Call It What You Want

Call it what you want . . . for Freshmen it was the beginning of 4 years in high school and for the Seniors the end of their high school career. For everybody else in between, hang in there, it'll be over faster than you know it.

With every new year there are new things. New faces, rules, discoveries, and

Seniors Come Out On Top

Call It A Senior Victory !

Homecoming was no competition this year for the Seniors - they simply dominated Spirit week. Not even the persistent Juniors or Sophomores could break their stride. On Monday it was dress like a little kid, on Tuesday it was Super Hero Day where capes were recommended. On Wednesday it was Retro Day, on Thursday it was Comfy Day, and for the first year the rules were explained, no buttons or zippers allowed. Finally on Friday, the traditional Green and White day was held. We ended Friday with a hard earned hour pep assembly planned by Mr. Fulks and the cheerleaders. It was a success for everyone who participated. The floats were good this year with the Seniors taking first place. Class Advisor, Coach Nilsson commented, "We ended four years of frustration for the Senior float builders. All of the floats were excellent this year artistically." So call this year's homecoming a senior victory to remember.

Students Study Abroad

Senior, Sara Harrison spent her senior year as a Youth For Understanding exchange student. She lived in La Serena, Chile, with a Chilean host family and studied at the Colegio Ingles Catolico. Her main reason for embarking on this experience was to become bilingual in Spanish. This was accomplished, but Sara found that learning the language was only a small part of the value of her experience. In addition to gaining a new respect for people of different cultures and races, she developed maturity, self-confidence, and a better understanding of her own country. She describes her year in Chile as "the greatest, most rewarding experience of my life."

Senior, Katie Flore spent 3 weeks of her senior year breathing, thinking, studying, and sleeping immersed in Italian culture. During this project she was able to study music and take lessons with a flute professor at the music conservatory i Udine. This experience was also aimed at observing classes at a branch of the John Hopkins University in Bologna. Along with learning more about international business and music, Katie was able to travel throughout northern Italy and the Tuscan region. This unique opportunity was not only intellectually enriching but also broadened her mind to new and different cultures.

After a successful, but chilly, fall season the WHS Equestrian team looks promising for next year.

Cashell Gray and Freshman, Andrea Kleiver, led the team with impressive high scores. The team was "picked up by their bootstraps" by first year coach, Alan Gray and assistant coach, Cindy Kendall to win their 1st competitive meet against teams twice their size. The collaborative scores added up, but still left them short of the state finals. We look forward to seeing their talent next year. NO MORE HORSIN' AROUND.

The Band Plays On

The band has been very busy this year between concerts, competition, fund raisers and the every day-to-day practice. They devoted a Saturday and got up bright and early in the morning to make dozens of apple pies for a fund raiser - not many people would be so willing to do that. Besides doing fund raisers, the high school band has been busy playing for the community at the McGoff center with the Lansing Concert Band. Not very many bands get to have such an opportunity as to play with such a prestigious band as the Lansing Concert Band. The Williamston High School Band has also played at the Wharton Center with the MSU Symphonic Band where they received a standing ovation. The concert band played at the Hill Auditorium where they received an award from the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association. For home-coming, the marching band performed a very good routine, as they have in the past years. The band has again proved that this kind of activity takes a lot of time, effort, team work, and dedication to accomplish the goals that they have reached this year.

Call it a Year of Redemption

The 1995 soccer season was one of great change: a new assistant coach and a whole new attitude. The soccer team started their season with two convincing wins, which started a winning pattern. Despite the past somewhat disappointing seasons, the team was able to come out strong and show what they were really made of. The hard work and dedication in practice set the stage for the teams great season.

Experience....

