That Old Mr. Crane

OLD MR. CRANE sat in a padded armchair before the fire in his room. The pipe and tobacco on the table beside him went untouched.

Old Mr. Crane began to think about himself as he'd have liked to have been. He might dream that he'd had a fine father and mother, or, maybe a doctor and a teacher.

The children would have been like Aida, too. Two boys and two girls. He'd have called the elder girl Aida and one of the boys for himself, Milton Crane, Jr.

"Seems as if such a rich country should be able to give you a better chance, son." Young as he was, he felt something both sorrowful and angry in the doctor's voice.

After Aigy, the smallest, got pneumonia and died, their father had failed. He and Sam had quit school and gone to work, he himself into the grocery business.

He'd moved around just as Sam said, and when he was young and strong, he'd managed pretty well—harvesting, lumbering, sailing once on a boat.

Seemed the girls got tired of him and looked to steadier men.

"You're getting no younger. Maybe you should think of marrying and settling down."

IN THE end, he'd had to help out Sam. It hadn't been much he'd had to give Sally when Sam died, but until Sam's boy grew up, he'd stayed at that elevator and worked hard.

"Never mind the furnace," she'd said, "We'll get someone to look after that—just rest."

She knew. She was his kind. They must have told her that he hadn't long to go.

He must have fallen asleep and been talking again for old Mrs. Cranston, who had been Aida Rich, came in. She was holding a glass and there were tears in her voice when she spoke.

Leslie Prefers Jackson To Mason Phone Hookup

Leslie's village council believes that most Leslie folks would prefer talk with Jackson than with Mason people on free toll service under Michigan Bell's extended area plan. The new plan is expected to become effective in 1949.

At a special meeting of the village council one night last week the village fathers voted unanimously to petition the Michigan public service commission to the Leslie in with Jackson instead of Mason. At the public service commission it was indicated that probably the petition of the Leslie council will be respected unless there are objections by other Leslie people.

The Leslie-Jackson hookup was originally recommended by Michigan Bell on the basis of a study of telephone calls. Edwin Payne, telephone company manager at Jackson, told Leslie officials. Then some Leslie people, Payne said, asked that there be a Leslie-Mason instead of a Leslie-

Jackson hookup. Three months ago the public service commission changed the Leslie hookup to Mason. Now it will probably be changed to Jackson again.

Under extended coverage, Leslie subscribers can talk with Jackson subscribers without paying toll charges. If the hookup is with Mason, Leslie and Mason subscribers can talk without paying toll. Telephone numbers can be dialed direct without using long distance operators.

Mason and Lansing will be hooked up under extended coverage, as will Dansville and Mascota. If the Leslie-Mason hookup is made (which it probably won't) Mason subscribers could call Lansing, Dansville or Leslie numbers without paying toll charges. Leslie subscribers could call Mason and so could Dansville subscribers.

Under the hookup program the rental rates charged will be those prevailing in the bigger exchanges. Mason will pay Lansing rates. Dansville subscribers will pay the rates set for communities having the number of phones equal to the total of those in Dansville and Mason. If Leslie goes in with Jackson, the Jackson rates will be charged.

There has been one telephone rate increase in the last few weeks and another looms just ahead. Extended coverage will probably carry a third increase on rental charges. Telephone officials claim, though, that most subscribers will actually have reductions because in Mason the toll charges to Lansing will be eliminated.

History of Sanders School District Disclosed by Entries in Minute Book

Back to the beginning in 1840 goes the ancient minute book of the Sanders school district in Leslie township. And at the beginning 109 years ago some of those present were the ancestors of people in the district today.

Harry Covert, living on land that was in the family back in 1840, has the minute book. A reading of it paints a picture of the pioneer days and gives a clearer understanding of the many changes which have been wrought.

The first entry in the book is under date of March 21, 1840. That's the beginning. "The minutes set forth, 'The inhabitants of School District No. 2, Township of Leslie, State of Michigan, convened agreeable to notice given by the school inspectors of said Town and organized by appointing Calvin Edwards, moderator pro tem, James Rovston, secretary pro tem.'"

Then came the election of Edwards as moderator, James Rovston as assessor and S. O. Russell as director. At the first meeting it was decided to locate the school house on the southwest corner of the Wheaton Sanders' land at the quarter post of Section 8. The school was to be "built a good substantial log building 18 feet wide by 20 feet long with three 12-inch windows, brick chimney, roof of good oak shingles 26 inches long and hewed floor."

By unanimous vote it was decided to raise $100 by taxation to pay for the school. Members of the board were instructed to have the building ready for the opening of school on May 1, leaving out six weeks for the task. Want Female Teacher

Before adjourning, the electors decided to have "school kept three months the ensuing year by a female teacher."

At the first meeting it was also voted unanimously "that this school house shall be open for all moral and religious meetings of whatever kind or nature so as not to interfere with school hours."

Another meeting was called October 6, 1840. Calvin Edwards, Sanders was chosen moderator. Mahlon Covert was elected director and S. G. Sanders was chosen assessor. Mahlon Covert was the great-grandfather of George Covert, now operating the farm and his father, Harry. Mahlon is the name of the first Mahlon's great-grand-grandson, now on the farm. The youngster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Covert.

