Elm Street Bridge Ready for Traffic In Another Week

New Bridge Is Replacing Structure Destroyed by Flood in Spring of 1947

Workmen have put the finishing touches on the Elm street bridge this week. About all that remains is the fill over the arch. The fill will probably be made in about 10 days, according to the present schedule, and then the street will be opened for traffic for the first time since the flood in the spring of 1947 destroyed the old bridge.

On Tuesday as the concrete finishers were polishing the headwalls and wings, other workmen were loading equipment for Milan. The Briegel construction company has another bridge job at Milan.

At the city council session Monday night the contracting firm was authorized to dredge the Sycamore for 1,000 feet below the disposal plant outlet. The job was awarded at $10 per hour with the city to pay extra for cutting brush and trees. Alderman W. Davis stated that the contractor estimated that the job could be completed in 50 hours, making a total price of $500.

City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer told the council that the floods of the last two springs have choked the channel of the Sycamore below the disposal plant outlet. Unless the channel is dredged this fall the creek may be flowing into the disposal plant by spring, Zimmer said.

On Tuesday morning County Highway engineer Frank Evans began to worry about the Sycamore dredging. Straightening the Sycamore through town and dredging the channel north of the disposal plant, Evans pointed out, may send flood waters cascading over the Harper road bridge.

Wayne Briegel, head of the Briegel Construction company, said the life of the new Elm street span should be 50 years. The steel tube should stand up against rust and corrosion that long, he declared.

The bridge contract was let to the Briegel firm at $11,994.15. The original contract called for a 44-foot roadway. Later the specifications were changed by the council to provide for a 26-foot roadway and a reduction of the cost to $11,060.80. Extras, mostly for dredging a new channel north of the bridge, have run about $1,000.00.

A year ago the Elm street bridge was a major political issue. The independent party was elected largely on promises to rebuild the bridge. At the time of the final letting of the contract in June Mayor S. A. Morrison had to break a deadlock. Aldermen Gerald Parsons, John Shepard and Guy S. Thorburn opposed the award of the contract. Aldermen Frank Dakin, Lee Darling and W. Davis supported the letting of the contract. The mayor cast his ballot with Dakin, Darling and Post.

Belated Returns Swing Lead to 3 Republicans

Cliff Allen Hurt In Truck Crash

Clifford Allen, Ingham township farmer, and Bert L. Wasper, Ingham fuel truck driver, came out of a crash at the intersection of Clark and East Columbia roads at 8:10 Thursday morning without serious injuries.

An International truck loaded with 700 gallons of gasoline and 200 gallons of fuel oil was overturned. The cargo was lost. Wasper stayed with the truck when it rolled over and then righted itself. He was only cut and bruised.

Allen was knocked out in the crash but soon regained consciousness. He had a slight concussion and cuts and bruises. His car was wrecked and the truck was damaged.

Allen was driving south on Clark road near his farm. The road commission tanker was being driven west on Columbia. According to Deputy Sheriff Fred Fry, who investigated the crash, Allen apparently did not stop his car before entering the intersection.

Mrs. Allen is with her mother, Mrs. Elsie Stobie, in Lexington, Kentucky. Mrs. Stobie underwent an operation there. One Allen child is staying with Mr. and Mrs. William Foster in Mason and the other with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stid in Vevay while their mother is away. The father was on his way to the Stid home when the accident happened.

G. Mennen Williams

Given no chance to win, G. Mennen Williams of Grosse Pointe pulled the rug out from under Governor Kim Sigler in Tuesday's balloting by more than 150,000.

Republicans Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Ferguson carried Michigan but the voters had their knives out for Governor Sigler. In nearly every county Sigler, whose name was first on the ballot, came in last in the number of Republican votes.

Williams will be the second youngest governor in the history of the state. He is 37. He is one of the heirs to the Mennen talcum powder and Williams shaving cream fortunes. He quit the liquor control commission, to which he was appointed by Sigler, to campaign for the Democratic nomination as governor. He beat out Victor C. Bucknell and Horatio Abbott, old guard Democrats.

Michigan's governor-elect was a lieutenant in the navy during the war. He and Mrs. Williams have three children, G. Mennen, Jr., Nancy, 5, and Wendy, 2. Mrs. Williams took to the platform to aid in her husband's campaign for the governor's office.

Williams is a lawyer. Before taking the liquor control commission post he was assistant United States district attorney.

Dependable totals have been hard to find. Election boards throughout the county, tired after long hours of counting and tabulating, handed in partial unofficial returns. Complete and final returns with accurate totals will not be available on several offices until the completion of the official county canvass which, in all probabilities will not be before the first of next week.

Vandals Smash School Windows

Sheriff's officers are asking the help of the public in rounding up the vandals who are smashing school windows.

Last Saturday night 10 windows were broken at the Pink school in Vevay, 6 at the Aurelius Center school, 11 at the Barnes school, two miles east of Aurelius Center and 2 at the Kipp on the Vevay-Aurelius town line.

Classes had to be dismissed at the Pink and some of the other schools Monday until the glass was replaced.

Persons who live near schools are asked by Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald to take down the license numbers of any cars seen parked in or near school yards.

At the Birney school in Bunker Hill Monday night Halloween pranksters made off with two private Deputy Sheriff Fry was assigned to the case Tuesday and recovered the two buildings.

Judge Salmon Is Victor In Close Race

With the lead changing hands several times during Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, Judge Marvin J. Salmon finally went out in front of his challenger, Sam Street Hughes. On the basis of unofficial returns, Judge Salmon was re-elected by a vote of 25,895 to 23,111—a majority of 2,784.

East Lansing and Lansing townships were the two deciding factors in the judicial contest. Lansing township gave a majority of 763 to Hughes. East Lansing almost offset the strength in the home precincts of Hughes by giving Judge Salmon a majority of 743. The Hughes camp was counting on a heavy GI vote in East Lansing for Hughes, a former navy officer. It didn't work out that way.

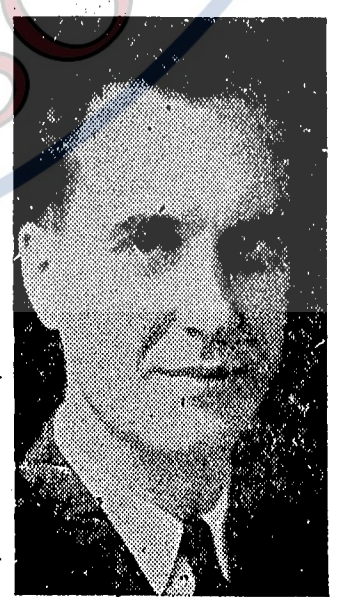

Judge Salmon left Lansing with a lead of 14,722 to 11,951 over Hughes but it was whittled down by reverses in Lansing township, Alameda, Aurelius, Delhi, Ingham, Leroy, Leslie, Locke and Onondaga. The judge gained majorities in Mason, Williamston city and township, White Oak, Wheatfield, Vevay, a handsome one in Stockbridge, and Meridian.

Judge Salmon was appointed to the Ingham circuit bench in 1947 by Governor Kim Sigler to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Paul G. Eger. The appointment ran only until the election. As the result of Tuesday's victory Judge Salmon is now elected for the unexpired term which runs until December 30, 1953. Judges are elected for full terms of six years.

In the spring election of 1947 all three Ingham judges, Charles H. Hayden, Louis E. Coash and the late Paul G. Eger, were elected. Also on the non-partisan ballot were the offices of judge of probate and two circuit court commissioners.

Probate Judge John McClellan was re-elected over Ross D. Thompson. Judge McClellan lost only three or four precincts. His total vote will be about double that of Thompson. Totals were not yet available Thursday morning.

On the basis of incomplete and unofficial returns, C. LaVerne Roberts was easily re-elected one of the two circuit court commis-

Governor Sigler and Dr. Keyes Go Down to Surprise Defeat

Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Ferguson Carry Michigan But Voters Turn Heavily Against Governor K. Sigler, Both Senate and House Will Be Under Republican Control

Up from the canvass Thursday morning struggled State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Auditor General Muri K. Aten. They had been counted out in Wednesday's returns from the Tuesday balloting. Up on his knees and probably with strength enough to weather the round is Attorney General Stuart B. White. Secretary of State Frederick N. Alger, Jr., was never down.

Prone on the canvass lie Governor Kim Sigler and Lieutenant-Governor Eugene C. Keyes. They were mercilessly hammered at the polls Tuesday.

The picture gradually changed during Wednesday night and Thursday morning as belated returns trickled in. Wednesday afternoon the Democratic tide appeared strong enough to engulf every state elective office at stake except that held by Alger. Then slowly came the ebb, and by Wednesday noon both Brake and Aten were in front of their Democratic opponents and White was within 422 votes of his rival.

Court House Is G. O. P. Citadel

The Democratic-C. I. O. tide which engulfed much of Michigan was turned back in Ingham county. The court house remains a G. O. P. citadel. Ingham Republicans were re-elected by majorities ranging from 12,000 to 14,000. As usual, Republicans on the county ticket fared better than those on the state ticket; about twice as well.

Back for another term of two years are the Ingham prosecutor, sheriff, clerk, treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner two coroners and county surveyor. Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips was unopposed for register of deeds. Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald had no Democratic opposition. The coroners, Harry Leadley and W. Ray Corliss, had the field to themselves.

C. Ross Hilliard, republican county clerk, was opposed by James Mosher, democrat. Hilliard's total county vote was 34,252 while Mosher's was 19,087, giving the veteran clerk a lead of 15,165. Other republicans down the line who had opposition came through in about the same ratio.

Dependable totals have been hard to find. Election boards throughout the county, tired after long hours of counting and tabulating, handed in partial unofficial returns. Complete and final returns with accurate totals will not be available on several offices until the completion of the official county canvass which, in all probabilities will not be before the first of next week.

New Laws Asked In Tuesday's Vote

The vote on the amendments in Tuesday's election went just the way the school and city workers wanted. The verdict at the polls means several changes in the laws and the calling of a constitutional convention.

Teachers and city officials spearheaded the drive for "No" votes on No. 2, and "Yes" votes on No. 5. That's the way the people voted.

No. 1 fixing the line of succession for governor, was adopted by a vote of 2 to 1. No. 2 which had been adopted would have stopped diverting sales tax revenues to cities and school districts, was snuffed under 5 to 1.

Both No. 3 and No. 4, taking the salaries of state officials and legislators out from under constitutional provisions, received heavy majorities.

No. 5, easing the 15-mill restrictions, received a 3 to 2 approval. Adoption of the Callahan act (Proposal No. 6) to force communist agents to register, was approved.

Calling of the constitutional convention was also authorized by the voters. It will be up to the new governor to call the convention. Then it will be up to the voters to reject or adopt the constitution. Streamlining of the constitution was one of the demands of Governor Sigler. He wanted the governor to have more power than the constitution now permits.

Governor Sigler was defeated by G. Mennen Williams by the surprising margin of 150,000 votes. Keyes was trimmed by about 31,000 votes, with the unofficial returns complete.

The noon count on the other state offices at stake was:

Secretary of State
Frederick N. Alger, Jr.
(R) 998,615
Noel P. Fox (D) 932,083

Attorney General
(4,059 precincts out of 4,202)
Stephen J. Roth (D) 955,704
Stuart B. White 955,282

State Treasurer
(4,058 precincts out of 4,202)
D. Hale Brake (R) 965,586
John J. Kozaren (D) 949,855

Auditor General
(4,050 precincts out of 4,202)
Muri K. Aten (R) 961,065
Margaret Price (D) 951,287

Voters backed away at the head of the state ticket to get Governor Sigler. They gave him and Lieutenant-Governor Eugene C. Keyes. From dawn of Tuesday until Thursday noon indications pointed to the defeat of all Republicans except Alger. Then came the good news to Republicans and bad news to Democrats. The returns trickling in began to take on a distinctly republican flavor and the Democratic leads were whittled away and slowly the Republicans forged ahead, all except Sigler and Keyes. They were beyond aid from belated returns.

The voters after cutting the two top Republicans on the ticket swung back to the column to elect Senator Homer Ferguson over Frank E. Hook by 984,686 to 950,312, with 4,036 precincts reporting.

Out of all the missing precincts on state offices only 22 are Wayne county precincts. They are undoubtedly heavily Democratic. The other missing precincts are in Republican territory.

Whether the figures will stand up on the official canvass is a question which Republicans and Democrats are worrying about.

Michigan for Dewey
Michigan went for Governor Dewey for president. With only 170 precincts missing, Dewey has an unofficial total of 993,027 against 958,595 for President Truman.

Henry R. Wallace received 39,350 votes in Michigan.

Michigan Republicans lost part of the congressional delegation. Out of the 17 congressmen 12 Republicans came through. The losses were in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Republican Legislature
Governor-elect G. Mennen Williams will have to learn to get along with a republican legislature. The Republicans will have a working majority in both the senate and the house, although several seasoned members of both houses have lost out either in the primaries or the election. The governor will have the benefit of a lieutenant governor of his own political faith in the person of John W. Connolly of Detroit, unknown around capitol corridors and untried in legislative procedure. It is not likely the new lieutenant governor will have much to say about committee assignments but for that matter, neither would Dr. Keyes had he succeeded at the polls.

Ingham county remains unchanged. Senator Harry F. Hittle will be counted among the deans of the senate while Jacob Schepers will go back to the house to represent the rural end of Ingham county and the college city with Robert Montgomery and Harold W. Hungertford, representing the city of Lansing and Lansing township.

New Party Holds City Grip

Mason Independents had little trouble at the polls Tuesday. They held the voting strength manifested in their first start a year ago. They lost only three offices, city assessor, second ward alderman and first ward constable. Their candidate for city assessor, Frank Lester, had held office as a member of the Peoples party. He lost out to John Carroll, Lansing teacher, by 10 votes on the basis of the unofficial count. The canvass will be made Thursday evening.

John Taylor, former manager of the Mason branch of the Lansing Ice & Fuel Co., and now head of the Lansing sales staff for the firm, was the victor over Roland Troxell, by 9 votes, 303 to 294, on the unofficial tally.

Emery Colby, first ward constable and a member of the Peoples party was re-elected over Harold Darrow, Independent, by a vote of 336 to 281.

Justice of the Peace Roy Adams led the entire city list even though he switched parties. Now holding office as a member of the Peoples party, he accepted the nomination by the Independents and beat Dean Taylor 789 to 439.

In a race between two women to take the unexpired term relinquished by Mrs. Clarence Jacobs, an Independent, Mrs. Doris Austin, Independent, won from Mrs. Maude MacLam, nominated by the Peoples party.

Gerald Parsons, elected to the council in a special election last spring, won a full term Tuesday by turning back Clarence Adorf, 610 to 555.

City Clerk George Kellogg, nominated by both parties and who turned down both parties, had easy sailing. He picked up 520 votes on slips and write-ins. A few votes were scattered between 7 or eight others. Neither party filled the vacant spot on its ticket after Kellogg withdrew. The committees had reached an understanding that Kellogg would have no picked candidate against him.

The unofficial tally in Mason follows:

Ward 1 2
City Clerk George Kellogg (on slips) 327 193 520
Treasurer Doris Austin (I) 316 333 649
Maude MacLam (P) 306 287 573

INFLATION BYPASSES CITY COUNCIL

City Fathers Settle for $50

Inflation has not reared its ugly head on the city council payroll. The charter of 1873 provides salaries of $50 per year for the mayor and aldermen and that's the way they were paid off Monday night.

Mayor S. A. Morrison and Aldermen Guy S. Thorburn, Frank W. Dakin, John Shepard, W. Davis Post and Lee Darling each drew $50. Alderman Gerald Parsons had to be content with $41.83. He was elected last spring at a special election and under the charter was not entitled to full pay.

It was the final regular session of the city council elected a year ago. A special session has been called for Thursday night for confirmation of Tuesday's vote but no other business will be transacted.

Monday night's session marked the close of aldermanic careers of Thorburn and Shepard. Both are members of the Peoples party. Neither man was a candidate for renomination at the party caucuses.

Shepard served two years on the council. In declining to become a candidate for re-election he declared he does not have enough free time from his own business to handle the demands of city business.

Thorburn is a veteran in both county and city politics. Most of the time for 22 years he has been either a supervisor or alderman, or both. He first held office as supervisor, elected by the Citizens party, in 1926 when supervisors did not serve on the city council but were exclusively county officials except for assessing duties within the city. When the city charter was amended in 1928 the supervisor jobs were combined with alderman jobs. In the shuffle after the new charter provision was adopted, Thorburn had his job cut out from under him. However, when the Peoples party was organized four years later Thorburn was returned as supervisor-alderman from the second ward. He has remained in office since. He refused to stand for poor health.

Jewett Installs Television Set

Mason's first view of television came last Saturday afternoon when the Jewett Appliance company completed its installation of aerial, antenna and receiving set.

Although television is not expected to be perfect beyond 25 miles from a television station, reception was fairly good, according to Herschel Jewett. Mason is more than 80 miles from TV stations in Detroit.

The aerial and antenna were erected by the Jewett service staff, assisted by TV technicians from Jackson, atop the Henson building. Regarded as one of the most complicated types of aerials used in modern radio, the TV aerial is sensitive to passing cars, rattling objects such as hail or heavy rain, wind and nearby electrical equipment. Each of these factors, Jewett said, may be responsible for faulty reception.

The best programs are being received at night and the set will be displayed in operation in the store window whenever reception is good, Jewett announced.

Ellison Boar Pig Tops State Sale

A spring boar pig from the Poland China herd of George Ellison, Mason, topped the annual state Poland China sale at the Wolverine pavilion at Williamston Monday. The pig brought $410, one of the highest prices ever recorded for a Michigan boar pig offered at the state sale. Forest Eggerton of Three Rivers was the buyer.

The second high boar was sold by Weslie Hile of Ionia at $205. Ernest Gerbach of Saline sold the top gilt at $120.

No Takers Appear For Sewer License

Mason's sewer ordinance became effective October 34. It prohibits anyone from making sewer connections without a license and demands that sewer contractors furnish $500 bonds.

No one yet had taken out a license, the city clerk reported Monday night, although some sewer work is being done.

The ordinance provides that sewer connections be inspected, too, but until Monday night no one had been named sewer inspector.

That title has now been added to those held by Wayne Curtis. The mayor appointed Curtis and the aldermen confirmed the appointment.

Alderman Gerald Parsons declared that there are several provisions in the sewer ordinance which should be changed.

"It's hard enough to find some man willing to dig a sewer without asking him to pay $5.00 for a license and posting a $500 bond," Parsons asserted.

City Attorney Oscar J. Hood explained that the sewer ordinance was patterned almost word for word after the Williamston ordinance. He intimated that not enough time was spent on studying the ordinance and fitting it to Mason's needs.

Mayor S. A. Morrison asked the aldermen to consider proposed changes to the new ordinance.

Alderman Frank W. Dakin told his colleagues that the Universal Construction company did satisfactory work on the cleaning and repairing of the standpipe. The cost of the job was $725.

Dakin suggested that the county fair board use water from the county park ponds to flush county fair toilets. He indicated that he believed a lot of the water shortage resulted from water used during fair week.

Parsons pointed out that the water supply was just as short a week after the fair as it was during fair week. He also brought out that the water used by the county park is metered.

Alderman Lee Darling reported that Ed Ferris of the Ferris Co. is dissatisfied with the blacktop surfacing he did on Okemos street.

Darling quoted Ferris as saying that the weather conditions were not right when the surfacing was done. The contractor has agreed to resurface the street next spring, Darling said.

Fire Swept Michigan in 1871

Flames cut a 250-mile path of destruction across Michigan in 1871 at the same time the great Chicago fire occurred.

That's according to the Michigan historical collections at the University of Michigan which have information on the Michigan disaster as well as personal letters describing the Chicago holocaust.

The Michigan fire flared into life at Manistee, October 8. In two days, flames swept from Lake Michigan to Lake Huron, cutting through some of the state's finest pine stands, destroying 12 communities and making 18,000 persons homeless. The only fatality, however, occurred in a separate fire which destroyed Holland.

From Manistee, a zone of fire extended south and east through Lake, Osceola, Isabella, Midland, Saginaw, Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties. Destroyed were the towns of Manistee, Glen Haven, White Rock, Forestville, Sand Beach, Port Hope, Elm Creek, Huron City, Forest Bay, Center Harbor, Rock Falls and Verona Mills.

