

G. O. P. Regains Capitol

Republicans gained new hope from Tuesday's election returns. Michigan Republicans have regained control of the capitol if the Kelly lead stands up. The same Republican trend appeared in most other states, even dipping down into Maryland.

It's just the normal off-year reaction, Democrats explain, and it could be Republicans' built-up confidence by their successes in 1946 only to go down in defeat in the 1948 presidential campaign.

Tuesday's vote was a record off-year vote; a long ways from a record vote. Ingham cast 4,365 less votes this year for governor than two years ago. Governor Williams is popular and his vote cut across party lines, yet he got 4,000 fewer

County Pension Adopted 3 to 1, Starts at Once

County Follows Trend On All State Proposals, Lansing Gains Territory

Three out of every four voters approved the county retirement proposal Tuesday. Only in five townships did the voters reject it. The unofficial total is 29,650 yes to 10,555 no.

Alaiedon, Aurelius, Stockbridge, Wheatfield and White Oak voters turned down the proposal. Heavy margins for the plan were built up in Lansing, East Lansing and Mason.

The retirement plan becomes effective at once. Employee contributions are being deducted from current pay checks and plans are being made to retire several employees who have qualified.

Supervisors are returning to Mason Friday to adjust salaries. At the October session it was agreed that salaries would be adjusted following Tuesday's election. Had the issue been turned down, raises would have been granted up to the $50,000 the retirement plan will cost the taxpayers.

Supervisors must decide Friday what to do on raises now that retirement has been approved.

Ingham voters gave their approval to all proposals on the state ballot. There was a wide difference of opinion on yellow oleo. City folks rallied for it. In rural areas the vote was against it.

Rural precincts turned down yellow oleo like this: Alaiedon, 279 to 97; Aurelius, 328 to 116; Bunker Hill, 211 to 43; Ingham, 248 to 128; Leroy, 370 to 162; Leslie, 434 to 363; Locke, 204 to 167; Onondaga, 210 to 308; Stockbridge, 348 to 274; Vevay, 280 to 88; Wheatfield, 179 to 43; White Oak, 204 to 39; and Williamstown, 199 to 128.

Lansing wanted yellow oleo by a margin of 29,519 to 11,737. The East Lansing approval was 3,460 to 1,028. Mason voted 778 to 479 for the ersatz spread. The Williamstown vote was 453 to 274.

Voters approved other state propositions as follows: No. 1 by 24,451 to 9,930; No. 2 by 31,986 to 7,555; and No. 3 by 24,165 to 11,119.

Lansing and Lansing township approved the Midway annexation by a vote of 16,918 to 5,444.

The unofficial tabulation on the retirement proposal was:

Tests Indicate Need for Tower, Not More Wells

City Engineer Suggests Further Tests May Show Jefferson Well Is OK

New wells, not even a half-dozen of them scattered about the city, will build up pressure in the mains. What Mason needs is a 250,000-gallon elevated tank. And the Jefferson street well may be O. K., it is pumped right.

Those statements were made by City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer to the city council Monday night. He urged that further tests be made at the Jefferson street well and also pointed out that some of the equipment now in use there is faulty.

Zimmer's statement took the water situation out of the realm of speculation and offered a certain remedy, although an expensive one. The elevated tank will cost $47,000 with another $4,800 needed for foundations and $500 for connections.

The city engineer reported that the Jefferson street well had not been pumped for six weeks at the time the test was taken. He said there was five feet of cylinder oil floating on the water in the 24-inch casing. The oil came from the pump, and may point to the reason why the well is not producing up to its rated capacity, Zimmer pointed out.

Drawdown Is Satisfactory Zimmer told the council that the drawdown of 5.5 feet is about the same as resulted on the official test when the well was accepted in 1941. The meters and gauges are out of kilter and additional installations must be made in order to have an accurate picture of the well's production, the engineer declared. The council ordered that the installations be made.

Not pumping the Jefferson well regularly is detrimental to the effectiveness of the screen and the surrounding gravel and also to the impellers and bowls in the pump itself, Zimmer added. Zimmer also found the stand-by motor at the Jefferson well not in working order.

In the matter of another well or wells, Zimmer reported the maximum yield from the upper layer of sand rock is only about 120 gallons per minute. Wells down 41 feet yield only 180 gallons per minute in Mason, he said. The water from the deep wells is full of iron, too, he added.

If further tests disclose that the Jefferson street well can not be relied upon, the engineer declared, another gravel well should be developed.

"It is my opinion," Zimmer said, "that the Park street well which produces 750 gallons per minute is on an underground stream which can be tapped at another location without materially affecting the existing well."

Deep Wells Abandoned Mason abandoned deep wells 20 years ago. The shallow well on Park street was developed. It is one of the most productive in the state. Ten years ago city officials developed the Jefferson street shallow well as a standby measure. Production at the Jefferson well has been around 450 gallons per minute until recent months. The Park street production of 750 gallons has remained constant through the years.

Zimmer suggested that the abandoned deep well at Maple and Lansing streets could be tapped again as a test well. The deep wells which long served the city were located on North Jefferson where the city storage building is now. They played out and were abandoned by state health authorities.

Have You Met?

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wuotila and daughter, Yvonne, 11? They moved to 1008 Tuttle road three weeks ago from Detroit.

Wuotila is a junior at Michigan State college, majoring in agricultural teaching. He was born in Duluth, Minnesota, where he attended high school and college for two years. Mrs. Wuotila was raised in northern Michigan. She attended high school at Rogers City. She was employed at Parke-Davis in Detroit before moving to Ingham county.

