MARRIAGE LICENSE LAW REQUIRES ADDED TIME

NEW MEDICAL PROVISIONS CAUSE SLUMP IN WEDDINGS

Prospective Brides and Grooms Advised to Have Tests Early to Avoid Wedding Delay.

Records of marriages at the office of C. Ross Hilliard, Ingham county clerk, indicate a severe slump in the marriage license market. In the 23 days which have elapsed since the new Michigan pre-nuptial medical certificate law went into full effect only 39 applications for licenses have been filed as compared with 64 filed a year ago during the same period.

Asked his opinion as to how the new law is working, Clerk Hilliard stated that there still exists some confusion as to the provisions of the new law which requires a medical certificate showing both applicants for marriage permits to be free of syphilis or other social maladies. Mr. Hilliard pointed out that application for the marriage license and the affidavit therefor must be accompanied by a certificate from a licensed physician showing that blood tests have been taken and that none of the banned social diseases are present in either applicant. "Applicants should bear in mind," cautioned Mr. Hilliard, "that about four days are required for the doctor to send his blood analysis report of the findings. To play safe, applicants should give another day for possible delay in the mails. Then, too, it must be remembered that under the law five days must elapse between the filing of the affidavit and the delivery to the applicants of the license. This means that the day the affidavit is filed and the day the license is delivered cannot be counted, making seven days in all. Add to these seven days the possible five days required from the date of filing the affidavit until the physician has his report from the laboratory, means that the visit to the doctor should be made at least 12 days ahead of the day set for the marriage ceremony.

"But," continued Mr. Hilliard, "the medical test must not be made too early. The new law provides that the blood tests must be made within 15 days from the date of filing the affidavit for license. Filing them more than seven days must elapse between the filing of the affidavit and the filing of the medical examination and the filing of the affidavit, the minimum time required after the visit to the doctor is 11 or 12 days, the maximum lapse of time about 22 days."

The clerk then pointed out a weakness of the new law when he explained that a license may be issued but not used for a considerable length of time after its issuance. The clerk's records show that a considerable number of those who rushed in ahead of the effective date of the new law, are not yet married, at least no returns from the officiating clergyman or magistrate have been filed. Several who applied before October 29 stated to the clerk that a considerable number of those who rushed in ahead of the effective date of the new law, are not yet married, at least no returns from the officiating clergyman or magistrate have been filed. Several who applied before October 29 stated to the clerk that a considerable number of those who rushed in ahead of the effective date of the new law, are not yet married, at least no returns from the officiating clergyman or magistrate have been filed.

Some doctors still continue to send us the laboratory report instead of their own certificate," Mr. Hilliard reported. "This is contrary to the law. It is strictly forbidden that anyone except the physician have access to these reports. The doctor should file the report and if the test is negative then he should issue his own certificate, that the parties are free from disease, delivering such a certificate to the applicants but never the laboratory report.

The department of health has designated 107 laboratories in the state qualified to examine blood samples. Included in this number are more than 50 in Detroit vicinity. Those at Lansing in addition to the state laboratory are the Larkum Clinic and St. Lawrence hospital.

Fees charged by physicians for taking blood tests and issuing their certificates range from $2.00 to $5.00 according to reports reaching marriage license clerks here at Lansing.

While it is true that there has been at least a temporary slump in the license market, yet the county clerk confesses to a good business for the year. Up until Monday of the present week the clerk had issued a total of 1343 licenses during the year. During the same period of 1936, the total number issued in Ingham was 1057, an increase this year over last of 286 or about 25 per cent, the records show.

Sauer Kraut Packing Scheduled To Begin

CANNING EQUIPMENT MAY BE STARTED UP MONDAY.

Packing of sauer kraut may be started by the Mason plant of the H. W. Madison company Monday. Tests made this week show that the 1937 pack is sufficiently cured and processed for packing.

Many bulk orders and canning orders are waiting to be filled. Canning equipment has been overhauled and is ready for service Monday although it is possible that the entire force will be set to packing bulk kraut and that canning will not be started until the following week.

Leo Darby, manager of the Mason plant, was in Cleveland the first part of the week conferring with the sales and production officials of the H. W. Madison company which purchased the former Wilson Packing plant several months ago.

BREAKS WRIST

Mrs. C. A. Parkhurst broke her left wrist in a fall in her home Monday. Mrs. Parkhurst was taken to the City hospital, where the break was treated.

Special music for the Thanksgiving services has been arranged by George Shafer. The Rev. James Bowler of the Methodist church and the Rev. Daniel Huntworth of the Baptist church are to take part in the giving of thanks.

William M. Smith, 67, of St. Johns was instantly killed Saturday afternoon at the intersection of M-78 and Abbott road when his car was struck by a car driven by Leon Heinz of Lansing. Mrs. Heinz was riding with her husband. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Heinz was seriously hurt.

Mr. Smith was driving north on Abbott road. According to Mr. and Mrs. Heinz, Mr. Smith slowed his car at the intersection with the trunk line but did not stop. The Heinz car struck the Smith car and catapulted Mr. Smith into the air and against a tree. Mr. Smith was knocked out of the car and thrown into a field by the impact. He died almost instantly. Again in 1935 he became chairman of the commission. He resigned last summer.

Mr. Smith was a bachelor. He is survived by a brother, Robert C. Smith, of Lansing, and three sisters, Mary and Estelle of St. Johns and Mrs. Edward Noble of Lansing.

Community To Sponsor Christmas Exercises

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS TO PREPARE PROGRAM.

Representatives of Mason churches met with Supl. Edwin M. Boyne at a school Monday night to make plans for the state of a community Christmas program. It was decided to have the Christmas exercises in the auditorium of the school on Monday night, December 20.

Joseph Wyman, instructor of instrumental music in the Mason school; Miss Gertrude VanPatten, instructor in vocal music at the Mason school, and Miss Hattie Lucas of the teaching staff are to have charge of the program.

The tentative program includes selections by the school orchestra, songs by a chorus of 150 intermediate pupils, songs by the Mason high school girls' glee club and a community chorus of adults under the direction of Miss VanPatten. The community chorus in which members of church choirs are to sing will present several numbers from the Messiah. Community singing of Christmas carols is also planned.