The Holland fire burned out the town except for a few buildings, within two hours on October 9, and an aged widow was killed. Fires started on the southern and western parts of the city first. Flaming bits of wood from these were blown to other sides of Holland, virtually ringing the town with a wall of flame and sealing its doom.

Weeks of drought preceded the Michigan fires. Streams and swamps dried out and the woods became as dry as tinder. Thousands of pine logs and slashings lying in the woods contributed to the fire's fury. The logs were evidence of the state's most prosperous pine lumbering era.

Thousands of persons fought the fires. But lashed on by a gale, the flames swiftly consumed the forests. Hundreds of farm animals were killed and thousands of dollars worth of crops burned. Persons near the Great Lakes were driven into the water to their necks to escape.

Relief parties quickly were organized under the direction of Gov. Henry P. Baldwin. Food, money, and clothing soon flowed into the stricken areas. Rebuilding was begun. But here after-effects of the Chicago fire stepped in to pile on hardships.

Many insurance companies in the Windy City were rendered insolvent by the big fire there. This made worthless what little insurance was held by Michigan residents who had no money with which to buy materials.

The cost of building materials climbed, too, as the tremendous job of rebuilding Chicago was undertaken. The combined effects of the fire, lack of insurance and high prices caused many persons to assume large obligations they later had trouble meeting when the panic of 1873 occurred.

Some of the towns never again were rebuilt. But places like Manistee and Holland soon were back on their feet.

Obituary

Helen Sayre Boyle
Helen Sayre Boyle, the daughter of Gordon and Adelaide Sayre, was born near Mason March 20, 1883. She died at a Lansing hospital October 23, 1948. She spent her early life near Mason and on August 10, 1888, she was united in marriage to Grant Boyle.

To this union six children were born, four of whom survive her. They are Agnes Potter Coleman and Fayre Ireland of Lansing, Gladys Olson of Holt and E. C. Boyle of Freehold, New Jersey. A brother Captain Corydon E. Sayre preceded her in death several years ago.

She leaves to mourn their loss, four children, 19 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren, three nieces and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, October 26, at Gossline-Rundman funeral home. Burial was in Lock cemetery beside her husband and children.

It's surprising how many danger signals you'll find along the road—and one of the worst of these is the "Southpaw suicide"—the man or woman who insists on getting out of the car on the left hand side. These people have a habit of stepping out into oncoming traffic—so any door being opened on the left is your cue to slow down—stop, if necessary—and save a life. Remember, too, for your own safety always leave your car from the curb side.

Then there's the driver who parks almost "on top" of the stop sign at the corner—impairing your vision, and becoming a collision hazard for cars on both streets. These fellows need a reminder of the rules of safety. Make it your business to talk to these "driving morons"—they won't like it—but they may remember!

How often does one dash into a store for just a loaf of bread or a bottle of milk and leave the motor running? How many drivers have you seen leave their autos double parked for "just a second"? That second may cost many lives! It may ruin your auto—and that of your neighbor, too. Play safe—follow the rules of good driving. Check yourself on these parking rules:

1. Park at least 15 feet from a fire hydrant.
2. Park 20 feet from a crosswalk.
3. Stop at least 50 feet from a railroad crossing.
4. Park at least 30 feet from a STOP sign.

Remember... improperly parked autos help to cause accidents. Would you willingly commit murder? Then keep out of the danger zones!—Do your part in lowering Michigan's fatal accident rate—help to save lives!

THE newspaper advertisement read: "WANTED: Sober, reliable man to take complete charge of advertising department of large firm. Must be able to assume full responsibility. College-trained men only need apply."

Ted Clifton read it over and over. "Mon!" he exclaimed. "Listen... this is what I've been looking for..."

"Yes, it does sound good," agreed Mona, over his shoulder.

Ted reflected. "It isn't that old Todd is a bad sort... it's just that he doesn't seem to want to give me full rein, and you know I work better without so much supervision."

Mona raised her hand in a dramatic sweep. "Onward and upward, my lad... Let's enter greener fields via this ad... let Todd feed his business to the birds!"

Thirty minutes later Ted leaned back. "Read it to me, honey... let's hear how it sounds."

"Dear Sir: If you are looking for a man with initiative, willingness to work and a capacity to handle your advertising, look no further. However, I would have it understood from the beginning that I am to have full charge and not be hindered, swayed or crippled by any supervisor, helper or owner. I am at present employed but unfortunately my present employer is afraid to trust me to stand on my own feet, in fact, I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet. I know what I can do and all I ask is a chance to prove it. Respectfully, Theodore Shane."

Mona's eyes gleamed. "Oh, Ted, that is a good letter, but is that part bad about your boss not trusting you?"

Ted's jaw set. "All my cards are on the table, honey... might as well let him know where I stand right from the beginning."

Kissing Mona goodby, Ted whispered, "Keep your fingers crossed for luck, sweet."

AT FOUR O'CLOCK that afternoon the buzzer on Ted's desk impatiently summoned him into the inner sanctum of the Big Boss—J. Anthony Todd, himself. That illustrious individual sat stilly erect, his halo of steel gray hair bristling.

"Sit down, Shane!" he thundered. "Sit down. I want to talk with you about that Finkle advertising deal. Just how would you handle it?"

Ted blinked in surprise. "Why, sir, I would channel it through the mediums of the small retailer for there's not enough volume to interest the large concerns."

The owner of Todd and Todd nodded in agreement. "Right! That's just what I've been telling my partner should be done! Go right ahead with it!"

"Thanks!" agreed Ted. "That should be quite a deal if handled properly."

"By the way," inquired Mr. Todd, his eyes twinkling, "just how would you handle the new plastic deal with the Denver people?"

Ted outlined in enthusiastic detail the plans he had been longing to put into action.

When he had finished, the boss looked at him in astonishment. "My boy," he instructed. "Go right ahead. Call me in for a conference only if you feel you need moral support." He shifted his weight and smiled. "Come back tomorrow. We will draw up a new arrangement as well as full authority in your department."

After he had ushered a dazed but happy Ted to the door, the head of Todd and Todd drew a letter from his desk. He chuckled. "This is really good!" Adjusting his glasses he read:

"My present employer is afraid to trust me to stand on my own feet, in fact I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet."

Putting the letter back, he smiled again. "I guess young Shane will always wonder why he never received an answer to that letter. It was a good thing I made that advertisement a blind one, otherwise I might have never discovered what a tip-top advertising ireball I had right here all along!"

Burns Are Fatal To Official's Son

John Montgomery, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Montgomery of Lansing township, died in a Lansing hospital early Wednesday morning from burns. The father is a state representative from the Lansing district.

The boy and Kyle Lane, 9, were playing with a burning stick on the vacant lot next to the Montgomery home Monday afternoon. They put the stick into a can of gasoline. The resulting explosion engulfed young Montgomery in flames. The boy ran across the street where two men grabbed him and beat out the flames with their hands. He was taken to a hospital but never regained consciousness. About 75 per cent of the body was burned.

Milking Barn
It is poor economy to save space in the milking barn by cutting down on the width of litter alleys and feed alleys. This barn is the dairy farmers' workshop. Plenty of space adds to convenience and is a more pleasant place in which to work.

Election Echoes

The 1948 Michigan election was lost by Republicans in 1946.

That is the consensus of a number of politicians around the state capitol. Had Kim Sigler, the converted Democrat, been content with the primary election results in 1946 the 1948 election of Republicans would have been in the bag. But after the primary election he set out to purge every Republican who was suspected of having voted for someone else in the primary. At the fall convention in 1946 Sigler hatchmen backed away at Herman Dignan and John Morrison. After Sigler took office he pushed Lieutenant-Governor Keyes around and gave Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler a hard time at every turn.

Any man who ever dared to question Sigler's actions when he was special Ingham grand jury prosecutor saw his name go on the purge list. With the connivance of metropolitan newspaper reporters, Sigler played for the headlines day after day. Men who had spent a lifetime acquiring good reputations would pick up a paper some morning to see screaming headlines blackening their names.

It didn't make for good government. It didn't make for party harmony. Sigler's leadership of the Michigan delegation to the Republican national convention left the delegates made on the eve of the Michigan primary filing date. The startling list was rigged. After it was too late for anyone else to start, there were withdrawals so Sigler had the field to himself. County and precinct leaders had been purged or were ignored by the Sigler forces.

The fall campaign developed into a photography contest. Each day the reading public would be confronted with a new picture of their governor in a striking pose. It was good art but it didn't win votes.

Because he suspected there might be a rat or two in the Republican barn, Kim Sigler burned it down.

The poll to end polls was held Tuesday. Newspaper and radio commentators who had all the answers for weeks are now the targets of both Democrats and Republicans. The Democrats scoff and jeer at the oracles who were sure Dewey would win in a walk. The Republicans blame the public opinion experts for making the D. O. P. over-confident, for letting Republican workers into a false sense of security.

"Republicans are a good deal like pheasants," remarked Harry Freeman as he scanned election returns Wednesday morning. "The experts say the woods and fields are crowded with the birds on the day before the season opens. Then on opening day there isn't a bird in sight."

Most election boards outside of Lansing were on duty for 24 hours. Some stuck to the job for 36 hours. Election officials prepared for a 100 per cent vote. When registration ended October 13 extra ballots were ordered to take care of the increased registration in many precincts. Out in East Lansing the turnout election day reached 88.6 of the registered vote. In Mason the vote was about 77 per cent. Some places in the country it slumped to 60 per cent and below. President Truman's vote in many Ingham precincts was a few more than Roosevelt got four years ago, while the Dewey total this time was less than it was four years ago.

In Mason there were 858 voters registered in the first and 836 in the second ward. There were 661 first ward and 641 second ward voters who cast ballots Tuesday. That was a lot total than in 1944 when a lot of voters were overseas.

Second ward voters really split their tickets on city offices. There were 101 straight Peoples and 123 straight Independents with 392 splits. Eighteen blank ballots and six mutilated ones were dropped into the city ballot box by second warders.

Hugh W. Silsby, Sr., did a lot of campaigning for Judge Marvin Salmon. Every day the former sheriff was right out beating the bushes for votes for the judge. Judge Salmon had one of the most popular men in the county for an opponent. Sam Street Hughes is widely known and is a universally popular. A few months before the primaries a lot of people thought Hughes would enter the lists against Congressman Blackney.

Several precincts took advantage of the new law which permits the employment of extra members to be added to the election board to make up the statements for board of canvassers and to relieve election board members when the polls close. It was a great help, election officials asserted. In some cases an entire new set of officials took over for the long grind of counting the ballots. Other boards who worked through from early morning on Tuesday to as late as seven o'clock in the evening of Wednesday wished they had used the new act. It is probable that more will take advantage of the extra help at the next election.

Some joker tied crepe to the door of Republican headquarters in Mason Wednesday night.

Separate ballots for presidential candidates was partly responsible for the Republican downfall. Republicans changed the law so that coattail riders could not cling to the coattails of Roosevelt. After Roosevelt died the Republicans forgot they might want to cling to Dewey's coattails. A little clinging would have made it easier for Republicans on the state ticket Tuesday.

The log cabin approach to politics has been discarded. It doesn't hurt a politician these days to be born on the right side of the tracks and with a silver spoon in his mouth. Witness the case of the two Crosse Pointe boys who have made good. Both G. Monnet Williams, governor-elect, and Frederick N. Alger, Jr., Republican secretary of state, hail from exclusive Grosse Pointe.

What becomes of the governor's mansion now? The old Barnes home in Lansing falls considerably below the Williams standards.

Americans spend two and one-half times as much for tobacco as they spend for physicians' services.

Hamsters Help Science and Make Fine Pets, Wayne University Finds

"Finest multipliers" is a title given at Wayne University, in Detroit, not to mathematics professors but to a group of little brown animals in the biology laboratories. Reproductively speaking, these creatures make rabbits and guinea pigs second and third raters.

The animals are hamsters, the fastest-breeding domestic mammals on earth (excluding white rats and mice), and now recognized as extremely valuable for biological studies.

About the size of guinea pigs, even tempered, and clean, the hamsters used by science are known as the "Syrian Golden" variety. There are other varieties, too, but they are not all so friendly as the Syrian Golden.

Since female hamsters only two months old may actually bear litters of their own, it is possible for students to observe two complete reproductive cycles in one semester.

Profr. Charles W. Cranshaw, chairman of Wayne's biology department, points out:

In addition to early breeding age, hamsters are also valuable experimentally because their susceptibility to human diseases is greater than that of guinea pigs.

Their rapid multiplication results not only from the youthfulness of parent hamsters, but also from the fact that litters are large. There are eight young in the average litter, but the number may run as high as fifteen.

Although the female can bear a litter every six weeks, she is able to produce only six litters during her breeding life. Thus Nature provides one mild form of birth-control.

Hamsters make ideal pets. The adults make no noise, but the young sometimes chatter at their play. Hamsters demand a private spot in which to eat, out of the sight of onlookers. Unless such a spot is provided, they merely put their food into pouches in their cheeks instead of swallowing it.

A small visitor to the biology laboratory, Janet Ruth Smith, fondles two hamsters, the curious animals which are of growing importance to science.

Saved by Ingham

William W. Blackney

Ingham and Livingston voters rescued Congressman William W. Blackney from the disaster which the Labor-Democratic coalition fashioned for him in his home county of Genesee.

Blackney trailed George D. Stevens, Democrat, by about 8,000 votes in Genesee. Ingham gave Blackney a margin of 8,000. To break the deadlock, Livingston county came through with a 4,000 vote margin for the sixth district congressman. That's the 4,000 by which he has apparently won reelection.

With two Lansing townships and four Lansing city precincts missing from the tabulation, Blackney has an Ingham total of 27,965 to the 18,689 cast in Ingham for Stevens.

BLACKNEY FINAL
Final and complete unofficial returns from the sixth Michigan congressional district give Blackney 67,110 to 63,119 cast for his opponent.

Artificial Eyes That Move

Artificial eyes that have the ability to move like natural eyes are the latest boon which medical science can offer to those who have lost an eye. The doctor of medicine who developed this motion mechanism, Dr. A. D. Rudemann of Cleveland, has been awarded gold medals from both the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Ophthalmology for his work.

The new eyes, made of plastic, are much more life-like in appearance, too. The irises, or colored portion, are reproduced by a photographic technique, and the black dots, representing the pupils, are set deep into the material for a more natural effect.

A wartime development, the eyes make use of tantalum mesh, which is a soft, shimmering gauze of non-irritating metal. Body tissues will grow to this mesh just as they will grow to one another. The hollow-shell backs of the plastic eyes are covered with this mesh, and each of the four muscles which control eye movement are sewed to it. Within a short time the eye muscles grow directly to the tantalum-mesh backed artificial eyes, and thus can move them.

The new eyes can be implanted immediately after an injured eye is removed, but people who have lost their eyes years ago can also use them. Patients with the new movable eyes often get up the day after the operation, and are ready to go home on the fourth or fifth day.

Plan Rites For Mrs. Nora Otis

Funeral rites for Mrs. Nora Otis, 70, will be held at the Jewett funeral home on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Lloyd G. Caraway, pastor of the Mason Baptist church, will officiate. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Otis was born at Watrousville on July 27, 1869. Her early life was spent at Watrousville and following her schooling, she taught school for five years at Watrousville. On November 17, 1892, she was united in marriage to Alonzo Otis, who preceded her in death by 44 years. For the first three years of their married life they resided in Vassar. Fifty-three years ago they moved to a farm east of Mason and Mrs. Otis moved to the present home at 311 South Rogers 28 years ago. She had been ill for the past year, but only seriously ill for two weeks.

Until ill health curtailed her activities, she was an active member of the Mason Baptist church and for several years she served as treasurer of the Baptist Women's association.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Zola Couchman of Niles and Miss Leola Otis, at home; a son, Norval Otis of Los Angeles, California; two grandchildren, two great grandchildren; a brother, Clarence Harrison of Washington D. C.; and a sister, Mrs. Lettie Rice of Cedar Lake.

HIGH PRODUCTION

Several registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the herd of Fred Angell & Son, Lansing, has completed official production tests under herd improvement registry rules. Testing was supervised by Michigan State college in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian association of America. The highest producer among these was Oak Edge Colantha Pearl with 650 pounds of butterfat and 20,643 pounds of milk made in 365 days on 2 milkings daily and at the age of 6 years 9 months. Other high producers included: Oak Edge Star Teardrop with 598 pounds of butterfat and 15,051 pounds of milk made in 365 days on 2 milkings daily and at the age of 6 years, 4 months, and Oak Edge Silverline Lady with 552 pounds of butterfat and 16,400 pounds of milk made in 365 days on 2 milkings daily and at the age of 5 years, 5 months.

STARS IN APPLE WEEK

Christine Lombard, young actress and member of the famous Willow Way Players of Detroit observes national Apple Week by adding McIntoshes to crates of apples to be transported to market in Chevrolet Advance-Design stake truck. Barn on Willow Way Farm is used by stock company for presentation of summer plays to audiences from metropolitan area of Detroit.

MICHIGAN Motoring

Do you know that for many years Michigan has had its highest average monthly traffic death toll in October? That the appalling number of deaths and accidents in October is followed by similar tragedies in the month of November?

What are the reasons? Fog... frosted windshields... wet leaves and frost on pavements are some. Then, too, late fall and winter months bring more hours of darkness, calling for double precautions every driving second. 137,000 more accidents a year occur in the 3 hours after sundown than before sundown. A good rule to remember: Slow down at sundown! Heavy weekend football travel demands safe driving on every highway. Car after car laden with sports enthusiasts will be traveling the highways after dark, making it imperative to slow down—drive at a cautious, safe rate of speed. Keep a sharp look-out for the other fellow... anticipate his move at every curve of the road. Be sure too, to check your auto mechanism—never start out unless you are sure your car is in good condition. Delay that trip to the game—or weekend excursion until you know that your automobile is dependable. Better start a day or week later, than to risk your life in an unsafe car!

Cleaning White Shoes

White shoes should be cleaned off the foot and not worn until they are thoroughly dry. If worn damp, the leather or fabric may stretch out of shape. Put in shoe trees or stuff with tissue paper before cleaning. In general, white shoe soap is best for white smooth leather because it cleans without drying and hardening the leather. Dressing that contains whitening material like chalk is suited to cloth shoes. Old dressing always should be brushed off before applying more. Shoes of white suede or other napped leather may be "powder-cleaned" rather than liquid-cleaned.

Joint Meeting Scheduled By Study Clubs

Mrs. Scott Hamman entertained members of the Junior Child Study club Wednesday evening. Members answered roll call by telling the names and ages of their children. Reports on the state convention held at Pontiac were given by the delegates, Mrs. Hubert Harrison and Mrs. Russell Huntington. Added comments were given by Mrs. Sam Cotton, a non-delegate at the convention.

Mrs. James Cotton told of the advantages of a home nursery and of the possibility of starting one in Mason.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hamman, Mrs. Glenn Ditt, Jr., and Mrs. Owen Chamberlain.

At the next meeting on November 17 the Junior club will meet in a joint meeting with the senior group. A dinner will be served at the Presbyterian church at 6:30 with husbands of members as guests. Dr. Judson Landis, associate professor of sociology and anthropology at Michigan State college, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Adjustment in Marriage."

Arthur H. Laxton returned from Detroit Saturday after spending two weeks with his son and daughter, Amon H. Laxton and Mrs. Walter Dierkes, and their families. While there they called on Fred Rikert at the Pontiac T. B. sanatorium.

C. J. Reynolds is ill at his home at 515 East Ash street.

Shower Fetes Betty Every

Mrs. Glen Every, Mrs. Willard Every and Mrs. Lawrence Every were hostesses at a kitchen shower Monday night honoring Miss Betty Every, who will become the bride of Wayne Engle on Friday, November 5. The party was held at the Lawrence Every home.

For the evening's entertainment the guests made bride's books and gave them to the honored guest. Other games were also played, after which refreshments of cake, jelly and tea and coffee were served to the 40 guests by the hostesses.

Miss Every received many nice gifts.

