

New Census Plan Due for Test Run In This County

Ingham Residents Offered Opportunity to Fill Out Own 1950 Census Blanks

Ingham and Livingston counties in Michigan and two counties in Ohio have been picked for a trial census count under the plan approved for 1960.

In other counties in the United States census enumerators will take down the information themselves. In the four counties chosen for the 1960 pilot plan residents themselves will fill out the census blanks and mail them in. People will not have to divulge to enumerators their earnings or other information they want to keep secret.

Those who help in the census in Ingham and Livingston counties will not be called enumerators. Their official title is listers. They'll just have to list where they left the papers, and group leaders will then follow up to see that returns were mailed in. Census officials estimate that only about five per cent will not be willing or able to fill out and mail in their own forms.

Under the special Ingham schedule the listers will be in the field for not much longer than a week, from March 23 to April 1.

Joy Davis Is Leader

Joy O. Davis of Mason joined the district census staff Tuesday as a group leader. There are five in the county outside of Lansing. Davis has been assigned the city of Mason and the townships of Alameda, Aurelius, Vevay, Ingham, White Oak, Onondaga, Leslie, Bunker Hill and Stockbridge. Albert Dobson has been assigned Delhi, Mrs. Eva Hampton and William Stein of East Lansing and Ellsworth Riley of Bell Oaks are the other group leaders, according to the announcement made by District Census Supervisor Wayne Krumheuer in Lansing Wednesday. Krumheuer said that Ingham listers will be announced within a week or 10 days. They have all taken their civil service examinations, the supervisor explained, but the returns have not been received.

Township Raising Money for Hall By Public Supper

To raise money to furnish the new Ingham town hall at Dansville community groups have joined forces to stage a public supper. The supper will be held Wednesday night, March 8, at the hall.

The town hall was dedicated February 18. It replaces the hall destroyed by fire February 7, 1947. Sales tax revenues took care of all except $9,400 of the cost of the new hall. Property owners voted to raise $9,400 by property tax. There was no money left over, though, for furnishing the building. That's why the supper is being held next Wednesday night.

The Baptist Ladies Aid is sponsoring the supper with the Booster club of the Methodist church, the Methodist W. S. C. S., the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy Scouts, Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, village council, Ingham extension club, O. E. S., Masonic lodge, Ingham town board, Dansville Campfire Girls and Ingham PTA co-operating.

David Overholt is general chairman of the supper with Mrs. Irma Musolf serving as vice-chairman.

Neighbors Save Hall at Vantown

Early discovery of a fire during the height of Wednesday night's blizzard and quick action by neighbors saved the W. S. C. S. hall of the Vantown Methodist church.

Alan Nemer, working in the Nemer store diagonally across the corner from the church and hall, saw smoke pouring through a hole in the roof near the chimney. The time was 7:30. He summoned neighbors, and a road commission snowplow crew also lent a hand. The men were able to put out the fire without summoning the department at Webberville.

Merchants Class Begins Monday

Mason business men will return to school Monday night. Many of them have signed up for a six-week course sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce through the adult education program of Michigan State college.

Classes will be held at the school. Monday night's lesson is on credit control. The operator of the Battle Creek and Albion credit bureaus will be the speaker. The second lesson will be March 13. The topic will be inventory control.

Bob Ingham, Norman Dart and Al Rice are on the committee enrolling business men. Each pupil must pay $10.80 tuition.

Fire Siren Blows Often

Mason, Dansville and Holt firemen have been busy answering alarms this week. Mason, Holt and John Bean firemen joined forces to fight this costly blaze at the Clarence Sheathelm farm Tuesday afternoon. The entire upper story was destroyed.

Court officials picked by lot Monday afternoon the names of 50 men and women to serve as jurors at the March term. The March term will be held in Lansing. Court will be opened March 13. The jurors have been summoned to report Monday, March 20.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard, Deputy Clerk Gertrude Ludwig, Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald and Justices of the Peace William S. Seelye of Mason and Alvin Hartig of Delhi conducted the drawing.

Those whose names were drawn for jury duty are: Mrs. Mary Deuel, Mrs. Elene Hammann and Emery H. Jewett, Mason; Elmer J. Leach and Earl J. Miller, Alameda; Mrs. Mary Fowler and Mrs. Ruth Sedgman, Aurelius; Alton E. West and Mrs. Lucy D. Rice, Bunker Hill; Ruby Vickery and Frances Gaulke, Delhi; Josephine E. Brown and Earl A. Clifford LeRoue, Locke; L. M. DeLind and Robert G. Ingersoll, Meridian; Miss Fannie Ferris and Carol Herrguth, Onondaga; John Brower and Mrs. Nora Usher, Stockbridge;

Mrs. Lulu Whipple and John Jones, Vevay; Mrs. Edith Backus and Frank Everett, Wheatfield; Howard Waid and Julia Sollars, White Oak; Dudley Luce and Mrs. Bess Bennett, Williamstown township; Floyd Bennett, Williamstown city; Mrs. Nellie Beaumont, East Lansing;

A. C. Baltzer

Mason milk producers will learn about dairying in Europe Saturday, when they hear A. C. Baltzer and see the pictures he took last summer in Denmark and other dairy sections of Europe.

Baltzer has charge of the educational program of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Co-operative, which was launched through the extension service in 1944. He also continues to serve as a member of the dairy extension staff. He joined the staff in 1921.

In the four years between the start of the artificial breeding program in 1944 and the end of 1948 more than 16,000 herd owners joined up with more than 120,000 cows bred to proved sires in 65 Michigan counties.

County Provides Pensions for Road Employees

Beginning Wednesday Ingham county road commission employees went under the protection of a pension plan. It will affect 132 at the present count.

Employees will have to pay 5 per cent of their wages into the retirement fund with the county adding about $33,808 a year.

According to actuaries, county participation will be reduced at the end of a 40-year period when those who are entitled to pensions without past participation are supplanted by employees who pay their 5 per cent contribution for the entire period of employment.

The county participation of $33,808 a year is broken down into $10,532 for prior service, $22,262 for prospective pensioners who contribute 5 per cent and $1,074 for a disability clause.

If employees leave road commission work with less than 10 years of service they can get their contributions back in full plus two per cent interest.

Pensions will range between $65 and $85 per month on the average. Contributions are limited to $180 a year from any employee. That puts the top salary covered by pension at $3,600.

Retirement on pension is possible at the age of 60 with mandatory retirement at 70. Workers now 70 or near it will be permitted to work until they get in five more years, if they are physically able, in order to gain greater participation. There are now eight employees above 60 and five are above 65, according to road commission records.

The pension program was worked out through the Michigan municipal employees retirement fund. Road commission employees voted 97 per cent in favor of that plan over others presented.

Other county employees are demanding pensions. At the February meeting of the supervisors the issue came up again. Three years ago it was tabled.

Road commission officials declared that the pension program for their employees will in nowise complicate or make more costly the pension coverage sought by other county employees.

Flames Destroy Two Farm Homes, Other Runs Made

Alameda and White Oak Farm Homes Are Ruined, 600 Young Chicks Saved

Vacation days are over for Mason firemen. Three calls since last Friday ended the three-month quiet on the fire-fighting front.

Mason firemen joined Delhi township and John Bean Co. fighters Monday afternoon to save part of the Clarence Sheathelm home on Phillips road in Alameda. Last Friday night the Mason firemen made a run to the A. V. Trench home on Okemos road in Alameda to control smoke damage. Furnace installers had left a rag in a hot air run. On Saturday morning the firemen saved 600 chicks in a brooder house blaze on the Seelach farm in Wheatfield.

Dansville firemen fought fire at the Whitaker home on the Kendrick farm. Kendrick road, White Oak, Monday forenoon. The house was virtually destroyed. Firemen were able to save the contents of the lower floors at both the Sheathelm and Whitaker fires.

Fire in Roof While the cause of the Sheathelm fire remains unknown, Fire Chief Leland Austin is of the opinion it started from sparks lodging around the chimney.

The blaze was discovered about four o'clock Monday afternoon. Sheathelm grabbed a garden hose and ran up a ladder to the roof to fight what was then a small fire. There wasn't enough water pressure to do much good.

There was a delay in telephoning the alarm to the Delhi department. By the time the fire trucks

TOOL SHED BURNS

Fire destroyed the tool shed on the Kenneth Kurtz farm on Canaan road Thursday noon. None of the other buildings were damaged. Delhi, Lansing and Meridian firemen were summoned to the fire.

arrived from Mason and Holt the entire second story of the big house was in flames.

Neighbors helped carry out most of the furniture on the first floor. The flames were stopped at the floor of the second story. The roof and upper structure were entirely destroyed.

The Sheathelms will suffer a heavy loss in their fire. They were covered by only $2,000 on the big house and $1,000 on contents. The policy is with the Ingham County Farmers Mutual. The actual loss will run between $6,000 and $8,000. Fire Chief Leland Austin estimated.

Mainline Saw Fire George Vogt, Sr., carrying mail on the Dansville route, discovered the roof on fire at the Whitaker home. He had to drive a half-mile to reach a telephone to summon aid from Dansville. The entire upper story was blazing when the firemen arrived. Most of the furniture downstairs was saved.

Mrs. Whitaker told Dansville Fire Chief Dale Erter that a light cord might have started the fire. She has been having trouble with a cord. There was not enough fire in the stove, Erter said, to have set the house on fire.

There are two houses on the Kendrick farm. The smaller was the one destroyed. It was insured in the Ingham County Farmers Mutual for $1,800.

Fire Catches in Straw An overheated coal brooder stove set fire to straw insulation in the poultry house at the Hill farm on Waldo road Saturday morning. All except a few chicks were saved.

The roof of the brooder house was destroyed. Some of the chicks were soaked by streams of water played on the blaze but most of them survived.

Damage to the poultry house roof was estimated at $100. At the Trough home last November furnace installers left a rag in a run. In forcing the furnace in Friday night's bitter cold the rag smoldered to cause a smudge.

Red Cross Drive Now Under Way

Solicitation will begin within a few days for the 1950 Red Cross campaign. Ingham residents are being asked to contribute $45,000. Dr. Russell R. Robbins of Mason is chairman of the drive outside of Lansing and East Lansing. Col. Rodney Dorsey heads the Lansing and East Lansing campaign.

Dr. Robbins has begun the job of organizing a staff to cover the county. Township chairmen for some areas have been named and more will be on the job before the week is out. The county chairman plans to call a meeting of its organization Friday, March 10.

Township chairmen picked so far are Floyd Fogle, Alameda; Mrs. Ralph Hewitt, Aurelius; Dick Schmidt, Leslie; Bill Kaskay, Stockbridge; Mrs. Wilfred Jewett, Vevay; Mrs. Glen Curtis, White Oak; and Wayne Runciman, Wheatfield.

Howard McCowan will head the drive in the city of Mason.

Hospital Issue May Again Come Before Board

Whether the county will continue operation of the convalescent hospital which is no longer used for that purpose may be up to the supervisors Monday.

At the request of the city of Lansing the supervisors turned the lease back to the county. Lansing had a deal on to lease the hospital to the Sparrow hospital for operation as an annex. Now the deal appears to be off again.

The board of social welfare took over the former Lansing convalescent hospital in 1947, operating it on a lease at a rental of $5,000 a year. In 1947 the board of social welfare had to keep indigent convalescent patients in a hospital. Last year the state regulations were changed since when private nursing homes can be used.

The change in regulations saved the county an estimated $50,000 a year. Welfare Director Daryl Minnis told Ingham supervisors. Last summer the hospital was turned over for police cases.

Whether Lansing now has the hospital or whether the county has the lease back on its hands may be brought before the board of supervisors Monday. That looms as the major issue of the Monday session.

Smoke Damages Mason Residence

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Opdyke and four children, Donna, 12; Janet, 10; Phyllis, 7; and Hazel, 6, are out in the cold during the worst streak of the winter. The Opdyke home at 427 East Ash street burned Wednesday morning. Damage from fire, smoke and water amounted to $4,500. The house and contents are both insured.

Opdyke went down to the basement before breakfast to fix the fire. Everything was all right then, he said. A few minutes later the Opdykes were in the kitchen getting ready for breakfast when flames shot up out of the cold air register. Opdyke ran to the basement while his wife phoned the alarm.

Opdyke tried to extinguish the flames with a garden hose but was forced back by flames and smoke. He was burned slightly and the Neighbors of the Opdykes have started a cash fund for the burned out family. Anyone who wishes to help out may leave money or clothes and furniture with The Mason Clearing House, Mrs. William Tietz, Mrs. Maurice Rickly or the Dart Bank. The Opdykes are especially in need of bedding.

Ninety-nine pints of blood were collected. Because of colds and recent sicknesses four of the volunteers were forced to keep their blood for themselves.

Members of the Mason General Hospital Auxiliary, which sponsored the campaign, are jubilant over the success. Had the weather been good the collection would have gone beyond 100 pints. Mrs. Wilma Barnhill, chairman, declared.

The success was won under the eyes of a national Red Cross official, Miss Emily Gatz, assistant director of nursing service for the blood program, came from St. Louis, Mo., to observe operations. She praised members of the committee for their work and the donors for their response.

