & Bailey are selling so cheap,
Their stock of nice boots and fine shoes,
You know that my toes are sticking right out,
Exposed to the winds and the dews,
Then don't you forget when home you return,
To bring me a new pair of shoes.

NEW STOCK, NEW STOCK.—This is the case with Messrs. Johns & Bailey, who have recently moved into their New Store, on Washington Avenue, next door south of Mead's Block. To those who visited the Fair recently held here, we have but to say, that the beautiful case of Boots and Shoes there on exhibition, was their handiwork. "The proof of the pudding is in eating it." See for yourselves.

FRASER'S ADVICE.—If you would purchase your wares at what they are worth, avoid those shops sporting extravagant fronts and gilded furniture; where they offer to supply you at less than cost. These are used only as decoys; and sooner or later their patrons will find to their sorrow, that they have paid too dear for the whistle.

A QUAKER WOMAN'S SERMON.—My dear friends there are four things that I very much wonder at. The first, that children should be so foolish as to throw stones, clubs and brickbats into fruit trees to knock down fruit. If they would let it alone it would fall itself. The second is, that men should be so foolish as to go to war and kill each other. If left alone they would die themselves. The third and last thing I wonder at is, that young men should be so unwise as to go after young women. If they would stop at home the young women would come after them. Why do people buy their Groceries of men that will not deliver them, when Miller sends them to any part of the city free.

THE INVITATION.

Friends, come to Lansing, we will meet you—
Come to Lansing, we will greet you,
Here your choice Dry Goods to buy,
And if not, pray tell us why?

Here you'll find the latest news,
With the price of Boots and Shoes;
Here also Yankee Notions,
Also cords of Flax and Potions.

Here the daintiest Hat you'll find,
On the loveliest head to bind;
Here the Hibiscus and the Flowers,
Decking modest girls like ours.

Here you'll find the trailing dresses,
Here you'll see the loveliest crosses,
Also shorter dress and shawl,
And the daintiest fust of all.

Here you'll find in grand collection,
Silks and satins in profusion;
All your wants you can supply—
Only name it—will you buy?

Bring your wares and purchase with you,
Cash we'll pay you for them all;
Now the winter's hastening forward,
Clothe yourselves up well this fall.

(From the Lansing Republican Dec. 1st, 1861.)

INGERSOLL'S NEW STORE.—The new Dry Goods Store of H. Ingersoll is now completed, and is really a splendid establishment. It is the finest store in the State, and being quite a novelty, merits a description. Its size is 44 by 100 feet—double the size of any other store in the city, and in addition to this, a gallery is constructed across the rear and sides, giving so much additional space for the display of goods; also the shelves are wide enough to receive goods and wise. Thus holding three or four times the usual quantity. The gallery is reached by a circular stairway at the rear. The store is entered by a door at each corner. The front between the doors is filled by four plates of French plate glass, forming a front unequalled by any store in Michigan, and by very few in any large city. A semicircular show case, forty feet long, reaches from one door to the other; back of this are two circular counters, 66 feet in length, one of which encloses circular shelves, and the other surrounds their office, cashier's and book-keeper's desk. The counters and dresser shelves are of black walnut, and are supported by large legs similar to a piano leg. The Building is warmed by a furnace in the basement, 12 feet in length, having a perpendicular air chamber of tin, reaching into the third story. Mr. Ingersoll designed and constructed this store to accommodate his rapidly increasing trade, and it is his intention, as he occupies the best store to keep the best stock of goods in Michigan, and to maintain an establishment, which, for integrity, enterprise and fair dealing, shall be second to none. This establishment is now open for trade, and Mr. Ingersoll is now in the eastern markets making purchases for the winter trade.

We would call the attention of our readers who wish to know where they can purchase pure Drugs and Medicines, to the advertisement of Messrs J. S. Tooker & Tillotson. We were surprised on visiting their store in the Lower Town the past week, to find a Drug Store so well conducted and with so large and well selected a stock. With the neatness of arrangement, extent of stock, and the order which prevails, we were particularly pleased, and speak well for the proprietors, who are whole-souled gentlemen and just the kind of men to succeed.

