MASON SERVICE CLUBS AID RE-REGISTRATION

LIONS AND KIWANIS TO CANVASS CITY

With less than half the eligible voters registered in Mason, members of the Mason Lions and Kiwanis clubs have decided to canvass the city as special deputy city clerks. They will be sworn in, in regular form as deputy clerks for the one purpose of registering voters.

At the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday night the members were assigned the first ward. The Lions at their meeting Wednesday night were given second ward assignments.

There are between 1,200 and 1,500 men and women in Mason who are qualified to vote. City Clerk George Kellogg estimated, and about 650 have re-registered up until Wednesday. Registrations have speeded up this week, though, Kellogg reported, as the October 15 deadline nears.

The last legislature passed a law forcing a general re-registration under a permanent registration system by October 15 this year. Cities and townships with populations above 5,000 were already under the permanent system and so no re-registration is necessary in Lansing or Okemos townships. Re-registration is necessary in all other townships in the county and for voters in the cities of Mason, East Lansing and Williamston, in order for voters to cast their ballot on November 5. Old registration lists are not to be used, and under the new system a voter must exercise his franchise every four years in order to keep his registration in force.

Republicans Worried
The re-registration law is causing concern to Republicans in both the county and the state organizations. Residents of big cities, where the Democratic strength lies, do not have to re-register. In townships and the small towns, where the Republican strength is concentrated, the re-registration law is effective.

Mason, with a 50 per cent re-registration, is far ahead of many small towns and townships where the re-registration runs down as low as 10 per cent.

In Alameda township the re-registration rate is below 20 per cent. Notices are to be mailed to all voters on the old registration list, calling their attention to the new law. Township Clerk Floyd Fugle said.

In other townships of the county special efforts will be made the next week to induce voters to register.

Peculiar attitudes are being revealed by some voters, a township clerk pointed out. Some cling to the theory that they always have voted without re-registering and so won't re-register now while others say, "If the legislature doesn't want me to vote I'll stay home," the clerk reported.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard pointed out that the new law was enacted to prevent registration lists from being padded.

The law is for the protection of honest voters and was not enacted to penalize anyone entitled to vote, Hilliard declared.

House and Contents Destroyed by Fire

Fire destroyed the Michael McMann farm home on Elbert road in Delhi township last Friday afternoon. Most of the furniture was also lost.

Both the Mason and Delhi township firemen answered the alarm but the flames had gained such headway that there was little left to save when the equipment arrived.

The contents of the house were covered by a policy of $500, in the Ingham County Farmers Mutual. Another company carried the risk on the dwelling.

Last spring the McManns suffered a fire loss when the barn on the farm where they lived in Locke township was burned.

Business Man Urges Jackson to Organize

If business men hope to throw off the shackles of bureaucracy and regimentation, if they really mean to stave off communism they must abandon their present apathetic efforts and launch a strong fight. That was the statement made by Merrill Graham, secretary of the Greater Jackson association, in a talk before the Mason Chamber of Commerce Friday night. The speaker had an example of apathy before him. Only 15 of the 75 members were present.

Government regulation was brought about by the silence of business leaders against the clamor of the leftists and professional do-gooders, Graham asserted. Government controls are continually tightened because of the failure of many conservatives to vote, the Jackson man declared.

Graham made several suggestions to the Chamber of Commerce directors on building up the local organization.

Members present Friday night took no action on adoption of a uniform store hour policy during the holiday season. The matter was left to the board of directors.

Any voter desiring to vote at the fall election must be registered not later than October 16, 11 a. m. at the town hall from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. October 9 and October 16 for that purpose. Ray Campbell, Township Clerk. 40w2

SAVINGS ON SOAP WILL PAY COSTS

Water Softening Is Advised

If Mason installed and operated a municipal water softener its cost could be paid for over a 20-year period by the savings on soap. That's the assertion made by Raymond J. Faust, an engineer from the state health department, before the Mason Kiwanis club and city officials Tuesday night.

Figures presented by Faust indicated that it now takes 131 pounds of soap and laundry aids a year to keep clean a Mason family of five. That's with tap water tested at 360 parts to hardness per million gallons. If the water was softened down to 85 parts per million gallons, like Lansing and East Lansing water, the housewives would need only 34.6 pounds of soap, Faust declared, thus saving $1.57 per year on soap.

Home water softeners cost about $36.25 per year over a 10-year period, Faust explained, but the saving on soap amounts to $1.57, leaving the net cost $24.68 per year.

Garments washed with soft water have a longer life than garments washed with hard water, Faust insisted, because the minerals in the water break down the fabrics of the garments.

In prefacing his talk on water softening, Faust explained that the water in Lake Superior has a hardness of about 45. Water in the other Great Lakes range from 100 in Lake Michigan to 175 in Lake Erie, the change in hardness resulting from the addition of river water. River water hardness, Faust said, runs between 200 and 400. It contains no iron.

Ground water in Michigan ranges from 65 to 575 in hardness, an engineer said, explaining that Mason water comes from the sand and gravel drift tests 360.

Williamston had an ideal water supply when the wells were first drilled, Faust asserted. The water tested 65 and came from a deposit of limestone which precipitated out the calcium and magnesium carbonates and sulphates which cause hardness. As the deposits of minerals from the Williamston water strata were exhausted, though, the hardness has climbed up to 134.

Mason water contains little iron, tests show. East Lansing water is loaded with iron, the content being so high that iron from untreated water precipitates rust on grass when it is used for watering, Faust said.

If Mason softened a million gallons of water (a three-day supply at present usage) 2,324 pounds of the salts which cause hardness would be removed, Faust insisted.

George Jennings, state health worker, showed movies of the Chelsea iron-removal plant, the Brighton pumping station and the Ann Arbor softening plant.

Faust pointed out that water, like iron ore and other natural resources, must often be conditioned before it can be used. He declared that every family pays for conditioning water—some paying the cost by the use of soap and other softening agents, some by home treatment plants and others by municipal plants. Soft water is not only a boon to housewives but is equally important to many industries, Faust pointed out.

DEATH CLAIMS WOMAN BORN 101 YEARS AGO

CITY'S OLDEST RESIDENT RECALLS PIONEER DAYS

Mason's oldest resident, Mrs. Sylvia Bailey, and one of the oldest in the state, was claimed by death last Friday. She was 101 years old. Born near Howard City on April 7, 1845, she was able to recall many happenings of pioneer days. She had lived in Ingham county since 1900.

Sylvia Clark was the daughter of Sylvan and Hattie Clark. She outlived three husbands. Her first husband was Joseph E. Bailey. The second was Lewis N. Wright of Owosso. The third husband was Mark Bailey of Mason, whom she married in 1902.

Mrs. Bailey was the mother of eight children. Three of them are dead. Those who survive are Mrs. Rosa Carpenter of Mason, Mrs. Elizabeth Wikel, Mrs. Hattie Goucher and Mrs. Mabel Edwards, all of Lansing, and a son, Louis Wright of Lansing. There is one brother, William Clark of Owosso.

There are four grandchildren, Mrs. Leona Johnson of Greenville, Norman Synnons and Mrs. Helen McMullen of Lansing and Leonard Wright of Mason; three great-grandchildren, Howard Johnson of Nashville, and Seldon Wright and Leonard Wright, Jr., of Mason; and two great-great-grandchildren, Howard Jr. and David Johnson of Nashville.

Until recent months Mrs. Bailey had been in comparatively good health despite her advanced age. She was cared for at the Carpenter home in Mason for the past five years.

Funeral services were held at the Jewett chapel Monday afternoon with Rev. Murray Morford of the Mason church of the Nazarene officiating. Mrs. Bailey had attended the church before sickness made it impossible for her to leave the home of her daughter. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Building Is Leased For Scarlett Plant

The Scarlett Specialty company has leased the Plummer Machinery Co. building on Cedar street. The working machinery from the Scarlett plant on West Ash was moved to the new location last week.

The Scarlett Specialty company has the contract for making therapeutic backs for an eastern firm. Many other specialties are also being made out of wood.

Casper D. Scarlett is the operator of the company. In his new location he has three helpers.

Thompson Holsteins Bring Fancy Prices

Glenroe Bessie Burke, a 5-year-old Holstein with a record of 807 pounds of butterfat as a 4-year-old, brought $4,500 at the Frank Thompson Holstein sale in Alameda Thursday afternoon. London Dairies of Port Huron was the buyer.