Last November the collection in Mason was 44 pints. The collection Wednesday was more than double the November mark.

The Red Cross mobile blood unit was set up in the basement of the Presbyterian church. Donors started arriving at noon and kept on coming until seven o'clock.

Among the donors were Mrs. Leola Watkins, Don Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Winkler, Frank K. Evans, R. V. Abel, Mrs. L. L. Swanniger, Lawrence L. Oesterle, L. B. Mayor Names Administrator To Handle Fuel Emergency As Coal Strike Continues

Mayor Urges City Residents to Buy or Cut Wood Because Even Emergency Coal Will Not Be Adequate To Keep Homes Warm, Mason School May Shut Down

Mayor C. H. Hall named City Clerk George Kellogg the city fuel administrator Wednesday. The appointment was made by authority of Governor G. Mennen Williams' proclamation that an emergency exists.

Under the program set up the most demanding needs for coal can be filled—if there is any coal.

How to Get Coal:

Mason householders who have less than five days supply of coal in their bins may apply to City Clerk George Kellogg, who has been named Mason fuel administrator.

Certificates will be issued by the administrator only when an eligible domestic consumer has not more than a five-day supply of coal, and has made every reasonable effort to obtain a supply from all dealers in the community, and without success.

Applicants must state the amount of coal they have on hand, and their daily requirements. They must list the names of dealers whom they have seen in an effort to get fuel. They must indicate with which dealers orders have been placed. They must agree to have their statements verified by police inspection of bins. Certificates to buy coal are not welfare orders. Applicants are expected to pay cash to dealers for coal, or make suitable credit arrangements.

Boards of Review Begin Hearings

Legislators last year changed the schedule for meetings of township and city boards of review.

Instead of meeting in June the boards now conduct hearings in March.

Township boards of review now meet Tuesday, March 7, and Monday and Tuesday, March 13 and 14.

By ordinance the city of Mason board of review will meet Monday, March 20, and the following Tuesday and Friday, March 16 and 17. All townships and cities must complete the review of their rolls by the first Monday in April.

Under the new law boards of supervisors will equalize valuations between townships and cities at the April instead of the June meeting. The tax allocation board will start its work in May.

NEW RECORD SET AT MASON

95 Respond to Blood Bank Plea

Mason came through with a record performance in the blood bank donation Wednesday. In spite of wintry blasts and slippery roads 95 men and women responded to the call.

Ninety-nine pints of blood were collected. Because of colds and recent sicknesses four of the volunteers were forced to keep their blood for themselves.

Members of the Mason General Hospital Auxiliary, which sponsored the campaign, are jubilant over the success. Had the weather been good the collection would have gone beyond 100 pints. Mrs. Wilma Barnhill, chairman, declared.

Mrs. Harold LeFurge and Mrs. Thomas H. Osgood of Lansing were aides on the medical staff.

Issuing purchase certificates, if there isn't any coal to purchase, won't warm homes, the mayor pointed out. He urged residents to buy or to cut their own wood.

There's lots of down timber and tree tops available in every direction from town, the mayor pointed out.

"This program of certifying as to fuel needs is designed only to meet an emergency," the mayor declared. "It is not any rationing system but it does provide some security for the public and a service to dealers. All of us must cooperate wholeheartedly if the objective is to be attained."

County Building Supplied

One car of coal has been delivered to Mason yards during the past week. The Lansing Ice and Fuel Co. received it. It was used to fill the most urgent orders. Manager Ellis Everett said, with the last of it delivered to the county jail Wednesday. The jail, court house and sheriff's residence are all heated from the central heating plant at the jail.

Mickelson-Baker Lumber Co. has the promise of a load of Kentucky coal next week. There is no coal in the yard now. There are at the Thorburn Lumber and Coal or Mason Elevator Co. yards.

Footie Bros. at Leslie have been trucking coal from mines in Kentucky but they are not able to keep up with the demand. They brought in a load Tuesday, the first they had in a long time.

NO PLAN FOR FARMERS

No plan has yet been announced for emergency distribution of coal outside of cities and villages. Supervisors in suburban townships will probably be authorized to set up distribution programs, it was learned from the governor's office Wednesday.

had had in more than two weeks. They expect other deliveries but it's all spoken for, they said. Both Leslie and Eaton Rapids schools are waiting for it.

Mason School May Close

Bins at the Mason school are running low. A special board meeting has been called for Friday night to study the emergency. If there is no chance to get more coal, classes will probably be dismissed next Wednesday.

Dansville's coal supply was boosted by a third of a carload from a Williamson dealer Wednesday. In normal weather that will mean school can keep running about two weeks longer. Without the delivery from Williamson, Dansville school officials would have been forced to close down next Wednesday.

Holt Outdistances Leslie To Notch 71-54 Victory

Rangy Ramblers Play Brilliant Basketball To Take Leslie Blackhawks Out of Tourney, Dansville or Stockbridge to Play Winner

Holt can win the state Class C championship if Coach Fred Lawrence can keep his Ramblers fired up like they were Wednesday night at Leslie. They outdistanced a clever and courageous Blackhawk team to win 71-54.

Dansville and Stockbridge are scheduled to clash in the district tourney at Leslie Thursday night with the winner pitted against Holt in the finals on Saturday night.

The Ingham County League tourney has become famous for its upsets and if either the Aggies or the Panthers live up to the league tradition Saturday night the upset will have to be of atomic proportions. That is, if Holt plays the way it did against Leslie.

The Ramblers took full advantage of their height. On defense they passed over the heads of the Blackhawks. Holt used a split pivot play which set the pins up in both halves.

Jim Tuttle racked up 21 points. Bob Spraker made four beautiful shots in his collection of seven field goals. He also made three free throws to run his total to 14. Dick Root was hotter than a firecracker after he was inserted in the game. He collected 11 points. Hugh Smyth with 10, gained mostly at long range, and Larry Guile with 7, kept the meshes swinging. Bud Miller and Ron Larson, who went in late in the game, scored also.

Jim Budd, Bill Kannawin, Karl Seifert, Bob Coppennol, Bob Campbell and Marilyn Howe never gave up for the Blackhawks. They played a game which would have resulted in a victory over a team with lighter armament.

Budd made 14 points, Kannawin and Seifert registered 12 each. Coppennol added 8, Howe 6 and Campbell 2.

Battle of Champions
It was a battle of champions all the way. The two teams tied for the county title, with each winning once from the other in league play. On Wednesday night Holt gained an early advantage and forced the Blackhawks to play the Rambler game.

Walt Cephart, Blackhawk mentor, need have no regrets. His boys did themselves proud even though they finished 17 points behind Holt. There are few teams which wouldn't have fallen even farther behind the way the Ramblers were rolling Wednesday night.

Holt Takes Lead
Holt started with a rush. Guile, Spraker and Tuttle each hit the target in the first two minutes of play to run the count to 6-0 before Coppennol sank a free throw and Kannawin caged a dog shot. R. R. DeMartin, 210; Nels Feynby, 205; Max Bement, 204; and L. A. Smith, 203.

Those rolling high series were William Murray, 591; R. R. DeMartin, 569; Herb Fox, Sr., 569; Max Bement, 568; Cliff Eddy, 565; Don Horton, 557; Dick Lyon, 550; Carlton Hunter, 548; L. A. Smith, 542; Wayne Barker, 540; Howard Slaght, 536; William Keezer, 533; and Cliff Rogers, 529.

Team standings are as follows:
Team Points
Holt & Richards 61
Mickelson-Baker 59
Jefferson Food Market 55
Wolverine Engineering Co. 53
Morse's Restaurant 52
Henson's Modern Cleaners 52
Jewett's Flower Shop 51
Wyeth Incorporated 50
Al Rice Chevrolet 45
Ware's Drug Store 40
Howard Pontiac Sales 20

Young Men's League
Court Cafe and the Paristyle Shoppe each took three out of four points from Davis Clothing and Lee's Standard Service. American Legion and Charlie's Barn split points, each taking two.

Don Horton had high games for the night of 223, 204 and 203. Jim Davis rolled a game of 212, while Don Horton was way out in front with high series of 630. Others who rolled high series were Jack Shaffer, 537; Fred Silsby, 518; Dick Lyon, 510; Don Vander-Veen, Jr., 508; and Harry Michellish, 505.

Court Cafe rolled high game of 850 and high series of 2447. Paristyle was second, its high game being 849. Paristyle's total pins were 2414.

Mason Recreation Women
Paristyle moved into a tie with The Ferris Co. by winning all four points from third place Dart and Cady. Paristyle was the only team to take all four during the night's bowling. The only other change in the standings resulted as Dart Motor Sales lost three to Schmidt's. The Dart team dropped one point behind Henson's Modern Cleaners. The Cleaners got three big ones from Launstein's Portable Sawmill.

Mason Dairy won three from J. E. Dean Ford Sales; Collins Sales took three from Jewett Airport and Ware's lost three to The Ferris Co.

Mason Dairy was high team for the night with games of 677, 641 and 656 to make a big series of 1974. J. E. Dean Ford Sales got 1956 for its series. The Ford team's games were 640, 634 and 682.

Individual high series went to Margaret McLean, who rolled 473. Her games were 166, 153 and 154. Bobby Bryde came next with 467; to give the Ramblers a 13-11 margin at the quarter.

Leslie had closed the gap with a series of set plays. Starting the second quarter Holt picked up the Blackhawks down the court, hasty and press them back. The tactics worked.

Spraker was the big gun for Holt the second quarter. He hit four times from the floor, once on a long one-handed pitch, twice by crashing through the Leslie defense and once on a long dribble. Tuttle added a pair and so did Smyth, one on an out-of-bounds play and the other a long pitch from the corner. Root and Guile also registered to run the Holt count to 32-17 at the half. Budd, Kannawin and Coppennol contributed six points to Leslie on the few occasions when the Blackhawks were able to get within range.

The two teams played about even the last half but Holt was never in danger. Budd with two long pitches and Kannawin with one narrowed the gap to 36-26 midway in the third quarter and a second later Seifert with another horizon shot sent Leslie to within 10 points, 39-29. Then Holt began to roll again and after Spraker, Tuttle and Miller came through, the scoreboard showed 50-34 at the end of the third period.

Scorers used both hands the last period to record 21 points for Holt and 20 for the Blackhawks, who never faded. Ramblers and Blackhawks romped and raced up and down the floor, firing from all distances and all angles. There was no pause until the final siren when the board registered 71-54.

Henry Bosch and Lyle Sherman officiated the game and turned in good jobs.

Vikings Finish With Victory
Everett wound up the 1950 cage race in a blaze of glory. The Vikings rolled over Eaton Rapids 43-26 for victory No. 17. It was the ninth conference win for the Everett boys. The only sour note was played by Mason. The county sent boys surprised the Vikings with their only loss of the year.

The Everett-Eaton Rapids fray, along with the Mason victory over Howell, ring down the curtain on Capital Circuit cage competition of the year. Charlotte met Hastings in a non-conference game Friday night and came out on the heavy end of a 48-33 score.

Vikings in Front All the Way
Everett was never in any danger from Eaton Rapids. The Vikings clamped a tight defense on 42 Greyhounds and added a few points of their own from time to time for an easy victory.

At the end of the first period Everett was out in front 10-5. At intermission the Vikings had increased their lead to 20-10 and then coasted from there to the final whistle. Eaton Rapids staged the Viking scoring efforts in a slow third period to gain back one point but then the Vikings took command again.

Buck Sartor dropped in 15 points to pace the Vikings. Tommy Akright followed Sartor with 10. Bruce Higgins was top man for the Greyhounds with 7 points.

Charlotte Wins 48-33
It took a red hot last half to pull the Orioles Chestnuts out of the fire Friday night in a thriller over Hastings. It was a nip and tuck affair the whole first half with the Hastings five ending the first half out in front by a slim margin of one point. The third period told the story, though. The Orioles whipped in 18 points in a few short minutes to take the game. The Orioles added 12 more in a fast third quarter to clinch their 10th victory in 15 starts.

It was Jim Gammage night in Charlotte. The championship Orioles guard found the range for 15 points. Ken Sparks dropped in 10 points to place second in the Charlotte scoring race.

Mason Beats Howell 49-31 Everett Next in District Finals

Mason's Bulldogs got by the first rung in its attempt at the District basketball crown by subduing Howell 49-31 on the Sexton high school floor Wednesday night.

The big tests comes Saturday night when Mason will meet Everett in the district finals. Everett moved directly into the finals by drawing a bye in the first round.

In the opening round of the Class D playoff Wednesday night, Webberville completely outclassed a small Dimondale team 60-27. The Webberville Spartans looked mighty smooth at times with good ball handling.

Webberville was in front all the way. Wendell Parker, a giant center, was a team all by himself. Gray Smith was the only Dimondale player that was at all effective.

Webberville will meet DeWitt Friday night in the Class D semifinals. Thursday's slate of games at the district meet at Sexton will pit Okemos and Vocational School and Williamston and Lansing Tech in Class C.

