

Townships Request New Cost Schedule On Fire Protection

Ingham Township May Buy Own Truck, City Is Asked To Submit Price per Run

Four townships which now have fire protection through arrangement with the city of Mason have joined in a request for a new schedule of prices. For 9 1/2 years the townships of Alameda, Aurelius, Vevay and Ingham have received fire protection from Mason at the lump sum price of $1,500 each for a 10-year period, giving Mason $600 per year, or $6,000 for the 10-year period.

Representatives of the four townships met in the city council chamber Monday night. They apparently agreed that they would buy a John Deere fire truck until late in the meeting when they asked two Mason aldermen to submit a new price on fire protection with the truck bought in 1938 to make township and city runs. Previously the city council had made a tentative offer of $750 per year for each township, or $3,000 per year to the city. While that price was called just an asking price, no other figure has ever been given the townships.

Aldermen W. Davis Post and John Shepard were at the meeting of township representatives Monday night. They promised to have a new figure set by the city council at the April 5 meeting. The 10-year contract on the blue truck ends in July.

Wants Own Truck

Ingham township which lost its town hall by fire a year ago, is interested in having a fire truck of its own. Supervisor Paris Witt of Ingham township told others at the Monday night meeting that his township is willing to share the cost of a water tank wagon bought by the townships and wants to purchase fire protection from Mason at so much per run until Ingham has its own truck. Even then a reciprocal arrangement between Mason and Ingham township might prove mutually advantageous, Witt asserted.

Aurelius township officials also showed interest in a price per run on Mason equipment. They pointed out that under the present agreement Aurelius farmers living within four miles of Eaton Rapids and on the Eaton Rapids telephone exchange must phone long distance to Mason to get a fire truck to travel 12 miles before reaching the fire.

Supervisor Lloyd Aseltine of Alameda said the same situation prevails in the northeast corner of Alameda township where farmers have Williamson telephones and live twice as far from Mason as they do from Williamson.

All township delegations agreed on the purchase of a new tank wagon. A committee made up of Supervisors Hubert R. Bullen of Aurelius, Aseltine of Alameda, Witt of Ingham and Wilfred Jewett of Vevay were named to a committee to take bids on a new chassis for the tank.

Supervisors Aseltine and Jewett with Justice Henry Anderson, of Aurelius were also appointed to a committee to get prices on fire trucks.

Supervisor Bullen was made chairman and Supervisor Jewett was made secretary of the four-township district committee.

Salesmen Give Talks

Representatives of the John Beane Co. of Lansing and of American Fire Apparatus Co. of Battle Creek were present at the meeting. The Beane Co. salesman showed a movie of their equipment in action. Present were George Moffatt of the Beane Engineering department and E. J. Noyce of the sales department. Willis Barton of Battle Creek, salesman for the Battle Creek concern, showed photos of his equipment. He declared his company now equips fire trucks with fog apparatus as well as low pressure apparatus.

Either the John Beane or American equipment mounted on a two-ton truck will cost in the neighborhood of $7,500 to $8,000, the new township district committee.

The truck chassis for the tank wagon, which the four townships will buy if and when they secure the approval of their township boards, will cost upwards of $2,000. Noyce explained the Kent county fire protection system operated by the road commission. He declared that Kent's rural fire loss, once among the highest in the nation is now in the lowest bracket. The Kent county road commission has seven John Beane trucks housed in road commission garages throughout the county. Moffatt also explained the area setup being planned for Genesee county.

Mason has agreed to house the fire apparatus bought by the townships and to man the apparatus for rural runs, with the townships paying operating costs.

GRASS FIRES START

Spring was officially opened Wednesday with two grass fires which resulted in calls to the Mason fire department. In the forenoon there was a grass fire alarm from Ford Aseltine on the Dansville road. In the late afternoon firemen were called to South Barnes street in Mason to fight a grass fire.

Webberville Store Destroyed by Fire

Fire, discovered Wednesday morning, destroyed the Beyer store in Webberville. The back part of the store was a complete loss and the front was badly damaged. Most of the stock was either lost or seriously damaged by heat, smoke and water.

Williamston and Fowlerville fire departments were called to aid the Webberville firemen. The firemen succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading to other buildings. The cause of the fire is unknown.

When Virgil LeRoy, the manager, unlocked the store at 7:50 he was met by a mass of flames.

Jurors Will Decide Sanity of Whipple Starting Monday

Psychiatrists and others who claim to know something about the mental condition of Lloyd Whipple will testify at a sanity hearing which will be started Monday.

The hearing will be held in the Lansing court room. Twelve jurors, picked from a special panel, will determine whether or not Whipple is insane now or was insane when he shot Mr. and Mrs. John Churchy at the Christmas Eve party at the Churchy home on Phillips road.

If Whipple is found to be insane he will be committed to the Ionia asylum for the criminal insane. If Whipple is found to be sane he will be forced to stand trial on charges of first degree murder. His brother-in-law, John Churchy, died Christmas Day from wounds received the night before. Whipple's sister, Mrs. John Churchy, was crippled for life when her kneecap was shot off.

The sanity commission appointed by the state was unable to determine whether or not Whipple is sane. The three members of the commission said the war veteran was suffering from anxiety neurosis at the time they examined him.

This past week psychiatrists, some from the original commission, and others assigned by both the prosecution and defense have made examinations of Whipple at the Ingham jail. They will give their findings to the jury.

Ray Potter Killed Going Home from Funeral of Friend

Edwin R. Potter, 53, of Mason and Flint was killed in an automobile crash on M-78 near Perry Sunday afternoon. Potter was returning to his home in Flint after spending the week end in Mason where he was called to attend funeral services for his life-long friend, Friend Guy Cady.

Two others were killed and three were seriously injured in the accident.

Potter came to Mason Saturday. For years he had lived with Q. E. Bell on the Hardscrabble farm on Hogsback road. After the Cady funeral services Potter remained overnight at the Bell home on West Ash street. He left Mason about five o'clock to drive back to Flint. He was alone when he left Mason but along the route he picked up a hitchhiker, Donald W. Dixon, 19, of Grand Lodge, Dixon attended General Motors Tech in Flint.

According to the state police, Potter was driving east at Corby Corners, six miles northeast of Deerpark Inn, when one wheel slipped off the edge of the wet pavement. The car swerved across the highway, a witness told police, to collide head-on with a car driven by Rev. Corwin B. Westfall, 51, of Carlisle, Indiana. Police said the Westfall car was shoved 50 feet back down the highway by the impact.

Dixon was thrown from the car by the impact. He was killed instantly. He suffered a compound fracture of the head, a broken shoulder, broken leg and arm.

Potter's body was found among the wreckage of his car which skidded along for 30 feet following the crash and overturned on the pavement.

Mrs. Ellen Westfall, 44, wife of the pastor, died in an ambulance enroute to Sparrow hospital in Lansing. Her husband suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and gashes about his head. Miss Lucille Westfall, 25, of Jackson and Miss Geraldine Austin, 34, of Jackson were riding with Miss Westfall's parents. The daughter received a compound fracture of her right leg and internal injuries. Miss Austin was cut about her head and also has internal injuries.

Potter's funeral services for Potter were held at the Legion Memorial hall, five days following the services held for Cady. A firing squad from Browne-Cavender post participated. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Potter was born in Alameda township, August 16, 1894, a son of Edwin and Mary Potter. For many years he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bell. His wife paralleled that of Cady. Both men were inducted into the army the same day in World War I.

Both served in the medical corps. Both were active in Browne-Cavender post of the American Legion. Both were past commanders of the post. Neither served as postmaster.

Potter long served as postmaster and welfare officer and was also a member of the Ingham county soldiers and sailors relief commission. He was a member of district and state Legion committees, and represented the Mason post at many state conventions.

The accident victim is survived by three brothers, Burdette of Okemos, Ambrose of Flint and Hugh of Lansing; and four sisters, Mrs. Paule Griggs, Mrs. Pearl Hart and Mrs. Edith Isbel, all of East Lansing, and Mrs. Lavina Horton, Lansing.

Delegates to the state convention and the townships or cities they represent are: J. P. Lechner, Mason; Howard Chappell and John J. Richards, Delhi; William J. Wright, Bunker Hill and Stockbridge; Mrs. Bernice Lewsader and Claude Lewsader, Meridian; Guy C. Hull, Leslie; Margaret Meehan, Lester; Cowell, Margaret Meehan, Raymond A. Republicans Pick 48 Delegates For State Convention

Ingham Republicans held their convention in the Legion Memorial building in Mason last Friday night. They chose 48 delegates to represent the county at the state convention to be held in Detroit April 3. They also passed resolutions commending Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg to the national Republican convention. Both men were put up as native sons of Michigan.

Gathered on the bluff above the raging Sycamore, the Republicans surveyed the world situation, and didn't like it much.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

Michigan Democrats will hold their county convention Friday night, April 9, to pick delegates to the state convention. The state convention will be held in Battle Creek May 1 to choose 42 delegates to the national convention, which will be staged in Philadelphia July 21.

Within the last 72 hours the president has virtually ignored the call to arms. I don't say that the re-establishment of the draft is unwise or unnecessary, but I do say it shouldn't be necessary.

The Ingham Republicans endorsing the Republican congressional program for immediate slash in federal income taxes. They also demanded removal of federal excise taxes on necessities now classified as luxury items.

Centralization of governmental power in Washington was condemned. Resolutions demanded a slash in government personnel of at least 25 per cent.

Other resolutions asked for adoption of a strong military policy and the removal of war-time controls and powers. The convention adopted a resolution against the federal government entering the house-building field and against other socialistic ventures.

John King of Meridian township spoke up against the present law which names as delegates to spring sessions the delegates who were elected to the legislature two years before. He suggested that township chairman call party caucuses so people would have something to say about presidential candidates.

Delegates listened to a Detroit broadcast by Governor Kim Sigler. The governor had been billed as keynote speaker for the Ingham convention but discovered he had a conflicting date in Detroit.

Lyle B. Austin, county treasurer and the chairman of the Ingham county committee, presided at the convention. He was also elected chairman of the Ingham delegation to the state convention. He and Mrs. Edith Roberts, Okemos, were elected delegates at large.

