INGHAM COUNTY NEWS, MASON, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1949

21 Boys Enter Plowing Derby For 4-H Title

Big and Little Tractors, Even a Jeep, Will Test Boy Operators Saturday

On the McCullough farm, Ferris road, Onondaga, Saturday Ingham 4-H boys and their tractors will be put to the plowing test. There are 21 boys entered and their equipment includes both big and little tractors and even a Jeep.

Light rain will do little harm. The contest will be staged in a well drained field. Last year the plowing had to be halted because most of the tractors were mired in wet and heavy clay. The site for the 1949 contest was chosen specially for the type of soil.

There are six Ferris, five John Deeres in several models, six Internationals, two Olivers, an Allis-Chalmers and a Jeep.

The home club, Ferris, has five entrants. Dansville has four, Williamston, Okemos and Stockbridge each has three. Mason has two, including Dan Gilchrist, last year's champion, and Leslie has one. Both of the Mason contestants hail from Eden.

The program is to start at 12:30. The contestants will be on hand at 10 to receive information from A. J. Bell of Michigan State college on plow adjustments. From 11 to 12 the contestants will be permitted to practice runs. The Ferris club will serve lunches at noon.

Plowing is scheduled to start at one o'clock. Plots for plowing will be laid out Friday afternoon. Each contestant will be given the same number of rounds to make, depending on the number of plows and the width of his plows. Depth of plowing will be gauged by the size of the plow. Each contestant will lay out the back furrow for his plot and finish the dead furrow to the left of the plot which is assigned to him. Contestants will draw for the plots.

Charles Pigy, director of the Michigan department of agriculture, will participate in the program.

Zane Clark, Standard Oil company supervisor, is chairman of the program. Pete Beck, who has successfully staged Jackson county 4-H plowing contests, is also appearing on the Ingham program. Ray Moline, manager of the McCullough farm and leader of the Ferris club, will explain the Ingham contest. County Agent Donald Curry will outline contest rules and Bert Howard, the Oliver agency in Lansing will exhibit the prizes.

Prizes will consist of tractor tools and lubricants.

Name 3 Boys to Wolverine State

Three Mason boys have been picked for Wolverine State to be held in June on the campus of Michigan State college. The Wolverine Boys State is sponsored by the Michigan department of the American Legion.

Jack Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joy O. Davis, was nominated by Browne-Cavender post of the American Legion. Ron Smith, son of Owen Smith, was named by the Kiwanis club. Warner Kean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kean, was picked by Mason lodge No. 70, Knights of Pythias.

Bud Dunn, chairman of the Boys State committee of the Legion post, said that a fourth group may also pick a boy.

SCIENCE TEACHER HIRSD

At its meeting Wednesday night the Mason board of education signed a contract with Harry P. Cairns to teach chemistry and physics at Mason next year. Cairns will be graduated from Western Michigan college in June.

All Rural Eighth Graders To Get Certificates Here

Eighth graders from all Ingham rural schools will meet in Mason Monday night, May 16, for promotion exercises.

In past years the promotion exercises have been held at Mason, Leslie, Williamston and Stockbridge. This year they will be held in the Legion Memorial building.

About 200 eighth graders will receive their promotion certificates at Mason.

Sam Street Hughes, Lansing attorney, former mayor and former municipal judge, will deliver the address. County School Superintendent Alton J. Strand will present the diplomas. Marie Adler, Michigan State college extension nurse instructor, will direct fifth, sixth and seventh grade pupils in several songs.

Tenured school pupils have only a few more days of classes. The Fulton school in Lucke township will start summer vacation May 15. Other rural schools will run until May 20.

Parents should keep their boys and girls from playing in or near the pits. Policeman Ralph Hall told the city council Monday night.

Hall described the Smith pit, paralleling Barnes street, as extremely hazardous. He declared that even the path long used by the boys and girls along the east brink has been undercut. Persons who use the path may be buried alive under tons of gravel and sand, the policeman said.

For the past 15 years what was long known as the Shelltrap pit in Mason's south section was virtually abandoned. Now the city has been taking out thousands of yards and the Ferris Co. has been installing gravel for Lansing and East Lansing construction jobs. George Smith is also operating heavily.

The council instructed Policeman Hall to confer with George Smith, the Ferris Co. and other operators over the elimination of all hazards possible.

At the April 18 council meeting Floyd C. Watson asked for settlement with the city on part of one of his lots at 923 South Barnes. He told the council that the Ferris Co., stockpiling gravel for the city, had chucked into his lot.

Alderman Lee Daffing, head of the street committee, reported Monday night that his committee will have a report ready on the Watson situation at the May 16 meeting.

Watson intimated that he might be willing to work out a trade, letting the city have the rest of the lot undisturbed in trade for a city lot adjoining the Watson property.

Watson told the council two weeks ago that the way his lot was left constituted a threat to anyone walking near the brink of the pit behind his garage.

Policeman Hall informed the council that the place of greatest danger now is the area back of the K. A. Zimmerman home.

While more children have been playing in the pits paralleling Barnes street than the Waggoner and Duff pits north of town, the danger in the north pits is just as great.

Under the law the road commission gets 50 per cent of Ingham's share of the weight tax collection with the other 50 per cent distributed on a population basis.

Last June the Ingham board of supervisors adopted a resolution earmarking "under priority 4" 35 per cent of the half remaining after the county 50 per cent for matching township road money, not exceeding $58,000. That gives the road commission $51,635 for matching township money put up by 12 of Ingham's 16 townships.

The regular township portion is also turned over to the road commission.

The $740,014.47 is being divided between the county townships, cities and villages as follows:

Road commission share $370,007.24
Priority 4 (matchings) 51,635.00
Township portion to road commission 93,747.58

Lansing 191,957.77
East Lansing 14,232.51
Mason 6,988.27
Williamston 4,153.48
Leslie 3,122.28

Stockbridge 2,076.74
Webberville 1,238.15
Dansville 855.46

Only the four townships of Bunker Hill, Ingham, Leroy and Onondaga have not signed matching agreements with the road commission. The townships use sale tax revenues to match the road funds.

The matched money will be used to improve township highways. Ingham township is contemplating using its sales tax money to rebuild a town hall.

Have You Met?

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Martin?

The Martins reside on a farm at 5690 West Columbia road, six and a half miles west of Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin moved to their farm home in January, 1947. Prior to that time they lived in Lansing. He is a native of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Martin hails from Jackson.

Martin is employed as production engineer at John Bean Manufacturing Co. in Lansing. He has been with the John Bean company for six years.

He is a member of the Amity Masonic lodge of Lansing.

The Martins attend the Christian Science church.

Judge Will Set Trial Dates at Mason Monday

Circuit Court Jurors Will Report at Mason May 16 When Criminal Trials Start

Presiding Judge Louis E. Coash or Judges Charles F. Hayden or Marvin J. Salmon will be on the bench at Mason Monday to fix trial dates for the May term. Arraignments will be made and the calendar will be read.

Jurors chosen to serve at the May term of court are not to report until Monday, May 16. That's when criminal trials will begin.

The judges now plan to operate two courts at Mason to clear the dockets for the summer as soon as possible.

There are 26 criminal cases, listed for trial. However, two men account for six separate cases. Willis Long and Richard Barton, both of Stockbridge, are each accused of three separate offenses against three girls. Each man is accused of two offenses of statutory rape and one offense of assault with intent to commit rape.

The trial of Halle Harkness, Sr., of Eaton Rapids, formerly of Mason, is also scheduled for the May term of court. He is charged with embezzling funds from the Driver school district in Lansing township. He served as district treasurer.

Other cases on the criminal calendar include those against Alma Webster, assault and battery, appeal; Ivan J. Davis, bastardy; Charles G. Marks, Jr., leaving scene of accident; Martin Treacy, fraudulent conversion; Leo C. Beebe, reckless driving, appeal; Earl R. Beasley, assault with deadly weapon; Allen L. O'Brien, issuing check without funds; Louise Young, larceny from a student; John Moore, carrying concealed weapons; and John Lennon, bigamy.

The Victor Verrecusse murder case is on the calendar but only to complete the record. Verrecusse is in the Ingham state hospital for the criminal insane.

On the criminal calendar are eight Lansing traffic violation cases. Respondents are Royal Beckwith, Kenneth R. Culver, Robert E. Beryman, William M. Alderson, John Casarelli, Marjorie J. Feure, Ernest Muckle and Ferris C. Mutter.

Delmonte Suit Again

There are 47 jury civil cases on the calendar. Two of them are suits by Harold and John J. Enright against the estate of Joe Delmonte. The Enrights and their wives were with Delmonte in November of 1947 when his car left the highway. Delmonte was killed.

The Enrights are attempting to collect damages for injuries. Compensation case went to trial several months ago.

On the non-jury civil calendar are 101 cases. There are 14 non-contested chancery cases, 11 of them divorces, and 192 contested chancery cases, 127 of them divorces suits.

There are 25 law and 55 chancery cases in which there have been changes in the past year. They are subject to the annual at the reading of the calendar Monday.

John Meyer of Lansing and John Brattlin, Lansing attorney buying for himself and a syndicate, bought most of the delinquent taxes at the May 7 sale. The sale was conducted by County Treasurer Lyle B. Austin.

The 195 lots sold to individuals yielded $4,081.74. Meyer's purchases came to $34.63 and Brattlin's to $2,491.84.

There were only seven pieces of property left unsold. They were bid in at the state at $983.88. Most of the tax was on one Bunker Hill farm, delinquent for $897.61 in drain tax. The original drain tax was $726.00 but penalties and interest sent it up to the higher figure.

There were 554 descriptions on the original delinquent tax list. Only 202 went to sale. Owners settled on the others.

Owners now have a year in which to redeem the property sold. The redemption price is the sale price plus one per cent a month. If redemption is not made within a year the purchaser of the taxes may secure a tax deed. Then the curb and lot will be picked up and hauled away by city employees. No ashes or garbage will be hauled.

Plans now being studied by contractors are for a two-story restaurant with 25 feet frontage on Maple, and extending back 110 feet south of the city building. Construction will be of cinder blocks faced with brick on Maple street. There will be no basement.

The lower floor will be used for the Morse restaurant. In addition to the main dining room and kitchen there will be a special room for serving meals to clubs and to special parties.

Mrs. Schick will use the second floor for her apartment.

The contract for the restaurant building may be let next week. A deal is also pending on construction of one big or two small buildings west of the restaurant.

Court House Squirrel Likes Nuts and Ice Cream Cones

Most squirrels spend their time and endeavor their bridgework by cracking walnuts and hickory nuts. There's a wiser squirrel at the court house. She makes a fat living on peanuts and ice cream cones. She even shops at her favorite store for other choice morsels.

In the picture taken Monday on the court house lawn she is shown taking a peanut from open-handed Henry Smith.

It was Mrs. Smith who tamed the squirrel — just like she tamed Henry. Mrs. Smith first saw the squirrel crossing Maple street from the court house grounds two weeks ago and invited the little animal to enter the Mason Frozen Food Lockers store. The squirrel was hesitant at first, going only to the open door. Each day the squirrel gained new confidence and before the week was out she would go inside to get food.

The squirrel is rearing a family in one of the trees on the court house lawn.

Beautiful and Rare Birds Join Flocks at Game Farm

Aristocrats of the pheasant world are being mixed in with other game birds at the state game farm east of Mason on Dexter Trail.

The mixing isn't being done to humble the aristocrats. It's done to give size and color and better egg production to the ringnecks.

Some of the aristocrats are being used in special breeding experiments. Others are being mated with the laying stock.

There are pheasants in solid whites and solid blacks. Both of them are mutations from the ringnecks but have been established long enough to breed true. Both whites and blacks will breed with the ringnecks in captivity or in the wild, and both add size and weight to the ringnecks.

Actually, explained Manager Roy M. Hunt at the game farm, the ringnecks themselves are hybrids. The Chinese ringnecks, the lady Ambers, the Golden (red), the Formosan and Black-necked pheasants. Several of the varieties have more beauty than the field variety but they lack stamina or size or some other quality which makes their propagation impractical.

Blacknecks and Mongolians are being mixed in to give hunting stock still more size and better egg production. The Mongolian strain adds more brilliance to the plumage. There are several hundred of the Mongolians.

In special pens are several varieties of long-tailed orientals. There are the long-tailed Reeves, the lady Ambers, the Golden (red), the Formosan and Black-necked pheasants. Several of the varieties have more beauty than the field variety but they lack stamina or size or some other quality which makes their propagation impractical.

First hatch of hunting stock is due out of the incubators May 13. Then twice a week for four weeks the incubators will produce the pheasant young. There are 25,000 eggs now in the incubators.

Debris left by the January 19 fire on Maple street is being cleared away preparatory to erecting a new building.

The Ketchum Excavating and Gravel Co. used a power shovel and a bulldozer to knock down and level the ruins. The sites of the Morse restaurant and the Fox Cabaret have been cleared. The blackened walls of the former Jacobs store are being left. The west wall can be used as is and the east wall can be repaired.

No attempt is being made to salvage the brick. Under present labor schedules the cost of cleaning would exceed the cost of the bricks salvaged.

Plans now being studied by contractors are for a two-story restaurant with 25 feet frontage on Maple, and extending back 110 feet south of the city building. Construction will be of cinder blocks faced with brick on Maple street. There will be no basement.

School Board Asks Vote On Building Plan Again, Election Set for June 6

Architect Claims Prices Have Dropped Down So That $200,000 Will Cover Costs, Bond Issue Now Required Has Been Trimmed to $125,000

Mason school electors will vote again on the proposed West Side school. The special election will be on June 6. The proposal to bond the district for $200,000 to build the school was voted down 280 to 263 on March 21.

At a school board meeting Wednesday night the members agreed that the proposal should be submitted again. They had been told by a representative of the architectural firm of Warren S. Holmes & Co. that prices are coming down. The revised figure on the proposed West Side school is now $200,000 instead of the $250,000 first set.

The new financing plan is also scaled down. The original plan called for a $200,000 bond issue with the expenditure of $50,000 from the building and site fund. The new proposal calls for a bond issue of $125,000 with $50,000 from the building and site fund and $25,000 to be transferred from the general fund to the building and site fund.

Half-Day Sessions Planned

Until additional classrooms are available, the early elementary grades will begin half-day sessions next fall, the school board decided Monday night.

Asked if the decision meant that no effort would be made to secure the use of temporary classrooms, Superintendent James H. Vander Ven explained, "What is meant is that the board is opposed to housing pupils in temporary classrooms lacking proper health and safety facilities. If rooms can be secured which are approved then there is no reason why they should not be used until a permanent building is erected."

Four members of the school board and the superintendent visited Caro last Thursday to inspect an Amco steel building of four rooms built for $40,000.

Vander Ven reported that the building at Caro would not answer Mason's needs.

The official statement prepared by the board of education Wednesday night is as follows:

"The board of education after due consideration and study of facts relative to types of construction for a new school building has determined that the need of Mason warrants a building of a quality comparable to the one now in use.

"The board of education does not consider it advisable or practical to erect a temporary building. Neither does the board feel that it is advisable to house the boys and girls in temporary rooms lacking proper safety and health facilities. To provide a building of inferior quality would be a step backward rather than forward.

"We value highly our public school system and its enviable record and we are therefore determined to continue this progressive system by providing a building of adequate and permanent construction. The board proposes to erect a building which will be an asset to this community for years to come.

"The board of education will submit to the electors the building as originally planned, probably calling for an election Monday, June 6, 1949. The board will propose a transfer of $25,000 from the general fund to the building and site fund. This would make a total of $75,000 in this fund. The architect, have refurnished costs of this building and probably the bond issue required will be $125,000 instead of $200,000.

"Until additional classrooms are available, the early elementary grades will begin half-day sessions at the beginning of the 1949-50 school year."

Mason and Eaton Rapids To Play Baseball Friday

Mason notched the second win in three starts by topping Everett Friday 12-2. Mason pounded the ball for the first time this year, collecting a total of 13 hits off the slants of John Christensen. Three of the smashes were for extra bases.

While Mason was slamming the ball, Everett could only hit eight of Wayne Gabbert's tosses. Gabbert was not in trouble when the Vikings slammed out three singles in a row. Gabbert settled down then and retired the side before any runs could be scored.

Mason scored three runs in the second frame when two errors and a Gabbert hit let the gate down. In the third frame Denny Stolz came home with another tally when Merrill Snyder and Danny Garver belted out singles after Stolz reached first on an error.

