

Primary Election Next Tuesday Has Few Hot Contests

Most County Officials Are Without Opposition, Light Vote Is Indicated

Primary election, the first held after Labor Day since 1942, is set for next Tuesday, but few people are steamed up over it.

The Republicans are having a little flurry of interest over a three-cornered race for sheriff with Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald opposed by Willard Barnes and Jack Hornly, both of Lansing.

For nomination as sixth district congressman, William W. Blackney has two opponents, Frederick C. Newman, Jr., Lansing lawyer, and Carl F. Brown of Lansing.

Rep. Jacob Scheppers of East Lansing is opposed by Paul Luck of East Lansing.

Senator Homer Ferguson, Governor Kim Siger, Lieutenant-Governor Eugene A. Keyes, State Senator Harry F. Hittie, Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean, County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard, County Treasurer Lyle B. Austin, Register Ethel L. Phillips, Drain Commissioner Gerald L. Graham, Coroners W. Ray Gorsline and Harry E. Leadley and Surveyor William C. Berryman have no opposition.

Few Democratic Contests Frank E. Hook for U. S. senator, Howard Elliot of Holt for state senator, Charles S. Woods of Ingham for second district representative, Archie Perry of Lansing for first district representative, Jesse D. Parks of Lansing for prosecutor, James Mosher of Lansing for county clerk, Roy McPherson of Lansing for treasurer, Carl O. Peterson of Lansing for drain commissioner, William L. Pindson of Lansing for county surveyor are without opposition on the Democratic ticket.

Democrats have no candidates for sheriff, register of deeds or coroners.

Burnett J. Abbott, Victor E. Bucknell and G. Mennen Williams are the Democratic candidates for governor. John W. Connolly and Victor Targonski are candidates for lieutenant-governor. John Reid, who has formerly run as a Republican, is campaigning for congress as a Democrat. He has George D. Stevens as an opponent.

On the non-partisan judicial ballot there is a contest for the two nominations at the November election for judge of probate. There are three candidates, Judge John McClellan, H. O'Brien and Ross D. Thompson, at the primary with the two getting the most votes Tuesday having a run-off in November.

At the November election Circuit Judge Marvin S. Salmon will have Sam Hughes as an opponent. Because there are only two candidates and both would win places in the run-off there will be no primary election. The same holds true for the two circuit court commissioner posts.

There are three candidates for four places so no primary election is needed.

Mason Enrollment 10 Short of 1,000 For New Record

Enrollment stood at the record high of 990 on Thursday morning at the Mason school. The mark is the highest on record.

Superintendent James H. Vander Ven said he believes the figures by the end of Friday or by next Monday will climb above 1,000. The month last year on opening day was 910. It climbed to 943 the second week.

The kindergarten class started off with 75. Burton K. Thorn has agreed to teach until the school board is able to permanently fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Geraldine Johnson.

Enrollment by grades this year and last were given out by the superintendent as follows:

Grade	1947	1948
Kindergarten	69	75
First grade	66	68
Second grade	61	65
Third grade	54	65
Fourth grade	67	66
Fifth grade	58	53
Sixth grade	80	81
Seventh grade	80	79
Eighth grade	84	89
Ninth grade	86	92
Tenth grade	86	88
Eleventh grade	96	88
Twelfth grade	60	91
Total	910	990

While Perkins now lives in Royal Oak, he is no stranger to the Mason area. For one period he managed the King orchards near Leslie. He also traveled for Sherwin-Williams and Berry Bros. paint and varnish manufacturing companies. He said he has been casting around several years to find a hardware store opening in a town like Mason. Harry King, with whom Perkins worked for Sherwin-Williams and Berry Bros. helped Perkins in his search.

Perkins was born in Canada. He came to Detroit as a boy and later went to Royal Oak. He was graduated from the Royal Oak high school. He and Mrs. Perkins have two children, a daughter, Lee, 9, and a son, Gary, 6. Mrs. Perkins and the two children are remaining in Royal Oak until a house in Mason is found.

No Flaw in Pumps, Aldermen Learn, Need More Water

City Treasurer Resigns, Pay Raise Given Demorez, Fire Run Fee Is Fixed

Pay raises, a resignation, pumps, wells and weather high-lighted the conversation around the city council table Tuesday night.

What should "expense money" cover when Fire Chief Leland Austin meets with other smoke-eaters at the Soo this month brought varied comments from the aldermen, likewise.

Austin will be sent by the city to the Soo on September 11, 12 and 13. Alderman Frank Dakin stated that additional fire-control knowledge may be gained by Austin for the city.

Alderman Gerald Parsons brought the most pressing problem of water before the council. And with him came Harry Ness of the Layne-Northern company of Memphis, Tennessee.

Parsons and Ness both agreed that the present water pumps are pumping dirt up to park. The Park street pump has a capacity of 500 gallons, according to Parsons, and the well in the gravel pit to the south will pump 725 gallons. That's not enough water in the summer and even in the winter if one of the pumps should go bad, Ness stated.

In 1941 Ness made several tests for water in Mason and he stated Tuesday night that the best location is near Park street. Ness added that it would be much better for the city to drive a well as far from the present wells as possible.

Ness said his company will drive test wells for $3.00 a foot less the test well where the final well is drilled. Test wells were downed anywhere from 35 to 60 feet in 1941, according to Ness.

In round numbers, Ness set the price of a new well and pump at $7,500.

No motions were made to drive new test wells. Additional information will be gained before work is started, Parsons said. Parsons stated that he would like to see the final well drilled next spring.

Alderman Parsons stated that the driving of a new well will be his number one job from now on.

New Fire Contract Alderman Parsons moved to accept a new fire protection contract with surrounding townships. The 10-year contracts will expire this month. Townships which may renew contracts are Grant, Vevay, Aurelius, Alajedon and six sections of Wheatfield.

The new agreement calls for a flat charge of $75.00 for every township fire when water must be trucked from city trucks. If trucks can hook onto local water the price will be dropped to $30.00.

Bob Ingham will soon fireman under the next siren blows. He will jump on the truck to replace Bob Parker who moved to Holt.

Fire Chief Austin commended the Farmers Gas and Oil company for the day will be Mrs. Dorothy Walker and Mrs. Alice Monroe. The director of the choir is Mrs. Elizabeth Strait, wife of the pastor.

Former pastors Rev. A. B. Fockler and Rev. R. R. Terwilliger will preach during the evening service, at eight o'clock. A women's trio from the Vantown church will sing special numbers. The combined choir will also sing special anthems and aid in the music of the services. The accompanists for the day will be Mrs. Dorothy Walker and Mrs. Alice Monroe. The director of the choir is Mrs. Elizabeth Strait, wife of the pastor.

Kurschner's Citizenship Petition Granted by Barry Circuit Judge

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kurschner of Leslie township. The road to U. S. citizenship is now open to them by virtue of the decision of Judge Archie D. McDonald of the Barry-Eaton circuit.

Judge McDonald granted the citizenship petition which had previously been denied in the Ingham court. Following the denial, however, Judge Marvin S. Salmon of the Ingham court granted a rehearing at which Judge McDonald presided. This picture of Mr. and Mrs. Kurschner was taken in their garden at their small farm on Wood road. They have a 27-acre farm on the west shore of Huntoon lake.

Granting of citizenship to Kurschner was opposed by the U. S. immigration bureau on the grounds that the petitioner had been a member of the Nazi party in Germany prior to the outbreak of World War II.

Kurschner insisted that because he held a government position in Germany he was forced to join the party, just like a U. S. citizen must be a member of the Democratic party to be postmaster.

Immigration officials also opposed granting citizenship to Kurschner on the grounds that he did not buy war bonds during the war.

Kurschner's neighbors pointed out that the man aided Red Cross and scrap drives and probably would have bought bonds had it been able. Because of his German citizenship he had been enrolled on defense plants, they pointed out. Income tax records disclosed that one year Kurschner had a net income of only $800 from his 27 acres of land.

Called Here in 1937 Kurschner came to the United States in 1937. He told the court he fled Germany in order to make a new home for his wife and children in the United States. His wife came to the United States as a child, returning to Germany with her parents just before World War I. She was unable to get back to the United States because of the war. After the war she married Kurschner. Both children are U. S. citizens. The daughter is Mrs. John M. Whittlesey of Bloomfield Hills. The son served in the U. S. Army air force during the war. He has been enrolled as a GI student in a Detroit technical school. He intends to enter Michigan State this fall.

Although the law requires that an alien show attachment to the principles of the United States constitution and government only for a period of five years preceding the citizenship hearing, immigration officials went back to the 1937 Nazi party records seized after the war. Those records showed Kurschner as a member of the Storm Troopers.

In the opinion filed Thursday in the U. S. court it was pointed out, "The government does not question his (Kurschner's) good moral character, other than as the same may be related to the question of his loyalty to the principles of the constitution." The government apparently is not questioning his citizenship because the war has not been officially terminated, his citizenship should be denied.

Did Not Hide Nazi Ties "It is admitted by the government that the petitioner did not conceal the fact that he had been a member of the Nazi party while in Germany."

The court set forth that the petitioner joined the Nazi party at about the time Hitler came to power having "been approached to do so by the mayor of Hamburg on two occasions, and believed if he did not join, he could lose his job and function, that he could be sent to a concentration camp."

In 1939, he was 39 years of age, and was therefore of draft age in Germany, and had to get permission before leaving the country, Kurschner testified, explaining that it became necessary to convince Nazi leaders he was a good party man, otherwise he would not be permitted to leave. He said that after he and his family boarded the ship for the United States he tore up all papers relating to party membership, that he never wanted to be connected again with the Nazis.

