

Zimmer Home in Burma Looted During Civil War

Rev. and Mrs. Walter W. Zimmer will have to start housekeeping all over again in Burma. Only their refrigerator was spared by looters during the civil war between government forces and Karens.

The Zimmermans were stationed in Toungoo when the fighting broke out early in 1949. For a while they took refuge in a British mining camp. Finally they were able to reach Rangoon by plane. With the cease-fire order, Rev. (Bud) Zimmer was able to leave Rangoon to see what was left of the home in Toungoo. In a letter written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Zimmer of Mason, Ind. wrote under date of June 14:

"I flew to Toungoo Monday to inspect our property and to investigate relief needs. There are only 20-25 Christian families at liberty in the town. The Karens, except for 200, who stayed here and are now confined in a 'rest camp' have fled to the hills. I visited those in the camp on Monday. They are getting food from the government and are fairly well cared for. However, they need clothing, blankets, mosquito nets and medicine. So, I shall make another trip by train soon to bring these things up.

"Our home is still standing and is in good condition. An army officer now lives in it and I'm sure he will care for it well. Many of the Karen houses were looted to the last piece of lumber or brick. Our possessions were looted except for the refrigerator which a doctor friend carried to his home. We will try to ship it to Rangoon and send for parts from America to have it repaired.

"The police have been very suspicious of me since my arrival. They've come asking questions about four times. But they are friendly as a rule.

"We have recently been receiving mail addressed to us at Toungoo, which is over a year old. We have enjoyed reading the copies of the Ingham County News which have accumulated in the post-office."

Mrs. Zimmer also wrote from Rangoon. Parts of her letter appear below:

"Bud went by air to Toungoo"

Dogs Make Raids On Three Flocks

Dogs have raided flocks in Vevay, Aurelius and Bunker Hill recently.

Lyle Palmer of Aurelius caught a dog in his sheep and held it until Dog Warden William Disler arrived. Alton Jewett of Vevay was able to identify one of the two dogs which raided his flock. Disler, when he investigated, found blood on the dog and seized the animal.

Tommy Perry of Bunker Hill lost five sheep to dogs last week. Disler got one of the two raiding dogs but has been unable to find another seen in the flock.

State law forbids the running at large of dogs from sundown to sunrise. Disler pointed out, He also called attention to the rabies quarantine which provides that all dogs must be on leash or confined through July 15.

Merchantmen Stay in Race By Beating Williamston 11-3

Chelsea, Webberville Independents and Mason are still battling it out for the Tri-County baseball title. Chelsea and Webberville still have clean slates while Mason has dropped one game in five starts.

Mason turned back Williamston Sunday 11-3 to keep right at the two league leaders' heels. The Webberville Independents whipped the Williamston VFW 20-3 Sunday for its fifth straight win while Chelsea barely sneaked by Pinckney 9-8.

In other games Sunday Stockbridge beat Lansing Labor 20-6 and Saline fell before Fowlerville 12-9.

Mason Has Easy Time
Mason Merchants crossed home plate at least once in every inning except the fifth and eighth, in beating Williamston. The Merchantmen banged out 14 hits and took advantage of six Williamston errors to score 11 runs.

Ron Stolz started on the mound for Mason and held the Williamston team in check until the eighth frame. With two out Williamston scored one run and loaded the bases. Stolz called it a day and Dick Corbin took over the mound duties.

Before Mason could retire the side Williamston pushed across two more rallies. Williamston banged out a total of five hits, all of them off Stolz. All five safeties were singles and were spread down the batting order.

Mason hitting attack was paced by Norm Rector who poked out a double and two singles. Chuck Sealey and Denny Stolz each collected three singles. Dick Betcher added a double and a single.

Standings after Sunday's games are:

Chelsea	5	0	1,000
Webberville	5	0	1,000
Independents	4	1	800
Mason	3	1	750
Pinckney	2	3	400
Williamston	2	3	400
Stockbridge	2	3	400
Saline	1	4	200
Lansing Labor	0	5	000
Webberville VFW	0	4	000

Pilot Explains Storm Maneuvers

Harley Van Sickle, army flight instructor during the war, told Mason Kiwanians Tuesday night about maneuvers employed to pilot planes safely through storms.

He gave his opinion of the reason for the crash of the North-western DC-4 airliner in Lake Michigan.

Van Sickle now does much private flying in his own plane. He is manager of Schmidt's department store at Mason.

Mrs. Myrtle Maine, 401 East Ash street, has an old hen with a flock of small chicks, one month old, and the hen lays an egg every day.

Mrs. A. D. Edgar, 73, died Wednesday morning, June 28, after an illness of two years.

She was born August 27, 1870, to John and Anna Docking of Pinckney. On February 16, 1902, Mable Nina Docking and A. D. Edgar were married in Mason. They have lived at their farm in Aurelius for the past 48 years.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Ball funeral home Friday, June 30, at 2:00 p. m. with Rev. Marshall Simpson of the Mason Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in the Greenwood cemetery in Aurelius.

Besides the husband, Mrs. Edgar is survived by a sister, Mrs. Anna Tracey of Fowlerville, a brother, James Docking of Howell, and four nieces.

Funeral services at the funeral will be neighbors, Stanley Hazel, Clarence Freer, Earl Warner, Cleo Sanders, Frank Hopkins and Claud Parish.

As the results of the 1950 census were tallied a group of Everett residents started out to get 1,500 signatures to petition to have the district set off from Lansing and returned to Lansing township.

Harold Wilson, chairman of the detachment committee, said that if the necessary signatures are obtained the proposal will be put on the September primary ballot for a referendum vote. Last November annexation was approved by Lansing and by Lansing township.

Still in Production

Outstanding success in an unusual field for women—selling trucks to large operators of automotive equipment—is the record of Mrs. Dorothy Dennis, fleet sales manager of a large Chevrolet dealership in St. Louis and believed to be the only woman in the country to occupy such a position in the automobile industry. Entering the highly competitive fleet business, Mrs. Dennis established a notable record in the sale of cars and trucks to owners of large fleets in the midwest. Oldsmobile Worker Announces Candidacy for Clerk's Post

George William Parker has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination of county clerk.

Hunter lives in Lansing at 537 Hunter avenue and is an employee of the Oldsmobile company.

Parker is a World War II veteran. He spent 28 months in the navy, 22 months overseas. He started his education in a country school, then attended school in Dansville. He then moved to Holt, graduating from Holt high school where he was well known in athletics, especially basketball and softball. He then entered L. B. U., graduating from that school the next year. He was employed by the Ingham county road commission for five years. At present he is an employee of the Oldsmobile Motor company where he has worked for the past eight years.

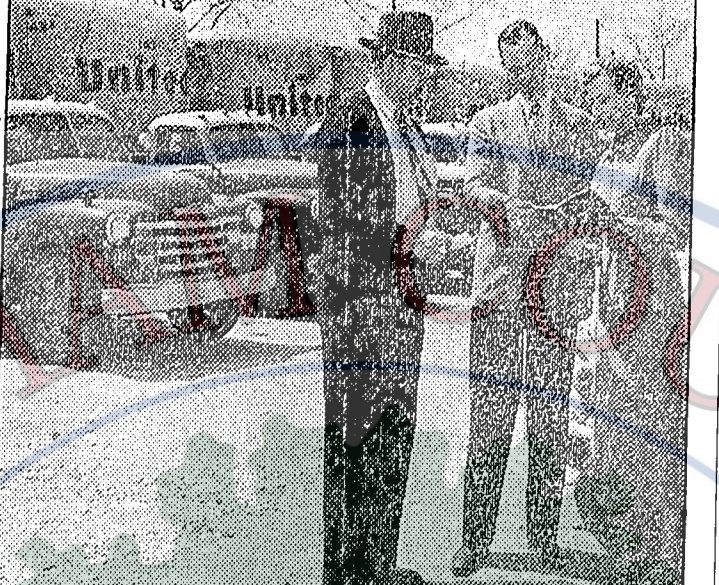

Parker is also a stamp collector and conducts a stamp business in his spare time.

He is an active member of F. F. W. and Young Democratic clubs.

Mrs. Don VanderVeen, Jr., president of the Mason Women's Golf association, and Mrs. Fields are in charge of the twilight affairs.

Almost all of the first round of the men's tournament has been played. Those who survived first round play are Ed Ware, Leo Alaire, Don Williams, Jim Inghram, Lee Ware, Frank Lock, Clarence Boles, Nels Ferriby and Dick Brown.

Harold Ware dropped a close one to Jim Inghram for the top match of the week. After nine holes of play the count was even. In the sudden death playoff Inghram came up with a birdie a par and another birdie to take the match.

On Saturday Harold Ware burned up the course with a scorching 33, three under par. Another blind bogey tournament will be run off on Sunday. According to Fields there will be a flag tournament organized just as soon as equipment arrives.

Legion Loses Three Games

Mason's Junior American Legion baseball team has gone into a week-long slump. Coach Harold Hanse's boys have lost the last three games. Friday night Mason fell before Williamston 5-3 in an Ingham County league game.

Munday night Mason lost a 8-4 decision to Marshall in a Tri-County league tussle. Tuesday night Mason jumped back to the Ingham county league and took it on the chin from East Lansing 2-1.

Mason Outlets Williamston
Mason batters poked out five hits while pitcher Bob Thompson held Williamston to three but the Mason team still lost. Williamston scored one run in the first inning on two walks and a hit and added two more in the fourth frame on a walk and a wild pitch.

Mason tried to get back in the game in the last half of the fourth but could only push across one run. In the sixth inning Williamston scored two more runs. Mason came up with another rally in the last half of the sixth but fell short after scoring two runs.

George Campbell had a big day at the plate for Mason. He batted out three hits in three times at bat. All of the safeties were singles.

Marshall Has Too Much
Marshall took an early lead over Mason Monday night and never let it go. In the first inning Marshall put two men across the plate after two were out. Marshall added two more in the second frame with the help of two wild pitches.

Mason came up with its only real threat of the game in the third inning. With one out Bob Allen singled to right field, Joe Hovey walked and Stuart Taylor received a free pass to first. LeRoy Scott sent in Allen with an infield smash then Chuck Howell poked out a single that scored Hovey. George Campbell hit a single to center that accounted for another Mason run but then Marshall clamped on the lid.

The rest of the game was all Marshall. Mason did manage to score one more run in the last inning when the Ingham county boys fashioned a run out of two walks and a single by Howell.

Chuck Howell slammed out three singles in four times at bat to pace Mason. Mason and Marshall both collected seven hits.

Howell was on the mound for Mason and Jim Lee handled the but, then Marshall clamped on the hurling chores for Marshall.

Close Contest
East Lansing finally edged Mason out Tuesday night in a close game 2-1. It was a tight pitching battle all the way. East Lansing drew first blood in the sixth inning with one run on two hits. Mason came right back in the seventh

Wallaces Will Move

Bill Wallace plans to leave July 10 for Chicago where he will work in the district office of the Oldsmobile company. He will be in the sales and distribution department. Wallace has been with the Oldsmobile company in Lansing for more than a year. His family will move to Chicago as soon as Wallace can find a place to live.

Wallace is commander of the Mason VFW post and a lieutenant in the Michigan national guard.

Holt Recreation Council Plans Homecoming Day

The Holt summer recreation program will culminate in a homecoming according to plans of the Holt Recreation Council at its meeting Monday evening. A parade, baseball games, contests, rides for children and a program given by the recreational leaders and their groups were suggested activities for the homecoming.

A committee to study and plan for the event will be headed by co-chairmen Barrett Vorce and Marshall Coolidge. Working with them will be Mrs. Alida Chapman, Joseph Foster, Jesse Curtis and Earl Walton; the three recreational leaders, Sue Matteson, Bill Barnhart, Harold Wells; and a representative from the board of education and the township board.

Mr. Yates, speaking for the board of education, asked that the P. T. A. and the Community Council jointly sponsor an educational improvement program for Holt. He explained that quite a number of towns and cities have met with considerable success in helping improve their local educational programs. A committee from the Holt Council was named to meet with one from the P. T. A. and the board of education to choose a citizens study committee consisting of at least 25 people representing all Holt organizations. The committee named is composed of Wilson Tennant, Russell Darling and Mrs. Gertrude Curtis. The P. T. A. committee is represented by Robert Ledyard, Mrs. Ernest Burlew and William Holmes. The board of education committee is Jay Parkhurst and Howard Chappell. These three groups will meet July 17 to select the citizens study committee.