Delegates to the state convention and the townships or cities they represent are: J. P. Lechner, Mason; Howard Chappell and John J. Richards, Delhi; William J. Raging Sycamore Destroys Maple Street Bridge, Michigan Central Tracks Are Again Washed Out

ANOTHER BRIDGE was torn out by the Sycamore Friday, just a year after the Elm street bridge was destroyed. As remarked by Ethel Adams, "Mason is suffering from fallen arches."

The level of the creek rose steadily last Thursday night and Friday forenoon. About noon the throat of the Maple street bridge was running full. Then the water began to go over and around. By mid-afternoon Lansing street alongside the creek was taken over by the torrent to by-pass the bridge. The bridge was damaged in last spring's flood. It will now have to be rebuilt or replaced.

This picture was taken about 5:30 Friday afternoon with the camera pointed east toward town. The water went a foot higher before the crest was reached about 9:30.

High Water and Frost Action Damages Ingham Blacktop, Many Roads Closed

Although the damage is not so spectacular as last year, actually the cost of last week's rain and frost action will run almost as much as a year ago. That's the verdict of County Highway Engineer Frank Evans.

There were more than 50 culverts of two feet or more capacity which were washed out. One abutment of the bridge over Deer creek while the new bridge was being built was moved east to span Deer creek.

Many sections of highways are closed to traffic because of the frost. Evans said work will be started this week on the main gravel roads. Repair crews worked last Friday and Saturday nights and through Sunday on blacktop failures and road damage. Barricades are still in place on some of the main highways and traffic will be held up until the frost leaves, and major blacktop repairs can be made, the county engineer explained.

US-16 east of Lansing was closed part of Saturday and Sunday when the Red Cedar left its banks. Other roads in the Williamston area, which were closed (some still are) included Williams-ton, Howell, Snedeker, Meech and Zimmerman. Near Dansville the Com-lumbe, Brown and Clark roads were impassable. Other main county highways partially blocked included Diamond, Every, Rolfe, Laxton, Barnes, Gale, Curtice, Aurelius, Kinneyville, Olean, Cavanburgh, College, Kalamazoo street between Lansing and East Lansing, Raby, North Okemos, East Holt and Harper.

Water in the Sycamore cascaded over the Harper road bridge but

George McCormick Suddenly Stricken

George B. McCormick, 78, died suddenly Wednesday morning at the farm home at the corner of Dexter Trail and Meridian road. He was a lifelong resident of the county.

Funeral services will be held at the Jewett funeral home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. F. A. Lendrum, pastor of the Dansville Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery, Mason.

He was born in Vevay township on March 19, 1876, one of three children born to Shelton and Louise McCormick. On June 9, 1897, he was united in marriage to Edna A. Lane. They resided on the McCormick homestead in Vevay township until 1943 when they moved to the present home near Dansville in 1945.

Mr. McCormick is survived by the wife, Edna, and two sons, Harry L. McCormick of Ann Arbor and Russell D. McCormick of Eaton Rapids, six grandsons, two great grandsons and a brother, Frank McCormick of Whitmore Lake. A daughter, Mrs. Ione Ridge, died in 1928.

Recreation Plans Will Be Outlined Next Friday Night

Mason's summer recreation program will be presented for discussion at the Hall Memorial library Friday night, April 2. Representatives from all organizations interested in the program are being asked to attend the meeting.

On Thursday night of this week the program will be tentatively mapped. The committee working on the plans is made up of Frank Guerrierio, C. D. Wardell and Gerald Parsons and Miss Dorothy Rozek.

Plans for financial support of the program are also being drawn to match the schedule adopted.

POPULAR DEMONSTRATIONS

Over 150 people attended the Bendix demonstrations held at the Dart & Cady Ash street store last Thursday. The demonstrations were held through the day and evening.

Sycamore Torrent Proves Too Swift For Old Structure

Flash Flood of Friday Fills Cellars Near Creek When Bridge Pens Waters

Another flood came last Friday and Mason lost another bridge.

The Maple street bridge which had its wings undermined by last year's flood was unable to breast the torrent Friday. The concrete tube was undercut last spring and this time the tube was parted so water spouted up through the center. The sidewalk on the south end caved in and a long stretch of gas main was exposed.

While the bridge is passable to traffic on the north side it will have to be rebuilt or replaced. Because the bridge has never been large enough it will be replaced. City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer will recommend to the city council. In fact, he made the recommendation several months ago. Plans were already being drawn up for a new bridge at Mason. The removal of the right angle turn in the channel just north of the bridge.

When the water couldn't get through the throat of the Maple street bridge it took to Lansing street and crossed down it to re-enter the channel north of the bridge. The back water eddied west on Maple and north and south on Lansing almost to Ash on the south and almost to Sycamore street on the north.

The crest of the flood would have arrived about 10 o'clock had it not been for the cutting of the Michigan Central tracks at Elm street. The remains of the Elm street bridge lost last year sent the torrent against the Sycamore road. A new bridge, now under construction by the railroad, officials appeared to Mayor S. A. Morrison to order the debris of the old bridge removed. By then railroad equipment could not reach the scene so a road commission power shovel was used to pull the ruins of the old structure away.

Removal of the old bridge wings took the pressure off the railroad grade, but raised the creek level. There was a wall of water released about 9:30 and at Maple street three blocks away the level immediately climbed nine inches, high enough to sweep into the cellar windows at the James Dart home.

Trains Were Halted
Michigan Central trains were halted Friday afternoon when a culvert washed south of Leslie carried away part of the tracks and when the Sycamore began to rise, away the grade at Mason. Railroad repair crews were brought in by truck and they toiled through the night to make repairs. After the Leslie washout was repaired loads of stone were brought on to Mason. Lights had been rigged at Mason and crews had the track tangle for slow railroad traffic at two o'clock Saturday morning.

Two weeks ago Mayor Morrison and City Engineer Zimmer were in Jackson to consult railroad officials about sharing the cost of a new bridge at Elm street and flood control improvements at Maple. Plans for the Elm street bridge are now being studied by Michigan Central engineers.

Rapid Rise of Sycamore
Rainfall Thursday and Friday amounted to 2.57 inches, according to the gauges at the disposal plant. Friday forenoon the level of the Sycamore was 32 inches above the normal level. At 6:30 Friday night the maximum reading was 84 inches above low water level. That reading exactly equaled the mark of last spring's flood when the total rainfall was 3.0 inches. Both last year and this the ground was saturated with water when the big rain came.

Mason's school band copped a first rating in the district band competition in Jackson Friday.

By gaining a first rating at Jackson the Mason band became qualified to participate in the state festival to be held at Michigan State college May 1.

Judges at the Jackson contest were unanimous in giving the Mason band a first place rating. The judges were Leonard Falcone, director of the Michigan State college band; Leonard Meretta, director of the Western State college band at Kalamazoo; Clifford Lillha, professor of brass in the University of Michigan school of music; and Keith Stein, professor of clarinet at the Michigan State college school of music.

Chief criticism of the judges was lack of proper instrumentation in the Mason band. All the judges recommended that bassoons, oboes, flutes, bass horns and clarinets be added.

The weakness in instrumentation has been recognized by Director Murthum and other school officials. The recent concert at Mason was staged to raise funds for purchase of some of the instruments. The director is hopeful that a bassoon and an oboe may be bought this year.

Gas Engine Fumes
Peril Cappel Family

Mrs. Joe Cappel and her two daughters were partially overcome by gasoline engine fumes at the Cappel residence Sunday morning. The flood put about three feet of water into the Cappel cellar at 1109 S. Lansing street. A sump pump was used to get the water out. Sunday forenoon Mrs. Cappel and her daughter, Jo Lynne, 5, were in the kitchen and the baby, Jennell, was in the bedroom. Mrs. Cappel thought the air seemed close so she turned on the ventilating fan. Jo Lynne appeared to be drowsy. Mrs. Cappel felt weak. Then she heard the baby gasp. Mrs. Cappel went to the bedroom and discovered the baby's eyes rolled back and its skin blue. She then made her way to the front door to open it and let air in and went to the telephone to summon her mother next door. About that time her husband and father, S. A. Morrison, arrived.

Mrs. Cappel and the two children were taken to Dr. A. V. Smith's office. All three quickly recovered. It was discovered that the ventilating fan had drawn fumes from the gasoline engine into the house.

Mason School Band Wins Top Rating.
Picked to Participate in State Festival

George Murthum
Completing his first year as director of the Mason school band, George Murthum is encouraged by the showing made at the Jackson district contest last Friday. It was the first top rating won by the Mason band in at least 10 years. Murthum came to Mason last August following his graduation from the school of music at the University of Michigan in June. The Mason PTA and other organizations are attempting to raise funds so Murthum can remain in Mason during summer vacation to work with the school band on a summer program.

Variety Show Hit Of School Carnival

By John Rusch

The annual carnival was held in the Mason school gym Saturday night. The concessions and food booths were kept busy with the large crowds. However, the main attraction of the carnival this year was the variety show.

The theme of the program was based on the radio characters "Blanche and John," portrayed by Rosemary Green and Edison Soderman. The couple, arguing in their usual manner, turned on the radio, and the curtain went up on a radio program with Clay Braden (master of ceremonies) as radio announcer. The variety band composed of Jim Soper, Clay Braden, Addison Crittenden, Jim Rickly, Herman Bushnell and Roger Topliff, played three numbers.

A group of tenth graders sang "Fueled in Fussin'" and came on stage dressed in hilly clothes. Zoanne Migrants gave a reading about baseball, Irah Colby sang "Falling In Love" as her solo. Eddie Bekell, Herman Bushnell and Annabelle Nelson enacted the "Too Fat Polka."

Barbara Clark and Joan Jewett performed in "Petzel Girl," an acrobatic act. Dick Mitchell and Clair Otis tap-danced for one number; the boy's trio consisting of Charles and Bob Lyons and Don Knight, sang several selections. Jimmy Soper played a medley of numbers on his marimba. Donis Catrider, who was accompanist for several of the acts, gave "Sunrise Serenade" as a piano solo. Wanda Beebe, dressed in white and green, sang "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" accompanied by Donna Donsmore. Joan Wilson and George Bauer presented "My Old Flame." Joan sang the song, then George appeared and gave his "Peter Lore" version with slouch hat and lighted torch.