Under the leadership of co-captains, Aimée Mouser and Julie Thomson, the girl's tennis team, enthusiastically began the season with hopes of gaining a regional championship and possibly placing in the state competition because of all the seniors on the team. Starting out the season slowly, the varsity team lost several games by one or two points, which soon dampened their spirits for taking the regional trophy. After losing these close games, remaining focused, and enthusiastic was at times difficult for both the coaches and players. The varsity team was made up of all seniors this year with the exception of sophomore Leah DeVito and freshman Allison Phillips who added charisma, explosiveness and a new perspective to the already experienced and patient seniors. They had to focus and take it one point at a time but they were not quite ready for the level of play presented at the class C/D regionals. In reflection, the tennis season is and always will be a learning experience for those involved. "We are looking forward to an exciting tennis season", as Coach Michelle Eaddy put it, and that it was... Good luck future players (especially the future sophomores)... you'll need it because next year the girl's tennis team will be competing at the Class B level!

One More Step . . .

The Hornet this year improved from last years record of 1-8. The Hornets brought back the winning tradition with a 5-4 record. They all worked well together with the team ranging from sophomores to seniors. The seniors showed us great leadership to put us over the winning edge. The Hornets went week to week with hopes of making the playoffs. The hope faded after the Haslett game. Williamston was tough all year and they proved to other teams and the community that it was a new year for Hornet Football.

A Little Struggle, A Lot Of Fun!

The Lady Hornets basketball season can best be described as "A thousand ups, a thousand downs, and a thousand points!"

The excitement for the Lady Hornets began with a huge upset over favored Lansing Eastern! Yet the dream of a winning season eluded them with disappointing losses to two big rivals, Haslett and DeWitt. The Lady Hornets ended their season with a first round loss in the Districts and a 9-12 record. Returning players hope next year to better this year's record.

Too, those who are wondering about the thousand points. . . Congratulations to Senior co-captain, Shawna Cronk. She became the fourth Lady Hornet to break the thousand point barrier during her varsity career. Hopefully her accomplishment will inspire future players to do the same. Way To Go "S".

hopeful. Andy Palmer played in football games on Friday and then went to cross country meets on Saturday, which was very helpful. Ivan Morris was consistently helpful and Dave Moose drastically improved throughout the season. # Call Us Sprited Cheer '95 was an extremely challenging season. The squad this year was exceedingly awesome. We went to competition in Rochester and brought home sixth place while competing against class A and AA schools. This season had its ups and downs, we handled them all quite well. One of those downs was losing Coach Brewer. Ask any Varsity Cheerleader and you will hear only good things. We all wish she could have stayed, but we understand and we will miss her greatly. Even though we lost one coach we gained another. Coach Kelly Lycos helped both Coach Feiler and Coach Brewer by taking charge of the freshman squad.

A few of the things every Varsity cheerleader should remember: Getting caught at Coach Lynch's, Pizza Hut parties, shoe examples, Herbie, and Brewer's one last time. Good luck boyz!

Starting A Tradition

There were some changes for the Williamston Hornet Boys Varsity Basketball team this year. Under the guidance of new head coach, Todd Kleinow, the Hornets came to play basketball. Every game they played hard and it paid off with a 17-3 regular season record, the best they have had in a long time. The team consisted mostly of Juniors with 4 Seniors and a Freshman. This should mean that the Hornets will be a factor to be reckoned with for the next few years. Seniors, Nick Lycos and Sam Mills showed great leadership all year. The students at Williamston showed great support for this year's Hornet team

Grapplers Send One To States

The 1995-96 Wrestling team was pretty young this year consisting of four seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and seven freshman. Even with the lack of experience the team still had a pretty good overall season. A highlight of the season was the winning pin made by Jim Pardee in the dual meet against Dewitt. Another highlight was sending seniors Dave Swiger and Dave Kowatch to regionals with Dave Swiger continuing on to states. The underclassmen are improving rapidly and looking forward to another successful year. To the four seniors: Jim Pardee, Ryan Smith, Dave Kowatch, and Dave Swiger, good luck in all you do.

Cheerleading

We've got spirit. How 'bout you?

