Class of 1987 Sets New Norm

The first four year class in Everett High School history. The first class to stage our own protest. The first class to finally come together as a whole. It was the graduating class of 1987.

Remembering back to September of 1983, it seems that none of us knew what adventures we would face within the next four years. What were finals? The MEAP test? ACT and SAT on Saturday mornings? What should I do this weekend? Where should I go to college? Who should I take to the prom? It was amazing how many questions like that could pop up within that date that seemed so long ago, and June 2, 1987.

June 2, 1987, ended it all. It ended the year we stood up for our rights in a self-organized protest. For some that day ended some friendships as we knew we might not see them again. On that date, we were finally considered adults - out of high school in charge of our own lives. Our parents realized that we were no longer the children who had once depended on them for life.

This was written by one of our fellow classmates:

THE CLASS OF 1987

We, the class of 1987, were the first freshman to enhance our school with spirit, beauty, and Love.

Our strength out shone our weaknesses and our willingness to learn out shone our ignorance that love and life was perfect.

Our power and will pulled us through good times and bad.

It seemed that there was always a friend with a smile to lift spirits when they were low.

And as the years progressed we all grew and stood up for our rights in what we believed in.

The bond between our classmates had made a lasting impression on each and every one of our memories.

I am sure we look upon our high school years as best years of our lives.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 1987!

-Ashley Bowlin

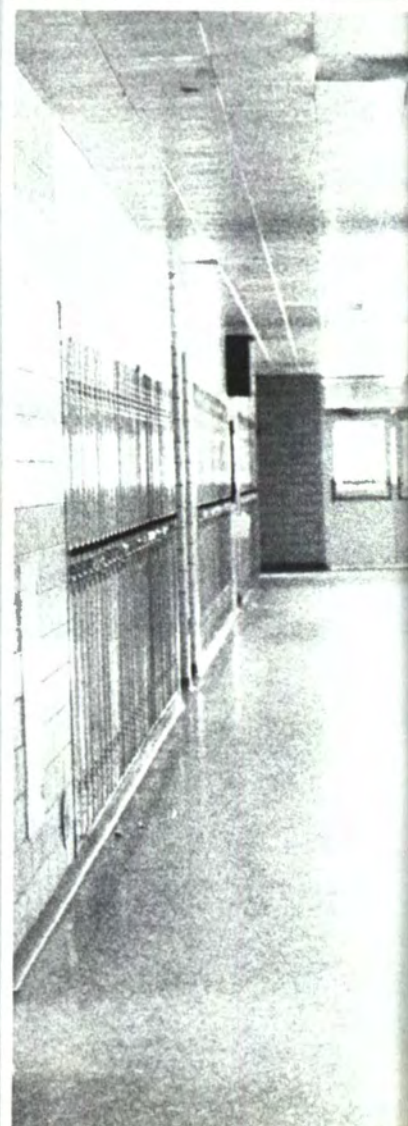

As you look through this yearbook in years to come, I hope you remember Making The Pieces Fit and our class, the class of 1987.

Everett's Halls Speak Silently

Although it has taken a beating since the day it was born, it stands steadfast and enduring in the face of time. It sees the numerous changes that take place every year and hears everything that goes on.

When I walk down the empty halls of Everett High School, after everyone has gone home, I can hear the halls echoing, like they are whispering something to me, and I can see the pain and suffering put upon them by those it shelters. Its student body.

If only the halls could talk, they would have so many secrets to tell. They hear every secret told, every intimate word uttered. Still the people don't care.

If anyone ever actually thought about the abuse put upon the school everyday they might not be so destructive. All of the gum wrappers, apple cores, or other things that can be found scattering the floor at the end of each day are a sad sight to see.

It is not a small group of vandals which impress the destruction upon the school, but it is actually a group effort, the credit to be given to all of the students. "WHY?" I ask. It doesn't need to be, so why do the students do this?

"I just don't think about it, what is one more piece of trash on the floor", "Who cares", and "I don't litter or vandalize so what am I supposed to do about it?". These are just a few opinions of anonymous students.

All that needs to be done is just to pick up a piece of paper if you happen to see it on the floor, or maybe just ask a person who is just about to litter not to, just use a trash can instead.

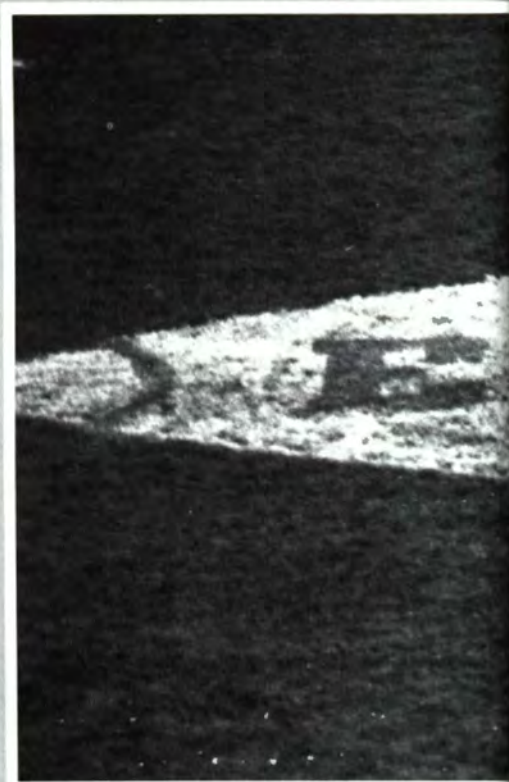

Every little bit helps, and the more people that are conscious of the problem, the the better. With a little help from everyone, the school, with its untold secrets, can be a little bit better and pride can be restored.

Mrs. Havens Earns Retirement In 1987

Every year we lose many people from this school. Of course those who are a part of the Senior class, but we also lose many wonderful teachers to retirement. This year we are losing a very special lady, our English teacher, Mrs. Havens.

The bell rang for another class. As everyone took their seats, the teacher started the lesson on English. English and reading are just two of subjects that Mrs. Havens taught for twenty-one and a half years. Now in January of 1987, Mrs. Havens decided to retire.

Mrs. Havens favorite subject was Advanced Composition, because, "The writing of students usually improved dramatically. I also enjoyed teaching literature because it was an extension, or amplification, of life itself."

After retiring, she planned on going to Florida to do some reading, play golf, swim, and just loaf around on the beach. She also planned on taking some college classes because, "Learning is a lifetime experience."

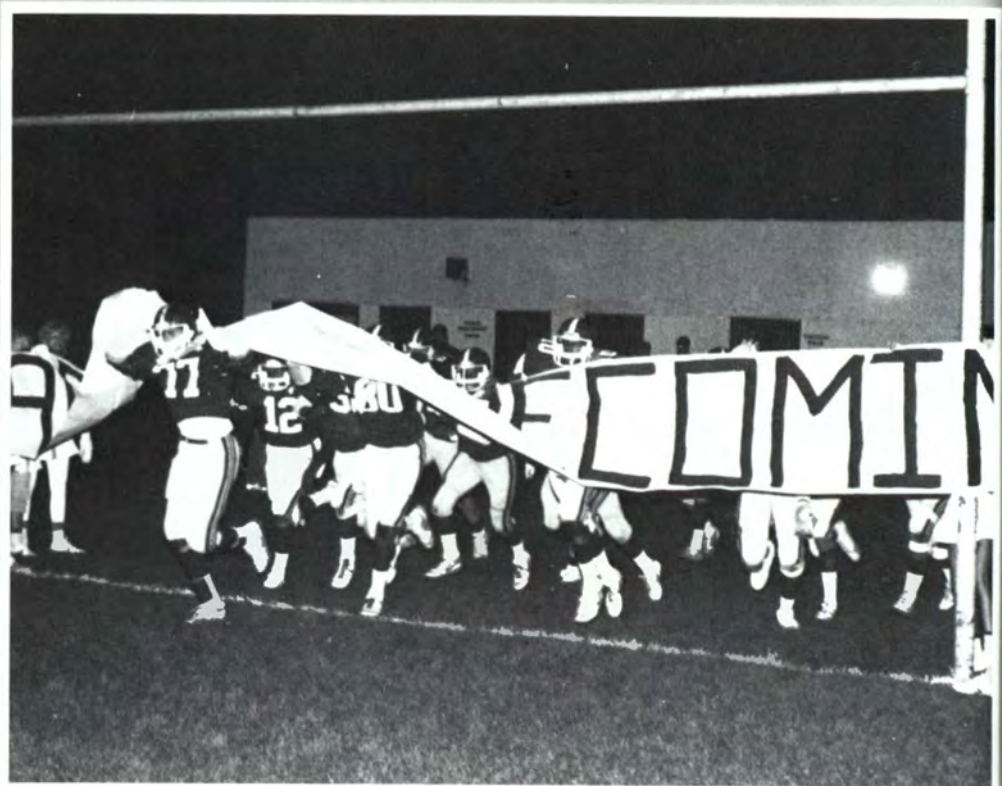

Mrs. Havens most memorable experience here at Everett was when all the exams were cancelled because of a big snow storm. Memories is what she left us, and is what she took with her when she left. "For the most part, Everett students are academically superior to students of the past, but attendance and behavior patterns are worse. If Everett students would clean up their act, test scores would go up and and this school could become known for academic excellence. I hope the current student body will make it happen. Everett is a great place for learning. The brightly lighted classrooms, dedicated staff, and opportunities for extracurricular activities make it potentially one of the finest high schools in the country, but the students have to do their part to make it a reality." We will all miss her very much.

"Chu" Anonymously Appears At Everett

What's up w/ Chu?" It was a phrase that could be heard echoing through the halls of Everett High School every working day.

No one was sure who this infamous "Chu" really was but over one half of the student population could be heard dropping "Chu's" name here and there. Johnny Daelin, an anonymous informer, says "Chu was kind of like the not me character in No-One Knows Who Chu Is, The Family Circus Cartoon."

It's true. It seems that "Chu" was always up to some kind of mischief. For example, people were always asking "Wha'd Chu do that for?" and no one ever seemed to know where "Chu" was.

Another question commonly asked was, "Where'd Chu go?". And last but not least, everyone wanted to know what "Chu" was up to, "What Chu up to later?"

Students, teachers, and others referred to "Chu" as something from tobacco all the way to a creature from another planet.

"Chu" has been up to no good as students drop his name from sentence to sentence.

The yearbook staff endlessly searched every corner and inch of the floor. As "Chu" snuck his way into others conversations.

"Chu" seeked no companions. His friends were only words that phrased his name. "Chu" was caught on by every individual of all types. "Chu" now remains in the halls being said from mouth to ear and ear to mouth.

For someone so popular, "Chu" was quite elusive. Maybe someday someone will catch a glimpse of "Chu" and let the rest of us know what "Chu" looks like.

For now, we're all left with the burning question, "Who's Chu?"

Vikings Show Their Spirit

Pep Rally is Full of Spunk

A week had passed by and school was officially under way as students went out to show their spirit, or in many cases try to brighten their spirits at the third annual All City Pep Rally. This year Everett, Eastern, Sexton, and the Beekman Center again came together to show everyone who was the best.