Mahlon Covert's sons were Monmouth and Ansel. Monmouth remained on the farm. Vinton was his son and he beget Harry. Ansel was county clerk of Ingham in the seventies.

The first female teacher must have been a good teacher because the minutes of the October meeting set forth that the following May another female teacher would be hired for another term of three months.

Winter Term Provided

of M. Set New Records in 1948 in Numbers and Achievement

New highs in enrollment and number of graduates marked 1948 at the University of Michigan. Expansion of services within the field of research also were noted during the year.

The fall semester, surpassing 20,915 of the previous fall, was the largest in the history of the university. The number of students enrolled in the fall semester, 20,915, was a record for the university since 1917. The number of graduates in the fall semester, 2,370, was a record for the university since 1917.

The extension service expanded services throughout the state. The five off-campus offices at Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Grand Rapids and Escanaba were designated as "area" offices to give recognition to the fact that university services extended well beyond the limits of each of these cities.

Other noteworthy events in the extension service were the initial appointment of some full-time staff members to teach at off-campus points, the loaning of reproductions of great works of art to rural and smaller schools, and the offering of courses in the problems of old age.

The university was a prominent subject in two books published during the year. "Michigan and the Cleveland Era," edited by Earl D. Babst, of New York, and Lewis G. Vander Velle, chairman of the university's department of history, contained sketches of 13 university alumni and staff members who served the administrations of Grover Cleveland while he was president.

The other book, written by Kent Sargent, of Jackson, was titled "Michigan: the story of the University." This 370-page book is an informal history of the rise and development of the university.

Some of the year's important events, not summarized above, were:

Addition of a new ultracentrifuge to the school of public health research weapons in the fight against polio.

Launching of a new postgraduate educational plan to train more family doctors. The medical school inaugurated the plan in July with two affiliated hospitals, James Decker Munson in Ypsilanti, and Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti. Addition of more hospitals is planned once the program has been thoroughly tested.

QUICK AIDS to SAFE SLEDDING

The research center for group dynamics transferred to the campus from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This center seeks to learn more about forces which control human behavior in groups.

The law school began using films to help student lawyers try practice cases under actual court conditions.

The bureau of psychological services began testing a faximile visagraph to discover how the machine may best be used to aid the blind. The visagraph automatically enlarges and embosses printed or written material.

A new food service building, constructed on a self-liquidating basis, was opened in April to centralize food purchasing, processing and storage.

The McMath-Hulbert, a famed solar research center, reported that methar existed in the earth's atmosphere.

The department of chemical engineering observed its 50th anniversary on May 8.

The late Crapo Cornell Smith left more than $1,000,000 to be used as gifts, loans, scholarships and rewards of merit for students.

The William L. Clements Library of American history observed its 25th anniversary on June 10.

A bureau of school services was organized to combine present services to the schools and develop new programs.

An expedition, sponsored by the university and the American Schools of Oriental Research, completely copied 2,400-year old inscriptions on the walls of Mount Behistun in Iran. These inscriptions, never before completely copied, provided the key to the translation of all uniform inscriptions from ancient times.

Dr. William Robinson and Dr. Isadore Lampe reported on June 20 that X-ray treatment effectively relieves pain for many sufferers of rheumatoid arthritis of the spine.

On the same day, Dr. Jerome W. Conn announced that diabetes of a temporary nature had been produced experimentally by an injection into muscles, promising progress in the hunt for some way to cure this disease. And on July 1, Dr. William H. Beirwaltes reported that radioactive iodine had been helpful in treating two types of thyroid cancer.