We take pleasure in recommending all to go themselves and examine their stock of Drugs and Medicines. Pure Wines and Liquors, Paints, Oils, Varnishes and Dye Stuff, School Books, Stationery and Notions. Pocket Cutlery, Perfumery and articles of Toilet, etc., etc.

New Furniture Establishment.—As will be seen by our columns, Mr. Stuart has already reected his establishment, which our readers will remember was burned out one year ago, and is now prepared to supply the trade with anything in his line. Such energy and perseverance as he has displayed deserves the most hearty support from the community around, and we trust the time is not far distant when he will be compelled to enlarge his already commodious works, in order to meet his constantly increasing trade. This is the fate of all advertisers.

It won't do to be so devoted to a tender-hearted wife, as to comply with her request when she asks you "Now tumble over the cradle and break your neck, my dear, won't you."

The height of politeness is passing around upon the opposite side of a lady when walking with her, in order not to step upon her shadow.

Charter Refused.—The Masonic Grand Lodge of Nevada, after considerable correspondence, rejected the petition of the Mount Moriah Lodge of Salt Lake for a charter, refusing to grant a charter which in any manner recognized the peculiar institution of the Saints.

BOSTON BOOT AND SHOE STORE—Mr. J. J. Brown has purchased the entire stock of this establishment, and is now prepared to supply our citizens and the surrounding country with as good an article and at as low prices, as can be obtained at any similar establishment in this State. We have seen samples of work from his shop, and have no hesitancy in recommending him to the attention of all.

THE INFLUENCE OF A WIFE—A judicious wife is always snipping off from her husband's moral nature, little twigs that are growing in the wrong direction. She keeps him in shape by continual pruning. If you say anything silly, she will affectionately tell you so. If you declare that you will do some absurd thing, she will find means of preventing your doing it. And by far the chief part of all the common sense there is in this world belongs unquestionably to women. The wisest things a man commonly does are those which his wife counsels him to do. A wife is the grand wielder of the moral pruning knife. If Johnson's wife had lived, there would have been no hoarding up of orange peel—no touching all the posts in walking along the streets—no eating and drinking with a disgusting voracity. If Oliver Goldsmith had been married, he would never have worn that memorable and ridiculous coat. Whenever you find a man you know little about, oddly dressed, or talking absurdly, or exhibiting any eccentricity of manner, you may be tolerably sure that he is not a married man; for the corners are rounded off—the little shoots are pruned away, in married men. Wives generally have much more sense than their husbands, especially when their husbands are clever men. The wife's advices are like the ballast that keeps the ship steady; they are the wholesome, though painful shears, snipping off little growths of self conceit. And for all this care and devotion you cannot refuse to buy your wife one of those elegant Hoop Skirts at Mrs. C. Shumway's.

A LOVER wrote a letter to a lady who rejected him, saying he intended to retire "to some secluded spot, and breathe away his life in sighs." To which the lady replied, by inquiring whether they were to be medium or large size. The man has not since been heard from.

LANSING CITY MILLS.—Having business at Lower Town one day last week, we called at the above named Mills, and were surprised at the improvements which we saw. This Mill was but recently erected, and contains all of the modern improvements, among which we noticed a patent Separator, by which they are enabled to clean wheat of all kinds of dirt, sticks, cockle, etc. Mr. Hart feels confident that he can manufacture as good flour if not better, than any other Mill in the State; and when it is known that Messrs. Bertran & Skinner are in his employ, none will doubt his statement. He delivers flour and feed to any part of the city free.

WHIP AND GLOVE FACTORY.—As will be seen by an advertisement in our columns, Mr. E. R. Thompson, has opened an establishment of this kind, and we understand is meeting with the most flattering success. This is as it should be, for we know that he thoroughly understands his business. Support home manufacture when it is to your interest to do so, more particularly.

From Ingelhart's Photograph Gallery the latest news is that he still continues to carry on the picture business in all its branches. His flattering success in this city, depends not so much on his splendidly arranged Gallery, as it does upon his long experience in the business, and ten years of constant practice in the art of making pictures; though we venture to say, his sky-light and operating rooms are second to none in the country, and his reception rooms quite in keeping with a well regulated Gallery. See his card in another column.