Backed by Neighbors Last January 100 Leslie residents signed a petition asking citizenship be granted Kurschner. At the January naturalization hearing the petition of Kurschner was put over. He was told later that if he renewed his petition in June it would be denied and he would have to start citizenship proceedings all over again. If he failed to appear, he was informed, the same result would be obtained. When he appeared in court in June he was verbally branded a Nazi by the immigration examiner. The examiner recommended that citizenship be denied and the court followed the recommendation.

At the rehearing July 9 before Judge McDonald the list of Leslie signers was read.

Judge McDonald Gives Rehearing To Leslie Farmer

Court Holds Kurschner's Conduct While in Country Entitles Him to Citizenship

No longer is Herman Kurschner of Leslie a man without a country. His petition for U. S. citizenship was granted by Judge Archie D. McDonald of the Barry-Eaton circuit. The court's findings were filed in the Ingham county clerk's office Thursday morning.

Granting of citizenship to Kurschner was opposed by the U. S. immigration bureau on the grounds that the petitioner had been a member of the Nazi party in Germany prior to the outbreak of World War II.

Kurschner insisted that because he held a government position in Germany he was forced to join the party, just like a U. S. citizen must be a member of the Democratic party to be postmaster.

Threatened Suit Results in Study Of Road Insurance

Supervisors Will Learn Cost of Policy Covering County Against Liability

Discussion of highway liability insurance is scheduled at the meeting of the Ingham board of supervisors Monday. The coverage issue came up as a result of a claim for damages filed with the supervisors at the August meeting.

Leonard Honnick of Onondaga asked the supervisors to pay for damages resulting from an automobile accident on the Bellevue road west of Leslie May 22. He claimed the accident was caused by the county's negligence in not filling a hole in the blacktop, and in failing to warn the public of the condition of the road.

Under state law a claim must first be filed against the board of supervisors before any suit is started. The supervisors referred the claim to the prosecuting attorney. No suit has yet been started, although a Jackson law firm has indicated that such a suit will be brought.

The county's audit commission has increased its coverage on property damage claims to $25,000. The limit was $10,000 on any one accident. Road commission coverage of $50,000 on personal injuries in any one accident and an aggregate of $100,000 per year has also been written. The cost is about $600 a year on a payroll basis.

Even with the road commission protected, there still remains the possibility of suits against the county for damages suffered by highway users. A policy protecting the county against loss by negligence of the road commission will cost $1.90 per mile over total county mileage of 1,275 miles. That means an annual cost of $2,400.

Two other legal issues will be brought before the supervisors Monday. One is payment of a claim by the Salvation Army for care given Ingham unwed mothers at the Florence Crittenden home in Grand Rapids. The other is a dispute over property included in Ferguson park at Okemos.

Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean informed the supervisors at the August meeting that the county should not legally pay a lump sum of $2,000 to the Salvation Army. Claims for payment for individual care of indigent mothers can be filed with and legally paid by the county social welfare board, the prosecutor declared.

At the August meeting the supervisors turned the dispute on Ferguson park land over to the prosecutor.

To OCCUPY PULPIT Reverend Newcomb of Temperance will supply the pulpit at the Aurelius Baptist church Sunday morning at 10 a. m. Rally day will be observed at the church services and Sunday school.

POSTAL BIDS WANTED Bids will be received at the Mason post office until noon Saturday, September 11, for the use of an automobile for the delivery of parcels post for the quarter ending December 31 of this year. It has been estimated that the car will be in use 175 hours.

Profit From Fair Looks Like $6,000

JOHNSON AT ALMA Roy (Red) Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson and spark plug of the Mason football squad last year, has joined the gridders at Alma college. Johnson left Saturday to report for football practice. He has his eye on a half-back berth.

County fair receipts for 1948 were about $6,000 more than expenses. That's the gist of the report which will be submitted to the members of the Ingham Agricultural Society at the annual meeting to be held in the county building Thursday night of this week.

Even with a current profit of $6,000 red ink must still be used in the records, Treasurer Abe Cohn remarked. The $6,000 profit of 1948 is a pleasant thing to contemplate but the contemplation of $13,000 loss last year. That deficit will stand at about $6,000 after other revenue is received and the $6,000 of profit from this year is applied against last year's debts.

Remaining unpaid will be the indebtedness incurred in building the addition to the grandstand last year. This year's building operations have been paid for.

Yet to be paid this year is an item of $2,100 for tent rental, a Consumers Power bill for service and transformers and a printing bill. They will be paid out of this year's profits, Cohn indicated.

President Harry Freshour and Secretary Joy O. Davis will also submit reports Thursday night. Directors will be elected, too.

Draft Not Breezy For Registrants

"The war-time draft board sure must have done a good job," remarked Joy O. Davis at the city hall Thursday. He is secretary of the Ingham draft board.

Davis reported that nearly 95% of the men who have registered at Mason so far are veterans. The rest are either physically handicapped or held essential jobs during the war.

Of course, Davis commented, Friday will start the registering of 20-year-olds and from then on the non-veteran should be coming in faster.

One hundred men a day has been the average number processed through the board. Plenty of help arrived at the draft board after Davis' call for help last week.

Volunteers who have been working at the draft board this week are Mrs. Stanley Holmes, Mrs. Mark Cave, Howard McCurdy, Mrs. Fay Bennett, Gladys Hunter, Miss Betty Hunter, James Matheny, Mrs. Leo L. Kelly, Mrs. Hugh J. Bartley, Mrs. William MacLain, Mrs. Shelton Gannaway, George Shafer and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cohn.

Road to Howell Ready to Travel By Next Monday

Bridge Over Mud Creek Completed, 5 1/2 Miles of Blacktop Surfacing Ready

Possibly by Saturday, surely by Monday, the Mason-Howell road will be open for travel again, County Highway Engineer Frank Evans announced Wednesday.

The main road between Mason and Howell has been closed since early summer while a new bridge was being built over Mud creek. The old bridge was destroyed by the 1947 flood and a Bailey bridge was placed until work could start on the new bridge.

Fitch-Eva Construction company of Howell had the contract on the new bridge.

Blacktop repair crews have been busy on the Howell road. One long stretch of 5 1/2 miles east of Meridian road has been rebuilt. Other sections damaged by the 1948 breakup have been repaired.

There still remains a Bailey bridge over Deer creek on Howell road. The Deer creek bridge will not be rebuilt until next year, according to present road commission plans.

Harper road has been used as a detour for Howell road traffic. During the drought of the last month the dust has been bad both for drivers and those who live along Harper road.

Part of Columbia road east of the work on the bridge over Mud creek. The Briegel Construction company of Saginaw has the contract on the bridge. Concrete has been poured with completion scheduled by October 1.

The Briegel Construction company also has the contract for construction of the Elm street bridge in Mason. Work will be started on Friday or Saturday.

PRINCIPAL AT PLYMOUTH Cyrus Pierce of Northville, former Mason high school principal and teacher, has accepted a position as principal of the Plymouth high school. He was principal at Northville two years.

Court Cases Crowd Calendar for Term Opening Sept. 13

Record Number of Criminal Offenses Listed for Trial, Chancery Cases Also High

Contention is rife in Ingham, if the calendar for the September term of circuit court is an indication. It is one of the biggest court calendars in years, the numbers running up to 531. They usually stop at about 425.

Listed for trial on the criminal calendar are 45 cases, double the usual number. While some of those charged with crime will probably enter pleas of guilty, other cases will likely be added on the opening day of court.

The September term of court will be held in Lansing. Court will be opened Monday morning with the reading of the calendar and the scheduling of criminal trials. Arraignments will also be made. Juries are not report until the following Monday, September 20, when the trials will start.

One reason why the criminal calendar is longer is a flock of Lansing traffic court appeals. Those charged with traffic violations and coming into circuit court on appeals are Royal Beck with, Robert E. Berryman, William N. Alderton, John Cascarelli, Joseph Farhat, Jr., and Marjorie J. Pearce.

Charged with drunk driving on appeal from justice court are Carl D. Coleman, John W. O'Callaghan, John E. Kowalk, Edwin J. Moore and Frank Barnhart. Charged with drunk driving, second offense, are Frank Marks, Charles Edward DeWar, Kenneth J. Dorr and Paul Cheney. William P. Gray is charged with being drunk and disorderly, third offense.

Others on the criminal calendar are Delmar Leffler, driving while license was revoked; June Wyatt and Barbara Aldrich, false representation of age; George Sweazey, fraudulent conversion; Isha M Bradford, larceny from automobile; George Pavlic, Adelbert Culp, David Bert VanConant, Lloyd C. Hummel and Theodore Thurston, larceny from a car; Yvonne Ruth Snook, breaking and entering in night time; Agnes Dalley, malicious destruction of property; Vaughn Holland and Alvin Mosley, Warren White and Fred Thrasher, Jesus Reyes and Roy F. Gismac, driving away automobiles without authority; Donald McClellan, furnishing alcoholic beverage to minors; Joseph Zaborowski, abortion; Harry Winters and William F. Curtis, statutory rape; John W. Hazlett, uttering and publishing check without funds; Roy Groomes, assault without intent to commit murder; Wayne L. Hiar, indecent exposure; Edward Burke and Melvin House, larceny from building; Axel Olson, failure to stop at scene of accident;

Victor Kussmaul, forgery and uttering and publishing; Kenneth Fox, fraudulent conversion and embezzlement; Emil Semrau, receiving stolen goods; Donald Miller, aggravated assault; Alec Wightman, resisting an officer; and William P. Gray, issuing checks without funds.

There are 48 jury civil cases. Many of them are the outgrowth of automobile accidents. Non-jury civil cases number 102. There are only eight non-contested chancery cases. All except one are divorces.

On the contested chancery calendar are 162 cases. Divorce cases number 107.

There are 26 law and 86 chancery cases in which there has been no progress within the past year. They are subject to dismissal on the opening day of court unless attorneys show cause why they should be saved.