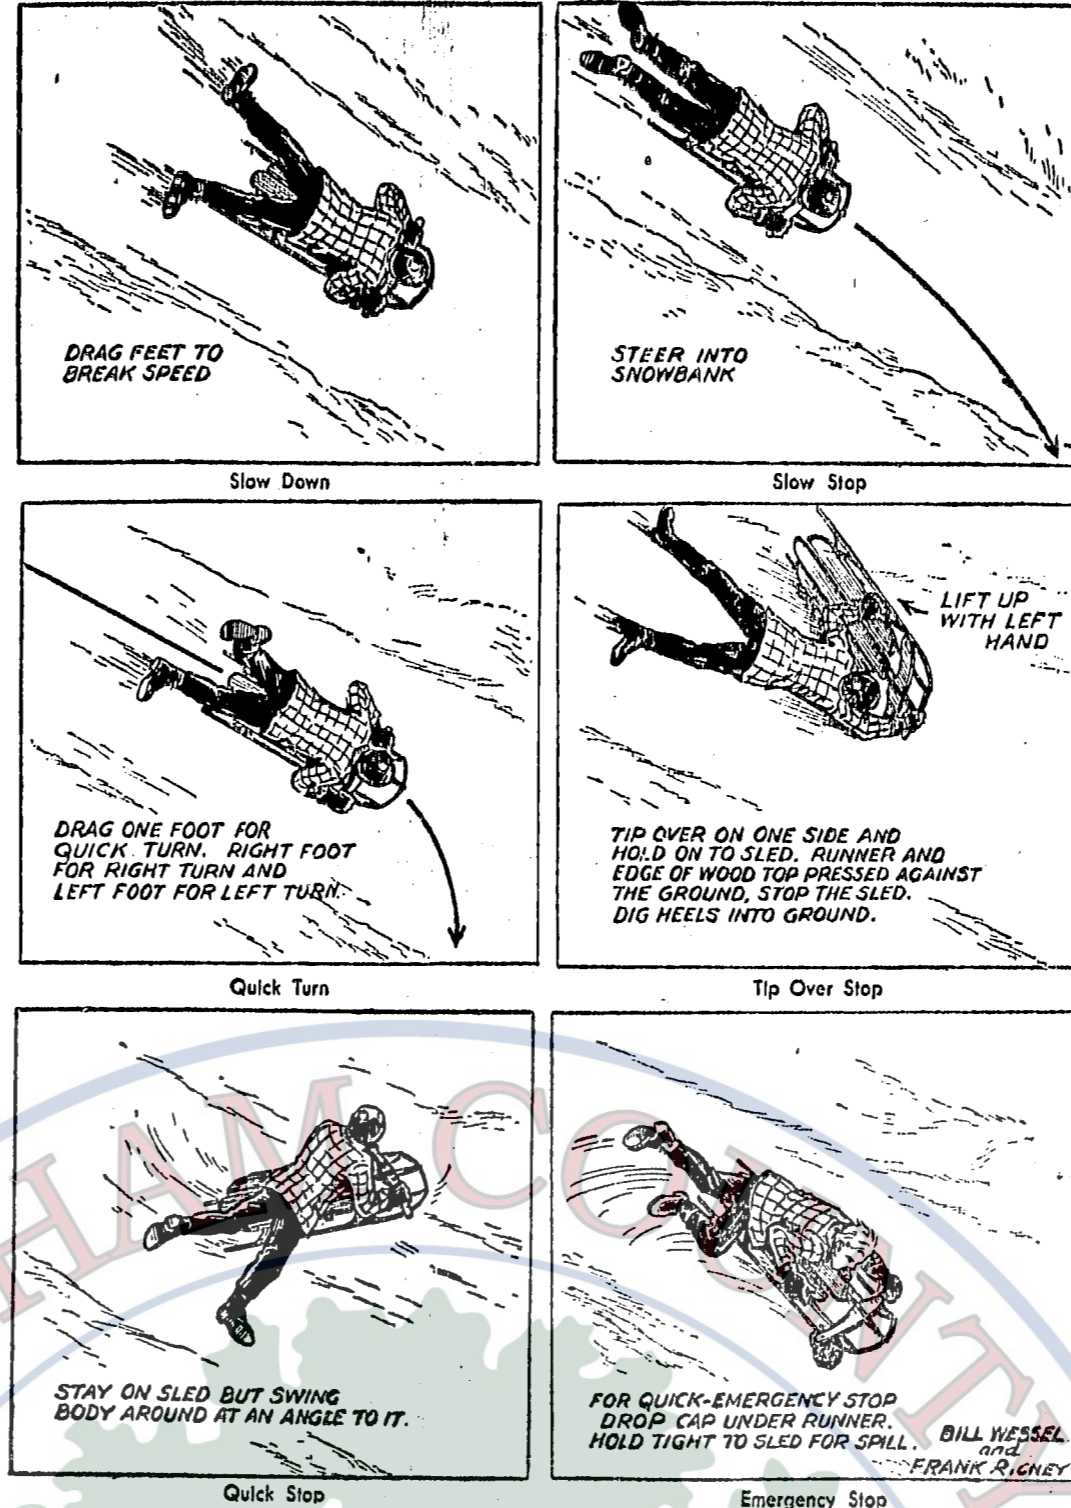

Broadening of programs over the university's new FM station, WUOM, began on July 5.

Two unique fellowships in journalism were inaugurated by the university and the University Press club. Two European students received the first of the fellowships which provide for a year of graduate study followed by a year of work on daily and weekly newspapers in the state.

The 25th anniversary of the famed Kahn test for syphilis was marked on October 10. The date found Dr. Reuben L. Kahn busy with new research in University hospital laboratories.

Dr. Howard E. Lewis, chairman of the department of biological chemistry, was honored by being named Henry Russell Lecturer for 1948-49.

A new treatment for acute kidney failure, which has reduced a 50 per cent death rate to no fatalities at all, was announced by University hospital.

Service Sunday At Onondaga for Sgt. Frank Zeitz

Services for Sgt. Frank P. Zeitz will be held in the Community church in Onondaga Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. The Onondaga sergeant was killed in action in the fighting in Luxembourg during the Battle of the Bulge in December of 1944.

Three times before in 1944 he had been wounded and had been awarded the Purple Heart with oak leaf clusters. He had also won the bronze star for bravery.