HOSTS AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Potter entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howell, Mr. and Mrs. George Post and family and Mr. and Mrs. David Woods and family of Danville at a Halloween party Friday evening. Bingo furnished the evening's entertainment. The hostess served refreshments of hotdogs, peach disks cups, jack-o-lantern salad and coffee.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Mrs. Donald VanderVeen, Jr., entertained 22 guests at a bridal shower on Tuesday night honoring Leorabelle Messner, who will become the bride of Forest Fry on Saturday, November 6. The evening was spent in playing card bingo and other games with prizes going to Mrs. Jack Whipple, Mrs. Rex DuBois, Mrs. Ted Hong of Danville, Mrs. Harry Shultz, Mrs. Douglas Fry, Mrs. James Ingham and Mrs. George Messner.

After the honored guest opened her many gifts, refreshments were served by the hostess from a table decorated with an arrangement of fall flowers with fall tapers on either side. Other arrangements of fall flowers decorated the VanderVeen home.

VISITS INGHAM LIBRARY

Miss Ethel Boot of the children's section of the Michigan State library visited the Ingham county library on Monday to go out with Miss Louise Kellenberger on the bookmobile trip.

Miss Boot, born and raised in China, is a newcomer to the state staff and is visiting local libraries as part of in-service training. She taught in a high school in Amoy, China, before returning to the United States in 1938. She has taught school in the vicinity of Holland, Michigan, prior to joining the state library staff.

4-H Club News

Getton Go-Getters
The meeting was called to order at 7:15 o'clock on Tuesday night by the president, Beverly Smiley. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. The members of the club sang songs and played games. Mrs. Edward Fickell was a visitor at the club meeting for the evening. The meeting was adjourned at nine o'clock.

The Getton 4-H club had a Halloween party at the home of its leader, Mrs. Myrna Peabody, on Tuesday night. They had a wieners and marshmallow roast and cider. They played games and sang songs for the evening's entertainment. The girls wore costumes in the Halloween tradition. The party ended at 10 o'clock.

The girls sewing club of the Tomlinson 4-H club held a meeting on November 2 at the home of Janet and Elaine Frederick. All of the girls have started their projects. Cider and doughnuts were served by the hostesses as refreshments at the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Jobellen Bullen on November 16.

Blue Star Mothers will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, November 9, at the Legion Memorial building in the basement at 8 p. m. Nomination of officers will take place at this meeting. There will also be a Stanley Brush demonstration at this meeting. All Blue Star Mothers are urged to attend this meeting.

There will be a grocery party at the Legion Memorial building on Friday night, November 5, sponsored by the Blue Star Mothers.

First Anniversary
Collins Sales and Service is observing its first anniversary during the first week of November. On November 1, 1947, Marvin Collins and Earl Dunsmore officially opened the Plymouth-DeSoto agency in a newly-constructed building on South Cedar. Since then Dunsmore sold his interest to Collins because of the press of other business and a line of home and farm appliances was added to the automotive line.

Fern Glotta is serving as bookkeeper. Cliff Smith is assistant manager; Joe Morlock of Danville, mechanic and Bob Galvin, Eaton Rapids, mechanic. Part-time employees include W. E. Ganaway, electrical repairs; Jack Teeters of Holt, salesman and R. B. Wallace, plumber.

Joins Cummings Staff
Bill Crowner of Cheboygan is the new barber at the Cummings barber shop. After three years in the army in the European theater, Crowner worked as a barber in Detroit. He is staying at the Jack Williams home.

New Hours
The Dart & Cady store will start a new schedule of hours next week, from 8 to 5:30 on weekdays and 8 to 9 on Saturdays, according to James Dart.

This and That
Mrs. Forest Smith of the Paristyle Shoppe was in New York last week on a buying trip. Mrs. Elsie Stobie of the Paristyle staff has undergone a major operation at a Kentucky hospital. During her absence, Leorabelle Messner has been substituting on the sales staff.

Another Use for Your Washer

Leona Frederick shows how automatic washer can be used to dye bulky articles. Dissolve dye in quart of warm water, then pour solution into washer, advises Tintex Home Economics Bureau.

Neighbor admires curtains re-dyed in automatic washer. Machine simplifies home-dyeing of bulky things like curtains, drapes, bedspreads and slip covers. Be sure article is washed before dyeing.

Hospitals

Patients admitted to the Mason General hospital for treatment during the past week were Mrs. Frederick Arbous of Lansing, Mrs. John Arend, Mrs. Frank Hill, Miss Virginia Schutte of Stockbridge and Robert Weiland of Route 4, Mason.

Linda Frisell was admitted to the hospital on October 27 for treatment. She was discharged on Wednesday.

Harold Wilson, who was in the hospital for treatment, was discharged on Tuesday. Mrs. Henry Schappa of Holt was also discharged from the hospital this week.

Mrs. Harry D. Willett is in the Mason General hospital for treatment. She entered the hospital Wednesday.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce W. Long of Jackson announce the birth of a daughter, Joette Ann, at the Mason General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. VanKuren of North Phillips road announce the birth of a daughter, Janet Irene, on October 26, at the Mason General hospital.

A son, Ralph Walker, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lantis of Northwest Stockbridge on Sunday, October 31, at the Mason General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Baumer of Lansing announce the birth of a daughter, Paulette Kay, on Saturday, October 30.

Household Hints

Bake popovers while you heat some creamed chipped beef on top of the stove. Split the popovers and served with the creamed beef.

Sliced leftover roast heated in gravy extended with tomato sauce is excellent when placed over piping hot noodles.

Lamb stew takes on a different character when you add two cups of canned tomatoes in place of the water. A clove of garlic, placed on a toothpick so that it's easy to remove when cooking is finished, adds a touch of delicious flavor.

Simple menus are easiest to prepare. Frankfurters, baked in a ripe olive and tomato barbecue sauce, piping hot ears of corn, a relish bouquet of crisp garden vegetables and chunks or slices of ice-cold watermelon, are easy to get together and taste wonderful to hearty appetites.

Record Crowd Entertained At Mason Halloween Party

Youngsters packed the Legion Memorial building Monday night for the community Halloween party. There were 325 in the refreshment line.

Movies furnished the entertainment. A costume parade was also held. The bubble gum contest had to be called off because of too many starters. There wasn't enough room for jaws to move.

Janet Bullen was awarded first prize in the costume contest. She received a pair of roller skates as a prize. Second prize was awarded to Jane Ann Angell. It was a toy car. Theatre tickets were awarded to the other four winners, John Howlett, Charles Brown, Jackie Hart and Virginia Thorn.

The Mason Kiwanis club staged the party. Revenue came from the auction sale held recently by the Kiwanis club and the Junior Child Study club. For 20 years the party has been given and for 20 years Mason has escaped the Halloween damage customary in other towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Potter were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Cady at Alhiedon Center.

Western Europe's Leader Calls For Volunteers

MORE "TERRIERS," as Britons call members of their volunteer Territorial Army (equivalent of the U. S. National Guard), were called for by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, recently appointed chief of five Western European powers' joint defense council. Pictured left is Monty, victor over Rommel in North Africa, and field commander of the U. S. and British forces on D-Day, as he made his speech at the Mansion House, official residence of London's Lord Mayors. Above are the Mansion House and the crowd as Mr. A. V. Alexander, Britain's Minister of Defence, opened the recruiting drive. Monty's new post makes him head of the defense organization of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. To take it up, he is relinquishing his position as Chief of the Imperial General Staff—Britain's first soldier.

Rice Opens Leslie Chevrolet Sales

In partnership with Owen G. Chamberlain of Mason, A. L. Rice has opened a Chevrolet agency in Leslie. Leslie has not had an agency since 1942 when Ray McCurley owned a Chevrolet sales and service. Rice has been operating the Mason Chevrolet sales for two years. Chamberlain has been working at the Mason agency since the first of the year in a sales capacity. He has lived in Mason for the past year and a half, after a number of years service with the city of Lansing and as a used car dealer in Jackson. Temporary quarters for the salesroom have been secured in the Blackmore-Dershem garage. The two men hope to have a permanent building by January, when a complete sales and service will be established on the same general lines as the Mason firm. Chamberlain will have charge of the Leslie branch of the business.

Careful Planning Urged To Make Light Meals Nutritious and Balanced

ARE THE LIGHT MEALS you serve always nutritious? Or are they just something you throw together for the sake of giving calories to your family, even though the foods are not particularly abundant in health-giving elements such as protein, vitamins and minerals? You're guaranteed to feel better, work better and, yes even play better if you're getting the right kind of food. Nutritious meals, no matter whether they are small or large, are bound to pay off big dividends. Just how, you ask? Well, for one thing, you won't get tired so quickly, and there will be sparkle in your eyes and smiles and a general glow of health about you. Your scratches and cuts, for example, will heal more readily if you're getting vitamin C in ample quantities.

Serve a salad for lunch and get your nutrients the easy way. Muffins or sandwiches with milk or a nourishing beverage help give a well balanced meal.

That dragged out feeling may come from lack of the B complex vitamins which guard general well being, or it may come from lack of iron in the blood which helps carry oxygen we breathe to all parts of the body.

If you're troubled with night blindness, poor appetite, and get colds and infections readily, you're apt to be getting less than your share of vitamin A.

When teeth are in poor condition it would be wise to check on your calcium, phosphorus and vitamins C and D. Any one or all of these may be responsible.

Dinners are apt to be rather well balanced to give the essential food elements, but frequently the cause of many ills is the lack of good lighter meals such as lunches or suppers. Some people skip lunch others nibble at little or nothing, while some eat something that satisfies hunger without regard to satisfying bodily needs.

Keep your refrigerator well stocked with fruits and vegetables, so that you always can toss a salad together. Serve this with sandwiches if you want a kind of bread and dessert together. Add to this a nourishing beverage and you'll have a lunch that satisfies hunger as well as dietary needs. Doesn't take much longer to fix than a snack!

Soups and juices are good to have on hand because they satisfy vitamin and mineral requirements. Plan, however, to serve a salad with them or a nourishing milk drink or dessert.

CHOOSE FROM AMONG these recipes for those light lunches or suppers. Foods contained in them are vitamin and mineral conscious, but still will be found to be very appetizing and refreshing.

Molasses Milk Shake (Serves 1)
1 tablespoon pure dark molasses
1 cup cold milk
Dash of cinnamon
Combine molasses, milk and cinnamon. Shake well and serve immediately.

Molasses Banana Milk Shake (Serves 1)
1 medium ripe banana
1 cup cold milk
Few grains of salt
1 tablespoon pure dark molasses
Few drops vanilla extract

LYNN SAYS:
Give Old Foods New Flavor Tricks
Meat loaf will take on an inviting flavor if you fold in one-half cup of grated parmesan cheese into the mixture before baking it.

Chopped ham is delicious to add to your favorite plain or cheese soufflé, fondue, omelet or scrambled eggs.
Fork sausage will have a special appeal when you prepare with macaroni and a chili-flavored to mato sauce.

Washington's Traffic Problem
A survey discloses that half of the motor vehicles in the congested downtown area of Washington, D. C., are taxis, three-fourths of which are empty.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Chicken-Noodle Casserole
*Combination Salad
Jelly and Rollshes
*Very Best Gingerbread With Marshmallow Topping Beverage
*Recipe Given.

Mash banana with fork until smooth; add milk, salt, molasses and vanilla extract. Shake well.

*Combination Salad (Serves 5)
1 cup cooked string beans
½ cup shredded raw carrots
½ cup celery strips
2 cups shredded lettuce
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced
French dressing

Combine vegetables and mix lightly. Arrange sliced eggs over vegetables and serve with french dressing.

THESE FRUIT SALAD combinations will enable you to add nutritive value as well as appetite appeal to light meals.

1. Orange wedges, sliced banana, pear or peach half, diced apple and white grapes or cherries. Serve with sweet french dressing.

2. Pear halves with pimiento cheese balls on lettuce, served with french dressing or mayonnaise.

3. Pineapple chunks, apple strips, diced celery with rice American cheese over top, served with sour cream dressing.

4. Calavo filled with orange and grapefruit segments, served with french dressing.

5. Orange and grapefruit sections with thick slices of banana, served with the following dressing: One cup mayonnaise, one-half cup molasses and three tablespoons of lemon juice to serve four.

TRY THESE sandwich combinations as a means of varying the luncheon menu.

1. Old English cheese or smoked American cheese with bits of cooked crumbled bacon.

2. Egg salad with finely chopped pickle and celery with enough salad dressing to moisten.

A simple but easy dessert for one of those light lunches includes tall glasses of milk with a very dark and delicious gingerbread. Serving gingerbread is an easy way to work iron into the diet by means of the molasses.

3. Mashed liver sausage mixed with finely chopped, hard-cooked eggs, moistened with cream and seasoned with salt and pepper.

4. Peanut butter mixed with crumbled, cooked bacon or shredded carrots, or honey or chow chow.

5. Ground leftover meat mixed with ground raw carrot, moistened with mayonnaise and seasoned with salt, pepper and onion juice.

*Very Best Gingerbread (Serves 10)
¾ cup butter or shortening
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 egg, beaten
2½ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup pure, dark molasses
1 cup hot water

Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten egg. Measure and sift dry ingredients. Combine molasses and hot water. Add dry ingredients to first mixture alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time, and beat after each addition until smooth.

Bake in a paper-lined pan (9 x 9 x 2 inches) in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 50 minutes.

When brining pickles in a crock, the skum should be removed as it gathers. Scum causes spoilage.

Corned beef patties are delicious when made with chopped green pepper, served with a tomato sauce when they are browned golden and crisp.

Try this new trick the next time you serve the old favorite, spare-ribs with sauerkraut: Place the sauerkraut on one rack of ribs, sprinkle with caraway seed and top with another rack of ribs. Braise until done.

When Addressing Parcels
A wooden match dipped in ink is an excellent substitute for a pen for addressing parcels; it saves the pen and makes the writing bolder and clearer.

Holt Not a City Election Reveals

Although having enough inhabitants to become a city, Holt has chosen to remain unincorporated. The incorporation issue was voted down 837 to 138 at Tuesday's election.

Proponents of incorporation pointed to the improvements and conveniences which could be had if a city were formed. Opponents fought incorporation on the grounds that taxes would be materially increased. As part of the township Holt's streets are maintained by the county road commission.

The incorporation issue grew heated in the two weeks prior to election.

In Justice Court

Deputy Alva Boeman arrested William Baldridge and Rebecca Arnold of Stockbridge last Friday night. They were charged with malicious destruction of property; specifically, damaging an automobile. Saturday when arraigned before Justice Roy Adams both pleaded not guilty and demanded trial. Bond of $100 each was set and furnished. The trial is scheduled for Tuesday, November 9, at 1:30.

Rosalio Rios, 21, of Mason was arrested by Deputy Fred Fry Saturday afternoon on a drunk charge. He pleaded guilty Monday before Justice William S. Seelye and paid a fine of $10.00 plus costs of $3.35.

Mason streets were not wide enough for Robert Young of Lansing Saturday afternoon. He drove his car on the sidewalk. With him was Clifford Corrette of Dansville. Deputy Fry arrested Young on a reckless driving charge. The Lansing man appeared before Judge Seelye Monday morning to plead guilty. He paid a fine of $25.00 plus costs of $3.35 and was also placed on probation for a year.

Lloyd C. Dell, released from the county jail on a drunk charge last Thursday went back behind the bars Saturday afternoon. He was arrested on a simple larceny charge on complaint of Ware's Drug store. He had a key chain from the store in his pocket. He insisted he fully intended to pay for it. Dell pleaded guilty when taken before Judge Seelye and is now doing 30 days in jail.

Felt Plains

Mrs. Robert Lee

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown were Mrs. Grace Sheffield and children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Slaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowell and sons, all of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brower and daughter of Fenton.

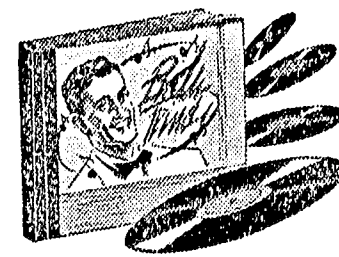

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Perrine and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rice attended a wedding at Detroit Saturday night. Others who attended the wedding at Detroit were Courtney Reed, Harold Reed, Charles Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Perrine and Phyllis Rice, all of Leslie, and E. J. Betcher of Mason.

Mrs. John Arend is recovering from an operation performed at the Mason General hospital. Mrs. Park Baldwin is suffering an injury to her arm.

Refrigeration Tip
When putting foods in the refrigerator, take care not to crowd them so closely together that the circulation of cold air around them is cut off. Let cooked food cool to room temperature before putting it in the refrigerator in order not to heat up the atmosphere inside and overwork the motor. However, as soon as the food has cooled, get it into the refrigerator promptly.

Greenough Says

AFTER ELECTION values may stiffen. Better buy now. Read over offerings below.

282 ACRES, all well drained and tillable. Has 30 acres wheat with cozy home, large barn, 2 tool sheds, granary, tenant house. Buildings insured for over $15,000. This 80-acre of highland and balance muck with peppermint still is worth investigating at $30,000. Imagine 7 1/2 acres averaging 80 1/2 pounds asparagus oil per acre and over transparent asparagus oil averaged 61 pounds per acre.

80 ACRES near Dansville. Extra good land, 6 room house, large barn, on blacktop and on school bus route. Price $11,000. Possession now.

EXCEPTIONALLY good farm of 200 acres with best of land and good buildings, near Williamston. Priced at $10,000.

MASON, comparatively new small modern 2 bedroom house. Full basement with air-conditioned stoker, bin feed furnace, $8,500 with $2,000 down. Possession soon.

GREENOUGH 100 WHEATFIELD ACRES, 150 acres tillable, balance woods and pasture. Basement barn, 38x70 plus shed 20x38; granary 24x30, barn 30x30, hen house 16x10, tile with cement floor; silo 12x35, brand new garage 24x30. Nice 6 room house with bath and furnace. Look this over at $21,500, between Dansville and Williamston.

GREENOUGH FARM EXTRAORDINARY. Only four owners since taken up from government. Replacement cost of buildings would be more than sale price of farm. This is a good dairy farm with basement barn, 36x113, with 37 stanchions, center aisle, bull pen, calf pen, stalls, etc., with drinking cups, milk house, 3-car garage and pig pen. The house is a large semi-bungalow type with oak floors and finish down and maple and pine up. Has bath and forced automatic controlled hot air furnace, full basement, fruit cellar, stone fireplace chimney. Good electrically pumped water system to house and barn. Buildings are all in good state of repair. All this on 159 acres of good land, fair to good fences with 300 to 400 trees, well known sugar bush. This farm is near Mason and can be purchased for only $21,000 with easy terms or cash. Don't delay on this one.

GREENOUGH VANTOWN (near) 80 acres, level, clay loam soil, with 70 tillable acres Barn 38x50, other buildings, new silo Large house with modern bath and Holland furnace. One-half of 25 acres wheat. Price $13,000.

2 ACRES with 6-room house, 2 piece bath, nice yard, $3,000. Or same house with large barn and 10 acres of land at $4,750. Possession now.

NEAT CITY HOME in the country. It means just that too, with plenty of other good buildings on 100 acres of good level clay loam soil except a couple of acres not so good. Close to Dansville and school and village. Included in price is the carpet, wall to wall, deep freeze, and wonderful drapes. Move in now. Price $16,000 with terms.

GREENOUGH FISHING FARMER, here is your chance. 8 boat livery, nice grove, 110 acres, good 8 room house, furnace, 2 barns, 2 silos. Owner's second of corn included. Near Stockbridge. Price, $16,000.

DO YOU WANT to go into the grocery store business? I have some desirable places for sale. Ask me.

GREENOUGH 5 ROOM HOUSE with bath, 2 compartment, American cabinet sink with built-in cupboards. This is in Dansville. It is an old house, but quite livable at only $2,500.

170 ACRES near Leslie, good land and buildings. Price $25,000. Call Mr. Fox, Leslie 2492.

GREENOUGH LESLIE FARM of 80 acres located at 4440 Cooper road, 65 acres tillable, good house, barn and other buildings. Priced at $10,750 with terms. Call Mr. Fox at Leslie 2492 for appointment to show you this desirable farm.

GREENOUGH WHY DON'T you buy this 9 room house and 2-car barn-garage located on large lot right on M-36 in Dansville? Remodel this to suit yourself and then you will really have a nice home.

GREENOUGH MR. FLOYD S. FOX of Leslie is representing me as salesman for the Leslie vicinity, so if you want to buy of sell real estate phone him at Leslie 2492 and he will call on you.

