Need We Say
MORE

More differences — so many things have changed since our return in September. Some students found themselves in classes they didn't want, some in classes so full desks were a luxury, and some didn't have schedules at all. Luckily, with the passing of the Headlee Override, classes soon became roomier and more courses were added.

We all said a fond farewell to Mr. Sturock as Mr. Bowles moved up to principal and Mrs. Murphy filled the one year vice-principal position. When questioned about her new job, Mrs. Murphy said: "Although I feel that this is an excellent opportunity for me to grow professionally, I look forward to returning to the classroom next year. This experience, more than anything, has really reinforced my belief that being involved and feeling a part of the school community is critical for a student's success."

All in all, we knew it was going to be a year unlike any other. Despite the hardships, however, we were not about to let anything stand in our way and made the most of what we had.

Headlee Passing Makes Life Easier at WHS

At the start of the 93-94 school year, school officials as well as the student population faced a difficult issue — money. Because of the cutbacks due to the lack of state funds, many jobs had to be cut and other programs eliminated in order for Williamston High to be able to operate as a learning institution. With the passing of Headlee, Mrs. Lynch was able to return to her business classes and we acquired another counselor with the return of Mrs. Pettit. As for school atmosphere, one noticed a sense of relief and anticipation for the upcoming school year. As for the next school year. . .one can only guess what that will be like.

Thanks to the Headlee passing, students were allowed new, revamped schedule.

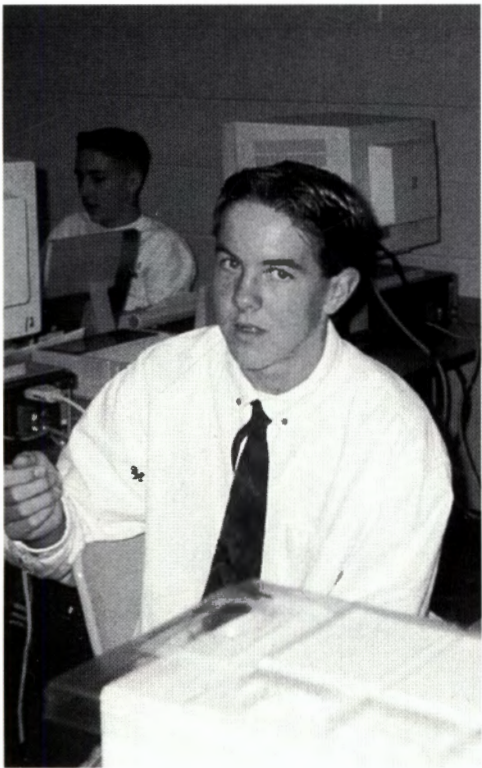

As school opened in August this was the scene as students crammed oversized numbers into undersized classrooms.

Because of the new pay-to-play policy put into effect for sports, students were required to pay a $90 fee to participate in sports year-round.

Much to our enjoyment, as well as the enjoyment of others, the Headlee passing brought back the fabulous Mrs. Lynch.

Students got a chance to be involved with Headlee by taking part in mailing flyers to the community members who are of voting age.

Following the passage of Headlee, many students revised their schedules in an attempt to better suit their needs.

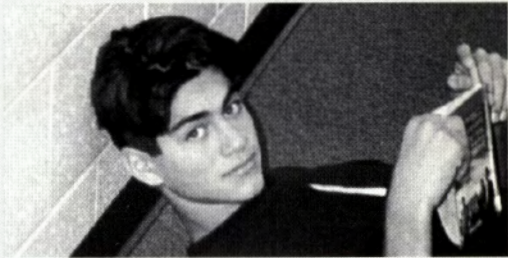

Pages by Michael Kowatch.

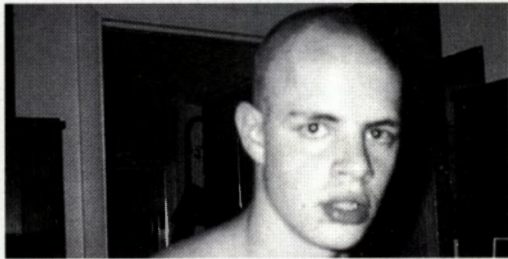

How has the passing of Headlee affected your workload as a school administrator?

We have been able to create a much more beneficial learning environment for students due to additional electives and smaller class size. Mr. Bowles

Was class size a problem for you prior to the passing of Headlee?

Yes, I did not feel that there was a one on one relationship between teachers and students. Matt Scott

What has pay to play meant to your family and how were you affected?

We got a really good deal. At first $90 was too much but we worked it out. Bryan Imhoff

Homecoming is a matter of PRIDE!

MORE than a matter of spirit.....

Homecoming....an official statement of PRIDE. Whether it be class pride or athletic pride, Homecoming week is certainly a time to dig-deep, dream, and dominate. This year our pride definitely shined through eloquently. Homecoming began on Mon. with Mismatch Day, followed by G.Q. Day on Tues., P.J. Day on Wed., Brady Bunch Day (50's-70's) on Thursday, and the annual Green & White Day on Friday. As usual the Seniors smashed the underclassmen, winning four out of the five days. During 6th hour on Friday, the Pep Assembly was held in the gym. The cheerleaders led the crowd in cheers, while the band played the fight song. Games were played such as getting ready for school, jello feeding, and surprise whip cream pies for the senior football players.

Homecoming came to a peak on Friday night at the football game. During half time the King and Queen were crowned and the Jrs. won the float competition, best portraying the theme Natural Disasters. The night was topped off with the Hornet football team defeating Leslie 23-6. Sr. Quarterback Jason Botsford said

Hey sweetie! Come here and give me a kiss. Senior football players Jason Botsford and Todd (Core) Coc.

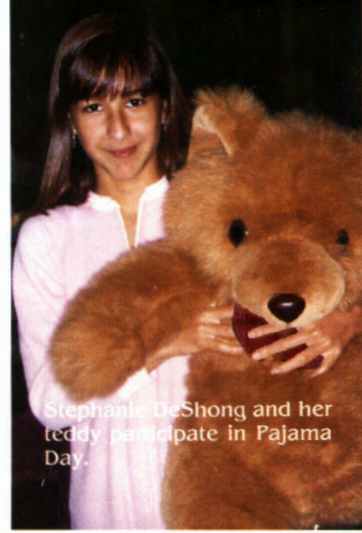

*"I liked Homecoming because we didn't have it in my country."
Marek Majercak*

"Winning the game really helped the dance and post Homecoming activities to be fun."

