RETRIALS DEMANDED ON GRAFT CHARGES

ERRORS CLAIMED BY ATTORNEY FOR LOGIE

Nine weeks of trial was not enough in the graft conspiracy case held in Mason this summer. Motions have been and are being filed this week demanding new trials for the three finance company executives and the 17 present and former legislators convicted of conspiracy.

Hearing on the motions have been scheduled for Monday, October 2, in the court room in Lansing before Judge John Simpson of Jackson, who presided at the trial in Mason. The hearings were set October 2 to permit James Haggerty, attorney for George Omacht of South Bend and John Hancock of Huntington Woods, to appear in court. He underwent an operation after the trial and is not yet able to return to his practice.

There is little likelihood that the motions will be granted by Judge Simpson. He will probably deny the motions and an appeal will then be carried to the state supreme court.

Claims Prejudice

In the motion filed by Benjamin F. Watson, attorney for Senator Jerry T. Logie of Bay City, the claim was made that the court erred in permitting evidence relating to certain house and senate bills other than No. 85 and No. 166 to be introduced at the trial. The introduction of testimony concerning other bills was prejudicial to Logie, his attorney declared.

Watson also claimed that the court erred in charging the jury by dwelling at length upon the claims of the people. He declared the judge resorted in detail to the evidence claimed to support the state's case without in equal detail stressing the claims of the defendants.

ROBICHAUD EXTRADITED

Sigler is having a legal battle over the extradition of Robichaud from New Jersey. Gov. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey signed extradition papers Tuesday but attorneys have started habeas corpus proceedings to have Robichaud freed and prevent his extradition to Michigan to stand trial for conspiring with legislators to pass an intangible tax law.

"The verdict of the jury is against the great and overwhelming weight of the evidence," Watson set forth in his petition.

Motions asking new trials for George Omacht and John Hancock, finance executives, and D. Stephen Benzie and Henry Shea, former legislators, were filed Wednesday.

Checks Held Up

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown has held up the checks made payable to eight of the present legislators until the court rules the convicted legislators are entitled to them. At the recent special session of the legislature the house adopted a resolution to compel members to pay their taxes.

The senate took no such action but the auditor general insisted he would hand over no checks to the convicted men until ordered to do so by the courts.

Representatives whose state pay checks are being held up are William G. Buckley, Earl C. Gallagher, Joseph J. Kowalski, Martin A. Kronk, Francis J. Nowak, Adam W. Sumeracki and Edward J. Walsh of Detroit, and Walter N. Stokich of Hamtramck.

Senators who did not receive their checks are Jerry T. Logie of Bay City and Charles C. Diggs and Leo J. Wilkowski of Detroit. All are Democrats with the exception of Logie.

Liquor Trial Next

Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler is in New Jersey this week to handle extradition proceedings against Armand E. Robichaud, public relations counsel for the Beneficial Management corporation. Robichaud is one of 14 persons charged with conspiring to pass an intangible tax law.

Before he returns, Sigler stated that the examination of four men charged with bribery conspiracy on a liquor bill will be held in Lansing, September 2. If the men charged in the warrant are bound over to circuit court for trial, the trial may come up at the September term of court in Lansing.

Frank Murphy, former lieutenant governor, has pleaded guilty to the liquor conspiracy charge and is awaiting sentence. He is expected to be the state's chief witness.

Charles Layton, sales manager of the Mohawk Liquor corporation; Emanuel M. Rosenthal, Mohawk president; Samuel Schreiner, secretary-treasurer of the Arrow Liquor corporation; and Abe H. Weinstein, president of Arrow, were named in the warrant.

BUYS DRUG STORE

Wayne Campbell, formerly of Mason, has purchased a drug store in Plainfield. He took possession August 25. After several years in the employ of the Cunningham store in Royal Oak, Campbell joined the sales staff of Hazeltine & Perkins, drug wholesalers. He was with Hazeltine & Perkins four years until his purchase of the Plainfield business. The Campbells have lived in Kalamazoo the past few years. Mrs. Campbell is the former Dorothy Disenroth of Leslie.

PARACHUTE SAVES LIFE OF DANSVILLE PILOT

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE, England—Among the hundreds of Eighth Air Force heavy bombers supporting Canadian and British ground troops in the Caen area, was the B-17 Flying Fortress, "Suffrin," piloted by First Lt. Charles J. Greenough, of Danville, Michigan.

Going into the target area with bomb bay doors open, a direct burst of flak between number two engine and the fuselage started a fire on the left wing of "Suffrin."

"As soon as fire came over the engine, I dove the plane in an attempt to put it out," said Lt. Greenough, "but when I leveled off, burning gas had spread to the bombs in the bomb bay. My copilot, Second Lt. Wallace A. Richardson of Long Beach, Calif., hit the radio switch and got rid of the blinding smoke. I again dove the plane but the fire wouldn't go out, so I gave the ball out signal."

"The radio operator, ball turret, waist and tail gunners had already bailed out of the ship," continued Lieutenant Greenough. "The engine and navigator were trying desperately to open the jammed door of the escape hatch in the nose. Finally kicking the door off, the bombardier and engineer bailed out, and as I went through the hatch I yelled to the navigator to get out of there. I saw him bail out a few seconds later."

"While coming down, there was a lot of noise below me, but I didn't notice it very much. I was too busy trying to stop swinging in the chute to see much of anything. When I landed I got out of my chute harness as fast as I could and headed for a hedgerow about 10 yards away. When I hit the hedge, I noticed a house straight ahead of me about a hundred yards away, and not knowing whether I was in friendly territory or not, I turned around and ran the other way until I came across a ditch covered by heavy bushes, and crawled in."

"A few minutes later I heard someone walking towards me. A man's voice called out, wanting to know who I was and if I was hurt or not. He spoke in English, but I kept quiet until someone else said, 'It must have been a Jerry, he doesn't answer.' When I heard that, I knew it was time for me to do something—but quick!—and I holled that I was a Yank and crawled out of the ditch. I then said that they were British Tommies and I was really happy to see them."

"They took me back about a hundred yards and my navigator, Second Lt. Joel L. Stephens of New Orleans, La.—the last man out of the plane—came riding in a jeep, so I went with him on back to headquarters."

The grounded airman spent the night at an American airfield, and the next morning they met several other members of the crew and they all flew back to their bomber base in England together.

Lieutenant Greenough, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Greenough of Danville, Michigan, is a veteran of more than 30 combat bombing missions against Nazi Europe. He holds the air medal and three oak leaf clusters. He was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement" while pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress on bombing attacks against the enemy.

The citation accompanying the award read in part: "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by Lieutenant Greenough upon these

Waste Paper Pickup Here Friday Night

Mason firemen will collect waste paper in Mason Friday night, September 1, beginning at seven o'clock. Residents are asked to have newspapers and magazines tied separately in bundles and other paper bundled or in cartons and placed at curbs.

The last paper collection yielded 3,760 pounds of magazines and 10,750 pounds of other waste paper.

Rene Kruse of the fire department has charge of the collection Friday.

Monday Is Holiday For Most Workers

Labor Day will be observed by not laboring in most Mason stores, factories and business places. Wyeth Incorporated, which now means both John Wyeth & Bro. and S. M. A., has declared a holiday for factory and office employees except those engaged in handling milk. Banks, county offices and business places will be closed. There will be neither rural nor city mail delivery Monday. The postoffice will be closed.

ACTION ON HOSPITAL SUGGESTED BY BOARD

ANOTHER MUNICIPAL POWER SURVEY AUTHORIZED

At a meeting of the Mason post-war planning commission held Monday night the city council was asked to initiate legislation authorizing the city to "acquire, equip, operate and maintain" a community hospital. The recommendation of the planning commission will go before the city council Tuesday night. The ordinance has already been drawn up to cover operation of a community hospital.

Mayor Arthur W. Jewett and members of the city council will also be asked to set up a committee to solicit funds for the hospital and to appoint a board to manage the hospital when it is built or acquired.

Both the Ponton and Corsaut hospitals have been closed for the past six weeks and there is no prospect for immediate reopening of either institution, the doctors have stated.

The planning commission, after a vote of the people upon questionnaire forms demanded a community hospital. The post-war project, originally given considerable priority to a 40-bed hospital with a price tag of $200,000. However, following the closing of the two hospitals, consideration was given to purchase of the Corsaut hospital or some other building with operation of the hospital taken over by the city or by a board representing the city and adjacent townships.

Upon the questionnaires the people gave fourth place to a municipal power plant but the planning commission is going ahead to develop plans for the power system.

Engineers Hired

At the planning board meeting Monday night a motion was approved to have the firm of Ayers, Lewis, Norris & May of Ann Arbor submit a proposal to make a municipal power survey for Mason and a report on the feasibility of a municipal power system here.

A survey was made by another Ann Arbor firm several years ago but a member of the planning board labeled the survey obsolete and inadequate. After the survey was taken and the proposition placed before the people, the vote was taken just before the war and members of the commission believe that the result may be different following the war.

When the proposition was placed before the people the pledge was made that the rates to be charged under a municipal power setup would be no more than rates charged by Consumers.

Infantile Paralysis Strikes in Leslie

Joel Browne, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Browne of Leslie, is in the contagious disease hospital in Lansing. Dr. W. C. Albert of Leslie diagnosed the case Tuesday as infantile paralysis. The doctor's diagnosis was confirmed by tests taken Wednesday.