CHURCH DAMAGED

The Grovenburg church was damaged by fire Sunday morning. A fire was built in the church early in the morning. Shortly after nine o'clock the building, just recently remodeled at great expense, was discovered to be afire. Men in the neighborhood and members of the Holt fire department fought the blaze furiously before they could gain control. Damages to the structure are estimated at from $2,000 to $3,000.

PROGRESS BEING MADE ON MASON BUILDINGS

CHURCH REPAIRS AND HOSPITAL NEARING COMPLETION.

Community Building Well Along, Plasterers And Electricians Working At Postoffice.

Mason's building program, the most extensive in the history of the city, is making progress. Three of the projects begun during the spring and summer are near completion. They are the Legion Community building, the hospital being erected for Dr. J. C. Corsaut and the repairing and remodeling of the Presbyterian church.

The postoffice construction is well along although completion is not scheduled until next spring.

Volunteer labor is being utilized to complete much of the work at the Presbyterian church. A new floor is being laid, plastering and redecorating are being done, partitions have been moved and new plumbing and a new steam plant are being installed. Plans call for the completion of most of the work before Christmas.

Plasterers Working

At the Mason postoffice lathers, plasterers, electricians and steam fitters are at work. Heat is available to the workmen and not handicapped by cold. Most of the outside work has been completed.

A WPA crew has started laying the floor in the auditorium of the Legion building. Volunteer Legion crews are also working to have the building until the floor is completed.

Dr. Corsaut is expected Tuesday that three or four weeks will be needed to complete work at the hospital. The trim, milled from special patterns by Mickelson-Baker, is now being put on. Dr. Corsaut said he intends to be in his new quarters before the end of the year.

Several houses are also being erected in Mason.

Home Economics Class Opens Hot Lunch Club

SUBSTANTIAL FOOD AT LOW PRICES ARE OFFERED.

Miss Ruth Eager, teacher of home economics in the Mason school, has announced the opening of the hot lunch program on Monday, November 29. A circular letter has gone out to all parents describing the service offered and giving rules for its operation. The Mason hot lunch project is largely a class project but the food is sold to any pupil at the school at a price just sufficient to cover the cost of the commodities and the cost of gas and electricity for cooking and the cost of cleaning and dishwashing.

Miss Eager pointed out that a substantial hot lunch can be had for as little as 25c and that a child may have a bowl of hot soup to go along with his cost of eight cents; that a half-pint of rich milk may be had for four cents; and that fruits, cookies and similar dainties may be had fresh every day. Facilities of the kitchen and dining room are not sufficient to accommodate all, it is pointed out, facilities being reserved first for children living too far from the school to permit their going home to lunch.

Christmas Seal Sale Endorsed by Governor

In these long past, when ravaging plagues swept the world, mankind was compelled by its own lack of self-defense to submit weakly to the epidemic.

Today the picture is neatly changed. Armed with the weapons of modern science, man has risen to his feet to strike the killer, disease. Owing to the untiring efforts of our scientists, the scourge of tuberculosis is being kept at bay by the resources of modern medicine.

One such battle is being waged today against the insidious tuberculosis. Happily, men of medicine have shown that the battle can be won, and years the skillful efforts of our scientists, the scourge of tuberculosis is being kept at bay by the resources of modern medicine.

To the Michigan Tuberculosis Association went the honor of the credit for this invaluable accomplishment. In turn, one of its projects is the sale of Christmas seals. This is a means of raising funds for the fight against tuberculosis. It is a simple and effective way of raising funds for the fight against tuberculosis. It is a simple and effective way of raising funds for the fight against tuberculosis.

Therefore, in conformity with established custom, I, Frank Murphy, Governor of Michigan, hereby direct the sale of Christmas seals, and urge every citizen to purchase and use the same. It is the duty of every citizen to purchase and use the same. It is the duty of every citizen to purchase and use the same.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this 25th day of November, 1937.

Frank Murphy, Governor of Michigan.

ABOVE is a facsimile of a proclamation issued this week by Governor Frank Murphy, urging that Michigan people make a generous purchase of tuberculosis Christmas seals. More than 65,000,000 of the tiny messengers of health are being distributed in the state this year by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and affiliated agencies. Funds raised will be used to carry the fight against the White Plague in 1938. The sale opens on Thanksgiving Day and will continue to Christmas.

CHILD'S DEATH RESULTS IN CLAIM FOR DAMAGES

TRUCK OWNER AND DRIVER SUED FOR $25,000.

Mother Of Merry Joyce Richards Begins Court Action To Collect $25,000.

Mrs. Gladys (W. J.) Richards, administratrix for the estate of Merry Joyce Richards, has brought suit against Arthur E. Nichols and William O. Gregg of Mason to collect $25,000. The declaration was filed in the office of C. Ross Hilliard, county clerk, Wednesday morning. Pierce, Plank and Ramsey of Lansing are attorneys for Mrs. Richards.

Merry Joyce Richards, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Richards of Mason, died September 21 of a brain concussion and fractured skull an hour after she ran into or was struck by a truck driven by Mr. Gregg. Mr. Nichols owned the truck. The accident happened near the corner of Ash and Rogers street shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon. The Richards girl with a sister two years older had been playing on the south side of Ash street in front of the Clifford Palmer residence. Another little girl on the north side of the street called to Merry Joyce and Merry Joyce scampered across, apparently not noticing the approaching truck driven by Mr. Gregg.

Witnesses declared that Mr. Gregg was driving slowly. After the accident Mr. Gregg said he had seen the children playing near the curb and was watching of them and that he had swung his truck out to the center of the street to give it a wide berth. However, the little girl was struck by the truck and was thrown to the pavement. It is believed her skull was fractured by the impact with the pavement.

The sum of $25,000 is asked in the suit to partially compensate for the pain and suffering of the child, to cover funeral expenses, and for the earnings the child might have contributed to the family had she lived out her life expectancy.

Two Arrests Are Made On Game Law Charges

JUSTICE COURT FINES ASSESSED MASON MEN.

Within the past week two arrests of local men for game law violations have been made. Ralph Hinkley was arrested for illegal possession of furs. The arrest was made by Conservation Officer William T. LeMieux of Jackson county. Coon, opossum and skunk pelts were confiscated and Mr. Hinkley was arrested because he had neglected to take out a license as a fur dealer. Taken before Justice William S. Seelye, Mr. Hinkley was given his choice of paying a fine of $25 plus costs of $6.85 or serving 15 days in jail. Fine and costs were paid.