In connection with this, Yates listed several immediate needs that such a committee could work on. They are:

1. The Holt Athletic and Memorial field needs further improvement, including facilities for baseball, track, tennis, shuffleboard and other activities. Locker rooms and toilets are additional needs.

2. The Midway school site is also in need of recreational development. The work being done at present is donated. At the coming school meeting the Holt people will be asked if they will be interested in raising an extra mill or two at the coming election to help take care of the above needs.

3. A study of future school building needs. The large increase of children born during the war years has now reached third grade, indicating crowded and inadequate facilities as they progress up through the grades.

4. Consideration of continuing the operating tax which expires this year. This tax has allowed for an extra teacher or two and also more library facilities and visual aids for the school.

Rev. Wilson Tennant, president, announced an area Community Chest meeting July 7 in Lansing. Representatives from the council will attend. Barrett Vorce announced that the summer recreation program is drawing quite a number of people, and said that there are activities for entire family participation.

Farewell Party Held
A farewell party was held last Sunday for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. George Dutcher, by the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Squiers of Lansing. The Squiers took the couple and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Remala, to Detroit for the double-header ball game of the Yankees and Detroit Tigers.

In Justice Court

L. G. Richards of Maple Grove was found guilty at a trial held Monday evening. He appeared before Justice Alvin Hartig, and pleaded not guilty. He was assessed $6.50 costs for having an exhaust whistle on his auto. He was arrested by Constable William Love of Maple Grove.

Adult Rehearsal Planned

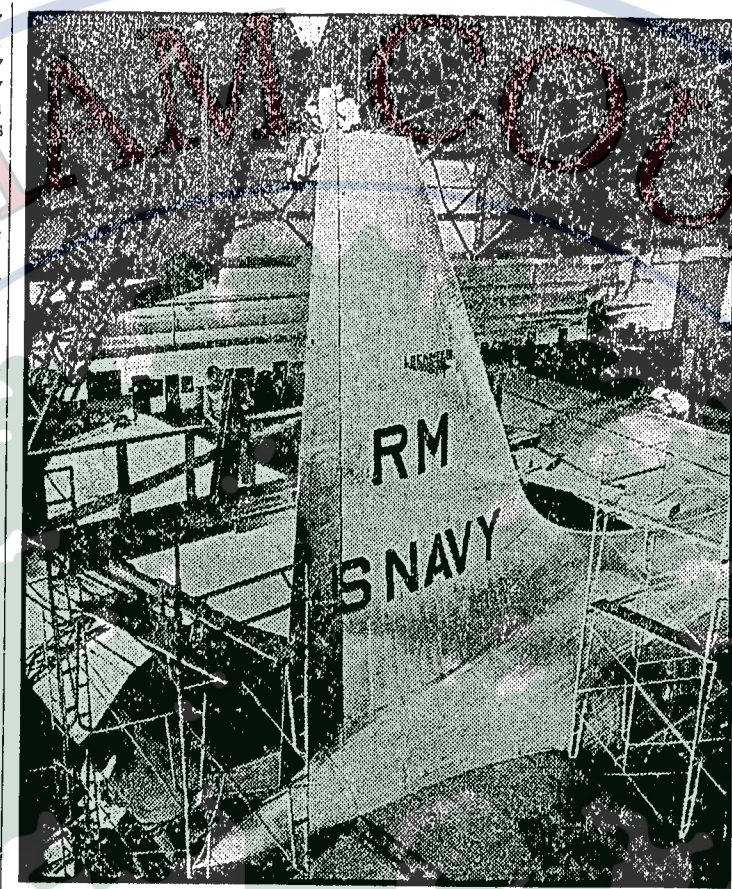

An instrumental rehearsal, strings and wind instruments, is to be held in the band room of the high school, July 5, at 7:00 p. m. for adults only, under the direction of Don Tatro. This is a part of the summer recreation program for the adults. Arrangements are being made for a vocal group rehearsal within the next two weeks. Evening concerts are being planned for the Athletic field under lights. Community singing will be offered at the same time. Any adult individual who is interested in this project is urged to attend rehearsal Wednesday evening.

Trees Uprooted Near Cottage

In the storm that hit the state last Friday night three huge trees near the Ernest Burlew cottage at Coldwater lake were uprooted. Two of them, within three feet of the house, had crashed and shaved off the edge of the porch roof.

Presbyterian Church Camp

During this summer, the junior and senior high school youths from Holt will have the use of a fully-equipped camp located on Wampus lake, just north of the Irish Hills. This was purchased for use by the members of the Presbyterian congregations at the annual state-wide meeting of the Presbyterian church at Alma college. Each group attending a conference may stay a week and have a program of study, worship, play and good fellowship.

TALL TAIL TEST—Fifty feet above the floor of a hangar at Ames Aeronautical Laboratory, Moffett Field, Calif., technicians install pressure measuring equipment in the towering tail of the Navy's Lockheed Constitution transport plane. Research flights will provide valuable data on tail loads during flight of very large aircraft. The Constitution, with a wingspan of 189 feet, will have a maximum weight of approximately 80 tons during the tests.

Inspiration for Beauty

A section of Bel Air, swank Los Angeles suburb, furnishes a rich background for the motorized namesake, the Chevrolet Styleline Bel Air. An addition to the automotive family in 1950, this smart six-passenger coupe has quickly become one of the most popular models ever introduced. Luxurious interior treatment, side windows that slide completely into the body and exceptional all-around visibility are Bel Air features.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Darling, with two of their children, Jan and Millie Hese, left Tuesday morning for Charlevoix. They plan to be gone for 10 days and will stay at the Belvedere hotel there.

Three young people, Jerry Smith, Laura Lee Stewart and Kent Johns, all of Gunn road, are attending the Youth Christian training camp at Gull lake for this week.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kivker were Mrs. Myra Kivker and daughter, Eunice of Miller road. Eunice is leaving for Detroit to continue her training course for teaching handicapped children. She will be gone for the next six weeks.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Rosher were Mrs. Lucille Gerhinger and son, Tommy of Dearborn.

EVANS TAKE VACATION
Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Evans and family are leaving Saturday to spend two weeks at Coldwater lake. Dr. and Mrs. Frank Brayden of Cornopolis, Pa., will spend the Fourth of July with the Evans family.

When no dew follows a hot day, rain may be expected.

In Justice Court

Deputy Frank Trapp of Stockbridge arrested Edgar Risner of Stockbridge on a drunk charge Monday night. Risner pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Tuesday and was ordered to pay fine and costs of $17.00 or spend 10 days in jail. The fine and costs had not been paid up to Wednesday night.

Roy E. Walker, 21, of Lake Lansing, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Roy Adams Sunday afternoon. He was charged with driving 70 miles an hour in a 35 mile an hour zone on East Ash street early Sunday morning.

Walker was stopped by Patrolman Kenneth Morindorf. Walker pleaded guilty and was assessed a $30 fine plus $5.10 costs and put on probation for three months.

AT WEAVING CENTER

Eighty Ingham extension women visited the Hartland Weaving Center at Hartland Thursday. The group made the trip by chartered bus. Dinner was served at Walden-woods at noon.

Brush patches, hiding sizeable groups of cattle, are hindering the battle against foot and mouth disease in the southwest.

MacLean Moves Lindemer Up to Chief Assistant

Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean moved Assistant Prosecutor Lawrence Lindemer of Stockbridge up to chief assistant Tuesday. Lindemer will succeed Earl E. McDonald, who has been appointed municipal judge of Lansing.

Lindemer joined the prosecutor's staff in January of 1949 following his admission to the bar. He was graduated from the University of Michigan law school in 1945. He entered law school after service in the navy.

The prosecutor has as yet made no announcement of an addition to his staff to fill the vacancy caused by the departure of McDonald and the promotion of Lindemer.

Farm Bureau

Junior Farm Bureau Joyce Wilcox and Jean Wald represented the Junior Farm Bureau at the June 16 meeting of the Bunker Hill Farm Bureau meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Patterson. They reported on the aims, purposes and projects of the Junior organization.

The monthly meeting of the Junior Farm Bureau group will be held at the home of the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Dorwin Williams, on Thursday evening, June 20.

Dexter Trail
"Our Responsibility to Rural Youth" was the topic Dexter Trail Farm Bureau members discussed at their June 23 meeting at the Frank Nethaway home. Under the chairmanship of the discussion leader, Mrs. Frank Nethaway, the 23 members concluded:

in young people, namely, parents; that young people should be encouraged to take part in Farm Bureau discussions but should not be forced to do so. Members expressed the opinion that young people of this community are well taken care of in 4-H and FFA programs.

Mrs. Robert Shurman assisted the hostess for the evening. Hawley
The farmers' responsibility toward rural youth also was discussed by Hawley members who met June 21 at the Pileburg hall. Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Freimuth were hosts for the evening.

Mrs. Louis Hobbins of Onondaga was a dinner guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sheffer, Sunday. The Sheffers spent Sunday evening with the Hobbins family.

Police Plan Check On Firecrackers

Chief of Police Ralph Hall does not recommend a "bang-up" Fourth of July. He said Wednesday that he intends to enforce Michigan law which forbids the sale or exploding of fireworks in the state. Chief Hall said that offenders who throw firecrackers around without regard for other people or property will end up in justice court.

The Michigan law was not passed as a penalty for boys and girls, but as a safeguard for their protection.

Michigan law permits the use of fireworks if used for public display, and then only with permission.

We Will Be Closed Monday, July 3

The Cowdrys, along with Ab's Little Tinner, are going to see how many fish they can get over the Fourth so they are going to stretch out the holiday week end. They will be open for business as usual Wednesday morning.

Schepers Seeks Renomination To Second District House Seat

Representative Jacob Schepers, Republican member of the state house of representatives from the second district, has announced he will seek a third term in the legislature. He is presently a member of the taxation committee, the committee on health, committee on rules and resolutions, and chairman of the educational institutions committee, a post he acquired because of his deep interest in the affairs of Michigan State college which is in his district.

Jacob Schepers

Schepers is secretary and treasurer of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors. He has held that position for the last 16 years and is familiar with governmental problems affecting both rural and urban areas, not only in his own district but in other sections of the state as well. He has headed several development enterprises in his city and helped organize and served as president of the East Lansing State bank, and has been a member of the boards of directors of several business ventures in the East Lansing area. "I believe that my past record of service in the city, the county and the legislature, qualifies me for the job I have held for two terms," Schepers said. "I have learned that there is no substitute for experience in public office."

"I believe the major problem facing our nation as well as our state, is that of taxation. This obviously becomes the uppermost thought in the minds of our state legislators because they comprise the law-making body of our state. In the present legislative session, the policy of the majority has been to maintain our high standards of education, give necessary aid to our mental and charitable institutions, give care to the dependents, provide good roads, public safety, and innumerable other necessary benefits, and all of this without an increase in the tax burden on the individual. We are all familiar with some of the new taxes that have been suggested such as a state income tax, a property tax, a corporation tax, etc., but my feeling is that we must prevent waste, keep a closer supervision over our distribution of funds, and that the recipients of said funds, keep a watchful eye on their budgets by curtailing all unnecessary expenses. If one would investigate he would find that the per capita tax in Michigan, compared to other states, is very near the top. "Let us never fail to give aid to the needy, but let us hold fast to the virtues of thrift, adventure, faith and pride that have made Michigan such a great state."

Highland Park Loses Population

Only one city in the top 12 in Michigan lost population instead of gaining it in the 1950 census. Highland Park near Detroit lost more than 5,000 people after 1940 and so slipped from ninth place.

Michigan's twelve largest cities according to preliminary census figures are Detroit, 1,837,617; Grand Rapids, 175,047; Flint, 162,752; Dearborn, 94,529; Saginaw, 92,353; Lansing, 91,678; Pontiac, 80,200; Kalamazoo, 57,325; Bay City, 52,272; Jackson, 51,253; Battle Creek, 48,469; and Muskegon, 43,037.

Jackson retained its tenth place in Michigan and was just nosed out of ninth place by Bay City by a little more than 1,000 people. Bay City replaced Highland Park.

Muskegon had hopes of entering the 50,000 class this year, but its early estimate of 53,000 made by its chamber of commerce was cut to 48,037 by the census bureau's preliminary figures.

Battle Creek jumped from 15th place to 11th in the 10-year span since 1940.

Jury Finds Guilt In Traffic Case

Russell D. Kent of Lansing was found guilty of improperly overtaking and passing a vehicle on the right in an appeal case in Ingham circuit court Friday morning. Judge Charles H. Hayden put him on one year of probation, fined him $15.20, previously assessed to him by the justice court, and $150 court costs.

