Republicans Carry State By 90,000

Wayne Democratic Votes Fall Far Short of Mark In Last Fall's Election

Republicans carried 77 of Michigan's 83 counties in Monday's election. Democrats carried only the Lower Peninsula industrial counties of Wayne, Genesee, Oakland and Bay and two above the Straits.

Instead of rolling up a 100,000 majority in Wayne like it did last fall, the Democratic-CIO combination fell below 20,000. That doomed Democratic hopes for a repeat performance of last fall's victory.

The Republican majorities may reach the 100,000 mark. With 3,809 of the state's 4,215 precincts reported, Republican Charles M. Ziegler had a lead of 91,756 over his Democratic rival, John H. McCarthy of Mt. Clemens, for state highway commissioner.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston of Lansing was elected superintendent of public instruction over E. Burr Sherwood of Stanbrough by more than 90,000.

Republicans elected the two regents of the University of Michigan, Alfred Connable of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Vera Burdette Bails of Grosse Pointe Park; the member of the state board of education, Stephen S. Nisbet, of Fremont; and two members of the state board of agriculture, Winfred G. Armstrong of Niles and Mrs. Sarah Van Housen Jones of Rochester.

Democrats running on the non-partisan ticket escaped the Republican sweep. Re-elected as non-partisans were Supreme Court Justices George E. Bushnell of Detroit and Edward M. Sharpe of Bay City. Both are Democrats.

Ingham followed the trend on state voting. While the count will have to await the canvass, the Republican majority will probably reach 70,000.

Figures not complete

The gathering of precinct returns for newspapers broke down Monday night. Lansing precinct totals were available because of voting machines but out in the county many precinct boards were interested in township contests and counted township ballots first. In some precincts the state ticket was not counted until dawn of Tuesday or after.

Members of the county board of canvassers started checking the returns Tuesday forenoon. They continued through Wednesday and Thursday. Totals will likely be available Thursday night or Friday morning.

On the board of canvassers are Mrs. Carmalea Stanley of Lansing, James B. McIntee of Bunker Hill and Ardell Blackburn of Onondaga.

Tax Collections Are Off Slightly

Down just a trifle from 1947, the 1948 tax collections averaged 95.6 per cent, according to the figures released by County Treasurer Lyle B. Austin Thursday morning.

The 1947 collection rate was up to 96.4 per cent.

Drain taxes this year might have caused some of the delinquency, Austin remarked. Several big drains were constructed in Lansing and Meridian townships.

Spread on the county tax roll was a total of $1,418,543.85. Collected by township, city taxes were turned over to the county treasurer was $1,356,945.92, leaving only $61,597.93 in delinquent county tax.

To White Oak township went the honor of leading the list with a 99 per cent collection. A total of $8,263.51 was levied and $8,165.31 was collected, leaving only $98.20 unpaid.

Leroy township and the city of East Lansing tied for second place with a collection of 98 per cent. East Lansing collected $83,745.01 out of a total levy of $85,489.92. Leroy collected $12,067.49 out of the levy of $12,344.06.

The city of Lansing and the city of Williamston tied for fourth place with 97 per cent. Lansing collected $943,905.21 out of the levy of $972,303.90, and Williamston paying $11,998.31 out of the total of $12,383.83.

Collections in Locke hit 95 per cent. Reaching the 94 per cent mark were Aurelius, Ingham, Leslie, Wheatfield and Williamston townships.

Mason collected 93 per cent of the tax roll. The levy was $23,997.75 with a collection of $22,403.79.

Other units in the 93 per cent bracket were Alameda, Onondaga and Stockbridge. Lansing township and Vevay were tied at 91 per cent. Other percentages were Bunker Hill, 89; Meridian, 86; and Delhi, 85.

Millville and Vantown Singers Join in Sweet Harmony

For the Easter season the Vantown and Millville Methodist church choirs have joined forces. They presented their cantata, "The Cross of Redemption," at the Plainfield Methodist church Sunday night.

The cantata will be presented at the Dansville Methodist church Palm Sunday night (April 10), at the Vantown church Tuesday night of Holy Week and at the Millville church on the evening of Good Friday. Programs at all three of the churches will be started at eight o'clock.

This is not the first occasion the choirs of the two churches have been combined. They presented their first Easter cantata two years ago. The two choirs collaborated on another cantata for Christmas of 1947 and for the special music programs at 50th anniversary services held in both the Millville and Vantown churches in 1948.

Last week the singers received their new robes, maroon in color. They wore them for the first time Sunday night at Plainfield.

Mrs. Elizabeth Strait, wife of the pastor of the Van-town, Millville and Northwest Stockbridge churches, is the director of the choir. The piano accompaniment is played alternately by Mrs. Alice Monroe of the Vantown church and Mrs. Dorothea Walker of the Millville church.

Those in the middle row are Mrs. Merna Monroe, Mrs. Eunice Baker, Mrs. Juanita Henseleit, Miss Joyce Wilcox, Mrs. Pauline Oesterle, Mrs. Doris Vorce, Mrs. Osa Burley, Mrs. Juanita Stowe, Mrs. Gladys Malcho, Mrs. Alice Monroe, Vantown pianist, and Mrs. Maxine Williams.

In the back row are Harold Monroe, Harlow Sly, Robert Oesterle, Karl Meade, Allan Dietrich, Ralph Nickolson, Orla Sheathelm, Ivan Monroe, and Rev. Luren Strait, the pastor.

Not present when the picture was taken were Mrs. Helen Dietrich, Mrs. Rosalie Paul and Mrs. Helen Curtis.

Lawyers Huddle Over Error Found On TB Ballot

Lawyers don't know yet what to make of the election on the tuberculosis sanatorium proposal.

The proposal to levy an extra half-mill tax for 1949 and 1950 to pay for modernizing and improving the sanatorium was approved by the voters. By how much is not yet known.

The lawyers, though, are not now concerned with tabulation of the votes. They are trying to find a way to move a decimal point.

The heading on the special proposition ballot was OK, setting forth that the proposal was to increase the tax limit one-half mill. Down in the body of the proposition, though, instead of reading one-half mill, the proposition asks for the approval to raise the valuation by one-half of one per cent of the assessed valuation. One-half of one per cent of the assessed valuation means five mills, according to men quick with figures.

The error was discovered by Leon J. Fellows of Alameda township who took pen in hand before going to the polls to figure out what he would have to pay under the increased rate.

The one-half mill increase will yield about $100,000 a year. The five mills would mean a million.

The error goes beyond the ballot and beyond the election notice, back to the preparation of the resolution adopted by the Ingham board of supervisors. Several lawyers had a hand in drawing up the resolution. The board of supervisors adopted it without question.

The election commissioners followed the form exactly in preparing the ballots. So did the printers. Sanatorium officials and Michigan Tuberculosis association executives used the wording in mailing pieces and newspaper advertisements. Fellows was the only man who took pencil and paper to see how the proposal would affect him. His discovery came too late because the error went back to the original resolution of the board and the notice of the election.

The legal authority insists that because only the half-mill tax will be needed and that no more than one-half mill will be levied the proposal will be valid despite the error. Had the error been reversed, the lawyer said, with five mills asked and only one-half mill provided then only the smaller amount could have been levied.

Because only a short title of a proposition is used on voting machines the proposition as voted on in Lansing was correct, although the error in the election notice was present.

A course of action on the sanatorium tangle is expected to be placed before the supervisors Tuesday.

Have You Met?

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Schneberger and their six children?

The Schnebergers reside at 1412 North Phillips road, 3 miles north of Mason.

They moved to the farm on Phillips road from Peck, the first of January. At Peck Schneberger was in the construction business. He is now farming. Mr. and Mrs. Schneberger are natives of DeWitt.

Doreen, 14, is the oldest of the Schneberger children. She is a freshman at Mason high school. Next in line is Robert, 12, and Sharon, 11. They are in the fifth grade at the Canaan school. Lois is 4 years old. Last, but not least, are the twins, Donald and Ronald, who will be two years old in October.

State Detective After Firebug At Dansville

Olin Williamson, state police detective, has redoubled his efforts to nab the Dansville firebug since last Thursday night's blaze.

Asked regarding the case Wednesday night, Williamson declared his belief the case might be near a solution. He said that no arrests have yet been made.

"Nothing conclusive has yet been developed," Williamson replied when asked about the truth of some of the rumors circulating in Dansville.

On February 20 the Mason, Williamson and Stockbridge fire departments fought a set fire in Dansville. It was set in an outside stairway leading to the vacant apartments above the recently vacated Day Department store. Endangering the flames were the Lowe onion storage, Norton's beer parlor, the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. A. Redman and the Mason hall. Loss from smoke and water was extensive.

Last Friday morning about two o'clock Glen Cook discovered fire in the vacant apartment above what was the Day store. He said he went home late and happened to see the flames leaping up.

Cook turned in the alarm and the flames were quickly extinguished by Dansville's new fire department. Actually, the fire department was bought largely because of the February 20 blaze.

Officers who investigated last Friday morning's blaze said the fire was definitely set. Firemen found burning liquid on the floor. Apparently it had been touched off just a few minutes before the alarm was turned in.

COURT VACANCY UNFILLED

No appointment has yet been made to the office of friend of the court and probation officer, Kathryn Moles has been made acting friend of the court and probation officer. In March the circuit judges asked the supervisors to raise the salary $2,000 to $6,200 so an attorney would take the post. The supervisors refused.

Four Protestant Churches Join in Holy Week Service

Mason's four Protestant churches have planned two joint services for Holy Week, a Wednesday night service at the First Church of the Nazarene and a Good Friday service Friday afternoon at the First Baptist church.

Each of the four groups will have communion in their own churches Maundy Thursday.

The Wednesday night service at the Nazarene church will begin at 7:30. Rev. Marshall W. Simpson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon. Special music will be provided by the Nazarenes. Rev. Lloyd Canaway of the Baptist church, Rev. Murray Morford of the Nazarene church

Teachers Offered Contracts at Mason

Members of the board of education approved contract tenders to teachers at its meeting Wednesday night. Contracts were issued to all eight elementary teachers who have not notified the superintendent of their intentions not to return. Fifteen high school contract tenders were approved by the board.

Superintendent James H. Vander asked for further time to consider several contract offers.

"Just because a teacher did not receive a contract is no indication that one will be refused," the superintendent declared. "Some were held up on salary schedules and one or two for further consideration on other grounds."

Mrs. Louise Edgington has notified the superintendent that she does not expect to continue teaching next year. She teaches the second grade. Miss Dorothy Martin, teacher of English, and Mrs. June Hellman, teacher of biology and general science, have said they do not intend to return. Miss Martin is to be a bride and Mrs. Hellman has other plans than teaching.

Board members discussed the next step toward providing more classroom space but took no action.

Neither was a decision reached on a petition of Mason high school seniors that commencement exercises be held at Athletic field instead of in the school auditorium. A delegation of seniors appeared before the board to request permission for an outdoor commencement. Reasons given were that the size of the graduating class makes the auditorium inadequate, and that the outdoors is usually much more comfortable than the auditorium at commencement time.

Contract Is Let On Delhi Drain

Gerald L. Graham, county drain commissioner, let the contract on the Mud Lake outlet drain to Lap-ham Construction company of Hastings at $6,385.00. Bids were taken Monday. The contract covers 8,100 lineal feet of open drain with the necessary driveways and highway culverts, extending south from Miller road.