Sergeant Zeitz was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zeitz of Onondaga. He attended Riverside school at Onondaga through the ninth grade when he entered Leslie high school. He joined the Civilian Conservation Corp and then entered the army. After service in the United States he left for overseas early in 1944.

Leslie V. P. W. and American Legion posts will participate in the services at Onondaga Sunday afternoon. Rev. Ren D. Miller of Eaton Rapids will conduct the services at the Onondaga church. Burial will be in the Robbins cemetery.

Besides the parents, Sergeant Zeitz is survived by two brothers, William of Eaton Rapids and Daniel of Nahant, Mass.; and six sisters, Mrs. Louise Betts, Mrs. Betty Mock, and Mrs. Maudie McManis, all of Eaton Rapids, Mrs. Best-two Oak Leaf clusters. He had Barbara at home.

Wants Hospital Auxiliary
It is with considerable interest I have been following the recent articles in the Ingham County News regarding the Mason General hospital. From them is gleaned the great services it administers to Mason and the community and the efforts of Drs. Clark and Clinton to provide up-to-the-minute equipment to meet any emergency.

From the moment of admittance until your physician writes discharge on your chart the entire care of you is in the hands of the hospital staff. It is a privilege to be able to play as comfortable and enjoyable as possible.

Although the hospital is a corporation with restricted membership, its service is for the people of the community and all residents of Mason should consider it their responsibility. In many ways the residents could lend a hand in making it their project also.

More space is needed. The 20 beds are entirely too few for the number of patients needing hospital care. Another need is one or two private rooms for the more seriously ill patients. Elevator service should also be provided. There is always a need for sheets, pillow cases, dish towels and baby diapers.

The O. B. room on third floor could be more attractive with colorful bed spreads and other accessories.

The organization of a hospital auxiliary is one answer to many problems. The group could meet for sewing at intervals, hem towels and diapers, make muslins and other needed articles. My suggestion to community organizations desiring to raise funds to make purchases for the hospital is baked goods sales, bazaars, etc. Let's all give our help.

Report Thephorin Helps Hay Fever

A report that a new drug, thephorin, has been more than 90% effective in treating 142 cases of hay fever and asthma, has been made by John Peters, M.D. in the Illinois Medical Journal.

Dr. Peters cited his cases in detail to show exactly how each type of allergic condition has responded to the drug in his experience.

He found that thephorin was most successful against hay fever, with "good results" reported in 66 of the 68 hay fever patients treated. It was effective in controlling symptoms in 91% of patients suffering from both hay fever and asthma. There were three failures in a group of 34 such cases.

In asthma alone, the drug was effective in 75% of the patients. All of the failures were in cases of bronchial asthma; the drug being 100% effective in pollen and grass asthma.

Allergic reactions such as hay fever are caused by release within the normal body cells of the chemical histamine. The new drug is one of the antihistamine drugs which combat this chemical. Research workers have developed several antihistamine drugs in their efforts to find one which would not produce undesirable side reactions. Only 15 of the 142 patients Dr. Peters treated had such side effects as stomach trouble, insomnia, nervousness and sweating.

Hear Annual Report Of Recreation Committee

An accounting of the activities of the Holt Recreation and Memorial Field committee during the past year was made last week by Superintendent Benton Yates, treasurer of the fund.

He reported the field cost at $8,236.63. Additional needs at the field are bleachers, dressing rooms and storage quarters.

Yates said the school supporters have contributed $1,781.83 to the fund, $1,175 has been loaned to the field fund, and labor and material donations total $2,280.

Cash expenditures to date, he noted amount to $5,830.17 leaving $126.66 unexpended. Of this amount, a total of $61.60 is owed. An additional $1,900 was spent to install the floodlights. This money was provided by a $1,000 advance by the board of education and $900 from receipts of the high school athletic association.

Donations, loans and contributions of labor and materials were promoted by an active committee, directed by M. Barrett Vorce, chairman. Working with him have been Yates, Marshall Hartig, secretary; William Fudge, Frank M. Landers, Norman Teller, Cassius Shaft, Marshall Conledge, Hugh Smyth, Howard Dart, Orville Hitchens, Fred Lawrence, Floyd Wallace and John Kendall. Several others also participated in the fund drive.

Plan Joint Installation

The joint installation of the officers of the Holt Rebekah lodge No. 446 and Odd Fellows No. 592 will be held Friday night, January 7, at 8 o'clock. John Fay and Marjorie Ellsworth are the installing officers, with Mrs. Nettie Himelberger and Reuben Pratt as grand marshals. William Somerville will preside at the piano. Refreshments of cake, jello and sandwiches will be served after the installation.

Escape Serious Injuries

Mrs. Ruth Straight and daughter, Lois, of 2243 North Cedar narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday evening in an auto mishap in Lansing. The car skidded over an embankment on the west end of Moore's River drive and overturned onto the ice in Grand River. Police said Mrs. Straight was driving west on Moore's River drive when the car struck some ice and she lost control. Mrs. Straight and Lois received minor bruises and received treatment at the Edward W. Sparrow hospital.