Corliss Schlicher of Laingsburg paid $1,750 for Bessie's son, Glenroe Rag Apple Sovereign, a 2-year-old, his full sister, a 1-year-old heifer, was sold to Glen Bannard of Flint at $1,350. Another croft of Flint at $1,000, one went for $850 and one for $700. Several brought $500.

The top 17 animals in the herd averaged $1,021.

Glenroe Bessie Burke calved about 20 months after the last animal was sold. The calf is a heifer.

The Thompson farm was not sold. The highest bid at the auction was $36,000 for the 200 acres and the two sets of buildings. The Thompsons own the property.

Upwards of 1,000 people attended the sale which was advertised both nationally and locally. Most of the cattle were sold to Michigan buyers although some went to Ohio and one to Canada. Bidders were present from as far away as New Jersey.

WASTEPAPER COLLECTION
Mason firemen are to collect wastepaper in Mason Friday, October 11, as part of the annual fire prevention week.

Crops Yield Best Following Alfalfa

If any additional proof is needed to show that alfalfa is an excellent soil builder, experiments at the Lee Jordan farm near Chesaning offer such assurance. For 20 years Michigan State college specialists have conducted experiments on this farm. Dr. R. L. Cook, of the Michigan State college soil science department, has been in charge for the past 17 years.

Recent tests of different five-year rotation programs show without exception that the crop following alfalfa in the rotation produces the highest yield. In other words, if corn is ahead of alfalfa in the rotation, it will not yield as well as it does following alfalfa. The same is true of barley, oats, beans and peas.

One experiment showed that a one-year stand of alfalfa is just as beneficial to the soil as a two-year stand. Corn, following a one-year stand of alfalfa, produced 65.6 bushels per acre and following a two-year stand of alfalfa yielded only 41.9 bushels per acre. Beans, following a one-year stand of alfalfa, produced 10.9 tons per acre. In a rotation which included one-year of alfalfa followed by corn and then beans, the best yield was 10.5 bushels. This was nearly equal to the crop immediately following alfalfa in the rotation.

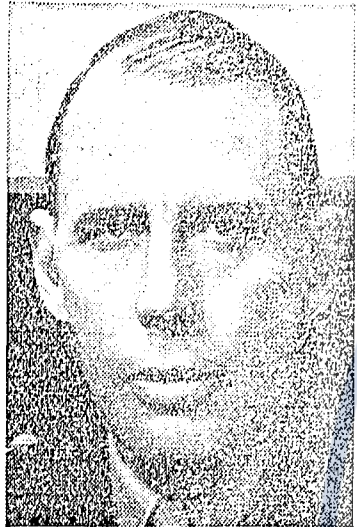

High fertilization is more profitable than low fertilization, experiments revealed. Part of the plots were fertilized with 1,000 pounds of commercial fertilizer, and others with 300 pounds. The high fertilization produced an average of $28.05 more cash return per acre or $14.96 above the cost of the extra 600 pounds of fertilizer.

The city of Galesburg is located on an island in the Gulf of Mexico. Texas has established migrant labor reception centers to care for traveling farm workers.

PLAY SPACES FOR MILLIONS. Over two million persons living in southeastern Michigan can reach these state-owned play spaces easily. Since 1944 the conservation department has been acquiring land in these southeastern Michigan recreation areas to provide picnic grounds and access to scenic spots and fishing waters. The land also is opened for hunting in season except near buildings or where otherwise posted. Recreation areas shown are: (1) Waterloo, (2) Pincney, (3) Brighton, (4) Island Lake, (5) Highland, (6) Proud Lake, (7) Pontiac Lake, (8) Holly, (9) Ortonville, (10) Metamora, (11) Bald Mountain, (12) Rochester-Utica.

Launch Michigan Guard Program

LAUNCHING the state-wide drive for a new Michigan National Guard numbering 25,000 officers and men, four times its Pearl Harbor strength, Major General Milton Berger, chief of the National Guard Bureau, addressed the Detroit Citizens Committee this week.

Maj. General Berger emphasized the importance of the National Guard as an instrument for internal security and defense against any emergency. The backbone of the new guard, he said, will be veterans of World War 2, who under new regulations can enlist for one year and substantially increase their civilian income. Recruiting is now under way in 50 Michigan cities.

Rate of blinking the eyes varies greatly, ranging from three to 20 times per minute, according to the Better Vision Institute.

Rural electric power lines can be run underground more cheaply than they can be on poles.

PROTECT ROSES FOR WINTER

C. E. Wildon, Michigan State college floriculturist, advises rose growers to protect their bushes against winter, just before freezing weather sets in. Around the soil up around the plant to a depth of 6 to 15 inches. This will protect the base of the plant. Mulching the entire bed with straw will also help. A piece of burlap or strong weather-proof paper wrapped loosely around each plant protects the plants from drying out, Wildon says.

Smokers Are Cause Of Many Farm Fires

Matches and smoking cause a greater number of fires than any other known cause, according to Fred Roth, Michigan State college fire prevention specialist. The annual fire loss in the United States from this cause alone is 43 million dollars.

Many farm fires result from carelessly discarded cigars, cigarettes, matches or pipe contents. Roth says the house should have plenty of ash trays to encourage proper disposition of smokers. It's a good idea to fasten tin cans partly filled with water or sand near the entrances of the barn and other buildings in which combustible materials are stored. This provides a safe place for discarding smokes before entering the buildings. "No smoking" signs should be posted near the cans, and smoking in these buildings should be prohibited.

Safety-type matches should be used and kept in metal, or other incombustible containers. Children are fascinated by matches and must not be allowed access to them. On the farm, it is especially important to put out all cigar and cigarette butts because sparrows and other birds have been known to start fires by carrying these lighted firebrands into their nests in buildings.

It pays to clip red clover in August of the year it is sown to keep down weeds and prevent damage by field mice.

FARM SPECIALIST

Everett M. Elwood, a native of Lenawee county, has joined the staff at Michigan State college as extension specialist in farm management. In this position Elwood will work with farmers and farm groups throughout Michigan. Elwood is a graduate of Michigan State college and received his master of science degree last June at the University of Illinois, Urbana. From 1932 to 1945 he served in the U. S. Army air corps. He served as a farm management specialist with the Farm Security Administration from 1935 to 1942.

Hybrid Corn High In Food Values

Reports that hybrid corn is not so rich in food value for livestock as is open-pollinated varieties have been disproved by Michigan State college tests. Dr. P. J. Schabbe, agricultural chemist, in recent tests, showed that certain hybrids are as high or higher in protein, as the open-pollinated varieties.

Different types and varieties of both open-pollinated and hybrid corn were fed to chickens. Dr. Schabbe said that there seemed to be no significant differences between the results obtained.

Headline Blues

By BILL DOWSETT
McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WFO Features.

CHIC LANE nodded approvingly as Dixie Lee, with a flourish of the baton, brought to a close the sweetest band that ever lipped a mouthpiece. "Chic boomed enthusiastically. "It's big-time swing and I'm the last who'll put you there to swing it."

Dixie's eyes narrowed as she pushed back a refractory blonde curl, studied the anguished grin that creased the boyish blunt features of her press agent and asked "When?"

Chic drew a deep breath and explained that radio advertising executives were auditioning musical and novelty acts for Fall programs. "A publicity push and you're in," he blurted out confidently. "Headlines like Orchestra Leader Elopes With Press Agent."

Dixie's eyes sparkled with enthusiasm. "What a perfectly gruesome way to fame," she drawled sweetly.

An hour later, in the oriental atmosphere of the Golden Cat Tea Room, a dejected Chic stared sourly at the leaves in the bottom of his teacup. A turbaned figure moved to his side. By courtesy of the management, he, the Maharajah of Pato, Prince Rahce, would gaze into the future. Chic, with a dejected wave of limp fingers, dismissed the prince.

Suddenly the fingers stiffened, wagged, and the prince flowed back. Chic talked. A dollar a day to the potentate to be, temporarily, and for publicity purposes, engaged to Dixie Lee. His imperial majesty, in throaty tones—accent Brooklyn—accepted.

Chic, armed with pictures and a cherubic expression of unworried innocence, invaded the editorial rooms of the Daily Journal. City Editor Wolfe Barton looked up and scowled.

Mournfully Chic admitted, before reformation, having slightly exaggerated the facts of a story or two but now, in truthful and humble atonement, he was offering a scoop. "And, Wolfe," he coaxed, "think of the headlines. 'Maharajah Lays Heart and Fortune at American Beauty's Feet.'"

Wolfe thought and licked his lips. "Because I'm a sucker," he finally snapped. "I'll print the tale. But if this is one of your gag—and I find it 'cut-throat'—you'd better leave town!"