HAVE BUYER for good land contract for mortgage or if you have money for investment, tell me. I NEED some farms to sell. If you want to sell, give me a ring. Your farm may be just the one my buyers are looking for. IF YOU HAVE real estate anywhere in the state, kindly give me full information, and I may be able to sell it.

I NEED STORE and investment properties or businesses.

NEED some more money to loan on farms or city property at 5%. You must be satisfied with loan.

SHORT STORY

The Lucky Prize

By MARION WALLS

FRED slipped the water from his hat carefully removed his rubbers before stepping inside on the immaculate floor. It was good to be home, to be facing a relaxed evening while the storm lashed the outside world.

"Allie?" he called. The muffled reply sounded like: "Where else would I be, but in the kitchen?" Pushing open the door, Fred sniffed appreciatively and kissed his wife. "Apple pie! Hmmm. The boys home yet?" he inquired, glancing at the headlines.

"Ralph is. But Jack won't be home—they're having some kind of banquet at school."

Allie observed: "It's too bad they have such a bad night for the bingo party."

"Hmmm. . . . The pie smelled delicious. . . . Apprehension gripped him. "What bingo party?"

Ralph barged in and his mother gave the boy an amused glance. "Your father has the queerest memory. If it were a wrestling match or a ball game—" Looking at Fred: "The bingo party I bought the tickets for last Monday. We have to go tonight!"

He hedged. "Why do we have to go? You bought the tickets, that was the main thing they were interested in."

"But I like to play!" she insisted. "They have the grandest prizes—and you know how lucky I am!"

Thinking of the warmth, the unread magazines, Fred reflected unhappily that Allie might be lucky, but he most certainly was not.

For Fred it was a particularly dull evening. He got no pleasure at all from pushing little wooden squares around on a piece of cardboard, and certainly no material gain came his way. Empty-handed, he looked across the room to find Allie triumphantly gathering up a set of glass ash trays and a string of plastic measuring spoons.

"I told you I was lucky!" she crowed, ignoring Mrs. Deerfield who was struggling past her with a set of glass crystal boudoir lamps.

Allie chuckled happily all the while; however, the rain had stopped and a half moon was struggling to come through the clouds. "Of course, we had plenty of ash trays, but they'll save me the expense of buying something the next time I entertain the club."

As they rolled into the drive Fred saw people standing on their porch.

"Gosh—Allie—look! Do you suppose there's been a fire?" He slammed on the brakes.

"Oh, Mrs. Jemison!" That was Mrs. Hagerty who lived next door. "Oh—if you'd been home!"

"What happened? Is it the—is it the boys?" began Allie fearfully. "It's the phone! The Lucky Number program! They called your number and if you'd been home they were going to give you a thousand dollars! I bet on your door, thinking maybe you didn't hear—"

"No," said Allie, slowly. "We weren't at home tonight."

With head high, she marched past into the house.

Fred put away the car. A thousand dollars, just for staying at home, being comfortable! Going in the house, he didn't bother to wipe his feet. Allie was in the living room, the prizes nowhere in sight.

"Luck always hits twice," she said loudly. "Even lightning hits twice in the same place sometimes. Why, some people say what happens once will happen three times. . . you can't tell, can you, Fred?"

"Nope," he grunted, easing out of his shoes.

Allie leaned forward eagerly. "We'll stay home every night—maybe they'll call again—they could do it, couldn't they, Fred?"

He thought of the happy evenings at home which now confronted him. "Why sure they could!" he agreed heartily. Again: "Sure it could happen again!"

He reached for a magazine, leaned back. He didn't know when a thousand dollars he hadn't gotten had ever bought as much.

Better Care, Feeding Increase Hog Profits

Improved Rations and Cleanliness Stressed

Extra care for the brood sow and her litter, with emphasis on cleanliness and better feeding, will assure extra profits whether the herd includes one sow or a hundred.

Proof of that assertion is contained in the experience of Joseph O'Bryan of Hialeah, Kas., nationally-known breeder and exhibitor of purebred Hampshires, who raises about 3,000 hogs a year, most of them for market.

Although O'Bryan raises hogs on a wholesale scale, he keeps his operation on an individual farm basis as a means of insuring proper care.

A program of better care and better feeding for sows and their litters, introduced on his farms in the fall of 1947, already has paid dividends, O'Bryan reports. With 100 litters last spring, he raised as much pork as he formerly raised from 150.

Early in the gestation period sows were given a special ration of 80 per cent oats, 5 per cent meat scrap, 4 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance either corn or wheat. Sows were sprayed and washed thoroughly prior to farrowing. Clean pens and a brooder for the little pigs also were provided. The sow's ration was changed when the pigs were about two weeks old, cutting down oats to about 40 per cent and increasing portions of wheat or corn.

At less than two weeks of age little pigs were started creep feeding in a low pan or trough. Their ration consisted of 80 per cent, 4 per cent meat scrap, 8 per cent pelleted milk product and the balance coarse wheat. Pans and troughs were washed and disinfected regularly. As the little pigs grew, oats in the ration is reduced while corn or wheat is increased to about 70 to 80 per cent.

Summarizing the program, O'Bryan maintains that he had much stronger pigs at birth, with earlier, faster and cheaper gains and a marked reduction in mortality.

Ingham School Superintendents Join in Week of Broadcasting

During the week of November 7, the Ingham County Superintendents association will sponsor a series of radio broadcasts over Station WKAR, East Lansing, in observance of American Education week. The broadcast will be at 1:30 p. m. daily, beginning Sunday and continuing through Saturday. All of the superintendents of the county and others will participate. The broadcasts will be in the form of a panel.

Edward Murdock, superintendent of the Okemos school will serve as moderator of all of the panels. The topics for discussion and the participants of the panels are as follows:

Sunday, November 7, "Learning to Live Together" with Dr. Frederick Behner, Stockbridge; Alton Stroud, county school superintendent; and H. M. Murphy, superintendent at Haslett.

Monday, November 8, "Improving the Educational Program," with Dr. Lee Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction; Clarence VanderLinden, superintendent of Leslie; and William Otto, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, Lansing.

Tuesday, November 9, "Securing Qualified Teachers," with Dr. Clyde Campbell, director of Teacher placement, Michigan State college; Ralph Barr, superintendent of Webberville; and James Vander Von, superintendent of Mason.

Wednesday, November 10, "Providing Adequate Finance," with Dr. A. J. Phillips, executive secretary, Michigan Education association; Benton Yates, superintendent of Holt; and M. F. Egloff, superintendent of East Lansing.

Thursday, November 11, "Safeguarding Our America," with Dwight Rich, superintendent of Lansing; Earl Briggs, superintendent of Danville; and Jess Batchelor, superintendent of Stockbridge.

Friday, November 12, "Promoting Health and Safety," with George Richards, athletic director, Okemos high school; Clyde Overholt, superintendent of Williams; and Mildred Cardwell, Ingham county health department.

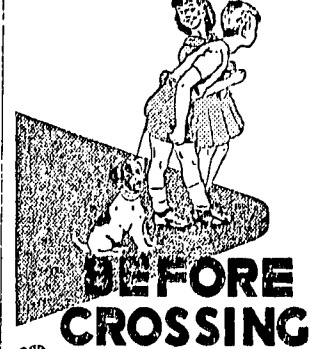

Saturday, November 13, "Developing Worthy Family Life," with Roy LaSalle, director of adult education, Lansing schools; Mrs. Helen Kruse, PTA worker, Mason; and John Cosgrove, superintendent of Everett.

CATHOLIC MEN TO MEET
Men of the Mason Catholic Mission are to meet with Ed Wentland on Friday night, November 12, at 3580 West Harper road.

LOOK BOTH WAYS

Grand Award Winner, Fourth National AAA Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

More than 8,000 copies of the above AAA poster are now being distributed to all Michigan elementary schools by Automobile Club of Michigan's safety and traffic division. November's safety message will drive home to small children the lesson of looking both ways before crossing.

Automobile accidents were the fourth most important cause of deaths in the United States in 1947. The only diseases which caused more deaths were of heart, cancer and cerebral hemorrhage. Value of educating children in safety is demonstrated by the fact that lowest 1947 traffic accident death rate nationally was for children 5 to 14 years old. The November safety poster was national grand prize winner in the 1947-48 AAA traffic safety poster contest.

Four Injured By Blowout of Tire

David DeLong, 23, his wife, Thelma, 21, and their two young daughters, Thelma Jeanette, 2 1/2, and Janet Glynn, 5 weeks, were hurt on the Okemos road curve last Friday evening.

DeLong was driving toward Mason near the Howell road intersection when the right rear tire blew out. DeLong lost control of the car. It skidded and rolled over. DeLong was out on his hands and face. Mrs. DeLong and Thelma suffered from shock and the baby had a bad bump on her head.

A half-hour later there was a three-car crash on US-127 two miles north of Mason. Theodore C. Shafer, 23, Mason, and Jesse LeRoy Curtis, 18, of Mason were driving toward Mason when their cars were sideswiped by a car driven by Varney Clutter, 43, of Lansing. No one was hurt but the cars driven by Clutter and Shafer were wrecked.

FIND GOOD FISHING
Mayor S. A. Morrison, J. William Couch, Lloyd Brown, Montie Woodward and Forest Campbell found great fishing in Michipioten Harbor near Wa. Wa on the north shore of Lake Superior two weeks ago. They made some exceptional catches of lake trout. Some of the fish caught were pictured in the Jackson Citizen Patriot Sunday.

SERVING ABOARD CRUISER
Harold Fredrick Owen, seaman apprentice, son of Ralph Owen of Route 3, Mason, is serving aboard the light cruiser USS Little Rock. Owen entered the naval service April 8, 1945, and received his recruit training at the naval training center, Great Lakes, Ill. Before entering the navy he attended Okemos high school.

Benefit Game Set For Hurt Gridders

School authorities have arranged a benefit football game for next Tuesday night, November 9. All proceeds will be used to pay doctor bills for boys hurt in football during the season. They will be paid the difference between the doctor bills and the insurance, Coach Lori said.

The game will be played on Athletic field, starting at 7:30.

Varsity players will not be permitted to participate in the game. One team will be made up of varsity substitutes and the other will be composed of reserve team members.

Everyone who attends the game, even Coach Lori and members of the varsity squad have to pay.

Howell Educator Backs School Plan For Citizenship

John Page, superintendent of the Howell school system, believes that the schools are doing a good job in training for citizenship and could do more with a far-reaching plan for both juvenile and adult education. The Howell educator spoke before the Mason Kiwanis club Tuesday night.

Page declared that crime costs six times more than public education and that some of the money spent to control crime would be wisely invested in furthering education. He insisted that education would reduce crime. Prisons are filled with men who are uneducated, unskilled, and without homes, the speaker asserted.

The Howell superintendent said the schools are doing a better job in general education today than was done 20 years ago but that in fundamentals of reading, spelling, writing and arithmetic the schools of today have fallen away from the standards of 20 years ago. He deplored the fact that the field of special education is not as well covered as the field of general education.

Superintendent Page cited several examples of good citizenship in schools and told how citizenship training is handled.

Paul Bennett of the Howell faculty accompanied the superintendent to Mason.

Pastor at Leslie Fatally Stricken

Rev. Elvin K. Lewis, 67, pastor of the Leslie and Pelt Plains Methodist churches since last June, died at his home in Leslie on Tuesday afternoon about 2:45 after a sudden heart attack. Lewis was preparing to rake some leaves in the yard when he had a heart attack. He had voted in the morning and had been to the barber shop.

Rev. Lewis was born at Parma and graduated from the Parma high school. He attended Albion college. Rev. Lewis has had pastorate at Douglas, Lacota, Hopkins, Middleville, Ovid, East Main Street church in Kalamazoo; Beatrice Isabell church in Jackson for six years; Potter Park Methodist in Lansing for six years before going to Leslie last June.

Survivors are his widow, Alice; two sons, Carl of Adrian and Charles of Michigan Center; two daughters, Mrs. Elsie Sears of Elkton, Nevada and Mrs. Earl Carpenter of Maple Rapids.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Leslie Methodist church Friday afternoon at two o'clock with burial in Woodlawn cemetery in Leslie.

Ministers in charge of the service will be Rev. Henry Liddicoat, pastor of the Mason Methodist church; Rev. Stanley Coors, Methodist minister from Lansing; and Rev. Spencer Owen of Albion, superintendent of the Lansing-Albion district.

White Dog

Mrs. M. V. Butler

Mrs. Carrie Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence T. Smith and family and Martin Graves spent Sunday at the M. V. Butler home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bolter and Sandra of Lansing were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Clickner.

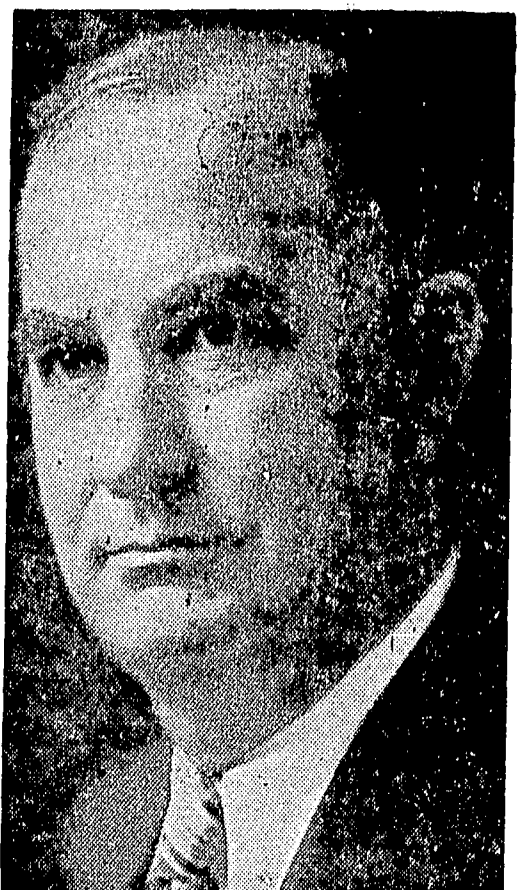

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Preston and family of Lansing were supper guests Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Smith and family.

Mrs. Loyd Wagner entertained the extension group for an all day meeting Wednesday. There was a potluck dinner at noon. After dinner the officers for the year were chosen. The lesson was given by Mrs. Marie Gregg and Mrs. Lulu Howarth. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Dorothy Blossiey in December.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Butler attended the Shorthorn sale at Michigan State college Saturday afternoon.

FORMER TEACHER DIES

Mrs. Jennie Kennedy received word Tuesday of the death of Mrs. Gladys Russell, which occurred at her home in Pontiac Sunday. Funeral services were held at the Sparks funeral home in Pontiac Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Russell was the former Gladys Purser, a music and art instructor in the Mason school in 1916-19.

PROBATE JUDGE JOHN McCLELLAN was a comparatively easy winner at Tuesday's election. He was re-elected by about a 2 to 1 margin. His opponent was Ross D. Thompson, Lansing attorney.

Parents Invited To Visit School Next Thursday

Next Thursday, November 11, is visiting day at the Mason school. Parents are being asked to spend an hour or two that day with their children in the classrooms.

The visiting day program has been arranged by the Mason PTA. The visiting hours will be from 9:00 to 11:00 in the forenoon and from 1:00 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

The visiting day will take the place of the regular November meeting of the PTA.

Students will be on duty in the halls to direct parents to any classrooms they want to visit.

DIES IN CALIFORNIA
Frank Whipple of Fontana, California, died Sunday. He was a former Danville resident and was an uncle of Earl D. Whipple.

A mother house wren fed her babies 1,217 times in a single day.

Legion Auxiliary To Meet Officers At Holt Session

Members of Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary have received notice of the department president and secretary's tour which is covering the state during the first two weeks of November.

In the local area, Holt has been chosen for the stopping place of the party, which is to include Mrs. Nancy W. Shepard, department president of the Auxiliary, Miss Bertha Froestel, department secretary, and a number of district officers. The Holt meeting will be held in the Odd Fellow hall at two o'clock, Friday, November 12, and will last throughout the afternoon.

The president-secretary tour, which was for many years an annual feature of the Auxiliary program, was discontinued during the war and has been reinstated for the first time this year. It provides an opportunity for expert counsel on the problems of local auxiliary units, but is not confined to members of these groups, as anyone interested in Americanism, community service and rehabilitation, the three great purposes of the Legion and Auxiliary, is invited to attend. Due to the fact that the official party is, in nearly all cases, scheduled for two meetings each day, news served by the hostess units throughout the tour.

The quarterly convention of the Sixth District of the American Legion and Auxiliary is to be held at Flint, Sunday, November 7. A number of Mason people expect to attend the gathering, which will convene at three o'clock, with a banquet and general evening session.

1 P.M. - "Your Bible Speaks!"

R. K. Krick, Bible Lecturer

Lecturer Tells Of Second Advent

"Men and women who die, believing in Christ, do not immediately enter heaven upon ceasing their existence on earth but will remain in their graves until the second advent of Christ," asserted Bible Lecturer R. K. Krick in his address last Sunday night at the Legion Memorial building.

"The Bible never once speaks of the soul as being naturally immortal or 'never-dying,'" Krick says. "We are told in I Timothy 6:16, 16 that God only has immortality. And in Romans 2:6, 7 it is made plain that God will bestow immortality only on those who are willing to obey Him and do His will. The Apostle Paul tells us that at the last great day when Jesus Christ returns to the earth, the dead will be raised with incorruptible bodies, when 'this mortal shall put on immortality.'" (I Cor. 15:51, 53.)

"All the patriarchs and the prophets of Bible times looked forward to the second coming of Christ as the day when they would enter the presence of the eternal, and not to the day of death.

"David was a man after God's own heart; his life was surrendered to Him and his sins were forgiven. Yet David looked forward to the resurrection from the dead and not to death itself, for he says: 'As for me, I will behold Thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied when I awake, with Thy likeness.' Psalm 17:15.

"Then several centuries after the death of that good man, Peter said on the day of Pentecost: 'David is not ascended into the heavens.' Acts 2:34. Where, then, was David?

id? Peter made this statement: 'Let me speak freely unto you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre is with us unto this day.' Acts 2:29. In other words, David was still lying in the grave nearly a thousand years after his death. David himself taught, definitely, that the dead are unconscious. In Psalm 123 he says: 'Consider me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death.'

"The righteous dead are awaiting the sound of the last trumpet when the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, and the dead in Christ shall rise first." I Thess. 4:16-18.

"The second advent and the resurrection to eternal life is the blessed hope of the righteous, and it is the only hope for the world," concluded the speaker.

Next Sunday evening, November 7, the subject will be "Saved by Grace, Without the Deeds of the Law." This Sunday night series is free to the public. A community singing and musical program precedes the lecture at 7:30 p. m.

Here are four delicious solutions to that age-old meal planning problem of "what will the family like for lunch, dinner or supper?" Easy on your budget, simple to prepare and super to serve... no wonder women across the nation are turning more and more to convenient Swanson foods for simple, saving, satisfying ways to better meals!

No. 1... SWANSON Boned Chicken

Here is chicken at its very best... white and dark meat from corn-fed chickens — flavor sealed in its own juice and ready to heat and serve. No bones, no waste. Each 6-oz. can equals meat from a pound and a half dressed chicken.

No. 2... SWANSON Chicken Fricassee

Select pieces of tender chicken, ready cooked in real butter gravy. Each can equals a third of a whole chicken. Win man-favor with that butter flavor by serving Swanson Chicken Fricassee tonight.

Delicious served with rice, over mashed potatoes, with dumplings, noodles or toast.

1-Lb. Can 55¢

No. 3... SWANSON Boned Turkey

Large, luscious pieces of turkey meat cooked fresh in its own juice by an exclusive Swanson process. Easy to prepare as a casserole or with cream sauce. Excellent for salads and sandwiches. No bones, no waste. Each 6-ounce can equals meat from a pound of dressed turkey.

Just Heat and Serve... Cost Less Than Home Prepared... Best You Ever Tasted!

6-Oz. Can 55¢

No. 4... SWANSON Cut-up Fryers

Each Swanson Fryer is a premium grade chicken, selected from corn-fed flocks. It is completely cleaned, drawn and frozen fresh to meet your discriminating taste. Ready for the pan, you'll find a 2-lb. Swanson Fryer equivalent to a 3-lb. ordinary dressed chicken.