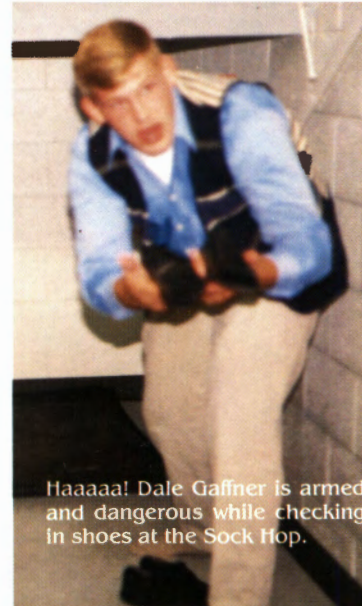

On Saturday the Sock Hop dance took place in the gymnasium, where the court had their traditional dance. Freshman Krissy Page said "Homecoming was exciting — something different. Although it seemed like an ordinary dance, it was fun to see everyone dressed up."

Although WHS upperclassmen know what it is all about and look forward to it, the foreign exchange students have opposite feelings. Czechoslovakian student Mark Majercak, said, "I liked it. Since I don't have something like it in my country it was fun, cool!"

More Can Make A Memory For. . .

Student Life

The life of a high school student consists of more than just studying and homework. An enormous amount of other activities take place beyond the classroom walls. From PALS and quiz bowl, to SADD and student council, extra-curricular activities abound giving the students a chance to break away from the books.

The start of school brought a new club: PRIDE. Member Brent Forsburg said: "I think that we are lucky to have such a program that has students working together to reach both parents and youth at home, school, and work through a common approach."

Another addition was the Halloween play, Count Dracula. Leading actor Micah Greene said: "Dracula will be one of the last plays that I do this year, but I will probably look back on it as one of the best I have ever done."

Although at the start of the year no one was exactly sure which activities would be offered, everything turned out better than to be expected. The same activities, plus some, were offered just adding to the fun, and the memories.

Beginning in the spring of '93, PRIDE was formed. It is a group in which the members devote themselves to being drug free and proud. These students not only are educated about drugs, but learned dances, drama, and singing skills. After hours of practice, PRIDE performed for groups such as The National Guard and Project Graduation. Improve your self-esteem with PRIDE!

For the people, by the people — Student Government at its best. Again, Student Council has been an active and influential group, having successful food and toy drives. They also raised money for the courtyard and held a coat drive. The members are a special group of people ready and willing to serve their peers and make a difference!

The Necessities. . . Knowledge, Service, and Leadership

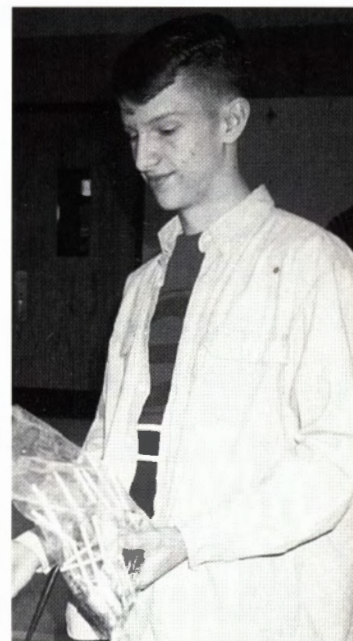

Students who have earned the right to become a part of the NHS know that a big part of this organization is gaining self-satisfaction through service to others. As Wendy Gaffner said, "It makes you feel good to help others while having fun." This year NHS members participated in the WKAR auction, a scavenger hunt, and many other activities to complete their ten hours of service. In addition, the senior members took a trip to Chicago to reward themselves for their efforts. NHS is many things- a reward for hard work, an outlet to do things for others, and most of all a is a great experience for those who choose to do more than the rest.

SKI CLUB

It was an outstanding snow year and the W.H.S Ski Club made full use of nature's blessing. With day trips to Brighton, Caberfe, and a weekend trip to Searchmont, the Ski Club had a great year. They look forward to more winter fun next year and, as usual, anyone and everyone is welcome.

A Week To Remember

On Jan. 30, fourteen Jrs. & Srs. set out for Storer Camp to take on the task of being seventh grade counselors. The week proved to be a blast by the various events. Andy Ruf said: "I loved camp because it gave me a chance to be outside and work with the kids." Sean McDonnell added: "It was great because we became role models to others and were out on our own for a week." After a week of fun, yet tiring, activities, the counselors came home all the better from the experience.

Quiz Bowl (and Busters), not to be mistaken with Jeopardy, allowed students who were academically inclined to have an opportunity to show their knowledge in many areas. This year's team had fun both in competition and out. Although the pressure was immense at times, the members handled it beautifully making the year a success.

Helping human-kind — this is what Humanities is about. After having a successful candycane sale, the members decided to donate money to Boys Town, an Indian Reservation, and Bosnia. This year's group was dedicated, and to treat themselves they traveled to Stratford to see "Twelve Knights". Humanities is definitely making a difference!

NEWSPAPER

This Year the Probing Hornet was led by Nicole Harrison & Gail Korpi who changed the outlook of the paper. With a great new writing staff, it became the basis for many conversations and arguments on the sometimes controversial topics. In spite of this, however, this year's paper was a complete success and a real benefit to the students of WHS.

S.A.D.D.

This year, SADD gained two new advisors, John Lopez & Justin Novak. The group had numerous meetings at different restaurants and succeeded in completing a large agenda. This year, SADD had a float in the homecoming parade unlike any other. It was a really fun time for all involved and proved to everyone that SADD is a force to be reckoned with.

Friends

Seeing the same people day in and day out for years bonds everyone together in a special way. One of the biggest worries is making those special friendships formed during high school last. Whether it is the new freshmen who came together and began to establish ties of their own, or the seniors who look forward to graduation, yet would like to stay with their friends a little longer, friends are important. For the 400 and some students who share life together here, friends are the dominant element. It is the friend who cheers one up when he/she has just bombed that big test or who gives a big hug to the person who just made homecoming court. Which ever way you look at it, comradery is an important part of life and a quality that makes the students here more than just faces in the hall.

Dream Big

If there were ever a time to dare,
to make a difference,
to embark on something worth doing,
it is now.
Not for any grand cause, necessarilybut for something that tugs at your heart, something that's your aspiration,
something that's your dream.

You owe it to yourself to make your day here count.
Have fun.
Dig deep.
Stretch.

Dream big.

Know though, that things worth doing seldom come easy.
There will be good days.
And there will be bad days.
There will be time when you want to turn around,
pack it up,
and call it quits.
Those times tell you that you are pushing yourself, that you are not afraid to learn by trying.

