Facts Offer Best Evidence

Back in November, 1933, John K. Stack, auditor general began sending out reports of public employment in Michigan. Each month since then he has released such a report as soon as the records were available and could be compiled.

At first these reports were designed to prove the reduced number of state employees over previous administrations. For this purpose comparison was made with 1926 under Groesbeck, 1930 under Green and 1931 under Brucker. At that time, largely because of economies imposed by the special session of the state legislature in 1932 and still in effect, the figures offered good evidence on the part of the present administration.

Soon thereafter the auditor general had a falling out with Governor William A. Comstock. Along in April of the present year when a continuance of the report brought the comparison with the months of 1932, the showing was not so good, yet out of mere perversity the auditor general continues to issue them for public use. Early this week a report covering all state payrolls and showing comparisons with 1926, 1930, 1932 and 1934 came out of Lansing over the signature of the auditor general.

The number of persons employed on all department payrolls during the month of June, 1934, is shown as 7370. This is exclusive of 5344 employed at state institutions and of course is exclusive of the thousands employed on welfare administration and public works in the several counties but paid out of state and federal funds. For the sake of comparison the auditor general discloses the following as employed in the other years:

June 1926 June 1930 June 1932 June 1934 6438 7370 3347 6334Political spellbinders will be heard declaiming the great economy of the present as compared with the waste and extravagance of past administrations. The best measure of economy in any government and the best and most accurate test for the taxpayer to apply to any administration is the number who eat at the public trough.

There is no argument so weighty as authoritative facts properly assembled. John K. Stack, the auditor general of Michigan, has assembled them and has the moral courage to present them for the information of the public.

Gasoline Tax Reciprocity Be ready to take the radio and newspaper barrage of the Detroit Automobile club in its (and the gasoline companies') plea for a two-cent gas tax. We are going to hear a lot about the gas tax between now and November and what we will hear will not all be the truth. The Detroit automobile club would have us believe that Michigan motorists are heavily penalized over those of other states. That is not so. Michigan has one of the lowest gasoline tax rates. Right there is something for all of us to consider. The tax in Ohio and Indiana is four cents per gallon. Motorists from those two states travel Michigan highways and Michigan motorists do more driving in those states than in others. Right now a Michigan driver traveling through Indiana and Ohio pays one cent more a gallon on the gasoline used than does the Ohio and Indiana man driving in Michigan. If the amendment carries Michigan motorists will pay twice as much for driving in Ohio and Indiana as drivers from those states will pay for using Michigan highways. If Michigan goes to a two-cent gasoline tax then in fairness to ourselves we should do all our out-state driving in Connecticut, the District of Columbia, Missouri and Rhode Island as those are the only states and districts where a two-cent tax prevails. We certainly can not afford to swap inghway driving privileges with Florida where a seven-cent tax prevails or with Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, North Carolina or South Carolina where the tax is six cents. Of course, one of the jokers in the drive for a twocent tax in Michigan is the fact that the driver's gasoline cost is just about the same in Florida with a tax of seven cents as it is in a state with a two-cent tax. The gasoline companies have not yet explained that fact and so we all have a right to our own opinion as to where the difference goes and what the savings to Michigan drivers would be if the tax were lowered.

ality when considered in connection with the number of democratic ballots cast makes an impressive total. One great question remains unanswered however. That question is, how do the people who did not vote at the most of this fear of primaries view the candidates nominated?

thoughts are between them and their Maker. For those who like to juggle figures, the following are submitted. In 1932 the number of republican ballots cast totaled 716,228. Last week the republicans cast about 435,000. In 1932, the democrats cast 330,836 pri-mary ballots with little competition among candidates, while in 1934 with more than half the state and county offices of Michigan held by members of their party, the democrats cast 285,310. After a licking in 1929, why are republicans cast if democrats cast 285,310. After a licking in 1929, why are republicans cast if democrats cast 285,310. After a licking in 1929, why are republicans cast if democrats cast 285,310.

After a licking in 1932 why are republicans so indifferent to the call of party leaders as they are in 1934? After an overwhelming victory in 1932, the first in the memory of the present generation of voters, why are members of the democratic party so indifferent in 1934? Iffing

"Iffing" is becoming an interesting fall sport. Newspapers are filling columns with conjectural material guessing what will happen "if" the Detroit Tigers "do" or "do not".

