Press and School in Education

By E. RUTH PYRTELE

President of the National Education Association

Every day 24,000,000 American children attend school. Every day 40,000,000 newspapers go to American readers. Every contact of school or press shapes opinion closer to the sharp line of truth. There are no other institutions in the world that can compare with these two in power and influence.

The school takes the mind while it is plastic. It bestows upon the child a knowledge of the best that the race has learned in the age-long school of experience. The press builds upon these fundamentals the towers of opinion that shape the skyline of today's world.

Back of these two great educational institutions are 23,000 editors and 800,000 school teachers. Their services are so closely akin that only blindness could be responsible for a lack of mutual understanding and accord.

The interdependence of press and school is widely recognized. Particularly has the press come to the aid of the school whenever the efficiency of its service has been threatened by close-sighted attempts at retrenchment. Newspaper men have endeavored to educate the school teacher to a sense of the news values in his methods, aims and results. The response to this training is indicated by the growing number of public school systems which have a member of the staff to assist the news reporters in uncovering facts of interest to readers.

On the other hand, the schools are increasingly making use of the newspaper. There are very few school libraries today that do not have current news sheets on their racks. Schools are educating their pupils to rely upon the press for their continuation education.

The high character of most newspapers today admits them without question to the position of textbooks in the schools. Unfortunately all newspapers are not written upon the same high plane. School teachers deplore this. Frequently they are heard to say that newspapers are too sensational and cheap to use in the schoolroom. Undoubtedly some of them are. Whose fault is it? Where is the taste of the American reading public created? It should at least be deeply influenced in the schoolrooms.

If the taste of the reading public is for information that is not only unwholesome but harmful, there is important work for the schools to do. In that work they need the co-operation of purposeful editors.

The schools have no desire to censor the press. What the press needs is some sort of an educational philosophy, just as the educators have. Editors should draw up a statement of general principles of education through the press. They might well state in a general way their objectives, their methods, and the character of the content of their newspaper education. In the preparation of this statement the educators might be of help. Likewise the educators could wisely include editors in their conferences on educational philosophy. Only through some such system of co-operative effort can the foundations and superstructure of education be consistent.

The above is one of a series of "Better Citizenship" editorials by prominent Americans contributed to The Ingham County News, member of the National Editorial Association. It is published this week in recognition of National Education Week.

Common Honesty

"Former Cabinet Member Accused of Taking a Million", "Flint Cashier Nearly Wrecks Bank", "Wealthy Oil Man Flees Country", "Hunt On For County Treasurer"; such headings as these have become all too familiar to newspaper readers and it is small wonder that many people believe honesty to be a virtue that was cast aside some years ago to take its place with the famed Dodo bird and the Lost Atlantis.

The only redeeming factor is that the dishonesty and corruption which seemingly has full swing among some high government officials and men in other exalted places has not seeped down through to the lower strata. We believe that common honesty still prevails and have concrete evidence to offer should any modern Diogenes seek an honest man. We could point to at least three right here in Mason who would satisfy any searcher for the virtue of honesty and it is refreshing to review these three cases.

Within the past three weeks three purses have been lost here in Mason and in every instance they have been returned with their contents intact. J. S. Mason returned a pocketbook containing nearly fifty dollars belonging to a farmer's wife. Arthur Skinner, well known city employee, found a Mason woman's pocketbook containing a sum of money and returned it to her before she realized she had lost it. Then last week a small boy came into the office to return a purse belonging to a high school girl.

It is possible that if acts of honesty were given newspaper publicity in the same manner as are dishonest acts that the conception of the cardinal virtues would be recognized anew. Instead of bemoaning the dishonesty and corruption which exists we might be able to discover that locksmiths are seldom needed and that the jails and prisons and courts are only for a very small majority. Common honesty is still a virtue held in high esteem by the common people. It would be well for those in high positions to remember it.

Prison Reform

Here and there out of the dark come at intervals bits of logic which appear to light the way to a better understanding of crime and criminals. The most recent such utterance fell from the lips of William D. Mitchell, attorney general of the United States in a radio address. "The prison of the future," he said, "should be at once a disciplinary school for those who can be reformed, a place of segregation for the incorrigible, and a laboratory for the study of the causes of crime."

The report of Judge Arthur D. Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles for Michigan, issued at the beginning of the present year pointed to the failure of present prison methods to restore to society men as fit when released as when committed to prison. The question of reform, in the mind of the parole commissioner, has entirely faded from the present picture and the problem of protecting the convict from the vicious surroundings to which the state has committed him appears as the major objective. "So many years" pronounces the court. The prisoner is taken away—"To What?" inquires the commissioner.

Prison reform has had much attention during the past two or three decades. Much has been written; much has been said; many experiments have been undertaken; many panaceas tried. Maudlin sentimentalism has held sway; convicts have been in turn caudled and brutally beaten. But measured in actual progress little has been accomplished.

A visit to such a modern institution as Michigan's multi-million edifice at Jackson will bring to the inquiring mind but scant sense of satisfaction that prison either punishes or reforms. Records of inmates sent to reformatories and later serving more severe sentences at major prisons disclose anything except assurance that our prison system is at all effective in salvaging the ruins of society.

"The problem of crime baffles the best minds of the country," asserts Judge Wood. "Human nature does not change to comply with the tremendous progress made by human invention. It carries as damaging baggage a lot of hatreds, pernicious emotions, destructive tendencies, deformities and malformations bequeathed to it from the disease, sin and error of all previous generations. It is no wonder that these evils, manifesting themselves through the tremendous facilities of modern times, have produced more grotesque results in the way of hideous criminality."

Society is now paying an appalling price for its criminality. It is high time it earnestly sought scientific and not conjectural facts concerning its cause. Equally important that it seek, not only to remove its cause outside prisons but that some real progress be made inside gray walls.

WISE and OTHERWISE

Usually the fellow who gets sore because he isn't appreciated at his full value ought to be glad that he isn't.

The only tariff satisfactory to the internationalist is the one which the other countries levy against us.

A New York woman suing for $50,000 for breach of promise, only got $2,500. Maybe the jury saw her financial condition and decided that was all she had lost.

It is said that it takes the average Chicago girl six minutes to do her primping before going out. Now we know that Chicago is the swiftest city in the country.

According to the New York World, Nova Scotia voted both wet and dry in its recent referendum on the liquor question. Nova Scotia's population must be one hundred per cent politician.

Those people who think that the three R's are being neglected in the schools should go to a college football game and hear "em—rah, rah, rah!"

Too often the statesman who announces oratorically that he is trying to help the farmer, is only trying to help himself to the farmer's vote.

It is said that Halloween was a very quiet evening in Chicago. The boys decided to throw corn instead of pinapples.

Now they are proposing to have the census takers take a wet and dry enumeration. Does this mean they are going to examine our cellars?

Let Boys And Girls Help Plan Farm Work

By P. G. HOLDEN

In planning our farm work for next year we should consult mother and the children.

If we take the family into our confidence we will find that they will help us solve many of our farm problems. Often the boys are able to give dad some ideas of how to get more money out of the old farm, and we will be surprised at the way mother and the girls can help plan the work of the farm and the household so that there will be full cooperation among all members of the family.