Oliver Kircher of Mason, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Orka Langston for having 35 muskrat pelts and 25 traps in his possession. The muskrat season does not open until December 1. Mr. Kircher was fined $15.00 plus costs of $6.85 or the alternative of spending 30 days in jail. He paid.

Unemployment Cards Forwarded To Bureau

NEARLY 400 IN MASON AREA FILL OUT CARDS.

Unemployment census cards to the total of 391 were collected in Mason and on Mason rural routes and have been forwarded to the census bureau in Washington. Of the 391 persons who registered as being unemployed or only partially employed there were 72 who stated they now have WPA jobs. Seven men reported they were unable to work. Twenty transients are included in the Mason figures. However, Postmaster Ernest B. Kelly explained that it is likely that 20 men whose legal residences are in Mason registered as transients elsewhere.

The unemployment census was handled with dispatch at the Mason office. The cards were delivered on schedule and were returned promptly. Harold Copp headed a special committee to aid unemployed in filling out cards. There were few calls on members of the committee, Mr. Copp said.

Operators' Licenses Near Expiration Day

AVERAGE OF 40 RENEWALS OF LICENSES PER DAY.

Sheriff's officers are in the midst of a rush to renew automobile operators' licenses. Many of the three-year licenses have expiration dates in November and December and an average of 40 renewals per day is keeping the license division busy, Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald reported.

Sheriff MacDonald said, "It would be well for drivers to inspect their licenses and learn the expiration date. In case of accident officers first ask to see the operators' licenses of those involved. Sometimes the consequences are serious when drivers are without licenses or their licenses have become invalid."

Stores To Be Closed On Thanksgiving Day

BANKS AND PUBLIC OFFICES TO BE CLOSED.

Mason's business section will be quiet Thursday as court house offices, banks and most business places will be closed. There will be no mail delivery. The lobby of the postoffice will be opened at nine o'clock for the convenience of those having rental boxes.

Classes at the Mason school were dismissed Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning. The Christmas recess for Mason pupils is scheduled from the close of school on December 17 to January 3.

TO MARKET TREES

Arthur W. Jewett intends to market a home-grown crop of Christmas trees this year. He has spruce trees eight years old which have reached the Christmas tree stage. The home-grown trees have better shape and are firmer and prettier than most trees trucked in from the north.

HOLD REVIVAL

A revival service will be held at the Aurelius Center Baptist church Sunday night, November 28, at 7:30. An illustrated sermon on "World Preparation for the Battle of Armageddon" will be given. The Rev. M. E. Hinkle is the lecturer, a radio preacher and evangelist.

A Thanksgiving Prayer

For what we have, though small it be,
We thank thee, Lord.
For the simple joys of serenity,
We thank thee, Lord.
For the gentle touch of the friendly hand
Of those who love and understand,
We thank thee, Lord.

Of all thy gifts the greatest three
Are friendship, love and fidelity.
Let others pray for the harvest's yields,
For the golden grains of the fruitful fields,
Lambly our prayer to thee we send
That when we've reached our journey's end,
Someone may say, Farewell, good friend.

A FINE PLEDGE—BUT!

We are in receipt of an appeal from the United Brewers Industrial Foundation for editorial commendation for the recent alleged stand of manufacturers of beer and ale pledging that industry to observance of a code of practice, which code, if followed, would recognize the obligation of the brewers to safeguard the morals of the public and a "recognition of the public welfare", to quote from their letter.

Below the NEWS presents to its readers the pledge which this industry has made to the public:

"The Brewing Industry of the United States, custodian of an art and science practiced since the beginnings of recorded history, supplies a mild beverage to the major part of our population. Beer is the bulwark of moderation and sobriety. The industry recognizes its direct responsibility to itself and to the nation to conduct its operations in accord with the desires and conscience of the American public. Members of the United Brewers Industrial Foundation, in convention assembled, representing nearly half the production of beer and ale in the United States, mutually and individually pledge themselves to the following Code of Practice:

"We pledge ourselves, as citizens and as business men, to conduct our business in conformity with established laws in cooperation with the authorities.

"We pledge ourselves as scientific brewers to maintain exacting high standards in the brewing and packaging of beer and ale.

"We pledge ourselves, with all thoughtful citizens, to the promotion of practical moderation and sobriety.

"We pledge our support to the duly constituted authorities for the elimination of anti-social conditions wherever they may surround the sale of beer to the consumer.

"We pledge ourselves morally to support and encourage the great body of retailers who sell beer as law-abiding citizens and who operate legal, respectable premises.

"We pledge ourselves to cooperate with the duly constituted authorities to prevent beer sales to minors, or to persons who have drunk to excess.

"We pledge ourselves to truth in the advertising of beer.

"We pledge ourselves faithfully to observe the provisions of this Code of Practice, convinced that beer is the nation's bulwark of moderation and sobriety."

The NEWS salutes the brewers for their stand in this respect. The only regret that lingers is the fear, indeed the conviction, that notwithstanding the high sounding phrases, not a line of it is meant to be true.

There can be no connection between the use of intoxicants and the "public welfare". No one is better off for drinking beer or ale or whiskey or gin or wine or any other intoxicant. The money spent for intoxicants is worse than wasted, thus constituting an economic error. The effect of its use upon the human brain, upon the moral fiber, upon the physical well-being, upon the conscience, upon the innermost character of the person who uses it, is destructive—thus being socially unsound. Any act that is socially unsound and economically wrong, cannot by any stretch of the imagination or any fanciful twist of language be in the interests of the "public welfare." In no strict sense is beer "the bulwark of sobriety."

Greed has always set the pace for the liquor business. Greed still continues to lead the way. Without the greed for excessive profits on the part of the industry and the retailer—government itself—beer and ale would become as common as cocoa cola and as cheap. Beer could be made with alcoholic content so low that little if any damage would result from its continued use—but greed dictates that the alcoholic content be higher in order that new appetites be kindled and thus sales increased. Left to their own devices without urge from printed page and the radio, and without alcohol to cankerize the appetite, new customers would drink only to quench thirst. Who ever heard of anyone going on a drinking bout with water or milk?

So with all the purring words found in the pledge, let no one be lured into smug complacency that the evils of intemperance have been overcome. Sweet words don't upset long established practices.