Plan Regular Meeting

Holt Woman's club will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday, January 11, at two p. m. at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Harris. Mrs. Patricia Roggow will assist as co-hostess. Mrs. Myrtle Kiker will give a paper on the "Life and Works of Grant Woods."

To Serve Public Supper

A steak supper will be served by the choir of the Brotherhood Temple Methodist church Saturday night, January 8, from 5:30 to 7 o'clock in the social rooms. Proceeds will be used to pay for the new choir robes.

To Elect Officers

The Josephine Rose circle of the Presbyterian Women's association will hold its next regular meeting Thursday, January 13, with Mrs. Vernon Smith, Mrs. Claude Smith and Mrs. Helen Spraker will act as co-hostesses. Election of officers for the coming year will take place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knight and children and Mrs. M. L. Blair left Sunday for San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Blair will visit her sister for six weeks. The Knights, who will go to California and come back by the northern route, will be gone a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sincere of Detroit visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Rockwood, over the New Year's week end.

We're Glad To Answer Your Questions About The Electric Franchise

Since the City Council adopted the electric franchise ordinance a month ago, many people have asked us questions about the special election to be held Tuesday, January 11. We have been glad to answer these questions, and we are now repeating the answers in print so that all Mason people may have the information. If you have any question that is not answered here, we hope that you will drop in at our office or give us a telephone call.

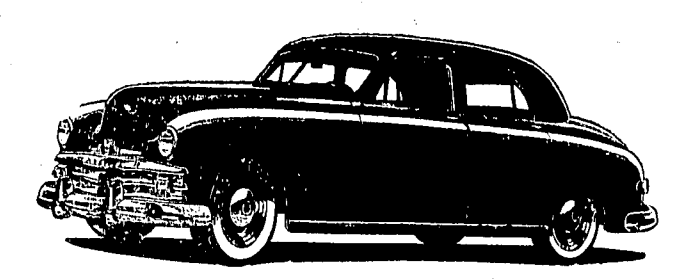

- Q. Why is the City of Mason holding a special election January 11?
A. To approve an ordinance passed by the City Council granting a new franchise to Consumers Power Company.
- Q. Why does Consumers need a new franchise?
A. Because the old franchise that was voted to Consumers when Mason decided to discontinue its municipally-owned electric plant more than 30 years ago has now expired.
- Q. Just what IS an electric franchise?
A. It is simply an agreement between the city and the company. The city agrees to let the company use the streets and alleys in order to bring electric service to Mason homes, stores, factories and offices. It may be compared with the state or federal charter which authorizes a bank to do business in a community under specified regulations. The company agrees to abide by the regulations for such use as are set forth in the franchise.
- Q. Can't an electric company operate without a franchise?
A. The state constitution says that no public utility may do business in a city, village or township without a franchise.
- Q. What if a company DID operate without a franchise?
A. It would have the legal status of a trespasser, and hence it could not safely invest additional money in electric facilities for serving the people of the community.
- Q. Does Consumers plan to invest more money in Mason?
A. Yes. In a growing city like Mason, electric facilities are constantly being extended and improved. This involves much expense.
- Q. What about our street lighting system? Is Consumers planning to do anything?
A. Yes. This matter has been discussed with the city council and with city officials, and Consumers is planning to rebuild the downtown street lighting system and give Mason a system of which it will be proud, also to install lights at 11 locations outside the downtown district as specified by the council. This naturally will involve an expenditure of thousands of dollars by Consumers.
- Q. Does the franchise fix electric rates for Mason?
A. No. The franchise has nothing to do with rates. The Michigan Public Service commission would continue to regulate rates as at present. Incidentally, rates in Mason are exactly the same as in Jackson, Kalamazoo, Flint, Grand Rapids and hundreds of other communities served by Consumers.
- Q. Does the franchise give Consumers exclusive rights?
A. None whatever. The city would have the right at any time to grant a similar franchise to any other electric company or supplier of electricity.
- Q. Why is the new franchise for 30 years?
A. That is the standard length of franchises all over the state. Consumers Power company has about 1,000 thirty-year franchises in various parts of Michigan. The expired Mason franchise also was for 30 years.
- Q. How will Mason benefit through approval of the franchise?
A. The franchise will assure Mason of continued dependable and properly regulated electric service by a business-managed tax-paying company, and give Consumers the legal standing it must have to serve the people in the best possible manner. It will justify the company in making additional investments in Mason such as that called for by the street lighting project. It will keep the relations between the city and the company on a sound and business-like basis.

The Franchise Is Good for the City... Good for the Taxpayer... Good for the Electric User.

Poultry Has Part On Farm Program

To bring Michigan poultry raisers the newest information on chickens and turkeys, a comprehensive program has been planned for Michigan State college's Farmers' Week, January 24 through 28.

The three-day session will begin on Tuesday morning with sessions on poultry management. A description of the national Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest will be presented by H. L. Shrader of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The afternoon will feature quality egg birds and stress grading, consumer preferences, and wholesale market needs.