Let the boys and girls feel that they have an interest in the farm—that they are not working simply for their "keep". When they feel that they have responsibility, that the success of the farm depends upon them as well as upon "Dad" and "Ma", they will put forth their best efforts.

Co-partnership in the management and operation of the farm will instill within them the pride of ownership; will teach them to think for themselves, to observe, to study out the why and wherefore, and to experiment under intelligent guidance.

See that your children own something—a calf, a pig, or a lamb. Let the ownership be permanent, not temporary; real, not imaginary. Don't let it be Willie's pig and Dad's hog. Let it be Willie's hog and give him the price of the hog when it is sold. This will give motive to his work, stimulate his interest, develop initiative, train him in terms of business.

Nearly Killed By Gas—Druggist Saves Her

"Gas on my stomach was so bad it nearly killed me. My druggist told me about Adlerika. The gas is gone now and I feel fine."—Mrs. A. Adamek.

Simple glycerin, buckthorn, saline, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, helps GAS on stomach in 10 minutes! Most remedies act on lower bowel only, but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing poisonous waste you never knew was there. Relieves constipation in 2 hours. It will surprise you. L. H. Harrison, Druggist.

PASTIME THEATRE

Following the engagement of the Henderson Stock Company at the Pastime Theatre, which closes Saturday night, the usual program of screen attractions will be resumed, presenting on Sunday and Monday Willard Mack's sensational drama, "The Voice of the City." Taken as a whole, this production is a splendid type of the highly human sort of melodrama which Mack has been writing with such consistent success for so many years. A story of gangdom, it moves with the rapid pace of a runaway train for the entire action, which includes a jail break, a man hunt, a fake suicide, a murder and an unexpected and dramatic happy ending, takes place within the space of twenty-four hours. It is filled with suspense, plot and counterplot. Nevertheless it carries a romance as sweet and appealing and tender as any out and out love story. This delightful, though rather breathless love story is beautifully interpreted by Robert Ames, who plays the escaped prisoner, and Sylvia Field, Mr. Mack plays the role of the detective, who eventually gets his man and at the same time gives him his freedom. Mack is the same fascinating player on the screen that he is on the legitimate stage and his direction of his own story is as fine a bit of directorial management as this reviewer remembers seeing. Mack has a story to tell, and he tells it interestingly, with the result that there is not a draggy moment in it. The tension builds consecutively until the climax is reached. Even the dialogue speeds up the action, rather than retarding it as is so often the case. Miss Field, who makes her debut in this production, having come directly from the Broadway stage production of "The Royal Family," is both a beautiful and dramatic happy ending, takes place within the space of twenty-four hours. It is filled with suspense, plot and counterplot. Nevertheless it carries a romance as sweet and appealing boy rider at his best. Added attractions for the evening are The Collegians in "Sporting Courage," a comedy and the Pathe News.

Next week Friday and Saturday brings John Barrymore to the Pastime in "Tempest," his latest screen production; featuring Camilla Horn, the famous German actress.
The following week brings three unusual attractions to the Pastime, including Norma Shearer in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," Rod La Rocque in "Love Over Night," and Lon Chaney in "Where East is East."

HOLT

The annual roll call of the Red Cross is being sponsored by the Holt Woman's club with Mrs. Paul Fiedler as chairman. Members of the group will be in a public place where people may give their subscriptions.
The various organizations of the Presbyterian church will hold a get-together meeting in the church parlors Friday night.
The steel rails of the Michigan Electric were taken up Tuesday afternoon after giving service to this community twenty-one years.
Mr. Stackhouse is drilling a well for Adolbert Burgess on N. Cedar street.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Throp of Paw Paw, spent the week end with Mrs. Throp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Krikor, Willoughby road.
The Holt debating team held their first debate with Okemos Thursday, Nov. 14. The subject was "Resolved that the jury system should be abolished." Members of the team are Elizabeth Jackson, Molve Corbin, Fred Videna, Robert Tripp, Hazel Spencer, Virline Lewis, Virginia Foreman and Edward Primo.
The last football game of the season will be played Friday with Williamston. The local team has lost four games and won three. Although the team didn't have the best of luck in winning they have had very good luck in sportsmanship.
Representative Vernon J. Brown of Mason, spoke before the Holt Woman's club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sheathelton, 200 Cedar street, on "Law Enforcement." Mr. Brown spoke of how our officers were working on law enforcement, which showed in the great increase in our local jails and prisons, but urged each individual to practice and teach law observance. That the nature of crimes had never changed from the days of Adam and Eve, but many phases had been added to the old, "Steal, Kill and Adultery." Mr. Brown also urged the taxpayer resident to protect themselves against the southern cheap labor which has been brought into our metropolitan areas. He said this imported labor throws the property owner out of work and then he has to support all drives and organizations to not only care for our own unfortunate ones but for the stranger who has been misled by propaganda in southern papers regarding Michigan industries.
The services in Holt Presbyterian church next Sunday will be as follows: Morning worship at 10 o'clock with sermon by Rev. Andrews on "Christian Courage." Special music by the choir. Sunday school at 11:30. Special music by orchestra. Young people's meeting at 6 o'clock p. m. Topic, "The Kind of Friend I'd Like To Be." Union gospel services in the Presbyterian church at 7:45 p. m. led by the Lansing high school Y. M. C. A. gospel team. Good music, interesting program. Everyone welcome.
Holt high school won a hard fought game from Leslie last Friday afternoon, 19-6. The Holt eleven has been doing very good work in the last few games and expects to defeat Williamston this Friday. The Leslie game started out fast. Within two minutes the Holt team had gone down the field and by the use of a pass combination, Clever to Taylor, had made a touchdown which gave Holt a commanding lead. The squad then began a series of runs down the gridiron which resulted in the second touchdown for Holt in the first quarter, Crammer carrying it over on a line plunge. Leslie received the kickoff but lost the ball to Holt who carried it deep into Leslie territory before they were stopped. The ball was in the possession of the Leslie team when the second quarter began and they started for the goal line. A Leslie half took the ball on his own 30-yard line and punted through the whole Holt team for a spectacular run which ended in the only Leslie touchdown of the game. Holt came back again and after a few minutes of play, Clever to Taylor, took the ball on the line this time on an end run. The half ended 19-6. The second half was more evenly played, neither team scoring but both playing very good football. The Holt line has been showing more fight than any other in the history of football at Holt High. Mr. Murray of Mason high school refereed the Leslie game.

The Holt high school seniors are planning to present on the evenings of Nov. 21 and 22, the annual senior play. This year they have something new for the people of Holt and vicinity. On each of the two nights there will be given two different plays for the price of one. First there will be a tragic mystery, the cast of which is headed by Robert Shaft, a mysterious prisoner who keeps his real name a secret. Next comes a farce written by Booth Tarkington. It might be interesting to note that the class received a letter from Mr. Tarkington himself giving them permission to use the play without paying the usual royalty. This play is fast moving and balances the evening's performances.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Buehler and children, Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mrs. J. B. Mathews and Mrs. Waldo E. Sherman attended the White Shrine carnival at Charlotte.
V. T. Burroughs was in Mt. Pleasant, Monday on business.
Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lee and Mrs. O. L. Hall entertained at dinner last Friday the following guests: Mrs. K. B. Leisenring of Dimondale, Mrs. Etta Leisenring of Los Angeles, California, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Redfield of Eaton Rapids, Mrs. Anna Redfield of Eaton Rapids, Jesse Krumm, Neil Mendle and Harold Howe were in a very serious accident Monday evening when the car

Mr. Krumm was driving hit a parked car and then smashed into a tree. The driver was seriously injured and is in the Chapman hospital. The two boys were uninjured. The car is a total wreck.
Mrs. Huldah Miller spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Adam Reece of Marshall.