The last three innings were all Mason as the Bulldogs scored three runs in the fifth and seventh and two in the sixth. Denny Stolz came up with a booming triple in the fifth and Gabbert and Snyder tied off for doubles in the sixth.

Snyder and Garver paced the Mason attack with three hits in four trips to the plate with Gabbert and Denny Stolz collecting two hits in five trips.

Henry was the only Viking who had any luck getting the bat on Gabbert's pitches. He pounded out three hits in four trips to the plate. Paul Williams banged out two for four.

Mason will take on Eaton Rapids

Grange Announces Handsome Prizes In Essay Contest

"Conservation of Our Soil Resources" is the topic of a nationwide essay contest being conducted by the National Grange and American Plant Food Council. State and national prizes totaling $15,000 are offered to young men and women through 20 years of age who enter the contest.

Whitfield Grange is sponsoring this contest in their area and will give prizes to local winners. The lecturer, Mrs. June Smith, and the youth committee consisting of Ronald Kurn, David Beatty, Rowland Frost and Howard Rich have charge of the contest locally. Entries should be in the hands of the committee by June 15.

Rules for the contest follow: Any young person, regardless of Grange membership, who will not be more than 20 on June 15, is eligible to enter an essay.

Information from textbooks, bulletins, motion pictures, interviews, or personal experiences may be used but practical application of the subject to the land in the community, state or nation will be given special consideration in the judging of each paper.

Entries must not exceed 800 words and will be judged on the basis of 55 points for effectiveness, 20 points for originality, 15 points for practical application of subject matter and 10 for grammatical correctness.

All entries must be in the hands of the local Grange by June 15.

National and state prizes offered by the American Plant Food Council are:

National—First prize, 1949 Buick Super 4-door sedan; second prize, Chevrolet Deluxe 4-door sedan; third prize, $750; and fourth, $250.

State—first, $150; second, $75; and third, $50.

Watchdog Sells Out On Bulls

Supervisor Lloyd Aseltine of Alameda is called the watchdog of the county treasury. He considers thrift one of the primary virtues and waste a sin.

That's why testimony from him is so convincing.

Here's what he testified Tuesday: "That 40c want ad in the Ingham County News last Thursday was one of the best investments I ever made. I had two young Holstein bulls. I advertised them last week. One bull was sold Friday and the other Saturday afternoon."

Harkness

have around Mason, Lansing, Eaton Rapids and elsewhere. At a hearing or examination such as I have experienced only prosecution witnesses are heard. The defense does not present its side of the case at all. Needless to say the defense in this case will be presented at the proper time and place. It had not been my intention to engage in any arguments with the newspapers over this matter but when inaccurate statements appeared in your issue of April 21 I was unable to resist it.

Freedom of the press which you newspaper editors are always howling about is all right but there is also such a thing as freedom of the individual and I do not believe that it should be jeopardized through publishing in a public newspaper of inaccurate statements.

In closing I wish to say for the benefit of my friends that my acquittal of the charges against me is certain and only ask that they withhold judgment until all the facts have been presented.

HOLT GOLFER'S WIN

Coach Don Funk saw his golf team go down to a 11½ to 3½ defeat Wednesday on the Mason golf course when Mason played host to Holt. Mason's team is composed of Dan Garver, Jim Rickly, Pud Smith, Reed Montague and Dick Spenny. Garver picked up three points for Mason and Rickly added the half.

In Justice Court

Morris Benson, 84, has 60 days more in which to complete the task of painting the jail. The former steepjack did a 30-day stretch which started in March. That was for being drunk. Since that term he was sent back twice on five-day sentences. But the cure didn't take. He was released Monday morning and late in the afternoon he was found helplessly drunk at the corner of Columbia and Cedar. Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald arrested Benson and hauled him back to jail. On Tuesday the steepjack pleaded guilty before Justice Roy Adams. This time he was given 60 days.

Rex Harris stood trial in justice court Saturday, charged with failure to have his car under control January 8. He was found guilty. Harris entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Justice Adams March 4. At the trial Harris conducted his own defense. City Attorney O. J. Hood represented the people. Policeman Kenneth Merindorf, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jones, Wellington Smith and Donald Kellogg were prosecution witnesses. The court assessed Harris a fine of $10.00 plus costs of $12.85.

Andrew Bordash of Jackson pleaded guilty before Justice Roy W. Adams in Mason Monday morning to three separate counts—failure to yield, leaving the scene of an accident, and driving with an improper license. Bordash was assessed a fine of $25.00 plus costs of $5.00. The three charges resulted from an accident on the south slope of the hill two miles south of Mason at 1:45 Monday morning. Bordash was driving south, according to City Policeman Kenneth Merindorf who investigated the accident. He was passing a transport truck while going down the hill. Merindorf reported that Bordash crowded a car driven by Julius C. Bielecki of Lansing off the pavement and into a guard rail. Bielecki was driving Fred Wolf's car. Wolf was along. Neither man was hurt. Wolf asked Frank Balduf of Leslie to speed after the driver of the car which caused the wreck. Balduf did, and Bordash returned to the scene. He declared he did not know he had an accident. He was operating the car on a license restricted to operation of a truck.

Leonard Quenby of Holt paid a fine of $75.00 plus costs of $5.65 Wednesday in Judge Adams' court, and was placed on probation for a year. He pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. The charge resulted from a crash Tuesday night at 9:30 on West Columbia near the Michelson-Baker Lumber Company. Albert Price of Mason was the driver of the other car. Price's car was damaged.

MOTORCYCLE RECOVERED

Mrs. S. A. Morrison reported to sheriff's officers Tuesday evening that a motorcycle had been parked back of the Morrison property on South Lansing street, almost over to Jefferson. Officers investigated and learned that the motorcycle had been stolen from John Hughes of Lansing. It had been damaged by the thief and would not run.

Grand Ledge Has Civic Show Plan

A general cross-sectional view of Grand Ledge and a free talent show will be featured in the Junior Chamber of Commerce's first annual exposition, "Know Your Grand Ledge." The two-day free exposition will be shown in the local armory on May 18 and 19.

A group of 44 booths, divided into six classifications, will be in the show. The different divisions include farm implements, civic, building and supply, manufacturing and industry, automotive and retail.

Included in the civic group will be the police and fire departments, churches, city government, national guard and the school system. Each display will show the modern equipment and up to date methods these organizations use to give Grand Ledge a better city.

The talent show is open to anyone in the Grand Ledge area.

Kiwanians Attend Divisional Meet

A. B. Ball, Al Rice, Frank Guerrero, Howard McCowan and Lloyd Doane of the Mason Kiwanis club attended a divisional meeting at the Hart hotel in Battle Creek Monday afternoon and evening. Executives of the 12 clubs in the fifth district conferred with state Kiwanis officers at the meeting.

Ball of the Mason club is lieutenant-governor of the fifth district. He presided at the Battle Creek conference.

Dansville VFW Planning Big Memorial Day Program

Murphy-Evans post 6804 will again sponsor the Memorial Day program at Dansville. It was this organization that revived the custom in 1947 and the interest shown by the public during the past two years has encouraged the veterans to elaborate on their plans for 1949.

Harold Wing, post commander, announced that steps are being taken to make this year's program an all-day affair.

Bob Somers has been appointed general chairman. Serving with him as co-chairmen are Dave and Gilbert Glover, parade; and Bob Curry, sports.

Tentative plans call for the usual parade at 11, the VFW ritual at the cemetery, followed by the address. There will be lunch at one o'clock served by wives of the veterans, then sports events at the school, including a baseball game between the high school team and an opponent to be picked, contests for children and a horseshoe pitching tournament.

Mason Pilot Hurt In Plane Crash Near Fowlerville

Wallace Bailey and Harlan Smith of Mason were in an airplane crash Wednesday night around 8 o'clock when the plane they were piloting from Detroit struck a power line 3 miles south of Fowlerville.

Bailey was the only one hurt. His nose was broken and he received lacerations around the mouth. The plane, a Piper Cub belonged to Harold Jordan and developed engine trouble near Fowlerville, extent of damage to the ship has not yet been determined. It will be returned to the Jewett Airport.

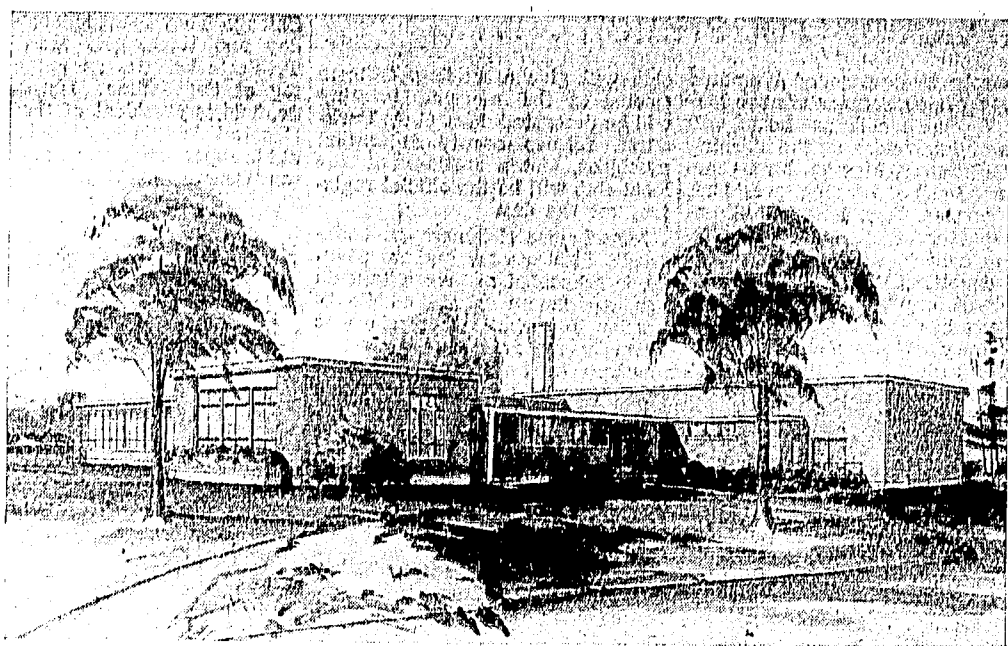

BIG CABLE

Television, American Telephone says, is extended beyond the Mississippi by means of a $12,500,000 coaxial cable connecting the eastern and midwestern networks.

COUNT CROWING COCKS

A substantial increase in the number of crowing cock pheasants in the areas sampled so far this spring is reported by conservation department game survey men. Crews have heard 179 crowing cocks, 70 more than last spring, in nine sample areas in Jackson, Lenawee, Bay and Gratiot counties. In order to get as accurate an estimate as possible, crow counting crews plan to cover up to 37 routes in 29 counties this year.

Second School Election Planned

Pictured is the proposed west side school building which electors turned down last March 23 at a special school election. Voters will have another opportunity, however, on June 6 to express their opinion about the new building at reduced costs.

Three proposals were placed before electors in March. One, to raise the tax limit 14 mills to pay off the bonds had they been approved was carried. There were 300 yes and 277 no votes. A proposal to discontinue the three-mill tax levy was denied. There were 208 votes to rescind with 270 opposed. The specific proposal to issue $200,000 for construction of the school was voted down 281 to 263.

The school board now has $50,000 cash on hand for the building program. The fund has been built up at the rate of $10,000 to $12,000 per year with the levy still having three years to run.

With costs and plans refigured, the building is now proposed for $200,000 net, leaving $150,000 to be raised beyond funds now available. School board officials are suggesting, however, that a bond issue of $125,000 be raised in addition to the $50,000 in the building and site fund and with $25,000 to be transferred from the general fund.

Unless adequate facilities can be found or provided for in a building program, early elementary grades face a half-day schedule for the coming school year, school officials said. The present building was originally designed for about 600 pupils and now is serving twice that number. In 1941 the district turned down a proposal to build an addition to the present school.

Mrs. Louis Sild and Mrs. W. A. Bergin attended a sorority convention in Detroit Saturday. The convention was held at the Book Cadillac hotel.

Battleshaw House Plans Are Mapped

Plans are being drawn for a new house to replace the George Battleshaw house destroyed by fire April 24. Mr. and Mrs. Battleshaw and their six children lost their house on Kelly road and all their possessions in the blaze.

Residents in the Kelly road area have volunteered their labor toward rebuilding the house. The Battleshaws are now residing in a house on College road. They will remain there until the new house is ready for occupancy.

Battleshaw again expressed his gratitude Thursday morning for the kindness and generosity of people who have contributed food, clothing and household equipment. He said that nearly every need was filled.

Fair Board Rents Will Yield $700

Approved by the Ingham county fair board at a meeting in Mason Tuesday night were two leases which will yield the organization $700 a year. Wade Shows has leased the big brick building for winter storage of equipment, the rental to be $500 a year. The road commission has used the building for storage. Now the road commission will use storage space under the grandstand and in the two cow barns, paying the fair board $200 per year.

Secretary Joy O. Davis told the members of the fair board of the rides being operated by the Wade Shows this year. There are 13 rides in all, Davis said. Wade is now operating in Pontiac. He has the midway concession at the Ingham fair.

The rental from Wade is being paid in advance. It is being used to finance the drainage project at the north end of the fairgrounds.

Bright Stars Light Sky in May

Bright stars, gleaming in the night skies, will provide the astronomical attractions during May.

Three of the four brightest stars in the heavens will be on display during a part of each evening, according to Dr. Daniel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan. A glimpse of the elusive planet Mercury also will be possible early in the month.

Sirius, the brightest of all stars, will be visible in the southwest as darkness advances but will set at a fairly early hour. As Sirius fades, however, Arcturus, a bright orange star and the fourth brightest in this hemisphere, will rise steadily in the east. Later in the evening, Vega, the second brightest star visible in this latitude will rise in the northeast.

Another attraction for May will be Antares, a great red giant in the constellation of Scorpius. Antares will be rising in the southeast about two hours after sunset. This star will be easily identified by its color, according to Dr. Losh, since it is one of the reddest in the firmament. It also gains fame since it is one of the largest known stars. Antares' diameter is about three hundred million miles and the Sun and Mars could be placed inside this huge star.

While Saturn will continue to be the most important planet during May, amateur astronomers can get a glimpse of Mercury in the western sky on a few evenings near May 10. Dr. Losh reports. Mercury, which has a steady dull appearance, should put in an appearance as an evening planet about one and a quarter hours after sunset.

Saturn can be easily identified on the evening of May 6 when it will be close to the moon. It is yellow in color and close to the bright star Regulus. In case you look on evenings other than May 6 check the mid-way point in the sky to the south.

The planet Jupiter will be a conspicuous object for late observers or early morning risers. Dr. Losh says. It will rise in the southeast around 2 a. m. at the start of the month and about midnight toward the end. Jupiter will be by far the brightest object in that part of the sky at that time.

The northward journey of the Sun will continue throughout May and the length of the days will have increased to about 15 hours by the end of the month, the Michigan astronomer adds.

Mason Women Bowl Doubles

Wednesday night Mason women bowlers rolled off their high-low doubles. Midst all the heat Bess Strope turned in a high game of 185. Her series was high for the night with a 456. Jean Shinevar had second high series with 448. Her high game was 160.

Millie Pritzel and Pat Roggow turned in a series of 833 including their handicap to take first prize. They won $9. Only eight pins behind were partners Bess Strope and Julia Greys. They series was 830. Prize money for second place was $7.

Third place winners were Beth Millard and Leona Guggenbiller. They were only one pin behind the second place winners with a series of 829. Prize money for these partners was $5.

Fourth place was taken over by Jeannette Cliff and Ruth Ferris. They turned in a series of 798 to win $3.

Fifth place winners were Dot Harris and Kate Rumble. They rolled a series of 784. Prize money for the last place winners was $2.

BRUISED IN FALL
Delbert D. Green of Liberty Center, Ohio, was painfully bruised at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. J. Betcher, Monday night. Green fell down a flight of 14 stairs. He suffered bruises on his head and hip. The Greens moved only last week to Ohio. Green was in Mason on business at the time the accident occurred. He returned to Ohio on Friday.

Hatchery Plantings Ended for April

Advanced spring weather, which lured thousands of fishermen to the state's trout waters for the week end opener also permitted the conservation department to finish the April planting of 238,000 legal-size hatchery fish.

General consensus of reports from department regional offices indicates more fishermen were out, streams normal and clear and mostly fair catches.

Pre-season planting in the upper peninsula included 30,000 brook, 8,000 brown and 7,000 rainbow trout. Waters in the northern half of the lower peninsula received 55,000 brook, 24,000 brown, 48,000 rainbow and 11,000 lake trout. Fish planting crews released 24,000 rainbow, 11,000 brown and 10,000 brook trout in southern Michigan waters.

