Mrs. Schlack Back To Rebuild Stores Damaged By Fire

Plans Are Being Drawn For Restaurant Building; Chain Store Shows Interest

Mrs. Bertha Schlack is back in Mason anxious to start rebuilding. Undaunted by the stroke of bad fortune which destroyed all three of her Mason buildings January 19, she is planning the immediate construction of a two-story building to house Morse's restaurant. Her plans for replacing the two buildings which were occupied by Jacobs store and Fox Cleaners are being held up pending a deal with a chain store. The chain store has shown considerable interest in having a 50-foot store on Maple.

Right off, just as soon as the weather clears, Mrs. Schlack intends to have the warped walls still standing torn down and the debris cleared from the site.

The building being planned for the restaurant will be 25 feet wide and will extend back as far as the city building at least. The restaurant building destroyed lacked that depth. Above the restaurant will be living apartments for Mrs. Schlack.

Mrs. Schlack is consulting with contractors on the new building. It will be of cinder block construction with brick front.

Had Been In Texas

At the time of the fire which destroyed all her Mason holdings and all her treasured personal possessions, Mrs. Schlack was at her winter home in Weslaco, Texas. Her three stores, the apartment occupied by the Albert Johnson family and her own apartment went up in flames. Insurance on the property was far from adequate.

Hard luck also sought out Mrs. Schlack in Texas. While flames destroyed her property in Mason a freeze ruined her grapefruit and orange crop in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

But Mrs. Schlack is not discouraged. She is determined to rebuild. She had her first look at the ruins Tuesday evening, shortly after her arrival in Mason with Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Morse and daughter who had been visiting her in Texas. The owner was sickened at the sight of the ashes to which all her own possessions had been reduced. Many of her dishes and much of her linen had come with her from her native Belgium 35 years ago.

"Mason is my home," Mrs. Schlack said, "and I intend to live here. Within a few days I expect to have a house trailer on one of the cleared sites and will live there until my apartment is ready next fall."

"Texas people were kind to me in my sickness following news of the fire. They even held showers for me so I could start refurbishing my Mason home."

Morse said he intends to find something to do between now and the time his new restaurant is ready.

College Student Is Arrested on Indecency Charge

Norman Elssesser, 24, Michigan State college student, was arrested Wednesday afternoon on the charge of indecently exposing himself to women and school girls near Lansing, Holt and Mason.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Lorenson and Kenneth Merindorf, who worked with the state police on the case, said Elssesser admitted three of the offenses near Mason and Holt and two near Lansing. Officers said Elssesser was also out on bond after an arrest for similar offenses near Perry and Shattsbury in Shiawassee county.

On February 22 on US-127 near Harper school, the same day on east Holt road, a few days previously on two occasions near Lansing, the driver of a blue sedan stopped his car as he met up with women and school girls walking along the roads alone. On all the occasions he partly stepped from his car almost in the nude.

Officers kept up the search for the car which answered the description and on Wednesday afternoon they found it outside the Abbott apartment in East Lansing. Then they seized the car owner who proved to be Elssesser, a married man, who was enrolled as a GI student. Elssesser quit his college classes March 5.

Elssesser waived examination when taken before Justice of the Peace Robert M. Montgomery Wednesday night. He was released on bond of $500 to appear in circuit court for trial March 26.

City Fathers Discuss New Bonnets, New Sidewalks and New Dog Rules

Mason's firemen will have new hats, the city may have new sidewalks, dogs may have to read up on a new ordinance and a new garbage collector is on the job.

That's part of what's new in city affairs.

Fire Chief Leland Austin was authorized to buy 15 brand new helmets for the firemen. He informed the council that the leather hats now on hand are of little use. He reported that three firemen have lost their own dress hats in recent blazes and asked the aldermen to get the new hats.

Austin estimated the cost at $10.55 for each hat. Orders placed now will be delivered in time for Easter.

Lamphear Bros. may build new sidewalks to replace old sidewalks taken by the city ordinance governing sidewalk construction and repair is being studied by Alderman Darling.

Candidates Sent Proof Ballots

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard mailed proof ballots Tuesday to state candidates in the April 4 election.

There are four parties with slates of candidates—Republicans, Democratic, Progressive and Prohibition. Offices which will be voted on are two regents of the university, superintendent of public instruction, member of the state board of education, two members of the state board of agriculture and state highway commissioner.

In addition to the partisan ballot voters will be handed a non-partisan judicial ballot for the election of two supreme court justices. Ingham voters will also have another ballot authorizing an increase in millage to improve the tuberculosis sanatorium.

All the townships will have their township elections on April 4, too.

County to Decide On Hospital Rates

Ingham supervisors on Monday will decide on what rate to pay Sparrow hospital in Lansing for indigent patients. The hospital wants or did want $15 per day although a dollar is ready to be dropped off to make the new rate $14. Unofficially members of the welfare committee and the ways and means committee suggested a $13 rate. The present rate is $11. St. Lawrence hospital is asking $14.55 per day for county patients.

The pre-war hospital rate was $4.50. Then it stood at $8.00 through the war and up until last year when it was advanced to $11.00.

Besides the hospital rate matter no major issues are expected to be brought before the board Monday. It is the final meeting of the year. Terms of all 16 of the township supervisors expire with the April 4 election although it's a safe bet most of them will be back after the votes are counted.

Council Orders Storm Sewer On West Side

Aldermen Decide to Test Jefferson Street Well for Corrosion and Sand Seepage

Center and Bush streets will get a storm sewer under action taken by the city council Monday night. The estimated cost of $6,430 will be paid by the city at large.

The new storm sewer will extend north on Bush from Columbia to Center and both east and west on Center from the west end of the street to the rear of the Robinson Motor Sales building on Cedar street. Many new homes have been built on Center street the last two years. Since the completion of the Robinson Motor Sales building and other business buildings in the area the water from the big roofs has cascaded over the streets. After rains Center street has been impassable.

Plans for the west side storm sewer call for 15-inch, 12-inch and 10-inch tile. From Columbia street the water will flow west to the Sycamore.

Aldermen said they considered the west side area should be given priority over applications for Lawton street and a southwest area.

"All those new homes on Center street make the west side storm sewer an immediate necessity," commented Mayor S. A. Morrison as he urged the aldermen to take immediate action. They had previously decided to postpone action until a special meeting.

Under the resolution adopted by the council, Street Commissioner Wayne Curtis was authorized to buy sewer pipe and manhole covers and to contract for the digging.

Well Test Ordered

Aldermen decided to have a test made on the Jefferson street well to determine whether the screen is corroded or whether sand is seeping through the gravel to clog the screen. There's a falling off in pumping at the well, Alderman Frank Dakin reported. Layne-Northern will make the test.

No further action on the city's water situation was taken. Alderman Dakin suggested that another carload of water mains be bought but the council reached no decision. Dakin reported that four-inch fire hydrants near the school will be replaced by six-inch hydrants.

Dakin explained that a ventilating system is needed to cool the motor at the Park street well. He was authorized to consult the E. H. Ward company in Lansing about the job.

Missionaries Are Still Behind Lines In Burma Warfare

Rev. and Mrs. Walter (Bud) Zimmer and their two-year-old son are still missing in Burma. They are behind the lines thrown up by the rebellious Karens against the government forces.

The Zimmermans with other mission workers were on their way out of the jungles to attend a conference at Rangoon when fighting interrupted their journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Zimmer of Mason, parents of the young missionary preacher, received a letter this week from John E. Skogland, secretary of mission for India and Burma, telling of the latest information. Burma Skogland was in Burma when the war opened but is now in New York.

The letter set forth, "What we know is this: The Zimmer family and the Rices, with the Tegenfeldts of Bhamo, were driving from Tounpoo to Rangoon. At one point along the road they stopped, and the Tegenfeldts were ready to proceed with the journey sooner than were the Rices and Zimmermans. The Tegenfeldts told the other families that they would wait for them at the convoy, which was some distance ahead. The Tegenfeldts proceeded to the convoy and waited there for some time. Finally the convoy started, the Tegenfeldts going with them, but the Rices and Zimmermans had not joined them."

"It was later learned that just as the Tegenfeldts had crossed a certain bridge, the bridge was blown up. The Tegenfeldts were therefore on one side of the bridge and the Rices and Zimmermans on the other. The report that the Zimmermans were in Pegu was later found to be erroneous."

"We have every reason to believe that the Rices and Zimmermans are together and that they are probably in some Karen village below Tounpoo, but with telegraphic communications disrupted and with the bridge blown up in between, it has not so far been possible for the people in Rangoon to get word to or from them. As soon as word comes through we will let you know."

Dr. H. D. Henderson entered the Sparrow hospital in Lansing last Saturday night with a blood clot on his knee. Dr. Henderson will undergo surgery on Friday.

Jim Hayes of Michigan State college will preside as toastmaster.

All the dairy products for the banquet are being furnished by the Arctic Dairy, Lansing Dairy and Heatherwood Farms.

Ted Fay of Stockbridge is chairman of the dairy day committee. Other members are Bob Osterle of Webberville, Harold Wilson of Delhi, Coe Emmons of Mason, Dennis Underwood of Onondaga and County Agent Donald Curry.

