COMMITTEE OVERRULED ON LEGISLATIVE SPLIT

LANSING TOWNSHIP IN DISTRICT WITH CITY

Although Chairman Arthur H. Stoppel of the special committee, appointed to serve with the legislative committee in redistricting the county said it could not be done and Prosecutor Victor C. Anderson said it is not legally possible, the board of supervisors has placed Lansing township with Lansing in the first district. The first district will have two representatives in the legislature. The second district, made up of the balance of the county, will be the second district and will have one representative.

Rulings of Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton were debated at the board session and opinions of Supreme Court Justice Walter H. North were brought forth on both sides.

The committee recommended that the city of Lansing be placed in a district by itself, as it is at present, with the rest of the county in the second district, with Lansing having two representatives and the rest of the county having one representative. In fact, Supervisor Stoppel insisted that any other division be illegal. He declared, "The hands of the committee are tied. There is nothing we can do except abide by the decision of the prosecutor."

By a vote of 10 to 11 the board voted down the recommendation and placed Lansing township with the city of Lansing.

The next move is being awaited by politicians. Instead of adjourning, the board recessed on call of the chairman Tuesday night so that if the districting is held to be illegal, a change could be made without the formality of calling a special meeting.

Supervisors Rule

Leaders in the move to place Lansing township with the city of Lansing declared their sole object was to redistrict the county on a population basis as the constitution provides. They said the responsibility for redistricting rested with the board of supervisors and the supervisors have full power.

Supervisor John B. Fay of Delhi declared that the recommended districting ignored the population figures. He said that the suburban area is growing rapidly, while Lansing is not likely to grow and that to redistrict according to the committee's plan would be inequitable.

"The opinion of the prosecutor is just one man's opinion," Supervisor Fay stated, and the courts have held the plan illegal. He said strictly on population is according to the law.

Supervisor Grover C. Barnhart of East Lansing said the committee intended to include Lansing township with Lansing, and changed its plan to redistrict strictly on population is according to the law.

Only $150 Still Lacking in Drive For Community Veterans Memorial

Contributions are still trickling in on the community memorial to be erected on the court house lawn. About $2,500 is needed and the total in the fund Wednesday was only $150 short of the goal.

The memorial is to bear the names of men and women from Mason, Vevay, Ingham, Alameda, Onondaga, Bunker Hill and Aurelius townships, along with some names from Wheatfield, Delhi and Leslie.

A $20 contribution from Mason Lodge No. 70, Knights of Pythias, boosted the total this past week. Recent contributors in addition to the Pythian lodge include Mr. and Mrs. Ray Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Otis, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McIntee, Mr. and Mrs. A. JURY CONVICTS FARMER OF MISTREATING STOCK

STAY GRANTED FOR CIRCUIT COURT APPEAL

George Davis, Leslie farmer charged with starving and mistreating his livestock, was found guilty by a jury in Justice William S. Seelye's court in Mason Tuesday afternoon. Davis was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail and to pay costs of $39.60, with another 50 days tacked onto his sentence if the costs are not paid. However, a stay was granted to permit Davis to appeal the verdict to circuit court. He is on bonds pending the circuit court trial.

Davis was fined by Justice Frank Fogg at Leslie in March for not providing his livestock with feed and water. Davis pleaded guilty to the original charge and was ordered to provide feed and water and to give his stock proper care. Several head of stock were found dead at the time the first complaint was made.

Witnesses Testify
Stanley McDaniel, Ingham County Humane society investigator, testified he had visited the Davis farm, southeast of Leslie, on several occasions following the first charge and found the stock without water except for barnyard pools and without hay or grain. He also said the animals were in stables deep with dirt. His testimony was corroborated by Curtis Wright and George Kitley of Leslie and Dr. Albert Judd, state veterinarian. Doctor Judd declared the cows, calves and horses showed lack of nourishment.

Davis testified that he purchased hay and grain and gave his stock proper care. He said he worked in a defense plant and left part of the responsibility of caring for the stock to his wife and children.

Mrs. Davis and a son, Eugene, 14, and a daughter, Sandra, 10, declared they fed and watered the stock. Other defense witnesses were Mrs. Irene Sherman and Lark Amb, who testified they sold Davis hay and grain; Ray Raymond, Adolph Lemke, Bertha Lemke, Ben Downing and Dr. Clarence Kasper. Doctor Kasper, Leslie veterinarian, said the Davis cattle were infected with Bangs disease. Davis claimed the infection was responsible for the condition of his cattle.