Ingham Sleuths Nab Two Youths For Leslie Job

Deputy Ralph Dershem at Leslie and Undersheriff Jack Lechler solved a Leslie crime which was perpetrated last Friday night.

Two Vandercook Lake youths, Robert Vincent, 18, and Everett Russell, 19, are in the Ingham jail awaiting sentence. Both pleaded guilty to taking $100 out of a purse left by Miss Harriet Steinke, 509 Home street, Lansing. Five boys from Vandercook Lake were rounded up by the Ingham officers but Vincent and Russell exonerated three and they were ordered released by Justice Roy Adams of Mason Monday.

Vincent and Russell waived examination before Judge Adams and were bound over to circuit court. They pleaded guilty in circuit court Wednesday.

The five Vandercook Lake youths entered Morea's restaurant in Leslie. Vincent and Russell went to a booth and ordered hamburgers. The other three went to the toilet. When they returned the two they had left in the booth had gone out so the three followed. The five drove around Leslie for awhile and were recognized by a relative of one of the boys.

Betty Marks, a waitress, was suspicious of the youths who left without eating their sandwiches. She found a woman's purse in the booth and gave it to the proprietor. Deputy Dershem stepped into the restaurant and was told of the finding of the purse. He opened it and discovered identification papers. The officer called Miss Steinke who had just arrived at her home in Lansing and had only then missed her purse. She drove back to Leslie to claim her property. Upon opening the purse she discovered $100 was missing. She said the money was in three $20 and four $10 bills.

Deputy Dershem was given a good description of the two suspects by the waitress. Undersheriff Lechler and Dershem secured some of the names from the Leslie woman who had recognized the group. On Saturday the Ingham officers secured a warrant out of Judge Adams' court and went to Vandercook Lake. They picked up four of the youths and the Jackson sheriff arrested the fifth later in the day.

Vincent and Russell told officers they found the purse when they entered the Leslie restaurant booth. They said they took the $100 and left the restaurant. They insisted their three companions were not told of the theft.

Miss Steinke did not get her money back. The party visited the Jackson fair after getting the $100, they said, and most of the money was spent there, they told officers. One boy said he had used $20 to pay a board bill.

Two Everett Boys Killed on Highway

Kenneth Scharzter, 17, and Paul Dorer, 17, were killed and Paul Scharzter, father of Kenneth, was seriously injured Tuesday night on M-78 near Morrice.

The three were returning with other Everett high school football players from an exhibition football game between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants at Flint. Coach Charles Sweeney of the Everett team was right behind the Scharzter car.

Scharzter's car struck a horse running loose on the pavement. The impact caused Scharzter to lose control of his car and it shot across the pavement into the path of an auto transport truck driven by Harold W. Beckman of Flint.

All three occupants of the car were taken to the Gwosso Memorial hospital. Dorer was dead upon admittance. The Scharzter boy died Wednesday morning. His father is still in critical condition.

Western Horses Heading for Mason, Oklahoman Secured for Judging Ring

Horsemen are rubbing down their steeds in all parts of Michigan this week in preparation for the state championship horse show to be staged at Mason this week end.

Mrs. Dawnie Hulett, publicity director for the show, stated that over 1,000 invitations have been issued to horsemen in Michigan.

This will be the fourth state show to be staged in Michigan, but the first time that it has been held in Mason.

Previously, Marshall and Michigan State college have been the scene of the state shows.

The show will be sponsored by the Michigan Association of Western Horse Clubs, Inc., and will be judged by Arthur Beale of Oklahoma.

Two days of showing will be observed, Mrs. Hulett stated. The first event will begin at 1:00 on September 11. The program will continue through Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

The Michigan association of western horse clubs is made up of the 75 western riding clubs in Michigan.

Dexter Trail Stock Horse club has been a prominent member of the association for five years.

Australian Finds Self at Home Here

Mason is not much different than Perth, Australia. There are no kangaroos here and farmers don't have to fence against rabbits, but the people are much the same. And so is the weather.

That's what Mrs. Donald (Eud) Barto remarked. She has been in the United States about a month. She and her husband are living with Mr. Barto's mother on West Oak street until they can find a home of their own.

The Barto marriage was a war romance. Barto spent six years in the navy on submarine duty. He was in on the initial fighting with the Japanese. His sub escaped the first Jap attack by clinging to the bottom until it could crawl to sea. During the war the submarines in which Barto served accounted for much Japanese shipping and also engaged in naval battles. Some of the time the sub was based at Perth and it was there that the Mason man and the Australian girl met. They were married in 1944. Shortly afterward Barto was sent to the United States. They left Australia in June aboard the Marine Phoenix, stopping only at Auckland in New Zealand and in Samoa before reaching San Francisco. The Bartos took a bus from the coast to Mason.

Mrs. Barto likes Mason and her husband's friends and relatives, yet she misses her relatives in Australia.

It was winter time when the Bartos left Australia, although winter at Perth is minus snow. In fact, Mrs. Barto has never seen any snow and is looking forward to the first winter storm.

I have read many of Mr. Foot's letters which the editor has been forced by a sense of duty to publish.

I feel sorry for you, Mr. Foot. This paranoia with which you are afflicted must at times be most exasperating.

You are always harping on the immoral conduct of the people who attend the Legion dances. You say in your letter that you have been told. Didn't anyone ever tell you that Ben Told is the biggest liar that was ever created?

One would gain the impression that you let your mind dwell on the more tawdry side of life. Your accusations have been superfluous, to say the least. Why don't you go and see for yourself (as an observer, of course) then you will know what you are talking about?

To this date you don't seem to be able to substantiate your accusations. I have attended many dances at the Legion hall and have yet to see or hear anything such as you claim happens every time there is an dance.

Yes, Mr. Foot, I can see and hear quite well so don't come back with that question.

Herds and Flocks

All night lights help to prevent stampeding of turkeys on range.

Blackhead of turkeys causes heavy losses. Phenothiazine powder mixed in the mash at the rate of one ounce daily for 100 birds, has been found effective in preventing losses, because it destroys cecal worms which are carriers of the blackhead organisms.

To make lambs tick proof, spray them with DDT. Mix one pound of a 50 per cent wettable DDT powder in 25 gallons of water and apply it to the back, belly, sides and around neck and ears. One application should last for two or three weeks.

Two essentials for livestock and poultry in late summer are shade and water.

DDT Proves Effective On Peach Tree Borer

DDT, when used as a trunk spray, will control the peach tree borer, according to the New York State agricultural experiment station. The new method of borer control takes the place of older methods using ethylene dichloride of PDB crystals, since it is non-injurious, labor-saving, time-saving and inexpensive. DDT is used at the rate of two pounds to each 100 gallons of water.

Nearly 9,000,000 persons have completed courses in Red Cross first aid successfully since 1939.

"Health News" is presented by your Doctor of Medicine in a health service of the Michigan State Medical Society.

Medical Costs Not Rising With Cost of Living

Fees charged by physicians for medical services have not risen as rapidly as the cost of living, according to a study just published by Frank G. Dickinson, Ph.D., director of the Bureau of Medical Economic Research of the American Medical Association.

Entitled "Comparative Increases in the Costs of Medical Care and Cost of Living," the report made use of the price indexes compiled by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. A four-page bulletin containing figures and charts, supports his conclusions.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics Index, covering cost of living in 34 cities, was 59 per cent higher in 1947 than in the base period of 1935-37. The bureau's 1947 index for all medical care, including drugs, was only 32 per cent above the same base period. In addition, the quantity of medical care received by the American people was estimated to have increased more than half again what it was in 1939.

Dr. Dickinson's newest study is the second made within a year. In 1946 he published a report entitled "Is Medical Care Expensive?" In this 12-page booklet he shows that medical care items as a whole cost the American people over five and a half billion dollars in 1946, but that this still represented only 3.9 per cent of the total personal consumer expenditures of the American people. Physicians received only 26 per cent of all the dollars spent for medical care in 1946.

—Kurschner

Witnesses who testified in behalf of Kurschner at the rehearing were George Higdon and Mrs. Emma Olson of Leslie and Nelson Brown of Mason. Higdon said he had known Kurschner since his arrival at the Leslie farm in 1937 and considered him a man of good character. Mrs. Olson told how the Kurschners had contributed to Red Cross campaigns and other community drives.

Case Summed Up
In concluding the summation of the case, the opinion set forth. "The court has scrutinized carefully the testimony of all the witnesses presented and likewise carefully considered the position taken by the government. It will be noted that when the petitioner came to this country, the war had not broken out in Europe, and that there is no evidence of any kind that the petitioner, after leaving Germany and coming to this country, continued his affiliations with the Nazi party. The record is clear that he did almost immediately make application for his first papers, and took part in the making of a living and rearing his family to the extent that he gained the good will of an old established community; and the court cannot find that he has not fulfilled the requirements of the statutes.

The court has in mind the ideology of the Nazi party and also the apparent fact that for at least a time the petitioner was fully active in the Nazi party, he being a Storm Trooper.

"However, approximately two years before the commencement of the war, everything indicates that he severed all connections with the Nazi party.

"While it is the position of the government that even though the petitioner was denied, Mr. Kurschner has all the benefits of living in a free country, or at least most of them, the fact remains, as was stated rather convincingly by the petitioner, that it is a peculiar feeling to be a man without a country, as in effect he would be, if the petition were denied.

"The court feels compelled on the record made to grant the petition and it is hereby granted."

McLenn Handled Case
Raymond H. McLenn, Mason attorney, represented Kurschner at the rehearing before Judge McDonald, Sidney Freed, naturalization examiner who recommended that citizenship be denied Kurschner, testified at the rehearing. J. Conner Austin of the Detroit office of the department of justice represented the immigration bureau in court. He and McLenn both filed briefs following the rehearing.