MASON HEADS LITTLE TWELVE CONFERENCE

MAROONS MAINTAIN LEAD BY TAKING GRAND LEDGE

CHAMPIONS PILE UP BIG SCORE ON MUDDY FIELD.

Coach Miller's Men Celebrate Last Football Game By Scoring Six Touchdowns.

The championship Mason high school Maroons did all that was expected of them in the final football game of a glorious season when they took Grand Ledge Monday afternoon by routing the home team by six touchdowns. The final score was 38 to 0 and the margin fairly represented the difference in the power of the two teams. It was the last high school game for the majority of the Maroon squad and they were all out for it. Every man on the team took a prominent part in the final victory which clinched the conference title for Mason.

The day had been set aside in Grand Ledge to mark the signing of the armistice but as one Grand Ledge supporter remarked, "Mason doesn't know the war is over." Before a crowd estimated at 2500 the Mason backs romped at will behind a fighting Maroon line. Grand Ledge made but one first down while Mason scored two touchdowns in every quarter. The second quarter was an absence from the field momentarily disconcerted his mates and things didn't work so good. Leonard, Curtis, and Hill finished their high school football careers in a blaze of glory. Considering the slippery footing the backs and the fact that the three seniors and Bartlett worked like a charm. Leonard broke off tackle and skirted the ends for long runs. He intercepted one Grand Ledge pass which was converted into a touchdown. Curtis crashed the line for good gains and his hand kicking took the heads of Grand Ledge. Hill also added considerable to the yardage gained and his blocking was superb. His handling of punts was also good. Burgess and Hazelton left nothing to be desired at the ends. Burgess blocked one Grand Ledge punt and Hazelton blocked another. Hazelton and Burgess made a lot of tackles, on several occasions getting through and smearing Grand Ledge backs for heavy losses.

Bell had one of his usual big days at center and his handling of the sassy ball was stellar. Wilcox and Ellis as guards played good games. Ellis admirably filled the shoes of Scotty Fredericks, the 190 pound giant who was kept from his last game by chickenpox. Tucker and Dolbee at the tackles played faultless football. Hopkins and Reams did outstanding work for Grand Ledge. Reams, the quarterback, had words of speed and his return of punts was a brilliant spot in an otherwise drab afternoon for Grand Ledge. Hopkins was able to crack the line and he made ends but on one occasion did he make enough yardage for a first down. The Grand Ledge line and ends were so clearly outplayed that the backs had little chance.

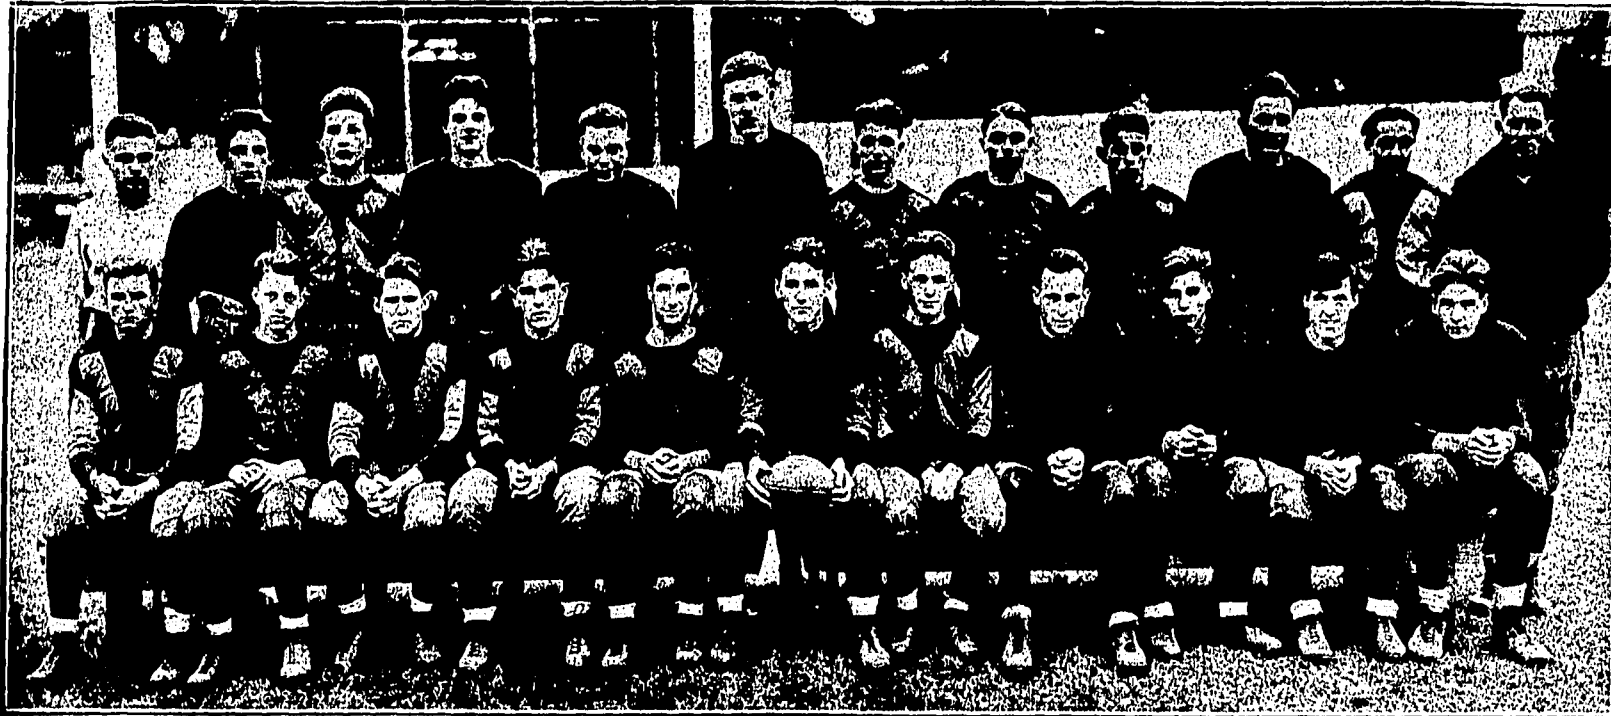

The Mason overhead game was pretty and beyond the competition of the opposition. Grand Ledge had poor luck with their passing tactics and one of their attempts proved a boomerang when Leonard intercepted it. The first touchdown came just a few minutes after the opening. Mason kicked off and Burgess made a nice tackle of the 5-yard line. After two attempts at the line last five yards Grand Ledge punted to Hill on Mason's 49-yard line. Leonard went off tackle for six yards, Curtis made it a generous first down, Leonard went around end for five and again Leonard broke loose for twelve yards to carry the ball to the 11-yard stripe. Curtis made a yard and then Leonard behind perfect blocking by Bartlett, Hill and Curtis, trotted over the goal for the first touchdown. Curtis plunged for the yardage and an exchange of punts which gave the fast Reams an opportunity to shine with a twenty-five yard return. Leonard intercepted a Grand Ledge pass and carried it back twenty yards to the Gramons 14-yard line. Hill and Curtis with the help of a five-yard penalty against Grand Ledge for offense, made it a first down and Bartlett drove through a gap in the line for the second touchdown. On a line crash Bartlett failed to add the extra point.