In the following days Chic dwelt in a press agent's paradise. He bathed in a shower of desirable publicity and basked in the sunshine of Dixie's smiles. He coyly toyed with tempting contracts and allowed the belles to audition for two of the best.

Then his majesty became mercenary. Royally, he'd decided, should not work for a miserable pittance. He demanded a double fee.

In Dixie's apartment Chic prepared matrimonial suggestions. The telephone jangled and Chic lifted the handset. He listened and paled. Wolfe Barton in no uncertain terms demanded Chic's immediate presence at the Journal.

Wolfe was buying at a copy boy as Chic slipped up to the desk. Wolfe, whiffled. "That price of yours is a phony!" he howled. "Come in offering his history and your story for fifty bucks. Well, churn, your story I'm buying and printing. I'll have you and that band laughed out of town!"

Chic folded into a chair. "Wolfe," he begged tearfully, "think of Dixie and her belles!"

"May they tell for you," Wolfe growled heartlessly. "But," he added slowly, "there might be a way."

Chic gulped, giggled and sputtered. "Whatever it is, I'll do it!" Wolfe explained that he'd thought of some headlines himself. "Dixie Lee Jilts Royalty. Marries Press Agent" would, he declared, make very nice reading. Also, he'd fix the sheik and serve as best man at the ceremony. What did Chic think?

So an hour later, perched on Dixie's divan, Chic poured out the tale of the barricades that lay on the road to fame. "Don't worry," he cheerily told Dixie, "we'll still fool that newsbush. I know a ham actor who'll play parson for five dollars. Boy, am I clever!" He called the actor, then dialed Wolfe. Arrangements were complete for nine a. m. the next day.

In the morning Chic pushed into Dixie's apartment. The actor, properly garbed, had arrived. Between gowning Dixie, Chic gave last minute instructions. Then, in answer to the bell, Chic swung open the door. Two men walked in. Wolfe, and the man he introduced to the hunched Chic as the Reverend Hapenworth. "I'm furnishing the license and minister," Wolfe announced. "Of course, pal," he eyed Chic and his actor narrowly. "I didn't think you'd run in a ring."

Chic wobbled into the kitchen and leaned weakly against the door jamb. The sound of a soft feminine laugh filtered into the room and he peeked into the parlor. Dixie, standing close to Wolfe, was smiling at the parson. "It's a terrible shock to the poor darling," she whispered to Wolfe. "I hated to call you, but I simply couldn't stand a fake wedding."

She kissed Wolfe's lean cheek. "And unless I finished this business quickly, he might have had me marrying the garbage man tomorrow."

Old age pensioners in Missouri receive an average monthly grant of $29.16 per person.

Public To Demand Resort Facilities

Michigan has enjoyed its best tourist season in history. But C. A. Gunn, extension specialist in agricultural engineering at Michigan State college specializing in tourist and resort planning, believes some operators have a big job ahead of them.

"It is true that both 'shack' and the 'castle' were rented this season and probably will be next season. But as soon as there is a greater choice of accommodations, the discriminating public will take its patronage to the neat, clean and courteously operated establishment," Gunn related.

He recently made a research tour of Michigan's tourist facilities. He found many modern, clean and efficiently operated establishments. Some operators, he feels, either fail or realize the importance of the business or would rather have today's dollar than several dollars in the future. He found that they failed to keep

Arizona has lofty plateaus and canyons in the north, mountain ranges in the central section and plains and desert in the south.

Newman, Cal., has only 8,000 population, but in 52 games drew an attendance of 82,000. Newman is in the Georgia-Alabama league.

their facilities at an acceptable standard of maintenance.

Gunn knows that materials are short, and agrees that the average tourist was willing to accept shortages of towels, linen and other scarce articles along with the same typical shortages at home. But dirty and unsanitary washrooms, cluttered-up grounds and other evidence of neglect is unnecessary.

He urges operators to obtain state department of health regulations and learn the minimum standards. But to guarantee complete satisfaction, Michigan operators must give more than "minimum standards," Gunn believes.

Although many desire private bath facilities, most tourists feel toilet facilities must be considered satisfied with a central toilet and shower building in the camp. The relative cost of a central water system is so low, that outside obsolete, Gunn believes.

Sen. Vandenberg High in G.O.P. National Councils

The high prestige which Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, at right above, has merited by his outstanding leadership has accorded him a position of high ranking in the national councils of the Republican party. He was offered but declined nomination as Vice President of the United States in 1936 and was given 76 votes for the Presidency in the Republican Convention in 1940. He is the high ranking Republican member of five Senate committees and two joint committees of the Senate and House. He also is Chairman of the Republican Committee on the Senate and Acting Vice President of the United States Senate. If Vandenberg and a Republican Senate are elected in November, as seem likely, Sen. Vandenberg will become President of the Senate and Acting Vice President of the United States in everything except succession to the Presidency. He also will become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Chairman of the Republican steering committee in the Senate, and Sen. Wallace H. White, Jr., of Maine, Senate Republican floor leader.

New homes completed and now being occupied are those of George VanOrden, Ivan Wilcox, Claude Whitford, Harold VanArden, Virgil Lewis, Howard Metcalf, Y. Showman, Ben Haskill, Vern O'Dell, James Love, and the home formerly owned by Cecil Vandenberg. Cecil Hummel, J. C. Hummel and Charles E. Monroe have new homes under construction.

North Summit street is broken up by the digging of many basements and a new street west of Summit was completed this spring. Many homes have undergone extensive remodeling. The Commercial club has been endeavoring to procure a doctor and have several interested. They have also sponsored free movies. Dances are again being held in the Odd-fellow hall the second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. The many of the boys and girls have returned from service and a good crowd is expected at the celebration.

Five freight cars were derailed at Dana's crossing between Williamston and Webberville Thursday evening. The new streamliner which was following was forced to back from Webberville to Howell where it was re-routed via Owosso to Lansing.

Ned Chubb called on his son, Lloyd Chubb at the Sparrow hospital. He was seriously burned at the Chard Laboratories Inc. at 317 East North street last Wednesday afternoon by hot vegetable oil used in the cooking of dehydrated potatoes. He was repairing the machine when the gasket blew out, spraying the hot oil on his arms and legs. He was removed to the Sparrow hospital where his condition now is reported as improved.

The senior class will present assembly Monday morning, September 30, at 9 o'clock. Roy Onytt will be guest speaker. The public is invited to attend.

The high school hopes to take an active part in the Webberville homecoming, which is an event of October 31.

Band instruments have been issued and activities have started in class.

Freshmen initiation will be October 4 at the Community hall. The party is given by the sophomore class. Mr. Burt is sponsor of the class.

The high school and the students of the grade rooms had their pictures taken Monday, September 23.

The school students desire that yellow traffic lines be painted across Grand River avenue at the traffic light to aid in crossing the street.

The Camp Publishing company will be at the school to take senior pictures the last week in October. The junior class is making plans for their play, which they plan to present this fall. No definite plan has yet been set.

Freddie Eggleston was injured when he fell on the school playground Thursday afternoon. He was taken to a Williamston physician, where he was treated for a slight brain concussion. He expects to be back in school within a very few days.

Former Resident Dies
Word was received here of the death of Mrs. Mary Eggleston, 71, a former resident of Webberville. She is the widow of Carrius Eggleston, who preceded her in death by several years. They lived in the house now owned by Cecil Monroe. She was a member of the Rebekah lodge here, having served as vice grand. Mrs. Eggleston was born at Gifford December 5, 1874, and passed away Saturday, September 28, at a Lansing hospital. Funeral services were conducted at home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Wilbur Williams of the United Brethren church of Grand Rapids officiating. Interment was in the Rowley cemetery. Mrs. Eggleston moved to Lansing in 1924 and resided at 1300 Hyland street. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lee West of Lansing; five grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren and one brother, Charles Dove, of Gifford.

Mrs. Ethel Graham of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Nora Ives from Williamston called on Mrs. Inez Steele who is residing with her daughter, Mrs. Bernard Graham, one day last week. Louis Schmidt left Monday for Angola, Indiana where he will continue his work at Tri-State college. Hereafter returned from Massachusetts where he had been vacationing.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson entertained the Boosters class of the Methodist church Wednesday evening at the regular social meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crossley, who have just returned from a trip in Oregon, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Crossley. They will resume their work at the Michigan State college.

Housewife's Sense

By E. M. PARKINSON
McClure Newspaper Syndicate,
WNU Features.