New Fabrics Is Extension Topic

"New Finishes for Fabrics" is the subject of open meetings for all members and leaders of Ingham county home economics extension groups. The meetings will be held at the court house in Mason on Tuesday, November 9, at 1:30 p. m.; at the Peoples bank in Williamston on Wednesday, November 10, at 1:30 p. m.; and at the G. A. R. hall in Leslie on Thursday, November 11, at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Lowena Murphy, county home demonstration agent, said that these meetings have been planned to give all extension group members an opportunity to hear this important topic discussed by Miss Marjorie Eastman, clothing specialist from Michigan State college.

Many women over the county have asked that information on use and care of new textiles be included in the extension program this year, Mrs. Murphy said.

"What about unshrinkable wool, water repellants, and flameproof fabrics, for example?" the women asked according to Mrs. Murphy. Miss Eastman will discuss these and many other new fabrics and finishes, and will show samples of fabrics treated with special finishes, Mrs. Murphy explained.

Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend these meetings which is a part of the county home economics extension program, Mrs. Murphy pointed out.

Extension Clubs

Mason The Mason Extension group met Thursday, October 21, at 1:15 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Stanley Holmes. Twelve members and one guest were present. Mrs. Carl Jewett enrolled as a new member of the club. The lesson, "Legal Phases of Home Management" was presented by the leaders, Mrs. James Jackson and Mrs. John Taylor. Mrs. Norman Dart and Mrs. Charles Schmitter took the parts of John and Mary in a play illustrating the importance of legal phases of home management. Members took stork shower gifts for Mrs. Jesse Campbell, who served as leader of the group for the past two years. Tea, coffee and birthday cake were served.

On Friday, November 5, the group will meet with Mrs. Norman Dart at 1:15. "Christmas Workshop" will be the lesson subject for discussion.

Aurelius Center Friday, October 22, was Christmas workshop group at the Aurelius Center Extension group at the Aurelius Baptist church. There were many helpful ideas and gift suggestions to help toward the Christmas shopping.

Bunker Hill Thirteen members of the Bunker Hill Extension group met at the home of Mrs. Doris Vicary at Pleasant lake October 26, for a 12:30 luncheon. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Madge Vicary, for a short business meeting.

The leader, Mrs. Evelyn Belwinger, presented the lesson on citizenship. An interesting and timely discussion of the proposals to be voted on at the November 2 election was given by several members. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Madge Vicary.

Northwest Aurelius The Northwest Aurelius Extension club met Wednesday, October 27, with Mrs. Merton Collins for an all-day meeting.

A business meeting, conducted by the vice chairman, took up the morning followed by a potluck dinner at noon. The lesson on Christmas gifts was given by Mrs. Helen Ziegler. There were 14 members present.

Tri-County Five guests met with the members of the Tri-County Home Economics Extension group Thursday at the home of Mrs. Bessie Ludlow in Springport. Election of officers for the coming year and an exchange of ideas for gifts, with two long tables of gift samples, made the meeting interesting and helpful.

Mrs. Maude Rossman will entertain the next meeting. The lesson will be on "Textiles" and dinner will be prepared and served by a committee. New officers are as follows: Chairman, Dorothy Clark; secretary and treasurer, Minnie Clark; community chairman, Ruth Hawley; recreation chairman, Lita Gillett; leaders, Emma Anderson and Neta Doxtader; and assistant leader, Eleanor Hawley.

Red Cedar-Meridian Red Cedar-Meridian Extension met at the home of Viola Wagner on Wednesday, October 27, for a potluck dinner. Mrs. Marie Gregg and Mrs. Lulu Howarth presented the lesson on Christmas gifts. There were five members and three visitors present. Officers were elected for the coming year.

Harvest Dinner Is November 11

A community harvest dinner will be served by the Women's association of the Mason Presbyterian church Thursday, November 11, in the social rooms of the church. The committee in charge of the affair, with Mrs. L. B. Barr as chairman, has announced that Swiss steak will be served along with vegetables and harvest salad, home made rolls and assorted pies with jam, jelly and pickles from the kitchens of association members.

Working with Mrs. Barr on the dinner arrangements are Mrs. R. B. Wallace as dining room chairman, Mrs. William Porter in charge of ticket sales and publicity and Mrs. C. N. Smith, Mrs. C. H. Hall, Mrs. N. D. Brown and Mrs. L. A. Murray, representing respectively, Circles 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the association. Mrs. Harold Hosley created the posters now on display in the business phases of Mason, and Mrs. U. B. Shoenaker, president of the association, has been a member of the dinner committee.

It has been the custom for many years to hold a bazaar with the public dinner. This year only the dinner is being served.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett visited Mr. and Mrs. Prosper Titus at Lansing.

3 Minute Fiction

Leading Lady
By MARION BOUCHER
DAN is really a dear and I'd rather have him for a husband than Charles Boyer, but sometimes he is terribly forgetful. It was unpardonable of him to forget the play.
We were having breakfast when he calmly announced: "Won't be home for dinner."
I'm going to see Ferris at last about that advertising contract. I wanted to bring him here for the evening but he seemed to have other plans. Anyway, I am taking him to dinner and we'll be able to discuss matters."
"And that's what you intend to do tonight?" I asked icily.
"Why yes, hon, why not?" Dan gulped down his coffee and looked at me with an innocent air. "Sure hope I can swing the deal."
"But tonight's our Little Theater play! How could you forget? Or may-be you can't be bothered with it—may-be you don't want to see me act!"
"Doris, so help me, it slipped my mind completely! I was so anxious to see Ferris that I didn't think of anything else. Perhaps if we get through early . . . but you'd better not count on it."
I was almost in tears. Dan was angry too. "And I am glad it will be over tonight—I am getting tired of coming home to a cold supper, with you rushing off to rehearsals every night."
"Why, Dan, you know you're exaggerating—it hasn't been every night. I thought you were proud that I was given the lead."
"I am going to be late for my bus," Dan muttered and hurried away without even goodbye. We don't quarrel very often and I always feel badly when we do.
BUT to think he'd forgotten about the play! Our club had been slaving over it for weeks and our director, who didn't hand out many compliments, had told me that I played the lead very well.
I felt a little guilty when I thought what Dan had said about cold suppers. Perhaps I had neglected him lately. All day I kept thinking un-tilly of Dan. I kept hoping he'd phone. The day went by without a word.
"Very well, Mr. Crawford!" I thought angrily as I got ready to go to the theater, "if you don't care about my activities I can get along quite nicely without you. Other people appreciate my talents!"
Hadden't I often been told that I should have gone on the stage? Well, I might yet!
Perhaps it was my anger which helped me play my role with more spirit. After the first act, I knew the play was going to be a success, knew too that I was playing my part well.
"There were compliments but suddenly my success turned to ashes. I didn't care about the play any more. I was thinking of Dan. Slowly, I began to remove my grease paint."
"Hurry up, Doris." It was another girl in the cast speaking.
"We're going to have a party to celebrate our success."
"Sorry, but Doris is coming with me."
Was it really Dan's voice? I whirled around. Yes, there he was. "You were great, hon. I was so proud of you!"
"But, Dan," I exclaimed, "what about Ferris?"
"Of course, I've been here all evening and Ferris was with me. He's anxious to meet you. You know, it was a funny thing. After dinner I decided to tell him that I had to get away—explained that my wife was taking part in a play and I wanted to see it. That was exactly what he wanted to do. He's been keen about dramatics."
"Did you get the contract?" I asked.
"Yes, and I think you helped me put it over. Guess it was because he was so impressed with your acting!"
"Oh, Dan, I am sure that's not the reason but I am so glad!" Then I called out to the others. "Sorry, folks, but I am not joining the party—I am going with my husband. From now on I am going to concentrate on being his leading lady!"

Rural Schools Improve Sanitation Facilities

"Six rural school districts in Ingham county have modernized their sanitary facilities this year by the installation of frost-proof water pressure systems and inside flush toilets," according to Dr. R. Lanting, county health director, in summarizing a sanitation survey of 83 one-room and two-room rural schools recently reported to rural school boards. These schools are the Pink and Hawley in Vevay township, the Baker in Leroy township, and the Haines in Williamston township. Similar installations were made at the Island school in Delhi township and the Towar school in Meridian township, although these schools in rural areas are larger than two rooms.

Fifteen of the one-room and two-room rural schools now have safe and sanitary water supplies piped into the school under pressure, and a total of nine schools now have inside flush toilets with septic tank systems, two of which are pending completion. Of the 15 schools which have inside chemical or septic toilets, only six are operating satisfactorily, and the remaining are in need of correction. Fifty-nine schools still provide outhouses. However, the survey shows that they are maintained in a reasonably sanitary condition by 21 of those schools.

Sixteen school water supplies showed evidence of dangerous contamination at the beginning of the school term this fall, but six of those have since been corrected to provide safe water. The survey shows well locations at 28 schools to be below state requirements, 34 school water supplies having construction faults below standard, and 25 wells equipped with unapproved pumps. One school water supply is out of order and another school does not even have a well. Both the location and construction of the wells and pumps are bad at 14 schools.

School wells which have had at least two consecutive samples of water within a 30-day period showing dangerous contamination will be condemned and posted as unsafe until corrections are made to make the water safe. These provisions are contained in Section 4.6 of the Ingham county sanitary regulations as revised August 26, 1948, and in effect since September 3, 1948.

The most encouraging note in recent rural school improvements is that 80 per cent of these schools now have facilities for continuous and uniform heating. Formerly the problem of freezing was the major objection to the installation of modern plumbing in rural schools. However, we now have indications that many school districts will soon follow the example of those cited above by providing the convenience and safety of basic sanitary facilities now benefiting most children at home and in the graded schools.

Lansing Pastor to Show Pictures Taken During Trip Through Europe in Summer

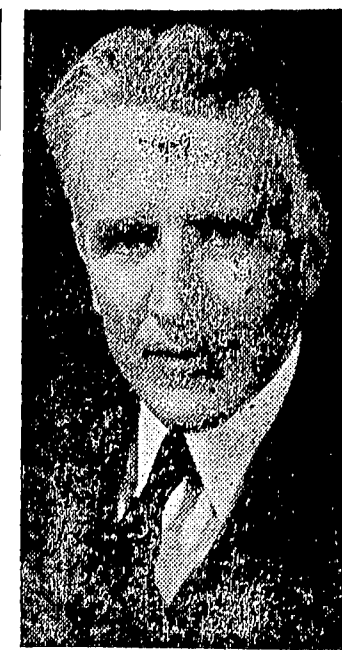

Dr. Robert M. Bartlett, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church in Lansing, will be at the Methodist church in Mason Wednesday night, November 10, to show pictures taken while in Europe last summer. He will also give his impressions of present European conditions and tell of the hope held for recovery under Christian leadership.

Dr. Bartlett took many pictures while in Europe to attend the Amsterdam assembly. His pictures were taken in England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and Holland.

"I found a spirit of cooperation and hope as men and women of many creeds, flags, languages and races planned together for a world-wide program of human uplift," said Dr. Bartlett.

Approximately 1,500 representatives from 43 nations and 159 Christian groups attended the assembly, the Lansing pastor explained.

"Some of the greatest minds of the world were there," said Dr. Bartlett. "High churchmen and low churchmen, conservatives and liberals, French and Germans, Africans and Caucasians agreed to differ but resolved to love as the World Council of Churches was created.

"A sense of urgency pervaded the conference. All were solemn before the realization of impending cataclysm. The great assembly made it clear that a moral awakening is basic if we are to salvage our civilization, that divided religious groups must unite in a common program to meet materialism, extreme nationalism, communism and the threat of war."

Admiration for the British was expressed by Dr. Bartlett upon his return from abroad. He declared he admired the willingness of the British to sacrifice for an ideal and their devotion to democracy and freedom. He said that he found war damage to be heavy in Normandy and Brittany in France. The dislocation and depression of the entire Ruhr valley and in the once great cities of Kassel, Frankfurt and Cologne are appalling, Dr. Bartlett said. People exist amid the rubble, mulling about, ragged, hungry and desperate, the Lansing pastor pointed out. The pictures to be shown in Mason will show some of the squalor of Europe.

Rev. Henry Liddicoat, pastor of the Mason Methodist church, said, "Because the Woman's Society for Christian Service believes Dr. Bartlett's talk will cover things of vital importance to everyone, it is giving up its November business meeting and inviting everyone to see Dr. Bartlett's pictures and to hear his report. There will be no admission charge. Rev. Liddicoat explained. The W. S. C. S. will take care of the expenses by a collection from its members.

The Executive board of the W. S. C. S. will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon, November 9, at 1:30.

Mason Sailor On Cruise With Navy

Lyle Londenslager, fireman, USN, son of Mrs. Vera Cable of 341 Okemos St., Mason, is serving aboard the light cruiser, USS Huntington, now making a 16,000 mile good-will cruise of ports in Africa and South America.

The Huntington, accompanied by the destroyer, USS Douglas H. Fox, has visited Massawa, Eritrea; Monrovia, Liberia; and Durban and Capetown in the Union of South Africa.

From Capetown, she is scheduled to visit Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay; and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The ship then will travel to Trinidad and is expected to return to the United States about December 8.

The Huntington left the United States in June and served in the Mediterranean three months before beginning her current cruise.

Services Held For Former Resident

Funeral services were held at the Ball funeral home Monday afternoon for Mrs. Natalia Stone, 87. She died Friday at the home of her daughter in Civil War, Claud W. Satterlee of Grand Lodge, former Methodist pastor at Mason, officiated at the funeral. Burial was in Maple Ridge at Holt.

Mrs. Stone was born in Ontario, Canada. She and her husband, the late John Stone, lived in Holt many years and then came to Mason to make their home on West Elm street. The husband died in February after which the widow went to Ovid to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. John Fry. Mrs. Stone began to fail in health several months ago and had been confined to her bed for six weeks.

In Holt Mrs. Stone was active in the Rebekah lodge.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Stone is survived by a grandson, Stanley Moses of Mason, and a great-granddaughter, Bernadette Moses, also of Mason.

County Foreman Dies On Highway

Eddie L. Douglas, 70, died while supervising a county park maintenance crew at 1:25 last Thursday afternoon.

He pointed to a limb at the intersection of Saginaw street and Lake Lansing road at Lake Lansing, said, "Cut that other limb," and then slumped to the ground with a heart attack. He never regained consciousness. An inhalator crew from the Haslett fire department responded but death had been almost instantaneous.

With the park foreman was his brother, Roy Douglas of Holt, and the regular park department crew. They said he had not been exerting himself unduly. He had suffered several heart attacks during the last six months.

Mr. Douglas was born in Meridian township and had spent all his life in the county, most of it at Lake Lansing. He joined the road commission staff about 10 years ago after operating a gravel hauling business. He came to Mason to live in 1941. His wife died six years ago.

Survivors include the daughter, Mrs. Everett A. Crosby, with whom Mr. Douglas made his home; two sons, Neil and Roy; seven grandchildren; and the one brother, Roy of Holt.

Funeral services were held at the Jewett chapel Sunday afternoon with burial in Glendale cemetery, Okemos. Rev. Loyd W. Caraway of the Mason Baptist church officiated.

Russia has 65,000 square miles of peat resources, largest in the world. Canada ranks second with about 37,000 square miles.

Book Talk

From Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Every day except Sunday and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Tuesday, Friday, 11:45-12:45; Story Hours, Saturday, 1:30.

NEW HOUSES FROM OLD. Are you contemplating buying an old house on which you've had your eye for some time, or which seems the only available spot for a home? This will give you help in knowing whether it is a good buy, what some of the possibilities are in remodeling it, and different types of material which might be suitable. It will also give the homeowner ideas in slight changes around the house which he might make himself, or hire some one to do.

SANGAREE is another of those books based on a doctor's life by Frank Slaughter. This is just another of the Revolution in Louisiana. Plantations still are not too productive, slavery is being condoned in some places as a necessity, and in others discarded, the American Navy is still having trouble with Spanish pirates. Many bits of rather gory surgery are described in semi-technical language, the romance is satisfactory, and the characters fairly well drawn.

BRIDE OF FORTUNE is a novel based on the life of Mrs. Jefferson Davis. It covers her life just before and during her long and happy, though upsetting marriage. It tells of the ability of Jeff Davis to lead people and to be as heartily disliked at times, of their life dominated by older brother Joe, as well as Varina's happy home.

I CAPTURE THE CASTLE is a light romance about Cassandra who tells her own story. Christopher Morley has said, "After reading one sentence—that glorious opening—I was captured too." That opening sentence is—"I write this sitting in the kitchen sink." It's a bit absurd at times, there's fine writing in it, some will like it very much, and many not at all.

PATSY JEFFERSON was written by Marguerite Vance for older boys and girls, but we think many adults will enjoy it. It is the story of an intelligent little girl who came to be the companion of her illustrious father, Thomas, and traveled to France, and back to Washington, D. C., where as Mrs. Randolph, she was his hostess.

Gretton District Mrs. Ed Q. Datt

The Gretton Community club met Friday evening. There was a large attendance. The school children put on the program. Committees appointed for the Thanksgiving supper were: Kitchen, Mrs. David Peabody, Mrs. Walter Pollock and Mrs. Ray Everett; dining room, Mrs. William Klontz; decorating, Mrs. William Fanson and Mrs. Edward Datt; program, Mrs. Willard Droscha; and setting up tables, William Fanson and Forrest Bedell.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bedell and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Halley and family of East Lansing, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osborne visited Mr. and Mrs. Denn Noble and family Sunday. Mrs. Osborne stayed over until Monday evening with the Nobles.

Mrs. Harry Smiley and Mrs. Eva Irish visited Mrs. Erma Stimer of Lansing Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith of Leslie were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Droscha and family.

Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bedell and family were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Halley of Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bedell of Dimondale.

Mrs. Dora Smiley has been ill for the last three weeks.

Magazine Sales

The senior class has started their annual magazine drive, which will continue another week. A goal of $1,200.00 has been set. The class has been divided into two groups, the girls and the boys. The team captains are Rosamund and Raymond Bachman. The proceeds received will help finance the seniors annual trip preceding their graduation.

Homemaking Class Meets

The adult homemaking class met Monday evening at the school with 17 mothers present. Samples of various articles to make for Christmas gifts were shown by Miss Shannan. Mrs. Small will be the secretary and Mrs. Boyd the reporter for the group. There will be four lessons before Christmas and anyone interested may attend the meetings. The first lesson will be on stencils and the other three on knitting, etching, making animals and dolls for children. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the organizing committee, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Borghild Brandenburg and Mrs. Dolph.

Former Resident Dies

Mrs. Gertrude Bivins, 74, of Detroit, formerly of Williamston, passed away at a hospital in Detroit. Mrs. Bivins was born November 27, 1863, in Hudson and resided with her family in Williamston for many years. She later moved to Lansing where she resided 17 years. For the past seven years she had lived in Detroit. She was a member of the Willamston O. E. S., past worthy matron, and a life member of the White Shrine. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Penn Steadman of Detroit; and Mrs. Hazel King of Toledo, Ohio; one son, Dewey Bivins of Potosky; a brother, Frank Squire of Toledo, Ohio; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held from the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing and interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery at Hudson. Williamston Chapter O. E. S. had charge of the services.

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ackley were pleasantly surprised on their 25th wedding anniversary when a group of friends from Lansing and Williamston went to their home with basket lunches and helped celebrate the event. The evening was spent in visiting after which refreshments were served. The Ackleys received an automatic coffee maker and a silver serving tray with sugar and creamer.

FLIRTING WITH A JET . . . Lieut. A. L. Hall of the navy's medical corps service is shown standing in front of the intake of a jet aircraft during a test to determine just how close a person can come to it without being sucked into the intake. He wears a heavy belt to which is attached a safety line. The lieutenant found that you can give the deadly sucker an even break to within three feet of the intake.

Mackinac Area Was Once Sea Bottom

Once at the bottom of a shallow inland sea, the Mackinac Straits region have provided geologists with "good hunting" for fossils and rock illustrative of the history of the earth.

The rocks and fossils of this region are the subject of an exhibit in the University of Michigan Museum of Paleontology, which will be open to the public through October. Included in the exhibit are fossils typical of different geologic stages through which the Straits country has passed, color photographs of outstanding rock formations, and a series of color slides of the region.