There were eight other bids: Ernest J. Russell, Jackson, $7,478.36; Elmer Erickson, Bay City, $7,480.38; W. B. Warner, Lansing, $9,145.10; Poole Bros., Leoni, $9,632.00; E. J. Scarlett, Holt, $9,849.14; Ted Beauchamp, Stockbridge, $10,661.88; E. L. Mattison, Lansing, $10,692.35; and Wolverine Engineering Co., Mason, $11,622.00.

Dale Wilcox Loses Arm From Hot Wire

Dale Wilcox, Mason high school star griddler 20 years ago, lost his left arm while stringing wire on Tuesday of last week on a REA job at Noblesville, Indiana.

Wilcox fell from the pole onto wire carrying 4,600 volts. His left arm and right leg were both burned. Doctors had to amputate the cooked arm between the elbow and shoulder in order to save the man's life. The leg was saved.

Mrs. Lucille Wilcox of Mason is a sister-in-law of Dale Wilcox. Mrs. Wilcox said that her brother-in-law worked for REA at Boyne City until he took the Indiana job two years ago. His home is in Mitchell, Indiana.

Dale Wilcox was graduated from Mason high school in 1931. He and Harrison Wilcox were brothers. Harrison was a professional wrestler and boxer. He died of pneumonia, leaving the widow, Lucille, and two sons.

Parsons Urges Building Code For Mason

Standard Code Prepared by National Board of Fire Underwriters Is Offered

Mason needs the protection of a building code, Alderman Gerald Parsons told the council Tuesday night. He had with him a copy of the abbreviated edition of the national building code prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Alderman Parsons urged that City Attorney O. J. Hood prepare an ordinance based on the national code and have it ready for introduction at the April 18 meeting.

Such haste appeared unseemly to several members of the council who suggested that a committee study the measure. Parsons said a committee had been named a year ago to draw up a code but that no action had resulted.

Fire Chief Leland W. Austin and City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer were on the committee named to study the ordinance. Zimmer was not present Tuesday night.

Parsons declared that the city's zoning ordinance is only 50 per cent effective because it is not bolstered by a building code.

"The zoning ordinance governs only the use of land," Parsons explained. "It does not control what kind of buildings shall be erected."

Provisions for fire limits and regulations governing the construction, alteration, equipment and removal of buildings and structures are covered by the national building code.

Mayor S. A. Morrison reported that provisions of the city's electrical ordinance are being disregarded. He said that electricians are not securing licenses before making installations. The mayor also suggested that the schedule on electrical inspection fees be brought up to present costs. The fees are too low to induce anyone to serve as electrical inspector, the mayor said.

Traffic Law Changed

Two changes were made in the traffic ordinance. One makes it a misdemeanor to drive a car while under the control of liquor or drugs, including barbitol or any derivative. The other straightens out the matter of left turns.

There was no provision in the old ordinance against drunk driving. Alderman Frank Bakin explained at a recent meeting of the council. Drunk drivers had to be prosecuted under the state law with fines going into the library fund. Under the amended ordinance the fines will go into city funds.

Attorney Hood reported that the city ordinance had been in conflict with the state law on the matter of making left turns.

Henry Smith Signs Dansville Contract

Henry Smith, part-time manager of the Mason Food Lockers at Mason while taking graduate work at Michigan State college, has signed a teaching contract with the Ingham Township Agricultural school for next year.

Smith came to Mason from Stockbridge to work as a printer at the Ingham County News. He later entered Olivet college at Kankakee, Illinois, graduating a year ago. Since then he has been working on his degree at Michigan State. He and Mrs. Smith have two children.

At the Dansville school Smith will teach history and assist in coaching.

More New Lights Ordered for City

At the council session Tuesday night the city fathers approved the installation of six new street lights, costing $25 per year. At the March 10 session 11 other new installations were approved.

Two new lights will be on North Jefferson near the city limits and two on South Jefferson near the city limits. One will be on Okemos street beyond Ann and one on the corner of Columbia and Lavton.

With the new lights added, the city will have to pay for 166 lights at $25 per year.

No action was taken Tuesday night on changing 43 uptown lights from 2,500 lumens to 6,000 lumens. The council members are still studying the proposal.

Just One New Member Named to County Board In Rural Voting Monday

Republicans Spring Surprise in Delhi Township, Democrats Gain Supervisor in Ingham, New Party Loses in Aurelius, Big Majorities for State GOP

Charles Woods of Ingham was the only new member elected to the board of supervisors Monday, and he's been on the board before. He beat Dell Mead, who has been active in Democratic ranks although this year he was given the Republican nomination. Paris Witt was not a candidate for the Republican renomination.

Democrat John Fay in Delhi and Republicans Hubert R. Bullen of Aurelius and Phillip Millis of Leroy came through over stern opposition.

Sixteen township supervisors were up for election. Five were without opposition.

"Who'll be chairman of the board will be determined at the county board meeting Tuesday. A Lansing man will probably be picked inasmuch as Supervisor Wilfred Jewett of Vevay presided this past year and the chairmanship is rotated between the city and township supervisors.

Unofficial returns from the townships are given below.

He's Back Again

Charles S. Woods

Enough Ingham township Republicans split their tickets to elect Charles S. Woods supervisor. Arthur Dowling was also elected treasurer on the Democratic ticket.

Woods is the only newcomer on the county board, and he is a former member.

Last fall Woods was the Democratic candidate for state representative.

Deputy Stricken While Checking Jury Absence

Death overtook Deputy Sheriff Mal Clay, 73, of Onondaga Wednesday afternoon about 2:30. He was at the wheel of his car on Ferris road west of Gale road, on his way to check the absence of a juror.

Mrs. Edna Dekett of Onondaga glanced out of the window to see the car come to a halt. She saw the driver open the door and then fall back. Mrs. Dekett telephoned the sheriff's office at once and Deputies Fred Fry and Versile Babcock answered the call. They found the lifeless body of their fellow officer.

Justice of the Peace William S. Seelye was dispatched to act as coroner. He held that death came from natural causes and that no inquest was necessary.

Deputy Clay was driving to the home of Mrs. Ruth Smith, near the Ingham-Eaton county line when he was stricken. He apparently had some warning. He had stopped his car and thrown it out of gear. He had not had time to turn off the ignition, however.

The officer was called by Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald Wednesday afternoon and asked to make the run to the Smith home. Mrs. Smith's name was drawn last Saturday for jury duty, to report Tuesday and there had been no response to a notification to report. Deputy Clay was asked to tell Mrs. Smith, if he found her at home, to communicate with court officials.

Deputy Clay was born in Eaton Rapids July 29, 1875, the son of Simeon and Lydia Clay. He was reared in Eaton Rapids and attended school there. He married Loran Harwood in 1902. They farmed near Onondaga and then retired to the village. Deputy Clay had been a resident of the Onondaga community for 50 years. For 12 years he had served as deputy sheriff.

Besides the widow the Onondaga officer is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mina Howe of Mason and Mrs. Loretta Haas of Detroit. There are also three grandchildren, two brothers and two sisters. The brothers are Fred and Charlotte and the sisters are Mrs. Mabel Vantot of Jackson and Mrs. Alice Krugman of Parma.

Funeral services will be held in the Onondaga Community church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock with burial in the Onondaga cemetery.

Dr. Franklin Troost proved a capable vote-getter. He won the post of highway commissioner over Emil LaDuke (D), 698 to 597.

Two Republican justices were elected for full terms and one to fill a vacancy. Full-term justices are Charles Coy, 641, and Roy Miller, 690. They were chosen over Donald Tomrell, 597, and Lyle Ives, 596. Alvin Hartig won the short term by six votes. He received 633 to 627 for Robert Remar, Hugh Ellsworth (R) defeated Howard Elliot for member of the board of review and the four Republican candidates for constables, Gerald Coats, Cassius Shafl, William Wallman and James Voltrub, were the winners over Robert Little, Bernard Quenby, Claude Hopkins and William Love.

Ingham
Democrats recaptured the supervisor spot in Ingham. Charles Woods long served as supervisor and then four years ago Paris H. son, 155, Edd Mullen, 143; and Will, Republican, was elected. With told Republicans to nominate someone else to hold their ticket this year. They nominated Dell Mead. But the Democrats won for supervisor and they also re-lected Arthur Dowling as treasurer.

Woods led Mead 174 to 117 and Dowling defeated Winat Bohmet 174 to 122. The other races were close with the Republicans winning them all. Results were: Clerk, George Vogt, Jr., 167, Earl Osborne, 131; highway commissioner, John McCabe, 173, Donald Parks, 122; justices of the peace, Ralph Walker, 150, and Bert Dalton, 150, over Gilbert Glover, 147, and Arthur Pollok, 144; member of board of review, P. C. Anderson, 155, Edd Mullen, 143; and constables, Howard Merindorf, 173, Leland Perrine, 150, Merle Over, 155, and Floyd Smith, 160, over Earl Davidson, 119, Harold Wing, 145, Lawrence Swan, 134, and Lawrence McCarthy, 130.

Lansing
Republicans came through in Lansing township for every office for which they had a candidate. They had no candidate for highway commissioner, an office which now carries few duties and no pay. So the Democrats have the highway commissioner, Stanley Cheves.

Supervisor Raymond Wilcox was re-elected, 1,333 to 1,066 cast for Lawrence Miller, his Democratic opponent. Albert R. Morrish, who defeated Ray McKim in the primary, was elected clerk, 1,333 to 1,021 over George William Parker. Democratic candidate, Treasurer Hubert A. Sellers was re-elected by Republicans, 1,309 to 1,061 for Charles H. Moore.

Other Republican winners in Lansing township were: Justices of the peace, Earl A. Christian, 1,208, and Elmer D. Manley, 1,353, over Clarence Miller, 1,031, the sole Democratic candidate; Justices of the peace to fill vacancy, Earl A. Christian, 1,289, Clarence Miller, 1,000; member of board of review, William D. Korb, 1,258, Homer C. Norton, 1,032; and constables, Walter W. Arndt, 1,246, Harry J. Everett, 1,268, Lester L. Howard, 1,250, and Orville H. Rivers, 1,210, over James French, 1,006, James L. Mosher, 1,008, Maurice P. Smith, 1,002, and Paul A. Smith, 1,024.

Leroy
Fred R. Hushke led his ticket in Leroy but he fell 34 votes shy of the 222 given Phillip Mills for re-election as supervisor on the Republican ticket. Republicans captured every office.

Results with the Republicans listed first, were: Supervisor, Mills 222; Hushke, 188; clerk, Vining Hawley, 243; Fred Schneider, 164; treasurer, Charles E. Monroe, 239; Don Martin, 160; highway commissioner, Wilford Moore, 245; Howard R. Jenks, 171; justices of the peace, E. H. Monroe, 247, and Archie House, 211, over Charles F. Monroe, 199, and Melvin Oesterle, 183; Justices of the peace to fill vacancy, Frank Jastorfer, 275, M. J. Briggs, 125; members of board of review, Archie Hawley, 271, and Vern Hodge, 276, over Daniel F. Hummel, 131, and Harmon Connin, 124; and constables, Vern O'Dell, 254, George Wesley Monroe, 227, Howard Metcalf, 240, and Ned Chubb, 212, all Republicans, over William Schneider, 127, John Witt, 136, Hattie Metcalf, 129, and Daniel D. White, 172.

Howard Metcalf was one of the Republican candidates for constable and opposite his name was a Democratic candidate, Hattie Metcalf, Howard's mother. There were no hard feelings over the contest, though.

Meridian
Republicans were out in force in Meridian township Monday, running up better than 500 majorities.