Among the witnesses for the people were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warden of Lansing, who at the time of Kent's passing were parked at the intersection of M-13 and Kalamazoo road waiting to cross. Their car was damaged as a result of the passing. The other two witnesses were Riley Simonsen, driver of the car Kent passed, and Joseph Nair.

In the suit brought by the Adel Precision Products corporation against Grand Trunk Railroad, last Thursday morning, jurors awarded $14,153 to the plaintiff. The California corporation brought suit against the railroad for delivery of farm implements on an unauthorized bill of lading.

Following the Kent trial, Judge Hayden excused the jurors until Thursday morning when a civil case will be tried.

4-H Club Members Prepare for Fair

Ingham county 4-H members will have a chance to learn what makes a winning show animal before the fair arrives, according to M. H. Avery, county club agent.

All dairy club members will meet at a county Dairy Day at Michigan State college on July 6 at 9:30 in the morning.

Pat Lawson of the Michigan State college dairy department will demonstrate the advantages of good feeding for growth and production.

Ed Smiley, dairy herdsman, will give some pointers on trimming feet and Avery will talk to the group about fitting the animals for the show ring.

Wilbur Ryker of the North Williamson club plans to give a talk on methods of showing animals and Donald Curry, county agricultural agent, will tell the group what to look for in dairy judging.

Later, a class of Holsteins will be judged.

Graydon Blank of Michigan State college will be in the county Wednesday, July 5, to help 4-H sheep club members with their raising problems.

M. H. Avery, county club agent, advises members to plan to be at stops nearest their home. Demonstrations on feeding for shows, fitting, registering, records and judging will be discussed.

Order of visits planned are 8:30 a. m., Ellertine Copp, Okemos; 9:15, Hydes, Phillips road; 9:45, Lang, Somerville, Canaan club; 10:15, Jack Hasbrooks, Leslie; 11:15, Gilchrist (Vevay) and Tomlinson; clubs meet here.

In the afternoon stops scheduled are 1:30 p. m., Carrs, White Oak club; 2:30, Minnis, Vantown; and 3:00 p. m., Nobles, Wheatfield club.

Broilers Grow Big in Michigan

TODAY'S CHICKEN-OF-TOMORROW looks as large as yesterday's old hen. William Aho, Michigan State College extension poultryman, holds three of the White Rock broilers which won the 1950 Michigan Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest for Lial Gifford, St. Johns hatcheryman. The contest program, sponsored in Michigan for the past five years by A&P Food Stores and Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, encourages production of superior meat-type chickens which gain weight rapidly on a minimum of feed. Gifford's 12-bird entry, averaging 4.8 pounds alive at 12 weeks of age, and two others will participate in regional contest at Chicago June 26-28 for awards of $600 and possible nomination for the national competition next year in which the first prize will be $5,000.

GOVERNOR'S PRESS SECRETARY IS READY

Politics Take Precedence in Lansing

By Gene Alleman
(Michigan Press Association)

From now until November election day, Michigan bi-partisan government will be somewhat of a farce. The governor's efficient press secretary, Paul Weber, is preparing a constant line of attack to run down Republican claims and to promote the Williams campaign for re-election. You may safely expect plenty of righteous and angry statements from both sides. Remember, 1950 is an election year.

After vetoing the $10,380 Louis A. Kunzig salary from the civil service budget, Governor G. Mennen Williams staged a friendly rescue act for the civil service commission's full constitutional allowance. He vetoed a legislative cut of $40,500, explaining that the state constitution required one per cent of the state salary total for maintenance of the civil service department. The $40,500 reduction would have been unconstitutional, said Williams. The commission had previously agreed to the cut.

The governor signed the legislature's $271,000,000 omnibus appropriation bill quite reluctantly. He said he was forced to sign it to prevent "financial chaos" although the amount was $70,000,000 less than he asked for and $14,000,000 less than the current year's total. Williams is disputing Republican claims of economy, while legislative leaders are pointing to the record as a real achievement—the first check on rising government expenditures since 1933.

Operations and payrolls of Michigan's mental hospitals will have to be trimmed after July 1, according to Charles F. Wagg, state mental health director. New vacancies will remain unfilled to the extent of 200 to 250 jobs. While cutting $1,376,000 from the hospital budget, the legislature added $100,000 to hire additional psychiatrists and adjust pay of those already in service.

Legislative bills to remedy so-called waste of public funds in welfare administration were permitted by Governor Williams to become law without his signature. The senate committee on social aid and welfare, headed by Colon Smith, reported January 12 that "millions of dollars have been wasted" due to lax administration, especially in Detroit. The state puts up 50 cents of each relief dollar expended. The legislative bills were aimed at a tightening of practices which have contributed to higher welfare expenditures.

Stewart Woodfill, president of Mackinac Island's Grand Hotel, offers this bit of convincing logic why a bridge should be built at the Straits: Assuming that no federal aid should be used, the bridge would pay for itself on the $1,000,000 annual loss to the state due to ferry operation deficit, depreciation of ferry and dock equipment, and interest on invested funds lost to the state. In 1949 the ferry fleet lost $613,500. This amount, if used to finance the bridge, would retire the bridge bond issue and leave the crossing then toll-free. The legislature authorized a study commission.

Add to the list of total losses from the University of Michigan fire that destroyed Haven Hall, the results of months of research for the state reorganization study.

Board Decides to Clean Drain

Gerald Graham, county drain commissioner, has announced that the West and Tiedeman drain will be cleaned. The decision was reached at a board of determination held on Monday at the Clyde Lott farm.

Members of the board appointed by John McClellan, judge of probate, to investigate the need for cleaning the drain were Clarence Puffenberger, Harry Covert and Lou Sherman.

Graham said that bids for doing the work will be received within the next few weeks.

SUPERINTENDENT IS SICK

James H. Vander Ven, superintendent of the Mason school, has been sick in bed this week with the flu.

The fighting doctor from Keweenaw, who took his oath of office at an open meeting of the A. M. A. house of delegates, flatly accused "little men with a lust for power" of the government of seeking to make America "a socialist state in the pathetic pattern of the socially and economically bankrupt nations of Europe."

Michigan Public Service Commission Grants Increase In Telephone Rates

Rate increases approved by the Public Service Commission for Michigan Bell Telephone users will apply to just about every type of local service in every exchange in the company's territory.

Residence users in Mason will pay increases ranging from 25c to 50c a month under the revised schedule. Increases for business customers will range from 50c to 75c a month.

The new rates for Mason will be: Residence service—Individual-line, $4.00 a month; two-party, $3.25; 4-party, $2.75; and rural $3.00 a month.

Business service—Private branch exchange, $12.00 a month; individual-line, $3.00; two-party, $6.50; and rural, $4.75 a month.

Residence extension rates are increased to 85c a month and business extensions to $1.50.

The new rates for Dansville will be: Residence service—Individual-line, $3.00 a month; two-party, $2.50; 4-party, $2.25 a month; and rural, $2.50.

Business service—Private branch exchange, $8.25 a month; individual-line, $5.50; two-party, $4.50; and rural, $3.75 a month.

Residence extension rates are increased to 85c a month and business extensions to $1.50.

Long-distance rates are not changed by the order.

Thomas N. Lacy, president of Michigan Bell, said the company welcomes the much-needed relief the $3,200,000 rate order brings.

"While it will help to strengthen the company's financial condition and will aid us in doing the kind of a job the people of Michigan want us to do, it is considerably less than the amount needed and is insufficient to insure adequate earnings and our continued ability to attract necessary capital."

"Unlike an unregulated industry where price adjustments are almost automatically geared to rising costs, under regulation considerable delays are experienced before relief is granted. We have had to wait almost 18 months for this increase."

A previous increase in October, 1948, required 14 months of waiting. Costs of doing business were increasing during all of that time and the inadequate return incurred during such a long procedure can never be made up.

"In addition, the relief that has been accorded falls far short of matching the increased costs of doing business."

"The $3,200,000 in post-war salary increases, added to the $10,000,000 granted employees during the war exceed total rate increases of $21,200,000 by $13,800,000. The company is now negotiating with the union and any increase in wage costs resulting from these talks will add to our expense, and are not reflected in the latest rate order. In addition, any changes that may be made in the corporate tax rate are, of course, not provided for."

"Prior to 1948, Michigan Bell rates had not been increased in 22 years. As a matter of fact, long-distance and exchange service rates were decreased a total of $21,000,000 during that period."

In addition to the $3,200,000 increase, the company was allowed other increases in rates in an amount of $720,000 to allow for revenue decreases which have occurred since the December 1948 application. These included the elimination of overtime charges on one unit calls in the Detroit area, and the losses resulting from the failure of the toll rate increase of July 2, 1949, to bring in the expected revenue. The total revenue increase from the new rates which became effective June 20, therefore, is $3,920,000 and the total increase from the two orders resulting from the December 1948 application is $13,881,000.

Governor G. Mennen Williams has not gone along with the Public Service Commission's approval for a hike in telephone rates. He has threatened to call for a court order to revoke the increase.

Dr. Arnold Mulder in the Holland Evening Sentinel says: "Peg Leg" is a novel of special interest to Michigan readers, especially those in the Grand River valley."

Local Church Plans Special Service

Special programs will be a part of the services next Sunday at the Free Methodist church. In the morning during the Sunday school hour Miss Edith Cobb will present a scene-a-fair on missions. This will be the final missionary service for the conference year.

In the evening the Young Peoples Missionary society is sponsoring a Light and Life hour program. The Light and Life hour is an international broadcast, sponsored by the Free Methodist church, which has won top mention three years in a row as the best all-around religious broadcast.

In 1949 the National Religious Broadcasters presented Dr. Myron F. Boyd, director of Light and Life hour, with a large trophy, top honor in the best all-around class. At the annual meeting this year in Indianapolis this same organization elected Dr. Boyd president for 1950-1951 and also awarded first place again among all entrants to this program.

The program Sunday evening, which is open to the public, will be similar to the radio broadcast with the young people participating. The collection at the service will be sent to the Light and Life hour.

Dansville School Faculty Complete

Several members of the I. T. A. S. faculty are attending summer school at Michigan State college. Among them are Superintendent Searl Briggs, Vincent Carlen, Henry Smith, Myra Rooster, Kathleen Presley, Elsie Cobb and Alice Card.

Carl Hoyt of Williamston has signed a contract to teach agriculture at Dansville for the coming year. Burton Thorn, who had been signed, was released to accept a position with the state department of vocational education. Mr. Hoyt is a graduate of Michigan State college and for the past two years has been teaching in the veterans institute at Williamston. He also is attending summer school at the college.

Everett Sanders, a graduate of Greenville college, Illinois, this June, will instruct music and teach English.

With the signing of these contracts Dansville's faculty is complete for the coming year.

Missionary Society Meets
The Junior Missionary society of the Free Methodist church met Tuesday afternoon at the church. Chorus were followed by a Bible story of Daniel by June Young and a missionary story on Africa by Mrs. E. H. Kincaid. The society meets once a month during the summer.

Campfire Girls Picnic
Seven members of the Campfire Girls picnicked Tuesday at Pleasant lake. A potluck dinner was served, after which swimming and other sports were the diversion of the afternoon. Those who went were Suzanne Thompson, Janet Briggs, Phyllis Williams, Ruth Ann Anderson, Nancy Bissel and Patty Warvel. Mrs. Lawton Gauss accompanied the girls.

Mrs. Thompson Honored
Nineteen members of the Booster class were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aethen Witt in honor of Mrs. Robert Thompson. Mrs. Ruth Townsend was in charge of games and contests. At the close of the games Mrs. Thompson was presented her gifts. Shortcake and coffee were served by Mrs. Witt.

Jim Youngs Honored

The Young Peoples Missionary society of the Free Methodist church had a picnic Tuesday afternoon at Pleasant lake. Swimming, boating, golfing and other games were the diversion of the afternoon and evening, with a potluck supper at 8 o'clock. The party was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Young, who are leaving for the summer. Mr. Young will be program director at Greenwood Lake near Delaware, Ohio, and Mrs. Young and Stephen will spend the summer with her parents in Atlanta, Georgia.

Methodists Honor Retiring Pastor

One hundred members, neighbors and friends attended the reception for Dr. P. A. Lendrum at the Methodist church last Friday evening. The program included selections by the choir and accordion selections by Mrs. David Overholt. Dorn Diehl then gave a commendation of the work done the past three years under the direction of Dr. Lendrum, after which Dr. Lendrum responded. Ice cream, cake, tea and coffee were served from beautifully decorated tables with Mrs. Rosa Anderson and Mrs. Minnie Grimes presiding. Mrs. Merna Arnold was in charge of the guest register. Dr. Lendrum was presented a purse of money from those present.