The conservation department was able to plant a total of 2,435,892 fingerling, sub-legal and legal trout in 1948. Last year the department nearly realized its goal of a million legal-size brook, brown and rainbow trout with 987,682 planted.

Oil Cutback Order Issued

A cutback in oil production in the Deep River field in Arenac county to 60 barrels daily per well is ordered by state supervisor of wells P. J. Hoffmaster, effective May 2. Previous allowable daily production per well was 80 barrels. The order followed a public hearing and meeting of the oil advisory board Friday afternoon.

Daily production per well in the recently opened Isabella field in Isabella county was set at 85 barrels. After hearing evidence, it was decided to take no action to fix allowable production in the Mears field in Oceana county.

Lions Hear Talk On Atomic Era

Dr. Fred Rutthig of Grand Rapids was the guest speaker at Wednesday night meeting of Mason Lions club. He spoke "Living in the Atomic Era." Rutthig is employed parttime in the government in atomic work. He worked both as an engineer and chemist before becoming a physician.

The Lions club is now holding its meetings in the Masonic Temple. The club has one more May meeting and a meeting in June before the summer recess.

Mason Woman's Club to be Hosts To County Federation on May 11

County Federation of Women's clubs spring meeting with the Mason Woman's club as host, will open at ten o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, May 11. Mrs. Clarence Havens of Lansing, president, will preside. Rev. Marshall Simpson, pastor of the Mason Presbyterian church, will lead the opening devotions. The morning session will largely be taken up with election of officers, annual reports of county officers and of the 20 women's clubs of Ingham county. The club will send representatives to this meeting.

A potluck dinner will be served at 12:30 with potatoes and rolls furnished by members of the local club.

A program honoring the tenth anniversary of Hall Memorial library will feature the afternoon meeting. Mrs. A. L. Eichele of Lansing, who led the clubs of the county in their establishment of library service throughout the county, is in charge of this part of the afternoon program. Mrs. Eichele is also historian for the county federation. Mrs. Bertha Edgar, president of the Mason club will give a reading. Officers elected at the morning meeting will be presented. Mrs. C. A. Parkhurst, former county federation president, and a member of the local club will be the official registrars for the day.

Miss Louise Kellenberger, bookmobile librarian for Ingham county, is scheduled to give a talk on her experiences as bookmobile librarian in Hawaii, where she was formerly employed. Special musical numbers will be given by local groups from Mason high school. The boys quartet and the girls trio will each provide special numbers. Herman Bushnell will play selections on his trombone. All musical numbers will be accompanied by Alan Curtis.

Mrs. L. B. Barr and Mrs. Richard Mills will act as general co-chairmen for the day. Mrs. Hugh J. Bartley has been serving as first vice-president of the county federation.

Michigan Motoring
Defective brakes are one of America's greatest causes of traffic accidents! Add to these faulty brakes excessive speed and careless driving... and you'll find a record of tragedy—death!

Every driver has at some time or other had to "slam on the brakes" to avoid hitting a child or animal who has darted in front of your car. Those "close calls" give you a mighty funny feeling, don't they? But, have you ever stopped to think what might have happened if your brakes had not responded the minute you stepped on them? You might have killed that child! ... and it might have been your own!

That's why it's so important to keep your automobile in perfect running condition at all times. That's why, too, police have been checking your brakes and lights. It's a protection for you, the driver, and for your entire family. Take your automobile in for a complete check-up—do it regularly to make sure that you can stop at an instant's notice, if necessary. And... talk about safe cars and careful driving to your friends, your neighbors—make your entire community safety conscious as added protection for your family and your friends. Remember... it might not be your car when your child dashes in front of a car! Make safe driving—and safe cars—"by-words" in your community. Keep Michigan's traffic accident rate down... and do your part to erase those tragic children's deaths from Michigan!

SHORT STORY

The Last Cry
By NORMAN FREILICH

HE STOOD outside his uncle's room, and as he listened for a brief moment to the labored breathing coming from within, his features became distorted by some sinister emotion. For the physical wreck within the room, his uncle stood between him and his inheritance. Only upon Jason Stoneleigh's death would he come into his estate, and only yesterday he learned from Doctor Phelps, his uncle's physician, that old Jason would perhaps live for years. It was then he had made his decision.

Alex clenched his fists as he thought how simple it would be to strangle the old man out of the old man's life.

—but there was an easier way, one which would never throw an inkling of suspicion his way. His uncle kept a loaded gun in his room, eccentric as he was, he lived in fear of his life. He kept only one servant, who would be away today, and there would be away today.

Alex smiled to himself, deeply satisfied with his plan, as he entered the room. He greeted his uncle with robust good cheer, but his uncle, a dark scowl upon his thin bony face, sat in his chair silently. There was no movement in his body.

"Aren't you feeling any better?" he asked with feigned concern, and then the eyes of the two men met, and their glances seemed to sweep aside all pretense between them.

"It's been a long wait, hasn't it, Alex," the old man said with biting contempt, "but I'm afraid it will even be longer. Doctor Phelps has been quite encouraging."

Alex edged toward the desk in which the gun would be. He opened the drawer, felt the brittle coldness of steel. He swept about to Jason Stoneleigh, and the gun was in his hand. "You miserable wretch," he snarled, "I won't have to wait a day longer."

The old man's eyes stared wide with terror. His body did not rise from his seat as though he might be frozen with fear. There was only a pitiful cry: "You'll hang for it, Alex!"

A MOMENT later, with detached calm, Alex wiped the gun clean of his own fingerprints, and then placed the weapon in the murdered man's hand. He took one last glance about the room assuring himself there was no trace of evidence.

He was sleeping soundly that night, happy in the thought that in the morning he would be a wealthy man. But it was almost midnight when he was awakened by the police. He was ordered to get into his clothes at once.

"But I don't understand," he protested, his face white and drawn. Then he succeeded in controlling his fears, realizing, of course, that Panic gripped him and his eyes, wild with sudden fear, turned desperately to Doctor Phelps.

This would be only a routine investigation. Surely nothing could have gone wrong. He hastened into his clothes.

The police drove him to the house of his uncle. It seemed all of them were awaiting him—the state's attorney men, Jason's servant—and in the background—Doctor Phelps.

"I'm here to give you, gentlemen every help," he said, gravely, and the sound of his voice gave him sudden courage. "I'm terribly upset to hear of my uncle's suicide."

"Suicide? You're certain it was suicide?" The question was hurled roughly at him.

Panic gripped him, and his eyes turned desperately to Doctor Phelps. "Surely, Doctor Phelps, you can tell them how absurd it is to think otherwise. You can tell them of my uncle's brooding over his ill-health."

The doctor steepled toward Alex, his face stern, almost menacing. "I can only tell them the truth, Alex—"

"Yes, the truth," Alex pleaded. "Your uncle suffered a stroke a week ago—and the gun which killed Jason Stoneleigh was found in his right hand"—the doctor paused—"and that hand and the whole arm were paralyzed."

Hope Dims for Bright Lights

Hope that Mason's business section would be adequately lighted this year is growing dim.

Six weeks ago Consumers Power company hauled steel poles to Mason for the promised new system. Monday the poles were loaded up and taken to Jackson.

The city council has as yet taken no official action on better street lighting. Off the record, though, aldermen admit that the installation of brighter lights will have to be put off until next year.

The aldermen decided to use the funds which would have had to have been put up for brighter lights up-town to provide more street lights in residential districts.

Ten lights have been installed in residential areas, mostly on the city's outskirts. Installations have been ordered in six others. That appears to be a better deal to the aldermen, and to the residents, too, according to aldermen.

The city officials reported that there has been no load demand for brighter lights up-town. Lights in the residential area cost $23.75 each a year, making an increase of $380.00 a year in the city's light bill. It will cost the city $10.00 less five per cent per year each to switch to the recommended 6,000 lumen up-town lights from the present 2,500. There are 43 boulevard lights in the business section. The changeover would cost $776.15 more than at present. And there is no provision in the budget for such an item, aldermen indicated.

The Consumers Power company agreed to keep the poles in Mason for 30 days while the council reached a decision. The time for decision has expired. However, Consumers officials said they can probably find poles somewhere if the council does decide to install brighter lights in the business section this year.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Ruel Kruse was discharged from the Mason General hospital on Monday afternoon, May 2. She entered the hospital on April 24 and was operated on April 25.

Gloria Burgess was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday, May 3, was operated on by Dr. Reid Duggan.

Mrs. Ellis Haynes returned home Tuesday from the University hospital in Ann Arbor. She had been in the hospital for three weeks.

Mrs. Albert G. Campbell was in the Sparrow hospital in Lansing last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for an operation on her nose.

Larry Snyder was returned to the St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing April 25. He had been discharged from the hospital a couple of days previous, apparently improved from a virus infection. His condition became alarming April 25 and he was taken back to the hospital for further treatment, where he has had two blood transfusions. Larry's condition Thursday morning was reported as improved. He is the 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Snyder.

Earl Whipple entered the Sparrow hospital on Saturday, April 23. His leg, which was injured last year in a wreck, was operated on Wednesday, April 27. Whipple expected to return home either this week end or the forepart of next week.

Mrs. Richard Anderson of Detroit will convalesce at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, this week end. She underwent a major operation at Harper hospital in Detroit, April 26.

An estimated 40,000 gold-seekers crossed the continent to reach California in 1849, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Be Crib Conscious

As Well As Yield
Conscious

Get a crop that's safe to store.

Warmer weather is making many farmers "crib conscious." Corn they thought was dry still is loaded with moisture. Don't take chances with that 1949 corn crop! Protect your crop—protect your profit. Get high yield plus sound, ripe corn by planting the Kings-crost variety recommended for your locality. Kings-crost is famous for dependable maturity—for quick drying of both cob and grain. These features are all-important whether you crib your corn, sell it or apply for government loan.

City Privy Ban Will Be Enforced

Where sanitary sewers are available the use of privies in Mason is banned. That's what the ordinance provides and the city council intends to enforce it, the aldermen agreed Monday night.

The county health department now engaged in a sewer crusade in the Leland metropolitan district, will handle the enforcement in Mason, too, it was learned at the health department offices Wednesday.

Philip Shirley, sanitarian, said he had not received official notice of any Mason violations but would act as soon as notice is received.

Roy Kilpatrick, 354 East South street, informed the council Monday night that the sewer ordinance is not being obeyed in his neighborhood. He explained that the sewer was extended east on East South street two years ago on petition of property owners but that there are eight houses and one home car using privies. There's even one residence where just a hole in the ground is being used, Kilpatrick declared.

Kilpatrick's complaint was referred to the sewer committee.

ONE FEVER CASE

Billy Simpson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Marshall W. Simpson, came down with scarlet fever Sunday. He has the distinction of being the only scarlet fever case in the Mason area, according to the county health department. Under new regulations quarantine is no longer imposed. Mrs. Simpson, who takes care of her son, and Barbara, who shared Billy's room, are not permitted to leave the premises. The Presbyterian pastor and the new baby, Margaret Jean, are free to come and go at will.

Dr. Corsaut Named Chief Surgeon At Berkeley, California, Hospital

Dr. Jay C. Corsaut has been appointed chief surgical resident at the Herriek Memorial hospital, Berkeley, California.

Dr. Corsaut gave up his thriving general practice in Mason two years ago to take graduate work in surgery at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. He has also been on the staff of the Los Angeles County General hospital. He will begin his work at Berkeley July 1.

Berkeley is across the bay from San Francisco and is the home of the University of California. The Herriek Memorial hospital is affiliated with the University of California.

Dr. and Mrs. Corsaut and their three sons will remain in Altadena, a Los Angeles suburb, until school is out in June. They plan to return to Mason for a visit before going to Berkeley. Mrs. Corsaut is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Murdoch of Mason.

Dr. Corsaut built and operated the Corsaut hospital in Mason. The hospital was sold to Dr. George R. Clinton and Dr. William

Dr. Jay C. Corsaut
F. Clark and is now known as the Mason General hospital.

Mason Scout Car To Stay in City

Alderman Gerald Parsons, chairman of the council's police committee, told his colleagues Monday night that hereafter the city police car will be confined to patrols inside the city. The only exception will be the apprehension of city ordinance violators who have to be chased before they submit to arrest.

The issue was brought up by Alderman John Taylor. He declared that Patrolman Kenneth Merindorf had left the city Tuesday morning to handle an accident report two miles south of town. Taylor said sheriff's office records show that on other occasions Merindorf has left the city unguarded to answer sheriff's calls with the city car.

A Chamber of Commerce complaint was also filed. At its April meeting the board of directors forwarded a protest against the council permitting the use of the city car on calls in Leslie, Holt and in rural areas.

Alderman Parsons asserted that on at least one occasion when the city patrol car was answering a county call Deputy Fred Fry of the sheriff's staff took over the patrol of Mason streets.

Chinese Boy of 12 Now Is American

Wing Dot Lum, 12, was naturalized at the naturalization hearing held in circuit court in Lansing Tuesday. His father, Walter Ling Lum of Lansing, was granted American citizenship May 10, 1945, one of the first to be admitted following the repeal of the Oriental exclusion law. The boy is probably the youngest Chinese to be naturalized.

Lansing residents granted citizenship Tuesday included Martin Ingard, Swilard, Steven Hajas, Cornell, Rodolfo Ernesto Mora, Maria Pata, Anthony Temenok, Evanka Ward, Charles Leney Barker, Mary Filice, Wilbert Henry Gibbs, Kenneth Assad, Velud Keriacos, Stewart David Mason and Sylvia Sinder.

There were also nine war brides. They were Phyllis Gertrude Ives, Violet Irene Shaw, Miriam Rebecca Cook, Barbara Elizabeth Bantel, Muriel Murray, Lucy Helen Dora Robinson and Joan Zajac of Lansing, Yvonne Irene Simpson of Leslie and Margaret Burnett Rogers of East Lansing.

Granted repatriation were Lela Cista Patmore, Helen Elizabeth Moeeri and Miriam Osterberg of Lansing and Marjorie Mabel Ashworth and Lila Grace Steenburg, East Lansing.

Council Slows Up On Building Code

Disarding the standard code drawn up by National Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters, the city council Monday night decided to give further study to a building code for Mason. Alderman Gerald L. Parsons, who urged immediate adoption of the national standard Monday night, said adoption of a code should not be hurried.

Alderman Parsons called the national code too restrictive. He declared that such a code in Mason would unduly hamper construction and prove so restrictive that its provisions can not be enforced.

Both Alderman Parsons and City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer recommended a building ordinance patterned after the Williamson building code, which in turn was taken from the Howell code.

Alderman Parsons said the Williamson code is practical and covers almost any situation likely to develop in Mason.

"All I am interested in," declared Alderman Parsons, "is a code which calls for orderly development and provides for safety both as to health and fire."

Parsons, Zimmer and City Attorney O. J. Hood have studied the Williamson code and intend to go over it with building trade contractors before it is presented to the council.

Study has also been given to amendments to the electrical ordinance covering wiring. Alderman Frank Dakin reported. He indicated that amendments to the electrical ordinance may be incorporated in the building code.

At the April 18 council meeting two electricians asked for better protection of contractors under the electrical ordinance.

Aldermen gave the go sign to Merton B. Collins Monday night. He asked for permission to extend his Cedar street building 20 feet to the south, taking it to within two feet of a sidewalk line of Maple street if the street is extended west of Cedar.

Collins told the council that Arthur W. Jewett is holding the lot to the south for possible sale or deeding to the city as an extension of Maple street west through land owned by Jewett.

Alderman Lee Darling announced that he is making a list of sidewalks which need repair or replacement. He will have the list ready by May 16, he said.

If your income from hog production is low, check to see if you are maintaining a thorough sanitation program. It should include clean hog lots, clean pastures, and clean farrowing pens to control round worms and swine diseases.

Plowing Contest

The tractor plowing contest will be Saturday, May 7, on the McCullough farm in Onondaga township. Highlighting the contest will be remarks by Charles Figg, director of the Michigan department of agriculture. Contestants will arrive by 10 in the morning; receive information on plow adjustments by A. J. Bell at 10:30; practice plowing between 11:00 and 12:00. The Farris club will sell lunches at noon. At 12:30 a short program will be held with flag raising; contest explanation; music by the Farris Community High Billy band; and talk by Figg.