L. B. McArthur defended Davis. The six-day served on the jury was William S. Rhodes, Mr. Gregg, Eugene Edgar, Mrs. Carl Jewett, L. J. Adams and Fred Carver. The jurors deliberated an hour and a half before agreeing on a verdict.

Woman Is Injured When Cars Collide

Mrs. Alfred T. Haines received painful cuts and bruises last Friday afternoon at the intersection of Barnes and Oak streets when the car being driven by her husband was struck by a car driven by Robert O. Ballard. She was taken to the Corsaut hospital but was released the following day.

Haines was driving north. Ballard's car was headed west. Ballard failed to stop before entering the intersection. Vision was obscured by rain. The Haines car was overturned.

Justice William S. Seelye fined Ballard costs of $3.35 for failing to make a complete stop.

Lenore Smith to Sing At Detroit Concerts

Miss Lenore Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Smith of Mason, a junior at Albion college, will participate in the four days of concert appearances of the major Capital Circuit sport. Last night she took part in the concert in Detroit churches and high schools from April 16 through April 19. The Albion college choir will broadcast over WJR Tuesday, April 18, at 11:15, fast time, in celebration of the college's round-the-world night. President John L. Sinton will also take part in the broadcast. Miss Smith will sing first soprano with the choir.

At the Easter morning services at the Mason Methodist church, Miss Smith was guest soloist.

Baseball Comes Back In Capital Circuit

After a year of banishment, baseball has made a comeback as a major Capital Circuit sport. Last night the sport was recognized as a league activity. It has made its comeback at the expense of track in Mason. There will be no regular track team at Mason because of lack of interest, although it is likely that the conference meet. Charlotte is the only circuit team not playing baseball this spring.

Baseball will be started from scratch. There are only two letter winners on the 1942 team available. They are Gall Anderson and Charles Seelye. However, there are 22 other lads who have reported and some of them show considerable ability.

Free Garden Space Offered In Mason

Mason people who raised bumper victory garden crops at Parkview subdivision last year have the same opportunity offered them again by Albert J. Hall. Those who agree to put in gardens and give them proper attention can secure garden plots without charge. They will have to do their own plowing, planting and cultivating.

UNION GROWERS WANT GERMAN LABOR CORPS

GROWERS DEALING WITH ARMY FOR WAR PRISONERS
At two meetings held this week, Ingham county union growers in the Stockbridge-White Oak area have taken steps to secure the labor of war prisoners. On Monday a meeting was held at the White Oak town hall to discuss wages for prisoners and at Munich Tuesday the growers formed an association to deal with army authorities.

The army has indicated that between 300 and 600 German war prisoners, most of them captured in North Africa, will be made available at the Waterloo camp. The prisoners will be hired at the going wage but will receive only 80c per day for themselves, the balance being withheld by the government.

At the wage hearing, the price of 40c per hour was established as the going wage, although the price was made that the price probably will have to be upped to 45c or 50c in dealings with government officials.

Besides paying the rate per hour set, the farmers who employ the war prisoners will have to provide transportation to and from Waterloo and other prison camps. Not less than six prisoners can be employed in a group and every group is in charge of armed guards.

Baldwin Elected
Veril Baldwin, onion and potato grower with land in both Ingham and Jackson counties, was elected president of the Jackson-Ingham Muck Growers association which is to deal with the army for the prisoners. More than 50 muck farmers have already signed up with the association.

Under the program as outlined by Baldwin, the prisoners would be used in the onion fields during May and June and then transferred to fruit areas until the onion harvest in the fall.

RABIES QUARANTINE EXTENSION POSSIBLE

DOG OWNERS WARNED THAT QUARANTINE STILL ON
All of Ingham county is still under quarantine for rabies and the day the current order expires is April 27. If better cooperation on the part of dog owners is not had, Dr. C. D. Barrett, county health director, warned Thursday morning, other cases may develop. If other cases develop, he said, state authorities probably will order the quarantine period extended.