Six-year-old Donna McMillan of Lansing created quite a sensation when she appeared with Dick Mitchell to dance a Hawaiian dance. As the closing number she danced her own tap dance, dressed in Hawaiian garb.

Following the show, dancing was featured in the band room.

Many Church Activities Planned at Stockbridge

This week Thursday, holy communion services will be held in the three churches. The Methodist church will have a family supper preceding the service.

On Good Friday afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock the union services will be held in the Presbyterian church, with special music by their choir.

On Wednesday afternoon the Woman's guild of the Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Gladys Myers, assisted by Leone Felton and June Myers. Mrs. Dora Hall presented a paper on "Distinguished Jews." Miss Mary Stilson led devotions and roll call was answered by giving the name of a famous Jew and telling what he did.

Sibley-Chenoweth Nuptials

Solemnized in Chicago
Miss Barbara Ann Sibley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Sibley of Stockbridge, became the bride of Dr. Carlin Velde Chenoweth, son of Mrs. Kathryn and the late Dr. Avery Chenoweth of Urbana, Illinois, on Saturday, March 20.

The wedding took place in the Chicago Methodist Temple at 3:00 in the afternoon. Dr. Ray Charles Goff officiated. A reception in the Illini Union building followed the ceremony.

Miss Patricia Sibley of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., sister of the bride, was the bride's only attendant. Dr. William Stecker of Chicago was best man, Donald Chenoweth, brother of the bridegroom, and Dr. Thomas Devlin ushered. Music during the reception was furnished by Donald Chenoweth, an accomplished pianist. Miss Helen Crumery, Mr. Marie Matthe and Miss Mareia Gast served.

The bride wore a bolero suit of dusty pink gabardine with a silvery blue blouse and hat. She carried an orchid on a white prayer book. The bridesmaid was attired in a full skirted dress of dusty rose and her accessories were maroon. Her flowers were pink carnations. The mother of the bride chose a bonnet for her gown. Her accessories were rose, and her corsage was pink rosebuds, while the mother of the bridegroom chose a bolero with dark brown accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Miss Sibley is a graduate of Michigan State college where she was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She served her dietetic internship at Cook county hospital in Chicago and is now a member of the dietary staff there. Dr. Chenoweth graduated from the University of Illinois medical school and is affiliated with Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity. He is internist at Cook county hospital at present.

Dr. and Mrs. Chenoweth will be at home at 1850 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, after March 24.

Home Culture Club Meets

The Home Culture club met at the home of Mrs. Gladys Wright Friday afternoon. Nineteen members and one guest were present. The business session was conducted by President Gladys Wright. The club voted to give $15 to the Red Cross. Ellen Sorier, the village librarian, introduced Dorothy Rozek, assistant librarian of the Ingham county library, who gave a talk on "Books for All Ages." A lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Commercial Club Elects

The following officers were elected at the last commercial club meeting: President, J. G. McEwing; vice-president, Paul Ste-Fred Pfeister; and executive committee officers, James Rowland, Wayne Collier, Casper Glenn, Sumner Hall, H. Shellenbarger and Joe Savage.

Most of these hats can be and actually were turned out for less than 25c. Like many other Easter hats they were made with paper pie plates instead of felt or straw. Cabbage leaves, carrots, celery and spinach were used to gain decorative effects. The ribbons were the most expensive part. They came from the dime store.

Arthur Jewett was declared the winner of first prize in the contest. He received a peck of potatoes and an invitation to attend the Atlantic City Boardwalk Easter parade with all expenses paid—by him.

Nazarene Pastor Extended 3-Year Call

Last Sunday at a congregational meeting, the largest in the history of the church, Rev. Murray Morford was extended a three-year call. He accepted it. The three-year term begins July 1.

During the Morford pastorate of the past two years membership in both the church and Sunday school have made steady growth.

Rev. Morford came to the Nazarene in Lansing two years ago next July.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Morford are talented musicians. Their ministry of music has added much to church interest and enthusiasm. Rev. Morford came to the Nazarene in Lansing, where he served as a music director, two years ago next July. Before going to Lansing in 1945, he served as pastor of churches in Chubbuck, Peru and Berne, Indiana. He attended pastors' school at Ashbury college, Wilmore, Kentucky.

PTA Elects Officers

The new officers of the PTA are: President, Larry Lindner; vice-president, Evelyn Lantis; secretary, Harriet Beckwith; treasurer, Janet McEwing; and teacher vice-president, Dick Howlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Collier and children spent Sunday with Phillips Collins at Dearborn.

Mrs. Jennie Grant spent last week Wednesday and Thursday in Lansing.

Clifton Hollis and Clyde Buchanan attended the first Captain-Sponsor bowling tournament at the Jackson Recreation and banquet at Hotel Otsego in Jackson Saturday.

Former Dansville Farmer Kills Wife And Commits Suicide in Los Angeles

Carl Horvath, 57, killed his wife and then ended his own life in Los Angeles March 17.

C. B. Horrall, Los Angeles chief of police, in a telegram to the Ingham County News, said notes written by Horvath were found after the double killing. The notes told of continuous quarreling between husband and wife following their marriage six months ago on the Coast. The police record showed, the chief reported, that officers had been called in previously to settle quarrels between the pair. A divorce was pending.

Horvath and his wife came out of Detroit in 1939 to buy the Len Otis farm south of Dansville. The farm is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson. The Horvaths were at Dansville five years. They sold their farm there and moved to a farm near Eaton Rapids. There the wife sickened and died in July of 1946. A year later Horvath sold out at Eaton Rapids and went to Los Angeles. Six months later he remarried.

Horvath and his first wife were born in Hungary. At funeral services for Mrs. Horvath at the Ball funeral home two years ago a quartet of Hungarian violinists played. They also played at the grave.

The body of Horvath is on its way back to Michigan. Funeral services for him will be held at the Ball funeral home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial will be beside his first wife in Maple Grove cemetery.

Two nephews and a niece survive. The niece, Josephine Nemeth now of Wyandotte, lived with the Horvaths at Dansville. The nephews are Frank Nemeth of Detroit and Joseph Nemeth of Los Angeles.

While Mrs. Horvath was confined to the Mason hospital her husband stayed in Mason. He had a room in the Mrs. Bertha Shafer home and spent long hours with his wife at the hospital.

Crowding May Cause Chick Cannibalism

Cannibalism in chicks is hard to stop once it gets started. Keep chicks busy at the feeders and water fountains, is the advice of Howard Zindel, extension poultryman at Michigan State college. Don't let the idle chicks start something that will affect the entire brood.

If cannibalism should start, affected parts should be treated with pine tar or commercial preparations made for the purpose. Reduce the light in the house; if possible exclude all light by shading the windows and use a red light if the house is wired for electricity.

Salt added to the drinking water at the rate of one tablespoonful per gallon of water for half-day periods on three successive days may prove beneficial. If the first treatment is not successful, repeat after three days.

HARTIG SALE SUCCESSFUL. Alvin Hartig reported that his farm auction held last Thursday was successful. Advertising through the Ingham County News resulted in many buyers, Hartig said. Prices were high, he added.

Mason Cancer Drive To Open April 1

The cancer drive, which will open in Mason April 1, is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Mason Child Study club. Howard McCowan will serve as chairman in the Mason arena. He will be assisted by Donald Cady and Mrs. Robert Leonard.

Last Tuesday, McCowan, Mrs. Frank Guerrieri, Mrs. Harold Barnhill and Mrs. Russell Robbins attended a cancer drive luncheon at the Porter Hotel in Lansing. Following the luncheon, those who were present took part in the new cancer detection center located at 510 North Washington avenue. The center opened Monday.

The staff at the center consists of members of the Ingham society who have offered their services free. The detection center will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon Monday through Friday.

National Officers Of Border Vets Coming to Mason

Major Ralph Strope has received word that at least three national officers of the Mexican Border Veterans association will be in Mason Sunday, April 4, to attend the district meeting. Major Strope reported that National Commander Maundy and National Adjutant Gulley, both of Indianapolis, and Gen. Heinrich Pickert of Detroit, national vice commander, will be at the meeting.

Col. Chester B. McCormick, Col. Joseph Lewis and Col. Frank Duer, neoback who served with the Lansing batteries on the border in 1916, have said they will be in Mason for the day.

William Carpenter, former chaplain of the D. A. V., is to speak at the dinner which will be served in the Legion Memorial building at five o'clock in the evening. The gathering is the anniversary meeting of Raymond Hoague Patrol No. 4.

Mayor Morrison Sets April 6 as Army Day

Tuesday, April 6, has been proclaimed as "Army Day" by Mayor S. A. Morrison.

"April 6 has been set as 'Army Day' by congress," the mayor said. "The day is to be observed by all citizens in recognition of the contribution made by our army in the past and the part the army must play in keeping the peace. The present situation throughout the world makes it appropriate to observe 'Army Day' with more seriousness this year. Therefore I ask all Mason people to display the American flag on Tuesday, April 6."

FILM NEWS

The latest action musical from Columbia is "Rose of Santa Rosa," which is opening on Saturday at the Fox Theatre.

The Hoosier Hot Shots (Hazy, Ken, Gil and Gabe) head the featured cast. They go to bat for a friend whose Mexican millionaire father has arranged a marriage for him to a girl he has never met.

William Marshall and Adele Mara are featured in the second part of the double feature program, "Blackmail."

Margaret O'Brien stars as Flavia Mills, heroine of "Tenth Avenue Angel," to be shown at the Fox on Sunday and Monday.

Flavia looks at her commonplace neighborhood through rose-colored glasses. She finds happiness in a thousand ordinary things, and is encouraged in her imagination and search for beauty by her sensitive mother and father. Her favorite grown-up friends are Luke, former taxi-driver who has served a jail sentence, and Susan, his girl, who doesn't share Flavia's enthusiasm for Tenth Avenue.

"Captain from Castile" is a story of gold, empire, vengeance and glory, told for the first part against the rich tapestry of Spain in the day of the Inquisition, and then moving with Cortez in his historic invasion of Mexico. The story centers around the character of Pedro de Vargas, son of an aristocratic Spanish family, who is forced by the Inquisition to flee his native land with vengeance in his heart for those who destroyed his loved ones, and a determination to restore his family name to its former glory. The picture will be shown at the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday.