THE Lane account was well worth going after. Mr. Hopkins took Mrs. Hopkins with him on the trip. A letter was sent ahead to the Lane office, so that he would be expected. Still, there was a disappointment.

"I'm so sorry that our buyer, Mr. Porterfield, was called out of town," the secretary told him. "But Mr. Porterfield recognized your name." Mr. Hopkins broke in. "Don't tell me it's Roscoe Porterfield!" "It is," she smiled. "He wants you at his home for dinner tonight. He'll arrive on an evening train. You know Mrs. Porterfield?"

"Oh, yes! And so does Mrs. Hopkins, who is with me."

"That's fine! I'll let you in on a secret," the woman said. "Mr. Porterfield is a great family man. A chatty evening with Mrs. Porterfield and the girls will just about cinch the sale."

He went back to his hotel, and told Mrs. Hopkins. "It's a devoted family dear. We must be tactfully flattered. And—er—you'd better let me handle it." He laughed nervously. "After all, you're a housewife, with housewife's sense—lots of it. A good thing, but—different from business sense."

"Quite," said Mrs. Hopkins, who'd heard that speech many times. "And at that, Jenny Porterfield and I will have lots in common. Both housewives."

"Wait a minute," Mr. Hopkins was starting. "Did you say Jenny? Her name is Lorna."

"Lorna?" Mrs. Hopkins looked astonished. "Lorna, certainly. Jenny was Roscoe's girl in Northville. A little dark girl. She was lame. Lorna was the tall, beautiful blonde from Lake City."

They were perplexed. They did not know which one was Roscoe Porterfield's wife.

A tall blonde young girl met them at the Porterfield door. "Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins? Do come in. We're so sorry that Mother had to see a guest off. The train's a little late, and Daddy's coming on it so Mother's waiting."

When she disappeared to call her sisters Mrs. Hopkins whispered, "We're on a spot, dear. We've got to be careful."

"Nonsense," Mr. Hopkins laughed. "That tall blonde girl is surely Lorna's daughter."

"Suppose she introduces three or four little dark sisters?" "She won't."

He was right. She returned with three tall blonde young girls, and Mr. Hopkins gave Mrs. Hopkins a triumphant glance. "Well, gals," he said, "it's any way you take after your beautiful mother—"

"In many ways," Mrs. Hopkins broke in hastily. "We knew your father and mother when we weren't much older than you are now."

"Oh, do tell us about those days!" the girls begged. "You're the first old friends of Mom's and Daddy's we've met. Did you have fun?"

"Parties, picnics, dances. . . . And let me tell you, the star of those dances—"

"Excuse me, dear," Mrs. Hopkins broke in. "I'm so interested in that lovely picture. Come look at it, dear."

It was a nice painting, hung rather high. The top of the frame was dusty. Mrs. Hopkins raised her eyebrows and moved on. Mr. Hopkins squirmed. If she would only forget for one moment that she was a housewife! "As I was saying," he began, "when we used to dance, there was no one like—"

"Now, now, don't boast, dear," Mrs. Hopkins interrupted. "See this lovely vase on the mantel." She gave him a meaningful glance, and her eyes dropped. He saw that the top of the vase was dusty. She turned and said sweetly, "Are you real old-fashioned home girls?"

"No, I guess we're not, the oldest admitted. 'We're all athletic. And with school and everything, we're not very domestic.'"

"Was Mom a home girl when she was young?" another asked.

Mrs. Hopkins was nervous as a cat. Lorna—tall, blonde Lorna—a home girl!

"Yes, indeed," Mrs. Hopkins said. "She was held up as an example to all the other girls. Their mothers always said, 'If only you were clever about the house like little Jenny!'"

The door bell rang and one of the girls flew to admit Mr. and Mrs. Porterfield. "Mom," she said, "Mrs. Hopkins is the sweetest thing! She says you were wonderful when you were a girl and that all the mothers wanted their daughters to be just like you. Of course we knew it, but it's nice to hear it from someone else."

The Porterfields, Roscoe and Jenny, came in beaming.

The order was all but signed when Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left. Mr. Hopkins wiped his brow. "Honey, you saved my life. Those blonde girls made me so positive it was Lorna. How did you know it was Jenny?"

Mrs. Hopkins patted his arm. "Housewife's sense," she said complacently. "You see, the low furniture was shining. So I knew the high surfaces were dusty only because the housewife couldn't see them. She had to be the short gal—Jenny!"

Although Alaska usually is thought to be a cold country, its capital, Juneau, had only 53 days of zero weather in 33 years.

Cattail Leaves

Replace Broken
Reed Chair Seat

If you're worrying about how to replace the weaving in ladder back and slat back chairs, you might gather some cattail leaves. Ruth J. Peck, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State college, suggests you gather the leaves before freezing weather. Rush is common to most localities in Michigan. It should be gathered when full grown and still green. When the tips of the leaves turn brown in an ideal time. Use leaves from swamps of fresh water and cut a few inches below the water line. The leaves should be dried in the shade, preferably in a darkened room. Let them get thoroughly dry before using them.

Before starting to weave the seat or back of the chair, place the rush in water for two hours. Place the leaves in wet burlap so they will hold moisture while you are working. Cut off the butt-ends about a foot from the base.

It is best to make a cord by twisting together two leaves. Always twist in the same direction. Miss Peck says reseat of chairs is an enjoyable and profitable pastime for long winter evenings. Extension bulletin B168, "Reseating Chairs" gives the directions for weaving rush type seats. Your county agricultural agent's office will furnish you a copy or you may write The Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State college.

Mason Couple Wed At Church Ceremony

Many friends and relatives of Miss Josephine Charlotte Culham and John B. Shaffer witnessed their wedding rites which were held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the Mason Presbyterian church. The ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Leonard Sanders of Owosso, a friend of the Culham family. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culham and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Shaffer of East Maple, Mason.

Pink, white and yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums in tall baskets and palms and ferns formed an attractive setting for the occasion. Mrs. N. S. Davis presided at the organ, playing the wedding music and also for the vocal selections sung by Mrs. Wilbur Johnson of Milford. The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was wearing a gown of white tulle and tulle with a full train. Her finger tip length veil was held with a tiara of seed pearls and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses and gardenias, centered with an orchid.

Her bridesmaids were Miss Vivian Shaffer, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Robert Culham of Milford, a cousin of the bride, with Connie Washburn of Mason as junior bridesmaid. Miss Shaffer wore a gown of pink net and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and mums, while Mrs. Culham chose a blue net gown and her bouquet was of yellow roses and mums. Connie was attractive in a floor length yellow dress and her flowers were yellow roses and baby mums. Howard Sligh was groomsmen and ushers were John Culham, the bride's brother, and Earl Shaffer, a brother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Culham and Mrs. Shaffer wore black for their daughter and son's wedding and their corsages were of an orchid and gardenias.

A beautiful, bride's cake formed the centerpiece at the table from which refreshments were served in the church dining room following the rites. Friends of the bride,

Miss Jill Mills, Miss Connie Brown, Miss Audrey Green, Mrs. Yvonne Jordan and Miss Adeline Oleson, assisted in the serving.

The couple are graduates of the Mason school. Mrs. Shaffer with the class of 1943 and Mr. Shaffer graduating in 1942. Mrs. Shaffer attended Michigan State college one year and has since been employed in the laboratory at Wyeth incorporated. Mr. Shaffer is a veteran of War 2, serving for some time in the European theatre. He is now employed at the Olds plant in Lansing. After a wedding trip in northern Michigan, they will reside in Mason.

Dedication Service Held By Methodist Youth Fellowship
Twenty-one members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship met at the church Sunday evening instead of the county park on account of cold weather. Each took their own box lunch and hot cocoa was served. Games were played and there was a song fest led by Virginia Rose and George Bauer. There were several new songs and special numbers sung by Lorraine Denarest, Virginia Rose and Charlene Chadwick. The evening was brought to a close by a candle-light dedication service. Those taking a special part in the service included: Gloria Rathburn, Jimmy Armstrong, Donald Wiley, Charlene Chadwick and Lorraine Denarest. The dedication was made by laying their candles before a cross of greens and flowers.

FILMED WITH MONTGOMERY
A new reel taken September 10 at West Point military academy showed a picture of Field Marshall Montgomery inspecting West Point cadets in full dress parade. Three places from the army officer stood Miss Jill Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mills of Mason. Miss Mills was in Orange, New Jersey, visiting her uncle, C. C. Kemp, who has the contract for selling all the woolen used in West Point uniforms. Miss Mills was recognized by Lansing friends who were attending the theatre.

There are now 3,000,000 electrical fans and there will probably be 5,000,000 by 1950.