The justice department has been granted a 20-day stay to appeal the decision filed Thursday at the appeal, if it is taken, will go to the state supreme court. At the

Mrs. Jacobs stated in her letter to the council that the collection of taxes by the city added to her regular job at the Dart Bank would be almost impossible for one person to handle. Mrs. Jacobs was elected at the last November election and has another year of her term remaining.

Inspectors, clerks and gatekeepers were named by the council for the coming primary election. First ward inspectors named were Frank Dakin, Floyd Taylor, Leo Harrison and Harry Spenny. Clerks appointed were Mrs. Della Bushford and Mrs. Florence Strickland. Gatekeeper for the first ward will be Homer Postter.

Second ward inspectors chosen are Guy Thorburn, Leo Burton, Hugh Silsky and John Taylor. Mrs. Nina Carr and Mrs. U. B. Shoemaker were appointed as clerks. Second ward gatekeeper will be Carl Dickman.

Inspectors will be paid $1.00 an hour, clerks will get 80¢ and gatekeepers 75¢.

Alderman Frank Dakin moved that the street committee be allowed to clean out the deadwood in the trees honoring Mason streets.

Alderman Guy Thorburn commented that the trees are especially dangerous on Maple street.

Pay Raise Granted
The $2400 salary of the sewage disposal plant operator was increased to $2600 on the move of Alderman Davis Post. The increase will begin as of September first. Alderman Thorburn stated that even $2,700 was not any too much for such a distasteful, specialized job.

Sixty T. L. Demorest is the operator of the sewage disposal plant.

and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hobart of Dansville.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jerry L. Surataeux of Holt, the bride was gowned in a floor-length champagne satin dress, styled with a not yoke and a bustle effect. She wore a matching picture hat with an open crown which was trimmed with astrich plume fastened to the edge of the crown. She carried a fan-type bouquet of champagne gladioli and tiny yellow sweetheart roses. Fastened in the arrangement was a pullout corsage with green cymbidium orchids flecked with brown. Streamers of chartreuse and brown satin ribbon tied in lovers knots cascaded from the arrangement.

The bustle on her dress was lined with contrasting bronze taffeta. Elizabeth Throope of Hammond, Indiana, was her chief attendant. She wore a dress of light bronze taffeta with the same as that of the maid of honor. They wore hats of brown feathers with open crowns to correspond with their dresses. Their bouquets were fan-type arrangements of cream colored gladioli. They were tied with contrasting ribbons of Nile green and brown. George Vogt, Jr., of Dansville acted as best man. Ushers were Wayne Dalton of Dansville and William Beckwith of Mason.

The groom's father sang "The Lord's Prayer" "Through the Years" and "I Love You Truly." He was accompanied by the church organist.

Saginaw Man Weds Williamston Girl At Holt Brotherhood Temple Church

White gladiolus, mums and lighted candleabra decorated the Holt Brotherhood Temple Methodist church in Holt on Saturday, September 4, for the marriage of Donna H. Greenman of Williamston and John L. Francis of Saginaw. Rev. Wilson Tennant, pastor of the church, officiated at the single ring rites at three o'clock. He was assisted by Reverend Townley of the First Methodist church of Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Greenman of Williamston are the bride's parents and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis of Saginaw.

Zelma Demont of Chicago was soloist. She sang, "Wedding Song," "I'll Walk Beside You" and "If We Could See Beyond Today." She was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson Tennant, who also played traditional wedding music.

The bride chose her sister, Janice Greenman, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sarah Jane Schwab of Sunfield and Faith Francis of Saginaw. Morton Dorsey of Ohio attended the bridegroom as best man. Guests were seated by Bruce Greenman, brother of the bride, and Fred Brown, Joyce Showerman of Sunfield was flower girl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white nylon chiffon gown, fashioned with high neckline with scalloped yoke, fitted bodice, long sleeves and tucked skirt ending in a circular train. Her fingertip-length veil, which was edged in lace, was secured by a halo of orange blossoms. Around her neck she wore the lavaliers which her mother wore when she was married. Her bouquet of white roses was centered with a pullout corsage of tulleman roses.

Pink chiffon gown the maid of honor. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and white mums. Miss Schwab and Miss Francis wore blue and yellow marquisette respectively. Headresses of net matched their gowns. They carried bouquets made of pink roses and white mums.

Mrs. Greenman selected navy blue and white print crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's marriage. Navy blue crepe gown the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Francis. She also wore navy accessories. They wore shoulder corsages of pink roses. Baskets of gladiolus decorated the church parlors where the newlyweds greeted their guests immediately following the ceremony.

Ice cream and wedding cake were served by Carrie Lewis, Gloria Francis, Mary Lou Greenman, Jacqueline Greenman, Helen Greenman and Charlotte Petrie. Phyllis Lewis of Lansing presided at the guest register.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple will go to Greenville, Illinois, where the bridegroom will begin his senior year at Greenville college. After finishing college he plans to enter the Methodist ministry. For traveling Mrs. Francis chose a two-piece rose crepe dress. She was graduated from Danville high school in 1933 and recently has been employed in the auditor general's department in Lansing. She attended the Chicago Evangelistic Institute for two years.

Three teen-age friends of mine, attractive girls of 14 and 15, gave a party last week. It was held in the basement game room of one of their homes. The three spent many hours decorating the room, gathering a supply of the latest dance records and preparing innumerable sandwiches. Two mothers baked cakes and one of the fathers furnished several cases of soft drinks.

Twelve boys and 12 girls accepted. And when the party began at 8:30 most of them had arrived. But an hour later, after consuming much of the food, seven of the boys departed. One of them announced that they were going to the carnival at the other end of town.

Naturally, that meant a pretty dead party. The three hostesses were near tears, and the parents were sick because of the girls' heartbreak.

To be sure, girls of that age enjoy dancing much more than boys of 14 or 15. The seven boys might have stayed if such activities as ping pong and shuffleboard had been offered.

But each of the boys had accepted the invitation knowing that dancing was to be the main entertainment of the evening.

We do live in a casual and informal age. There are many rules of etiquette which have been put aside in late years. But has common, decent courtesy become obsolete?

These boys pride themselves on being good sports when their team is losing. They were certainly anything but good sports at this party. Even in the adult world the hostess can only provide the setting for an occasion. The guests really make the party.

No one has to accept an invitation. But if one does, the acceptance carries with it an obligation and responsibility.

MEMO FOR YOUR MIRROR: Don't accept an invitation unless you plan to be a good sport.

Stenson Awaiting Trip to Jackson

William C. Stenson, former state representative, was returned to the Ingham county jail by state police detectives Wednesday afternoon and is standing by for a trip to Jackson prison. He was released on bond July 9 on the plea that he intended to carry an appeal to the supreme court. The cover petition has been delayed because the time allotted and orders went out to return Stenson to jail.

Commitment papers are expected to arrive in Mason Thursday afternoon or Friday and immediately Stenson will be transferred to prison, Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald said Wednesday night. The prisoner is under sentence of 2½ to 5 years on conviction of larceny by conversion and 2½ to 10 on conviction of obtaining money under false pretenses. The sentences run concurrently.

Stenson was convicted in circuit court in Mason in June on the two counts and sentenced June 21 by Judge Marvin S. Salmon. Stenson was charged with fleeing Lester Davidson, Lansing contractor, out of $7,560. During the trial it developed that Stenson agreed to get four bulldozers from the War Assets Administration for the contractor for the $7,560. The contractor wired Stenson the money at Minneapolis. The bulldozers were never delivered and the money was not returned.

MICHIGAN Motoring

Isn't it surprising—that enthusiasm that comes to old and young alike with the beginning of the football season? The whole gang's driving to Ann Arbor for the big game—the youngster's school's playing in a neighboring town. Of course, your children will be going—but will they return safely?

You, and every member of your community, can insure that safe return. How? By practicing good driving yourselves and teaching by good example . . . by constant reminders to the young drivers in your family to Drive Safely, at a safe rate of speed—to use common sense when driving.

Caution your youngsters against "racing" with other cars . . . remind them that a slower rate of speed may mean the difference between arriving—or becoming a headline in a newspaper. Help keep Michigan safe. . . Keep your children and their friends out of the tragic headlines which may say "Killed—in auto collision!"

An Announcement of Interest To Dart & Cady Customers

We are announcing the sale of our Jefferson Street store (the former Salisbury hardware) to

RAY G. PERKINS Of Royal Oak

We have given the sale of this portion of our business long consideration and have decided to make the move as a means of devoting more time and more manpower to our plumbing and heating and appliance departments.

The sale of the Jefferson Street store to Mr. Perkins means that we are no longer in the hardware business, but that we are in the plumbing and heating, and appliance business stronger than ever before.

We regard Ray Perkins as the kind of man with whom you're going to enjoy doing business. He's a hard worker, friendly and eager to serve you. To our hardware customers we sincerely recommend his service.

Mason Drops Final League Game At Fowlerville Fair Labor Day

Mason Merchants lost their final Tri-County league game of the season with a 5-1 decision at Fowlerville Labor Day. The game was one of the features of the county fair program. Loss of the game showed the Merchants down to the fourth-place tie with Stockbridge leaving Fowlerville and Webberville tied for second place and Fowlerville out in front.

Ann Arbor American Legion finished in sixth place with Okemos seventh and East Lansing eighth.

Brighton Is Winner

Brighton clinched first place in the western division by taking two games Sunday. In the first game at East Lansing Zeke Vogt pitched and batted the House of Dougherty to a 7-3 win over the Fuller Brushmen. Vogt struck out 19 men and contributed a home run, triple and single to the 13-hit attack. In a game under the lights at Stockbridge, Hank Green gave up only two infield hits while Brighton clubbed out a 7-1 win. Green hurled no-hit ball for seven and two-thirds innings but Don Clark and Morris Price beat out two infield rollers. Green struck out 19 men and pitched a perfect game.