Bible Study Group Meets
The Bible study group of the Methodist church met Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Minnie Grimes. Eleven members were present. On Sunday evening, July 9, the group will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waterstradt.

F. & A. M. to Meet July 4
Next Tuesday evening, July 4, will be the regular meeting of Dansville F. & A. M. No. 160. Sixteen members of Dansville F. & A. M. attended worship services at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

WMS Packets Missionary Box
The Woman's Missionary society of the Free Methodist church held its regular meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Freeman of Pittsburg. Mrs. Lloyd Hayhoe presided over the business meeting. A box was packed to be sent to Miss Hope Killinger, a missionary in the Dominican Republic. Following the business meeting Miss Mary Felix, a student at Spring Arbor college, gave a talk on the Mexican migrant mission being carried on in this community this year. The July meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Alfred Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Herrmann and family of Miami, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Anderson and Sgt. and Mrs. Averon Ackley and daughters were Saturday evening dinner guests of Mrs. Rosa Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Backus of Williamston and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Slusser and family of Leslie visited Mr. and Mrs. David Baker Sunday.

O'Brien Out for Prosecutor

John P. O'Brien of Lansing and Okemos has announced his candidacy for prosecuting attorney in the Republican primary.

O'Brien has been engaged in private law practice in Lansing for six years. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan and was graduated with a bachelor of laws degree from the University of Detroit.

He served as assistant prosecuting attorney under Prosecutors Victor C. Anderson and Charles R. MacLean. From 1946 to 1948 he was a circuit court commissioner.

Two years ago he was appointed special legal advisor to the secretary of state to work on codification of motor vehicle laws. The laws which O'Brien compiled and codified have been enacted by the state legislature.

He is a former director of the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce and at present he is president of the Civitan club and is also a director of the Okemos Chamber of Commerce.

The candidate lives with his wife and two children in Okemos.

In his announcement O'Brien said, "I have had a continued interest in the office of the prosecuting attorney for many years. Experience, both as a prosecutor and defense attorney, has given me a keen realization of the duties and obligations of the prosecutor's office. Recent developments in the law for this office have prompted me to announce my candidacy at this time."

Wendell Johnson-Vanita Morrow United at Williamston Church

The Methodist church in Williamston was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, June 17, at three o'clock when Miss Vanita Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Ross, became the bride of Wendell E. Johnson, son of Wallace Johnson of Wheatfield.

Rev. William A. Gregory read the double-ring service before the altar banked with baskets of pink and white peonies and branch candelabra on each side.

Mrs. Francis Barrett played traditional wedding music and Mrs. Emma Conklin sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper gown with net yoke and drop-shoulder collar edged in lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried pink and white peonies.

Nancy Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was attired in a coral pink satin gown. Marlene Conklin, as bridesmaid, wore a pale green net gown. They both wore white picture hats and matching mitts. The two attendants carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Chalmers Ross, Jr., of Jackson served as best man. Palmer Conklin and Paul Featherstone seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ross wore a navy blue silk dress and blue accessories. Mrs. James Johnson, the bridegroom's grandmother, wore a black print crepe gown and white accessories. They both had corsages of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a lawn reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Emma Johnson, Mrs. Verona Conklin, and Mrs. Virginia Featherstone served the wedding cake and ice cream.

Guests attended the wedding from Petoskey, Greenville, Mason, Jackson, Lansing, Charlotte, Fowlerville, Holland and Williamston. The bride graduated from Williamston high school in June. Her husband is a Mason high school graduate.

Following the reception the couple left for a week's trip in the Upper Peninsula. They will reside with the bridegroom's father until their home on Waldo road is completed.

Home Fashion Notes From Ann

Miss Ann Zimmerman

It is a shame this column can't be printed in color, the element which becomes more and more important every season in home furnishings. After a preview of the House and Garden colors for fall, I'm sure this is going to be a great year for color.

I wish all of you could have seen the House and Garden display of merchandise made in their new colors. The list includes floor coverings, both hard and soft; furniture, bed linens, table linens, lamps, decorative fabrics, wallpapers and numerous other articles.

This project of House and Garden is five years old now and a tremendous project it is to coordinate colors which manufacturers and designers are using, retailers are buying and so that you, the consumers, will find it easier to have the colors you want in your home.

After you have acquainted yourself with these colors, you will be surprised how easy it is to create the color scheme you desire. You no longer have to shop every store looking for an upholstery fabric that's a "sort of light or medium yellow-green." With standardized colors and names you will be able to ask for avocado green and be certain that you are going to get just that.

The new colors won't be revealed to the public until September. However, I can tell you your favorites, citron, flame and sprout green remain, while browns and mustards yellow shades are making a strong bid for popularity in the new season.

Quality Strawberry Crop Offers Possibilities to Housewives

Variety is the keynote when it comes to making meals that are tasty day after day! And it's a smart housekeeper who finds new ways to prepare her food. Now that the strawberry season is in full swing, and strawberries of top quality are available, the homemaker should take advantage of the situation.

This is the time to give the family some delicious, seasonal desserts. But before you venture out and try too many new recipes, let your family sample the older, tried and tested ones. It's hard to beat the shortcake, and the baking powder biscuits Grandmother used to make for the first quart of fresh strawberries.

The following biscuit recipe is one used successfully by one of Mason's local householders.

2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
3 to 4 tablespoons shortening
2/3 to 3/4 cup milk

Sift flour with salt and baking powder; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs; Add milk at once and mix just until dough falls from around bowl. Turn out on lightly floured surface; knead gently 1/2 minute. Roll or pat 1/2 inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Place on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) from 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 16 medium sized biscuits.

For added variety to an old recipe you might try ice cream, occasionally, instead of whipped cream.

Too, if when planning your meal, your main course is light, try that strawberry pie you've put off because it proved too runny, and you dread a mess in the oven. This time make use of a deep dish pie tin, or else slip a cookie sheet beneath the pie tin to catch the juice. Make doubly sure you've pressed the edges of the crust together firmly before putting it in the oven. That counts, too.

If you're serving a large dinner with several guests you might find it easier to serve, and quicker. A scoop of whipped cream on top, mixed with strawberry juice to get a pinkish color, might make for originality in your service too.

It's easy and fun to think up new twists to add to old recipes, and your family will probably appreciate the attempt. In cooking as in other occupations, it's the small touches, the little things, that build a reputation.

A pint of strawberry topping is a good thing to have on hand in the refrigerator. It makes a quick dessert when put on ice cream, especially when company drops in unexpectedly.

But with so many strawberries on the market, it's wise to plan for the future. Plan to put a couple of extra crates in the deep freeze of your freezer. They will be most useful method for storing strawberries is to wash them, slice them, and sugar them, using one cup of sugar to four quarts of berries. Some people prefer to mash them. Good results have also been reported by localities who have just stored the berries unprepared. That way the berries can be cleaned and readied as they are used.

Canning is the standby for those without a deep freeze unit. Sit a minute before plunging in and figure out your steps, then try to arrange things in assembly-line order. In this hot weather, you'll want to save yourself all the unnecessary steps.

Don't forget jam either. It'll serve as a breakfast necessity during the winter months. When sealing the tops of those jars, cut small pieces of string and stick them in the paraffin on top of the jar before it's hardened. You'll find later you can jerk your cover off easily without mixing paraffin with jam.

It won't be long before cherries will be on the market. It looks, or so the experts say, that cherries, too, will be of top quality this year and much cheaper, so plan ahead.

Picking Strawberries

Three ducks! The guy who thought up that "Don't count your chickens before they are hatched" knew what he was talking about! The one hen which left her nest spoiled her eggs and even though we put them under another hen it was too late. It rained so much last week and rained in on the other one that she fussed. I thought she would know they were duck eggs but she tramped around and broke three. What a mess.

But the resulting three little fuzzy balls of yellow are about the cutest little things we've had around here in a long time. Susy and Sally spend most of their days here sitting beside their pen, admiring and talking to them. Susy says, "Mama, they are getting to know me. They like us."

There was grief around here, too, however. Madeline's rabbits died. She had had them a week. She said she would never have anyone else like that but she was going to hear her say her regular rabbit. They gave the two little rabbits a good burial with flowers and a cloth-lined box. Everytime we saw one of the Phillipses the first word was, "How are the rabbits?" They were the most comical looking things and how they lapped at the medicine dropper was interesting to see. Her big brothers, Dick and Ted, couldn't help remarking, "I knew you couldn't raise them."

But they were just as concerned with their progress and watched right along with the rest of us. Madeline says, "Please don't talk about rabbits for a little while."

I think pets for children are just about the best thing you can get them. Guess you know that I think that by now. We never hear the lament, "What can we play now?"

They're outside most of the time watching any feeding their "ants, pigs or rabbit for three years and we told her when she was able to tend them alone we would get a pair. She looked for them this Easter and will surely get them next year. We're going to hide raised cypresswood.

I haven't said anything about Banties for quite a while because there hasn't been much going on in their world. Sally's old hen has been sitting for two months and the other hens seem content to click around doing nothing. We ate two of the roosters and don't get the idea that it was because they roosted on my tractor. They weren't. It was just too thick of roosters in the hen coop. We thought the girls would hate to have them killed and eaten, but they thought the meat was very good—well, it was the one who had been taking the meat—of course, I was the one who dressed them—the worst part of doing in a pet.

Our country nurse, Miss Helen Campbell, gave a first aid lesson at the home extension club meeting last week. It was good to get several new twists and ideas about caring for our families. She demonstrated artificial respiration which everyone should know how to do. She also said just what I had been waiting to hear: When you apply mercuriolate, if you let the child (or adult) blow on it, the sting will be lessened. Also the precaution with the blowing will make him think it doesn't hurt as much. We tried it last night and it really works! The children want me to put mercuriolate on cuts because it doesn't hurt, but as Aunt Lella has always said, "It doesn't do much good."

Oh, but I was glad to find out how to apply a stinging kind painlessly—well fairly so.

This county nurse idea is brand new. At least we haven't had one recently. She is going to conduct a series of shots for county children this year among other activities. Farm Bureau, which has done a lot in getting her for this county, deserves another kind word.

I made seven cakes last week and put them in the freezer. Three of them were angel food as I intend to try "Baked Alaska." I thought that was a big stroke of business then yesterday I received a letter from Mrs. Bernard Godley of Brockridge. She told of making one for her brother's wedding and that it took nine tiny eggs and fourteen pounds of sugar. I told it at the extension meeting and they asked, "Did she bake it in a wash tub, and how long did it take?" How long did it take, Mrs. G.?

Right now I should be out picking strawberries although we aren't having nearly enough of our own. My sister and her two big boys and I went to Dewitts yesterday and picked sixty quarts. Mrs. Dewitt gave half. Isn't that extra good? I don't think most folks do that and we felt guilty taking half. She has regular wild blackberries tame in rows, pears, apples, raspberries. Just about every kind of fruit going, which I hope to have some day. Petal laughs at me and says that it will take all my time to spray and tend them. I have a start though, because I had an apple tree set out three years ago and nine peach trees—but no fruit yet.

Here's a hearty note for me this busy morning. At the mailbox this morning I found a note enclosed in a letter from the Ingham County News, that will give wings to my feet all day. Wonder if Mr. Brown knew it would make me that glad. All he did was attach a small note saying that I was doing all right. Now that's not much in itself but attached to the monthly check—I like it and think the idea pretty fine. Wonder why we don't all think of these little acts that make someone else's day happier?

Now I've said that and I will go and pick my berries.

Make plans now for summer canning and freezing of fruits and vegetables. Remember that home grown products are usually cheaper and of better quality than those shipped long distances. Ask for home food preservation bulletins at your county extension office.

Smart Heads M. E. A.

Clifford H. Smart

A call for an even better public school system in Michigan came today from Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of schools in Walled Lake, who on July 1 becomes president of the Michigan Education Association. Smart succeeds Colon L. Schabily of Kalamazoo, whose term expires.

The new M. E. A. president was born and reared on a farm near Sault Ste. Marie. He is a graduate of Kalamazoo high school and of Kalamazoo county normal school, and attended Central Michigan college of education and Wayne University. He holds both a bachelor of science and a master of arts degree from Wayne University. Smart served as principal and superintendent in Auburn Heights for 19 years and has been superintendent in Walled Lake since 1945.