Call it what you want. . . and that is exactly how the cheer teams started and finished their season. With a late start do to lack of coaches, the teams pulled together for a great finish. As the season went by the three cheer teams attended the Cheer Classic competition at Caldonia High School and returned with great achievements. The Varsity placed second in the Class 'B' competition as did the Junior Varsity, unfortunately the Freshman cheer team was unable to do as well. However, congratulations are in order for all three cheer teams for putting forth such extraordinary effort. After all is said and done the Williamston High School Cheer Teams have worked incredibly hard to make a name for themselves and with much luck they have done just that!

SPIKE

It's Not Just A Dog's Name.

A rollercoaster ride would be the best explanation of volleyball season this year. The team which was composed of four seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores, had their share of ups and downs. The season started off well with a first place finish at the Bath Invitational and a win over Pawamo Westphalia, who was then ranked first in the state during the Mason Tournament. The team also made it to the semi-finals of their own tournament, The Williamston Classic, losing to Potterville who then went on to win first place.

But with all ups must come some downs. The Lady Hornets faced some tough competition at the Napoleon Tournament and finished last. Toward the middle of the season, many players were getting sick or injured, and the team lost many valuable players. But with a little rest and some help from Susan, the team was complete just in time for Districts. With three additions: Molly Miller, Tiffany Formsma, and Monica Chernick, the team finished their rollercoaster season third in the league.

They team also had a lot of fun to go along with their hard work. They played tag, human net, the hand game, and learned how to do the gator (along with a little line dancing in DeWitt's hallway). All of these games gave them great team unity and a little fun.

To the four seniors: Brandy Coe, Sarah Rutter, Brie Genter, and Kathy Mosely, we wish you the best of luck and we will miss you. To the returning players: good luck next year.

I used to think life would begin when high school ended. After four years of monotonous secondary education, six hours each day, five days a week, and being caught up in a social life which at times seemed like a really bad episode of Beverly Hills, 90210, the thought of a future including complete independence and an academic schedule with absolutely no classes before noon was like a glimmer of light at the end of a dark tunnel.

But looking back, I realize it wasn't all bad; in fact, the four years of my life I spent at WHS were worth it all. For every test and BlueBook I stressed and worried about the night before, there was the euphoric feeling afterward of knowing that it was over. For every teacher I just could not seem to get along with, there were those which impacted my life and gave me direction and meaning. And most importantly, through the melodrama of social life and the stifling autonomy of cliques and social groups, emerged friendships and relationships which have helped to form and shape the person I am today.

It is these things, the good things, that I will remember until I die. I'll remember the Spanish classes, making fun of people for the gigantic, blue-rimmed glasses they used to wear in elementary school and having paper-mache fights during pinata day. And more than anything, I'll always remember the things I've learned from high school, things so much more important than the length of the third side of an isosceles triangle or the date the U.S. entered WWII; I'll remember the friends I've made and the things we learned from each other.

Mind

Mind in the purest play is like some bat
That beats about in caverns all alone,
Contriving by a kind of senseless wit
Not to conclude against a wall of stone.

It has no need to falter or explore;
Darkly it knows what obstacles are there,
And so may weave and flitter, dip and soar
In perfect courses through the blackest air.

And has this smile a like perfection?
The mind is like a bat. Precisely. Save
That in the very happiest intellection
A graceful error may correct the cave.

A smile. A tear. Eyes twinkle. Chuckling. Sighing. Laughter. Contentment. These are the real victories of our world. It is our turn to venture forth- -to mark on the world. But as we do this, we must keep perspective: remember those victories. I dream. I wish to always have a stable nucleus, a loving family. I want to go places, see things, meet people. I want to see the ocean surround me on a Caribbean Isle. I will scuba dive at the Great Barrier Reef. You will find me in Africa as I crouch, watching an elephant. A bicycle will support me as I speak with the people on the streets of China. I will kneel in the temples of Tibet. Sweat will drip down my forehead as I tilt my head listening to the call of a macaw in the Brazilian rainforest. I will stand, eyes closed in rapture, beneath the down-pour of golden sunlight. Laughter shall burst when I am with my family. I will flinch while watching surgery. I will cry in a courtroom. I will swim with the dolphins. I will walk with man. We will all love. We will be hurt. And we will survive.