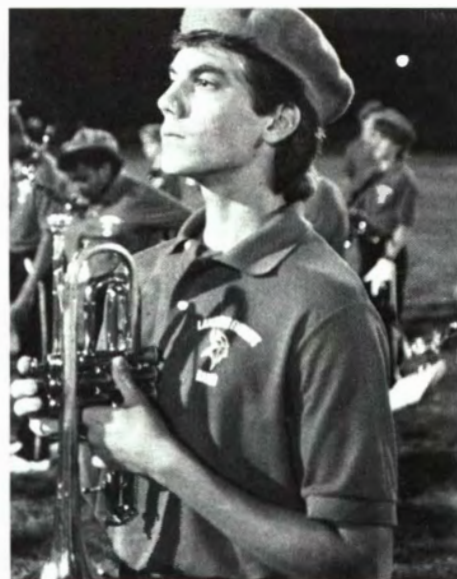

Dr. Richard Halik, the superintendent of the Lansing School District, was the speaker at this year's rally. The events began after the Star-Spangled Banner was sang. The competition between the bands began next. Tying with Sexton for first place, a hoola-hoop contest was held next. After many grueling minutes of keeping the hoop going, the judges gave the event to Sexton for having a faster hoop than ours.

But Everett's team was not to lose again. After what seemed to be an awful beginning in the over and under water balloon race, the team recovered from dropping the balloon to come back and tie with Sexton. The rematch between our team and Sexton was called. We again came out the victors. The faculty also won their jump-rope race against the other teams.

All-in-all Everett once again showed their competition that they should watch their backs because we come from behind. Let's all go out to show our spirit again next year.

Talent Shows As . . . Floats Present Commercial Ads

Homecoming means floats and the floats this fall were certainly original. JJJJ-Juniors got that party rocking Max Headroom took first place for the Juniors this year. The freshman had the clomp on second place with their prediction of what was going to happen to the warriors. The sophomores took third with their float. Fourth place went to the band with an invitation to snuggle up to them. Pep and Spirit added to the event with their banner and for the fourth year in a row the senior class was disqualified. Added to the floats was the rowdy football fans whose spirit made homecoming a night to remember.

With each float representing a class or the band and pep and spirit the bit of competition added enthusiasm and the Viking spirit, something Everett can be proud of.

Varsity Celebrates Championship Win

For the first time in many years, Everett's Varsity football team captured the C.A.C. Championship title and placed in the state finals. In honor for the football players, a special pep rally was held to send them off to Ann Arbor and to the playoffs.

This years victory is a great accomplishment after many disappointing years. With the help of such players as Carl Thomas and Charles Thomas, Otis Glover, Kipp Perdue, and many other talented players, the team was able to show our competition that the Vikings can come from behind and be the best. This pep rally was one of the examples of our true spirit.

Cold Noses, Warm Spirits Hold Out

Imagine shoveling snow in the middle of October. Trudging through snow while trick or treating. The below freezing temperatures brought these thoughts to our minds on the night of the 1986 Fall Homecoming.

Despite the cold weather, players and spectators alike were kept warm by the thrill of the football game. Our Everett Vikings, caught up in the excitement of the evening, pounded the embarrassed Waverly Warriors into the ground. The score ended up to be 32-0. Guess who had the 32!

Two parents should've been doubly proud as the twins, Carl and Charles Thomas, were elected king and prince, respectively. Their queen and princess were Cynthia Freeman and Gwendolyn Hermes.

Miss Senior, Amy Farrington, when asked about her feelings on that night said, "Even though Neill had to play, I had a lot of fun and I'm sure that homecoming is a night that I will never forget." Mr. Senior, Neill Ross had similar feelings- "We won! I think I will remember being Mr. Senior always."

Artistic Students Bring Play To Life

Cast Has Fun With 'Midsummer'

Elves, trolls, fairies, and magical spells. These things were all a part of the 1986 spring school play entitled, "A Midsummer Night's Dream".

"This production was special in that the advanced drama class worked with a professional scene designer, Tim Stapleton, to design and build the scenery," Mr. Tom Ferris, director of the play was quoted as saying. "This association was interesting and provided an experience not normally available to students."

The cast and crew put in many hours of hard work and long rehearsals to create a very presentable Shakespeare. It was very important to both students and director alike to be able to perform a Shakespearean play.

"Performing 'Midsummer' was a great experience for everyone", stated junior Jeffery Magnuson. "It gave us the opportunity to really show our acting diversity, with both comedy and seriousness."

By adding their own comical twists here and there, the students did a wonderful job of performing the play by Shakespeare as one comedy Everett High School would not soon forget.

Vikettes Prove They're Number One

On November 8, 1986, the Lansing Everett Vikettes traveled to Pottersville to compete in Twirler's Unlimited. Performing in this prestigious competition, the Vikettes did one routine. The long hours of practice finally paid off when they were awarded first place.

Placing first was quite an honor for Coach Molly Noss since this was her first year coaching at Everett. Her coaching ability was enriched by her past coaching experiences. Members of the Vikettes appreciated her dedication.

To prepare for the oncoming season, the Vikettes started early in the summer. Since they march with the band, they go to band camp every year to work on their marching and routines to be performed at halftime in the football games. The squad had to put a lot of time into preparing for football games, basketball games, and to help represent Everett at parades. They practiced every weekday and put in many hard hours of extra practice to make their routines perfect.

"It's a great feeling to be on the squad and to be a part of the excitement," said four year Vikette Debra Bunnell. Bridget Luea told us this about the Twirler's Unlimited Competition, "Even though we may have had some doubts about how we would do, our spirit was still high!"

Flags Perform Great Routines

Excellent creditability for competition showed off our 1986-87 Flag and Rifle corp. Each individual who preformed in this squad had accomplished set goals.

Carolyn Mathis was the coach of this squad, she emphasized the teaching techniques in rythum, timing, coordination, showmanship, and handling of equipment. Most of all they reached respect and discipline and each individual learned for themselves how to reach group goals.

Flag corp was started in 1979 and had grown greatly from two members to twenty-one, with uniforms and a new variety of equlptment.

This squad ranged largely in competition they placed first in twirling unlimited and in the U.S. Twirling Association.

Each person in this squad recieved a stripe for the past year. Many have earned more than one becuase of seniority. Senior members recieved a varsity letter and pins were given according to each additional year after the first.

The captain for the Flag Corp was a four year member, Jennifer Tharp. The co-captains were four year member, Michelle Peavey and two year member, Roxann Dutcher.

Carolyn Mathis, "Every year the Color guard gets bigger in number and better in quality. They are a hardworking group and I was very proud of them."

Pep And Spirit Fires Up Players

Bold banners, signs and posters, vocal cheers and encouraging smiles. Pep and Spirit members know how to cheer our players on and get our crowd hyper.

Members are involved in taking busses to away games. Where there's a game players need encouragement. Pep and Spirit helps to achieve that goal.

There are between 150 and 200 members. The advisors are Mrs. Reatha Lockhart and Mrs. Luann MacQueen. The President is Jennifer Milks and Vice President is Loretta Shannon. These peppy students have sailor hats and bright sweatshirts as their uniform.

This year the Pep and Spirit club held a fundraiser selling candy and nuts. Income raised for the club was over 500 dollars.

Members are running the CAC football team sweatshirt drive. They are also trying to involve more people into extra circular activities.

Everett's Band . . . Showing Pride In Their Talent

The Everett High School Marching Band raised school spirit and support for the events and competitions that took place during the school year.

The students who were interested in playing and performing music in front of large crowds joined Everett's band. To be eligible to join the band, students must already know how to play an instrument. The director, Mr. Amel Eiland, required every member to go to all of the practices and to attend band camp, which was held in summer at the Ebersole Center.

Performing at the last Everett Varsity football game was a very sentimental and moving experience for many of the marching band members. Senior Karen Alberts remarked that "Most people think that this wouldn't be a big deal, but to us seniors it is."

Many band members were sad to see it all end. They missed the excitement and sense of satisfaction from performing in front of a lot of people. For many of them, this has been a learning experience. But for many seniors this is like graduation. Senior marching band member and drum major Gregory Rivet commented, "It's been great!"

Academics Help. . . Honors Endure Many Activities

Academic excellence was what the National Honor Society strived for in their students this year. As each of those students made at least a 3.333 grade point average throughout their high school career, each was initiated at the beginning of their junior or senior year.

The Honor Society consisted of only 30 juniors and 66 seniors, who not only worked on studies but supported and helped out in our society. They did such things as working with our elders at Roselawn, attending the Career Fair as ushers, putting the honor roll board up, decorating the halls at Christmas, working on the Thanksgiving Day project, and much, much more.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow were the top advisors as they had been for many years. They helped in setting up all activities for honor students to act in.

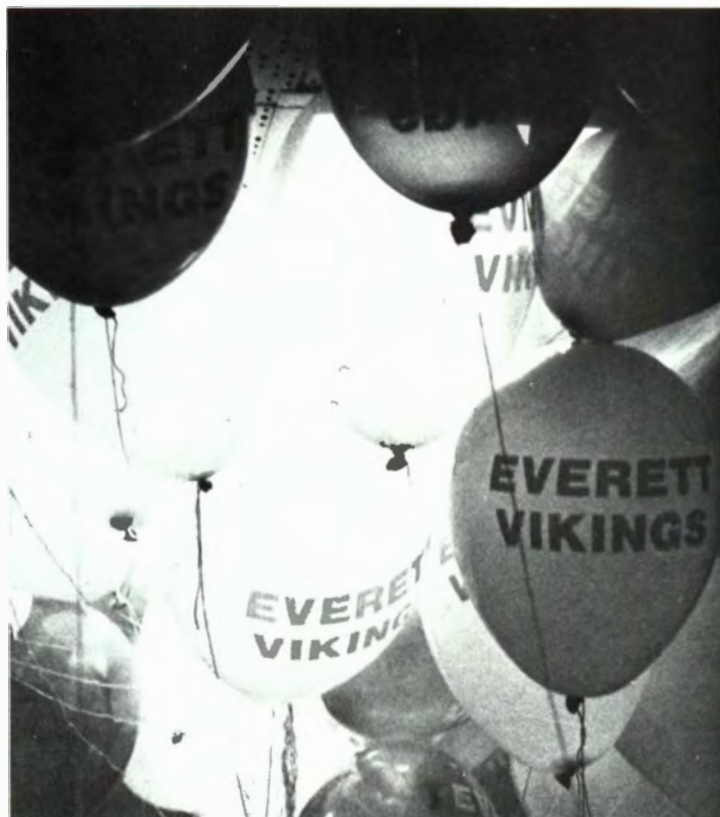

The students worked on increasing their points to earn their honor collars for graduation to show the public the support they received from Everett High School's National Honor Society.

Decisions Are Made With Student Input

How can students be heard by adults? How can they get their input to count? This dilemma had been going on for years. Everett students found a solution. They formed a student council.

One student from each homeroom was elected to represent the other students in that homeroom at the meetings. Meetings were held every two weeks on a Tuesday, in the small auditorium, alternating hours of the day.

The representatives gave all students a voice because there was a required amount of at least one person from each homeroom to be there.

This year was the first full year we have had a student council. "I think student council is one of the most effective student organizations at Everett. For the most part the representatives show a great deal of responsibility. The actions of the council have been the cause of much effective change at Everett High School", Mr. Schuler.

"The majority of the students are doing the representation that they are supposed to. There are some, however, because of newness, who don't take their responsibilities seriously. Eventually I think the newness will wear off and things will run more smoothly", Mr. Davis.

There were approximately 82 members in the student council. The officers were as follows: President, Debra Bunnell; Vice-President, Velma Garza; Secretary, Amy Farrington; Treasurer, Kevin Clark; Sergeant at Arms, John Holt. Mr. Schuler was the teacher-advisor and Mr. Davis was the administrative advisor.

Students Help Needy Families

Greatful, were the families who received baskets of food. The food was collected by Everett students from the Thanksgiving Day Project. Mr. Davis, the person in charge of this project, gathered the names of sixty needy families to deliver to.

The first thing the students did was to collect the boxes of cans from the first hours. The two classes with the most cans were awarded cider and donuts. They were Mr. Baker's and

Mrs. Davis's first hours.

