

NATIVE OF ENGLAND GIVEN MASON PULPIT

MASON AND GRAND LEDGE PASTORS IN EXCHANGE

At the Methodist conference held in Albion last week Rev. Henry Liddell of Grand Ledge was assigned to the Mason church and Rev. Claud W. Satterlee of Mason was given the Grand Ledge assignment.

Reverend Liddell is no stranger to the Mason area. For five years he was pastor of the Leslie Methodist church. He served the Leslie church from 1917 to 1922. He has been at Grand Ledge for five years. He went there from the Maple church in Battle Creek. He has also held pastorates in Kalamazoo, Big Rapids and Buchanan.

Born in England, Reverend Liddell completed school at 16 and entered teaching. Two years later he decided to come to the United States. He was reared in Cornwall, long a mining area, and so secured employment in the Quincy copper mine at Hancock. With his earnings he contributed to the support of his parents back in England and saved enough in five years to return to school. Albion college at that time offered a preparatory course and in two years Reverend Liddell took four years of high school work. He continued with the college course, receiving his degree at Albion in 1915. He became a student pastor while attending college.

Mr. and Mrs. Liddell have four children. Mrs. Liddell is also an Albion graduate, holding degrees in both art and music. The oldest son, Stephen, is in business at Rochester. He formerly taught there. He directs the Congregational church choir. A daughter, Mrs. Harry Miller, is director of the choir at the Stockbridge Avenue Methodist church in Kalamazoo, where her father preached. Paul Gibbs Liddell was an officer with General Patton's army and was seriously wounded. He is and was a graduate of the school of music at the University of Michigan and plans to return to graduate work this fall. He is now at home. The youngest daughter, Beulah, is organist at the Grand Ledge church. She is also a graduate of Lansing Business University.

PASTOR TO LEAVE

Rev. Claud W. Satterlee After five years of a successful pastorate at Mason, Reverend Satterlee is leaving for Grand Ledge, Rev. Henry Liddell of Grand Ledge has been assigned to the Mason church.

Reverend Satterlee came to the Mason church from the Greenwood Methodist church in Jackson. It has been a successful five years for the church. Reverend Satterlee has been active outside the church as well. For the past two years he has been secretary of the Mason Kiwanis club.

Election Party Tuesday Night

Whether Vernon J. Brown of Mason wins, loses or draws in the race for governor, there will be an election party Tuesday night in the office of the Ingham County News.

NO VERDICT REACHED IN CONTEST ON WILL

Whether George Bowden was mentally competent when he drew his will in 1938 could not be agreed upon by a jury of 12 men and women who listened to evidence all of last week. On Friday afternoon the jurors told Judge Charles H. Hayden it would be impossible for them to reach an agreement. They had been deadlocked for hours. The court discharged the jurors and the argument stands where it did before the trial.

Under the will of Bowden, who died at his farm home on Dexter Trail last August 17, his property was left to three cousins in England. The will was inventoried at $26,455.25. Nothing was left to the daughter, Mrs. Roy Hunt of Mason.

Mrs. Hunt in contesting the will claimed her father, because of his age and his health, was mentally incompetent to draw a will in 1938. Witnesses for Mrs. Hunt at the trial testified that Bowden had been of sound mind and had been the victim of delusions since 1919. There was another appearance of witnesses who testified that Bowden was eccentric but was sound in mind.

Expert witnesses, who had never seen Bowden, but who had read to them a hypothetical case in which allegations were made that the case was paralytic to Bowden's case, testified the man was sane and had hardened of the arteries, a condition which in the opinion of the doctors would have made him mentally unsound at certain times and on certain subjects.

Donald G. Fox of the Lansing legal firm of Hubbard, McCullough will admitted to the trial. He was taken into word received from the three cousins in England. Fox represented the cousins. Burney E. Brower of Jackson and L. E. and George McArthur of Mason were attorneys for the daughter. They said the case will probably be brought on for trial again, either at the September or January terms of court.

There are only two ways open, George McArthur explained, "One is for a settlement, and there is no intimation that a settlement out of court is being considered, and the other is a trial."

Offers and counter-offers between the cousins and the daughter were made before the trial but the parties were far apart, lawyers said.

Although the polling of the jury trial, and no record is kept on how individual jurors stand, the rumor around the court house is that the jurors stood eight to four for upholding the will.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TRACTOR OPERATOR

BOLT KILLS MAN DISCING COIN FIELD

Helping his nephew on the big Proctor farm on M-38 in Stockbridge township last Friday forenoon, Roy Bishop, 62, was killed by lightning. Bishop was operating a Ford-Ferguson tractor hauling a disc. He left for the field in the morning. Clayton Proctor, owner of the farm, went into Stockbridge to work. Mrs. Proctor went to Ann Arbor after preparing a moon lunch for her uncle. She placed the lunch in the kitchen.

Proctor returned to the farm about 2:30. As he drove up the road he could not hear the sound of the tractor in the field being discing for corn by Bishop. Upon entering the house, Proctor noticed the lunch had not been touched, so he hurried back to the field. When he reached the field, he was unable to see the tractor. He did see Bishop's hat lying on the ground. He then saw the tractor tangled up in a fence at the edge of the field and could see Bishop sprawled out across the disc.