Smart is a member of the Michigan and National Education associations, of the Michigan and American Association of School Administrators, of the Masonic lodge, the United Presbyterian church, Phi Delta Kappa (an educational honorary society), and he is a past president of the Walled Lake Rotary club.

Wheatfield
A report on the special lesson, preparing foods for the freezer, was the highlight of the June 21 meeting of the Wheatfield extension club. Lois Baker, Ruth Allen and Marie Hanner presented the material to members who met at the home of Madeline Place for the afternoon meeting.

Alice Child and Kathleen Webster reported on the Waldenwoods camp and exhibited their plastic nurses and lampshades which were made as part of the work projects at the camp. Wheatfield members made plans for lessons on these crafts within their own group.

The next scheduled meeting is a picnic at McCormick park in Walled Lake. At the June 21 meeting Marion Webster and Marie Hanner assisted the hostess.

Hawley Extension
Eight members of the Hawley extension club met at the home of Mrs. Glen Cline last Thursday, for a potluck dinner which was held in the back yard. Mrs. Robert Schaeffer, county home demonstration agent, and Miss L. E. Peck of Michigan State college, were guests. The afternoon was spent playing canasta and visiting. There will be no more meetings until September.

Executive Committee
The executive committee of the Ingham county extension clubs met Monday afternoon with the new home demonstration agent, Mrs. Annette Schaeffer at her home. The meeting had previously been scheduled to be held at Mrs. Merton Collins' home.

Called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Ida Baker, the meeting got under way with Mrs. Helen Pollok's secretary's report, followed by Mrs. Schaeffer's report of her meeting with Miss Ruth Peck of Michigan State college.

The coming Ingham County fair exhibit work was divided between the fair committee on which Mrs. Mamie Antcliff, Mrs. Maxine Glynn and Mrs. Olive Fay serve and Mrs. Gerald Diamond. Other reports included Mrs. Helen Pollok's on the newly-appointed nominating committee and Mrs. Antcliff on Waldenwoods.

Members voted to combine the annual picnic and rally day with the date to be decided later. Family night will again be set for October. Future business includes goals for the county and state groups.

Dates members are asked to remember are Farm Women's week at the college, July 18-21, the Michigan Home Demonstration Council in Mississippi, October 16-19.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held August 7 at Mrs. Roxie Glynn's on Meridian road.

APPLE CRUMB PIE

Homemakers can't go wrong in including apple pie on their menus, for it is the all-American dessert. The mellow flavor of the apple is brought out to its fullest in this irresistible apple crumb pie.

Apple Crumb Pie
Shell:
1-1/2 cups crumbs, finely rolled graham crackers or plain bread crumbs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger
1/2 cup fortified margarine, melted

Mix crumbs, sugar, and ginger. Add melted margarine in thin stream; mix well. Turn into 9 or 10-inch pie plate and press firmly into shape. Chill. Prepare fruit.

Apple Filling:
4-6 tart apples
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
2 tablespoons fortified margarine
1/2 cup tart jelly

Pare, quarter, core and cut apples into eighths. Bring sugar and water to boiling. Add margarine. Cook apples a few pieces at a time, setting aside until all are cooked. Fill pastry shell. Reduce any apple syrup that is left to a very thick syrup. Add jelly (off the heat); mix and pour over the top of apples. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 15 minutes until fruit is glazed and pie shell is set.

For other tempting, nutritious food ideas, send today for your free copy of "Mealtime Marvels with Margarine," a helpful, 32-page recipe booklet in two colors. Write National Cotton Council, Box 76, Memphis, Tenn.

A real bargain package of food value this spring is the egg. A jumper supply makes them extra plentiful, extra economical and they are always nutritional.

Homemakers are always anxious to stretch the family food dollar, and A. B. Love, agricultural economist at Michigan State college, wants to emphasize a suggestion that he says can help Michigan homemakers do just that.

One of the best ways to get more for your money, he advises, is to buy local products when they're in season. It's the time of lowest price and highest quality. It's good family economics to can and freeze foods as well as enjoying them fresh when they are abundant.

Here's what to expect of some of the fruits and vegetables now entering the summer, according to Love.

Small fruits—We're now in the midst of the heavy strawberry season in Michigan. As the strawberries become less plentiful, heavy supplies of cherries and raspberries reach the harvest stage. A delicious cherry pie is starting to market, and raspberry bushes in Michigan will yield heavy crops this season if favorable weather continues.

Early peaches—This is going to be a "short" year for the Georgia peach crop. Don't look for good supplies early in the season. Georgia will have the shortest peach crop in 50 years, which means high prices and poor quality. Plan to use small fruits early in the season in place of peaches and wait for Michigan's crop which comes later.

Melons—We can expect a heavy supply of locally grown melons all through August and September. Good quality cantaloupes from the West and watermelons from Florida are now available.

Potatoes—New potatoes available are coming in largely from California, Michigan early potatoes will be on the market in late July.

Peas—The next two weeks are going to be the plentiful supply season for Michigan-grown peas, a good time for canning and freezing.

Snap beans—Michigan beans will not come to market until August, but green and wax beans are now in good supply from southern states.

Carrots—Carrots we buy in the store now are coming mainly from Arizona and California. Since is near the end of their season they're not as firm and crisp as we expect them to be from local fields. Michigan's crop will be plentiful in August.

Tomatoes—At this time of the year tomatoes are more or less a luxury food in Michigan. Present supplies of good quality are largely not home tomatoes from Ohio and Indiana.

If you don't have a canning timetable issued since 1946, you will want to take advantage of the time-saving new rules resulting from vast research in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Get their latest bulletin on canning from your home demonstration agent or from the Bulletin office, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

Raising calves for replacement purposes is practical and economical, they should be separately housed in dry and clean pens, fed good rations, and kept free of parasites.

Sally Dancer Wed In Jackson Rites

The marriage of Sally M. Dancer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Dancer of Stockbridge, and Charles A. Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hurst of Jackson, took place last Thursday, June 22, at the rectory of St. John's Catholic church in Jackson, Fr. Clarence Wood officiated.

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace with a matching lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white daisies. Mrs. Duane Ford, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore an ice blue ballerina-length gown with a head piece of blue carnations. Donald Kappley was best man.

Couple United at Plainfield Church

Jeannette Carolyn Trapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Trapp of Stockbridge, became the bride of Dale Robert Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Collins of Chelsea, Saturday afternoon, June 24, at two o'clock, at the Plainfield Methodist church. Rev. James Nixon performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar trimmed with baskets of white gladioli and lighted candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white net with a satin bodice, chantilly lace bertha, a train and fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible covered with gardenias and ribbon streamers.

Miss Betty Robinson, maid of honor, wore a pale green organza gown and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. She wore a matching floral headpiece.

Miss Marjorie Hayes and Miss Nellie Corser, cousins of the bride, sang "My Hero" as a duet. Miss Hayes also sang "Because." They were accompanied by Mrs. James Nixon, who also played the wedding music.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

Ferris Trades and Industry School Enlarged

Ferris Institute's trades and industry school becomes a state institution on July 1, but continues a part of Ferris Institute's total educational program.

The trades and industry school has just been enlarged, with two more buildings being placed in use. Added is the new printing department which is offering a course in practical printing, under the two-year plan, and which, like the other courses, is open to both veteran and non-veteran students.

The radio and television school has been moved to its own building with new equipment added, thus giving added room for refrigeration, watch and clock repair, and architectural and engineering drafting schools.

All of the five schools are open for enrollment and young men or women may start their courses at any time.

WON'T STAY FENCED IN—Little Jay Roth is intrigued by this tree in Chicago, which refused to be held in bounds by an iron fence, and grew through and around it. The tree's outer bark has even "flowed" out onto the adjoining sidewalk.

A LITTLE BUMPY HERE—What appears to be a roller-coaster railroad is actually the result of a landslide near Bonneville, Ore. The rails were twisted and telephone poles and trees uprooted when the slide sent tons of earth crashing down along the Columbia River Highway.

Obituary

Mrs. Christina F. Martin

Funeral services were held Wednesday, June 14, at Parkers Corners Methodist church for Mrs. Christina Fortman Martin, of White Oak township. Burial was in Northwest Stockbridge.

Mrs. Martin passed away on Sunday evening, June 11, at the home of Charles and Gertrude Showman where she lived.

She was born December 17, 1867, in White Oak township to Jacob Fortman and Anna B. Schneecburg Fortman, the youngest of a family of eight children, all who preceded her in death.

On April 4, 1894, in Mason, she married William J. Martin of White Oak. Their early married life was spent on their farm south of Millville. Later they purchased a farm in Ingersoll township, Livingston county, known then as the Parker farm. A few years later they bought the adjoining farm, known as the Hurley farm, where they resided until the death of Martin on February 27, 1934.

She became the bride of Robert B. Magahay, Lansing, on August 24, 1936, and made her home with him in Dansville. On his death in May 18, 1946, she moved to the home of Mrs. Anna Stowe where

Jersey Club Holds Annual Picnic

Farmers in the Ingham County Jersey Cattle club held their annual tour and picnic on June 18. The tour started at Mrs. A. T. Butler's farm on Elbert road. From the Butler farm the group moved on to the Ralph Hudson farm and on to the Eugene Lyon farm on Tomlinson road.

The group ate dinner at the Lyon place and held a short meeting later. Professor Ralston of Michigan State college and Don Curry, county agricultural agent, gave short talks.

Four-H boys and girls who attended the tour judged a class of Jersey calves at the Lyon farm.

After the dinner stop the Jersey Cattle club members visited the Clyde Snow and Son farm on Toles road.

Homer Launstein on Hawley road told the group that he has been experimenting with Michigan State college's artificial breeding services and explained the results of the breeding.

Remember that when buying fruits or vegetables at your favorite store, you may be saving yourself money in addition to showing respect for others if you don't handle the produce more than necessary. Repeated handling causes spoilage and waste, and the loss must often be made up in higher prices.

GOOD FOLKS, WE HAVE ANOTHER MISSION. REMEMBER NOW, WE

AIR CONDITIONING

HELLO FOLKS:

The boss wants me to remind you that he can give you folks a nice cool home in the summer just like he can give you a nice warm home in the winter. You folks putting in complete new heating units this year, ask about the new combination heating and cooling units. You will really be surprised how reasonable they are. Somehow we think Air Conditioning when it involves cooling is simply for commercial places and the cost is prohibitive for a home. If you will remember that you are getting two complete jobs done in one, and that everything will be automatic, you can see that you are going to get a bargain, and be comfortable the year 'round.

I want you to meet my little friend the Bryant Pup.

He's been with us for quite a while now. Just one look at him and that slogan, "Let the pup be furnace man and water boy too" pops into our minds.

When you see him, you know we are talking about one of the best lines of gas equipment in the USA. Those Blue Seal Water Heaters that have everything and those conversion gas burners that really have all the best features. Then the package units, and now the combination cooling and heating units.

Phone 2-1961 and ask about them. Or come out and see us, 311 N. Cedar, Mason, Michigan.

Miles Reunion Held
The second annual reunion of the N. H. Miles family was held Sunday at Ella Sharpe park, Jackson, with an attendance of 71 from Leslie, Rives Junction, Bath, Drayton Plains, Chelsea, Wampers lake, Vandercreek Lake, Ann Arbor and Jackson. The recreational program was in charge of Lillian McMillan, Betty Cooper and Miles Harryuth. Alfred Leach of Rives Junction was elected president, and Fern Rothfuss of Wampers lake, secretary for the year. The 1951 reunion will be held at the same park, June 24.

Leslie Scout at Valley Forge
Gerald Johnson, son of Mrs. Gerald Hunter and Allen Johnson, both of Leslie, is on his way to Valley Forge, Pa., where he will take part in the National Boy Scout Jamboree. Gerald has been very active in the Leslie Scout troop.

Leslie Lions Have Dinner
The Leslie Lions club held their president's ball and induction of officers at the Meadow Lark Inn Tuesday evening, Lloyd Dutton is the retiring president and Leonard Rouse is his successor.

Civil Suit Approved
The civil suit which resulted in a verdict in favor of Robert Jones for $150 against Floyd and Gordon Price for damages done to the Jones car March 26, 1950, has been appealed to the Ingham county circuit court. The case was tried in the court of Justice of the Peace, Emmens Wilson, Saturday afternoon, June 17.

Postoffice Hours Shortened
The economy drive of the post-office department will be reflected in the Leslie postoffice Monday, July 3, by the closing of the office a half hour earlier each week (day afternoon, the time being 5:30. The office has been closing Saturday afternoons for a number of months.

