CIRCUIT COURT TRIALS CONTINUING AT MASON

JURORS HEAR EVIDENCE IN ACCIDENT CASES.

Three Men Charged With Armed Robbery Waive Jury Trial and Are Found Guilty.

Circuit court trials for the May term of court are continuing at Mason this week with a possibility that other trials will be heard next week.

Last Thursday L. Burr Hetzer, Elvis Cupp and Sherman Hunt, charged with robbery armed, stood trial before Judge Leland W. Carr. The trio waived jury trial. The three were found guilty and were remanded to the custody of the sheriff to await sentence.

A jury on Friday found Robert Johnson guilty of illegal sale of liquor and Judge Carr sentenced the convicted man to serve from six months to a year in prison. James S. Clary pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and was fined $50 or the alternative of spending 90 days in jail.

On Monday a jury in Judge Carr's court heard the suit of Hendry B. George and the Michigan Mutual Liability Company vs. Fred P. Lundberg, Sr., and C. D. Wellman, the outgrowth of an automobile accident. Damages of $500.00 were awarded to Mr. George and damages of $607.50 were awarded to the Michigan Mutual Liability company.

In Judge Charles H. Hayden's court Tuesday a jury disagreed in the case of E. C. Wright vs. Frank VanHorn. Mr. Wright sought recovery damages for injuries sustained in an accident which happened near Munsing last fall. The two men with Mrs. Wright and her daughter were driving north on a hunting trip. Mr. VanHorn was driving Mr. Wright's car when the car skidded on the ice and rolled into a ditch. Mr. Wright was injured. The defense was that Mr. VanHorn and Mr. Wright were partners in a joint venture and that if Mr. Wright believed that Mr. VanHorn was driving the car in a negligent manner that the owner should have taken the car. Mr. Wright testified that he was asleep on the back seat.

Before a jury in Judge Carr's court Wednesday was heard the trial of the Allied Roofing and Insulating company against James L. Dalton in a dispute over commissions. The jury awarded the sum of $1.00 to Mr. Dalton.

Joseph Golden went on trial Thursday morning in Judge Carr's court. He is charged with perjury. He was a witness in the trial of Hobart Bradley last fall. Bradley was charged with negligent homicide, as a result of an automobile accident at the corner of Pine and Main streets on October 9, 1938, in which Vern Johnson was killed. It was charged that Bradley was operating his car while under the influence of liquor. Golden testified at the trial and is now charged with giving perjured testimony.

Canadian Geese at Game Farm Have Common Social Problems

BUSY TIME AT GAME FARM DURING HATCHING.

Sociologists and others interested in behavior problems, were they to visit the state game farm, four miles east of Mason, would find that Canadian geese have social problems paralleling human problems. Perhaps the Canadian geese could be used to take the place of human guinea pigs.

A representative of the Ingham County News visited the game farm Wednesday morning. Walter VanDien, superintendent at the farm, was about to feed the wild geese along the creek and invited the newspaperman to go along. Mr. VanDien explained that about 100 pairs of Canadian geese make their home along the creek. There are 30 mated pairs and 40 singles. Some of the single geese leave the home range at daylight and do not return until dark. They have a pond four or five miles away where they spend the day. Blue geese and snow geese at the game farm mate but do not lay eggs. The reason why the geese will not or can not lay eggs in partial captivity is not known.

Each mated pair of Canadian geese has its own area in the park and the geese or humans who trespass do so at considerable risk. A terrific battle took place Wednesday morning. The male of a nesting pair and an interloper fought furiously with beak and wing for 10 minutes before the interloper was driven off. Wednesday was attacked by several of the birds when he went close to their nests to scatter feed. Like people, the geese will bite the hand that feeds them.

Twenty of the 30 mated pairs have hatched their goslings. The families vary from one gosling to six. It is not unusual, Mr. VanDien said, to see goslings to switch parents. There is one gosling which disowns its parents. A nest was destroyed early in the spring. Mr. VanDien placed three of the eggs under a bantam and one of them hatched. The geese went on to rear another brood. The parents will accept the gosling but the gosling will not accept its parent. It loves the bantam mother and the human companionship it enjoys in its pen across from headquarters. On a late afternoon last week the gosling, then only two weeks old, escaped from its pen and walked a quarter of a mile to the highway and entered the car of George Ellison, who was mulling. Mr. Ellison returned the gosling to its frantic foster mother.

The day after the goslings are hatched the proud parents lead them to the creek. The young birds remain with the family until the following spring. Pairs which guard their nesting areas against humans and other geese are unconcerned about ducks and pheasants. Within a few feet of several of the nesting places of the wild geese are nests of pheasants and wild ducks. The geese do not molest the pheasants or ducks nor do they attempt to destroy the nests.

Geese do not usually mate until the third spring. Yet there is an old male who lost out in the adult mating which has taken a young bride. The wedding of December and May is pathetic. The bride will not stay near the nest. The male frets and worries and now is setting on a nest abandoned by a mated pair with three rotten eggs under him. But the bride will not attend to home duties.

Pheasants Coming off

Although the geese and ducks are interesting, they are just a sideline at the game farm. The real business is with pheasants, ring-necked pheasants and Hungarian partridge. However, experiments are carried on with other birds. On Wednesday morning two of four killerdeer were hatched out and the two baby killerdeer are being given a chance in a brooder. Because woodchucks and black malleards are so rare to be subject to incubation experiments, eggs are set under bantams. A farmer

Continuation Certain For Mason Golf Club

MEETING TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT TO ADOPT ARTICLES AND BY-LAWS.

