Mayor Placing Appointee List Before Council

New Chief Executive Has Power to Change City Department Heads

Mayor C. H. Hall will present his list of appointees to the city council Monday night. The council has the duty of confirming or rejecting the appointees.

Along with the list of appointees the new mayor will also present his salary recommendations. The six aldermen have the duty of passing on the salaries.

Appointee offices, the present incumbents, and the present salaries, are:

Fire Chief, Leland Austin, $100 a year.

Fire Warden, Leland Austin, $40 a year.

Superintendent of Water, Streets and Sewers, Wayne Curtis, $110 per hour.

Police (2), Ralph Hall and Kenneth Merindorf, each $2,400 a year; with Emory Colby as substitute at $7.50 per night.

City Attorney, Oscar J. Hood, $50 a year.

Member of Board of Cemetery Trustees, Clarence L. Bickert, no salary.

Board of Appeals, Zoning Ordinance, Gerald Parsons, Leland Austin, Ralph Adams, Raymond H. McLean and Al Rice, no salaries.

Traffic Commission, Frank Dakin, Leo H. Harrison, Ralph Hall and City Clerk George Kellogg, no salaries.

Building Inspector, Ralph Hall, no salary.

Labor on streets, sewers and water, 85c to $1.00 per hour.

Not on the appointee lists are the offices of city engineer and superintendent of the disposal plant.

Walter E. Zimmer is now city engineer. He is paid for the amount of engineering done. The superintendent of the disposal plant is hired by the sewer committee of the city council.

The new mayor has given no indication as to possible changes in the ranks of appointees. He asked for and received from City Clerk Kellogg the complete list of incumbents and the pay they now receive.

Children Need Clothing Gifts

Clothing heads the Community Clearing House list of needed items for Christmas packages.

Boys' mackinaws, girls' coats and dresses, warm underwear, stockings, hats and caps, warm mittens and gloves and bedding are needed by many youngsters in Mason and the townships of Alameda, Aurelius, Ingham and Vevay.

Food, fuel and toys are also on the list.

People who have no clothing or garments to give but want to help can contribute cash or food. Chairman Frank Dakin pointed out. The money will be used to buy new garments, and candy and toys for the youngsters.

Because of the big Christmas task, headquarters are being moved from the city council rooms to the north corridor of the county building. Racks are being erected to hold the clothing and room will be made available for packing the Christmas boxes.

Organizations and individuals who want referral cards in order to fill some family's needs may get them at the Mason Frozen Food Lockers or the Ingham County News, Chairman Dakin said.

Members of the committee ask that clothing and bedding be clean and mended and that sizes be plainly marked before delivery to the Clearing House. Where possible the clothing should be delivered to the Clearing House in boxes, the chairman said.

Committees assigned the task of sorting and packing Christmas boxes for delivery expect to start work December 15.

Mason Stores Open Nights for Shoppers

Mason Chamber of Commerce Secretary Robert Ingham, Jr., has announced that Mason merchants will give Santa Claus a hand by starting night shopping hours December 12.

This year the Mason stores will remain open two weeks preceding Christmas, instead of the one week of the past few years.

Store hours for the two Christmas shopping weeks will be until 9 p. m. for the benefit of Yuletide buyers.

FIRST TO GET PLATES

Mrs. Mary Jane Nienstedt was the first Mason person to purchase a 1950 license Thursday morning when the new license plates went on sale at the drain commissioner's office in the court house. She will put the new silver plate with black numbers on her 1949 Dodge club coupe. L. J. Adams was second in line to get a 1950 license for his 1949 Cadillac.

Aunt Jemima Will Preside At Mason Pancake Supper

Aunt Jemima, known throughout the world, is coming to Mason Saturday night, December 10, to bake pancakes at a public supper. The supper is being sponsored by the Presbyterian Men's club in the church basement.

"This is the real McCoy," declared Dick Mills. "We made arrangements for Aunt Jemima's appearance through the Quaker Oats Co., which makes the pancake flour that has made Aunt Jemima famous all over the world. She's bringing her own griddle and a big supply of her own flour to Mason. She will do all the baking of the pancakes for children on her griddle set up in the dining room. In addition to baking the pancakes she'll entertain by singing Negro spirituals."

The Presbyterian pancake supper is usually served in the spring. Rev. Marshall W. Simpson explained, but it was moved up this year to take advantage of an open date on Aunt Jemima's calendar.

Al Rice, club president, said that in addition to pancakes and sausage the menu will include fruit juice, coffee or milk, ice cream and cookies.

Bob Ingham, Jr., is the dining room chairman with C. H. Hall in command of a dish-washing detail, Rollin Dart heading the ticket committee and Albert Humphrey serving as cashier.

Three barns will be put up at auction at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 13, at the former Bauer farm on Seven Gables road in Ingham township.

The three barns are on the 3,000-acre state game area near Dansville, the land which the state is returning to the wilderness. The land has been bought by Pittman-Robertson funds coming to the state from the federal government.

Offered at the sale will be the two-section (30x40 each) barn on the Bennett Taylor tract on Evers road, the 30x40 building on the former Bauer farm on Seven Gables road, and a 36x85 barn on the former William Hanna farm on Kelly road.

Successful bidders must pay the full cash price at the time of sale plus a cash bond of 25 per cent of sale price. The bond will be returned when the building has been removed and the premises cleaned up.

A legal notice of the conservation department's auction of the buildings appears on Page 8, Part 2.

Rev. Luren Strait of the Ingham Methodist Circuit, was chairman of the Ingham CROP committee. County Club Agent M. H. Avery served as co-chairman. Rev. Tennant and Father Conklin were vice-chairmen with Albert Humphrey of Mason, secretary and treasurer, and Dee Bray of Mason, commodity chairman. Others on the committee were Nelson Brown, Donald Curry, Gordon Edmonds and Harold Wilson.

"Every member of the county committee is grateful," said Rev. Strait, "for the work done by township chairmen and canvassers and for the response of the public. We all know that the food is directly needed in Europe."

Delhi Can Start New Town Hall

With the lifting of a temporary injunction, the Delhi township board can now go ahead with building a new town hall.

Judge Charles H. Hayden dismissed the demand for a permanent injunction against the board Friday. On September 22 the court granted a temporary injunction restraining the board from going ahead with construction.

Dr. Franklin L. Troost and Richard M. Jones of Delhi asked the injunction on the grounds that the contract let for the hall exceeded by $15,000 the estimated cost which was placed before the electors at the time approval was voted for erecting the hall. Beasley & Sons of Lansing have the contract.

Volunteers Give 44 Pints to Area Blood Bank

Mason People Help Save Lives by Giving Blood For Use in Transfusions

Fifty-one Mason people volunteered to give blood to the Lansing regional blood center Wednesday. Forty-four pints were banked. In seven cases the volunteers had colds, their hemoglobin tests failed to measure up or for other reasons their blood could not be taken Wednesday. Some will report later at the Lansing center, they said.

The Red Cross mobile blood center unit was set up in the basement of the Presbyterian church. Donors were received in the parlor close to the entrance and that's where doctors and nurses made the blood tests. Those who passed the tests then went on to the main auditorium where hospital beds had been set up. That's where the blood was drawn off. After giving blood, the donors went on to another room for cookies and milk or coffee.

There was not a hitch in the proceedings and not a donor suffered any ill effects.

Those who volunteered were John Ellsworth, James Maguire, Lee J. Sanborn, Robert J. Ingham, Jr., Mrs. Thelma Smith, Mrs. Beatrice Smith, Joe Fontana, Mrs. William A. Bergin, Mrs. E. Grace Ankney, Clyde Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cotton, Chairman E. Everett, Richard Brown, Miss Vita Fontana, Charles Lay, Mrs. W. L. Jewett, Mrs. Charles Brown, K. A. Zimmerman.

F. H. Tinkler, Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Mrs. Margaret Raymond, Mrs. Frank Wythe, James Brown, Mrs. Marian Bell, Dr. D. R. Leht-bridge, Mrs. Margaret Ryan, Dan Lonsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Muri L. Grimm, Howard Roberts, Harold Haase, Frank Guerriero.

Miss Alice Rowe, Ben W. Wilbur, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Relyea, Frank K. Evans, John Shepard, Don Scofield, Albert Newman, Loren Spink, Mrs. Elmer Spink, Ruth Kruse, Howard Slaght, Robert Schoffer, Collins Huntington, Nelson Brown, Verle Lamphere, Leonard Walline and Dr. William E. Clark.

Dr. Roy O. Webb was the medical director of the unit at Mason with Miss Ann Schaeffer the chief nurse and Miss Margaret Williams the deputy chief. Miss Vita Fontana, who also was a blood donor Wednesday, and Mrs. Margaret Garvey were staff nurses. Kermit Lischke was blood custodian.

During the afternoon Marvin S. Dale, administrator of the Lansing regional blood center for the Red Cross and his assistant, Jeff Jones, visited the unit at Mason.

Mrs. Harold Barnhill was chairman of the Mason Hospital Auxiliary committee which had charge of lining up volunteers. She and Mrs. Clifford Pelly, Mrs. Nelson Brown, Mrs. Donald Scofield and Mrs. Robert Leonard helped with serving the refreshments to donors Wednesday.

There was a dispute over increasing county health department salaries at the November meeting. By a vote of 23 to 10 raises ranging from $50 to $240 a year for nurses and $500 for Dr. R. Lansing were approved.

At Monday's meeting there may be a report on whether it is to be done with the county convalescent hospital. After January 1 it will no longer be operated by the county welfare department as it has been for the past three years.

Lansing owns the hospital. It was originally built and long operated as a contagious disease hospital. Most of the communicable diseases which once called for quarantine were scratched from the list and the county and city no longer had any need for the special hospital for contagious disease. Three years ago the county leased the hospital to take care of convalescent welfare patients and old folks who needed special care. Under state regulations in force at that time it was almost mandatory to hospitalize patients. Regulations have now been changed so patients can be cared for in private homes and nursing homes at an estimated saving of $50,000 a year to the county.

With the polio outbreak last summer the hospital was vacated by the welfare department and is now used solely for the treatment of polio patients.