Proctor ran to the tractor. He found his wife's uncle dead, with severe burns about his head and hands. The condition of the tractor, the position of the hat and the tracks left by the tractor told the story of what had happened.

As Bishop was near the center of the field he was struck by the bolt of lightning. According to medical examiners, the bolt struck Bishop in the head, burning a hole in the crown of his hat. The lightning traveled down the man's body, burning the clothes, and then jumped to the tractor seat. There were also spots on the fence which appeared as if they had been burned, perhaps a part of the charge leaving the man's arm and hand, which was against the fender. Bishop's watch and the gold in his teeth were melted by the charge of electricity which tore through his body. The tractor's headlights and glasses were melted. The seat of one fender of the tractor looked as if they had been spot-welded.

After the bolt struck, killing the driver, the tractor kept on in low gear down a furrow, skirting a marsh, jumping a two-foot ditch, smashing over an eight-foot lane across another ditch and eventually being tangled and stopped by a wire fence. The tractor was two-thirds the way through the fence when it stopped, and all the time the body of the driver remained partly in the seat and partly resting on the disc. The tractor went about 90 rods after the bolt of lightning struck.

Clinton Dunsmore said he was working in his fields a half-mile away, about 10 o'clock Friday morning when the storm came. There were only a few drops of rain and three cracks of lightning, Dunsmore said. He continued at his work, explaining that the rain lasted only five minutes. However, the lightning flashed around. A peach tree on the Ray Hadley farm, east of Proctor's, was felled by the lightning, and a transformer on the Norman Showman farm to the west of Proctor's was struck.

Bishop had been employed at the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit for 35 years. He liked to work at the farm and since May 9 had been there helping Proctor. He had no other near relatives. Funeral services were held at the Milner funeral home in Stockbridge Sunday. Burial was in the Stockbridge cemetery.

WAR BRIDE HAPPY

HERE, Mrs. Perry R. Jackson likes the United States and the people in it, especially the people she has met in Mason since her arrival two weeks ago.

They are all so friendly, she explained. In the picture Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are in a flower garden which reminded Mrs. Jackson of the flowers in the garden of her home in Horwich, Lancashire, Horwich is about 100 miles north of London.

Before her marriage in England last summer, Mrs. Jackson was Muriel Walkden. She kept house for her father, four sisters and two brothers. She and Pte. Perry R. Jackson were married at Bolton March 9 of last year. Jackson was with the Fourth Base Air Depot near Salisbury. He sailed for home December 13. Mrs. Jackson came with other British war brides on the President Tyler.

Scouring around to find bread, meat, and clothing items here holds no fear for Mrs. Jackson.

CONSUMERS STEP UP VOLTAGE AT MASON

TRANSFORMERS AT SUB-STATION BEING BUILT

Voltage on Consumers Power lines in Mason and on the rural lines out of Mason is being stepped up about 10 times. The stepping up is part of the $25,000.00 improvement program which was halted because of the war.

As explained by Glen Coon, local manager for Consumers, the stepping up of the voltage will give more reliable service, with better control, and will make for the outlying areas.

Now the voltage is 2400 to the city limits and on a few farm lines. With the 4-wire Y system completed, the voltage will be $320, and to power engineers that means a 10-fold increase over present voltage.

WOMAN NEARING 100 DIES AT SON'S HOME

ONE OF LAST OF INGHAM PIONEERS PASSES

A woman whose earliest memories went back to the pioneer days in Michigan died Monday night in Mason. She was Mrs. Emma A. Densmore, 98, and she died at the home of her son, E. A. Densmore.

As a girl of five Mrs. Densmore came to Mason with her parents, Stephen and Harriet Collar, from Steuben county in New York. She was born January 25, 1848. The family settled on what is now part of the Frank Laustein farm on the Hawley road in Vevay. The girl attended the Hawley district school when Otis Fuller and John M. Dresser were also students there. Later the Collars moved west of Aurelius Center and then to the Dube neighborhood in Alameda where they lived for many years. Emma Collar married Addison A. Densmore December 23, 1865. She had always lived in Ingham county except for the year of 1874 when she and her husband pioneered up in Crawford county near Higgins Lake.

The husband died 41 years ago. Surviving Mrs. Densmore are the son and a daughter. The daughter is Mrs. Alice Thompson of Lansing. There are eight grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. A brother, Charles Collar of Mason, also survives.

Funeral services were held at the Jewett chapel Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, with burial in Fairview cemetery, Dansville, Mich. A. F. Camburn of Stockbridge, formerly pastor of the Stockbridge Methodist church, and Rev. Clarence A. Lawton, pastor of the Mason Baptist church, officiated.

Four Make Demands For Graft Retrials

Before the state supreme court June 28 will be argued the cases of four men convicted of conspiracy in the first graft trial held in Mason. The men who have appealed to the state supreme court to have their cases remanded to the Ingham circuit court for retrials are Jerry T. Lorie, Bay City, former state senator; John Hancock, Detroit, manager of Associate Discount corporation of South Bend, Indiana; George Omacht of South Bend, general counsel for Associates Discount, and Abraham Cooper, president of Union Investment Co. of Detroit.