It is almost a certainty that the Mason Golf club will be reorganized under the name of the Mason Country club and that the new organization will take over the course. A meeting has been called at the Legion Memorial building for Friday night to adopt articles of association and by-laws and to fix the amount of dues and greens fees. At a meeting held last Friday night a committee was appointed to work out an operating program.

Under the tentative operating program which will be discussed and approved or disapproved Friday night the annual dues will be set at $10 for a single-member basis with $18 for family memberships. The course will remain open for play on greens fees with a temporary schedule of 50c for 18 holes and 35c for nine holes. No residence restrictions are intended.

The membership of the Mason Country club will be limited to 100. The membership of the defunct Mason Golf club had a limit of 150. Those in charge of reorganization point out that with a membership limited to 100 there should be a market for club stock for those who desire to sell.

The 100 memberships are to be sold at $55 each, payable in monthly installments over the period of a year. Notes given in payment of the stock will bear interest.

Definite Price Not Set

Purchase price of the 80-acre golf course will run between $6000 and $8500, the committee in charge of reorganization has announced. The price will include the balance due the O. H. Freeland estate on the original land contract plus sums represented by notes held by Mason banks. It is stated that the notes held by the banks were written off several years ago. Members of the reorganization committee are hopeful of securing generous discounts from the banks. However, under the tentative program the settlement with the Freeland estate and the banks, with the Mason Country club being out of the picture.

The reorganization committee named at the meeting last Friday night is composed of Raymond Meenan, Dennis Taylor, Harold Copp, Dr. Jay C. Corstaut and Arthur Starkey. Members of the committee held a meeting at the Nelson N. Rouse office Tuesday night to draw up the articles of association and to prepare a draft of the by-laws.

Eighty-one men and women signed their names to the original agreement to reorganize and members of the committee have declared their willingness to become members. If the 81 men and women carry out their intentions to join the club, 60 memberships will be available to gain the 100-mark. About 20 of those who have signed the agreement are residents of Lansing. Half of the 20 are employed at the Olds Motor Works.

County Fair Racing Drawing Many Colts

ENTRY FEES ALREADY PAID ON 38 COLTS.

Horse racing is taking on new life county fair circuits. For the county fair special colt races at Mason 33 colts have already been entered with part of the entry fees paid. There are 14 three-year-old trotters and 19 three-year-old pacers entered for the two events to be held in August. Men in charge of horse racing at Mason claim that the 1938 races will be the best card yet arranged.

Entry fees are added in the colt races. That will make the purses run up toward the $500 mark. The stakes are $300 in each race, entry fees for colts being added to the purse.

With the depression, play on green fees dropped and along with the drop came a slump in membership and non-payment of dues. The course, in which between $18,000 and $20,000 had been invested, became financially involved and the club folded up last year.

The late Dr. O. H. Freeland who backed the course financially was forced to take it back on a land contract. Last year the club was in the course to Henry Chisholm. At the close of the season it passed to the possession of Dr. Freeland. Several deals to sell the course were pending this spring but Mrs. Freeland, administrator to give the former club members a chance to redeem the course at a figure representing the indebtedness.

Ills Of World Traced To World War Treaty

An even hundred teachers and others interested in education attended the final district meeting of the Ingham M. E. A. in the Mason school auditorium Monday night. The Rev. Robert N. Atkins, district superintendent of the Methodist church, gave an address on the "Future of Democracy." He declared that the world's present ills are the direct result of the hatreds engendered by the World War and the treaty of Versailles and the strife between capital and labor. He stated that democracy can not function unless hatreds are removed.

Larned Goodrich of Holt presided at the meeting. The program included selections by the Holt cornet quartet, made up of William Griffin, Stanley Jennings, Robert Reece and Wilson Cooley; accompanied by Marjorie Namara, accompanied by James McCann, of Everett; a violin solo by Mrs. Russell Robbins, accompanied by Mrs. George McArthur, of Mason; and a trumpet solo by Donald Palosky, Leslie music instructor, accompanied by Mrs. LaVeyne Wyman of Mason.

VACATION IN MICHIGAN

For the twelfth year the Michigan Bell Telephone is advertising Michigan to Michigan people. Starting this week is a series of advertisements appearing in 250 Michigan newspapers, designed to sell Michigan people the beauties, pleasures, and recreation facilities of Michigan.

Of course, the cynics may point to the fact that if the Michigan Bell can lure thousands of people to the north country that a lot of them will telephone back home. That's true, and we wouldn't want it otherwise. Telephone communication is a valuable service. Yet even including the profit motive in the discussion, the Michigan Bell Telephone company is doing a real service in selling Michigan to Michigan.

The series of advertisements calls the attention of Michigan people to the blessings which Nature has bestowed on Michigan. There is no state in the union which has so much to offer during summer months. The Michigan Bell Telephone company should be commended for pointing out some of our blessings.

A DOUBLE CROSS

Jews the world over are angry at Great Britain, almost as angry, for the moment at least, as they are at Nazi Germany. For the Jews have been certain that Great Britain would keep its word about the Homeland for Jews in Palestine, even though Jews knew that in 1916 when the promise was made to the Jews that Great Britain also promised concessions to Palestine Arabs. The promises were made to Jew and Arab when Great Britain had her back to the wall. The promises were made so that the Arabs would continue their fight against Turkey and so that the continental Jews would keep their allegiance with the Allied Powers.