4-H Club Variety Show

The 4-H Club Variety show put on last Friday evening in the Legion Memorial building at Mason was a success. The numbers were well received. Scott Hammann as master of ceremonies did a fine job. It is planned to continue with such an event for another year. The 4-H club agreed that several numbers can be used on the radio programs during the coming year. The committee will clear around $75 after all expenses are paid.

Milk Producers Trip

Three 4-H club members went to Detroit to visit the Michigan Milk Producers' association Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. The members attending were Gordon Monroe of Vantown, LeRoy Soule of Dansville and Darwin Downey of Haslett. The boys were driven down by Wilbur Singer, leader of the Dansville club. Thursday morning the boys visited Marshall Wells' program on WJR. They visited Twin Pines dairy farm during the morning and attended the big league baseball game in the afternoon. From the boys making this trip, three will be chosen for the trip to the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress next fall.

Church Service Planned

Club Go-to-Church Sunday has been set for May 22. Church organizations throughout the country will unite in observing Rural Life Sunday or 4-H club Sunday on that day. Since its beginning nearly two decades ago the observance of 4-H club Sunday has become increasingly significant in the 4-H club program. This year the theme will be "Better Living for a Better World." Many of the rural churches will invite 4-H club members and leaders to participate in some part of the church service.

Barn Dance June 9

The 4-H Club Council and 4-H Service club are planning a joint barn dance to be held at the Jackson farm on the evening of June 9. The overall planning committee has already met. This consists of Jerry and Joyce Jason, Mrs. Roland Frost, James Frost, Bernard Simons and Mrs. Isabella Rabidoux. A similar dance was held last year by this group which was a great success and big plans are being made for this year's dance. Committee chairmen are as follows: Preparation stand, Edward Simons; parking, Wayland Jason; tickets, William Black; refreshments, Mrs. Isabella Rabidoux; and advertising, Mrs. Jason and M. H. Avery. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Nick and Her Cornhuskers.

Gretton

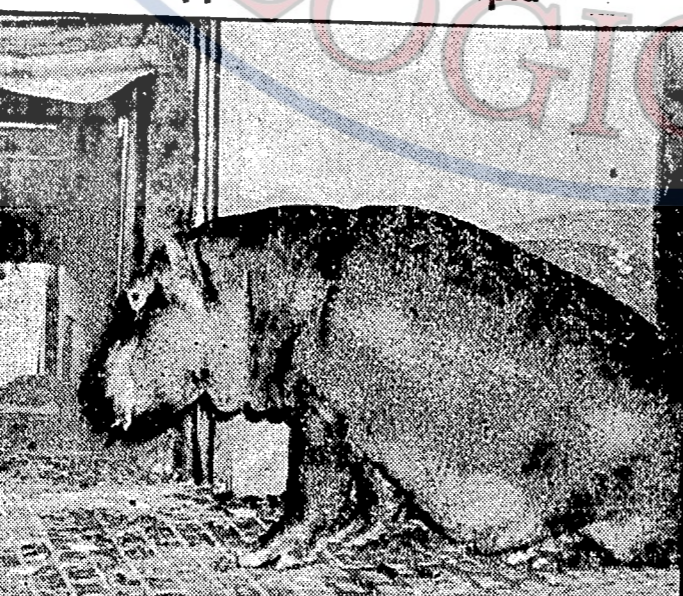

At the Tuesday night meeting of the Gretton 4-H club Raymond Bodell, president of the club, called the meeting to order. The secretary's report was read and approved. William Fanson, leader of the club, appointed the following committees: Charles Dalbec, music; and Barbara Krey, parties. Booklets relative to club projects were given out.

White Oak

White Oak 4-H club members met at the home of Harold and Darwin Shearhead on Tuesday, May 3. A weiner roast was a feature of the evening.

Hippo Sneers at Cupid

There's bait in the crate, but Bubbles, two-year-old hippopotamus at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, stages a sitdown strike. A mixture of alfalfa, crushed oats, bran, chopped apples and carrots, flavored with five cloves of her favorite garlic, failed to lure the 1800-pound female into the crate for shipment to Columbus, O., where Pete, a lonely male hippo, is awaiting her arrival.

Blueboard's Bet

By Lillace M. Mitchell

"THEY'RE all curious," insisted Arthur Jordan. "There never lived a woman who wasn't 99-44/100 per cent curiosity. I could quote you a dozen bills of poetry proving the fact."

"For goodness' sake, don't!" urged Clem Tate. "I'll take your word for it. Honestly, But Elsie isn't that way. I'm telling you."

"You're the kind that would never be happy with your wife asking you this and looking over mail and reading about in your desk when you're out of the house. I know you."

"Don't speak of Elsie Lyons as 'rooting', if you please," Clem Tate said coldly. "I'll tell you what, I'll look the office door and give her the key since you mention Blueboard."

"I'll keep the key of the corridor door, however, and we'll come in again and sit here. I'll tell her not to use that key at all. See? Then if she is as curious as you say, she'll come bouncing in a la Made-moiselle Blueboard or whatever her name was and we'll be sitting right inside here."

"O.K. with me," said Arthur Jordan. "She'll be in here and don't you forget I told you so. I'd as soon have a homelier girl and one who wasn't so careless anyhow. She's decorative but she'd forget her head if it weren't for the curls there."

Now Elsie Lyons was pretty. She knew that fact as well as anyone else. Pluffy golden hair framed a heart-shaped face with a pointed chin below a widow's peak of hair at the upper edge. Her great grey eyes turned to pansy-color at times. But looks and business efficiency do not always go hand in hand unfortunately and Elsie ran about ninety-nine and forty-four one-hundredths per cent efficiency.

"I am locking the door to the private office, Miss Lyons," said Clem Tate distinctly. "I want no one to go in there. No one. Is that clear, Miss Lyons. Here is the key."

"Certainly, Mr. Tate," she said demurely, placing the key in her desk drawer.

The two young men walked resolutely into the outer corridor and the outside door swung too gently behind them.

"Well, Blueboard, how about it?" asked Jordan when he put the key into the door to the private office. As the door swung open they both looked in eagerly. They heard the telephone in the outer office. Silently they sat down and Jordan gave his partner a poke in the ribs when Clem Tate looked too triumphant as the moments passed.

AT THE END of a half hour Clem Tate rose to his feet. Jordan followed him and they made their way silently into the outer corridor again.

"Well, was I right, Jordan?" asked Clem.

"You win, Blueboard—er, I mean, non-Blueboard," said Jordan. "Say, I've got to have a breath of air after that self-imposed silence. I think maybe we both like talking a little better than we thought we did. I had a thousand things I wanted to tell you while we sat here. But as for your charming little Elsie, she's the real thing all right, all right. Never even clicked the key in the lock, did she? Or looked through the key-hole at us?"

Jordan ambled towards the elevators with a wave of his hand. Clem Tate stood an instant at the outer door and then entered the suite of offices. He hurried through to the door of the private office and tried the knob.

"Oh—" he said. "Miss Lyons, I forgot that this door is locked. Let me have the key, will you, please?"

"I'm sorry, Mr. Tate. But I simply can't think what I did with that key. There was a telephone call the moment you left and I looked for the key so that I could—could—lay the message on your desk."

"But I said not to go in," she laughed gently. Dimples peeped in and out charmingly. She bent again and then with a sigh she murmured: "Oh! Here it is! I'm so careless!"

Topping-Miller Rites Solemnized Sunday Afternoon

A pretty spring wedding was solemnized Sunday afternoon, May 1, at two o'clock in the Presbyterian church of Stockbridge when Joan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ployd W. Miller and Gordon Topping, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Topping, were united in marriage.

Rev. Shannon Griffith of Jackson officiated. The single ring service was performed before the altar, decorated with baskets of white stock and lighted candles, in the presence of 200 relatives and friends.

Mrs. Marjorie Batchelor presided at the Hamilton organ and played traditional wedding music. She also accompanied Harry Lossey, an uncle of the bride, of Ypsilanti, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Joan was attired in a gown of white satin and lace, with a train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a Juliet cap. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses with a pullout corsage.

The maid of honor was Hester Topping, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a gown of blue tulle and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. Bridesmaid was Eleanor Topping, sister of the bridegroom, and junior bridesmaid was Joan Lossey, cousin of the bride. They wore yellow tulle gowns, and carried white daisies. Harry Lossey, as flower girl, was dressed in a long blue tulle dress, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas.

Edwin Brenner of Gregory was best man. Ushers were Douglas McKim and Norman Miller. Both mothers were dressed in navy blue. They wore corsages of pink carnations.

A reception for 200 guests followed the ceremony at the Miller farm home on Dexter Trail. A four-tiered wedding cake centered the table. Mrs. Roy Lossey, grandmother of the bride, poured. An aunt of the bride, Mrs. Harry Lossey, cut the cake. Betty Tupper had charge of the guest book.

For a trip to Wisconsin, the bride wore a navy blue suit, pink hat, and a pullout corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Topping are graduates of Stockbridge high school. They will reside in their new home on the Topping farm. Guests were present from Rodney, Ontario; Detroit; Jackson, Plymouth, Dearborn, Wayne, South Lyons and Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Charles Boylan has been ill. Her sister, Mrs. Maud Malcho of Jackson, has been caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Stanfield and children attended church in Lansing Sunday and heard Rev. Ralph Reed, a former pastor of Waterloo.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Livermore have been visiting in New Haven. Mr. and Mrs. Harley Miller of Pontiac were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Collins and Herbert Collins Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barbour and son were in Pontiac Sunday. Mrs. Leone Felton spent the week end in Ann Arbor. On Sunday she visited Mrs. Fred Walcott, who she hadn't seen for 30 years.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Culver attended the Jackson county medical banquet at Hotel Hayes last Thursday evening. Dr. Bradley of the Peoples church of Chicago was the guest speaker.

Spring Concert Is Thursday

Junior and senior high school music departments will present the annual spring concert Thursday evening of this week at the high school. The concert, which is open to the public, will begin at eight o'clock. Appearing on the program will be the band, junior high chorus, instrumental quartet, instrumental duet, girls glee club and boys glee club. Jack Richmond, David Whitehead and Dennis Collier have solo parts in the concert.

Mrs. Behner Dies Of Heart Attack

Mrs. Flora Behner, 70, wife of the pastor of the Stockbridge Presbyterian church, died at 10:55 Saturday evening at Ponce hospital, Jackson. She suffered a heart attack while attending the High Twelve club ladies night with Dr. Behner in the Osego hotel Friday evening.

Mrs. Behner was a past president of the Wisconsin and West Virginia Synodical societies and a member of the Stockbridge Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. F. G. Behner; a son, Fred, Jr., of Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. David Christopher of Morgantown, West Virginia; and Mrs. George Wickey of Detroit; five grandchildren; and a brother, Irvin Dreisbach of Lorain, Ohio.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the Presbyterian church at Stockbridge. Rev. Shannon Griffith of Jackson officiated. Burial was in Roselawn at Monroe.

Girl Scouts Honor Dads
Last Sunday morning 700 dads and daughters were served their annual Girl Scout breakfast, at Camp O' the Hills at Wampers Lake. It took 105 dozen eggs, 108 quarts of milk, 41 pounds of ham, 92 dozen sweet rolls and 20 gallons of tomato juice to feed the crowd. Stockbridge was represented by 18 girls and 14 dads. The trip was sponsored by the Child Study club.

Mrs. Emma Dickinson and Herbert and Merry Runk were in Jackson Sunday. Mrs. Dickinson saw three of her grandchildren baptized at the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

Peter Nicholson of Grand Rapids visited his cousin, Mrs. Gail Grant, Saturday. On Sunday guests of Mrs. Grant were her nephew, Russell Smith, and son, Coral, of Monroe.

May 5 and 6 will be clean up days in Stockbridge. Rubbish, in containers by the street, will be picked up.

The Women's Guild of the Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Eloise Hutson last Wednesday. Mrs. Hutson was assisted by Marion Mason and Emma Rowland. After the business meeting, conducted by Gladys Wright, Daisy Hardt gave a book review on Hawaii. A plant exchange was held, and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Dora Hall entertained the Ladies Bridge club last Tuesday. Honors were won by Lorna Wasson, Daisy Dancer and Peg Longnecker.

Harold Lantis and A. E. Shellenbarger spent the week end trout fishing near Waters. They made the trip by plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Ashmore have been visiting their granddaughter and family at Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie of South Bend, Indiana, brought Mrs. James Fall to visit her daughter, Mrs. Harry Haselby, and family Sunday.

the
Nomad

After listening to a news broadcast, expressed himself thus:

Now it happened in ancient Arabia that two of Sheikh Ahmed's warriors sought to settle a quarrel through duelling. The Sheikh, coming upon them as they were about to fight, said: "I shall make the rules for this contest. Draw away from each other fifteen paces and fight from these positions." "We hear and obey," said his men. But being thus far apart, their swinging scimitars only swished harmlessly through the air. When the contestants pointed out to the Sheikh that such fighting came to nothing, the Sheikh replied: "By Allah, were you closer together both might come to naught—which is zero. Now sheathe thy scimitars for I have heard the reasons for thy argument, and each is wrong." Then did the Sheikh tell them wherein each erred, whereas the contestants were glad to be alive and unharmed. So they embraced and said one to the other: "Es salamu aleikum," which is to say, "Peace be with you."

"Too bad," remarked Hafala, "that our international scimitars we can't find an arfiter like Ahmed."

Five-Point Program Outlined To Master National Debt

A STIFF dose of sound American common sense is needed for successful management of the burdensome national debt and this can be translated into a five-point program for action, the Committee on Public Debt Policy has concluded after a three-year study of the problem.

The five basic steps recommended by the Committee are: (1) Control the budget; (2) reduce the debt; (3) distribute the debt more widely; (4) restore flexible interest rates; (5) nourish a dynamic economy.

Two recent economic developments are noted by the Committee: (1) the country's economy, measured in dollars, has been catching up with the wartime increase in the money supply and (2) inflationary pressures are weakening. "If the inflation peak proves to have been passed, deflationary policies to force reduction in the money supply would be a mistake," the Committee states.

"This country has the power, if wisely used, to meet its foreign and domestic obligations and at the same time master the debt," the Committee concludes. "The American people have time and again shown their ability and willingness to overcome difficulties if they understand what has to be done."

Against unfavorable events in the national debt picture, the Committee sees a brighter side. "First, out of an inflated national income the nation has made a beginning at reducing the debt. It has been seven down from 279 billions to 252 billions. Part of this was simply new accumulated balances to pay off debt. But the rest of it has been the solid excess of government receipts over expenditures."

"The country's economy has come through the first postwar adjustment with far better production and employment than was expected. Our industrial machine turned promptly from war to peacetime output and has raised our standards of living to new heights. In addition, we have fed other countries from our surplus."

Carrying out a comprehensive program to control the national debt will be neither easy nor popular, according to the Committee which has reviewed, revised and coordinated the findings of seven studies dealing with various phases of the question. These studies have been put together in a new book "Our National Debt—Its History and Its Meaning Today."

Explains Poppy Sale
Say a prayer when you wear a poppy.

There were days when America was in danger—when everything for which America stands was threatened.

To meet this peril, to keep the devastation of war away from American shores, our country twice called upon the best of its young manhood to face the enemy on distant battlefields.

The memory of their service and sacrifice is among America's most precious possessions. Each year we of the American Legion and Auxiliary keep that memory bright by bringing to the people of America our memorial poppies.

Each year on Poppy Day we ask that the American people remember, too, the disabled veterans and the needy children of men who fought in the two World Wars. In our poppy we have a high trust.

We have been entrusted with the mission of maintaining in all of its inspiring force America's memory of its war dead.

We have been entrusted with the responsibility of bringing to all Americans an opportunity to make individual contributions to the welfare of the war's living victims. To fulfill this trust we have only two days, May 27 and 28.

Remembering those who gave their lives, we will gladly give this day of service with our poppies for America.

"The Veteran's sacrifice meant security for you. Wear his poppy."

Audrey Snider to Wed May 21

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Snider announce the engagement of their daughter, Audrey, to Robert Starr, son of Mrs. Fannie Starr.

Wedding vows will be repeated on Saturday, May 21, at St. Mary's cathedral in Lansing. Father Charles Keating will perform the ceremony.

Both Bob and Audrey were graduated from Mason high school. During the war, Bob was in the army air corps. At the present time he is instructor at the Fowlerville airport and owner of the Starr Duster Service. Miss Snider is employed at Schmidt's Department Store.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will make their home on the Francis Burgess farm, located on West Columbia road.