CIVIL SERVICE NOT THE MERIT SYSTEM

The people of Michigan during the past two years have heard much about civil service in state employment. The bill creating a state civil service commission was among the most controversial of any before the 1937 legislature. It passed by a narrow margin, many votes being cast for the measure because of pre-election pledges. A number of votes cast against the measure were so cast, not because the members opposed the merit system in state employment, but because they did not believe and could not be convinced the Michigan act was intended as a sincere effort to take state employment out of politics.

At this very moment contracts for the construction of state mental hospitals are being delayed while democratic politicians wrangle over whom shall receive the awards. First it was the matter of selection of architects. Now it is a matter of whose friends get the construction contracts. At no time have the merits of the plans or the kind of a building the taxpayers would get for their money or the plight of those unfortunate crowded into our existing structures been considered.

Now comes a story from Sanilac county. Up there the party wheel horses are agog over who shall work for the state highway maintenance department. According to the Sandusky newspaper, Murray W. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, has served notice on the Sanilac county road commission that on December 1, the state highway department will take over the maintenance of all state trunk lines within the county, heretofore done through contract with the county road commission as in Ingham county. First the state department took an option on a large garage in Sandusky to house equipment and provide headquarters for the state crew. This, it is said, was later cancelled when political pressure was brought to bear. Later an option was secured on some vacant lands, and bids for construction of a new building were advertised for. This too was later cancelled. Meanwhile a split has occurred in local democratic circles, according to the Sandusky newspaper, each faction claiming the right to name all employees.

Why all this furor? Well it so happens that Sanilac county still elects republicans to county offices. Democrats claim they want democrats to have the road jobs. They want to get them on before the civil service commission sets up its "qualifying" examinations. There, dear reader is the rub. Every person holding a state job who is not totally disabled or found wholly incompetent mentally will, under the Michigan civil service act, be automatically blanketed into office or into his job. This includes employees from shovelers on the road to nurses in the hospitals, stenographers in the offices, et cetera.

The Michigan civil service act is no more like what the advocates of the merit system contemplated, than darkest midnight is like high noon.

The NEWS gives full credit to Governor Frank Murphy for being sincere in his desire to bring about a genuine merit system. But the law which his party leaders handed him is so subject to abuse and the known attitude of other state officials is so brazen, that any who still hope for a chance under civil service examinations best drop the idea and make their peace with their democratic county committee members.

A BIG, NEW PROBLEM

A great many people, including many public officials, appear to believe that the big issue involved in Michigan's new welfare acts and the referendum which will be held thereon, has to do entirely with the matter of who is to administer the act locally. Especially is this true of counties like Ingham where the taxable resources of the local units are substantial enough to justify the belief that the townships, cities and counties might carry their own burden if required. Comparison is made of conditions existing before 1932 as contrasted with conditions existing today.

As a matter of fact, a great new problem has come upon the public during the past five years of which the great majority of people seem as yet unaware. It is not intended here to discuss the matter of where to place the blame for these conditions—that is quite beside the present question. The real question is where do we go from here?

Discussing this matter recently before the St. Johns chamber of commerce, Leo J. Nowicki, lieutenant governor of Michigan and regarded as one of the really sound men of the present state administration, called attention to the fact that in Michigan this year of 1937 there are now 150,000 families asking for and seeking direct public aid for their support and sustenance. In addition to these there are more than 50,000 applicants for old age assistance who are known to be able to qualify for that type of aid. Add to these more than 5,000 mothers with dependent children and one obtains some idea of the scope of the welfare problem in Michigan. Already a staggering total of more than one hundred million dollars annually has been built up as the sum which the taxpayers of Michigan must meet. The fact that some of these taxes are paid to the federal government and then returned to aid (?) Michigan is of no comfort to Michigan taxpayers because this procedure merely adds to the total cost. Michigan sends much more to Washington in the way of taxes than it receives back in state aids.

Now let us look at some of the attitudes of certain sections of the state. It is to these attitudes that residents of counties like Ingham would do well to turn with serious thought. For the purpose of this discussion let the language of an Oscoda county newspaper be quoted.

Speaking of the old age assistance bureau and the old age assistance act, Richard Cooper, editor of the Reed City Herald, says: "There are 309 people in Oscoda county now receiving monthly checks averaging $16. This means that about $5,000 a month is being brought into Oscoda county for relief in this manner. This money is furnished, one-half by the state and one-half by the federal government. There are 600 people in Oscoda county eligible to receive these pensions. * * Granting that the appropriations received from the state and federal governments is collected at Reed City, Chicago and Kalamazoo, it is still good business for Oscoda county to promote the increase in these old age pensions. One or two investigators (added to the present force) would soon clear up this situation, (thus getting the remainder of the eligibles on the pension rolls). * * $50,000 to $60,000 a year in Oscoda county, spent locally as fast as it is received is the stake."

Well at any rate it must be confessed the Oscoda editor is frank in his statements. His selection of the word "stake" was a happy one. In fact "stakes" are what most of these upper counties of Michigan play for in the state legislature.

Taxation without representation is what our forefathers fought against. The time may come when there may be sectional fights against representation without taxation. A history of legislation in Michigan will show that this state is paying a big price for over-representation from counties which pay in little but demand big subsidies—and get them.

The 28th senatorial district of which Oscoda is a part has a total population of 61,000. The 14th district of which Ingham is a part has 140,000. The two districts have equal voting strength in the senate. Representative districts making up the 28th senatorial district have four votes in the house while the counties making up the 14th district have but three votes—three-sevenths fewer people, one-third more legislative power.

This is a matter which is not mentioned much but in the light of a hundred million dollar annual welfare cost in Michigan, it is a question which ought to be considered. The question is much more important than the jobs of a few local politicians or the political ambitions of a candidate for governor.

We are beginning to believe that the international war situation is becoming threatening. At least England is talking about resuming token payments on its debt to the United States. One good way to keep the peace would be to force/belligerents to pay for one war before they start another.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Mrs. D. C. (Doc) Dart established a new high in book reviews last week when she reviewed "And So Victoria" before the Child Study club. It is reliably reported that the review was the most dramatic and searching any of the members had ever heard.

What is accepted by members as the driest kind of fodder for club and fraternal meetings? Convention reports and reports should ever come more than 10 minutes and five minutes is even better.