The chairpersons of this project were Lisa Lutes, Sonja Pack, Anh Nguyen, Jennifer Brown, Sylvia Crouch, and Kristine VanPatten. They, along with the other students helped out putting the boxes together. The boxes consisted of various canned goods, apples, potatoes, a loaf of bread, and a turkey.

When the boxes were finished, the students piled them up in cars and delivered them in the pouring rain to the needy families. Mr. Davis was very pleased and thankful to all of the students who helped out with the Thanksgiving project.

Alcohol Doesn't Mix With Driving

When a person who has been drinking gets behind the wheel it can affect us all. Everyone has seen the gory accidents in movies in Drivers Education or even on the television. The next person injured or killed could be a loved one.

Parents and teens across the country are standing together to pledge NOT to drink and drive.

Here at E.H.S. we have a group of concerned students who are proud of their goals and values. They are involved with S.A.D.D.. Many feel we need stiffer laws passed punishing those who kill a person or break the law while under the influence.

Karen Alberts, president, working alongside of Mr. Sam Davis, help plan informative activities to help keep drunk friends off the streets.

At parent conferences members passed pamphlets out discussing how to have a teen party without alcohol. Seminars have been offered at M.S.U. and groups have attended. They learned how to make drinks without alcohol.

This year S.A.D.D. plans to ban together with other Lansing area schools and march at the capital. They will protest stiffer laws and penalties for drunk drivers.

One member stated, "S.A.D.D. may be labeled weird in the eyes of some but I'd rather be dumb than dead."

Everett Excellers Promote Excellence

"It has a great effect on us," that's what Joyce Muse said about the Everett Excellers.

The Excellers was formed three years ago by Mrs. Byrd, Ms. H, Mrs. Hightower, and Ms. Lockhart. The group was started help black students with problems of their own and in the community. Now the club is not only open to blacks, anyone who wants to may join. Each member must maintain a 3.0 grade point average.

The Excellers participate in many community and school projects. Each year the group expands black awareness throughout a school with special presentations during Black History Month and on Martin Luther King Day.

This year, the Excellers are planning on bringing George McKenna as a guest to Everett. Mr. McKenna immensely improved the situation of the Los Angeles public school systems. The schools were having problems with drugs, gangs, and racial conflicts.

The Everett Excellers hope for continued success in their group for many years to come.

Archives Staff Keeps Working Hard

This year the efforts and skills of both old and new were combined to create the 1987 Archives yearbook and make it such a success. Many of those who worked on it had prior journalistic experience and had worked on previous yearbooks. The Archives profitted this year when many familiar faces returned along with the appearance of some very new ones.

With the loss of two-year editor Sheri Rogers, the staff had to become accustomed to the techniques of a new editor, Kelly Conway, who fulfilled her duties well. Along with the new editor came the new assistant editor, Anne Wilson.

The staff members also had the experience of Mr. Darrell Dafoe at their disposal. His Journalistic know-how from working on junior high yearbooks aided the students and his good attitude gave them the motivation needed to do an excellent job.

Photographers Kenneth Almas, Thomas Ames and Rebecca Dershem provided the Archives with the pictures to make it enjoyable.

This year saw the loss of two of the three computer operators, but they were replaced with the fresh new faces of Traci Smith and Oufreez Udvardia.

With the combination of old and new, tradition and fresh ideas, hard work and a little fun, the 1987 Archives was one yearbook that Everett Vikings would not soon forget.

Monthly Award . . .

Spotlight Shines On Chosen Students

Honoring students for their talent in areas other than academics and athletics was one of the things Mr. Davis wanted to accomplish when he set up the Viking of the Month Awards. It is based solely on teacher recommendations and the students leadership abilities, helpfulness, and attitude. "I wanted it to help improve the faculty and student relationships," Mr. Davis said.

The first viking of the month was picked in January. Each month a new student was awarded. The Viking of the Month was taken out to breakfast at the Kiwanis Club. They received a free yearbook and a $25 savings bond. In June all of the award winners were put together and a Viking of the Year was chosen. This student received their picture and a short biography in the display case that was purchased for the Viking of the Month Awards.

The first person that was honored with this award was Nicole Kiarsis. Nicole is an exceptional artist who shows maturity and responsibility. Angela Johnson was the Viking of the Month for February. She goes out of her way to help people with their problems. The March Viking of the Month was David Beck. He been an active member in the U.N. club for three years. Junior, Jennifer Milks was April's Viking of the Month. She was eagerly involved in extracurricular activities. May's Viking of the Month was Kelly Yarger. Her recommendation stated that she was self-motivated and an independent worker.

Spanish Club . . .

Members Foresee Trip To Spain

Cultural experiences were in the lives of Spanish Club members this year at Everett. The club members labored on various fundraisers to finance these events.

The Spanish Club worked hard during the year to finance various field trips. They went to visit Michigan State University to see Spanish dancers perform and to a variety of plays and also enjoyed horseback riding.

The fundraising events the Spanish Club took part in this year included selling cookies, pies, and small Christmas gifts. In addition, they put on a bake sale during lunch hours.

When Spanish Club members were not raising money, they were learning about the Hispanic language and culture. In the future, they plan on taking a trip to an exotic Spanish speaking country.

The 1986-87 school year was an exciting and enriching one. The various field trips and cultural experiences the Spanish Club participated in during the school year were a really valuable and enlightening experience for the members.

Dracula Strikes On Halloween Night

Halloween is a night that was made for scaring people. That was exactly what the cast of Dracula set out to do.

The story took place in the English town of Purley, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Seward (played by Michael Farano and Darice Smith). While visiting, Mina Weston (played by Kathy Keeney), a good friend of the Seward's daughter Lucy (played by Tricia Morscheck), became very ill and died. Dr. Seward sent for Professor Van Helsing (played by Jeffery Magnuson) to help. With the assistance of Jonathon Harker (played by Mark Shashagway) and Arthur Holmwood (played by Joseph Welch), he devised a plan to destroy Dracula (played by Barry Cheslow). They were led to Count Dracula by the most unlikely person, Renfield, a raving madman (played by James Smith).

Other cast members include: the attendant, Mr. Butterworth (played by James Novakoski), and the maids, Miss Wells and Miss Elsie (played by Alysia Cline and Jamie Donahue).

With a cast of twelve, and only six weeks to rehearse, making this production work was a constant battle against time.

The many special effects and sounds were made possible by Mr. Ferris and Mr. Carter, and costumes were provided by Mrs. Helder. Members of the crew were Sean Murphy, Brian Swix, Brian Roe, and Cindy Gallimore.

International Day Has Foreign Taste

What had exciting dances, foreign food samples, a chance to study relics from other nations, and much more? Why of course, the 1986 International Day.

This year's International Day included dances from such countries as Mexico, India, and China. A skit entitled "The old South" was performed by the Everett Excellers under the direction of graduate Aaron Stokes. Mr. Carter's choir class added to the activities along with Marie Sorrells and Cythia Whittington, who performed a duet together.

International Day was designed with many ideas in mind.

Started by Dr. Joyce Jay in 1976, International Day's main focus was to broaden student's educational backgrounds of other countries that play a part in our lives everyday. Everett is the only school in the Lansing District that holds such an event. This type of activity demonstrates that our future is closely tied into the fact that we have to work and live in peace with other countries. Many thanks can be given to all the people who made International Day possible. It helps us to understand better the differences in our cultures

Radio Station Rules Cafeteria

The disk jockeys of W.E.H.S. brought music to the cafeteria every morning and at lunchtime. They played all kinds of music for all kinds of people. They played anything from the Beatles to Madonna.

The D.J.s were as follows: senior Gary Mejia, juniors Ronald Gruenberg, Jeffery Magnuson, and Lori Snow, sophomore Susan Gray, and freshman Allen Kerby.

The equipment the D.J.s used was a mixer, a microphone, a dual cassette deck, an equalizer, an amplifier, and two turntables. With this equipment, and plenty of records, the D.J.s could play music for the students' enjoyment.

With the help of Mr. Darrell Dafoe, an English teacher and the Archives advisor, the D.J.s had a place to put the equipment. Mr. Dafoe also made rules for the D.J.s to follow, such as each week a D.J. had to clean the room where the equipment is stored.

Most of the students liked listening to the music while in the cafeteria. One student said, "It is boring without the music in the cafeteria." Another student said, "The music builds morale for the school day." I think W.E.H.S. will last for a long time to come.

Jobs Create Better Outlook For Future

Responsibility comes in all forms of life. Most students who had experienced the responsibility of holding down a job and school usually find life after graduation a little easier to manage.

Many students at Everett hold down a job- they go to school half of the day or all day, then go to work. But there were many who were not in either of these categories but hoped to be.

There are a lot of advantages and disadvantages of working while in school. The biggest advantage being money. Along with money comes responsibility, but the learning activities of a job out of school were a great experience all its own.

At Everett there were a good majority of students on co-op. They took half of their school day and worked. But, they not only received a pay check, they also received credits for school.

Alicia Woodworth, "I think co-op was good for seniors to take because after they have received all mandatory credits, then it gives that student a different way of life."

Chad Reust, "I wanted a good job in high school so I could have a secured future after I graduated."

Carnival Brings About Hesitation

The day, Friday the thirteenth, the worst day to experiment on a new thing. Even though it was a "superstitious" day, the overall outcome was satisfactory. "It was a good idea but lacked participation," said Oufreez Udvadla, a Junior.

There were many booths which included cards, lollipops, buttons, a candy guess, fortune telling, balloons, and popcorn. The yearbook staff presented a computerized matching game called Mystery Match and gave students a last chance to buy a yearbook. The most famous of all was the food booths. There was pizza, nachos, subs, popcorn, pop, and much more.

The carnival was not advertized as well as it could have been. The students needed to know more about what activities and special booths would be displayed. All agreed that the carnival could have been more of a success if there would have been more participation by both students and staff. Hopefully in the coming years the great ideas of the winter carnival will continue to grow and to prosper.

Homecoming Spirit Is Still Shining

The mood was intense as the crowd at the Winter Homecoming game waited for King and Queen to be announced. When Alycia Bennett and Craig Archer were pronounced as Queen and King a feeling of relief joy, and sadness filled the gym.

But the King and Queen were only part of the festivities. Announced earlier in the week, the princes and princesses played a large part in the Winter Homecoming. With a new type of voting system set up, more students had a chance to be nominated for court. In the end four couples were left. Virgil Glew III and Tina Brown were elected to royalty as Senior Prince and Princess. Aaron McDonald and Amy Bozzo were honored as Prince and Princess for the Juniors. Peter Luea and Kristi Curtis won the place for the Sophomores and Richard Azelton III and Greta Harden were Freshmen Prince and Princess.

The night was complete when the Varsity Basketball team came out the victors against Grand Ledge. With the success of the team and the brilliance of the court, this years Winter Homecoming can be considered one of the main events of the year.

This year at Everett has been full of changes and surprises. Winter Homecoming was no exception with the pep rally lead by Jeffery Magnuson, the first student ever to lead a pep rally at Everett. The couples on this years court will always remember how they were royalty for a day even if it was the day of superstition, Friday the 13th.

Helping Out . . .

Student Security Enforces Rules

Perhaps you've noticed a number of students patrolling the halls wearing buttons that said "Student Security". Have you ever wondered exactly what it is that they do, or how they get the job? This was how it was done.

To become part of Student Security, a student first must talk to the principal. They had to have pretty good grades and a sense of responsibility. Once a student was chosen, they received their badge, which they were supposed to wear when on duty.

Most of you have seen Student Security mainly during the lunch hours. During that time, each member of Security was assigned to a post. They made sure no one went by without a pass and that classes were not being bothered. Sometimes they had special assignments inside the lunchroom.