Census Figures Announced
The official census of Leslie has been announced as 1,535 as compared with that given on the latest road map of Michigan as 1,282, making a gain of 253.

Charles Wingart Injured
Charles Wingart, 18, of Blair street, was severely injured Monday day when he fell from a load of hauled hay on the farm of M. J. Cochran, on US-127 just south of Leslie. Wingart was taken to the office of Dr. Earl Parker, where he was treated and permitted to go home.

Veterinarian Opens Office
For the first time in a number of years Leslie is to have a resident veterinarian. He is Dr. T. A. Mott, of East Lansing, and is moving his family into the former residence of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Wood on North Main street. He is a graduate of Michigan State college and expects to have his office open for general practice Monday, July 10.

Burns Fatal to Bruce D. Ward

The funeral of Bruce David Ward, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward, Jr., who died of burns Thursday afternoon was held Sunday afternoon from the Behrens-Leucht funeral home. Rev. Paul Tucker, pastor of the Leslie Baptist church officiated with burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

Bruce was burned Thursday morning near his home on State street when he attempted to rescue a Sunday school paper and another article from a rubbish fire which his mother had built in their back yard. Bruce was wearing a cowboy suit and the flames ignited the flimsy trimming of his suit with a flash. His mother and her mother, Mrs. Fred Wyman, who resides in the next house to the south, burned their hands severely in attempting to extinguish the flames on his clothing.

The boy was taken to the office of Dr. Earl Parker who immediately rushed him to Foote hospital Jackson, where he died early in the afternoon. The accident took place between 9:30 and 10:00 in the morning. His paternal grandfather, Russell Ward, Sr., S. Main street, was taken to the Jackson Osteopathic hospital about the same time for medical observation.

Bruce is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward, Jr.; brother, Eugene, 1; and his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyman and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward, Sr., all of Leslie.

Reunions Held At Russell Park

Three family reunions were held Sunday afternoon at Russell park. It was the 31st annual reunion of the Armstrong family, the 29th of the Cornwell family and the 16th of the Fritz family. The same families will meet again at Russell park on Sunday, June 24, 1951, for their next annual reunions.

There were 38 in attendance at the Armstrong family gathering and they elected as their officers for the year Mrs. H. S. Fubor, Mrs. son, president; Mrs. Floyd Adams Jackson, vice-president; and Mrs. Robert Conrad, Lansing, as secretary-treasurer.

The attendance at the Cornwell family reunion was 35. Their officers for the year, as re-elected, are: Clarence S. Cornwell of Ithaca, president; Clarence L. Cornwell, also of Ithaca, vice-president; and Mrs. Harlo Smith of Leslie, secretary-treasurer.

The Fritz family numbered 24 and elected as officers for the year: Earl Williams, president; Earl Williams, vice-president; and Mrs. Earl Williams, secretary-treasurer. All officers are from Ithaca.

Anderson in Dearborn Hospital
Gail Anderson, who was injured Sunday, June 4, when his tractor overturned on him at his farm on the Pittsburgh road, has been taken from the Mason General hospital to the Dearborn Veterans hospital. The Behrens-Leucht ambulance which moved him at the time of the accident, transferred him from the Mason to the Dearborn hospital.

Churches Re-Roofed
Two of the Leslie churches have their roofs covered with asbestos shingles. That of the Congregational church has been done while the Methodist church is expected to be re-roofed during the summer.

Legion Officers Elected

The Leslie post American Legion elected as their officers Wednesday evening Donald Crakes, commander; Walter Strange, senior vice-commander; Max Bement, junior vice-commander; Richard Miner, adjutant; William Duffee, finance officer; Ward Veary, Jr., chaplain; J. W. Grugel, historian; and Lee Shinn, sergeant-at-arms.

The annual picnic of the Bunker Hill Catholic church will be held Sunday, August 6, on the church grounds. A home-styled baked ham dinner will be served.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company is installing an outside public pay-station booth between the Arcade theatre and Dutton's drug store.

Don't add salt or dressing until you are ready to serve a tossed salad, because salt and vinegar draw out the liquid from foods.

Onondaga

By Mrs. Burton Baldwin

The annual Knowledge Seekers club picnic will be held at the Baldwin park on June 20. Mrs. Helen Whitney is the general chairman.

Butter

"YES, BUTTER DOES IT"

So said our friend when being complimented on his famous Sunday night scrambled eggs.

"Of course, one must have fresh eggs, some cream, mix them carefully and cook slowly, but when all's said and done, you simply must use a goodly amount of butter."

"It's butter that provides the delicious flavor which makes us pass our plates for another helping."

The BEST COOKS use plenty of BUTTER

There are no substitutes for Milk and Dairy Products. Nature provides them with nutrition and deliciousness.

Political Spread for Bread

On July 1 we'll get our first taste of political spread for bread. The federal tax comes off oleo that day. Manufacturers, all 60 of them in the United States, will no longer have to procure licenses to manufacture butter substitutes. Neither will wholesalers and retailers have to pay license fees for handling oleo.

Right here is a good time to point out that in Michigan the manufacture and sale and the use of colored oleo in hotels and restaurants and even in public institutions is banned. There will be a referendum on yellow oleo in Michigan this fall.

Oleo has become a political issue. The 60 manufacturers who make it are closely organized. They have had their eyes on the butter market for years. With the rise in living costs they have cashed in on their opportunities. With the help of metropolitan newspapers they pressurized congress into removing the one-quarter cent per pound tax on white oleo and the 10c per pound tax on yellow oleo. Here in Michigan they are gearing for the next round—the repeal of the state law against imitating the color of butter.

In their drive for favorable legislation the oleo manufacturers have screamed about the high taxes the people must pay on oleo. They promised that with taxes removed there would result stupendous savings. There will be savings but they will be mostly for the manufacturers. Consumers will hardly know that taxes have been removed.

Really the oleo manufacturers have cared little about the taxes. What they want is the right to imitate butter, the right to sell oleo as butter. They want to color oleo but the only color they want to use is yellow. That's so oleo can be passed off as butter.

Congress protects manufacturers against imitators. No other manufacturer than Ford can use the Ford trademark. Only General Electric can use the GE trademark. Authors are granted copyrights for protection against imitators. Yet congress under pressure of manufacturers of synthetics and the whipped-up campaigns of big city newspapers is permitting the imitation of an important farm product.

It is not too late here in Michigan to give the farmer a fair deal. Michigan still bans the manufacture and sale of colored oleo. But the ban is only temporary; it is only until the November election.

Farmers are now organizing against the drive to supplant butter with an ersatz compounded from cottonseed and palm oil and politics. City folks should join the farmers in their stand against imitations.

THINGS CHANGED FOR THE BETTER

Eden Church Transformed Community

By Vernon J. Brown

Sunday was church anniversary day in our family.

The Waterloo United Brethren church was observing its 100th anniversary. Among the founders of that church was Mrs. Brown's grandfather, David Grimes. In the family there is a fine family Bible which has its own and its pages show plenty of use. Along with that Bible there are accounts of several district meetings of the United Brethren denomination attended by him with references to some heated discussions and some serious matters of church discipline.

Because of my promise quite some time ago to participate in the golden anniversary of the Eden church, it was impossible for us to be at Waterloo but a cousin was there and stopped on her way home to tell us about the events of the day and to bring a souvenir program.

It was my privilege to relate what an outsider knew of the beginnings of the Eden church and so point out the changes that came to that community once there was a church in the hamlet.

Back in the nineties ("The Gay Nineties" some like to call them), a man of deep religious conviction came to Eden to live. He had been assigned to that place by the management of the Michigan Central railroad to serve as station agent. Eden then was not the pretty spot it is today. There was a decrepit depot and freight house. The general store had general debility, both in outward appearance and in its stock of merchandise. There were two or three elder mills, a saw mill, a blacksmith shop and a few homes not too well kept. There was no church. There were no church services. This good man and his fine wife did not accept that situation. They went about organizing a Sunday school. Preachers from churches at Mason, Aurelius, Leslie and other places were invited to come to the school house where the Sunday school was held and occasionally deliver a sermon on Sunday afternoon. Soon there was a call out for the young people to form an Epworth League.

No Church Competition

It was at this point that this outsider entered. That Sunday afternoon when I went, as was my custom, to call on my steady, she suggested that a good place to spend the evening would be at the Eden school. That was before the days of the automobile, so distance was a factor. Moving pictures and Sunday theaters were unheard of and even in those wicked, pre-prohibition days, there were no saloons or beer taverns open on the sabbath day. There were no golf courses, no Sunday ball games, no horse racing and not even a horse show to attract the young people. In consequence when my girl suggested Sunday evening young people's services, we went and we found a lot of other young people there, probably for the same reason we went. It was within easy driving distance, it did not cost much, and it was respectable.

In the promotion of all these religious activities this railroad agent and his Christian wife took the leading part. In community betterments too, they took the lead. Their home was dressed up and a nice lawn and some flower beds and shrubs were planted. Through some strange set of circumstances, a fine new passenger and freight station was built and the grounds were made into a beautiful park. Others who lived close by picked up the tempo and paint and carefully tended yards took the place of drab weather beaten exteriors and weed patches. The store too was rebuilt and better stocks were carried. The school was a better school because the people demanded better living, displayed better manners, cultivated better habits and in other ways responded to better influences.

Church Was Built

The church was a natural result. Within a decade of the arrival of this quiet but insistent man and his willing worker wife, money was being raised to provide the church building, the dedication of which took place in the summer of 1900. For 50 years now that church building has stood as a beacon of better living. None can measure or weigh the influence it has exerted during that half century. But of this we can all be certain—it has always been a good influence, an influence not only for promoting the Christian faith, but an influence for morality, trustworthiness, decency, neighborliness, and general uprightness of conduct.

Such is the influence of every church of every faith.

Moreover, where one finds a church, whether it be a city cathedral or a white-spired, simple structure like that at Eden, or the one in Waterloo, its early history will disclose some individual or a handful of devout men and women who first pointed the way, then led the way, and then procured the ingredients until that church was established.

Grandfather Grimes long since passed to his reward and Mr. and Mrs. George Smith likewise have passed on but on Sunday at each of these churches there was a renewal of faith, a consecration of purpose and a review of the hopes and ambitions that prompted the founders to devote their lives to building for future generations. No other monument is required and no wreath need be laid. The church which they helped build and its influence for good is the best testimony to the worthiness of their living.

Observance Changed

Sunday is no longer observed as it once was. Many are the counter attractions with which the church must compete. Never-the-less, over the years the best influences and about the only good influences to be found, come either through the home, the church or the school and it is the home and the church which are most effective. A recent Catholic pronouncement points out: "At its best the school is only a strong aid to the home. Good citizens must first be good persons. Virtue is best developed in a home where God is held in reverence." Through the home the church does its best work, through family life and by that means wielding its effective influence upon the neighborhood, the community, the area and finally through common and joint effort with other churches, reaching great masses of people.

May there never come a day when it can be said the community church no longer is needed.

POLITICAL DEADLINE

Tuesday afternoon, July 3, at four o'clock is the deadline for filing nominating petitions or putting up the filing fees in lieu of petitions. That's for partisan offices. The deadline for non-partisan filing is August 8. Those who file for partisan offices have until the close of business hours on Thursday, July 6, to withdraw.

The Red, White and Blue

American visitors to Canada upon crossing the border are immediately struck with display of the flag everywhere. In city and country, atop business buildings and on all boats, big and little, the flag is flung to the breeze.

A little of that flag-waving might be a good thing for Americans. In the past 30 years we have not encouraged the eagle to scream. We have put up our flags half-heartedly, almost apologetically, on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July. We haven't gloried in flinging Old Glory to the breeze.

The United States of America is the greatest nation the world has ever known. That fact is recognized throughout the world. Let's wave the flag a little. It will not only do us good but it might encourage other peoples to fashion their way of life after ours.

The Glorious Fourth comes next Tuesday. It is too late to line up any celebration. There is time enough to get out some flags, big or little, to display for the day. Such a display will honor the men who signed their names to the Declaration of Independence. Flags will honor the memory of the thousands of others who fought to make it come true. It will also inspire us to save what we have left.

On Hiring Cop Sitters

This hiring of a man to hold the hand of the city patrolman on Friday and Saturday nights sounds silly.

If the extra man must ride with the night cop two nights a week then it is cruel to ask the policeman to ride alone the other five nights. And suppose, as the aldermen must fear, that the night officer does become engaged in knuckle-fighting and gun play on some Friday or Saturday night? Who will then protect the second man?