After the war Great Britain was called on to deliver. She naturally couldn't keep both promises. So for 20 years she kept her promise to the Jews and violated her pledge to the Arabs. Today an Englishman dares not set foot in Arabia unless he has an armed guard. International politics, however, have now swung around where Great Britain sees the Arab support as worth more than Jewish support. That's why Great Britain is changing her tune about the Palestine homeland for Jews. And that's why the Jews are turning some of their hatred toward Hitler in the new channel of hatred toward Great Britain. One moral of the situation is that support based on bribery may cost too much in the end.

WORK TO BE DONE

The world is waiting for the June crop of graduates coming from high school and college. There is much work to be done. In the last third of a century America and the world has been remade. Great things have been accomplished. The world has been brought close together with advances in communication. Wireless communication, radio broadcasting, wire transmission of pictures, airplanes, automobiles, good roads, movies, television and scores of other inventions and services have annihilated distance as our grandfathers knew it. Great strides have been made in preventative and curative medicine and in surgery. In fact, we are just learning to use some of the discoveries made in the last 30 to 40 years.

Despite the onrush, or because of the onrush, of new things, new ideas and new ways, we have many social, industrial and agricultural problems waiting to be solved. Advances in industry have displaced labor. The market for common labor is becoming non-existent. The need is for men and women who can solve some of the world's problems. The need is for intelligent, reasonable men and women to take their places alongside more experienced men and women in all fields of endeavor and all walks of life.

This commencement season there should be no more references to "WPA, here we come," or such other cynical statements. The boys and girls of today, those of them who are willing to work, have the greatest opportunity in the history of the world. There is work to be done, great problems to be solved. Instead of being fearful of the future they should be jubilant that they are ready to go to work at a time when the world is in such dire need of men and women who can do great things.

DANGEROUS HOURS

Traffic accidents which happen after midnight are more apt to be fatal than those of daylight and the early evening hours. People who drive at night are quite apt to drive almost as fast as they do in daylight, forgetting that night vision is only a fraction as keen as day vision. Many people who are in need of sleep, others who have tarried too long in the beer parlor or cocktail bar, drive as fast as though their reactions were normal. Driving after midnight is dangerous. A glance at casualty lists in central Michigan proves it.

A safe driving rule is to drive not over 50 miles an hour in daylight and then stay between 30 and 40 after dark. At those speeds accidents are nowhere near as likely to be fatal.

Many drivers who have had the habit of driving 60 miles an hour now drive 50. They have discovered that on trips of 150 or 200 miles that the elapsed time is lengthened only 15 or 20 minutes when the driving speed is reduced to 50.

Hundreds of Ingham county people have been maimed and scores have been killed this past year. Speed and lack of vision was a major factor in nearly all of the crashes. We can help reduce the traffic toll by driving at a reasonable speed in daylight and at cautious speeds after dark.

THE TIGER CRISIS

A lot of Michigan people are stirred over the slump that has engulfed the Detroit Tigers. When this appears in print the problem may have been solved with the Tigers once again climbing toward the first division.

Experts, and there is no business in which there are more self-styled experts, differ in the case of the Tigers. There is a school of thought that holds the Tigers to be stale. Another believes that the Detroit team has too many veterans who are slowing up. That there is dissension in Tiger ranks is still another angle. Some folks blame the pitchers. Others place the blame on the hitters or the management. What is often overlooked is that there are eight teams in each major league, that each team is continually trying to strengthen itself by developing new players or by trades. One team has to win and one team has to lose in every ball game which counts in the standings. That the Tigers have lost more games than they have won is no disgrace. After all, baseball, football, basketball and other competitive sports were invented as forms of recreation and entertainment. We are all too prone to treat sports too seriously.

THE BIBLE—BEST SELLER

In these days when democracy is being forced to take stock of her resources, lovers of human freedom will read with encouragement the releases from the annual report of the American Bible society, whose 123rd annual meeting has just been held and whose sole purpose for a century and a quarter has been to make the Bible available to all men of all nations, however little they may have with which to purchase it. Wherever this great book has been seriously read human freedom has flourished and democratic institutions have been born. Earl Baldwin in an address in Toronto recently expressed his belief that Britain's disposition to attempt the solution of the international problems by honest deliberation and conference roots back into generation upon generation of Bible reading by the people of England. Even in the face of the dictator's edict the Bible out-sold Mein Kampf in Germany last year by 200,000 copies. Latin America for whose trade and friendship dictators are strenuously bidding has a hunger for the Scriptures that is apparently insatiable.

China with all her appalling needs bought more complete Bibles from the Society than ever in her history. Japan likewise increased her purchases by about 10 per cent over the year before. Meanwhile the Scriptures moved into a dozen new languages in 1938, bringing the total number of tongues in which some part of the Scriptures have been translated to 1021. It is now conservatively estimated that nine-tenths of the people of the world might hear some substantial part of the Scriptures read in the native tongue. No book in the world even faintly approaches this record. As long as this continues human freedom has a great ally.—Tuscola County Advertiser.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Mason Boy Scouts should learn to march or else keep to the woods and fields. They didn't show up too well acting as escorts for the school bands in the parade on Wednesday of last week. Some of the boys loyed, others shuffled; just two or three were in step with the band they were escorting. They should devote a night or two to marching if they are going to continue escorting bands.