Although I was careless enough to let E. E. instead of T. E. Hamilton slip into the Sycamore Jell opus last week, P. (The) E. Hamilton was kind enough to express his appreciation. He stopped at the Sycamore headquarters Friday morning with two half-gallon containers of his famous jell and suggested that they be given away at the Legion bingo party Saturday night. The suggestion was eagerly adopted.

Two people were made happy at the Legion bingo party when they were awarded the elder jell. One of the winners refused to trade his half-gallon of jell for a roasting pig. He was afraid he couldn't get any more jell and he had lots of pigs at home. (Note to Mr. Hamilton: Joy O. Davis is in the market for jell. So is Mrs. Montie Woodard.)

Miss Gertrude Ludwick is precise in her choice of words. Therefore she was upset over my labeling Thaddeus' famous delicacy as jell. The word jarred her delicate sensibilities and she refused to accept my explanation that I preferred to use jell because Grandpa and Grandma always had plenty of jell on hand and somehow jell sounded too effeminate for Mr. Hamilton's virile elder product. "What term do your children use?" Miss Ludwick asked. (You see, my children are her nephews and niece and she assumes quite a lot of responsibility for their proper rearing.)

Answered, "Sour jell." Gertrude came down to the house for dinner that noon. For dessert the boys heaped their salt rising bread high with Hamilton's Quivering Nectar. Under the impression that I had been stretching a point to make my case sound better, Aunt Gertrude asked, "D o y s, 'What's that on your bread?' They drooled and smacked a couple of times and then in unison replied, "Sour jell." I was heartless enough to laugh and continued while Aunt Gertrude delivered her lecture on dialects and colloquialisms. She made one convert, Herriet Caroline. She intends to say "sour jelly" instead of "sour jell."

Fred Herrguth of the Munith sector was in the office last week. Thirty years ago the four Herrguth brothers were well known in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and all over the Middle West and as far south and east as the Carolinas. They were balloonists and up in the twilight, too. They were the main attraction at hundreds of county fairs and carnivals back before the automobile and aeroplane age. The oldest brother was killed in a balloon mishap and the three brothers gradually quit the profession. Fred's last flight was in Indiana 25 years ago. He made two ascensions over the court house in Mason some-where about 30 years ago. The building was only a few years old then. Fred Herrguth is hale and hearty and has an eagle look to face.

"Your paper is dirty. Last week your front page was so dirty that hogs are rooting around on it. I couldn't crawl out of that and my only comeback was that hogs have done a lot of good in this world; that they have lifted a lot of mortgages, and contributed pork chops, hams and sausage to civilization. I never believed that the little pigs deserved the fate decreed by Chief Farmer Wallace.

Several of the new teachers find life in Mason attractive. Some of those who have taught here several years are also enjoying romances this late autumn. More power to 'em, I say. There are some mighty eligible men around Mason and some of them are more than ready to become benedicts. Names on request.

Harping back to the southern tour, Harry Freshour and I were gossiping about the trip and we discovered that both of us were in Yorktown looking at the same monument the same afternoon. As Yorktown appeared to be no larger than Dansville it is also a coincidence that we didn't meet while in Yorktown.

Reports usually reliable are to the effect that Bill Bergin (Jr. of course), Bob Ingham (Jr., too), Budd Dunn and Art Hill are taking Big Apple lessons at a Lansing school of dancing so they can really step some when stepping at the Legion party to be held December 17. Bud Swinehart is taking his Big Apple lessons in Fowlerville. Floyd Harkness is getting his Big Apple instructions from the apple district around Teaspoon. Art Hill has an edge on the others. He went to school in Manila, P. I., until last year and while in the islands picked up a repertoire of native dances.

Bergin, Ingham, Dunn and Hill are out to take dancing honors away from E. E. and Art Hill. They are regarded as being the best Mason high school dancers. Don Lee intends to enter the competition next semester.

Raymond McLean, a brother and a sister are triplets. Triplets are extremely rare. And most of them have a streak of genius, so 'tis said. Raymond, besides being a rising attorney, is a fiddler of some note, several notes, in fact.

I'll bet that Jackie Coogan, former child movie star, and Betty Grable, said to be a screen star, will not remain married until 1940. Now really I don't care. To my knowledge I never saw a picture in which Coogan played and I don't believe I have ever heard of Miss Grable, although the name does sound familiar. Isn't there a Clark Grable who used to play in Westerns? I don't care how long the Coogans stay married but I do think that Hollywood couples should go easy on advance publicity of their weddings.

of the lunch an opportunity to get the food laboratories in shape for afternoon classes. The longer period also affords an opportunity for students to have organized recreation in the gym. Girls basketball as an interschool sport has been discontinued and the girls will have the use of the gym three times a week. During those noon recreation periods class teams will be developed and these teams will compete whenever there are home basketball games. The games will be played at seven o'clock before the boys games. Students are to supply part of the food to be used for the lunches. Hot lunches will begin Monday, December 6.

Real Estate Transfer
An interesting real estate transfer took place last week when the transaction was completed for the purchase of the Herbert Sawyer residence by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hedglen. The octagon house one of the oldest in the village was built by Dr. George Webster more than 16 years ago. The house is built of cement blocks, has eleven rooms, a cellar under the whole building, a solid copper roof and copper eave troughs. The roof today is still in good condition with the exception of a few holes. The residence is located in the business section just east of the four corners and was bought at the cash price of $100 by orator Mr. and Mrs. Hedglen. Hedglen expect to repair the building and as soon as possible move the telephone office into their new home.

UNLUCKY FRIDAY A century ago in England, Friday was considered such an unlucky day that the admiralty decided to refute the superstition with the building of a Friday ship. Friday was the day her keel was laid, and the day she was launched. Friday was the name of the ship, and of her captain. Friday was the day she started on her maiden voyage—and many Fridays have since passed, but the ship was never heard from again.

At a certain New England college the male students were not allowed to visit the resident lady boarders. A student who was engaged to one of the lady boarders was caught doing so and was court martialled. Said the dean, "Sir, the penalty for the first offense is 60c, for the second offense $2.50 and so on up to $15.00." In solemn tones the trespasser inquired, "How much would a season ticket cost?"

THANKSGIVING TALKIES

The Inquiring Reporter, armed with pad, pencil and camera, asks famous people of the show world

THE QUESTION How do you like best to spend Thanksgiving day?