Dr. C. F. Huffman

The banquet will be served by mothers of the Ingham 4-H band. Tickets for the dairy day banquet are available at the county extension office in Mason, and are also being sold by dairy herd improvement association testers, vocational agriculture teachers, members of the Farm Bureau board of directors and members of the banquet committee. Tickets should be bought before March 15, members of the committee stated. The price is $1.00 per plate.

Have You Met?

Dr. C. G. Smith, Clare Cook and Mrs. Frank Cook of 937 S. Lansing street?

They came to Mason in January from Detroit. Dr. Smith is buying the former Harold Haas home. He is a graduate of the dental school of the University of Michigan and retired last fall after practicing for 25 years in Detroit. Before that he practiced in Jackson. Dr. Smith is a widower.

Clare Cook is also retired. He operated a Detroit hotel before coming to Mason with his mother, Mrs. Frank Cook. Mrs. Frank Cook and her late husband long lived in Mason.

Dr. Smith has been too busy since his arrival in Mason, he said, to meet many people but those he has met have made him feel welcome.

Dansville Firemen Ready for Action

On and after Thursday night Ingham township will handle its own fires, and there have been plenty of them the past year.

This week Fire Chief Ed. Erter, Assistant Chief Bob Price and Firemen Robert Anderson, Gary Briggs, Howard Merindorf and O. A. Norton have been attending the fire school operated by John Bean Mfg. Co. in Lansing. They will complete their course Thursday afternoon and instead of a diploma will get a John Bean fire truck.

The deal on the truck was closed between the Ingham town board and the John Bean Mfg. Co. last week. The truck will be housed in Dansville and will cover all fires in the township besides giving aid in other townships when called. For 11 years Ingham township has contracted with the city of Mason for fire protection.

Floyd Baker, chief of the John Bean fire school, declared Thursday morning he had never had more apt nor more enthusiastic pupils. He credited much of the enthusiasm to Fire Chief Erter who suffered a costly fire February 24. It was after that fire that the township decided to buy a fire truck and have its own department.

Roy G. Pulver, sales manager of the John Bean Mfg. Co., said that the township got a bargain in the 1948 demonstration outfit mounted on a 1 1/2-ton International. The price was $6,500 for the truck, fully equipped.

Carpenter Dies Following Stroke

Silas Aseltine, 74, died in a Lansing hospital Saturday night following a stroke of paralysis suffered four weeks previously.

He had been in poor health for four years. At the time of the stroke he was taken to the Mason General hospital. Ten days before his death he was transferred to a Lansing hospital.

Mr. Aseltine was a skilled carpenter. He started his trade as a young man and kept at it until his health failed four years ago. Many of the houses in and near Mason and scores of business and farm buildings were built by Mr. Aseltine. He was born on the farm between Mason and Dansville June 6, 1874, the son of Horace and Caroline Aseltine. He was married in 1900 to Mary King. She died 11 years ago.

Surviving Mr. Aseltine are a daughter, Mrs. Isabelle Whyte of Mason, and a son, James Irving Aseltine of East Lansing. There are four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Jewett chapel Tuesday afternoon with burial in Maple Grove. Rev. Marshall Simpson of the Mason Presbyterian church officiated. Grover Sitts, Harold Whipple, Elmer Bravender, Roy Rae, Robert Stevenson and Harry Howell were pallbearers.

Street Light Deal Held Up Pending Poll

Aldermen May Change Plan And Double Lighting In Mason's Business Section

Whether Mason's business section will have bright lights of 6,000 lumens or continue with the present 2,500 lumens depends largely upon a poll being taken among business men. At the council meeting Monday night a contract was authorized between the city and Consumers Power company to continue with the present lights. It was agreed, however, that the 6,000 lumen lights can be substituted if the council so decides within 30 days.

The brighter lights can be substituted at any time for that matter, but 30 of the 35 steel poles needed for the 6,000 lights are now on hand in Mason. If the present 2,500 lights are continued the steel poles will be shifted to some other town.

It's the cost that's holding back the council in ordering the brighter lights. Each 6,000 light costs $10 more a year than the 2,500 light. The 43 uptown lights, if they are 6,000 lumens, will cost the city $817 more a year than the present rate.

Alderman W. Davis Post is polling the business men on the lights. His report Wednesday was to the effect that he has not yet found a business man who doesn't consider the brighter lights a good investment at the additional cost of $817.

Post said he will have a complete report to place before the council at the March 21 meeting. On the basis of that report the decision on the 6,000 lumen lights will be made.

No High Pressure Used

Percy Wheeler of the district office of Consumers told Mayor S. A. Morrison and aldermen Monday night that the company does not use high pressure salesmanship in its street lighting contracts.

"Mason can have exactly the kind of street lighting the council decides," explained Wheeler. "You can sign the present contract calling for 2,500 lumen lights and at any time in the future it can be changed to 6,000 lumens. Regardless of which light you choose the entire street lighting system will be rewired."

More Lights Provided

The city added 10 street lights, 2,500 lumens, which will run the bill up $250 per year. The new street lights are mostly in newly-developed areas.

With the 10 lights added the city will have to pay for 149 lights, $25 each per year for the 2,500 lumen lights, plus $19 each for the 6,000 lumen lights, if they are changed from 2,500.

The contract on the street lighting runs for five years with annual renewal clauses thereafter.

Three Proposals On School Ballots

Voters at the special Mason school district election scheduled for March 21 will have to decide on three proposals, if they own property assessed for school taxes. If their property is not so assessed they'll have to decide on just one proposition, the raising of the tax limitation 14 mills for retiring $300,000 of school bonds.

The two other propositions upon which taxpayers will vote are authorizing the issuance of $200,000 in bonds to be paid off in 10 years and rescinding the special three-mill building and site tax voted in 1947.

Polls will be open at the school from 12:00 noon to 8:00 p. m. on Monday, March 21. A school meeting has been called for 11:30 at which election inspectors will be named.

Pennsylvania Ave. Extension Ready for Contractors' Bids

Bids on the extension of Lansing's Pennsylvania avenue south from its present terminus at Jolly road to connect with US-127 at Elbert road will be called for soon. The new route was surveyed by the county road commission and the county staff drew up the plans and specifications. The state highway department will take the bids on the job, though, because of the federal aid involved. County Engineer Frank Evans explained.

Built under federal aid last year was the grade crossing with the Michigan Central and the extension of the highway south to Jolly road. The city of Lansing also shared in the cost of the project.

When completed the road will offer an alternate route north into and through Lansing, by-passing the business section.

The new grade will be wide enough for a four-lane highway. The connecting link is 1.58 miles in length.

This summer the stretch of Pennsylvania avenue from Jolly road north to the bridge and the stretch on the city side will be surfaced with blacktop. The county road commission will do the surfacing.

Kiwanians Debate Play Plan Finance

Dr. D. R. Leithbridge presided as moderator Tuesday night on a heated debate on financing a recreation program. Demanding that the city council levy a tax to finance the program were Kiwanians Al Rice and Ben Weaver. Violently opposed to such a fiscal venture, as they called it, were Kiwanians Frank Guerrero and Emory Jewett.

Rice and Weaver pointed to changed conditions which they claimed made city sponsorship necessary. Guerrero and Jewett termed such a program costly to taxpayers and detrimental to children who might better be home with their mothers, if their mothers were home.

No decision on the issue was rendered. The expression "Brass Hats" originated in the British Army.

Hidden Secrets of Blood Clotting Explored By Wayne U. Scientists

Studying beef blood in a test tube to determine its clotting qualities and timing the blood changes with a stop clock, is Stephen Bodnar, Wayne University student and former Navy pharmacist's mate.

When Dad nicks his face with his razor or Mom cuts her finger with the paring knife, each of course is concerned about disinfection, but neither worries much about stopping the blood flow or about the wound finally healing up. Nature will take care of things, they know. Doctors say it is "prothrombin," an ever-alert worker in the blood stream, that has received from Nature the important assignment of preventing undue loss of blood. This substance, produced in the liver, takes care of things almost always when a clot is needed.

Scientists at Wayne University's College of Medicine in Detroit have been the first to isolate this substance prothrombin, through methods developed over a period of years. And since prothrombin occurs in the blood in very small quantities and is difficult to separate from the rest of the blood, the supply produced at Wayne is now divided with a number of laboratories in the United States, Europe, and South America.
But the isolation of prothrombin, important as it may be as a development in medical research, is only a beginning in the work which the Wayne scientists have undertaken. Armed with microscopes, test tubes, and stop watches, they are now exploring the mysteries of prothrombin to find out what happens when blood clots. Even more

Three Teams Tied for County Title Survive District Tournament Play

A tie for the title in the Ingham County basketball league is as good as a championship anywhere else. That's what the district basketball tournaments proved.

Leslie, Haslett and Dansville ended the league season in a tie for first. In other years those three teams would have been tossed into one tournament—a dog eat dog affair. This year the three top teams each entered a different Class C tournament and all three came through with district titles.

Dansville won at Williamston, Leslie won at Lansing Sexton and Haslett won at Lansing Eastern. So the top three of the county teams will all have a go at regional honors.

Leslie took Everett 32-30 in the preliminary and then beat Lansing Technical 55-47 in the final Saturday night. St. Mary's defeated Holt in the opener and then lost to Technical.

Haslett beat Vocational in the opener at Lansing Eastern and then defeated Lansing Resurrection 23-21 in the final Saturday night.