According to the Ingham county health department, the Browne boy is the first polio case reported in the county outside of Lansing this season. A new case was reported in Lansing Tuesday.

Health officials warn that parents should have their children examined by physicians even if only slight head colds develop. Doctors also suggest that children be kept out of crowds.

The Browne boy resides on a farm and has not been in contact with other children.

Bond Survey Shows Post-War Planning

People of the Mason area are cashing a smaller than average percent of their war bonds, according to Glen Coon, local war bond committee chairman, following a recent survey. "This is due, we believe," Coon said, "to the fact that there has been no pressure selling. Local people have purchased war bonds because they wanted them and wanted to keep them."

Citing a newspaper survey made in a city of nearly 250,000 population, Coon pointed out that in that particular city, 94 percent of war bond owners bought their bonds for long-term investment, while 5.3 percent intended to cash their bonds for post-war purchases.

Principal reasons given by those who intended to cash in their bonds were home buying, children's education, home furnishings and automobiles. The survey also indicated, Coon said, that there was a decline in the number of persons who planned to use time payments as a post-war means of purchase.

SOLDIER GIVES LIFE IN ATTACK ON SAIPAN

ONE OF FIRST TO ENLIST IS KILLED IN ACTION

Pfc. Rex Stevenson, 24, who had served in the army since October of 1941, was killed in action on Saipan August 1, the war department announced last week. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Stevenson, who live on Seven Gables road south of Danville, received a telegram from the war department last week and a letter from the war department this week, notifying them of the loss of their son. The letter gave no details of the action in which the Ingham soldier lost his life.

Entering the army in October, 1941, two months before the attack on Pearl Harbor, Stevenson trained at Camp Wolters, Texas, and at Fort Ord, California. He was sent to Hawaii in March of 1942 and shortly thereafter he went into action in the South Pacific.

Fighting in the Marshalls he returned to Hawaii for a few weeks and then his regiment went into action in the Marianas. In one of his last letters he told his parents he expected to be home on furlough this fall. He had not had a furlough since his enlistment.

Rex Stevenson was born in Bath township, Clinton county, living near Bath and Lainsburg until the family moved to the farm adjoining Seven Gables farm in October of 1938. He worked next to the farm and on neighboring farms from 1938 until he entered the army.

Besides the parents there are two brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Pvt. Roger Stevenson, now stationed at Rapid City, S. D., and Glenn Stevenson, at home. The sisters are Ruth and Verna of Lansing, and Mildred at home. There also are two grandparents, Jess Stevenson of Shafterburg and Mrs. Hattie Haviland of Lainsburg.

Memorial services for Stevenson are to be held in Danville when his brother arrives home on furlough in September.

SCHOOL TO RESUME THURSDAY MORNING

RURAL SCHOOLS TO BEGIN ON TUESDAY

Classes at the Mason school will be opened next Thursday morning at nine o'clock. Superintendent Edwin M. Boyne announced Wednesday that all vacancies on the staff have been filled and that all is in readiness for the opening of school after the summer recess.

Teachers are to report at the school Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and are also to attend a Wednesday session. School plans, methods of instruction and the health and lunch programs are among the issues to be discussed at the teachers' meetings.

Registration for new students in the high school began Thursday morning. During Friday forenoon and afternoon and Saturday morning former students are to complete their summer assignments. Kindergarten pupils are to be registered at the kindergarten building next Wednesday afternoon between the hours of one and three.

Most of the rural schools in the county will open Tuesday. Rural teachers are to meet in Mason Friday.

New Bus Secured

The school district was given priority to purchase a new bus to be used for transporting pupils. A 48-passenger bus mounted on a Ford chassis has been purchased and will make its first trip Thursday. Four routes are to be served. The old bus carries 60 passengers. Emory Colby and Leonard Nelson have been engaged as drivers.

Each bus will make two trips morning and afternoon. The first trip will deliver pupils to school by 8:15 and the second by 9:00. Bus routes are being extended with the addition of the second bus.

Youth Charged with Negligent Homicide

Lloyd Andrews, 15, of Lansing, is being held in the Ingham jail on a charge of negligent homicide. He has demanded an examination which will be held before Judge Louis E. Coash of Lansing September 7.

Andrews is charged with the hitting of Gerald Arthur Herrick, 15, of Holt. The Herrick boy was walking home from the county fair in Mason August 19 when he was fatally injured by being struck by a car. State police and sheriff's officers searched three days without finding the driver of the car. Then Andrews, named as the death driver by companions in the car, surrendered.

BEFORE AND AFTER THE OPERATION

The child who appears in the two pictures is one and the same. He is Lucius (Bud) Rice and any kid at the Felt Plains school who mentions curls to Bud is likely to get hurt. Because he had such luxuriant golden locks, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seger Rice, kept putting off shearing them. They wanted Bud to start school at the Felt Plains school with his hair out. So on Monday afternoon the Rice family came to Mason and had Henry Uhlenbrauch wield the clippers and shears.

Bud even agreed to permit his sisters to dress him up in their clothes for the trip to Mason and to wear the dress while he was having his hair cut. Immediately afterwards, though, he stepped into the back room and pulled on his pants like any man.

The mother, who was Ruth Kleinsmith before her marriage, had moist eyes when Uhlenbrauch handed her the hair of the tight curl but Bud didn't shed a tear. He wanted a butch haircut.

There are five children in the Rice family. Hazel is the oldest. She will attend the Ingham Township Agricultural school at Danville this year. Dorothy and Leonard will attend the Felt Plains school with Bud. Betty, two, is still at home.

HOME FROM PACIFIC

Sgt. Louis Yuhasz

After serving with a transport command in Australia and New Guinea for more than two years, S. Sgt. Louis Yuhasz, 24, has arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Yuhasz, at Danville, on a 21-day furlough. Sergeant Yuhasz entered service in February, 1942, and after three months of basic training at Camp Robinson, Arkansas, was sent to Australia and later to New Guinea.

After his furlough he will report at Miami, Fla. for two weeks of rest, following which he will be reassigned. Mr. and Mrs. Yuhasz have another son, Pvt. Steve Yuhasz, who is now in Normandy.

Sparta Contractor Gets Gravel Jobs

Paul Miller of Sparta was awarded two contracts Wednesday for supplying gravel to the Ingham county road commission. He is to furnish 10,000 and up to 20,000 cubic yards from the Vicary pit in Bunker Hill at 70c per cubic yard, screened and placed in stockpiles at the pit. He also was given a contract for 10,000 yards in Leslie township at 67c. The Leslie pit was not specified.

Miller was the only bidder on the furnishing of gravel for the county.

TAKES POLICE JOB

Grover Sitts, carpenter and general builder, has been recommended for appointment as night police officer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Floyd Otis. The appointment of Sitts is expected to be placed before the council next Tuesday night for confirmation. The recommendation was made by Aldermen L. H. Harrison, Earl Densmore and W. O. Hall, members of the police committee.

BALLOTS MAILED

City Clerk George Kellogg sent 44 ballots to Mason soldier and sailor voters Tuesday and Wednesday. Applications had been filed by 25 first ward and 19 second ward voters. Most of the applications were from men overseas.

TRAINING COMPLETED

Mrs. Helen Kaimor of Mackinac county and Mrs. Delmar Herman of Montmorency county have completed their field training of one month with the Ingham county health department and have returned to their counties to serve as public health nurses. They were sent to the Ingham training school under the war emergency program of the state department of health. Mrs. Barbara Radcliff of Caldwell, Ohio, and Mrs. Joyce Swinehart of Defiance, Ohio, are expected to join the Ingham staff this week to begin their field training as public health nurses. They have been assigned to Ingham by the public health nurse of the University of Michigan.

S. M. A. NOW NAMED WYETH INCORPORATED

ACCOUNTING STAFF AT MASON MAY EXPAND

Joined in name as well as in management and operation, the two American Home Products subsidiaries heretofore known as S. M. A., Incorporated, and John Wyeth & Bro., became one division at midnight Thursday. The two Mason plants will be unified under the new name of Wyeth Incorporated and world-famous S. M. A. products will be listed as Wyeth Incorporated S. M. A. products.

S. M. A. stands for Synthetol Milk Adapted, a baby food which is sold in practically every country in the world. It was the cornerstone upon which the Mason factory was built and was one of the principal reasons why the business was purchased by American Home Products.

William F. Richards, who was manager of S. M. A. when it was acquired by American Home Products in 1938, has been managing both the John Wyeth & Bro. and S. M. A. divisions the past two years. He will continue as manager of the combined factories for Wyeth Incorporated.

John Wyeth & Bro., Inc., then of Philadelphia, took over part of the S. M. A. factory in 1939.

American Home Products has grouped its nutritional and pharmaceutical companies and factories under the name of Wyeth Incorporated. The grouping of ethical medicinal products under one operational division is designed to make manufacturing and distributing more efficient.

Under the new setup of Wyeth Incorporated, besides S. M. A. and John Wyeth & Bro., Inc., are the John Wyeth & Bro. factory in Philadelphia, Petrolgall Laboratories in Chicago, Gilliland Laboratories in Marietta, Pa., Reichel Laboratories, Inc. in Kinston, Pa., and the Bovine Co. in Chicago.