Supervisor C. O. Wilkins, formerly of the Michigan State college staff, was re-elected as a Republican. He was elected two years ago as a Democrat, although a lifelong Republican.

In 1947 there was a battle at the Republican caucus with the nomination as supervisor going to Frederick Newman, Jr. Wilkins would have taken the job. The next night, the Democrats held their caucus, and so the story goes, there was no Democrat for the top spot. It was offered to and accepted by Wilkins. Running on the Democratic ticket, Wilkins was the winner—but as a Republican, he explained.

At the biggest Republican caucus in the history of the township this spring Wilkins won the Republican nomination as supervisor. On the first caucus ballot he was given 190 out of 220 some votes. He led his Republican ticket by 30 votes, getting a total of 790 to the 267 cast for his Democratic rival, Robert W. Swanberg.

C. E. Robinson was re-elected clerk, 790 to 265 over John Peterson, Democrat. John F. Whitmyer was re-elected treasurer, 710 to 300, over Ermen Good, Democratic candidate.

(D) 150. The three other Democratic candidates were: Warren Fatosky, 107, Gilbert Neill, 145, and Emery Tisch, 158.

Wheatfield
Wheatfield Republicans took every office with Supervisor Bert Johnson being re-elected over A. R. Allen, 94 to 40. Lawrence J. Smith was re-elected clerk over Harold Glynn, 93 to 50.

Other results in Wheatfield were: Treasurer, George Vandemark, 89, Marion Pollok, 53; highway commissioner, Theron Rector, 95, Fred Dennis, 47; Justices of the peace, V. E. Dird, 93, and Wallace Johnson, 102, over Robert Mills, 47, and Lester Whiner, 41; Justices of the peace to fill vacancy, Wayne Runciman, 91, Vance Pollok, 52; member of board of review, John Gaylord, 84, George B. Frost, 59; and constables, Merle Swan, 94, Maynard Poles, 95, Rec, Beach, 97, and James Thayer, 91, over Clay Foreman, 44, Floyd Fisher, 45, Grover Rector, 41, and Clare Smith, 43.

Williamstown
Supervisor Earl Leeman was re-elected in light voting in Williamstown township. Republicans took all the offices. Supervisor Leeman had 112 votes to 57 for Leon Dexter.

Other contests came out as follows: Clerk, Mrs. Leona Hill, 120, Lois Shirey, 49; treasurer, Harold Lockwood, 121, Bertha Gulick, 46; highway commissioner, Kenneth Babbitt, 115, William Buppert, 54; Justices of the peace, Elvin Brown, 119, and Clifton Babbitt, 123, over the one Democratic candidate, Charles Brannan, Sr., 50; member of board of review, Cordelia Powell, 121, Bert Van Ostran, 47; member of board of review to fill vacancy, Peter Buppert, 124, Guy Jesson, 44; and constables, Harry Marsh, 116, Melvin Allen, 123, Harold Powell, 120, and Donald Hill, 112, over Richard Watson, 51, Maynard Ashley, 44, Vincent Lamphere, 39, and Robert W. Brannan, 55.

White Oak
There was plenty of electioneering over in White Oak with the Republicans on the winning end. They took every office with majorities ranging from 39 up to 94. Supervisor Fred Marshall was re-elected 121 to 82 over Guy Felton. Arlo Wartle was re-elected clerk 143 to 57 over Howard Oakley and Charles Gauss was re-elected treasurer 147 to 53 over Ora Sheathelm.

Other White Oak results were: Highway commissioner, Richard Stevers, 121, Earl Walker, 79; Justices of the peace, Lawton Vates, 125, Bruce Cranger, 133, over Delmar Carr, 77, and Lee Beam, 65; member of board of review, Fred Smalley, 138, Tom McGuire, 59; constables, Lonl Townsend, 120, Asa Proctor, 121, John Graf, 136, and Elmer Lytle, 125, over Richard Wilcox, 70, William Bowen, 67, Ray Collart, 63, and William Malcho, 74.

Republicans Alone
In five townships the Republicans were without opposition. They had things to themselves in

Albion, Locke, Leake, Vevay and Onondaga. Those elected were:

Albion—Lloyd Aseltine, supervisor; P. E. Fogle, clerk; B. P. Arend, treasurer; Leon J. Fuljows, highway commissioner; Albert Fry, member of board of review; Martin B. Allen and E. H. Lerner, Justices of the peace; and Forest Fry, Russell Brenner, Harry Brenner and Harry Allen, constables.

Locke—Joseph M. Speers, supervisor; Sidney P. Cobb, clerk; Edna E. Fulton, treasurer; and Max M. Graham and John H. Pingle, constables.

Leake—Hal Johnson, supervisor; Ray Foster, clerk; Paul Jupp, treasurer; C. E. Hushcock and Jamons Wilson, Justices of the peace; Roy Minsar, highway commissioner; and Ralph Dershem, Bernard Wilson, Curtis Wright and Harley Webber, constables.

Onondaga—Clarence Puffenberger, supervisor; Mae Spring for clerk and Ernest McKessey for treasurer. Other candidates elected were C. P. Dulin, highway commissioner; Dean Noble and Robert Noble, Justices of the peace; J. H. Parole Supervisor Defends Program

Gus Harrison, state supervisor of paroles and pardons, told Mason Kiwanis Tuesday night that the Michigan parole system is successful. He declared that releasing men from prison on parole is better than releasing them without supervision, and that eventually they are released anyway.

Harrison explained that men sentenced for first degree murder never parole unless their sentences are first commuted by the governor.

Men are not paroled until jobs are found for them. Indications point to the making of a satisfactory adjustment to freedom, Harrison asserted. He cited figures to prove that most parolees go straight.

Council Approves Tavern Licenses

By a vote of 5 to 1 the city council approved renewal of tavern, SDD and SDD liquor licenses Tuesday night.

Alderman Frank Dakin expressed objections to granting a license to Stephen F. Jarecki's Court Cafe at 117-119 East Maple on the grounds that it is too close to the Presbyterian church. The present law provides that no license shall be issued to establishments within 500 feet of a church or school.

Other aldermen declared that the law does not prevent renewing licenses of establishments which were set up before the 500-foot limitation was written into the law.

Alderman Dakin asked to be permitted to vote on one establishment at a time. Refused that, he cast a negative vote on all the renewals. He declared the time has come for people to show their colors against the liquor traffic.

This council should help to brighten the path of the younger generation," declared Dakin, "and I fail to see where schools help any town. Someone must take the bull by the horns on these issues." Approved by the council besides Jarecki's tavern and SDD licenses were an SDD and an SDD license for Dominick J. Novello and Anthony J. Piancenti at 155 West Maple, an SDD license for Lester Smiley and Chester Nowall at the corner of Columbia and Cedar, and a tavern license for Herman A. Saunders at 117 South Cedar.

Dogs Get Two-Weeks Reprieve

Humane Society Asks Changes In City's New Dog Ordinance

Mason dogs may safely disregard the city's new dog ordinance for two weeks beyond April 11. The effective date of the ordinance was to have been Monday but the city fathers granted a two-weeks respite at the council session Monday night.

Changes to cut the six-month confinement period to two months were suggested by Mrs. Warren Hosmer, president of the Ingham County Humane Society, and those suggestions are being mulled by the aldermen. Mrs. Hosmer also asked the council to drop plans for a local pound. She promised round-trip tickets to the county pound at Lansing for Mason dogs.

Herbert Howe also pleaded with aldermen to remove some of the dog and owner hardships from the ordinance adopted March 21.

Alderman Gerald Parsons, who introduced the ordinance, defended its adoption. He declared the ordinance follows closely the Lansing law, that scores of Mason people asked for protection against dogs and expressed their approval of the new ordinance. However, Alderman Parsons indicated he may agree to removal of the Mason dog pound provision and may go along with reducing the confinement period, although perhaps not down to the two months suggested by Mrs. Hosmer.

The ordinance now provides that dogs must be kept confined or on leash during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September. Mrs. Hosmer asked that the period cover only May and June. The ordinance was passed under the guise of protecting gardens. Mrs. Hosmer insisted that dogs do little garden damage after July 1.

Mrs. Hosmer said she can find no fault with the ordinance provisions which prohibit the harboring of vicious and destructive dogs. She declared that ordering owners to keep dogs confined for periods longer than two months worsens instead of better conditions.

Widespread violation of the ordinance, neighborhood rows, dogs made vicious by being kept penned and chained in hot weather and being teased by children are natural results of long confinement of dogs, Mrs. Hosmer told the council. She cited East Lansing as an example to too great restrictions.

"People can fence gardens without hurting plants," Mrs. Hosmer asserted, "but it's cruel to fence and chain dogs during hot weather, and it's unnecessary. Dogs bark and howl when confined. The two-month period is all right. It permits an annual check on stray and unlicensed dogs."

In urging the council to rescind the clause setting up a local pound, Mrs. Hosmer declared that such a pound would be unhealthful, unsanitary and quite likely to become a nuisance. She said the county shelter northwest of Lansing should be used. She promised that Warden William Dister of Danville will return Mason dogs lodged in the shelter when fines and charges and license fees are paid.

The reason the local pound provision was included in the ordinance, Alderman Frank Dakin explained, was to save Mason owners from taking a half-day off to bail their dogs out of the county shelter.

Mrs. Hosmer said the trip to Lansing to claim dogs takes no longer than a trip to Lansing to shop or to attend a show.

Howe insisted that the clause providing for the recovery of damages done by dogs is sufficient without the confinement provision. Alderman Frank Launstein retorted that some of the people with the most dogs have the least assets with which to pay damages.

Howe also objected to the ordinance clause which grants anyone the right to seize a trespassing dog. Howe declared that such a provision means that the person who does the seizing can legally lap the dog over the head. City Attorney O. J. Hood denied that any such right is given or implied.

Mayor S. A. Morrison told Howe and Mrs. Hosmer the council had no intention to make the dog ordinance an undue hardship on man or beast.

Mrs. J. G. Henry of Lansing, membership secretary of the Ingham County Humane Society, was present at the session but did not address the council.

Fence to Enclose City Refuse Dump

By action of the city council Tuesday night, a fence will be erected at the public dump at the south city limits on Barnes.

Built of poultry netting, the fence will be topped by strands of barbed wire. There will also be a gate. Cost of the fencing is estimated at $150 exclusive of labor.

Whether or not the gate will be closed part of the day or night has not yet been disclosed.

Alderman Frank Laustein is chairman of the committee which recommended fencing the dump. He said the primary reason for fencing is to keep papers taken to the dump from littering Barnes road, the airport and the county park lane.

"We'll build the fence first," explained Laustein, "and when that's up and the gate is in place we'll decide whether or not to shut the gate except for periods most convenient to the public. The committee has not discussed keeping the gate open or closed."

Alderman Lee Darling, street committee chairman, told the council that the Mickelson-Baker mill does not occupy any street or alley or part of a street or alley. On the contrary, Darling reported, the company permits the use of some of its land for a short-cut from Maple to Ash.

At a previous meeting Jack Belcher complained that Mickelson-Baker has been using Mason street for a parking area and by so doing has blocked the Belcher driveway on the west. Darling said abstract company records reveal that Belcher has no driveway egress onto the land at the south of the mill.

The council agreed to place 18 inch tile in Lawton street provided an agreement can be worked out with Arthur W. Jewett. He had asked for 24-inch tile.

Herschel Jewett and William E. C. McCowan appeared before the council to explain fleet insurance policies.

Services Held for Mrs. Mabel Wilbur

Funeral services were held at the Ball funeral home Thursday afternoon at two o'clock for Mrs. Mabel A. Wilbur. Burial was in the Woodlawn cemetery at Leslie.