Webberville pulled into a tie with Fowlerville by taking the doubleheader, defeating Okemos 6-1 in the first game and squeezing past Fowlerville in the night-cap 8-7.

In the eastern division, Pinckney clinched the fourth place by beating Grass Lake 7-4. The Chelsea Independents finished the league season with a perfect record by nosing out Saline 3-2.

In the second annual all-star game held at the Fowlerville fair, the western division all-stars made it two straight over the eastern division all-stars, 9-6. Last year the western division had things all their way with a score of 18-6, but this year the western stars had to come from behind. Eastern scored two in the first and added two in the sixth to take a three-run lead. Western scored one in the fifth and in the sixth to go ahead to day. Western scored three times in the seventh and added two more in the eighth.

Dick Corbin and Dick Betcher of Mason made up the winning battery for the western team. Don McDowell of Mason also played.

On Sunday the division playoffs will be held. At Saline, the eastern division will see Chelsea Independents take on Saline in the opening 11 a. m. The Ann Arbor Autos play the Pinckney VFW at 2 p. m. with the winners playing at 4:30. The western division playoffs will be held at the Fowlerville fairgrounds with the defending champions, the House of Dougherty of Brighton, playing either Fowlerville or Webberville at 11 a. m. (slow time). Stockbridge plays whichever team Brighton does not play at 2 p. m. The winners play at 4:30.

Mason Scores First

Fowlerville took the lead in the seventh. Ross Curtis singled to left and went all the way around when Wayne Gabbert let the ball get away. Stan Hyet walked and scored on Don DeForest's triple. Mason gained the lead again in the eighth. Wayne Gabbert was safe on Bill Clark's error. Don McDowell singled to center with Gabbert pulling up at second. Dick Betcher then singled to center to score Gabbert. Mike Simone banged out a double to score both McDowell and Betcher.

Fowlerville tied the count in the eighth on a pair of Mason errors and a fielder's choice. Fowlerville went to win in the ninth. George Shooter and Murray Grestie singled and Bill Clark was purposely passed to all the bases and set the stage for a double play. Lew Gillis, former assistant coach at Mason who had gone hitless in four previous trips to the plate, hit a perfect double to plate, hit a perfect single to right and a perfect single to left, letting Shooter cross the plate with the winning run.

Norm Rector turned in a fine pitching job. With good support he would have chalked up a victory.

Facing the Fowlerville attack was Shooter with a pair of singles; McDowell and Dick Betcher each had a pair of singles for the Merchants.

Loss Non-League Title

Mason couldn't win at the Fowlerville fair. On the second day the Merchants lost 9-7 to Stockbridge in a slugfest.

Playing with a patched-up lineup, the Merchants collected 12 hits off Charlie Clark and Bob Price. Lew Gillis played with Mason and was a first water star. He banged out three singles and a double. McDowell and Steve Yuzhasz, a newcomer, each collected two hits.

Stockbridge poled out 14 hits. Dick Corbin went six innings for Mason and was relieved by Zeke Vogt. Stockbridge got back in the ninth for six runs. Gillis went to the rescue and put out the fire but the game was lost. Marvin Stephens led the Stockbridge clubbers with three hits. Kipper and Kuhn coming up with hits in the clutch.

Simone Thanks Supporters

The Stockbridge tilt was the last of the season for the Merchants, barring some unforeseen challenge.

Mike Simone, team manager, thanked the players and the team's backers. He asked that all high school players turn in their uniforms at the Simone store, after the uniforms are cleaned.

Stores which provided the uniforms were listed as Hammann's Home and Auto Supply, Jefferson Food Market, Dart & Cady, DeLuxe Hardware Shoppe, Western Auto Supply, Al Rice, Ingham County News, Carl Jewett, Real Estate, Mason City Bakery, Ware's Drug Store, Jewett's Flower Shop, Millerie Market, sheriff's department, Court Cafe and Simone's Store. Red and white jackets were furnished by Fritz Kinville, D. A. Supply, Doyle Burgess, A. J. Torrance, Silsby Implement Co., Mickelson-Baker Lumber Co., Dart Motor Sales, Somerville Service, C. C. Griffin & Son, Mason Frozen Food Lockers and Peters drug store.

Relishes Will Add Zestful Touch to Meals (See recipes below)

Canning Relishes

BY THIS TIME you undoubtedly have finished your fruit and vegetable canning, but there still remain those late-in-the-season relishes. Those spicy, zesty accompaniments to meat and other entrees are almost as essential as the fruits and vegetables, and many women do not consider their canning complete without them.
Most relishes are easy to put up and there is little opportunity for spoilage if directions are followed. Enlist some help from the family for cutting up some of the vegetables and fruits and work will go forward rapidly.

SPICED GRAPES

SPICED GRAPES are delightful with mild-flavored meats such as lamb, veal and chicken.

Spiced Grapes
5 quarts stemmed grapes
8 cups sugar
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground ginger

Pry seeds from grapes. Drain. Boil sugar, vinegar and spices for five minutes. Add grapes and cook until thick. Pour into hot sterile jars and seal at once.
If you aren't certain you have enough spreads for bread already canned, make some spicy, delicious apple butter. It may be used in sandwiches, cookies or as spread for biscuits and muffins.

Apple Butter

1 peck apples
1 gallon sweet cider
6 cups sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves

Wash and slice apples. Add cider and cook until soft. Press through sieve. Boil the strained pulp until thick enough to heap on a spoon, then add sugar mixed with spices and continue boiling until so thick that no liquids runs from the apples. Pour into hot jars and process for 10 minutes in a boiling water bath. Complete sealing if necessary.

RELISHES SHOULD BE moist

but not juicy. Chief ingredients in them should have a firm rather than mushy consistency. Vegetables in both of these relishes should be finely chopped.

Chow-Chow
1 gallon chopped cabbage
12 onions
12 green peppers
12 red peppers
2 quarts tomatoes, chopped
5 cups sugar
4 tablespoons ground mustard

LYNN SAYS:

Following Rules for Pickling Fruits and Vegetables
Pickles should be crisp and firm, solid and evenly colored. The correct color for the green pickle is olive rather than bright green.
Pack sufficient liquid in the jars in which you can pickles so that those on top will not shrivel.
Fresh spices are your best guarantee of flavor when making pickles. Spices lose flavor as they stand so only freshly opened packages should be used.

Fruits and Vegetables used for pickling should not be overripe.

The same rules for selecting pickling material as for general canning holds true.
When making fruit pickles, cut the fruit in uniform sizes and shapes so the pickles look attractive when served. The syrup for fruit pickles is as thick as that for preserves.
Vegetables which are brined should be kept thoroughly covered with the brine, otherwise those standing uncovered by brine will spoil.

SHORT STORY

Red Paint

By KATHLEEN GILCHRIST

THE blazing sun shocked the air into rippling waves of heat that emphasized the starkness of Ed Higgins' bare barns. In contrast to the unpainted barns was the neat little bungalow, with its bright green paint and white trimmings.

From behind her spotlessly curtained kitchen window Marty Higgins gazed outside. Her thin face looked drawn, but her cotton dress was as fresh as her kitchen. She shook her head at the memory of Doc's parting words that morning.

"I've done all I can, Marty," he'd said. "If Ed won't fight for himself—"

"I can't understand his giving in so easy." There was more disappointment than sorrow in Marty's voice. "Stubborn old fool, he gave me enough trouble any time I wanted him to do anything, goodness knows, and now to let pneumonia down him without a fight!"

The brown collic beside her raised questioning eyes. He cocked one ear expectantly toward the bedroom door behind which Ed lay, his sunken cheeks under unkempt whiskers mute evidence of the ravages of the first serious illness of his robust life. How unlike the gaiety of their courtship days!

"Twenty years, Rusty, and now when he's needed most he quits." Marty gazed past the ugly structures of naked wood to the wheat-covered vastness of prairie beyond. The sun was beginning to turn its greenness into the golden ripeness of harvest.

Rusty wagged his tail. It was seven years since he'd come, a furry pup, to live with Marty and Ed, and this was the first truce in the battle that had started twenty years ago, when first Marty had stated her plans for a home.

"Painted buildings on a prairie farm. What's the matter with 'em they way they are?" Ed scoffed. "You don't hear my cattle wanting new barns with paint on 'em, do you, and they seem to manage."

"But I'm not one of your cattle, Ed, and I want a decent home with paint on it, even if they don't." Marty had replied with aggravating sweetness. "If you want to live with me, go ahead, but I'm having my home the way I want it."

"Just naturally contrary. If I didn't want you to paint them, you would. You'd think that we were paupers instead of successful farmers." Marty often repeated in exasperation as one unpainted structure after another was raised to house Ed's increasing cattle.

The dog watched Marty carry the tray into the bedroom, to return with its contents scarcely touched.

The sun was sinking in a blaze of golden glory when she returned to the window, tinting even the bare wood of Ed's barns with a pearly beauty.

"Wonder what Ed would say if we painted them pink, Rusty?" The his wife, Bill never forgot Garden, and neither did Kate.

THE GARDEN PENINSULA is one of the least known of Michigan's famed peninsulas.

GARDEN—Bill Bonifas got his start here at Garden.

The upper peninsula lumberman, eight times a millionaire, arrived in the upper peninsula penniless from Luxemburg. He was a six-footer, broad-shouldered, and in his early twenties, America was the promised land of opportunity, and the upper peninsula was one of its frontiers.

As a lumberjack he started to work for Louis VanWinkle, who built a sawmill at Van's Harbor back in 1881. Larking a team of horses, he carried logs out of the woods on his back. It was William Stellwagon, proprietor of a hardware store at Garden who stalked him to his first capital, $50 worth of needed tools and equipment.

Stellwagon's son, Walter, runs a modern grocery at Garden.