"Many people have relaxed their vigilance on dogs the past two weeks," Doctor Barrett stated, "with the result that in some sections of the county little cooperation is given to enforcement officers. The quarantine is still effective and will be continued if there is need for it. Some 45 persons have been given Pasteur treatment since the rabies outbreak developed early in the winter. It is tough to keep dogs on leash yet is not pleasant either to force people to submit to the Pasteur treatment after they have been bitten by dogs."

Two Recent Cases
It appeared that the outbreak had halted in February. The outbreak now has new cases after February 27, when a rabid dog was found near Okemos, until March 31 when a cow belonging to Norris Hart of Leslie died of rabies. Then on April 4 a dog owned by Ora Smith, Okemos, died of rabies.

The Smith dog had been confined and health authorities do not believe that it infected other animals.

Woman Dies After Lingering Sickness

Mrs. Stephen Irish, 66, died at Corsaut hospital Friday evening following a lingering illness of several months. For the past three weeks she had been cared for at the local hospital.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Nazarene church here, with the Rev. A. W. Eastman officiating. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

She is survived by the husband; a son, Oliver Brown, and a brother, Emory Cannavan, both of Williamston; five grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. Mrs. Irish, the former Louisa Cannavan, spent her early days near Cornum and Owasco. In later years, with her husband, she lived on farms near DeWitt and at Three Bridges, west of Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Irish moved to their present home on South Lansing street about nine years ago.

BUREAU SET UP FOR RETURNING VETERANS

TO AID SERVICE MEN IN SECURING BENEFITS

Financed at the expense of the county, a veterans' counseling service is to be established in Ingham at once. At the meeting of the board of supervisors Tuesday, an appropriation of $4,200 was provided for the first six months of operation.

"As explained by Clarence W. Lock, chairman of the new bureau, the program calls for the counseling of veterans to help secure employment, Red Cross aid, educational benefits, hospitalization and work training.

Those now serving with Lock on the board are Paul Bagwell, Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce; Walter Beardsley, Lansing Merchants association; Kenard E. Clark, Disabled American Veterans; W. E. Hathway, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Charles Hazlett, American Legion; Merle Hopper, V. F. W.; L. E. Jefferys, Ingham County War Fund; Lester Lake, U. S. Employment Service; Hugo Lundberg, Society for Crippled Children; Major W. J. Myers, selective service; R. Wayne Newton, Michigan Retail association; V. Otto, Lansing Chamber of Commerce; Chester Patterson and Charles Strong, A. F. of L.; Archie A. Perry and Albert Powis, C. I. O.; Carl B. Pfeifer, Lansing Rotary; Joseph W. Planck, Lansing Exchange club; Howard C. Rafter, Lansing Kiwanis club; Maurice H. Farwell, Lansing schools; Dan Kiever, Lansing Eagles, and Frank Thompson, Mason, representing the Ingham County Farm Bureau.

Fear Duplication
Joy O. Davis of Mason, a member of the Ingham county soldiers' and sailors' relief commission, said that there may be duplication between the work of the new bureau and that of the commission. He said the commission had planned to offer a similar service. Davis suggested that the board of supervisors provide the appropriation for a test period with the understanding that if it is found that one group can handle the situation, a consolidation be ordered.

Lock, a former county treasurer, said his committee was set up with authority of Governor Harry F. Kelly.

Dean Fred Mitchell of Michigan State college, an East Lansing supervisor, was named to the counseling bureau by Chairman Marshall S. Graham of the board of supervisors.

Nazarenes to Bring Missionaries to Mason

The Mason Church of the Nazarenes is planning a missionary rally, with forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions, which will be held in the Mason church Wednesday, April 19. Rev. and Mrs. John Cochran and son, returned missionaries from Argentina, will be the speakers.

The Cochranes have been in Lansing where they were speakers at a four-day convention at the First Church of the Nazarene. For seven years they were missionaries for the Nazarene church in Argentina.

Rev. Cochran said that a better understanding between Argentina and the United States is necessary. In a recent interview he emphasized that Argentina's attitude in the war is economic rather than political.

He said, "If a vote were taken today to the pro-Allies or pro-Axis sympathies of the Argentine people, I believe 70 per cent would vote for the Allies. The point of the matter is that British capital and British trade have developed the country—which by far leads the South American nations. Argentina wants to keep that trade, and it means that the United States in the past. Now, there is not only suspicion, but fear toward this country. The Argentine people don't like to be told with whom they may or may not trade. Spain, for instance, is one of the best customers, and there is general courtesy shown toward importing officers and ships when Argentine products are unloaded at New Orleans."