A literary announcement lately made, runs thus: "Our readers will be obliged to us for drawing their attention to some Sanscrit works which will shortly appear. We have not read the books ourselves, but, if their contents are as interesting as their titles, their perusal must be the acme of delight. Their titles are: 'Swapantsahaskchavimahamautrastotra,' 'Trigunatimakalikastora,' 'Mpangalalitvratodyapna,' 'Sanakarchatasthrivatodyapna,' 'Anantatachaturdaricarakatka,' and 'Wongotongohokepokeinerechingewaukaform.'

A. J. Viele has a large supply of all the standard works, which he offers to the public at very low figures.

THE EVILS OF INTERMARRYING.—A melancholy case of the evils of intermarrying has lately occurred. We give the story in the sufferer's own words: "I married a widow who had a grown-up daughter. My father visited my house very often, fell in love with my step-daughter and married her. So my father became my own son-in-law, and my step-daughter became my mother, because she was my father's wife. Sometime afterward my wife had a son—he was brother to my step-mother. My father's wife, &c., my step-daughter, also had a son; he was, of course, my brother, and in the mean time my grand-child, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my grand-mother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grand-child at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grand-mother is the grand-father, I was my own grand-father." After fully convincing himself of the immutability of the above facts, the victim, in a fit of despondency, cut his throat with a boiled turnip. In this connection it might be well to add, if there is any others who may wish to repeat the experiment, that H. B. Arms keeps all kinds of country produce.

New Grocery Store.—Mr. H. B. Arms has opened a store of this kind, on Michigan Avenue, East; and although it has not been long established, it bids fair to eclipse all others of the kind in the city. Mr. A. is an affable salesman, and has stocked his store with such an enormous quantity of goods, that one always knows where to find anything they may want. We heartily wish him success, for we know that he deserves it.

A young fellow, whose better half had just presented him with a pair of bouncing twins, attended church one Sunday. During the discourse the clergyman looked right at our innocent friend, and said, in a tone of thrilling eloquence, "Young man, you have an important responsibility thrust upon you!" The newly-fledged dad, supposing the preacher alluded to his peculiar home event, considerably startled the audience by exclaiming, "Yea, I have two of 'em." And now he buys his groceries of H. B. Arms, on Michigan Avenue, for the reason that his prices are low.

OUR CITY.

Come and see our lovely city,
All hemmed in by woods,—a pity,
Graded streets, and walks all oaken,
Here you can dwell in peace unbroken;

Dearest Homes with yards around them,
Thanks to Heaven, most here have found them;

Gardens, too, with fruits and flowers,
Cherished loves, we call them "Ours."

Here no squalid, homeless creatures
With begrimed, distorted features,
Children born —— rags and sorrow,
Dred by beg and steal and borrow.

Here an endless crowd of charlatans,
Where are taught the usual virtues,
Various colleges and schools,
Where wise men are made,—not fools.

Here relieved from all temptation,
Meet the wise for Legislation;
Here the Female College stands,
Here the Agricultural lands;

Here's the school for Reformation,
For the tramps of the nation,
Also "Union Schools" for all,
With quite two thousand great and small.

Here are Mills and Factories running,
Doing work both wise and curious;
Here are craftsmen skilled and true,
Masters, workmen, all for you;

Here intelligence combines
All that's found in every clime,
From Ohio's fertile sand,
From New York and Fatherland.

From Old England's robust health,
From artistic France, her wealth,
From Italy's sunny hills
And the busy Prussian mills;

From New England's rugged soil,
From green Erin's Isle—in toil,
From the Prairies of the West,
Come their sons to make us blest.

All harmonious work as one,
Father, mother, sister, son,
Come to build a model town
And improve the country round.

These friends aid, and help our labors,
And thus prove yourselves our neighbors,
Help improvements now advancing—
Buy your merchandise in Lansing.