There were some mighty sweet-looking drum majors in the county band parade. * * * The power of the press is slipping. Louis Stid, or his wife, turned down Ingham County News suggestions on naming their son. * * * The Rev. D. L. Huntwork and his wife have four nice youngsters. * * * The kindergarten program last Thursday night was enjoyable. All the children did well.

Alva Bell of San Diego, California, likes to pay his bills in person. Two weeks ago he received notice that his subscription to the Ingham County News was sent to expire. So he climbed aboard a train and Friday stopped in at the office to settle his account. The Bells bought a new car in Detroit and after three more weeks of visiting relatives and friends in Mason, Lansing and several places in Virginia will head back West.

Farmers with top buggies still in good condition should hang onto them. Several Lake Michigan resorts are establishing old-time livery stables for the entertainment of guests who are surfeited with motoring and want to know what it is like to go for buggy rides. There is a market for top buggies.

The doubling of names for girls is beginning to tell. I noticed on the printed program for the kindergarten exercises that seven of the little girls had double names—Mary Lou, Margaret Ann, Shirley Ann, Jennie Lou, Mary Louise, Helen Jane and Mary Ann. Three Anns and two Lou's are second names out of the seven doubles. There are some sweet singers and good dancers among the kindergarten misses.

Rural boys and girls seem to do all right on eight or nine months of school. Many of them are good spellers, too. Most rural schools have closed for the year. * * * When I attended grade school (it was called grammar school then) teachers were forever frightening the pupils by talking about a new plan to have school 12 months a year.

Memorial Day swimming is quite likely to be cold this year. The north is going to have a bumper crop of mosquitoes. The Michigan tourist industry is getting over its jitters about losing trade to the New York fair. A survey shows that interest in the fair is far below the mark set by the Chicago Century of Progress.

Maybe the observation is not original, but I was struck with the remark of a Congregational minister, as reported in the Grand Lodge Independent, "The church must not, can not be made up of angels; it must be made up of men." * * * The Grand Lodge Independent received national publicity on an original idea. The names of the boys in the graduating class and the names of hundreds of other Grand Lodge young men were listed as cannon fodder when the war hysteria was running strong. Last week News-Week had an account of the Grand Lodge article. * * * "Bill" Bryce left college to take over the management of the paper two years ago when his father died. The young man is doing a bang-up job.

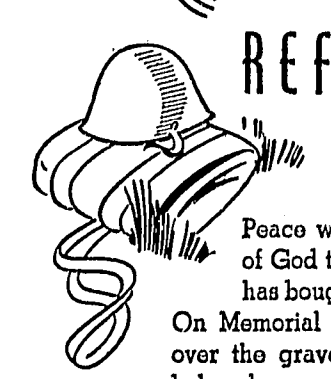

Two of the best dancers who are regulars at Mason on Wednesday nights are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Forrester of Lansing. They know all the old dances and all the new ones. Mr. Forrester is coming up with the Lansing electric light and war bonds. Mr. and Mrs. Forrester are pleasant folks—Mrs. Forrester is charming; and Mr. Forrester has a distinguished air about him. * * * A report from Leslie is that the junior-senior reception held Friday night was a real affair and that the guests were amazed at the beautiful decorations. Several Mason young people attended.

Little Marilyn Miller, 4, is a self-reliant miss. On Monday morning she decided to take a walk. She walked to the business section and then headed south on Jefferson. Her mother and friends searched frantically for the girl and finally asked the sheriff to help. Undersheriff Frank Cline found the little girl hiking along towards Jackson. She was just out for a walk and was enjoying herself. * * * Gerry Rickley, another four-year-old, quite likely to be a heart-breaker in 12 or 15 years. If it is true that gentlemen prefer blondes then Rickley will have a gentleman for a son-in-law.

If children don't like style revues they should not attend them. Several people have complained that the noise of youngsters and some children of high school age at the style revue Friday night was disturbing and in exceedingly bad taste. Maybe we are wrong, and the school should teach children how to behave.

Would Canadians trade their Diamond quintuplets for the royal house of Windsor? * * * What tastes better than a pie? * * * Speaking of beauty, about 150 girls will be dressed in their finest for the Mason Junior-senior reception Friday night. They

MEMORIAL DAY REFLECTIONS

Peace was the intended free gift of God to man. But man for ages has bought it insanely with blood. On Memorial Day we bow our heads over the graves of many of our most beloved sons, whose bodies were a part of War's red ransom exacted for the return of Peace. Today Peace abides freely in America. Should we, then, commit the ancient folly of buying Peace needlessly with the best blood of our generation?

Dies In Crash

Mrs. Josephine Irene Todd, 21, of Pleasant Lake, the former Josephine Reynolds of Leslie, graduate with the class of 1937 of Leslie high school, died almost instantly from injuries consisting of a broken neck and crushed chest sustained in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon at about five o'clock when the car driven by her husband, Edward Todd, crashed into a car driven by George Collier, 18, of Munith at Lacy's corner. According to state police troopers Jack Colton, Donald Cobb and Eugene Ridgecomb, Todd was driving east on the Pleasant Lake road and Collier was traveling north on the Meridian road. According to reports Collier failed to heed a stop sign at the intersection. Todd swerved his car to the left trying to evade Collier's car, but instead struck the Collor car broadside, hurling Mrs. Todd to the ground. The Collier car was overturned and headed in the opposite direction. Harry Collier, J. C. Archer and Phillip Lacourse were also in the Collier car. Todd received an laceration of his left elbow and Archer received an arm laceration. Both were released from the hospital following the dressing of their injuries. The others were not injured. Collier was taken into custody and placed in the Jackson county jail where he will be arraigned later on a charge of negligent homicide. Mrs. Reynolds, besides her husband leaves a 10-month-old son, Edgar Duane; her father, Edward Reynolds; five brothers and two sisters. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from Bailey's funeral home with burial in the East Rives cemetery.