At the November meeting Chairman Ward Vicary of the public health committee reported that his committee is trying to sub-lease the hospital to either the St. Lawrence or Sparrow in Lansing, to be used as an annex. There are 50 beds available.

There will be a change in the Mason representation Monday. Supervisor Harold Barnhill will succeed Frank Dakin from Mason's first ward. John Taylor is the second ward supervisor.

PRETTY WHILE IT LASTED was the Thanksgiving snow. Early Thursday morning it began to sift down and by noon there was good sleighing everywhere. By night it was too good. More snow came Friday. A mist set in Saturday night. Some of the snow melted Monday and then a lot of it went in Monday night's rain. By Tuesday night the snow coverlet had a lot of holes. A few flurries of snow came Wednesday.

This picture was taken on Clark road south of M-36 in Ingham township as Roy Hills of Dansville and Robert Dakor of Onondaga were plowing a path with a road commission snow plow.

No Major Issue Confronts Board At Mason Monday

Unless something now unforeseen develops, there will be no major issue before the board of supervisors at the November meeting in Mason Monday.

Only the allowance of claims and the transaction of other routine business is now on the schedule for the supervisors.

There was a dispute over increasing county health department salaries at the November meeting. By a vote of 23 to 10 raises ranging from $50 to $240 a year for nurses and $500 for Dr. R. Lansing were approved.

Feighner Gaining By Transfusions

Wayne Feighner, former Mason man now in Sparrow hospital in Lansing, is slowly gaining strength after being burned November 22. Blood transfusions are credited with the improvement in Feighner's condition. Even with improvement, hospital attendants said that Feighner might have to remain in the hospital for two months.

Feighner, now a Lansing automobile dealer, went to his cabin near Gladwin to hunt deer. While at his cabin alone November 22 he studied a fire with kerosene. The stove exploded, covering Feighner's face and arms with liquid fire. Feighner groped his way outdoors and rolled in deep snow to extinguish the flames. He then fought his way back into the burning cabin to get his car keys so he could drive his car to a main highway. From there he was taken from Gladwin to Mason by Jewett ambulance. From Mason he was taken to the Lansing hospital.

Bump Shop Crews Have Busy Week

Insurance adjusters and bump shop crews are finishing a busy week. The Thanksgiving snow and ice and slush which followed made driving hazardous. Narrowed traffic lanes between snow banks also exacted their toll.

Even the sheriff's patrol car had its rear end shoved in a driver following too close was unable to stop in time. Floyd Bigler, Lansing, was the driver of the car behind the patrol car. He paid a fine of $30.00 plus costs of $4.50 and was given six months on probation for driving too fast for condition of the road.

The crash occurred at the intersection of Waverly and Saginaw west of Lansing at 12:30 Saturday morning.

There were two crashes at the intersection of Coy road and US-127. At 12:30 Thursday afternoon Jack D. Brewer of Jackson attempted to pass a car which was slowing in front of him, and Henry J. Meengs of Morenci, trying to pass Brewer, tangled. The road was covered with ice. Both cars were damaged. Neither driver was hurt. At 1:15 Saturday afternoon there was another collision at the same place. Jack Clark, 25, Rockford, and Richard O. Eakler, 37, Howell, were the drivers. Neither was seriously hurt. Both cars lost fenders.

At 2:30 Thanksgiving afternoon Harvey Coddington of Lansing, driving west on Ash, found the road going too slippery to heed the railroad crossing signal. He and his two companions leaped from the car before reaching the crossing. The car was wrecked by an M. C. freight.

On Saturday J. Gower Chapman of Holt and Mrs. Lois Angell of Mason had a collision at the corner of Ash and Park in Mason. Mrs. Angell told officers she was attempting to pass a car parked alongside the bank of snow at the curb.

There was a three-car crash just west of Danaville's main corner Saturday afternoon. Deputy John Rose reported that James A. Hummel of Leslie was pulling out into the road with his truck loaded with cornstalks. The truck slewed into a car being driven west by Ralph John Smiley of Scottville. The car and truck skidded and the truck rammed a parked car owned by Lawrence Baker of Danaville. The truck escaped damage but the two cars had their fenders dented. No one was hurt.

On Monday morning at 1:45 Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nichols of Mason were injured when their car struck a tree in front of Charles's Barn. Both were cut about the face. They were taken to the Mason General Hospital by Charles McMan of Leslie, but were later released. Nichols drew a traffic violation ticket for allegedly making a left turn in front of the car driven by Norman Lantz, 20, of Leslie. Both cars were damaged. Lantz was not seriously hurt.

My Day...

By SCHATZI

the Camera-Clicking Dachshund

"Well, I spent all day today with my car flopped over the phone—people calling every five minutes to ask if there's still time for Christmas pictures? "There's plenty of time," I tell them, "but call and make your appointment as soon as possible. Helen, Ruth and I are working all hours to get everybody's pictures out in plenty of time for happy holidays."

And as I told Mr. Jones on the phone this morning, "There's nothing like a portrait for a Christmas gift. The average gift portrait only costs from $1.25 to $2.50 ready to give, in a beautiful folder. When you shop around the stores as I do, you don't see many gifts at those prices. And it's so easy, all your Christmas shopping in one sitting while you're chatting and having coffee at the studio."

"Well," Mr. Jones admitted, "that's really very inexpensive and convenient, but I really had something more elaborate in mind for my girl. I like the portrait idea, because I could give that to my folks, too—but I'd like hers to be something super! "Naturally," I said, "but what would be more super to her than your picture"—and of course, we can frame it for you. You must come over and see the beautiful 24-leaf gold-plated frames (guaranteed not to tarnish) for as little as $2.00—and of course, we have silver, wood and leather ones too. Lots of people come to the studio just for frames, when they have old pictures they're sentimental about."

"Guess, I'll do that, Schatzi," said Mr. Jones. "Just make an appointment for me. And by the way, Schatzi, how did you ever happen to get into this photography business?"

"Well—a lot of people ask me that," I said. "It just happened that when Ruth and Helen came to the home—and I heard them talking about photography—I wagged my tail like mad, so they picked me instead of any of my sisters, because I think that good portraits of people are just about the most wonderful and sentimental things in this world—and that's why I think you couldn't get a more super gift for your girl—for Christmas."

So long now, have to dry prints but I'll see you next week same time same place.

Seniors Staging Ozark Comedy At Mason Thursday and Friday

Mason seniors are transforming the school stage into an Ozark mountain scene for the play which will be presented Thursday and Friday nights, December 1 and 2.

"The Campbells Are Coming" is the story of the Brannigan family who live in a cabin in the Ozarks. Kaye Brannigan (Joan Lear), Ma Brannigan's eldest granddaughter, has been attending a fashionable school in the east. There she met Kingston Campbell (Clay Braden), a dignified young man from a well-to-do family. Kaye becomes engaged to Kingston and the Campbells, Kingston and his mother, decide to visit the Brannigan family in the Ozarks. The Brannigans and Mrs. Campbell (Donna Hunt), are both opposed to the forthcoming marriage. The Brannigans transform themselves into real hillbillies in an effort to break up the romance and shock the Campbells.

Other seniors taking part in the play are Janis Dart as Ma Brannigan; Shirley Bell as Catalpa Tapp; Beverly Quinn as Betty Brannigan; Herman Bushnell as Dick Brannigan; Gene Every as Elmer Tapp; James Rickly as Cyrus Scudder; and James Burgess as Jeffrey Scudder.

Mrs. Joyce Bristol is directing the play. Miss Rynda Horinga is assisting.

Bill Knight, Fred Welch and Ken Shingwar have charge of stage production. Fern Owen is chairman of properties with Lucille McQueen, Shirley Post and Merna Hart assisting her. Dorothy Benham has charge of tickets. Joan Wilson, county.

Argentina to Detroit by Truck

Steep and precipitous mountain passes, violent equatorial storms and near impassable jungle trails were among the obstacles overcome by Aldo Carloni and Antonio Bollester, young Argentines on a 15,000-mile trip driving an eight-year-old Chevrolet truck from Cordova, Argentina to Detroit, Michigan. Here Carloni (right) is reviewing the 14-week journey with J. W. Burke, manager of the Chevrolet Truck Department in the Motor Capital. With the exception of three short stretches where there are no roads at all and the vehicle was transported, the entire trip through 13 countries was accomplished in the truck which contained provisions for sleeping and cooking meals and carried extra gas and oil. Difficult journey as shown on map by Carloni and his companion was one of the first via the still incomplete Pan-American Highway.

PLAYING IN JAPAN—Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals baseball team, now touring Japan, shakes hands with Prince Akihito and Prince Masahito before a Tokyo game with the Eastern All-Stars of the Japan Professional League. The Seals, who have won every game of their exhibition, shut out the Japanese club 4-0.

THREE-STAR HARMONY—Gov. Thomas Dewey, right, who used to sing in a church choir, has to take off his jacket to get the most out of his voice as he harmonizes with professionals Robert Merrill, left, of Metropolitan Opera fame, and Danny Kaye. The threesome performed in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York.

IT'S ABOUT TIME—Dr. Robert S. Black of Corpus Christi, Tex., is the inventor of a new dental drill which reportedly eliminates most of the pain in drilling teeth. The unit at left mixes an abrasive in a chamber with carbon dioxide gas, minimizing heat, pressure, vibration and noise. Dr. William Mann, above, demonstrates the device on Genald Fitch.

Captains Organize For Farm Bureau Roll Call Monday

Chosen from their community discussion groups 21 captains of the Ingham County Farm Bureau roll call drive will meet on Monday, December 5 at the Old Fellows' hall in Mason for their kick-off dinner.

Scheduled earlier than in previous years, the roll call is expected to be completed by December 10. Re-enrollment of 1949 members was made at November community meetings, leaving solicitors free during roll call week to talk to non-members, according to Burr Thompson of Lansing, who is directing the drive. Captains have appointed roll call workers who will present their story next week. The goal for 1950 is 804 members. The present membership is 676. During roll call week progress of the drive will be reported daily by Marshall Wells of WJR, Detroit, who will report on membership in all Michigan counties where Farm Bureau groups are organized.