Life the past four years in the thriving metropolis of "Billtown," has been a time I will never forget. From watching the cold, Friday night football games to being blessed with the talents to play in the hot, Friday night basketball games, I will always cherish my high school memories. I've been lucky in high school to have great teachers. Mr. Dorow, Mr. Jolin, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Nelson, and Mr. Webb have all taught me many valuable lessons. However, I think my greatest learning experiences have come from my family. My two older brothers, whom I love very much, have taught me about life, sports, and women. (I try to refrain on their tips on women though, they have a tendency to get me into trouble.) To the mistress of the household, the giver, nurturer, and the taker of life (if you get on her bad side) I owe so much. My mom has always been there for me. Thanks mom. My father has taught me to live to the fullest and to cherish every moment. Thank you father. Thanks family. Thanks to all my friends for making school, and out of school, so much fun and remember, "Do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own."

"This is a time to remember,
Cause it will not last forever.
These are the days to hold on to,
Cause we won't although we want to."

— Billy Joel

Williamston High School: four years of Friday night games, Saturday Invitationals, meetings before school and practice afterwards. 720 days of competing, laughing, reading, writing, and waiting for the bell. 4,320 classes to hear things like "Nikki's done, Trish pick-up, The word of the day is legs, and do you need more time?" 119,200 seconds to be with friends, "expand our minds", get more involved and make a difference. All the rest of the time in this world is ours- to see new places, meet new people and make our marks. I walk away from this school content. I didn't do everything I wanted to, but I'm so happy with all of the things I did. I thank all those friends, teammates, coaches, and teachers who helped me through the last four years. I want you to know the time I spent here was worthwhile and now I am glad to be moving on.

Rian Parent
Co-Valedictorian

(I don't have senior pictures.) To start out I figure I'll try to be serious. This is one of my favorite quotes, "We wouldn't worry so much what other people thought of us if we knew how seldom they did." If you've seen me you can tell how little I care what others think. Everyone should live how they want to live and not worry about the people around them. High school has brought many great and not so great memories. Here are the ones I will remember the most- the bunny incident, geek, Mickey Mouse, the 3 Musketeers, Radar, English Muffin Way, cottage cheese, Kendall Gill, The Wall, Green Shirt Club, camping, Alec's parent's bedroom, "At one end of the court", fleance, the nerd herd, "hot", wiping mis dientes, spoons, the boylight, strawhat, Sunday, Raven, It'll be fun, please, hey beautiful, a lot of people do that and that Rian girl. I'd like to thank my friends for always being there, especially Almond Joy. (Remember that?) I'm not sure what I've learned at WHS, but there had to have been something. I'm spending all of my money on my New York excursion, and maybe I'll save a little for college. I love you mom. It's been real...

Nikki Viol
Co-Valedictorian

As I look back at my four years of high school, I can't believe how fast time has gone by. A chapter in our lives is coming to a close, and a new one is beginning. Next year we will all be going different places and doing different things. Some of us will be staying close to home, while others will venture far away. As I leave WHS I will take many memories with me: Dorow's discussion days, blue books and weeks of poetry, and government class. I'll remember Homecoming, all the floats that were disasters and the one that finally was a winner... Feb. Follies and "Take this wall and shove it!", working on the school play, and many other activities, such as playing tennis and making it to States, along with going to States for cheerleading. I'll always remember my four years at Williamston High School. It's been a lot of fun, but I can't wait to move on and experience the world!

Best of Luck to everyone in the CLASS OF 1996!