The four set forth in petitions to the court that they might not have been convicted had the jurors known of the $16,000.00 paid Charles F. Hemans out of grand jury funds by Kim Sigler, then special prosecutor. Hemans was the principal witness against the four.

In an answer to the petitions filed Tuesday, Richard E. Foster, special prosecutor named to succeed Sigler, said the trial jury knew that Hemans had received pay from grand jury funds. Foster asked that the petitions be denied. He will argue the state's case before the supreme court.

YOUNGSTER DROWNS IN FALL FROM DOCK

TRAGEDY OCCURS AT OUTING AT LONG LAKE

Gary, the handsome, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nellis B. Leman, 617 South Lansing street, was drowned last Saturday afternoon at Long Lake in Clare county. Although he was seen pointing to Sigler's waste of grand jury funds, Sigler has kept hammering away on his one theme that he is just about the only honest man in Michigan. Brown has darted a few arrows at his rivals but mainly has kept to the point of explaining the good done by the administration and outlining what he believes should be done for the good of the state.

Brown has had some expert witnesses testify in his behalf during the week. For the first time in history, last Monday night, all of the elected officials of Michigan endorsed the elevation of one of their number, Lieutenant-Governor Brown, to the position of governor.

Stressing his experience in governmental offices ranging from township supervisor, school trustee, mayor, county clerk, legislator, auditor-general up to lieutenant-governor, the other seven members of the state administration board promised to be a qualified support in the primary and general election.

Speaking at Ann Arbor and Escanaba, the state officials pointed to the unity with which the administration has been administered by the state. Governor Harry F. Kelly, stating that Michigan is a grateful state, they pointed to the care given World War Veterans through the Michigan State Office of Veterans Affairs, the Emergency Board of Veterans Organizations and a joint committee of the legislature studying the best way in which to provide a bonus or adjusted compensation.

Each state official told of major accomplishments of the present state administration, including the advances that Michigan has made largely to the teamwork of the eight members of the administrative board. Each, including Governor Harry F. Kelly, spoke except Dr. Eugene F. Elliott, whose endorsement of Brown for governor was given for him by Herman H. Digma, secretary of state.

Three of the state officials, Digma, Attorney-General John R. Dethmers and Brown spoke at Ann Arbor where they were attending a meeting. Governor Kelly, Auditor General John D. Morrison, State Treasurer D. Hale Brink and Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler spoke at Escanaba where they were attending the eighth Michigan Planning Institute.

It has been pointed out during the week that two of the candidates for the Republican nomination for governor are new converts. Sigler served three terms as Democratic prosecutor of Barry county, and against Wilber M. Bruckner, former special prosecutor, blasted away at the entire Republican party. In that campaign Sigler was the candidate of the Democratic party for attorney general. Mayor Jeffries could not be coaxed into saying whether he was a Democrat or a Republican until just before the filing date for the primaries.

Batches of Four Republican state candidates come in clutches of four. There are also four candidates for lieutenant-governor. They are Owen J. Cleary of East Lansing, George N. Higgins of Ferndale, George N. Keyes of Detroit and Howard Nugent of Bad Axe. Cleary is an executive of the Clearly Business college. Higgins is a state senator from the Okemos county district. Keyes is a doctor, dentist and lawyer and was lieutenant-governor in 1943 and 1944. Nugent is speaker of the house of representatives.

Election Battles To End Tuesday

SMEAR CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR SETS NEW LOW RECORD, VICIOUS ACCUSATIONS MADE

Candidates have only four more days in which to present their own qualifications for the offices they seek, or what is more popular in this campaign, to tell what dangers will confront the citizenry if opponents are nominated. The heat is all in the contest for the Republican nomination for governor. Some of those who have engaged in smearing have slopped the contents of the bucket upon themselves.

Raymond J. Kelly has taken the lead with invective the past week, calling Kim Sigler the zoot suit candidate and Vernon J. Brown a rusty hinge. Detroit's Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, one of the four candidates for governor, has been banging away at Sigler and pointing to Sigler's waste of grand jury funds. Sigler has kept hammering away on his one theme that he is just about the only honest man in Michigan. Brown has darted a few arrows at his rivals but mainly has kept to the point of explaining the good done by the administration and outlining what he believes should be done for the good of the state.

Feldman, awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy to operate slot machines in Lansing, filed affidavits Friday claiming he was granted immunity on the charge while Kim Sigler was serving as special prosecutor. Pressure was also brought to bear on him, Feldman said in his petition filed in circuit court, to implicate Sheriff Allan A. Macdonald in the slot machine racket. Feldman said he refused to swear to something that was not the truth and therefore he did not name the sheriff.

Daily Bus Schedule For Music Courses

Mason music students will have a school bus at their disposal for daily trips to the Michigan State college summer music course. C. Densmore, secretary of the Mason board of education, worked out final details of the plan Wednesday with William R. Sur, head of the public school music department.