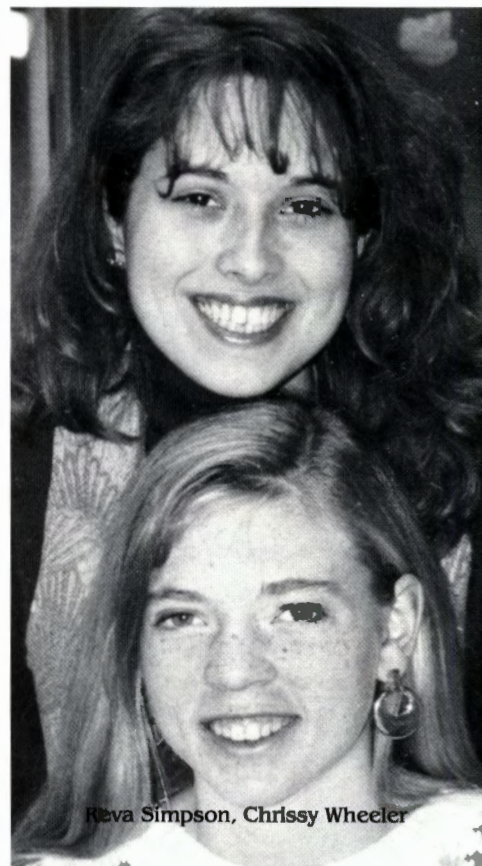

Persist.

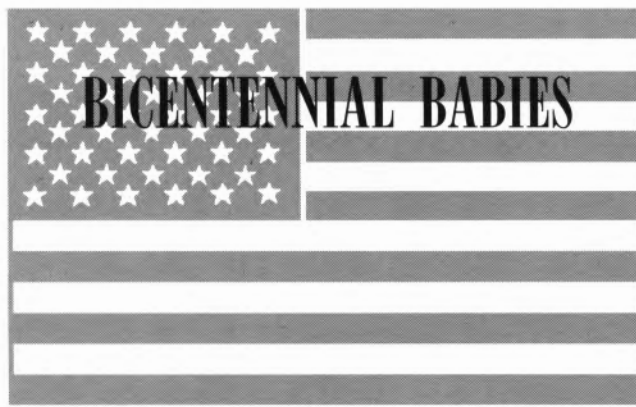

Because with an idea,
determination,
and the right tools,
you can do great things.
Let your instincts,
your intellect,
and your heart
guide you.

Trust.

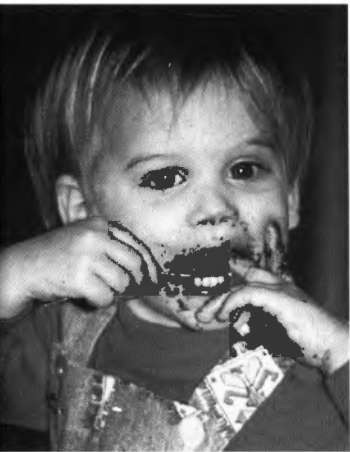

Believe in the incredible power of the human mind.
Of doing something that makes a difference.
Of working hard.
Of laughing and hoping.
Of lazy afternoons.
Of lasting friends.
Of all the things that will cross your path
this year.

The start of something new brings the hope of something great.
Anything is possible.
There is only one you.
And you will pass this way only once.
Do it right.

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth,
Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,
And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day
Yet knowing how way leads onto way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.
I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

-Robert Frost

Thanks WHS, for teaching and enabling me to use the strength to take the road less traveled and fulfill my dreams & ambitions. I may leave your halls in June, but I will forever carry a piece of you with me.

Four years ago, I would have never in my wildest dreams, imagined myself graduating from a little town in Michigan called Williamston. It was far from the palm trees and theme parks of Orlando, but it is a kind of town I have come to appreciate in these last two years. There is something special about this place — the people, the hospitality, the friendship, is like none I have ever experienced before. I would like to thank you all for making these last two years ones to remember for a lifetime.

For some of us the future may look clear, but for others like me, deciding where to go next year has been agonizing. I may end up at the University of Florida, Michigan State, or maybe Vanderbilt. But where ever I go, my memories of Williamston will go with me — Dig Deeper, T.V. rots your brain, Dorow's heated discussions, Bartel's stories(What was the Swamp Story?), Pre-Calc donuts, Chi-Chi's birthday parties, "It's soooo cold!", Christmas caroling, the Hekman Van, "I Hate Snow!", Yearbook pizza parties, field trips to the mall, and countless other little reflections of high school life.

As I look back I also see how much I've learned about life since I've been here — That in one way or another, all of the hard work eventually pays off. And for some final deep thoughts- believe in yourself, believe in your power to change the world, do what is right, and above all — HAVE FUN! So good-bye class of 1994 and farewell Williamston, may we all go our separate ways with our heads held high, and knowing that we will be a part of each other's lives forever.

SALUTATORIAN

... and say you're satisfied. Choose to change

... and let the waters slip away,

My favorite teacher would have to be Mrs. Lynch. Not only is she a good teacher, she's also fun, getting involved with her students & always being there to help.

My high school experiences, like clubs, activities, & sports have all taught me a lot. The most significant experiences have come from tennis. I learned about failure, success, & hardwork — whether it be working with a team or individually.

The biggest influences have come from my peers. Growing up with most of these people for 13 years, I have had friends that have provided various influences.

I plan to attend either Hope or MSU. Then I intend to either major in business or minor in law. I want to get a job that will make me rich quick and hope it takes me out of Michigan.

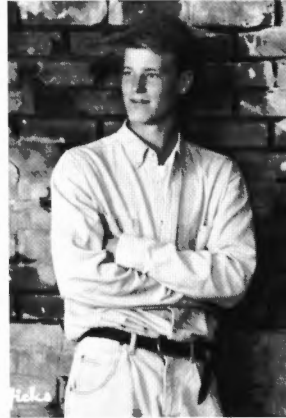

Nathan Genova

High School has been enjoyable for me. During my four years at Williamston High School, I experienced several things: four years of football, each year better than the preceding one; four years of basketball, taking one trip to Crisler Arena; three years of track, highlighted by breaking the school high jump record; and had a great time with my friends in the classroom and other school related events — games, proms, homecomings, etc. My favorite teacher in high school has been Mr. Bartel because he broke the monotony of learning and his classes were always fun. The most influential part of school has been my parents, because they always gave me excellent advice and kept me going when things were not going too well. My future plans are to attend Michigan State University or Columbia University and major in chemical engineering.

bel French

I wonder what it would have been like to attend high school in a different place. I can't imagine going to high school without the students, teachers, and other faculty that make Williamston High School a wonderful place. Science just wouldn't seem the same without Mr. Jolin and his living and dead animals, Turkey-Vulture Day, and all of the hands-on learning. He is an example of this great faculty.