Joe Zeman
Co-Valedictorian

Everybody has to grow up in life, and must get the opportunity to experience a K-12 education. These days every member of the class of '96 seems to be counting the days until graduation. However, as this final step into adulthood approaches, I often wish I was back in fifth grade, with my same friends that still exist now, ruling the elementary. Life back then was so simple compared to what each individual has to endure in the days of high school. Instead of filling out college applications and scholarships, the only worry was what sport to play at recess and which girls to chase. It is quite ironic because when I was in fifth grade I wanted to be in twelfth grade, but now as my final days in Williamston High School grow closer and closer, I wish to be a fifth grader once again. Hopefully when I am thirty I will still look back on my elementary days and high school days with nostalgia. Thank you for the great memories, and I will cherish all of my experiences as I work to become a Doctor of Pharmacy at the University of Michigan or the University of Kentucky.

A river is a body of water that moves in a general direction to an unknown destination. The class of 1996 is a river. Each of us has come together to create the current in which we flow. The shores of our river have been defined by our town and school, our coaches and teachers, our families and the rules by which we live. We have brought to the trip our own ways of transversing the river bed. And as we leave this place, we find ourselves floating in many different directions- some will evaporate, others will help the plants grow, some travel toward the ocean and find a home there. But we all leave with the knowledge that we once belonged to a single force. We were a strong current making our journey to this point together. We fought, cried, lost friends along the way, but we seemed to find ways to laugh, dominate and learn. We have been shaped by the river which is ourselves, always changing, always growing. We leave this river bed looking toward the future, unshakeable in the thought that we will succeed as individuals and hanging onto the fact that we have grown as one.

Thanks to my family, friends, and God...

Being a foreign exchange student in Chile was the biggest risk that I have ever taken. My three years at WHS prepared me for the challenges that I faced. In Mr. Dorow's classes I learned not only about history, but also about people, culture and society, and accepting differences. Mrs. Kendall's Spanish classes gave me the background that I needed to fulfill my dream of being bilingual. Without these things I would never have dared to venture so far away from home. I would like to thank my family and friends for all the love, support, and courage you gave me. I could never have done it without you. My next adventure begins at the University of Michigan where I plan to continue studying foreign languages and cultures in the field of anthropology.

My years at WHS have been filled with laughter and wonderful memories, but it is time for us to move on. As we go our separate ways, remember our time together and the lessons we've learned. We all have risks to take and challenges to face. I leave with you some advice to help along the way: "Do not follow where the path may lead... go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

To the CLASS OF '96: Buenos suerte!

The Juniors

Call It Class Spirit

The Junior class has had many ups and downs. Along with the worries of ACTs and SATs to take, they also had to worry about what colleges to visit and which one to choose. But they didn't worry the entire year, they also had fun. Along with the chances to be camp counselors, they also had the chance to prove that they were worthy enough to be upperclassmen. They showed their spirit during Homecoming and February Follies, and it never ceased to fail during the sports events. Being rambunctious was one of the high points for this class, but this year was also a very serious one for next year's Seniors.

Call 'Em Sophmores

The class of 1998 has finally conquered their first year of high school and is off and running on their second

The 1995-1996 school year brought several more challenges forcing them to take more responsibility. Their school spirit has come together enabling them to win a couple of spirit days and show the Freshman what high school is all about. This year's Sophomores have accomplished a lot and will continue to accomplish even more in the future.

We want to take the opportunity to openly express our overwhelming joy and appreciation for you. As the first born of four daughters we could not have asked for a better example or role model. Your demeanor and attitude towards life along with your commitment to the highest principles and standards reflect your dedication to God. We know he has planted great things inside of you that are beginning to bloom. Graduating from high school is the first of many fruit marking your initiation into the adult world. May the garden of your life bring

Dean Gaffner

Deano...

You're truly a joy in our lives-deeply loved and fully pleasing! You're an Encourager-for when a task seems heavy, you come alongside to share it. Because we love you so, we pray the Fear of God into your life-for this Fear is the beginning of all Wisdom.

Love, Mom and Dad

Dean...

Thanks for your friendship and brothership. I haven't always been the easiest to live with, but you are special to me. I'm honored to say I have a GQ, super intelligent, kind, gracious, and overall awesome brother!