Married Sunday in Grand Rapids

Miss Rosalie Neal and Floyd S. Bowen, Jr., exchanged wedding vows Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at Grand Rapids. Rev. Clarence Lawton, a former pastor of the Mason Baptist church, read the single ring service at the Burton Heights Baptist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neal are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Bowen, Sr.

Accompanying the couple to Grand Rapids were their attendants, Joan Lear and William Hamilton, and the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom.

For her marriage, the bride chose a white street-length dress fashioned with scalloped neckline, capped sleeves and full skirt. Green accessories completed the bridal costume. Her shoulder corsage was made of yellow roses, buds, pink sweet peas and yellow daffodils.

Miss Lear, as maid of honor, was attired in a green and black print street-length frock. Her accessories were white. She wore a shoulder corsage made similar to the bride's.

Mrs. Neal selected a black dress, accented with gray accessories, for her daughter's marriage. Mrs. and Mrs. Bowen chose a light green frock and white accessories for the occasion.

The newlyweds are making their home at 144 1/2 North Jefferson street. The bridegroom is employed at the Crown Service Station in Lansing. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bowen attended Mason high school.

'Homemakers Are World Builders' Theme of State PTA Convention

Mrs. Pauline Fellows was the Mason delegate to the State P. T. A. convention at Escanaba. The convention was held last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. "Homemakers Are World Builders" was the theme of the convention and the theme adopted for the coming year.

Highlights of the three-day convention were talks by Mrs. Kathleen Lardie of Detroit and Knox Walker, National P. T. A. vice president of Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Lardie, manager of radio station WTTT and supervisor of radio in Detroit public schools, talked on "Our Responsibility in the Building of the Peace." Walker selected as his topic the program theme, "Homemakers Are World Builders."

The final conclusion of the 1250 convention delegates was that the homemakers can help to create the better world builders.

Elementary grade children of Escanaba schools presented a choral poem, "And No One Asked," at the first general meeting. The Escanaba high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Clara Somers, a former Mason school teacher, entertained at the general meetings.

Forty-four members of the senior and sophomore English classes attended "Hamlet," starring Lawrence Olivier at the Gladmore theatre Friday afternoon. The school furnished transportation by bus.

The school cafeteria will be closed after May 13.

A senior class meeting was held Wednesday afternoon. Suppl. James Vander Ven spoke to the class conveying the message of the board of education that commencement could be held on Athletic field if the class so desired. It was voted by the class to have commencement outside with an alternate plan for the auditorium in case of rain. It was also voted to have baccalaureate in a church instead of having it in the school auditorium as originally planned. A committee for the senior breakfast was chosen with Nancy Johnson as chairman and Nancy Spenny and Arlene Crosby serving as her helpers. The schedule for the senior class at present is: May 22-23, senior trip; May 27, junior-senior reception; May 29, baccalaureate; May 31, senior breakfast and class night; and June 2, commencement. On May 16 there will be a College club tea for all the senior girls.

In the first grade room taught by Mrs. Caroline Ragatz, the children are preparing for a Mother's Day program being held on Friday. There are many wild flower bouquets in the room. The first graders taught by Miss LaVeda Box will have their Mother's Day program Thursday.

Mrs. Donald Edgington's second graders made a trip to the county library Monday. Miss Dorothy Rozek told stories to the children and showed them how new books were placed and old ones repaired. The children are preparing a Mother's Day program for Friday. Second graders in the room taught by Mrs. Elmer Seitz have made a weather chart. Spring flowers are the room decorations this week.

The third graders in Miss Marian Rathbone's room are learning to divide in arithmetic class. They are also studying some common wild flowers for social studies.

Miss Phyllis Eyrum's third graders are enjoying a circus unit. The children have made clowns, circus posters and a circus parade. Stories from the book, "More Streets and Roads," are being reviewed. In arithmetic class the children are learning short division.

Stratocruiser on the Scales

Too large to be weighed on a single scale, this Boeing Stratocruiser is balanced on three—one under the nose, and two at the wing-roots. The plane's wheels are a scant inch off the floor of this building at Boeing's Seattle, Wash., headquarters. By adding the figures registered on each of the three scales, the total weight of the plane—71 tons—is computed.

Gunning for Chimp-ionship

Baseball gets its share of monkey business as these chimps try to become champs. Considering their arboreal past, it's doubtful if they'll ever get out of the bush leagues, but umpire Nero and catcher Tommy strike near-professional poses as batter Cookie correctly terms the pitcher a "big baboon."

Construction Started On Masonic Temple

The basement of a $40,000 two-story cinder block structure has been excavated on North Cedar street for the new Masonic Temple. Directing development of the Temple is an association, which has been incorporated. George Thompson, active in all Masonic programs, is president of the association.

Plans are for a basement under only part of the building, which is to be 52 ft. by 136 ft. There is to be a bowling alley on the ground floor, with the lodge hall and offices on the second floor. The bowling alley is planned to help finance the cost of erecting the Temple.

Building plans are to have the basement and first floor completed by fall. The bowling alley will start operation in the fall.

The site for the Temple was obtained about five years ago. Serving with Thompson on the building committee are Maynard Gates and Craig MacKay.

Merchants Will Clash With Okemos at Mason on Monday

While the Tri-County league baseball season will not officially open until May 22, Mason merchants and Okemos are billed for a pre-season clash at Mason Sunday. The game will be played on the county park diamond, beginning at 2:15.

Dick Corbin and Norm Rector will share mound duties for Mason with Dick Batcher behind the plate. Who plays where in the infield and outer garden depends on showings made in practice sessions this week.

In last Sunday's initial workout last year's veterans served notices they will be hard to displace. Dick Batcher, Don McDowell, Norm Rector, Chick Seelye, Mike and Ralph Simons and Dick Corbin were hitting the ball hard and often. From the balance of the present squad of 21 four or five new men will likely be selected to complete the Mason roster. Munger Fred Silsby pointed out that no decision on the final roster is expected until after the final practice game May 15.

Five of the most promising of the new men will be given chances to play against the strong Okemos team Sunday.

Farm Bond Drive Starts May 16

"Put more opportunity in your future by planting your dollars in the crop that never fails—the United States Savings Bond."

That's the slogan and advice of "Opportunity Drive" scheduled for May 16 through June 30 and, according to Ralph Glynn, chairman of the Ingham county AAA committee, it's good advice to consider.

The Treasury department points out that building a financial reserve when incomes are relatively good will help to cushion any drop in prices that may come later. Because farming is a highly speculative business, farmers need to have their financial reserves in the safest possible form and where they will be readily available—in United States Savings Bonds.

Bonds are safe because if they are lost, stolen or destroyed they can be replaced, Glynn said, and they bear interest at a good rate.

DETROIT—Here's a new adjustable seat cushion that spells good driving news. It eliminates slump, sag and over-the-dashboard peer. This new aid to extra-short or extra-heavy drivers is Select-O-Seat, designed by L. A. Young Spring and Wire Corp., engineers here. It provides places in the seat springs for inserting extra coil-spring segments to compensate for extra weight. The fill-in job can be done in a few minutes by the car dealer's service men.

Several makes of 1949 cars carry this new-type cushion as regular equipment. As factory-installed, the cushion should satisfy most car buyers, but additional coil springs for adjustment can be had from the dealer.

Upper left picture shows couple sitting on a Select-O-Seat before proper adjustment for their weights. The man sinks deep in the cushion, throwing his higher companion off balance. Upper right shows the pleasant effect when extra springs have been inserted—and equilibrium restored. Note that the head of the "driver" has been raised up to the white line indicating proper height for full view of the road. In the lower picture a service man shows how extra coil springs, each out-distributing the upholstery.

Bus Line Evidence Doesn't Alter Rule

Application for American Bus Lines, Inc. for a route between Bay City and the Ohio state line is back in circuit court hands after the public service commission upheld a previous order granting the franchise.

The commission made only a slight change in its previous order after studying the 3,100 pages of testimony taken in the month-long circuit court appeal from its decision made by Greyhound Bus Lines, Inc.

Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash can either uphold or disapprove the new commission order. Whatever his decision, attorneys for American Bus Lines and for Greyhound, which is seeking to prevent the company from operating in Michigan, have indicated they will appeal to the state supreme court.

No immediate decision is expected.

The only change in the new commission order was an extension of the Detroit area region in which American Bus Lines is forbidden to provide local service by about five miles to the north of the city and approximately three miles south of Detroit.

It happens that Edgar A. ("Eddie") Guest and I had the same humble working start; we both were "sodas" in drugstores. (I like to think that it is only because he had a dozen years' start on me that he has gone so much further.)

Born in Birmingham, England, Edgar Guest came to Detroit as a boy, and worked at various jobs besides the drugstore detail. In 1895 he became office boy at the Detroit Free Press at which paper he still may be found. He "flashed rapidly" some doing a column of whimsy and verse. Did I say "verse"? Yes, his books have outsold the works of any other American poet by thousands, and his very human writings are known in every home.

But you do not know all that is in "Eddie's" verses until you hear him recite them in one of his many public appearances. He just starts to talk to you. Presently you realize that which is given with such natural dramatic appeal and sincerity that it catches all of your emotions. He wins you forever. And when you know kindly Edgar Guest, you understand why he has so many hundreds of friends to the newswoman on the corner to many of our greatest national personages.

SHORT STORY

Dancing Shoes

By CHARLES DORIAN

WHILE a vast throng of theatre-goers passed through the exits of the Orpheum, the beautiful blonde attraction left quietly by the stage door on the arm of her most ardent admirer, the owner of the theatre and string of others.

At the curb stood Max Berber's limousine, and just ahead of it, a taxi. Four maudlin "Collegians" leaving a sing-song, obstructed the entrance to Berber's car, but made way while the lady stepped in. Then suddenly three of them gave the Berber the bum's rush, while the fourth clambered in beside Paula Paulsen, tap dancer extraordinary. Max spluttered and fumed while the three kidded him. A letter was pressed into his clenching fist and his car keys were frisked from him. The taxi jumped forward, and in a moment was followed by the limousine carrying the dancer and four members of the notorious Scarlet Gang in evening clothes and top hats, still simulating drunken collegians, singing to drown out the cries of the distressed dancer.

In the Holland Tunnel the sing-song ceased and one of the gang said to the girl:

"This is something new in kid-naps, sister. We're all jolly good fellows, members of a theatrical troupe (to the general public). But don't get us wrong. We'd rub you out as quick as any Broadway mug if you failed for a minute to join the spirit of our little game. Your big boy has just read our demands in a note left with him."

"I'll pay you," chattered the little dancer. "Please—my contract. I must dance every night."

THE CAR sped along for thirty miles and turned into a narrow road. License plates were switched and another fifty miles sped by. They stopped at a railroad village and parked the car on a side street. They changed their tops for peak caps and entered the railroad station.

"Oh, you're the troupe from the opera house," grinned the operator. "Thought there was two girls in the party."

"One of us is a female impersonator, haw! haw!" laughed the spokesman. The operator laughed too, and began stamping the tickets. "Train's not due for thirty minutes yet," he apologized.

"O.K. brother, we'll put on a little show while we're waiting." He strode over to Paula. "Smile, sister, SMILE," he hissed, and out loud. "Come on, Sally Rand, give the gentleman your best imitation of a fan dance."

Paula was ready to faint but entered into the game by dancing a

Schedule Flower Show

Holt Garden club met with Mrs. Nora DeLashmunt Tuesday, instead of Mrs. Nelly Russell as was scheduled, on account of Mrs. Russell's illness. Regular business was transacted with the president, Mary Dixon, in charge. Mrs. DeLashmunt was appointed to send cards to all mothers in this locality who are over 70 years of age for Mother's Day. The president and vice president, Mrs. Ethel Neuffer, will attend the State Federation of Garden Clubs held in Detroit, May 13 and 14. After the business meeting, a picnic luncheon was held in the woods, which was catered with spring flowers. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ersel Trescott, with the members having a flower show. Mrs. Edward Boettcher will arrange for an out of town judge. Mrs. Ethel Neuffer will be chairman of the displays and arrangements.

PTA To Install Officers
Holt P. T. A. will hold its next regular meeting Monday night, May 9, at 6:30 in the home economics room, with a bohemian supper. All committee members are asked to be present to give their yearly reports. The new officers for the year 1949 and 1950 will be installed. Small group discussions will be used for the purpose of evaluating a new plan for meetings next year. A few of the topics hoped to be covered are the community recreation and social life

This is the table which is being given such wide publicity. A second look shows the fallacy of it. The chart is not designed to show the number of alcoholics but only the alcoholics who entered the Keeley Institute for treatment. The chart therefore could just as well prove that farmers lead all the other occupations in a desire to be cured of alcoholism, and that might be right.

The Keeley Institute at Dwight, Illinois, found little business during prohibition. With repeal, a lot of new customers were made. From 1930 to 1948 there were 13,471 patients treated. Of them, 1,553 were farmers.

Legislature Not Delivering Governor's Promised Reforms

By Gene Atteman
(Michigan Press Association)

"When I get through at Lansing, I trust no one will say, 'Williams slept here.'"

C. Mennen Williams, Michigan's youthful governor and Democratic protégé of former Governor Frank Murphy, tossed off the words crisply.

The newspaper editors laughed heartily. The governor was appearing at their traditional "State of Michigan Press Conference" to answer written questions. The moderator, Senator Don VanderWerp of Fremont, had previously introduced State Treasurer D. Hale Brake with a humorous reference to Brake's boyhood days in Newaygo county. Fremont could well put up a monument, "Hale Brake Slept Here," said VanderWerp. All this happened in January, 1949.

The state legislature has two weeks left before adjournment May 20.

Many weeks have gone by since Governor Williams presented his program of social reform. He had proposed public housing, liberal workers' compensation benefits and extension of medical care and disability payments. "Injured workers should be allowed medical care as long as necessary."

Unemployment should be increased, and coverage should be extended to all employers and employees. (Now limited to eight or more.) Also fair employment practice law modeled after the New York statute.

More state aid for higher education and for vocational education. Old age assistance benefits should be increased from $50 to $60 monthly maximum. Michigan farm produce would be offered to consumers with a "Michigan Seal of Quality" supported by strict grading and marketing research.

Stream pollution laws would be tightened, and money provided whereby state institutions might eliminate pollution of public waters.

To finance all this and to bridge the growing gap in the treasury caused by sales tax diversion, Governor Williams proposed a tax on corporation profits. He condemned Michigan's present tax system as "soaking the consumer."

What does Governor Williams think now—four months after his inauguration—about all this? At a luncheon of the Detroit Economics club, he panned the legislature for shelving much of his program. "We are like a bunch of crows flapping over the carcass of the past when we ought to be eagles soaring to meet new horizons," he declared. Michigan's state government was "10 years behind the times."

The state's labor legislation, he said, was inadequate. The legislature, controlled by the Republican party, was obstructing progress. And so on.

There was a strong note of frustration in Governor Williams' words. If he had once hoped to accomplish these reforms through bi-partisan action, now he was in doubt.

Prior to the spring election, Governor Williams had urged the voters to make a clear-cut choice between the Republican record of "inaction" and the Democratic path to social justice. The April verdict, a whopping victory for the G. O. P., was a "disappointment" to Williams. He continued to insist that his November victory was a popular mandate for his spending program.

In the meantime, Republican leaders are seeking to transform parts of Williams' proposals into G. O. P. accomplishments, while avoiding imposition of new or higher taxes for state needs. Economy and revenue adjustments would plug the major part of the deficit.

If the state incurs a deficit—as seems inevitable in view of the 78 per cent car-marking of state sales tax revenue—Governor Williams is likely to blame the legislature for it.

Does Williams hope to win reelection in 1950 by taking a cue from President Truman's successful attacks on the 80th "do-nothing" Congress?

Kim Sigler criticized the 1947-1948 legislature for blocking his program of centralized streamlining of state government. In 1949 Governor Williams is also critical. His reference to "a bunch of crows" reveals his impatience.

In a few weeks the legislature's record will be written.

Musical Comedy Stars Make Merry In 'Take Me Out to the Ball Game'

Frank Sinatra, Esther Williams, Gene Kelly, Betty Garrett, Richard Arnold, Judy Hunsdin, Richard Lane and Tom Dugan—it hardly seems plausible, but there they are, all in one show. And what a show—"Take Me Out to the Ball Game," in technicolor. It is coming to the Fox Sunday and Monday.

It's a nostalgic, romantic, mirthful story built around the song and dance team of Sinatra and Kelly. The picture is bright and buoyant all the way.

Sonja Henie at Fox
On Thursday and Friday nights of this week Sonja Henie is appearing in "The Countess of Monte Cristo." Sonja has a new leading man who's a skating star in his own right. He is Michael Kirby.