AUCTION! AUCTION!!—As will be seen by the advertisement of Messrs. O. A. Jenison & Co., we have now in our city, a large and well filled store, where goods are disposed of at both auction and private sale. This is an institution that we have long felt the need of, and now that Mr. Jenison has succeeded in establishing a place of this kind, our citizens and farmers must consider it one of their first duties to see that he does not have cause to regret his undertaking this most needed enterprise. There will be auction sales two evenings in each week; probably Wednesdays and Saturdays. As "Jen" is well known to our citizens, we think it a sufficient recommend that everything will be none on the "square," and besides he warrants his goods to be just as represented.

MILLINERY AND LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS HOUSE.—It gives us pleasure to call the attention of the ladies of Lansing, and especially of Lower Town, to the advertisement of Mrs. M. Brower. She has one of the very finest assortments of goods, and offers them for sale at prices within the reach of all. As she employs none but experienced artisans, you can always rely upon the fact that you are getting the most fashionable styles and newest patterns. Her store is on Franklin Street, Lower Town.

FARMERS AND ALL OTHERS IT MAY CONCERN.—Mr. J. Somerville has now on hand and offers for sale, one of the best stock of goods ever brought to this city, in the shape of Harnesses, Saddles, Whips, Trunks, and in fact, everything usually kept in a store of the kind. Mr. Somerville is well known to our citizens as a gentleman of honor, and whose word can always be relied upon, and who does not have to resort to the low, mean, petty tricks sometimes resorted to by tradesmen in order to sell his wares. He believes that "honesty is the best policy," always, and has ever lived up to that principle. His shop is at the old place on Franklin Street, Lower Town.

NEW ENTERPRISES.—Under this head might properly be classed the Hoop Skirt Manufactory of Mrs. C. Shumway, a business until quite recently unknown in the city. Our merchants have heretofore been compelled to rely entirely upon eastern manufactories; but we are glad to learn that this is not now the case. This lady has on hand a very large stock and is constantly manufacturing. We were surprised to learn that she can easily complete one of the most elegant Skirts in the unprecedented short time of three hours. She has also a full assortment of Ladies' Under Clothing, Ribbons, Flowers, Hosiery, and in fact, everything usually kept in a Ladies' Furnishing Goods House.

J. Davis has fitted up rooms in Capital Hall Block, where he will be pleased to see all his old customers, and all others who may wish to get a clean shave.

"When I first married my wife," said a fond husband, "I loved her so much that I could have eaten her; and now" he added with a sigh, "I wish to heaven I had."

METLIN & TUNISON.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, ETC.—F. M. Cowles, as will be seen by advertisement, still continues to supply all who may favor him with a call, with anything in his line, at the lowest prices. Mr. Cowles is one of our oldest merchants, and it has ever been his aim to keep pace with the onward march of Time, and he has now one of the largest and most complete assortments of goods in the city. As he always employs gentlemanly and accommodating salesmen, we know of no better place to trade. Look at his advertisement in another column, and see the inducements that he offers.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP.—It gives us great pleasure to refer our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Metlin & Tunison, who have rebuilt their works which were destroyed by the disastrous conflagration, which visited them about one year ago. As one of the firm is a practical workman, they do not hesitate in saying that they can now fill any order which may be left with them. The unceasing energy which they have displayed in rebuilding their shops, entitles them to more than ordinary support, and we trust that our citizens who are in want of anything in their line will give them a call, for we know that you will not regret it. Success to you, gentlemen.

—The oldest remnant of mortality extant, is the skeleton of one of the earlier Pharaohs, incased in its original burial robes, and wonderfully perfect, considering its age, which was about eighteen months ago in the British Museum, and is justly considered the most valuable of its archaeological treasures. The lid of the coffin which contained the royal mummy was inscribed with the name of its occupant, Pharaoh Mykerinus, who succeeded the heir of the builder of the great Pyramid about two centuries before Christ. Only think of it—the monarch whose crumbling bones and lachrymatory integuments are now exciting the wonders of numerous gazers in London, reigned in Egypt before Abraham was born, and only about two centuries or so after Mizraim, the grandson of old Father Noah, and the first of the Pharaohs had been gathered to his fathers.