On the screen, the story emerges in scenes of horrors of the Inquisition; the excitement of Cortez's campaign; the intrigues within the army's ranks and Pedro's desperate encounter with the plotters; the invasion of the fabulously rich land of the Aztecs and the undercurrent of resentment that is to flare into fierce battle.

Roy Rogers and Trigger will be seen in "The Gay Ranchero," which will be shown at the Fox on Thursday and Friday.

Methodist Leader Defines Religion

Religion is justice, and mercy, and communion with God, declared Dr. Spencer Baker Owen before the Mason Kiwanis club Tuesday night. Dr. Owen is superintendent of the Lansing-Albion district of the Methodist church.

In addition to Kiwanians and individual guests at the meeting, all Mason churches and the Eden church were represented by their pastors. Rev. Henry Liddicoat, pastor of the Methodist church, was program chairman for the meeting. Rev. John Lippincott, pastor of the Eden church, is also a member of the club. Other preachers were Father Keating of the Mason Catholic mission, Rev. Loyd Caraway of the Baptist church, Rev. Marshall Simpson of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Murray Morford of the Church of the Nazarene.

Dr. Owen urged the tolerance which comes of better understanding. He declared that no group should attempt to exclude others because of racial or religious differences. Most religious differences stem from varying interpretations as to what God wants man to do. Dr. Owen declared.

"Some people think God doesn't want them to wear jewelry of neckties, or buttons," Dr. Owen explained. "Then there is a difference of opinion on the amount of water used for baptismal purposes, and the amount of ritualism in worship services. These things are unimportant. What is important is the justice and mercy we show to others and the relationship each of us has with God."

Howard Keigle of Lansing, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Nichols, sang a group of Irish songs.

Permits Are Issued To Eating Places

Dr. R. Lanling, director of the Lansing-Ingham county health department, has reported that annual operating permits have recently been issued to 119 public eating and drinking establishments in accordance with requirements of the Ingham county sanitary regulations and the East Lansing food ordinance. Places in Lansing are licensed at another date under the city food ordinance.

Operating permits for 14 other places in the county are being withheld pending compliance with the regulations within a reasonable period of time. Two other places, one in Lansing township and one in Meridian township, were denied operating permits and will not be permitted to reopen until new buildings are provided to meet the sanitation requirements.

"We are reminding the operators of eating and drinking establishments that these operating permits are not transferable and that any violations of the provisions of the county regulations and the East Lansing food ordinance are subject to penalties provided therein," concluded Dr. Lanling.

Care of Premature Babies is Taught In "First-of-kind" Wayne U. Course

Holding up two tiny premature patients, just graduated from incubator status, is Miss Hilda Houston, supervisor of the obstetrical department of Herman Kiefer Hospital. She is one of the instructors for Wayne's special course in premature-infant care.

"Premature Infants' Care" is the theme of a new course featured at Wayne University College of Nursing, in Detroit, this year. In this "workshop" class, sponsored by the College in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Health and numerous Detroit hospitals, the trainees view and exercise the basic techniques of this highly specialized nursing field.

Dean Katharine E. Paville of the College and officials of the state health department have evolved the training as a necessary specialization for the nursing profession in this new day. Medical science, they point out, has provided means through which "preemies" have their chances of survival increased many times, and it is important that certain nurses be so equipped through training that they may take over the supervision of premature-nursery wards in hospitals. All nurses have already had such instruction on care of premature infants, acquired during their regular training; but the Wayne course supplements this basic training with instruction and experience in such matters as feeding of correct-ly prepared and balanced foods, proper incubation methods, and the principles of humidity and temperature control.

The course is financed in part by a grant from the U. S. Children's Bureau through the state health department, and enrollees come from areas throughout Michigan. Only graduate nurses are admitted.

Students spend a forty-hour, five-day week in their work, with division of time to allow classroom study as well as actual hospital experience.

MURDER FACTS BECOME FICTION

Upton Slaying Now In Magazine Form

Inside Detective for April is featuring the Upton murder case. The magazine is one of the detective pulps. In the Upton case the facts are not too badly jangled. The author put in some glamour that was missing from the affair. The story is called "The State vs. The Herd."

Besides the pictures of all the principals in the murder, the story includes pictures of Prosecutor Charles R. MacLeau and Defense Attorney Benjamin F. Watson.

According to the magazine story the six women on the jury were determined on a first degree murder verdict while the men wanted to settle for manslaughter, a little difference of opinion which means life to Josephine Upton and Richard Gorman.

James M. Abbott, author of the magazine piece, quotes a juror as saying, "We had a terrible time. The six women on the jury demanded first degree murder right off the bat and wouldn't hear anything else. We men tried our best to get it (the verdict) cut down to manslaughter but we got nowhere. We would have been there yet if we hadn't given in."

Pulp writers are already at work on the Churchy-Whipple murder case and have been in Mason studying newspaper files and making offers for pictures. The story has not yet appeared in print. The publishers may be waiting until the final chapters covering the sanity hearing and the trial are ready to be included.

Beet Wage Scales Are Set for Area

Sugar beet labor rates as fixed by the U. S. department of agriculture will boost mechanization of the crop.

Reduction of spring wage rates by 18 per cent in mechanically blocked fields is regarded as almost certain to spur the trend toward mechanization.

Wage rates per acre with segmented seed, no machine blocking, are $11.00 for blocking and finger-thinning, $3.50 for first hoeing and $2.25 for each subsequent hoeing.

On segmented seed, machine-blocked, the per acre rates are $9.00 for blocking and finger-thinning, $2.50 for first hoeing and $2.25 for each subsequent hoeing.

On segmented seed, no finger-thinning, the rate on hoe-thinning is $7.00 with $4.50 for the first hoeing and $2.25 for each subsequent hoeing.

Where hand work is materially reduced by use of mechanical stand-reducing tools other than weedeaters, growers may reduce labor costs by employing workers at the basic hourly rate of 60c.

Home Is Damaged By Water Pressure

Pressure from the Sycamore street sewer, overloaded by flood water, heaved the basement floor at the Oscar VanSteele home, 414 West Sycamore, Friday night. After last night's flood VanSteele installed a sewer plug in the basement of his new home to prevent flood water from coming in. When the creek began to reach flood stage the plug was inserted. Friday night enough pressure developed to heave the cellar floor and shove the furnace out of place. Heat pipes were torn loose.

Poultry Testing Cuts Down Disease

Great strides have been made in disease eradication and improvement of Michigan poultry, C. G. Card, head of the Michigan State college poultry department, reports.

The National Poultry Improvement plan and the National Turkey Improvement plan, both working to stamp out the disease, are jointly sponsored by the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association, Michigan State college poultry department and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The results of the past few years' testing, retesting and check testing have improved the livability of chicks and poulters produced last year to a very high level. Livability tests are based on cards sent out with each sale of chicks and poulters by the hatchery. At the end of 14 days the farmer returns this livability card to the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association office where results are tabulated.

In 1947 cards were received which accounted for 731,446 chicks and poulters. It is the fact that 643,000 chicks in 2,500 flocks were blood tested and leg banded. In addition, 70,650 turkeys in 220 flocks were tested and leg banded.

Fifty-five per cent of the total hatcheries in Michigan, representing over 80 per cent of the total capacity, are now cooperating with the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association. Lists of hatcheries cooperating can be secured from county agricultural agents, agricultural teachers, FFA and 4-H leaders or by writing to the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association, East Lansing.

SHOOT STORY

Prove Your Love

By HANK McCALL

JIM WEEKS took his spite out on his car and moaned, "With all the girls in this town to pick from, I got engaged to the one with the wildest ideas."

He had dashed out of Jane Blake's house two minutes before without kissing her goodnight. They were engaged, they wanted to get married, their parents liked the match; in short, everything was perfect except Jane's crazy notions. A doubling, brooding mood had possessed her all evening. His trouble started when he rashly promised to do anything to prove his love.

3 Minute Fiction

Jane laughed but said seriously, "Jim, I'm going to give you a chance to prove that promise. We aren't going to get married until you get us an apartment to live in."

"Apartment? Why, Jane, you know we can't get an apartment in this town. Besides, we get the third floor of Dad's house."

"No, Jim. No apartment, no wedding."

The next morning Jim came to work a gruff, bitter young man. He ate lunch with Bud Hoven, an old friend in the engineering department. The usually quiet Bud was in high spirits.

"Jim, open your ears and listen to some good news. I'm going to production school in Chicago two weeks from today. The company pays all expenses, even for the wives. Betty and I will look up our apartment and prepare to enjoy a free four-week vacation."

"Look up your apartment? Bud, listen to me," pleaded Jim. He explained his predicament while Bud listened sympathetically. Jim easily persuaded him to sign over his apartment.

THOSE days were a whirlwind of frantic activity. The attendants' gowns had to be ordered, the arrangements for the reception and dinner had to be made, and all the thousand other things that go with a wedding had to be settled in one short week. The time between the nuptials and Bud's departure was to be spent in honeymoon.

The day of the rehearsal found all details carefully assigned. The practice went smoothly until Bud beckoned Jim aside. "I don't know how to say this, Jim, but the company has changed its mind. I was transferred to next month's class."

A squadron of bombers wouldn't have made the roar that Jim's dream boats did as they crashed into the rocks. He had one idea to get across. "Don't tell Jane, Bud. We can't call off the wedding now. I'll find a place tomorrow if I have to buy a hotel."

HE SAID goodnight to Jane early and headed home. As he was waiting at a spotlight a paper boy thrust the weekly edition of the newspaper into his window. He had no choice but to buy it.

Remembering that this edition carried the next morning's want ads he turned to the last pages. His eye searched for the "Apartments for Rent" section, stopped and then danced. His hands shook so hard that he could hardly discern the print. There it was, a thousand to one chance, but it was there.

"APARTMENT FOR RENT. CALL 7883 AFTER SEVEN A. M. DO NOT DISQUALIFY YOURSELF BY CALLING BEFORE SEVEN."

The morning light had scarcely appeared before Jim was heading for the apartment address. He found the street and the house, parked his car and ran up the steps to the porch.

He was startled when a voice called, "Jim, you're a little late." A girl sat in the corner, quietly waiting for the landlord.

Jane was laughing when she kissed him. "Don't be so shocked. Betty tipped me off to your little scheme. You don't think that I'd give up the wedding now, do you? I saw this advertisement in the paper last night, looked up the number, and got here first. It's my apartment but you can pay the first month's rent."