Following the kickoff the going was rough although the entire period was played in Grand Ledge territory. Just as the quarter started Leonard lost his footing and in a jangle his tender ankle with an exposed nerve was injured. He was unable to play. But Mason needed a punter so Lang was inserted for the fiery Lamphere. The Maroons, worried over Leonard's injury, could not regain their drive and Grand Ledge stopped their only first down. Mason stopped the drive on the next play and began to fight back. Hill added ten yards on a tackle smash and a pass from Curtis to Burgess yielded ten yards. Curtis and Hill made other substantial gains but a shower of passes failed to gain any additional points and the half ended with Mason ahead 13 to 0.

Leonard was again in the lineup during the second half and the Mason outfit was a different aggregation. Following the kickoff and two line plays Grand Ledge attempted to punt but Burgess sifted through and blocked it while Hazelton, the line end, fell upon the ball and the 10-yard line. Curtis and Bartlett made four yards on line plays and then Leonard skirted his left end for a touchdown. Leonard's kick was wide.

The next touchdown came easily. Hill received a punt and the kickoff on his 45-yard line and Leonard heavily downed a twenty-yard pass to Hazelton. After another pass failed Leonard broke loose for fifteen yards. Bartlett picked up two yards and Leonard crashed tackle for a first down. Two line plays failed to gain much ground so Mason again resorted to the air and Leonard shot a perfect pass to Burgess over the goal for the second touchdown of the period. Grand Ledge was bewildered on the play and no one was near Burgess. Again Leonard's kick for the extra point was wide.

Mason received a bad break when following Reams' twenty-yard return of the kickoff, Grand Ledge punted

SUPT. DONALD MURRAY

Instills School Spirit. Supt. Donald Murray, former Olivet College star, has done much to build up school spirit at Mason High.

Superintendent Murray Preaches Clean Sports

PRESENT HEAD OF SCHOOLS WAS FORMER COACH.

While Supt. Murray takes no share of the honor of Mason's championship football team, observers claim that the school spirit he has instilled at Mason High has done much to make possible such a successful season. When the superintendent came to Mason was that of a principal and then to the superintendent's position he yielded up his position as coach. But he still retains an active interest in school athletics and does everything possible to promote clean sports.

SCOTTY AT HOME

A juvenile affliction served to do to Scotty Fredericks, 190 pounds of solid muscle, what no opponent could do this season. The big linesman was prevented from playing in his last game Monday by a case of chickenpox. Scotty said that he wouldn't care so much if he was afflicted with some disease with a little more style to it but to be brought down with chickenpox is just a little too much.

JACK SYMONDS COACHED CHAMPS BACK IN 1914

PRESENT CHAMPIONS SPURRED ON BY SCHOOL TRADITION.

Former Athletes Compare Present Champions With Great Mason Team Of 1914.

The great Mason team of 1914 left a mark for the present champions to shoot at and the success of the 1929 champions is the second year by the Maroon and Blue in fifteen years. While the present title winners were wearing rompers the colors of Mason High were played in the previous year by men who now have children in the lower grades. Coach Jack Symonds, now Superintendent of Schools of Coldwater, was the athletic mentor in those palmy days. He, like Coach Miller, was a great leader and he also had wonderful material for his team.

Many of the members of that famous team are still in and near Mason. The captain of 1914 was Joy O. Davis, George Dutt of Big Wells, Texas, was quarterback, Lawrence Searl, now of Lansing, played left half and Arthur Jewett, Jr. of Mason played right half. The ends were Cy Young of Dansville and Lawrence Erdman, now of Waco, Texas. Harold Lyons of Mason and Jay Sweeney, now of Howell, were two of the best tackles in the state. Nate Davis of Mason was a brilliant guard and the other guard, Harry Cavender, gave his life in a biggest battle of the World War. Jehiel Root, now of Royal Oak, was a stellar center. There were only three reserves that year, Harry Gillespie, Carl Whipple and Neil Hinkley.

Their claim to the state championship that year was well founded. They beat Albion 13 to 7, Owosso 51 to 0, and Charlotte 31 to 0. They were nearly as successful the following year when they trounced a half-dozen teams, including Saginaw Arthur Hill, and lost only to Kalamazoo by a small margin. John Kennedy, now mayor, was superintendent of schools then and he delights in recalling the events of those two great years when Mason had no athletic field and but very little football equipment. He tells of his team being attired in makeshift uniforms and in shoes so badly worn that their toes peeped through. But in those halcyon days he claims the Mason team could have won games barefooted. Truly, those were the days of iron men and wooden ships, if those gladiators of the past are to be believed, and from the record established fifteen and fourteen years ago there can be little doubt that Mason had a great team.

Music Fills The Air At The Ledge Monday

MASON SCHOOL BAND STEPS OUT IN NEW UNIFORMS.

Three excellent musical organizations were featured of the big game between Mason and Grand Ledge Monday. The Grand Ledge band and the bugle and drum corps of a Grand Ledge Boy Scout troop gave good accounts of themselves.

It was the first appearance of the Mason boys in their new uniforms and they covered themselves and their tutor, Joe Wyman, with glory. The uniforms of overseas blue caps, trimmed in maroon, their flowing blue capes lined with maroon and their trousers of white duck gave them an impressive appearance. They played well and their marching was exceptionally good.

The game ended with Grand Ledge falling to get anywhere with a deluge of passes following the kickoff. The lineups are given below.

One Defeat Suffered During Two Seasons

EAST LANSING ONLY TEAM TO WIN IN TWO YEARS.

The team last year was nearly as successful as the championship eleven of 1929. Last year with Captain Curtis on the sidelines and with Leonard badly injured East Lansing trimmed Mason 6 to 0 in a sea of mud. Eaton Rapids also tied Mason last year but both of those defeats were heartily avenged this year when East Lansing was trounced 34 to 6 and Eaton Rapids took a 34 to 0 beating.

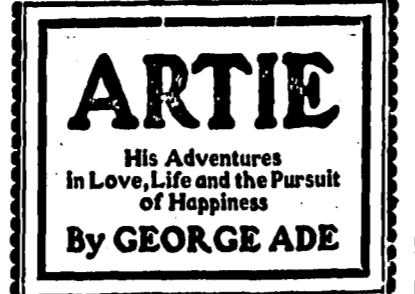

While some of the supporters have feared that Mason would become overconfident this season Coach Miller has seen to it that his proteges have not become affected by that dread disease so often fatal to football teams. He states that while his men have been sure of themselves in every game played that they were in these fighting hard all the while and did not have any noticeable superiority complex. That there are no grandstanders on the Mason eleven is proved by the great teamwork of the present season. Every man has given his best and the team worked like a well oiled machine with every part working for the whole. Artie as Best Man "I've got it to do," said Artie. "I'd like to see you and play it out to a horrible finish. They've got me worried at a trade I ain't never learned. I'm inkin' on a job that me and my partner are to make till the purple-people. And I ain't no more worried about it than I would be if I knew I had to sit in the electric chair."

this wedding it was about as strong a tip off as you could ask. You don't expect her to come right out, do you? "No, but I feel a good deal like a guy that I meet out at the boat club. He says that if he asked a girl to marry him and she said 'yes,' he'd begin to think her judgment was pretty shabby. I don't s'pose anybody on top of earth can beat my time with Mammie, but what she sees in me to fall for him me stopped."