Captains will make a report at the kick-off dinner scheduled for noon on Monday. Following the dinner Paul Miller of the Michigan State college department of agriculture will be the principal speaker.

Roll call captains announced by Thompson are Mrs. William Parson, Aurelius Center; Mrs. Charles Lowe, Bell Oak; Frank Cosgray, Delhi-Aurelius; Paul Redman, Dexter Trail; Mrs. Don McKim, Lansing-Delhi; Mrs. Walter Cassidy, Hawley; Wesley Brownlee, Leslie; Mrs. F. Raymond Bennett, Meridian; Mrs. Harry Damon, Millville.

Mrs. Clifford Migrants was uninjured Tuesday afternoon in an automobile-truck accident on South Cedar street, Lansing, when she was on her way to work at the New York Central railroad system in Lansing. A truck hit Mrs. Migrants' car in the rear, pushing her car into a truck traveling in front of the Migrants car. Mrs. Migrants was taken to the Sparrow hospital for a check-up and released. She returned to work Wednesday. The car was badly damaged.

County League Quintets Start Play on Friday

Playing will start all along the Ingham County basketball front Friday night. For three weeks high school quintets have been working toward the 1940-41 season.

Holt, with one of the top teams in the league according to the dope sheet, and possibly one of the strongest quintets in the central part of the state, opens Friday night against Williamston, another team that should be much improved over last year. The game will be played at Holt. Rambler Coach Fred Lawrence has a veteran outfit back from last year's third place club. Jim Tuttle, Stan Morrison, Larry Guiles, Dick Root and Bruce DePue are all back for this year. Every man is at least six feet tall so the Ramblers are sure of a height advantage over most of their foes.

Leslie, the No. 1 team in the Ingham County league last year after battling down to the wire with Haslett and Holt, will be plenty strong this season. While the Blackhaws lost a lot of height and experience, Coach Walt Gehart has Bob Campbell, Bob Copperhead and Bill Kammewein back. There are also some long, lanky newcomers who will see plenty of action before the season is very old. The Blackhaws tangle with Okemos Friday night, on their own court. Okemos has a green team but it might surprise everybody.

Haslett must build a team from scratch. There is only one holdover from last year's crack team. The Lakers will find it hard to replace the Smith twins. Haslett will take on the Dansville Aggies Friday night at Dansville. Dansville might find it tough sledding this year without Sammy Williams to run up the score. Coach Earl Briggs will have a short outfit, but will not be too long on experience, but promises to make up for it in fight.

The other two league teams, Stockbridge and Fowlerville, will battle it out at Fowlerville. Both teams placed low in the final standings last year but are definitely improved ball clubs.

On Tuesday Fowlerville will play the Howell Highlanders on the Highlander court.

Circuit Cagers Open Campaign

Capital Circuit conference teams will start parting the meshes Friday night. All the teams in the conference will tangle with non-league foes in season warm-ups.

Charlotte takes on Hastings. The Orioles are not as loaded as they have been in the past few seasons.

Raton Rapids will play North Adams. The Greyhounds have only four letter winners back but they are tried and proven cagers. Bruce Higgins is one of the best, if not the best, basketball players in the conference. Working alongside him will be Jake Weir, Dick Cribley and Lynn Page.

Everett will wait until Saturday night to start the ball rolling against the Irons. Coach Charlie Sweeney claims to have some surprises in store for the rest of the conference this year. He has several veterans back plus some up and coming novices.

Grand Ledge will fight it out at St. Johns Friday night. Coach Jim Brandenburg lost most of his crack 1938-39 outfit by graduation. Don Harley will be back this year, though, to make things interesting for Comet opponents.

The Highlanders of Howell will lock horns with Milford Friday. Howell will be without the services of the giant Dick Hagini this year but has Sonny Brigham and Doug Stringer to fall back on.

Coach Don Funk unleashes his 1940-41 Mason high school Bulldogs Saturday night against an Alumni team composed of graduates of the last three years. The game will be played for the benefit of the athletic medical fund. The fund has been built up to take care of the cost of treatment for injuries sustained in sports.

There will be two games. The first will be an intra-squad contest among the reserves. The first game will start at 7:00.

The Bulldog varsity has been tentatively picked. Dan Garver, Jack Davis, Skip Jennings, Doug Barry, Windy Zell, Bud Smith, Jim Kelly and Donny Soltz are holdovers from last year's outfit. Jim Roggaw, Phil Parham, Grover Akers and Lee Darling are up from the reserves and Bill Howell is a transfer from Dansville. They will see action.

Mason is going to have plenty of height in the squad is a fast one. The fast break will be used extensively.

Mason officially takes to the court Tuesday night, December 6. Coach Funk will throw his boys in against Leslie, the king of the Ingham County league. Mason will be out to square accounts for the two stonings the Blackhaws handed out last year.

Police are seeking drunk drivers. Mason has joined forces with the Michigan State Safety Commission in conducting statewide traffic accident prevention program during the month of December, according to Police Captain Ralph Hall. "It is called 'Holiday Hazards' and will concentrate on the greatest single holiday hazard, that of driving after drinking," he said.

The official slogan of the program will be "Drunk Drivers Lose Their Licenses." This is appropriate because over 50,000 have lost their licenses under the mandatory provisions of the state law, this year at the rate of over 5,000 per year.

Hall stated that the month of December is the most fatal month in the year—195 people being killed last December. He emphasized the fact that drunk drivers are involved in far too many accidents. A study made by the Michigan state police showed that during the critical hours between midnight and 3:00 a. m., 1 out of 7 drivers involved in fatal accidents were reported as "under the influence." 4 out of 10 were reported as "had been drinking," and 1 out of 2 of these accidents involved one or more "had been drinking" drivers. It showed that during the critical hours between midnight and 3:00 a. m., 20% of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were reported as "had been drinking." Another study showed that the drivers, who are definitely "under the influence" of alcohol, those with as little as .15% or more blood-alcohol concentration, are 55 times more likely to become involved in injury accidents than non-drinking drivers.

Dorothy and Her Friends Visit Land of Oz in Film

With a line-up of top rhythm stars, "Make Believe Ballroom" will be shown at the Fox on Saturday night, the popular radio disc jockey program of the same name, conducted in Los Angeles by Al Jarvis and in New York by Martin Block.

The radio station background of the film, with its special emphasis upon a "Musical Mystery Contest," is said to permit inclusion of the specialties of some of America's finest tenorists and instrumentalists. The latter, for example, include such musical magicians as Charlie Barnett, Jimmy Dorsey, Jan Garber, Pee Wee Hunt, Gene Krupa and Ray McKinley.

In addition, "Make Believe Ballroom" has Kay Starr singing her greatest hit, "The Lonesome Gal in Town." Jack Smith singing "The Way the Wind is Bent," Toni Harper singing "Candy Store Blues," "Little Miss Between," and, together with the Sportsmen, "Hamburgher Heaven." Frankie Laine is heard in "On the Sunny Side of the Street" while the popular King Cole Trio puts over its rendition of "The Trouble With Me Is You."

Double Bill
"Laramie," the new Charles Starrett-Smiley Burnette outdoor action drama will also be shown at the Fox on Saturday. A Columbia picture, "Laramie" is set in Wyoming about 1870, when there was a strong possibility of an Indian uprising.

As a member of a government peace commission seeking to avert the pending warfare and, at the same time, to solve the mysterious murder of an important Indian chief, Starrett is said to supply the screen with some of its most gripping and best shooting.

"Laramie" is a recent production of the Columbia Pictures, which is a fair share of the range rhythms in his role of traveling showman, and is involved in a cowboy-sand-Indians brawl very much against his will.

Outdoor Drama
"Stampede" opens its local engagement on Sunday at the Fox Theatre.

Rod Cameron, Gale Storm, Johnny Mack Brown and Don Castle are co-starring in this Allied Artists production, which is described as a swiftly moving drama of the tures in the Land of Oz, is the same sparkling, infectious and lightning-voiced Judy of such recent hits as "Easter Parade."

Frank Morgan, as the Wizard, has never been funnier. And if you think you won't recognize Ray Bolger as the Scarecrow, Bert Lahr as the Cowardly Lion and Jack Haley as the Tin Woodman, you'll be mistaken.

A ghost town, a long-lost treasure, a hoard and a trio of escaped killers provide a major share of the excitement to be found in Columbia Pictures' "Rim of the Canyon," which stars Gene Autry at the Fox Theatre next Thursday and Friday. The rest of the excitement stems from the fact that Autry plays his first dual role on the screen.

Gene portrays himself, as a range rider, and he also appears as a mustached Sheriff Steve Autry, his father, in an exciting flash-back sequence of importance to the plot. As Sheriff Steve, Gene arrests and jails a bandit gang, but is unable to find the $50,000 loot collected by them in a hold-up. When the bandits escape from jail, two decades later, and hunt up their slashed-away treasure, they run into Gene, Gene, of course, is plenty tougher than Sheriff Steve, even if he does occasionally burst into song.

Pontiac's Popular Chieftain In 1950 Dress

Pontiac for 1950 has many appearance and mechanical changes resulting in sharpened beauty and improved performance. Both six and eight cylinder engines again are available in all Chieftain and Streamliner models and the horsepower of the eight cylinder engine has been increased. Pictured is the popular Chieftain four-door sedan.

Now on display, the new 1950 Pontiacs offer 28 appearance and mechanical improvements—headlined by a substantial increase in eight cylinder power.

In presenting the new Pontiacs, Harry J. Klinger, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and vice president of General Motors Corporation, said: "We believe our 1950 line to be the best-looking, finest performing Pontiacs ever produced. They embrace logical and well thought out advances. The 1949 models brought Pontiac's popularity to a new peak. Now we have gone on from there."

Pontiac again gives its customers an extremely wide choice. Chieftain and Streamliner lines are continued with standard and deluxe styling, six or eight cylinder engines and Hydra-Matic or Synchro Mesh transmissions.

Cubic displacement of the popular eight cylinder engine has been increased to produce 108 horsepower. Horsepower of the six cylinder engine remains at 90. Compression ratios for both engines are 6.5 allowing maximum performance with operational savings on non-premium gasolines.