Lamb Parasites Easily Checked

Importance of proper treatment of lambs for internal parasites is shown by these two lambs born the same day and given identical feed for a nine month period. Tests were conducted by research men at the agricultural experiment station at Michigan State college, East Lansing. The larger lamb, which attained a weight of more than 90 pounds, was given free access to salt to which phenothiazine was added. One pound of phenothiazine was mixed with 14 pounds of salt and placed in a covered feeder. The smaller animal reached a weight of 40 pounds and got only plain salt. Both were exposed to known worm infected pastures and sheds. Internal parasite troubles caused many farmers to liquidate farm flocks. The simple self-worming process found recently through agricultural experiment station research has caused many to resume sheep rearing programs.

Obituary

John G. Bappert

John G. Bappert, 82, died at his home northwest of Williamston on March 12, 1948. Although Mr. Bappert had been in failing health for some time, his death was unexpected.

John Bappert, the son of Conrad and Catherine Bappert, and the eldest of seven children, was born February 27, 1866, near Williamston Center on the farm now occupied by his surviving brothers and sisters. As a young man he spent several years in the west and took up a government homestead in Kansas.

He was married to Nellie M. Hart on February 14, 1906. They were engaged in farming for several years, and in 1919 moved to the village of Williamston. Here Mrs. Bappert died in 1928.

A few years later the family moved back to the farm home, where he continued to live an active life until his death.

Mr. Bappert was a life-long member of the St. Mary's Catholic church. He was a kind father and grandfather, a good neighbor and a friend to all he knew.

Surviving are four children: Peter X. Bappert and Helen Bappert of Williamston; Mary Bappert of Lansing, and Mrs. Frances Simon; two sisters, Kate Bappert and Mrs. Lena Buxton, and two brothers, Peter Bappert and Frank Bappert, all of Williamston; and several nieces and nephews.

Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Wieber officiated at the funeral mass which was held on March 13, 1948, in St. Mary's church, Williamston. Burial was made in Mt. Calvary cemetery at Williamston.

Quality Wool Needs Care in Shearing

It takes a year to produce a crop of wool but its value is often lowered by careless handling at shearing time, advises Graydon Blank, animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college.

Much of the shearing in the state is done by custom workmen who do a fast neat job, but the damage to the wool often comes when chaff, dirty wool, or wet wool is tied in the fleece. Chaff can be kept out by providing the shearer with a clean floor on which to work. Dirty, wet and stained wool should be kept separate so it will not damage the clean parts of the fleece.

Wool should always be tied with paper twine, never with binder twine. Loosely tied fleeces are less likely to spoil if the wool should be damp.

Flock owners should always be on hand to assist the shearers in catching the sheep and to take care of the wool after it is removed. Most shearers are skillful workmen and take a great deal of pride in their work. However, flock owners should make sure that no more second cuts than necessary are made in the fleece and that the sheep are not being nicked excessively with the shearing knives.

Shearing time also gives the flock owner a good chance to check the condition of his flock. Sheep in poor condition will be very evident. Ticks and lice can be seen easily, if present. It's also a good time to check the body conformation of the ram and to make plans to replace those lacking depth, thickness, and natural fleshing.

Musical comedy is a form of entertainment developed almost exclusively by English-speaking countries.

Boys with Rifles Use City Property For Target Drill

Members of the board of cemetery trustees are trying to find out what boys have been using city property for target practice.

When Floyd Taylor, sexton, went to the storage shed at the north end of the cemetery Tuesday to get the double-barrel tractor out of winter storage, he was unable to fill the gasoline tank. The gasoline came out as though poured through a sieve. Taylor discovered the tank had been shot through lengthwise with 22-calibre bullets. The sediment bulb was shattered. Window lights in the shed were shot out and even the hollow tiles used in the shed had been poked at, and many of them broken, by the bullets.

Taylor said small boys carrying rifles have been seen in the cemetery. He said they or their parents may not know there is a city ordinance which prohibits the use of firearms within the city limits. From now on, members of the cemetery board agreed, the ordinance will be enforced on cemetery property at least.

Clarence Bickert, a member of the board said, "We hope parents who allow their youngsters to carry and use firearms will instruct them so no repetition of such destruction will occur. We will appreciate receiving any information which will lead to the apprehension of the boys who have damaged the city property."

Gathering of Talents
At Holt News $20,000

Palm Sunday was a day of real victory for the Methodist church. It was the time of the ingathering of the talents and the offering for the building fund. Duplicate services were held with over 450 persons in attendance.

Sunday afternoon 50 men of the church who were selected as ingathering stewards completed the campaign. When the offering was counted it was found that over $20,000 of the goal of $23,000 had been raised in cash or pledges. The goal had been lowered from $20,000 because of change of building plans.

Many activities were carried on by the people who participated in the talents campaign and a full report of the activities will be made later.

EARLY SPRING

Spring arrived one day early this because it is Leap Year. That is why the official hour was 11:57 a. m. on Saturday, March 20, instead of Sunday when most people were expecting it, according to Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan. She explains that Spring occurs when the plane of the earth's equator passes through the sun. That happens every 365.24219 days. Since we can't have a fraction of a day, the parts accumulate until every fourth year there is an extra day.

SHORT STORY

The Killer's Target

By KATHYRN WILSON

JOE SAND, bank clerk, had decided to kill a man. Looking back on his 47 years, he realized how spineless they had been. With out knowing exactly what to do about it, he had long since grown tired of fetching and carrying for exacting Elmer Dunning, president of Webbville's First National bank. And what had happened lately left his spirits flatter than any ledger line.

John Morris, the cashier, resigned to take a job in an eastern city and the cashier job in old First National became the plum ready to drop into the lap of some lucky man. Joe was next in line for promotion, but he was worried.

He wanted to ask Dunning about the board's plans and didn't have the courage. The small blue eyes in his bony face filled with fear at the thought of such audacity. Somehow he couldn't stretch the narrow shoulders on his short thin frame to the necessary width of confidence.

JOE SAND order Joe's hopes were dashed to oblivion. Why did some fellows have all the luck? That young upstart, Harry Coats, who'd been brought on from New York, made cashier over the heads of the four men having seniority in the bank's marble elegance. Resentment blazed high until the three younger men got to liking Coats well enough to forgive him.

But Joe Sand, thoroughly incensed, couldn't forgive. He hated Coats, he hated Dunning, he hated everybody. His thoughts were cruel but dangerous, slashing every moral fiber within him. He was determined—to kill!

Dunning needn't think that Joe Sand, the slave, hadn't a chickadee's guts. Just because he didn't parade a push and drive was no proof that he hadn't secret ambitions to rise in banking circles.

Joe glanced quickly around his modest room in Mrs. Miller's select boarding house. Shakingly, he took a gun out of the bottom drawer of the tired-looking pine bureau, thrust it into his pocket. The weapon had belonged to his father and was rusty with neglect. It had been used for target practice in the Sand family's small back yard, but never to spill human blood. It hadn't been shot off in years. Joe hoped it wouldn't fail him—everybody and everything else had.

At the bank that noon Joe had to be reminded that it was time to go for his daily chocolate malt. Naturally taciturn, he was even more so now and his co-workers flung him questioning glances and whispered among themselves about what was "eating old Sandie." But through it all he was grimly determined. He was doing his last duty for the stalwart old bank which had supported him for 20 years. He had to get everything in order before they took him away—after the killing. He had brought his records up to date near closing time when he happened to notice Harry Coats doing a peculiar thing. Harry, white-faced, was coming out of the vault, his arms loaded with currency.

JOE wheeled and faced a masked man on the customers' side of the cashier's window. The gun pointed at Joe was no toy. "Put 'em up or I'll drill yuh!" The intruder's gaze shifted to the rolls of bills. Joe's right hand dropped to his coat pocket.

Just in time, Joe dodged the bullet that whizzed past. But the shot he fired was followed immediately by the stranger's curse as he bit the floor.

As though jet propelled, Joe darted from behind the counter, and up to the still body.

"Careful, Joe!" warned Coats. "It's a trick—he'll shoot!" But Joe ignored caution, knelt beside the hefty stranger, laid a hand on his bloody shirt front. Then he got quickly to his feet and announced dramatically. "The skunk's dead—quite dead!"

Something like knightly valor went sailing through Joe. Why, this was odd! Never had he felt so—masterful. Why, he couldn't feel inferior to anybody or anything after this! Nor afraid. Not even afraid of himself.

It was a lucky break that he hadn't gotten around to that killing he'd planned to do today. After all, it would be a pity to disgrace the Sand name. No man ever got even with anybody by putting a bullet through his own head.

Feed those unborn litters!

Boost the brood sow's rations

with KRAYLETS

—80% milk products in dry kernel form

Brood sows require extra nourishment—the high quality proteins, lactose and minerals that milk products provide. Kraylets—containing 80% milk products—adds high quality milk proteins, minerals, and lactose to the brood sows' rations—helps put them in healthy farrowing condition—helps provide their unborn pigs with the nourishment they need. Kraylets, too, helps maintain body weight and a good flow of milk after farrowing—aids in insuring a lustier, fast-growing litter. It's sanitary, easy to feed, because Kraylets comes in convenient dry kernel form. It's not a liquid, not a paste!

80% milk products in Kraylets

The milk products in Kraylets are cheese whey solids, cheese solids from rinds and trimmings, and dried skim milk—all excellent concentrated sources of high quality milk proteins and lactose, so essential to growth, health and thriftiness. The remaining 20% of the formula consists of soybean oil meal, alfalfa meal (dehydrated), and dried brewers yeast.

Economical to use!

Because Kraylets provides milk products in such highly concentrated form, a little goes a long way. For brood sows, just add 1/4 pound of Kraylets per day to each sow's regular balanced ration before farrowing. Now is the time to investigate the profit-boosting possibilities of Kraylets. Order your supply today from your feed dealer listed below.

Poultrymen! Add Kraylets to your poultry ration to give your flock the benefits of milk products! Convenient, sanitary—just sprinkle it on top of your poultry mash—mix it in the mash—or scatter as scratch. Economical—add only one pound a day to your regular ration for every 150 birds.