Lunchtime was not the only time Student Security worked. It was their job to keep an eye out for trouble throughout the day. They needed to be ready to help Security whenever they were needed.

Ski Club Makes Trips to Brighton

The excitement, the fun, the cold weather and snow. These were a few things that came to mind when the skiers remembered the great times they had.

The Everett Downhill Ski Club made trips almost every Wednesday evening to Brighton. Each week the members took classes to advance their skiing abilities.

There were twenty-nine members although they didn't always ski at the same time.

Mr. Howell was the sponsor and Mrs. Coppens was an advisor, the two together planned an excellent year. Gregory Rivet was President.

Graduates came back to help again this year, chaperoning and helping out other skiers.

"I am very excited and enthused about how the students take their lessons seriously and how they've become so responsible in a fun way. I am especially proud of all our medal winners who are placing in the National Standard Race (N.A.S.T.A.R.)", Mr. Howell.

Everett Students Enjoy Open Lunch

During the 1986-87 school year, Everett High School students enjoyed the freedom and independence they had in their open lunch hours. Although Everett's administration made some changes in lunch policies, students were grateful that open campus was continued.

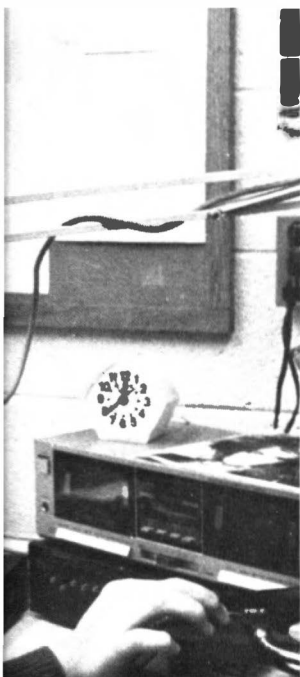

When asked to compare open-campus lunch at Everett with closed-campus lunch at Gardner, freshman Doug Buxton said, "It's fun to have a choice of things to do and places to go at lunch time." His feelings were shared by many freshmen when asked to make this comparison.

Numerous students at Everett who had their own transportation, and some without transportation, enjoyed going out to lunch with friends. Area restaurants such as McDonalds, Burger King, and Taco Bell bubbled with students and laughter during the lunch hours. Junior Ron Gruenberg expressed his opinion freely about the open lunch hour policy in the cafeteria, "Students enjoy the freedom during lunch, but they hate the cafeteria's food!" This opinion was shared by many students who ate in the cafeteria this year at Everett.

The freedom of Everett High

School's lunch policy has been threatened in the past and was placed in jeopardy again this year. As a result, Everett's administration took action, making and enforcing yet more restrictions pertaining to lunch room activity and students walking through the halls at lunch. Students were scared of losing the freedoms they still had.

In past years, Everett High School students' lunchtime privileges had been threatened by the neighborhoods surrounding the school itself. This was a result of student littering, loitering, and abusing their freetime at lunch. Measures were taken to prevent further problems and didn't work, the result was the closing of almost all of the streets to students at lunch time.

Everett did have some positive aspects that other area schools didn't have this year during their lunch hours. While in the cafeteria during fourth and fifth lunch hours, students listened to music from their very own radio station. Everett was the only school in the Lansing School District with their own private station and disc jockeys. Jeff Magnuson, a junior at Everett this year and one of the disc jockeys, said, "It's really fun playing music for students at lunch time, and it's an excellent opportunity to perform."

Taking all into consideration, Everett's open-campus lunch did have some comparisons with Gardner's closed-campus lunch with all of the restrictions that Everett students had this year. Essentially, the Vikings still have more freedom than the Mustangs, since the Vikings are still allowed to leave campus during their lunch hours. Junior Melissa Haywood shared, "I enjoy what freedom I have left . . ."

V. Baseball Team Hits Big League

Vikings Place Second In CAC

On April first, nine days before Spring Break, the Varsity Baseball team left for Chicago. While on the way, the Team devised a plan of how they would use their twelve days for training in Puerto Rico.

To raise money for the trip, the players sold everything from fruit to baked goods. The guys had to pay an additional fee of twenty-three dollars.

Practicing twice a day in weather that ranged in the eighties paid off. The team came home and took first place in district, and second place in the CAC, and had a season record of 18-7. Mr. Boss said the biggest accomplishment of the trip was that it "helped to bring the team together." Mr. Boss, who has been coaching for thirteen years, had high expectations all through the season. He kept his hopes up with the help of the teams four co-captains; Adam Shelton, Steven Counseller, Herbert Scheopke, and Tracy Wright. There were also many other talented players on the team. The Most Valuable Player was Gary Birmingham. The Most Improved Player was Michael Kletke, Most Dedicated was Dan Dubois, and Most Loyal was Stephen Clark.

JV Knuckles Under Competition Makes Wins Tough

Showing the determination and the right attitude of professionals, the 1986 Junior Varsity Baseball team demonstrated the desire to learn and the will to to succeed.

When the Varsity baseball team went to Puerto Rico this year for training, three privileged JV baseball players were allowed to go along. Douglas Chandler, Daniel Warnaar, and Gregory Hooson were selected. They also played for the Varsity team as substitutes throughout the baseball season.

The 1986 spring baseball season was a rebuilding time for the Junior Varsity Baseball team. Even though many of last year's players went to the Varsity team, the JV players showed great sportsmanship, ending their spring baseball season with six wins and nine losses.

Soccer Plays Tough

Team Puts Forth Great Effort

Our team does not have the experience of other teams, as this is the second year of soccer. The thing Everett's soccer team has is super sportsmanship and talent.

The soccer team had a tremendous season, ending well despite their record. All games were hard fought and played with the best gentlemanly attitudes. Twelve of the games were played in the rain.

Dr. Morales worked with his team to develop character and the ability to work together. The team strived for excellence on the field and in their classrooms. All soccer team members had high academic standards.

Working along with the players were their parents. These valuable parents supported the team by providing refreshments as well as moral boosters.

At their banquet on Nov. 5, awards were given to Most Valuable Player and Captain, Houa Yang, Michael Rodriguez, Captain, Christian Ericks, Most Improved, Richard Schreiner, Most Positive Attitude, and Timothy Kilpatrick as Most Dependable.

Boys Track Has Successful Season

Team Reveals Great Progress

After all the effort and hard work put forth, the Varsity Boys Track team received third in the Capital Area Conference.

The dedicated team ran to their final record in dual meets with four wins and four losses. The co-captains were Kimyon Lockhart and Terry Tellez. Kimyon Lockhart was also the valuable runner. John Holt captured the most dedicated award. The coach award, which is a combination of dedication and leadership, went to William Darnell.

All of their hard work finally paid off when they had their chance to show their skill. The team expressed their ability to run, attempt the high jump and the disk throws in many ways and many meets. In the State meet they finished by tying for fourteenth place out of one hundred and thirty-one schools.

"One of the top priorities was learning proper techniques for the events that the athletes competed in. Another was excellent conditioning and an inner, quiet self-confidence and self-discipline," stated coach Barr. The team's success was aided by coach Barr and his assistants, Mr. Weidener and Mr. Bullock.

Girls Track Team Gains CAC Victory

Talent Brings Third Year Win

Talent was the driving force behind the success of the Everett Girls Track Team during the 86 season. Finishing first in the CAC, second in the regionals and receiving their third consecutive conference championship, were just a few of the events that made the season a memorable one.

The team's most valuable player, 86 graduate Jaqueline Banks, contributed a great deal to their success, by making the 100, 220, 440, and the long jump, their strongest events. Jaqueline's hard work paid off in the end. She received a scholarship from Michigan State University.

One special addition to the 86 team was Annette Gruin, a German exchange student. Annette spent her senior year here at Everett, as a participant in the Youth for Understanding program.

The team was able to compete in many events outside the district, as well. They placed first in the Holt Invationals, third in the CMU relays, and now rank seventeenth in the state.

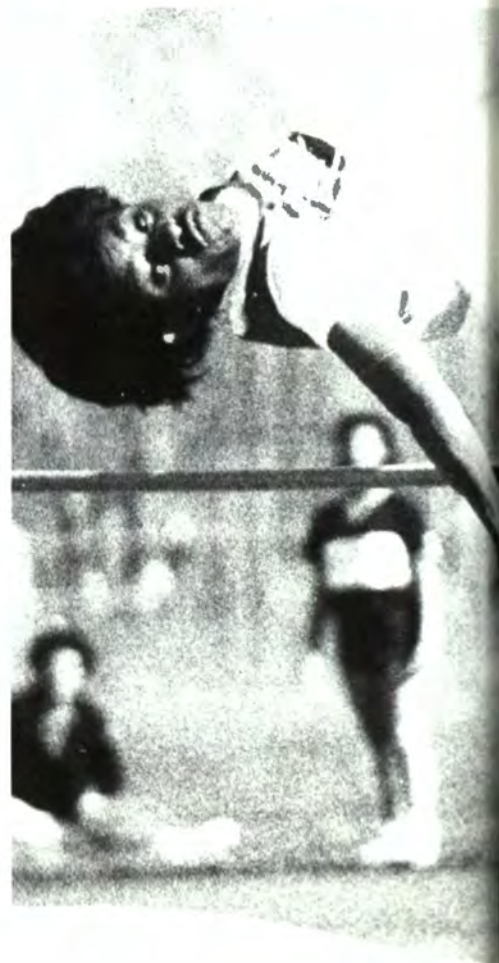

Everett is now the fourth school in the state that has had both girls and boys teams win. Coach Brazee stated, "We are a young team which is improving rather nicely."

Varsity Swings Through Season

Girls Softball Has 9-8 Year

Excitement filled the air as the 1986 Varsity Vikings, consisting of thirteen juniors and one senior, took the softball field. Even the coaches, Ed Folsom and Roger Small, were ready to start the new season.

This year's team put in many hard hours of practice. They averaged about ten hours a week, not counting some Saturdays.

During practice the team worked on perfecting their defense and offense so that they were able to play up to their past abilities. A lot of time was also put into concentrating on the mental aspects of softball.

Coaches Folsom and Small concentrate on rebuilding a Varsity team with a championship record. Their 1985 record was 14-7 and their 1986 record was 9-8. Much of the team's strength and leadership was lost as seniors graduated.

JV Girls Catch Victory With Ease

Practice Makes Team Great

The 1986 girls Junior Varsity Softball team showed great determination and dedication throughout the entire season.

There were twelve girls on the team. It consisted of nine sophomores, six of which were on the freshman team last year, and three freshman players. With the help of Coach Messner, the Junior Varsity softball coach, the girls were constantly working to maintain their no loss C.A.C. record.