Mrs. Wilbur died at the Holyway nursing home in Mason early Tuesday morning following a lingering illness of 10 years. She was born in Vevay township on December 28, 1880, the daughter of George and Mary Belcher. Mrs. Wilbur was a life-long resident of Ingham county.

Mrs. Wilbur attended the Congregational church at Leslie as long as her health permitted.

She was married to Homer E. Wilbur on March 17, 1910. Besides the husband, she is survived by three sons, LeGrand E. Wright and John B. Wright of Leslie, and Benjamin Wilbur of Mason; two grandchildren, Benjamin, Jr., and Rodney Wilbur; and a brother, Boyd Belcher of Beverly Hills, California.

Air Ambulance Carries Patient To Mayo Clinic

Mike Schott of Mt. Pleasant had a quick trip to the Mayo Bros. clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, on Monday. He made the trip by Jewett air ambulance.

Doctors said that Schott had to be taken to the Mayo hospital quick so a call was made on the air ambulance at Mason. Bartlett Smith and Arthur W. Jewett left Mason at eight o'clock. They stopped at Mt. Pleasant to load their patient into the ambulance and at noon Schott was in bed at the Mayo clinic.

The trip was uneventful, Smith and Jewett reported.

Nations Plan to Harness Nile and Make Deserts Bloom

BIBLICAL LANDS of Egypt and other African countries are seen flowering anew in a huge scheme being launched by the governments of British Uganda and Egypt. The scheme envisages the use of the waters of the Nile to make millions of acres and the peoples who live on them free from the bondage of drought and to provide electric power for farms and factories. The first stage, costing the equivalent of $48,000,000, is a dam in Central Africa at Owen Falls, Jinja, Uganda, where the White Nile pours from Lake Victoria on its long journey to join the Blue Nile on the way to Egypt and the sea. Egypt's gain will principally be cultivable land and Uganda's power. African neighbors also benefit from power or land are the Sudan and Tanganyika and possibly the Belgian Congo.

Blue Cross Enrollment Plan Is Offered Ingham and Eaton

A Blue Cross community enrollment campaign will be held in Ingham and Eaton counties during the next three weeks, according to an announcement by Tom Patton, Lansing district manager. The purpose of the campaign is to offer a new non-group plan of hospital and surgical care to all residents of these counties under age 65 who have been unable to obtain employment or Farm Bureau groups. Patton said that benefits of the non-group plan are not as liberal as those provided in the regular group plan and, consequently, group requirements are being lowered to as few as five employees during the campaign so as to extend the comprehensive group plan to more people.

The local campaign is part of a state-wide program initiated by the Michigan State Medical Society and the Michigan Hospital association to extend membership in their non-profit Blue Cross plan to more people. Enrollment in the plans usually is accomplished through employed or Farm Bureau groups. Since many people do not have the opportunity, it was necessary to develop a non-group plan for such persons.

Public Forum

Protests Political Aid

Well, election is over once more and as always, there are some disappointed people, but why does there have to be so many hurt feelings?

Election officers to run our government should be a very great privilege so why should it get so complicated?

Why was it necessary for the article in last week's Ingham County News urging the Aurelius voters who did not want a recreation hall built or more liquor licenses granted, to vote Republican?

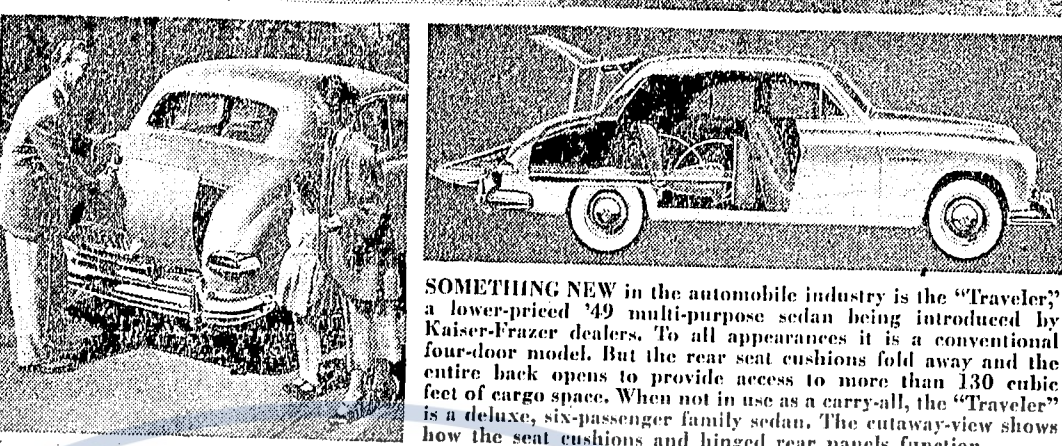

I feel that that was a punch "below the belt," waiting until the last minute when there would be no way of correcting or explaining such, for as near as I have found out it is merely a rumor that these were things the opposition was out to accomplish.

If the Peoples party is really interested in having a hand in our township government, I think they should not be too discouraged because they lost this round, but that they should keep in training until next election, and when the time comes to be sure they are not caught with a "below the belt" punch.

New K-F "Traveler" Is Two Cars In One

SOMETHING NEW in the automobile industry is the "Traveler," a lower-priced '49 multi-purpose sedan being introduced by Kaiser-Frazer dealers. To all appearances it is a conventional four-door model. But the rear seat cushions fold away and the entire back opens to provide access to more than 130 cubic feet of cargo space. When not in use as a carry-all, the "Traveler" is a deluxe, six-passenger family sedan. The cutaway-view shows how the seat cushions and hinged rear panels function.

Airport News

Maintenance men at the Jewett airport have been busy the last week or so repairing the runways. There were little damages caused by the winter weather. More flying is expected in the next few weeks, now that good weather has arrived.

Sunday, April 10, will be the first Dawn Patrol of the year. It is to be held at Adrian.

Since the last airport news, two more men have joined. Leonard Carter and Duane Evans were the soloists. Both Carter and Evans are students under the GI Bill.

Max Kipfmüller made a cross-country flight the first part of March to New York City on business. Max was gone six days. He made the trip in the Sycamore Valley Flying club's Cruiser.

Harold Haase and Don Hadwin flew to Grayling on Saturday. They made the trip in the Broucpe. The men returned to Mason on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gorsline of Lansing were in Port Huron on Sunday. The Gorslines flew the Broucpe.

Michael Schott of Mt. Pleasant was taken to the Mayo Brothers Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, on Monday. He was taken in the Stinson ambulance plane which is owned by the Jewett airport.

No Shortage of Space

Just north of the twin buttes in the background, near Arco, Idaho, the Atomic Energy Commission is planning to set up its half-billion-dollar atomic energy reactor installation. The commission will have plenty of room in the vast, flat wasteland to work out its project to develop an atomic-energy-powered engine for naval craft.

Holt School Board Studying Plans For Added Rooms

The Holt board of education at its regular meeting Friday night instructed Superintendent Denton Yates to investigate several possibilities for solving the crisis in school room needs for the coming year.

The Holt school plant is at present filled to capacity with about 900 students. There will be an expected increase of about 30 students in the elementary grades and about 30 more students in the high school division for September, 1949, a total expected increase of about 60 pupils.

Because of the litigation restraining the Holt board of education from proceeding with a proposed permanent elementary school unit on the present site, the board will have to make a decision at its May meeting regarding rental of additional space for 1949-50, if suitable space can be found which will meet standards of approval. Another plan is to institute half-day sessions in some grades as a temporary expedient.

A decision will be necessary at the May meeting in order to take steps to hire the proper number of teachers for next year. There is still an acute shortage of properly qualified elementary teachers, and a shortage of teachers for some departments of high school instruction, Superintendent Yates reported.

Among the suggestions is the rental of at least two rooms in one of the churches for the use of the kindergarten and first grade or for some of the fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Another plan broached is placing the first grades on half-day sessions, using the same room and instructor to teach two groups a day. The same plan has been suggested for fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Study is also being given to half-day sessions for high school pupils so that room can be made for full-time classes for elementary pupils.

"It is a moot question whether or not the best interests of the children will be served by asking some teachers to try to instruct double the number of pupils per day," Superintendent Yates remarked.

At the board meeting members pointed out that an early settlement of the injunction against the board may make it possible to provide more classrooms by next fall.

Something of Value

By ANNA E. WILSON

THE PORCH was broad and sunny, and Elsie placed the big chair where Dad could see the people passing and back across into Barnes grocery store.

"You see, Dad," she said cheerfully, "you'll be happy here in the sunlight, and you can watch what goes on over there in the store — it'll be no time at all until you forget about the shop — Goodness knows, a man who's worked until he's sixty-five years old has earned a rest."

Dad sank back in the chair and sighed wistfully. "I know, Elsie, and the company was real nice. Mr. Twillinger presented me with a watch, and said they were real sorry about my eyes, and hated to let me go. Watch making is such fine work and..." Dad finished carefully, "there was no other place open in the shop where they could work me in. Mr. Twillinger explained about it all before I came away."

"Yes," Dad tried to settle himself unasily, "but sitting here isn't going to help pay for this house, and I did hope to see you settled in a home of your own before I died."

He was still when Mrs. Frisby stopped to talk. She was gossiping and friendly and liked a chat.

"Glad to see you taking a rest at last, Dad. Goodness knows, it was time. I see you've been looking at the picture for the new Memorial. Isn't it wonderful that a great artist like Mr. Bonelli's been engaged for the job. They say he's been asking for medals to copy on the figures of the war veterans and I'm hating right down with this one of Willie's."

Dad stared at the sketch of the Memorial, thinking of what Mrs. Frisby had said. Something of value. Dad went over all his meager possessions and they weren't much. Just his clothes, neat and clean, the watch Mr. Twillinger had given him and that old coin.

Dad was confused by the noise and bustle when he entered Mr. Bonelli's studio, but Mr. Bonelli smiled at Dad and took him into a little office in the rear.

"It's about a coin," said he humbly, and took out his lucky piece.

"Where did you get it, and why do you want to sell it, Dad?"

It was easy to talk to Mr. Bonelli, and Dad explained about his home and Elsie.

THE ARTIST sighed — "It might have been valuable once, but it's too defaced now for restoration — I'm sorry," he looked at it as if he really was. "I wish I could tell you that it's worth something but I'm afraid it's not."

Dad thanked him, but as he got up to go, Mr. Bonelli spoke.

"I have a friend coming tomorrow and if you drop in you can talk it over with him."

Mr. Bonelli was talking to another man, when he saw Dad he beckoned him in. Dad took out the coin and the stranger glanced at it, but he was really looking at Dad.

Dad in his neat worn clothes, was worth looking at. He had lived a good life and all this good living showed in his wrinkled face and clean blue eyes. Mr. Bonelli's own eyes twinkled.

"We find you have something of value, Dad, after all," he said softly.

"The coin was worthless," he continued. "We want to use you as a model for one of the figures on our Memorial. We want to employ you in the studio to keep track of valuables loaned to us. Mr. Twillinger says we couldn't get a better man. The pay is good, well over five hundred dollars for the year's work," he said gently. "You see, Dad, the thing you have of value is yourself. You've been a good citizen and it shines—right in your face."

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN research will assist engineers in building harbors of refuge for small craft at Port Sanilac and Port Austin, two Michigan towns on Lake Huron.

The work, under the direction of Prof. C. O. Wiesler, is being done under contract between the University's Engineering Research Institute and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Are You Ashamed to Ask For the Ballot You Want?