Other companies owned by American Home Products but not included in the Wyeth Incorporated division are Anacin Manufacturing Co. in Knoxville, Tenn.; A. F. Boyle Co. in Cincinnati, Ohio; Midway Chemical Co. in Chicago; Harmon Color Works, Haledon, N. J.; Kolyons Co., New Haven, Conn.; Harold H. Clapp, Inc., Rochester, N. Y.; and Belle Center Cheese Co., Belle Center, Ohio. There also are manufacturing branches at Cleveland, Ohio; Richmond Hill, Brooklynn, Ohio; Rouses Point, N. Y.; Clifton, Newark and Kearny, N. J.; and Atlanta, Georgia, and manufacturing or distributing branches in Montreal, Toronto and Walkerville, Canada; Buenos Aires, Argentina; London, England; Sydney, Australia; Auckland, New Zealand; and Durban, South Africa.

Factory Started in 1920

Mason's biggest business was launched after World War I. The factory was built in 1920 and began operations March 15, 1921. It was then known as the Telling, Belle, Vernon Co., and was owned principally by Cleveland men. For several years cream from the milk received at Mason was shipped by express to Cleveland. In 1923 the name of the factory was changed to Philadelphia Products Co. After S. M. A. was introduced, the production steadily climbed and in 1927 the name of the company was changed to S. M. A., Inc.

Such new equipment was installed in the plant in 1939 when John Wyeth & Bro., one of the oldest established manufacturers of drugs, took over part of the plant. Many key employees from the Philadelphia plant were transferred to Mason.

Until American Home Products acquired S. M. A., most of the accounting work was done in Cleveland. Under the new management, a complete accounting department was set up in Mason. Most of the Wyeth division's accounting has been done in Philadelphia. Wyeth accounting also will be done in Mason beginning Friday.

With the transfer of the Wyeth & Bro. accounting to Mason, the staff will be expanded to handle the increased work.

Mason Bowling Alley Will Open Saturday

Mason will have big league bowling on A. B. C.-sanctioned alleys Saturday when Don VanderVeen opens his Mason Recreation alleys on West Maple street. He has three standard alleys. He also owns an adjoining building which he originally intended to house more alleys but because of the war he has been unable to install more than three alleys this year. The location is the same as that used the past few years as a duck-pin alley.

Although reservations have been sought of VanderVeen for league bowling five nights a week, he intends to hold one alley available for open bowling. Two alleys will be reserved for league bowling, with Thursday night being reserved for women.

The official opening for the Mason Recreation is at seven o'clock Saturday evening.

FIREMEN SUMMONED

Fire in the upholstery of a car parked on West Maple street brought out the firemen Wednesday night. Damage was slight.

SEED WHEAT—We have a large amount of Yorkwin wheat (the new white wheat recommended by the college as the highest yielding wheat). We think this is the best yielding, stiffest strawed wheat we have ever grown. Two years ago one field went 50 bushels to the acre and our whole crop averaged 42 bushels per acre. Last year (a poor wheat year) in a field that never gets any manure, it averaged 30 bushels, and this year 30 acres yielded 41 bushels per acre. Also we sold seed to four of our neighbors and they got more than 40 bushels per acre. One got 45 bushels from his field. C. A. Diehl & Sons, Dansville. 35w3p

FIRE has less chance on the CONCRETE FARM

Far out from the nearest fire department... what will happen if fire breaks out in your home or barn? The best answer is to build with concrete. For concrete can't burn. It resists fire; retards it and helps keep it from spreading. Protects your family. Helps save from destruction the valuable herd and equipment on which your productive capacity depends.

Concrete farm buildings are attractive and comfortable, economical to build and to own. If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor or your building material dealer.

Concrete farm jobs require a minimum of critical materials.
If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor, ready-mixed concrete producer or building material dealer.

Bulletin Board

Readers can help make this column interesting by reporting the whereabouts, the advancements and other interesting information about men in service. Of course, there is no charge for items appearing here.

Sgt. Robert S. Higgins, 21, of Eaton Rapids, was killed by flak when the B-17 Flying Fortress on which he served as waist gunner was forced to travel the width of Germany close to the ground. A fighter attack killed Lt. Vincent J. Pazio of Lawrence, Mass., navigator, and wounded Lt. James J. Brooks of New Orleans, bombardier, shot out the oxygen system and damaged the rudder not far from Munich. A few seconds later another German attack destroyed the instrument panel and paralyzed a leg of Lt. Charles E. Gowder, Macomb, Kan., the pilot. Because of damage to the oxygen system, the men aboard could not remain at the high level, so the crippled pilot brought his plane down to 12,000 feet. There the ship was caught in a flak barrage. The pilot then dropped his ship to within 25 feet of the ground and headed for England. Without maps or radio, with the navigator dead and the rudder damaged, the ship dodged all the way across Europe under constant attack. At last, after it appeared that the Fortress would finally be trapped, the pilot saw a cloud bank and headed for it, climbing up to 4,000 feet. Coming out of the cloud bank, the ship ran for the channel and was picked up there by escort planes. Two members of the crew were killed and three others seriously wounded. The pilot was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross, second only to the Medal of Honor for bringing the ship across Germany even though painfully wounded.

Cpl. Howard Bennett, now serving somewhere in France, is a staunch friend of a French farmer. Learning that the man was unable to harvest a five-acre field of wheat after the Germans made off with his horses, Bennett hitched his jeep to a mower and in two hours the wheat was cut.

At an air service command station in England, Corporal Cosgray attended a series of lectures given by battle-wise veterans which included instructions on chemical warfare defense and pertinent tips on staying healthy in a combat theater. His next station will be one from which America's fighting planes cover the liberation of occupied Europe. Before entering the army air force, he was employed as a riveter at the Willow Run Ford plant near Ypsilanti.

Lt. Jean Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Aurelius, had a look at the barn roof transition hop from Salford Field to Denver, Colo., Lieutenant Anderson flew his B-24 around the Anderson house and barn before straightening out and heading west. He is stationed at Chanute Field, Illinois.

Sgt. Jack Anway returned to San Francisco last Thursday after spending a nine-day leave with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anway, and other relatives and friends.

Lt. George C. Moran of East Lansing, and pilots of his Thunderbolt fighters, that they had the road to victory is a long one. In fact, since entering foreign service, they have flown a distance equal to 20 trips to the moon and back. Led by Lt. Col. Ben Rimmerman of Omaha, Neb., the group which recently celebrated its first anniversary in combat in the European theater, will shortly reach its ten-million-mile mark. It was one of the original four fighter units sent to England to combat the Luftwaffe under the banner of the Eighth AAF Fighter Command. Launched into combat in August, 1943, this veteran fighter outfit has scored more than 200 victories over the German air force. Lieutenant Moran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Moran of East Lansing.

Two Michigan fliers have each been awarded an oak leaf cluster to the air medal for "courage, coolness and skill while participating in bombing attacks on Nazi military and industrial installations. The airmen, Second Lt. Donald V. Doane, 22, of Mason, and T-Sgt. Wayne M. Morris, 20, of Lansing, are both members of an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress squadron in the heavy bombardment group commanded by Col. Elliott Vandevanter, Jr., of Washington, D. C. Their group is a unit of the Eighth Air Force's famed Third Bombardment Division, cited by the President for the historic African shuttle attack on Messersmith aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany. Lieutenant Doane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Doane of Mason, was a time study engineer in the Oldsmobile division of General Motors at Lansing before entering the A. A. F. in February, 1943. GOVERNMENT MANUAL GETS INGHAM HELP

OFFICIALS CONTRIBUTE TO UNIVERSITY PUBLICATION

Seven Ingham county officials have helped write the first complete and authoritative handbook on county government in Michigan. It is a 275-page manual of county administrative organization and will be published September 7 by the bureau of government of the University of Michigan. The officials are Jacob Schepers, chairman of the board of county officials; F. E. Searl, former county school commissioner; Mrs. E. T. Crossman, secretary of the county library board; L. J. Hendryx, former county surveyor; David C. Beatty, probate registrar; Victor C. Anderson, prosecuting attorney; and Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips, register of deeds.

The book, 15th in the university's series of Michigan governmental studies, is a compressed digest of the powers and duties of county officials and boards, arranged so that officials and citizens can check on every county function and power—from financing to police. It was prepared by Claude R. Tharp, research associate in charge of the bureau of government, after three years of study, and will sell for $1.00.

County government in Michigan, explained Tharp, has just grown. The manual makes no recommendations for improving county government, but merely sorts and arranges the existing threads of administration for the reader, he said.

The 11 main divisions of the manual completely cover the personnel, powers and duties, compensation and financing, and other factors of the following principal organizations and functions of county government: board of supervisors, finance, justice and law, records, education, public health, welfare, public works, agriculture and elections, plus one on miscellaneous agencies. These 11 chapters in turn cover the 59 administrative agencies, 25 boards, 5 commissions, 3 committees and 25 offices which a county may have.

Ingham Flying Club Organized in Mason

A local civilian flying club for persons interested in aviation has been organized. The first business meeting was held Monday, August 28, at the home of Richard Jewett. Lyle Miller was elected president, Harold Lavis, vice president, and J. B. Evans, secretary-treasurer.

Plans have been made, according to Jewett, to have the organization incorporated. Interested persons should contact Jewett for details on membership application.