George Collier, Jr., of Munith was released on $1,500 bond Monday after he demanded examination on a charge of negligent homicide before Municipal Judge Arthur W. Wiggins. In a warrant obtained by state police, Collier was charged with speeding, failure to stop at a traffic sign, failure to have his car under control and failure to make proper observation in connection with the accident.

Leslie Black Hawley won from Haslett high school in a game of baseball played there Monday with a 5 to 0 score for Leslie's seventh victory this season. Thursday the local team played Okemos here.

The Misses Janet Mitchell, Patty Troman, Betty Baggerly, Virginia Larsen, Zella Smith and Marceline Chevie, accompanied by the Rev. William Winger, Mrs. Winger, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Baggerly and son James, attended a Pilgrim Fellowship dinner at the People's church in East Lansing Sunday night.

Miss Maxine Blackmore was a week end guest of Miss Betty Huse of Jackson. The girls of Leslie high school attended play day at Michigan State college Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. True accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Randolph of Rives spent the week end at Houghton Lake.

Miss Florence Freeman, Mrs. Emily Anderson and Miss Emily Wright of Lansing were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest O'Brien of Alpena.

Mr. W. Barnes representing the Jackson Business university and the Acme Business college at Lansing, spoke before a high school assembly here Monday on music and the violin. He exhibited a violin valued at $500.00 and one with only a $25.00 valuation.

Old-timers will have no trouble recalling the popular melodrama of Mary Turner's revenge when they see "Within the Law," coming to the Fox Theatre Friday and Saturday. The story deals with a girl who has served a prison term for a robbery she did not commit, and who marries the son of the man who sent her up as a method of revenge. Ruth Hussey, Paul Kelly, William Gargan, Rita Johnson and Samuel S. Hinds head the cast.

"Yes, My Darling Daughter," starring Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn, is also on the double feature program for Friday and Saturday. As in "Four Daughters," their romance again travels a rocky road, this time without tragedy. As Jeffrey plans to leave for Belgium in a few days, the two decide to run away to be alone together for a few days. All in Priscilla's household except her father find out about the plans and reluctantly consent. Granny helps in their plans against the wishes of all. Much hilarity results. Others in the cast are Roland Young, May Robson, Fay Bainter, Genevieve Tobin and Ian Hunter.

"Broadway Serenade," starring Jennette MacDonald comes to the Fox

Threato Sunday and Monday. The new musical, which traces the struggles of a young singer and her husband in their fight for stardom, offers music lovers the full scope of Miss MacDonald's voice. The melodies include selections from grand opera in semi-classical and popular selections. Appearing opposite the singing star is Lew Ayres, whose ace performance in recent film hits won him the male lead in this picture. Frank Morgan, Ian Hunter and Al Shean are also in the cast.

On the Memorial Day program Tuesday, Family Night, "Youth Takes a Pling," with Joel McCrea and Andrea Leeds come to the Fox Theatre, presenting a warm and vibrant love story into which are woven the romance, laughter and restless desires of youth. Joel McCrea is starred as the Kansas farm boy who seeks adventure by going to sea and Andrea Leeds is the romantic salesgirl in the wedding gown department of a big store. How their conflicting ambitions, hopes and desires almost wreck their young lives has been blended into a captivating drama. Frank Jenks, Dorothy Kent, Virginia Grey and Isabel Jeans are also in the cast.

Errol Flynn, hero of some of the screen's most thrilling adventures, will be seen for the first time as a Western hero in "Dodge City," the huge Technicolor production coming Wednesday and Thursday. The turbulent days of the brawling West of the 1870's is the colorful background against which Flynn projects his virho and adventurous personality. Olivia De Havilland has the romantic lead opposite him and others in the huge cast include Ann Sheridan, Bruce Cabot, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh, Henry Travers and Victor Jory.

Annual Reception Held

The junior-senior reception of Leslie high school was held Friday night in the auditorium of the school. Decorations depicted a winter garden made beautiful with artificial snow, evergreens and a huge revolving snow ball suspended from the ceiling with small lights reflecting the side lights. Buddy Bell's orchestra of Lansing played for the grand march led by Duzel Parker, Florida Young, Clare Andrews and Fay Taylor. The welcome by Miss Young, president of the junior class, was responded to by Clare Andrews, president of the senior class. "The Tapping Majorettes" of Jackson entertained. Light refreshments were served by a committee from the tenth grade.

The senior class will have an excursion to Put-In-Bay June 6. A purse with quite a sum of money was left by a passing motorist in the Standard Oil station here Sunday and later returned to its owner.

Miss Gladys Easton and Miss Jean Young entertained about 30 young people at a surprise birthday party for the latter's brother, Robert Easton, at the Easton home Saturday night. Old-timers will have no trouble recalling the popular melodrama of Mary Turner's revenge when they see "Within the Law," coming to the Fox Theatre Friday and Saturday. The story deals with a girl who has served a prison term for a robbery she did not commit, and who marries the son of the man who sent her up as a method of revenge. Ruth Hussey, Paul Kelly, William Gargan, Rita Johnson and Samuel S. Hinds head the cast.