Dansville took Stockbridge 53-28 in the opener at Williamston and then defeated Fowlerville 46-34 in the final. Fowlerville beat Williamston 31-27 in the preliminary. Fowlerville sprung a surprise on Dansville during the regular season, the surprise that knocked the Aggies out of an undisputed title to first place. But with the chips down in the tournament final, Dansville jumped to the front and stayed there.

Webberville, former Ingham league team, also came through with a district title, winning the Class D final from Bath, 37-20, at Lansing Eastern.

Dansville Aggies Capture Title in District Tourney

By Bob Curry

Dansville high school's potent basketball team polished off Fowlerville 46-34 at Williamston Saturday night to capture the district cage championship and climax a 10-year title quest.

Not since 1939 when the famous team of Pud Swan & Co. breezed through the district and regional tournaments to the state semi-finals has a Dansville quintet won the coveted crown.

The Aggies subdued Stockbridge 53-28 Friday night to earn their way into the final. Fowlerville overcame Williamston in the closing minutes to win the opening game 31-27 Thursday night.

The Gladiator-Hornet fray was a close one all the way, but of mediocre caliber. Fowlerville held a 2-1 lead in the first quarter but Williamston gained the upper hand during the second quarter to lead 14-11 at the half. The lead changed hands four times in the third period with the Hornets forging to the front 24-20 as the period ended. A charity loss by Jack Lucas with two minutes to go knotted the count at 27-27 and seconds later tall Tom Butler, Fowlerville's spindling center,

PITTED AGAINST PAROCHIALS
Dansville drew St. Phillips of Battle Creek to open the regional Class C tournament in Kalamazoo Thursday evening at six o'clock.

He broke the deadlock with a rebound shot. Butler and Jim DeMaiz made the first two baskets for the Aggies. DeMaiz's 12 was high for the evening while Ray Bachman paced the Hornets attack with 10.

Stockbridge Shows Fight
A scrappy Stockbridge quintet kept within striking distance of Dansville for the first half, the Aggies gaining a slim 23-16 lead. Coach Earl A. Briggs' side broke loose with a fury and fairly blasted the Panthers right out of the gym in the third period.

With scintillating Sammy Williams racking up 12 of his 21 points the Aggies put on a 24-5 spurge that left their opponents hanging onto the ropes.

In Fowlerville the Aggies met an inspired team that kept boring in even in the closing minutes in the face of overwhelming odds.

With Sammy Williams and Dick Kehres teaming up to score 24 and 12 points respectively, the Aggies simply had too much offensive power for the Gladiators to successfully combat.

Dansville zipped into a 14-7 lead in the initial frame and was leading 24-14 at the half. Again it was the third quarter that told the story. In four minutes the Aggies had doubled the score, 34-17, and it was apparent that Briggs' boys were destined to wear the district diadem.

It was 37-23 as they went into the last stanza, the one period in which the Gladiators had the upper hand. Fowlerville kept gamely sniping away but never narrowed the gap closer than 12 points.

The Briggs-coached team that won the title was definitely not a one-man team, but a fighting band of youngsters with the scent of victory in their nostrils. They stalked their foe from start to finish. True it was that Williams bagged the amazing total of 24 points, but they after time he emerged from a swarm of players beneath the basket to tip in rebounds. Time and again with at least three opponents dogging his footsteps and menacing his every move the big boy whipped passes to Dick Kehres and Junior Hayhoe and the whirlwind passing of this trio brought the crowd to its feet.

Kehres played the greatest game of his career. Hayhoe, while slightly off form in shooting, was otherwise tops. The splendid backboard play of Lowell Rappleyea and Wayne Chelf was no doubt the team's success. Art Lance and Bob Thompson spelled the starters, and acquitted themselves with distinction.

For Fowlerville, as game a team as ever went into battle, it was Tom Butler, a sophomore center, who stole the show. He scored 13 points and served notice that he must be reckoned with in future campaigns.

Two Local Cagers Awarded Honors

Two Ingham cagers were given honorable mention for the Detroit Free Press all-state high school cage team. Jack Davis, fiery Mason forward, and Sammy Williams, the Dansville Aggie point-maker, were both given spots on the mythical list.

Davis has been a consistent scorer for Mason and a scrappy defensive player. He has one more season of high school ball remaining.

Williams is playing his last season at Dansville. The tall sharpshooter has poured in at least 20 points in every game he has played this year and sometimes his total has run up into the 50's.

Mason and Stockbridge Dairymen Learn About Market Conditions

Milk producers meeting at Stockbridge and Mason the past week learned about the Detroit fluid milk market and the manufactured milk markets. They learned that dairymen in the manufactured milk markets are trying to crowd into the Detroit market because of the slump in manufactured prices.

Despite the drop in the Detroit market it is still a better market than Cleveland, Toledo or any manufactured milk market, dairymen were told. Dairy returns are also holding up better than beef or hogs, speakers said.

Departure of the government from the powdered milk market has caused the break in milk used for manufacture, dairy industry economists said. Lower feed costs are helping reduce production losses, however, dairymen were informed.

Members of the Mason Milk Producers association met in the Legion Memorial building in Mason Tuesday for their annual business meeting and banquet. The Stockbridge Milk Producers association held its annual meeting and banquet at the Stockbridge school last Friday night.

Market Is Oversupplied
Dell Wolf, president of the Mason group, is also a member of the Detroit sales committee. He declared that there is now a 15 percent oversupply of fluid milk to the Detroit market. With more feed available at lower costs the ship-pers have upped their production about 25 pounds each, Wolf reported. Feed costs are lower and labor is slightly below last year, although all other production costs are as high or higher than a year ago, Wolf told Mason dairymen.

Walter Peterson of the Detroit office of Michigan Milk Producers told Mason producers they must tell their production to the Detroit market of 2,800,000, having their cows freshen to meet the peak of demand. The June production peak must be eliminated with production stepped up for September and October, Peterson declared.

Warren Vincent of Michigan State college told dairymen at Mason about the cost of production study now being made.

J. Amato of Detroit, a famous juggler, staged a marvelous act.

Loris Curtis of Alameda was elected a director to succeed Robert Sillman. Leo Rogers of Meriden and Leonard Crowell of Leslie were re-elected. The other six members on the board are Dell Wolf, William Vincent, Roy Lott, Alameda; Don Cady, Vevay; M. L. Suro, Aurelius; William Priemuth, Bunker Hill; and Fred Ruthig, Leslie.

The noon dinner was served by members of the Mason Rebekeh lodge.

Welles at Stockbridge
Marshall Welles of WJR was the main speaker at Stockbridge. He urged farmers to use their own products in preference to substitutes.

"Every time a farmer buys a dairy substitute he is working right against his own interest," Welles declared.

Welles voiced opposition to the taking of all restrictions off the sale of oleo. He pointed out that the giant oleo manufacturers can spend five millions a year advertising products far inferior to butter. The milk industry must increase its sales efforts, Welles said.

Fred Lawanson of the sales committee told of the selling program the Michigan Milk Producers and urged farmers to keep in touch with their legislators.

High Miller presided as toastmaster at the banquet which was served by the Stockbridge O. E. S. Donovan Cronkite, Stockbridge agricultural instructor, told of accomplishments of boys enrolled in FFA. County Agent Donald Curry talked briefly. Earl Gotberg, Detroit ventriloquist, presented an interesting act. The American Agricultural Chemical Co. presented a film showing the mining, processing and use of phosphorus.

June Taylor is president and Stanley Marshall is secretary-treasurer of the Stockbridge local. Both were re-elected Friday with Cecil Cobb as vice-president. Delegates to the state meeting were chosen. They are Fred Graft, Harold Paul, Clarence Kemmler and Clinton Dunsmore.

Mrs. Merton Rice

Mr. and Mrs. Dorrance Risch, Mr. and Mrs. Leg Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wald, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stowe and Mr. and Mrs. Merton Rice attended the Michigan Milk Producers association banquet and program at the Stockbridge high school Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Steel of Bell Oak spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Risch and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Monroe were Sunday dinner guests of their daughter, Mrs. Bud Schmidt, and family of Lansing in honor of Mr. Monroe's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Williams and son were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Rice and son. Mrs. Morgan returned home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Howard Strobel spent Monday with her parents of Fowler. Howard attended an auction sale near there.

The Federation of Aids will be Thursday, March 17, at Northwest Stockbridge Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Rice and Mrs. Emma Morgan called on their daughter and family at Gregory Friday.

Family night will be Friday night, March 18, at the Vantown W. S. C. S. hall. A potluck supper will be served at 8 o'clock.

Defend 40-Hour Week
I have made the Ingham County News an idol for several years and even gained a good share of publicity for proverbs in local papers. In my opinion, that proverbs was accomplished by good and hard work. Now after reading the Sycamore column I heartily disagree with the statement of fact pertaining to local parents educating their children about hours if work and pay.

Many people have their occupations and experiences handed down to them, but many more have to start anew when out on their own. To me, a business man and a wage earner are alike. Say that the wage earner works for a week and receives his compensation. Then he pays for the necessities of life. If no effort is shown after meeting all his obligations, just what do you prescribe? Isn't a wage earner entitled to any profit or a day off to spruce up his abode?