Front bumper to bumper, inside and out, calculated design touches have enriched and highlighted Pontiac's traditionally rich appearance.

Frontal design of both Chieftains and Streamliners reach a new degree of massive integrity with main grille bars reaching out and around the fenders, carrying the approach pattern into side view. Parking lamps are newly designed to carry out the horizontal flow. The grille, itself, is heavier and quartered by prominent support bars. The center support carries the traditional Indian Head medallion.

Other styling highlights are a new hood ornament and medallion, new rear deck lid handle and new rear deck name plate. Both fore and aft the Pontiac Silver Streak, restyled to blend with the 1950 exterior treatment, again gives Pontiac the world's best motorcar identification.

Fifth Interior Styling
Art and engineering meet in the interior of the 1950 Pontiac. Pontiacs with aesthetically satisfying result. Door panels are a blending of two shades of gray with upper broadcloth softly merging with harder finished fabric of the lower panels. These lower panels are scratch resistant and easily cleaned.

Michigan 4-H'ers Win Special Recognition

OUTSTANDING records of achievement in the 1949 National 4-H Girls' Record, Dairy Foods Demonstration, Clothing and Field Crops programs have won six Michigan club members state championship honors. The winners and brief outlines of their records follow:

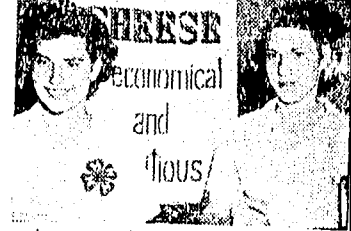

Marilyn Lundstrum

Julia Mead

Patricia French

Janette Becker and Laurelei Haring

To be named State winner in the National 4-H Girls' Record program means that the young lady is most proficient in not only one home-making project, but in several. This honor went to Marilyn Lundstrum, 16, of Vermonville, who completed seven years in 4-H Club work. She did an especially fine job in food preservation. Marilyn preserved 1,008 quarts of produce, tended 22,240 square feet of garden, and from her poultry and egg projects realized an income of more than $1,350. She prepared 56 county and state exhibits and participated in 23 judging contests. Her work has taken many awards at local, county and state fairs. Marilyn acted as junior leader for two years and held other offices in her local 4-H club. In recognition of her achievements, Marilyn attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago as a guest of Montgomery Ward.

Top in the 1949 National 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstrations program were individual — Julia Mead, 16, of Sand Creek; team — Janette Becker, 17, and Laurelei Haring, 16, both of Clare. Julia's prize-winning demonstration was " Cottage Cheese Salads," while the team demonstrated "Welsh Rarebit and Cheese Tray." Chosen state winners, each was presented with a 17-jewel watch by the Extension Company. In carrying out the objectives of the program, these teenagers learned the fine points of public speaking and teamwork. They also developed poise and the ability to give a convincing demonstration on uses of dairy food products.

A fitting climax in the National 4-H Clothing Achievement program is to be chosen state winner. The 1949-honor went to Patricia French, 19, of Kalamazoo. Her record indicates that she made, altered or mended 128 garments. Last summer she did all the sewing for her sister's wedding making the bridal gown, her own maid-of-honor dress, as well as two additional dresses, a negligee, and some lingerie. Rounding out a successful club career, Patricia served in all offices in her local club. She participated in 22 exhibits and demonstrations, winning many awards. In recognition of Patricia's good work, Spool Cotton Co. provided an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

State winner in the 1949 National 4-H Field Crops program was David Hamel, 17, of Champion. He was given an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, by International Harvester Co., sponsor of the program. What David learned about soil preparation, seed treatment and new methods of cultivation enabled him to make an outstanding record. His goal is to someday become potato king of Michigan. He has a great uncle and his father hold. He has won honors by showing a yield of 528 bushels of potatoes per acre. A helper for seven years, David has held many offices in his local club, and is their leader. He has 23 exhibits on potatoes, 2 in cash prizes.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

New Florida Routes Open to Travel

"Throw away your Florida route maps." That's the advice Automobile Club of Michigan's travel manager Harry N. Rogan is giving Michigan motorists now planning a Florida winter.

For this year's Florida-goer will find new roads and new route numbers galore. Detour signs will be few and far between good news indeed, for dodging road construction gangs has been a regular feature of the southland look for the past decade. This year most bottlenecks will be cleared out by Christmas holidays.

"Starting in January at the height of the season, and continuing throughout the winter," said Rogan, "our two main links to Florida will be easier to drive than at any time in the past 10 years."

Postwar hotel, motel and restaurant construction in Florida has been moving ahead fast. The 1950 AAA accommodations directory lists 786 approved places to stay this year, against 602 last year. Within the five states along the Michigan-to-Florida route, (Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Florida) approved places to stay have risen from 1,165 to 1,331.

Because AAA has dropped a number of previously approved places since last year, three figures show only part of the increase in available hotels, motels, tourist courts and resorts," said Rogan.

Don't look for much of a dip in prices this season. The "shopping" 1950 Florida-goer might force operators to cut prices a little to meet competition. The lucrative 1949 summer season in Florida was a result of reduced rates, and that factor could also be an important one in easing the cost of a 1950 Florida winter a little. But don't plan on it.

Hotel rates enroute will run about $5 to $10 per night, with first class motor courts costing from $3.50 to $8. Meals will average from $2 to $5 per day per person, depending on the appetite. That's a noticeable drop from last year's bill of fare.

This year there are two "heat" routes to Florida. The direct route, which includes some mountainous roads, can be covered in three days of "through" driving. The easier-to-cover western route, from 20 to 100 miles longer depending on Michigan departure point, is free of mountain and major construction activity.

The direct Florida connection runs through Cincinnati, Ohio; Lexington, Ky.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Atlanta, Ga.; and Lake City, Fla. A network of good roads radiates from Lake City to all points in the sunshine state.

The western route is becoming more popular each winter, said Rogan. It requires only a few miles of extra driving per day, allowing more comfortable travel all the way. Leaving Michigan, the route goes to Louisville, Kentucky; then through Nashville, Tenn.; Louisville, Tenn.; Fayetteville, Tenn.; Huntsville, Ala.; through Gadsden, Anniston and Opelika, Ala.; to Columbus, Ga.; and Lake City, Florida.

They are Niles, Coldwater, Sturgis, Adrian and Detroit.

British General Failed to Act On Report of Valley Forge Spy

The American Revolution might have been lost during the winter of the encampment at Valley Forge had British generals acted on information gained by an American Tory spy.

The map of the Valley Forge camp and its breastworks which might very well have led to disastrous defeat for Washington and his starving army is now in the Clements library of the University of Michigan. It is the only map of the American camp made during that winter of privation, and it was found in the files of the British army. It came to the Clements library several years ago when the private papers of General Henry Clinton, British commander during the Revolutionary period, the map will be on public display at the library for a week beginning December 1.

Capt. James Parker, a Virginian loyal to the British cause, turned spy for the British army. His story and the story of the Valley Forge map will be told in a University of Michigan dramatic radio broadcast Thursday, December 1. The broadcast will be heard over the University's own station WUOM-1M and over 21 other stations in this region.

Posing as a merchant with 14 wagonloads of food to sell, Parker rode out from Philadelphia in mid-winter, 1777-1778. He was looking for Washington's army which, so far as the British were concerned, was utterly "lost" somewhere in southwestern Pennsylvania.

The spy located the American camp at Valley Forge. There he discovered that the Americans, despite the cold and the shortages of food and warm clothing, had thrown up breastworks against attack and were drilling regularly under the direction of a professional German soldier, General von Steuben.

Escaping from American surveillance, Parker made his way back to Philadelphia where he drew his map of the camp at Valley Forge and conveyed his information to General Howe and Clinton. He recommended an immediate attack to rout Washington's army while it was weakened by the hardships of that bitter winter.

Fortunately for the American cause, General Clinton received, simultaneously with Parker's report, the news that France had come to the aid of the rebels and had declared war on Britain. Fearing French action, Clinton ordered Howe to abandon Philadelphia and concentrate all the British forces in New York. There was no attack upon Washington's forces until summer, and by that time the strength of the American army had been rebuilt and the winter of training had had its effect. The British, ignoring the work of their American spy, had passed up their best chance to smash the war for American independence.

driving under all kinds of operating weather and road conditions.

The new L-line is spearheaded by four classifications of four-wheel model trucks, ranging in gross vehicle weight from 4200 pounds to 50,000 pounds. The new International line further features new multi-stop units, product of the company's Bridgeport, Conn. plant; a new group of six-wheel chassis units ranging in GVW from 22,000 to 50,000 pounds, and a new group of cab-forward chassis units, ranging upward from 14,000 pounds.

Scores of body sizes and styles are offered in the new line.

Dimensions of the chassis of the new L-line have been engineered to provide better load distribution, greater maneuverability, shorter overall lengths and improved engine accessibility. Biggest change in chassis dimensions is in the wheelbases, which have been shortened as much as seven inches in some models.

The shorter wheelbases, together with proportioned cab-to-rear axle dimensions and front-axle-to-shaft dimensions, have resulted in a shifting of load weight, so that it is in balance between front and rear axles.

The shorter wheelbases and rearrangement of other chassis dimensions have made possible shorter overall lengths with no actual decrease in load-carrying lengths are available within the shorter overall lengths of the trucks.

Wider, sturdier rear axles, engineered to handle any job, are available in the new models. Hyoid axles are introduced in the L-line.

The new cabs have been designed to provide greater roominess and convenience. The many features include a smartly-styled curved contour instrument panel, a large, one-piece windshield, curved to minimize eyestrain and reduce glare, and conveniently clustered instruments.

New brighter colors are offered in the L-line. Standard colors include Harvest red, Adirondack green, Apache yellow and Arizona blue. Optional colors, at no extra cost, include Salt River sand, Door County green, Black Canyon black, Valencia orange, Palomino cream and Chesapeake gray.

Additional expenditures were made to provide more than three years' road testing which went into proving the new trucks. This intensive program included laboratory and track testing in addition to over 3,000,000 miles of road testing.