Densmore said that 20 Mason music students have signed up for the courses in band, orchestra and voice, and additional enrollments may be made up until Monday.

Even by bus time Monday is not too late," Densmore said. "The college authorities assured me that any boy or girl of high school age who wants to attend one of the courses can enroll by applying to me. I think that a real bargain is being offered through the cooperation of the Mason school and the college. The cost is $20 for the six-week course with an additional $12 for six private lessons if the pupil desires them. In addition, the college offers a fine recreational program. Hours will be set aside every day for swimming in the college pools. All other recreational facilities at the college will be made available to the summer students. Students should gain much in musical education and also have a lot of fun."

FALSE ALARM

Deputy Fred Frye spearheaded a drive about 10 o'clock Friday night to save Clarence Carpenter's chickens from thieves. The chickens were saved. A telephone call was received at the jail, reporting that a man with a truck had driven to the Carpenter hen coop on College road in Alameda and was probably loading chickens. Deputy Frye led a crew from the sheriff's office to the Carpenter farm. No one was in sight, and the officers started away. Then Carpenter showed up from one side of the building. He said he had driven into his yard after dark with a load of plank and had unloaded them without turning on lights. "His chickens were safe."

Tire Chain is Used To Commit Suicide

Russell Morgan, 40, of Lansing ended his life about midnight last Friday by fastening a tire chain about his neck and to the limb of a tree and then stepping off the top of a fence post. The body was discovered about daylight Saturday morning hanging from the limb of a tree in the George Hicks Rev. Clarence A. Lawton, pastor of the Mason Baptist church, officiated.

Morgan operated a farm near Lansing and a filling station in Lansing. When Morgan failed to return to the farm after closing the gasoline station, Orval Antcliff, a neighbor, took up the search. Antcliff knew Morgan had friends near Webberville. Antcliff went to Webberville and then to the farm after closing the gasoline station. Orval Antcliff found Morgan's car beside the road. In the seat was a note which read, "I can't face the world any longer."

Antcliff searched the woods nearby but could not find Morgan. Antcliff then returned to Webberville and at 1:30 reached the telephone operator and called through to the office of the sheriff. Deputy W. Wood of Williamston and Charles Lechler of Webberville were assigned to help Antcliff with the search. Just before daylight the body was found 300 feet into the woods from the highway. Coroner Ray Gorsline was summoned. He said death was from hanging and that no inquest was necessary.

VETERAN NEWS

OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS LANSING

Veterans Who Entered School at Own Expense Will Be Reimbursed

Veterans who entered school at their own expense while they were on terminal leave or while they were hospitalized and awaiting discharge before December 28, 1945, may receive refunds for tuition, books and supplies under a veterans administration procedure announced this week.

No provision was made for such cases in the original GI bill passed in June, 1944. But the amended GI bill approved December 28, 1945, did cover them.

Under the procedure set up by VA, refunds will be handled through the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the area in which each veteran lives. VA will pay the refunds to the educational institution after it has reimbursed him. The procedure follows:

Necessary Procedure

1. The veteran must obtain a certified statement from the school he attended, giving the period he was enrolled, the course of studies he pursued, and the money he paid for tuition, books and supplies. The statement must indicate that the institution has reimbursed him for the money he spent.

2. The veteran must submit this certified statement to the VA regional office of his area. If he was on terminal leave at the time, he must include a photostatic copy of the service order placing him on terminal leave. If he was hospitalized, he must include a statement by the proper official of the station, post or hospital in which he was receiving treatment, including information as to the date of his discharge or, if he still is hospitalized, of the probable discharge date. Whether he was on terminal leave or whether he was hospitalized, he must include an official VA application for education or training in effect during the period for which the veteran is asking reimbursement.

Exciting Moment

Here's a spine-tingling moment in "Adventure," M-G-M's hit of the year which brings Clark Gable and Greer Garson together for the first time on the Fox screen on Sunday and Monday.

FOX THEATRE FILM NEWS

One of the country's most amazing rackets is revealed in "Allotment Wives," coming to the Fox Theatre on Saturday. The film exposes the methods of a gang supervising the activities of a large number of girls, each of whom marries several servicemen for the purpose of being named the beneficiary in the receipt of their pay allotments and insurance benefits.

Kay Francis, Paul Kelly and Otto Kruger are co-starred in the startling film—Miss Francis as the head of the gang who masks her activities behind a beauty salon and a service canteen, Kruger as her close friend and principal assistant in the racketeering mob, and Kelly as an army officer who returns to his previous job as a newspaper reporter in order to ferret out the criminals.

Gable and Garson In "Adventure," starring Clark Gable, Greer Garson and Joan Blondell, with its fast action ranging from South American ports to San Francisco and Reno, Gable is seen as Harry Patterson, boss of a merchant marine freighter. Following a shipwreck, he lands in San Francisco on a big shore leave and here meets Miss Garson, playing Emily, a young librarian who falls to be swept by his toughness.