Washington Holds Up Repairs for Blacktop

Major blacktop highway repairs in Ingham county this spring rest with the war production board in Washington. The heavy roller wore out last fall and the company which supplied repairs is now engaged in war work and no repairs are available. The county asked for permission to buy a new roller but the WPB denied the request. An appeal has yet been learned as to the decision.

Ed Ferris, highway engineer, reported that blacktop highways came through the winter well. Damage was just a fraction of that of the year before, he said. Gravel roads, though, have gone to pieces this spring.

Repair crews have been skeletonized because of the shortage of skilled labor. Ferris said many trucks and tractors are not being used because operators are lacking.

Few Changes Result From Draft Ruling

ONLY ABOUT 25 PER CENT OF EXAMINATIONS WILL BE DELAYED BY LOCAL BOARD

Now that all the interpretations have been made, the selective service order calling for the induction of young men, it is apparent that few postponements will be granted men over 26 in the local draft district. Col. William S. Seelye, chairman of draft board No. 1, stated Wednesday that about 25 per cent of the men scheduled for physical examinations within the next two weeks will be granted postponements. The new ruling has been interpreted to that only men over 26 in essential agricultural war work will be postponements.

Scheduled for pre-induction physical examinations before order came through were 2,700. That number will be reduced to about 50 or 60, Colonel Seelye said. The induction pool for the district, except for the men recently examined, has been exhausted. The induction pool was examined two weeks ago governed by the new ruling.

The telegram received from the local board read, "War departments have informed the immediate need for you in the armed forces is great. The need for induction is being met by inducing clear men to telegraphic instruction received from the direct of selective service dated April 70 are directed immediately postpone induction of a select for pre-induction examination in age 26 and over who are male a contribution to essential agricultural, war production or supporting activities even though such men have been found acceptable for military service or have been ordered to report for induction or pre-induction physical examinations."

To Reclassify Men
Men over 26 who are engaged in essential activities will be classified but will not be their physical examination. Inductions until the list under 26 is exhausted. That will not be more than 60 of the most, Colonel Seelye explained. These men 26 and over are essential activities will be engaged and inducted as one. Men engaged in essential work will be deferred or have their inductions postponed by the new ruling, Colonel Seelye said.

In the local district all men who have received orders to report for induction or examination and who have not subsequently received official instructions not to report are expected to obey their original orders.

The draft board chairman stated that the latest ruling has resulted in considerable confusion and many extra hours of work by draft board employees and members.

No Winter Damage To Ingham Peaches

Ingham county peach trees came through the winter without frost damage and prospects are bright for a bumper crop this year if late frosts stay away and bees are working on the blossoms. Last year there was rain during the blossoming time and few bees were out, with the result that there was an extremely light crop.

Orchardists in the Leslie apple and peach sections are optimistic about prospects for good fruit crops in 1944 are excellent.

Presbyterian Youth In Conference Here

Between 20 and 25 delegates from Presbyterian young people's delegations in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Lansing, Jackson, Bay City, Saginaw, Detroit and Hillsdale are to attend a meeting of youth synod at Mason this week end.

Dr. James McDill, director of the stewardship department of the board of Christian education of the Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, is to address the group at a banquet to be held in the Mason church Saturday night. He also will deliver the sermon Sunday morning.

The delegates will be guests in Mason homes Saturday and Sunday.

Need More Workers To Fold Bandages

Mason workers in the local Red Cross unit have contributed 378 hours in the first of the year for the making of bandages. Two regular workers have completed 11,800 bandages. There is a large supply of gauze on hand, according to Mrs. D. H. VanderVeen, and more help is needed.

The home service division of the Red Cross is the service man's own division, yet less is known about that service than about any other of the American Red Cross services. This division is the link between the man away from home in service for his country, and his family at home. The work of this division of the Ingham county chapter of the American Red Cross is carried on by three trained social workers and 28 volunteers.

When Tomorrow Comes What Then?

There has been a good deal of discussion about the better post-war world to come, about the future made brighter by a victory over our enemies. But when the tomorrow really comes, what then?