Complete restyling that blends a new modern streamlining with extreme practicality.

The new trucks, introduced after years of exhaustive testing and research, required the greatest expenditure of any new models in International history. More than $30,000,000 was spent for the vast production changeover involving the widespread reworking of facilities, layouts and assembly lines in the company's Port Wayne and Indianapolis, Ind., and Springfield, Ohio, plants. Thousands of new machines, tools, dies, patterns, gauges and fixtures were acquired and many new buildings were added along with extensions to existing facilities.

Social Security Tax Up To 1½ Pct. on January 1

A 50 per cent increase in Social Security taxes will go into effect in six weeks. It will raise $607,000,000 more a year.

Beginning January 1, employers and employees each will pay a 1½ per cent tax on wages and salaries up to a wage or salary maximum of $3,000.

If your pay was $3,000 this year, you paid $45 tax. Next year on the same pay, your tax will be $45.

The present rate is one per cent. It has been in effect since the system of retirement and survivors' benefits was started 13 years ago.

The schedule of benefits will remain unchanged.

However, under a bill passed by the house and pending in the senate, both the premium and the benefits would be higher.

Officials predicted that the taxes would affect some 39,000,000 workers and 2,700,000 employers next year, requiring employers and employees to share in tax payments as high as $90 a person a year. The present maximum is $60.

Under the pending legislation, the number of workers affected may rise to 50,000,000 and the top employer-employee tax payment for each worker to $108 before 1950 is over, the officials said.

The bill, which a senate committee is to take up in January, would apply the 1½ per cent levy to earnings up to $3,000. This would raise the combined contribution of employer and worker at that level another $18.

Benefits for a worker entitled to the present maximum retirement amount would be lifted from $45.20 to $64 a month, and the maximum for his family from $85 to $150 a month.

Tuition fees and other charges paid by students at the University of Michigan and Michigan State college have doubled in recent years. Whereas students paid 20 per cent of the U of M operating cost in 1929, students today pay double that amount—40 per cent, said Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan.

In a conference with Governor G. Mennen Williams at Lansing, Dr. John A. Hannah, head of MSC, pointed out that Michigan colleges are now competing with other agencies for state aid in a way which did not exist a few years ago. The result is that state legislatures have been increasingly reluctant to appropriate funds for colleges in amounts needed to finance higher education adequately. If college fees are increased further, only privileged groups will have advantages of higher education, the two college presidents warned.

One of the best things to hit the Michigan conservation movement in many years is the state park program, performed by inmates from Michigan prisons. A ski run and winter sports improvements are being completed at the Pere Marquette state park near Ontonagon. Construction work is being pushed at the Tahquamenon state park in the Upper Peninsula.

Two state recreation areas are being benefited by work programs: Pontiac Lake area and Waterloo recreational area, both in southern Michigan.

Kim Sigler, still carefree and an aviation enthusiast, is not a possible candidate for Republican nomination of governor in 1950. Interviewed recently by reporters, Sigler replied: "Why should I run for public office? I'm 55, having a good time and free to take any law case I want or fly my plane where I want, when I want." Sigler recommended that Republicans make an issue of the C. I. O. "control" of the state Democratic party.

Michigan farmers have completed in recent weeks the largest harvest of corn, oats and barley—all feed grains—on record in the state. The farm crop was 26 per cent above 1948 and 21 per cent higher than the previous record crop in 1942. October harvesting weather was nearly perfect.

It will cost you 12½ per cent more to travel on eastern railroads as result of a rate increase granted at Washington. This increase has been necessary because of higher wages and other operating costs, it is explained.

The Michigan 1949 apple crop is 72 per cent above a 10 year average.

Louis M. Nims, commissioner of the State Department of Revenue, announces that state revenue collection for October 1949, brought an increase of $1,382,015.57 over October, 1948. The retail sales tax increase was over $300,000. The utilities tax brought an increase of $1,500,000. The total tax collected by the department for the current fiscal year shows an increase of $302,220.19 over the same period in 1948.

"Forced saving plan" such is the verdict of C. B. Wilson, president of General Motors Corporation, with reference to company-paid pensions won by C. I. O. from Ford Motor company, U. S. Steel Corporation, and other big business concerns. Wilson calls for an end to "shotgun bargaining methods" and favored "adequate federal pensions operated on a sound basis."

State department heads have requested legislative appropriations in 1950 of nearly $100,000,000, above amounts appropriated for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. Comment by Governor G. Mennen Williams: "We will unquestionably need new revenues to operate at present levels." Robert F. Steadman, state controller, has been asked to wield a sharp ax on budget requests for more money.

More self-reliance by farm people to solve their own health problems on a local community basis was recommended by panel speakers at the third Michigan rural health conference sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society. Authorities agreed that "there is too much reliance placed on the federal government" to remedy rural health conditions.

Warning Is Given On Drunk Driving

"If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive!" This time-tested slogan is the text of the "Holiday Hazards" safety drive now being conducted by the Michigan state safety commission, Justice of the Peace Roy Adams of Mason said.

An intensive public education program with posters, leaflets, stickers, motion picture trailers and newspaper and radio announcements designed to remind the motoring public of the inescapable hazards to life, limb and property of driving after drinking has been launched.

Lawmakers throughout the country have recognized drunk driving as a dangerous menace to public safety, and have dealt with it accordingly. The Michigan statute requires the drunk driver upon conviction as a first offender to surrender his license to the court, to be returned to the secretary of state for a minimum suspension of 90 days, and also provides a minimum fine of $50, with imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, up to 90 days.

Pensive celebrants who uphold the belief that a man isn't drunk so long as he can sit flat on the ground without holding on with both hands will find scant comfort in the terms of the statute, which rule that any person who is a habitual user of narcotic drugs, barbitals or derivatives, or "any person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor, narcotic drugs, barbitals or derivatives" is forbidden to drive any vehicle upon any highway or any other place open to the general public within this state.

The owner or person in control of any vehicle who permits it to be driven on any highway or place open to the public, by a habitual user of drugs or barbitals, or by a person under the influence of intoxicants or drugs, is liable to the same penalties as the drunk driver. A second offense under this section brings the offender into circuit court, with a possible penalty of a year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Another Michigan statute, which many persons have learned about too late to escape the consequences of its violation, forbids the consumption of intoxicating beverages on any highway in the state.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET If the Brakes Don't Work Just Hit Something Cheap

By BILLY ROSE

A fellow tried to sell me a helicopter the other day. He told me I could hop from the roof of my theatre to my place in Westchester in 20 minutes, and added that it was as easy to drive as a car. I told him I wasn't interested because I couldn't drive a car. How come? Didn't I ever try and learn? Just once. And here's what happened...

One day several summers ago, my wife said, "I wish you'd learn how to drive. Every time you want a paper or a pack of cigarettes, I've got to stop what I'm doing and chauffeur you into the village."

"Okay," I said, "if you'll play teacher."

Next morning I crawled into the car beside Eleanor. "Just turn this fidgeter over," she began. "Push in this thing, pull out this doodle, step on this wing, doodle, press down on this thing—a m a b o b, and you're all set to go."

"What's this gizmo?" I asked. "The hand brake," she said. "You throw it on quickly in case of emergency."

"What happens if the brakes don't work?"

"Hit something cheap," advised my spouse.

A MOMENT LATER the car went hiccupping down the road. Then for a mile it went smooth as you please. A feeling of confidence came over me, the same feeling all new drivers get just before the lights go out. I pressed down on the gas.

"The pistons seem to be knocking," I said professionally.

"Pistons knocking," said Eleanor. "Those are my knees."

Everything went fine until we got to the traffic light in the village. I forgot to press the hickey, maddoodle on the gillooley and the car stalled. The lights changed from green to red, and from red back to green. A cop came over.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Haven't we got any colors you like?"

After switching the radio on and off, I suddenly pressed the right thing. In the order of the way it happened, I grazed the cop, skidded through the safety zone, clipped the fender on a bus, and came to rest with my bumper against a fire plug. The cop stalked over, took a handkerchief out of his pocket and dropped it in front of the car.

"Lookit, Gene Autry," he said. "I wanta see you do that all over again, and this time pick up the handkerchief with your teeth."

Eleanor gave him the smile that used to make the front cover of "Life." "He's learning to drive," she said.

"No kidding?" said the cop. "How long is this class going to last? Some other drivers would like to use this road when Sonny Boy gets through with it."

"What did I do wrong?" I asked the officer.

"Didn't you hear my whistle? Didn't you see my signal?" he demanded.

I shook my head.

The cop sighed. "I'd better go home," he said. "I don't seem to be doing much good around here."

I THREW THE CAR into reverse and backed away from the fire plug.

"If you're going to drive much," yelled the cop, "I'd have the car painted red on one side and blue on the other, so the witnesses will contradict each other."

I had only one more mishap getting home. I scraped a guy's fender. He was pretty nice about it. "It's my fault," he said. "I saw you coming. I should have driven into the fields and avoided you."

There are two stone posts flanking the drive which leads up to our home. I got past them without a scratch—also without the rear bumper. That did it.

Since then, I've never been behind a wheel. When Eleanor and I go driving I sit in the back seat and read the Burma Shave signs. The only concession I've made to the Automotive Age is to learn how to fold a road map.

Leslie Lions Honor Farm Training Veterans

Fifteen veterans who are taking the farm training course in night classes at the Leslie high school were the guests of the Leslie Lions club at supper at Budd's grill Monday evening. The program dealt with the "dairy industry" with two speakers from a Lansing dairy. Russell Miller, agriculture teacher at the high school, was the chairman of the program. Members of the high school football team will be guests at the next meeting of the club on Monday evening, December 5.

Former Residents Injured in Accident
Five former residents of Leslie, who now make their homes at Grand Rapids, were severely injured Thursday morning when their car in which they were riding was struck by another car on US-16 near Wacousta. Those injured were Samuel Ruster, 42; and his wife, Geneveth, 37; their son, Robert, 12; daughter, Martha, 9; and Mrs. Ruster's mother, Mrs. Claudine Wright, 75.