Bonifas built his fortune in the Garden peninsula. Perhaps his greatest find was Kate Nolan, a beautiful Irish girl whom he met here at a lumberjack boarding house. Kate, a waitress, became one purchased 16,000 acres of trees for $15,000. That was in 1866. They bought land at Plum harbor, later called Small Shell because of its shape, from Irwin G. Squire; built limestone kilns through the peninsula to convert hardwood into charcoal; extended a narrow-gauge railroad to Fairport at the tip; and then constructed huge furnaces at Fayette to smelt the iron ore, shipped from Escanaba, into pig iron for loading into sailing vessels bound for Cleveland.

It took eight days to char the hardwood in the kilns. Twenty-five bushels of charcoal were consumed in the furnaces to produce one ton of pig iron. The virgin hardwoods of the Garden peninsula were literally burned up.

Fayette was a company-owned town—houses, hotel, stores, church and dance-hall. The place was abandoned in 1880.

Bonifas' logging camp became the William Bonifas company with three brothers, John, Jim and Isaac as partners. When Bill left the peninsula in 1917, he threw a big party at the Garden town hall.

Charles Olmstead, now 82, was a foreman for Bonifas at his first camp nine miles north of Garden on the plains near Little Harbor. He related to us the history of the region. Charley helps out in a store and gas station of his son-in-law, Roy Winter, at Garden.

The Garden peninsula in those days, was covered by hardwood trees—maple, beech and birch.

Because of the harbor and limestone at Fayette and the abundance of hardwood nearby, the Jackson Iron Company of Negau-

President's Visit Helpful

President Truman's visit to Michigan Labor Day was in the interests of good government. So was the visit of Harold E. Stassen Tuesday. The threats and warnings of President Truman against the Republicans and the charges of Stassen against the Democrats probably won't change many votes. They may create interest. Their very exaggerations may kindle enthusiasm.

Political interest had reached an all-time low previous to the Labor Day tour of President Truman. Here in Michigan no one except the candidates cared who was nominated to any office. There is no competition for the nomination of United States senator. The Democrats are working up a little heat for the nomination for governor. The former Democrat running for re-nomination as governor on the Republican ticket has no opposition. That was taken care of in a series of backroom maneuvers a few hours before the primary lists closed.

For county offices there is little strife and no enthusiasm. Practically all of the Republican incumbents are without opposition and the Democrats don't even offer a complete ticket.

At caucuses held last week to choose slates of delegates to county conventions there were pitiful turnouts. In Mason just four men showed up to choose 11 delegates.

"If you let Republican administration reactionaries get complete control of this government the position of labor will be so greatly weakened that I fear not only for the wages and living standards of American workers, but even for our Democratic institutions of free labor and free enterprise," declared President Truman. Of course, that's just bilge, and no one knows it better than President Truman. His only fear is that he won't be elected. Yet the charges made by the president are helpful if they serve to stir the people to action, if they whip up interest in politics.

Some of Stassen's statements were just as exaggerated and just as time-worn, but they served the purpose of creating political interest.

Probably not a single vote was changed by the speeches of either President Truman or Stassen. The people who were on hand to hear the speeches already had their own minds made up. But the broadcasting of the speeches, the newspaper reports, the special trains, the personal appearances, all these whip up enthusiasm. They get people stirred up. They get them to thinking and talking about political issues. If there is enough excitement people may even go to the polls and vote. That's why President Truman's visit and the visit of other political leaders to Michigan is important. We don't need to take stock in the speeches. We do need a faster political pulse. We need to get our dander up. It's good for government.

One-Way Contracts

As this is written, Mason does not have a regular kindergarten teacher. One was under contract last spring, but she took another job.

Every year it's the same story, and not just in Mason. A teaching contract is just a one-way contract. The school district is bound by the contract to hire the teacher, whether the teacher does good work or bad. Legally and morally, certainly ethically, the teacher is bound by the contract just as much as the school district, but few teachers look at it that way. They seem to think the contract means only that they have a right to teach in the district if they want to exercise it.

If a contractor jumps a contract to build a road or dig a ditch he has to pay a penalty. If a man refuses to carry out his contract to play baseball he is barred forever from organized baseball. If a contractor agrees to haul a truckload of livestock from Mason to Detroit and dumps the load off at Stockbridge he will probably have to settle.

The Michigan Education association has muscled in on school district affairs at Mason several times, always charging that the teachers were receiving a raw deal. It might be too much to expect, but wouldn't it be encouraging if the MEA stepped in some time to insist that a teacher abide by her contract? Such a procedure would really clinch the argument that the MEA is primarily interested in professional conduct and ethics.

And if a teacher is already under contract to one district, why should another district encourage him to break a contract, or agree to hire him until the contract is completed? There should be ethics on the part of school board members and school administrators, too.

Unless teaching contracts are binding on both parties they should all be torn up and teachers should be hired by the week or month.

No Action Without Reaction

There just aren't many bees anymore—honey bees, wasps, yellow jackets or bumble bees, farmers complain. Of course not, neither are there many flies. The same DDT that kills the flies also kills the bees.

Over in Great Britain a breed of flies has developed an immunity to DDT. Those flies are tough. It takes a hammer to kill one. Perhaps bees, too, will develop a tolerance or an immunity against DDT.

Druggists report that sales of vitamin pills and tonics are falling off. Scientists explain that before penicillin was perfected people convalescing from pneumonia were heavy users of vitamins and tonics. Recovery from pneumonia was a tedious process and called for pills and tonics by the barrel. Now with penicillin the pneumonia germs are put to rout within a few hours, long before the victim has his health shattered. Makers of vitamin pills and tonics have lost their best customers.

Development of artificial ice plants put the natural ice industry out of business. Development of electric refrigerators made tough going for artificial ice interests. Development of frozen food lockers cut down the demand for glass fruit jars.

Whether with bees, with drugs or refrigerators, or even with atomic bombs, there can be no action without reaction.

Reward Is Certain

Never has there been a time in history when willingness to work will bring more certain reward. Never has there been a time when a man or woman who wants to work can get ahead faster.

Willingness to work is as important as learning and training. The willingness to work includes the willingness to accept criticism, the willingness to overcome mental or physical handicaps, the willingness to improve work habits.

In school and college a student can train himself for certain reward in life by applying himself industriously to every assignment, by constantly going out in every class. Young folks who are content to merely get by in school are usually the ones content to just get by in life. And getting by is not much fun, they finally learn when it is too late.

This year, more than ever before, the school year should be a year of achievement, a year of eager learning, a year of enthusiastic doing.

NEW TERM FOR OLD DISEASE

Teen-Age Crime Continues to Increase

By Vernon J. Brown

Not so many years ago there came a period when the so-called experts in juvenile psychology banded about a new word—adolescence. One could scarcely pick up a newspaper without encountering an article written by some learned person on how to get along with boys and girls during the years of their adolescence. The pages of our leading magazines and technical journals were filled with high sounding phrases on child behavior and juvenile waywardness. Parents and teachers were regaled with tons of literature on the subject of guiding a rising generation through the perilous years as they changed from childhood to prematurity and beyond.

That era has passed. Now the same sort of talk is built around a new term. Today we call it the "teen-age" and the boys and girls, "teen-agers."

Down Detroit way a gang of young hoodlums was rounded up after they had broken up a party in a private home. They had not been invited but they went anyway. They started a roughhouse and the husband and father at whose home the party was being held, drove them away. They went but they returned with more of their kind and with beer bottles they staged a bombardment of the premises and the occupants. In jail one of them asked, "What do you expect? You folks don't provide entertainment for us. We have to blow off steam in some way. So we have our fun by picking fights."

Not so long ago a college student was killed in such a brawl at Highland Park.

Just to show such antics are not altogether confined to Detroit and its wicked environs, several hundred Owosso high school students staged a near riot at the school house last week. There the matter was who was to have what locker. It seems that in Owosso a student's social standing is regulated by the floor on which his locker is located. It had been announced that locker assignments were to be made the next morning so the socially ambitious students went to the school house the night before to be certain of being on hand. When morning came and the school principal arrived there was a stampede. The melee was finally disposed of when it was announced the locker business would be put off to another day and in another manner—which is about the only bit of sense one can find in the whole affair.

Getting back to Detroit, a soft-hearted judge, (or was it his head?) late last week handed out sentences to three graduates of the "teen-age" class. One has an impressive record of crimes committed and dating back to 1944 when it is said he with three others did burglaries during that summer that netted the quartette about $110,000.

"This particular fellow, then in his 'teens,'" says he lost his share of the loot at the race track betting ring.

Friday the Detroit judge sentenced this graduated "teen-ager" to two to four years. One of his companions in his latest escapade was placed on five years probation and fined $1,000 which in all probability will never be paid, at least not from his own work and earnings. The third was also given five years probation but his fine was reduced to $600. Two of these young criminals are 22 years old and the third is 23. According to Detroit police, the three are leaders of at least three "teen-age" gangs, all of which have been giving residents of northwest Detroit and the police authorities plenty of trouble.

As long as the courts continue that sort of leniency in the face of continuous and consistent law breaking and gang leadership over a period of years, no long will juvenile crime continue to grow. With an attitude of "you keep me entertained and provide me with my kind of fun or I will plunder and fight and steal", no molly-coddling will suffice. Curfews will not turn the trick. Long-haired psychologists will not show the right way. All the playground diversion and recreation facilities in the world will fall short. Stern measures must be taken and a good example set by parents and other adults. There is no easy road to universal good behavior. Only when practiced by elders and insisted upon from youth will good behavior and a decent regard for the property and privileges of others obtain.

Down by the Sycamore

Fishing crowded out work over the Labor Day week end. All summer there had been an agreement to take three girls, Kathy, 5, Margaret, 5, and Valerie, 4, fishing. So Jim and Caroline and I tied each one of the little girls beside us in the boat and set out over perch. We never had better luck. With 10 people fishing, our limit was raised to 150. We didn't get quite that many. It took us so long to catch minnows for the expedition, so long to catch the fish, so long to clean them, and so long to eat them that I never did find time to hammer out this column as I had intended—up in the inspiring north country.