In the picture Sonja plays a Norwegian would-be actress who turns up at a resort hotel impersonating a countess. Kirby portrays a lieutenant, the skating sweetheart of the countess.

Double Feature Saturday
Two big hits, "Smart Woman" and "Challenge of the Range" are booked for Saturday night entertainment at the Mason playhouse.

Brian Aherne, Constance Bennett and Barry Sullivan play the leads in "Smart Woman." This is a screen story which tells of the conflict between a man and woman in love, who find themselves forced to take opposite sides in the fight to rid a big city of its corrupt civic administration. Miss Bennett appears in the title role, a woman criminal attorney represented by circumstances which force her to take on the defense of racketeers. Brian Aherne portrays the man she loves, a special prosecutor appointed by his governor to fight the community's hoodlum element.

Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette star in "Challenge of the Range" stars

nette. The film depicts stirring days in the Old West.

A Western Epic
Next Tuesday and Wednesday one of the top screen attractions, "Red River," will be at the Fox.

John Wayne and Montgomery Clift have leading roles.

Movie fans who like their film fare set against the great outdoors can't afford to miss Howard Hawks' great western. The film is packed with action, colorful characterizations and suspense-packed drama.

John Wayne, whose name at once arouses thoughts of a rugged and vital personality, plays to the hilt the heroic role of Thomas Dunson, a romantic character whose dream of building a cattle empire in the great Southwest forms the nucleus of the film's story.

Young Montgomery Clift, as his adopted son, Matthew Garth, also turns in a performance that is as brilliant as it is different. Clift, who made a hit on the Broadway stage, is a comparative newcomer to films. His one prior appearance, in "The Search," a film made in Europe, earned for him the plaudits of both discerning critics and public alike.

Co-starred with Wayne and Clift are Walter Brennan, playing one of those delightful, craggy characters he has made famous, and a lovely young star named Joanne Dru, who has already made her mark in Hollywood.

"Red River" is a Western saga adapted from Elmer Chase's exciting Saturday Evening Post 5-part serial, "The Chisholm Trail." Chase also wrote the script in collaboration with Charles Schnee. The story tells of Thomas Dunson's safari from Texas to Kansas, as the head of a group of over 500 cowboys who are bringing north a herd of cattle, numbering in the thousands, to what they trust will be a railroad, thus opening up the entire market of the east to Texas cattlemen.

The trip is fraught with danger, including an Indian attack, a cattle stampede, and the hazardous crossing of the famous Red River by men, horses and cattle.

Something New on Screen
Something new in films and film heroes comes to the screen in "The Secret Land," attraction at the Fox Thursday and Friday of next week.

In contrast to the usual celluloid hero—six-foot and over, handsome and romantic—the hero of the new technicolor film is squat, as broad in the beam as in height, snub-nosed, and with a slow plodding pace not calculated to make the ladies swoon.

Such is the hero of "The Secret Land," the official U. S. Navy film of its 1946-47 South Pole expedition, now released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with a spine-tingling narration by Robert Montgomery, Robert Taylor and Van Heflin.

Our unusual hero, moreover, has an unusual name, Northwind. For Northwind is an ice-breaker, named for several pounds of concentrated power, able to force a passage through the frozen waters of the Antarctic.

Just for the record, Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his 4,000 hand-picked crew made exploration history, taking a fleet of egg-shell thin steel ships through the 600-mile ice barrier. They returned after mapping a million and a half square miles of previously uncharted territory.

As a second feature for next Thursday and Friday Hopalong Cassidy will appear in "Silent Conflict."

Hearing Date Set On School Voting

There will be a hearing in circuit court May 13 on the school bond test, with the citizens committee's legal action aimed at upsetting the results of the school bond issue vote two months ago.

Counsel for the board of education, defendants in the suit, and the citizens committee arranged a hearing date.

Both sides have been attempting to push the hearing, because the delay was hindering solution of the class room problem coming up next fall due to increased enrollment.

The citizens committee seeks to have the bond issue vote set aside, claiming that four persons voted illegally in the election. The committee contends all four persons voted yes, the margin by which the bond proposal passed. Hold bond of education has assumed that the citizens committee must prove its claim.

Before the court action was started, the board of education had launched proceedings to issue the $40,000 worth of bonds to build a proposed elementary school near the present building. Bids on the building had been asked and the bonds had been approved by the state municipal bond commission.

MICHIGAN Motoring

Did you know that traffic deaths for the beginning of 1949 were much greater than the same months of last year? In the first three months of this year alone, we have had 94 more deaths from traffic accidents than in January, February and March of 1948.

That's an appalling increase — and is proof that you — and every driver in Michigan should take stock of your driving habits to make sure that you will not be the cause of another death!

Look over Michigan's driving book "What every driver must know" — check yourself on all the rules of safety. Were you guilty of passing on a hill or curve? Did you fail to stop for red light? Did you stop in the middle of a street to chat with a friend in another car? Think back... any one of these could have cost a life... and it might have been your own!

Now that Spring has arrived and more cars are traveling Michigan's highways... be doubly careful. Keep your eyes on the road... watch for and follow road signals... keep constantly alert for a child dashing in front of your auto... or youngsters on bikes.

It's up to YOU to protect the children who will be playing out-of-doors daily. Only the driver who has caused the death of a child through his own driving carelessness... or whose own son or daughter has been killed knows how great a tragedy driving carelessness can be. So put yourself in that fellow's place — and drive carefully to save lives.

Window Displays Show Purpose of Poppy Day

American Legion veteran-made poppies will be blooming in the windows of Mason during the week of May 23 through May 28, depicting the purpose of Poppy Day throughout the nation.

Window displays have been provided by club groups and by school grades, and will be in the windows of the Firestone store, Perkins hardware, Peters drug store and Adams dry goods store.

Each of the memorial poppies which the Auxiliary and its staff of workers will distribute through the city on poppy days, May 27 and 28, was hand-made by a hospitalized veteran. This work provides employment for the veteran, providing him with spending money for small necessities and luxuries, also money to help support his family. This work also helps to pass the long weary hours and aids recovery by helping patients to keep spirits bright.

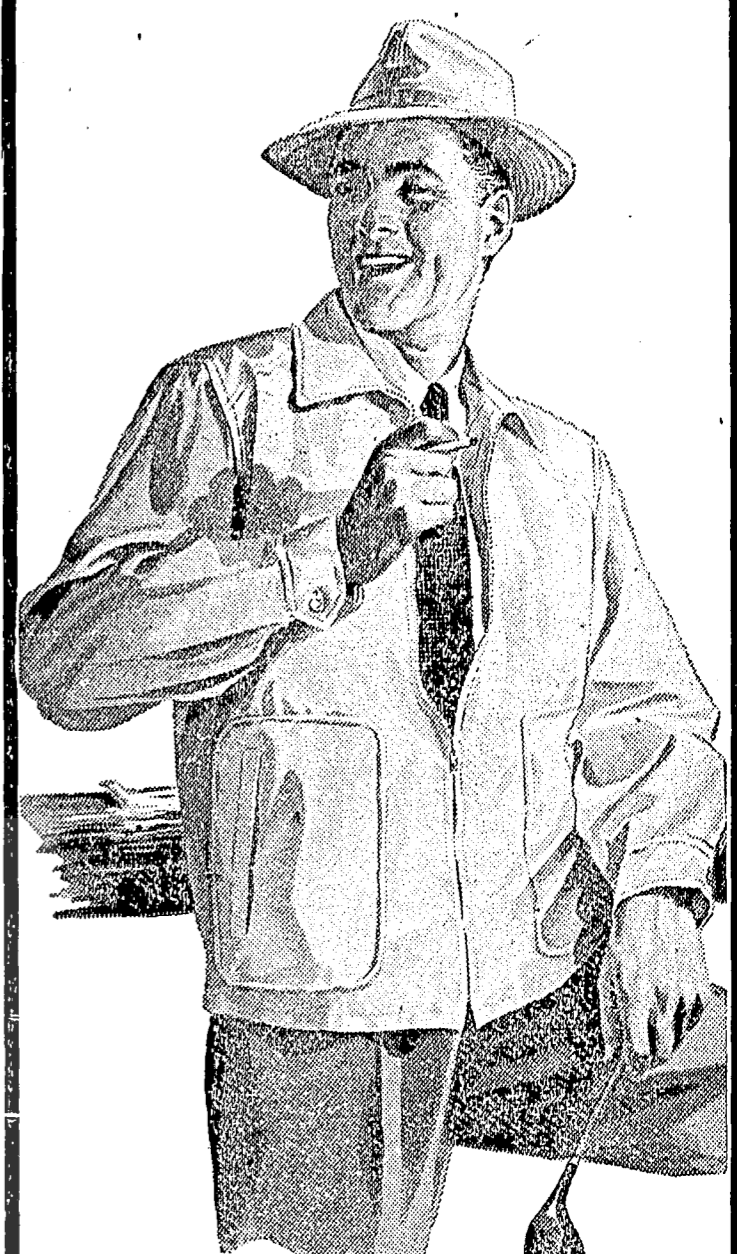

Illness of veterans is one of the major causes of the distress which the Auxiliary relieves with its poppy funds. When the veteran is forced to go to a government hospital for treatment, often his family is left without means of support. Even if he is eligible for compensation, time is required to establish his claim; and a hungry family cannot wait. The auxiliary must be ready to give emergency aid, and on poppy day the public is invited to help carry on the work of mercy and relief.

Emphasis should be placed on the fact that all of the Auxiliary poppy day workers are unpaid volunteers and that all money for the flowers of memory goes into the rehabilitation and child welfare funds, none being used for organization overhead, auxiliary officials pointed out.

During the past year welfare funds have been used to assist individual cases, the auxiliary report shows. Two snow suits were provided for children at the Childrens' hospital, one complete layette was furnished for a needy family, gifts were furnished for the veterans hospital for Christmas, and gifts of clothing and food, were provided for needy families locally.

Mothers Will Settle for Less

No one should be discouraged from buying mothers bouquets, candy, dresses, mink coats or convertibles for Mothers Day. But those things count for little beside the gifts which each boy and girl, each man and woman, can bestow on their mothers.

The gifts mothers want carry no price tags; not because the gifts lack value but because price is no consideration.

Better than all the flowers, the perfumes and the expensive gifts is not only the pledge but the performance of better living by sons and daughters. Mothers the world over want their children to grow up as good men and women, as men and women who come somewhere close to the ideals the fathers and mothers set up.

Mothers want their girls and boys to have good times—the good times which come from wholesome living, from pleasures that harm no one. Mothers want their boys and girls to live up to their capabilities. They want their sons and daughters to become useful men and women. They want the new generation to be better than the one before. They want their children to be kinder, more generous, cleaner, braver, more valiant than the parents.

The last 50 years has been a period of stress and strife in the entire world. Great changes have been wrought. Here in the United States this past half-century has witnessed the reaching of our own frontiers and the Americanization of much of the world beyond. Our concepts have changed. Our standards have felt the impact of three wars. In all history there has been no period of greater change in physical things.

Yet the things that count most have not changed. The courage, the strength, the purposeful character of the people which developed this great nation is still in style and still in demand. That's what mothers—and fathers—want along with the bouquets, the boxes of candy and other gifts which they'll get Sunday. They want indications that their boys and girls, their grown sons and daughters, are developing that courage, that strength and that character for which the parents have prayed.

Suckers Once More

The collapse of China is a further warning that faith in pacts and in aid to foreign governments will bring little security to the United States or to the world in general.

Our foreign policy has again made suckers out of Americans. Millions upon millions of dollars were given to Chiang Kai-shek. Chinese armies were provided with American weapons and trained by American officers. The money was wasted. Division after division of American-trained troops equipped with American weapons meekly surrendered to the Communists without firing a shot, without suffering a single casualty.

It is now revealed that much of the American aid meant for China ended up in Chinese black markets and lined the pockets of Chiang's lieutenants. Some of the weapons meant for Chiang's troops turned up in the hands of the Communists.

Millions upon millions of American dollars were wasted. Once more the American worker has been swindled. Our American aid did not help China. It did not even long put off the day of reckoning. Actually, our aid might have turned victory into defeat. Had American aid not been fought over by Chiang's generals they would have had more time and more inclination to fight the Communists. Had the Chinese not relied upon American aid they might have rallied against the Communist foe.

There are some perils from which people must save themselves if they are to be saved. Attempted salvation from outside does little good. Perhaps China could have been saved from its present chaos had enough Chinese relied upon themselves instead of the United States.

We have been suckers once again. We were led into the Chinese debacle by politicians posing as statesmen, by men who not only blinded themselves to the facts but set out upon a studied policy of fooling the American people.

There is no indication that the lesson on Greece or the lesson of China is being heeded in Washington. The same men who passed out the millions to China and Greece are getting ready to dish more of it out to Europe and South America.

They've Found Grandpa Again

Dr. Robert Broom with a list of degrees as long as a monkey's tail has dug up Grandpa again. Dr. Broom (M. D., D. S., L. I. D., F. R. S.) has found the missing link. Fossil remains found in South Africa prove to Dr. Broom that man and the apes have a common ancestor; and that the common ancestor lived between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 years ago. Dr. Broom is in doubt whether to classify the unmissing link as ape-man or man-ape.

When a man or an ape has been dead a million years what's the point of casting reflections upon him? That's one good thing about cremation. No scientist is going to come along a million years later to speculate on whether a skull belonged to a man or an ape.

City Limits Mean Little

Dr. John F. Thaden gave a group of Mason men a better picture of the community one night last week. Dr. Thaden is on the Michigan State college faculty and for years has been engaged in surveying communities.

The professor credited Mason with 3,200 inside the city limits and 5,680 outside.

What makes a community prosper both financially and socially is a complete disregard of the city limits except for purposes of taxation and law enforcement, Dr. Thaden declared.

When residents inside the limits regard the folks on Aurelius road, Meridian road, College road and Phillips as having just as much interest in the community as though they lived on Oak street, and when the folks who live on Hawley, Onondaga, Barnes or any other road in the Mason area regard city dwellers as neighbors then this community will be a better place for all of us. People who live inside or outside the city limits are interdependent. The city limits signs have little meaning.

A town is not built for the profit or convenience of the dwellers in that town. It is built to serve an area and when that is neglected the town soon starts down hill. The rural areas surrounding a town depend on the town for banking, for doctors and dentists, for entertainment, for groceries, and other needs. When those services are not available or are not adequate then they will be sought elsewhere.

Republicans Are Playing Into Hands of Governor

By Vernon J. Brown

The full effect of last week's flasco in the Michigan legislature cannot as yet be computed. There are many and devious ways in which a legislative body may get around the rules to accomplish that which the majority of the members may desire to see accomplished. Likewise there are many other tricks by which minorities or even individual members, under constitutional rights, can obstruct and sometimes defeat consideration of bills.

Accordingly it can be safely said that whatever is done by the quarreling house of representatives and the horse-trading senate between now and final adjournment will depend entirely on how the members feel after a week end cooling off period among the home folks.

To an outsider looking in solely by way of the columns of the newspapers, the whole mess appears silly. The Republican members are accused of smothering the governor's legislative program in committee pigeonholes. The governor's party leaders demanded the right to have the administration bills brought to a vote. Why not? If the proposed measures are good and good for the people they should have been passed. If they are not good, then the Republicans have sufficient votes to defeat them on roll calls. And again, if they are not good the Republicans ought to take as much satisfaction from having their votes recorded in opposition as they should in recording their votes to pass good bills.

visitors at the game farm Sunday and nearly all of them were from away. They were enthusiastic over the quiet pond, the wild geese and ducks, the swans and the many different kinds of partridge and pheasants now in their most brilliant plumage.

Another spot well worth the small effort needed to get there is a spot of Rhinoceros hill, four miles east of Mason on M-36. It's the best view in the county. A sunset viewed from there is just as picturesque as one at Yellowstone or the Grand Canyon. It looks almost like the same sun.

The 4-11 club variety show Friday night was a success. Every act was good. One thing needed at the Legion Memorial building is a lot more folding chairs. On Friday night chairs had to be taken from as far away as Okemos to accommodate the audience.

Biggest event of the week is the playing contest scheduled for Saturday afternoon on the McCaughey farm on Forest road, Onondaga. There will be enough women to carry out the Biblical prophecy, "Behold the days come that the plowman shall overtaken the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seed; and the mountains shall drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt."

With giant shovels clawing at the banks of gravel and sand in all the hogback pits near Mason, those areas should be off limits for all boys and girls. Even the paths skirting the banks are unguarded in some case. Danger lurks there for youngsters.