Patterson makes up his mind to prove his prowess to this skeptical young woman, and the result is a whirlwind courtship. The film will be shown at the Fox on Sunday and Monday.

New Young Star "Sentimental Journey," starring John Payne, Maureen O'Hara and William Bendix, and featuring nine-year-old Connie Marshall, opens Tuesday at the Fox Theatre. Maureen O'Hara in the role of Julie plays a glamorous and successful Broadway star whose love for her husband supersedes everything else in her life. John Payne plays the role of her husband, a producer-director. William Bendix plays the role of the young couple's best friend.

Left a Million When Duke Randall (Richard Lane), wealthy New York night club owner, finds his romance slipping, he decides to forget all about it by jumping into his car and heading west, without any particular destination in mind. In Lawndale, Ohio, his car breaks down and, with nothing better to do, he drinks himself into insensibility.

A hometown girl, Janie Clark (Jinx Falkenburg), sees that he gets safely to a hotel, and holds his wallet for him. Duke is so impressed with her honesty, he takes an accident in his car, then goes into hiding, seemingly dead. In a letter to his lawyer, he writes a new will, leaving $2,000,000 and his night club to Janie.

That's the plot of "Talk About a Lady," the Thursday and Friday feature at the Fox, starring Jinx Falkenburg and Joe Besser.

Double Feature The Bowers Boys are the stars of "Live Wires," the second half of Thursday and Friday's double feature program. Leo Gorcey gets into typical bad luck when he tries to serve a summons on a gangster, played by Mike Mazurki.

No Bugles When The Nurse Steps In

By D. LEE WARE Ware's Drug Store There is no fanfare about the approach of a trained nurse. She moves on rubber heels, quietly, surely, assuringly. Her very presence is healing because her disciplined knowledge makes her confident, cheerful, hopeful.

She has been trained to execute orders without flinching, yet with sympathy and complete understanding of the patient's ordeal. She can make illness tolerable, convalescence a joy.

Walter Scott wrote of nurses: "When pain and anguish wring the brow, a ministering angel thou." Her professional eye overlooks nothing that can add to comfort and release from pain. She is scientifically trained and yet profoundly human. Honor the nurse's skill. It is unique among professions.

This is another of a series of editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday.

THREE COOPERATIVE PASTORS LEAVING

Mason has taken a real loss in the transfer of three cooperative preachers to other fields, but we all know that the three preachers coming into the community will continue the operation which has so marked the work of the churches here the past five years.

Never has there been a time in the history of the community when the churches have worked so well together. That's the way it should be. There is just one task to be done by the church—pointing the way. There is plenty of work for every church to do. In fact, if everyone in the community attended church services there would not be room enough in all four churches to seat more than a quarter of those who would come. Mason would need 16 churches to handle the crowds.

Three of the pastors who led in unifying the people of the our congregations have left or are leaving, but they are not taking the unity with them. That stays here, and it is a monument to Arthur W. Cruickshank, A. W. Eastman and Claud W. Satterlee—to Clarence A. Lawton, too, but he's not leaving and no man should have a monument erected to him while he is still on the scene.

The Mason churches, the Catholic mission and the Christian Science Society have done and are doing much for the community and for the people in it. How much more of all the organizations could do if all of us would lend a hand.

The community joins in expressing its gratitude to the pastors who have left or are leaving and in welcoming the three new pastors. Through the services of the new men we all hope the cooperation of the churches will be furthered.

OUR ELECTION DUTY

Next Tuesday is election day—the day the two major parties select their candidates for the general election in November.

Next Tuesday all of us who are 21 years of age have a duty to perform. Elections meant nothing in Hitler's Germany. They mean nothing in Russia. In the United States elections are of vital importance. So long as people go to the ballot boxes on election day they will continue as masters. If the time comes as it did in Germany when elections become a mockery then our boasted freedom will soon be gone.

Yes, silly charges are made in the heat of political campaigns. Men and women grow overzealous and over-zealous in the causes which they are leading. But our election system is still better than prevails in most other nations, and our system can be changed next month or next year if enough of us agree on changes which should be made.

By and large, we get pretty fair government. We could have better government if more of us took greater interest in government. Here in Ingham county there have been trials of men, who violated the trust placed in them. The men were convicted, but the numbers convicted represented only a small percentage of the men and women in public office. For every man convicted of betraying the trust reposed in him there are a thousand others who have been touched by no breath of scandal.

There are people who would have us believe that all except themselves are dishonest. Our better judgment tells us that is not the case. Were such a condition to prevail for even a week our government would fall into utter confusion and chaos.

Americans do have good government. The men and women elected to office are in the vast majority of cases faithful to their trusts. Certainly there should be no laxity on the part of the courts. Every public official who is guilty of violating his trusts should be sent to prison. But a better way is to choose only honest men and women for public office, and the time to choose them is at primary elections.

Our present election duty is to dispassionately and carefully weigh the merits of the candidates who have filed nominating petitions and then to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for the candidates we believe are best qualified for the positions.

THE WOODCHUCK IS A FRIEND—NOT A FOE

The more we know the less we fear. A few years ago bounty were offered on woodchucks. Now they are protected by law. They are protected because scientists have learned that the good done by woodchucks far outweighs the harm.