Because of the fishing expedition I missed out on President Truman's visit to Lansing. I had intended to say a few words about Robert Mitchell, caught smoking marijuana, but Bingay took care of that in good shape. I had a notion to touch upon the schoolboy rioting over at Owosso but my father grabbed that for his column. So here on Tuesday morning about all that's left is the opening of school, the latest report on the doctor business and the start of the football season.

I might start the thing off with an example of adult reaction by Kathy, 5. The three girls were playing and chattering as happy as could be until all at once Kathy complained, "Granddad, Margaret and Valerie say I'm not having a good time."

"Yet you are having a good time, aren't you?" I inquired.

"Yes, but Margaret and Valerie keep saying I'm not, and so I'm not," was the reply.

Isn't that the way with all of us? We go along thinking we are having a good time until someone tells us we are unhappy, underprivileged, or exploited. Then we begin to wonder. Finally we begin to feel sorry for ourselves. As adults we think we have to learn to like something because someone tells us it's fun or smart.

We ruin our health with liquor or cigarettes, we play golf when we had rather play croquet, we go to shows when we had rather go to bed, we take vacations when we had rather be at work, all because if we do otherwise someone will say we aren't having a good time.

We leave comfortable homes to bed down at summer resort hotels because we are afraid folks won't think we are having a good time at home. We leave our dining rooms where tasty meals are served piping hot to gag down potato salad at picnic tables crowded with strangers just because people say it is fun. We pay good money to go to golf, to dance, because we are told we aren't having a good time mowing the lawn or weeding the garden. Our wives pay out our money for permanents because someone has convinced them they can't have good times with straight hair, that they can't have a good time unless they look like someone else. Our wives and our daughters spend our money to gain the new look, not because they want to hide anything, but because someone will say they are not having a good time with their knees showing.

Football is fun to play and fun to watch when it is played as a sport and not as something sacred. There is an interesting football situation out at Michigan State. Heretofore there have been only a few occasions when the stadium seating 20,000 was a sell-out. Now the capacity has been enlarged to 50,000 and football is really big business at East Lansing. It has left the realm of sport and has become professional with trick photography, practice behind locked gates and reams of copy on Biggie Munn. Loss of a game at Michigan State will now be regarded as a disaster just short of Yalta or Potsdam.

A good bedside manner pays off. Reports show that the average net income of a doctor last year was $9,884. Here in Michigan the average is probably about $2,000 higher. When Doctor William E. Clark first came to Mason to start practice he was asked about his politics.

"Right now I'm probably a Democrat," replied the doctor, "but when my practice brings in $4,000 a year I'll be a Republican."

Back in the early 1900's when Eddie Rickenbacker was at the height of his daring, he piloted a new Brush automobile to Mason from Detroit. The car was for the late Dr. O. H. Freeland and was the first car to be operated by a Mason doctor. Dr. Freeland went to the factory in Detroit to take instruction on the pilot on the way back to Mason. Rickenbacker and the doctor left Detroit early one morning and arrived in Mason at four o'clock the next morning after a struggle with sand and dirt roads. Mrs. Freeland had been waiting all night and the two weary travelers had a most beefy supper or breakfast upon arrival. Rickenbacker ate hurriedly so he could catch an early train back to Detroit. Rickenbacker was then a youth of about 20. Mrs. Freeland recalls.

Memo to 3 1/2-mile Pen Department—Wrap up a pen for Ray Bullen, carrier on Mason Route 2, for his contribution to the history of Hotel Mason.

There's a fine new crop of boys and girls passing the office window on their way to and from school. They are ready for a year of accomplishment, if we encourage them a little. Is it any wonder some of the youngsters get the wrong idea of accomplishment when we turn out 2,000 strong for a football game and few adults show any interest in what is learned in classrooms? We yell our heads off for the boy who makes a yard or two or loses a yard or two at end. How long since we have cheered for a boy or girl who shows an improvement in spelling, in reading, in arithmetic?

Children are quite apt to ape their elders. That may be one reason for what we call juvenile delinquency.

The eagle has not always perched on the weathervane atop the court house. The eagle was bought shortly after the court house was completed but there was a quarrel over the cost and the bird remained hidden. The late Henry Verhelst, soon after being made a citizen, discovered the eagle and volunteered to put it up as a mark of good citizenship. That was about 1915. It came down in a storm a few years later. Verhelst repaired the eagle and put it back up again to stay.

Book Talk

From Ingham County Library

TOMORROW WILL BE BETTER is Betty Smith's second novel and uses somewhat the same type of characters as her first—TREE GROWS IN BROOKLYN, but whereas the former shows a complete hopelessness and sort of false brightness, the latter had a touch of lightness and humor that made the people seem human and likeable. Something like the title of the book, the reader keeps thinking that the story will get better, but it never quite reaches the climax of excellence one had been led to expect from her first efforts.

CLEFT ROCK should find many readers who have enjoyed Alice Tinsdale Hart's other stories—such as OIL FOR THE LAMPS OF CHINA, and more recently PEACOCK SHEDS HIS TAIL. This is a story of California and the clashing wills and emotional ties which come about in generations which cover the early settlers who fought for and devoted the land, often with dire results for the smaller owner, and the younger generation who sees in equality the more wholesome development of that same land. Into the already involved family group is inserted a young White Russian girl, for this is in the time of the '20s, and her ideas of the great land owner and the final results to her and to her family bring about further clashes. There is much material for a good story and Alice Hobart is a good storyteller.

Red Cedar Garden Club Has Annual Flower Show

The Red Cedar Garden Club held its annual flower show Friday and Saturday, September 3 and 4 at the Pontiac sales room. The local club had fine arrangements for the show. Among the novelty blooms was a wood rose sent from Honolulu, Hawaii. Table arrangements were especially good. The adult sweepstake prize was won by Mrs. Aileen Fuller with eight first prizes, two second and one third prize. Runners up were Mrs. Eulah Cheney, seven firsts and Mrs. Rose Dana with six firsts. In the junior division, Beth Sadler won the most prizes with five firsts. Runners up were Wanda Smith with a display of dahlias, and Laurion Shaw with a miniature garden. A table of plants and flowers were on sale both days by the club.

On September 13, the club will meet with Mrs. Emma Merindorf, 730 South Putnam street. The session will be devoted to flower show discussion and plans for improving the show.

The necessary signatures were acquired on the petitions and filed with the city clerk requiring this matter be referred to the voters in special election.

An automobile accident occurred Wednesday morning at the intersection of the roads at the Grange hall south of town when the car driven by Curran Wilton and another car collided. Wilton stopped at the crossing. Seeing no one as far as he could see started across the road, when the other car going south hit the front of the Wilton car. Wilton was injured although the other car turned over four times before coming to a stop. Outside of a few scratches the driver was unhurt. The car was seriously damaged. The Wilton car was also badly damaged.

John Murray of Williamston was seriously injured in an automobile accident last Saturday night when the tie rod of the car in which he was riding broke, causing the driver to lose control of the car, then crashed head on into a car driven by Dell Monteth of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Murray were passengers in the car owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Enos. All the other occupants were badly injured and bruised. Dr. Reynolds was called and Murray was removed by ambulance to the Sparrow hospital, where it was found he had a bad neck injury and head lacerations.

Board at $8.00 Per Week

In the account of the old American hotel no mention was made of its best landlords, Frank Counter. I was one of a dozen or more young bachelors who boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Counter about 1904.

We all sat at one long table and had a lot of fun at mealtime. For the sum of $3.00 cash or credit, one could get a ticket entitling him to 21 meals.

He could live for a week on good clean substantial fare for what it costs today for a single steak; no tax—no tips.

Mr. Counter was a landlord of the old school. He would not allow a man in his dining room without a coat even on the hottest days.

An uncouth fat man from Detroit in his shirt sleeves started into the dining room one day. Counter told him to put on his coat. He said he didn't have one with him so he ate in the kitchen.

Of course salaries and wages were low accordingly. Our superintendent of schools and the pastor of one of our churches received $1,000 a year. Top wages were from $9.00 to $12.00 a week.

Renominate Judge John McClellan

A judge of probate should know the law. Judge John McClellan does.

More than knowing the law, a judge of probate should know people, especially the boys and girls who come before him as wards of the court. Judge McClellan knows people. He knows boys and girls. He knows the problems they face. He knows and understands the tragedies which have brought them into juvenile court.

More than knowing the problems of the people who come before him, Judge McClellan knows what to do to help them. Knowing what to do, he does it.

Vote for him, work for him, at the Non-Partisan Judicial Primary Election September 14.

Notice To Voters

On a separate ballot are the names of three candidates for nomination for the office of judge of probate. The two candidates receiving the greatest number of votes September 14 will have a run-off at the November election. Because there are not more than twice the number of candidates for the circuit court vacancy and the two circuit court commissioners than there are places to be filled, no primary election is necessary for those offices. Only the contest for judge of probate is on the ballot in the Non-Partisan Judicial election September 14.

Tree-Ripening Helps Peach Sales

Housewives would buy more peaches if they were certain of getting ripe fruits with the flavor or which peaches are famous. This is the opinion of Dr. H. E. Fukey, head of the department of horticulture at Michigan State college. And he adds that his opinion is confirmed by a report of experiments conducted by the University of Illinois.

Because quality in peaches develops while the fruits are on the trees, the horticulturist explains that it is up to the grower to regulate his time of harvest for a full-flavored product. Aside from pleasing the consumer, more mature peaches bring greater returns to the grower also. During the past week that the peaches are on the trees, they increase in volume from three to four per cent a day. Simple mathematics show this to make a saving of 10 to 15 bushels an acre for each day the peaches are left on the tree, or at least a carload for a 40-acre orchard. This means more dollars to the grower.