Since the primaries of a week ago a lot of news writers have turned their attention to "iffing" on the next election to be held in November. Particularly has the impressive number of votes cast for the successful candidate of the republican party been discussed in relation to the probable November vote which his party will receive.

The trouble with much of this "iffing" is that "if" the writers had taken the trouble to look up the facts their deductions would have been different.

It is true that Mr. Fitzgerald received an overwhelming vote as compared with that cast for Alex Groesheck and that two other candidates were given scant attention by the voters who voted. It is also true that for months an active and aggressive organization had operated in every precinct in Michigan to build up support for the successful'candidate. The votes cast were those of active Fitzgerald supporters plus the votes of those who believe Alex Groesbeck is the greatest governor Michigan ever had

It seems the man across the road had found his pump frozen up, had walked the distance back to his own kitchen to commander the family tea-kettle and then back to the barn. The hot water had been exhausted before the pump was thawed. The farmer was mad-he was mad clear through-he was a good citizen and a most accommodating neighbor-but that morning he lost his temper. Our folks got a great laugh out of his antics as he stamped about the old farmyard pump, cast the empty tea kettle into the spring remnants of a winter snow bank and cursed the luck that sent him back down

Historic Old Fort Niagara Has Been Restored

Governmental, military and ecclesiastical personages from both sides of the Atlantic are to participate in a dramatic commemoration of two centuries of heroic warfare and more than a century of perfect peace during the fourday "Three-Nation celebration," financed by the federal, state and Niagara Falls municipal governments, which is to be held at Niagara Falis and at nearby Old Fort Niagara September 3 to 6. Dedication of Old Fort Niagara, completely restored to its Seventeenth century picturesqueness after seven years' labor and at a cost of $500,000, and the unveiling upon its lake-front redoubt of a memorial to the Rush-Bagot treaty, under which the American-Canadian frontier has remained unfortified for 116 years, will supply the occasion's contrasting motifs of war and peace. An air view of the old fort is shown above.

Death Valley Revealed by Infra Red Rays

The radically new method of photography, utilizing infra red rays and designed essentially for spectrascopic and research work, reveals Death Valley in California as it has never been seen by the human eye, reproducing on the plate distant peaks invisible to the photographer. This pleture was taken from the ridge of Telescope peak looking toward Las Vegas, Nev. Death Valley appears in the foreground, 9,000 feet below and about ten miles away. The section of the valley shown is Bad Water, 235 feet below sea level, the lowest point in the United States. The mountains looming up on the far side of the valley are the Funeral range, while directly opposite is Dante's View, famous tourist mecca.

The days of the "3 R's" have returned for 1,382,630 of Michigan's school children . . .

- Railroad taxes-$7,829,198 in 1933-34-go directly toward the education of those youngsters.
- Railroad taxes are the bulwark of our primary school fund. But now those tax payments are in danger.
- Unfair, inequitable competition, particularly from unregulated trucks, has so cut into the railroads' income that their tax payments have become a problem. If this situation continues those tax payments inevitably must stop.
- To the extent that the railroads are destroyed as a source of tax revenue the payments they now make will have to fall upon the citizen.*
- Can he afford, then, to permit the job of transportation to be shifted largely from a tax-yielding agency-the railroadto a tax-consuming form of transport? Is he ready to take on this added tax burden?
- The railroad problem is deplorable, but not beyond remedy. It can be solved within our legislatures.
- Our next Michigan legislature should see that motor trucks and buses are taxed to meet fully the costs to the public which their operation entails; that they submit to regulations comparable with those governing the railroads, and, in addition, that they contribute equitably to the general expense of government.
- Michigan and the "3R's" need the railroads. And the railroads need constructive legislation. It is only fair that they be given at least an equal chance.

Along toward mid-afternoon he chanced upon a little place in the town of Medvale that seemed to suit his exact purpose. There was a white house with green blinds and a picket fence around, the front lawn, in which a half dozen shade trees reared themselves. Behind the house there was a barn, several outbuildings and a rather large

GRANGE NEWS

Saving money is just a case of good sense and taking care of the cents. In that way the dollars will take care of themselves.

The saving of cents is important. Did you ever think how the pennies mount up? Take the sales tax, for instance. That shows what pennies can do.

We know of one man who is assessing himself his own sales tax of three cents on a dollar. He intends to save, at least, as much as he pays the state and then add as much more as he can spare. He realizes the value of pennies and realizes that there is a virtue in the habit of thrift.

Yes, cents are important. It is good sense to guard the cents.