"What does my woman see in my man?" asked Miller, gravely, some what gratified that Artie had taken up with a social theme of such magnitude. "Sometimes she sees a Hollis Boyce and a flock of Paris gosses," replied Artie, "but Mammie must have good eyesight if she can find any roll hiding behind me. You can turn an X-ray onto my back and you won't find enough dough to fit up a kitchenette."

The Shrine of St. Roch PICTURE a tiny shrine, laboriously built, stone by stone, by the hands of a priest, in fulfillment of a vow now lighted by stained-glass windows and overhung with ivy, within, seats for but two dozen worshippers at a time, its walls cluttered with testimonial offerings—crutches, braces, casts and what not, left by faithful visitors who have been relieved of their sufferings, high, have all else a statue of the good St. Roch, his dog by his side, located in one of the older sections of that historic and romantic southern city of New Orleans—and you have a vision of the Shrine to St. Roch, the Guardian Saint of Health, to which, in perpetuation of the custom in creole days, pilgrimage after pilgrimage is made by persons from many climes.

Writer's Witty Play on Names of Flowers W. B. Trites, Philadelphia novelist, said the other day, "I think very little of the novelists that are praised to the skies. There are better novelists that are never mentioned. One of them is Susan Ertz. Her humor is like Jane Austen's. Listen: And he took down a book and read from it: "Did you ever stop to think that the names of diseases and the names of flowers are very similar? For instance, I might say, 'Do come and see my garden. It is at its very best now, and the double pneumonias are really wonderful. I'm very proud of my trailing phthisis, too, and the laryngitis and deep purple quinsies that I put in last year are a joy to behold. The bed of asthmas and malarias that you used to admire is finer than ever this summer, and the dear little drops are all in bloom down by the lake, and make such a pretty showing with the blue of the anthers behind them.'" Olivet College Orchestra To Give Concert In Mason

Pedro Paz, famous Spanish conductor, and his Olivet College orchestra will appear in Mason Wednesday evening, November 20, under the auspices of the music department of the high school.

Three Spanish Cities

Air View of Part of Toledo, Showing Tagus River Bridge.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) THE regional character of Spain can be glimpsed by visits to several of her outstanding cities. Toledo, in the central part of the peninsula, is venerable with age. It is asserted, variously, that Hercules, Tubal, grandson of Noah; and Jews who fled from Nebuchadnezzar, had a hand in shaping its early destiny. The city occupies the crest of a hill rising nearly 200 feet from the Tagus. It is 47 miles southwest of Madrid. When the catapult was the modern engine of war, it was almost impregnable. The Tagus formed an admirable moat on the south, east and west sides; and the neck of land on the north stretching toward a fertile plain, was protected by the plurality of walls that surrounded the city. It is difficult to imagine that within less than two hours' train ride from the Spanish capital, there is a city with marked oriental appearance. The Puente de Alcantara, the principal gateway to Toledo on the east, is of Moorish design with massive high towers at each end. It was built in the thirteenth century. From the time one steps upon this bridge, until the river is recrossed by way of Puente de San Martin, dating back fifty years earlier than the Puente de Alcantara, the many relics and ruins of medieval days in Toledo give a flavor of Palestine and Arabia, with a touch of French Gothic here and there. High above the Alcantara, looms the Alcazar, a large rectangular stone structure that was once a castle, but is used now as a military school. It occupies the highest point of Toledo. The road approaching the city from the bridge winds around the hill past the Hospital de Santa Cruz, a fifteenth century building, and then through a Moorish archway that was nearly 400 years old when Columbus discovered America. It leads to the public square which still retains its Moorish name—the Zocodover. A few blocks away toward the middle of the city, the lofty but graceful tower of Toledo cathedral rises above the housetops. Unfortunately, there is no cathedral close. The narrow, winding streets, bordered by not attractive buildings do not permit a full view of the edifice. It is a splendid example of French-Gothic architecture with carved monuments, stained glass and tracery work common. What is Kyletron? See page 4. 1t Henderson Stock Co. this week. 1t Mrs. Ralph Marshall is quite ill at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Field of Lansing, spent the week end with E. H. Field. Fresh mince and cherry pies and cinnamon rolls, Saturday. Mrs. H. N. Hamilton. Mrs. Enoch Field and sister, Mrs. Campbell of East Rapids, spent Friday in Manchester. A special program, music and readings, will be given at the Eden M. E. church, following the chicken pie supper on Friday evening, Nov. 22. Everyone is welcome. Several Masonites attended the formal dinner at the Masonic Temple in Lansing Wednesday in honor of Sue Rudabaugh. Those from here were Mesdames E. B. Kelly, Frank Lester, L. R. cathedral. Here meets the Tribunal de las Aguas, the Court of the Waters. The Tribunal's court room is the pavement, open to the blue sky, and has been for five centuries. The judges' bench is a sofa, upholstered in green. It appears from some mysterious hiding place. Following the judges' sofa comes the bar of justice, a portable iron railing. And in due course seven judges. But how can these men judge? They have no wigs like the English judges. They have not professionally serious faces. They are dressed like peasants, in Sunday black with black felt hats. Indeed, they are ordinary peasants elected by the peasant water users of the fountains or gardens of Valencia's countryside. Dazzling light plays upon Valencia's varicolored domes and towers, of color which adorns the canvas of Valencia's Saralla. The making of Valencia is a Valencian industry which contributes to the chromatic character of other Spanish cities. Valencia's cathedral has been spoiled somewhat by "restorations" but the campanile where the Cid took his bride to view the conquered land still offers the visitor a marvelous panorama of fertile and highly cultivated plains. The bells of this tower give life to the plains around. Their hourly peals tell the time when each tiller of the soil may open the gates of irrigation channels to release the waters for his parched land.

DAYS OF THANKS FOR GOD'S MERCY ENGLISH CUSTOM

Ours by Adoption

Made a Stated Instead of Special Day Is Only Change That Has Taken Place.