"Yes, My Darling Daughter," starring Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn, is also on the double feature program for Friday and Saturday. As in "Four Daughters," their romance again travels a rocky road, this time without tragedy. As Jeffrey plans to leave for Belgium in a few days, the two decide to run away to be alone together for a few days. All in Priscilla's household except her father find out about the plans and reluctantly consent. Granny helps in their plans against the wishes of all. Much hilarity results. Others in the cast are Roland Young, May Robson, Fay Bainter, Genevieve Tobin and Ian Hunter.

Traveler Reaches Lapp Goal In Time For Easter Service

By Francis R. Lino

Article No. 4
With just 15 traveling days in which to accomplish the journey, I set out from California with the rather fantastic determination of being in Karasjok, Norway—nearly 8000 miles around the globe—by Easter Sunday.

Easter is the season of the great religious festivals of the people of Lapland. The Lapps are a religious race, yet many of them are destined by circumstances to be out of touch with church services for much of the year. So the deficiency is accounted for on Easter. Mountain Lapps and River Lapps flock to Karasjok from Norway, Sweden, and Finland to receive religious ceremonies. Long-postponed rites of weddings, baptisms, christenings take place.

So "Karasjok by Easter" became my slogan. Yet the accomplishment of this meant arduous travel—an average of over 500 miles a day—through the final stages of the journey through a land about which no one was able to give me information. In blissful ignorance, I started out.

The initial stages were easy—three and one-half days to New York, five days crossing the Atlantic. All went well and thoughts of failure were far from my mind. I forged on northward through Denmark, Sweden, and Norway, by a succession of steamers and trains, and on Good Friday found myself in Hammerfest, farthest-north city of the world. Karasjok lay just 160 miles inland; there was more than a full day left to make it. All seemed fine, indeed.

But at Hammerfest the blow fell suddenly. My first inquiry brought quick response. The whole interior of the Arctic region, my informant said, was frozen and snowed-in. Only one sled could take the trip he made. That would take days. "Get to Karasjok by Easter?" someone exclaimed. "It's impossible; utterly hopeless."

That was one of the most discouraging situations in which I had ever found myself. There I was, at the top of the world, with nearly 8000 miles of grueling travel behind me, and a hard but impossible 160 miles barring me from my goal. I did what I have done on other discouraging occasions—went to sleep. There is no stimulant, no restorative, greater than sleep and my awakening in two hours brought a high resolve. Somehow, somehow, I had to get to Karasjok by Easter. Otherwise the whole trip would be a failure. That could not be.

It took half a day—until Friday night—to locate one who could really speak good English and who at the same time knew the back country. We explored every possibility and conceived a plan which offered a bare chance of success. Next morning I started out anew.

A tiny steamer was to leave about 10 a. m. for Reparfjord, 25 miles closer to my goal. It was a cold day but I perspired freely while waiting until 11 o'clock for the boat to start. Off at last, the vessel nosed through narrow channels fringed with snowy peaks. Three times we stopped at fishing villages; each place was just a house and shed, with large racks for the fish. In three hours the steamer panted wearily up to the wharf at Reparfjord. The place was marked boldly on the map. It proved to be a great Arctic metropolis of two houses and some storage sheds. But the dot on the map boasted an automobile and the owner agreed to drive me as far as conditions would let him. That was the all-important thing for me.

Altogether, we progressed 20 miles, through the whitest land I have ever seen. At times there was only snow—vast, rolling stretches of it, unbroken by twig or tree. At times the white drifts loomed several feet above the car on either side. At last we could go no farther, and I found a Lapp boy with a wretched pony and sleigh, who carried me on to the so-called village of Kistrand, and several miles past it. Then we came to the house of a Norwegian with an automobile and for nine dollars he agreed to attempt the drive down to the fjellstue of Skoganvarre.

The good man earned his money. For a way the road was open, but I would never have taken a car of my own over the raw, jagged chunks and blocks of snow, across the slippy ice, and through the churned-up drifts which we encountered. At length the road disappeared completely and we took off over the surface of a river and skimmed along for miles. Farther back, where the river had narrowed, I had seen cold, black, churning water through broken gashes in the ice. I hoped that my driver wasn't so intent on earning his nine dollars that he would risk his life—and mine too. But we were speeding along toward my goal at 40 kilometers per hour (according to the speedometer) and that was the all-important thing.

The weather was bitterly cold. With luck, we would arrive about dark at Skoganvarre—as far as any car could possibly go. From there I would be able to hire a Lapp to take me through the mountains on a night journey by sleigh to Karasjok.

While I was in the car my constant fear was that we would encounter conditions entirely impassable and my journey would be brought to an end. If only I could reach the sleigh. But then I began to wonder. In the closed car, in the day time, I was freezing cold. What would the weather be like in an open sleigh in the dead of night. But my worrying was all unwarranted.

We reached Skoganvarre fjellstue just at dusk. A fjellstue is a rest house for travelers, erected by the state in these northern areas where hotels do not exist and towns are scarce. There were many Lapps all about and one of these big black-haired burly fellows was ready and willing to take me on my journey through the night.

My face showed my concern over the cold, but the Lapp just smiled. These Lapps haven't lived in the Arctic hundreds of years for nothing. Disappearing somewhere, he returned in a moment with a large sack and began hauling out its contents. First deer-fur leggings which he pulled high up over my legs and thighs. Then huge soft fur boots, which the Lapp proceeded to stuff with fine marsh hay until each of my feet resembled a gun boat. Then a voluminous fur park—or coat—in which he enveloped me by slipping the thing over my head. It dragged the floor and I looked like a cinnamon bear just escaped from the zoo. Lastly, woolen mittens and a four-cornered star-shaped hat with pulled down over the ears. I could see now that it wasn't going to be a question of freezing to death; the question was, would I suffocate?