Multiple Crop Insurance Plan Will Be Tried Out in Gratiot

Gratiot county is being used as a proving ground for the multiple crop insurance plan of the U. S. department of agriculture. On a trial basis farmers will be provided with insurance protection on the "out-of-pocket" costs in producing oats, corn, beans and wheat at a premium cost of about 3 percent of the total coverage offered.

The Gratiot county AAA committee will have charge of administering the insurance program.

Under this plan, four major crops, oats, corn, beans and wheat, can be insured under one blanket insurance contract. The maximum protection possible under this plan is $12.00 per acre for oats, and $20.00 per acre for corn, beans and wheat provided the crops are harvested and the value of the total production of all four crops does not equal the total coverage. If the crop is lost before it reaches the harvest stage, progressively less coverage is provided due to the fact that the production costs would be less.

A set price schedule based upon 90% of the parity price of the four insurable commodities is used to determine the value of production. This schedule is as follows: for oats, 60¢ per bushel; for corn, $1.50 per bushel; for beans, $7.60 per cwt; and for wheat, $1.90 per bushel. By using this price schedule the coverage per acre in bushels amounts to 20 bushels of oats, 10.5 bushels of wheat, 15 bushels of shell corn, and 5 bushels of beans. The premium rates are determined for each individual farmer based on a set schedule depending upon the acreage of each of the insurable four crops the individual farmer plants.

A higher premium rate per acre is charged against the crop which the farmer plants in greater acreage than the other three crops because the larger the acreage planted of any one crop, the greater the risk involved. A premium rate of 75¢ per acre is charged against the crop planted in the largest acreage; 50¢ per acre against the crop in the second largest acreage; 40¢ per acre against the crop in the third largest acreage; and 30¢ per acre against the crop planted in the smallest acreage.

To illustrate and explain how this multiple crop insurance plan would work on an average the following farm example is used:

A farmer applies for the multiple crop insurance contract for his 40 acres of oats, 18 acres of corn, 17 acres of beans and 13 acres of wheat. Because he plants oats in the largest acreage, the premium for his oats will be 75¢ per acre or a total of $13.65. Corn is the next largest acreage so the premium rate for corn will be 50¢

Youths Tell Benefits of 4-H Program

Loren Spink and Alan Curtis both believe they are receiving valuable training through the 4-H club program. Here they tell their stories in their own words.

MY 1947 BEEF PROJECT

By Loren Spink

The 4-H club has done much to help the farm boys and girls of America. First it has given them a useful project as a reason for getting together in a meeting where they meet others interested in the same kind of work. Through organization in this meeting, they learn how to conduct a business meeting properly, as well as how to carry on the work of the various offices to which they may be elected. In carrying out these two objects, they learn much, which in turn gives them assurance and self-confidence. In later years, in high school, and still later, these things have a real value. I can say personally, that I have profited much in these ways. I have also learned much about my project by associating with other 4-H'ers doing the same job.

This year I had more or less trouble in finding a steer of the right weight, that also had quality enough to be a possible winner. Finally, through a man who my father bought some cattle from, we found this purebred Shorthorn. We bought him from a herd in northern Michigan. He was one of a pair of twins which had been mostly raised by hand. At this time he was about 6 months old and weighed 545 pounds. I called him Scotty. Due to the individual care he had, he was very tame and gentle and I had very little difficulty in training him. We fed him carefully throughout the year and he continued to make a good gain. Mr. Avery and Mr. Curry visited me several times and were satisfied with the progress he was making. About two weeks before the fair I began to give him special care such as washing, trimming his feet, polishing horns and training with the show cane.

About two days before the fair I began collecting the necessary equipment to carry on during the fair and Monday morning we took him in. Wednesday was judging day and we placed in showmanship, a group A in 4-H and a second in open class at the Ingham county fair. At this time he weighed 1040 pounds. After this fair was over, he was returned to the farm where we carried on much as before for 10 days, at the end of which time we took him to Michigan State college to the State 4-H show. Here he placed second in the Shorthorn class, which gave him a chance to show for grand champion class where he placed sixth. He weighed 1065 and was bought by Peet Packing company for 37 cents. He netted me $390.00. Altogether it was a most enjoyable experience.

Week Is Set Aside For Public Health

Plans are being made by city, county, district and state nursing groups for observing national public health nursing week, April 11 to 17.

Each local group is to plan its own observance based on the national theme: "Help Your Public Nurse Help Your Community," and to give consideration to community participation, recruitment, training and advanced educational opportunities.

The week, which is sponsored nationally by the National organization for Public Health Nursing, is sponsored in this state by the Michigan Nursing Center association, an organization including health department, nursing school, hospital staff, industrial, office, and practical nurses as well as interested lay persons. The association was formed in May of last year to coordinate all nursing services of the state in order to give Michigan people better nursing coverage and to give the nursing profession better opportunities.

In local communities, the observance will be sponsored by the local nursing groups. It will include mass meetings, public opinion polls and radio programs to acquaint the community with

CLEAN-UP WEEK NAMED

Spring clean-up week is designed to make the farm a better and safer place to live. It provides a special time to clean up the premises, put everything in order. By doing this, the way is paved for better living, grain is conserved, and fire hazards are eliminated. This year spring clean-up week will be celebrated in Michigan during April 4-10.

The Delhi Extension group will meet Wednesday afternoon, March 31, at the home of Mrs. Mical Janacko. The women are asked to take a piece of clean burlap, coarse crocheted cotton yarn and a coarse darning needle. They are also to take any cloth on which they wish to use Italian hem-stitching.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Bishop left last week Friday for Snow Hill, N. C., for a two week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bishop.

Here's a partial list of machinery offered. Some of these tools are almost new.

FELLOW TRAVELING IS PROVING COSTLY

Russia didn't grab off Czechoslovakia overnight. The coup had been planned for months. Three months ago a writer in the American Mercury called the turn. He declared that fellow traveling, a series of compromises, was permitting Czechoslovakia to fall into the hands of Russia.

Czechoslovakia went Communist because President Benes and Jan Masaryk agreed to go along with Russia. The two men promised to cooperate with Russia. They helped the Communists round up votes. They promised to permit a Communist to serve as prime minister. They agreed to let Communists serve at the head of the army, the police, the education and the propaganda departments of the government.

President Benes and Masaryk went along with the Communists on nationalization of land and industry. They were just cooperating, they said. They were just meeting the Communists half-way, they explained. It was just a matter of political expediency, the leaders stated. The Czechs even helped exterminate German and Hungarian minority groups which had been in Czechoslovakia for hundreds of years. President Benes and Masaryk were willing to compromise principles and ethics to be "friends with Russia."

The great friendship lasted a year.

There were many people in the United States, there are some now, willing to be fellow travelers with Russian Communists. We can't blame Benes and Masaryk too much. At Yalta and Teheran and Potsdam American statesmen played the Russian game. Representatives of this government helped to forge the chains of slavery onto millions of people in Eastern Europe, from Finland down to the Mediterranean.

The disaster which has befallen the Czechs has dramatized the peril of fellow-traveling.

The fall of Czechoslovakia should bring home to every American his responsibility in choosing candidates for president and congress. The Roosevelts, the Hopkinses, the Morgenthaus, the Trumans and some of their big brass followers gave Stalin what he wanted. They knowingly or unknowingly traded people and nations into slavery. Here at home they temporized and compromised with Harry Bridges, Browder and other Communists.

Had the United States kept its government officials at home and sent only soldiers abroad freedom would probably exist over most of the world today.

This is a crucial time in history. And it is time the American people were told the truth about commitments made to Stalin by men who represented the United States.

Every man who was and is a tool of Russia, whether wittingly or unwittingly, should be weeded out of every political party. Fellow-traveling with Russia is fatal. Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania, Yugoslavia, Finland, China, Czechoslovakia—the tale of Communist infiltration and knavery is written in blood. Fellow-travelers here in the United States should be told that the end of the road has been reached.

AND THE WATERS PREVAILED EXCEEDINGLY

For two years in a row the water of the Sycamore has prevailed, especially in the Maple street area. Last year we told ourselves (those of us who didn't live close to the creek) that there was no hurry; floods came only every 20 years or so; there would be no need for a new bridge on Elm street for a year; probably the Maple street bridge would be good for several years; there was nothing to get excited about.

So for 11 months youngsters on the west side of town used a catwalk to cross the Sycamore to get to and from school. People on the west side had to drive their cars out to the point and back up town or down to the Ash street bridge. The old city council did a lot of talking about a new bridge but it was never built.

Building a new bridge on Elm became a political issue last November. A new council was elected. At every meeting since November the Elm street bridge was discussed. But it was winter time and nothing could be done. On Monday night of last week, as he had on other council meeting nights, Mayor Morrison urged speed on building the Elm street bridge. He also demanded that a new bridge or at least an overflow bypass be provided at Maple street. On Monday night of last week the mayor again suggested that at least the wreckage of the Elm street bridge be removed from the bed of the stream. But it wasn't, not until last Friday night when the Sycamore was washing away the Michigan Central tracks again.

Yes, that's all water over the dam, or water in the cellars on Maple street. No city official is at fault. Nearly all of us thought we had plenty of time to get the bridges fixed up before 1965 or 1970 when the next flood was due.

Now we know we have two or possibly three bridges to build right now—this year. With the upper reaches of the Willow and Sycamore cleaned out, the water reaches Mason faster than it used to. The Elm street bridge served as a dam. So does what is left of the Maple street bridge. When both the Elm and Maple street bridges are replaced with bridges of bigger spans than the railroad bridge may have to be enlarged.

By puddling around straightening the channel above Elm enough money was wasted to help build one bridge. People along the Sycamore who have had their property destroyed by flood two years in a row have partly paid for another. Neither has been delivered.

Right now the city council has just one main job before it. That job is to build bridges at Elm and Maple streets, even if other needs of the city have to be slighted.

KEEPING THUGS OUT OF SALOONS

A lot of people are confused over the saloon situation and the rulings by Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy and Attorney General Eugene Black.

Toy asked the help of the state liquor control commission in closing the hangouts of gangsters. The liquor control commission asked the attorney general for his opinion about the state refusing to license saloons where mobsters congregated. The attorney general has ruled that under the laws of Michigan thugs can not be barred from saloons nor can they be refused drinks.