Ken Maxted's Orchestra To Play For Youth Canteen

The Youth Canteen held its third successful party of the season Saturday night at the school gym with an attendance of 165. The committee in charge was Joan Parsons, Shirley Bibbins, Virginia Wolfe, Billie Ann Aveline and Joan Clark. Chapmans were Mrs. W. J. Doegly, Mrs. K. Chadwick and Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Bibbins. The previous week Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thorburn and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hall chaperoned a party of 159.

Saturday night the advisory board, under the chairmanship of Mrs. S. D. Menovske, is planning a special party with Ken Maxted's orchestra furnishing the music. All Junior and Senior high school pupils are invited. The orchestra is a favorite in Mason and played for the 1946 Junior-Senior reception.

May Re-Organize Mason Girl Scouts

Mason girls between the ages of 10 and 14 are interested in the reorganization of Girl Scouts and an effort is being made by some of the mothers to perfect the reforming of the various troops. ## Aurelius Couple Say Wedding Vows

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ekins, Aurelius, was the scene of a pretty fall wedding Thursday evening, September 26, when their daughter, Audrey Jean, became the bride of Dale H. Gretton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gretton, also of Aurelius. Reverend D. W. Hunter of Lansing performed the ceremony before an improvised altar banked with baskets of white gladioli. Only the immediate families were present for the occasion.

The bride chose for her wedding a street length dress of pastel blue wool crepe, with shoulder cape of white roses and baby mums. Her only attendant, Mrs. Charles Reeves of Lansing, wore rose crepe with matching corsage of roses and baby mums. Henry Poole of Leslie, a close friend of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Gretton is a graduate of Eaton Rapids high school and for the past two years has been employed as a stenographer at Motor Wheel Corporation, Lansing. Mr. Gretton graduated from Mason high school and entered the service in 1942, serving 31 months, 21 of which were spent overseas. He is now employed at The Lansing Forging and Die plant.

Farm Bureau

The Lansing Dehli Community group opposes the return of sales tax funds to cities. We are also in the opinion that proposed veterans' bonus in Michigan is not designed to really help veterans as much as it is to get votes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wieland of Holt were hosts at this meeting Friday evening when 29 members were in attendance. Officers elected for the coming year included Martin Kuhres as chairman, Kenneth Olson, secretary; and Ruth Vane as assistant secretary. Russell Kleis will be discussion leader.

The West Calumet Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freshour Friday evening, September 27, for election of officers and a business meeting. Those elected are: Chairman, Herman Walt; vice chairman, E. A. Scott; secretary, Paul Rowe; discussion leader, Mrs. Chellis Hall; recreation leader, E. A. Scott; publicity chairman, Paul Rowe; song leader, Mrs. Myron Holmes; associated women, Mrs. Curlye Waltz; and hospital service chairman, Mrs. Clark Hall.

The group voted to alternate the discussion meetings and entertainment meetings throughout the year. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Cheney. Ice cream, cake and cookies were served.

Lunch Box Meals Should Contain Adequate Calories

Keep a supply of cookies on hand because they're so easy to wrap and slip in the lunch box with fresh fruit. Drop cookies with fruit and nuts are excellent from a nutritional standpoint.

School Days

School days, school days... they should be golden rule days for mothers as well as children. It's a well proved fact by now that unless the youngster has a good lunch to nourish and satisfy him, the grades are apt to go downward.

Most mothers wouldn't hear of the youngster eating a slim sandwich and a coke if they were eating at home, but many of them ignore such eating habits away from home. Each child, who eats out near school, should be thoroughly coached in the selection of his food.

If lunch is brought from home, the mother has an accurate check on her child's food. She will be able to tell whether the child eats his food or not by his general behaviour and physical condition.

Now, what are the requirements of a good noonday meal? They are a third of the day's calories and a third, if possible, of the fruit, vegetables, meat or substitute, bread and milk required for good health.

A good idea for the mother who must prepare daily lunches is to have a shelf with all lunch-making equipment assembled, plus a corner in the refrigerator to take care of the perishables. This makes speed and efficiency possible.

A variety of breads is essential if lunches are to stimulate interest in eating from day to day. You can purchase white, whole wheat and rye bread, but it's smart to make specially breads occasionally.

1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
1 beaten egg
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 cup prunes, cooked, stoned and diced
Sift together dry ingredients. Add milk and egg, then a little at a time, until dough is stiff. Roll in prunes last and bake in a greased loaf pan in a slow (325 degree) oven for about one hour. Prune juice may be substituted for part milk.

Orange Nut Bread.
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
Sift together all dry ingredients, then add walnut meats, orange rind

LYNN SAYS:
Serve Mixed Grill: When you want something novel and appetizing, put fruit, vegetables and meat together to broil. Here are some intriguing combinations:
Filets of beef with mushroom caps; tomato slices dotted with butter, sprinkled with salt and pepper.
Thick lamb chops with kidneys, bacon and little pork sausage; slices of pineapple or whole, broiled peaches.
Asparagus rolled in thin slices of ham; sweet potatoes in apple or orange shells; mushroom caps and cauliflower flowers.
Sweetbreads placed on ham or Canadian bacon slices; mushroom caps and bananas wrapped in bacon.

Spicy Pumpkin Cookies.
(Makes 2 dozen)
1/2 cup fat
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup pumpkin, cooked
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Cream fat and sugar; add egg. Blend in pumpkin, then add flour and baking powder, salt and spices. Fold in raisins and nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 15 minutes.

Pilots Own Plane To Farm Auction

Last Saturday Frank Laumstein, Vevay dairyman, decided he would attend the Royal Farms auction sale near Flint to buy a new horse for his registered Guernseys. Thirty minutes later Laumstein was at the sale. He took off in his own airplane and landed right at his farm and set his plane down in a field adjacent to the Royal sale barn.

The bull purchased by Laumstein's Play Haven, Majesty, 30516, whose seven nearest dams average 15,512 pounds of milk and 17.5 pounds of fat. The bull was auctioned to the Laumstein farm.

Dairy Official Is Lions Club Speaker

About 45 members and guests attended the regular meeting of the Mason Lions club held Wednesday evening. A group of boys desirous of forming a Scout troop asked the club to sponsor their activity and assist in locating a meeting place. A tentative committee was appointed to assist in this project.

In cooperation with the Mason Kiwanis club, the club accepted the responsibility of a house-to-house canvass to see that everyone is registered to vote. This must be completed by October 16 in Mason. Hugh W. Silsby is chairman of this drive.

Walter R. Carven presented Louis W. Morley, public relations director of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association as guest speaker. He gave an interesting discussion of milk marketing problems, pointing out that 44 per cent of all agricultural income comes from dairy products and that 25 per cent of all food comes from the same source.

SWISS DAIRY BREED
Comment was made at the Ingham county fair that Brown Swiss cattle are not dual purpose cattle, but are primarily a dairy breed. The issue was placed before the dairy department of Michigan State college.

Earl Weaver, professor of dairying, reported, "In 1914 action was taken by the Brown Swiss association on designating the breed officially as a dairy breed. I am sure it is proper, therefore, to designate the Swiss as a dairy breed. Instead of a dual purpose breed. Frankly, the Swiss breeders themselves recognize certain dual purpose functions in their breeds and emphasize the large size of the animals and their beef value when their sale for slaughter purposes are necessary."

TAX PAYMENT MADE

Ingham county's share of the $2,000,000 in McNitt gas tax money for the second half of 1946 amounts to $210,800. The money is compensation for the maintenance of roads once maintained by townships but which were taken over by counties in 1931.

Dashboard Phones Seen by Car Dealers

The telephone on wheels is a reality in Detroit with indications that by next year it will be commonplace on major highways in southern Michigan.

Dashboard telephone service was inaugurated at Detroit Saturday when the Michigan Bell Telephone Company gave a demonstration of its new operations before automobile manufacturers, Michigan Public Service commissioners and engineers, newspaper reporters, and radio men.

Thomas N. Lacy, Michigan Bell president, revealed the company will apply next year to the Federal Communications Commission to operate similar service at Lansing, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Port Huron, Flint, and the Kalamazoo-Battle Creek, and Day City areas.

At first, the additional radiotelephone stations at those points will provide service to the immediate areas. Later, they along with another station to be installed at Detroit, will become links in a general mobile service over all important highways in the southern part of the state. Ultimately, they will form part of a nationwide mobile network.

Mobile service enables motor vehicle users to make and receive telephone calls to and from any of the nation's 29,000,000 telephones. Calls are handled by "mobile service operators" with conversations traveling part way by radio and part by the regular telephone network.