Actually, that night ride in the open sleigh with my Lapp companion was one of the memorable experiences of my life. It was cold, very cold, and icicles formed in my nose. I could understand the warning which had been given me not to wash my face before starting. The face is the only exposed part; it could easily freeze. The rest of me was warm as toast.

Twilight lingered for a long time and I peeped out above my furs in wonder at the ever-changing scene. Our way led for a long time through unbroken pine forest in a semi-mountainous area. Then we swung down and out onto the surface of a river and jogged along mile after mile. I lay in the bottom of the sleigh and snuggled into my furs. They smelled strongly of reindeer. They perhaps the odor acted as a sedative. Or perhaps the tinkling bell on the horse's harness lulled me. At all events, I went to sleep, to be awakened with a start when we pulled up, in the dead of night, at a tiny house.

It was a fjellstue; there would be ample time, my Lapp motioned, for some coffee and a few hours of sleep. We went inside, got a roaring fire started, and soon had coffee and fried deer meat ready to eat. Then we each spread deer furs in a corner and lay down for a nap. But two other travelers—Lapps going in the other direction—arrived, and we all jabbered while they prepared the meal. Then at last the four of us, all in the one tiny room, nestled into our furs, snored lustily, and slept.

I awoke at 3:00 a. m. and called to my Lapp friend that we must be on our way. Quickly we hitched up and were off. It had started to snow,

Mason Takes Charlotte Loses To Eaton Rapids

SYCAMORES OUTHIT CARDINALS BUT LOSE OUT.

Defeating Charlotte 11 to 0 at Charlotte Friday and dropping a game to the Cardinals at Eaton Rapids Tuesday afternoon, 7 to 4, the Mason high school baseball team is holding first place in the Capital Circuit by the narrowest of margins. The loss to the Cardinals now makes it necessary for the Sycamores to win all remaining games, including the tilt with Howell here Friday afternoon. Howell gave Mason the only defeat prior to the setback suffered at Eaton Rapids Tuesday.

The Sycamores outhit Eaton Rapids and made one less error but lost because of the strength of Pitcher Lee in the clutches and by crazy base running. Saving Jean Anderson and Paul DeRose for the crucial game with Howell Friday, Coach Gordon Dawson called on T. J. Lang to hurl his first game of the season. With good support he would have pulled through. But he didn't get good support and when he was hit he was hit hard. He yielded only three hits, one triple and the other two doubles and in every case a few errors were sprinkled in. Anderson relieved Lang in the fifth. He issued two bases on balls and gave up a double and a single in the two innings he worked.

Three times Mason baserunners were caught attempting to steal. Eaton Rapids made errors where they didn't count and came up with one sparkling double play to erase a pair of misplays. Except for the fifth and sixth innings, Lee, the Cardinal pitcher, had things under control. He walked only one man.

Lang and DeRose were the only Mason hitters who could solve Lee with any consistency. DeRose collected a triple and single while Lang smacked a pair of luscious singles.

Mason was shut out the first four innings. Raymond Heinzelman singled in the first and Lang singled in the second but there was no scoring punch to rescue them. Eaton Rapids picked up an easy run in the first frame when Bostick scored after doubling with two out. He crossed the plate when Heinzelman let Bever's drive get away from him. The Cardinals were handed two runs in the second when Powers reached second on Heinzelman's two-base error, Crandall's double down the third-base line and Dick Brown's bobble of Lee's infield tap. Two more runs were scored in the third when Bever tripled and trotted home as Mike Simons dropped Powers' high fly. Powers drew up at third on the error and scored on an infield out.

Mason broke the ice in the fifth when Lang reached first on Shaw's error and scored on DeRose's triple.

DeRose walked home when Rowley lost Fred Sibley's fly in the sun and it fell safe for two bases. Singles by Don Lee, Lang and DeRose and an error by Powers gave Mason another pair of runs in the sixth.

That was Mason's high spot, however, as the Cardinals increased their lead from 5 to 4 to the winning margin of 7 to 4 in the sixth. Crandall led off with a double. Anderson struck out Rowley and Shaw but lost Lee on four balls. Lee stole second and J. Rackofsky scored both runners with a single. Mason went out one, two, three in the seventh inning.

Pound Out Victory

Mason scored three runs in each of three innings and one run in each of two to build up an 11 to 6 victory over Charlotte at the Eaton county seat Friday. The outcome of the game sent Charlotte into fourth place in the Capital Circuit.

The Sycamores won by laying down a constant barrage of hits and taking full advantage of Charlotte errors. The Mason bats had to keep swinging to stay ahead. L. Shumaker was driven from the box in the first inning, with Loucks doing the relief act. Paul DeRose went the full route for Mason and after the first inning kept the Orioles hits well scattered. His control was excellent, only one man walking. Shumaker walked one and Loucks gave three passes.

Four men garnered all the Charlotte hits. With two strikes on him in the seventh, Ladd leaned into the third pitch and hit for the circuit. He had banged out a single in the first. Fisher had a triple and a single and Mate and D. Shumaker each collected a pair of singles. Bill Bergin, batting in last position, had a field day. He singled on each of his first three trips to the plate. Lang furthered his reputation by connecting for a triple and a single. Don Lee had a double and a single, Fred Sibley a pair of hard singles, Raymond Heinzelman a double and Dick Brown a single. Stelman of Charlotte robbed Brown of an extra base knock when he leaped high in the third inning to pull down a drive that was still going up.