Friday night Class D will take over with DeWitt and Webberville tangling and Potlerville meeting DeWitt. Both the team experts are touting as the next Class D champ.

Mason will have to play a lot more ball to win over Everett than was exhibited with the Highlanders. Most of the while the Mason play was pretty sloppy. Everett is used to the big Sexton floor and all the cards will be in the Vikings favor. Mason and Everett

Mason Winner In Conference Tilt
Coach Don Funk's Mason eagles finished the regular cage season with a 58-32 victory over a stubborn Howell five Friday night. It marked the fifth victory in ten conference starts for the Bulldogs and assured them of fourth place in final standings. It was a close game as all the final quarter when a reserve combination of Jim Smith, Bruce Douglas, Grover Akers, Lee Darling and Chuck Howell caught fire. They dumped in point after point in the closing minutes.

After a fast first period the Highlanders were out in front 13-11. Both teams played on an even keel the second quarter and at half-time the Highlanders were still in front, this time 22-19. Mason played good ball in every department except scoring. The Bulldogs had plenty of shots but could not put any of them down.

In the third period the Mason eagles began to find the range. The Highlanders were forced to give up the lead midway in the third period and steadily dropped behind. Mason entered the last quarter with the score 34-29.

Grover Akers sparked the final scoring spurge as the Bulldogs. The lanky Mason center dropped in 10 points in the final minutes as the Bulldogs rolled on to what turned out to be a lop-sided victory.

Jack Davis paced the Mason attack with 12 points. The Mason sharpshooter was off the first half. Jim Kelly came up with a good night's work and a total of 11 points besides. Akers and Denny Stolz added 10 points each to the Mason total.

Mason held the Howell attack at bay. Dick Brogan and Clare Brigham were top scorers for the Highlanders with eight points each.

Mason's reserves ran into another tough night. The Bulldog puppies fought an uphill battle all the way but finally were nosed out by the Highlander reserves 48-36.

Mason almost closed the gap in the third period but fell three points short. The Highlanders poured it on in the last quarter to win going away.

Stuart Taylor was the top man for the Mason reserves with nine points. Herb Wessinger was the most effective point-maker for the Highlanders with a total of 11 points.

Fair Board Picks New Treasurer

Earl Dunsmore of Mason is the new treasurer of the county fair board.

At their meeting in Mason Friday directors of the fair chose Dunsmore to succeed David C. Beatty of Williamston. Beatty resigned because of business. On March 1 he became manager of the Williamston Elevator Co. For 13 years he served as probate register.

The meeting of the fair board directors held Friday, Earl W. Cullen said, was called to act upon the resignation submitted by Beatty. Bills which have remained unpaid since the 1949 fair will be taken up at the March meeting, Cullen said. The board of supervisors in February advanced about $4,600 to the fair board to take care of some of the bills.

Charlie's Barn Rumors Untrue

Charlie's Barn is not closed because of any violation of the liquor laws. It's closed because the owner, Charles O'Neill, and his wife wanted to take a trip to Florida, and it will be opened upon their return.

The O'Neills left for Florida February 7. They had hardly crossed the Michigan-Ohio line before rumor had it that O'Neill had been forced to suspend operations for 30 days for selling beer to minors.

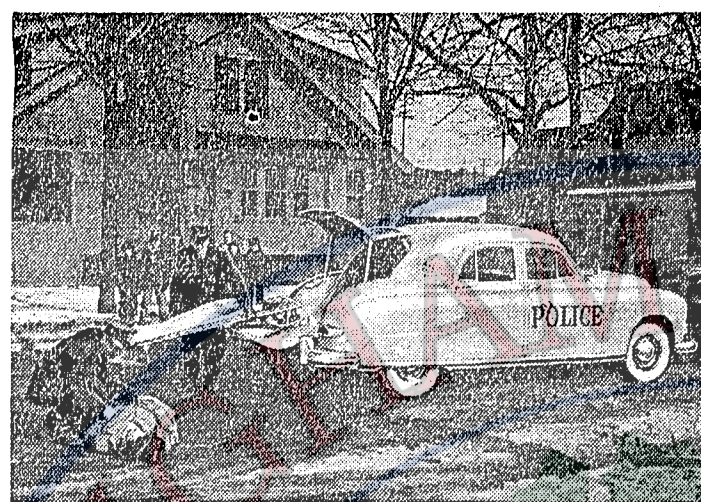

Enforcement officials of the state liquor control commission declared Wednesday afternoon that no violation has been reported from Charlie's Barn and that no closing order of any description has been issued against the establishment.

Dairy Producers Oppose A&P Suit

The Midwest Producers Creameries, Inc., opposed government restrictions on distributors of dairy products "such as the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company" during its recent annual meeting at South Bend.

The action was taken in the form of a resolution adopted by the group which includes 21 creamery associations representing more than 8,000 farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Tennessee.

The resolution called for opposition, on the part of the dairy producers, to unjust government attacks on distributors handling their products. It cited the A & P case and emphasized that this company had done much to increase the consumption of dairy products.

The government anti-trust division currently is seeking through the courts to break up the A & P and to divorce the present owners from all of the company's operations.

The resolution further stated that "anything done to hinder such dealers will result in loss of dairy products consumed."

My Day...

By SCHATZI

the Camera-Clicking Dachshund

Sunday, I was alone at the studio—feeling neglected and a little sorry for myself when the phone rang. It was Helen and Ruth, calling from the Hotel Olds where they were attending the 9th Annual Michigan Photographers' Convention.

"How are things going?" I asked Ruth. "Just wonderful. Schatzi, just wait until you hear the news!" She sounded so happy—I just wagged my tail like mad—but of course, she couldn't see that I was just as excited as she was. She said they'd tell me when they got home. "You can't keep a small puppy in suspense like that," I barked into the receiver, "please put Helen on if you won't tell me."

Well, I wormed it out of Helen all right—the good news that KRAAS STUDIO got a first prize blue ribbon for their entry photograph "Age of Innocence." "Well, I said, puffing up with pride, 'who else won Blue Ribbons?' 'Nobody, you would know, Schatzi,' she said. 'Kraas Studio got the ONE blue ribbon in the Lansing area!'"

"Who all showed pictures?" I said, trying to imagine what it was really like. "Almost all the top portrait and commercial studios throughout the entire state of Michigan," Helen said. "We were so pleased and surprised to find a blue ribbon on our picture in that august company."

"Nonsense—I knew we'd win," I said, preening slightly. "Are you going to take your blue ribbon and come home and feed me?"

"No can do, Schatzi!" they said in unison. "We'll be here for two more days. We have to see the demonstrations and ask questions and talk to people about the new processes of flexichrome, ektacolor dye-transfer, the new lighting and just millions of other things. We have to learn and keep up to the minute if we want blue ribbons at the next show. There are new developments every day in photography, you know that Schatzi."

"OK," I said, feeling like a martyr to photography. "I'll whip up an omelette for myself and go to bed early." Well, I did—but I could hardly sleep—thinking how wonderful it was—that beautiful blue ribbon on a Kraas Studio photograph. I'm a lucky dog, all right.

Extension Director Praises Service of 4-H Club Leaders

No man or woman can do more to make good future citizens than by leading 4-H clubs, declared C. V. Ballard, director of extension for Michigan State college, Thursday night. He was the main speaker at the annual recognition dinner given 4-H club leaders. The banquet and meeting were held in the parlors of the Mason Methodist church.

Training in 4-H club work is training in Americanism, Ballard asserted. He pointed out that club work recognizes property rights and respects private ownership, things upon which America has grown great. Club work is based on the recognition of capabilities, the speaker said.

Mrs. Mary June Johnston, home demonstration agent, presented awards to club leaders. The U. S. Rubber Co. recreation awards went to Hugh Osterle, Vantown; Clare Wasp, N. B. C.; and Glen Watkins, Alameda. The Peters drug store softball championship trophy was presented to Robert Osterle, the Vantown club. Mr. and Mrs. Dehnar Carr, White Oak; Mr. and Mrs. Fred LoVette, Tomlinson; and Mrs. Paul Rowe, 4-Winds; received the Lansing Kiwanis club activity contest awards. Elizabeth Carr, White Oak; Harold Blossiey, Wheatfield; and Jerry Jason, Vantown; were presented with Michigan State college $95 four-year scholarship awards. Phil Haynes of Alameda won the all-county short course award. The tenth year of service for Mrs. Charles Coleman, Haslett club, and Robert Ried, Dunn club, was recognized, as was the twentieth year for Howard Ingersoll, Williamston.

Glen Watkins, president of the Ingham 4-H Council, presented the council award to Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News. Each year the council presents a bronze plaque to an individual or firm whose co-operation has materially advanced the 4-H program.

Bert Howard, Lansing Oliver dealer, Al Roopke of Dean & Harris and Henry Smith of Mason were introduced as co-operators.

Rev. Henry Liddicoat of the Mason Methodist church gave the invocation. Glen Watkins introduced County Agent Donald Curry as chairman, County Club Agent M. H. Avery led group singing.

Gunther Decker, accompanied by Mrs. George McArthur, sang three solos. Mrs. McArthur, piano, Mrs. Derwood Carr, cello, and Mrs. Russell R. Robbins, violin, played dinner music.

Attack of Amnesia Transforms Milquetoast Into Roost Ruler

By BILLY ROSE

The other day I picked up the telephone to call Eleanor, and it was almost half a minute before I could remember my number at home. At the time, this memory lapse didn't seem worth brooding about, but last night I happened to meet up with a well-known psychiatrist at the Stork Club, and over a jigger of ginger-beer I told him what had happened.

"It was probably a mild attack of amnesia," he said. "As a rule, the victims are folks who, consciously or unconsciously, want to escape from their routine chores, and every now and then their minds blank out as a protest against doing the same old things the same old way."

"What kind of pills should I take?"

"Fun pills," said the mind-feeble. "Buy yourself a sailboat, take up skeet-shooting, or get a set of water colors and learn how to paint."

"And supposing I don't?"

"Chances are nothing will happen except that you'll forget a few more phone numbers. On the other hand, there's always the possibility that the spells may get longer and more frequent. That's what happened not long ago to a good friend of yours."

Billy Rose

"After two years of being yammered at by his missus, Jerry came in to see me one day and said that he was having trouble with his memory—that it was blacking out on him now and then. I asked him some questions about his home life, and when he told me what it was like I advised him to stand up to his wife, and if necessary, slap her down occasionally. He told me, quite seriously, she wouldn't stand for such a thing."

"One morning several months later, he came to my office, and told me quite a tale. It seems that on his way home the night before he had had an attack of amnesia, and when he came to 15 hours later he was in a New York hotel room, with no idea of what had happened in between."

"I phoned his wife, and from her story, managed to put the pieces together. Jerry's memory had snapped as he got to the door of his house in Scarsdale—perhaps in protest against the stuffy people his wife had invited to dinner—and all he knew was that he was standing on a strange stoop."

"At this point, his missus walked in, told him to stop playing cops and robbers, and began badgering him at the top of her over-sized lungs. But Jerry, the burglar, instead of melting into the carpet, batted her one right in the teeth."

"That's all there was to it. Somehow, he got back to New York, checked in at a hotel, and when he woke up his amnesia was gone."

"Did you tell his wife that her husband wasn't himself when he clipped her on the chin?" I asked.

The psychiatrist smiled. "Of course not, and what's more, I advised my patient to keep mum. Jerry went home to a real reconciliation scene—the old 'worm-turns' story—and ever since, the more spine he has shown the more supine his wife has become."

"I went to his house for a poker session recently, and the only time she came in the room was when she brought in the drinks. To date, there have been no recurrences of amnesia, and it's my belief that if Jerry doesn't take any more non-sense from his wife, there won't be."

"Are you suggesting I go home and bang a shiner on Eleanor's eye?" I asked.

"In your case," said the psychiatrist, "I doubt if it's necessary. However, if you have any more trouble remembering telephone numbers, I'd suggest you invest a few dollars in a water-color set."

JERRY—and I'm sure you know the Jerry I mean—used to be one of Broadway's leading juveniles and stay-up lates. Five years ago, as you know, he put away his hair-oil and got a job producing radio shows. And not long after, he married the daughter of a network executive, bought a home in Scarsdale and decided to settle down.

"Well, as often happens when a girl has too much downy, his wife did most of the settling for him. She made him exchange his friends for hers, his fun for hers and his life for hers. And within a year, the man who used to be a gay dog became all dog—a Westchester version of Caspar Anklebust."

"After two years of being yammered at by his missus, Jerry came in to see me one day and said that he was having trouble with his memory—that it was blacking out on him now and then. I asked him some questions about his home life, and when he told me what it was like I advised him to stand up to his wife, and if necessary, slap her down occasionally. He told me, quite seriously, she wouldn't stand for such a thing."

"One morning several months later, he came to my office, and told me quite a tale. It seems that on his way home the night before he had had an attack of amnesia, and when he came to 15 hours later he was in a New York hotel room, with no idea of what had happened in between."