Mrs. Madge Young is employed at Schmidt's department store.

Heart Attack Fatal To Edward J. Foskitt

After being discharged from the Ingham county tuberculosis sanatorium last spring and apparently regaining his health, Edward J. Foskitt, 68, suffered a heart attack two weeks ago and died at a Holt nursing home Sunday night.

Born in Eaton Rapids July 5, 1876, he had been a Mason resident many years. He was a painter and decorator by trade. He is survived by the widow, Grace; several stepchildren, and a brother, George Foskitt, of Kalamazoo.

Funeral services were held at the Ball funeral home Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, with burial in Maple Grove cemetery. The Rev. Clarence A. Lawson of the Mason Baptist church officiated.

Bowling League Is Organizing Teams

After several years of operations on Lansing alleys, the Mason Bowling league will play its games at the Mason Recreation this year.

Don Vanderveen, owner of the alleys, has built three regulation alleys this summer and will have his opening Saturday. League bowling will begin as soon as teams are organized and schedules arranged.

Gerald Graham, secretary of the league, stated Wednesday that the men who agreed to captain teams should present their lists to him at once so that schedules may be arranged. There are to be 12 teams, Graham said, and only nine complete lists have been filed with him so far.

Graham also called attention to rules of the American Bowling Congress. He pointed out that the Mason Recreation alleys will have A. B. C. sanction and that league members will have to abide by certain rules. One of them is that no member of a sanctioned league is permitted to bowl in league competition in an unsanctioned league. Neither may non-members of an A. B. C. league bowl in a league sanctioned by A. B. C., he explained.

HOLT

Birthday Honored

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bickett and daughter, Mrs. George Kieppe, spent Tuesday at their cottage at Pleasant lake, the occasion honoring Mrs. Bickett's 80th birthday. Dinner guests were Mrs. James Grinnell and son James of Lansing and Mrs. Walter Root of Mason. The table was set on the veranda overlooking the lake and was centered with a beautiful birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Grinnell. As the guests were seated, they sang "Happy Birthday." Mrs. Bickett received many gifts. When the Bicketts arrived home in the evening they found many of Mrs. Bickett's friends had called and left birthday cards and greetings, as well as a lovely bouquet of roses from Division 3 of the Presbyterian Aid of which Mrs. Bickett had been a member for several years.

The Woman's auxiliary of the American Legion will start its evening meetings September 6 at the Legion hall on Cedar street. Mrs. E. Mathias is chairman for the coming year.

ARRANGING PROGRAM

Plans are being made for a Major Bowes program to be given at Grovenburg church sometime in September. It is being sponsored by Mrs. Mildred Launstein and Mrs. Helen Starnier, leaders of the adult and junior choirs. Those not members of either choir but who want to play or sing are asked to notify Mrs. Launstein or Mrs. Larnier before September 7.

Fat Rides To Battle

Chemical Warfare Lt. James E. MacDonald, of Passaic, N. Y. (right) recently returned from Italy where he won the Purple Heart, demonstrating to his friend, Col. William H. Creighton of Charleston, W. Va., how this new weapon of chemical warfare, the smoke generator, works and keeps German "eggs" from hitting their mark. The generator blows out a smoke screen that blots out cities, harbors, important industrial and military installations or landing operations. Lubricating oils and paints for this generator require the products of used cooking fat.

Weather Observations

The drought is broken. Sunday night's rainfall amounted to .75 of an inch. A drizzle the next morning yielded .03 of an inch and Thursday morning's rainfall amounted to .68. That made a total of 1.46 inches for the week. The rain came too late for most corn and beans. Only late crops were helped. Farmers who put in their corn, beans and potatoes late will derive some benefit. Victory gardens were burned up. Rainfall for the month of August was 2.69, an average amount. However, the lack of rain in the middle of July and the first of August did the damage. In August of 1943 the rainfall was only 1.76 inches, yet it came after a wet July. In 1942 the August rainfall was 2.84 and in 1941 it was 2.49. The drought of 1940 is still recalled by many. There was only .39 of an inch of rain in July. Then came the last of August with 8.24 inches. The next month only 1.84 inches fell. Farmers were needed to take off the chills last Friday and Saturday when the mercury dropped to 35. The days have been warm and the nights cool for the past week. Temperature readings as recorded at the Mason disposal plant by Stuart A. Demorest were:

	Min.	Max.
August 21	48	70
August 22	49	76
August 23	50	77
August 24	53	76
August 25	56	85

LET US DO YOUR WORRYING FOR YOU

Even if you drive carefully, slowly and "just around the block," you can have an accident; 9,500,000 other drivers did. They were involved in accidents in just one year . . . at speeds usually under 35 miles an hour. Security in wartime is doubly desirable. Why risk ruinous financial loss due to an auto accident when the cost of preventing that loss is so small?

MEMBER, THE ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

This Would Help

If each of us were to write just one more letter a week to the friends and relatives who have been scattered throughout the country, and throughout the world, either because they are in the armed forces or because war work has taken them elsewhere, the bonds of friendship and of family unity would be strengthened immeasurably.

One letter a week! It wouldn't take long to write one more letter each week, would it? And wouldn't it make someone very happy indeed?

NOTES AND COMMENTS FROM

WASHINGTON

(By Representative William W. Blackney, Sixth District Congressman)

Congress Reconvenes

After a short recess, congress is again in session considering bills with particular reference to the post-war period. The house has been considering for the last week a bill to provide for the disposal of surplus government property and plants, following the conclusion of the war. It is variously estimated that from 40 to 80 billion dollars of surplus government property will then have to be sold back to the people or otherwise disposed of. Another bill that will follow shortly pertains to reconversion following the war.

Per Capita Tax Collections

In order to visualize the tremendous increase in taxes, let me call your attention to the fact that in 1913, the per capita tax paid was $22.66. In 1923, this had been increased to $64.86. In 1937, it was $97.05; while the per capita tax collection for 1944 will be $364.39. Thus, a family of five would be paying a per capita collection of $1,821.95.

With the conclusion of the war, taxes will decrease; then the nation will be confronted with the payment of a staggering national debt, now in excess of 210 billion dollars, which is steadily increasing. The interest on the national debt alone will cost the taxpayers from five to eight billion dollars a year.

The financial picture does not look especially rosy, but America has never repudiated her debts, and therefore ways and means must be devised for the payment of our colossal debt. One fact stands preeminent, and that is, that there will have to be an elimination of all unnecessary expenditures not conducive to the real interests of our country.

Education and the States

Since the inception of our government in 1787, education has been given a prominent place in the growth of our nation. The same year that the Constitution was adopted, the ordinance of 1787 said: "Religion, morality and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged." With the beginning of our government, each state assumed the problem of education. During the tremendous growth of our country, education still remained under the jurisdiction of the state and the problem of the state.

Many of my readers know that the state of Michigan occupies a unique position in its educational career. Beard, in his book, "The Rise of American Civilization," states that "undoubtedly leadership in education belongs to Michigan. It was our state that pioneered so successfully in the cause of education. So during these 150 years, the states have been jealous of their educational jurisdiction."

In recent years, however, there have been attempts on the part of federal government to encroach upon the states' prerogatives in education. Several times during the recent congresses, attempts have been made by the federal government to extend its jurisdiction within the state borders on educational matters. Up to the present time, this has not been successful.

Under the guise of giving money to the states for the increase of teachers' salaries or for the purchase of new school equipment, several bills have been presented to congress that simply manifested an endeavor on the part of the federal government to usurp state prerogatives in educational matters. While most of us know that teachers' salaries are, in the main, inadequate, and that many schools lack suitable equipment, yet that should not mean that the states should be willing to surrender jurisdiction over their educational program. If the federal government wishes to make an appropriation directly to the public school systems of the various states without attaching any strings to it, that would be fine; but if that contribution is predicated upon the proposition that the federal government wants to take over, in whole or in part, the states' educational systems, then that is bad.

I am a firm believer in the right of each state to organize its own educational system. The rank and file of the citizenry of each state are naturally interested in its educational system and will see that from year to year improvements are made. I do not believe that the federal government should work out a policy for casting each child in the same educational mold. Hitler began to do this sort of thing in 1933 as soon as he came to power. One of his policies was to take the children, eight, nine and ten years of age and mold them into the Hitler concept of education, indoctrinating them with Nazi beliefs.

In our country, we are happy to know that under our Constitution, we have freedom of speech and of the press, and possess the right to worship God according to the dictates of our conscience. We do not want any system forced upon us that will override those constitutional prerogatives inherent in our people.

A riotous moment of barracks horseplay in the 20th Century-Fox screen version of Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark," as Michael O'Shea—with William Eythe looking on—mimics their absent sergeant in putting the boys through their paces. Also included in the brilliant cast of the picture, which opens Thursday at the Fox Theatre, are Anne Baxter with Eythe and O'Shea, are Vincent Price, Ruth Nelson and Ray Collins.

FILM NEWS

FOX THEATRE

England's air ministry, war office and the admiralty were given actual secret information by the Royal Netherlands government in the production of Michael Powell's "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing," which Alexander Korda is presenting at the Fox theatre on Saturday.

This information was incorporated in the story of "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing" and provides the film with some of its most thrilling sequences. These show the secret and daring workings of the Dutch underground which is daily defying the Nazi conquerors, even though hundreds of Hollanders are daily shot as hostages.