The post-war world isn't going to be a better one if we just sit around waiting for it to come. The better world will only materialize if we work hard and long at making it so today.

A part of that work is regular savings, which will accumulate and make possible your participation in the better things that will come if inflation and excessive wartime spending is avoided now.

Four Blondes

Hollywood's comment on "Dangerous Blondes," the new Columbia mystery-comedy which comes to the Fox next Thursday, is that murder and meriment mount so fast, audiences won't know whether to giggle or gasp. Allyn Joslyn is one of the featured players, in a completely sympathetic role. Play-off opposite him is Evelyn Keyes in her first important romantic portrayal, departs his expected role as leading man and emerges in "Phantom Lady" as the "menace," or villain for the first time in his screen career.

Selective Service Confusion

There could be no more confusion over selective service if the administrators of the agency actually set out to confuse people than there is at present. Men subject to the draft, employers and draft board members see the program being changed day by day.

Of course, there can not be any hard and fast rules set up to govern operations during the entire period of war, yet there does not need to be changes in basic policies every week. Last week local boards were told to process every case up to 38, that the army could well use older men. Local boards were told to scrape the bottom of the barrel to provide full quotas.

Summons were sent family heads and older men in essential categories. In the group which left Mason last week were many men in their late thirties. Then overnight that program is scrapped and selective service announces that men over 26 are not wanted now. Men over 26 who have passed their physical examinations are not now being accepted. Thousands of men who had made arrangements to take their examinations this week are now having those examinations postponed. Draft board members and clerks who have worked day and night processing the cases in order to fill their quotas are now working day and night changing their files back.

The same confusion exists relative to agricultural deferments. There was a unit production scale two weeks ago. A week ago that was abandoned, and this week it is not clear whether it is abandoned or not.

Thousands of men who were inducted last week would have had their inductions postponed two or three months under the selective service regulations now effective.

The draft situation is chaotic. It is not only damaging to the morale of the men being drafted but it actually hampers war and food production. Congress should step in and shape up a basic program for selective service to follow. The present confusion should be ended at once.

Wendell Wilkie Bows Out

While in some sections of the country there may have been consternation over the announcement of Wendell Wilkie's withdrawal from the Republican presidential field, the announcement occasioned no great excitement in this part of Michigan. Most of the men and women who were enthusiastic over Wilkie four years ago had lost their enthusiasm long since. He was regarded as twiddle dee to twiddle dum.

Four years ago the Republicans adopted Wilkie as a recent and sincere convert from the Democratic ranks. Overnight he changed from a Democrat to a Republican, just as easy as a high-priced lawyer shifts his position from one side to another.

Most people don't believe Wilkie lacks sincerity or honesty. They do question his loyalty to principle. They do question his judgment. They believe that he doesn't know where he stands or what he stands for. They believe that if a man doesn't know whether he is a Democrat or a Republican that he should not attempt to lead either party.

The lack of confidence in Wilkie is perhaps best expressed by speculation as to whether Wilkie will now return to the Democratic fold or whether he will continue to list himself as a Republican. No one, perhaps not even Wilkie himself, is sure what he will do. It is not surprising that Wilkie's announcement occasioned so little surprise. He elbowed his way into the Republican and is now bowing himself out. Let him go where he will.

Looking to the Future

Livingston county farmers, despite the shortage of labor and the press of regular farm work, are planting 85,000 trees this spring. The planting is being done to prevent hillside and gully erosion.

Yet there are other benefits to be derived from the planting. The trees will not only hold the soil in place, they will hold back the moisture. A generation hence they will be a source of timber. With the present slashing of our remaining forests for war materials there will be a lack of timber for many years.

There are thousands of acres of land in Ingham county which should be planted to trees. The state through its hardwood and pine nurseries offers seedlings and transplants at bargain prices.

Planting of trees to prevent erosion, to prevent gullying, to hold back water and to add to the beauty of the country is not only looking out for the future but looking ut for today and tomorrow. The planting program in Livingston county is an example that other sections of southern Michigan should follow.

We Can Have What We Want

A group of youngsters came away from a symposium Sunday night positive that socialized medicine will be imposed after the war. Groups of adults who attend meetings at which school officials speak come away with the idea that the only schools which will be permitted after the war will be community schools and that beginners of five and six years of age will be torn away from their mothers before dawn and returned after dark to attend city schools.