By Gene Allenman

If you are a Democrat, are you ashamed of it? Or, do you apologize because you vote Republican? That seems to be the big issue in current legislative debates on the advisability of eliminating the secret primary. This is the system of primary voting now used in Michigan that does not require electors to declare party affiliation.

Democrats, who were largely responsible for initiating the secret primary in 1937, feel that "pressure against Democrats is too great in the small towns" to make it wise to return to the old system where voters must reveal their party in order to vote. Many Republicans, on the other hand, are saying that the present system is destroying party responsibility and ultimately will lead to "destruction of the two-party system."

Repeal of the two-year-old lobbyist registration act is being considered. This is the law that was fathered by former Governor Sigler as part of his better government program. Rep. Howard D. Carroll (R., M. C.), who has introduced a repeal bill, says that, "The law is not being enforced to control real lobbyists. All it does is discourage people from using their constitutional rights to talk to their representatives." At present, 246 lobbyists are registered.

Another Sigler innovation, however, is doing much better. The new department of administration which combines many of the functions of state government and which is less than a year old, seems to be gaining new friends every day. Although originated by a Republican administration, Democratic Governor Williams is giving the department his full support. Just the other day he described it as "the one place in state government you can go and find someone who can tell you about any part of government. I think that the people of Michigan want to be sure there is no encroachment on this department so it can continue to develop and function."

Local self-government got many pats on the back in the U. S. conference of mayors meeting in Washington last month. Mayor George Welsh of Grand Rapids is the retiring president of this group. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the mayors that the maximum amount of local self-government is a fundamental of democracy. He also urged the cities not to depend too much on the federal government to solve their problems.

The mayors' conference adopted some interesting resolutions. Among them was a proposal for a survey of federal taxes and functions as they relate to American cities. Plans call for this survey to be made along the lines of the Hoover Commission reports on the executive branch of the federal government which are now receiving so much publicity and attention in Washington.

Missionaries Tell of Burma Revolt

Rev. Walter (Bud) Zimmer and their son Tim, 2, were caught behind the rebel lines when the Karens revolted against the Burmese government. Many of the Karens are Christians and if they lose out in the revolution the Christian missionaries will be in for a rough time. Until a few days ago the Karens appeared to be gaining the upper hand in their battle for autonomy. A dispatch from Mandalay Monday, however, credited the government forces with wresting the province away from the Karens.

Rev. Zimmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Zimmer of Mason. The missionaries and their son left a year ago last January to do mission work in Burma.

The following paragraphs are from the first letter the Walter E. Zimmers have received from Bud and his wife since the fighting started. The letter was received Monday.

March 6, by Bud

We have had no communications out of Toungoo since last January 20th, so we have been unable to send anything to you nor have we heard from you since that date. The whole country is in the throes of a civil war, touched off by the Karens in an effort to gain the Karen State which they have been asking of the Burmese government for the past two years. They occupied Toungoo on the morning of January 24th after a five hour battle. We were safely settled in a Karen quarter. Our home was booklet published by the Michigan Agricultural Conference, if two serious cattle diseases could be eliminated from Michigan dairy herds. The diseases are known as brucellosis and mastitis. The booklet says that "Brucellosis alone deprives the Michigan milk consumer of something like 223 million pounds of milk each year—enough to supply 557,000 children and adults with their whole milk requirements for one year."

The conference says that these and other diseases can best be fought by scientific methods. It recommends that in a dequate facilities at Michigan State college be modernized. The legislature is being asked to appropriate $2.2 million for this purpose.

Governor Williams is the third highest paid governor in the country. A recent survey shows that the chief executives of New York and California each draw $25,000 a year. Michigan is third with a $22,500 a year governor's salary.

A concerted drive is being started to increase state aid to local health departments from the present $200,000 to $2,000,000 a year. Supporters say that local public health services are breaking down because of inability to match salaries paid in other states. Michigan, they say, ranks 30th among all states in appropriations for this purpose. Although state, counties and cities are now spending about $4,800,000 for public health programs. Advocates of increased state aid do not say where they believe the state should get the necessary funds to support their program.

looked a little, but by very discriminating people. The only thing they took was my camera, our fountain pen and the kitchen clock. We had to move all our belongings to a safer place. Some days after the battle, we decided to move up into the hills to this lovely place called Mawchi Mines. It is an English mining development and we are living among other white people, as well as among the Karens. We have been unable to get a clear picture of what is going on in the rest of Burma. We have heard rumors that an end has been put to much of our mission work here in Burma. Mr. Sowards, whom I visited in Bassein last November, will not go back there because our school has been badly damaged. We hope this is only a rumor, but it came to us from a reliable source. The buildings are reported to be leveled to the ground, including the house in which we lived. We don't know what has happened to the missionary students. All our hill stations are intact and work continues as usual. The agricultural school at Pymnong, which Bratton Case made famous, is finished too. The two families who worked there, the Rices and Getzes, are living here with us.

The Karens occupied Pymnong and fought back police protection. When this happened about 200 people came to the school and looted it, taking most everything the above families owned as well as the school equipment and livestock. We know this is true because Mr. Getz witnessed it with his own eyes. In fact he was very nearly shot twice. One time the gun was raised and cocked when a command from another person released him. Chances are that these people will return to America, although we cannot be certain.

Hallie Harkness Denies Fraud in School Shortage

Hallie Harkness, Sr., formerly of Mason, has examined an examination on the charge of taking money for his own use while treasurer of the Driver school district in Lansing township. He denies he defrauded the district.

The examination was started before Judge Paul G. Younger in Lansing municipal court last Thursday and was continued Friday. Then it was adjourned until Friday of this week to give defense counsel opportunity to study the school district records.

Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean charged Harkness with embezzling $6,500.24 in school funds, paying that sum for the Eaton county farm where he now lives. In the course of the examination it developed that the discrepancy in school district funds was also once set forth as $5,833.62. Ad-journment was taken to permit Bernard Pierce, defense counsel, to check the school district records.

The Driver school is on Grace street in Lansing township. The valuation is around $3,000,000 because of industrial and residential development. The Lansing Forge company plant is in the district. The Driver school employs six teachers and big sums of money pass through the hands of the treasurer, County School Superintendent Alton J. Stroud explained. He said that Harkness served one three-year term and about two years of a second term as school treasurer, resigning when he left the district two years ago to make his home in Eaton county.

A routine audit of school district finances was made a year ago, Stroud said, and as a result of it some discrepancies were found.

Kenneth Dravenstatt, school district secretary, testified at the examination Friday that he composed and sent a letter to Harkness last fall: Dravenstatt related that he asked Harkness to appear before the school board and explain certain transactions. A demand was made that Harkness pay $5,833.62. Harkness did not settle, Dravenstatt testified.

Harkness was a high school baseball star at Mason and for years was a semi-pro and professional baseball pitcher. He was with Standard Oil at Mason for one period and then went with Oldsmobile in Lansing as an accountant. He and Mrs. Harkness are the parents of nine children.

until we contact the mission at Rangoon. So far we have been unsuccessful.

As for our work in Toungoo, we don't know what the future is. It may be that the war will end soon and we'll be able to go about our work as usual. In the meantime we will do what we can up here. We are still in the very northern part of our area and I've visited many of the villages nearby. What ever happens, our work will become increasingly difficult, so much so that we may feel it best to ask to be transferred to India or some other place where the political situation is quieter and less complex. Continue to write us at Toungoo. God is good and our lives are in his care. This letter is going to Rangoon by a very complicated channel.

March 7, by Catherine

Now that we have a chance to send mail, the chance comes suddenly and the reams we might write will never be written. So you'll know what's what, I will give you a brief from Bud's diary.

January 23. The bridges were blown up and mails and travel stopped. Thus our confinement.

January 25. Bill, Betty and Tommy (age 15 months) arrived. Bill to go to the conference and Betty and Tommy to stay with me. (The reference is apparently to the Rice family). We spent the night in Betty Hessel's house, but returned the next morning to our house. We were told that the Karens would take the town that night, but it didn't happen.

January 26. The missionaries from Mandalay drove through here by jeep to Rangoon and stopped for lunch with us. We moved back to Betty's house again at night.

January 27. The town was taken, quickly and easily, beginning at three in the morning.

From January 27 until the morning of February 12, we lived in Betty's house in the Karen quarter. James (the cook) slept in our house at night and came to cook during the day. Saw Toole watched the house during the day, and now that we have left lives in the compound all day. We locked our things in trunks and left them in our house with the furniture. We moved some things to Betty's house and brought other things with us to Mawchi. After the overthrow our jeep was the only one not confiscated by the Karens, and as we rode into town each day looking things over and returning for supplies from our house and the bazaar, it's no wonder people were suspicious, as they were, that we were the brains behind the uprising. So we moved to Mawchi.

So here we are. The trip up here, 110 miles, we made in a day and were greeted by the general manager in luxury akin to the Waldorf Astoria, running water, high ceilings, elegance and everything. The camp mines worfram, and the men have gone to the mines this morning and will know more about what the staff is when they return. The Rices and us were moved to our own bungalow, the following Monday. All the women and children were evacuated from here last fall where there was trouble nearby. Many bungalows are empty. We are comfortable and congenial food, water and more conveniences than in Cement City and James (the cook) besides. Vegetables are growing in our garden, but are scarce at times, as are eggs. We bake our own bread and have lots of milk and meat.

February 21. Bill (Mr. Rice) and Bud returned to Toungoo for more supplies with jeep and trailer.

February 25. Bud returned with the refugee Getz family and what belongings they salvaged from the Pymnong house. Roger (Getz) and Mrs. Getz and their children, 3 boys, ages 6 years, 4 years and 4 months, are now settled in another bungalow.

February 28. Bud and Roger returned to Toungoo for Bill and more supplies. They made the trip on pure kerosene and got there. The week before the Karens had taken over the town of Toungoo and had given Bud kerosene for gas the last time he was in Toungoo.

March 2. The men returned and we settled down for a stay here, although the Rices and Getzes may move on to Taunggyi if Roger finds the roads safe today. He'll be gone a week but we will know. Under any but the most severe circumstances we'll wait here until after April. From Taunggyi we could fly out of the country, if all Burma were considered unsafe. You see white people have been with the Karens and have been considered leaders in the new Karens feeling of asserting their rights, which was unknown before the missionaries and British came.

March 7. I cleaned the nursery room for the new baby and put his (?) clothes in the closets.

March 10, by Bud

Church died March 25. His will was dated September 24, 1948.

The Church estate is valued at $75,000. Under the will each of three children will get $10,000, a sister will get $1,000 and each living grandchild at the time of Church's death will get $1,000.

Church left the money for cancer and tuberculosis research, the will set forth, because of "gratitude to God that my family and myself have been spared the ravages of these diseases."

Just Two Nations in World

If the ability to wage a major war is the sole qualification, there are only two nations in the world today, Russia and the United States.

Other once-powerful nations can hardly defend themselves, let alone attack some other nation on a big scale.

Of course, there never have been more than two nations in the world and they have never been confined within national boundaries. The two nations are the good people and the bad people.

"The world in all doth but two nations bear—

The good, the bad; and these mixed everywhere."

Italy and France have been saved from communism, we boast, but in both France and Italy the communists are only slightly outnumbered. Both nations have enough communists and enough of them in high places to make any stand against Russia fraught with internal peril. The same holds for Greece, for Korea, for China. All the communists are not contained in Russia and all people inside of Russia are not enemies of America. Actually if all the communists were in Russia and not scattered over France, Italy, Greece, China, South America and even the United States there would be no communist menace.