The thing I enjoyed most about high school was playing sports. Friday night football is something that I am very proud to have been a part of. Baseball was great also. Attending sports events — basketball, wrestling, etc. — was another aspect of sports that I really enjoyed.

In the future, I plan to attend a four year college (probably Cedarville College) and study to become an electrical engineer. It won't be easy but I think I am ready.

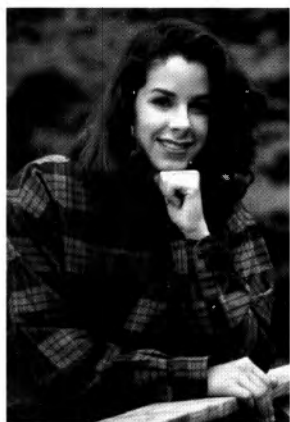

Finally, I would like to thank Mr. Brown for his input in my life. He has been very helpful in choosing classes, finding scholarships, applying to colleges, and making various other decisions that will affect the rest of my life.

"I can not change yesterday. I can only make the most of today, and look with hope toward tomorrow."

all what we put off till tomorrow has now become today.

So don't you sit upon the shoreline...

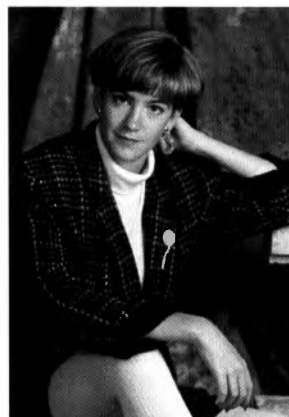

Nicole Harrison

It's hard to believe that the time for the class of '94 to say goodbye to WHS and move on to "The Real World" is quickly approaching. It seems like just yesterday that we were all freshmen waiting with anticipation for our high school career to begin. We suffered through the small lockers, portables, and confusing layout at the old high school. Then just as we were getting used to the flow of things we were moved over to bigger lockers, freezing classrooms, and mauve & teal learning colors at the new and improved building. Since that time, we have emerged from the teachings of Mr. Jolin, Mr. Ginther, Mr. Dorow, and Mr. Hopkins with experiences varying from bug & leaf escapades, to melting glass sticks, screaming debates, and chemical experiments. Then as seniors we had to focus on the essentials in life such as Mr. Bartel's Human Bio extravaganza, writing blue books for Mrs. Eddington-Shipman, flow-charting debates for Mrs. Grunwald, and learning the 11th commandment from Mr. Nielson — "thou shalt not divide by zero". The teachers and staff of WHS have all had an impact on each of our lives, but we also must remember that learning does not just exist in the classroom. So, I would like to say thank you to my fellow classmates-The Class Of '94- for making these past four years very memorable. I hate saying goodbye, so I won't. Instead, I'll end by saying good luck and I hope to see all of you in five years!

Beth McIntosh

Looking back at the last four years only two words come to my mind: fun and stress. Dances & games, blue books & exams — it all contributed to my experience at WHS. Where else could you use the comeback "lo" and not get strange looks, or ride a little green & white bus with non-adjustable air-conditioning. WHS has provided an atmosphere where fun can blend perfectly with academics. During my four years here I was influenced greatly by Mrs. Grunwald. She has taught me the fundamentals of speaking in front of a group and without that I would probably still be petrified of doing it. I think after I leave this school and its memories — Homecomings, February Follies, pep assemblies, girls basketball finals, Chicago — I'm heading down to Ann Arbor to become a Wolverine. At U-M, elementary education will tentatively be my focus. I want to wish good luck to my friends who made my high school experience unique, interesting, and fulfilled.

Mike Miller

I don't think that it's possible to summarize 4 years into a paragraph, yet it does give me an opportunity to recall some WHS highlights. Besides my friends, I have to say that Narda Murphy has been a great influence on my life; she was able to open my mind to new ideas and taught me that there are two sides to every issue. Not all learning takes place in the classroom, so I would like to thank my friends & classmates for all the fun we had and the lessons they taught me. Through 4 years, I enjoyed many activities, but I think that we all realize that it's time to move on. It's important that we live for the future, not the past. Don't let it frighten you, because I am confident that, someday, we will all end up happy and successful. I had my fun, and as much as I will miss the class of '94, I'm looking forward to MSU next fall. I hope to see some of you there! Good luck and best wishes.

Kate Reed

Looking back on the four years I have spent here at WHS, I find it difficult to know where to begin writing. My parents, teachers, friends, sports, & other activities have all combined to make me the person I am today. Without a doubt, the most influential teacher I had throughout the years is Coach Nilsson. If it were not for his guidance and encouragement with my artistic ability, I would never have developed my style to where it is. As for my future, no one can be quite sure what lies ahead of me. Although my decision on attending Hope in the fall is almost definite, I'm still undecided on my major. I would like to thank my parents for all the love and support they have given me throughout my life, and I also thank all my teachers for making my high school experiences positive & memorable. Additionally, I want to wish my classmates the best of luck in everything and hope that they can achieve their dreams.

Tony Suro

My favorite teacher at WHS would have to be Mr. Dorow because he taught not only a lot about history, but also a lot about life in general. This choice is not easy considering all of the other great teachers I've had such as Mrs. Murphy, Mr. Webb, and Mr. Nielson. Much of what I am and shall be has stemmed greatly from my experiences in athletics. Coaches Monette, Lynch, Mooney, Bowles, and Parker have taught me many values which deal with life-not just sports. Through the trials of competition and the struggle of the game, I have found out who I am and who I am to be. High school has been a great learning and growing experience. I would like to thank the teachers for the learning part, and I would like to thank my friends for making school fun.

MS Dorow

I came. I saw. I learned. I guess. But mostly, I had fun. I remember losing the float competition every year and running into Jesse Elsele in the parking lot (sorry). Mr. Bowles should remember when I put my car on the lawn two winters back. Yes, the suspension still works fine. I distinctly recall nearly getting kicked out by Mrs.

Kendall and trying to get kicked out of Mr. Nielson's class. Or how about two years of Mrs. Shipman. One was enough, thank you. Oh yeah, Channel One was pointless; it was too 90210-ish. Maybe there was some good, though. Art class taught me a lot, and I owe a great deal of thanks to Coach Nilsson. He's the man. I'll remember to send you my used architect equipment. Mr. Dorow, you may not realize this, but you were my favorite teacher, although I don't care for history at all. I think that you molded me into the liberal that I am today. For anyone who really cares enough to read this, he is older than Mr. Ambs and he smokes stogeys. Yeah, I've seen you. When I get out of here and through U of M, I'm going to make buildings. Lots of them. Big ones, little ones, houses, and churches and stores and resorts. They'll be good, and I'll be happy, not because of what I learned, but what I did and who I knew. Homecoming, prom, Dave, tennis, Miller, Jen, Kilgren, snow ball, Ruf, Blain, Chuck, the floats, the games, Ballard, Krista, the dances, Sean, Wax, Mac, Dale, Moon, the musicals, skipping school, art, Liz, the parties, the work, the late nights — damn, they were a good four years.