There were many errors, eight being charged to Charlotte and seven to Mason. A lot of the balls were well tagged and had no handles.

Mason opened with three runs. Hamlin reached first on an error, stole second, advanced to third and reached home when Fisher dropped the ball. Heinzelman arrived at first on a fielder's choice and trotted home when Lang's hard smash bounced over D. Shumaker's head in deep left

SYCAMORE THINGLADS PLACE IN REGIONALS

MASON ENDS NO. 4 IN FLINT MEET SATURDAY.

Capital Circuit Meet At Michigan State Field Next Thursday, Charlotte Favored.

Mason high school athletes finished the Class C regional track meet at Flint in fourth place with 22½ points. Imlay City won the Class C regional title with 37 points. Mason was without the services of Jim Young, hurdler, dash man and jumper. Young had to work. Had he been available for the regional meet, Coach Gilson Pearsall is of the opinion that Mason would have given Imlay City a close race for first.

Wallace Bailey was the mainstay of the Mason aggregation. He won both the high and low hurdles and took second in the broadjump for a total of 14 points. Only those who finish first or second in the regionals may enter the state meet to be held at Michigan State Saturday. Bailey was the state meet who qualified for the state meet although several others made excellent showings and added to the Mason point total. Morris Bailey won fifth in the high hurdles, Richard Patterson took fourth in the low hurdles. Don Doane finished third in the 880 run, James Davis placed fourth in the high hurdles and Milburn Curtis ran fourth in the 220.

Capital Meet June 1

Mason's last competition of the season will be in the Capital Circuit meet to be held at Michigan State college Thursday afternoon, June 1, Charlotte, which won in Class B at Flint, is favored to walk off with the conference title.

Wallace Bailey and Young along with Davis, Doane, Murphy and several others will be wearing Mason colors for the last time next Thursday. Coach Pearsall is not downhearted, though, over the outlook for next year. The coach revived track at Mason last year after 20 years in which track was ignored. In that two years Mason has come along fast and the coach believes that he has some youngsters who will really go places in another season.

LESLIE CINCHES TITLE BY DEFEATING HASLETT

HOLT AND WILLIAMSTON ARE FIGHTING FOR SECOND.

With One Game Remaining, Leslie Is Two Games In Front And Has Title In Grasp.

Riding two games ahead of their nearest rivals, Williamson and Holt, doubleknocked in second place, Leslie's Blackhaws have cinched the Ingham baseball title. The game with Okemos Friday will make no difference. The only other game scheduled, pits Fowlerville against Stockbridge on the Panther home lot.

Shadows of the 1938 baseball season will accompany Coach Elwin DeH's Hawks when they meet the Chiefs. For, it was Okemos that handed Leslie its lone defeat of the 1938 campaign, that coming by the score of 4 to 3. The Chiefs did the unexpected in winning the game, and should history repeat itself, then the visitors are in line to spoil the perfect record established by the league leaders this season.

It was Charles Cooper's tantalizing curves that handcuffed the Leslie power-hitters in gaining last year's victory. And, it will again be Cooper who will get the hurling assignment against a team he likes none better than to beat. Cooper, a slow worker who remains as cool as the proverbial cucumber, topped his season's pitching performance last week when he gained an impressive 7 to 3 victory over Haslett, an Okemos arch rival. Though he was nipped for seven singles, all were scattered and no opponents reached first base via the free ticket. Cooper likewise entered the spirit on the offensive, getting a double and single out of three trips to the plate for a portion of Okemos' hits. The Chiefs scored single tallies in the second and fifth, two in the third, and three in the sixth. Haslett scored in but two innings, a lone marker in the third and a brace in the fourth.

George "Mike" Lake, of no-hit fame, will again oppose the Chiefs. It was Lake who tangled with Okemos last year, losing the decision by one run. Against Fowlerville, last to four hits and struck out 11 batters to gain a 10 to 3 victory. Fowlerville drew first blood, scoring one run in the third inning before Leslie went into high gear to count four runs in the fourth, a single marker in the fifth, and five big runs in the sixth. Besides his pitching performance, Lake teamed up with Vicary, Lovette, and Dersham to supply Leslie's power at the plate.

Three large runs scored in the fifth inning, augmented by an additional run in the sixth frame enabled Stockbridge to win its second Ingham league victory, nipping Webberville by a score of 4 to 3, Friday. For six and one-third innings, Doc Culver, pitching for the locals, held the visitors at bay, striking out 15 batters. Four hits and a brace of errors enabled Webberville to tally single frames. Stockbridge, in the sixth frame, was held scoreless by Alchin, Webberville's pitcher, until the fifth frame, when a brace of singles, a fielder's choice, and a base on balls yielded three runs. A double by Jack Ostrander, Panther shortstop, paved the way for the winning marker in the sixth inning. Besides pitching his runs in the fourth, Culver led the locals with a brace of singles at the plate. With one away in the seventh frame, he was relieved on the mound by Royal Hackenberg, who retired the final two outs.

Leslie took Haslett 5 to 0 Monday. Lake held Haslett to two hits and struck out nine. The Leslie twirler was struck by a batted ball in the sixth but remained in the game.