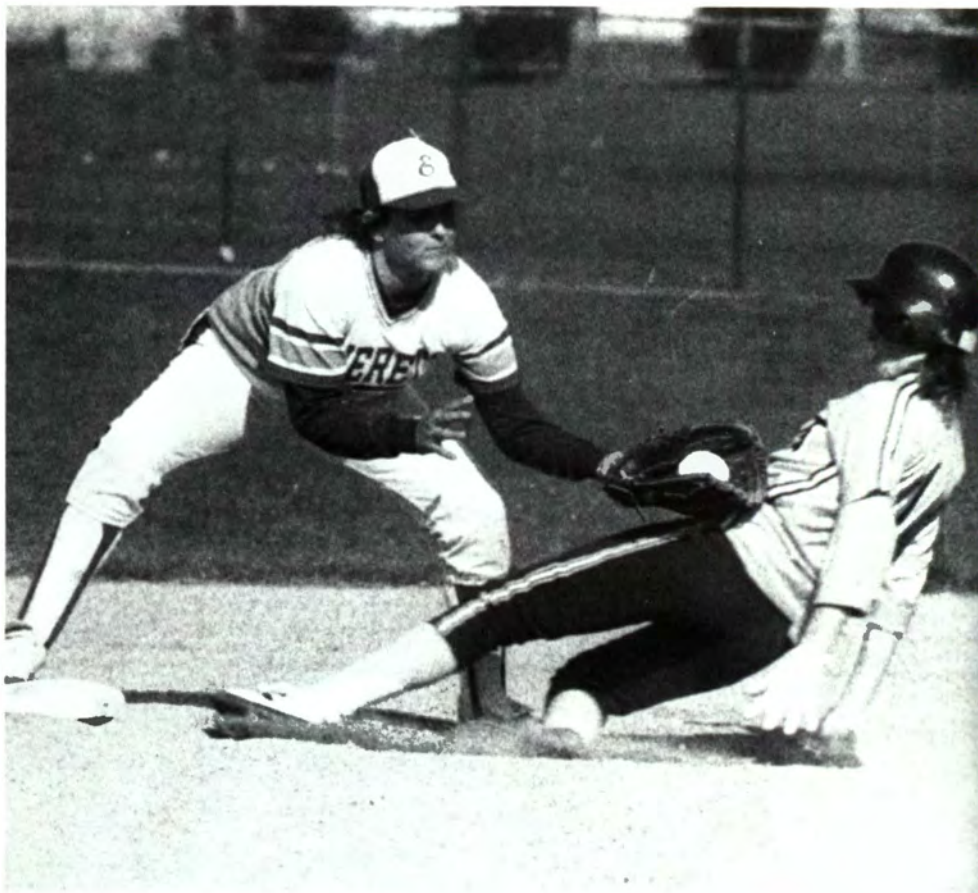

The girls started practice in the second week of March. They practiced for two and a half hours everyday, except those in which they had a game.

The main source of funds for their uniforms came from the selling of submarine sandwiches.

The Junior Varsity Softball team ended the season as the Capitol Area Conference Champions. The girls had a great year. The hard work was worth it, the experience, knowledge, and fun, but most important, the friendships that were built.

Freshman Softball Leaves Rest Behind

Girls Batting Average 429

Hard work, dedication, training, and practice after practice. These things working together made the 1986 Girls Freshman Softball team.

The girls' goals were to win as many games as possible, stop walks, and strike out as many opponents as they could. The girls diligently worked to improve their ever changing record.

As the year progressed, the team out-hit both J.V. and Varsity and had a super batting average of 429. They finished the season with a record of five wins and eight losses.

This year's team was different from previous teams because they were so easy to work with, outgoing and had cheerful attitudes.

There was a lot of tough competition at the games. Hopefully in the future these incredible girls will join the J.V. and Varsity teams. They showed great sportsmanship in all aspects of the game.

Their proud coach, Mr. Pohlonski, spent many hours preparing his team to battle our rivals.

Tennis Tunes Up

New Coach Boosts Team Morale

The 1986 Boys Tennis Team worked long and hard to get its best record in two years. Many boys on the team felt most of the credit for this should be given to Coach, Lisa Messner.

On top of good coaching, the team had strong players at both singles and doubles. Hoa Nguyen did a very good job at first singles as a senior. The doubles team of Anthony Baker and Houa Yang placed second at both the Battle Creek Tournament and the Flushing Tournament.

The team went through a lot of remodeling this year. Coach Messner wanted to try as many different lineups as she could to see who could play in which position the best. By the end of the season, they found the perfect lineup, which should prove to be successful next season.

As a team, they improved greatly over last year's record of no wins and eleven losses. Their final season record was 5-7. There is still a little room for improvement, but with the progress they have shown this past year, they should come out with a winning record.

1986 Girls Golf Swings Into Action

Team Rebuilds For Season

Dedication was a big part of this year's 1986 Girls Golf season. Even though their winning record wasn't as good as they wished it to be, they kept their spirits high.

The team was fairly young this year. There were eleven girls on the team. Consisting of one senior, four juniors, one sophomore, and five freshmen. Six of the girls were first year players. Their coach, Mr. Holland, has been coaching both boys and girls golf for fifteen years.

The girls also learned that their friendship to each other on the team was needed for everyone to play their best. Most of all, they learned good sportsmanship, of good use in future matches.

1986 Golf Win Four Games

Long, rainy days weren't planned for this year's golf season. Even though much time and effort was put into practice.

There were twelve members on the team. Consisting of four seniors, one junior, four sophomores, and one freshman. The team did well for a team that was so young. Their record was four wins and seven losses and they took seventh in regionals.

The 1986 Girls Tennis Team was bigger than ever before. Coach, Lisa Messner was pleased with the turnout. Half the team was returning from last year, and the rest were all newcomers.

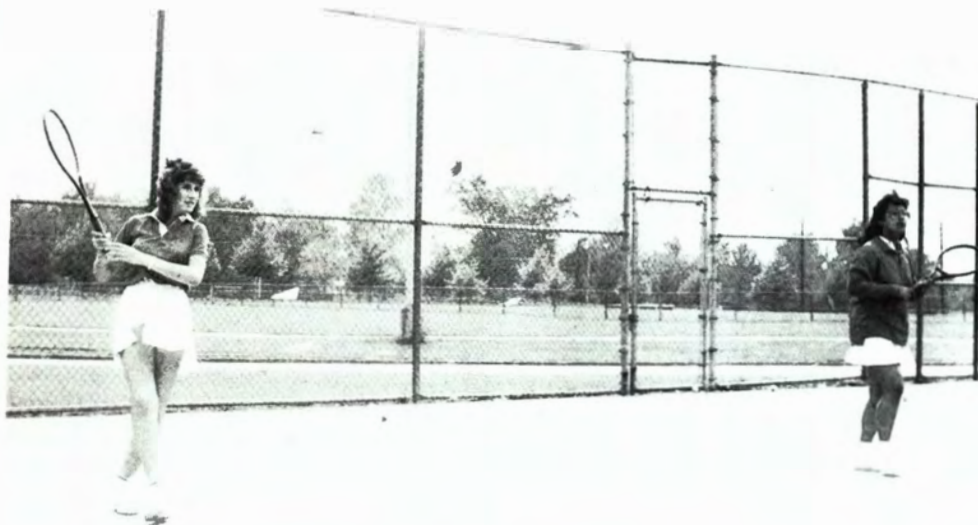

The team started practice approximately three weeks before school started. Their hard work at practice was rewarded by an overall winning record of eight wins and five losses.

The first doubles team of Jennifer Brown and Hope Costello took second at the CAC meet, and the third doubles team of Lynn Nguyen and Lisa Baldwin also did well this season, taking second at the Battle Creek Tournament.

Varsity Swim Team Achieves Goals

Girls take first in Flint VCR

Hundreds of hours of practice sounds like a lot to many people, but to twenty-one members of the Girls Swim Team the time spent in the pool created memories that will last a life-time.

Season scores 4-13, finishing sixth in the CAC.

"We may not have won as many meets as we would have liked to, but we did our best and we had fun, I guess that's what counts," commented Amy Ferguson, completing her fourth year on the swim team.

Talented freshman Andrea Bahl tied for MVP along with senior Dawn Banner. The young swimmer proved that age had nothing to do with speed. Most Improved award was awarded to Karin Hussey, Humor and Best Performance in the CAC was earned by Amy Ferguson.

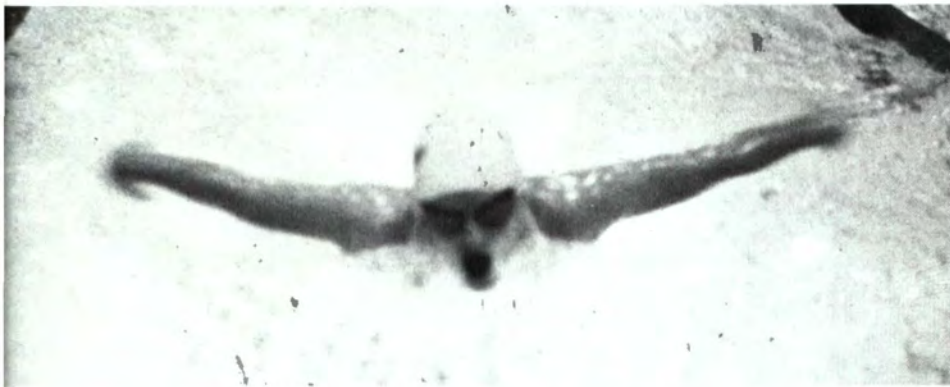

With hard work and team effort, the enthusiastic team, consisting mainly of sophomores, showed continuous improvement and promises for the future.

Team Captains were: Jamie Morrow, Amy Ferguson, and Dawn Banner.

Future Ambitions Bring Forth Goals

Boys Cross Country Strives

Reaching goals and striving to improve themselves was what each of the Boys Cross Country Team members had in mind as they ran each mile.

Practice started two weeks before school began, and that was just the beginning of a season in which many hopes and goals were made. As school began, their practices then went from 3:15 to 5:00 every day except meet days, which were usually on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Coach Brazee commented, "This team consisted of relatively young members and hopefully the foundation of a winning team."

These team members are individuals working for themselves and for the future of a successful team. Although the season was hard on some team members, they all put forth the effort the team deserved.

The overall record of the season was 0-11 and they took eighth in the CAC, but each one of the team members contributed their support, dedication, and talent.

These awards were given at the end of the season by Coach Brazee: most improved runner, Rodney Pickett and most valuable to the team was Derrick Campbell.

Cross Country Team Takes 2nd in CAC

Girls Bring Pride To Everett

A team that surpassed many obstructions. A team that strived to always be on top. At Everett high school this team could be identified as the Girls Cross Country team.

This team proved to be a great asset to Everett when they were awarded the number two position in the Capital Area Conference.

"The only thing that stood in the way of a championship year was a pair of crutches and numerous other injuries," quoted coach Neely.

Practices were from three o'clock to five o'clock daily. It was very obvious that all of the hard work and practice put into perfecting the time payed off.

The coach this year, as in years past, was Howard Neely. The assistant coach was Jerry Steffy.

The award for most valuable player was given to Chaundra Walton.

Basketball Team Shows Great Effort

Viking Girls Keep Spirit Up

Can you imagine making a mountain out of a mole hill? Can you imagine making a great fighting team out of so few players? If you can, the image that comes to mind is the Varsity Girls Basketball Team. With only nine team members, the team gave their all at each and every game.

"The season was very fulfilling in the aspect of the team becoming a team and playing as a team. We developed greatly from beginning to end and I have seen much improvement!" stated Coach Fulk. This year was Mr. Fulk's first year as a Varsity Coach.

Awards given this year were for Most Valuable Player- Sharon Darmer, for Most Humorous- Dana Hoese, and for Most Improved- Courtney Allen. The captains this year were Sharon Darmer and Carmen Biggs, both of which were seniors this year.

This year one of the captains, Sharon Darmer, received a very respected award, the CAC Honorable Mention for her great talents.

J.V. Girls Aim For Improvement

Sophomores Develop Skills

Starting in August, the J.V. Girls Basketball team began preparing for the oncoming season. They put in many hours practicing six days a week. "We worked hard to make each game better and to make fewer mistakes," said co-captain Kelly Little.

One problem the team encountered was serious lack of interest in girls wanting to try out and play basketball. Also, since the junior high schools no longer have competitive athletic teams, most girls never have the chance to play until they reach the high school level.

Co-captain Mecca Allen had this to say about their season, "It was a learning experience for me. Our record was not all that great, but I can say that I really enjoyed myself."