CHARLIE MCCARTHY, the only young man in America who is dummy enough to take wooden nickels: "Ah, Thanksgiving, how I love Thanksgiving! There's so much to be thankful for, too, this year. Last year Bergen was too broke to buy me a dinner and I went to bed awful hungry, but we're in the money now—thanks to me. I've already asked Dorothy Lamour to dinner. Of course Dot can have whatever she wants—I'll start with a whitewash cocktail to kill some of those germs W. C. Fields has been sickening on me; then I'll have a bowl of shavings in milk and an oak leaf salad with sap dressing. After that, a slice of oak log well singed over the fireplace, and for dessert—ah! some fresh air and sunshine in Bergen's new car with Miss Lamour at my side! And at eventide home to show Miss Lamour my magic lantern slides of my great ancestor, John Alden McCarthy."

BOB BURNS, hill-billy comedian of screen and radio, bazooka blower de luxe and philosopher plenipotentiary: "Thanksgiving dinner is a real institution down in Arkansas, and I only wish I could be down there this year. See-in' as how I ain't likely to be able to get away from Hollywood, I'm planning to invite Aunt Pezzy Moomaw, Uncle Orchie, Uncle Chig, Aunt Pody, Cousin Labe, Uncle Slug, Bob Burns, Cousin Hod and Grandpaw and Grandmam Snelson out here to eat with me. Speakin' of Grandmam Snelson, she was the first one to teach me the real meanin' of bein' thankful. She figured we all had somethin' to be thankful for. 'Why, I ain't got but two teeth in my head,' she'd say, 'but I'm mighty thankful, especially on Thanksgivin' day, because they meet.'"

"I know Grandmam'll enjoy the pollicker I plan to have, whether or not she can get the enjoyment out of the razorback ham."

HELEN JEPSON, beautiful soprano of the Metropolitan and the Chicago City Opera: "My days are ordinarily so carefully planned and faithfully executed that I have no time at all to play cook. But I love to cook, and on Thanksgiving day I dismiss the servants and really do the cooking. It is always turkey, cranberries, sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie. And while I am cooking, George (my husband) is busy carving the pumpkin which is our centerpiece. Sally, my little daughter, loves it, and George always carves two faces on the pumpkin. One side is a smiling face which Sally sees while she is eating and then when the last bite of dinner has been eaten George turns the pumpkin around and there it is—the face that hurts because it ate too much!"

JUDGE TUTTLE HERE Judge Arthur J. Tuttle of the United States district court of Detroit, stopped off in Mason Monday to display a fine specimen of ten point buck which he was taking back as his trophy from the deer hunting season. Judge Tuttle is an ardent sportsman, a member of the famous Turtle Lake hunting club and each year finds great joy in bringing down a fine buck. It is stated by his hunting companions that the judge will shoot at nothing except a specimen to his liking and he seldom fails to bring home a good head. The one he was displaying Monday had a perfect head adorned with

Yes, our Pilgrim fathers had much for which they thought they should be thankful on the first day of Thanksgiving. And we, too, realize that we should be grateful for the advantage of the modern world, grateful for health, for freedom, for our families and friends. May you enjoy a day of joyous Thanksgiving.

Push Gobbler as National Bird

Los Angeles, Calif.—The American eagle will have to give up his job to the turkey gobbler, if the Northwestern Turkey Growers association gets its way. Senators and congressmen of 14 states were asked to make the turkey the national bird at the next session of congress. It was argued that the turkey, besides being the symbol of Thanksgiving, is native to America. Misses Edith Lawrence (left) and Pat Gergen are pictured above showing how the turkey would look in the eagle's place against the American shield.

Mythical Team Chosen In Tri-County League

HOLT AND OKEMOS HAVE LEAD IN NUMBER OF PLAYERS ON KERBAWY'S FIRST STRING.

Every Team But Fowlerville Has Players Chosen For Honors, Coaches Helped In Choosing Players For Ability And Team Value.

By Nicholas Kerbawy

Holt and Okemos lead in selections of the All Tri-County high school football eleven, each school placing three men on the first team. Four of the other seven teams of the eleven also place players on the first eleven while the second team is represented by players selected from six of the seven schools engaged in this year's race. Only Fowlerville failed to get a man on the two squads.

Each of the seven Tri-County football camps was thoroughly covered in choosing the best 22 football players in the circuit. In determining each man's position, coaches were asked to submit their choices, weekly accounts of each candidate's achievement were referred to, as well as the high school records each player established during his career. Perhaps no test is any keener than that which quarterback role for his leadership in taking the Chiefs through their undefeated Tri-County season. With another year remaining the Okemos players should develop into one of the finest signal-callers in the history of the league. Dickinson stood out in his triple-threat duties for the Stockbridge eleven, passing, kicking, running and blocking for a team that started out this year's schedule in auspicious manner but folded up during the later stages with injuries. George Covert, Leslie, with four years of experience, made a notable impression for the selections, especially in the manner of handling punts from his safety position.

The halfback crop was especially good this year. Baker, of Dansville, commanded a lot of respect from tri-what he lacked in weight. A senior with three years of football experience behind him, very few teams saw light around Van's end. His running mate at the center end position, Marvin Stephens of Stockbridge, though used at times in the backfield, through an amazing game, an excellent punter, receiver who personally accounted for many Stockbridge victories during his four years of competition, and a flogger who kept opposing interference in and out of the line.

Buchanan, of Dansville and Larkins of Okemos gives the first team two reliable tackles. Though a small in stature, Buchanan is described by Coach Searl Briggs as "the toughest tackle I have ever coached." Larkins kept the opposing backs well covered throughout the campaign. Jackson of Holt was another sparkling to Friz-outlet and is pitted with George Covert and Okemos in rounding out the second team tackles. Artz of Stockbridge also deserves mention.

Another stand-out is Robert Meyers of Holt. Meyers was responsible for much of Holt's success and from his guard position broke through to spill many opposing backs. Not only was he playing a smashing game, but he was also an outstanding player in the line but in the open field was an excellent blocker and a sure tackler. Gerald Schmidt of Leslie has been described as Dell's Big Little Man, a Besides playing a smashing game, Schmidt could drop back and play a halfback position with the best of them. Though not a flashy player, Elbesser of Holt proved a responsible player. Diehl of Dansville, with plenty of love and fight for the game pitted off at the other guard position.