"I phoned his wife, and from her story, managed to put the pieces together. Jerry's memory had snapped as he got to the door of his house in Scarsdale—perhaps in protest against the stuffy people his wife had invited to dinner—and all he knew was that he was standing on a strange stoop."

"At this point, his missus walked in, told him to stop playing cops and robbers, and began badgering him at the top of her over-sized lungs. But Jerry, the burglar, instead of melting into the carpet, batted her one right in the teeth."

"That's all there was to it. Somehow, he got back to New York, checked in at a hotel, and when he woke up his amnesia was gone."

"Did you tell his wife that her husband wasn't himself when he clipped her on the chin?" I asked.

The psychiatrist smiled. "Of course not, and what's more, I advised my patient to keep mum. Jerry went home to a real reconciliation scene—the old 'worm-turns' story—and ever since, the more spine he has shown the more supine his wife has become."

"I went to his house for a poker session recently, and the only time she came in the room was when she brought in the drinks. To date, there have been no recurrences of amnesia, and it's my belief that if Jerry doesn't take any more non-sense from his wife, there won't be."

"Are you suggesting I go home and bang a shiner on Eleanor's eye?" I asked.

"In your case," said the psychiatrist, "I doubt if it's necessary. However, if you have any more trouble remembering telephone numbers, I'd suggest you invest a few dollars in a water-color set."

LOCKED UP BY "RADAR"—Natalie Robertson, Los Angeles, Calif., shows how the "radar" calling-card house works. Resident comes home, slips card into slot and the door opens. Anybody else's card would set off a burglar alarm. Card, much like a "charge-a-plate," has concealed graphite patterns which fit like patterns in the slot.

Weather

It may turn out to be quite a winter after all, in the records. There was more snow in February than in any other February in 10 years, and there was more precipitation, too, than in any other February in 10 years. Snowfall amounted to 17.6 inches at Mason. The two closest Februaries in other years were 14.6 inches in 1947 and 14.7 in 1946. A normal February total is about eight inches.

February rainfall of 4.28 inches was more than double normal. The nearest February to it was back in 1943 when 3.30 inches was recorded at Mason.

March came in like a lion Wednesday with high winds and snow flurries which continued into Thursday. Total snowfall for the week was 2.8 inches. Two inches fell Friday and 3 and 5 inches fell Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Precipitation for the week was .62 inches. It drizzled off and on most of the day Tuesday and 2.30 inches was recorded then. Driving was hazardous that day as the rain froze turning the roads into a glare of ice. There was a recording of .10 and .19 inches for February 24 and March 1.

There's been plenty of cold weather along with the rain and snow. The mercury dipped to 16 below Saturday with minimum readings of -4 and -9 for Sunday and Monday.

Average temperature for the week was 14 compared with 25 last year at this time. Temperatures for the week as recorded by S. L. Demorest of the Mason Sewage plant were:

Collins Postpones Formal Opening

Shipping facilities, bad weather and trucking difficulties ganged up on M. B. Collins this week and forced him to postpone the scheduled opening of his new appliance store at 151 West Maple in the new Schlack building.

Collins, who had planned to have the formal opening of the new building on Friday and Saturday, has set it ahead to Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11. The Schlack building, which is brand new, erected on the site of the Fox Cleaners which burned last winter, has been remodeled to accommodate what is described as one of the most modern appliance stores in the area.

A complete television studio, record bar, laundry and clock shop, in addition to everything new in home and farm appliances, will be featured. The store will be open next week, Collins said, but the formal opening will not take place until Friday and Saturday.

In the tally for individual performances for stars the 80 newspapermen polled by Associated Press gave the nod to Broderick Crawford of "All the King's Men." Mercedes McCambridge won a first in the same film as supporting actress. The film, taken from the book of the same name, depicts the life of Huey Long in Louisiana. It deals with politics, both state and national, showing how a man can win and how some men wield political power.

National Grange Is Sponsoring Essay Contest

Mrs. Wesley Brownlee of the Leslie Community Grange has announced that a nation-wide essay contest on "Future," is being sponsored by the National Grange and the American Plant Food Council. The contest, which started February 1, will end April 15 with state and national prizes totaling $10,000 for young men and women through 20 years of age.

"All young men and women, regardless of Grange membership, who are not more than 20 years of age on April 15, 1950, are eligible to compete for prizes," Mrs. Brownlee explained, "and all entries in this area should be sent to Leslie Community Grange at Leslie for processing not later than May 10."

Undersecretary of Agriculture A. J. Loveland is chairman of the national board of judges, which includes Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, chief, Soil Conservation Service; Miss Lois Clark, assistant director, Division of Rural Services, National Education association; Dr. W. T. Spanton, chief, Agricultural Education Service, U. S. Office of Education; and Dr. M. L. Wilson, director of Extension Service.

National prizes offered to the winners are: First prize, $1,000; second prize, $500; third prize, $400; fourth prize, $300; fifth prize, $200; and sixth prize, $100. In the state contest, first prize winner will get $100, with $50 going to the second place winner, and $25 to the winner of third place.

Contest judges explained that each entrant's essay may be based upon data from text books, bulletins, interviews or personal experience, but they expressed the hope that all entrants would give special consideration to the practical application of the subject to the soils of their communities.

Entries must not exceed 800 words and they will be judged on the basis of 55 points for effectiveness, 20 points for originality, 15 points for practical application of subject matter and 10 points for grammatical correctness.

For the purpose of the contest, the 48 states have been divided into six regions and winners of each region will compete for the six national awards.

MASON STUDENT RANKS HIGH

Former Resident Joins Cobo Staff

Norman H. Hill is an assistant secretary on the staff of Detroit's Mayor Cobo.

Hill was executive secretary to Frank Murphy when Murphy was governor. He and his family lived in Mason in the house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, 124 East Oak.

Hill served in the Philippines as secretary to Murphy when the former Michigan governor was governor general and high commissioner to the Philippines. During the war Hill was deputy director of the Michigan War Finance committee and later joined the staff of the Michigan War Assets Administration. He has been lecturing at the University of Michigan the past year.

Services Monday For John Foster

Funeral services were held at the Jewett funeral home Monday for John C. Foster, Rev. Henry Liddicoat of the Mason Methodist church officiated at the rites. Burial was in Fairview cemetery at Dansville.

Mr. Foster, 72, died at his home at 443 West Center street Friday night. He was stricken with a heart attack in December and had been sick ever since.

He was born to Gustavus and Christella York Foster on August 10, 1877, on the family farm south of Fowlerville. He spent his childhood days there and attended the Foster school. On April 14, 1903, he was married to Lena Martin at Millville. To them were born two children, a daughter, Mable L., who died March 5, 1912, from pneumonia, at the age of eight years, and the son, Clarence of Springville.

Mr. Foster had been employed at the Fisher Body in Lansing for the past 25 years. He worked up until the time he was taken sick. Besides the widow, he is survived by the son, Clarence of Springville; two granddaughters, Mrs. Donna Anderson of Mason, and John and Alice Foster of Springport; two great-grandchildren, Carolyn and Bruce Anderson of Mason; five sisters, Mrs. Laura Titus and Mrs. Sadie McNeel of Fowlerville, Mrs. Luella Bartig of Fowlerville, Mrs. Hazel Strait of Detroit, and Mrs. Grace Pratt of Byron; and two brothers, Ernest Foster of Byron and Richard Foster of Ypsilanti.

Doctor Lanting Asks for Safety

"Observe national Watch Out For Kids month by watching out for your child's safety in his home as well as in traffic," Dr. Ruel Lanting, director of the county health department, said Wednesday. Tentative figures show that accidents took the lives of at least 15 Ingham county children under 15 years of age during 1949 and each year some 800 Michigan children die from accidents. Over one-half of the accidents which happen to Ingham county children occur in their own homes.

"A child is not safe at home until his home is made and kept safe for him," Dr. Lanting emphasized. Home fires alone took the lives of eight children. Check up on frayed electric wiring, open fuse boxes, shorted appliances, and questionable water or home heating equipment, the doctor suggested.

Rise and Fall of Politician Is Film Story Due at Fox

The shattering impact of one reckless moment in a woman's life is the story of "The Reckless Moment," which will be shown at the Fox on Saturday. James Mason and Joan Bennett are the chief protagonists, with young Geraldine Brooks holding down the principal supporting role.

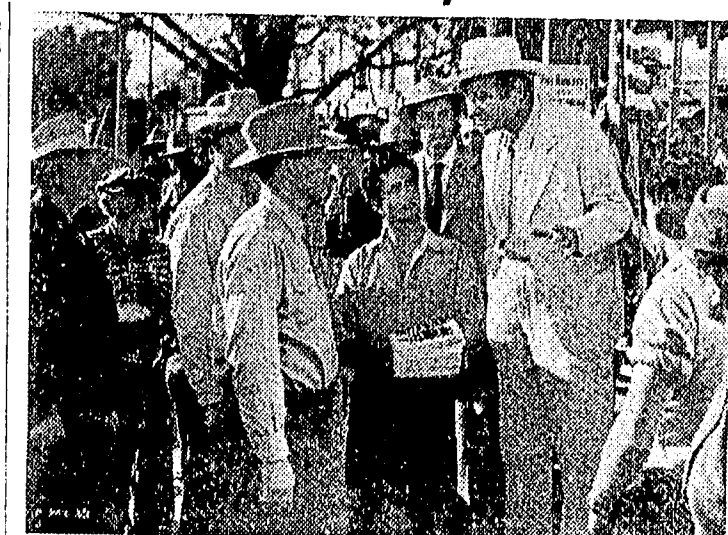

The malevolent events are precipitated when Miss Brooks, paying Miss Bennett's impetuous daughter, attempts to break off an audience with a handsome body-killer. In a struggle, she stuns him with a blow and he falls to a frightful death. Miss Bennett discovers the body and, fearful for her daughter, dumps it in the marshes.

Shortly after the corpse is discovered, Mason appears and attempts to blackmail Miss Bennett, using some indiscreet letters her daughter had written to the dead man. Miss Bennett, although forced to the wall when she cannot raise the specified amount of the blackmail money, displays an indomitable spirit which wins Mason's unrestrained admiration.

The wild web of violence that drew them irresistibly together tightens another notch when Mason's partner, realizing that she cannot raise the specified amount of the blackmail money, decides to take matters into his own hands. Mason, enraged at his partner's crude behavior, engages in a death struggle with him and, then, to deflect suspicion from Miss Bennett, performs a last heroic act of self-sacrifice.

Academy Candidate. Robert Rossen's production of "All the King's Men," based on the Pulitzer Prize novel by Robert Penn Warren, under consideration for Academy Award honors, will be the featured attraction at the Fox Saturday and Monday. Besides Broderick Crawford's portrait of a "big shot" who thought he had the world by the tail until it exploded in his face with a bullet attached, the powerful Columbia drama also has a memorable cast that includes Joanne Dru, John Ireland, John Derek and Mercedes McCambridge.

Their combined performances is a magnificent example of ensemble playing. As the brutal but dynamic politician who had the others in his hip pocket along with whiskey, the blackjack and the gun, Crawford gives an electrifying performance. A rabble-rousing demagogue, he exudes such power and sheer animal magnetism that he sweeps everything before him except for the few who risk ruin and seek to destroy him. Keyed closely to Broderick's magnificent effort are the others. Miss Dru portrays the aristocratic girl who is swept off her feet in such a blind, consuming passion for Broderick that she loses all sense of family honor. Ireland comes through with a biting performance as the newspaperman who becomes the politician's hatchet man at the current waxes of sin.

The other principal players are equally integrated into the smooth unfolding whole. Derek, as the adopted son of the big man who goes for the girls, delivers some sardonic playing, while Miss McCambridge, new to films, establishes herself as an actress to reckon with in her role as the politician's smart secretary who had been around.

Laugh King. Bob Hope is seen as Freddie Hunter, leader of a patrol of Boy Foresters who are returning on an ocean liner from a bicycle tour of France in the Tuesday and Wednesday feature at the Fox, "The Great Lover." Also on the boat are a beautiful Duchess (Rhonda Fleming), her impoverished royal parent (Roland Culver) and a debonair card shark (John Derek) who strangles those unlucky enough to win his money.

The Boy Foresters make things tough for Freddie by forbidding drinking, smoking and making eyes at girls. Freddie tries hard not to break the rules but is com-

Boys and Girls Joining 4-H Clubs Become Members of Large Group

When boys and girls join a 4-H Club today, they become members of a big organization.

In fact, they belong to the largest youth organization in the world, rural or urban. In the United States there are about 1,860,000 4-H Club members. Michigan enrolled about 60,000 4-H Club members in 1949 and hopes to swell its membership to 65,000 in 1950.

Many foreign countries have started 4-H Club organizations or similar organizations patterned after this group. Boys and girls between the age of 10 and 21 years make up the thousands of 4-H Clubs in the United States.

Boys Study Farming
Michigan boys study different phases of agriculture in the 4-H Club program, giving them a broad background for farming themselves. They may also work at handicraft, electrical, garden and other projects, that do not require large areas of land or facilities for conducting the work. Girls study phases of homemaking—clothing, home furnishings, foods and nutrition—and in addition may take many of the projects in the agricultural field that boys carry.