Love, Dale

Call it what you want... I couldn't have put it better myself. Throughout this year we've all had some up's and down's but I'm glad to see we all made it. This yearbook is like no other, how, you might ask, well because I've never seen a more diverse group of people pull together and become the friends that they are. We made this book incredible, with a little help from some other people.

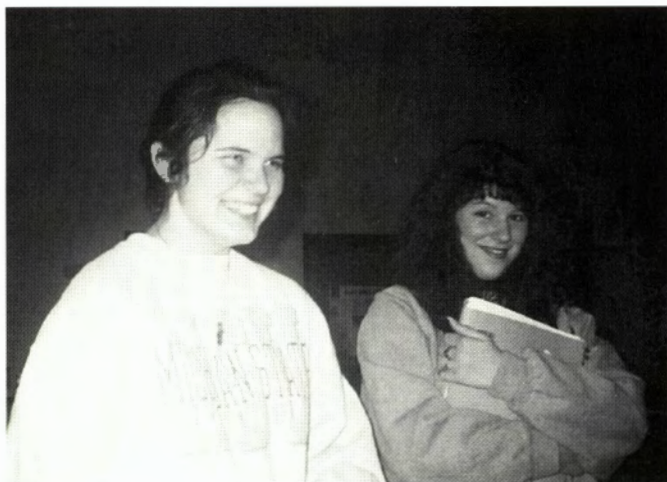

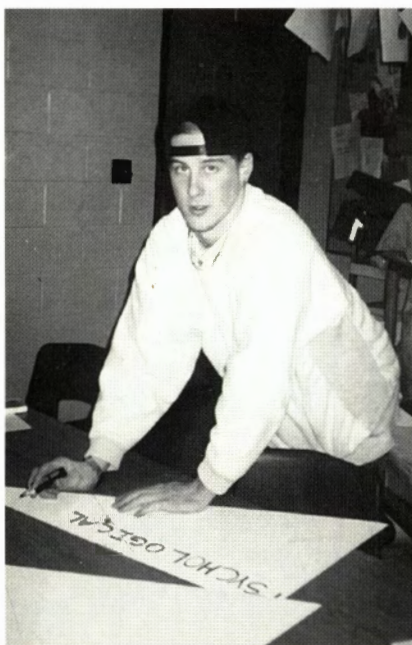

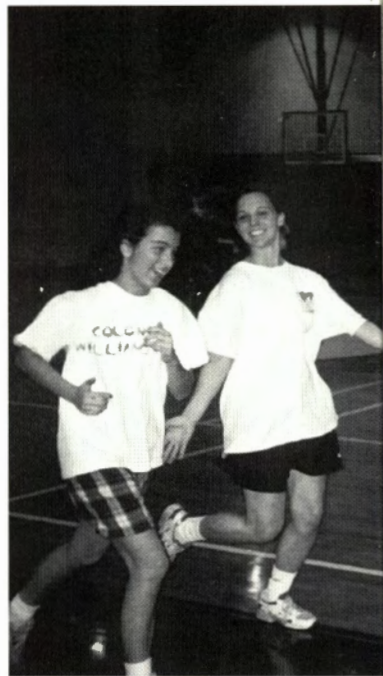

Ms. Vant, thank you, you helped us in more ways than you know and even when we were spitting nails you held strong to your decisions.

To the businesses and parents thank you for all your help.

Last but certainly not least the '96 yearbook staff. Thank you for putting up with my nervous break downs, blow ups, and you know that other problem we had. You guys are what made this yearbook. And I say this from the bottom of my heart "You are awesome."

Oh, and one more, thanks to the students at Williamston High School. You may like this book and you may not, but as a wise group of people once put it...Call It What You Want.

Editors: Jenni Shuck and Carolyn Thompson

Clockwise: Matt Campbell poses as Demi Moore. Jodi Church "What can I say." Ma Waara not looking too enthused. Scott Kennedy shows off his pencil. Kyle Gaffner "Gott problem." Jenni Shuck and Stasi Wilson We smile because we have no idea about what going on. Greg Wheeler "You know you want me."