It was some 300,000,000 years ago that Michigan and its neighboring states were submerged beneath a shallow sea which drained at various times into the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico, and Arctic Ocean. Through the eras of geologic time, erosion from bordering lowlands was washed into this sea and deposited on the bottom. Also deposited were the shells of creatures which lived in the sea. These shells, which along with the sediments hardened into sheets of limestone, shale and sandstone, are the fossils of modern times.

The kinds of sea life changed with the passing of time, the exhibit explains, and the fossils embedded in the strata of rock are therefore a key to the relative age of each layer. During at least one period of time the sea covering part of Michigan had no outlet to the ocean and like today's Great Salt Lake, increased in mineral content until a precipitation of gypsum and salt formed deposits on its bottom.

During another period, the seas withdrew and caves were formed in the region as running water dissolved some of the salt and gypsum.

M.S.C. Students Get First-Hand Advice

A new curriculum, designed to meet the pressing demands for college graduates schooled in the "down-to-earth" program, is being offered by the mechanical engineering department of Michigan State college.

More than 100 students, slanting their mechanical engineering careers to fill vital roles in manufacturing organizations, are getting first hand information from specialists imported direct from the manufacturing field.

Serving as faculty for the new curriculum are James M. Apple, formerly of the General Motors Corporation; George A. Limbocker, formerly of Oldsmobile division; and Fred L. Spalding, formerly engaged as a private consultant on industrial engineering problems in Chicago.

Plan Auxiliary Tour

Officials of the Michigan department of American Legion Auxiliary will visit Buck-Reasoner Post No. 238 on November 12 as a part of the annual tour of the lower peninsula. It was announced the past week. The visit here will be a district conclave and posts nearby are invited to attend the discussions and information meetings to be held at the L. O. O. F. hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Scheduled to come here for the visit are the state department president, department secretary and two department chairmen. Mrs. Marie Pratt, head of the Legion Auxiliary, issued a general invitation to the membership to attend.

Schedule Benefit Dance

The memorial field benefit dance, sponsored by the Holt Women's club civic committee, will be held Saturday night, November 6, from 8:30 to 12:00 at the Holt school gymnasium. Co-operating in the promotion of the benefit affair are the field committee and the school athletic association. All funds derived from the sale of tickets before and at the door will go toward the retirement of the field indebtedness. Arrangements have been completed for the Nichols band of Mason to furnish the music.

Coat Goes to Germany

A note placed in the coat sent by Judy Adecock, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Adecock, 1941 Walnut street, brought her a letter of thanks recently from Stuttgart, Germany. Judy contributed the coat and some dresses to a clothing drive conducted last spring by the Brownies under direction of Mrs. Ray Clark. The thank you note was received from the family Gier. It was in German, and the Adecocks had to have it translated.

SHOOT STORY

One Dozen Roses

By CHARLOTTE MCCARTHY

MRS. MOYER walked slowly, feeling as dismal as the drizzle day. This was her wedding anniversary and she knew, with no possible doubt, that her husband had forgotten about it. Even the head of her fox fur had an almost human expression of weary disillusion as the cold rain dripped over his nose.

All very well to remind herself that she should be thankful to have such a good husband. Never had he opened his own considerable pay envelope these last ten years. Nor had he stayed away a single evening, nor complained about the way she managed her household. But tomorrow the girls would call up to find out about her present, and what could she tell them?

Afterwards, Mrs. Moyer could never remember just how she got the idea, but she found herself in the florist's.

"One dozen of your best roses, please." Her own voice surprised her, but she gave her own address calmly, and told the girl that she did not wish to enclose a card.

Years ago, when money had been scarce and flowers an almost unthought-of luxury, her husband had sent her, on their anniversary, a dozen perfect roses. There had been no card enclosed—no need of one.

OVER the dinner table that night, she chatted about the trivial happenings of the day.

"Oh, dear! That bill at Taylors, and I forgot all about it. This is the fourth, isn't it?"

"It's the fourth, all right." His voice was cheerful. "Old Mordock came around for the rent today, and he never misses the exact date."

"I thought you had forgotten the date, but now I can only believe it just doesn't mean anything to you."

She tried to keep the tears out of her voice, saying the very thing she had made up her mind that wild horses couldn't drag out of her, but having started she had no intention of backing down now. I've heard other women saying that their husbands sometimes forgot, but I never dreamed that...

The doorkbell pealed an interruption.

"A box for you... looks like flowers." She didn't look at him as she fumbled with the ribbon.

She lifted the fragrant blooms to hide her face. "They're gorgeous!" Her fingers trembled, as she pretended to search among the rustling paper for a card. "But who could have sent them?"

"Don't you remember a certain fellow who sent you roses 30 years ago? You didn't need a card then."

She almost dropped the flowers. Of all the brazen... but surely he wouldn't dare pretend...?

But he evidently would. "You thought I'd forgotten, didn't you? I haven't asked in years just how you feel about it, but to me it's still the most important date in my life."

FOR the first time in her life, Mrs. Moyer knew that she was going to make a scene. What she was going to use for an excuse, she couldn't tell for her life imagine, since she just could produce the florist's bill to prove that she knew he was trying to take credit for something he hadn't done... and dressing it up with sloppy sentiment to make matters worse.

Suddenly she became aware that the phone was ringing shrilly. "Hello." Her voice was surprisingly calm.

"Mrs. Moyer? This is the florist calling. A lady placed an order for a dozen roses to be delivered to your address, and the girl who took the order did not know that all our roses had been sold. She didn't leave a name. As a matter of fact, we did deliver another order there... the ones Mr. Moyer ordered, so I hope you aren't too disappointed... I'd have let you know sooner, but..."

"Oh, you let me know in time... just in time," she said dazedly and, leaving the receiver dangling from the hook, rushed into the dining room.

Mary Droscha

The Aurelius P. T. A. had a Halloween party last Thursday night at the school for the children and the adults.

Clarence Mathews was injured Thursday, October 28, when his tractor tipped over on him. His condition is slowly improving. He is in the Stinson hospital at Baton Rouge.

A working bee of men got together last Saturday and Sunday and picked the standing corn of Clarence Mathews. They also hauled him a large pile of firewood. Next Saturday they will shred what corn he had cut.

The Sewing club met with Mrs. Frances Palmer last week. Because of the church fair there will be no meeting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Catt and Mrs. Birdie Densore of Baton Rouge visited Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones and family visited relatives in Detroit over the week end.

A new front has been put on the telephone office. Claude McKenzie is painting the building.

There is a new barber in town. He is H. Weller of Holt.

Merle Parker is spending a week's vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kuder spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parish of Mason.

Several windows were broken and a mail box destroyed at Aurelius and Barnes schools over the Halloween week end.

The U and I club of Baton Rouge met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lulu Clark on Barnes road. G. Elmer McArthur, local attorney, spoke on the amendments to be voted on at the coming election.

Mrs. Clark was assisted by the legislative committee chairman, Mrs. Kathryn Clark and helpers, Mrs. Hattie Adams, Mrs. Edna Hutson, Miss Helen Stirling, Mrs. Gladys Miller and Mrs. Maude Perrine.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller spent Sunday at their cabin at West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson of Ventura, California, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Clark visited his brother, Elbert Clark, over the week end at Inlay City. They attended a birthday party in honor of his mother, Mrs. Marian Clark. Twenty guests were present.

BAGWELL GETS AWARD

Paul D. Bagwell, president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and head of Michigan State college's department of written and spoken English, has been selected to membership in the Academy of Arts and Sciences, International, and the affiliated Order of Distinguished Americans. These awards were made on the basis of academic achievement and Prof. Bagwell's work with the nation's youth in the USJC organization.

Minor Factors May Cause Insomnia

Perhaps it isn't worry about what has happened or may happen that keeps you from getting to sleep promptly.

It could be some physical discomfort that is so minor that you are not even aware of it, according to Dr. Carl D. Camp, chairman of the Department of Neurology in the University of Michigan Medical School.

"A complete physical examination might solve the mystery of why sleep refuses to come," Dr. Camp declared. "Many persons with a minor discomfort have become so used to it they will not tell about it and may even deny its existence."

Some nerve stimulation in or about the head, such as pressure on a nerve that may not cause any noticeable pain, could contribute to insomnia, the doctor explained. Difficulty in breathing, could be responsible. A more common cause could be minor upset in the gastro-intestinal tract. A glass of warm milk or regulation of eating before going to bed often promotes sleep when stomach disturbances cause lack of sleep, Dr. Camp reported.

The story of a bald-headed man who suffered from insomnia and found sleep came quickly after a doctor prescribed a nighttime to keep the breeze from the window off his head was used by Dr. Camp to emphasize how some relatively unimportant discomfort can be to blame.

"One thing that should be avoided is the use of drugs to promote sleep," he declared. "Temporary use of sleeping potions after operations or some painful injury is proper, if under proper supervision, but unregulated use is not only dangerous but habit forming. People become so worried for fear they won't sleep without taking a capsule that they actually are unable to sleep."

Dr. Camp explained that fear and anxiety are still the most common causes of insomnia. In the extreme cases, some persons are afraid to go to sleep because they may not wake up and others are afraid of going crazy while asleep, he said. Reassurance and sometimes psychoanalysis are needed to cure such persons, Dr. Camp pointed out. He was most emphatic, however, in declaring that he knew of no case where insomnia had caused insanity.

For those persons who have so conditioned themselves to staying awake that it has become a habit, Dr. Camp suggests that a regular routine before going to bed might help. Brushing your teeth, placing your watch in a certain place, arranging clothing for wear the next day and other such activities may establish an attitude for sleep.

NAMED HARVEST QUEEN

Ruth Hawley, Hart freshman, is the 1948 harvest queen at Michigan State college, according to the results of a popular poll of agricultural students at the college.

She was crowned by Dean Ernest L. Anthony of the agricultural school, at the annual harvest ball. Her court of honor included Sherry Nevons, South Haven; Janet Moss, Flint; Pat Funk and Jean Kunkin, Detroit students.

The by-laws have been drawn up by the committee and will be presented for discussion and approval. A program will conclude the meeting. All parents and teachers in the community interested in school affairs.

Aggies Close Football Season With Victory

The Aggies marked their final game with victory against Haslett Friday afternoon at Dansville. At the end of the first quarter Haslett and Dansville were tied 7 to 7, but in the second quarter Dansville scored two more touchdowns, making the score at the half 21 to 7.

In the third quarter Haslett scored another touchdown with the Aggies coming through with two more to make the count 35-14. In the final quarter neither team was able to make a goal and the score remained 35-14. The team played with fine school spirit with Sam Williams turning in his usual good game.

This game makes Dansville four wins out of seven starts. They tied for second place with three other schools. Practically all of the Aggie substitutes participated in this game and showed their ability in the game.

Seniors who played their final game were Williams, Chelf, Rappley, Hayhoe, Frisell, Lawrence, Everett, Updike, Bartlett, Erler and Heffy.

Plan Missionary Program

Sunday, November 7, will be missionary Sunday at the Methodist Sunday school with Mrs. Aethen Witt in charge. COBRA
TONE ARM
Only Zenith Has It

We have just installed a new high-powered WESTINGHOUSE (STRATOVISION) TELEVISION SET, plus a very good antenna. Frankly, we scarcely dared hope that we could bring in a picture, since television reception is not supposed to be picked up more than 25 miles from the TV sending station. Fifty miles is considered the fringe area, and here we are way out on the ragged edge and still picked up a number of stations.

However, in our test run, we used top-notch WESTINGHOUSE equipment which spelled the difference between success and failure. We do get pictures, not as clear as you'll see them in Detroit, of course, but clear enough to be seen and appreciated.

Come in and see for yourself—it will be a new experience.

We want to be frank with you and tell you that television is very definitely not within the reach of every home. It's expensive to the point of luxury, but we were first to pioneer FM in Mason, and we try to keep up with every new radio development, which makes us your leading radio and appliance store. Now it's new WESTINGHOUSE (STRATOVISION) TELEVISION SETS. (Remember station KDKA on your old crystal set—Westinghouse is one of the oldest companies in radio and television manufacture.)

NOTE:

Most television programs come through in the evening. So that everyone will have an opportunity to see it, we plan to leave the set in the window on most evenings when the reception is good. Television is peculiar, sometimes we cannot bring it in due to weather conditions. Sometimes reception is better than others. Stop by the Jewett Appliance window any evening.

For those of you who must make television wait, we have the largest and finest selections of radios in Mason, complete with FM, foreign reception, high-powered table and portable models. Best of all, we've got a radio for every room and in every price range, from $14.95 up, so that radio entertainment, even if it can't yet be television, is within the reach of every home.

If you can afford television, we have it for you; if you have to be content with a small table set, we have that, too, and either purchase, we assure you, is equally important to every person on the Jewett staff.

Mason Slips Past Eaton Rapids 6-0, Grand Ledge Next

Mason ended the 1948 home stand by eking out a slim 6-0 win over Eaton Rapids Friday night. The Bulldogs looked anything but sharp. The Greyhounds held the Mason outfit in pretty fair order.

Joe Johnson pulled the Mason chestnuts out of the fire in the second quarter in the one and only sustained offensive threat of the game. Eaton Rapids never progressed beyond Mason's 20-yard stripe. The Eaton Rapids game was as weird from a spectator point of view as the Holt contest last week. By getting by Eaton Rapids Mason still has a slim chance of grabbing a share of Capital Circuit honors. The big "if" is the outcome of the Eaton Rapids-Charlotte contest next week.

Mason winds up the 1948 grid season Friday night at Grand Ledge. The Comets are in the cellar of the conference but still are mighty dangerous. All the Comets losses have come after hard-fought contests. Next Friday's game might be the one the Comets grab. The old standby, Tom Van der Steen, is back in the Eaton backfield where he has been for the last three years. He is a big, hard runner, who would be an asset to any team.

Against Eaton Rapids Mason played with a juggled lineup. Windy Fell and Dan Garver, both in the starting backfield all season and the team's leading scorers, sat the game out with injuries. Both men are probably lost for the Grand Ledge game, too.

Mason started out as if it was going places when the first few plays elicited but every huddle, which was recovered by Jake Neahr for the Greyhounds, stopped the drive. The Greyhounds took to the air but could not connect and kicked to the Mason 20. Mason brought the ball up to midfield but a bad pass from center set the Bulldogs back 20 yards.

In the second quarter Mason looked like a football team. Joe Johnson, on a quarterback sneak, took off from the Mason 20-yard line, and raced 50 yards before being pulled down from behind. A pass from Johnson to Ron Stolz and an off-tackle gain by Merritt Snyder accounted for a first down. Snyder then dropped back and flipped a pass to Johnson in the flat who streaked down the sideline for the marker. Bob Lyons' attempt for the extra point was wide.

The rest of the game was played in midfield. Mason started in the last quarter and elicited on several good pass plays but the gains were nullified by 95 straight yards worth of pushing and offside penalties. There was a horn on every play. Eaton Rapids was never a threat. The Greyhounds made all of their gains short ones and confined them to the midfield.

Mason Lacked Fire
The Mason outfit didn't have any fire. Twice within a few plays the Bulldogs were called for too much time. Blocking was sloppy when there was any blocking at all. The Bulldogs snapped out of it on defense with little Stan Kranz leading the way until he was stopped in the last few minutes of the game. Kranz was carried off the field and to the hospital after passing out because of a heart condition. The Mason player was discharged from the hospital Saturday. Joe Johnson and Snyder were the only backs who could be counted on for gains consistently. Kenny Mathews entered the game in the third quarter and was good for a run of 25 yards before being tackled by a bad shoulder. Denny Stolz, used only on defense in the Mason backfield, played heads-up ball.

Keith Rathbun and Dick Lyons were the spark plugs of the Eaton county boys on offense with Rath-bun also shining on defense. Bob Ledergerber played a defensive game that looked good at center. It was little Jim Scott who stole the show with his hard running and passing.

Charlotte Leads For Circuit Title

Charlotte, in the game of the week, earned a share of the Capital Circuit title with a 20-6 victory over Everett. It was the Orioles' sixth win of the season with no losses.

Charlotte grabbed a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter. The first score came on a line plunge by Bob Peterson. Earl Rolter picked up the second from two yards out. Then Everett got down to business. The Orioles were unable to score the rest of the half. A pass scored the final Charlotte touchdown in the last quarter when Gammage snagged one from Peterson. Everett put up a stiff battle that held the high scoring Orioles in check most of the game.

The Vikings scored their touchdown in the third period by recovering a Charlotte fumble and taking to the air to move the ball to the 2-yard line from where John Christiansen sneaked it over.

Howell staged a comeback by topping Grand Ledge 14-6. It was Grand Ledge's fourth straight conference loss.

The outcome of the 1949 league play will be determined at Charlotte Friday night when Eaton Rapids will try to hand Charlotte its first defeat. If Eaton Rapids wins and Mason comes through, Mason will back in to share the league title.

Part 4

Broadway Musical Comes to Fox Screen

"Swell Guy," starring Sonny Tufts, Ann Blyth and Ruth Warrick, will be shown at the Fox on Saturday. Tufts departs from his usual type of role by portraying part of a man who can't find the path to home.

From Stage Success
"Up in Central Park," a musical production, made from the long-run Broadway stage hit and starring Deanna Durbin, Dick Haymes and Vincent Price, will be shown at the Fox on Sunday and Monday. The story, which has Miss Durbin and her father, played by the Irish newcomer Albert Sharpe, arriving in this country from Ireland and falling into the hands of old New York's in-famous Boss Tweed political machine, permits the presentation of musical numbers composed by Sigmond Romberg and Dorothy Fields.

Dick Haymes plays a crusading reporter for the New York Times, whose pitiless publicity wrecks Tweed, played by Price, who is Haymes' rival for Miss Durbin's affection.

Hubbard Family
Another fine play bearing the extraordinary craftsmanship of Lillian Hellman has been transformed into a motion picture. It is "Another Part of the Forest," starring Fredric March, Dan Duray, Edmond O'Brien and Ann Blyth. The film will be shown at the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Hubbard family, a selfish, bickering group of people who made life miserable for each other and for the community as a whole in Miss Hellman's "The Little Foxes," reappears in "Another Part of the Forest," an exciting post-Civil War story.

March, as the head of the family, Duryea, O'Brien and Miss Blyth play his children. Florence Eldridge, who is March's wife in real life, plays the role of his wife in the picture. She is the only member of the family who has some kindness in her nature.

Joe Kirkwood as Joe Palooka will be seen in "Fighting Mad,"

Deanna Durbin and Dick Haymes are the stars of "Up in Central Park," the Sunday and Monday attraction at the Fox.

part of a double feature program scheduled for the Fox Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

Kirkwood, as Palooka, is forced into ring retirement following a secret eye operation after an injury in a bout. However, marriage to his girl, Elyse Knox, is announced as the reason for his giving up boxing. Palooka goes on a vaudeville tour with singer Patricia Dane, which makes Anne jealous, though she is being courted by John Hubbard, employer of racketeer Charles Canale. Meanwhile Palooka's manager, Leon Errol, buys an interest in heavyweight Jack Shea, secretly owned by mobster Cane. Knobby discovers he is being used as a bait for Lundy's ring set-ups, but the racketeer refuses to let Walsh give up his interest. Though faced with loss of his eyesight if hit about the head, Palooka signs to fight Lundy to extract Knobby from his predicament.

Sport of Kings
Alive with the thrills of some of the greatest races ever run, "The Winner's Circle" has moments of high excitement culled from actual newsreel films and blended into a dramatic and authentic story of thoroughbred racing as it actually exists today. Woven into the spectacle of the turf is the dramatic story of one thoroughbred's rise to the winner's circle. The Winner's Circle, coming to the Fox on Thursday and Friday, tells the story in an unusual documentary manner. It's the horse's own story from the time he is weaned until, as a three-year-old, he makes his triumphant entry into the winner's circle. Failures, setbacks and heartaches are as real as the thoroughbred colt seen as the equine star of the film.

Fowlerville Holds Holt to Tie

Ingham County league football saved some of its surprises until the final curtain. The No. 1 surprise last Friday night was a scoreless tie between Holt and Fowlerville.

The Fowlerville Gladiators had not won a victory all year and Holt had not lost a league game. Fowlerville didn't win a victory and Holt didn't meet defeat—but the two teams played to a scoreless tie at Fowlerville. Holt just couldn't crack the Fowlerville line to score although the Ramblers reached the 2-yard stripe once. The Gladiators refused to yield.