Now suppose 100 people were working 40 hours per week, do you know that only 83 people would be required to do the same "dirty" work if they worked 48 hours instead of 40? Just what would become of those other 17 workers?

I don't believe that it is asking too much when we seek a decent wage, adequate heating or ventilation, removal of safety hazards and the like. Too much bad publicity is given labor when they stand up for their rights. Does everyone know all the inside facts or just step onto the diving board and spring into a "bowl of conclusions"? Not once have I seen a word about labor and management agreements which have gone along smoothly since the last ditch stand against the sweat-shop began.

Many living people like myself feel like brothers Ellison and Beaumont, that something should be done, whenever their rights are jeopardized. It is only an American way to stand up and fight when the occasion arises.

Young people of today are more inclined to be certain of a future before they accept work. If those young people work hard enough their futures shall become secure. In conclusion I repeat that the facts of both labor and management should be known before judgment can be passed. Therefore laboring people shouldn't be condemned for exercising their rights the American way.

Legislators Eye Spring Election, Major Action Delayed Until Then

by Gene Allenman
(Michigan Press Association)

Michigan's bi-partisan state government has entered its third month with little on the surface to indicate partisan differences. Just as coming events have a habit of casting shadows before them, so the April election has created a temporary lull in the state legislature. A total of 370 bills were introduced in the senate and house prior to March 1. Most of these are before committees for study, revision or pigeon-holing. Considerable work is done by legislators in committee, and often their best contributions are decisions to kill undesirable bills. No major developments in the legislature are expected until the April ballots are counted.

The political strategy seems to be well set. Republicans will concentrate on the rural vote, while the Democrats are relying heavily on an other C. I. O. demonstration in Wayne county and other industrial centers. County highway departments are concerned about the possibility of the state highway department taking over control of state highway maintenance. If Charles M. Ziegler, present highway commissioner at Lansing, is replaced by John H. McCarthy of Detroit, Democratic nominee.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, superintendent of public instruction, is opposed by E. Murr Sherwood of Stumbaugh, Democratic nominee. Both parties have new state chairmen: Republican—Owen J. Cleary, Ypsilanti; Democrat—Hicks Griffiths, Detroit.

Hearings have been started on recommendations of the Michigan Good Roads Federation. These include a 1.3 cent gasoline tax increase, higher weight taxes, overhauling of state and local highway administration, and a change in the formula for highway taxes among local governmental units.

Motorists now pay 25 per cent in taxes on cost of five gallons of gasoline, currently sold (not) in Lansing for $1.03. State gasoline tax is 15 cents, federal gasoline tax 7 1/2 cents, state sales tax 3 cents. If the state gas tax were raised to 5 cents, the tax would be 33 per cent on the tax paid.

Repeal of the law legalizing pari-mutuel betting on horse races has been petitioned by the Michigan Council of Churches. The senate recently adopted a bill forbidding horse racing at the state fairsgrounds, Detroit, starting January 1, 1950. While the state condones pari-mutuel gambling, the state supreme court again has held that bingo is illegal.

Workers hired by firms in interstate commerce would be given the right of collective bargaining under a "Little Wagner act" bill approved by Governor Williams. The measure would permit a three-member state labor relations

THE INGHAM COUNTY NEWS

Part 3

Trio of Feminine Stars in Sunday Feature

"Sudan," a technicolor adventure story, starring Maria Montez and Turlan Bey will open a week of attractions at the Fox Theatre. Following on Sunday is "A Letter to Three Wives," with a star-studded cast that includes Jeanne Crain, Linda Darnell and Ann Sothern as the "wives," paired with Jeffrey Lynn, Paul Douglas and Kirk Douglas, respectively. The immediate action of the hilarious story takes place in a single day, when the three girls leave on picnic excursion with the unsettling news that "Addie," their suburban town's most attractive unmarried female, has left town with one of their husbands.

"Addie," incidentally, is an intriguing Rebecca-like figure who is never seen, or even identified, but her taunting voice rings in the ears of each wife as she searches her marriage, convinced that it is her husband that the predatory female has taken.

A swashbuckling romantic epic done in the grand manner that's "Don Juan," starring Errol Flynn and Viveca Lindfors, which comes to the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story itself is a well-stocked dramatic piece, teeming with duels, towering sets and opulence. Don Juan comes to the Spanish court with a reputation for romance. The queen really attracts him and when enemies close in, Don Juan is there to protect her. There is a steady flow of romantic episodes, plus an interwoven plot of court scandals and evil plotting.

Super Western "Thunderbolt," coming to the Fox on Thursday and Friday is two men and a woman alone in the trackless sands of the Mexican desert.

Crook and Mrs. Edna Janecke and friend of Lansing spent Sunday with the Janeckes.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Janecke entertained her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Heber, and grandmother of Fenton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whipple of Lansing visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bullen, Sunday, and also visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. Willard Fernberg on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brock of Lansing were Sunday evening visitors of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Tooker had Mr. and Mrs. Garold Franklin and family of Dimondale as supper guests Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Tooker of Pottsville visited Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tooker Sunday.

Mrs. Hugh Angell, Mrs. Howard North, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. Joel Bishop, Mrs. Fred Strobel and World Day of Prayer services at the Eaton Rapids Congregational church Friday afternoon.

The Delhi Extension group met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Asel Towles. The subject was "Family Fun." Next week on March 16, the sewing lesson will begin at the home of Mrs. Clarence Leonard.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Angell entertained Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hoskins and children and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Battin for dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Binkley is still confined to her home with illness. Mrs. William Nichols, who is convalescing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Price, in Lansing, is able to be up again.

Jeanne Crain, Linda Darnell and Ann Sothern in "A Letter to Three Wives," co-starring Kirk Douglas, Paul Douglas and Jeffrey Lynn with the three will be seen at the Fox Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

The featured players are Preston Foster, Mary Stuart and William Bishop. A handsome black and white pinto, Thunderhoof, has the title role.

Hal Smith's original screenplay, recounts the adventures of the trio in their search for a fabulous wild horse. After his capture, the film follows their hazardous trek from the Mexican wilderness, through wind-swept desert, to the Texas border. Foster and Miss Stuart, as husband and wife, are aided somewhat unwillingly by Bishop in their hunt. Bishop, who owes his life to Foster, is in love with his friend's wife and repays the debt by stealing her affections. There will be a baffling murder mystery on the screen of the Fox theatre Thursday and Friday with the showing of "The Shanghai Chest." Roland Winters as the ever-wise Charlie Chan is called upon to solve some puzzling murders.

When a judge is found knifed to death, his nephew is suspected because of an earlier quarrel. But fingerprints on the victim's body belong to a convict executed months before at San Quentin. When the district attorney is also murdered with identical fingerprints left on the victim, it is discovered by Chan that the convict's body is missing from his grave. The case becomes more involved, and deep in suspense, when a juror is also murdered. The convict's brother has escaped from prison to add to the tension, which reaches a dramatic point as Chan and his aids square off with the murderer.

do mean "pranced"! Two very vigorous men, also, helped engineer things.

When we left they were still singing—there must have been more than 500 of them. It's grand to see older folks not just waiting to die—and, believe me, they certainly aren't in St. Petersburg!

Oh, the weather—we've had two days when a little fire was needed in the evenings—but today it's fine again.

Not So Good Deed Charged to Scouts

Boy Scouts encamped on Kiwanis hill four miles east of Mason over the week end probably did do their allotment of good deeds but they did a bad deed, too. They failed to heed the adage that he who cuts his own wood warms himself twice. They took wood from the farm of Roy Garrison, near which Garrison had cut and neatly piled.

Deputy Fred Frye went to the camp and read the Scouts and the Scoutmasters a few lines from the Boy Scout creed.

Scouts said they thought Garrison's woodpile was on Camp Kiwanis property. It isn't and never was.

Its Only Master is the Person at Its Wheel!

White side wall tires available at additional cost.

THE 1949 CADILLAC, powered by its great new V-type, high-compression engine—knows no counterpart for over-all brilliance of performance.

From the standpoint of agility, smoothness and quickness of acceleration—it is a never-ending challenge to the imagination. Yet, in the hands of the person at its wheel, the 1949 Cadillac is as docile as a kitten!

Never before has a car so dynamic been under such certain and easy control. The big, powerful hydraulic brakes are completely dominant—yet they are as soft to the pedal as sponge rubber. A touch from the daintiest foot—and the car settles down to a quick and easy stop. A touch on the accelerator, and it moves quickly into any position its driver wishes to occupy. The big, slender steering wheel is feather-light in the hand—and quick and positive in its action.

Yes, the driver is boss in a Cadillac—and his word is unquestioned!

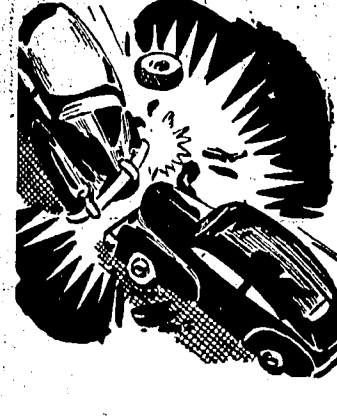

It's a great thrill to take command of such a car—as hundreds are learning every day. Why not come in and see for yourself? Regardless of the price class from which you expect your next car to come, you ought to be familiar with Cadillac. It is the final yardstick for measuring motor cars.