Originally the night officer in Mason was hired to patrol the business section against fire and break-ins. He was to proceed on foot to try doors and to peer in store windows to look for fire or smoke. The car was to be used only in case of emergencies and to afford transportation between the downtown and west side business districts. The patrol car, as a lot of people understood it, was to be used in the control of traffic during daylight hours. It was to be used in enforcement of speed laws—enforcement daytime when the streets are crowded with youngsters and other pedestrians.

Occasions are few and far between in Mason when gunmen and their molls frequent the streets. History shows that in the first 114 years only one policeman has lost his life in the line of duty. That indicates that boredom is as much an occupational hazard as is gunfire. Hiring of a cop sitter two nights a week is something that taxpayers may be able to afford. Yet what good will it do?

Out of the Frying Pan

Rep. Louis C. Crampton's enthusiasm for Michigan civil service is touching. There is some doubt that it is shared by any great number of people in Michigan.

Rep. Crampton wants civil service to appoint the liquor control commission. He wants to set up a set of civil service questions and have prospective commissioners write tests. Under his program the commissioners would presumably have tenure for life or until they retired on pension.

There just isn't anything in the record which indicates that the civil service commission could do any better picking of liquor commissioners than the governor. Certainly under the present system of picking liquor commissioners we have had a lot of poor ones but always there has been the satisfaction of knowing that come the next election there'll be a change. Michigan has not been stuck with its liquor commissioners for long. Under civil service that could well happen.

Most people agree with Rep. Crampton that the calibre of liquor commissioners too often fails to measure up to the responsibilities of the office they hold. Yet it might well be that the Crampton cure would be worse than the disease. We might be jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Down in Providence I learned that good columns should offer variety in style and type; that composers should be asked to do tricks. I don't know why. This column used to be set that way once. Some of the paragraphs were indented an en and halfspace type was tossed in occasionally. The style was discontinued because some people thought they were expected to read only the bold type as they do in responsive readings in church. Others thought only the indented paragraphs should be read. That's why the column was straightened out, about the time the Sycamore was dredged and straightened above Elm street.

There should always be a two-column head on a column, even one no narrow between the banks as the Sycamore, the experts declared. That's why the two-column head has been used. And did you notice how this paragraph is indented on both ends but not in the middle? Then see this free verse set bold!

Hours fly, flowers bloom and die. Old days, old ways pass by. Hove says.

I saw the verse on the ancient sun dial in the garden of the Mansion House in Salem, Mass., and I copied it down.

And with that I guess I'll turn my thoughts out to pasture here in the Sycamore valley. Did you ever see such beautiful strawberries as Mother Nature produced this year? Or such tasty ones? The cherry crop is going to be good too, where trees have been regularly sprayed. I missed out on a spraying and the worms got the upper hand in my orchard.

Sharon Silsby, the only female in the Hugh W. Silsby, Sr., line, is a sweet child. I saw her Saturday for the first time.

There has been no Amish invasion of Mason. Those bewhiskered visitors in Mason Saturday and Sunday came from Hillsdale. The city is observing its centennial with whisks. Bob Adams of the Hillsdale Daily News arrived in Mason Saturday night with a pretty fair set for a young man. On Sunday three old he-ones from Hillsdale displayed their beards at the presbytery meeting of the Presbyterian Council of Men. Just about every man in Hillsdale has put his razor aside until after the celebration.

In East Lansing Saturday afternoon Russell Brown boarded a Short Way bus for Mason. As he stepped into the bus he saw a familiar face. It was Mrs. Anna Roth. The two parted a year ago when Russell was graduated from the mission school in Kodakaanal, India. Miss Roth taught English there. She returned to the United States a few months ago to take graduate work in the University of Michigan. She was on her way there Saturday from the home of relatives in Lowell.

John Evans won an award at Wolverine Boys State for being the best citizen in his city. He will now be expected to maintain that same standard here at home.

The Ingham County News was off 195 on its 1950 census estimate. The Ingham County News figure was 3,311. President Truman and Joy Davis got 3,600, for which they should be commended. Mason is credited with the jail and detention home count.

Alderman Frank Evans is a quick man with a slide rule and quite often he is right. He disputed last week's Ingham County News statement that the increase in Mason's population will mean a 22 per cent increase in the sales tax split. Alderman Evans contends that the population gain is pretty general all over the state and that practically all cities have been credited with less population than they had. Instead of Mason getting 2,867ths of 5,259,106 (the state's 1940 count) the city may now get 2,506ths of 5,412,549 which won't put any more money in the civic till. That's what Alderman Evans fears.

Whether the call of duty or the increased pay has brought about a mass desire for seats in the legislature is open for debate. At any rate there are now five and there may be six or seven candidates for the second district post.

An officer in the Mexican Border veterans association received a touching appeal from a political leader last week. In a letter the politician felicitated the Mexicans for having a local organization and suggested that they all register and vote solid for his party. Language should be no barrier to political activity here in the county, the politician asserted.

Mason service station operators may band together to buy a Charlotte sign for the corner of Cedar and Columbia. They spend hours every week directing drivers to turn west on Columbia, at the Edly station, the Sunoco station or Jim's Market, or where the traffic light used to be, or right where you turn off Columbia to go to Lansing. Whether it is up to the city of Mason, the county, the state highway department or the city of Charlotte, a sign should be erected. There's a Mason sign on the Charlotte end of the road.

Barbershop patrons on Monday morning feared that the United States was already involved in the Korean war. The new price schedule tilted haircuts 10c to the all-time local high of 85c.

Assembly Officer Visits Rebekahs

Myrtle Rebekah lodge met Tuesday evening in the Odd Fellow hall for a bohemian dinner at 6:30 p. m., honoring Mrs. Zetta Timpson, assembly treasurer, who was paying an official visit to the lodge.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Timpson was introduced and she spoke briefly. A short program followed consisting of music and humorous readings. The hall was cleared of tables and lodge convened at the regular hour. The hall was decorated with flowers in honor of the occasion.

There was a large attendance of members and visitors from Webberville and Okemos lodges. Mrs. Lewellyn Holloway, district president of Okemos and Alice Catlin, vice-grand of Webberville lodge, were introduced and welcomed.

Grand Master Ted Thompson was present and spoke briefly concerning the work of the order. The official visitor, Mrs. Timpson, gave instruction in the various phases of Rebekah work and commended the lodge for its efficiency.

A message was read from the assembly president by district deputy president, Lizzie Jordan.

Entire Vaughn, advisor of the Theta Phi club gave a report of the last meeting of that club.

An impressive memorial service, honoring Jim Fisher and Ami Henthman, was given by the chaplain and her staff, consisting of Nina Ketchum, Anna Shepler, Bertha Gulick and Ada Wilkins.

There will be one more meeting of the lodge prior to the summer vacation. The next meeting will be the evening of July 4 at 8 p. m. Refreshment committee for that meeting will be Mable Fish, Wilma Rich and Fern Shaw.

Garden Club Plans Fall Flower Show

The Red Cedar Garden club, under direction of the flower show chairman, Virginia Kitchen, has plans partially completed for the fall flower show, which the club sponsors annually. This year the show will be held in St. Mary's hall in September.

Clerks for the show will be Marion Lechler, Gladys Wylie and Hazel Pfeiffer, advisory chairman, Florence Selfridge, and publicity, Nina Ketchum and Letah Ingersol. The classifications will be simpler this year, and it is planned that there will be some outside displays with the assistance of the county agent. The flower arrangements and exhibits will be judged the first day of the show and the tea will be given the second day. Committees will be appointed by the chairman at the next meeting. The show is open to all residents of the community, outside garden clubs will exhibit one arrangement.

Naomi Circle Has Meeting
Nineteen members and four guests of the Naomi circle of the Methodist W. S. C. S. met at the farm home of Mrs. Leona Meier Thursday.

In the absence of the chairman, the vice-chairman, Jessie Kurlz, presided. Mrs. Kate Gorsline conducted the devotionals, and Mrs. Jean Perkins gave a report of the missionary work. The circle will have a picnic in the park for its July meeting. Drinks will be furnished by the committee. Following the meeting the hostesses, assisted by her daughter, Kay, served refreshments.

Pastor Applies for Transfer
Rev. Floyd Fisher, pastor of the Webberville and Bell Oak Methodist churches, has applied to the Indiana Methodist conference for a transfer so that he might be nearer to both his wife and Mrs. Fisher's parents, who are in poor health.

Rev. Durkee of Lake Odessa, preached at the Rowley Wesleyan Methodist church last Sunday during the absence of Rev. G. E. Miller.

Former Resident Dies in Hospital

Seth Raymond Nixon, 60, died Thursday morning, June 15, at Blodgett Memorial hospital in Grand Rapids following a brief illness.

Surviving are the widow, Ada; a son, Milford of Williamston; three daughters, Esther Lou Gorsline of Williamston, Muriel Johnson of Roscommon, and Marjorie Laurent of Sarasota, Florida; two brothers, Charles and Frank of Cadillac; and two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Stewart of Cadillac and Mrs. Alma Lamberton of Alberta, Canada.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the Roth and son funeral home in Lowell. Burial services were held in the afternoon at Maple Hill cemetery in Cadillac. Mr. Nixon was a former resident of Williamston, and he made many friends during his years here.

Plans Completed For Holstein Show

Members of the board of directors of the Ingham County Holstein Breeders' association met Wednesday evening at the home of Herbert Miller in Williamston for the purpose of completing plans for the Black and White show to be held July 11 at the C. B. Smith Sales pavilion, 2 1/2 miles west of Williamston on U. S. 16.

Cattle should be in place by 10 a. m. The 4-H judging contest held at 11 o'clock with prizes offered to the winners. Cattle should also be blood tested prior to show day.

A basket picnic dinner will be held at noon. Ice cream will be furnished by the association. Each family is to take table service, sandwiches, a dish or two to pass and their own drink.

Judging of cattle will take place immediately after dinner. The board of directors consists of: President, Ludell Cheney, Mason; vice-president, Herbert Miller, Williamston; secretary and treasurer, Lynn Freshour, Mason; directors, Marilyn Swab of Williamston, Coe Emmons of Mason, Hugh Osterle of Webberville and Charles Davis of Onondaga.

Couple Returning to Italy
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Engardio, who have been visiting the former's brother, Sam Engardio, expect to sail July 7, enroute to their home in Trapani, Sicily, after several weeks' visit here. Mrs. Engardio and daughter, Mary, plan to return with them to Sicily for a visit. This is the first time the brothers had seen each other in 46 years, when Sam Engardio left to come to America.

Druggist on Vacation
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Monroe and daughter, Lenore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reese, and Albert Monroe, of Henderson, Colorado, who have been visiting relatives here for a few weeks, have gone to Denver, Colorado, and expect to be away about two weeks. During Mr. Monroe's absence, the drug store will be in charge of Jack Denton, pharmacist.

Ice Cream Social Planned
The Woman's Relief Corps will hold an ice cream social on the city hall lawn Saturday afternoon and evening. Ruth Eaton and her committee will be in charge. All kinds of pie will also be available.

Local Doctor Appointed
Dr. Edward E. Gaudin has been appointed by the board of social welfare to succeed Dr. D. W. Roberts, as physician for county infirmaries. Dr. Roberts is 84, but intends to continue private practice at Okemos. In earlier years his services at the infirmaries were seldom needed, but with the setting up of the present county relief program the demand for medical services at the infirmaries has been heavy. There are 50 bed patients there at present.

Scout Gets Honor Degree
The Order of the Arrow, an honorary degree in scouting, initiated Ted Johnson of Williamston troop 63 along with four other boys from Chief Okemos Council the past week. These boys were elected for membership as outstanding campers, and the best qualified to exemplify the Scout oath and law in daily camp life. Robert Hull is the only other Williamston scout to have received this honorary degree in the past.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Powell spent last Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kinne at South Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner and Mr. and Mrs. John Warner returned home last week from Florida. The John Warners left Thursday for their cottage on Indian lake near McAdoo.

Peter and Helen Bappert spent Friday in Perry on business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dunavin left Sunday for Coopersville, Tenn., to visit the latter's father and other relatives. Miss Mary Maloney accompanied them.

The Red Cedar Garden club will hold its meeting July 16 at the summer home of Mrs. Geneva Youngs at Little Crooked lake. There will be a potluck dinner at noon.

Charles White of Fowlerville spent Father's Day as a guest of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Homer White.

Mrs. Zetta Timpson of Detroit visited in Williamston last Tuesday. Mrs. Lewellyn Holloway of Okemos visited here Tuesday evening and attended the Rebekah meeting.