Yes, that is a confusing situation. Detroit police claim many Detroit saloons are headquarters for gangsters. The liquor control commission, crammed right full of piety, keeps insisting that only places of good repute can be licensed to handle liquor. Some bar owners have asked for authorization to order gangsters out of their saloons. The state, and that means all the people in Michigan, demands that thugs be served their liquor.

Peculiar, isn't it? It keeps on, a lot of good people will be staying out of saloons.

Down by the Sycamore

Scented inks are now available for printing newspapers. Last week the Lapeer County Press used ink scented with lilac for its Easter fashion edition. Dow Chemical company at Midland is making the perfume. Harry Myers and sons, the Lapeer publishers, have huge lilac plantings. We are now dicker with Dow for mint-scented and onion-scented ink—to make an outlet for Ingham products.

If Dow chemists are able to trap and hold onion scent in news ink will find a ready market for their last week's papers. They can be sold to meat markets where they will be used for the wrapping of hamburger.

Easter has an influence on business. Easter fashions make the apparel trade boom. There is also a direct connection between the Easter season and the Ingham County News. Last week the paper for six weeks came to the office in church offering envelopes from Stockbridge, Leslie and Mason. In every case, we happily noted, the envelopes were not for the current week, but were envelopes for Sundays in the past. Two of the envelopes were for mission offerings.

"I never heard of a newspaper where so many people swarmed to the office on publication days to get their papers," said a newcomer to Mason. "How many papers do you issue over the counter on Thursday afternoons? And how did you ever come to start such a program?"

We haven't taken the count lately, but the usual range is between 450 and 500 over-the-counter transactions every Thursday afternoon. Counter sales to non-subscribers average 260. Newsstands sales at Mason average 500 a week with another 150 in Leslie, Stockbridge and Dansville.

The over-the-counter delivery business was started about 20 years ago when village postal delivery was launched in Mason. Before that all Mason people got their mail at the postoffice and for 70 years had formed the habit of getting their papers on Thursday afternoons. With village delivery, half the town had mail delivery in the morning and the other half had to wait until afternoon. Subscribers just didn't want to wait until Friday afternoon to get their papers. They had formed the habit of walking to the postoffice Thursday afternoons and wanted to cling to the tradition. So we started to plant postoffice. We agreed to hold city and Mason RFD papers at the office until 5:30 so subscribers who wanted to could pick them up.

When city delivery supplanted village delivery the habit of over-the-counter delivery had become so firmly established we kept on with it. We like the plan. It gets us acquainted and keeps us acquainted with people we otherwise wouldn't meet often enough. We like to see the people and into the office to get their papers. It encourages us.

Alta Parks, county librarian, is offering to help Ingham women clean house this spring. She'll provide a place for housewives to store current books which have been read. That place is the county library.

"Eventually some library is offered the books anyway," Miss Parks pointed out. "So why not give them to the library now instead of waiting until 1953 when no one will read them?"

That's a good suggestion. This book of the month club scheme has loaded up a lot of home library shelves. At our house we have even been forced to return some of the books we've borrowed.

There may be somebody from Ingham county entering the national political arena. At least, this is the question which has been asked: What's the cost of political broadcasts on a network like ABC? The cost for a half-hour on a hookup of 250 stations runs about $17,000. Frequent use will cut the figure to somewhere around $10,000.

The funeral for Bill Schlack was the biggest snowbird funeral ever held in the Rio Grande valley. Earl Salisbury reported. Bill and his wife attended Old Fellow and Rebekah gatherings and Bill sang in the choir. They had hundreds of Texas friends.

With only two bridges left, there is some talk of setting up toll gates on Ash and State to get enough money to build the new bridges on Elm and Maple.

If the council had hurried the construction of a new bridge at Elm last year it might have been washed away in this spring's flood, and then think how terrible we would have felt. We should also reflect on how many thousands of years went by without even a foot-bridge on Elm. In all the world's history there has been an Elm street bridge for only 60 or 70 years, just a watch in the night.

With eggs at 60¢ there won't be egg-rolling contests on many lawns. Because Easter is regulated by the paschal moon, the first full moon between the vernal equinox and 14 days afterward, Easter eggs were once called Pasch eggs. Pasch eggs are symbolical of creation, or the recreation of spring. The practice of presenting eggs to friends is Magian or Persian, and bears allusion to the mundane egg which Ormuzd and Ahirman were to contend until the consummation of all things. It prevailed not only with the Persians, but also among the Jews, Egyptians and Hindus. Christians adopted the cus-

POLITICAL VIRUS THREATENS BIOLOGIST

Young Scientist Made Health Chief

By Vernon J. Brown
Friends of Dr. George D. Cummings, who saved the death of Dr. C. C. Young, has headed Michigan's famous biological laboratories, will rejoice that he has been honored by Governor Kim Sigler by appointment to the position of state commissioner of health.

Dr. Cummings was just past his 21st birthday when he came to the Michigan health laboratories. Because of his devotion to the techniques being developed by Dr. Young, under whose guidance the laboratories were established, young Cummings soon attracted the attention of his mentor. Dr. Young made of the youth a protégé. By his encouragement and under his guidance, Cummings attended colleges and laboratories for study and research. Finally in 1942 he was graduated from Wayne university school of medicine and in 1944 passed his state board examinations and was licensed to practice in Michigan. On March 24, 1944, he was registered and then could have legally practiced.

But Dr. Cummings was a scientist and a technician. His heart was in the laboratories and not in the sick room. Consequently he never engaged in the practice of his profession. This is unfortunate because if the law is to be observed Dr. Cummings does not now legally qualify for the position to which he has been appointed.

It was in 1910 that the old state board of health was abolished and the job of being state health officer was removed from political patronage lists. Act 146 of 1910, by which the new regime in public health was inaugurated, sets forth the legal requirements for the commissioner of health. That act requires that a person to be appointed as commissioner "shall have at least five years of experience as a practicing physician, or in lieu of such experience, shall have the degree of doctor of public health."

Dr. Cummings has not yet been licensed to practice for five years. He has not practiced in the general sense of the term at all. Moreover he has never had conferred upon him the degree of doctor of public health. He may have earned the honor of the last title, for he is distinguished among health officials throughout the nation, but such a degree as yet has not come his way.

Will the senate confirm Dr. Cummings and will the legislature provide the $12,000 or $15,000 which it is understood has been tentatively offered him? Will he leave his laboratories and its hazardous tasks of combating the germs of politics?

Politics took Dr. William D. Klein out of his job as health commissioner and politics will sooner or later take Dr. Klein's successor out of the job—no matter who it may be—for the job is now back in the political arena. Genuine friends of Dr. Cummings will wish for him a better fate than acceptance of a position where the law must be ignored and set aside in order to accomplish the will of a patronage-minded appointive power.

Far better, it would seem, to have come out boldly and frankly, and to seek amendment of the law, rather than to flout it.

And speaking of patronage, there is the case of Ernest T. Conlon of Grand Rapids to fill a job just created—that of head of the sales tax metropolitan (Detroit) division. He is to drag down a nice pay check of $7,500 a year. The plum which the Grand Rapids man has just been handed used to exist. It was abolished nearly 10 years ago and the state has struggled along for that length of time without extreme suffering. Why it has been created now has not as yet been explained.

"Ernie," as he is more commonly called, was once a state senator. Since the voters of Grand Rapids took him out of that berth he has consistently sought appointment to all sorts of places. He ran as a candidate for governor. He has ever, as the re-created berth is of no importance except to make a soft job for another politician, state capitol as lobbyist for certain branches of the healing arts; at one time he headed a so-called state chamber of commerce. But never in his life, unless it was when he was a lobbyist, has "Ernie" come close to a $7,500 job. He has it now, so it is reported.

Man has just been handed used to

I want you to KEEP IT GOOD

Thank You, Mrs. Customer, we know you like GOOD GAS SERVICE and WE MEAN TO KEEP IT GOOD even though our costs are higher than ever.

But it isn't easy these days to keep it that way, and, at the same time, build ahead for your future needs. As you know in your own case, our "living costs" are up and up.

The payrolls for our family—the thousands of men, women and children in the families of our workers whose living comes from what you buy from us—are up. The average cost to us of natural gas delivered to customers in 244 Michigan communities is up. (One reason is that Michigan natural gas is no longer available in large quantities. Another is that natural gas from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas must be imported and put in storage fields during warm weather to help meet winter demands—which involves considerable expense.) Building costs, material costs, equipment costs... are all up. But not—as yet—the price to you.

What you want is good, reliable, plentiful service. And you want your future supply protected. So we must build ahead to bring gas from far states and make arrangements to store vast quantities underground, so it will be ready when you need it most.

For you, we must be able to keep on doing these things. But the problems grow heavier. What would you do in our place?

Land Bridge Joined America and Asia

New evidence that a land bridge once connected North America and Asia has been reported by Prof. P. A. Herbert, head of the Michigan State college forestry department.

Prof. Herbert reports the receipt of seed, wood, leaves and flowers from a forest tree recently discovered in China which he says is "obviously related to the California sequoias." The specimens, believed to be the first to reach the United States, were given him by a Chinese graduate student in forestry.

A few years ago fossil remains estimated to be 50 million years old were found by the Japanese. Later a living specimen of the tree was found, according to Prof. Herbert. This tree is in a carefully guarded temple garden in an interior village of the Eastern Szechuan Province. It is 117 feet high and 23 feet in circumference. Its leaves and seeds resemble the sequoia of California.

Prof. Herbert plans to germinate the seed given him and have the young trees planted in various sections of the United States to determine how and where they will grow. The other specimens will be placed in college collections.

MICHIGAN NEEDS SUGAR BEETS!

Michigan farmers must not suffer a reduction in sugar beet acreage

During the past 12 years few, if any, general farm crops in Michigan sugar beet areas have returned such a high average net profit per acre as Sugar Beets. And again this year, the price should be high. Provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948 offer stability. Based on expected sugar, pulp and molasses prices, a beet testing 16 per cent sugar should bring about $15.45 per ton. A crop yielding 8.5 tons per acre should return $9.01 per ton or—after deducting cost of seed, fertilizer, hand labor and hauling.

But the Sugar Act of 1948 also contains provisions for reenactment of acreage allotments on the individual farm basis. Such a limitation appears to be a certainty for 1949.

Here are the facts:

Estimated United States beet sugar production last year exceeded the Sugar Act U. S. marketing quota. Expanding output in Western areas was responsible for the record-breaking 1947 production.