They were taken to the St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing. Ruster has a fractured left knee cap and rib and chest injuries. Mrs. Ruster suffered a broken right arm with facial and leg lacerations. Robert has a fractured right and left knee and ankle. Martha has a broken right knee. Mrs. Wright suffered a fractured right wrist and facial bones.

The accident happened when an automobile driven by Earl D. Verhoeven of Caledonia, skidded into the front of the Ruster car. The Rusters were on their way to Leslie to spend the day with Miss Estella Woodworth, a sister of Mrs. Wright. Ruster served for a time as pastor of the Leslie Baptist church 14 years ago and later operated a milk route here. Mrs. Wright and her daughter, Geneveth, now Mrs. Ruster, were lifelong residents of Leslie before moving to Grand Rapids 10 years ago.

Engineers and Geologists Should Meet

For 20 years Michigan people have been planning to bridge the Straits of Mackinac. The building of the bridge has been a foregone conclusion. The argument has been over when and where the bridge should be built and who would pay for it. Not until last week did anyone ever cast any doubts that the bridge can not be safely built.

We had all seen pictures of the Golden Gate bridge and we naturally concluded that a bridge that size would just about fit the stretch of water between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace.

Serving upon Mackinac bridge committees have been eminent engineers, several of them members of the University of Michigan engineering school faculty. Those committees and authorities have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in preliminary surveys and planning.

Then last week came a bombshell in the form of a report by three University of Michigan geologists. Back in 1944 and 1945 they studied the geology of the Straits for the conservation department, not the bridge authority. Those geologists discovered that mixed limestone blocks in shale form a large zone of collapsed rock, rather than limestone beds, under the water at the Straits. The geological explanation for the collapsed zone is that thick salt beds underlay much of Michigan's surface in pre-historic days. At the Straits, the geologists claim, the water seeped through the limestone, dissolving the salt, leaving big caverns with a mixed rock and soil formation.

There just isn't any solid rock to support the steel piers needed to carry a suspension bridge over the Straits, the geologists assert. To build a tunnel under the collapsed zone formation it would be necessary to burrow down 600 or 700 feet, and that wouldn't be feasible.

The report of the geologists must have been buried under the collapsed rock to remain hidden for four years. Now that it has been dug up the civil engineers and the geologists should get together at once and see who is right.

If the report of the geologists stands up then Michigan politicians might just as well abandon the Straits bridge as a major issue and go ahead with improvement of ferry service.

Engineers and geologists, at least those serving in companion schools at the University of Michigan, should get together at once and determine whether or not the Straits bridge can be built and how long it is apt to stay in place if it is built.

Hope Goes With the Money

It's an easy thing for legislative bodies to enact laws sending taxes higher. Whether the legislators are in city councils, state legislatures or in congress, all they have to do is to cry out that opponents of higher taxes are reactionaries, are selfish or represent great wealth.

What legislators forget, or perhaps what they have never known, is that along with the money which comes from everyone, rich and poor alike, goes hope.

In England today the Labor government is taxing vast sums of money from all the people and also draining money from the United States. If it were just the money that's being wasted it wouldn't be so bad. All of us might be better off with less money.

But hope goes with the money. Incentives to work and produce and build for the future are collected along with the cash.

With tax collectors now taking for school districts, townships, cities and state the greatest sums ever exacted in history, Michigan legislators are pondering new taxes. The governor will call those legislators together within a few weeks to enact laws for the collection of even greater sums.

Maybe men can surrender more taxes, and still have enough money to keep going. But they can't surrender much more hope and still have enough to carry them along. The governor and the legislators should remember that. They should remember that men's hopes go along with the tax money; that every dollar the state takes in taxes makes just that much less hope available for a father to provide for his family, to buy the necessities of life, to provide medical attention and to educate his sons and daughters.

It isn't just because people are stingy and miserly that they complain about taxes. They complain because hope for the future goes with the payment of taxes. They lose hope along with the cash.

Hunting as Guests of the State

Anyone watching the actions of the Michigan unemployment offices over the past week or two must be wondering just what this compensation business is all about.

Money to pay off the compensation claims is furnished by every business in the state employing eight or more persons 19 weeks out of the year. The amount paid in is a staggering sum. Yet, all we have heard in the past months is about how the funds are running out.

After last week it is not hard to see why.

Hunters swarmed over the court house in Standish Tuesday wanting to know where unemployment claims were being paid. They were furious when told claims were paid here on Wednesday only.

Up in West Branch the unemployment office was swamped with hunters registering for their weekly checks. Out of work, they were up here hunting instead of home looking for jobs or saving what money they did draw off of unemployment to tide them over until a new job broke.

While listed on the unemployed rolls, a worker supposedly must be available for employment at all times. We asked an unemployment official about this little rule and he understood it the same way.

"But," he said, "according to the legislature these men are to be paid even up here on vacation. It has been decided that they are within three days of a job and are therefore available for employment."

We wonder what would have happened had any of these men been offered a job while registered up here. Our bet is that it would have been impossible to get them to accept it and also that the unemployment commission would have made no effort to make them accept the job.

Actually the whole thing is nothing more than a farce. It is one more shameful example of how the unemployment commission and the law squanders funds in what is apparently a constant effort to perpetuate itself and keep as many as possible on the government payroll.

Unemployment pay can be a great help to the sincere worker, laid off through no fault of his own. It helps a little to keep his family until a job breaks. We imagine many, probably a large majority, are sincerely appreciative of the assistance and make constant, conscientious efforts to get back to work as soon as possible.

But there are the others who take advantage of it in every possible way. They use it for paid vacations. They use it when they merely don't like what they are doing and want to look for something else. And they are helped along by an administering commission that seems only interested in paying out money and asking for more.

The waste of money is shameful. Something must be done to tighten the law and spruce up the administration so that millions are not paid out to undeserving with the possible consequence that some day there won't be any left when a deserving man registers for his weekly check.—Arenac County Independent, Standish.

Merger of State Boards Needed in Field of Labor

By Vernon J. Brown

For the past two weeks in this column I have been attempting to point out some of the benefits and some of the fallacies of the many proposals now being advanced, all pointing to mergers and consolidations in state government. The so-called Hoover commission having to do with national affairs has evidently not the states on fire with zeal for "streamlining" their own governmental operations.

Herein I will attempt to point to what I believe to be further possibilities along this line and to further point out some of the opposition to be encountered and some of the fallacies found among the so-called "streamliners."

Let us take a look over the field of labor, the regulation of industries, the provisions for protecting the lives and limbs of industrial employees, the provisions for compensating those who are laid off or lose their jobs for no cause of their own making, and to pay those who are injured and the dependents of those who lose their lives in industrial plants, mines and in other fields of endeavor. Still another agency is occupied with the business of settling or attempting to settle disputes between labor and management. Others include the licensing and regulation of employment bureaus and the operation of many re-employment offices throughout the state. More than half a dozen agencies meddle with labor laws.

Regulation of employees and safeguarding the rights and interests of those who are employed in industry involves the expenditure of more than $7,500,000 a year.

Labor and the Law. A great many of the laws found on the statute books having to do with labor problems are complicated and have been many times amended. A lot of lawyers in this state do little except handle labor matters, either for industry or for organized labor groups.

There is the commissioner of labor whose department, police industry in general, seeing to it that laws governing the installation of safety devices and health protective measures are obeyed and that the laws governing the employment of females and youths are not violated. Then there is the workmen's compensation commission consisting of four members and a secretary who draw combined salaries of $34,000 a year with plenty of extra clerical help added. The Michigan unemployment commission consists of four part-time members at $2500 each a year plus a $10,000 executive secretary together with an appeal board of three and another secretary. Total salaries for this department alone exceed $7,000,000 a year. The labor mediation board is made up of three members and a secretary with an annual payroll in excess of $60,000.

Perhaps some have been missed in my rapid review of this complex field of regulation and administration. But I have listed enough to indicate how confused the average shop worker must be when he cuts a finger, gets laid off or has a grievance against his employer. No wonder a lot of lawyers find these victims easy picking.

It seems to me all these activities could best be managed under one control. A director in each field could well decide most matters and as to the controversies that are certain to arise, these could best be handled by a board or commission made up of the best qualified men to be found. They should be of supreme court caliber—unprejudiced, unfeathered and of highest moral character and of good repute in every respect. Three or five such men, in my opinion, many will be stormy and spring will be cold and late.

December means the tenth month when the year began in March with the vernal equinox; but since January and February have been inserted before it, the term is incorrect. September means seventh month, October the eighth and November the ninth.

My popularity as a guest has climbed with the price of coffee. I don't drink it. Coffee originally came from Abyssinia and about the 15th century was found in Arabia. Brazil now produces about two-thirds of all the coffee grown with Colombia in second place. The Philippines, Hawaii, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, all the Central American countries, Africa, Arabia and Ceylon are also producers. The United States is the largest consumer. Coffee is the No. 1 import of the United States.

Dried dandelion roots, parsnips, carrots, beets, beans, rice and various cereals along with chloery can be used to adulterate coffee, and with coffee at 80¢ a pound it might be a good idea to toss almost anything into the brew.

would do a better job than all this conglomeration of political hacks now making up the long list of board and commission members.

The Wrong Kind

Already in operation is one of the bits of streamlining I do not like and which has by no means proved its worth or efficiency. The legislature of 1947 ripped the state's accounting system out of the auditor general's department. It put all accounting, the budget, the purchasing department and the buildings and construction division all under control of a single individual responsible only to the governor. A lot of other important functions involving the expenditure of money are under this same one-man rule. Instead of a saving in cost of operation there has been instead a considerable increase. There has been no noticeable increase in efficiency. At least it has not been noticed by the public. On the other hand the door is wide open now in Michigan for some gang of political manipulators to first elect a governor and then make a payoff as would bring tears of envy to any political boss Michigan has ever known.

The ripped-out accounting system was developed under the counsel and advice of the accounting heads of the biggest businesses in Michigan. The purchasing system abolished was fashioned by the purchasing heads of Michigan's largest industrial and commercial concerns. The building and construction department, up to the day of its surrender to the front office, had been one of the best regulated and most zealously watched of any state agency. This is another paper reform shown to be nothing more than an abortive attempt to do something new to attract public attention.