What I really started out to say is that a widow with even a little money or property has a hard time holding on to it. Between the confidence man who specializes on her kind-and a machine gun bandit is a gentleman compared with him-and her well-meaning friends and relatives on the other hand, she certainly needs superhuman powers of sales resistance.

The average woman when she becomes a widow has to learn two lessons for her own protection, both unpleasant. One is that she is now on her own and must depend upon herself in business matters almost entirely. Of course, she should seek competent counsel and unbiased information before making decisions, but the decisions are hers alone to make. The other is that trusting a stranger is likely to prove expensive, while the fact that Cousin John is good to his family or that Brother Jim is able to buy a new car every year doesn't exactly qualify either as a sound financial adviser. I don't know any particular remedy for this situation, because after all it is principally a matter of the individual. "There ought to be a law" that would protect the widows and orphans, but if there were, a lot of folks would have to go to work.

Affectionately,

Your Dutch Uncle.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE 88

By PAUL VANCE

by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

TE little fruit steamer had just arrived from the states-a big event for Port El Sol, where everything is reckoned as "two boats ago" or "three boats from now." The smelly sun-drenched wharf was a scene of mad activity. Dark-skinned shirtless stevedores sweated and swore as they carried enormous packages of merchandise from the ship to pile on empty flat cars or dump into waiting carts.

In the general office the superintendent of the division, Mike Carew, was busily scanning the pile of letters that had just reached his desk.

He was a lanky young fellow under thirty, with gray eyes which twinkled merrily when not focussed intently on some object under scrutiny.

The letter he was reading seemed to absorb all his thought. Suddenly he looked up, also rising from his chair. "Hang me for an egg-eating iguana !" In one swift stride he carried the letter to the auditor's desk, where he slapped it down in front of another young man.

"Read that, Andy-and weep," he commanded.

"What's he done now?" queried Andy Benton, as his quick eye scanned the sheets in a familiar bold hand.

"Got married," answered Mike, curtly, much as if saying, "He's dead."

Andy picked up the letter for a careful reading.

He was a big man about Mike's age, with a mop of fine red hair and seablue eyes.

 \boldsymbol{A} whimsical smile wreathed his face as he finished.

"So that's why he was in such a hurry to get away!"

"Yep," returned Mike. "He did it with malice aforethought. Let's see, when does he say he's coming back?" Andy consulted the letter.

"In about three boats-Joe, the shelk. I knew he'd fall sometime." "Well, he's pulled a fast one on us, anyway. I suppose he figures we've forgotten all the tricks he's played us before. Say !"-Mike brightened. "Let's write him a letter that'll shoot a little worry into him. It's our only chance to break even with him." "Fine! The girl won't need to know anything about it, and maybe young Joe will do a bit of wholesome sweating."

As soon as office tasks permitted, Mike fell to work on the letter. He remembered how this same gentleman Joe had quickly revealed himself as an incurable practical joker whose supreme pleasure it was to turn Baseball Tournament, Harness Racing, Stage Shows And Other Features Planned.

The Fowlerville fair will stage its 18th annual exposition October 2 to 6. October 2 will be entry day. A full line of premiums are offered for livestock, agricultural and educational exhibits. Full pre-depression premiums are offered on all exhibits, it is said.

Wednesday is children's day, featuring a chorus of more than 1000 voices in a song festival. This chorus is composed of all the children from the grade schools of the county. They have received special training for the event. The children will be the guests of the fair and will be given free rides, free seats for the big night show and will participate in the drawing for the free bicycle, which will be given away in the evening. In addition to the children's program in the afternoon, the full program of free acts will be staged, together with a double-header ball game. The world series will be given play by play each afternoon.

The baseball tournament is an eight-team event between Stockbridge and Brighton, Fenton and Durand on Sunday, September 30. South Lyons and Fowlerville, Hamburg and Wixom on Wednesday, Sunday's winners will play Thursday. Wednesday's winners will play Friday, with the finals on Saturday. Bull Green will umpire.

The harness race program will start Thursday with a 2:16 pace, a 2:22 trot and a 2:22 pace. Friday a 2:19 trot, 2:27 pace and 2:27 trot is listed and for Saturday a 2:19 pace, 2:14 trot and 2:12 pace.

An innovation in sporting events at the fair is a pointer and setter field trial matinee, which will be staged in the mornings of October 4 to 6. One class will be run each morning on a course one-half mile south of Fowlerville. Trophies and liberal purses are offered for those events. The best of dogs from Michigan and Ohio will compete.