More Than We Expected In. . .

Academics

As the school year began, no one was exactly sure what to expect. This school, along with many others, was having financial problems resulting in major cutbacks. We were all relieved, however, with the passing of the Headlee override. This provided us with the extra money we needed, allowing WHS to continue to stand behind the quality education it has so long provided.

From the Advanced Placement English class where students learn the true meaning of "digging deep" and thinking logically, to the new Chicago Project Math Series, students became aware of the various opportunities available.

Individual students realize the importance of education, and even though there are some classes missing, ways were found around the problems. Christy Maddelein said: "The school made it easy for me to take French classes at LCC this year, in result of the cutbacks".

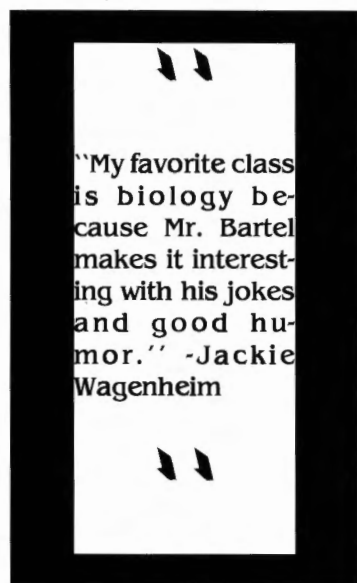

Algebra, chemistry, physics — these are just a few classes that provide many with sometimes overwhelming challenges. With colleges requiring at least three years of math and science, students found that it was important to take a full courseload. Tom Mouser said: "In today's society, it is absolutely necessary to have a deep background in the sciences for a great technological hype is sweeping the world".

Class variety, teachers called back, decent sized classes — it is apparent that this year was unlike any other. As Beth McIntosh said: "Luckily, other than French, they kept all of the best classes, like A.P. English, Pre-Calculus, Human Biology, etc."

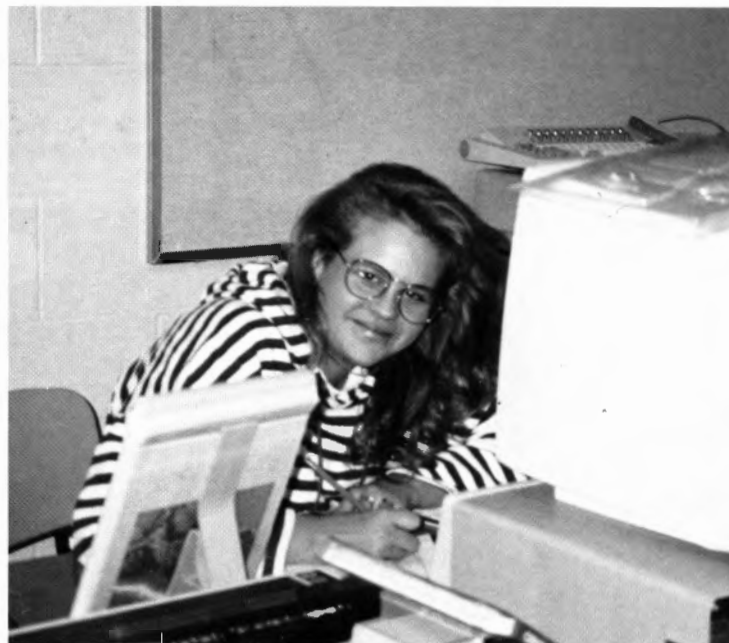

This school year was truly more than we expected.

Strike Up The Band

Drill books, field markers, Tuesday night practices. Sound familiar? To the band members it sure should. This year the WHS Band started before school in August with a marching band camp. But this was just the beginning. The band continued to practice and perfect their half-time show, performing at not only the home football games, but also the Leslie Invitational and their very first MSBOA marching band festival, receiving a second division for their hard earned efforts. As the year progressed, the band moved into concert season and began preparation for the district band & orchestra festival where they achieved a perfect score of all 1's which qualified them for the state festival in May. Additionally, the newly formed jazz band continued to astound its many listeners. They topped off the year with a Sr. Citizens Dance on April 27, for Williamston's adult community.

Although there are many different musical organizations that students can participate in, the feeling within them is one that is universal. That feeling being one of self-satisfaction for the dedication that is required for a top-notch performance.

from the ARTS

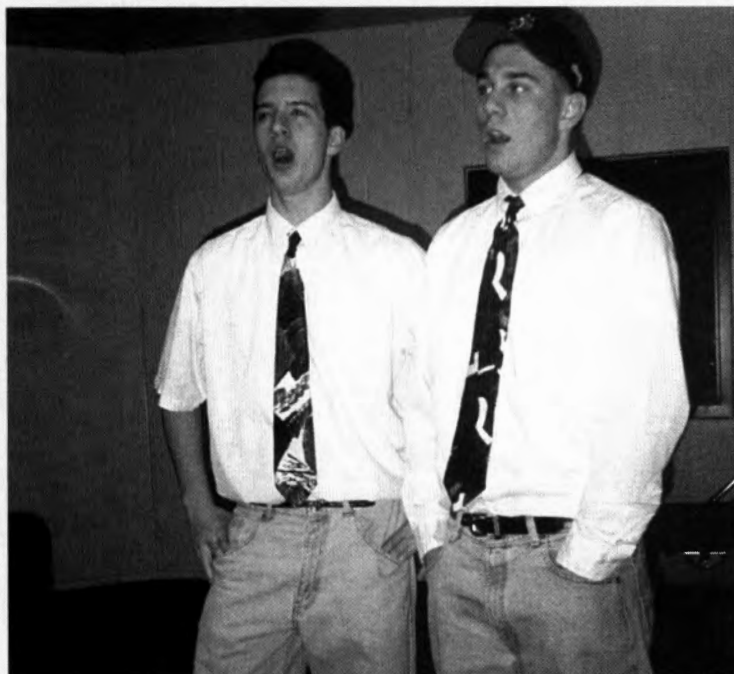

Unique, creative, talented. All of these adjectives can be used to describe both the choir and the art students at WHS. These programs allow those interested to express themselves creatively whether it be through song or on a canvas. As Amy VanDenBerghe said: "I love all of the different forms of art because they allow me to express my creativity in different ways."

The strength of our art program is phenomenal and is definitely something of which all can be proud. In fact, throughout the past few years, Williamston art students have won countless art awards, further proving how much talent there is within our very own art department.