Girls Strive Toward Winning

It was just a great experience," quoted most dedicated player, Una-Kariim Cross. Although the 1986 Freshmen Basketball team was not a winning one, the players had positive attitudes and worked well together. "We went out to each game with a winning attitude," said Una-Kariim Cross.

The team finished the season with a four out of ten record. Practices were held every weekday from 4:15 to 5:30 and sometimes on Saturday from 9:00 until 11:00. Coach Linda Thomas was well-liked by all the girls. "She was sweet," said Kimberly Little.

Although the team didn't win as many games as they would have liked, the season was a learning experience for them. Most of the players planned on continuing next year. Team captain, Shannon Earls summed it all up when she said "I think we had a good season, even though it wasn't a winning one. It was fun."

Varsity Football Achieves #1 Title Team Plays Outstanding Season

If you were to say "#1 CAC Title", the image to appear in a lot of Viking minds would be the 1986 Varsity Football Team. This team surpassed all others in receiving this prestigious award, which had never before been given to Everett's team.

This championship was achieved through many hours of hard work. The team had practices every Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:45.

"Things seemed to fall into place this year because of the dedication of the whole team. They played extremely well and believed in one another", commented Coach Messner. This year was Messner's fourth as head coach.

With a record of 7-3 the mighty Vikings went to the playoffs where they lost to the Ann Arbor Pioneers. The whole school was very proud of our players.

The awards given out this year were: Most Valuable Player- Charles Thomas, Most Humorous- Rodney Tittle, Most Improved- Aaron Jackson, Most Loyal- Richard Buxton, Most Valuable Player for skilled position- Otis Glover, and Most Valuable Player for lineman- Kipp Perdue.

"Each and every player dedicated themselves to do the best job that they possibly could", stated Coach Messner when asked to express his pride in the team.

JV Starts Over

New Players Build Confidence

The 1986 Junior Varsity Football team showed great determination during the season.

Even though their win/loss record was only 2-5, the team never stopped trying.

The 1986 season began as a rebuilding time for the JV. They lost many players to the Varsity team, so they mostly depended on the talents of incoming underclassmen.

The team consisted of three freshmen, twenty-four sophomores, and four juniors.

During the season, the JV learned the importance of good sportsmanship and of teamwork in achieving their goals.

Freshmen Football Shows Perfection Made For Undefeated Season

Perfection. This is just one of the words that described the Freshmen Football team's season as they went undefeated and were CAC champions of 1986.

The season consisted of a 7-0 record, scoring a total of 184 points, as they only gave their opponents the average of 24 points the whole season. Of those points, Holt scored 12, and both East Lansing and Jackson scored 6.

This freshmen team was the first out of four years of having this squad exist to ever go undefeated and take CAC.

Coaches: Darren Brown, Joe Bodo, and volunteer coach Jake Boss contributed ed to the assistance of Jeff Cheadle, who put together this outstanding team.

The Freshmen Football team also had captains who took leadership for the whole team: Anthony Shepard, Djoachim Lockhart, and Ricky Azelton III.

Coach Cheadle- "This team showed the great support and togetherness that is needed in any sport and in that tact we had the advantage over all the other teams."

Cheerleaders Give Great Performance Girls Raise Spirits Higher

Spirit is what they had and enthusiasm is what they gave at each and every football game. The J.V. and Varsity Cheerleaders cheered to their greatest ability and showed much skill and talent.

Both teams practiced Monday through Wednesday after school during football season. They made up new cheers and practiced old ones to use at the football games every week.

Saturday, November 1, 1986, the Varsity Cheerleaders went to the Dynamic Cheerleaders Association competition at Central Michigan University. There were schools there from throughout the state in classes A, B, C, and D. The squad finished second out of all the schools. If they raise enough money by March, they are planning a trip to Hawaii to compete. Mrs Sue Shumway commented, "The Varsity squad has had great potential and were an extremely good group." There were seven seniors on the Varsity squad, all of them had previous varsity experience.

The J.V. Cheerleaders cheered their hardest through rain and shine to help the football players through wins and losses.

At their banquet they gave out awards for the most dedicated, most spirited, and most improved girls on each squad.

Swim Team Puts Forth Extra Effort More Practice Ups Performance

The Boys' Swim team had an abundance of determination during the '86-87 season.

What made this year's team different was the effort shown by members, including extra practice. They rolled out of bed early three days a week and gave up part of their Saturdays to try to improve their performance. Though their overall win/loss record before districts was 4-8, the actual success was in the hearts and minds of the team, not the scores.

Coach John Bullock commented,

"This year's swimming team practiced three mornings a week and Saturdays also. This dedication and hard work was responsible for the team's season end success."

Making It Big

Vikings Reaching For The Top

Frustration and dedication were a big part of this year's 1987 Varsity Basketball Season.

The team consisted of seven seniors, six juniors, and two sophomores. Boosting the team with highest scores was senior Carl Thomas, but the whole team pulled together to make this year a success.

"We've beat some good teams and lost some close games, but we haven't given up yet," stated Coach John Jones.

Even though the had to forfeit two games, one to Eastern and one to Waverly, their true Viking spirit helped to keep up the hopes that maybe the 1987 season could live up to the previous year's.

Everett Rivals Tough To Beat

J.V. Never Gives Up

"The competition on the Junior Varsity level is the highest I've ever seen it," remarked coach Don Argo. "There really isn't one dominant team in the whole C.A.C."

Improving their overall skills was one thing the whole team worked on. Next year only five to six people will be moved up to play on Varsity. So everyone was working hard to be one of the lucky ones who get to be advanced.

Different captains are chosen for each game. The choice is partially based on their work during the season. Some get to be captains more than once, but everyone gets a fair shot.

Throughout the season, the players knew that if they worked hard enough and did their best, they could always win. "This has been a very enjoyable and exciting year for me," said seven year coach Don Argo. "Losing a game by only a few points can be rough, but these guys were always ready to come back for the next game."

Everett Freshmen Shoot For Stars

Players Develop Assurance

The 1987 Boys' Freshmen Basketball team showed pride with their 8-2 record. Their win over Sexton, 61-51, was their biggest victory. The first half score of that game was 43-19.

The MVP's were Correy Kemp and James LaRoach. The captains of the team were Rodney Woods and Kwame McKinnon. The players were as follows: forwards - James LaRoach, number 32, Rodney Woods, number 40, Kwame McKinnon, number 30, Freddie Hill, number 34, and Christopher Foster, number 42. Guards - Don Brown, number 24, Correy Kemp, Team coach Eric Hartley thought that it was "a very enjoyable year to coach a very talented group of athletes, they should represent Everett very well in years to come." The second ranked freshmen were quicker, better, and more hard working than last year's team.

15 Viking Girls Glow With Pride Cheerleaders Strive For CAC

Everett once again had two terrific cheerleading squads for the 86-87 basketball season.

To have been a member of either of these prestigious squads was truly an honor. The work may have been hard, but the reward was something all its own.

Each year an average of between 60 and 100 girls try out for one of only 16 positions. To make Everett's cheerleading squad you need coordination, creativity, and the ability to perform in front of a crowd.

This year Everett's cheerleaders were faced with a big disappointment. Mounting was banned from all squads in the C.A.C., however each girl coped with the situation and made the best of it. Each cheerleader then worked harder to show off her extraordinary talents creating new moves and adding more dance steps.

All around the style changed this year to something new and exciting. Making the 86-87 cheerleading squads two of the best Everett has seen.

Gymnasts Build On Young Talent

Sophomores Work to Perfect

Although the Everett gymnastics team was somewhat below average this year, the team had not yet reached its peak. This year the gymnastics team was made up of a large number of sophomores. With more experience from both the coaches and the young gymnasts, the Vikings will soon be soaring at great heights.

This year's gymnastics coach was Jeanne Bullock, an ex-gymnast here at Everett. She had been a coach for only two seasons. The team had a new assistant coach, Kim Hunter. Kim graduated last year from Holt High School. Throughout high school Kim competed for Holt.

As these coaches gain experience and pass on new coaching techniques to the gymnasts, young talent will blossom.

Team Takes Fourth at LCC

Volleyball Demonstrates skill

The Everett Varsity Volleyball team demonstrated the skill and determination throughout the 1987 volleyball season that lead them to victory.

The team was made up of nine girls, each chosen specifically by the volleyball coach Lisa Messner. Many of the girls picked to be on the team were very active in other sports during the school year. This helped condition them for the rigorous training required of the volleyball team.

Three outstanding players were picked as co-captains of the Varsity Volleyball team by coach Messner. The girls picked were, seniors, Amy Ferguson, Tamera Hollingsworth, and Anh Nguyen.

The girls competed for many titles during the varsity volleyball season. The team took fourth in a tournament at Lansing Community College. They also competed in a triples tournament in Battle Creek Michigan. Two players, Krista Hoover and Monica Brown were chosen for the all-state team based on their outstanding records during the volleyball season.

The varsity volleyball team played an outstanding 1987 season. The thrill of victory kept the girls in high spirits during the season. Most players agreed this year was a wonderful learning experience for them all.

J.V. Volleyball Serves Grand Year

Girls Strive For Perfection

Improvement was the key word used to describe the 1986-87 J.V. Volleyball season. Bringing a lot of fresh faces onto the team meant having to teach the basics to everyone. The girls were willing to learn and they put all they had into concentrating on their practices. "The biggest part of our season was the way we worked hard to reach our goals and succeed," said co-captain Rose Fields.

One of the highlights of the season was a tournament that the team hosted. They placed fourth and came up with a big win against Brighton who before was undefeated. "It was great beating a team that no one had ever beaten before," Rose Fields said.

Before the season, many of the girls on the team went to LAVA, a camp held at Everett. It allowed them to see the competition from other schools.

Under the coaching of Jeff Cheadle, the J.V. volleyball team learned about competition and the ways to enjoy the sport. They saw how the long hours of practice were well worth it as they celebrated a win. "I really enjoy volleyball and the competition. I will never forget this season," co-captain Holly Ostrom said.

Freshmen Display Great Potential

Volleyball Team Shows Skill

The Freshmen Volleyball team is a group of high spirited, strong willed, optimistic girls. The team had a goal of winning 85% of their games. Unfortunately, they were unable to fulfill that goal this year, but that hasn't discouraged the girls at all. The team had a disappointing season record.

Coach Margaret Vaughn is very well liked by the team members. The girls described her as calm. "She doesn't get real hyper if we win. She's the calmest person I know," says Amanda Meeks. The girls like the fact that Coach Vaughn does not physically discipline them after a loss.

"She doesn't make us run or anything, we just have to work harder at the next practice," said Jennifer Woodruff.

Although the team did not reach their desired goal this year, the members are all keeping positive attitudes about next year. When asked if they would continue, most girls said that they'd like to but of course it's not up to them to decide. "Most girls go in thinking that just because they played as freshmen, they'll automatically make the team," said Amanda Meeks. "I'll try out and hope that I make the team."

Guys Perfect A Pressing Matter

Wrestling Team Pin Opponents

Rebuilding was all a big part of this wrestling team. Practices were long and late. The practices went as long as two and a half hours. The boys practiced new moves and worked out.

Determination and concentration were in the mind of each and every wrestlers. With that in their minds brought the team to a twelve win and thirteen loss record. "We had a better year this year, we had more fun," said coach Fulk, when asked if the year was better than last year.

Mr. Denny Fulk was the team coach. He has been coach of Everett's team for six years and he has plans to go for his seventh year in the 1988 wrestling season. Coach Fulk also had some coaching time at Hill before he started coaching at Everett.

Richard Bevier is a four year wrestler and has been a big part of this year's 1987 wrestling team. Richard is also one of the team captains.

This year the team had a few veterans who stood out. They were Virgil Glew III, Tom Sandberg, Richard Bevier, Brian Wilson.