Thanksgiving day, like most of what we have, is not our own, being English in its origin and receiving merely new significance from its adoption. Englishmen have always followed the custom of setting aside days to commemorate public blessings. The discovery of the Gunpowder plot was marked so, and, similarly, special events have been marked. We have made it a stated instead of a special day and that is all of the American character that it has, and it was not until New England had been settled eighty years that it became a stated day, and there it was a stated, annual day for a long, long time before it obtained national adoption in any shape. The first public thanksgiving observed by the Plymouth colony was in the autumn of 1623. A long drought was met by a day of fasting and prayer. The drought ended, abundant rains came, good crops followed and the Puritans remembered the event in a thanksgiving day. Oliver Cromwell's victories they similarly marked. From that time until the union with the Massachusetts Bay colony in 1691 seven thanksgiving days were observed. First Thanksgiving. The Massachusetts Bay colony kept its first thanksgiving day as soon as the list of Governor Winthrop's ships arrived in Boston harbor. "So now," says the chronicle, "all the whole fleet being safely come to their port they kept a public day of thanksgiving, July 8, 1630, to give thanks to Almighty God for all His goodness and wonderful works which they had seen on the voyage." Here was the old English custom of thanksgiving for a special thing. Nearly every year after that a similar public day of thanks was observed in this colony for some special thing. In 1633 it was for "thankful harvests and a great arrival of persons of special use and quality." Since 1700 the annual thanksgiving has been observed in all New England, and the clergy with commendable zeal have improved the occasion to "get in their work" on topics which the Sunday sermon would not admit of. It is said a collection of New England Thanksgivings day sermons arranged chronologically would be a complete index and annotation of the social and political questions that have engaged attention for the last two centuries. When Dutch Gave Thanks. But New England did not monopolize the custom. The Dutch in New York gave public thanks on extra.

National Hook-Up To Broadcast Christmas

SAVINGS CLUBS SPONSOR SCHUMANN HEINK CONCERT.

Next Sunday evening at 11:15 eastern standard time Madame Schumann Heink will sing over a national hook-up over the N. B. C. Chain in a Christmas club radio program sponsored by the National Bank Service Corporation. A forty piece symphony orchestra will also be heard. The program is planned to call the attention to the benefits derived from nation wide membership in Christmas savings clubs, the Farmers bank of Mason being one of the corresponding banks connected with the Bank service corporation. According to the latest figures released, more than nine million persons use the Christmas club plan of savings. $600,000,000 will be paid these depositors during the weeks preceding the holiday season. This is said to represent an increase over 1928 amounting to more than fifty million dollars. More than 8,000 banks and financial institutions operate Christmas savings clubs, it is shown. Approximately 62% of the total savings is diverted to home construction, payment of taxes, interest, mortgages and for the nucleus of permanent investments, according to reports just made public. The Farmers Bank invites its friends to tune in on next Sunday's program and enjoy Madame Ernestine's wonderful singing.

Solid Train Of Heinz Goods Sold To Kroger

CHAIN STORES TO DISPOSE IN SINGLE WEEK.

What is said to be one of the largest movements of canned goods this year has just recently been shipped from Pittsburgh and other plants of the J. H. Heinz Company to the Kroger Grocery & Baking Company. The purchase consisted of a solid trainload of about fifty cars of Heinz merchandise. The Kroger company will distribute these goods in one week's time from over 5,000 stores. While the purchase of this amount of merchandise is by no means an exceptional incident, it is a surprising quantity of any one brand to be distributed through one organization within one week's time.

Soils Study Groups Being Reorganized

COUNTY AG EXTENSION SERVICE TO CONDUCT.

A systematic course in soil study is to again be available to Ingham county farmers during the coming winter months according to County Agricultural Agent, Barnum. Similar to the plan followed last season the work will be given on the local leader plan. Many of the fourteen local groups who took the course last year reorganized for the second year's work at their last meeting. Those that did not are being called together by Mr. Barnum to effect their organization.

and choose leaders. Ingham township farmers are meeting tonight at the Dansville school and those of White Oak gather at their Town Hall tomorrow night. Where electric current is available the County Agent is giving an illustrated talk along soil lines using one of the new reflectoscopes. Much definite advance in soil management was noted throughout the county as the result of last winter's soil study and the course to be started soon should be equally valuable. There will be sufficient review so that those not enrolled last year will be able to study right along with those who did.

LOCAL STUDENT HONORED.

Miss Doris Densmore, daughter of Postmaster E. A. Densmore and Mrs. Densmore of this city and a junior at the University of Michigan, has been honored by election to represent her sorority on the cabinet of the Pan-Hell ball, the biggest event of the season among the Greek letter fraternities at Ann Arbor. Miss Densmore was also selected as treasurer of the cabinet handling the elaborate plans now being laid for the winter's most important social event.

Greater efficiency... smoother operation and not one cent added cost
One of the 15 sensational improvements offered by the 1930 "Red Line" Delco-Light is a larger and heavier armature. It brings you higher efficiency, smoother operation, longer life. And yet it doesn't cost you a single penny extra. And remember this is just one of the new improvements offered exclusively by the 1930 "Red Line" Delco-Light. Until you've seen this mechanical marvel you will have no idea how much more we're offering.
We're so enthusiastic about this new plant that we can't talk about anything else. Why not stop in and let us tell you about it?

DANSVILLE

Ed and Earl Braman, B. L. Davey, Ray Townsend and Clyde Howlett have gone to the upper peninsula to hunt deer and several others are going to the northern part of the lower peninsula.

The fair at the school house last Friday and Saturday was a complete success in every way. Large crowds attended both afternoon and evening. In the afternoon the football team from the school for the blind at Lansing played the Dansville team but were defeated 45 to 0. In the evening the program was opened by the orchestra, after which a moving picture of Michigan bird life was given by members of the conservation department. Judge Collingwood then gave a fine address on "Crime and the Youth of Today." All departments were well filled and the school exhibits of the rural schools were excellent. The poultry and antique departments were exceptionally fine. The judging was done by M. S. C. experts.

The Baptist Ladies Aid will hold its annual chicken pie supper and fair at the town hall Saturday, November 16. Nice assortments of aprons, pillow cases, fancy work and quilts are being made by the society.

Railways and The Telephone

A freight train puffs quietly on the siding—waiting—the outlines of the cars showing dimly through the darkness. A minute passes—two—three. Then over the night air floats a muffled whistle. Far down the track a light appears. The rails begin to hum, the light grows bright, and a passenger train roars past, windows gleaming. Then the freight comes to life and the long, shadowy outline moves away.

Four million persons in Michigan are served by this steam transport system—four million persons rely upon it, and upon its worthy partner, the electric railway lines. Michigan desires the prosperity of these efficient and progressive railways, for only as they prosper can they serve.

Over hill, across valley—paralleling the rails or following the highways—go the telephone wires, freighted with the spoken commands of industry, agriculture, finance and business.

Railways and wireways traverse the land as partners in progress. Upon the one you depend for the transportation of yourself, your family and your goods. To the other you give your voice to be flashed immediately, one mile or thousands, from your home or your office.

The great rail transportation systems and the universal service of the telephone are vital factors in this country's development and prosperity.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety".

Again Konjola Triumphs Over Stubborn Case

New Medicine Quickly Ended Severe Rheumatism, Also Kidney Troubles.

MR. S. M. ABOOHAMAD "I was trying constantly to find something to relieve me of severe attacks of inflammatory rheumatism," said Mr. Sam Aboohamad, 14427 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. "My limbs would swell; sometimes, in fact, the swelling would spread to my entire body, and I suffered terrible agony. During the past few months my kidneys, also, caused me trouble. Sleep—that was unknown to me. The first three bottles of Konjola greatly reduced the swelling and relieved the pain. I continued with this medicine and today I am a well man. The rheumatism is gone, and the kidney troubles have been corrected. It has increased my appetite, I am gaining in weight, and feel 100 per cent better in every way."