Singing their way into the hearts of all of WHS this year was the multi-talented choir. This group has worked throughout the year to improve themselves in many different areas. Their efforts paid off as they impressed everyone at their annual student Christmas concert, held in the dome during sixth hour. When asked why this concert was so special, Marianne Hekman responded by saying: "It was like caroling on a cold, winter day at someone's doorstep where we were spreading Christmas cheer to all who watched us."

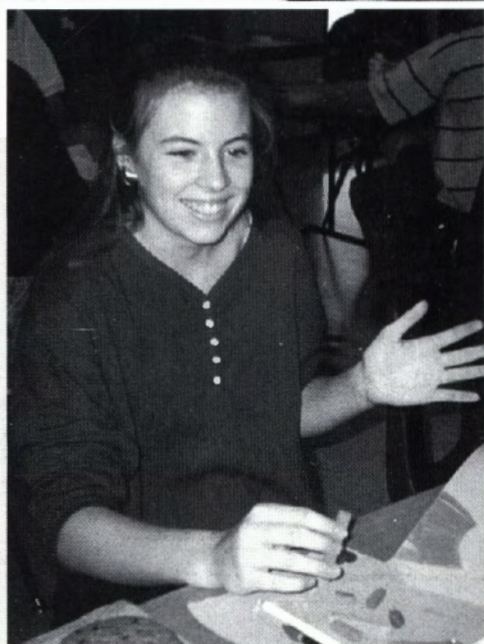

At first glance, it may not seem like there are similarities between art and choir. But participation in both of these arts provides students the opportunity to express themselves creatively in a non-verbal way. This is an emotional outlet for many students and one which can prove enjoyable!

Tom Hestera and Sean McDonnell sang the National Anthem at many of the sporting events this year.

Senior domination — this sums up February Follies and Spirit Week. Not only did the Seniors sweep 3/5 of the days, they had virtually no competition in the wall contest. This year spirit week consisted of, Mon: Hat Day; Tues: Cowboy/girl Day; Wed: Class Color Day; Thurs: Toga Day; Fri: Green and White Day. The theme for the walls was "Combo-Sport" — Yes, the seniors did win, and the excitement came to a close on Friday night. Who would be crowned Prince &

Princess? Sr. Jason Botsford and Fresh. Jackie Miel-Uken, that's who! In addition, the Hornet B-Ball team made the week more memorable with a victory over Stockbridge. Give the underclassman credit, though, they tried. But in the end it was not enough — the Seniors definitely had more power!

Sports

Varsity Football Cheerleaders

H

ORNET POWER . . . in a year unlike the rest. We weren't exactly sure what to expect when the year kicked off with a pay to play policy.

HORNET POWER . . . where is it? It is shown through the determination of the girls basketball team as they maintained Williamston's traditional prominence, making it all the way to the Final Four.

HORNET POWER . . . it's in the football team that at times struggled in the season, and then pulled it together providing strong competition.

HORNET POWER . . . it's in the cross country team that again had members who attended the state meet.

HORNET POWER . . . it's in the cheerleaders who kept the morale up and the spirit pumping throughout the season.

HORNET POWER . . . it's in the soccer team that continued to try its hardest, all the way to the end.

HORNET POWER . . . it consists of all of those that did not let the fact of having to pay to play get them down. Although this policy was short-lived, while it existed it did not take away from an award winning year for all involved. This fact is just one of the many that makes us stand out among the rest . . . What more can we say?

Never Say Die

A Season of Hard Work

This year's football team had a rough start but stuck with it and made the best of the season. The season's high point was the defeat of the rival team from DeWitt. The varsity had five All-League players in Mike Kowatch, Nate Genova, Dale Gaffner, John Templeton, and Aaron Nilsson. Good job this season Varsity Hornet Football team.

The JV football season was a definite success. Despite the pre-

Final Four — What's Up With That?

It was written all over their faces..disappointment, uncertainty, disbelief, sadness; not sad because of the loss, but sad because their run and some careers were over. Despite the heartbreaking loss in the State Semi-Finals, the Lady Hornets had a fantastic season. Not only were they the Tip-Off Tournament champs but they also were the undefeated Ingham County League Champs, District Champs, Regional Champs, and Final Four qualifiers. Their record of 25-2 shows why they are true champions. Although they did not advance to the Finals, this team had hearts and determination like no other. They were willing to work together - rallying behind one common goal. The seniors, Captain Jammie Swain, Theresa Maas, Liz Meredith and Jenny Gawronski lead the way to this successful season. These seniors compiled a 47-4 record playing together for 2 years. This season was marked by individual achievements as well as Team ones. The Lady Hornets are to be congratulated for their fine season.

3rd in Regionals

In the beginning of the season it was tough for the team which suffered from a couple of losses. However the team came on strong in the end which prepared them for the Regionals at Alma College. The first doubles team of Kate Reed and Jessica Daly were the big winners of the day with a 1st place win. Third singles, Wendy Gaffner and fourth singles, Daisy LeLaidier both took a third place win. Second doubles, Nicole Harrison and Amber Daly had to forfeit due to an injury. Overall the team placed third with a tie to Leslie. Congratulations to the team for what ended up as a successful season.