On Double Bill

Universal's new musical-comedy, "She's For Me," also comes Saturday to the Fox theatre with David Bruce, Grace McDonald, George Dolenz and Lois Collier in romantic leading roles.

Henry Blankfort wrote the original screen play which proves an amusing comedy mix-up of two young lawyers and the girls they love.

Home Front Troubles

Has your cook, too, joined the ever-growing ranks of the parade of domestics in their march to the nearest war plant? Has your butcher renounced his stiff-shirted garb for the more patriotic olive drab? Even so, take heart and be of good cheer. The situation, you'll be glad to hear, is hardly less serious—yet. It can grow a lot worse. To prove it, the Warner Bros. have made a picture on the subject. It's "Make Your Own Bed," starring Jack Carson, Jane Wyman and Irene Manning and it's coming to the Fox Sunday. And—though you'll never believe it if you've been struggling through a year or more of unremitting laundry, bad cooking and still more laundry—the film is very definitely a comedy.

Singing stars Johnnie Johnston and Betty Rhodes star in the second feature, a technicolor film, "Halway to Heaven."

Betty Grable Plays Rosie. "Maddeline Marlowe, darling of the British stage, revealed as ex-Brooklyn queen, Rosie O'Grady." Thus read the headlines in the famed Police Gazette, the barber shop newspaper noted for its daring exposes. The Gazette, with its pink cover and blatant stories, is a leading part in the new 20th Century-Fox technicolor musical comedy hit, "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," starring Betty Grable, Robert Young and Adolphe Menjou, coming to the Fox Tuesday and Wednesday.

In this screen hit, Betty Grable is seen in the title role. Robert Young is cast as the reporter whose vivid imagination was responsible for the leading expose stories in the Gazette. Adolphe Menjou appears as Moran, his editor.

Soldier's Story. With its interpretation of Maxwell Anderson's celebrated stage success, "The Eve of St. Mark," 20th Century-Fox has brought to the screen of the Fox a picture that will be remembered as one of the mightiest emotional experiences to come out of this war.

The film will come to the Fox Thursday and Friday. Featuring Anne Baxter, William Eythe and Michael O'Shea in a brilliant cast including Vincent Price, Ruth Nelson and Ray Collins, "The Eve of St. Mark" is the war's greatest love story—the most understanding, searching drama of a soldier's faith ever screened.

"Trial by Trigger," starring Robert Shayne, western star, is the companion feature.

School Again

Pupils and teachers should approach the opening of school this fall with a new seriousness of purpose and a new determination to make the most of opportunities.

Thousands of graduates and many of the teachers of our public schools have awakened to the fact that the schools have tolerated too low academic standards and have permitted students to graduate without ever having acquired habits of study. The record of failures in officers' candidate schools are studied with examples of bright young men who never had to study when they were in high school or college and who couldn't meet the exacting standards of the army and navy.

Specialized training given to young men by the army and navy in colleges has proved that two years of college work can be compressed into one if students apply themselves and are permitted to escape from the rah-rah spirit which dominated the campuses of too many pre-war colleges.

There are many young men who now know that the tough courses such as solid geometry, trigonometry and other higher mathematics would have made it easier for them to have won commissions. In the post-war world of reconversion, of new technological and laboratory development, mathematics will prove not only useful but well nigh indispensable.

Yet here at Mason there are not now enough boys interested to even assure a class in solid geometry. They have not been told, or have not learned, that a knowledge of mathematics is essential for advancement in the army and navy. Perhaps they have not been told with enough emphasis that mathematics teaches boys how to think logically, teaches them to grasp the principles of navigation, of engineering and mechanics.

No one should be taught what to think. They should be taught how to think. That's why academic subjects such as Latin, algebra, plane and solid geometry and other allied subjects which are sometimes sidestepped because of their dryness and lack of interest, are important, much more important in many instances than the skills and social studies which are taught.

In theory, progressive education which permits boys and girls to wander where they like, to reject and accept the subjects they think they don't want or do want at the time, is fine. The only drawback is that most boys and girls do not know the path they want to take; they do not realize that the subject rejected by them as impractical or uninteresting may prove in later years to be the very one they needed for advancement; the very one they needed for training themselves to think and study along a certain line.

Many of the students enrolled in high school this year will probably be unable to complete their courses before being called into service. Those students and their teachers should make the most out of the few months remaining before the call.

Just a Matter of Bookkeeping

A local New Dealer in arguing for the continuance of the federal spending spree which has been indulged in for 12 years and in urging the continuance of federal spending after the war tells his listeners that no one should be appalled over the costs.

"It's just a matter of bookkeeping, you see," the man glibly says. "We just owe this money to ourselves and it should cause no one any concern."

When we spend, either as individuals or as a government, more money than we take in that is a debt. In time of war it is necessary that we go into debt, but even the wealth of the United States can not stand the continuous piling up of a debt for 12 years or 16 years. We can't even keep piling up a debt to ourselves or against ourselves and have a solvent nation, regardless of the theory that "it's just a matter of bookkeeping."

Individual bankruptcy, too, is just a matter of bookkeeping. A farmer may have a $5,000 mortgage, may have it with even the federal land bank, yet if he does not pay the interest and the principal when they fall due he will lose his farm. The farm will be there just the same but someone else besides the farmer will own it. Just a matter of bookkeeping, to be sure, yet the bookkeeping won't help the plight of the mortgagor if he fails to pay the interest or the principal.

The nearest approach to an estimate of the federal debt is 250 billion dollars. That is one-quarter of a trillion dollars. The total municipal debt of cities in the United States is listed as 16 billion. The total debt of all the 48 states is around 3 billion.

If the national debt is considered solely as a mortgage against ourselves or as a mortgage on the nation's property wealth, then it's already on the way to being a 100 per cent loan.

Every dollar added to the debt is a drain upon every wage-earner in the United States. Every dollar added to the debt is an added hardship upon every child born today or born 25 years from now to children of today.

The huge national debt is not just a matter of bookkeeping. It is a matter of grave concern. It means increased taxes for years to come.

In 1913 the per capita tax collection in the United States was $22.66. In 1923 it had grown to $64.86. In 1937 it stood at $97.05 and in 1944 it will reach $364.39; and in 1937 and 1944 the per capita tax collection did not balance or even begin to balance the budget.

The interest on the national debt alone will cost the taxpayers from 5 to 8 billion dollars per year. That isn't just a matter of bookkeeping. It means that every person who earns a wage will have to have his wages reduced by the payment demanded on the interest and on the principal, demanded by the tax collectors who keep the books.

Reconversion Needed

We are all making plans to reconvert our factories making war materials into factories making civilian goods just as soon as the war ends. Reconversion plans are being made by national, state and civic leaders. Yet other reconversion plans are needed. We must have reconversion of war thinking into peace thinking and we must reconvert many other things too.

One needed reconversion is to change back some of our institutions now under Communist control to American control. When Russia abandoned her alliance with Hitler and switched to the Allies the American Communist party went underground. Until then every American move to build up our defenses was classified by Communists as war-mongering. After Stalin's break with Hitler the Communists here in the United States stopped their surface operations. They even attempted to make the public believe that American Communism had been abandoned. It was not abandoned. Leaders of the Communist front continued their boring operations and have succeeded in gaining control of many labor unions, they have captured many New Deal outposts and have in some cases gained control of powerful positions in the Democratic party. In New York the Communists have taken over the American Labor party.

Communist leaders have fomented many of the crippling strikes. Because of the war the spread of Communism here in the United States has been minimized. Because of the election this fall the Communist vote has been and is being wooed. It is no accident that every Communist-front organization in the United States has endorsed President Roosevelt for a fourth term. That endorsement has been earned, the Communists apparently believe. The endorsement has been sought.

In our colleges the Communists have continued their program. In many schools they have bored from within to the extent that Communist theories have taken root.

There is and should be no quarrel with Russian Communism for Russia. If Russians want Communism they should be permitted to have it without any interference from the United States. By the same token there should be no government, national or international, permitted to interfere with our own government.

Martin Dies has been silenced, principally because he had the temerity to point to the hidden dangers of Communism, pointing to them at a time when politicians didn't want any pointing done.

Communism is not something which fastens its tentacles to government and education and unionism only in Washington and New York and other big cities. There is not a community of any size in the United States which is being overlooked by the underground workers intent upon spreading their poisonous doctrines and building up hatreds. There are organizations in this county with leaders taking their orders from those leading the Communist movement.

Communism and class warfare bred by Communism are not something remote. The threat of Communism is a condition we face today. It is a condition which the planners of reconversion must take into consideration.

DOWN BY THE SYCAMORE

Mason had a post-Civil war militia company known as part of the Curtin Guards. Where did they get that name? A Detroit News writer asked me that question and I couldn't answer it. Neither did I find anyone else able to answer so I called on Miss Alta Parks, county librarian. Surprisingly, she didn't know. She called the state library and no one there knew. The state library called the commission sent a book to the Ingham county library which told all about Colonel Curtin.

He was born in 1806. His grandfather served in the Revolution and his father and uncle served in the War of 1812. There were no wars to fight when F. W. Curtin was a young man so he went to South America to help free some of the Latin nations from the Spanish yoke. He returned to New York in 1831 to become the head of the state militia and in 1835 he came to Michigan. He fought with a Michigan infantry regiment in the Mexican war and in 1855 was made adjutant general of Michigan.