—The church in which General Washington was married to Martha Curtis, in New Kent county, Virginia, is very much dilapidated, and its congregation too poor to repair it.

THE PRESIDENTS

There have been seventeen Presidents, and thus far, no "impeachments." The subjoined scrap—the work of an unknown bard—gives the list of all who have been Presidents, and the order in which they occupied the chair:

Great Washington was number one;
Then Senator Adams next came on.
Jefferson made the number three—
Then Madison, the fourth was he.
Monroe the fifth to him succeeds;
And sixth, the junior Adams leads.
Then seventh, Andrew Jackson came;
And eight we count Van Buren's name.
Then Harrison made number nine—
And tenth, John Tyler filled the line.
Polk was the eleventh as we know,
And twelfth was Tyler in the row.
Fillmore, the thirteenth, took his place—
And Pierce was fourteenth in the race.
Buchanan, the fifteenth, is seen;
Then Lincoln, as sixteenth, came in.
Johnson, the seventeenth, and last,
Still lives to close the illustrious past.
Now let us stop until we see
Who our next President will be.

FURNITURE.—Those in want of anything in this line will do well to call on Mr. Buck, for, as will be seen by his advertisement, he always keeps a large and complete assortment of everything in that line. Those in search of low prices and good work, would do well to give him a call, as he is pledged to sell as low as the lowest.

A FEW THINGS THAT OUR CITIZENS MAY BE JUSTLY PROUD OF.—Our Agricultural College, the pride of the farmer; the Female College, one of the best conducted institutions of learning for Females, in the West; the Commercial College, under the immediate supervision of Mr. P. S. Bartlett; Conservatory of Music, under the management of Mr. A. J. Velie, at Velie's Music Hall; the Young Men's Society, an organization which is giving to our citizens one of the best course of Lectures ever brought before a Lansing audience; Lansing High School, under the charge of that popular and efficient teacher, Mr. M. V. Rork; the Central Michigan Agricultural Society, yet in its infancy, but whose exhibitions are second to none in the State; the Brass Band, which can surely claim to be one of the best in the State, and we challenge any town to produce an organization with the same number of instruments that can compete with them; two of the best Water Powers in the State, one of which is unimproved however, but we are informed that a company is about to be organized which will commence the erection of Mills, etc., the coming season; one of the finest Block of Stores in the State; the best organized Fire Department outside of Detroit, in the State, and which is under the control of Mr. T. W. Wescott, who, although but recently called upon to fill the responsible position of Chief Engineer, has already won for himself the esteem and regard of all our citizens, and there is no city that has as large a Department, that can show a more orderly, gentlemanly, sober set of men, than is found in our company—ever ready in the hour of need, our citizens can now retire to their homes with the conviction that should the devouring element visit them while they are asleep, our ever-watchful boys will soon be on hand to stay its fiery progress; and last, but not least, that magnificent structure called the "Lansing House." Now that it is known that Mr. M. Hudson has taken charge of it, has also become one of the "sights" which we are all proud to point out to the notice of the stranger. Mr. Hudson enjoys the justly enviable reputation of being one of the very best Landlords in the West, and we but re-echo the sentiments of all who have ever had the pleasure of stopping at his house, when we say he "knows how to keep a Hotel."

MISSES WOODWORTH & SON.—These gentlemen continue to carry on the business of manufacturing Boots and Shoes which they offer at reasonable prices. As they do not make it a point to employ runaway apprentices, and have none but experienced workmen in their employ, we think that we can safely recommend them to the attention of all.

THE OLD PLACE.—As will be seen per advertisement, Mr. Hinckley still continues to supply the public with all the choice brands of Seagers and Tobacco, and at as reasonable prices as can be afforded. Remember that his motto is: "Live and let live." As he is an old residenter, anything we may say will not add a jot to the enviable reputation which he already enjoys. Call and visit him at the Old Place, two doors north of Hawaii's Bank.