The United States through the ERA and through the Atlantic Pact is trying to bribe nations to line up, to make a choice between the good and bad. The difficulty lies in the fact that there are no lines drawn within the nations that are being asked to line up. When Italy and France line up with the Western Nations the communists within France and Italy also line up with the Western Nations. When we spend billions of dollars in the name of Freedom and Private Enterprise we are subsidizing the state socialism in Great Britain, we are giving aid to the communists in France and Italy, we are helping the Dutch put shackles on the Indonesians, we are even supplying arms to Soviet Russia when we make gifts to China which in turn abjectly surrenders to the Chinese Communists.

The world is in the plight it finds itself today because when the time came to choose between the good and the bad, American leaders compromised. They chose both the good and the bad. They made no distinction between the good and the bad. They even went out of their way to give a break to those known to be bad. Communism could have been contained in Russia had American leaders not rigged up a deal to let the Russians overrun Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and eastern Germany. Communism would not likely have spread over all of China had American leaders made the right choice between the good and the bad in the Far East.

The Stalin who received American support for his conquests in Eastern Europe, for his drive into China and for his campaigns in the Middle East was the same Stalin who had been a partner of Hitler's. He was the same Stalin who had overrun Poland and Finland. There was not an American anywhere who didn't know Stalin was bad. Yet we were told to call him good. We were told to believe that freedom of religion was being permitted in Russia. We were not permitted to choose between the good and the bad. We were told Russia was good. That's why the world is in the mess it is today—because we refused to recognize evil when it was proved to us; because we compromised with evil.

There are just two nations in the world—the same two there have always been—the good and the bad. And bribes paid by the American taxpayers will not add any dependable recruits to the ranks of the good.

The Cost of Voting

The cost of voting worries big city newspapers. Within the next day or two there will be feature stories showing what the cost per vote was in Monday's balloting. Somehow it will be made to appear that county election boards are at fault; that they have run the costs up.

Manning election boards is strictly up to local officials. In Mason the city council determines how many and who shall serve on election boards. In the townships the decision is left up to members of the town boards.

There is no reason why an election board should not be cut down for a light election like Monday's. The law, in fact, practically suggests that members be added or subtracted from election boards to parallel the number of voters expected at the polls. With no local issues involved, with no local contests, there was no need to have election boards in Mason as fully manned as at last November's election.

Actually in cities the city councils are expressly permitted to have just one polling place for a light election. In Mason it would have taken only a resolution of the council to have done away with one precinct for Monday's election. With one polling place the number of inspectors could have been reduced to four.

With two or more precincts, the number of inspectors could have been reduced to three had the council so decided. It is not necessary under the law to appoint clerks or gatekeepers unless they are needed.

So when we talk about the cost per vote at Monday's election let's remember that the cost could have been materially reduced had the city councils and the township boards wanted them reduced.

The Mandate Business

Last November's election was held to be a mandate for a Little New Deal in Michigan. Democrats claimed the people wanted more expensive government with more state controls, and with labor leaders at those controls.

If that were true last November, then another mandate was handed state officials Monday. The mandate Monday must be that the people now want less government and less expense and no dictation from August Scholle.

Of course, the people gave no mandate last November and they gave no mandate Monday.

Governor Williams and Lieutenant-Governor Connolly were elected last November because they were running against Kim Sigler and Eugene Keyes. The people, a big majority of them, had caught onto Sigler and Keyes. The people voted for Williams and Connolly not because of the Democratic platform or because of the CIO-PAC endorsement, but in spite of the platform and the endorsement.

Governor Williams can now dismiss Gus Scholle from the inner council at the capitol and go ahead with running the state of Michigan for all the people. The mandate he received Monday cancels out the one he got last November.

Governor Williams is not the only state official who can learn something from Monday's election returns. Others who will profit by studying the figures include the Republican state senators and representatives who have been having a hand in some of the expensive spending schemes called for under the Little New Deal.

Visit to City Makes Man Content With Small Town and Country Life

By Vernon J. Brown

Here we are again at Homestead Hills after a little more than a week in the dynamic city of Detroit where we stayed while the misadventures of the Henry Ford hospital at her command. She insists she has no intimate secrets left to her. Perhaps that is what she needed. At any rate she is back at the farm and this fine spring weather is expected to complete the restoration.

Someone recently sent to Washington wrote back home that the more he saw of the national capital, the more he thought of his home community.

I feel the same. If there is anything which makes me grateful for the privilege of living out in Vevay township in this good old county of Ingham, it is a week in Detroit. And to make that statement more emphatic, all I needed was a trip back home on Friday to attend the dedication ceremonies marking the completion of Onondaga's fine new town hall. The contrasts are startling and convincing.

I had lots of time on my hands last week. Two hours a day at the outside was all the time I was allowed with my wife. Starting out briskly on Monday I soon exhausted my calling list and the rest of the time I loitered and drove about the city, or rode the city busses, all the time wondering why civilization tolerates the modern city. Why do folks brag about their big cities? Outside the real estate sharks, who profit from overgrown communities?

Cities Never Learn
Perhaps I was more deeply impressed with these queries when I spent a long week end in Dallas, Texas, a month ago. Out there where a hundred miles means nothing in distance and where acres are counted in full sections, in very recent years a complete new city has been built. Did they take lessons from over-congested cities elsewhere throughout the world? They did not. In fact in that region where land is plentiful and while the city was young—quite cheap, they built a town of narrow streets, then they built skyscraper office and store buildings, and now the sun never shines at the bottom of their man-made canyons. The sidewalks have been narrowed to make room for automobiles to meet and pass and now amidst the honking of horns, the shrill whistles of traffic policemen, the shouts of street vendors, folks push and shove and jinn to get where they think they want to go.

It is the same in Detroit only not quite so bad so far as narrow streets are concerned. One has to fight to get on a bus, more than half of those who ride are forced to stand, and the way those drivers are forced to stop and start to keep to their schedules must be wearing on the nerves and strength of those whose daily tasks force them to ride long distances twice a day.

I talked with a young woman whose home was in Mason and whose family still lives among us. For a number of years she taught school in Detroit. Because the school she formerly taught finally grew to become about 99 per cent colored and alien, she asked for a transfer to a different location. She now drives her own car through 25 miles of congested traffic each day in going to and returning from her work. She tells me she has to figure on almost an hour of nerve-wrecking driving each way.

It is no wonder that folks who live in such an atmosphere of artificiality, become so immune to the ordinary rules of society. They soon learn they'll have to be numbered among either the quick or the dead, and that if they ever have a seat in a bus they must use their elbows, and if they are ever to get to work they must crowd in ahead at stop lights and jump in ahead at elevator stops and glare at anyone who dares to cut in.

That is why, in my opinion, there is almost always a big difference in the habits of folks out of cities and country folks in town. That is why in most states, as in Michigan, there is constant strife between the voters of the big city and the voters from the rural and small city sections.

Monday's Results
This leads me to comment on Monday's election results. I hope our Governor Williams will take some note of those returns and perhaps will take some grand-fatherly advice from someone besides Gus Scholle.

G. Mennen Williams is again reminded in Monday's voting throughout the state that last November's election all went up above 100,000.

Mrs. Ella Robeson, 35, was killed April 5 when the car in which she was riding hit a tree. Mrs. Pearl Moore and Mrs. Gordon Keener were seriously injured. Mrs. William Nagley was cut and bruised. Mrs. George Hollis escaped uninjured from the crash. All the women were from Stockbridge. The accident happened just south of town.

Mason's new council chamber was used for that purpose the first time Tuesday night.

Betty Elbert of Mason, Onalee Batdorf of Pitchburg and Elaine Shaul of Lansing won top honors in the style revue at achievement day.

20 Years Ago—1929
Ernest Turk, 33, ended his life with a shotgun March 29. He lived alone on his farm south of the Hubbard school.

Miss Venessa Devey of Jackson and Donald Snyder of Mason spoke their wedding vows Sunday afternoon, March 31, at the First Methodist church in Jackson.

F. M. Fogg has moved his newspaper from Lansing to Leslie.

Floyd Bradman is working the Capt. G. A. Minar farm.

The two cigar companies have consolidated. W. W. Hough and E. Darling will operate as the Star Cigar Co.

W. A. Olds of Alameda has enlisted in the Sixth Heavy Artillery, due to leave soon for the Philippines.

The Citizens ticket found rough going in its first start. The saloon keepers fought bitterly. The city ticket was carried and second ward candidates were elected but in the first ward the Independent candidates won out.

Co. F will soon be homeward bound. They will board the transport Logan within a few days and will be mustered out shortly after their arrival.

the only instrumentality the Republican voters had to register their resentment against a regime they had learned to distrust and to detect. Consequently the votes which put the present governor in office were not votes in support of him but, on the contrary, were votes cast by members of an opposition party in opposition to further continuance in office of one who had gained nomination as the candidate of their party.

Governor Williams still has time to build himself a place in the confidence and affections of the people of Michigan. To do so he must lay aside the partisan hostility that has marked some of his official acts, rid himself of his C. I. O. trail-riders and fire some of his present advisors. Governor Williams has a lot of good qualities. He already has demonstrated he possesses marked ability as an administrator as well as keen insight into governmental problems.

Michigan will benefit if the governor now pauses long enough to ponder on some of these facts, then sets himself at the task of just being governor and a good governor.

Community Effort Pays Off at Springport

A monument to community enterprise stands over at Springport for all to see. The monument is in the form of a community center and gymnasium.