At the outbreak of the Civil war, Curtin was commissioned a colonel in the Sixth Michigan Infantry. With the Army of the West he aided in the capture of New Orleans and Baton Rouge. It was at Baton Rouge and not on the field of battle that Colonel Curtin gained fame. Negro slaves had taken refuge with the Sixth Michigan Infantry. The brigade was commanded by a general somewhat like the American general who refused permission to American troops to celebrate the Fourth of July in Cairo. The general at Baton Rouge ordered Colonel Curtin to surrender the slaves to their masters. The colonel refused with the statement, "I was not commissioned to restore slaves to their owners. I was commissioned to free them."

While the statement was applauded by the public, it didn't set well with military authorities and Colonel Curtin was forced to resign his commission. He returned to Michigan before the close of the war and entered the banking business at Kalamazoo. He died in 1883.

I witnessed a wonderful transformation Monday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Seger Rice of Bunker Hill brought their daughter—er, son—to a Mason barbershop to have her—his—hair cut. A beautiful girl with golden curls was changed into a handsome boy. When Lucius (Bud) Rice starts to school at the Feltz Tuesday morning, no one had better mention the curls to him. Bud wanted the curls shorn off but the operation was painful to Mrs. Rice.

People who waste their time and run up water bills sprinkling gardens little realize how comparatively futile are their efforts. Sunday night's gentle rain amounted to .79 of an inch. If a victory gardener has a garden 30 feet wide by 100 feet long, he would have to sprinkle on 1,477 gallons of water to equal Sunday night's shower. That's a lot of water if the victory gardener used a garden hose or even had his wife carry the water in a sprinkling can.

A rainfall of one inch over an acre of ground means a total of 6,272,640 cubic inches or 2,699 cubic feet of water. A cubic foot of water weighs 62.4 pounds, so the water on an acre would weigh 226,512 pounds, or 113 1/4 tons. A gallon of water weighs 8.345 pounds. Therefore, a rainfall of one inch over one acre of ground would mean 27,143 gallons or 603 barrels of water, using 45 gallons to the barrel. A farmer having 100 acres has a load of 11,325 tons of water added to his farm every time an inch of rain falls, and the only way he can prevent the added weight is to hold an umbrella over the farm.

It took me quite a spell to work out the computation. I had trouble weighing the cubic foot of water. It kept sliding off the edges. I then adapted the experiment of weighing a cubic inch and multiplying the result by 1,728. By slapping a cubic inch of water onto the scales fast and cupping the edges, I was able to weigh it.

Dave Diehl of Dansville is planning to rest up from farm work on week ends by playing football with the Detroit Lions. After tearing into farm work through the week, he says he will look forward to playing around with Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and Cleveland Rams on Sundays. Brothers Dave and Dora are operating Diehlfelds on a big scale this year.

All adages are founded upon experience. "Don't send a boy to mill" is one of them and its truth was borne home to Jim and me one afternoon this week. As a sideline we had taken the job of using a crosscut saw on a buzz pile down in the woods on the old homestead. After working two hours and getting up a powerful sweat, we sent a young nephew to the house to get water. A half-hour later the boy and another nephew on the other side of the family came lugging a swill bucket down in the field. When the boys started out the water floated only some tomato peelings and melon seeds. En route through the fields four giant grasshoppers and a double handful of chaff and weed seeds were added. After some somersaulting, we drank the remaining liquid and called it good. Jim said it tasted something like Coca Cola. The nephews explained between shrieks as Jim tapped them on their heads with the blunt end of the axe that they didn't know we wanted drinking water.

The school bells in the few schools which still have school bells will ring again next week and summer will be over. While school bells are rung to summon children to classes and not to herald the end of the school year, there is something about the bells which does mean that summer has ended. The year of the year is not so inspiring as spring, especially in view of the coal situation, although at our house we'll have wood to burn if I can keep Jim clutched the other end of the sawed it good. Jim said the passing of summer, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved." It was also Jeremiah who inquired, "Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there?" The last quotation doesn't fit anything in this essay but it is one of my favorites. I had been saving it up to use in connection with the Mason hospital situation but from present indications, the quotation won't be needed on that score for some little time.

QUARANTINE LIFTED

Lifting of dog quarantine restrictions last week in 18 southern Michigan counties allows owners and trainers of hunting breeds to train their dogs on game birds, rabbits, and such other animals as may be lawfully hunted with dogs. Such training, between sunrise and sunset, may be continued until March 15, the conservation department announces. No firearms other than pistols and blank cartridges may be used while training dogs. Pinconning township in Bay county is the only area in Michigan still under quarantine. The quarantine expires there September 19.

A conservation department fire warden, Louis Scalucci, recently killed a 40-pound bobcat with one shot from a .22-caliber pistol at 100 yards. The big bobcat was shot near Crystal Falls in the Ottawa national forest.

"Frontiers of American Culture," a study of adult education in a democracy, is a report to the nation of the work which has been done by private and public institutions. James Truslow Adams is the author of the book and he has started with our earliest times and talked of the educational processes which kept our nation going. This at many times was very informal, and in late years has emphasized the more formal type. However, the swing now seems to be toward that for workers, women in the home, and others who cannot or would not go on to school. This includes discussion type meetings often sponsored by service clubs of the cities, or farm groups in the rural areas. At a time when Michigan has set up a $200,000 experimental fund for just such work, it should be especially interesting to all of us to know what has been done and what is visualized for the days after the war.

"Valley of the Sky" is a novel by Robert Skidmore based on the lives and thoughts of a crew of a bomber in the South Pacific. It begins with them they leave home and gather for the first time in the Pacific. Some of you have read Stephen Vincent Benet's narrative poem, "Western Star," and will remember the lines which Skidmore has used in his frontispiece: "For God must winnow men like wheat That He may save a few." "Joanna" is Helen Ashton's latest novel and is the story of a woman's attempt to remake her life and find meaning in it when she learns on the day that France falls, that her famous novelist-husband has fallen in love with his Brazilian favorite. She returns to England to try to become acquainted

Trade Here at Home Help the Community

We feel there is one paramount obligation all of us should recognize toward the business men of our community, who are working hard and putting in long hours to supply our needs.

That obligation is to trade here at home—to keep our dollars at work in our own community. That way you help your neighbor and you help keep the wheels of business turning. You'll benefit, too, in the long run.

When it comes to prices and stocks of merchandise from which to make selections, you'll do just as well, or better, right here at home.

Briefly Speaking

BY MRS. W. R. TIETZ

The number of men who fail to make adequate provision for retirement income is appalling. When you consider how simple it is, through Life Insurance, to build an estate which not only takes care of your family finances should you die, but will take care of that greatest emergency of all, your own old age, it is surprising that men do not make the health to get it. Family Protection and Retirement Income are interesting subjects. I'd be glad to talk to you at your convenience.

Letters from Men and Women in Service

(Men and women serving in the army, navy, marine corps and merchant marine are asked to take time out occasionally to give the home folks a better understanding of experiences in camp, aboard ship, in the air, and on the firing line. Letters from men and women serving their country abroad or at home are welcomed.)

Reports from Saipan

From Saipan Lt. Tom Greene of Mason writes his parents of life in the South Pacific. He is acting as battery commander for a marine corps artillery unit. In a recent letter he wrote:

"This island is much quieter now and we'll get it in shape eventually."

"Wading through mud up to your ears, and in them, is not an entirely satisfactory method of locomotion. For another, the flies here are king-size sugar cane flies and it quite wears out some of the smaller fellows to fight with them for their food. The food is very good though. We don't mind the mosquitoes so much, even when they attack with a fighter escort. They give us a realization of how Tojo—I mean Koiso & Co.—are squirming when our clouds of planes come boring into their little farms around the Pacific."

"If the mosquitoes don't carry me off, I'll tell you the story of my last 'corrida,' which is Spanish for bullfight."

"So there I was, walking along minding my own business and dodging sniper bullets when I came to this black bull in the path. Politely I stepped around him. Less politely, he charged me, and me with my rifle over my shoulder! So I gave him the old stiff-arm and went around like a halfback in a Rose Bowl game. The next time I came past I had my rifle ready, but he decided to forgive and forget it. I had it coming, as I had put a piece of shrapnel into his southern exposure the day before when he wandered over by one of my targets."

"And that was the closest I got to firing my rifle. I was in the front lines during most of the campaign and was the way of two Nip counter-attacks, but never fired it. That's not saying that I didn't direct some fire at them, though, and slightly bigger than rifle bullets, too. The Banzai Boys don't care for it, either, it would appear from the way they dropped their counter-attack and ran."

"Don't worry about me at any time. The boys say they want to stand either behind me or far away. When guys touching you on either side get hit and you don't get a scratch, you quit worrying about the Nips shooting at you."

"I am in good health, too. Never felt better in my life than when we were chasing Japs up and down these hills."

Wasting War Food

More than 150 million pounds of meat is lost annually due to bruises that animals receive before slaughter. Bang's disease costs another 30 million dollar loss and a 50 million dollar loss results from cattle grub. Dairy mastitis costs one-quarter of the possible milk production.