Book Talk

from
Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, 247 West 1st, except Sundays and holidays: 2-5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Saturday; 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, Friday; 11:30-12:45 p.m. Saturday. School, Tuesday, 9:00; Saturday, 1:30.

OVER THE REEFS AND FAR AWAY is another of those beautifully written and illustrated books by Robert Gibbins. This time he writes of the south seas—the sights and sounds, the people of the present and their legends. He has taken his time in traveling and there is the same leisurely feeling when one reads his books. The reader knows he has enjoyed himself and so he too shares in the enjoyment.

WALK THROUGH THE VALLEY by Zella Popkin is interesting in that it is a novel of a woman, still young, active and very much in love, whose husband dies suddenly from a heart attack. Her children have left home and she has left her vocation of acting 20 years previously. Her mental and physical state are reflected, and the solution she finds. Most women will find it interesting reading, but we doubt its interest for men.

AND RIDE FORTH SINGING is a story of Monique, a French girl who had participated in the Resistance Movement, but now needs calm and security in her own life. In the quiet countryside of La Fontenelle with Cousin Marthe she does find it for a while. DAWN SAILS NORTH is another story of the South Seas, but this time a spirited one of the schooner Dawn and a war-weary man who encounters both love and danger there when he tries to find out something of his own early ancestors and to claim his inheritance.

DARKER THE NIGHT is a mystery story by the author WILDEBES WALK AWAY and we were particularly interested in it, because we thought the latter one of the best we have read. Reynold Frame, the hero, is the same, and the story makes a pun of his name, for it looks for a time as though he were being framed. New York City is the setting this time, and society folks the characters. It is a fitting second for a new author, whom we shall continue to watch with interest.

Down by the Sycamore

Symbolic of something bad reputation of seniors, poor behavior patterns of parents, bitter experience on past cruises, unwarranted fears of teachers, poor taste of school authorities, or just last-minute advertising to sell cruise tickets is this little piece in last week's Charlotte Republican-Tribune:

"Boat rules for the senior trip which begins May 2 have been made known to the seniors. Lighter or anyone who has been drinking will not be allowed on the boat. Boys will not be allowed in girls' staterooms or girls in boys' staterooms for any reason at any time. Boys and girls must stay on their own decks during the sleeping hours. There will be no gambling in the lounges. The boat will be reserved for students and their advisors."

Thanks to the Russian Locks on Sitts road for a setting of Araucana eggs. Because our hens refuse to set we ate the pretty green eggs and found them delicious. Araucanas look something like Brown Leghorns except that they are smaller. The shells of the eggs range from blue to green pastel shades.

Araucana hens are good layers. The Lock Araucanas outlay most Leghorns. Araucana eggs run smaller than Leghorns, though.

The new breed is an importation from the Araucana tribe of Indians in Chile. Lock ordered a setting of eggs last year and raised five pullets and two roosters. The meat is tops in flavor. There's no white meat. It's all dark like Guinea hen and has a flavor between chicken and wild fowl.

Roy Adams is about as accommodating a justice of the peace as can be found anywhere. He climbed out of bed at two o'clock Sunday morning to splice Leo R. Williams and Cora J. Wallace of Lansing. The couple had their marriage license, and had had it for a week, and they also brought along their witnesses. Williams explained that Lansing preachers and justices have apparently adopted a five-day week. He said he had pleaded in vain Saturday afternoon and Saturday night to find a Lansing preacher or judge to officiate at his marriage. He didn't have to plead with Judge Adams. The judge flipped open the Bible to Corinthians to read "I say therefore to the unmarried and widows, 'It is good for them if they abide even as I.' But if they cannot contain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn." With that to justify the situation, Judge Adams quickly had the couple chorusing "I do."

Thanks to Mrs. Curtis Bartlett at Glendale, Arizona (The Valley of the Sun) for mailing a copy of the Tombstone Epitaph. And to Bonnie Reeser at Lyford, Texas, for the onion fiesta issue of the Raymondville Chronicle. She handled a lot of the advertising for the special edition.

Mrs. June Young of Dansville worked at the county extension office only a few months but in that short span she won hundreds of friends. She is the wife of Jim Young, teacher at the Ingham Township Consolidated school. Mrs. Young is a native of Atlanta, Georgia. She and Jim were married May 31 last year, two days before they received their "cuni laude" diplomas from Asbury college, Kentucky. And "cuni laude" is the most descriptive term for both Mr. and Mrs. Young. They are devoted to all good things, including each other. Their child will have a noble parentage.

Mrs. Young has that old-time faith. When her friend Mrs. H. W. Cummings, (wife of the Dansville Free Methodist pastor) died recently, I remarked to Mrs. Young, "Dansville has suffered a great loss. It was too bad Mrs. Cummings had to go."

The reply of Mrs. Young revealed the strength of her character and gave an indication of her rigorous faith: "It would have been worse for some others. Mrs. Cummings was ready for judgment."

If the state game farm were located 50 miles away a lot of people from here would visit it oftener than they do now. There were a lot into division of state and local revenues, and a return to responsibility by local units for their own spending money. No half-way means will suffice. Instead of the present policy of asking the state to play Shylock as a tax collector and Santa Claus as divider of the spoils, there must be a complete overhaul of all tax collecting machinery as well as the mechanics of administration.

The sorry picture of welfare cheating in the Detroit area, now being uncovered and publicized, is a direct outcome of "easy come, easy go" bureaucratic spending. And no one should assume that such welfare mal-administration is confined to Detroit. Like waste and fraud in greater or less degree can be found in every county in this state. It will continue as long as the government does the collecting and local officials do the spending.

This Week's Public Issue

SHOULD COMMUNISTS BE BARRED FROM TEACHING IN PUBLICLY SUPPORTED SCHOOLS, COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES?

Background
A law enacted this past month in the state of New York requires its board of regents to establish a list of subversive organizations and take steps to bar members of such groups from school positions. A bill recently introduced in the Michigan legislature provides that "No past or present member of the Communist party shall be employed as a teacher in any school, college or university in the state of Michigan."

At present the Communist party is a legally recognized political party in this country. Eleven of its leaders are on trial in New York City for subversive activities in their capacity as party leaders, but according to our law all indicted persons are considered innocent until proven guilty.

Yes
1. It is generally recognized that all Communists feel that their first loyalty is to Marxist principles. They consider the Soviet Union to be the modern representative of true Marxist principles. Therefore they support Russia in its cold war against our country and are already saying that they will aid it if a shooting war should come. Why tolerate in our schools people who follow leaders our president has already called "traitors?"

2. Freedom of speech may be an essential freedom for adults, but school children and college students in their impressionable years are not adults. They are accustomed to follow the directions of their teachers and cannot be expected to distinguish propaganda from fact in statements made by them.

3. While teachers are entitled to have freedom of their own, Communists are under such strict discipline that they cannot think for themselves or freely search for the truth. Therefore they do not belong in a company of scholars supposedly following the truth wherever it may lead. They admit that they themselves would suppress academic freedom if they came to power. Why allow them to benefit now by the very freedom they are pledged to destroy?

No
1. There are less than 70,000 members of the Communist party in this country, about 1-20th of one per cent of our population. The way to handle such a "human fringe" is to supply it with soapboxes and let it talk itself out, as all our leaders from Jefferson to Theodore Roosevelt have maintained.

2. Adherents of religious groups and of other political parties also have their principles which may to some degree restrict them in their search for the truth. Yet they are allowed to teach.

3. If Communists are under such strict discipline that they cannot think for themselves, how does it happen that over half of the membership of the Communist party in this country leaves the party every year? Foolish persecution of a small minority will merely make martyrs and so furnish material for Communist propaganda. As it is, the influence of the great majority of teachers adequately counteracts any Communist influence there may be in our educational system and the irrefutable fact of our continued prosperity dispels half the membership of the Communist party each year.

Check on Health Urged During May

President Truman has proclaimed that May be used to check-up on child health. Dr. Roelof Lanting, Director of the county health department has announced. He urged that parents take stock on their child's health and, if necessary, take measures to improve their physical condition.

Children who have not had a complete physical examination within the last year should be taken to the family physician for a check-up. Even though children appear to be well, periodic examinations are advised for all youngsters in order to detect trouble before it becomes a serious matter.

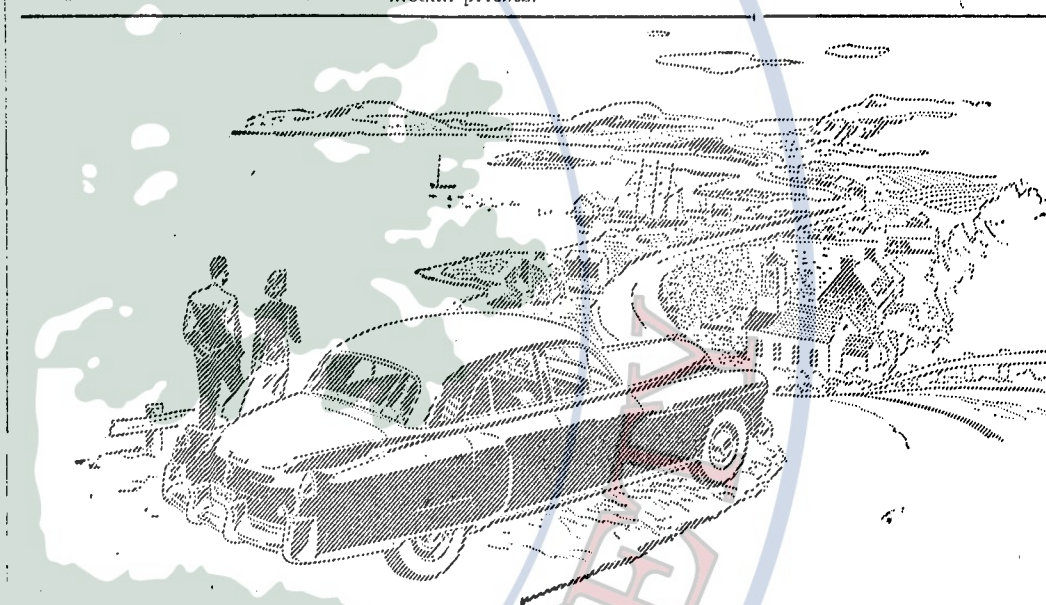

An examination now will reveal any physical defects or handicaps so that they may be corrected before school opens. If his teeth require care or if his tonsils or adenoids should be removed, this should be done before the summer polo season. If he requires special physician's care, the summer will allow time for such treatment. If he needs glasses, it will allow time for him to become used to them. If he has earaches, running ears or tenderness around his ears, treatment now may prevent serious hearing loss. The child should be given booster doses of whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox vaccines now, to bolster protection against these childhood diseases.

Concern for the health of children should not be limited to May. Dr. Lanting said, for illness and accidents are not subject to time limitations. Be sure to safeguard the physical and mental health of the child the year round, through periodic medical supervision and medical care during illness, through adequate nutrition, guidance in recreation, adequate rest and guidance in personality and preparation for school and for life in the community.

THE MAN WHO wants a finer motor car than the 1949 Cadillac, will have to wait.

He will have to wait until the science of motor car manufacture has reached a higher level. For here — in this gorgeously beautiful creation — is to be found the embodiment of all that is currently good and desirable in an automobile.

It is, in every way, as fine and splendid a motor car as it is practical to produce.

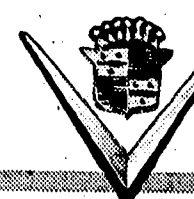

As is true of each succeeding Cadillac model, the advancements in the 1949 are manifold, and encompass every aspect of the car's goodness. But the year's greatest advance is in the power plant—a wholly new V-type engine which easily ranks as Cadillac's creative masterpiece.

The power flow is so smooth, and so seemingly inexhaustible, that many say the car seems to move by automatic propulsion. Performance is really a challenge to the imagination.

If you wish to know how truly wonderful a motor car can be, you are cordially invited to call at our showrooms for a look and a ride.

You are welcome at any time—regardless of the price class from which you expect your next car to come.

Dairymen Need Good Pastures

Abundant supplies of good pasture during the 150 to 175 days of normal grazing in the year reduce the cost of milk production, says J. C. Hays, dairy extension project leader at Michigan State college.

Grass, the only natural feed for cows, will provide a complete ration for the dairy herd, Hays states. A lush, succulent grass offers minerals, proteins, sugars and starches, plus an abundance of vitamins.

A dairy cow will eat an estimated five tons of grass during the season. Careful planning of pasture land and crop rotations is necessary to meet this demand, Hays points out.

Thoughtful dairymen are using a sequence of grass seedings for pasture purposes. Plantings of special grasses, such as Reed Canary for wet spots, sudan for the hot summer period, and rye for late fall and early spring grazing, will supplement the reliable alfalfa-brome mixture.

Alfalfa-brome normally supplies the bulk of grass fed during the early and middle summer season, the specialist continues.

Dairy herd improvement association records show that most profits are made by dairymen supplying ample feed during the entire year. A good, well-fertilized pasture supplemented with small rations of grain or silage will pay dividends.

Farmers should plan now to attend the Grass Day program to be held throughout the state in June, Hays advises. These programs, sponsored by the Michigan State college cooperative extension service with other agencies cooperating, will include demonstrations and information on good pasture management.

Strawberry Insect Control Explained

Spittle bug control on strawberries is important, says Ray L. Jones, extension specialist in entomology at Michigan State college.

For control, he recommends the use of one pound of actual chlordane to the acre. No greater amount should be used. To avoid danger of off-flavored fruit, chlordane should not be used after the first berries are in three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

When there is doubt about the use of chlordane, farmers may use rotenone. County agricultural agents can give advice on its use.

New Type Sharpener Usable in Fields

Will Sharpen Mower Blade While on Bar

A new type of hay mower blade sharpener which makes it possible to sharpen the ordinary mower section right in the field without even removing it from the cutter bar, thus saving time and labor and making it possible to cut more hay faster, has been placed on the market by the New England Carbide Tool Company, Inc.

The black tip of this new type mower blade sharpener is made of carbonyl cemented carbide, hardest metal commercially available. Mower blades can be sharpened quickly and easily in the field with this sharpener.

The sharpener consists of a steel shank one-half inch square and about 5' long, chrome plated against rust and having rounded edges so that the tool can be carried safely in the pocket. The tip which does the actual sharpening is made of ultra-hard carbonyl cemented carbide metal, which is attached securely to the steel shank.

To sharpen mower blades with this carbide tipped tool, the edges of the blade to be sharpened are uncovered. The sharpener is held in the hand, palm down. The carbonyl tip is placed on the mower blade at about a thirty-degree angle, and drawn from back to front on the blade three or four times. This produces an extremely sharp edge.

Any small burr which may develop on the blade may be removed by drawing the carbonyl tip across the bottom of the blade.

This is the sixth year that the Prairie Farmer has had delegations from Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin as guests.

The Chicago trip included plenty of sightseeing to the packing plants, stockyards, board of trade, Museum of Science, and other points of interest. At the stockyards they had lunch on Friday at the historic Saddle and Siroin club.

At their annual banquet at the Bismarck Hotel on Friday night, our delegation discussed with Paul Johnson, editor of Prairie Farmer, the proposed program plan to help agriculture. These four boys had been given material on the plan and were told the afternoon they were on the road for discussion. Bricker was the Michigan representative. In the discussion that took place, all the boys were against the act for the regulations that would take place should the proposed bill become a law. The Wisconsin delegate thought the act might help the dairy business. Two boys were outspoken in their ideas that the proposed bill would lead to state socialism. Too much politics was another objection. One had said:

"I'm moving over where they feed."

Male Youngsters Drink More Milk Than Girls

Results of a recent study should be of interest to dairy farmers. The study revealed that teen-age boys drink more milk than teen-age girls. Eating habits of school boys and girls, 15 years of age and over, in both city and rural high schools were studied for three days.

It was found that 39 per cent of the boys and only 22 per cent of the girls drank a quart a day.

Pasteurization Is Not Difficult

Though many Michigan families produce their own milk supply, they can have pasteurized milk with very little trouble. Good milk is an important food for everyone from baby to grandmother and it should be safe to drink.

Two methods for pasteurization are suggested by Robert Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State college. Those directions are approved by the state health department.

Pour 4 to 6 quarts of clean fresh milk into a kettle and place a floating dairy thermometer in the milk. Do not use tin, iron or chipped enamel utensils or a candy thermometer which is part copper. Stir the milk rapidly, stirring constantly, until a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit is reached. If you heat it above 160 degrees the milk will taste cooked or boiled.