Poultry improvement day is set for Wednesday, January 26. Talks on breeding, disease control, and hatchery management will be included. E. M. Funk, poultryman at Missouri State college, will be a guest speaker and tell of experiences in that state in increasing poultry profits.

For turkey raisers, Thursday's program will offer a number of interesting meetings. A resume of the turkey festival at Alma will be presented and feeding, disease control and marketing will be discussed. A visiting speaker will be D. D. Moyer, Ohio State college poultryman, who will talk on management and marketing in his home state.

Another poultry feature of the week will be a baby chick and egg show in the Michigan State college poultry building. Entries will consist of 25 chicks of any standard breed or variety. White or brown eggs in a number of classes will be entered in the egg show. Farmers, hatcheries, breeders, packers, FFA and 4-H clubs, and members of the Michigan State college poultry science club, are being urged to enter the egg contest.

An instructional three-day short course for fruit growers has been planned by the Michigan State college horticulture department from January 13 to 15 in East Lansing.

According to Dr. H. B. Tukey, head of the Michigan State college horticulture department, growers will take part in a comprehensive program on fungicides, diseases, brown rot, thinning and pruning. Many practical hints on fruit growing will also be presented.

Copies of the program for the conference can be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to C. A. Langer, Horticultural building, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

Plants, Like Humans, Are Finicky Eaters

Isotopes Tell Amounts of Fertilizer Utilized

Atomic scientists have learned that some plants, like some human beings, are finicky eaters.

This new knowledge, important commercially, is the result of exhaustive tests with radioactive isotopes of phosphorus in fertilizers.

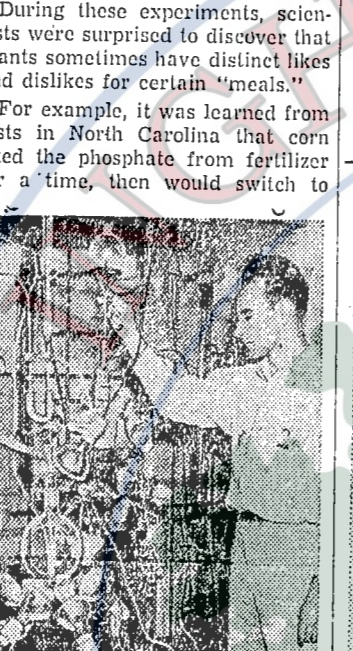

Radioisotopes, sometimes called "tracers," are atoms whose nuclei emit high-energy rays that can be detected by sensitive instruments. Thus, the movement of substances containing such atoms may be followed or traced at all times.

Before radioisotopes were used, it was impossible to tell how much fertilizer a plant would absorb. But by using radioactive phosphorus in phosphate fertilizer, for instance, scientists know the amount each plant takes.

As a result, a scientist now can tell a farmer who spends $50 to put phosphate fertilizer on his land whether the plant only "nibbles" or takes a bite big enough to repay his expense.

During these experiments, scientists were surprised to discover that plants sometimes have distinct likes and dislikes for certain "meals."

For example, it was learned from tests in North Carolina that corn liked the phosphate from fertilizer for a time, then would switch to the phosphate which had been present before fertilization. In Maine, the potatoes preferred the fertilizer phosphate all the time.

This man works on an extraction apparatus in Oak Ridge, Tenn., as part of the program for the nationwide distribution of beneficial radioactive isotopes from the uranium chain-reacting atomic pile.

In other cases, plants would seem always to prefer the phosphate already present in the ground, instead of the meal prepared by the farmer.

One of the world's foremost producers of baby foods, chewing gum, coffee and peanut-butter recently became the first representative of the food industry to become a member of the atomic research program at the University of Chicago.

Small Turkey Talk

The young lady poses a 'close-up' on a very young turkey—one of the streamlined variety created to meet modern demands for small birds to suit small families and to fit kitchenette ovens. Each of several of the older varieties contributed one or more of the desired characteristics to this small white variety, characterized by a compact body, short legs, long keel and plenty of breast meat. Careful records on thousands of birds from carefully selected stock were necessary before the "apartment size" turkey was developed.

Deer Feeding

Nearly 1,000 tons of alfalfa hay and concentrated deer food were distributed in Wisconsin's deer yards during 1947 to feed an estimated number of only 23,000 deer. The cost of this operation $72,000, along with the required payment of deer damage claims amounting to over $55,000 in 1947, has brought about the general concession by game biologists that deer feeding is a waste of effort and money.

WORLD WHEAT TROPHY

R. C. Vaughan, C.M.G., chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, (right) presents the new C. N. R. world's championship wheat trophy to J. A. Northey, president, Royal Winter Fair, at Canada's big agricultural show in Toronto. On making the presentation, Mr. Vaughan stressed the vital role which the Canadian wheat grower is playing in the world's war recovery program, while Mr. Northey touched on the stimulation of interest aroused by the donation of the C.N.R. trophy, pointing out the number of wheat entries this year have doubled, with numbers of American growers competing.

Legumes Increase Most Crop Yields

Proof that soil building legumes contribute to increased yields of crops was offered this week by L. M. Turk, soils research scientist at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.