The telephone itself is mounted under the dashboard. Transmitting and receiving equipment is located in the trunk of the car.

At first, the principal users are business firms such as ambulance services, delivery companies, newspapers, food distributors, doctors, express companies, and the like.

MASON MAN BUYS PROPERTY IN ROCHESTER

This corner, one of the best business locations in Rochester, was recently bought from the heirs of W. J. Dancer. They are Herbert, Paul, Gurney and Robert Dancer and Mrs. Sumner Hall of Stockbridge. The property is on the northwest corner of Main and Fourth streets. It has a 40-foot frontage on Fourth street. It is regarded as one of the best properties occupied by the D. & C. Stores, Inc. D. & C. has 26 stores in Michigan. Headquarters of D. & C. are in Stockbridge. The D. & C. store will continue to occupy the property, having a 10-year to 15-year lease.

George McArthur of Mason handled the legal matters arising from the transaction. A. O. Greenough of Dansville, real estate broker, represented all the principals in the deal.

Dairymen Discuss
Control of Bangs

Ingham dairymen, meeting in the court house Monday night, launched a move which they hope will result in controlling or eliminating Bangs disease in Ingham herds. They declared that the present tit and milk method is not the right kind of control.

Witnesses Are Taken
To Prison in Detroit

Three witnesses on vacation from Jackson prison, have been taken to the Detroit House of Correction instead of back to prison. William G. Buckley, Francis J. Nowak and Leo W. Wilkowski, all serving prison terms on legislative graft charges, were brought to the Ingham jail so they could testify at the examination of men arrested on conspiracy charges in the chain bank case. They expected to be returned to Jackson during the recess called on the examination, but they were transferred to the Detroit House of Correction. No reason was given for the transfer.

George McArthur owns the building occupied by the Schmidt department store in Mason and recently added an Eaton Rapids business block to his holdings.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Cars driven by Mrs. Allie Frost and Arthur W. Stackhouse of Holt, collided at the intersection of Columbia and Meridian roads Monday afternoon. Mrs. Frost was turning north onto Meridian from Columbia, where she had been driving east, when the accident happened. Stackhouse was driving south on Meridian. Mrs. Frost told officers she had made a full stop and was not driving more than five miles an hour at the time of the accident. Stackhouse said he saw Mrs. Frost turning the corner and tried to avert the crash.

CARS DAMAGED

Cars driven by Roy Hart of Mason and John Vannest of Jackson collided on US-127 in Mason Monday. Both cars were damaged but the drivers were uninjured.

Milk Consumption
Hits Record High

Ingham county residents will consume more than 32,650,000 quarts of milk and milk products this year in maintaining the country's high nutritional standards, it is predicted by the nation's leading distributor of dairy products.

"With a near record supply of milk coming from the nation's dairy farms, consumption of dairy products this year is expected to equal that of 1945 when more than 60,000,000 quarts were consumed," said C. W. Diehl, head of A & P Food Stores national dairy department. "A 22 per cent increase in per capita consumption of milk during the war years helped overcome the loss of nutrition caused by curtailed supplies of fats and oils and helped bring about the nation's high nutritional wartime levels."

A greatly increased supply of most cheese products is now available in many sections of the country and other milk products are expected to continue plentiful during the fall and winter months. Diehl said. These products contain nearly 14 per cent of the calories, 24 per cent of the proteins, 18 per cent of the fats, 74 per cent of the calcium and 45 per cent of the riboflavin consumed by the average individual.

The pioneering efforts of food chains in developing a streamlined distribution system, Diehl said, have made possible the quick movement of milk and milk products from dairy centers to densely populated consumer areas. Modern refrigeration equipment and improved handling methods were also cited as instrumental in maintaining the high nutritional qualities of dairy products.

Ingham county's 3,000 farms are expected to produce more than 46,000,000 quarts of milk this year.

DEER DRIVES

Weather
Observations

Furnace fires were started again this week after the mercury took a sudden drop to the low 30's and even to the 20's on two different nights. Practically no rainfall was recorded for the week. Although the 2.55 inches of rain measured at the city disposal plant during the month of September was less than half of that which fell in September, 1945, it was about an average rainfall.

Temperatures for the week as recorded by Stuart L. Demarest are:

	Min.	Max.
September 26	40	75
September 27	48	89
September 28	49	89
September 29	45	57
September 30	30	53
October 1	25	63
October 2	27	65
October 3	34	63

The Capital City Camp of the Gideons met Saturday at the Baptist church. The speaker of the evening was John Van Puffelen of Grand Rapids, chaplain of the state Gideon society. Mr. Van Puffelen also conducts a correspondence school for Gideons in Grand Rapids. On last Monday morning each of the local school students from the fifth grade through the 12th grades received a new testament as a gift of the Gideon organization.

The Methodist church held its Rally Day Sunday, September 29, with an attendance of nearly 300 students. The primary department consisting of 65 little folks from three years to 11, gave a program under the direction of the primary superintendent, Mildred May, and her assistant, Ruth Wilton. Reports were also given by the young people of the church who attended the Lake Louise camp as delegates of the Sunday school.

The Wheatfield Farm Bureau elected their officers for the coming year as follows: Discussion leader, Emily Frost; chairman, Laurence Smith; vice chairman, George N. VanDermark; secretary, Belva Church; member of county woman's committee, Emma Champion; recreation leader, George VanDermark; song leader, Nora Frost; hospitalization chairman, Mary Emma VanDermark; and publicity chairman, Lena Fisher. Guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Simington of Dansville who spoke on "What We Can Do to Improve Our Schools." The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stover. The next regular meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fisher on October 16.

The Williamston Extension club resumed its meetings following a summer vacation on Thursday with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harvey Cronkrite. A potluck dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was spent packing a box to be sent to the destitute children in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Foreman, who recently sold his home on Fulton street to Rev. and Mrs. Botwell, moved this week to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cley Foreman, south of Williamston and will assist with the farm work. The Warren Gavitt rehabilitation fund has now reached $987.47.

The Blue Star Mothers, who are sponsoring this project, are in hopes of reaching the $1,000.00 mark this month. Money may be given to Mrs. Botha Gulick, Mona Walker, Mrs. Clyde Merfield or Bernice Seigel.

Mrs. Isabel Thomas is ill at her home on South Putnam street. The Williamston high school football team was defeated by Holt Friday by a score of 18 to 7.

Gale Joslin, who has been confined to his bed at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Joslin, is much improved. He has been suffering from a broken leg.

Marguerite Ann Slocum of Owosso, who has been visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slocum, has returned to her home.

The County 4-H Achievement Day has been set for November 7 at the Legion hall in Mason. An interesting program is being planned. One of the attractions will be awarding of premiums from the county fair and state club. Eight hundred and fifty exhibits were made by 4-H members at the county fair.

Eden Rebekah lodge had its first meeting Friday after the summer's recess. Charles Poole, past grand master of Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. Force of Mississippi were guests. The lodge is going to have its annual chicken supper the last Saturday evening in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Chappell and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Moeckel spent Sunday and Monday in Sandusky.

SOUTH AURELIUS AND NORTH ONONDAGA
Mrs. B. H. Field

William Warner, who has been confined to the house and part of the time to his bed with illness, was taken to a Jackson hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Field visited his brother, Arthur, and family of Holt Friday evening. Arthur Field has been sick and confined to the house since August 17 but is some better now.

Morris Todd of Jackson is visiting his sister, Mrs. Glen Scutt, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Senior of Portland visited Mr. and Mrs. Percy Van Sickle Tuesday and Wednesday.

Gale Todd of Battle Creek visited his sister, Mrs. Glen Scutt, and family the week end and also was a Sunday caller at the B. H. Field home.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy VanSickle were Sunday callers at the Russell Pearson home at Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells Clickner and son, Charles, of Lansing visited Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Field Sunday.

Popular Stars

Jennifer Jones and Joseph Cotton hold hands in Paramount's "Love Letters," featured at the Fox Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday.

FOX THEATRE

"In Old Sacramento," opens Saturday at the Fox Theatre. Hank Daniels, co-starring with William Elliott and Constance Moore plays Sam Chase, a young man who after a year of for panning gold in the gold country around old Sacramento, goes into town where he meets Belle Malone, beautiful river boat singer, played by Constance Moore, and falls in love with her.

Comedy Mix-up

Two men, two women and a horse participate in "The Bride Wore Boots," due Sunday at the Fox Theatre with Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Cummings and Diana Lynn. These three, plus Patrick Knowles and an intelligent equine called Albert, complete a delicious design for living.