Council Proceedings

Mason, Mich., Nov. 7, 1929. Council met and was called to order by Mayor Kennedy. Present: Alder. Fry, Harding, Harrison, Rouse, Salisbury.

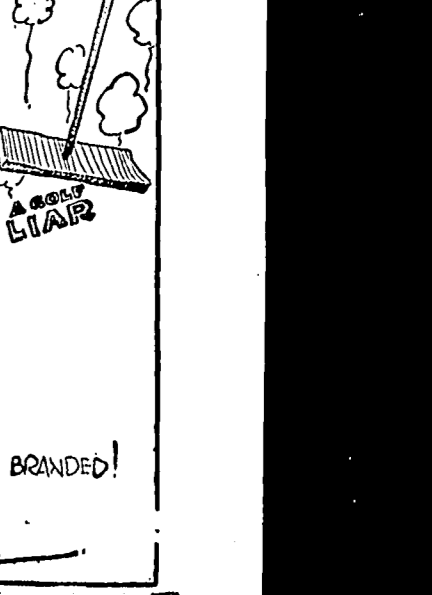

The minutes of the preceding session were read and approved. By Alderman Harding—Whereas: It appears from the election returns from the several wards of the City of Mason, that at the annual election held in said City of Mason on the 5th day of November, A. By Mrs. Ernest Sherman

Mrs. Millard Taylor was an honor guest at a shower given by members of the Klutter Club at the home of Mrs. Harry Harwood Tuesday. A pot luck dinner was served at one o'clock.

An Armistice Day program was presented by the E. O. T. C. club under the direction of Miss Sadie DeLamater Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the school building. It was also guest evening. Travel evening will be observed next Tuesday evening at the G. A. R. hall.

Mrs. Emily Gibson and children were week end guests of relatives in Grand Rapids.

Several relatives of Mrs. Vinton Covert met at her home last Sunday and enjoyed a family dinner in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Taylor and families were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orla Beiswinger at Pleasant Lake at a six o'clock dinner last Friday.

Mrs. Frankie Perry was hostess to the Outlook club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Julia Leach in absence of Mrs. Irene Williams, presented the following Armistice program: Roll call, "Lest We Forget"; "The Sinking of the Lusitania"; Mrs. Alma Smith; "The Salvation Army in the World War"; Mrs. Florence Christie; "What Education Can Do To Promote World Peace"; Mrs. Harriet Adams. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mina Allen, Nov. 19.

Mrs. George Grubman entertained a group of twelve Mason friends at a bridge luncheon Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Forest Perry and Mrs. Ellis Perry of Lansing were guests of Mrs. Frankie Perry Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. F. M. Overmyer has returned to her home in Charlotte after an extended visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dan Darrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Isham entertained the following guests over the week end: Miss Pauline Isham, Miss Shirley Hodge, Miss Elaine Force and Miss Frances Bingham.

Mrs. Nellie Ward and Leslie Woodworth were united in marriage in Ohio last week.

The Bunkerhill Fall Festival under the auspices of the Sts. Cornelius and Cyprilian churches will occur on Thursday, November 21. As usual this will be made one of the principal fall events of this locality. Music and games will feature the event and a chicken supper will be served by the ladies of the church. A party for Friday evening, November 22 will also be made interesting.

Mrs. Orla Disenroth was hostess to the Royal Daughters at their recent regular meeting when it was voted not to hold the usual chicken supper this year. Mrs. Martha Thurston paid tribute to the three members of the society, Mrs. Marcella Brown, Mrs. Elizabeth Ross and Mrs. Minnie Young who were taken by death during the year. A short program was given by Mrs. Della Eberhart and Beverly Briggs. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

The monthly church night supper held in the chapel of the Congregational church, Thursday evening, proved to be of more than usual interest, as the pastor, Rev. O. B. Thurston, and the superintendent of the Sunday school, S. O. Vince, occurred this week and were celebrated the same evening. Decorations of yellow and white and two beautiful birthday cakes gave an air of festivity which was participated in by fifty members and friends of the society. Mrs. Claude Young, president of the Royal Daughters, in behalf of the church expressed the appreciation of both the pastor's and superintendent's services to the community. Rev. Thurston and Mr. Vince responded in a pleasing manner.

As an aftermath of the meeting called recently to awake interest in the community fair to be held Nov. 15 the advantages of organizing a business men's club were pointed out, and looked upon favorably, by nearly all who were present. Another meeting was called for Monday evening, November 18 when the matter will again be discussed.

Mrs. Howard Freeman was hostess to a group of friends at a bridge luncheon Friday. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Belle Lumbard and Mrs. Grace Anis. The dining room was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. The same color scheme was also carried out in the appointments of the small tables at which the guests were seated.

Mr. and Mrs. Orla Disenroth narrowly escaped serious injuries when a car which Mr. Disenroth was driving north crashed head-on into a threshing machine five miles south of Leslie on U. S. 127, about 6 o'clock Friday evening. The threshing machine, which was also proceeding north, was being operated without lights. The driver refused to give Mr. Disenroth his name. Mr. and Mrs. Disenroth received only minor injuries but the car was wrecked.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brian and children were week end guests at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Van Ess Holland.

The Misses Naomi and Anna Jane Nichols were guests of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Nichols, over Sunday.

Mrs. Mae Aldrich and Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Thurston attended the funeral of the former's aunt, Mrs. Casper Sykes, at Pinckney Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Grossman were called to Grand Haven Friday by the death of a relative, Bert Hyatt. Burial was made in Pottersville cemetery Sunday with the following relatives from here attending: Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Add. Wood and Mrs. Mildred Wygant.

Max Ward is spending several weeks in the interest of the International Harvester Company at Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. George McDowell of Lansing were Sunday guests of James Black and family.

Rev. O. B. Thurston of the Congregational church will have for his Sunday morning sermon subject, "The Reality of Jesus."

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Scofield and children, formerly of Royal Oak, are visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clara Scofield, previous to motoring to Los Angeles where they expect to make their home.

Miss Lillian Boyle is making an extended visit with friends in Pinckney.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley of Jackson announce the marriage of their daughter, Emma, to Roland Coons of Leslie. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coons. The marriage took place in Jackson Sept. 7 and comes as a surprise to their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Coons will reside at 108 Wren Street, Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Rice and Robert Lumbard of Lansing were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Woodworth.

Rev. O. B. Thurston of the Congregational church announces that next Sunday evening, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Myrtle Hurd, policewoman of Jackson, will speak at a union meeting of the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches, at the Congregational church having as her topic "Hearing God's Call." At this time Mrs. Hurd will gladly answer any questions which have been sent in to her during the week on "Enforcement of the Law." Those wishing to submit questions, will kindly send them to Mrs. Emma Shaw, who will send them to Mrs. Hurd.

In connection with the Baptist fair which will be held in the G. A. R. hall Friday a cafeteria dinner will be served at 12 o'clock.

Rev. C. E. Pollock, superintendent of Lansing District, will speak at the first quarterly conference held at the Methodist church here Thursday evening, at 7:30. All official members with others, are especially requested to be present at this important meeting.