What Other Editors Have To Say

Conviction Commended

We wish to pay tribute to Judge Leland W. Carr of Ingham county for his conduct of a grand jury investigation which led to the indictment of more than a score of men since convicted of giving or accepting bribes to influence legislation. And we wish also to pay tribute to Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler for his splendid work, which resulted in the conviction of 20 men. It has been intimated that there is still more work for the grand jury to do, and we sincerely hope the work will be continued until all the guilty legislators, and others who bribed them, are brought to trial. If it requires more money than was appropriated, let the state of Michigan appropriate more money for the job. Clean house of all the crooks to be found.—W. H. Berkey in Cassopolis Vigilant.

Graft Doesn't Pay

Conviction of 20 of the 22 men indicted for graft in connection with the 1930 Michigan state legislature suggests that in Judge Carr and Special Prosecutor Sigler the forces of justice have obtained able and valiant defenders.

The long trial held at Mason brought forth considerable defense legal talent—another proof that Messrs. Carr and Sigler prepared their evidence thoroughly. The ultimate value of these convictions to the taxpayers of Michigan is not estimated, which also suggests that additional funds for the Carr and Sigler investigation should be forthcoming without objection.

Mr. Sigler has promised further indictments relating to the corruptive acts of other members of the legislature. Knowing this gentleman as I do, I predict that before he steps out of his present role he will cause numerous other Michiganders to become "guests" in the Jackson Southern Prison of Michigan.

While public opinion certainly condemns these weak legislators who accepted bribery, it must not be forgotten that certain business interests were party to the corruptive practices.

There are always those who give and those who take and one is just as evil as the other. —George Averill in the Birmingham Recreant.

Victory Won

A great victory has been won on the home front in Michigan. Marshalled by the indomitable Kim Sigler, special prosecutor appointed by Judge Leland W. Carr, evidence of graft and bribery in high places, affecting and infecting the very bloodstream of our American legislative bodies, convinced an Ingham county jury. It found 17 state legislators guilty of conspiracy to accept bribes. They have been sentenced to prison. Convicted with them are officials of three finance companies.

The people of the state of Michigan owe a great debt of gratitude to Prosecutor Sigler and to Judge Carr. As effectively as our warriors on the war front are attacking major victories at arms, these defenders of decent Christian and American principles in our governmental structure have achieved a major objective on the home front.—Russell Boyle in Michigan Tradesman.

Leslie Bus Routes Expanded to Four

Trial runs of the four Leslie school buses will be made Monday afternoon, September 4, to the routes which they are expected to drive twice each school day, commencing Tuesday morning. Six of the grade teachers of the Leslie school will be qualified as drivers and on Monday they will all cover the three routes which they are to drive, in order to familiarize themselves with them. The fourth bus will be driven by George Lewis.

The tentative routes of the buses are as follows: No. 1, Bellevue road to Onondaga and return; No. 2, leaves Leslie by US-127 to Territorial road, to Meridian road and by the east side of Pleasant lake to Henrietta and then west to Rives Junction and back to Leslie by either the State or Hull roads.

No. 3, driven by Mr. Lewis, will cover the Plank road, the West Olds road, the West Base Line road and the intersecting highways coming into Leslie from Five Centers. No. 4 leaves Leslie by the Fitchburg road to the Cooper road, then north on the Cooper Woods road to the Covert road, then west to Crane road and south to Kinneyville road, then east into Leslie. The schedule for each of the buses will call for arrival at the school building each morning at 8:50.

Teachers' meetings are set for Monday, the grade teachers at 2:30 a. m., and the high school teachers at 2 p. m.

Memorial Services

A memorial service will be held at the House of United Brethren church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 for Pvt. Myron W. Greene, who was killed in Italy on July 14. The service will be in charge of Rev. Charles E. Baum, pastor of the church. Private Green was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Green of the House of United Brethren church in the Leslie township. He was born in Slocum, Iowa, February 19, 1918, and attended the schools of that township and village until a few years ago when the family moved to their present home in Leslie township.

Melons Stolen

Some of the boys who were penalized a few weeks ago for raiding a melon patch south of Leslie did not take the lesson seriously, for they have been apprehended for raiding another patch, that of Ernest Walker, east of Leslie, Sunday afternoon.

Special Services

The evening services at the Leslie Baptist church Sunday will be conducted by two young people who are in preparation for the ministry. One of the young men, Win Gardner, is a graduate of the Leslie school, class of 1941, and is now a student at the Northern Baptist seminary, Chicago. He will deliver the sermon. Assisting him will be Miss Veve Miller of Munnich, who is a student at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. Miss Miller conducted the services at all three of the Methodist churches associated with the Munnich circuit last Sunday. The evening service will open at 7:30.

Recovering from Injuries

Word was received from Av-S Henry Shellenbarger that he has been released from the hospital at Waco, Texas, and is recovering from minor injuries resulting from a plane crash August 18. The instructor was at the controls when both motors stalled and in a forced landing in a cotton field, the plane was wrecked. Both the occupants were hospitalized but are expected to soon be on Blackland field again.

New Sidewalk Damaged

Two small girls made their permanent impression in the new sidewalk being laid on North Main street, after work had ceased for the day last Tuesday. They sat in the newly-laid cement, they drew pictures in it and walked on it. The father of the girls will have to pay for the relaying of the marred sections.

The residence of the late Dr. Robert Brown on South Main street has been sold to Neo Swift, who is having it remodeled into a two-family apartment.

The electric power was off for two periods of about two hours each in the north side of the village and the rural area in that direction Sunday afternoon. The high wind was the cause as well as the cutting of the current to the street lighting system early in the evening.

A baby grand piano has been placed in the Leslie Baptist church through the courtesy of Miss Laura Ambus. This, added to the pipe organ, will add materially to the musical program of the church, members state.

Rev. Edward J. Cross will again be the pulpiter at the Olivet Baptist church, Lansing, Sunday morning, due to the illness of the pastor, Rev. H. C. Carnell, who is also president of the Michigan Baptist convention.

John Disenroth, who is home for a short furlough from training as a marine at San Diego, Calif., was the driver of a car which left the road just north of Jackson on US-127 Sunday night. Considerable damage was done to the car but none of the occupants was injured.

Acorns for Poultry

Acorns of the willow oak variety are an excellent and potent source of vitamin A, according to tests conducted by the United States department of agriculture.

Two per cent or more of the acorns in the diet of chicks produced yellow flesh and this color increased with the quantities of acorns fed. As much as 20 per cent appeared to have no harmful effect.

MEMORIAL RITES SUNDAY

Pvt. Myron Green

PVT. MYRON GREEN

Memorial services for Pvt. Myron Green are to be held Sunday, September 3, at 2:30 at the House of United Brethren church at the corner of Hawley and Vaughn roads. Private Green was killed in action in Italy in July. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Green.

Drouth Takes Toll Of State Fruit Crop

Michigan's fruit crop has suffered at least a 20 percent reduction in volume from early June estimates, but has received a definite boost in quality in the case of some fruits such as grapes as a result of the relatively high temperatures. That is the way V. R. Gardner, professor of horticulture and director of the experiment station at Michigan State college, sizes up the present situation. An even greater one will take place in fruit volume if the dry weather continues, predicts Gardner.

An optimistic note is from the viewpoint of the consumer who will benefit by getting fruit of a higher sugar content, and better flavor. At the same time the consumer may be called on to pay slightly higher prices as a result of the smaller production, and the producer is taking a loss from smaller yields of nearly all crops.

Conditions as of July 1 indicated that Michigan would have good pear, peach and grape crops, and a medium apple crop. But according to Director Gardner, growers are harvesting substantially less than anticipated due to the drouth. As the dry weather continues, volume is shrinking every day.

It is now too late for rains to benefit grapes, Bartlett pears and Wealthy and McIntosh apples. Immediate rains can help late maturing fruits.

Most common factor resulting in reduced volume is the shrinkage in the size of fruits, such as apples and peaches. Wineries and those making fruit juices will particularly benefit, however, from the improved quality.

Underground Water Survey Being Made

A study of the underground water resources of the Lansing area is to be made to determine whether they are being seriously depleted. The Lansing Board of Water and Electric Light Commissioners, the geological survey division of the conservation department and the geological survey branch of the U. S. Geological Survey will cooperate in the study, first of its kind to be made in Michigan.

The current drouth has served to call attention of users of water to the fact that water supplies are not unlimited and that there are times when cities must ration water.

Heavy drafts on ground water by municipalities, industries, and war plants in particular, and shortages of water in many areas have shown the need for such a study of underground waters. The study is expected to determine whether present supplies are adequate to insure indefinite continuation of present heavy pumping rates, if conservation measures are necessary to protect underground water supplies, and if new fields can be developed as the need arises.

Studies will be made of levels of ground water in the Lansing area in relation to volumes of water pumped, and special tests will be made of the permeability and water-yielding capacity of the sandstone formation.

Following completion of the initial study at Lansing, cooperative studies may be undertaken in other cities using ground water.

The ground water studies round out a complete water resources program carried on by the state conservation department, state highway department and state stream control commission, in cooperation with the water resources branch of the U. S. Geological Survey. The larger picture includes determination of normal levels of inland lakes for the purpose of assisting local agencies to stabilize levels for the public benefit; the measurement of the flow of streams for pollution control, drainage, improvement of conditions for fish, game and other wildlife; and to determine the availability of water for hydroelectric power. It is expected that the information thus obtained will be valuable in the planning and construction of post-war projects.