On the Perden farm in Saginaw county, an experiment set up by Michigan State college members has used alfalfa, sweet clover and red clover to help increase crop yields.

Seven different crop rotations, all including sugar beets, are being studied. All the rotations except one include a soil building legume crop. Where no legume has been grown, corn yields have been about twelve bushels an acre below alfalfa just before the corn.

In 1945, corn yields were 22 bushels per acre in the rotation containing no soil building legume, 47 where corn follows sweet clover, green manure, and 53 where corn follows one year of alfalfa.

The tests point out that alfalfa in the rotation has caused higher yields than has sweet clover or red clover. One year of alfalfa in a five year rotation has given as good results as two years.

MAP HELPS OUT STEPS

A good resolution for 1949 is to eliminate many of the needless steps and back-breaking jobs around the barn. Michigan State college farm management specialists say that it isn't hard to do. You start by making a simple rough sketch of your working area. Mark in feed bins and such places. Then draw lines to show the route you travel in doing your chores. It's surprising how many steps can be eliminated by moving some of the equipment in the barn. Some farmers have been able to save as much as several miles of unnecessary walking each year. Grinding feed and feeding to beef or dairy cattle are good chores to analyze. Why not try it and see how many steps you can save in 1949?

Farm Bureau Resolutions Chart Program for 1949

By Stanley M. Powell, Legislative Counsel, Michigan Farm Bureau

While naturally the resolutions adopted by the Michigan Farm Bureau delegates at the state convention held November 11-12 reflected a rural point of view, no one could criticize them as being narrow or solely selfish in character.

They evidenced a genuine concern not alone about the welfare of all the people of our nation but of the whole world. Attention was devoted toward meeting the acute needs of foreign nations and to the establishment of a just and lasting peace.

Probably the issue or point of view which was most frequently emphasized in resolutions that had been sent in to Michigan Farm Bureau headquarters was concern on the part of Farm Bureau members that there should be a better understanding in the minds of the general public regarding the farmer's position in the present high cost of living and particularly with regard to what consumers pay for food. With reference to this point the delegates stated:

"In this present period of increased price levels there has been some propaganda which might lead the public to feel that farmers are profiteers who are enjoying inflated incomes. The consumer who pays a higher than normal price for some article of food is inclined to blame the increase on the farmer.

"We feel that the public should be given the truth about the actual facts of the situation. There should be a general understanding as to the proportion of the price paid by the consumer for various food products which is actually received by the producer. The price of wheat has declined 30% during the past few months, but price of bread has not been lowered. During the past year the farmer's share of the retail food dollar has dropped to the lowest level since July, 1943. Average incomes have risen considerably faster than the cost of food, and the proportion of the wage earner's pay required for food purchases is materially lower than in previous years. Also, the tremendous increase in all farm production expenses should be pointed out. The public should be informed that despite an abnormally long and arduous work week and a very heavy financial investment, the income for American farmers is lower than that for any other occupational group."

The delegates concluded the foreword to their resolutions with the following paragraphs:

"We believe in an economy of abundance and are profoundly convinced that increased production is the surest way to combat inflation and raise the real standard of living for our people. We deplore strikes, slowdowns, and all the various 'feather-bedding' tactics which raise costs and retard conversion and post-war recovery. We farmers challenge all other segments of our American economy to join with us in augmented efforts to increase the supply of these goods and services which meet human needs and raise the standard of living and promote the happiness and well-being of our people.

"Inflation is a constant threat to every American. Let us all, farmers, industry and labor, do our full part to combat it by working more and producing more goods at lower prices rather than to embark on a fourth round of increased wages and higher prices. We make this appeal on a patriotic basis but also with the firm belief that only in that way can we quench the fires of an inflationary spiral which would prove most disastrous to each of us as individuals and to our entire national economy."

All told, there were 57 resolutions adopted at the state convention. They included a pledge to bolster the 15-mill limitation which was circumvented at the November 2 election, a demand for equality of educational opportunity for farm boys and girls, retention of one-room schools where they fill a definite need, amendment of the school transportation law, a demand for a more equitable weight tax law for highway users, condemnation of rice laws as the plumbing code which make it illegal for a farmer to repair cavestroughs and pumps and asking for enactment of legislation to continue the fight against blight disease.

Plan Farm Week For Women Also

Farm women will find a great many things to do and see, at Farmers' Week at Michigan State college, East Lansing, this year. In looking over the program you will see a variety of events that you won't want to miss.

Of course you will be interested in the homemaker's section of the program, but packed into the week of January 24-28 are many other exhibits, demonstrations and meetings that you will want to visit with your husband.

In the poultry section you will note some talks that you want to hear and also the baby chick and egg show to visit. In the horticulture section flowers, house plants and gardening will claim some of your time. The greenhouses will be open for inspection and a conducted tour will close Wednesday 9:00 a. m. to 3 p. m. program on flowers. Thursday's program concerns the farm and home garden with late information given by Jack Rose of the horticulture department.