A bumper crop of centers appeared this year and no position was so hotly contested as was the man at the pivot position. Boyce of Stockbridge, Fuller of Okemos, Adcock of Holt, and Covert of Leslie all were in the thick of the fight for the job of starting the game. A coach could take all four and drop them into a hat and pull one out—there could be the starting player. Boyce of Stockbridge has been described as the fifth man in any opposing team's backfield. No one player stood out for any team, strong or weak, as did this 100-pound center. Behind him, Boyce developed a keen sense in analyzing opposing plays coming up and it has been said that his work alone kept Stockbridge off opposition from running wild. An excellent passer, Boyce earns the first string berth. Fuller of Okemos did a noble job of keeping the Chiefs' line well balanced and protected. In relating Adcock of Holt to the honorable mention spot this department regrets that football teams do not have two center berths for Adcock's play with the Holt Ramblers was outstanding. Opposing coaches always instructed their players that if they could get to the line of scrimmage before Adcock broke through they at least couldn't be losing ground. However, shoulder injury which took him out of Holt's line-up during the fourth week of play, prevented Adcock from making an appearance in three of Holt's remaining major games. Adcock's past record compiled during his three years of football competition cannot be equalled. Phelps of Leslie, also a senior, has had two good years with his team.

So there you have them. Two teams, all stars each and every one of them mythical in that they will never be brought together for a game.

MAROON COURT SQUAD LACKING IN VETERANS

NEWCOMERS OAKRY HOPES FOR WINNING TEAM.

First Game Of Season Is With St. Johns December 3, Fundamentals Being Taught.

With the mainstay of last year's basketball team lost by graduation, Coach Gordon Dawson is faced with the task of building a Mason high school basketball team out of unseasoned regulars, a guard and three forwards, are not available this year.

Bob Dietrick, Bernard Fancher, Leroy Saelens and Paul DeRose are the only letter-winners from last year's ranks who remain for duty this year. However, Coach Dawson is not overly downcast over the prospects because he had a wealth of reserve material last year. Reserves who showed promise last season include Bill Bergin, Jim Young, Bob Inghram, Wallace Bailey, Junior Burt and Don Lee at the forwards, Jim Davis and Lawrence Irish at center, and Fred Sills, Gordon Walters, Dick Brown and Raymond Hetchman at the guards.

Newcomers this year include Jean Anderson, Harry Michtsch, Wesley Parker, Raymond Parker, David Swearingen, Bob Fuller, Leo Murphy, Darrell Denmore and Stanley Froedert.

Those named above have escaped one squad trimming although another scaling down of the ranks is expected before the end of the week. Fundamentals have been taught the past week and there won't be time to drill for any set plays for the opening game with St. Johns at the Clinton court seat Friday night, December 3. The team is not practicing because the gym floor is to be given a coat of varnish.

Whether the Mason team develops into a winning or a losing combination it will be a colorful outfit. Brilliant blue and white uniforms and scarlet shirts have been provided for the Maroons this season. The Mason supporters may have to change the traditional nickname of Maroons to keep in line with changes in the color scheme. The change from maroon to scarlet was made in the football uniforms last year.

Doings In Congress

By Rep. Andrew J. Transue, Sixth District, Michigan

Congress began the special sessions last week determined to include business along with labor and the farmers of the nation as the beneficiaries of remedial legislation for the general welfare of the country. Next to the general concern over domestic problems ranked the avowed determination to keep the United States out of dangerous foreign entanglements that might embroil the nation in a far away war.

Summarizing the results of the first week of the extra session the senate was confronted with a filibuster by southern senators including Mrs. Dixie Graves against the anti-lynching law. The senate adjourned for the day to give Mrs. Graves, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Associate Justice Black to the supreme court, is the first woman ever to take part in a bill, which is being hurried through the legislative process. The senate adjourned for the day to give Mrs. Graves, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Associate Justice Black to the supreme court, is the first woman ever to take part in a bill, which is being hurried through the legislative process.

The house also marked time waiting for a report from the committee on agriculture. Efforts to adjourn for three-day intervals to give the committee additional time to prepare farm legislation, were defeated and the house met in daily sessions to debate the general farm bill. Speaking for the farmers against plunging the nation into European or Asiatic disputes received general applause as an indication that the majority of congress will insist upon shunning the most remote danger of war. It is the opinion of your congressmen and senators that the end wars or save democracies in other lands are extremely expensive and thoroughly futile.

HCL Investigation
President Roosevelt's message to congress was read in the house and senate chambers by the respective clerks in contrast to the personal appearance of the president before both the senate and the house in the chamber when congress convened last January. The president took cognizance of the business recession and the necessity for complete cooperation between government and business to advance prosperity. Later in the week the president sent a letter to W. A. Ayres, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, requesting an investigation into monopolistic practices and petition in connection with the marked increases in the cost of living. Chairman Ayres said in the week following that the cost of living was expected to be started immediately by the Federal Trade Commission.

Taxation Problems
While administration leaders in the senate asked business to be patient with an assurance that substantial tax relief will be approved by congress in the regular session that begins next January, the house sub-committee of the ways and means tax committee continued work on a latest bill for the regular session. In the latest development in the sub-committee it was decided to extend the exemptions from the undivided profits tax to corporations above the $5,000 earning class. To offset the loss in revenue from the exemptions to small corporations have requested, the corporation income tax will be increased.

Visiting Officials
Lansing and Flint were represented from the sixth district of Michigan at the annual conference of mayors held in Washington last week. Flint sent Richard Bradford, vice mayor and City Attorney Hyman Green by airplane and Lansing was represented by Mayor Max A. Templeton and City Attorney Joseph Plank.

WEATHER OBSERVATIONS

Fine early winter weather has prevailed the past week. Snow set in last Thursday and continued through Friday. A young blizzard edged for the football games Saturday afternoon. Sunday was bright although cool, and cold weather continued Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ingham county missed the blanket of snow which drifted over southwestern Michigan last week end. In Allegan county there were 18 inches of snow for snow plows to practice on.

The Sycamore is being placed in readiness for a projected winter. The Adams flotilla has been beached and ice has claimed the surface of the creek.

Landscape Specialist To Advise Planters

EXTENSION LECTURER TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE.