True, there are a number of school officials who believe, or say they believe, that only big schools are good schools; and it's true that there are many people who see great benefits in socialized medicine, the kind where the sick person calls his ward committeeman to have a doctor sent around, and where the deserving party worker gets the lush appointment regardless of his surgical skill.

We still hold to the notion that the people of the United States can decide whether or not they want socialized medicine or state-regimented schools where the children of three or four townships are herded together. If a majority of the people want socialized medicine they can have it. If a majority of the people want consolidated schools they can have them. But this is still a government of the people and somehow we dislike hearing speakers who are so almighty positive about what the people need and what they want? Are the men we elect to office and those whom we pay the salaries our servants or our masters?

DOWN BY THE SYCAMORE

Most of those WAC jokes have no foundation. So I was informed by my niece, Pvt. Helen R. Brown, WAC, who visited her kinfolks in Mason last week. She likes the service. Her present duty is to deliver the confidential mail to high officers at Barksdale Field, Louisiana. The assignment is a natural for her inasmuch as her father is a railway mail clerk and early in life he instructed his daughter how to handle mail.

Mrs. George McArthur is a talented woman. I have long known her as an expert stenographer and an accomplished musician. Now I know that she rates just as high as a cook. She bakes as good huckleberry pies as any I have ever tasted.

Last summer my sister-in-law and her children and Mrs. McArthur invited my daughter Caroline to accompany them on a trip to the wilds of Roscommon county. Berries were ripe and Caroline fished out to pick on shares. The agreement was that for every four quarts of berries picked by Caroline, Mrs. McArthur and Aunt Joanne were to bake and deliver a pie to the Brown family during the winter. According to Caroline's figures, we have five more pies coming from Mrs. McArthur and six from Aunt Joanne.

We have kept pretty close track of huckleberry stains on Cousin Joanna's and Russell's and George McArthur's teeth this winter and on three occasions I have deduced that the McArthurs have had huckleberry pies. On one other occasion I made a mistake. What I thought was a huckleberry stain on the expansive McArthur vest turned out to be an ink stain. We are all much relieved now that the pies are coming through as promised.

"I see there is to be no more tire inspection," I remarked to Don Haynes, chief tire inspector and coupon-paster-upper at the C. H. Hall garage. "That's right," he replied, "selection is getting closer all the time."

I am anxious to meet Miss Lynn Drummond, practice teacher from Michigan State college. I listened to a group of high school boys discussing teaching and I thought they were agreed that if Miss Drummond did the teaching, they would be willing to attend classes 52 weeks per year. I gathered that Miss Drummond, in addition to possessing exceptionally good looks, has a keen mind, perfect taste, and brooks no foolishness in class. I rather scoffed at the idea of such a paragon coming from a co-ed school until the argument was clinched with the declaration that Miss Drummond uses no nail polish and is sparing with the rouge. If there were apples on the market, Miss Drummond would cart home a bushel a day from her youthful admirers here in Mason.

Another young woman with sparkling personality is Mrs. Margaret Young of Eden, who works by the Consumers Power company in its Mason office. Although her husband is in Africa, Mrs. Young doesn't go around with a martyred look. She meets the world with a smiling countenance and even keeps her cheer after spending hours listening to the protestations of customers that there must be a mistake in the bill.

Did Wendell Wilkie base his decision to quit the race on the Wisconsin primary result or on the news release of the Michigan department of agriculture? Michigan egg production is up 25 per cent over a year ago. Frozen eggs in storage are up 136 per cent and cold storage eggs have increased 80 per cent over a year ago. There will be a lot of eggs to toss around at presidential candidates this fall for those who indulge in that kind of sport.

Herb Fox is entitled to commendation for booking "Madame Curie" for his Easter program. I attended the show Monday night and will fearlessly state that the picture is the best I have seen in many years and that the popcorn was up to the usual high Fox standard. I know so little about laboratory technique that I was unable to pick any flaws in the picture, yet even my ignorance didn't dim my enjoyment.

The statement made several weeks ago that school tradition demands a student attend Mason high school four years in order to be considered for valedictory honors has been questioned. My informant points out that the late Miss Lila Blakely was valedictorian of the Mason graduating class of 1930. She attended the Leslie school during her freshman and sophomore years.