STRAW MILLINER AND DRESS MAKER.—As will be seen per advertisement, Mrs. J. B. Lewis has taken magnificent suits of rooms over the stoop of Mr. Ingersoll, which she has fitted up for the purpose of carrying on the above business. As she comes well recommended from one of the first-class establishments of the State, our Ladies will undoubtedly find it to their advantage to call upon her. She is also agent for Howe's Sewing Machine, which has thus far maintained a superiority over all competitors.

A VERY CLOSE MAN.—Not many years since, in West Plymouth, it used to be the custom for the schoolmaster to "board around" among the families of his pupils, so as to save expenses. Sometimes, of course, the days did not come out quite even—there would be eight days and a half at one place and nine at another. One man who was notorious for his meanness, just before the schoolmaster began his dinner, said to him: "Mr. —, I suppose by rights, your time is up just about half way through this dinner. That's as near as I kin calculate, and I've calculated pretty close. But I don't wish to be small about it, and you kin eat just about as much as you do for ordinary!"

It is a known fact that this man buys his groceries of men that do not advertise, and by so doing is compelled to be economical in this mean close way.

To those visiting Lansing, we know of no better place to stop than at the Lansing House. Terms reasonable.

HARDWARE, ETC.—If our readers will but glance at the advertisement of Messrs. Williams & Watkins, they may learn something that may be of great benefit to themselves. These gentlemen keep a large and complete assortment of everything which any family might possibly need, and will sell as low as the lowest. As they have agents traveling constantly, selling goods, their sales are probably higher than any other house of the kind in the city. By this means they have to keep refilling with a new stock, which will always give their customers a chance to select from articles fresh from the manufacturer, so that none need have any fear of having old worn out shelf goods palmed off upon them.

TO THE READERS OF THE LANSING CITY DIRECTORY.—Mrs. L. Whelan, from Brockport, New York, desires to say that she has in her establishment, opposite the Lansing Republican Office, all that is required to furnish a first class institution of Millinery and Ladies Fancy Goods. In worsted work, Miss Lippia, her associate, has no superior. Miss Hyde, also in Mrs. Whelan's employ as a trimmer, stands at the head of her profession, in all that pertains to elegance and taste, that most indispensable requisite to success in a business like hers. With an experience of years in the business, and in view of the above facts, together with a determination to please all, Mrs. Whelan hopes to gain public patronage in Lansing.

DRAFTING.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of I. Gillett, Jr., to be found in another column. This gentleman is thoroughly conversant with the business, and would be happy to see those who may want anything of this kind done, at his residence on Capital Avenue, four doors south of Shiawassee street, where can be seen specimens of his skill.

A printer having been "flung" by his sweetheart, went to the office to commit suicide with the "shooting stick." The thing would not go off. The "devil" wishing to pacify him, told him to go into the sanctum where the editor was writing duns to delinquent subscribers. He says the picture of despair reconciled him to his fate.

Infant Iowa grasshoppers weigh three to a pound. Oh!

EUREKA! EUREKA!!—Is the explanation of all who have had occasion to call at the shop of M. S. Baker, and it is but a just tribute to the energy which he has ever displayed, when we say that there is not another shop in the State, that can with more propriety lay claim to the name of the "Eureka Foundry." Mr. Baker has filled up his shop with the best of machinery, so that he is enabled to do any and all kinds of work that properly belong to this kind of business, and to all visiting our beautiful city, we would ask you to examine the iron work upon our magnificent Hotel, or the work which adorns the palatial Stores on Washington Avenue. This is in itself a sufficient recommend, but should you require further proof of his ability to do all that he advertises, and more, call at his works, one block west of the Lansing House, on the corner of Washtenaw street and Capitol Avenue.

Among the numerous attractions of which our young and enterprising city can boast, there is none more popular than the new and elegant Photographic establishment of Mr. B. F. Hall, located at 118 Washington Avenue. Although these rooms have been open for business but a few weeks, they have already attained a wide-spread celebrity and popularity in consequence of the excellence of the pictures issued from them. Mr. Hall has spared no expense to make his Gallery one of the best in the State, and coming as he does with years of experience in the largest Gallery of New York city, he is enabled to introduce many pleasing features which have been hitherto unknown in this part of the country. All the latest improvements, in instruments, apparatus, and accessories are to be found here, and we assure our friends that all the portraits, both large and small, executed at these rooms, evince a degree of artistic taste and ability seldom found outside of the largest and oldest cities.