A woodchuck is a cousin to the squirrel and can climb trees on occasion. The woodchuck is a marmot—a good thing to remember when some woman talks about her new marmot coat. In this part of Michigan the woodchuck goes to sleep in November and doesn't wake up until sunrise of February 2, if you like to believe fairy stories. Scientists say that a woodchuck can not read a calendar and that his sleep ends with a few warm, bright days which melt the snow.

Scientists have found that when the temperature begins to drop in November the woodchuck, fat as a goose, crawls into his underground cavern and pulls the hole in after him by caving in the dirt in the tunnel leading to the nest. During this period of hibernation nothing is eaten, so that no fuel is required to be converted into bodily heat by the oxidation of the blood through breathing. On the contrary, the lungs almost cease to work. There is an occasional respiration—a sighing inhalation of breath—but most of the time the only oxygen in the lungs is the trifle reaching them by slow heart beats, and by the diffusion of gases. A mirror held before the mouth and nostrils is not clouded by breath. The animal may be placed under water, or in a jar of carbonic acid gas, for an hour or more without drowning or suffocating; nevertheless, respiration and other bodily functions do not cease. The slow absorption and combustion of the fat stored up under the skin by the abundant feeding of summer and fall supplies the meager warmth required to sustain life.

Nature has worked out the hibernation plan because woodchucks live only on clover and vegetables. Their food altogether fails during the winter months, and is of such a nature that it can not be stored up like squirrels store nuts.

Horses sometime break their legs by stepping into the vertical lookout holes of woodchucks. Farmers dull the cutting knives of their mowing machines by kniving through the dirt at the entrances to burrows. But now it is known that the woodchucks dig the burrows for rabbits, and that when the woodchuck population declines so does the rabbit population. The good woodchucks do far outweigh the damage charged against them, scientists of the Michigan department of conservation report. The woodchucks are our friends—not our enemies.

DOWN BY THE

Sycamore

If I ever run for public office I will not only have to be drafted; I will have to be shanghaied. I wouldn't take the punishment dished out to a candidate for an important office for less than $30,500 a year, and that's $100 a day. During a few weeks in even-numbered years I hear Dad accused of all manner of crimes. Then for the balance of the two years I hear people praise him for his good deeds and the exemplary life he leads. It is not a case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. He is the same man day in and day out. It is just politics.

As pointed out by Guy Jenkins of the Jackson Citizen Patriot staff in Lansing last week, the three candidates opposing Brown joined in a slender chorus which accused Dad "of everything but running a harem, and that may come next." Jenkins pointed out that Floyd Fitzsimmons was with Raymond J. Kelly the day Kelly filed his nominating petitions. Now Fitzsimmons says he is Brown's friend. Fitzsimmons has been in Mason in recent weeks trying to line up support for Raymond J. Kelly. Yet in an attempt to smear Brown, Fitzsimmons now seeks to have people believe he is for Brown. Well, 12 good men and true were in Mason a few months ago and they refused to believe Fitzsimmons under oath.

Dad had to lay off campaigning last Saturday to plant his potatoes. He has never yet let politics interfere with providing for his wife and children. When we would get to the end of a row and straighten up, I would repeat some campaign charge. "Plant 'em, I'll get 'em," he would say. "I'll get 'em, I'll get 'em," he would say. "Not a thing—not a thing. People who know me won't believe such things; and anyway, why should I dignify such silly charges by formal denials?" I have found that the people who go about spreading lies usually get found out, and so I'll just keep on the way I have gone.

When Dad stopped in at the office Monday morning, before leaving the Sycamore Valley for the final campaign swing down to Detroit, up through the Thumb and into the Saginaw Valley, I showed him a vicious screed put out by an East Lansing man.

"Do you want to do anything with that?" I asked, as I handed the sheets of paper to him. "No, throw it away," Dad said, as he finished reading the lying lines. "A few days after the election the author will have a rush of remorse. He'll realize then he sold out pretty cheap. Throw it into the wastebasket."

Without being ruffled, without showing the least signs of anger or bitterness, Dad left for the home stretch of the campaign. As he started out the door, he stopped to say, "If I let such things bother me, I would be in an asylum instead of running for governor. Don't let them bother you."

Of course, Dad's right. Being yapped at and smeared is a part of the business of running for public office. Just like typographical errors are a part of the printing business, and returned merchandise is a part of the ready-to-wear business. But this yapping business is a part of the political industry I wouldn't like.

In Dad's case he has one advantage over some of his opponents. He knows his friends don't believe the charges being made.

Barbara Wallace of Mason and Eulah Liddicoat of Grand Ledge are both stenotype students at the L. E. U. On Sunday Rev. Henry Liddicoat, Eulah's father, was assigned to the Mason Methodist church. The Methodist parsonage in Mason is next door to the Wallace home, so the girls will be able to do their homework together.