O. I. Gregg, Michigan State college landscape specialist, will give his second lecture in connection with the landscape school Monday afternoon, November 29, at 2:30 in the court room at Mason. All are invited whether or not they are enrolled as a member of the school.

Mr. Gregg's talk is built around a series of colored slides made from pictures taken by himself. Most of the settings are from premises whose owners used planting plans made at similar schools. Well toward a hundred such plantings have been made in Ingham county, according to records in the county agent's office.

If you are in need of woollens for snow suits, mackinaws, coats or dresses, visit Horner Brothers Retail Sales Room at Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

"Much Obligated" Is Grandpa's Grace for Thanksgiving

GRANDPA VANDERHOF collects snakes and keeps them in the living room, attends commencement exercises, and refuses to pay income tax because he doesn't believe in it. Members of his family write magnificently unsuccessful plays, study aesthetic dancing, make fireworks, play the xylophone and are content to forget about work and live off Grandpa.

But the contentment enjoyed by

HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE
The navy began making ocean surveys off Cape Cod in 1837. The hydrographic office was established so the United States, through the navy, could supply charts, sailing directions, navigation manuals and other navigation data to the ships of our navy and to the merchant marine.

Grandpa and his flock have already warmed the hearts of millions of Americans, who have learned to love them. They're not real people, of course, only characters in "You Can't Take It With You," the Pulitzer prize play by Moss Hart and

Aldrich Bowker, who says the famous Grace of Grandpa Vanderhof in the Chicago cast of "You Can't Take It With You."

George S. Kaufman, which for many months has been breaking theater attendance in the large cities in which it has played.

No more appropriate and charming Thanksgiving prayer could be imagined than the Grace which Grandpa Vanderhof asks as his daffy brood sits down to dinner—which may well consist of tomatoes, corn flakes and beer, if nobody thought to order anything else from the grocer. It has already become one of the most famous speeches in the American theater:

"Well, Sir," he begins, napkin in hand, "we've been getting along pretty good for quite a while now, and we've certainly been much obliged.

"Remember, all we ask is just to go along and be happy in our own sort of way. Of course, we want to keep our health, but as far as anything else is concerned we'll leave it to You."

"Thank you."

DOCTOR RETURNS

Dr. Gertrude O'Sullivan and Miss Dorothy Dart have returned to Mason. Dr. O'Sullivan, who was studying at the Margaret Hague hospital at Jersey City, New Jersey, did not complete her course when it was necessary that she return to Mason with Miss Dart. Last summer Miss Dart resumed her studies at the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, after a long sickness. A few weeks ago she had a relapse and is now at the Dart farm recuperating.

Experience is what you have left when everything else is gone.

Michigan Bakeries Issue Invitations

ASK PUBLIC TO INSPECT GRAND RAPIDS PLANT.

Housewives in the vicinity have this week been receiving a personal invitation to visit the new modern daylight plant of Michigan Bakeries, Inc., the home of "Michigan" bread and rolls, located in Grand Rapids. Representatives of Michigan Bakeries, themselves housewives, have called on women of neighboring communities to extend the invitation, leaving as mementos of their visit large loaves of "Michigan" bread in blue and red wrapper.

Michigan Bakeries, Inc., extends a further invitation to all residents to visit its baking and testing laboratory, likewise located in Grand Rapids, to view the expensive and complete equipment and learn of the chemistry side of bread-making.

Visitors to the laboratory, which is the only one of its type in the state, will personally conducted through by Harry B. Bishop, chief chemist in charge. The purpose of the laboratory is the testing of all bread ingredients for quality, purity and food value, test-baking and checking of all samples of materials used in baking.

Mr. Bishop is available for school, club or church programs with a lecture on "The Chemistry in Baking," illustrated by slides showing the laboratory operations and equipment as well as the giant modern equipment which has just been added to the newly enlarged Michigan bakery in Grand Rapids.

Independent grocers of the community who sell "Michigan" products add their word of invitation to visit the Michigan bakery and laboratory. Thousands of chemistry, home economics and practical arts students, with their teachers, have visited and studied the Michigan bakeries' own laboratory. This gives students a better appreciation of the care taken by the company in producing bread. From the school point of view, it serves as another opportunity—that of learning by seeing—the vocational possibilities for students in this field of work.

The following news story appeared in the November 21, (Sunday) edition of the Detroit Free Press. It indicates the extent to which the present administration is actually pledged to the merit system in state employment, commonly referred to as "civil service". The NEWS will continue to disclose to its readers these flagrant examples of cheap politics in public employment, not for the purpose of sniping at the present administration, but for the purpose of informing the public of what is going on. A lot of good people are exulting over the passage of a civil service commission act. They really believe something has been accomplished.

The story out of the Detroit courts follows:
"Frank Walsh, of 2008 Poplar St., one of those tried in the recent frauds, but who escaped conviction when it developed that he was drunk throughout the vote stealing, was in court again Saturday.

"His wife Mary complained to Recorder's Judge Arthur E. Gordon that Walsh was not very industrious in general, and was drunk in particular on November 13.

"Your Honor, he's a well-educated man in one way," she said, "but dumb in another. After the recount he was appointed by Gov. Murphy as resident engineer of the Northern Michigan Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Gaylord. He lost his job when they found him asleep in a car with a quart of whisky beside him.

"He hangs around with that gang on Michigan Ave. all the time. Why, he hasn't worked two years in the last 10. He thinks that just because he's a ward heel (sic) he can steamroll himself out of this.

"Now he says he's going to work for the liquor commission. Can you imagine that!"

"It developed that Walsh already has done some work for the commission. He has been arrested several times in the last three years for disturbing the peace, being drunk and violating probation. Although he has no operator's license, he is involved in a reckless-driving case and faces trial in traffic court.

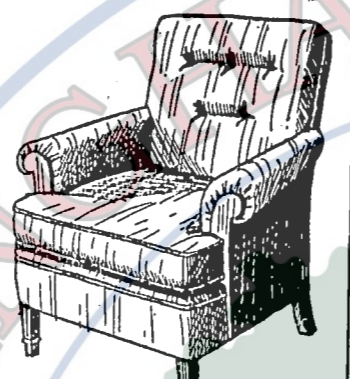

"Judge Gordon found him guilty and referred him to the probation and psychiatric departments before passing sentence."