March breezes are tempered to the shorn lamb and April showers are tempered to some roofs. I have found: For 19 years I have never had a leak in my roof. This spring a bad one has developed, yet I like it and may not do any reshingling. The water gushes down a valley in the roof and cascades right into the bathtub so we have the freshest of soft water during every shower. Tuesday's rain was just a trifle cold and I had to use some hot water from the tap to take off the chill.

Sheep-shearers in the Sycamore valley are getting 30c per head this spring, 5c more than a year ago and at least 10c more than in pre-war days. I can see why barbers don't go in for sheep-shearing. Barbers here in the valley get 50c per head. Yet I can't understand why more sheep-shearers don't turn to barbering.

As refreshing as its title, "Golden Apples of the Sun," by Rosemary Ohermeyer is the story of little Rhona, who is as enchanting as she is childish. Rhona with five others set out for a long, wearisome journey through the wilderness. With her are John O'Callaghan, a farmer; Mr. Heinback, a taxidermist; lovely, flaxen-haired Midge; Father Tully, who has retired from his parish, and Letty, who has mysterious plans for the future. The adventures of this strange group are amusing, the characters a delight.

Francis of Assisi, pictured in "Blessed Are the Meek" by Zofia Kossak, stands out against the background of Rome in the 13th century, a time of upheaval and fear for the future. To Rome comes St. Francis with his followers, teaching a philosophy of love. And from France comes Jean de Brienne, who has been forced to leave his sweetheart, and ordered to marry Marie of Palestine. In other parts of Italy, children are gathered for a crusade to rescue the Holy Land. Lovers of historical novels will not want to miss this book.

Plans for peace must be made now, if we are to avoid a third world war, says Maxwell S. Stewart in "Building for Peace at Home and Abroad." Besides making plans for preserving peace, it is important that we plan now for jobs for all at the end of the war. The author writes simply and clearly, explaining the problems at home and international problems which we must face and solve if we are to have a lasting peace.

To those wanting a good, lively mystery, we suggest "Dead to the World" by North Baker and William Bolton. A young interne, Danny Michaels, spends hour after hour in a morgue, where he studies the corpse of a tramp. Danny knows all about the corpse—its identity and the disease with which it had been afflicted. The interne is well meaning, but complicates matters with his good intentions, and we read on to an exciting finish.

Quentin Reynolds, in "The Curtain Rises," cannot say enough for the courage and loyalty of our men at the front. Moving through Trinidad, Palestine, Russia, North Africa and Sicily, Mr. Reynolds watches our boys. The curtain rises in his own mind (and the readers) on a new conception of our land. We see, too, people from this and that walk of life, from here and there throughout the world—Pat O'Brien in Trinidad; an 18-year-old girl who has the record of killing 60 Germans; we read of Egyptians and Arabs; war correspondents; men high in government capacities, and just plain American jads.

"The Letters I Don't Write" If you don't write, you're wrong," I am sure everyone has heard that expression of Kate Smith's, but let me tell you about the letters I don't write.

Do I write and tell him of the farmers who have feed and water for their stock, but fail to give them the care they need, when he was such a good farm lad and loved his stock so well? I do not!

Do I write and tell him of the people who drive by, day after day, no business associations, no war work (if must be pleasure), when he marches through the mud, rain and snow? I do not!

Do I write and tell him about the women who stood in line, sometimes hours, to buy the luxuries they wanted before they were taxed, when he may be standing in line waiting his call to face the Great Unknown? I do not!

Do I write and tell him about the strikes for shorter hours and higher pay, when he's on duty all the time, fighting to protect me and mine? I do not!

Do I write about the milk being dumped into the sewers in our city of Detroit, when he may be sharing a whole lot harder, for his life with a wounded buddy, or an undernourished child in those war-torn lands? I do not!

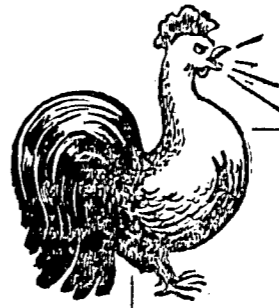

These are some of the things I don't write, but on this Easter Sunday I've decided to work a little harder, have a little less and pray a whole lot harder for his quick, safe return and, although I would write and tell him these things, don't you think I might better do it and show by example I mean what I say. Let me be worthy of the sacrifices he's making for me.