Program Committee Named

Vanhook 4-H club met at the home of Mary Anna and Carl Minnie. The meeting was presided over by Paul Osterle with 48 members present. A committee was appointed for making out the club program. Working on the committee will be Jerry Jason, Shirley Sly, Barbara and Norma Webster, Joyce Malcho and Paul Osterle. The next meeting will be July 10 at the home of Joyce and Wayne Malcho. Following the business meeting the members had a weiner roast.

Conference Moves Methodist Pastor

Pastors were named to the various pastorates of the state in the closing sessions of the Detroit conference held recently in Detroit. Rev. W. A. Gregory, pastor of the Williamston Methodist church for the past four years, was retired to a smaller pastorate at Au Gres in the Port Huron district. Assigned to the Williamston pastorate is the Rev. Horace L. James, formerly of the Harrisville pastorate near Alpena.

Rev. and Mrs. James have a small daughter. Their work with the church youth has been outstanding. Rev. James arrived Thursday and preached his first sermon here to a large audience. Mrs. James and their daughter are expected to come here as soon as the little girl has recovered from the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nisbett and children of Cadillac have returned to their home after visiting Mrs. Nisbett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard.

C. Warren spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. William Ketchum at their cottage at Bush lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haseby announce the birth of a daughter, Trudy Irene, on June 15. Mrs. Haseby is the former Irene Longstreet.

Mr. and Mrs. John Francis and baby have moved to White Cloud where Mr. Francis has been appointed to a church. Mrs. Francis is the former Donna Greenman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Twork and four children are living in the Dean Taylor house on Frost road. Mr. Twork is with the forestry department.

Mr. and Mrs. Halbert Bowlin and family have moved into the Collins house.

Mrs. Robert Ketchum spent from Monday until Wednesday visiting the Hemlin family in Birmingham.

Mrs. Winifred Frost, who has been sick for some time, is much better and able to be about the house again.

Mrs. Bert Van Ostran entertained the Friendship club Wednesday.

Mrs. Rose Kleiver and grand-daughter, Phyllis Burrows of Lansing, left by bus Wednesday morning for a sight-seeing trip to Washington, D. C. They also plan to visit Mrs. Kleiver's daughter and family in Maryland.

Mrs. Wilton and Mrs. Thompson and children, Jeremy and Teddy, have returned from a short vacation and business trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shepler entertained their children for Father's Day. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith and family of the Williamston Methodist church.

WHY AND WHAT OF FEDERAL MILK ORDER

Minimum Prices Will Be Fixed

By G. G. Quackenbush

Prospects are that the Detroit market will soon become one of the 35 or more large fluid markets of the nation to operate under a federal marketing order. Public hearings started in Detroit on June 5. Normally the order becomes effective a few months from this date.

Federal orders are not new in the milk business. For the past 15 years there has been a gradual increase in number of markets having a federal order. Few markets have suspended the order once they have had one.

Why did Detroit ask for a federal order? The Michigan Milk Producers' association asked for the order because it claimed that certain milk dealers in the area are buying milk on a flat price basis without regard to use made of the milk. The association believes this practice results in an increasing supply of milk in the market, and tends to lower milk prices to an undesirable level. Price negotiation between the producers' association and milk dealers has become more difficult.

Fix Minimum Producer Price

Federal orders provide for fixing of minimum prices to be paid producers, with milk being classified according to the way it is used by dealers. Minimum prices are established, in general, for milk used for bottling, milk used for bottled cream, and milk in excess of bottling requirements that is sold for manufacturing. Payments for milk must be pooled and paid out to individual farmers on the basis of uniform prices, with proper adjustments for such factors as butterfat test and discounts from market.

Under a federal order, only milk dealers are regulated. They must pay at least the minimum prices. They must make accurate weights and tests. And they must account properly for the way the milk is used. A market administrator is appointed by the secretary of agriculture to administer the order. Final enforcement rests with the justice department in federal courts who can compel milk dealers to comply with the order.

Under the order, if adopted, there will be some major changes in the market:

1. Monthly price negotiation between producers and dealers will be discontinued. Monthly prices will be determined by formula pricing.

2. All dealers will pay at least the minimum price for milk according to the way it is used. A few dealers now buy on a flat price basis.

3. Producers who have not belonged to the Michigan Milk Producers' association will have greater assurance of getting the correct weights and test.

4. All producers will be paid on the basis of the base and excess plan, whereas only members of the Michigan Milk Producers' association were paid on this basis before.

5. Better market statistics will be available for studying market conditions and trends.

6. Public hearings will offer the public greater opportunity to be represented in milk pricing.

Some things that will not be changed are:

1. Producers will still be allowed to sell as much milk as they choose to sell. Any farmer who can find a handler in the market to purchase his milk will be entitled to the benefits of the order.

2. Among dealers the order does not control from whom they shall buy, to whom they shall sell, how much they should buy or sell, nor at what prices they may sell.

3. Michigan Milk Producers' association members will continue to be paid on the basis of the base and excess plan, and dealers now buying from M. M. P. A. will continue to buy on the class use plan, though slightly modified.

4. The Detroit health department will continue to approve farms and supplies for market milk.

5. The Michigan Milk Producers' association will perform its same functions except for monthly price negotiation, but will represent its members' interests in seeking needed changes in formula pricing.

Advantages and Weaknesses

Nearly all federal order markets price milk by formula. Formulas have some advantages and weaknesses. Chief advantages are:

1. Milk prices probably are adjusted more promptly to changing economic conditions than when negotiated.
2. Milk prices can be reduced when needed without requiring producers to vote directly for such a reduction.
3. A well constructed formula, when properly interpreted, can provide a basis for teaching consumers and producers the principles of marketing and pricing milk.

Some weaknesses are:

1. Some groups interpret formulas, once established in the market, as a cure-all for all time. However, modifications are needed from time to time as various economic conditions change.
2. Formulas are looked upon by some groups as long-range contracts. Instead all parties should feel free to propose changes in the formulas without such proposals being considered in any way as a breach of faith.
3. Under formula pricing, unpredictable and major changes in economic conditions sometimes result in short-time price changes that are too great or too small to be justified under actual market conditions. Frequent public hearings sometimes are needed.

Federal orders and formula prices don't guarantee farmers a high and stable income. It is questionable whether, over the long run, milk prices paid to farmers in the Detroit milkshed will be higher than they would be without a federal order. Supply and demand conditions for the nation as a whole determine the level of dairy prices in Michigan over the long run. Over the short run, the Detroit market will be more orderly; prices likely will respond more quickly to changing demand and supplies; large surpluses and shortages of milk will be less likely; and price cutting on the producer end will be eliminated.

CHAMP MILKER—Grand champion milker Frederick Phelps, age 13, presented a "Key to Health" to Wanda Matuszewski, queen of the Dairyland Festival here at Watertown, N. Y. Phelps also provided the queen, at center, and her attendants with the milk they are drinking. He milked almost 19 pounds of it in three minutes.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS

BY CARL COLLIN

When you look back over your lifetime and compare farming today with farming some years ago, you know that great changes have taken place.

Look what's happened to crop yields per acre in the last 20 years. Corn is up 36 per cent; cotton, 58; potatoes, 68; soybeans, 59; and oats, 17. Along with increased yields, we have learned how to grow better crops and better livestock—tailor-made for specific uses.

We've made some striking changes in consumption, too. We are shifting from high caloric foods and eating more of the protective foods such as meats, fruits, vegetables, eggs and milk. For instance, in 1949 we ate 17 per cent more dairy products (other than butter) and 26 per cent more eggs than we ate in 1935-39 period. We ate 19 per cent less potatoes and 12 per cent less grain products and over-all, we ate about five per cent more food (and my wife says the women have better figures).

Resistance to disease can be bred into farm animals just as it has been into crop plants. Scientists have developed relative resistance to fowl paralysis, to pullorum disease and to fowl typhoid. It's doubtful, however, if disease resistance will ever be a substitute for eradication of disease, but it certainly has its place in the raising of better livestock on farms. When scientists crossed Brahman cattle with our native breeds for heat resistance, they found that Brahman, with their thick skins, were resistant to ticks. A by-product of this work may well be a strain of cattle resistant to tick fever.

The germ responsible for most cases of bovine mastitis can stay alive for as long as 20 days around the barn. It can live as long as 28 days on the cow's skin.

Michigan's winter wheat crop, estimated at 28,322,000 on June 1, is 10 per cent below the 1949 crop but 31 per cent above the 1939-48 average. It looked like a rye crop nine per cent above last year, oats around 13 per cent below and barley 5 per cent greater than in 1949.

Foreign-wise agricultural officials say that the world's chief farm problem is not production but distribution—getting the food into stomachs. Improved food distribution must precede, or go right along with, increased food production.

Science has come up with a new material (antibiotic) called subtilin to use in the canning of vegetables. It kills all organisms known to occur in food products; it retains its power; it kills power in the presence of heat; it appears to be destroyed by enzymes in the digestive tract, therefore it is not likely to accumulate in the body. Apparently it is not toxic when taken into the digestive tract. It could be a great boon to the canning industry.

Farm production in those of the countries receiving ECA aid from the U. S. will be within 5 per cent of pre-war levels this year. However, Europe is only half as dependent on feed stuffs as before the war, according to officials in Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, USDA. Western Europe is trying to get food production up 15 per cent above pre-war by 1952.

But population is up about 15 per cent, too. So Europe will have to import more food than in the 1930's, in spite of higher farm production, if pre-war nutritional levels are maintained.

sites and remove the source of the insects.

The state of Michigan also has a vineyard removal program which operates similar to the ones for orchards. The state pays the cost of pulling the vines out of the ground. The grower is supposed to clean up the old dead vines. Kermit says this program has done a lot to boost the yield per acre here in southwestern Michigan. He emphasizes, too, that old dead vines should not lie around after they have been pulled out. They constitute a source of infection and disease for healthy vineyards in the neighborhood. Check with your county agent for more information on these removal programs.

Breeder Adds Pig Litter to Registry

Robert Elfert, Durac breeder of Mason, has entered an additional litter of purebred Durac pigs in his breed's official sow testing production registry program, according to word received from B. R. Evans, secretary of the United Durac Record association, Peoria, Ill. This makes a total of two litters under test in the Elfert herd.

All major hog breeds now use production registry, the official testing program. The program is based on weights of litters at 56 days to test both the production and suckling ability of the breed sow as well as the gaining ability of the nursing pigs.

Minimum qualifications required of the sow and her litter under the program are eight pigs or more from a mature sow raised to an official 56 day litter weight of 220 or more pounds. Farming report and 56-day weights both must be certified by an official witness.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frost spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and family of Midland.

Hayfield Independence PAYS OFF

FEED bright, leafy hay from rolled bales — weather-resistant bales, with leaves still on the stems and wrapped inside where they can't shake out

TIME your hay harvest to suit yourself — to get better hay, to fit in with other farm work.

The ROTO-BALER is priced for home ownership, is operated by one man with any 2-pow tractor PTO, wraps with ordinary binder twine.

The ROTO-BALER takes less manpower, less tractor power, less out-of-the-pocket expenses — and you get the best hay you've ever fed.

Don't Crush Bugs For Use at MSC

Care should be used in sending insects to the entomology department at Michigan State college, advises Ray L. Janes, entomology extension specialist.

Though the department is willing to cooperate in identifying insects it is frequently impossible to do so. When people slip the insects into an envelope or between a piece of paper, the bugs frequently arrive at the college smashed into a mass of color and cannot be identified.

Janes points out that if people would first kill the insects in rubbing alcohol and then put them in a box so they would not crush, the situation would be remedied. He reported that it is almost impossible to tell one insect from another when it arrives crushed.

GIRL BUYS JERSEY

Sharon Jewett of Mason recently purchased one registered Jersey, Dona-Laine June, from the herd owned by Robert G. Jewett, also of Mason. The purchase was announced by the American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio, national registration headquarters.

Getting Ready for a Profitable Harvest

The Co-op Self-Propelled Combine is designed to glean more dollars out of your grain. Requires only one operator instead of two; one motor instead of two. Releases the tractor for other farm work. Cheapest known method of harvesting. Cuts around green spots in field without knocking down grain. Salvages grain that's down and tangle. Heavy duty 6-cylinder industrial motor. Eight forward speeds. Auger-type header, 10 or 12 foot widths. No canvases. Well balanced weight distribution. Full length grain pan and sieves. Cuts time, loss and cost of harvesting. Ask for a demonstration of this completely modern combine now—it's your short cut to more profits.