SO DEAR TO MY HEART is one of those good stories which would make good family reading for the main character is a small boy being reared by his grandmother, but the character study and humorous incidents will amuse both young and old. Many will want to read it because of the picture by the same name. For children to read by themselves there is also Sterling North's MIDNIGHT AND JEREMIAH, a story of the boy and his lamb.

JACARANDA TREE is a story of Burma at the beginning of the war during the first invasion of the Japanese. It is the thankless job of Paterson, the British manager of a rice mill, to lead his small community to safety and India. Eleven strangely assorted people can make a story anywhere, but terror and tragic circumstances bring out the best and worst qualities, and it is these that make up the story.

THE MAN WITH MY FACE is another mystery story, but with an entirely different theme. The only reminder that we can recall is the old story of E. Phillips Oppenheim.

—THE GREAT IMPERSONATION. This is modern times. A very ordinary young businessman returns to his home one evening to find a man who looks like him taking his place, and so accepted by his wife and close friends. How he could have done this, and how the rightful person regains his name and identity make up this story.

Milk Canner and Its Originator

Dr. Roy Graves, formerly a top scientist in the Department of Agriculture, is the originator of the canning machinery for canning fresh milk on a dairy farm near Valparaiso, Ind. Dr. Graves developed his idea in conjunction with Roy Slambough, Valparaiso dairy farmer, and the two claim it could bring about an economic revolution in the dairy industry. Both said, however, much remains to be done on process.

Dairy Herds Run Big on Coast

I'll tell you about the dairies out here. A dairy with 150 to 175 cows is a small dairy.

We visited a dairy east of Long Beach, and I asked how many cows they milked and the foreman said 16 strings. Well, I didn't know what he meant by a string. He told me a string is 30 cows, so 16 times 30 is 480 cows. They were all milked by hand. The foreman said if we wanted to see a real show dairy to visit Adairs which is north of Los Angeles. We visited there and were told that they were milking 1800 cows and all by hand.

This was several years ago. We have been told lately that more of the dairymen are using milking machines. The first dairy we visited had four silos each holding 525 tons of silage. I didn't ask if they needed any help.

We visited the Knott's Berry Farm again this year and it is a very interesting place because they keep adding new places of entertainment.

To those who have never visited or read about this place, I will try to tell you something about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Knott's bought 10 acres of fruit several years ago and they thought it would be a good idea to put in a lunch counter with 12 or 14 stools. They started with 787 at one time. If you wish to eat there on a Sunday or holiday, you register and when your turn comes your name is called over a loud speaker. While you are waiting to be called, the Knotts have provided many things to entertain you.

They have moved in a ghost town which consists of old buildings from abandoned mining towns, stores with merchandise still on the shelves as they were 100 years ago.

On the town street, there is an old sheriff's office, barber shop, a fire engine which is a two-wheeled cart drawn by hand.

There is a small jail off this street with iron bars over the windows and a dummy setting in a chair. Many, as they pass by the jail, talk to the dummy. A man has an office on ghost town street with mirrors arranged so he can see you and hear you when you look at the dummy. It seems like he asks you questions. It is very confusing to anyone who doesn't know about the mirrors. A group of us went by the jail and I stayed behind and tipped the man off at the mirrors. I gave him the name of the man who was with us. He was from Indiana visiting some friends here. He couldn't speak for a minute when he heard his name and where he lived, when the voice apparently was coming from the dummy. The man at the mirror received lots of tips and has a lot of fun.

Knott employs 85 waitresses on Sundays and they serve about 1,000 meals and 10,000 more come to look. This place is about 14 miles east of Long Beach out in the country and you can't believe that so many people would go there.

GUY MCCUE

Pigs Need Care In Early Days

Michigan farmers are expecting larger pig crops this spring. But if the percentage of live to reach marketing age is not higher than the past two years, the number available for slaughter will be well below the 10-year average.

W. N. McMillen, Michigan State college swine specialist, urges care at farrowing time to save a greater number of spring pigs.

Experiments conducted at the Michigan agricultural experiment station last winter showed that many little pigs die or are stunted during their first few hours of life. This is because they have no temperature control mechanism. Farrowed at a temperature of 100 degrees from their mothers, the pigs are sometimes born in near freezing temperatures. This chilling either kills them or stunts their growth.

Electric pig brooders are the best answer, McMillen believes. Brooders can be installed in one corner of the pen and a guard rail can be used to keep the sow out. By using an ordinary electric lamp with a reflector hanging above this area it serves as a brooder to keep the little pigs warm. They can crawl beneath the rail to the main part of the pen to nurse, but will be away from the sow most of the time, reducing the possibility of their being stepped on or mashed. The lamp can be from 60 to 150 watts, depending upon the amount of heat needed. Brooders should be used for the first 10 days to two weeks after pigs are born.

Dynamite Is Magic Worker on Farmland Must Be Carefully Used to Prevent Harm

Dynamite is the Paul Bunyan of the modern farm. Like the make-believe, giant lumberman who could uproot trees and do other remarkable things, explosives, properly and carefully used, can perform scores of labor-saving tasks about the farm, according to F. S. Eldred, manager of the explosives and powder divisions, Olin Industries, East Alton, Ill.

Farmers today are finding they can save much labor and time in digging ditches, blasting out stumps, making post holes, cleaning out water holes and even planting trees by the use of explosives, Eldred says.

"But caution is the watchword," he warns. Like fire, dynamite is an excellent servant and a terrible master. When the farmer uses it with full knowledge of the great labor-saving work it can do, as well as the fearful damage, he has a giant farm hand who can almost perform miracles."

Stumps are a bugbear to farmers. Each is a problem in itself. The farmer must study the type of stump, whether it has roots that run along just under the ground, or has great tap roots. Then he must carefully plan how to blast out that stump with dynamite. Again "caution" is the watchword. If not sure, the farmer should consult an explosives expert. But the typical way to blast a stump is to place the dynamite as near as possible under the center mass, or under the largest roots. If there are two large roots, it may be necessary to plant the explosive under both.

Sometimes there are stumps with central downward roots, called tap roots. In such a case, as shown in Figure 2, the charge is placed down alongside the tap root on the side that will bring it as near as possible to the center of the stump.

Another great labor-saving task can be performed with dynamite. That is the digging of ditches. Dynamite can be easily carried through the woods, swamps and other country impassable to horses or machines and, once there, can quickly do more work than dozens of laborers or several machines.

When small areas of rug's surface have been crushed by furniture or the shuffling of feet, you can bring the pile back to normal by applying a hot iron on a damp cloth. Brush the pile bristly after this suggests Ruth Peck, extension home economist at Michigan State college. Rug corners which curl can also be remedied by applying a hot iron on a damp cloth to both sides of the carpet.

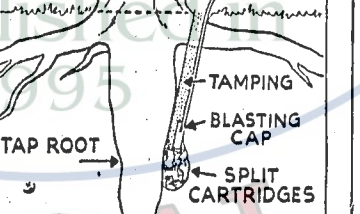

Figure 3
But always the words "safety-first" must be kept in mind. The farmer should know his explosive, know the type of soil in which he is operating and should not trust his own judgement. If there is ever any doubt, he should consult an expert. Ditches are dug by dynamite not by placing one charge, blowing out a hole then using another charge. Figure 3 shows the dynamite planted stick by stick at regular intervals so that whole sections are blown out at the same time. In this way, the earth does not fall back into a part of the ditch already dug. One of the advantages of digging ditches with dynamite is that there are no "spoil banks."

The homemaker's first step in this direction is to buy from retailers or wholesalers who keep eggs under proper conditions. Her next step is to keep the eggs cool.

Knowledge Is Valuable
To Those Purchasing Eggs

U. S. department of agriculture marketing specialists report that knowing where to buy eggs and how to keep them are the only two ways that consumers can be sure of having a quality product at all times.

The homemaker's first step in this direction is to buy from retailers or wholesalers who keep eggs under proper conditions. Her next step is to keep the eggs cool.

Covert Holsteins Again Lead Tests

With an average of 43.4 pounds of butterfat from 1,325 pounds of milk the Holstein herd of Harry Covert & Son of Leslie topped the Ingham-West Dairy Herd Improvement association tests for February. There are 10 registered Holsteins in the Covert herd.

Robert Witte, the association tester, reported that 11 herds in the group went above the 30-pound average. The other 10 herds above the 30-pound mark were:

Mrs. C. A. Stimson's 28 registered Holsteins, 38.9 pounds fat, 1089 pounds milk; Warren Childs, 16 grade and registered Holsteins, 37.8 pounds fat, 1145 pounds milk; 20 grade and registered Holsteins belonging to Carlyle C. Waltz, 35.8 pounds fat, 1074 pounds milk; Charles J. Davis, 21 registered Holsteins, 35.4 pounds fat, 1053 pounds milk; Ralph H. Darling's 38 registered Holsteins, 35.1 pounds fat, 1009 pounds milk.

Paul C. Rowe's 10 grade registered Holsteins, 35.0 pounds fat, 1008 pounds milk; Howard J. Coy's 8 grade and registered Holsteins, 34.9 pounds fat, 941 pounds milk; Rex Townsend's 17 grade Holsteins, 33.8 pounds fat, 964 pounds milk; 19 registered Holsteins belonging to Harry DeLoore, 31.5 pounds fat, 946 pounds milk; Miller and Shaw, 11 grade Holsteins and Jerseys, 30.4 pounds fat, 873 pounds milk.