Place the kettle immediately into a large pan of cold water. Keep the kettle covered to prevent steam from forming. Cool the milk quickly to 60 degrees or lower. Change the water in the pan often. Store well covered in a cold, clean place.

There is another method suitable for pasteurizing one or two quarts of milk and no thermometer is necessary. Place one to two quarts of milk in top of a double boiler. Cover. Place one quart of water in bottom part of cooker. Boil water vigorously for 10 minutes. This method was worked out by the departments of dairy and bacteriology at Michigan State college.

Chopping and Baling Rates Listed

Many farmers are now making plans for custom work with field choppers and balers. Some plan to hire work done and others will use their equipment to work for others.

A recent survey by L. R. Bookhout and R. W. Christian, agricultural economists at Michigan State college, shows many of the common rates charged for custom field chopping and baling.

Most of the rates reported for field chopping were on an hourly basis. The rates varied with the amount of power and equipment furnished by the custom operator. One group of farmers furnished the field chopper and blower, one tractor and two wagons. The usual charge for this group was $8.00 per hour for chopping hay, straw, or corn for silage.

The next group were the custom operators who furnished the field chopper and blower, two tractors, two or three wagons and an extra man. The most common rate for this group was $10.00 per hour.

For chopping corn for silage, a Sugar beet is a crop that requires good conditions. It is unwise to try to grow them profitably if the soil is not fertile or is in poor physical structure.

Wisconsin Grower Wins Barley Test Contest Conducted in Seven-State Area

Vernon H. Moore, of Rock county, Wisconsin, was named winner of the 1948 barley test contest conducted in seven midwest states by the Midwest Barley Improvement Association.

As an award for his accomplishment, Moore received $1,000 in cash, a handsome trophy, and a special ribbon of honor, as well as an all-expense trip to Minneapolis.

In addition to the regional award, Moore received the first Wisconsin state prize of $500, a county prize of $25, and state and county trophies. In the final judging, Moore's barley competed with samples from more than 125 earloads of the grain grown by contestants in the seven-state area. The prize-winning barley was of the Kindred variety, and was grown on 50 acres of Moore's 168 acre farm.

The prize-winning barley was selected by a committee of judges, which included representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture. Each farmer taking part in the competition was required to enter a full earload of barley, or to join with not more than four other barley growers in making up a earload shipment. Only varieties of barley approved for marketing purposes in each of the seven states was accepted in the competition. Samples from contest ears were used as the basis for judging the grain.

Sons or daughters of cash prize-winners who assisted in growing the crop and who were between the ages of 12 and 21, received special farm youth award prizes equal to 10 per cent of the cash prizes won by the parent.

Summer Program Plans Underway

The program for physical education, sports and playground activities has been revised and enlarged this year. The new program begins with the summer school starting on Monday following the close of school, June 10. In an effort to give attention and supervision to the younger children and to furnish more opportunities to the older students, there will be two men on duty on the playgrounds during the summer, except for the time when one or the other of the men will be on a short vacation. It has been announced that Clare McDermott and Mr. Lagrou will have charge of this program.

Mr. Lagrou will coach basketball and baseball in addition to his class room activities next year. Mr. McDermott will coach football and track. Each instructor will assist the other in the major sports. It is expected the instructors will be able to give instructions in wrestling, boxing, tumbling, archery and other outdoor games during the summer.

Within the past two weeks, four new teacher heads, four new swings, and a basketball court have been placed outside the kindergarten and first grade building. A new slide will complete the equipment for the elementary grades. The playground equipment north of the main school buildings is to be repaired, and supplemented with a slide.

Of interest to high school, junior high and adults is the announcement that two combination outdoor basketball and volleyball courts are to be placed between the sidewalk and school building, where the skating rink was during the winter.

F. H. A. Members Visit Mothers April 21 at Annual Party

The annual F. H. A. mother and daughter banquet was held April 21 in the high school auditorium. The theme for the banquet centered around the club's national flower, the red rose, and national colors, which are red and white. The stage was arranged to represent an old fashioned flower garden, complete with potted plants, fence, trellis and love seat.

Co-chairmen were Patricia Corby and Myrtle Martenies. Invitations were in charge of Betty Tobbs. Lois Bloom headed the decorating committee and the program was in charge of Ruth Copman. The F. H. A. had charge of the serving.

Joanne Hawley acted as toastmistress, presenting Charles Leach who honored the mothers. Mrs. Leach in turn honored the daughters. The freshmen then presented a style show featuring cotton dresses just finished in home economics class. Doris Fulton sang a solo, after which F. H. A. members gave an amusing skit. Mrs. Fredrick was made an honorary member of the F. H. A. Degrees were given to the girls who had done exceptional work in the club during the year. At the closing, an impressive emblem service was given, with Miss VanPelt in charge. During the style show a string trio, consisting of Ethel DeCamp, pianist; Virginia Mackle, cellist; Dean Stockwell, violinist; played selections.

Mrs. Mattie Brown and Mrs. Leona Brenner of Lansing visited in Williamston Thursday and Friday evenings.

Henry Schroeder, Mrs. Eva McGee and Mrs. Freda White visited Mrs. Chet Engels and Mrs. Edna Schroeder in Detroit, Wednesday. Mrs. Engels, who recently underwent a serious operation at a Detroit hospital, is still very ill. Her mother, Mrs. Schroeder, is staying with her.

Mrs. Sarah Smith, who has been seriously ill at Sparrow hospital, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gorsline and son flew to Cadillac Tuesday, where Mrs. Gorsline will visit while Mr. Gorsline makes a trip into Canada and New York. The Gorslines will return to Williamston Thursday.

Hold Regular Meeting

The Woman's Relief Corps met Thursday evening. Leona Brenner, president, presided. Plans were completed for the dinner honoring the officers and members of the Blue Star Mothers on Wednesday, May 4, at seven o'clock.

The death of the national president, Jeanne Saniers, was announced. It was also stated that Michigan's past department president and national vice president, Eleanor Stables of Detroit, had assumed the office. Impressive memorial services were held for the late Mrs. Emma Speers. The resignation of Carrie Thayer was accepted and Jennie Enos Wade was elected and installed as the new chaplain. During the 1949 Grand Army Encampment, a new postage stamp commemorating the Grand Army of the Republic will be made. Mrs. Porter presented the corps with part of a crocheted afghan, which the members will finish. Edna Schroeder and her committee will have charge of the entertainment at the next meeting.

P. T. A. Elects Officers

Williamston Parent-Teachers association held its annual election of officers at the meeting Monday evening, April 25, at the school. Election results were as follows: President, Russell Moore; vice president, Sally Newman; secretary, Dorothy Smith; and treasurer, Helen Harris. The program chairman turned the meeting over to Donald Stockwell, band director, who presented a short musical program. Following the program, lunch was served by the committee.

Girl Scouts Honor Mothers

Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 6 entertained their mothers, the Williamston Child Study club, and others who were interested in Girl Scouting, in observance of Mother's Day Friday with a tea and social afternoon. Last week marked the completion of an eight-week course in folk games and dancing under direction of Miss Henrietta Hass of the Michigan State college. Many of the girls have begun their second series of lessons at the Lansing Y. W. C. A. Plans for the remainder of the year include field trips, hikes and cooking outdoors.

Mrs. Place Dies at Home Following Short Illness

Mrs. Matilda Place, 66, died at her home on West Middle street, Thursday, April 20, following an illness of a few days. She was born February 11, 1883, in White Oak township.

Surviving are the husband, Clarence; a son, Carlton of Webberville; and three brothers, Chester, George and Ernest, all of St. Ignace.

The places had been residents of the city for the past few years, following their retirement from their farm. She was a member of the Methodist church of St. Ignace.

Services were held from the Gorsline Brothers funeral home Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. A. Gregory of the Methodist church officiated. Interment was made in the Webberville cemetery.

Services Held April 24

For Mrs. Lotta J. Gaedke, Mrs. Lotta Jane Gaedke, 66, died at her home north of the city Thursday, April 21, following a long illness.

Mrs. Gaedke was born July 4, 1883, at Reading the daughter of Lorenzo and Della Dillingham. She was married to Otto Gaedke of Vernon on June 4, 1902. Mrs. Gaedke was a member of the Christian Science Society of Williamston.

She is survived by her husband, Otto; two sons, Volney of Williamston and Robert, serving with the army at Aberdeen, Maryland; and three daughters, Mrs. Laura Hillebrandt of Wayne, Mrs. Frances Schmidt of Perry and Mrs. Mildred Everett of Williamston; an adopted son, Lorenzo Henderson of Danville, Illinois; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Palmer of Montgomery; 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services were held Sunday afternoon, April 24, from the Oaks funeral home in Perry. Clara Becker, Christian Science reader, officiated. Burial was in the Summit cemetery.

John Anderson has returned home from the Mason General hospital. He is able to be up and around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fulton and Doris and Beatrice VanRiper spent last Sunday at the Fulton cottage at Little John Brown lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eaton of Battle Creek spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eaton, and Mrs. Eaton's parents at Bell Oak.

Services Thursday For Leon E. Webb

Leon E. Webb, 76, died at his farm home Monday following a week's illness. He was born in Williamston Township on January 7, 1873, and has resided on the farm where he was born all his life.

Webb was a life member of Williamston Grange, a past master of Williamston Masonic lodge, No. 153, and was chaplain of the local lodge at the time of his death. He was a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, and had held many offices in Williamston township. He served as postmaster of Williamston for two years.

He is survived by the wife, Grace; five sons, Warren of Lincoln Park, Clarence of Kalamazoo, Dan of Mason, Samuel of Williamston, and James of Lansing; and a daughter, Mrs. Lois Shirey of Williamston. A son, John, preceded him in death last year. There are 14 grandchildren.

Services were held from the Gorsline Brothers funeral home Thursday afternoon. Rev. W. A. Gregory of the Methodist church officiated. Memorial services were given by the Williamston Masonic lodge. Burial was in the Foote cemetery.

Attend District Convention

The Williamston Theta Rho club members, with their advisors, Mrs. Florence Vaught and Mrs. Bertha Gulick, attended the Third District convention of the Theta Rho clubs at Perry Saturday. The local club was honored by having its president, Ruth Vaught, elected president of the district.

Honor Anniversaries

Style Show Presented By Homemaking Classes

Friday afternoon, April 29, the gymnasium of Dansville high school was the setting of a style show, presented by the girls of the entire homemaking department. Fifty-two girls participated. Several mothers and friends looked on.

The general theme of spring was carried out in the decorations for which the sophomore class was responsible. The freshman class made and served refreshments of party sandwiches, cookies, and punch. The advanced homemaking class announced each girl and told something about her costume.

The groupings of garments included lounging, sports, school, casual and informal evening wear. The cost of the complete costumes ranged from $1.25 to $11.75. Janet Arnold was the pianist for the afternoon. After the style show the refreshments were served.

Present Spring Concert

A large crowd attended the spring concert presented Wednesday evening in the school gymnasium by the school chorus and band. Selections by the senior band were followed by three numbers by the junior high chorus. Several solos were played by members of the junior band, which also gave two group selections. Philip Arnold, Wayne Chelf and Bob Erter, members of the senior band, entertained with several novelty numbers, after which the senior band played "Whisper and His Dog" and the march "Washington Post." The senior chorus concluded their part of the program by singing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," after which the combined chorus and band presented a patriotic medley. Barbara Ferrine is the accompanist for the senior chorus and Carol Starkey for the junior chorus. The chorus groups are directed by Miss Elsie Cobb and the band by Mr. Stiles.

Hastlet and Powerville Doomed by Aggie Team

On Tuesday the Aggies entertained Hastlet in the fourth game of the season. The team was both effective on defense and offense as Junior Hayhoe limited the Hastlet nine to two hits and the team pounded out 11 hits to take a 9 to 1 win. Hayhoe struck out 15 opposing batters and was not in trouble any of the time. The attack was aided when Chelf and Williams made home runs for the Aggies in the fifth to drive in five runs.

Friday the Aggies traveled to Powerville and came up with their third straight victory and fourth win against one loss team play and steady pitching brought a 11-7 victory. Chuck Howell started on the mound for the Aggies, allowing four hits and striking out 13 to notch his second win. Powerville's loose fielding and Dansville's 14 hits produced 11 runs to give Howell a safe margin to work on. Lance and Howell led the attack with four and three hits, respectively in five times at bat.

The team journeyed to Holt Tuesday and will play their final game here with Leslie Thursday, May 12.

Wheat Allotments In Offing

Right now the indications point to the imposition of wheat allotments for the 1950 crop.

There has been no official announcement from Washington but things are pointing in the allotment direction. The export demand is lessening and at present prices and yields the production of U. S. wheat is resulting in a surplus.

In expectation that wheat acreage allotments may be in effect for the 1950 wheat crop which will be planted this fall, the Ingham county AAA committee has been for the past several weeks compiling the necessary acreage data upon which individual farm allotments will be established, according to Ralph Glynn, committee chairman.

The individual farm allotments will be established soon, Glynn said, and notice of this allotment will be mailed to each farmer whose farm acreage data was available to the county AAA committee.

Because their acreage data may not be on record in the county AAA office, farmers who grew wheat for harvest in either 1945 or 1946 and who did not grow wheat for harvest in either 1947, 1948 or 1949 yet who intend to plant wheat this fall for harvest in 1950, should request a wheat acreage allotment from the county AAA committee. This request should be submitted in writing to the county committee prior to June 1, 1949. Likewise, farmers who have never in the past grown wheat but who intend to plant wheat this fall should also request an allotment prior to June 1, 1949.

These precautions are taken, Glynn said, so that no farmer who is eligible for a wheat allotment and who desires one is overlooked when the county acreage allotment is distributed among the individual farms in the county.

The Man Who Really Carries the Burden

The Christian Science Monitor
(Printed in U. S. A.)

Serving Oleo as Butter Is Illegal

Pending or proposed legislation will still not permit oleomargarine to be sold as butter. Even though the bill recently passed by the Michigan legislature repealing the third conviction of eating establishments and sale of colored oleomargarine takes effect, which will not be until at least 90 days after the legislature adjourns, oleomargarine must still be sold as oleomargarine.

Inspectors of the department of agriculture recently obtained their third conviction of eating establishment operators for serving oleomargarine as butter. Eating establishment proprietors serving yellow oleomargarine as butter on "buttered toast" according to Miles A. Nelson, chief of the bureau of marketing and enforcement, are in violation of the general food laws as well as the oleomargarine laws of the state.

The law that prohibits the use of oleomargarine as a substitute for butter in public schools and other public institutions has not been repealed.

Oleomargarine must still be sold for what it is and a placard must be posted in all eating places serving oleomargarine stating, "Oleomargarine sold or used here." "Butter and oleomargarine are still two entirely different products, and must be treated as such, according to Nelson.

Anyone selling or serving oleomargarine should acquaint himself with the laws of the state as the department of agriculture will prosecute all violators of the existing laws, Nelson declared.

Good Methods Get Best Beet Return

Maximum profits come from sugar beets when farmers choose good land for the crop and then plant sufficient amounts of seed, according to Richard Bell, Michigan State college farm crops extension specialist.

He recommends that four to five pounds of processed seed be used per acre to get a good stand. Sugar beets are very responsive to applications of commercial fertilizer. The use of 400 to 600 pounds per acre of a complete fertilizer is justified for good returns.

For the 1949 crop season, Bell reports that the price outlook and also supply are good for sugar beets. Government-processed laboring rates are especially the same as in 1948 and the use of more mechanical harvesters will ease the problem of harvest.

Although the acreage contracted to date is greater than in 1948, the specialist advises there is still plenty of land and facilities for 20,000 or 30,000 more acres of beets in Michigan.

Since sugar beets are not a "surplus" crop, there is little danger of overproduction which would result in lowered beet prices, Bell concludes.

Plan Poultry Study at MSC

Construction of a building to house experimental poultry at Michigan State college has been made possible by a grant of $8,253 from the United States Public Health Service.

The fowl to be housed in the building will be used in investigations of lymphomatosis (owlman's disease), a poultry disease. The research of poultry, however, is being done cooperatively by the bacteriology section of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station and the East Lansing U. S. Department of Agriculture Regional Poultry Laboratory.

The scientists are trying to find whether lymphomatosis can be transmitted from one flock to another by Newcastle disease vaccine made from eggs produced by birds having lymphomatosis.

The National Cancer Institute has expressed interest in the research project because of possible findings related to cancer research.