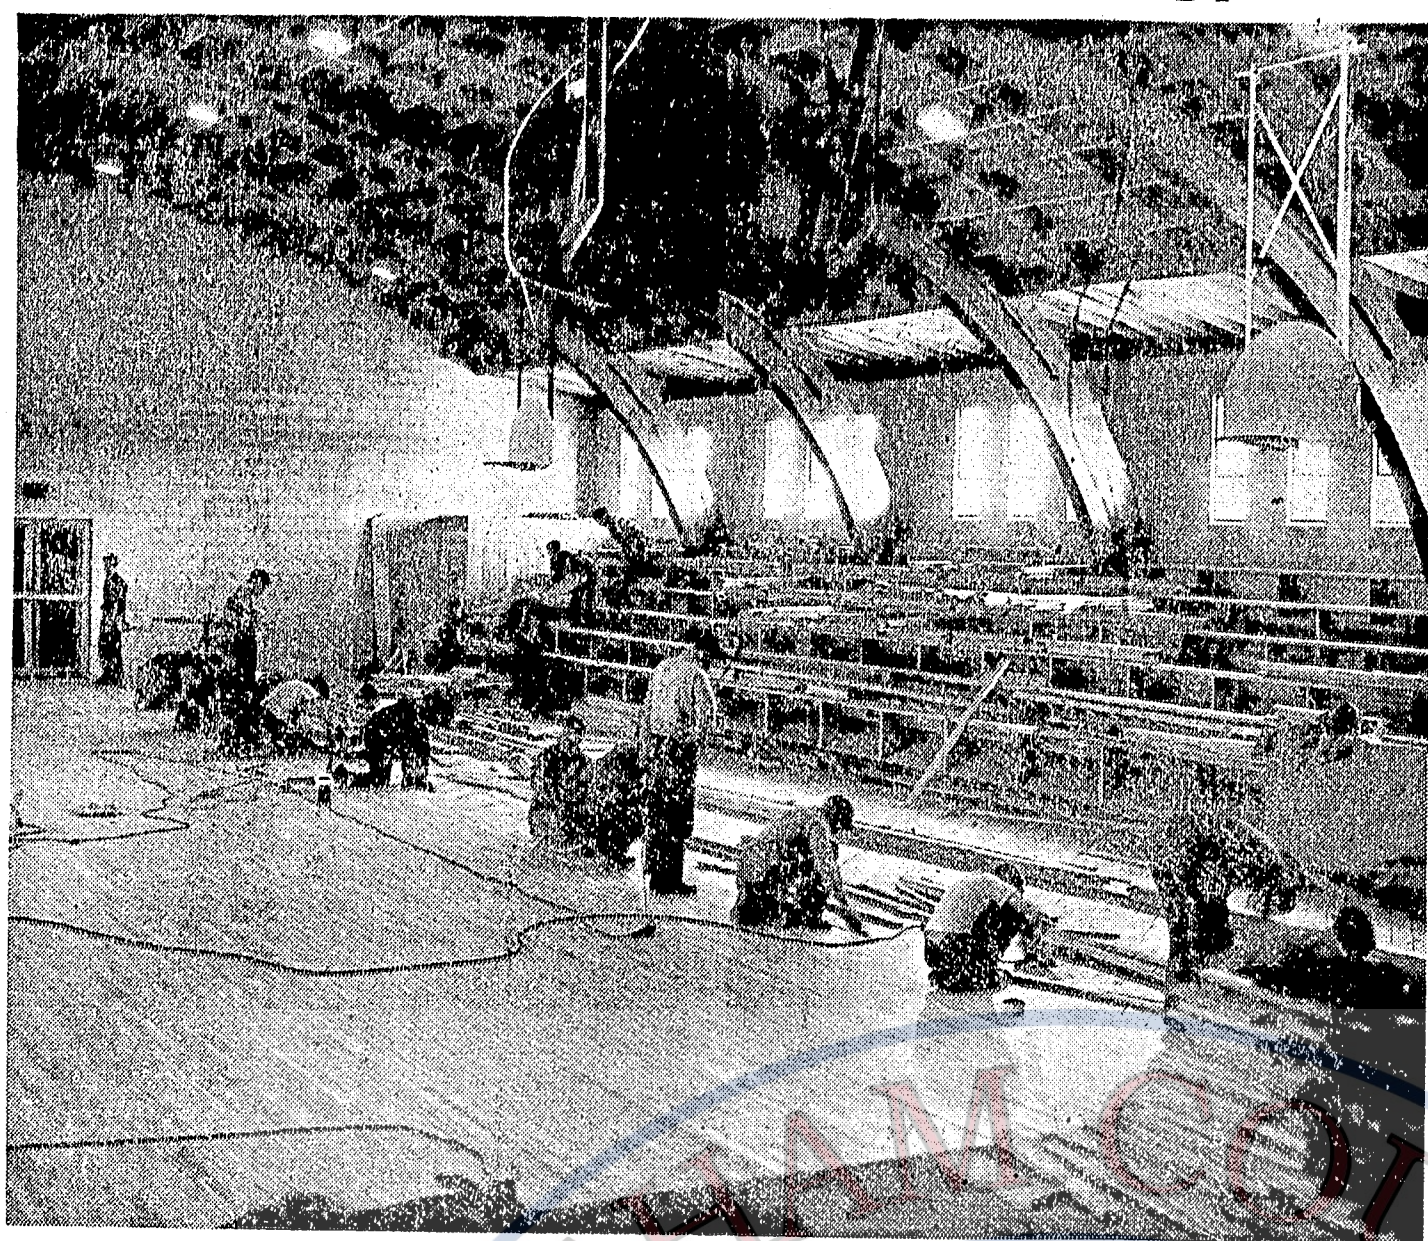

Springport wanted a community center and gymnasium but the price tags seemed to be out of reach. The cost for what Springport wanted and needed was up above $100,000. That was more than Springport people thought they ought to spend. So they donated their own services and cut the price to $40,000, and most of that was donated. None of the cost appears on the tax roll.

For $40,000 Springport has this fine new gymnasium. The site is 62x142. The seating capacity is as big as that at many colleges. The playing floor is 50x84. At one end is a stage. At the rear of the stage are locker, shower and toilet rooms, a community kitchen and a boiler room.

Work on the building was started in the summer of 1947. The Springport Community Building association, a non-profit corporation, was organized to construct and operate the building. Everyone who contributed money, labor, material or equipment was entitled as a member. The membership list stood at 1,200 when the finishing touches were being put on the building last month. That's why a $100,000 building cost $40,000.

The Springport Rural Agricultural school district was faced with the task of caring for an influx of new pupils. The old gymnasium was cut up for classrooms and then came the idea of the big gym and a community center. The new building is in the center of a 30-acre site. West of it a new four-room elementary building is being erected. Later a building to house junior and senior high schools will be built on the site.

Men and boys from all over the area helped with the excavating and grading. The concrete and steel work was done by volunteer labor, often by farmers and business men who knew nothing about it but who were directed by someone who did. Much of the carpenter work was done by boys studying shop courses with journeymen carpenters. Electricians and painters within a radius of 50 miles worked on the project on days or nights off from other jobs.

Some 10,000 board feet of lumber was logged off right around Springport, much of the timber and the labor being donated. About $20,000 in cash was contributed to the project by individuals and organizations. Nearly $8,000 has been raised by various fund-raising activities and from the sale of crops planted on the school site. To finish up the building a $10,000 mortgage loan was secured, to be paid off from earnings of the building.

Dances, shows, and sports events of all kinds are being booked to boost the earnings of the new building. Women pitched right in to help with the building. They did a lot of the food raising and they served meals to the men and boys who worked on the job.

Knights of Pythias Back Oratory Meet

The department of speech of Michigan State college and the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Michigan are cooperating in sponsoring the second annual collegiate oratorical and speech contest to be held at Hope college, Holland, on Wednesday, April 20.

Professor J. D. Monchhof of Michigan State college, state chairman of peace speech contests, expects this contest to be as successful as the first, held at Kalamazoo college last year, which attracted participants from 18 colleges and universities in Michigan.

The all-day program includes four sections in oratory, two for men and two for women; four sections in extemporaneous speaking, two for men and two for women; with the finals in oratory, two sections, and in extemporaneous speaking, two sections, taking place in the afternoon preceding the banquet for contestants and their coaches.

The Knights of Pythias also sponsors a high school public speaking contest, plans for which will soon be announced.

JUNGLE WIFE should interest all those who enjoyed the Osa Johnson stories of wild game hunting and taming. Edith Stenel writes of the Mato Grosso of South America and the life she led with her husband and later small children. With Rupert, the persistent but not entirely welcome pet she shares her home. Rupert is a young boy. She tells of tiger hunts and the capture of young tigers for museums, of meetings with democratic princes and condescending countesses. It is all told with a light touch and the excellent sense of humor which would be necessary to carry through under such living conditions. It should find a wide audience.

VICTORIAN CINDERELLA is the biography of Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of UNCLE TOM'S CABIN, and numerous other articles with which we are not so well acquainted. The book tells almost as much of the rest of the famous Beecher tribe as it does of Harriet. Her method of writing what was supposed to be a short series in a newspaper, and what later turned out to be a very thick book explains the lack of literary continuity, for in her own words, it just went on and on and she couldn't stop it. Written primarily for older boys and girls, this will probably be well read by adults as well.

TENDER MERCY by Leonard Kaufman is what we consider an important book of fiction, although it will probably never reach best-seller lists. It is a novel of Sam and Alice Ballard and their idiot son Aaron, around whom the household must revolve.

Dairy Industry Adopts Dare and Do Action Plan

The dairy industry is setting in motion one of the largest fund-raising campaigns in its history, according to Charles E. Stone, secretary-manager of the American Dairy Association of Michigan.

A tangled agricultural economy with rising high costs of production and declining milk and butter prices have aroused the dairy industry into a "dare and do" program. Special emphasis, Stone declared, "will be placed on butter—the balance wheel of the dairy industry."

The industry, both farmers and processors, is taking an "eye to eye" look at the economic challenges of the times.

"A separate campaign for butter advertising is in the making," asserted Stone. "It is proposed to start a campaign for butter advertising funds from the industry."

17 Herds on Test Exceed 30 Pounds

Robert Witte, tester for the Ingham-West Dairy Herd Improvement association, tested 684 cows from 31 herds in March. High herd in butterfat was the one owned by Mrs. C. A. Slomson of Eaton Rapids. The 36 registered Holsteins averaged 41.9 pounds of butterfat from 1258 pounds of milk. Sixteen other herds in the Ingham-West association averaging over 30 pounds of butterfat for March were:

Harry Covert & Son, 19 registered Holsteins, 41.9 pounds fat, 1322 pounds milk; Charles J. Davis, 21 registered Holsteins, 41.5 pounds fat, 1201 pounds milk; Miller & Shaw, 11 registered and grade Holsteins and Jerseys, 40.8 pounds fat, 1075 pounds milk; Carlyle C. Fruit Folder Aids Small Producers Growing fruits for home consumption is thrifty and enjoyable. But the backyard grower has to face the same insect pests and diseases that plague the commercial fruitman.

To aid the small grower in protecting his apples, pears, quinces, peaches, plums, cherries, and small fruits, the Michigan State College Cooperative Extension Service has re-printed the popular folder F-17, "A Pest Control Program for Home Orchards and Small Fruits."

A copy may be obtained from the county extension office or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

NEW MSC LABS AID INSECT STUDIES

Insects that find themselves in the Michigan State College's new entomology laboratories will be able to hide few facts about their life cycles and appetites.

The labs are housed in the new natural science building constructed at MSC. Rooms that create artificial weather conditions will permit the scientists at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station to learn about insect growth. This will make possible prediction of insect invasions and numbers and also help in devising control methods.

The facts which will be uncovered will aid the state's farmers to raise crops and livestock with less danger from insect pests. Consumers, too, will benefit since insect damage each year cuts crop yields and brings higher food prices.

Ray Hutson, head of the MSC entomology department, is shown here as he collects samples of insects. The timbers shown on the racks have been attacked by carpenter beetles and termites.

Insect Study to Aid Agriculture

Michigan farmers will profit from new experiments to be conducted on insect life at the Michigan agricultural experiment station.

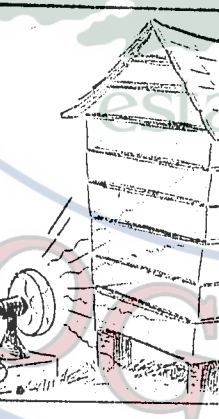

Consumers, too, will benefit by the results of the tests since insect damage year extracts a large sum from crop yields with a resulting higher price for food products.

In the new natural science building on the Michigan State College campus are included a number of laboratories for the study of insect life. Tailor-made temperatures can be controlled to find how the bugs react to hot or cold weather. This information will make possible the accurate prediction of insect invasions and abundance during growing season and help in devising improved control methods.

Losses to Michigan crops from insects still run high, despite great strides in developing control methods. Bean growers suffer losses from the bean maggot, corn raisers from the corn borer, and potato farmers from the white grub. Wire worms attack many crops. Codling moths and oriental fruit moth take a heavy toll of Michigan crops.

A large number of insect varieties, both harmful and helpful, require study in relation to Michigan weather, points out Ray Hutson, head of the MSC department entomology. He explains that this work has been out of the question in the past because of lack of facilities. He believes that much progress can be made now with the new laboratories as the scientists of the Michigan agricultural experiment station begin work to find out more about insect life and how to control their yearly ravages.