These areas have been, and still are, working hard to increase their acreage.

If Michigan farmers do not maintain their production history by planting an adequate acreage in 1948, the allotment for their farms will be reduced and given to other farms that have been increasing their acreage. Planting a good acreage in 1948 will protect, and can improve, the chances of Michigan farmers to have a favorable acreage base in years to come.

But beyond that, Michigan needs sugar beets in its farming program. When properly grown, sugar beets balance the crop rotation. Their deep root action improves soil tilth, and leaves a needed residue of organic matter in the soil which is highly beneficial to following crops, all of which actually tends to increase the productivity of the land.

Sound thinking farmers this year will not consider whether to plant sugar beets, but how many acres to plant. Place your order for fertilizer with your dealer now!

FREEDOM TRAIN, HELICOPTERS, EVANGELISTS

Guy McCues Report California Doings

Now for another chapter of our travels in California. The "Freedom Train" was in Long Beach February 28. I asked the women to go with me but they said they didn't want to go. I invited our son-in-law's father and he said he would like to go. We drove within about 80 rods of the train and walked the rest of the way. About 1000 people could pass through the train per hour. I looked the crowd over and I thought I didn't want to stand in line for 4 or 5 hours. Several took blankets and stayed by the train all night, but not me. Mr. Klingensmith and I walked around the train of 7 cars and it was worth all of our effort.

It was announced in the paper that the helicopter which delivers the air mail at the Long Beach post office would land on a vacant lot in the western part of the city, so the Mrs. Pauline and I went out to see it. In the center of this lot, a space was fenced off for the helicopter to land and hundreds of people stood hanging on to this fence with their mouths open and looking up to watch it land. It kicked up a great dust in landing and everyone ran but came back in a few minutes to listen to the program the city and post office department had prepared. The helicopter is a very awkward looking thing. It looks like a large bird with one of its wings broken.

On West First Street in Long Beach there is a place where they wash cars on the line. It is a regular assembly line and when the car reaches the other end it is washed and dried. The capacity is about 300 cars a day. Another interesting thing out here is the Knotts berry farm. Mr. and Mrs. Knotts bought 10 acres of land with some fruit on it. This farm is about 16 miles from Long Beach on a cross road. Mr. Knotts bought it would be a good idea to put in a lunch counter and at first he had 12 to 14 stools and he has added to his farm and he has 160 acres and has added more to his cafe and now he can seat 787 people at one time. If you wish to go the Mrs. Pauline and I went out to see it. In the center of this lot, a space was fenced off for the helicopter to land and hundreds of people stood hanging on to this fence with their mouths open and looking up to watch it land. It kicked up a great dust in landing and everyone ran but came back in a few minutes to listen to the ings from old lumber and mining camps. Stores have been moved in with the goods still on the shelves. They have an old jail and sheriff's office with dummy officers still on duty. There is an old barber shop with the barber ready to serve you. (Ha!) They print a paper at the print shop and there is a glass blowing shop where you can watch them make all different kinds of very intricate ornaments.

Mr. and Mrs. Knotts have four children, three daughters and one son, and they are all married and each one has a department to look after. They have a nursery and sell all kinds of shrubs and have all kinds of jellies and fruits and will pick them and ship them anywhere in the U. S. A.

They have a small chapel with a capacity of about 40. The doors are closed and very dark, then the doors on the platform gently open and there is the form representing the ascension of Jesus Christ in soft-colored lights. This service lasts about four minutes and is very impressive. You can donate money to the attendant for the Red Cross.

We left California a week ago and our daughter, Pauline accompanied us to Holbrook, Arizona. On Friday night, J. A. Klingensmith, our son-in-law, drove in from Mesa, Arizona, where he is selling encyclopedias. We had quite a loud reunion. It is hard for me to keep up with these young folks, you know.

This is getting to be a long letter but I would like to tell you about the Libbey family band which consists of one family—father, mother, and seven children. We attended the evangelistic services at "The Church of God" in Long Beach. They have a complete band of wind instruments except bass drum and cymbals and a complete string band apart from the band. One member plays a duet on two trumpets at the same time, first and second parts in one special feature. They travel in a double deck bus and they have travelled 105,000 miles. Each one gives a personal testimony. We enjoyed it very much and on Sunday night we went to the Four Square church about 7 blocks from home to hear them again.

Monday afternoon, the day before we left California, I went down to the "University by the Sea" for my last lesson and I was disappointed because I thought I would pass but I lacked a credit or two.

Phone on Wheels Is Now Available

Mobile telephone service is now in operation in this area as a link in a vast network that within a few weeks will provide general highway service over most roads in southern Michigan.

The telephone on wheels became a reality throughout this area Thursday when the Michigan Bell company inaugurated service over its Lansing station.

As daily newspapermen and radio people made the first historic calls over the new system while touring nearby roads, guests at breakfast at the Hotel Olds in Lansing "listened in." The guests, including certain state officials and civic leaders later made calls of their own.

Thomas N. Lacey, president of the company, pointed out to the guests that mobile service follows shortly 35 years of research with transmission of the spoken word by radio-telephone.

"What the ultimate possibilities may be, we don't know," he said, "but this we do know: Every new type of communications placed in service is only a step toward the ultimate need of its time, but also has opened up new fields in human service and in industry."

Raymond J. Bonini, district commercial superintendent for the company, explained how the service works to the breakfast guests. Mason is within the coverage of the new station, the range of which extends from Portland on the west to Webberville on the east, and from St. Johns on the north to Mason and Dansville on the south.

Conversations over mobile service travel part way by radio and part way by telephone. For example, a man in Mason calling a person in an equipped car, simply contacts long distance and asks for the "mobile-service operator," and then gives the telephone number of the car. The operator routes the call by telephone line to the transmitter, and radio waves carry the telephone message to the called mobile unit.

Chicks Need Feed And Water Early

Good feed and clean water are the two important needs for baby chicks during the early days of their life, advises Howard Zindel, extension poultryman at Michigan State college.

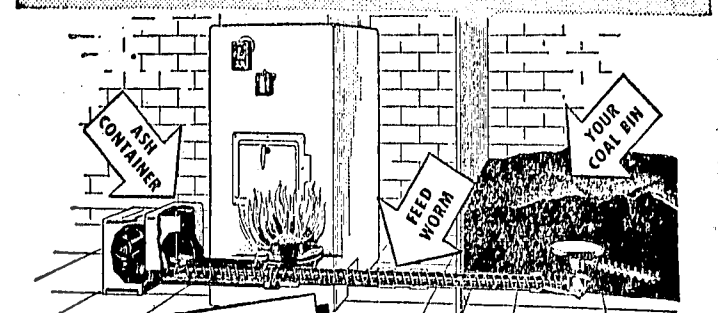

Hatcherymen are interested in the success of poultrymen and can recommend feed which will supply all of the essential nutrients necessary for the proper start.

The specialist reports that chicks will start eating more readily if mash is placed on paper, cardboard or egg case flats. These temporary feeders together with the paper covering the litter should be taken up after the second or third day.

Chicks which have been shipped from a distance will start eating and drinking more readily if the beaks of a few chicks are individually dipped in water and then the chicks placed near the paper plates which contain feed.

THE END OF THE WORLD?

Can Our Statesmen and Churchmen Save the World?

Lecture On The Sure Word Of Prophecy

Sunday, March 28, 7:30 P.M.

LEGION MEMORIAL BUILDING

Mason, Michigan

By

The Bible Voice

Evangelist A. A. Douglas

A. A. Douglas

The Bible sets forth clearly the solution to the world's problems. Will churchmen succeed in swinging the human tide back to Christ? Will statesmen find the magic formula that will bring about international goodwill, confidence and peace?

These lectures are for everybody, regardless of church affiliation, or lack of church affiliation. They are for every true American, every Bible-loving Christian, every respectable and truth-loving citizen.

This is the THIRD OF A SERIES OF LECTURES to be held, EACH SUNDAY EVENING, free to the public. These lectures will be preceded by a half-hour of lovely, heart-stirring instrumental and vocal music. There will be no loud, boisterous demonstrations. We believe in Christian order and dignity. We preach the WORD in its simplicity. We take our stand on the BIBLE alone as the textbook for Christian doctrine. We accept the WORD as the infallible guide to Christian thought and action. You will find comfortable seats and a CORDIAL WELCOME.

Milkmaids Were Safe

In 1798 Jenner found out why milkmaids did not catch smallpox; they had had cowpox, a closely related virus. Both viruses have been seen now under the electron microscope and they look alike. Cowpox virus is only feebly virulent in man, yet when used as a vaccine, it stirs up the forces of resistance latent in the body, after which the latter persist in the system as an aroused army of defense against any subsequent invasion of smallpox.

Sow Winners Used Sound Practices

Winners in the 1947 sow testing project, sponsored by the Michigan State college animal husbandry extension service, followed sound and approved production practices, says Harry Moxley, Michigan State college swine extension specialist.
Top record in the contest was that of the Jackson Farms, Centerville, Michigan, with a litter of 13 cross-bred pigs that weighed 54 1/2 pounds at 56 days of age.
Moxley points out that records such as this are achieved because of prolific breeding stock, saving large litters, and good feeding practices. Successful swine raisers were also careful to keep pigs both internal and external parasites.

Brown Rot Control Suggestions Given

Brown rot on Michigan fruit crops has been on the increase for the past two years and has resulted in some serious losses.
A. E. Mitchell, fruit specialist at Michigan State college, points out that the two critical periods of infection are during the spring in the form of twig and blossom blight and during the harvest period as fruit rot.
Brown rot of peaches overwinters in the form of brown rot mummies found on the ground or hanging in the tree as cankers on twigs and fruit spurs. The mummies produce brown rot spores at blossom time and therefore should be removed from the tree when pruning during the dormant season. Cankers are less likely to produce spores, depending on their pruning should be done in such a way that all seasonal sprays necessary to control brown rot may be applied. Much dead and diseased wood is removed when pruning and brown rot cankers on limbs are removed automatically by such practices. If dropped peaches are picked up and removed from the orchard at picking time, much is gained in brown rot control.
Mitchell recommends spraying in the spring with liquid lime sulphur, two gallons to 100 gallons. This mixture should be applied