In addition to project work, boys study special farm-related topics such as tractor maintenance, soil conservation, farm safety, fire prevention and home beautification. Special activities for girls include music, citizenship, health, recreation, reading, home grounds beautification, and farm and home safety.

Leaders Help Members
Local clubs are made up of members in the same community or township. Giving these clubs help and guidance are local club leaders, who are leading farmers and homemakers in the community. They meet with the members at meetings, attend training schools for information to carry back to their members and generally serve as advisors to the club.

These leaders are community-minded citizens who give their time voluntarily in the interest of developing well-rounded boys and girls. Members of the extension service in the county coordinate the activities of the clubs, help in leader training and help handle matters on the county basis.

State 4-H Club leaders, members of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service staff, with the United States Department of Agriculture cooperating, help coordinate the activities of the state program. Michigan State college officials help prepare and supply materials for members' use and help with training schools.

Business Men Help
Another agency aiding the program is the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Inc., Chicago. This organization, financed by leading industrial firms and individuals, provides incentive programs for state and national honors and annually sponsors the National 4-H Club Congress during the International Livestock Show in Chicago.

In addition to the educational benefits of club work, members have fun and develop their personalities through their contacts with other boys and girls their own age. Leadership qualities essential to good citizenship are taught through club meetings, office training schools and other club activities. Camping helps develop the individual in many ways and gives members a short vacation from farm and home work.

The whole 4-H program is a lot of fun, broad in scope and has as its aim the development of young men and women who are well prepared to meet the responsibilities of adult life. Each of its many activities contributes toward this end.

grow into well-rounded adults," Kettunen remarked.

The state leader pointed out that most of these men and women have time-consuming jobs of their own, but are willing to help with the 4-H Club program because they believe it gets results.

Michigan has a number of local leaders with more than 25 years service and each year recognition is accorded those passing 5, 10, 20 and 25 years of 4-H Club leadership records, through the national system of awards, known as the "Award of the 4-H Clover."

Many 4-H Club Projects Open To New Members

Michigan's 4-H Club program offers many different projects for boys and girls interested in home economics, agriculture or other fields.

Home economics projects available include: food preparation, baking, outdoor meals, food preservation by canning or freezing, the 4-H Club girl and home management.

In the field of agriculture, projects are available: beans, corn, potatoes, sugar beets, vegetable gardening, both home and commercial, flower gardening, landscaping, small fruits, forestry, wild flower, forestry fire study, soil and water conservation, bird study, wildlife conservation, dairy, beef, sheep, horse, swine, poultry and rabbits.

Other projects available this year include junior leadership, the 4-H Club boy, personal accounts, archery and health and safety.

Why 4-H Club Week?

The week of March 4 to 12 has been designated as National 4-H Club Week to give people in general, parents and friends of young people an opportunity to take a look at 4-H Club work.

It also provides nearly two million 4-H Club boys and girls an opportunity to check their own efforts and see if they are doing all they can to carry out the slogan of "Make the Best Better."

What Is 4-H Club Work?

Have you been wondering about the 4-H Club organization? Perhaps you've even thought about joining a club. Then you're probably asking the question so often heard—"Who can be a 4-H Club member?"

The answer—Membership in the 4-H Club organization is open to any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21.

Although it is designed primarily for rural youth, boys and girls living in small communities and even cities are invited to join.

"How do you get into a 4-H Club?" you ask.
There are clubs in most communities and no doubt there's one in your own. If you do not know any boys or girls in your community who belong to a 4-H Club, then contact your county extension office. There your county agricultural agent, 4-H Club agent or home demonstration agent can tell you the details.

Perhaps your community does not have a 4-H Club and there are several boys and girls interested in forming one. If that's the case, then contact your extension office and find out what to do to get organized. First you'll have to find an adult leader or leaders, interested in helping you with your project or projects. It takes at least five boys and girls—all interested in the same project—to start a club.

The State 4-H Club Show, held the last week of August each year on the campus of Michigan State college, is one of the highlights of the 4-H Club program in Michigan. This is Michigan's "state fair" for 4-H Club members and state champions are crowned. Winning local honors are necessary in many cases, however, before entry can be made in the State Show.

Credit Given Local Leaders

Michigan's 7,200 4-H Club leaders deserve most of the credit for making this great youth program click.

That's the opinion of A. G. Kettunen, Michigan 4-H Club leader, who has been a member of the state staff at Michigan State college for more than 30 years.

"Michigan's 4-H Club leaders volunteer their services without a cent of remuneration. Ask any of them, though, and they'll tell you that their reward comes in the satisfaction of guiding Michigan's rural youth and watching them

Home Fashion Notes From Ann

Miss Ann Zimmerman

If the walls in your home are in bad shape, you'll be interested in a new texture paint called DRAMEX.

You can cover the worst cracks and gouges with DRAMEX to produce an even slightly textured wall. It comes in a powder form which has been proved easier to apply than the paste type which gums up in the brush.

There are many lovely clear shades available that fit in well with new decorating trends. So if you have been longing for walls with a freshly-painted look, come in and inquire. We'll help you convince your husband that it's an easy job, 5 lbs. covers 100 square feet for $1.45 — 25 lbs. is $7.00

Miss Carolyn Mae Allen was the guest of honor at a bridal shower at Toledo, Ohio, Sunday afternoon. Carolyn's grandmother, Mrs. E. Shmak, and her aunt, Mrs. Edward Michael, were hostesses for the party, which was held at the Shmak home.

The bride's relatives and friends of that time, good at poetry too, I feel lucky to be friends with her. Wonder how such friendships start. Don't ask her as she has a version that makes me blush every time she tells it (about once a year) but I mean I wonder why you are attracted to one person and not others, that one becomes your intimate through thick and thin.

A week later, almost. If I can lift my fingers off these keys long enough I want to tell you about an event that occurred at our house Friday night. It was a taffy pull for the junior class of the Banister Methodist Sunday school of which Mrs. Ivan Hoffert and I are the teachers. Maybe if I tell you there were 37 here I wouldn't need to go any further—and most of them had never been to a taffy pull before or knew for sure what it was like.

For instance, Freddy Nixon thought it was tug of war. I'm sure whenever one is old and bent and gray that the memory of this evening will live on and on. It's something that sticks with you. Some parents came and we invited the minister and his family so we had a big evening. I couldn't get the camera through the sea of backs and fronts and go to get many moving pictures but did get some and they should be interesting.

Rev. Steele, Mr. Hoffert, Mr. Scott and Mr. Peters pulled like old hands but Judy Moore, Sharon Case, Dennis Taylor, Wayne Walters (oh, my) and some of the others, as I said, I was glad very much although I was glad their mothers couldn't see them. The invitations read, "Don't dress in your best rig." It should have been, "Dress in your worst."

Well, the two classes lived up to their names all right. They are

Farmer Peck's Wife

A Yeast Cake Is a Good Thing

Wives Need Understanding Women Friends.

What About Having a Taffy Pull?

Well, it seems there are some men who do read this thing or two. And for them I'd like to pass along a tip strictly for men. If you wish your wife would make some good fresh homemade bread and rolls just bring home a yeast cake next time you go to town and see if that doesn't bring results of some kind anyway! It's worth trying. Just see if it doesn't work. You may wonder why I give forth with this bit of home psychology but I can assure you it works!

Eleanor and Al and their four girls were over for dinner Sunday and once again we had a good time. We see each other several times during the year but always have a visiting spree as though we hadn't been together in years. Can't imagine what it would be like not to have a bosom pal. You know there are things you like to hash over with someone outside the family realm but who is honest, true and sincere—a picked outsider. Maybe men don't need this outlet for emotions but some women feel it makes life better, and I am one of them.

Eleanor was my best friend during high school and we graduated together (1933). As she is far from vain over her scholastic accomplishments she may have been the next time she sees me, but she began high school at 11 years of age and graduated among the top 10 in the class. She was on the debating team and took part in other activities besides working for her room and board part of that time. Good at poetry too, I feel lucky to be friends with her. Wonder how such friendships start. Don't ask her as she has a version that makes me blush every time she tells it (about once a year) but I mean I wonder why you are attracted to one person and not others, that one becomes your intimate through thick and thin.

A week later, almost. If I can lift my fingers off these keys long enough I want to tell you about an event that occurred at our house Friday night. It was a taffy pull for the junior class of the Banister Methodist Sunday school of which Mrs. Ivan Hoffert and I are the teachers. Maybe if I tell you there were 37 here I wouldn't need to go any further—and most of them had never been to a taffy pull before or knew for sure what it was like.

For instance, Freddy Nixon thought it was tug of war. I'm sure whenever one is old and bent and gray that the memory of this evening will live on and on. It's something that sticks with you. Some parents came and we invited the minister and his family so we had a big evening. I couldn't get the camera through the sea of backs and fronts and go to get many moving pictures but did get some and they should be interesting.

Rev. Steele, Mr. Hoffert, Mr. Scott and Mr. Peters pulled like old hands but Judy Moore, Sharon Case, Dennis Taylor, Wayne Walters (oh, my) and some of the others, as I said, I was glad very much although I was glad their mothers couldn't see them. The invitations read, "Don't dress in your best rig." It should have been, "Dress in your worst."

Well, the two classes lived up to their names all right. They are

Youth Wins Championship With Southdown Sheep

Carlisle Besuden, of Winchester, Kentucky, is shown with the pen of three Southdown lambs that won him the Junior Grand Championship at the 1949 International Live Stock Show at Chicago. His father, H. C. Besuden, also used purebred Southdowns to carry the Grand Championship in earlier classes at the same show. More Southdowns are winning championship honors for youthful owners in 4-H and FFA projects than any other breed of sheep.

A SMOOTH JOB

Imagine a table so smooth that flat objects cannot be picked up but must be slid off the side and you have an idea of this table used in the Tool Inspection Department of The Timken Roller Bearing Company. Finished to within fifty one-millionths of an inch for flatness, the table is kept in an air-conditioned room for the greatest possible accuracy in measurement readings.

The inspector, a pretty smooth job too, is shown measuring the length of a cone for a bearing that will find its way into a wheel or rolling assembly somewhere in industrial America.

What's new in insurance?

You may think he's joking

The insurance business is so substantial and so conservative, that you may think it forgets to "bring out improvements."

Don't fool yourself. Insurance has improved just as much in recent years as motor cars and washing machines and television.

There are many new protective ideas in policies of the companies which we represent.

One reason you should consult is that we make a business feature of modern insurance. We have the new measure of modern insurance coverage.

KLEEN-MAID BREAD

Enriched WITH VITAMINS and FOOD MINERALS

ON SALE AT YOUR FOOD STORE

Homemaker's Page

INGHAM COUNTY NEWS March 2, 1950 Page 6

If you follow the "onions in onions" philosophy when shopping, you probably don't get the satisfaction you should from this versatile vegetable, says Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialists at Michigan State college.

Homemakers often do not realize the importance of onions in their menus, she believes. An average of 20 to 23 pounds of onions a year, or close to one-half pound a week are eaten per person in the United States.

Here are a few of Miss Bodwell's hints to help you make better use of onions in your meals: Most of the objectionable odor of cooking onions can be avoided by not over-cooking them. Cook only until tender, never more than eight minutes for the smaller sizes. Cooking quickly in just enough water to cover helps preserve the minerals and vitamins. Over-cooked onions are dark in color, and cause the gastric disturbances which make some folks object to them.

Onions should be kept in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place. It is possible, however, to keep a cut onion in the refrigerator. Its flavor will not blend into other foods if it is wrapped in the new aluminum foil wrapping now available.

Buy clean, hard, mature onions with dry skins. Avoid those with seed stems developing. Moisture at the stem end of the bulb may have penetrated the bulb to cause decay. Choose small onions for grilling or using in salads and meat dishes, the larger ones for french fries, slices or rings. For eating raw, you will probably want a mild white variety. For cooking, the yellow and red varieties give more flavor.

Principal strong-flavored varieties are Red Creole, Southport, Red Globe, Yellow Globe and Ebenezer. Mild varieties include the Sweet Spanish, Bermuda and Crystal White Wax.

Several terms are used to describe onion size according to use. The smallest, not over one inch in diameter, may be called the "pickling," "pearl" or "button." The next size is the "bolting" onion, from one to two inches. Next are the "chopping" or "grating" onions, while the largest are called "slicing" onions or "slicers." Slicing onions should be 2 1/2 inches or larger.

Many of the onions we buy come from Michigan fields, Miss Bodwell reports. The annual Michigan crop amounts to $4 to $5 million, and is about 10 per cent of the total United States production.

"SO THEY TOOK THE $50,000 . . . AND . . ." Yes, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Crissman, of 8540 Oakleigh Road, Baltimore, Md., have planned many wonderful things to do with the $50,000 he has just won as top prize winner in the 1949 national $100,000 cash prize word puzzle contest sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans Service Foundation.

With only a high school education, this $56-a-week sales clerk, through his skill in solving the puzzle, received the top prize check which he proudly displays to his wife. He also won two of the four automobiles which were offered as promptness prizes.