Two highest cows in each class were:

Mature class, Harry Covert & Son's registered Holstein, 80.2 pounds fat, 1486 pounds milk; Harry Freshour & Son's registered Holstein, 70.1 pounds fat, 1948 pounds milk.

Under 5 years, Mrs. C. A. Stimson's registered Holstein, 75.4 pounds fat, 1864 pounds milk; Mrs. C. A. Stimson's registered Holstein, 64.5 pounds fat, 1654 pounds milk.

Under 4 years, Harry Covert & Son's registered Holsteins, 52.3 pounds fat, 1751 pounds milk; Ralph H. Darling's registered Holstein, 52.0 pounds fat, 1240 pounds milk.

Under 3 years, Harry Covert & Son's registered Holstein, 64.9 pounds fat, 1299 pounds milk; Ray Platt — Son's registered Holstein, 51.9 pounds fat, 1209 pounds milk.

Cattle Program Grows Rapidly

About 12 per cent of Michigan's dairy cows are now being bred artificially, according to A. C. Balzer, secretary of the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative.

The organization, made up of 134 local associations in 65 Michigan counties, will hold its annual meeting March 31 at Michigan State college. On the college farm the association's 60 bulls are housed and the central semen gathering laboratory is located.

Two years ago, only 62,000 of Michigan's dairy cows were being serviced artificially on the farms of 7,920 members. At the close of 1948, more than 120,000 cows were being serviced on dairy farms owned by nearly 17,000 Michigan dairymen.

Providing bulls with rich inheritance for the average dairymen has permitted many to improve the quality of their herds without owning an expensive bull, Balzer pointed out.

Brush the pile bristly after this suggests Ruth Peck, extension home economist at Michigan State college. Good Baby Chicks Pay Most Profit

Those who feel that "baby chicks" pay off even though more of them die when young are probably very wrong. At least, figures gained by Howard C. Zindel, Michigan State college poultry specialist, shows a definite relation between baby chick mortality and laying flock mortality.

Poultry flock owners that lost less than 10 per cent of their chicks up to 24 weeks of age had seven per cent of their hens die off after pullets, were placed in the laying house. On the other hand, flock owners with 20 per cent or more mortality in baby chicks up to time hens were put into the laying house suffered a 28 per cent loss after hens started laying.

"There's a direct relation to the health of baby chicks and the health of the laying flock these same chicks make-up. That's why it's so important to buy good healthy chicks and keep down the loss with good management," the poultry specialist emphasized.

He reminded, too, that early chicks mean early laying pullets and that eggs produced before November normally bring the highest prices.

Coffee stains on table linen should be sponged with warm water advise textile specialists at Michigan State college. If the stain remains apply warm glycerine. Let it stand for 30 minutes and launder. Thorough rinsing is important.

Hogs will be taken to the pavilion on Friday afternoon and weighed in and then the judging and sale will be on Saturday morning and early afternoon. Members from Ingham county exhibiting hogs at the show will be George and Ralph Ellison with Poland Chinas, Harold and Wayne Blossay with Durocs, and Joe, Lois, Helen and Nancy Bloom with Hampshires. Ingham county hogs have done well in this show in the past and are expected to take some good places in this coming event, M. H. Avery prophesied.

Community 4-H Clubs

Community 4-H clubs for summer organization are urged to get their organizations set up during March and early April. Enrollment cards have been given to the teachers of most of the rural schools for prospective 4-H club members to sign for the projects they are interested in taking this year. Cards should then be sent to community leaders or to the county extension office if the community leader for the community is not known. A series of community meetings will be held by M. H. Avery in five communities shortly after the county achievement day. These meetings will be at Danaville, Williamston, Stockbridge, Okemos, Mason and Leslie. It is hoped that most prospective 4-H members will have selected their projects by this time and at these community meetings members can be directed to the correct club for them to attend for the summer. Material for each community leader will be presented at this meeting.

Amateur Program in April

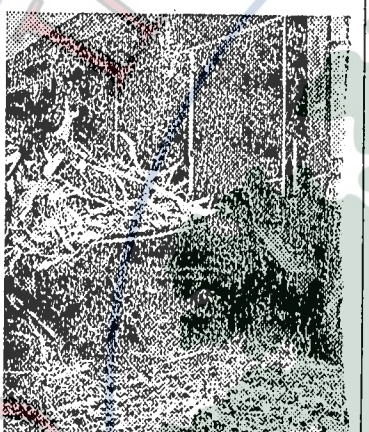

A county-wide amateur program is being sponsored for 4-H club members the latter part of April. Cards are available at the county office for members interested in participating in this event to sign up and send back to the office through the local leaders. Those who have not received cards and are interested in competing or know someone else who is, are asked to notify the local leader or the county office.

Moisture Conservation Helps With Wheat Crop

A 30-acre field that had produced little during the last few years, even with favorable moisture conditions, produced a good wheat crop, according to the Kansas state college extension service. "A combination of things made the land productive again," a conservation district cooperator said. "Use of sweet clover, seeded in the spring of 1946, for green manure and terracing, and contour farming for moisture conservation were important."

"The land, he explained, was badly eroded. The soil was thin, dense and hard to work. It had not produced a decent crop in the previous six years and was practically idle land. Gullies were plowed shut after the terraces were built, so that the whole field could be enclosed farmed. In addition, grass waterways were developed and more terraces planned."

New Hay Chopper

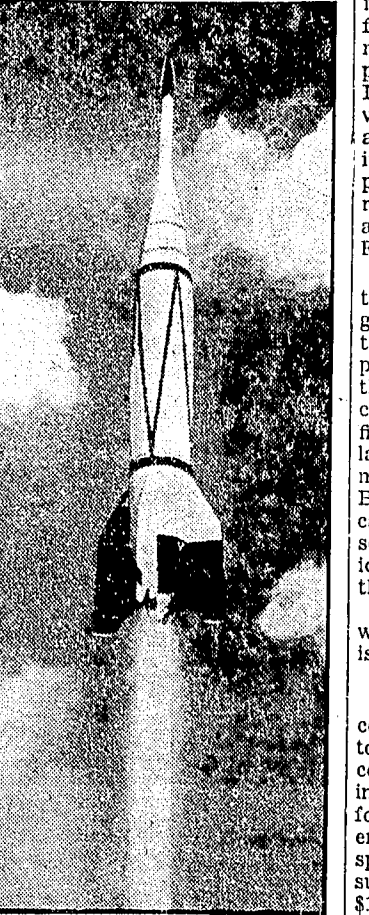

This combination hay chopper and ensilage cutter, which can be operated by one man, has been introduced by the New Holland Machine company. The new machine feeds, cuts to desired length and blows corn, hay or other crops to mow or silo in one operation. Cutting in lengths ranging from 3-18" to 1 1/2", the chopper cutter can handle up to 20 tons of silage an hour.

Bathtub Fairly Recent Innovation in America

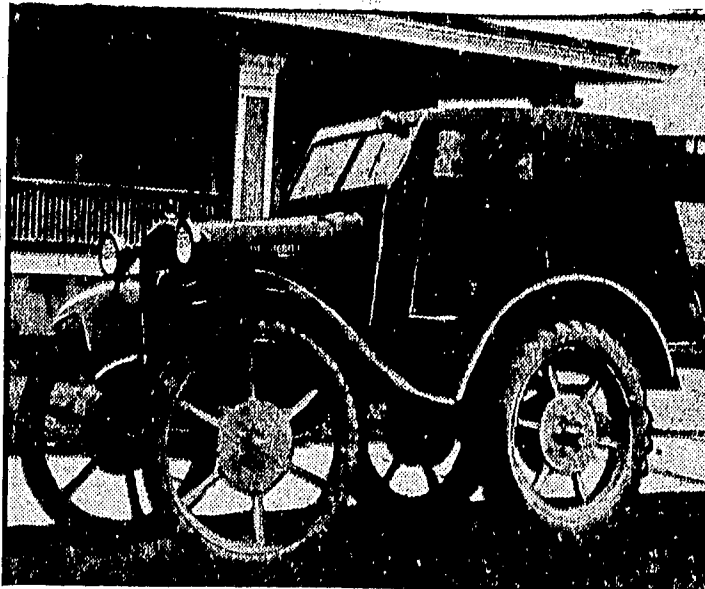

Although many Americans consider the daily bath essential to good health, most of their predecessors of a century ago never saw, much less bathed in, a bathtub in the home. For pre-Civil War Americans, bathing was a luxury indulged in a hut along-side the home. The White House got its first bathtub during Lincoln's term. The first all-iron tub was installed in New York City in 1870.

Re-Tired Mail Carrier

This exalted vehicle was retired from a Texico, Ill., rural mail route after serving its owner, Joseph S. Spangler, faithfully for several years. The tractor tires helped put the mail carrier over soggy farm roads that bogged down more conventional autos. Now the roads have been improved and Spangler is planning to retire, so the "Siltmobile" has been sold.

Forests Get Better Management

Good forest management practices are being increasingly used by private timber land owners, both large and small, Prof. W. F. Ramsdell, of the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation, believes.