Such reforms in government never prove their worth.

Book Talk

from Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Every day except Sundays and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Tuesday, Friday hours: Saturday mornings, 10-12.

Book reviewing or commentary as I think this should be called, makes for a great miscellany in reading. You pick out what looks interesting, what is liable to be talked about, and then some odds and ends that some more individualistic reader may want to know about, which reminds us—talk to us about your hobbies, they help us know what to buy.

EARTH ABIDES is the third of the books on very unusual subjects which George Stewart has used for his novels. You will remember FIRE, STORM, and we're sure for a time you'll remember this one. It is the story of a few individuals in very scattered parts of the United States who find that they are still living after a new and very lethal disease has wiped out most of the people. Imagine yourself the only individual in a state—what would you do. How long would it take for electricity to cease, for food supplies to deteriorate, for automobiles to fail to run? How would individuals react to such a shock? These are all considered by Mr. Stewart.

ONE ON THE HOUSE is Mary Lasswell's addition to the humor series which began with SUDS IN YOUR EYE. You'll either enjoy her ribald humor immensely, or be revolted by the whole thing.

NEVER DIES THE DREAM by Margaret Landon was a disappointment to us, for we enjoyed ANNA AND THE KING OF SIAM. Perhaps there's too much an attempt to preach and show the complete good of the heroine who runs a small school for Siamese girls. The school is under a mission board and must pass inspection at intervals. Even missionaries play petty politics, it seems, and the pure benevolence of India Severn is envied by her former colleague Grace Ruthertford, who, for the good of India, undermines her work.

ABE LINCOLN OF PIGEON CREEK is a fictional biography which tells of his early dislike and later love for his step-mother, as well as his teen-age romance with Anna Roby. Through these episodes the author tries to explain the reason for Abe's trip down the Mississippi.

What would you mystery fans do if we didn't include a mystery once in a while? Go right on without our recommendations probably. Anyway, try Dorothy Disney's COUNT THE WAYS.

Don't Let Anybody Fool You!

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors.

How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense. The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

The anti-trust lawyers have insisted that this suit will not affect other distributors, "nor will it destroy any efficiencies of mass distribution."

The fact is that the anti-trust lawyers ask the court to break up the company, make it get rid of its admittedly legal manufacturing operations and in general destroy many of the efficiencies which have enabled it to sell food cheap.

If such an attack is successful, it immediately raises the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The anti-trust lawyers are saying that they "do not contemplate any other suits of this nature at this time."

But that does not mean that they cannot undertake such suits at any future time if they win this case.

As a matter of fact, the anti-trust lawyers made practically the same allegations against two of our largest competitors that they are making against us.

And it can also be used as the basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

There are today literally thousands of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition.

They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.

Of Interest to Farmers

Dread Bang's Disease Being Whipped

More than 75,000 Michigan dairy cattle have been vaccinated with the new Bang's disease vaccine in the two years it has been available. Surveys of its value, recently conducted by Michigan State extension station, show spread of disease is being controlled by vaccine M in many Michigan herds.

The vaccine, Brucella M, was developed by Dr. Huddleson, Michigan State college authority on a disease which causes losses amounting to many millions of dollars annually by Michigan farmers alone. Brucellosis in animals is also the cause of undulant fever in man, since little or no infection has ever been found that is disease can be transmitted from man to man.

100 Herds Checked

Extension study was made in several counties in which veterinarians have used the vaccine. Records of more than 400 herds with more than 5,000 cattle were checked. A total of nearly 50 herds were personally visited. The survey was made by Drs. B. J. Huddleson and G. W. Reed, extension veterinarians at Michigan State college, and Dr. C. F. Clark, who recently came to Michigan state veterinarian to return to the staff of the school of veterinary medicine at East Lansing.

Here is what the study showed:

1. Spread of the disease was reduced by 50 per cent in herds using Brucella M, when compared with herds not vaccinated.
2. Abortion in cattle practically ceased after Brucella M was used.
3. Enthusiastic support of the new vaccine came from dairymen and veterinarians using it.

Records were checked on 2,927 animals in 311 herds that were blood tested and not vaccinated and 2,402 animals in 117 herds blood tested and vaccinated with Brucella M. From 7 to 10 months later, animals were rechecked.

Dr. Huddleson, who since 1915 has devoted most of his efforts at Michigan State college to perfecting treatments for brucellosis and undulant fever, developed the vaccine for the prevention of spread of brucellosis.

Only One Doubting Thomas

Dr. Killham, in commenting on the survey, said that in visiting more than 50 herd owners that had used the vaccine, only one dairymen evidenced any doubt concerning its control of the spread of brucellosis. A careful check of the herd records with veterinarians caused doubt in this farmer's mind and he since has vaccinated his new herd replacements with Brucella M.

Brucella M vaccine cannot be shipped out of the state of Michigan except for experimental use. Then it can go out only by special permit from the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

Dr. Ed Sterner, Ionia veterinarian, has vaccinated nearly 3,000 cattle with the vaccine in two years in his area. He says it has been so successful that many dairymen who were ready to sell valuable animals, have cleaned up their herds by using the vaccine and have remained in the dairy business.

The vaccine is popular with both grade herd and purebred owners, Sterner reports. He cited herds where new replacement disease-free animals were purchased and vaccinated with Brucella M before being brought to the farms. They were turned loose with Bang's infected animals and have never shown any reaction in tests after the customary 60 to 90 days after vaccination.

Requests Are Mounting

The veterinarian says he gets 25 requests for Brucella M to one for another vaccine, although it is necessary for him to make a higher charge for vaccinating animals with the new treatment. This higher charge for Brucella M, he explains, is due to additional blood tests of vaccinated animals required in the program being used to prove the value of the new vaccine. Farmers learn of the success of Brucella M in controlling the disease and consult with him about using it in their herds, Dr. Sterner explained.

Bang's disease has always been regarded as the dairyman's greatest problem, but Dr. Sterner explained: "Dairymen I work with here in Ionia county don't consider Bang's as serious as mastitis now that we've used Dr. Huddleson's vaccine for two years. Most of them are enthusiastic about the results."

G. E. Peterson, Orleans farmer, stopped a Bang's break in his herd in 1947 using Brucella M. He thinks it's the answer to the brucellosis problem. In nine months of a test and slaughter program, he eliminated seven animals from his Holstein herd. Since he used the Huddleson vaccine, he has had no more losses.

Peterson, whose herd averaged 433 pounds of fat this year, says vaccination did not cause any drop in production and no animals that were with calf aborted after the use of Brucella M.

Dr. Nelson S. Howe, Jr., St. Johns veterinarian, says dairymen in his area are "pretty thoroughly sold on Dr. Huddleson's vaccine" for controlling Bang's disease.

More grass and livestock in 1950 due to crop acreage controls is the prediction of agricultural economists at Michigan State college.

But for higher earnings on most farms, they say the emphasis must be on better grass rather than more acres of grass. With increased demand for legume and grass seeds, it will be wise to line up 1950 needs and take delivery. Most Michigan farmers can use more high analysis commercial fertilizer profitably on cash crops, small grains and alfalfa. Supplier for next year should be ordered soon.

The economists believe that livestock in Michigan will be more profitable than cash crop farming during the next ten years. Profits from production and sale of feed will come from good use of feed rather than margins in the feeder cattle business this year.

Folks visiting the National Farm Show in the Coliseum, Chicago, Nov. 26-Dec. 3, will find attractions like those shown above to interest every member of the family.

(Top right) New diesel tractor said to effect great fuel savings will be exhibited in the implement and equipment section.

(Below) 4-H Club youngsters will match skill in judging eggs and dressed poultry, as well as live birds, in Invitational Interstate 4-H Poultry Judging contest to be held Nov. 29. Best teams from each state have been invited to compete for trophy, won last year by Oklahoma.

Trouble Lurking For Farm Buyers With Heavy Debts

Michigan farmers who now buy a farm mortgaged at much more than half its value may be in for financial trouble in future years, according to agricultural economists at Michigan State college.

The economists' appraisal of the farm real estate situation is contained in the current outlook issue of "Michigan Farm Economics," published monthly as part of the MSC extension service program.

Three changes in the farm real estate picture were considered significant. Land prices have passed their peak with a 5 per cent drop since the November 1948 high. The number of farms changing hands in the last year has dropped sharply from the war-time peak. Farm mortgage debt is increasing again.

According to the economists, farm land is a riskier buy now because it will take more products to pay off $1,000 of debt than it did in the past several years. Farm product prices are falling faster than farm costs, which means less profit. And it's the profits which pay off indebtedness.

Farmers in general are in very sound financial condition, however. This is indicated by records showing that in recent years half or more of the farms changing hands in this state have been sold on an all-cash basis.

It is important, the economists said, that a farm or additional acreage be "bought right," and that it is productive land. Farmers who can pay one-half or more of the purchase price in cash will not be taking more than the usual risk in buying a farm now.

The U. S. imported 142 million pounds of fresh fruits last year.

State Wages War On Bang's Disease

According to Dr. Lee Davidson, state veterinarian, stockyard inspectors are contacting dealers and livestock brokers as well as farmers, regarding livestock regulations, particularly those pertaining to cattle. The information being disseminated pertains to the Borne law.

Dr. Davidson reports that many folks dealing with cattle apparently are not familiar with the requirements of the law which states that removal of cattle over 12 months of age from any premises, stockyards or railroad yards, must be accompanied with proper health certificates for return to the farm for feeding or breeding purposes.

This is an effort on the part of the department to control Bang's disease, tuberculosis, hog cholera, and any other contagious or infectious disease. If all persons, whether dealers or farmers, comply with the laws, it will greatly assist in the control of animal diseases, the veterinarian said.

More Livestock and Grass in 1950

Efficiency Key To Dairy Profit

"Short-term prospects for dairy farming profits are anything but bright when compared to recent years, but the long-time prospects still look good," says Gerald Quackenbush, dairy specialist in the agricultural economics department at Michigan State college.