The Foundation will presently announce its third annual $100,000 cash prize contest. Full particulars, including entry blank, may be obtained by sending a postcard to D.A.V. Service Foundation, Washington 6, D. C.

Following Rules Means Good Cake

How is your reputation as a cake baker? If it could be improved don't wait around for the "knack" to come to you—instead check yourself on a few simple rules that can make a big difference with that cake.

First, suggests Lois Jackson, foods department, Michigan State college, start heating the oven in advance so that it will be the right temperature by the time the cake is ready to bake. Arrange the racks in the oven so that the cake will be near the center for even heating.

Prepare the pans before mixing the batter and it's very important that you use the size of pan mentioned in the recipe. Do not grease pans for angel food or sponge cakes. For butter cakes, use a pastry brush or piece of waxed paper to spread a thin amount of fat on the bottom of the pan and just part way up the sides.

Cakes are usually baked in a moderate oven and should be tested before removing. Butter cakes begin to shrink away from the sides of the pan when done. If the top of the cake is pressed lightly with the fingers, it should spring back without leaving a mark. A wire tester or toothpick can be inserted into the center of the cake and will come out clean and dry when the cake has been properly baked.

Let butter cakes cool in the pan for about 10 minutes after removing from the oven and then loosen the sides with a spatula. Turn the cake on a cake rack or towel right side up to finish cooling. Then the cake won't get soggy from steaming. Fruit cakes should be left in the pan until cold because they are heavy and tender when done. Turn sponge cakes upside down, pan and all, until the cake is cold. Then loosen the cake from the sides and around the tube. Tilt the pan and draw the cake out gently.

Corporation Tax Would Hurt, Not Help Michigan Residents

By Gene Allman
(Michigan Press Association)

Governor G. Mennen Williams' program for the state corporation profits tax is "strictly political," according to John L. Lovett, general manager, Michigan Manufacturers' Association.

"It is the application of the present leaders of the C. I. O.," states Lovett.

"I wish I might say to the business men of Michigan that the state government wants you to stay here. I wish I might say to those young men who want to go in business that Michigan is a friendly state. I wish I might say to those with capital to invest that Michigan welcomes you."

"I wish I might say that in the statehouse there is a governor whose administration wants to make Michigan a better place to work in and better to own a business in."

"I regret that I cannot make that statement truthfully. At every crossroads in the state the governor is telling the people that he wants to make the corporations of Michigan pay a four per cent income tax."

It is a characteristic of indirect taxes to pyramid the taxation cost to the consumer, observes Lovett. As the income tax must be added to the cost of the product, the corporation has to add its overhead if it is going to stay in business and arrive at a selling price. Thus the four per cent tax may easily become six per cent by the time it is added into the final selling price paid by the consumer.

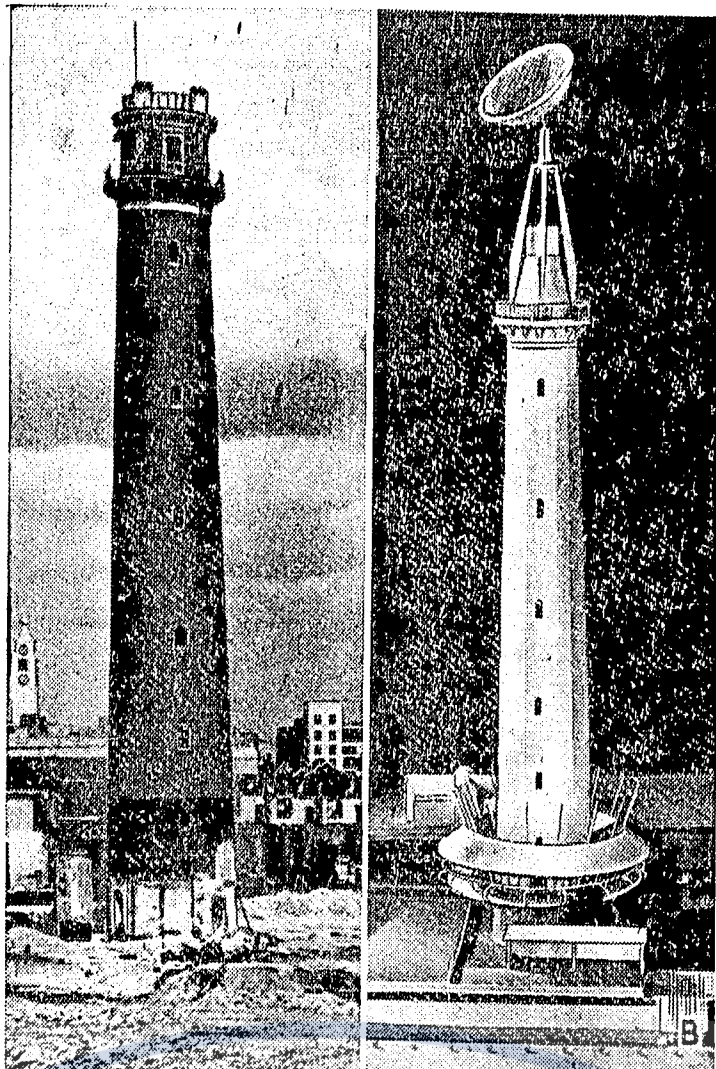

As the people of Michigan on four different occasions voted by a large majority against a state income tax, Lovett believes that a corporation income tax would be promptly taken to court for test of constitutionality.

"Corporations in Michigan now pay approximately 50 per cent of the property taxes paid in the state," states Lovett. "This tax cost amounts to about $200,000,000 a year. General Motors Corporation in the city of Pontiac pays 44 per cent of the total taxes of that

ROUND SHOT FIRED AT NAPOLEON was made in the tower pictured on the left. Next year, redesigned as it is pictured on the right, it will fire radio waves at the moon, and visitors to the 1951 Festival of Britain, through the aerial of the radio telescope at the top, will be able to see them bouncing back on earth a few seconds later. The tower today, a London landmark, stands on a cleared bomb site on which the main exhibition of the great national festival is beginning to rise. In its converted form it will also be capable of receiving the arrival of radio waves from the sun, stars and meteors.

McCues Continue Travels in West

(Editor's Note. This is the third letter from the Guy McCues, who are on their annual winter trip to the western states. The McCues are from Holt.)

Now for the third chapter of our travels. We left Holbrook, Arizona, December 30 and arrived in Long Beach, California, the next day. It was 600 miles and more than I care to drive in one day.

We stayed in Prescott, Arizona, the first night. We could have driven further that night, but we had to pass over Yarnell Hill. It was 28 miles up, down and around and I didn't care to drive on those curves after dark when it was icy and slippery. It is a pretty drive but I prefer to make the drive in the day time. The next morning we stopped at a cafe about half way over this hill and had hot cakes and coffee.

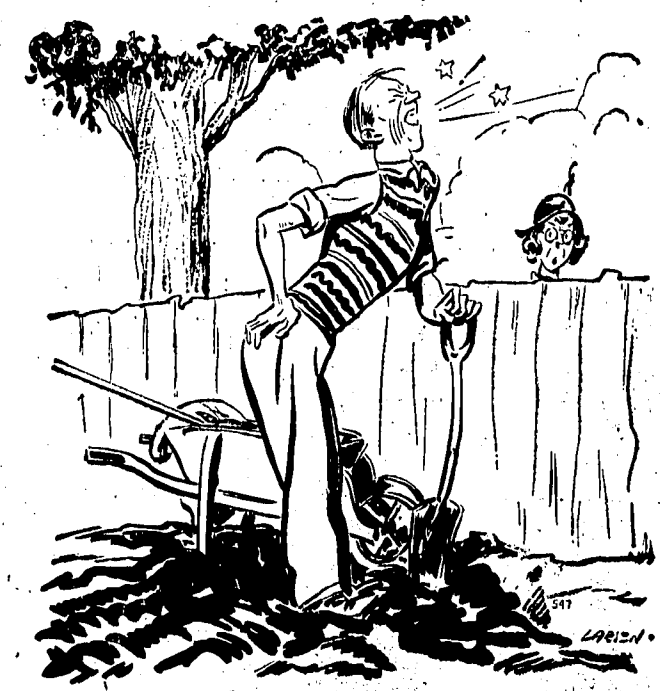

Just as you enter California from Arizona at Elgin, there is an inspection station. You unload your luggage and an inspector looks to see that you have no fruit or honey. We always have walnuts and they inspect them to see that there are no insects. Some of the tourists get angry when the inspector runs his hand around through everything, but it is the law so what can you do.

We turned off from Highway 60 and 70 and onto Highway 111 at Indio and went by the way of Palm Springs. We passed by many date palm groves. There is a ladder fastened to each tree, which they use when they pick the dates. It is pretty at Palm Springs out on the desert at the foot of a high mountain. There is gravel soil all around, but you have to pay thousands of dollars for a lot there.

We arrived in Long Beach at 5 p. m. Saturday night. We saw and listened to our first television program. We watched the rose parade from the living room of our son-in-law and daughter's home. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Klingensmith. The Long Beach float won the sweepstake prize for the second consecutive year. All the floats were on display at Pasadena the next day after the parade. The float from Long Beach was moved over here and it took between six and seven hours to move it 30 miles. We went down to see it and could understand why they had to drive so slowly. It was to keep the fragile flowers from being blown to pieces.

The television stations here are all located on Mt. Wilson, with the exception of one which is on Mt.

Work Gives Value to Play

Boys and girls in 4-H clubs have fun. One reason why they have so much fun is that work is included. That's the big reason why the 4-H program has grown so fast and accomplished so much. That's the reason why busy men and women give their time to club leadership.

The calves, sheep, hogs and other livestock, the cans of fruit, the racks of suits and dresses and the other exhibits displayed at the county fair and on achievement day show part of the worth of the 4-H program. Yet the real value is sometimes obscured by the exhibits. The real value lies in the citizenship training of the boys and girls. The real values come when the boys and girls grow up. In every community in the United States today are men and women who are putting into practice the training they received in 4-H clubs.

Boys and girls in 4-H work respect labor because they know they must work hard to win success in canning, gardening, poultry raising or any other project they undertake. They know it takes labor to feed livestock, to bake a cake, to raise garden stuff or make a dress.

They learn that ownership carries responsibility as well as rights, and they learn to respect both. A boy can't own a cow, a pig, a sheep or anything else without realizing his responsibility. He takes pride in the animal and he takes pride in himself in giving the animal the care needed. A girl who makes her own garments or learns to cook for the family learns to make her own decisions and to take pride in carrying out family duties and responsibilities.

Boys and girls in 4-H club work don't become apologists for the system of capitalism that has made this nation great. They know that capitalism needs no apologies.

They learn that under the American system capital is put to work, that capital makes possible their livestock and farming projects, and that it is as much entitled to a fair return as is the labor which makes the investment profitable.

Boys and girls in 4-H club work learn to recognize and value capabilities. They learn that if they intend to win in 4-H competition they must painstakingly follow directions, they must employ to the full every lesson they have learned. They learn to win without bragging and lose without whining.

Fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers, even the neighbors, become interested in 4-H activities of youngsters. The help, the encouragement and the sharing of enthusiasms transform families and neighborhoods as well as individual boys and girls.

The 4-H program is valuable for crafts and skills it teaches the boys and girls. It is invaluable for citizenship training.

The livestock, farm produce and household exhibits are important in the 4-H scheme. Yet the main purpose is making these boys and girls of today outstanding citizens of tomorrow. That the 4-H program is succeeding in accomplishing that greater task is a tribute to the work and interest of men and women who serve as club leaders and assistants.

Next week is 4-H club week. Among the plethora of special weeks here's a week that means something. It's an opportune time for all of us to tell the 4-H leaders in our community that we appreciate what they are doing. It's the right time to offer our own assistance in a worthwhile program.

Well Done, Dave

David C. Beatty of Williamston left his job as probate register Wednesday morning to become manager of the Williamston Elevator Co.

The people of this county have lost a valuable man who has served well in one of the most important offices. For 13 years he carried out with tact, diplomacy, understanding and faithfulness the exacting duties of probate register.

For 32 years Charles A. Clinton was probate register. Then he retired and Dave took the job. Thus for 45 years the people of this county have been served by two men whose integrity matched the responsibilities of the offices they filled.

Dave Beatty, like his predecessor, didn't confine himself to his range of duties in the probate office. Dave has served faithfully on the county board of social welfare. He has been treasurer of the county fair board. He has been active in his church and community and he will find other outlets for his energies and his capabilities in addition to his new job as manager of the Williamston Co-ops.

He'll do a good job no matter what position he fills; that's what people have always said of Dave Beatty. His quiet, friendly, unassuming manner, his trustworthiness, his unselfishness, and his devotion to duty have marked his private life and public service.

Dave is a good man. There is not a person who has had dealings with the probate office who doesn't realize that the county has lost an able and conscientious official. All of us join in wishing him the success he deserves in his new undertaking.

Salesmanship Is Needed

Mason business men have recognized a need for better salesmanship in their stores. They are enrolling in an extension course to study better sales methods.