Professor Ramsdell cites extensive re-planting programs on over- or burned-over lands as a particular example of this trend. The acceptance of the tree farm system in Michigan is another. "Development of mechanical tree-planting equipment has made it possible for many large forest concerns to re-plant land which has been burned-over," he explains. "The cost of planting by hand has become excessive, because of rising labor charges."

Re-planting is necessary principally upon lands which have been burned over again and again. Professor Ramsdell added. In such areas, the seed trees have been destroyed and natural restoration of the land to forest growth could be exceedingly slow. Cut-over lands, on the other hand, will come back as a result of natural reseed- ing if given time.

Hand planting is done by many owners of small timber tracts who can do the necessary re-planting by themselves and whose only capital outlay is for seedlings, the university man points out. The amount of land in Michigan being thus returned to forest growth by small land owners is considerable, Professor Ramsdell believes.

The tree farm system, which is being organized under direction of the Michigan department of conservation and the Michigan Forest Industries, is designed to interest both large and small owners in better forest management. Professor Ramsdell explains. Farmers having six or more acres of woodland may join the system, agreeing to follow approved forest practices and receiving periodic inspection and advice from a state forester.

Improvement of timber cutting practices is largely up to the private land owners, he declares. In Michigan, nearly 50 per cent of all forest land acreage is owned by the state or federal governments, but more than half of the best timber is still in the hands of private owners.

"Various schemes of controlling timber cutting practices by either the state or federal governments are proposed from time to time," Professor Ramsdell comments. "However, the nature of the forestry industry makes them impractical, since so much timber is owned by small operators. The great number of these small operators would make any sort of government regulation of timber cutting exceedingly difficult."

SHOULD CONGRESS PASS THE WAGNER-MURRAY-DINGELL HEALTH INSURANCE BILL?

Background

For several sessions a health insurance bill has been before congress. The present bill provides for a system of nation-wide health insurance which would cover approximately 85 per cent of the population, including employees, self-employed persons in business for themselves, and the dependents of both. The cost would probably amount to a charge of about three per cent on the average personal income. The plan would provide for medical and dental service from general practitioners and specialists, home nursing care, hospital expenses, laboratory services and even eyeglasses. Free choice by the patient of his doctor and dentist is guaranteed, as is also the right to change one's choice.

Doctors may participate or not as they like and they may reject patients if they choose to do so. Hospitals are not to come under government management. Payments are to be made to doctors from the insurance fund by a method to be determined by the participating doctors themselves. In each local area, administration will be carried out with the help and participation of local citizens, including members of the medical profession. Each state is given the right to set up a state agency to administer the system, provided Federal standards are met.

The American Medical Association, the doctors' professional organization, is strongly opposed to the bill. The A. M. A. has proposed as an alternative to increase the efficiency of voluntary agencies now operating in the health field. This program includes the enlargement of voluntary prepaid medical care plans such as the Blue Cross scheme for hospital care. Improvements in hospital services and in programs of medical research are other elements in the A. M. A. plan.

Some of the chief arguments which have been advanced on this issue are:

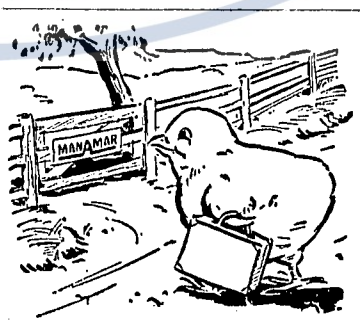

Yes. In case of serious illness the cost of medical care is ruinous to people in the low or middle income groups, unless they are willing to accept charity. In 1946, before prices had reached their present level, 28 per cent of those responding to a Gallup poll on the subject said they had spent over $100 on doctor, hospital and dental bills in the past year. Two out of three people need financial help to meet the cost of a serious illness.

If people were insured they would not, because of the expense, hesitate to go to a doctor at the first sign of trouble. Many serious illnesses of themselves and perhaps of others would be prevented if they were treated in an early stage under this plan. In Great Britain, which has adopted a plan similar to the one proposed for this country, health insurance has proved the most popular measure adopted in recent years. Although most British doctors originally opposed the plan 90 per cent of them are now participating in it.

3. The terms of the proposed bill provide for retaining a great deal of personal freedom under the scheme. Is it fair to label as "socialized medicine" a scheme in which doctors are not required to participate and which leaves patients free to patronize doctors outside the plan if they wish to pay for extra service? Something like this has been done for years in the field of education, where we have both public and private schools.

No. Health insurance means socialized medicine. A huge governmental organization will be necessary to administer such a scheme. The road to socialism everywhere will be opened if we allow it in what has always been such a private and personal field as the practice of medicine.

2. Whatever may be said to the contrary, the mixing of governmental controls with the practice of medicine will lead to political meddling which will lower the high standards now prevailing in this field. There will be political interference with the normal relationship between doctor and patient. The large bureaucracy this plan will entail should afford a happy hunting ground for politicians looking for jobs to give their friends. Would you want to have to deal with a political appointee when your wife or child is ill?

3. The great majority of doctors, who should know the most about the problems of medical care, are strongly opposed to this project. In response to a poll on the subject, 61 per cent of them say they will participate in such a scheme. Even if all doctors were willing to join there would not be enough doctors to take care of all the demands which would be made on an insurance plan of this sort by people who will flood the system with trifling requests and imaginary complaints.

Battle Against Afosa

In a drive to stamp out afosa (foot and mouth disease) from Mexico in two years, a joint U. S.-Mexico commission has undertaken the job of vaccinating from eight to 10 million cattle in the affected area by the end of 1949. Trained teams go ahead of the nine teams of vaccinators to preach the benefits of vaccination and convince the sometimes ignorant cattle owners that vaccination is the only alternative to disaster.

By the end of 1949 the program will have cost approximately 50 million dollars. It includes five points: constant inspection, disinfection, eradication, vaccination and quarantine.

The vaccination process itself is simple. A needle of the vaccine is shot into the animal and that's all there is to it. It will take from eight to 10 million shots to complete the job. The vaccine protects for six months.

Pensions for Those in Need

Senator Harry F. Hittle of the Ingham-Livingston district met with a deserved defeat in his attempt to take lien restrictions off the granting of old age assistance.

In 1947 the state legislature amended the pension act so the state could file liens against the estates of pensioners after their deaths. Those liens seek recovery of only the money the state has paid out in pensions. There is no mortgage placed against anyone's property. There is no embarrassment of anyone, alive or dead. But at death the state files a claim against the estate of the pensioner, just like claims of undertakers, doctors and nurses are filed. If the estate of the pensioner runs below $100, or if the survivors are physically or mentally incapacitated, no claim is filed.

Claims are filed only where the estates of pensioners are sufficient to warrant such action. Claims are filed when investigation shows that sons and daughters or even more distant heirs will inherit sums which should have been spent to keep pensioners off the rolls.

Morally and legally sons and daughters are responsible for the care of aged and infirm parents. Morally and legally the state is bound only to grant old age assistance to those who are unable to maintain themselves and who have sons and daughters or other relatives unable or unwilling to maintain the old folks.

No one earns old age assistance. It is not a reward for living 65 years. It is not a pension for services rendered. It is public aid granted on a basis of need. If there is no need there should be no grant.

That's the way most people regard Michigan's old age assistance law. They thought and still think the 1947 amendment is a good thing. Adoption of it took 3,000 pensioners off the rolls and kept an estimated 7,000 more from making application for old age assistance. Those who stood to share in the estates left by the deaths of the old people made up their minds to help, and the taxpayers are thereby saved about $3,000,000 a year.

Senator Hittle maintains that old age assistance should not be regarded as welfare. Then how should it be regarded, Senator? It is money taken from those who earn it to help out those who can no longer earn and who are in need. If that isn't welfare, what is it?

Under Senator Hittle's interpretation, the old age assistance law is for the benefit of heirs as much as for the benefit of the old people in need.

Under the 1947 amendment which still stands despite the action of Senator Hittle there is more old age assistance money to pay to those in actual need, but less money to pay to the heirs of those who are not in need.

The law now does not prevent any old person, even a man with a little property, from getting old age assistance. It merely sets up machinery so the taxpayers can get back some of the money after the pensioner dies; money which otherwise would go to a son or daughter or some more distant relative who could not or did not take care of the old folks. Pensioners lose nothing. Only the heirs of pensioners lose under the law as it now stands; under the law that Senator Hittle doesn't like.

Ingham supervisors gave consideration to Senator Hittle's stand and then urged him to help keep the recovery act in the law. The Ingham senator refused to accept the advice of the supervisors. He joined with Senator Haskell Nichols of Jackson and Democrats in trying to make it expedient for thousands of people to get back onto the pension rolls when they have property enough and children able enough to keep them off.

Latin-Americans Run Business Along Mexican-U.S. Border

By Vernon J. Brown

This piece is dedicated to the Latin-Americans. In the north where some of them come to weed sugar beets, to block them and to top them at the harvest season, to work in the fruit belt along Lake Michigan from Benton Harbor to Traverse City, and to do the other hard work of the fields, they are called Mexicans.

Down here in Texas they are better regarded. They are classed as Latin-Americans if they came over legally or if they were born on this side of the Rio Grande as thousands of them have been. If they have come across the river at night or slipped over without knowledge of the immigration authorities they are spoken of as "wet-backs."