Growers of Wheat Are Given Advice
Ingham county farmers planning to sow wheat this fall should make arrangements for seed and fertilizer as quickly as possible, suggested H. H. Barnum, county agricultural agent. This is particularly true of commercial fertilizer, he said. According to C. E. Miller, head of the Michigan State college soils department, the industry is still experiencing labor shortages and distribution is likely to be uncertain during the planting season.

Inasmuch as most Ingham county wheat shippers prefer white wheat, either Yorkwin or American Banner is advised. Yorkwin is a new variety in Michigan, is a heavy yielder and smut resistant. Baldrock is the recommended red variety.

Barnum has been notified by the M. S. C. entomology department that September 17 is the "fly-free" date for Ingham county. Wheat sown prior to that time is likely to be attacked by the Hessian fly.

In regard to use of commercial fertilizer on wheat, observers have noted a tendency in this county while from 200 to 300 pounds per acre are recommended amounts based on years of carefully checked field experiments, Barnum said.

Brazil's new iron deposit has been estimated at 15 billion tons, or 22 per cent of the world's estimated iron reserves.

HOLT Mary Dixon Holt School Board Approves Addition

A plan for the completion of the Holt school as soon as labor and materials are available after the war has received the unanimous approval of members of the board of education, following an intensive study of the problem. While final approval of the plans will be withheld until the time for actual construction arrives, the program calls for the addition of a two-story four-room unit at the northwest corner of the present building. The addition would make possible a completely modern home economics department and a large grade school room and a music room. At present, the home economics department is located in inadequate temporary quarters in the basement, and is seriously handicapped by a lack of sewer, water and gas lines.

Again emphasizing the overcrowded conditions in the Holt school at present, members of the board pointed out that the proposed addition would go far toward alleviating the crowding. They also pointed out that in addition to providing a serious problem from the standpoint of sufficient classrooms, the project will help to maintain employment during the post-war reconversion period.

Testimonial Dinner
Three servicemen home on furlough were given a testimonial dinner in the home economics room at the school Monday night by the John Buck post of the American Legion. About 60 were in attendance. After a Bohemian dinner was served, Commander Arthur Huver introduced Lt. Col. Leslie Peek of the state troops, who acted as master of ceremonies. He introduced the men being honored. They were Pvt. Post-War Busses Will Provide Added Comfort and Safety for Travelers

Revolutionary design and mechanical features that will bring new luxury and comfort to high way travel were disclosed as the Greyhound Bus Lines left contracts for the construction of experimental models of the postwar compartment super coach.

Although the program is dependent on wartime priorities, O. S. Caesar, Greyhound vice president who announced the plans, is hopeful that the new busses will be completed for road tests early next year.

From a mechanical standpoint, two different types of busses will be built. The Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation will manufacture models with air-cooled engines and many outstanding wartime developments of airplane construction. This will mark the first effort to adapt the air-cooled engine to highway transportation. The other experimental busses, to be built by General Motors, will be Diesel-powered and will follow methods of body construction perfected by that organization.

Both types, which were styled by Raymond Loew, noted industrial designer, in collaboration with Greyhound engineers and technical experts representing the manufacturers, will be similar in exterior appearance and luxury of interior appointments.

The new busses will have a seating capacity of more than 50 passengers, as compared with 41 in the cruiser type super coach, the most modern busses of the present Greyhound fleet. The improved design provides for wider seats, deeper and more restful cushions, and more space between seats to allow greater relaxation and freedom of movement by passengers. The increase in the number of passengers carried, together with more roominess, will be gained by adding only slightly to the height, but not enlarging the width or length of the bus, in comparison with present Greyhound coaches.

The increase in passenger-carrying ability is achieved by placing the seats into three compartments and this novel arrangement actually gives 30 per cent more floor area. Of the 11 compartments, one will seat 17, another 21 and the third, 12. All seats will be placed so as to give passengers greater visibility since scenery is a major attraction of highway travel.

Regardless of extreme weather conditions in either summer or winter, passengers will be assured a maximum of comfort as a result of perfected air conditioning that includes the most modern methods of temperature and humidity control. Riding ease and "roadability" will be gained by an entirely new method in shock absorption that is brought about by a complete departure from conventional methods of weight distribution and suspension. A central doorway and a spacious interior area leading to the three compartments will add to passengers' convenience when boarding or alighting from the bus.

One of the compartments, which includes toilet facilities, has the possibilities of being used for sleeper accommodations, or as a buffet and smoking lounge. It may also be utilized for the storage of light express shipments and baggage, although passengers' luggage will be carried in lockers in the body walls.

For more than a year, a wooden "mock-up" of the bus body has been under constant study and subjected to exhaustive tests by Greyhound engineers and specialists in all other phases of passenger accommodations. Numerous changes and improvements were made in the seating arrangement, the dimensions of seats, the lighting and interior appointments during this long period of experimentation. As a result, the new busses will offer higher standards for passenger comfort than have ever before been obtained in highway transportation.

Use of plastics and larger curved window surfaces give a new, modern streamlined appearance to the compartment super coach. The driver's section will be almost entirely surrounded by transparent plastics to permit a wider range of view.

Hydraulic gearshifts and air brakes now make modern busses easier to drive than most passenger cars, but the new Greyhound coach will incorporate still further refinements in the placing of controls and instruments to simplify operation. All mechanical and design features of the new bus have been planned to insure a maximum degree of safety.

An outstanding feature of both models will be larger window spaces for increased visibility, combined with greater strength, obtained through the use of new lightweight, shock-resistant alloys. An important innovation in bus construction—the use of a newly developed detachable rear-end engine assembly—will be included in both types.

This engine assembly will be mounted on a double set of axles, each with dual wheels, and may be easily detached for maintenance and repair while the body remains in service with a replacement power plant. Also, the detachable engine unit will completely eliminate motor noise and vibration.

Although the new bus model embodies the most modern trends of streamline design, its styling is accomplished with the more practical considerations of passenger comfort and operating efficiency, and also to conform with size limitations of state highway regulations.

Approved Methods Make Better Peaches

The fruit canning season is in full swing in the kitchens of Michigan homemakers, and just now attention is turning to the preserving of the peach crop which is coming to the market.

Miss Roberta Hershey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State college, emphasizes that canning does not improve a third rate product. Runty, hard, bruised or green peaches never make a good pack. But, if canning is carefully done, the product should be very nearly like the fresh fruit and still make winter keeping certain.

Peaches may be packed raw, Miss Hershey says, but they make a neater pack and there is less surface browning if they are first simmered in syrup from 4 to 8 minutes. Avoid overcooking the peaches.

If you like a brassy pack, place the halves in the jar pit side down in overlapping layers. Fill pint jars with hot syrup within one-half inch of the top and fill quarts within one inch. If three-piece glass tops are used, leave one inch head space in the pints. Be sure that the peach halves are entirely covered with syrup. A light or medium syrup is generally preferred, prepared by using between 8 and 12 cups of sugar to a gallon of water.

For peaches that have been pre-cooked and packed hot, process each jar for 15 minutes in boiling water bath. For those packed raw and then covered with syrup, process for 35 minutes; or, if very soft, 25 minutes.

Be sure to seal only partially before processing, and then complete the seal after the processing period is over, using the directions given by the manufacturer of the jars.

KILL WEB WORMS

Take steps now to reduce next year's population of web worms that infest trees in this area, is the plea of Miss E. I. McDaniel, Michigan State college entomologist. Do this by pruning the cawberry masses from tree branches and destroying them, preferably by burning, she advises. Practically all types of shade trees, some fruit trees, and even bush flowers are attacked, making them unsightly and resulting in the destruction of foliage.

Shark Meat in Demand

Shark meat, with the texture of swordfish and the flavor of haddock, is proving popular in Eastern cities. While they are caught for their oil and skins, the steaks when quick frozen prove a valuable addition to the menu.

CAN PREVENT DAMAGE

Flower growers who have experienced difficulties with bulb mites, which attack stored bulbs and corns, can prevent this damage by following a few simple precautions, according to Prof. E. I. McDaniel, Michigan State college entomologist.

First, thoroughly cure the bulbs and corns before placing them in storage. Maintain a temperature of 55 to 60 degrees F. in the storage room to prevent development of the mites. Plant only healthy bulbs and corns and encourage rapid growth of the plants.

Additional measures, if necessary, include submerging the bulbs in water at 110 degrees F. for one hour, or storing small quantities of cured bulbs in a rotenone or a 2 per cent nicotine dust.

Ice Deliveries Won't Stop WHEN SUMMER IS OVER

We are aware of the necessity for keeping ice, not only in the summer, but through the fall and winter, too. This is because ice helps maintain an even temperature in your refrigerator, one of the most important factors in food preservation.

We maintain a regular delivery system through the year. If you would like to have either rural or city delivery, will you call 6001.

Because of the present critical tire shortage...

Please DON'T TRAVEL OVER LABOR DAY!

In the whole period of the war this Labor Day will be the most critical for transportation. Intercity buses simply cannot carry all the people who will need or want to travel — because hundreds of these buses are temporarily standing idle, without tires.

Your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. If you must go, please be prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you now—but the urgent needs of war come first. We know you will understand and cooperate as you have always done.

We feel sure that it won't be long until all our buses are back in service. With a proud war record behind them, and an urgent job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!