The Liddicoats are a musical family. The mother and four children are all accomplished musicians. The father sings, but doesn't rate himself the equal of his wife and children in music. That's what he told me, anyway. The preacher was born and raised in Menability on the Cornish coast of England, the scene where the best-seller, "The King's General," was laid.

Three new pastors will soon be administering us of our wicked ways, and will set our feet on the paths of righteousness. Dr. Lauren E. Brubaker is the new shepherd at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Henry Liddicoat is coming here from Grand Ledge within a few days to take the pulpit at the Methodist church. Rev. Murray Morford will arrive August 1 to serve the Mason Church of the Nazarenes. That leaves Rev. Clarence A. Lawton of the Baptist church who knows the most effective holds to use on the devil who has his chapel hard by. There is some dispute about why the three pastors departed. Some folks profess to believe that they left because they found no more work here to do. There are others who insist the three left in despair, because their labors in the vineyard yielded so few grapes.

These three new preachers may do wonders for this community. These three new men are bringing in a lot of new holds to use in wrestling with evil and some of the new holds may turn the trick.

It was Cowper who said, "All shepherds are alike to wandering sheep; resolved to follow none." There must be sheep willing to follow a shepherd if they are to be kept in the path. If the sheep are bound not to follow, even the best of shepherds will have little success.

John Edwin had a short sermon. It was:

"A man's ingress into the world is unked and bare, His progress through the world is trouble and care; And lastly, his egress out of the world is nobody knows where. If we do well here, we shall do Myrtle there. I can tell you no more if I preach a whole year."

With the Claud W. Satterlee to Grand Ledge will go a budding young scientist, Royal Satterlee. He's a fine young man. And the Mason Klwanis club will miss Claud. He has been an efficient secretary.

To keep church and state separate, a new paragraph shall be started right here. And for the ending:

Remember V-J Day June 18. Vote for V. J. Brown for governor.

Brown Appeals to Republican Voters

Republicans who have pride in the party and believe that an office seeker should show party loyalty and a record of work accomplished for the party, feel that no campaign oratory or political showmanship can overcome this indisputable fact—Vern Brown is the only Republican candidate for governor who can qualify.

They point out, too, that Vern Brown's character, honesty and ability have been for many years acclaimed by the people of the state. It is pointed out that neither of the other Republican candidates was ever recognized in his precinct as a Republican leader. One of the other candidates during the last 12 years sought state office on the Democratic ticket; another stayed neutral under the protective cloak of the city non-partisan type of government. The third was just too busy with city and veterans' affairs to take time out to appear at state conventions.

Loyal Republicans proudly point to Vern Brown's record. He has supported Republican principles throughout his life; he has been a leader in Republican affairs in his city, in his county, and in his state.

The second test that the Republicans will apply will be the test of experience. They ask you to compare the splendid reputation for experience in state executive position that Vern J. Brown has won for himself with the experience of the other three candidates. He is a proven executive of state caliber.

No matter how much deflection there may be among the voters in the coming primary, party men will pretty much stick to Brown. —Lapeer County Press.

SNAKE PIT. This is the story of the journey of one woman's return to sanity, and how the way seemed to her. Virginia Cunningham, a novelist, has a mental breakdown from working and playing too hard. She is sent to the asylum at Juniper Hill, where she puts up a courageous fight to regain her sanity. Several times she is near her goal, and each time slips back into the dim land. "Long ago they lowered insane persons into snake pits; they thought that an experience that might drive a sane person out of his wits might send an insane person back into sanity." Living among the women who will forever remain in mental darkness, Virginia is slowly forced back to normality. This human drama is tremendously exciting—and heart-breaking.

HAWKS FLIGHT. As the hawk soars over a lake and peers down through the transparent water at all that is hidden within, so does Carey Moore take a hawk-flight over her past years. Time makes evident to her what she has not been able to see before. She tells the story of four marriages, one her own, and what each of four women does to her husband, to her neighbors and to her own marriage. Each story is a major or minor tragedy. An accurate and excellently characterized story of human behavior in American family life.

SKINNY ANGEL. In a wide sense, "Skinny Angel" is the story of all people who try to live graciously on soup-bone salaries. Specifically, it is a story of one college professor's wife who, vexed by her privations, still manages to laugh at trouble. The daughter, Thelma, who writes this book, gives an amusing picture of family life.

Lansing increases her school room.

M. C. Gilbert, representing the Slayton Lyceum Bureau, visited Mason to complete the canvass for a course of lectures and entertainments.

REVISED STANDARD VERSION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT. The International Council of Religious Education undertook this timely and desirable revision of the American Standard version of 1901 at the request of various Protestant groups in America and Canada. In this day of doubt and change we must clear away all impediments of language, error and faulty translation from the Holy Word, so that the record stands clear and true for all men to read. The format of this volume is very pleasing, with large, clear type spread across the whole page, and the removal of cluttering cross-references and explanations to the bottom of each page, instead of scattered through the text. Our American scholars have indeed rendered us a great service.