The plot revolves around this frustrated five. Cummings loves only his wife, Barbara; she loves him, too, but is wild about horses which, in turn, drive him wild; Diana Lynn, a flirtatious Southern belle, sets her cap for Bob; and Pat Knowles, Barbara's partner in horses, has more than a business interest in Bob's wife.

Amnesia Victim

"Love Letters," coming to the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday with stars Joseph Cotten and Jennifer Jones, is the story of a girl withdrawn in herself, but struggling to break down the wall her mind has erected. Suffering from amnesia brought on by an intense emotional shock, she forgets everything in her past. When, in the film, Jennifer meets Joseph Cotten, she is afraid of this enormous tidal wave that threatens any moment to rupture the bond that has grown between them. But it is Cotten who restores Jennifer's memory. Murder and terror loom

Lumber Fight
Starring William Gargan, Jean Rogers and Phillip Reed, "Hot Cargo" will be shown at the Fox on the Thursday and Friday double feature program.

It is the story of two ex-tank corps men (Gargan and Reed), who stop off in the redwood country of California to carry out a last of last-minute requests made by one of their buddies, who was killed in the war.

The plot begins in a light, humorous vein, but when the two men discover that their buddy's family is about to lose their small lumber business, they decide to stick around and fight.

The Bovey Gang
The Bovey Boys can be seen in a new feature on Thursday and Friday at the Fox, "Bovey Bombshell."

A sequence of fast events hits the boys when they try to sell their broken down jalopy for $1000 to raise money for mail shop proprietor, Bernard Gorey, who is on the verge of losing his business. The car falls to pieces during a sales demonstration to a street cleaner who turns out to be in cahoots with a gang of bandits robbing a nearby bank at the moment.

"THERE WILL BE NO SALOONS AFTER REPEAL"

Remember those promises? They were made by the president of the United States and other men anxious to have prohibition repealed.

Monday morning headlines said something else: "Bar crowd sees veteran slay wife. Horrified patrons in a crowded Ecorse bar saw a cab driver shoot his wife to death because she was neglecting their children." Left motherless at the home were the couple's three children, Robert, 7; Dorothy, 6; and Cecil, 3.

IT'S NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

This is national newspaper week, one of the thousands of special weeks sandwiched into a calendar listing only 52 weeks.

Why a national newspaper week, many people ask, when the acceptance of newspapers in the United States is so obvious? Because there are many people in high places who would restrict the right of the people to the news. Because there are forces in this country who would abolish the freedom of the press. Because the United States, Canada, Australia, the British Isles and a few other countries are the only countries where freedom of the press exists.

In Russia the newspapers are controlled by the government. Censorship, either official or unofficial, keeps most South American newspapers in line. The French press has always been a kept press—kept by political parties. Even the newspapers which have been established in Japan and Germany since the war are under the control of American army officials. Freedom of the press exists for only a few people in this world and only where there is freedom of expression is there much of any other kind of freedom. When the freedom of the press is shackled the next move is shackling freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom of thought.

There have been charges, and some of them are well founded, that many newspaper publishers and editors do more shouting about press freedom than they do about press responsibilities. Yet most newspaper publishers do feel responsible for the news they print. Most newspaper publishers try to get and insist on printing the truth.

So this week it might do all of us good to reflect on what press freedom means to democracy. Without freedom of the press there can be no other kind of freedom.

$4,600 WORTH OF COW—NOT MILK

Glenroe Bessie Burke brought $4,600 to top the list at the Frank Thompson sale at Mason last Thursday. The five-year-old registered Holstein cow was bought by the London Dairies of Port Huron. The 72 head of cattle, including calves, brought a total of $34,580—an average of $480.

Yes, it'll take a lot of milking of Bessie to get back that $4,600. Even if she gave double-thick milk the new owner wouldn't expect to get his money back by the milk pail.

Bessie brought Thompson $4,600 because she has both promise and performance. Bessie's son brought $1,750 and a daughter brought $1,350. They are worth those prices because of the potential milk production they may transmit to their descendants.

Stock breeders know that both heredity and environment are important. That's why they are willing to pay $1,350 for a heifer, $1,750 for a bull and $4,600 for a five-year-old cow. The new owners are looking to the future. They are not blinded by costs today. They know that if they want $400 or $500 cows they'll have to bid high to get sires and dams and grandfathers and grandmothers to produce such creatures.

Heredity is of great importance. As humans we can't do much about our ancestry. We can do something about the quality of our progeny.

COLUMNISTS HAVE THEIR BAD DAYS

Columnists come a dime a dozen these days. Almost any man who can hammer a typewriter can get his stuff syndicated out of Washington. Of course, Drew Pearson isn't in that class. He is one of the topflight men. But even the topflight columnists have their bad days. Pearson had his last week when he blamed Republican and Anti-New Deal Democratic ranchers for holding cattle on the ranges. He also blamed mid-western Republicans for keeping the few western cattle which have been shipped on feed lots.

How silly. No rancher is going to keep steers on the range when they are ready for shipping. Even sillier is the Pearson contention that mid-western Republicans, just because they don't like the administration, are going to the bother of lugging corn to the steers week after week and month after month in order to get even with Washington.

Pearson's statement is as silly as that of Rep. Casper P. Kenny, Flint Democrat. To help along his campaign, Kenny wrote a letter to Governor Kelly demanding that an investigation be launched. Kenny insisted that Michigan packing plants were bulging with meat held off the market, speculating on higher prices. The investigation was made and it showed that the supply of meat in packing plants is less than 25 per cent of normal.

The metropolitan press and the professional regimenters realize they made a mess of things by putting meat back under OPA control. They are looking for a whipping boy. Pearson nominated Republican and conservative Democratic ranchers and Republican farmers. The Communist Daily Worker nominated the big packers. Kenny nominated the little packers. They are all wrong. The meat shortage is just another example of bureaucratic bungling.

DIVERSION MEANS NEW TAXES

Voters who fall for the propaganda of the 15-mill cities to further divert the sales tax must not complain if they are asked to dig up new taxes. The money now being collected under the sales tax, beyond the huge amount which is now returned in school aid, welfare, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and other payments, goes to operate state hospitals, prisons and educational institutions. There has been no state building on an adequate level for six years. Millions are needed to bring the state up to date. If those millions are turned back for city politicians to spend then the state will have to get its money from other sources or will have to forego needed state building. The building program is an urgent necessity, so it boils down that more taxes will be needed if the people fall for the propaganda being put out by big city politicians.

Only those people who want to pay more taxes should vote yes on Proposal No. 2 at the November 5 election.

DOWN BY THE

Sycamore

Basra at the head of the Persian Gulf is famed as being the Garden of Eden. Above Basra the Tigris and Euphrates rivers combine to form the Shatt-el-Arab river, and empty their waters into the gulf. Basra is the chief port for travellers from Europe for Bahrain and other places in or along the gulf. Husain Yateem of Bahrain has often been in Basra. His beautiful country, yet no more beautiful than the Sycamore valley if we would take down our blinds. He came to America to see the beautiful country and the billboards spoil many of the finest views, he said.

Fiction would have it that the East is unchanging, that the people idle away their days and dissipate their nights—their days unbroken except for the mezzanine calls to prayer and their nights at revelry with hush and dancing girls. The East does change, just as America changes. There is more idleness in America today than there ever has been in the East, the visitor from Bahrain declared. He is astounded at the spectacle of entire industries and huge industrial empires like Pittsburgh and Pontiac in idleness. With all our vaunted know-how, why don't we start making things for which the world is in such dire need? He can't understand. He has never read the Wagner act.

Yateem was in the United States once before. He came with a political mission to Washington. He had an affair of Mussolini's henchmen in Egypt and was held in Italy when the ship touched at an Italian port. He finally managed to get out of Italy and on to Paris and thence to New York but when he arrived the work of the mission was about wound up. Six days later he left on the return trip. He saw only New York and Hyde Park.

On this trip Yateem intends to look around and see everything he can, if the billboards are not in the way. Yateem is as energetic as any pre-war American. Coming from a long line of merchant princes, he had three years of schooling in England and a boy. He was in the family business when oil was discovered and the Near East boom began. From selling figs and pearls Yateem expanded to automobiles, electric refrigerators and air-conditioning units. He continued to export Oriental rugs and other products but he recognized opportunity when it knuckled. He secured agencies for sources of American and British products. He has the ice concession for Bahrain and on Bahrain the temperature climbs to 140. He has the agencies for American cigarettes, automobiles and many other things. He imports sugar by the thousand and in New York last week discussed a deal for 50,000 tons of sugar offered him from Cuban refineries. Yateem operates a power plant. He is an unofficial economic advisor to the sheik. He is a liaison man for the Bahrain Petroleum Co., which is jointly owned by Standard Oil of California and the Texas Co. Yateem has his fingers in a lot of pies, many of them baked in America.