Season Record 10-13

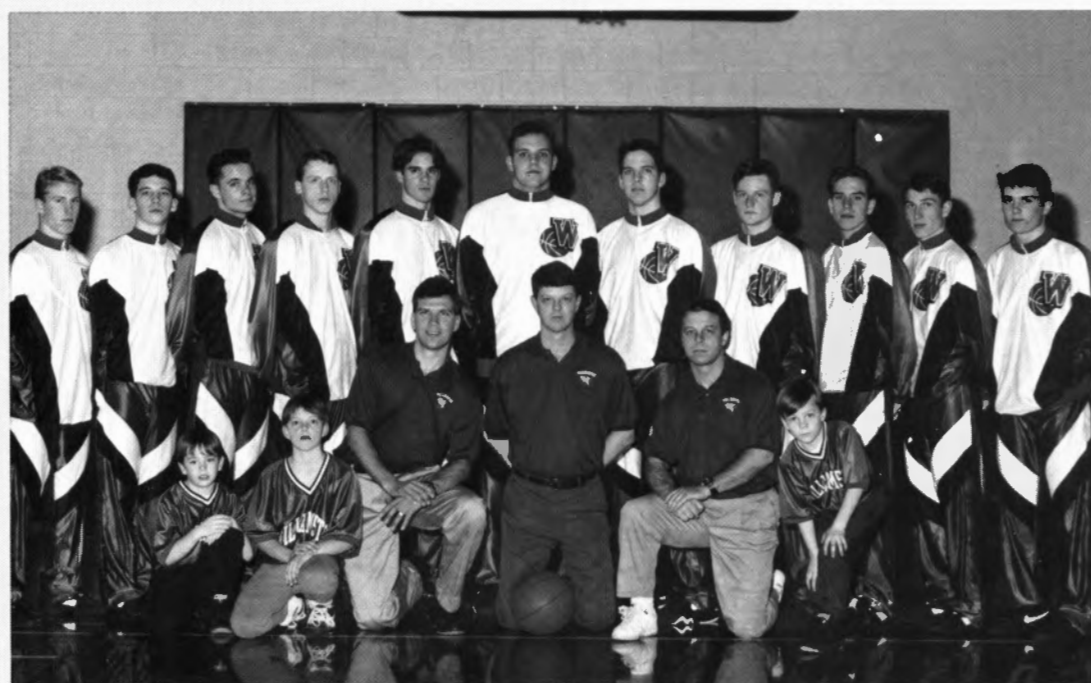

S L A M D U N K

It was a season of uncertainty. This year's boys basketball had one returning starter in Nate Genova, along with 6 seniors, 3 juniors, and 2 sophomores. Although this team lacked experience, it did not lack leadership. Captains Nate Genova and Jason Botsford led the way in this department. Starting out slow, the team would make some noise and upset ICL contenders. The Hornets then moved on to win their 7th straight district title. Next year looks bright, but the 6 seniors' spirit, leadership, and heart will be missed greatly. Good season guys!

Hornet Grapplers Reach Regional Finale

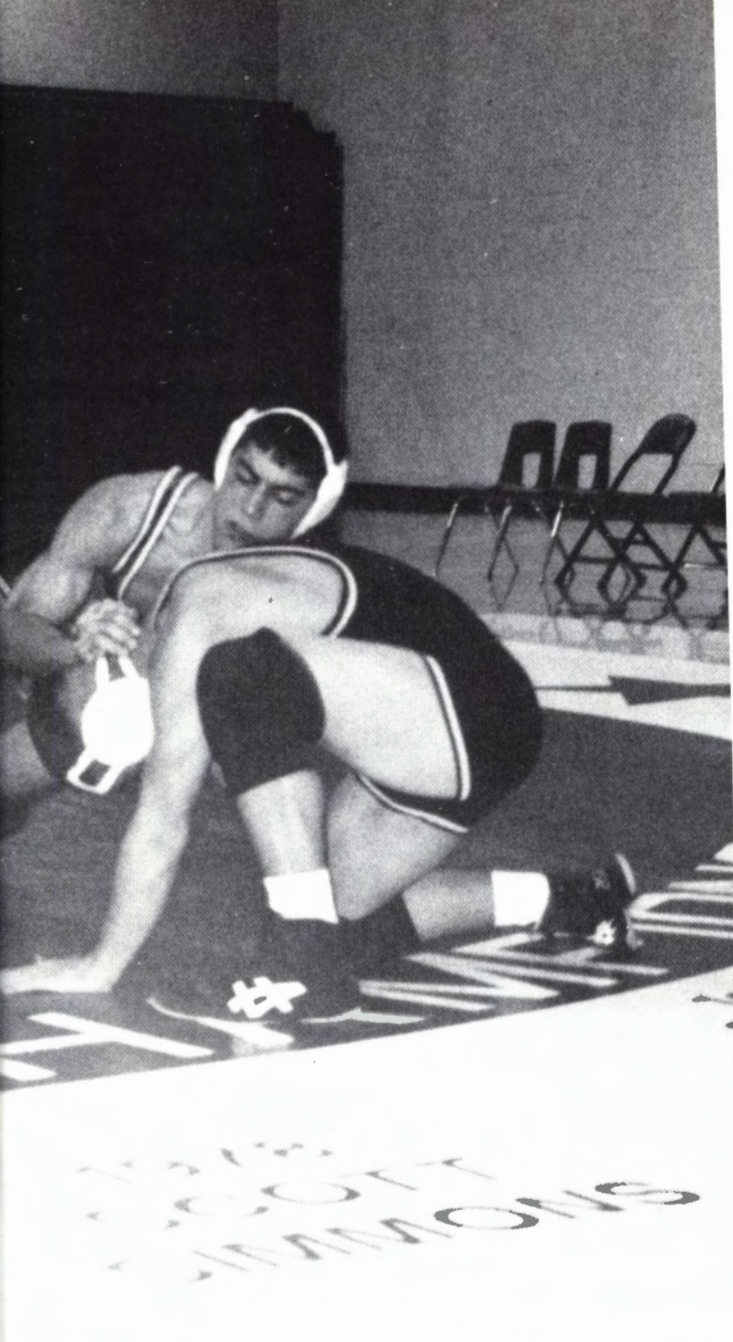

The 1993-94 team was led by Senior Co-Captains Mike Kowatch, 2nd in the Ingham County League, 2nd in the Districts, 2nd in the Regionals, and a State Qualifier and by Tony Sesti, 1st in the Ingham County League, 3rd in the Districts, 4th in the Regionals, and a State Qualifier. As a team the wrestlers were runner-up in the league. While the team is losing some tough wrestlers to graduation this year, Junior State Qualifier, Tim McMillen and Sophomore State Qualifier, and Ingham County League Champion Josh Brennan will be back next year to provide the leadership and keep the Hornets in the hunt for next year's title in hopes of dethroning State Champion Fowlerville.

Varsity Volleyball Vows To Dig or Die . . .