Self-serve systems and display counters which should have made personal salesmanship easier have had the opposite effect. The war scarcities also interfered with proper training in salesmanship.

Customers are attracted to stores by newspaper advertising and window displays. They are attracted to departments of the store by counter displays and banners. Then all too often there is no one present equipped to sell. Customers want to learn about the advantages and shortcomings of the goods offered. They want clerks to show interest in filling customer wants and needs.

For 10 years no one has had to sell anything because customers have stood in line to buy. Those lines are growing shorter. Now is when salesmanship pays off; not the kind of bludgeoning that forces unwanted goods onto unwilling customers, but the kind that provides the buyer with what he wants and what he needs.

Good salesmen should know all about the wares or the services they sell and know how those wares or services fit the needs of the customer. No customer likes to be oversold. Neither does he like to be undersold.

Merchandising covers the distribution of goods from manufacturers and processors through wholesalers and jobbers into the hands of the retailers and then to customers. Until and unless the goods reach and are used by customers no one profits.

Salesmanship serves the customer, the retailer, the wholesaler, the manufacturer and producer. Mason business men are wise to encourage its revival.

There are 150 newspaper reporters in Manchester, N. H., on the so-called mercy killing trial. Four of them are from London papers. More words are being sent daily from the trial scene than at any other trial since that of Bruno Hauptmann, slayer of the Lindbergh child. Is the trial that important?

Change Made in State Accounting Is Costing Taxpayers Big Money

By Vernon J. Brown

My readers, if any there be, must by now have become weary of my continual "heaving" about affairs in which I once had pretty much a free hand but which now are under the control of others. I refer of course to the office of auditor general of Michigan together with the agencies then under the direct and statutory authority of the state administrative board. Special recourse is made to such as fell under the scope of authority granted to certain committees of that board on which I served.

Inclusively this group of agencies which I have in mind consisted of the constitutional responsibilities of the auditor general as an elected state official, plus such other controls as the state legislature had granted him by law. Most important in this respect was full and complete authority over and control of the accounting system of the state, its institutions, boards, agencies, commissions, etc.

garbage expects to get out. They don't seem to mind."

That's sound philosophy for all of us, whether man or beast. When we nose around in garbage and filth we ought to expect to get out. We shouldn't mind.

Every time Sam Tomlinson walks down the corridors outside the jail bullpens the repeaters back away and some of them reflectively rub their jawbones. Until he accepted his turnkey job at the jail last week Sam was the official duster-offer for Lansing's gutter street saloons. When their best customers reached the fighting stage, bartenders summoned Sam. It became his duty to quietly invite the boisterous patrons to leave. When the invitation was ignored Sam had the further duty of persuasion. He has a most persuasive manner with either hand.

Just a few days now and sap will start up the hard maples. Sugar bush operators are overhauling their gear, ready to swing into action with the first run. Last year there was a run the last week in February. Paul Scherer plans to go into the sugar business on his new farm north of town. The trees have not been tapped for several years.

L. B. Barr and Clair King are in partnership with Paul at the Scherer bush. L. B. is a Presbyterian and his partners are Nazarenes. In discussing their plan of operation the sugar bush owner inquired what the policy will be on Sunday work. L. B. handed down the majority opinion: If the Almighty sees fit to have the sap run Sundays He must mean that it would be proper for some of us to be here in the woods to empty the buckets and to keep the pan boiling.

Down by the Sycamore

If L. B. Barr gets delivery of his Chriscraft on schedule he'll be sitting pretty when the ice goes out on Lake Vevay. Nature provided just a little spring-fed pond on the Barr farm on Dexter trail. Instead of waiting for another glacier to come along to enlarge and deepen the pond L. B. did the work himself. He dug out the marl and now has eight feet of water in places. The conservation department has agreed to plant bluegills there this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minch of Williamston are introducing art and culture to this area. They are making and selling figurines and are selling the paints and brushes for artistic folks who want to paint their own. The making of figurines is a family tradition with Mrs. Minch. Her mother and grandmother, down in Indiana, grew famous for making them. Dalton dolls, Dresden figurines, Chinese statuettes, book ends, table lamp bases and just about everything else is turned out by Mr. and Mrs. Minch. Venus, Aphrodite, Faith, Hope, Charity, Lincoln, Washington, Henry Wallace, John Lewis and Aly Kahn rub elbows in the ceramic casting room in Williamston. Mr. and Mrs. Minch, who came to Williamston three years ago, make their own rubber molds. A trip to the Minch gallery in Williamston is worthwhile. It's a barn on US-16 west of the business section.

This is the centennial year for English sparrows in the United States. In all of North and South America until a hundred years ago there was not a sparrow. One hundred years ago this week Nicholas Pike of Brooklyn, New York, nostalgic over the chirp of sparrows in his native England, imported and released eight pairs of the birds. They spread over the civilized portions of both the Western Hemisphere. They never live in the wilderness. Shooting, poisoning or bounties never made any appreciable inroads on the birds. Supplanting of horses by trucks and tractors has been the only thing to slow the increase.

That pretty picture out in front of the Krass studio is of Susie Pearsall. It looks just like her, too. For the last four or five summers Susie has raised and sold gladioli. Some of the beauty of those flowers has rubbed off onto Susie and her sisters Toby and Connie.

Some people think that only professors have any right to philosophy. The truth is that we all live and die by our philosophies. Often our philosophy changes according to circumstances, or circumstances come about because of our philosophies. I don't know which it is.

At the last council session Brothers Sylvanus and Elwin Jones revealed their philosophy on feeding Mason garbage to Jones hogs. The brothers were urging adoption of the practice of residents putting tin cans and bottles in garbage cans. Previous collectors protested the practice with such violence that the council enacted an ordinance prohibiting anyone placing a can or bottle in a garbage can.

"Don't the hogs cut their mouths when they run across glass or tin in the garbage?" questioned City Attorney O. J. Hood.

"Yes, they do," replied Sylvanus, "but any hog nosing around in

Agencies outside the personal authority of the auditor general and controlled by the administrative board by committee action included such as the state purchasing, building, construction and maintenance, and similar.

Legislative Lessons
For 10 years the people of the second legislative district of Ingham county had sent me to the house of representatives. There I applied myself pretty much to the fiscal side of government, revenue and expenditures.

In that capacity I was continually harassed by lack of adequate, accurate and understandable statements available from the several accounting sources maintained by the state. Finally I asked the people of the state to elect me auditor general because from my experiences I believed I knew how to obtain the results so long sought not only by me but by others in both the senate and the house. I was elected and I went to work. I had the confidence of my former colleagues in the legislature and I had the backing of my associates in the state administration. Consequently I soon was able to bring about the reforms I believed were necessary.

Gains Are Lost
Within the past three years I have seen one after another of those reforms cast aside, sometimes in answer to the demands of political patronage, sometimes because of the insane desire of certain public officials to obtain absolute control over important functions of state government, and sometimes, I fear, merely to uproot the existing and try something new.

The most drastic change came with the creation of what is known as the department of administration set up to satisfy the longing of a governor for absolutism. Into that went the state's accounting department, along with the budget managers, the building construction and maintenance, and several other divisions of exceeding importance.

Too Big for One Man
In this column at the time the proposal was before the legislature I pointed out that no single individual could ever be found who would be capable under any governor to handle all these jobs. No one, I contended, could possibly acquire in a single lifetime all the technical knowledge required to properly assimilate all the details involved. Week by week my contentions are being proved true and sound.

chants with small, emergency orders to keep going.

Such a situation confronted the institution heads back in 1939 along with the practice of buying on weak specifications and accepting below-standard goods, which is now also a complaint.

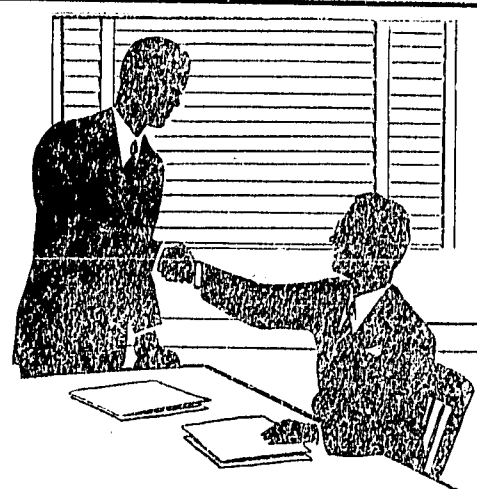

Another complaint is that the state has surplus commodities on hand at one institution which could be advantageously consumed at others. Here again is a rebirth of old faults once corrected.

Still another change is that the constitutional authority and responsibility and the sole right of the auditor general for drawing all state warrants for the payments of money is being dodged and circumvented by several agencies—another old ghost come back to haunt the legislature.

INGHAM COUNTY NEWS

These complaints do not come from irresponsible political leaders nor do they emanate from the pens of dispossessed former state officials. On the contrary, they are contained in a report made to the auditor general by high-ranking accountants and auditors, reporting for an independent firm of nationally-known certified public accountants none less than the firm of Ernst & Ernst.

The legislature should never have commenced the changes in the laws asked for by one governor and they should not now tolerate the deviations from recognized standards of good accounting procedure now being practiced under another governor.

When Cadillac says New...

...it's News!

WHEN Cadillac announces that basic changes have been made in its design, it means the Standard of the World has once again been raised.

And that, of course, is news of the first magnitude.

This year, the number of Cadillac changes is far greater than is normally announced.

There is glamorous new beauty. All the bodies have been restyled and redesigned and are simply gorgeous in their line and contour.

The great new Cadillac high-compression engine has undergone refinements which enhance every phase of its performance.

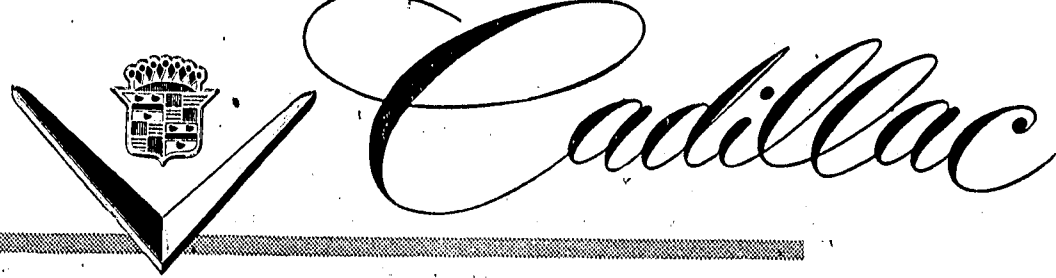

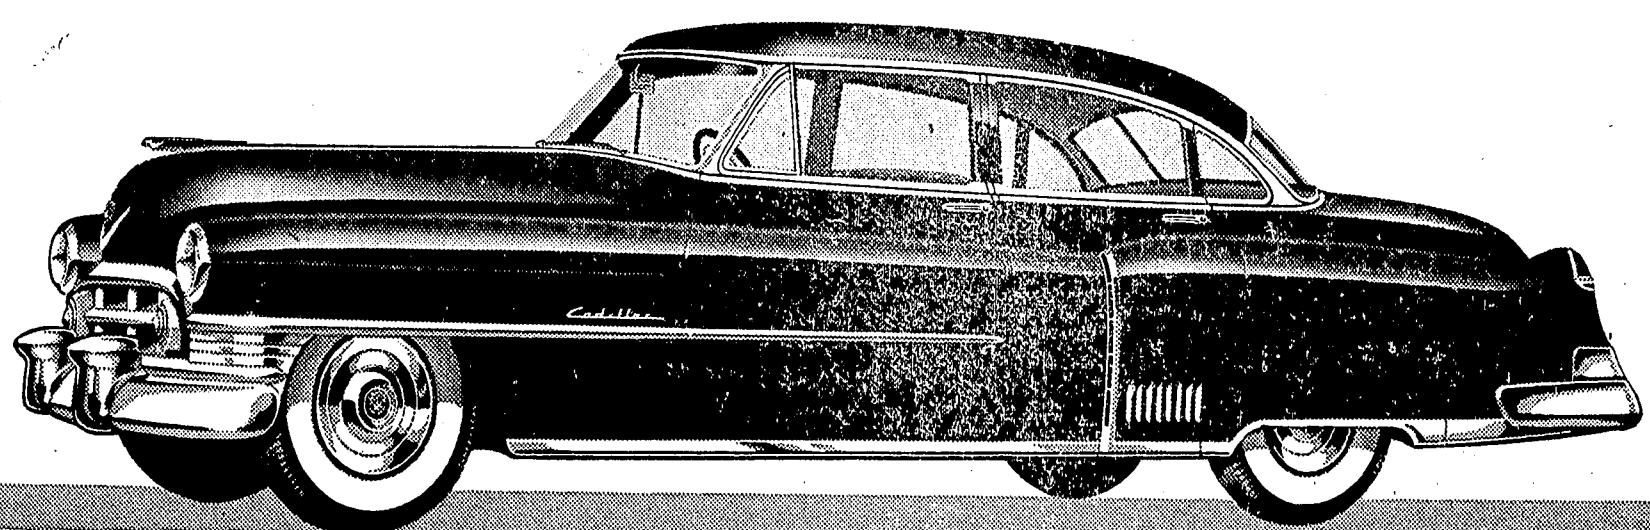

It is smoother; it is quieter; it is more powerful. And it carries you even farther on a gallon of gasoline.