The tie means nothing in the standings. Holt won the league trophy by defeating every school except Fowlerville.

Hornets Defeated
Another surprise night was the 12-7 setback Stockbridge handed Williamson.

Stockbridge tallied six points in the third quarter. Williamson went ahead in the third, boasting a 7-6 lead. Then the Panthers pushed across another marker.

Gene Smith climaxed a 70-yard march in the third period to tie the score and the extra point put the Hornets ahead. In the same third quarter Tom Campbell rifled a pass to Buford Neelley to give Stockbridge another six points and a victory.

Leslie Drops Another
Okemos came from behind to fashion a 13-7 victory over Leslie Friday afternoon. Leslie held a 7-0 lead at the half. Okemos made a touchdown in the third period but failed to add the point. In the last quarter Joe Hovanessian, bulldog over from the five to give victory to the Indians.

Dansville had an easy time with Haslett, running up a 38-14 score. Haslett was in the ball game the first half, trailing only 19-14 at the half. The Aggies added a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter and another in the fourth while Haslett was held scoreless.

Sammy Williams was back in full stride for the Aggies. He crossed the Haslett goal line four times. Junior Hayhoe and Wayne Chelf made the other two touchdowns for Dansville.

Frank Call home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Call entertained their children for supper Sunday evening.

The Fulton P. T. A. held its box social and Halloween party October 30 at the Look Center hall. Games, community singing and music furnished the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Lucille Beach received the prize for the best box and Miss Heniz received the guest prize.

Pupils of the Fulton school have a new radio.

The Fulton school children had a half day holiday Tuesday. A music meeting was at the Rowley school.

Truman's Name On Ballot for Month

No more misleading information was ever dished out than the newspaper fiction that President Truman's name might not appear on Tuesday's ballots. For several days last week daily newspapers carried stories about the Democrats failing to file a list of electors in time to get the names on the ballots. Other newspapers declared that failure to file the list of electors would keep President Truman's name off the ballot.

In one of the Sunday newspapers there was a front page piece, "Legal technicalities that threatened for a time to keep President Truman's name off the Tuesday election ballot in Michigan were cleared up late Saturday when the Democratic state committee filed a complete list of its presidential electors with state officials."

In the same newspaper Saturday was a copy of the Lansing voting machine ballot and in space No. 29 B were the names of Harry S. Truman and Alben B. Barkley. On the front page of the same paper 10 days before was a picture showing County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard standing beside a pile of ballots ready for delivery. Those ballots carried the name of President Truman.

Why would even a daily newspaper reporter believe that it would be possible to wait until Saturday night before deciding on what names were to be printed on the ballots for Tuesday's election? The law requires that printed ballots be delivered to township and city clerks at least 10 days before an election. Ballots for the use of absent voters were mailed out two weeks ago.

Back before 1928 the names of presidential electors did appear on Michigan ballots. Then the law was changed, because the printing of the names of electors on the ballot was held to be confusing to voters.

A Job for Public Health

Now that the annual Red Feather campaign is over with in Lansing, and before the newest private health agency campaign is launched is a good time to think about some of these drives.

A lot of people are reaching the conclusion that the county health department should take over the functions of the private agencies. There doesn't seem to be any good reason why the work of the TB society, the infantile paralysis group, the cancer groups, the heart disease organizations, crippled children agencies and the dozens of others which now go their own way can not be taken over by the public health departments.

A big share of the funds raised by private agencies is spent for the salaries of executive secretaries and the maintenance of offices and office staffs.

There was a time before the establishment of public health departments when there was need for private agencies. The private agencies pioneered in tuberculosis control.

There was a time when private stage coach lines performed valuable services. Yet they are not still being operated. The railroads and bus lines have taken over the transportation field. There was a time when midwives performed valuable services. Few of them are active now.

Times change. Ingham county now has a health department which serves every section of the county. The health department has the facilities for handling both the educational and follow-up campaigns on infantile paralysis, cancer and tuberculosis. Volunteer organizations can be enlisted in the cause of good health without having paid staffs. Under the present setup there is duplication of effort. There is duplication of financing. The citizen digs down in his pocket to contribute to private agencies and then digs again at tax time.

A few years ago one of the agencies which annually stages financial drives actually tried to block the Kellogg Foundation from coming into Ingham county. If the Kellogg Foundation came into Ingham county, the agency representative declared, there would be no need for the agency she represented.

Yes, the agencies all represent good causes. They are all in the public interest. But wouldn't it be better to consolidate a lot of those agencies under the public health program, instead of just consolidating the campaigns for funds? A lot of people are beginning to think so.

The Right to Vote

A number of Ingham people, probably 100 at least, were denied the right to vote at Tuesday's election. They were not permitted to cast their ballots because of the action of the board of supervisors. The board of supervisors by resolution decreed that registration can not be made during the 20 days preceding an election.

Registered voters who moved from one precinct to another in the same city or township since October 13 were permitted to vote. Qualified voters who moved from one township to another or from city to township or from township to city since October 13 were not permitted to vote. There were several cases where Mason voters moved to the edge of town out in Vevay township and under the new decree of the county board they could not vote Tuesday.

It's true that people have abused the privilege of swearing in their votes on election day. Yet that privilege might better be abused than taken away altogether from people who must move from one township or city to another during the 20 days preceding an election. The supervisors should reconsider their hasty action—action which denied to many qualified voters the right to cast their ballots Tuesday.

The Issue Now Is:

Who's Going to Pay for What? And How?

By Vernon J. Brown

Before this appears in print the people of Michigan will have gone to the polls on election day; will have cast their ballots expressing their preference for the various candidates; and will have registered their opinions regarding certain amendments proposed as changes in our state constitution and on other propositions. Election boards will have worked long hours into the next morning counting the votes cast. News gatherers will have raced over the election districts gathering returns to feed the presses of the daily newspapers and to provide the radio newscasters with material to satisfy the listening thousands scattered over the nation. An interested world will have listened too—and eagerly in some countries.

Elections and the campaigns that precede them consume a great deal of time, occupy much money, fill miles of news columns and assuage the ears of a patient and long suffering electorate with harangues, pleas and argument.

Elections in the American tradition are in class by themselves. Nowhere else on earth can their counterparts be found. In very few countries are they to be approached as to freedom of choice enjoyed by those who vote. In these United States this freedom of choice and of expression has become so well entrenched in our way of life that the struggle nowadays is to kindle and arouse and keep alive sufficient public interest to guarantee an expression from the electorate that can be accepted as a decision.

Indeed it might be said that the average voter is so fed up on campaign promises and candidate cleverness that naivete is imminent. Clear cut issues no longer divide parties, and shadow boxing over artificially contrived differences mark the utterances of the average state and local office seeker.

Issue Is Dodged
A case in point has been the studied efforts on the part of both Governor Simpson and his opponent, G. Mennen Williams, to dodge the issue of state finance—the only genuine and important issue in which the people are concerned. Whatever the voters may have done Tuesday with the question of sales tax diversion, neither candidate has dared make himself heard on what his future plans might include.

Adoption of the diversion amendment two years ago tied up about 75¢ of every sales tax dollar and set it aside free of any possible legislative control. Whenever this present inflationary period draws to an end, the state will face serious financial troubles. Neither candidate dared discuss what would be done for the schools and the cities in case the amendment was repealed and ness? Supposing a typesetter stepped into the shop and said to Mac, "Why don't you fire these two men at the machine? Look at their profits! See how that man gets etatin when he goes after shrdlu. See how that other man sends over loose lines. Kick the rascals out. Hire me. I have four children, a wife and a mother-in-law to support. One of my men goes to the long church. The other has an uncle who lives in Grosse Pointe. Hire me."

That applicant wouldn't be hired by Mac, but if he pleaded long enough and loud enough and showed that he once was a candidate for prosecuting attorney he would probably be elected to a political office.

Few men run for high public office on their qualifications or their records, and the few who do run don't often get elected to the top posts. The top posts go to the ones who attack someone or who promise things they know they can't deliver.

The art of governing mankind by deceiving them is nothing new in the history of the world. It's always been that way from the time of the ancient kings of the Nile down through the Caesars and Napoleons and Hitlers. And here in the United States we have had our share. The man who promises most too often gets the most votes. As H. L. Mencken once remarked, "Politics has come to mean who gets what, when and how."

Well, let's hope we pick the lesser of two evils Tuesday. That's a negative attitude but it's the way a lot of people vote.

More people stood by to watch the Sycamore tear out the old Elm street bridge than have visited the site to see the new bridge built. Another few days and the work will be completed. Now is the time to be figuring out dedication exercises. There has not been a bridge dedication in Mason for 30 years or more and this occasion should not be permitted to pass without ceremonials.

Somebody should cut ribbons. Somebody should make a speech. The school band should play the "Watch on the Rhine." Somebody should recite "I Stood on the Bridge at Midnight." Somebody should dump a few buckets of water in above the bridge.

Just why it was necessary to rip up all the shrubs and trees and remove the beautiful curves above and below the bridge are things that only engineers can answer. It's unsightly, unnatural and wasteful and I for one hope Mother Nature gains revenge for the affront. It would serve Mason right if both the Sycamore and Willow decided to flow around town instead of through the hideous channel now provided.

neither dared suggest a possible remedy for state finance; its in case it is to remain in the constitution.

Both candidates talked about more roads; bigger mental hospitals; more generous old age assistance and aid for the blind, the dependent children and other recipients of social aid; bigger and better colleges and a greater university. A bridge across the straits was held up as a lure for upper peninsula votes by one candidate and subsidies for more ferries by another. But no candidate for governor nor any candidate running on either ticket for any state office dared mention where the money is to come from.

The governor talked about streamlining state government and about abolishing state boards. He talked of this two years ago when there was one less state board than can now be counted in state government. Bigger salaries for state officials and for the members of the state legislature have been urged but nowhere has anyone indicated who is to pay or in what manner.

Now that election is over and the results are known, someone will be forced to set about the business of settling some of these questions.

Dodging Is Costly
Had the legislatures of 1929 and 1931 and the intervening special sessions settled down to the business of facing tax revision, the 15-mill amendment would never have been written into the constitution.

Had the legislature of 1939 not flagrantly scuttled the civil service law of 1937, the civil service clause of our state constitution would never have been inserted by the voters in 1940.

Had the legislatures of 1941 to 1945 given proper consideration to the plight of the cities and the dire needs of the public schools of this state, the sales tax diversion amendment might have been avoided.

When the people get their mad up they do the drastic thing. Usually this madness comes only after long neglect and indifference.

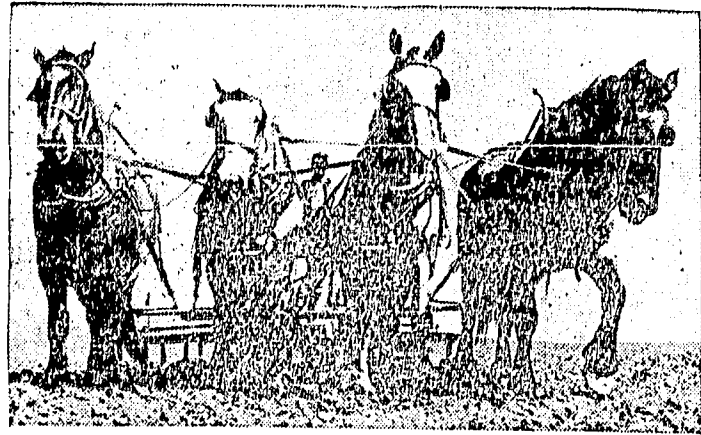

No matter how the diversion amendment has been treated by the voters there are grave questions which some administration must face with resolution and a determination to solve. If the diversion amendment remains in the constitution then there must either be a shift of functions from state to local governments, or new sources of revenue must be tapped. If the diversion amend-

The campaign is over. Stern duty calls for eyes front and an end to dodging the issues.

State officials and legislators and students of government complain that too much of the taxes and revenues of the state and its lesser units is earmarked for specific purposes and that in consequence the administration is practically helpless when it comes to finances. The 15-mill amendment, a constitutionally rigid civil service mandate, earmarking of all motor vehicle revenues and the sales tax diversion amendment are all examples of what can be expected when the necessities and the desires of the people are ignored and decisions are dodged and put off.

Plan Hunters Ball

A hunter's ball, sponsored by the Leslie post of the American Legion, will be held at the high school auditorium Saturday evening, November 6. Each of the high school classes have entered two candidates each to be crowned as queen of the hunters. Those who have been nominated are: Seniors, Barbara Armbruster and Wilma Mann; Juniors, Terry Lynch and Pat Warner; sophomores, Joyce Jordan and Yvonne Lantz; freshmen, Lillian Stone and Althea Fogg; eighth grade, Carol Todd and Sara Jo Aldrich; and seventh grade, Marilyn Bacon and Yvonne Clark. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes will be crowned the queen. A king of the ball is also to be selected but no candidates have yet been announced. A box social will also be held in connection with the ball.

Elect Grange Officers

The Leslie Community Grange has elected the following officers: Grange master, Mrs. Wesley Brownlee; overseer, Earl Gordon; lecturer, Mrs. Floyd Fox; steward, Wesley Brownlee; assistant steward, Kenneth Gaddy; lady assistant, Mrs. Kenneth Gaddy; chaplain, Mrs. William Kanavin; gatekeeper, Norman Perry; home economist, Mrs. Robert Brownlee; Ceres, Mrs. L. S. Barnes; Flora, Mrs. Herbert Stevens; and Pomona, Mrs. Mate Peacock.

To Sponsor Minstrel Show

The Band Mothers of the Leslie high school are planning for a minstrel show in the near future. A committee composed of Mrs. Clyde Allen, Mrs. R. O. Edwards and Mrs. Phil Lyon have been appointed to select the show.

Qualifies in State Contest

Kenneth Vince, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Vince, has been awarded a medal for qualifying with a second division rating in the district and state solo and ensembles at Michigan State college. This is the first time that a student of the Leslie schools has won an award of this proportion.

Willing Workers Elect

The Willing Workers recently elected officers at the home of Mrs. C. C. Niswonger. They selected the following: President, Mrs. Roland Teubner; vice president, Mrs. L. H. Blackmore; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Claud Fay; and chaplain, Mrs. Hugh Whitney. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jack Chamberlain, Thursday, November 18.

Mrs. Loyd Hume is a patient at Foote hospital, Jackson. The women of the Felt Plains church held a baked goods sale at the GAR hall Saturday.

The New York Central railroad crossing on Mill street is closed for a few days while the crossing is being relaid. In the meantime, US-127, which uses this crossing, is being detoured by Bellevue and Russell streets, thus eliminating through traffic from the main business section of Leslie.

The Leslie post VFW will hold a pancake supper at the GAR hall Saturday evening, November 6. Leslie Congregational church met at the chapel Wednesday evening for a discussion of the topic, "Creation or Evolution, Which?"

The Royal Daughters of the Leslie Congregational church met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. H. Luther. Mrs. Myrtle Disenroth and Mrs. Edith Harwood assisted as hostesses.

Of Interest to Farmers

Soil Testing Is Good Farm Practice

The story that old mother earth can tell is one that should interest every progressive farmer, truck crop grower, greenhouse operator, nurseryman and gardener, believes Kirk Lawton, soil scientist at Michigan State college.

Testing soils to find out the lime and fertilizer need and the plant nutrient content of the soil will point the way to sound soil management, the specialist believes. Many organizations including the county extension services, the Farm Bureau, soil conservation districts, and civic groups, feel that soil testing is an action program that fits well into good farm management.

A number of agencies in Michigan carry on soil testing services. A central testing laboratory is maintained by Michigan State college's soil science department where samples may be sent for analysis and appropriate soil management recommendations. Tests for the purity of manure and ground limestone are also made.

Tests may also be made in each county in the state by the county agricultural agent or by the county testing laboratory. Well-equipped laboratories have now been established in Berrien, Branch, Clinton, Jackson, Mason, Van Buren and in other counties.

When collecting soil samples, Lawton advises, it is well to remember that a test is only as accurate as the sample from which it is made. Directions for taking samples can be obtained from county agricultural agents or the Soil Science Department, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Plowing Time Can Be Fall or Spring

The old question of fall plowing versus spring plowing is again making the rounds. Both methods have their advantages, says Paul Road, Michigan State college soils specialist.

Fall plowing, if it is the method chosen, should be done very late in the fall, he points out. It's risky to fall plow land with much of a slope because of erosion. The protection of a crop is destroyed by fall plowing and wind and water erosion can take place.

On the credit side of the ledger, fall plowing permits early planting in the spring of such crops as sugar beets, oats and barley and is beneficial to the soil structure.

Michigan farmers are being encouraged to go after the extra profits to be had by growing certified seed. Details can be obtained from the Michigan Crop Improvement association, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Poultrymen Advised To Retain All Pullets

Culling Hens Is Means Of Increasing Returns

To assure top poultry profits during the winter season, keep an all-pullet flock. Pullets lay in the fall and winter when egg prices are high. At the same time, old hens are going through their fall molt and consuming 25 to 30 pounds of feed while producing no eggs.

In the spring, when old hens resume laying, egg prices are down, thus necessitating a very heavy layer to pay the $1.50 feed bill which was amassed during the winter months.

Old hens may be sold at once or they may be culled individually as they go out of production. A weekly check of the old hen flock will enable the poultryman to cull out the losers.

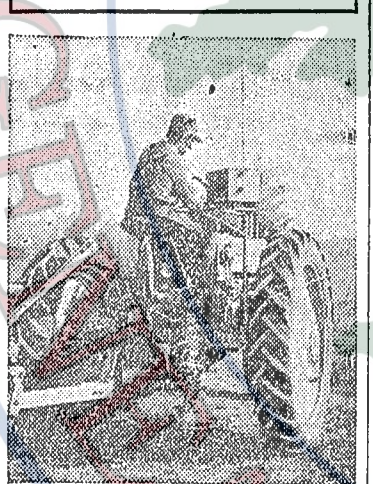

If an old hen flock is maintained over the winter months, separate housing for pullets and old hens should be provided for best management and disease control.

As another step in culling the poultry flock, old roosters also should be eliminated. They serve no useful purpose and eat lots of feed.

Some pullets also may have to be culled if the flock is to be maintained at the desired size for profitable operation throughout the winter. In this case, only the best potential layers should be retained. A good ready-to-lay pullet is one that is smoothly feathered, plump in body and carries richly pigmented shanks.

Pullets so developed can be brought into 50 per cent egg production without crowding by the time they are six months old. Pullets, however, never should be forced into high production during their first two months of laying.

Innovation for Farmers

Marking another step forward in the advancing standard of living for the American farmer, the first radio designed and built expressly for use on farm tractors now is on the market.

The new radio, introduced by a Kansas City manufacturer, gives the farmer access during his working hours in the field to whatever he desires in the way of entertainment, news reports, crop information and weather forecasts.

Equipped with a universal mounting, this set is readily installed on any make or model farm tractor. Cabinet and chassis are weather-proof and shockproof. Eight tubes, including two rectifiers, a superheterodyne circuit and telephoto antenna comprise the power unit.

Fertilizer Is Valuable For Succeeding Crops

Farmers who think fertilizer costs should be charged off in one year are overlooking carry-over assets that pay long-term dividends in bigger crop yields, according to Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

A good feed of fertilizer gives the soil a backlog of plant nutrients that benefit succeeding crops. Well-fertilized legume-grass crops in any good soil building program leave behind them important carry-over values. Legume-grass mixtures fed with plenty of phosphate and potash will add to the soil's organic matter and build soil structure. They will improve tilth, drainage and ventilation.

Because of these carry-over benefits, agronomists recommend a minimum of three years for charging off the cost of fertilizer applications.

Thorough Check of Silo Will Prevent Wastage

Silos will help to assure good use of this year's bumper crop of corn stalks. To prevent waste of the ensiled crop, however, the silo must be in good condition.

Thorough cleaning is the first step, entailing cleaning out the pit and scraping old silage off walls. Walls should be examined for air leaks, using melted paraffin to fill small cracks in mortar joints or between silo staves.

Northern Michigan Calves Sell High

Producers of beef feeder calves in northern Michigan found many buyers wanted their quality animals at Gaylord and West Branch sales during late October.

Quality feeder calves brought prices well above the Chicago market quotations at both sales. Breeders are encouraged over the program which is gaining in popularity.