Virgil Glew was a regional qualifier. Virgil is a Senior here at Everett, he has been wrestling for Everett for four years. Virgil is also a team Captain.

At their banquet there were awards given out. The Most Valuable Player went to Virgil Glew III. The wrestler who showed Most Improvement was Rob Days. The Loyalty award was given out to Brian Wilson. The team Clown was Tom Sandberg and he received the Humor award.

The team feels that there is a lot to look forward to next year and their record will improve. The team is losing some fine seniors and they will be greatly missed by friends and the coaches.

Classes Help With Future Careers

Academics lead to College

There are no subjects more important to your education than English, Math, Social Studies, and Science. Ever since elementary school they have dominated our school lives.

Out of all of these subjects English seems to be the most important. Sometimes considered the most serious of all classes, the language art department improved us in our vocabulary, writing, and grammar skills.

Challenging to the majority of us, English classes give us meaningful skills that will carry on with us for the rest of our lives. "Even though I get bored with English at times, I stay with it so I will do okay in college", said a sophomore here at Everett. With the wide variety of English classes offered everyone should be able to find a challenge.

Social Studies and history classes bring us into the past, present and it looks into the future all in one class. The department ranges from regular history to Sociology and American Government. A variety of classes were offered in the social studies department. Students could have learned about our law system in law seminar our practical law. You could have learned how to handle money in economics or life in sociology. For all college bound students advanced placement U.S. History was offered for the first time this year. Other classes included Psychology, Global Studies and regular history classes.

Math and Science classes have played very big role in our lives during the last couple of years. With new advances and techniques both classes have offered to us more than ever before. With the help of the teachers students were able to learn many new, interesting ideas.

One plus one will always equal two. With the help of math classes we have gone from simple addition to, in some cases, as high as trigonometry and beyond.

Two credits were all that was required to graduate but many students found math a challenge or a necessity for college or even a way to pass the time. Improvement is always a goal in math because it is always changing by finding better ways of solving problems.

Science classes held many opportunities for future scientists this year. With such classes as physics, biology, chemistry and natural science, students had the chance to go from simple, basic fundamentals to theories and solutions that could blow your mind while you were trying to figure them out. Even though these classes were college prep classes many students took them for fun or just to learn something new. "These classes are not always easy but you can always learn something from them", said Junior Amy Foster.

Throughout the years all of these classes have helped each and every one of us in so many ways. In the future we will be able to say academic classes got us where we are today.

Now That's Entertainment!

The Everett Chorale has been around almost as long as Everett has. It was first started by Mr. Clemmens who is now a history teacher here. The Chorale has been through vast changes since then. The present director, Mr. Carter, has been teaching choir and Chorale for the past fifteen years, and has really enjoyed it.

"This has been one of the best groups I have worked with in all my years teaching this class," stated Mr. Carter. He was very pleased with the talent of this year's group.

The group had many performances throughout the year. Some of them included the Arts Festival, a performance for guest speaker, George McKinley, and the annual Choir/Chorale extravaganza. Their shows consisted of singing, dancing, comedy routines, instrumental numbers, and a variety of short skits. In the past, the Chorale has traveled as far as Europe, but this year the Chorale performed a little closer to home!

Under the direction of Mr. Carter, both groups rose to great heights. getting to the top was the hard part. They not only practiced hard in class, they also put in many hours after school. The dedication on their part contributed greatly to their success.

The other reason for the group's success was the guidance of Mr. Carter. Without his enthusiasm and desire for perfection, the group wouldn't have been the same. Most of his students felt that even though he was tough at times, he always got good results from them.

Kester Gentry's feelings on Chorale were, "It's a good class, more people should get involved in it, it's a great way to meet people."

BELOW RIGHT: Multi-talented Junior Angela Steffy plays trombone for both orchestra and jazz band. She is also an Honor Society member and plans to graduate early.

Music is the essence of life," stated senior guitarist Roy Dingman when asked his opinion. Certainly nobody knew that better than the 1986-87 Jazz Band.

Not many people knew very much about the jazz band. Usually listed as "stage band", it was open to a select few, as approved by director Amel Eiland. This band didn't only perform jazz, they played anything from ballads and blues to pop rock and bebop. The better known tunes they played included Glen Miller's In The Mood, and a medley by the Beatles.

Contrary to popular opinion, jazz band wasn't just a class taken for fun.

The members enjoyed it, but it took plenty of determination and a desire to be the best. There were also technicalities to conquer that the ordinary listener doesn't think of.

Angela Steffy summed up their efforts best when she said, "I don't think people realize the work involved when you are in jazz band. Most of the time, we all leave feeling drained because we've tried to produce what Mr. Eiland wants to hear. But, it's still a great feeling to know you did your best."

- Traci Smith

One school music program that didn't get much acclaim was the 1986-87 orchestra.

Rich Schreiner, a violinist in the orchestra, commented, "The Everett Orchestra shows potential." Truly it did, for this was only the fourth year of its existence, as it was a class that appeared when the first wave of freshmen hit Everett.

Orchestra was held as class under the direction of Mrs. Jan Flower. In it, there were a variety of stringed instruments, who were joined by select band members a few days per week. They've come a long way in four years!

Elective Classes Are Selected For Fun

Languages

As our world grows smaller and travel becomes more common, the knowledge of foreign languages grows more important.

Everett's Language Department offered four years of French, German and Spanish. Those students who wished to learn Latin or Russian could attend classes at other high schools in the Lansing School District.

Many businesses require employees to be fluent in one or more foreign languages before they are hired.

An appreciation of other cultures is invaluable in broaden one's outlook on life, and Everett's Language Department wanted to help the students appreciate the cultures of foreign lands.

Mrs. Helder, the French teacher here at Everett, gave her students the opportunity to try different foods that had originated in France.

"Language is communication!" stated Mr. Humphrey, who teaches German. "Being able to communicate with different people will open up new friendships and roads to follow."

Home Economics

Home Economics played an important part here at Everett. Students who would like to get married or have a family to ok classes like Parent and Child or Personal Relations.

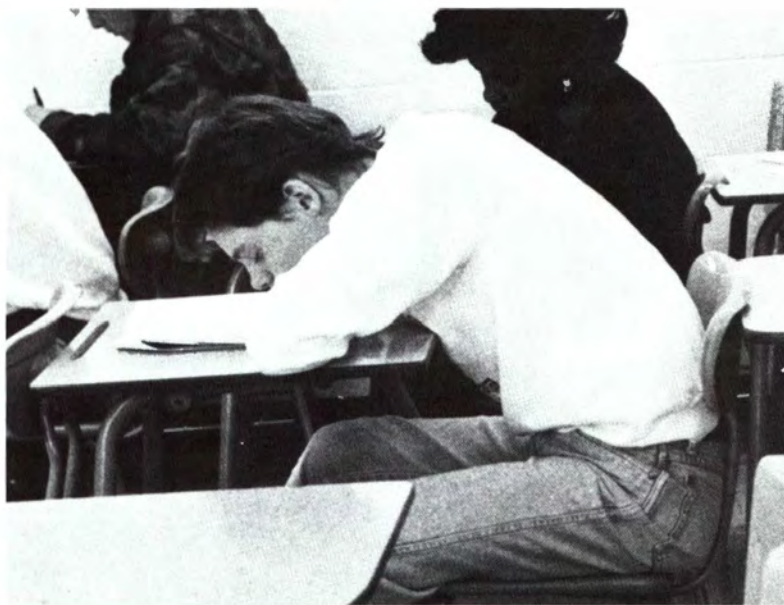

Parent and Child, taught by Mrs. Barker, gave the students a chance to experience situations in which one would be dealing with childern.

Courses in Home Economics were offered as an aid in dealing with other peopled and the basics of life.

Physical Education

A class that improves your general stamina. A class that increases athletic ability. A class to have fun in. What class comes to mind? Physical Education (gym)- of course.

Taking responsibility for yourself and learning about the rules and regulations of sports was what gym taught. Volleyball, basketball, weight-lifting, swimming, and softball were just some of the activities that the teachers touched on. The students picked the sport that they preferred on a rotation.

Coach and gym teacher Mr. Jones commented, "I love teaching gym because the interaction with the kids is much different than it would be in any classroom. I also get to do what I like and I act as a counselor to some students."

Driver Education

Driver Education provided the students with the necessary instruction in the areas of driving skills, rules, laws, and knowledge related to the road. It also provided the attitudes related to behind the wheel behavior and the responsibilities associated with driving.

The class was divided into up into a three-part course. The first part was in the classroom, each student was responsible for the completion of the chapters and for the tests. The second part was the range. Each student had to learn to control and maneuver the car under controlled conditions. The third part was the road tests.

Attitudes were a big part of driving. A student had to show a mature responsible interest in self-preservation by acquiring knowledge and developing defensive driving techniques, plus a mature understanding and respect for rules and regulations. Sixteen was the minimum age to obtain a license.

"Art is a series of problems and the caliber of how you solve them is the quality of your work", Mr. Neeley said.

Much talent has come out of the Art classes this year. Some of the top art students are Sue Bradley, Amy Clark, Kim Dolton, Nicole Kiarsis, Brian McKinstry, Heather Harden, Dan Scriver, Jerry Thomas, and many more. The problems faced by the teachers are getting the students to listen, and meeting the students needs. Both teachers enjoyed working with the students.

Meanwhile over in the four Industrial Arts classes, taught by Mr. Brazee, Mr. Janusz, Mr. Vaughn, and Mr. Wonn, were popular to the students this year. In Woods the projects ranged from candle holders to mirrors. During first semester Mr. Brazee is best students were Marcus Burnett and Edward Whitford. All the students work was average to good and he thought he had all good students in the class. He loves teaching the subject but he doesn't like the behavior of some of the students.

One door down in the Graphic Arts class, taught by Mr. Wonn, they studied four types of printing: intaligo, offset, relief, and screen. "Students make my days, I wish all students would experience our introduction to the world of work. It will make them better persons," stated Mr. Wonn. Metals and Drafting were also quite popular classes. The teachers of these subjects would like to see more students in years to come.

Talent Bursts Into Expressive Blossoms

Mind And Body Work Together In Harmony

On December tenth, 1986 the Everett Dancers found it easier than usual to drag themselves out of bed and stumble into the confusion of Everett High School. Wednesday December tenth was the first concert of the new year and for many of the dancers it was their first concert ever.

Dance is not a sit down social hour, that will amount to an easy grade as some students want to believe. It is an active class filled with hard work and discipline. Dance for some students is more than just another class, for many it's a challenge they strive to fulfill.

Everett has just recently expanded their dance course by opening a seventh hour. Dance is a quickly filled class that is popular with a wide range of Everett along with many Eastern students. Eastern students come to Everett for dance because Eastern does not offer dance. Adding the extra hour helped to allow more students into dance, but there are still a number who were unable to be admitted into the course. There are many different levels of dance taught by Ms. Sprecher for example, introduction to dance, dance one and dance two. Along with different levels there are also many different types of dance, modern, ballet and jazz are just a few offered at Everett.

A typical hour of dance begins with a thorough warmup to get the body going and after the dancers are ready to begin a new step or two may be taught by Ms. Sprecher. The rest of the class is filled with perfection. Before the dances can be performed they must be free of mistakes.

Hill Helps Build Promising Futures

Center Finest in State

ATTENTION! Are you a Junior, Senior, or Special Education student, looking for career opportunities? Well if so read on and discover a career that may interest you. Are you interested in Child Care, Food Management, T.V. Production, Horticulture, Electronics, Hospital or Dental service, Word Processing or Accounting, Drafting, Cosmetology, Small Engines or Auto Mechanics, plus more? You ask where can I get educated in the career of my choice? I'll tell you Hill Academic Center. All you have to do is apply in the career center of starting a career and still earn three credits. Hill is made of Everett, Eastern, Sexton, and Adult Ed. students, who attend in the morning 7:45 - 10:45 or in the afternoon 11:30 - 2:30.