An important branch, and one to which the proprietor intends to devote especial attention is that of copying old likenesses into Photographs. He has instruments peculiarly adapted to that purpose, and what copies we have seen of his execution are certainly triumphs of the art.

Mr. Hall's advertisement appears in another column to which we would invite particular attention.

Reorganization of the State Insurance Co.

The State Insurance Company was first organized as a Mutual and Stock Company, but has issued no Mutual policies for the past two years, and it has been the wish of the stockholders to get rid of the Mutual branch of the business. In order to do so it was found to be necessary to obtain a new charter. Within the past month such new charter has been approved by the Attorney General, and a thorough reorganization is being effected, that will make it a strictly Stock Company.

By a provision in the new charter, the Company as organized, assume all the franchises and rights together with all the duties and liabilities of the old State Insurance Company. Thus protecting the rights of all holders of policies heretofore issued.

In reorganizing the Company, special reference was had to an act of the Legislature, passed at its last session, and a full compliance with its provisions has been made.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000, which, by the charter can be increased to $1,000,000 if it should become necessary.

The officers of the Company intend to pursue the same plan heretofore acted upon, of insuring nothing but first class risks, such as farm property and isolated village residences, hoping thereby to make the State Insurance Company second to none in the country.

"AN ELEPHANT ON HIS HANDS."—When an Eastern nabob wishes to ruin a rival, or punish a man for whom he has a pretended friendship, he presents the victim with a white Elephant. The gift is sacred, and cannot be refused. The expense of keeping the huge creature, in the grand state which is obligatory on the Hindoo by his religion, is so enormous that the unfortunate recipient of the gift is ruined out of hand by the honor. In India there is, therefore, no more efficacious way of wiping out a public man than in heaping a costly honor upon him.

MUSIC.—It may not be generally known that Lansing can now boast of having one of the best Brass Bands in the State; but such is the case, and we challenge any other town to produce a band with the same number of instruments that can compete with them. Long may they blow.

To Our PATRONS.—We thank you for the liberal manner in which you have come forward and assisted us in making this book what it is. When we commenced canvassing the city for this work, we did not think it possible to obtain names enough to more than fill a book of half its size; but we were most happily disappointed. Had we taken into consideration the spirit of enterprise that has ever characterized the merchants and manufacturers of our lovely city, we might have made a far more liberal estimate. As will be seen by the title-page, we intend to issue this work semi-annually, each edition, as in the present case, to be complete in itself; and it has been our sole aim to make this work worthy of the support and attention of all; but if we have failed, believe us, it is not from any wish or desire on our part, but simply want of ability. As we all profit by experience, or at least should, we think that in our next edition we can improve in many things, and present to our patrons a more complete Directory, than the present number. Hoping that you, one and all, will have no reason to regret that you were induced to support this work, and that in the future you will have more than felt the importance of liberally advertising, I will again most heartily thank you, and wish you that success, which you by your untiring efforts, are justly entitled to.

PUBLISHER.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKER.—As will be seen by reference to our columns, Mrs. C. G. Vreeland has taken rooms over the store of Messrs. E. B. Millar & Co., where she is prepared to cut and fit Ladies' garments in the most fashionable style. This lady has had a great deal of experience in this business, and cannot but give satisfaction to all. Those of our lady readers, who are about to have anything of this kind done, will save both time, trouble and expense by calling upon her.

A young lady at a ball was asked by a lover of serious poetry, whether she had seen Crabb's Tales? "Why, no," she answered, "I did not know crabs had tails." "I beg your pardon, Miss," said he. "I mean, have you read Crabb's Tales?"—"And I assure you, sir, I did not know that red crabs, or any other had tails."

Charles Martin keeps a full assortment of hair, which he will manufacture to suit the taste of his customers.