The stage show, "Echoes of Broadway", was booked from Barnes-Carruthers, Chicago, from whom the great Ionia fair and leading state fairs have obtained their shows for the past several years. This show is a swift moving colorful and modern musical review and has been the outstanding success of the season. A complete change of program every night.

Special attention is called to the fact that entries must be in by Tuesday, that the fair starts on Wednesday, and that no charge is made at the gate at night. Day admission is 25c, grandstand 25c, family tickets $1.50.

A tight feeling caught Mike in the throat. If only the letter had reached Joe first, as intended, he would have read between the lines. But nowwhat a chance for friendly festivity !

the tricks on his two close pals, so that eternal vigilance became the price of peace for them, And yet, Mike recalled, Joe hadn't been from Port Sol three days before he himself had lamented to his fellow-in-bereavement, "Andy, Joe's as necessary to us as fleas to a dog."

And Andy had answered, "Yes, we're miscrable when he's here and wretched when he's away. He sort of makes us forget what a hole this is."

Thought and emotion in a fine blend wrought the letter which soon went forth addressed to Mr. Joseph Rogers, absent on leave in the United States, A few excerpts will suggest the character of the whole.

There'll be a red-hot reception committee waiting for you at the dock, all right. There's Dolores, the commandante's niece for one. Says you promised to marry her at the Balle de Independencia. Her lawver-father claims that a promise made under the influence of champagne is binding. They will be there with all the necessary papers. Then little Margarita Ochoa says you asked her the same thing the same night. She will be there with that killer-brother, Ochoa Hernandez. He says he doesn't need any papers. I've been training that bunch of half-breed kids you always play Santa Claus to so that they'll shout 'Papacito! Papacito!' when you start down the gang plank.

My advice would be for you to leave the wife in the states and come down yourself a boat or two ahead, just to get things kind of cleaned up. There are no company houses vacant and the G. M. says you will have to stay in the Paris hotel. A lousy place to spend your honeymoon.

Mike signed the letter with a grand veved. flourish, and they mailed it together in high glee.

Little Joe was slated to worry-and how !

. . . Another steamer-day arrived. Once more the remote port buzzed with activity. Make sat at his desk scanning the fresh mail, Suddenly he seized one envelope then ripped it open eagerly, but his look of keen anticipation changed to one of consternation which, as he read on, deepened almost to terror.

"Well, am I a bob-tailed olingo!" he moaned.

"What happened?"

Andy came over. Mike weakly held out the sheet of robin's egg blue stationery covered with feminine script. "Read it-and prepare for the here after," he counseled darkly. Andy read, and then laid the letter

Michigan Bell Veteran MACDONALD 25 YEARS WITH COMPANY.

For several years C. J. MacDonald was a resident of Mason. While here he was active in Masonic circles and gained a wide acquaintance in the community. The following paragraphs are taken from the Michigan Bell, house organ of the Michigan Bell Telephone company: "Twenty-five years of service is credited to the account of Charles J. MacDonald, combinationman at Charlotte. His original service dates from March, 1902, when he was hired as a night operator at Marshall. From 1902 until 1910, he was employed by various Bell System companies, in-cluding the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, and ours. "Then, until 1917, he was out of the service, returning in that year by way of our Detroit commercial organization. Later he transferred to Grand Ledge as commercial manager. Previous to assuming his present title more than a year ago, he was employed in various capacities in the Southern division plant.

"In 1921, Mr. MacDonald was state chairman of the plant employees' association. During that year the plant employees drafted our first safety code, and Mr. MacDonald was one of the committee which went to New York to present the first copy to the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

> The first knockless motor fuel to sell at regular gas 1927 price. Colored blue for identification.

- 1928 More miles per dollar proved by Prof. Allcut, University of Toronto, in test of gasolines sold in Canada.
- 1929 Knockless power increased—knockless (Octane) rating boosted.
- 1930 Proved by eminent engineer-to give greater mileage per dollar and per gallon than other gasolines tested, including three premium priced motor fuels.
- 1931 Better than seven extra price gasolines in "miles per gallon" - proved by prominent engineer. Knockless power (Octane Rating) again increased.
- 1932 First to combine high test action with high knockless power at regular gas price-becomes known as the ""Two Fisted" Motor Fuel.
- 1933 Sets a new high in flashing pick-up and acceleration-making it the "Pass-Word of the Road".