Road balance and handling ease are remarkably improved. Steering is easier; braking is softer; and the car's stability on turns and curves is phenomenal. Almost all the effort has been taken out of driving.

And we feel like saying that the car is longer-lived, for new endurance has been built into certain of its parts. But the full life-span of a Cadillac has never yet been measured—so longer life would be impossible to prove!

Yes—this is a Cadillac "vintage" year—when its engineering and designing and manufacturing have all produced at their superlative best.

Better come in—and see for yourself!

Of Interest to Farmers

No Potato Surplus in Michigan

If you're getting that finger ready to point at the Michigan potato farmer in trying to find someone to blame for the current potato surplus problem, you had better look elsewhere. Henry C. Moore, Michigan State college crops extension specialist, who has spent more than 30 years working with Michigan potato growers, thinks so anyway.

Michigan consumers would eat Michigan potatoes exclusively if the state could come very close to handling its own crop. This, of course, is not possible, since Michigan potatoes are not available every month in the year. Here is Moore's analysis, however:

Michigan's crop was slightly more than 17,000,000 bushels in 1949, a reduction of two million bushels under the average for the 10 years previous. After deductions are made for culls fed livestock, potatoes consumed on farms where produced and for potatoes saved for seed, that leaves about 11,000,000 bushels of Michigan potatoes for sale to consumers.

Annual per capita consumption of potatoes in the U. S. in 1948 was about 110 pounds. Excluding those living on farms raising potatoes, there would be 6,000,000 Michigan people to consume the crop. Based on the average, their consumption would exceed 10,000,000 bushels.

The crop specialist pointed to the reduction in acreage from an average of 183,000 acres from 1938

Good Breeding Boosts His Dairy Production

Four young cows in the herd of Orla Pritchett, Sandusky, each from a different Holstein bull in the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative stud, produced more than 450 pounds of butterfat each in their first lactation period. A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman in charge of artificial breeding work in Michigan, says each of these young animals produced approximately 50 pounds more butterfat than their dams produced in any year.

Demand from members in the 144 local associations in Michigan has been increasing each month and Baltzer thinks as many as 12,000 cows will be bred artificially through the association during March.

To avoid losses from disease, Michigan State college poultrymen say it's a good idea to know the background of chicks that you buy. They should come from flocks that have a history of producing lots of large eggs.

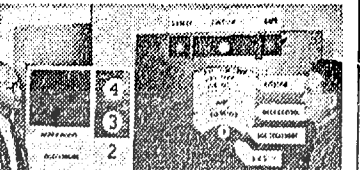

New York Farmers Hit 'The Jackpot' New Device Determines Good Soil Management

What a New York farmer gets these days when he "hits the jackpot" might not be dimes or quarters, but it may be increased crop yields in the years ahead.

Or, as the saying goes in Ithaca, Cornell's two versatile soil conservationists have "done it again." Hugh Wilson and Harry Kerr of the state extension staff have come up with another "gadget" to demonstrate the value of good soil management.

That's where the jackpot comes in. Their latest contribution has been dubbed the "one-armed bandit" because it looks like a cross between a slot-machine and a roulette wheel. But it has proved an effective teaching device to let farmers know if their crop practices are robbing the soil. The "bandit" is in two parts: one, a chart which determines land use capability (LUC) and the other, an analyzer consisting of four concentric circles. It can set up a possible 768 combinations and a flashing green, yellow or red light indicates whether or not favorable soil balance is being maintained.

But that's the last step. First, the land use capability must be established. It is based on these physical characteristics of the land: slope, length of slope, internal drainage, texture, erosion and humus. Values determined mathematically from these characteristics are assigned to slides of varying sizes which fit into the LUC chart. The color and number which the six slides reach show the land use capability for the field.

Cows Infested With Lice Give Poor Milk Output

Cows with lice make lousy performance records, says T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio state university. Since lice are often abundant on cattle during the winter and spring when the hair is long, he recommends treating the animals for lice as soon as possible.

Either rotenone or DDT is an effective treatment. If rotenone is used, two treatments, 15 days apart, are necessary. Only one thorough treatment with DDT is required.

Parks states that cattle with lice will not make satisfactory gains in weight, or if being milked, will not maintain a steady milk flow. Symptoms of lice include rough and coarse hair, and sometimes large, hairless patches on the neck and body caused by the animal rubbing the irritated area.

Winning Carload

The grand champion carload lot of hogs at the annual International Livestock Show in Chicago was owned by 23-year old Stanley K. Swift, Gilman, Iowa, who is shown with the winners. Swift is said to be the youngest winner of the carload championship in the history of the big show. The hogs are purebred Berkshires.

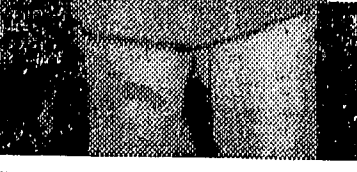

Insects, Insecticides Team Up on 'Bad' Bugs

According to many scientists, certain insects beneficial to man, in that they prey on harmful bugs, may be expected to team with newer and better insecticides in controlling these harmful bugs. They tell how insecticidal spraying killed the "friendly" bugs as well as others in North Dakota, and that spraying was suspended for a time sufficient to let predators of the harmful bugs build back up.

142.97 BUSHEL WINS 1949 CORN CROWN FOR MICHIGAN FARMER

Holland, Michigan (Special)—The ears of corn James Nyhof, Allegan County farmer, is holding out for your inspection, are part of an outstanding 142.97 bushel yield he made to win Michigan Corn Growing Honors in the 1949 National Dekalb Selected 6-Acre Corn Growing Contest. Farmers in Michigan will be interested in knowing that Corn Champ Nyhof's 142.97 bushel yield is more than three times the U.S.D.A. estimated average yield for Michigan farms this year. In making his record state yield, Nyhof spring-plowed his sandy-loam field, treated with both manure and commercial fertilizer. He check-row planted his Dekalb Hybrid Seed Corn, variety 239, 96 inches between rows and 16 inches between hills. Field testing showed Nyhof's corn had dried to a remarkable low of 17.6 per cent moisture on the stalk at harvest time.

College Selects 3 Oat Varieties

Recommended varieties of oats and barley for spring planting were announced this week by Michigan State college farm crops authorities. K. J. Frey, crops specialist, believes Eastern Kent and Clinton are the most adapted oats and Bay or Moore the best barley varieties for Michigan farmers in 1950. Upper Peninsula growers of oats should use the Bonham variety, Frey reports.

Baton and Clinton oats are recommended for planting on more fertile soil because they have stiff straw. Baton and Kent, according to Frey, are preferred to Clinton in the thumb region because they have white kernels and a more even growing habit. He thinks farmers using Clinton will like Clinton 59 or Clinton Reselection instead of the original variety because of uniform height and maturity of the crop.

Kent is recommended where lodging is not likely to occur. Frey thinks it will do well following corn or sugar beets in the thumb region. Kent has a better test weight than Baton and should replace it when there is little danger of serious lodging.

Bay and Moore are melting barleys with a stiff straw and good yield records. Although the seed is hard to get, Moore has considerable resistance to mildew, stem rust, and spot blotch. Bay is a few days earlier maturing than Moore, and Frey has found this to be of definite advantage when the weather is hot early in the season and blasts the barley heads. With Moore difficult to obtain, large quantities of Wisconsin 38 may be grown in Michigan this year, but should be replaced by Moore or Frey recommends.

Mars is the recommended variety of barley for muck soils.

With irrigation taking a prominent place in Michigan's agriculture, Michigan State college has planned another two-day irrigation conference this year. Dates have been set for March 9 and 10 with meetings in Fairchild Theater on the campus and exhibits of equipment.

Cheapest Chicks May Cost Most

You can't buy "cheap" chicks and be assured of any breeding back of them, says Howard C. Zindel, Michigan State college extension poultryman.

Price is not important, Zindel thinks, if you pay only for what you get. Chicks with good breeding quality behind them necessarily cost more than "average, run-of-the-mill" chicks.

The farmer's guarantee of getting quality is buying from reliable hatcheries that back up their guarantees.

Last year Michigan hatcherymen, operating under the National Poultry Improvement plan, sold more than a million chicks and the livability returns at two-weeks of age showed nearly 98 per cent.

Corn Alone Is Not Good Feed for Pigs

Feeding corn alone to pigs is a big mistake. Farmers have plenty of corn this year and protein supplements are high compared to corn, so W. N. McMillen, Michigan State college swine authority, thinks many farmers may make this mistake.

"Corn alone is not good feed for any size pigs. It is rich in starches and food material that puts fat on animals, but lacks proteins, minerals and vitamins which are necessary for young pigs; also pregnant and nursing sows," McMillen cautions.

Each pound of supplement fed will replace four to five pounds of grain, and McMillen says that will more than pay for the cost of the supplement.

Chevrolet has pioneered many improvements in low-priced cars since its founding. Among them are: self-starter, safety glass all around, complete body insulation, turret-top body construction, hypoid rear axle, knee-action, bonded brake linings, valve-in-head engine.

HERD HAS HIGH AVERAGE

During the last test year, the 16-cow herd of registered Holsteins owned by H. A. Miller & Sons, Williamston, produced an average of 558 pounds of butterfat and 14,306 pounds of milk testing 3.8% in the official herd improvement registry program of Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

easy THRESHES IT

Rubber-against-rubber shelling contacts in the ALL-CROP Harvester give a natural shelling action, just as you rub out a head of grain in the palm of your hand.

The crop falls on a wide, rubberized draper and rides straight to the full-width, spiral-bar cylinder in a thin stream just as it grew in the field. Rubber-cushioned cylinder bars rub out the grain or seeds against rubber concaves.

This same gentle handling of over 100 grains, seeds and beans makes the All-Crop what is . . . truly an ALL-CROP Harvester.

Stop in and talk to us about an All-Crop for your farm.

Wild Birds Join Game Farm Flock

Pheasant hunters in some areas next fall are going to be bagging releases of genetically wild and regular game farm cocks which the conservation department will have a special interest in checking.

Some 2,500 males to be hatched and segregated at the state game farm, offspring of wild pheasants which were live-trapped last year, will be tagged and released along with a like number of regular game farm cocks. Purpose is to measure possible deficiencies of game farm stock.

With exception of the Danville state game area, releasing locations have not been named as yet. Game men will follow the two groups of hens from the start of the nesting process. They will compare breeding behavior, hatching dates and other relevant factors, but will depend on hunters' band returns for the all-important survival check of offspring.

The project actually commenced with today's outstanding tractor value

He's "sittin' pretty"—the man who owns a John Deere Two-Cylinder Tractor. Its matchless simplicity and strength of parts insures the maximum in dependability, economy, long life. Its many advanced features make farming far easier than ever before.

last year with the trapping of 100 hens from the Thumb area. They were mated with a wild strain of males. Eggs from these wild females were hatched and the broods were raised separately from game farm youngsters. Game workers had only 400 second generation male young to release with an equal number of regular farm stock prior to the 1949 hunting season. Consequently the number of log-band returns is expected to be insufficient to provide reliable information.

Pheasants have resisted domestication through the years. Hunter report card returns have indicated only one in 10 of the game farm stock released are reported shot. Recognizing the fact that many hunters do not report banded birds shot, game biologists still believe no more than one-third of the released birds are bagged.

Vegetable Growers Meeting at College

Vegetable growers in eight central Michigan counties will meet at Michigan State college March 6, to hear reports of recent developments in their industry and to discuss some of their problems.

Jack Rose, vegetable specialist at the college, said the meeting will be held at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, March 6, in the Horticulture building. County agricultural agents in Ingham, Livingston, Jackson, Shiawassee, Ionia, Clinton, Eaton and Barry counties are cooperating in urging their growers to attend this meeting.

Staff members of the department of horticulture will discuss research work on methods of producing earlier vegetable crops through the use of pelleted seed, hormone sprays, plant covers and other methods. They will also discuss the use of irrigation on vegetable crops, varieties, vegetable soil management and vegetable marketing problems.

Members of the departments of botany and entomology will discuss insect and disease control measures on vegetable crops.

Rose said that the lack of concentrated vegetable growing areas in Central Michigan has made it more difficult for growers in this section to keep up with changes in their industry. In concentrated producing areas, such as the Grand Rapids area, Southwest Michigan, or the Bay county section, growers meet several times each year. The March meeting at East Lansing is usually the only opportunity for Central Michigan vegetable men to get together.

For controlling miles in the chicken house, 5 per cent DDT in kerosene spray applied to cracks and crevices around the nests and roosts is very effective.

Industrial Varnishes Baked

To obtain maximum hardness of the protective coating for some surfaces, varnish is baked, or cured, in ovens under infra-red radiation or by induction. Most industrial varnishes are of this variety. Varnishes sold at retail are invariably of the air-drying type which does not require baking.