Dr. Fukey suggests that peaches be picked firm ripe if they are to be shipped a few hundred miles without refrigeration, or longer distances with refrigeration. This means that the ground color on the unblushed side of the fruit has made a definite change from green to lemon yellow.

Picking should start a few days later than usual and should be repeated more often. The fruits should be handled one at a time and with great care to avoid injury. The picking sacks and hauling crates should not be bumped or jostled. Good orchard roads will help much in this respect. Graders should be adjusted to lessen the danger of bruising. Baskets should not be filled too full and should be moved gently.

Such care may seem excessive, but Dr. Fukey concludes that a good market with premium prices awaits the grower who follows such practices.

Farming practices that would ordinarily take years will be done in a few hours at the "farm-face lifting" program on Thursday, September 16 in Ionia county.

Site of the event will be the William and Hampton Hayes farm, one mile south and one-half mile east and one-half mile south of Clarksville. The demonstrations will begin at 10 a. m.

The field day sponsored by the Ionia county soil conservation district in cooperation with the Michigan state college extension service and approximately 200 other individuals and organizations, will give farmers a chance to see demonstrations of almost every kind of approved soil and water conservation practice.

Establishment of sod waterways, land clearing, and breaking up marsh for pasture are planned as events for the day. Feature spots on the program will be given to establishing more than three miles of strip crops, construction of diversion terraces, and pasture renovation. Fertilizing, liming, drainage and woodlot management are other phases of soil conservation that will be demonstrated.

The latest in farm machinery will also be featured. About one hundred pieces of equipment are expected to be in operation.

Officials estimate that more than 10,000 people will attend and view the operations as they progress. All events will be fully explained by the staff of professional men, technicians, and guides who will be on hand. A large parking lot and even an air strip for flying farmers will help to take care of the crowd. Lunch stands will be operated for the convenience of visitors.

Eggs Should Be Cooled Quickly

The quality of eggs depends greatly on how quickly they are cooled after they are laid, reports J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college.

He points out that consumer interest in eggs centers on quality. USDA poultry specialists estimate that five eggs out of each 100 produced become unfit for food as a result of quality deterioration or other causes. This five per cent loss has taken an annual toll of more than 233,000,000 dozen eggs in the past five years.

Farmers are urged to collect eggs from nests at least three times each day—10 a. m., noon and 5 p. m. Less frequent collection not only delays proper cooling of the eggs but also results in a partly cooled egg being left in a nest to be re-warmed by other hens using the same nest. In very hot weather, eggs should be gathered every two hours in the morning and twice in the afternoon.

Eggs should be collected in wire baskets which permit the free circulation of air around every egg. This is impossible when pails, boxes, or woven baskets are used. They should be placed on a wire tray and put in the cellar immediately after collecting. Because eggs absorb odors quickly they should not be kept in places where there are strong odors, such as those of onions, lemons, kerosene or mustiness.

Eggs should be fully cooled before they are placed in egg cases since there is not sufficient air circulation in cases to allow eggs to cool properly, Moore said.

join in presenting a number of interesting talks. C. G. Card, head of the department, will discuss opportunities in poultry and J. A. Davidson will describe "New Wrinkles in Poultry Management."

A discussion of the 4-H Club work in poultry in Michigan will be given by J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college. Dr. W. L. Mallman, Michigan State college bacteriologist, will speak on new disinfectants. Newcastle disease will be considered in a round table discussion and also in a speech by Dr. F. R. Beaudette of Rutgers University.

Tickets for the banquet on the evening of September 15 should be obtained from the poultry department at Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

Breeders Open New Barn at MSC

Completion of arrangements for the dedication of the new bull barn erected by the Michigan Artificial Breeders cooperative, located at Michigan State college, was announced this week by A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State college extension dairyman and secretary of the group.

The purpose of the program on September 14 is to have members of locals throughout Michigan come in to inspect the premises to see the bulls that they own, and to become more familiar with the arrangements at the bull barn. The barn is located on Michigan State college property at the south end of Harrison road on Forest road, East Lansing.

The new barn, a quarter of 40 building, will be open for inspection from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. President Wesley Mahaffy will preside at a short speaking program beginning at 1:15 p. m. E. L. Anthony, dean of the Michigan State college school of agriculture, and Charles Piggy, director of the Michigan State Department of Agriculture, will appear on the afternoon program.

In tracing the development of the ABA, Baltzer relates that since January 1 when 20 groups were operating, 20 new organizations have been added bringing the total to 28 now active in more than 60 Michigan counties. In addition, there are nearly 16,000 herd owners with almost 120,000 dairy cows using the organization through local artificial breeding associations which are affiliates of the Michigan Artificial Breeders cooperative. Baltzer predicts that the goal of 150 artificial breeding associations will nearly be achieved in 1948.

Hannah to Speak At Hatchery Meet

Poultrymen who attend the annual hatchery conference at Michigan State college on September 15 and 16 will find that a varied and interesting program has been arranged for them.

Highlight of the meeting will be President John A. Hannah's account of his European trip as a delegate to the International Poultry Congress in Denmark. He will review the meeting and also tell of his visit to Germany and the British Isles.

Another feature of the conference will be a talk by Dr. M. W. Olsen of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. F. N. Waters of the Regional Poultry Laboratory at East Lansing will discuss poultry breeding.

"Newcastle outbreaks in Michigan" will be the topic of Dr. John Groves of the state veterinarian's office in Lansing. Dr. H. J. Staff, head of the bacteriology and public health department at Michigan State college will speak on "Commercial Remedies—Good and Bad."

Electric Fence Can Be Dangerous

Farm safety specialists at Michigan State college urge farmers to use care in the selection and use of electric fences. Home-made electric fence controllers are a gamble.

The specialists point out that a very small shock can be fatal. The amount of current used by a seven watt bulb is more than necessary for electrocution.

No fence, they caution, should be energized from any source except through a controller approved by a recognized testing agency. Everyone around the farm should be instructed on how to disconnect the controller in case of an emergency and children should be taught not to tamper or play with an electric fence.

Electric fences should not be depended upon to restrain bulls, boars, or other vicious animals. Insulated grips should be provided for opening and closing the gate.

Separate Sprayer For 2, 4-D Advised

Farmers who plan to use 2, 4-D for weed control next spring should be thinking about spray equipment now, say weed specialists at Michigan State college.

Demands for sprayers far exceeded the supply this past year when the chemical was widely used to control weeds.

For safety and effectiveness, use separate equipment in applying 2, 4-D, the specialists advise. The chemical is highly potent. It will kill or damage most broad-leaved plants—valuable crops as well as weeds. Small quantities left in a sprayer later used for pesticides or fungicides will damage sensitive plants.

Deadline Sept. 15 On Potato Contract For Price Support

Final dates for signing certificates of eligibility to participate in the 1948 potato price support program is September 15.

Ralph Glynn, chairman of the Ingham county AAA committee, said that only those growers who have signed certificates of eligibility will be included in price support operations on potatoes this fall and winter.

In order to obtain a certificate of eligibility, the grower must have planted within his acreage goal for the 1948 crop and must agree to abide by certain restrictions regarding the sale of potatoes less than grade U. S. No. 1.

The 1948 price support program for potatoes will be carried out by direct purchases by Commodity Credit Corporation, by diversion to starch, flour and alcohol outlets, and by export operations. In addition, a loan program will be available as a supplement to the price support program to provide needed harvest-time financing.

The price support schedule for 1948 will range from $2.55 per cwt. in September to $3.20 per cwt. in March, for U. S. No. 1 grade bagged and loaded f. o. b. country shipping points. The schedule for U. S. No. 1, size B grade, and for U. S. No. 2 grade will be 50 per cent of the No. 1 schedule.

The loan rate will be $1.45 per cwt. for U. S. No. 1 grade and 50¢ per cwt. for U. S. No. 1, size B grade, and for U. S. No. 2 grade.

Although Corot planted only 600 canvases, there are 6,000 reputed Corots in the United States alone.

Order Seedlings

Interest in the planting of coniferous or broadleaf seedlings or transplants for reforestation work, windbreaks and erosion control is on the increase in Ingham county, judging from the amount of interest being shown in this type of conservation activity, reported County Agent Donald Curry. Planting stock for these purposes is available from Michigan State college and the state conservation department at reasonable prices. Due to the curtailed production in recent years the amount of planting stock is limited, therefore, orders for next spring's needs should be placed now, if at all possible, Curry said, to insure having stock on hand for next spring's planting.

Order blanks and catalogues are available at the county agent's office in Mason.

Inte is India's leading export, averaging nearly one-fourth by value of the export trade.

Rural Tele-news

THE RINGS YOU CAN'T HEAR—Many improvements in telephone service come about so gradually that it's sometimes easy to overlook the results. Take the matter of ringing on rural lines, for example. Ten years ago, nearly every rural-line telephone customer served by Michigan Bell heard the rings of all other parties on the line. Today 87 out of every 100 hear the rings of no more than half the parties on their line.

METAL MUNCHER—Squirrels occasionally gnaw holes in the lead sheathing around telephone cables. To prevent damage from moisture reaching the wires through these and other types of punctures, many cables are kept filled with gas. When the gas escapes, lowered pressure sets off an alarm in the telephone central office. Sensitive devices help tell where the break has occurred and a repairman can go out and clear the trouble, in most cases before service is interrupted.

DIAL DECADE—Ten years ago only one-tenth of the telephones on Michigan Bell's rural lines were dial. Today, even though the war years temporarily halted the extension of dial service, nearly two-thirds of the rural-line telephones are dial. Michigan Bell's $13,500,000 5-year postwar rural expansion and improvement program will mean still more rural dial telephones as time goes on.