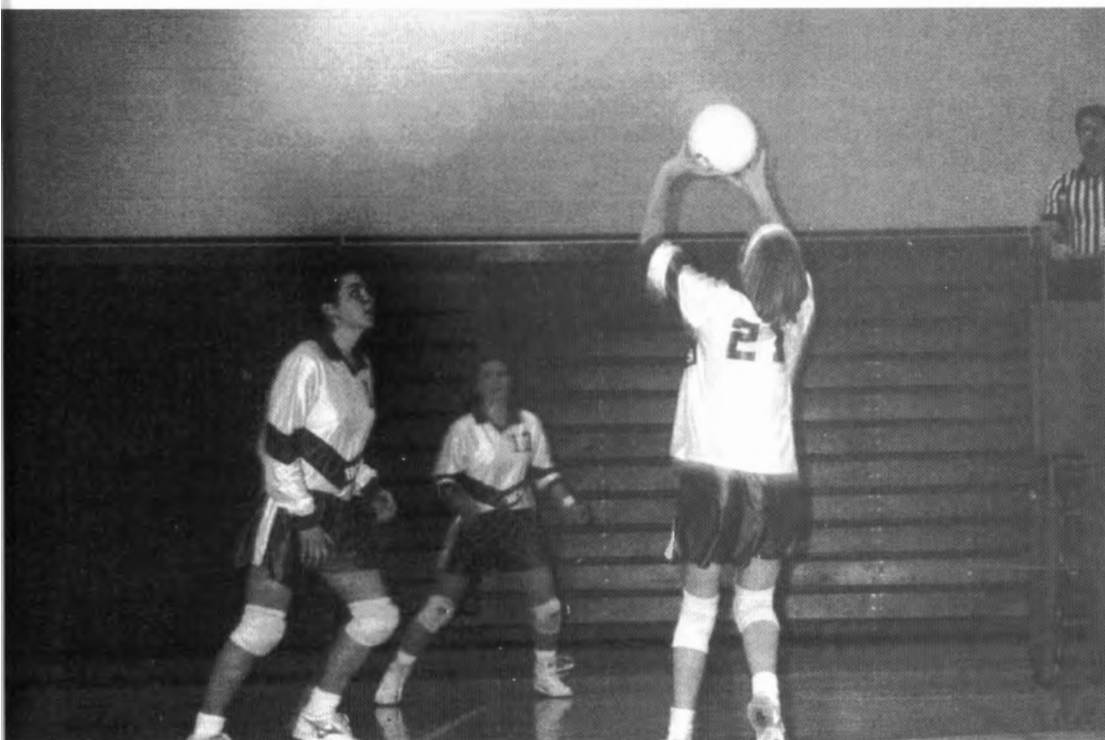

The volleyball team had its share of ups and downs this season, its share of surprises and disappointments, and also its share of army drills and line jumps. All in all though, this team pulled together and played their hearts out to make it through the tough games — like their 14-16, 15-12, 16-14 win over DeWitt, their last game of the season. Their real potential shone through at the Williamston Classic when they went 7-1 in pool play, demolishing the competition. Here, Brandy Coe and Katie Kauffman were named to the All-Tournament Team as voted on by the coaches.

proven wrong. They learned to bond and unite, to play as a team, and develop strategies to winning, including an assortment of servers that could be counted on for aces. The Lady Hornets found strengths to overcome their weaknesses, making another volleyball season exciting and worthwhile.

There were many people who doubted the potential of this team, including some of the players, but fortunately this notion was

JamBo (Jammie)

Where have the years gone? Our baby is all grown up! You've weathered the storms and became stronger because of them. We're so proud of all your athletic and academic achievements. You've brought us countless hours of pride and joy. We'll miss you so but know that you'll succeed in college and beyond. Follow your dreams but always remember home and the love and support that will always be there to carry you through.

Rusty Maynard

Rusty: Are You Ready for Some Football!!!?

Football's here again he said
2-a-days will soon begin
He marked off the days
through a foggy morning haze.
He moaned, he groaned, he turned black & blue.

How will I get through this?? but much to his bliss, they were gone
but his memories of football days and football nights linger on.

What a sight, coaches yelling, crowd cheering. Mom's praise, his friends will say he changed-Rusty Maynard what a lineman. He worked hard to get him, man.

But on those hot summer days that are gone forever, He'll always remember "2-a-days"! I Good Luck to our favorite Hornet No. "50" I'm proud of you. I love you.

Gail, with your generous hugs and kind words, easy smiles and gentle tears. You lighten our hearts with your wonderful cheer. It is hardest to share the things we love the most so with mixed emotions we watch you move toward your future. Hold your head high. You have made us proud parents as well as your siblings, too. The world will have difficulty loving you more than we do.

Need We Say MORE . . .

Need We Say More . . . what a fitting theme. This phrase was just proven time and time again as the year progressed and the school overcame challenges that had at one point been predicted to besmurge its reputation.

Activities that had been scheduled to be cut were left intact, even adding an additional club, P.R.I.D.E., which informed students of all ages of the dangers of drug and substance abuse.

Some of the athletes may have started the fall season disappointed with the pay to play rule. But this too became a thing of the past when the school district discovered that they were financially able to reverse this decision. Despite the "Beginning Blues", quality was still obvious in all sports.

As always, the artroom was showing signs of new talented artists and their creative artwork. The art showcase in the dome was always a highlight to see when walking by on the way to class. The other areas of the arts prospered as well. The band continued to make its presence known by participating in more festivals and outside activities. Those singers of WHS also expressed their talent in a superb musical production of "The Pirates of Penzance" which took place in May.

And although we lost a few teachers to other places this year, we did have two new members of our Hornet Family, Mrs. Logue and Mr. Bazlewicz.

It was through all of this, perhaps, that we learned how necessary it is to take things one step at a time. We are all part of that special group that is Williamston High School. Although circumstances and events forced us to take another look at things, by sticking together, we made it beautifully through a year that wasn't expected to be so beautiful.

Hardworking students and faculty, a positive educational environment, and the ability to set and attain high goals — it is because of these three factors that the 1993-1994 school year was such a success. Need We Say MORE!

The Hornet '94

Completing a book opposite to tradition is not an easy task. It takes more dedication and hardwork than imagined by most people. But, we did achieve our goals, and with that, I'd like to thank some very special people.

Ms. Vant who put up with us "rookies", even when E-1 would become amazingly sparse some days. Thanks for always being there to teach us everything, tie the loose ends, and provide the pizza after deadlines.

Tracy Scott of Taylor Publishing for being such a great rep. Thanks for teaching us the ropes and helping us to achieve exactly what we wanted.

Hicks Studio for covering Homecoming and taking the sport group shots.

To Mr. Lang, we'd like to extend a huge Thank You. With his photographic expertise, he saved us when we were in a pinch several times. Thanks for helping us capture so many memories on film that we missed.

To all of the teachers who allowed many of us to skip their class during deadline week. Without these extra hours we would have never made it!

To Mr. Bowles for allowing us to roam the halls and interrupt classes to take pictures without ever saying a word. You really seem to have a sixth sense when it comes to detecting a deadline week!

Thanks to this year's staff who, by working together, made this a book unlike any other.

Lastly to my family and friends who gave me constant support, put up with craziness when deadlines got hectic, and for always listening whenever I wanted to discuss pages with them. Thanks, I love you guys!

We began with dreams, mostly, to make this a book that everyone would remember. It seemed quite often that everything that could go wrong did. At times, the office would be so cluttered, photos would be impossible to find and layouts would be misplaced. But, we did find them. We did accomplish something special.

Most of all, by being driven by a common purpose this past year, we really became a close knit group. We shared so many things — the crazy Christmas presents and Secret Santa's, the messy staff room, the cropper "blunders", and the stressful deadlines. Above all, however, it became obvious that by working together towards a common goal, great things can happen. — Martha Reed, Editor.