Every spot on the globe can use copies of the Scriptures

Never in history has there been so great a demand for copies of the Bible, New Testament, or portions of the Scriptures. Look at your own globe. Place your pencil on practically any inhabited island, or on any continent, and the American Bible Society will tell you how many requests have been sent them from that spot—as well as from all over the world—for copies of the Scriptures. Talk to almost any "Joe" or "Ed" who fought in distant lands, and he will tell you that whole families, towns, and nations are spiritually starved for copies of either the Bible, the New Testament, or portions of the Scriptures.

So will buy a portion of the Scriptures, 20¢, a copy of the New Testament, and 50¢, a complete Bible. "Man does not live by bread alone." Any gift you make will be gratefully received. Your Pastor will tell you how to forward your gift to the American Bible Society—a nonprofit organization that for 130 years has distributed the Scriptures to people all over the world "without word or comment."

NINE HERDS GO ABOVE 40 ON BUTTERFAT

Nine herds in the Ingham-West Dairy Herd Improvement association made better than 40 pounds of butterfat, and 16 other herds made between 30 and 40 pounds of butterfat for the month of May, according to the report of the tester, Robert Witte.

Harold Wilson & Son of Holt led the list with their 11 grade Holsteins. The herd made 49.2 pounds butterfat from 1,312 pounds milk. Other herds making over 30 pounds butterfat are: Homer Launstein, 12 grade and registered Jerseys, 36.5 pounds milk, 44.9 pounds fat; Ralph Darling, 26 registered Holsteins, 1,250 pounds milk; 44.5 pounds fat; Harry Covert & Son, 23 registered Holsteins, 1,343 pounds milk, 42.7 pounds fat; E. Most dairymen turned their cows out on pasture during May and they have picked up considerably in production.

The association average for the 509 cows tested was 35.8 pounds. Butterfat made an increase of 4.6 pounds over last month; 93 cows produced over 50 pounds of butterfat compared to 6.3 for last month. On May 8, May 10 and May 12, three sets of twin calves were born in Paul Simpson's herd of 21 purebred Holsteins.

Notes and Comments from WASHINGTON

By Rep. William W. Blackney, Sixth Michigan District

The Island of Guam

My attention has just been called to the fact that some speakers in my district, and in Michigan, have criticized the congress because, it is alleged, it did not vote for the fortification of Guam before Pearl Harbor.

The statement is definitely true that prior to Pearl Harbor, there was a bill before congress providing for the fortification of the island of Guam.

We had a bill before us, before Pearl Harbor, that provided for the appropriation of five million dollars for deepening the harbors of Guam, but not one penny of the money so requested was to be used for its fortification.

I am calling the attention of my constituents to this fact so that their minds may be made clear with reference to this matter.

My statements can be borne out by consultation with the records in the navy department and in other departments of the government.

As a matter of fact, President Roosevelt had stated that the island of Guam must not be fortified because to do so would be an affront to Japan, who then was ostensibly a friend to the United States.

I wanted you to know these facts because they are facts, and can be substantiated, as stated above.

The island of Guam, since Pearl Harbor, has become exceedingly important and now is our greatest strategic base. The island consists of 225,000 square miles of land, consisting of 144,000 acres.

The navy is in charge of the island and a naval government, supplemented by a civilian government, controls the island.

This island lies about 5,000 miles from Hawaii and is of inestimable value to us, not only as a naval and military base, but for its potential use in the increased air commerce of the future.

The island of Guam is an American possession and therefore will not be subjected to a trusteeship. Any attempt by the department of state or any other source, to subject Guam to trusteeship would be repugnant to American laws, rules and regulations.

It has a native population of 22,000 people, who have been extremely loyal to the United States. Guam can and will become our greatest and most potential naval and military base of the future.

Naval Reserve Divisions As a member of the naval affairs committee, I have been particularly interested in not only the navy during time of war, but also in the post-war navy.

The navy department is organizing in several cities of Michigan and elsewhere, naval research divisions. These divisions are to consist of 200 men each, with 12 officers to each division. The men are to receive training predicated upon the rating groups assigned—such as machinists, radiomen, and other various groups.

A picture of you and your telephone

No, NO, NOT THAT! We certainly do not suggest that you include your telephone's photo in the family album. But you may welcome a picture of your telephone service—and how we plan to make it bigger and better. So here goes.

Right now we are working at top-speed on a 5-year $150,000,000 expansion and improvement program. Our first objective is to supply service to the thousands of families who are still waiting for telephones. But this program is intended to do much more than that. It will enable us to care for future growth and give everyone the kind of service wanted when and where it is wanted.

And Michigan Bell's earnings are in the picture, too, for good telephone service depends on adequate earnings. Thousands of thrifty people have their savings invested in Bell System securities. Their money makes good service possible. In fact, Michigan Bell's $150,000,000 post-war program will be financed largely by these and other investors. And that program will provide more and better telephone service for you.

So you see, telephone rates—such a small part of your monthly budget—must be maintained at a level which will keep our earnings adequate. Otherwise, investors would not put their money into the telephone business, and the future quality and extent of your telephone service would suffer.

We believe our customers want good telephone service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service.

Technical improvements over the years have brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. But if the recent rapid rise in costs continues, rate increases may become necessary. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to insure good telephone service.