Dry Crib Corn

Farmers with corn in the crib are beginning to have a few questions in their minds. Some of the corn may be quite high in moisture content and warmer weather will add to the problems of handling the corn.

W. H. Sheldon, agricultural engineer at Michigan state college, says that wet corn will keep indefinitely while frozen. The problem is what to do with the wet corn that is still in the crib when warmer weather returns.

One solution is to feed it out before the weather warms up. However, in many cases large quantities may be on hand and cannot be used rapidly.

Experiments in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, have shown that heated air can be used to dry wet corn. Blowing unheated air through the crib with a hay drier fan will not take out very much water, but it will keep the corn as cool as the air and greatly retard mold growth.

Fruit Jars Usable In Fumigant Spray

If the garden plot is small, J. C. Ford, Auburn Polytechnic Institute extension service garden specialist says, the exact amount of fumigant per row can best be applied by using a fruit jar.

A 10-or-20-penny nail hole should be made near one margin of the jar lid through which to pour the liquid. A somewhat smaller air hole is necessary near the opposite side of the lid.

A recent check of naval aircraft engines "canned" at the end of the war showed them to be in perfect condition.

Delancy Cooper's Holsteins Lead Ingham-South in March

Sixteen herds in the Ingham-South Dairy Herd Improvement association averaged 30 pounds of butterfat or more in March, according to the report of the tester, George Ward. The high herd was made up of 13 grade Holsteins belonging to Delancy Cooper with 1128 pounds milk, 41.5 pounds butterfat.

The other 15 herds were: 10 grade Holsteins belonging to Robert Rhines, 40.8 pounds fat, 1126 pounds milk; Fred Rutledge's 14 registered and grade Holsteins, 35.9 pounds fat, 1025 pounds milk; 18 grade Holsteins belonging to J. H. and Dennis Underwood, 35.2 pounds fat, 1041 pounds milk; 22 registered Holsteins belonging to Coe F. Emens, 35.6 pounds fat, 886 pounds milk; 16 registered and grade Holsteins belonging to Emens-Shaw, 35.6 pounds fat, 885 pounds milk; Kenneth E. Baker's 15 registered Holsteins and grade Guernseys, 33.9 pounds fat, 897 pounds milk; 32 registered and grade Holsteins belonging to Gottfried Graf & Son, 33.3 pounds fat, 904 pounds milk;

Ted W. Pay's 19 grade Guernseys, 32.8 pounds fat, 738 pounds milk; 12 registered Holsteins and grade Guernseys belonging to Ward Vicary, Jr., 32.6 pounds fat, 894 pounds milk; 9 registered Holsteins belonging to J. H. and R. D. Chamberlain, 32.3 pounds fat, 842 pounds milk; 13 cows, mixed breeds, belonging to Ed Sterrett & Son, 31.9 pounds fat, 661 pounds milk; Garth Brown's 16 registered and grade Holsteins, 31.3 pounds fat, 850 pounds milk; L. Carly's 24 grade Holsteins, 31.0 pounds fat, 914 pounds milk; Don Crakes' 7 grade Holsteins, 30.7 pounds fat, 946 pounds milk; 16 registered Holsteins belonging to W. D. Freiermuth, 30.0 pounds fat, 829 pounds milk.

High cows in each class were: Mature: Coe F. Emens' registered Holstein, 99.6 pounds fat, 1879 pounds milk; Gottfried Graf & Son's registered Holstein, 85.5 pounds fat, 1295 pounds milk.

Under 5 years: Fred Rutledge's registered Holstein, 63.8 pounds fat, 1519 pounds milk; Emens & Son, 51.9 pounds fat, 1457 pounds milk.

Milk Surplus Going Into Butter

Increased production is diverting large quantities of milk and cream into the production of dry skim milk and butter in Michigan. Eastern markets for evaporated milk and sweet cream are being supplied from other sources and much of Michigan's milk supply formerly going into those products is now going into butter and dry skim milk, according to P. M. Skiver, chief of the bureau of dairying, Michigan department of agriculture.

He reported the production of Michigan milk plants so far in 1949 is 3 to 5 per cent above 1948. With less cows being milked the increased production is apparently due to better culling of herds and better feeding of cows milking.

At the present time much of the sweet cream produced by large plants is being churned into sweet cream butter. This is the best quality butter and is bringing top prices on some of the eastern markets.

Some of the fluid milk markets are now shifting surplus milk to manufacturing plants, and when the peak of production comes in June, millions of pounds of milk will be manufactured into butter and dry skim milk, the usual forms in which seasonal surplus of milk is stored. Skiver estimated that butter and dry skim milk production in Michigan this year will probably be 10 percent higher than in 1948.

Among the 36 animals classified in the Wright herd, one was designated "excellent"—the highest score an animal can receive; three scored "very good"; and 14 scored "good plus."

This is the first time this herd has been classified.

Type classification, in which animals are compared with the ideal Holstein-Friesian animal in regard to body conformation, compactness, production testing as a means of moving lines, locating outstanding brood cow families, and improving the progress of American dairying as well.

Robins rarely nest in bird houses but sometimes construct their nests as houses that are roofed out open.

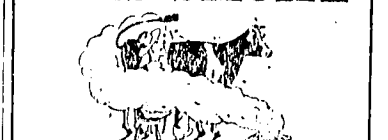

Shaw's grade Holstein, 61.2 pounds fat, 1457 pounds milk.

Under 4 years: Delancy Cooper's grade Holstein, 76.6 pounds fat, 1065 pounds milk; Emens & Son's grade Holstein, 59.2 pounds fat, 1792 pounds milk.

Under 3 years: Coe F. Emens' registered Holstein, 53.7 pounds fat, 1581 pounds milk; Gottfried Graf & Son's registered Holstein, 48.0 pounds fat, 1482 pounds milk.

Muck Suitable For Many Crops

In the minds of many people, muck land is suited only for special crops such as peppermint or onions. But J. P. Davis, Michigan State college soils specialist, says this isn't true.

Muck, Davis states, can be used for production of almost all crops. Pasture and hay, small grains, and cultivated crops are grown with good results if the soil is properly managed.

The type of pasture that will grow successfully on muck is determined largely by drainage conditions. If flooding is likely, reed canary grass is the best choice. However, if the muck is sufficiently well drained to grow corn, smooth bromegrass or a timothy and alsike mixture can be considered.

It is doubtful that legumes such as alfalfa, red clover, or ladino clover are practical for muck soils because of the difficulty in maintaining stand. Possibly on a very well drained muck, alfalfa may have limited use, Davis believes. Blue grass produces a palatable but low yielding pasture on well drained mucks.

Wheat and barley will produce profitable yields on well drained mucks with a favorable soil reaction and proper fertilization. Oats are not recommended because of lodging.

Corn is well adapted for muck lands. Frostiness is one of the hazards involved. For this reason, an early hybrid should be grown.

Early maturing varieties of soybeans will grow well on muck. Sugar beets, too, will produce profitable yields. Early planting from May 5 to May 25 is important.

County agricultural agents can supply recommendations for fertilizing and seeding on muck land.

Early Planting Best for Sugar Beets

Sugar beet plantings made over a week ago in the Blissfield district bring to mind the old but still good adage that nothing takes the place of planting at the earliest favorable date in striving for top yields, said P. A. Reeve, Farmery & Manufacturers Beet Sugar agricultural supervisor.

Lawrence Kell, Monclova, Ohio, planted on his 10-acre contract March 26, and James Langender, Swanton, Ohio, sowed part of his 9-acre contract March 28, Reeve revealed. Both farmers are located in the Blissfield district. Kell grew 20 tons per acre in 1948 and says he is shooting for 25 tons this year.

Reeve declared that records over the years show that early planted beets invariably outyield later plantings. He pointed out that data compiled in 1947 by Paul M. Harmer and J. Fred Davis of Michigan State college for muck land shows that beets planted May 6 yielded 19.5 tons while June 4 plantings yielded 2.8 tons less, or an average daily loss of almost a tenth of a ton. In 1948, the average daily loss was almost a quarter of a ton between the dates

May 17 and June 12. Over the years the average loss is about a fifth of a ton per day between May 8 and 31, according to Dr. Harmer's records. While these figures are for muck-grown beets, upland plantings would show about the same proportionate comparison, Reeve said.

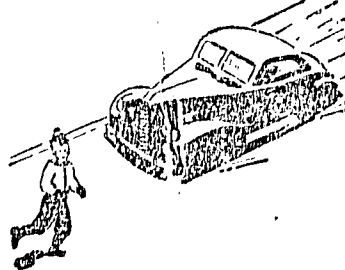

This does not mean that quite satisfactory tonnages cannot be obtained at later planting dates, he stated, but rather that chances for those good, high tonnages are reduced by delay.

For those farmers who are fearful of frost damage to early plantings, Reeve advised that rarely are beets damaged by frost. But if in an occasional year some injury does result and it is necessary to replant, that farmer still will be away ahead of the game by the added tonnages he obtains the many years his early plantings come through unscathed.

If the farmer gets on the field just as early as conditions are right, he said, it will be one of the best assurances he will have for a top yield. Every effort should be made to get beets in the ground sometime in April or early May.

Quality Seed Is Aim of New Group

Improved seed for Michigan is one of the goals of the newly organized Michigan Foundation Seed association. A full-time manager has been employed and plans are underway for the first crop season.

George Wenner, former member of the Michigan State college farm crops department, has joined the association as a manager. Though there will be no direct connection with Michigan State college or the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, the non-profit group will work in close coordination with these institutions.

The association, organized by members of the Michigan Crop Improvement association, will help solve a problem which has long bothered certified seed growers; how to get adequate supplies of foundation seed. This seed is needed because it is very close to the original strain produced at the experiment stations.

The association this year expects to contract for about 450 acres of land for the production of foundation seed. Crops slated to be grown this year include pea beans, oats, barley, wheat, soybeans, corn, and rye. Seeds for these plantings will be obtained from experiment station stock which is known to be pure, disease-free, and of high germination.

Roy Decker, head of the Michigan State college farm crops department, foresees the new seed program as a great help to farmers.

CHANGE ENGINEERING RULES
Future engineers planning to study in the University of Michigan college of engineering are no longer required to study foreign language in high school. Dean Ivan C. Crawford has announced that for many years the University college of engineering has required that applicants for admission as freshmen present two units of foreign language study. This requirement has now been dropped and engineering applicants may present instead high school unit in botany, biology, zoology, economics or courses in English mathematics or chemistry in addition to those already required.

Know Your Pesticides

As every county agent will point out, it is profitable to the farmer to know how to choose and use pesticides properly.

There are many well known and many relatively new chemicals for controlling pests. Their strong points and their weak points should be compared before making a choice.

"It is important," the agents emphasize, "to be familiar with your pest problems and to recognize and follow reliable recommendations rather than mere reports and suggestions of untrained persons."

"Study the problems that may follow use of certain materials, such as residues and off-flavors. Consider timing of applications, dosages, methods of removing residues, etc., as a means of overcoming secondary problems. Be sure products you buy comply with all regulations."

"Accuracy of dosage is one of the fundamentals in the use of modern chemicals. Read labels and accompanying directions carefully."

Check Fire Equipment, Farmers Are Advised

Farmers are urged by county agents to check fire extinguishers to be certain they are approved.

These warnings are based on reports from Fire Protection Institute, a national fire safety organization, that many "unapproved" extinguishers have been made available during the past few years. It was pointed out that an undependable extinguisher is about as useful as a counterfeit dollar.

During 1948 beneficial suggestions earned navy civilian employees cash awards totaling $270,600.