Michigan State college livestock and farm management specialists have assisted these groups in utilizing cut-over grazing land in production of quality feeder animals. An abundance of grass and legume pasture and hay is the backbone of the successful program, according to county agricultural agents in the area.

Winter Feeding Can Start Now

Pasture days for Michigan cows are about at an end so A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college, advises beginning the winter feeding program as soon as possible.

The silo should be opened to prevent spoilage of the top layer. Fresh chopped stalks can be fed to supplement the daily feed. A balanced grain ration should be worked out and feeding begun. Once the milk flow has dropped, Baltzer points out, it is impossible to bring it back up. Good feeding will help to hold production at a profitable level.

The specialist gives a word of caution about the cows' water supply. Sudden freezing can cause broken pipes. A little protection will prevent a sudden stop in the water supply due to freezing weather.

Swine Project Entries Now Open

An opportunity for Michigan farmers to demonstrate their skill in hog raising has been announced by Harry Moxley, extension animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college.

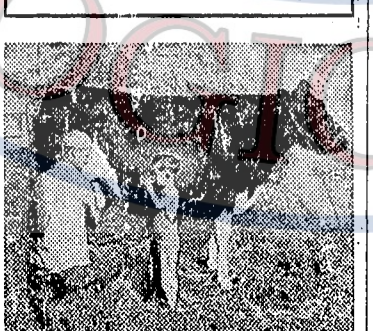

The Winter Swine Feeding Project, an annual event, is open now and will close during Farmers' Week late in January when the details that have been entered will be shown and judged.

For eligibility, hogs entered must have been farrowed after August 1 and must weigh less than 90 pounds at the time they are entered.

Entry blanks can be secured from county agricultural agents or by writing to the department of animal husbandry, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Farmers' Week, Michigan's best known agricultural event, will be held at Michigan State college again next year from January 21-28. Exhibits, demonstrations, contests and educational programs are expected to draw in excess of 30,000 rural people to the East Lansing campus.

Private Life of Bossy

In the current craze for dissecting private lives even Bossy is not immune. The inevitable prober comes up with these statistics:

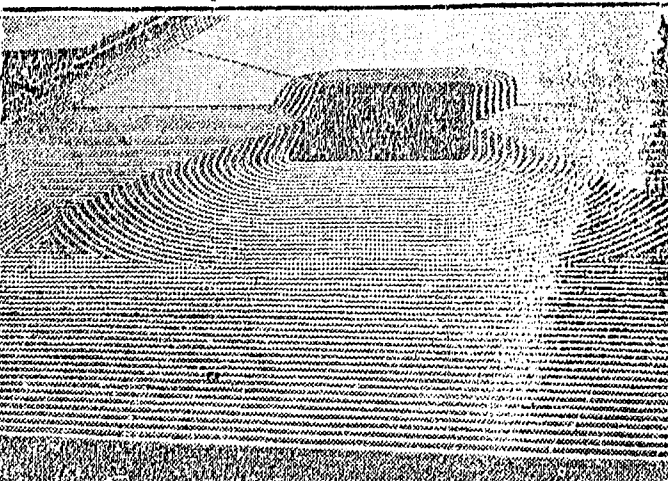

Bossy grazes only seven and a half hours daily, regardless of how much feed she gets. She does 60 per cent of her grazing during daylight hours, 40 per cent at night. She spends five hours a day eating at a rate of 50 to 70 bites per minute. She chews her cud seven hours a day and spends 12 hours lying down, at nine different times. While grazing, she travels two and a half miles in the daytime and one and a half at night. She drinks 10 times a day.

Erosion Takes Alarming Toll of Good Crop Land

Erosion is taking an increasingly alarming toll of good crop land in the United States. Estimates by the department of agriculture indicate that about 100 million acres of once good crop land have been ruined or nearly ruined for profitable cropping by erosion, another 100 million acres have been badly damaged and still another 100 million acres are eroding too fast.

There are now approximately 460 million acres of good crop land in the U. S., including acreage now in crops as well as about 100 million acres that need clearing, drainage, irrigation or other improvement. All but about 7 1/2 million acres of this 460 million acres are subject to erosion unless protective measures are adopted.

GUESS AGAIN, IT'S NOT A FOOTBALL STADIUM

A farmer harvesting his oat crop, leaves an unusual study in design around an isolated heading of DeKalb Hybrid seed corn in DeKalb County, Illinois. The heavy white lines are oat straw left in swaths by the combine. The dark green rectangle in the center, is a field of parent inbreds being increased for future hybrid seed production. Inherited corn characteristics are carried from tassels to ears by dust-like pollen grains. Like purebred cattle, parent corn must be kept pure or undesirable off-spring may be produced. To make certain these hybrid corn parents stay pure, they are grown in isolated fields like this one, safe from contamination by stray pollen from neighboring cornfields.

AAA Nominating Meetings Scheduled

AAA township nominating meetings have been scheduled by Ralph Glynn, chairman of the county committee.

Glynn explained that these meetings are held annually in each township to select candidates for community AAA nominating and for naming delegates and their alternate delegates to the county AAA convention, at which time the county AAA committee will be elected.

The following township AAA nominating meetings are to be held:

Alaiedon, November 4 at town hall.
Aurelius, November 8 at town hall.
Bunker Hill, November 4 at town hall.
Dahl, November 5 at Archie Grieve's gas station in Holt.

Ingham, November 5 at the Anderson hardware store in Dansville.
Lansing and Meridian townships, November 10 at the Meridian town hall in Okemos.

Leroy, November 9 at town hall.
Leslie, November 12 at the G. A. R. hall in Leslie.

Locke, November 8 at town hall.
Onondaga, November 9 at Keelery's gas station in Onondaga.

Stockbridge, November 8 at Stockbridge town hall.

Vevay, November 5 at AAA office in Mason.

Wheatfield, November 10 at Wheatfield town hall.

White Oak, November 4 at town hall.

Williamston, November 10 at township hall.

All meetings will begin at eight o'clock at night, Glynn said.

Farmer Pete's Wife

A trip on a Greyhound bus! Who would have thought that last Friday would find me settled on such a conveyance and headed excitedly for Detroit?

An old farmer's wife like me going to the big city is quite a thrill and leaving all the duties of a farm behind is hard to consider. Pete and the children were fast becoming a wider and wider distance from me who had never been away from them but for one night and my 'vacations' in the hospital. Oh, it was a queer feeling and mingled doubts of 'should I have come' and 'what if something should happen' and 'would Pete get enough to eat' almost spoiled it until after 20 miles settled back to enjoy this unexpected vacation.

Betty, the friend who spent this summer in Mexico invited her sister and me down for the weekend and both of us accepted against our better judgment but our husbands said it would do us good. Now what did that mean? Having the best in-laws possible who kept the children made it easy and we were also enough for their daddy to look in on them.

Farmer Pete's Wife has written these paragraphs for the Ingham County News. She has asked that her identity not be disclosed. The mystery adds to the enjoyment of the column, she believes. She is, though, just what she claims to be—a farmer's wife. Her husband is not named Pete, however.

Standing there ready to leave and wanting to back out I was so homesick already, I said to Susy in her Aunt Crystal's arms, "Aren't you going to cry because mama's going?" and they hustled me off or it would have been the end right there. A prize sap if there ever was one. The ride down on the bus was especially fun, frost hadn't killed all the flowers yet and there was so much to see. Leaving a double batch of 14-day sweet pickles in the leave-them-in-the-alum stage for Pete to change to hot water was soon forgotten.

We were met at the bus station by Betty who had battled traffic snarled by Gov. Warren's importance. From then on did she ever entertain us royally! Friday night she took us to the Elmwood Hotel across into Canada for a steak dinner. We had a table close up where we could see the floor show. Coming back late with the lights of Detroit shining is a pretty sight to see. We shopped for clothes and helped out Santa Claus and looked at much we didn't intend to buy—something hard to do with a man tagging along. Marion walked the last two blocks in her stockings but no one seemed to care. Then she took us to the Stockholm for Smorgasbord and that was really something to see. You wouldn't want to go on a diet near such tables. That was fun. It reminded me of our family dinners where everyone tries to bring the best and most and served buffet style. Saturday night she gave us our choice of Blackstone, Roy Rogers and his horse, Trigger, in person, a play or any movie we wanted to see. We chose "Life With Father" which would have been delightful if father would not have made light of what he did. There was also "Embraceable You" which two titles reminded us

State Laboratory Tests Crop Seeds

Regular seed inspection for the 1948 crop season is about completed, reported Charles Stahl, state seed analyst, Michigan department of agriculture. During the season inspectors visited 3503 dealers throughout the state, sampling stocks to determine how well the dealers were complying with the seed law, and how accurately seedmen were tagging their product.

Samples of field grass seed collected totaled 3757. Subsequent tests on these samples showed 94 lots to be misbranded as to purity, 147 as to germination and 97 were improperly tagged. Eighteen lots were condemned for sale because of noxious weed seed content, and 30 lots were condemned for sale because of low germination. The inspectors also collected 3787 samples of vegetable seeds which were tested for germination. Of these 357 lots or 44% were found to have a germination value below the established state standard.

Temporary stop sales were placed by inspectors on 462 lots of field, grass and vegetable seeds. As in previous years, most of the lots under seizure represented seed with old dates of test, and these were immediately released for sale as soon as all legal requirements were met.

Stahl reported it sometimes becomes necessary in the administration tion of the law to refer to courts to correct irregularities. During the season three dealers were prosecuted for various violations, and fines were levied by courts. Six other dealers appeared before prosecuting attorneys and were given warnings.

Harper School 7th and 8th Grades

Elmer Goble returned home Friday from the hospital. He had an operation on his thumb.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ketchum of Holt were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ketchum and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler and daughter, Gail, Richard Butler and Miss Allen Butler visited Mr. and Mrs. George Butler and daughter of Holt Sunday.

Mary Mathias and Maxine Miller had a Halloween party at Saturday night at the home of Mary Mathias. Guests were Mylene Waters, Barbara Butler, Dorothy Ketchum, Bonnie Heiler, Sonny Gable, Russell Miller, David Clark, Tom Thomas, Carl Miller, Harry Oakley and Jack Miller.

Harper school had its Halloween party at the school Friday afternoon. Refreshments were cider, doughnuts, apples and popcorn. The 4-H girls had a Halloween party at the lender's house. They had cider, popcorn and hotdogs for refreshments.

(Last Week's Items)

Members of the student body attended the first chapel service of the year Wednesday morning. The chorus sang several selections. Ray Morford read the 23rd Psalm. Bob Lyons introduced the speaker, Rev. E. E. Houts of the Pilgrim Congregational church in Lansing, who spoke about "A Game of Dominoes." Eddie Pickel sang a solo.

Try-outs for the senior play were held Tuesday and Wednesday. "Arsenic and Old Lace" is the play, chosen by a committee. The play will be presented in December. Mrs. Joann Glatt will direct.

Representatives of the H. C. Berger company in Lansing gave a demonstration for commercial and English 12 students on the operation of mimeographing machines and the use of stencils Thursday morning.

Commencement invitations were discussed in the senior class meeting Friday morning. One invitation was selected by the class and a contract has been signed with Bastion Brothers. Invitations will be ordered in several weeks by each individual senior. Ann Gilchrist, Nancy Johnson and Mary Menovskite were chosen by the class as candidates for the D. A. R. award.

The magazine subscription campaign being sponsored by the senior class, came to a close Thursday. Seniors who sold subscriptions received a percentage of the subscription cost to apply on personal accounts in the class treasury.

Room visitors in Mrs. Donald Edgington's second grade room this week were Mrs. Bob Knight and Mrs. Lawrence Miller. Barbara Hull has been ill for the past week. Corn-shock men, cats and pumpkins were drawn for art class.

In Mrs. Elinor Seitz's second grade room, Michael Belding brought a turtle to school. The turtle has been writing stories and drawing pictures connected with the life of a turtle.

Third graders in Miss Phyllis Byrnum's room have made Indian wigwags, dolls, jewelry, mats and headbands in connection with their project on Indians. They are studying safety signs for health.

Those who earned ducks for the spelling pond last week were Nancy Bray, Billy Campbell, Gloria Lamphere, Judy Leonard, Ronald Myrants, Gary Shepard, Harry Spry, Ruth Strickland and Janet Sutherland. The pupils are planning a room party for Friday. They are reading fairy tales.

In Miss Marian Rathbone's room the children are making booklets and free-hand drawings for their Indian project. The work on their museum is well under way. They are also planning a party for Friday.

Mrs. Frank Launstein and Stanley Holmes were room visitors in Mrs. Ruth Hall's fourth grade last week. The pupils have been reading pioneer stories. A Bible 106 years old and some money 135 years old were brought to school.

Fourth grade room helpers for the week in Mrs. N. S. Davis' room were: Boards, Janet Opdyke and Sue Ann Haase; errands, Otto Bennett; chairs, Jackie Kidder; plants, Mary Jane Jennings; books, Janice Kester; pencil sharpener, Frank Lawson; dusting, Diane Duchane; coat hangers, Henry Wiche.

Fifth graders in Miss Ola Showerman's room have organized a club to arrange and carry out room plans. Officers elected were: President, Sandra Strickland; vice-president, Harry Lee; treasurer, Douglas Lott; librarian, Peter Garcia; and publicity chairman, Junior Laasen.

In the sixth grade room taught by Mrs. Dora Martin, Raymond Noble brought his camera to school to take pictures of his classmates. He is leaving for Florida Friday. The pupils are giving special reports about great men who have helped our country progress. They have been writing letters for English. One letter was written to the Division of Public Inquiries in Washington, D. C., to ask for a poster showing the emblem of the United States.

Sixth graders in Mrs. Hugh Corner's room are making notebooks about South Africa. They made reports on diamonds and coal last week. They hand drawings were made in health and they have also made posters on the values of food. For art class, the children made graveyard scenes for Halloween. They are planning a party for Friday. The mothers are invited as guests.

APPROPRIATION REQUEST FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1949

The financial report covers receipts and expenditures for the twelve months period ending September 30, 1948. In order to render a report covering twelve months of operation, it has been necessary to include the last quarter of the fiscal year 1947 and the first three quarters of the fiscal year 1948.

The average monthly cost of operation for the first nine months of the present year has been $27,485.52.

The following estimates of the total requirements and revenues anticipated from all sources for the year 1949 are presented for your disposition:

Total Requirement based on an anticipated per diem cost of $8.00 per day and an average monthly cost of operation of $83,000

Anticipated Payment for services by the State of Michigan at a subsidy of $3.50 per patient day

Anticipated Income for the treatment of out-county patients and state-at-large patients at the current rate of $8.00 per diem for medical cases and $8.25 per diem for surgical cases. (The $8.25 rate was used to compute this figure since practically all patients received some form of collapse or surgical therapy)

Anticipated payment for services by Veterans Administration

Fees and hospitalization payments from private patients

Balance anticipated from county funds

In pursuance of the above justification, it is therefore suggested that $107,000 of county funds be made available for the operation of the hospital and the tuberculosis control program for the year 1949.

For the year 1947 you appropriated $100,000 for the operation of the sanatorium mobile x-ray unit in the schools and rural areas of Ingham County.

For the years 1947 and 1948 the earnings from the operation of the mobile x-ray unit were such that it was unnecessary to request a county appropriation for this service covering the year 1948.

It is now planned, however, beginning this fall, to extend the sanatorium x-ray service into other population groups with the hope that everyone in the county will have been x-rayed by the time of our next report.

It is therefore requested that a sum equal to that provided in 1947 ($10,000) be appropriated for the operation of x-ray service in the non-industrial areas of Ingham County.

The valued interest, sympathetic understanding and judicious counsel of your honorable Board has been a constant source of encouragement in our efforts to properly and effectively provide the services expected of us.

It is again our hope that with the continued valued support of the citizens of Ingham County and their elected representatives that within the next twenty years we will be able to complete the job which has been assigned to us.

Respectfully submitted, C. J. Stringer, M. D., Medical Director and Superintendent.

Supervisor Collier thereupon moved that the report be received and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The report was received and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Thereupon the reports of City and School Tax for the Cities of Lansing, East Lansing, Mason and Williamston were then presented by the Clerk. The same were referred to the Committee on Appropriation by the Chairman.

Thereupon the following budget for the Road Commission was presented by the Board of County Road Commissioners and the Road and Bridge Committee and read by the Clerk:

Supervisor Marshall then moved that the report of the Board be adopted. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously and the report was declared adopted by the Board.

Thereupon a communication from the Salvation Army, asking for an appropriation of Two thousand dollars, was read by the Clerk. Supervisor Graham moved that the same be received and placed on file. The motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

The report of the Friend of the Court, Chief Probation Officer, was submitted and then read by the Clerk as follows:

REPORT OF THE FRIEND OF THE COURT AND CHIEF PROBATION OFFICER

Honorable Board of Supervisors
Ingham County, Michigan

I submit this report, covering the period beginning October 1, 1947, and ending September 30, 1948, covering the activities of the Friend of the Court and Chief Probation Officer for Ingham County, Michigan.

The business of this office continues to increase in volume. The collections for the support of minor children in divorce cases in Ingham County from October 1, 1932 to September 30, 1933, was $10,272.11, and from October 1, 1937 to September 30, 1948, the collections amounted to $78,220.92. This is an increase of $67,948.81 over two years ago and an increase over last year also. A great majority of our clients pay the support of their children in a certain percentage which have to be drastically dealt with at times in arrears. The children are in the support of children to which they are entitled.

During the past year, we brought three hundred and eight men into Court and charged them with contempt of Court for non-compliance. Most of them made arrangements, after being brought into Court, to do something about their delinquency. They were in jail for a while, and then they also performed.

A court passed in 1947 provides that the Court may make an order, permitting the Friend of the Court to release the parties from the department and the Bureau of Social Aid for money paid by these agencies to a mother for the support of the children. This money is paid when a father is not paying, providing we can get the man to pay in a lump sum. Recently we paid, to the welfare $1,000.00 after we were able to collect this amount from a man in Virginia. The amount of money we collected, of course, on holding the welfare load and keeping money paid to women in divorce cases by the welfare at a minimum.

We have a working arrangement with Mr. Minis of the Welfare Department, which provides that before any Welfare Aid or Aid for Dependent Children is granted to any divorced woman, she must first come into our office and sign a petition for an Order to Show Cause or a Bench Warrant. The papers are then executed and placed in the hands of the sheriff, and if the delinquent party can be found, he is taken into court.

Under a present law, no decree of divorce becomes effective until six months after it has been issued. In all other decrees granted, since October 1, 1947, an order is incorporated requiring the man to pay $5.00 each year so long as the decree is operative, and this is credited to the general fund of the County.

In divorce cases, where requested by the Courts, we make investigations and report to the Court in writing of conditions as we find them. This is usually done before a decree is granted.

We continue to attempt to make reconciliations between litigants prior to the granting of decrees, but we have not been very successful, because after complaints are filed in divorce cases, the parties are not in a state of mind to reconsider their actions, however, we do succeed in some cases.

We are still in need of more room in which to operate, but there is no more room available in the City Hall, or have I been able to locate adequate space near the City Hall. We will continue to try and find more adequate space in which to operate.

The Probation Department has experienced a very active year. The collections for the year were as follows: Fines, $2,555.01; Costs, $12,714.94; Institution, $1,648.82; Overnight Fees, $2,044.00; Family Support, $1,150.00; Total, $23,177.76.

We have paid to the General fund of the County, during the year, the sum of $14,808.94 and to the library fund $2,555.00. The amount of earnings of persons, who were on probation, amounted to $250,811.12. It costs, so I am informed, approximately $800.00 each year to maintain a person in State Prison, so it will readily be noted that if a man or woman can be taken care of under probation, it will mean a great saving for the taxpayers. Any man or woman who commits a crime, other than murder, treason, breaking and entering into an occupied dwelling in the night time, and robbery-armed is eligible for probation.

During the past year, one hundred and thirty-eight new probationers were received by this office. There were ninety probationers discharged with improvement and seven discharged without improvement. There were seven probationers who absconded and left for parts unknown, and three probationers brought to another county. Twenty-three probationers had their probation rescinded, and they were sentenced to prison. We had a total of one hundred and ninety-two probationers under our supervision on September 30, 1948.

In explanation of the item of "revoked and sentenced," This indicates