In the agricultural engineering section a worthwhile talk on "More Useful Home Planning" by Olivia Meyer, Michigan State college home economist is bound to attract you to the campus on Monday morning.

If you will look in the sociology section of the program you will check some discussions there that you won't want to miss. Rural health, rural young people and the rural church will be discussed by some outstanding speakers whose special interest is rural life.

Many entertainment features will interest both you and your husband—horse pulling, basketball, the aquacade, color travel movies and recreation exhibits and demonstrations.

Methuselah's Life Had Longest Span

Methuselah, the Hebrew patriarch who lived 969 years, has become synonymous with Father Time because he lived longer than any other man in recorded history.

Notwithstanding Methuselah's direct descent from Seth—the third son of Adam and Eve, born after Cain had slain Abel—and the fact that he was the grandfather of Noah, it has been said longevily is Methuselah's only claim to history's commemoration; and even this claim seems to hang by a slender thread, considering that longevity was the rule rather than the exception among the patriarchs.

The fifth chapter of Genesis records that Adam lived a total of 930 years; Seth reached the age of 912, and Enos—the son of Seth—died at 905. Cain lived 910 years, Mahalaleel attained the age of 895, and Jared—grandfather of Methuselah—lived 962 years, only seven years less than his grandson's record. Enoch, Methuselah's father, seems to have been the exception to the rule—since he died at the age of 365.

Democrat Seeks State Highway Post

William H. Harvie of Birmingham, has announced his candidacy for nomination on the Democratic ticket as state highway commissioner in the spring election.

Harvie has devoted 26 years to highway engineering; 10 years with the Wayne county road commission and 10 years with the state highway department as engineer in charge of design and construction.

For the last three years he has headed his own firm as a highway contractor.

He was in the naval reserve in World War I. In World War II he served as a major and lieutenant colonel with the Corps of Army Engineers. He supervised military airport construction in Eastern Michigan and northern Ohio and Indiana.

Next, he was ordered to complete construction of the Alaska highway which extended 1,420 miles. He was then made commanding officer in charge of maintenance of the Alaska highway.

Harvie was born on a farm in Lapeer county in 1899. He attended rural schools and Imlay City high school, Ferris Institute and Michigan State college. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1922 in civil engineering. He later attended Detroit College of Law and was admitted to practice law in 1930.

His objectives as state highway commissioner are:

Close cooperation with Governor G. Mennen Williams, the state legislature, the U. S. public roads administration, President Truman and congress.

Close cooperation with the city and county officials and engineers charged with road and street responsibilities.

Some specific projects on Harvie's program are:

Relief of city traffic congestion; relief of the city parking problem; improved farm-to-market and tourist highways; building of divided lane highways on the state and federal systems where traffic warrants; improve year-around maintenance on all state and federal highways; closer cooperation with the Michigan state police and with county and city authorities to improve safety; improve travel facilities between the two peninsulas at the Straits of Mackinac; and formulation of important highway policies and programs after cooperation and consultation with the local authorities involved.

How Farm Bureau Dues Are Used

Farm Bureau membership dues are $10.00. Out of that money the county gets $5.10 and the state organization gets $4.15 with 50¢ for the American Farm Bureau Federation and 25¢ for the Farm News, according to the breakdown of auditors.

The county finances are used for holding meetings, sending delegates to state and national meetings, conducting the annual roll call, organizing and maintaining community Farm Bureaus, organizing youth activities (Junior Farm Bureaus), carrying on women's Farm Bureau activities, publicity, public relations activities, secretarial work including records, mailing and postage, conducting training schools for leaders and officers, promoting projects for farm and community betterment, legislation and finance committee activities.

State finances are used for membership and organization and records, commodity relations, community Farm Bureau research and information, legislative activities, administration, ex-

WHY ORGANIZE?

Organization provides the tools to build what we want and the armor to defend ourselves against attacks of misinformed or selfish interests. Farm Bureau is a minority group which cannot accomplish its purpose without the good will and active support of others. Farm Bureau must have a program good enough to win the support of the majorities . . . and it has!

Farm Bureau

Is The Voice Of Agriculture

And your membership in this farm organization adds your voice to the millions of others speaking for the rights of the American farmer. Farm Bureau leadership in every community, county and state makes it an undisputed leader. Its activities are varied but lead toward a single goal: providing a voice for organized agriculture and getting things done.

Legislation

Farm Bureau has respect and prestige in our legislative halls. It is one of the few organizations that brings grass roots information to Congress.

Taxation

Farm Bureau works for fair and equitable taxation. The Ingham County Farm Bureau tax committee is ready to advise county units of government on the farm's viewpoint on taxation.

Farm Programs

Farm Bureau spearheaded the fight for the long-range farm program, passed by Congress on June 20, 1948, which provides a permanent program of flexible price supports and modernized parity provisions.

Special Services

Roll Call For Membership In This Active Organization Starts Wednesday, January 12

When your neighbor calls on you next week to bring to you his personal story of the Farm Bureau, ask him to tell you how the Ingham County Farm Bureau can protect your interests, too. Membership is $10 per year—$10 that will work harder for you than any investment of a comparable size.