Although a devout Mohammedan (he has been to Mecca), there is nothing mystic about the visitor from Bahrain. He is keen and alert. He doesn't miss any tricks. He wears his native garb here in the United States and laughs at some of the expenses he has because he sticks to custom. In the lobby of a New York hotel a woman went up to him and asked him to read her palm. Another woman stopped him on the street to invite him to come to her house that night to team up with a Hindu magician.

Yateem is a man of striking appearance. His dark eyes flash with animation. He speaks excellent English, although he discovered on arrival in New York that English and the American idiom differ widely. He is friendly and has a quick sense of humor. He talks freely about his family, his country and his religion.

At the Brown farm Yateem insisted on walking through the fields and into the woods. He was astonished at my potato patch. He sampled hickory nuts and butter-nuts for the first time. He would pop a hickorynut into his mouth and crunch down through the shell. His companions remonstrated with him about cracking the nuts with his teeth, but he kept right on, with the comment that he had good teeth. And they are, maybe because of not gumming them up with soft American foods.

The visitor presented my mother with a beautiful Cashmere shawl, all hand worked. He presented my father with an abba and a turban and again. The abba is the robe which serves as outer garment, flared at the bottom and all in one. The agan is the rope camel drivers use to hobble their steeds. After taking the hobble off a camel the Arabian loops the rope around his in place and to have the hobbles at the next halt. The agan became a distinct part of Arabian attire, Yateem said.

I asked the visitor for permission to take his picture. He insisted that my father would have to do his desert garb and also stand within range of the camera. That's why in the front-page picture Vernon J. Brown with his Arabian costume bears a resemblance to a Michigan man who likes to pose in a fake cowboy suit.

I was interested in affairs of the Yateem household. I sort of led up to the main question by asking the guest how many children he had.

"Four," he replied. "Three girls and a boy. The oldest is a girl, then comes the boy. The third child was a girl, and we wanted another boy when the fourth child was expected. But it was decreed otherwise and a girl was born. We named her Consolation. It is a beautiful name in our tongue; something like Carolann."

Yateem could see that I was working up to the barren angle and so volunteered the information that he is entitled to three more wives. Mohammedan law permits a man to have four wives. Yateem settled for one, and I know he chooses her. When he mentioned his wife and children there came that certain look in his eyes.

The visitor was not bowled over by the looks or actions of many American women he saw in New York night clubs and in a gambling casino down in South Bend. He was downright shocked by their drinking and their smoking and their poor manners. Neither his religion nor his shiek countenances drinking, Yateem explained.

Yateem showed little sympathy for the meat shortage. For 20 days every year a Mohammedan must fast. During that period he can take neither food nor water during daylight hours. The fast can not be broken until after sundown. Yateem said he had eight pounds during the fast this year. Like Jews, Mohammedans are not permitted to eat pork.

Ex-Pilot Ryne said he enjoyed his stay on Bahrain except for the weather. There was an R. A. F. and an American A. T. C. force at Bahrain in addition to British artillery forces. He said there were about 200 men in the American garrison and they appreciated the courtesies shown by the American oil workers and by the natives on Bahrain. Ryne praised Yateem for his hospitality.

Manama on Bahrain is a city of more than 125,000. It has no newspaper. There was once a newspaper in Manama but the printer was a denier and the paper failed. There were 200 colorblind newspapers have little influence on Bahrain, Yateem said. They are weeks old when they arrive from principal European or Indian or Egyptian cities, he explained. The news comes by radio, much of it from Egypt. Egyptian radio broadcasting is without the commercials of American radio. Radio commercials are another thing which Yateem doesn't like any better than he doesn't like the colorblind newspapers. He can't understand why American radio is so fond of the blatant advertising over the air.

All the family enjoyed the visit made by Husain Yateem. Wilbur Russell and Janice are in good company when they step out with the Yateems in Manama society.

Ingham County Library BOOK SHELF

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Every day except Sundays and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Tuesday and Friday, 12-1; Story Hour, Saturday, 1-3.

TOMORROW WILL BE MONDAY. Eleanor, Martha and Penny King are separated when children because of the death of their mother. Growing up in different households their lives show the ways in which women can work out their own destinies. Eleanor, charming and serene, becomes the successful wife of a successful businessman, who runs her life completely. Penny, the youngest and completely spoiled by her father and step-mother, takes all that she wants from the world and gives nothing in return. Martha is a talented common-sense sort of person who earns a reputation as teacher and writer before she marries. She too discovers that once married, a woman's life is no longer her own.

LAUGHING STOCK. Following the pace set by his earlier success, Bennett Cerf here adds to his collection of humorous sketches. As he himself admits, many of them are of uncertain vintage, many old acquaintances under a new guise, and many new to the public. Noted people drift through his columns as they did in "Try and Stop Me."

POURSUITE OF UNDERSTANDING. Esther Claudman Dunn, Professor of English at Smith College, makes use of an unusual method to tell her life story, in that she tries to make it of general implication. In trying to analyze her own reactions as a child and adolescent she misses the personal touch that would make such a story interesting. Some of the reactions seem forced, and more those of an adult reviewing childhood experiences. However, there is much of importance and interest to the teaching world in her observations of teachers and their methods.

SOONER TO SLEEP. The emotional upheavals and complexities to be found in a house full of women is the theme of Frederic Van de Water's latest novel. Using a Vermont setting he gives a gay and readable story. Juanita Preble came to Vermont to marry Roger Carroll, only to find that his leave-taking had been casual and unexplained. She is not really a guest, but not a member of it either. Besides her, there is Agatha Carroll, fascinating matriarch, ex-actress, and ruler; her daughter May, completely dominated by her mother; and May's daughter Melissa, whom Agatha is trying to make into a replica of herself. Of course there has to be the village churl in the person of Vera Isherwood, poet and mother of the obnoxious Roscoe.

Sorry, Folks...

BUT DUE to the storm that hit in this area last Sunday morning I was unable to go ahead with the work on our electric lines that Glen Coon outlined in his letter to you. Weather permitting, however, I will go ahead with this work next Sunday, October 6. As stated in the letter, electric service will be interrupted in this area shortly after midnight Saturday until approximately six a. m. Sunday morning. As you can see, I try to make these changes in our system, that mean more and better electric service for you, during those hours that will be the least inconvenient to you. And you can rest assured that everything is planned so that service will be restored by this time or before if possible."

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACTS OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AND MARCH 3, 1933.

Of the INGHAM COUNTY NEWS, published weekly at Mason, Michigan, for October, 1946.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Nelson D. Brown, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of the Ingham County News and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in Section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher, V. J. Brown & Son, Mason, Michigan.

Editor, Nelson D. Brown, Mason, Michigan.

Managing Editor, None.

Business Manager, Nelson D. Brown.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names (and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.)

Nelson D. Brown, Mason, Michigan.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgages, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.)

None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom the trustee is acting is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and that this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the twelve months preceding the date shown above is 5,124.

Teachers Reception

The various organizations of the Methodist church sponsored a reception for the members of the faculty of the L. T. A. S. which was held last Tuesday evening at the church. The program was opened by group singing led by Leo Rogers, followed by prayer and welcome by Rev. Bushong. The faculty members were introduced by Supt. Earl Briggs, after which violin selections were played by Mrs. Dale Ertel accompanied by Mrs. Dora Diehl. Mrs. Elizabeth Vander Muhl of Mason gave a talk on "Her Teaching and Living Experiences in England and Greece." Refreshments were served at the close of the program. The committee for the occasion consisted of Mrs. George Vogt, Sr., Mrs. Paul Carr and Mrs. C. I. Richner.

Football

The Aggies met their second defeat last Friday under the lights at Leslie. Leslie scored in the third quarter on running plays. Dansville made several first downs but lacked the needed punch to put the ball over. The next game will be at Holt Friday afternoon at three o'clock. The lineup for the Leslie game was: R. Rector, D. F. Fole and B. Wing ends; J. Rice, P. Chell and S. Williams, tackles; Lowell Cochran, L. Walters and D. Wilson, guards; W. Chell, center; Bob Haynes, J. Haynes, Paul Gaus and D. Webster, backs. Neither Don Linhart nor N. Ruter could play because of injuries.