Michigan dairy farmers are faced with several unfavorable predictions for 1950. They are: 1. Milk production will increase because cow numbers are increasing and there is plenty of feed available. 2. The demand for dairy products will be lower even though consumers still spend more of their income for such foods than before the war. 3. Dairy product prices are expected to drop slightly in 1950 from 1949 levels.

"This may be the time to get rid of that poorest cow you decided to cull last year," Quackenbush advises. "From an individual standpoint you might boost income by adding one or two good producers to the herd to use up large feed supplies."

The advantages of selling milk for manufacturing are not as attractive as they have been in recent years, the economist pointed out. That many dairymen could profit from selling cream and feeding the skim milk. Some would gain by selling to fluid milk markets, but the advantages of this are less certain over a longer period.

With the decreasing demand for ice cream, cheese and dry whole milk, butter production in 1950 may rise up to 10 per cent above the 1949 output, Quackenbush predicted.

Magazine Tribute

An entire issue of Hoots and Horns, the "cowboy's bible," was given over to tributes to Pete Knight, world's champion rodeo performer, following his death at Hayward, California, when he tried to ride the bucking horse, "Duster."

Survey Value of New Brucellosis Vaccine

For two years Michigan dairymen have been using a new vaccine developed to control the spread of Brucellosis in dairy cattle. The Michigan State college veterinarians have completed a survey to determine its value. (1) Dr. B. J. Killham, extension veterinarian, (left) confers with Dr. Ed Sterner, Ionia practitioner, on blood samples taken from herds the Ionia veterinarian had vaccinated. Dr. Sterner has vaccinated more than 3,000 animals and reports excellent results. (2) Dr. I. F. Huddleson, MSC veterinarian and nationally known authority on Bang's disease and undulant fever, developed the vaccine, Brucella M, in his laboratory. More than 75,000 Michigan cattle have been vaccinated with it. (3) Dr. Sterner injects the vaccine into an animal in the registered herd of G. E. Peterson, Orleans, as the dairymen watches. Peterson reports the vaccine cleared up a "break of Bang's disease" in his herd and stopped the loss of valuable animals.

Right Now Is the Time to Start Figuring Out Farm Income Tax

By Bob Myers
(Lapeer Press Farm Editor)

It is time to shape up your farm business to help regulate the income tax you must pay. Do not make the mistake of waiting until January 1 to begin figuring your taxes. It is too late then to do anything about them.

The effect on income taxes should be considered before any major transaction is completed—regardless of the time of year, but all the more important now.

As the year-end approaches, look ahead to the probable profits for this year and next year. Then do what you can to equate the net income between this year and next. You pay less tax on a steady income than on a fluctuating income.

The long-time trend of taxes is up. The Federal Government is now in the red several billion dollars—therefore, when other taxes are equal, keep your tax position current.

Mr. Truman has expressed himself as favoring higher taxes next year. But, 1950 is an election year, so it is reasonably safe to assume that increases, if any, will be minor, especially on net incomes of $5,000 or less. Higher tax rates are possible, but not likely.

Farm profits will be down on most farms next year and the downward trend will continue for several years. Even with supports, farm expenses will take a bigger and bigger bite out of total farm income.

The favorable weather and big crops of 1948 and 1949 will not continue without a break.

Therefore, do not pay taxes on big profits this year if part of your income can be deferred in 1950—unless you feel certain that you will net as much or more next year.

For those who anticipate lower net profits next year, it should be good business to buy as much feed, seed, fertilizer and limestone as you will need for the coming season. There will be less advantage in buying things like fence wire, farm machinery and building needs for there is a possibility that prices on these items will be a little lower next year.

Keep all records on improvements to the homes, barns, other buildings, fences, tile lines, etc., because if you ever sell out, the cost of improvements is a part of the amount to be used in determining the profit or loss on the sale. Too often improvements are overlooked or can't be proven, and tax benefits are lost as a result.

All farm expenses, except those classified as Preparatory or Development Costs, are deductible from gross farm income in arriving at net farm income.

Preparatory or Development costs are not deductible. They must be treated as an added capital investment, just like land and buildings. Typical of these preparatory items which are not deductible are the cost of fencing, clearing, ditching or tilling land in preparation for farming or grazing operations. The expense of planting an orchard is classed as development cost. But the cost of cultivating, pruning, fertilizing and spraying to bring the trees into bearing may be reported either as a current expense or as a development cost, depending on the wishes of the taxpayer.

Building and fence repairs: Use care in reporting such items.

Usually small items are accepted as maintenance but big expenditures should, in most cases, be set up as an improvement and depreciated.

If you plan to build a shed on the barn yard, the whole barn at the same time, treat them as two different jobs. Have the bills written up separately, and if you hire the work done, write two separate contracts. That way there will be no question but that the paint job was a maintenance cost and 100 per cent deductible from current income.

Constructive receipts: Do not try to dodge income taxes by selling cattle before January 1 and taking payment after the first of the year. The Revenue Department agrees that you can collect anytime after you deliver the cattle. The income is taxable.

Depreciation Set depreciation rates high enough to protect your interests from the beginning and keep them consistent. The Revenue people figure you are up to something when you ask for a change. Land is not subject to depreciation. Neither is the farm home if you live in it (except to the extent that it is used as an office and to board hired help).

Much confusion and many abuses have grown out of the tax laws covering capital gains and losses in relation to the sale of livestock. Ordinarily sales of livestock do not come under the provisions of this law.

It is only when the size of your breeding herd is being reduced that it is possible to claim the sale of capital assets or "Used Livestock." The capital gain from such sales is subject to a tax of not more than 25 per cent provided you have owned them 6 months or more. If the sale resulted in a loss the entire amount of the loss is deductible.

Recently a lot of publicity has been given to a new tax court ruling that seems to permit sales of all breeding stock to be reported as used livestock—whether the herd was reduced or not.

The case, which was held in favor of the taxpayer, has not gone to the Supreme Court. Other tax districts may not allow the reduction. Before you decide to claim income tax relief based on this ruling—better realize that you may have to fight the case and/or pay penalties.

The taxpayer is allowed a $600 exemption for himself and each dependent. He can claim as dependents only those who meet these specific requirements.

1. Receive more than one-half of their support from the taxpayer.
2. Closely related to taxpayer. In addition to the wife (or husband) only the following may be claimed: Own children or grandchildren, parents or grandpar-

Westerner Joins MSC Staff

Clifford L. Bedford has recently been appointed food technology at Michigan State college.

Work in the field of fruit and vegetable processing is of importance to the fruit and vegetable growers and to the canners and freezers of these products in Michigan.

Dr. Bedford comes to Michigan State college from the State college of Washington where he aided in setting up the food technology division. He has conducted extensive research in determining the effect of freezing and canning processes on the nutritive value of fruit. His initial work in Michigan will involve problems in the processing of fruit crops, particularly sour cherries, peaches, and apples. He was born at Cheney, Washington, and lived on a fruit ranch in northern California where he gained practical experience in fruit production. Dr. Bedford graduated from the University of California at Berkeley where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1941. He joined the staff at Washington State college following completion of his

Turkey Show at Alma Dec. 7-8-9

Turkey days are with us and members of Michigan's seven million dollar turkey industry are getting ready for their annual three-day festival to be held at the Alma college gymnasium on December 7, 8 and 9.

Live birds will be judged December 7, dressed out December 8 and rejudged as dressed birds Friday morning. There is no entry fee for exhibitors in either the dressed or live bird classes. Judging of dressed and oven-ready entries is set for Thursday.

A highlight of this year's festival will be a banquet on Thursday evening, honoring the 1949 Turkey Queen and her court. The two champion oven-ready birds will be sold at auction and Governor G. Mennen Williams will be present to crown the queen.

Educational events will be one of the features of this year's festival. A demonstration conducted by Mary Bodwell, Michigan State college food economist, and a cooking school, sponsored by the Alma Professional and Business Women's Club are planned for Thursday afternoon. Members of the extension service will aid in the events and prizes will be provided for the ladies attending.

Following the cooking school, a meeting is planned for 3:30 p. m. featuring turkey marketing. Participants will be Stanley Marsden, Washington, D. C.; Patrick Kauffman, federal market news service, Detroit; and L. E. Dawson, poultry specialist at Michigan State college.

Michigan 4-H'ers Win Chicago Trips

SUPERIOR records of achievement in National 4-H Garden, Home Improvement, Poultry and Tractor Maintenance programs have won 1949 state championship honors for four Wolverine State club members. Each received an all-expense trip to the 28th National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, Nov. 27 to Dec. 1. The winners, who were selected by the state club officers, and brief outlines of their records follow:

Though seven years in 4-H were filled with many exciting events for Rhoda Kelly, 16, of Lansing, none surpassed the thrill of being chosen State winner in the 1949 4-H Home Improvement program. Receiving this honor means that Rhoda accomplished more in the way of home improvement than any other Michigan 4-H'er. Among the many things she did was to improve her room, by removing old paper and trim finish, and redecorating room completely. She added new furniture, made drapes, bedspread and recovered chairs. She also built shelves and a corner dressing table in her closet, in order to utilize all available space. Rhoda used yellow and white as her color scheme, and a flowered print in green, yellow and gray for draperies and spread, with a dark green slung rug on the floor. Rhoda's club activities included serving her club as president, secretary, treasurer and in junior leadership. Her reward, given by Sears-Roebuck Foundation, was a trip to Chicago.

Learning proper care and operation of tractors not only paid off in fuel saving for Roger Anderson, 19, of Abilene, but brought him the distinction of being chosen 1949 State champion in the National 4-H Tractor Maintenance program. By putting into practice what he learned, Roger saved the family tractor in years' running order. He also prepared 20 team demonstrations in tractor maintenance and participated in the plowing contest held in the county each year. Active in club affairs, Roger served as leader, assistant leader and president of the local 4-H group. As a reward he attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, with all expenses paid by the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

LOOKS like a Jet Plane TRAVELS the same way

YOU see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to "double bubble" taillights, here is the look of "the fastest thing that flies."

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock to mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

You realize that here is action; swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflo

Drive* if you wish. Pleasurable—in the wide, wide outlook that's yours, and the inner satisfaction of having a Buick for your very own.

And we might add another thing; just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflo, frugal even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine—as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.