Farm Bureau

The North Ingham Community Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dalton recently. The group was organized on February 15, 1944, and has a membership of 45. The chairman, Martha Glynn, was in charge of the business meeting. Production and control trends for agriculture was the state-wide topic for discussion. Aethen R. Witt was the discussion leader. He guided the talks and debates to several factors interesting to the community. Crops farmers have been asked to raise the 100 uses of corn in the war, importance of food for the armed forces, some 50 million pounds of food per day for 1944, aids to production and the control of agriculture after the war were discussed. Songs and games were enjoyed by the group, after which the host and hostess served doughnuts, cookies, sandwiches and coffee.

Mason Couple Visited By Canadian Nephew

The war brought about the first meeting between Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Saelens and their nephew, Rene Mestdagh. The mother of Rene Mestdagh is Mr. Saelens' sister. When the Saelens family came to the United States from Belgium, the Mestdags went up into northern Manitoba to Swan lake and no member of the Saelens family had met any of the Mestdags until two weeks ago when Rene, a Canadian soldier taking special training with the air force at Hamilton, Ontario, secured a three-day pass.

The three days passed quickly and the Canadian said his visit in Mason did him almost as much good as a visit to his home in Manitoba would have done.

Ingham Jersey Club Maps 1944 Program

The fifth annual meeting of the Ingham County Jersey Cattle club was held April 1 in the supervisors' room in the court house at Mason. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and the election of officers followed. Kenneth Bibbins became the new president; Eugene Lyons, vice president; Ira Cronkright, secretary-treasurer, and Carl Howell and Frank Cosgray, directors.

With H. H. Barnum, the county agent, and Cyril Spike, who will soon be a full-fledged veterinarian, to lead the talk, artificial insemination was thoroughly discussed. Like many jurists, no agreement could be reached, so the subject was left open for future discussions.

As some of the herds of the club are to be classified this spring, it was decided to classify all county breeders of the classification dates. Having decided on all important questions brought up, the meeting was adjourned, so everyone could enjoy a surprise lunch of homemade ice cream and cookies, furnished by Cyril Spike and Roland Cook.

The new officers and directors of the Ingham County Jersey Cattle club held their first meeting at the home of Ira Cronkright April 5, to formulate a program for 1944.

It was resolved that the club should support the 4-H club, state club program and herd testing whenever and wherever possible.

Kenneth Bibbins has already shown his support by offering a registered heifer calf from his herd as the outstanding Ingham county 4-H.

It was agreed that a summer meeting was to be held, the date to be decided later.

Ingham breeders can look forward to not only the classification program and summer get-together program and further ahead to next year's annual meeting. The directors hope this year all meetings can be family affairs.

This meeting ended like all Jersey meetings do, with a journey to the home of the Jersey cow, the barn. The officers and directors tried to see all breeders in Ingham at the meetings.

Learn Something about Your War Bonds

from This Fellow!

THE BEST THING a bulldog does is HANG ON! Once he gets hold of something, it's mighty hard to make him let go!

And that's the lesson about War Bonds you can learn from him. Once you get hold of a War Bond, HANG ON TO IT for the full ten years of its life.

There are at least two very good reasons why you should do this. One is a patriotic reason ... the other a personal reason.

You buy War Bonds because you know Uncle Sam needs money to fight this war. And you want to put some of your money into the fight. But ... if you don't hang on to those War Bonds, your money isn't going to stay in the battle.

Another reason you buy War Bonds is because you want to set aside some money for your family's future and yours. No one knows just what's going to happen after the War. But the man with a fistful of War Bonds knows he'll have a roof over his head and 3 square meals a day no matter what happens!

War Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 in 10 years. But, if you don't hang on to your Bonds for the full ten years, you don't get the full face value, and ... you won't have that money coming in later on when you may need it a lot worse than you need it today.

So buy War Bonds ... more and more War Bonds. And then keep them. You will find that War Bonds are very good things to have ... and to hold!

WAR BONDS to HAVE and to HOLD

This is another in a series of patriotic advertisements sponsored by Mason business and professional men and women as a part of their contribution toward the total war effort.