The truth is, much of the economy of this part of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California lying along the Mexican border is dependent upon the labor of the men and women who trace their ancestry back to Mexico.

Long before Texas became a republic or thought of becoming a part of the United States, those of Mexican birth had settled along the Rio Grande. These people have maintained their blood lines, have clung to the traditions of Old Mexico and many, many thousands have accumulated large land holdings, have entered business, have educated their young men and women for the professions, and otherwise have become as much a part of America as those whose ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

They Enjoy Life
These Latin-American folks are a friendly and a kindly lot. Whether at work or play they seem to enjoy life. Just across the highway from our motel is a field of carrots, about 40 acres I would guess. One night last week some 40 or 50 of the workers spent the night out in the open after having worked all day with others bunching and tying carrots. I have no idea as to the whyfores but after all the others had left the field at sundown as is their custom, the ones I speak of were still there. They built a fire, cooked their food, baked or frying it on a piece of an old automobile fender, then sat around their fire and sang. They were still there in the morning when the others came in trucks and the "over-nighters" took their places again in the lines of bunchers and those who do the tying.

A couple of days later I had occasion to go back to the laundry downtown to have the management locate a garment missing from our wash. It was hot outside—up in the high 80's—and a lot hotter in that steam laundry where dozens of women were at work in the midst of the din of operating machines and out of the hot steamy atmosphere of the big room, there came to my ears a lovely voice singing an old Mexican ballad. I stepped around to see where the voice was coming from and there she stood, a fine looking young Latin-American, stuffing shirts into a hot mangle as she sang. And soon some of the others joined her, all in fine harmony and all of them appearing to have as much fun as if the work was not hard and the room not hot and steamy.

Lots of Children
Another thing I have observed about these Latin-Americans, native-born or otherwise, they like a bit of entertaining at the hospital and Post Commander Clyde Smith at Mason enlisted the Adamases. Roy played the flute and sweet potato, Ralph tenored some old-time favorites and Ethel accompanied on the piano.

W. W. Hazelton spent a big flock of geese winging their way north over the Sycamore Valley Saturday morning. A flock of 200 geese dropped out of the sky into Rene Cremer's corn field Sunday morning at nine o'clock. The leader waddled to the highway and studied the road direction signs. He then returned to the flock for a conference and a few minutes later the geese took off. They circled over Aurelius Center before heading straight north. * * * Earl Salisbury stopped in at the office Monday after a winter in Florida and 10 days admiring his new grandson, John Michael Salisbury, in Chicago. Sal declared that he enjoyed the many letters which have appeared in the Ingham County News during the winter.

The most letters resulted from the Ellison pig situation and Mrs. Don Denismore's love for trivets.

(Pause for General Motors commercial.) That beautiful color on Harry Spenny's new Oldsmobile is called garnet red. Harry bought the car through A. G. Spenny & Sons. The GMC panel truck being used for parcel post deliveries was also bought from the same agency.

This is a vintage year for maple syrup. Prospects didn't look good. The frost wasn't deep enough. There wasn't any snow. Then came a dose of just the right kind of weather—alternate freezing and thawing—and the sap buckets are running full. Mark Cave is getting more orders than he can fill even with increased production, and a lot of other big operators make the same report.

All those in the cast and some of those not in it claim the Mason high school variety show being staged Friday and Saturday nights is tops in entertainment.

If you're feeling blue, tired out, weak, if you feel frustrated or thwarted, try hot biscuits and some of this new crop of maple syrup. It's good for what ails you.

children and have a lot of them. And they treat them with utmost kindness. And, too, the children are always polite and courteous and considerate.

I have seen them coming from their ranches to town in some of the finest cars which Michigan ingeniously produces—Lincolns and Cadillacs. And I have seen them coming in old jalopies and on foot. Whatever their station in life they are always clean and their children are well behaved.

Most of the clerks in the stores everywhere in this section of the country have Mexican ancestry stamped on their faces. These are third and fourth generation young people who have been educated in the fine schools of this area. They speak both English and Spanish with equal fluency and might well be used by northern merchants as examples of what a salesman or saleslady in a retail establishment should be like. A considerable number of retail stores here are owned and operated by those of Mexican extraction. One of the very finest and most modern food stores in Edinburg is owned by a Latin-American whose son was recently graduated from our own University of Michigan.

I mentioned earlier in this piece about the economy of this area depending so much on those who themselves have come across the Rio Grande or whose parents or grandparents did so.

Piecework Farming
The intensive farming and the extensive orchard work in the region requires lots of hand labor. There are areas served by those who contract the laborers, house them, transport them to the fields or groves and return them at night. Most of this is piecework for which the contractor takes a commission, paid out of the wages of the field hands. In other cases, the crops are sold standing in the field in which event the buyer supplies the workers for harvesting.

It is quite a sight to see a couple of hundred field workers being unloaded at the roadside next to a big field of carrots or onions, or spinach or broccoli or cabbage and watch them scatter out over the field and set to work bunching and piling or gathering in baskets and then to see the big trucks pulling out of the field later with these bunches of green vegetables all neatly piled and on their way to the packing sheds where they are washed and graded and boxed for shipment to go on sale at food stores everywhere.

Not so many are required to pick a grove of fruit but they come in the same manner—standing closely packed in a stake body truck with sides about shoulder high. These same trucks haul produce and citrus fruit to packing sheds or processing plants.

Hereafter when I meet these Latin-Americans on the streets or along the roads back in Michigan I am going to smile and give them as nearly as I can the same sort of friendly greeting these fine people all extend to everyone down here.

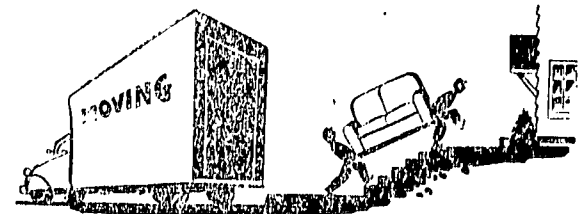

Cleanliness Rates High
I said something about cleanliness. Wherever you travel, in town or down the back country roads, the Latin-American women folks always seem to be washing. It may be a shanty made of mesquite poles with a roof thatched of palm leaves or it may be neat dwelling in town or country—always there seem to be women washing or a long line of clean clothes drying on the line or more frequently in the country on a wire fence.

The other day, driving along a little traveled road, we came upon as crude a dwelling as one will find anywhere, yet at the side of the door there stood a new electric washer in all its gleaming white porcelain. We have seen several rather crude homes where new washers had replaced the tub and board, but even so the water is heated in an iron kettle outside. Every hardware store sells them. These people are good spenders. They want nice things. Some of the best dressed women on the streets are Latin-Americans. Indeed, the woman who presides over the household of the finest restaurant in the city of Edinburg, comes direct from Monterey.

Given decent wages they become good customers for everything which the modern American wants. Like every other nationality there are bad Latins. There are those who live in utmost squalor. But the most of them like the good things and are willing to work for them.

Hanging Doesn't Stop Killing

Capital punishment was voted down by the Michigan legislature last week just as it has been over the last 100 years.

No new arguments were presented for or against the measure. Those opposed to it cited scripture. Those for it declared it would frighten intended murderers and might even reform them to the point where they would go to some state without capital punishment to do their slaying.

There's the weakness of the argument for capital punishment—that it prevents crime. The very facts of the Fernandez-Beck killing of the Kent county mother and daughter refutes that claim. Fernandez and Mrs. Beck admitted killing a New York woman right in the shadow of the electric chair.

There is only one sound argument for capital punishment—that society should not have to pay the keep of a murderer in prison for 15 years and then stand helplessly by to see a soft-headed parole board open the cell doors. If a man is electrocuted or hanged or shoved into the gas chamber he certainly will no longer be a menace to society, nor even an item of expense.

A worse punishment than hanging, or electrocution or the gas chamber would be a life term in prison if a life sentence actually meant life. But while there's life there's hope and the slayers behind bars live on the hope that they'll win a pardon or parole, and too many of them do. A few years after the hue and cry about the crime, and there comes the clamor for mercy regardless of the lack of mercy shown by the slayer.

Maybe hanging parole board members and governors who open the prison gates to killers would be more effective than hanging the murderers.

Money in the Bank

There are four million Americans who do their banking or some of it through the Postal Savings. The average principal per depositor is about $800. That's the national picture.

There is no average local picture. The most recent report shows Mason has 129 Postal Savings depositors with $122,850 in the bank. Stockbridge is credited with 18 with $17,490 deposited.

Eaton Rapids is credited with 546 depositors with $456,281 in Postal Savings. Howell has 404 with $488,565. Charlotte has 276 depositors with $311,445. St. Johns has 296 depositors with $343,669, and East Lansing has 462 depositors with $332,456.

In Lansing there are 4,542 Postal Savings depositors with $5,170,977.

See how the picture varies—Eaton Rapids with 546 depositors and Mason with 129? It could be that the picture reflects the bank situation back in 1933. Mason banks and the Stockbridge bank remained open.

School Election Is March 21

There are home work assignments for every voter in the Mason school district. The special election on raising the taxing limit and the issuance of bonds for building a West Side elementary school will be held March 21. That's just 10 days away.

Every voter in the district has the responsibility of getting all the facts on the issue. That's part of our duty as citizens. Then we all have the added responsibility to cast our votes on election day.