Hill offers a one or two year course depending on the course, which can be taken either Junior or Senior year. For instance Hospital service is a one year course, which can be taken either Junior or Senior year. But Cosmetology is a two year course that has to be started your Junior year.

If you're interested in any course but not sure of what is involved in that course you can talk to

Mr. Foster Everett's Hill coordinator located in the career center for more information.

Cosmetology is a strictly regulated program by the state and school district. First of all good attendance is a requirement to get into the program. You must attend the three hour class each day because you will need 1500 hours to graduate. 350 hours are earned your Junior year before you move onto the Senior side. When you start on the Senior side you will work on clients. All services are performed by supervised Senior students. Hill Cosmetology isn't just a class but it is also a salon.

The salon is opened Monday through Saturday and is also opened in June. Their prices are very reasonable, haircuts $3.00, permanents run from $12.00 - $15.00, frosting $10.00, facials and manicures $2.00. So if you don't have a lot of money but need a haircut or permanent then Hill Cosmetology is the salon for you.

Miss Vicki Dempsey is the cosmetology instructor at Hill. She is a graduate from Everett and of the cosmetology vocational program. Miss Vicki started teaching at Craigs Beauty College when she was twenty and is now the head instructor.

Architectural Drafting is a two year program designed to provide an understanding of basic drafting skills, geometric construction, architectural design concepts, modular buildings, renovations and commercial structural plans. Students prepare for entry level employment in architectural, structural, civil and other related positions as drafter-persons. This is an excellent pre-engineering course as well as a job entry preparation.

Word Processing is one year program designed to provide knowledge of word processing equipment use, dictation, keyboard skills, and business attitudes and attributes. Students are provided with hands-on experience, on the most current up to date word processors and computers available. This course is good for students who want to continue in the business career, or who might want to go directly to work. Students interested in word processing should have basic typing skills.

AP Classes Improve Honor Students

Advance Placement

Challenging but rewarding features describe the Advance Placement Classes. These classes consist of English, Chemistry, and History.

Each subject contains students that were carefully selected. The students had a choice of whether they felt their abilities were well enough to handle this class. Each class was equivalent to a Freshman course in college.

English and Chemistry had been offered for about ten years but has actually only been popular for the past few years. These students were well organized and what the teachers feel are prepared for the harder material.

In each of these advanced placement classes there is a national test in May. Based on the scores the students received, they could get college credits. This test was not mandatory, but it was to their advantage to try it.

A.P. English was a one hour class. After reading the materials assigned the class, as a group, discussed their ideas using each individual's input.

A.P. History which has only been offered at Everett for one year had a good turn out of students. This class had the advantage of being able to go into more detail than a regular history class.

All in all teachers and students together agreed these classes improved abilities.

Changes Effect the Viking Voice

The 1986-87 school year brought many changes to Everett's newspaper, the Viking Voice. These changes affected them in various ways. A totally new and revised paper was the result.

What was once the Everett Today is now the Viking Voice. Editor Gwendolyn Hermes and Assistant Editor Timothy Klont came up with the idea. "We wanted to change the image so that people would think of it and us differently," they said.

Ms. Sue Gallagher also had a great influence on the paper. Replacing Mrs. Hall as the advisor, Ms. Gallagher did an excellent job. Mrs. Hall was unable to continue on as advisor because she was promoted to Assistant Principal. Ms. Gallagher's duties include choosing both editors, helping out when needed, and she keeps the class running.

Different editors helped to enhance the Voice's new image. Gwendolyn Hermes' experience on the staff for two years got her the job of editor. Ever since he was a freshman, Assistant Editor Timothy Klont has been a member of the paper's staff. He will most likely become the editor next year when he is a senior.

Fresh ideas were one of the things contributed to the Viking Voice by new people joining the newspaper staff. Every Friday new stories must be submitted to the editors for approval. Story subjects are determined by the writers depending on which section of the paper they are assigned to: People, Sports, Entertainment, or News.

The process for getting the paper ready for distribution goes through many steps. After deciding on the subject, you research it and then write the article. It is then typed and proofread. The paper itself comes out every two weeks.

Drama Plays Into People's Hands

BELOW: Sean Murphy and Brian Swix demonstrate their mime techniques and skills as they come across a 'wall' before them. RIGHT: Dennis Reynolds, Jamie Anderson, and Ronald Goheen practice mime in the small auditorium. They will perform in front of the class to cure stage fright.

Drama is a neat class to learn to express yourself. It's not all work without play because most students enjoy the class.

Some things explored in drama class are mime, stage fighting, improvisation, musical presentation and stage movement. Grades are given by critique and evaluation for each of the assigned improvisations. Criticism shows that a person cares what you're doing.

The key to the class is to use your imagination and let your creative juices flow. It will produce a flavorful effect. You will have lots of fun acting out the unique assignments, and meet an assorted batch of great friends.

Jennifer Trimmer, a junior, feels that drama class is helping her get over her fears of insecurity of talking in front of large groups of people. "Performances in front of the class help me to develop self-assurance that will help me later on in life."

Another student enjoys the challenge of using their imagination to create an image or aura of make believe. "I respect Mr. Ferris for his honest evaluations. They are helping me to grow as a better person."

The goal of the class and the teacher Mr. Tom Ferris is to improve the student's talent upon entering the class and to make sure students learn to enjoy drama and acting.

Special Ed Challenges

Hardships are Fought

Special Education classes played an important part in some students' lives everyday this year. With a program that is based on the ideas of learning and on overcoming your handicaps, students found they had an easier time with outside life than they would have had if they had not taken these classes.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lockhart, Everett is the only high school in this area that has special program for those who have handicaps. POHI was set up three years ago to teach the students basic disciplines in their academic classes. Standing for Physically and Otherwise Health Impaired, POHI has helped many of the students with their plans for the future.

There are always challenges to be met everyday. When it comes to meeting these challenges there are no problems to be seen. Each student meets theirs with such a sense of determination that it is undescrivable. With the help of some great physical therapists, aides, and teachers, everyone has a chance at a bright future. "They are a great group of kids and I love to work with them," said Mrs. Lockhart.

Alicia Nicole McKinney was born on June 14, 1971. She passed away on December 11, 1986.

When this world lost Alicia, it lost a bright, happy young lady who was always willing to give, even in the face of her illness. She was very well-known here at Everett for her happiness and the happiness she brought to others. Always more than ready to greet people with a smile, Alicia made many friends here at Everett, including many staff members.

For those who didn't know Alicia, she sometimes walked around with an oxygen tank. But she rarely let her illness get her down. She was the kind of person who stood proud and strong in all kinds of weather. Many staff members here at Everett knew Alicia very well and they all agreed that she was a very hard-worker and very happy.

For those who knew Alicia McKinney, we'll miss her smiling face and for those who didn't know her, they were really missing something. Good-bye Alicia. We are all going to miss you here at Everett High School.

-Jennifer Borgman

Life is sweet just because of the friends we have made and the things which in common we share;

We want to live on not because of ourselves, but because of the people who care; It's giving and doing for somebody else-on that all life's splendor depends, And the joy of this world, when you've summed it all up, is found in the making of friends.

-Edgar A. Guest

Congratulations Deb! We always knew what you were "CAPABLE" of doing. Keep it up!

Love, Mom and Dad

Angie Ashley

Angie, you really do light up our life. Congratulations, we're so very proud of you, and hope all your dreams come true.

Love, Mom, Dad, and all your family

Debra Anne Bunnell

You are more than we could have hoped for. Little sister -- We sure are proud of you. "Keep your eyes on your fries."

Dad, Mom, Scott, Andy, and Ronda

Tony - J.

From the day you were born, you have always been considered very special ... A real "Momma's" boy and our "lil" brother. Congratulations Graduate, you never cease to amaze us! We're all so very, very proud of you. Love, Mom, Dad, Grandma, and your sisters, Gwen, Judy, and Aretha

Sherry Hernandez

Congratulation Sherry! Best wishes and a lot of prayers for a bright and happy future. We're very proud of you.

Love, Mom and Melissa

Melissa Boucher

Look lovingly upon the "present," for it holds the only things that are forever true. Identify with love, and find your self.

Lovingly, Mom

Gary Conaty

Congratulations Gary! We're proud of you and hope that good luck will be with you in the future.

Love, John, Mom, Tony, and Jennifer

Amy Jo Farrington

Good things come to those who work for them. Congratulations Amy Jo!

THANKS
Mr. Powers

A very special person has made his history at Everett. As a student and teacher, Mr. Power's association covers a span of 41 years. In 1940 he started kindergarten at Everett School, an extension of our present institution, which by the late '40s gained the reputation of being the largest rural school in the world. Mr. Powers was an Everett High School graduate in 1953. After his college education and service in the Armed Forces, he returned to Everett in 1959 to become the teacher and coach who we remember as being a very caring person. His fairness, concern, warmth and kindness have touched many hearts through the years. Scores of team players and faculty can attest to this and to his deep loyalties to Everett High School.

Truly Paul Powers has attained his place of honor in Everett's history.

Now that you know where you're going,
you should know where to bank when you get there.

First of all, congratulations! You can be proud of yourself. We certainly are.

And we'd like to take this opportunity to introduce you to the statewide, First of America family of banks, all operated with the same concern for convenient and friendly service that you and your parents are accustomed to.

So if you're moving to or near one of these Michigan cities to go to work or to school, you don't have to feel like a stranger. You already know where to bank.

First of America is dedicated to one simple goal. Helping you get everything you want out of life — today, tomorrow, and for years to come.

Call us. We'll be glad to help you get started right.

George McKenna Inspires Everett

Excellence Is Challenge For Students, Staff, Parents

The Everett Excellers provided one of today's most dynamic speakers on making American high schools truly better places to learn.

The Excellers hosted Mr. George McKenna, a Los Angeles High School Principal, on February 18. The program provided an outstanding opportunity for administrators, teachers, parents, and students to listen to McKenna's recommendations on what's needed to make public education come alive.

Mr. McKenna is credited with changing his Los Angeles high school from a gang-ridden, low achieving school to one where 70 percent of the students go to college.

His visitation was received by almost everyone as a very promising attempt to make Everett a better place to be.

1987 In Retrospect

As you look back at the 86-87 school year, I hope it brings back some pleasurable memories. For this was your high school career, and it has been said that these few years are supposed to be the most important of your life.

The 1987 school year brought many changes with it. The class of 1987 was the first four year class. The administration was constantly changed from month to month. A separate homeroom was new, but it was abolished within six weeks of the second semester. Winter Homecoming was changed to Winterfest Carnival. The school policies were changed again and again, as everyone had expected. And the attitude of the students had changed as a whole, also.

The ending of 1987 brings you a new yearbook also. I hope that this yearbook reflects the new feelings of the school. Ones of change, ones of picking up and moving forward into bigger and better things. The outside appearance of the book represents a change in technology. The four lines running throughout the senior section represent the past four years of the senior class. And the puzzle represents the theme of the book, 'Making the Pieces Fit'.

'Making the Pieces Fit' was chosen because it represented everyone in the school. Everybody is a piece of the big puzzle, Everett High School. As with a puzzle, if you are missing just one piece, the whole thing is not complete.

Also, I would like to personally thank the Archives staff. Their patience and loads of help proved to be invaluable in providing you with this book. I would like to give special thanks to my assistant editor, Anne Wilson. Who, with her expertise will provide you with a great book for 1988.