The number 4 Community Club began their activities for the year, by holding their first regular meeting Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steffin, assisted by James Austin. Eighty people were present, and enjoyed a fine entertainment given by Mrs. Mabel Allen, Mrs. Theina Reid, and Miss Ethel Holdway, members of the Chamberlain Club of Jackson. Mr. Austin pleased with a reading. Music was furnished by the Brownlee trio. A pot luck supper was served and old time dancing enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Metcalf, November 22.

Mrs. Iva Thompson called on Mrs. Maggie Milner last week.

The P. T. A. meeting held last Wednesday was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens visited in Jackson Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Thompson gave a birthday dinner Monday evening for their daughter, Mrs. John Eames, Jr., of Aurelius.

Mrs. Inez Clark is visiting relatives in Ohio for an indefinite time.

Wm. Laseney is on the sick list at present.

Joe and Fred Bullen, Raymond and Russell Clark are going north deer hunting.

Howard Lloyd, George and Miss Fern Clark spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Dorr Cady, and family.

Mrs. Ben Nelson is quite low at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Abbott entertained a sister and family of Albion, Sunday.

So many of us go through the day and hardly notice the sparkle of sunlight on a lake or goblet, the majestic angles cast by a skyscraper or a picket fence, the grace of a cobweb swaying in the breeze, or a dandelion turned white and fluffy, of a gray road winding over a hill.—Woman's Home Companion.

The report of the Lansing-Ingham Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of October as given by the tester, Leslie A. Wilcox, gives a total of 357 cows (81 dry) on test in the 27 herds tested. The Children's Corner Edited by DOROTHY EDMONDS

WHAT THE SEAGULL LEARNED

The tide had turned. Sparkling in the sun and playfully making white caps, the waves were coming up the sloping shore. There was little wind and the waves were very small indeed. They ran up the beach and then they ran back and every time, although you would not notice it unless you watched very carefully, they went up a tiny bit farther and did not go back quite so far.

Some children had been playing on the beach that morning and before they went home to lunch they had heaped up a big pile of sand. When the waves saw this ahead of them they felt discouraged. It did not seem as if they could ever get around or over so huge a sand heap. But they knew it was their duty to keep trying, so up the beach they ran, and back, and up again, over and over.

A sea-gull flew by, close over the tops of the waves. He was a young gull and not very wise so when he saw the tiny waves tapping at the base of the pile of sand he laughed and said, "Foolish little waves, you had better give up trying to climb that mountain."

But the waves paid no attention to this advice. Over and over they made their runs up and down the beach and if you had been watching you would have seen slowly, but surely, the big sand heap disappearing.

An hour or so later the young sea gull flew by that way again. He thought he would see if the foolish waves had given up trying to climb the mountain that was far too high for them to ever think of getting over. But when he reached that part of the beach he was so surprised that he almost forgot to flap his wings.

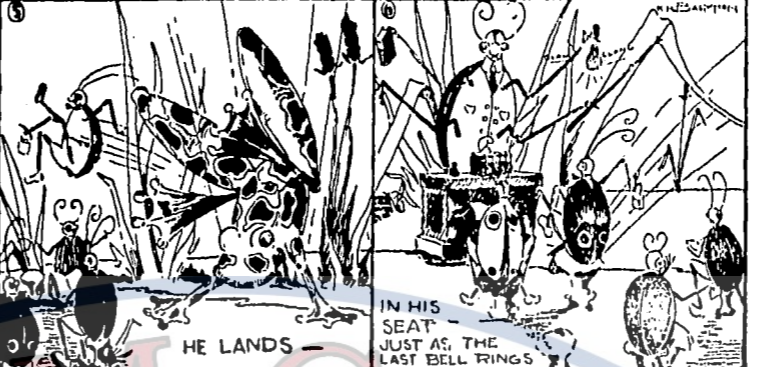

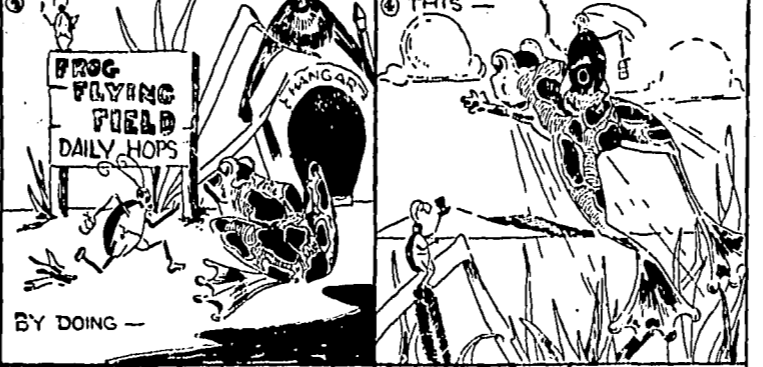

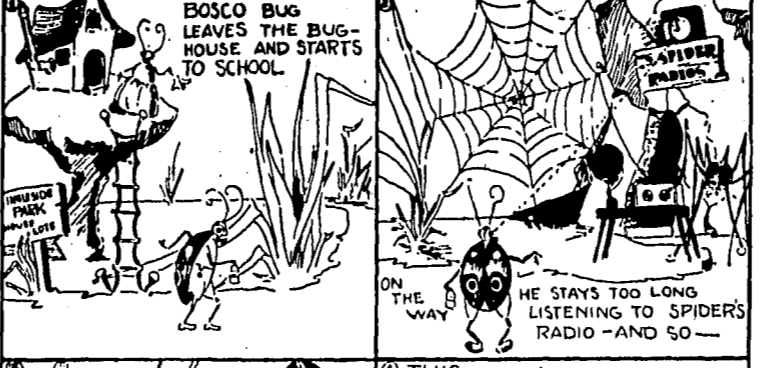

There was no mountain there! The sea-gull looked all around. Had he made a mistake in the place? No, he knew well that sheltered bit of shore just south of the big ledge of white rocks. There was no mistake, the mountain had gone! The waves had climbed right over it and covered it up!

"Well," said the young sea-gull to himself, "that just goes to show what keeping at a thing will do. Surely I'm as smart as a wave. After this I'm not going to give up trying to do a thing just because it seems hard. And before he flew off he dipped down close to the tops of the tiny waves and told them how sorry he was that he had called them foolish.

And the waves sparkled in the sun and murmured to each other as they ran gently up and down the sloping shore.

THE PAPER BAG FAMILY

When paper bags come into your house they spell fun. Draw a face on one, stand it up and watch Sonny Sackin smile at you. Cut a width up on each side, twist and there are arms. Stuff cotton in the top for a head and a draw string round it, slit the lower half in the middle and twist for legs! The right sized sack will make a splendid house with doors and windows cut out. Another bag laid on its side (the long way, face made on the end, slit made in bottom edge and twisted for four legs, and at the other end far tail, makes the family pet. See the pictures show you how!

This Changing Age

The seat hog is not of a new breed. Here is a picture of him in the eighties. The man who believes that it's a good old world, and it keeps on improving, can prove his point by looking back a few years through history's pages.

Perhaps there's an excuse for the "seat-hog" of today—Mason home-makers sometimes neglect the cozy-chair problems of their homes. Ball's is showing an unusually attractive display of occasional chairs for the whole house. We deliver up to 100 miles.