Wuotila served in the air corps six years. He was with the rescue squad and spent four years overseas.

The Wuotilas attend the St. James Catholic Mission.

Lindemer Wins Legislative Seat In 2nd District

Lawrence B. Lindemer of Stockbridge won Ingham's second district legislative seat by a margin of about 6,000 votes over Charles S. Woods of Danville.

It was young Lindemer's first start in politics, and just another run for the veteran Woods. Lindemer won the Republican nomination from Rep. Jacob Schepers by eight votes in September. Woods, Democratic stalwart, easily won his party's nomination.

Lindemer, an assistant prosecuting attorney, Woods is supervisor of Ingham township.

Democrats gave Woods slim margins in Lansing and Delhi townships. Lindemer carried all other precincts. In Stockbridge township the home town man won 533 to 122.

Republicans captured both first district legislative seats, Harold D. Hargrove with 38,701 and Robert M. Montgomery with 18,565 votes led John Leighton, 13,755, and Charles N. Murphy 14,344.

The first district is made up of the city of Lansing and Lansing township, and elects two representatives. The rest of the county makes up the second district and elects one representative.

Unofficial totals in the second district were:

HARRY F. KELLY is headed back toward the executive office in the capitol. He was a good governor before and will be again, Republicans point out.

Governor Kelly was born in Illinois in 1895. He was graduated from the law school at Notre Dame in 1917 and immediately entered the army. He served as a lieutenant with the Ninth Infantry, Second division, in France. He lost a leg there. After the war Kelly returned to Illinois to serve as a county prosecutor from 1919 to 1928. He began the practice of law in Detroit in 1928. From 1930 to 1935 he was assistant prosecutor of Wayne county. In 1938 he was elected secretary of state. He was re-elected in 1940. In 1942 he was elected governor. Two years later he was re-elected.

Governor and Mrs. Kelly (nee Ann O'Brien) have six children.

Mason Asks New Charter, Picks Nine to Draw It Up

By 2 to 1 Mason voters at Tuesday's election said they want a new city charter. And they picked nine men to draw one up.

The nine commissioners chosen were Dr. D. R. Lehtinen, James H. Vander Ven, Howard McCowan, Glen Coon, Frank W. Dakin, Leo

H. Harrison, John Shepard, Gerald A. Parsons and S. A. Morrison.

Ralph S. Adams, Arthur W. Jewett and Dr. R. E. Robbins lost out for commission posts. Only nine could be chosen from the 12 nominated. Commissioners will receive no pay.

It is still up to the people to say whether or not the charter drawn up by the commissioners shall be adopted as Mason's basic law. After the commissioners draw up a new charter it must be approved by the people.

Mayor C. H. Hall led the move for a new charter. He and a majority on the council have spoken up in favor of a city manager form of government with the mayor appointing the city assessor and the city clerk.

The commissioners chosen Tuesday are not committed to any specific type of government.

The vote on revision of the charter was:

Keith-Counselor Vows Repeated

MR. AND MRS. DONALD G. KEITH

First Presbyterian church of Mason was the scene of the wedding of Belva Leone Counselor and Donald Gene Keith Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Belva is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ray of Farmington, Mason. Donald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Keith of 314 W. Columbia, Mason.

Rev. Marshall W. Simpson, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with baskets of mums, palms and candelabra.

Proceeding the ceremony Vera Jean Snyder of Dansville rendered "I Love You Truly" and "Alway's." She was accompanied by Mrs. N. S. Davis, who also played traditional wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin gown fashioned with a nylon yoke. The skirt, which extended into a chapel-length train, had panels of white lace in front. She wore a fingertip-length veil which was held in place by a tiara of red and gold pearls. For her wedding bouquet the bride carried a white Bible topped with white roses and rosebuds on streamers.

Dorothy Keith, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. Her gown was blue taffeta and she carried an arrangement of white tulip mums.

Helen Keith, another sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Sandra Michalek of St. Johns, a niece of the bride, acted as junior bridesmaid. Miss Keith wore a dress of orchid taffeta and Miss Michalek's gown was pink, trimmed in blue. They carried bouquets like the maid of honor. All three attendants wore net head-dresses matching their gowns.

James Counselor, brother of the bride, was best man. Duane Counselor, brother of the bride, and Walter Keith, brother of the bridegroom, ushered the wedding guests to the seats.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ray chose a teal blue suit which she accented with black accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations and white roses. Mrs. Keith selected a green suit with gray accessories. Her corsage was like Mrs. Ray's.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for the 70 guests in the church parlors. Refreshments of tiered wedding cake, topped with pink wedding bells holding white mums, and white satin ribbon, coffee, tea and groom's cake were served. Barbara Ridgway of Dansville was the wedding cake. Mrs. Floyd Teachout of Lansing and Vera Jean Snyder poured the tea and coffee. Clarice Nelson served the bridegroom's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert N. Pettes entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bottles and family of Flint Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dufendack, John and Tom of Port Fremble near Algonac, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Strat and family. They all attended the Michigan State-Indiana football game Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kohn and son of Jackson were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Costes and Miss Minnie Smith of Lansing called on Mr. and Mrs. William E. B. Smith Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Minnie Smith is Mr. Smith's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Rumbles entertained Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fiebig and sons of Saginaw Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hall and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Hulet were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Baker of Stockbridge for supper Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Parks of Rensselaer, Indiana, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Frank Hays, and family of Phillips road for the week end.

Mrs. Earl Salisbury went to Vicksburg Thursday to spend the remainder of the week with Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Mellus. Mr. Salisbury plans to go to Vicksburg Saturday for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shattuck and Loren attended a birthday and farewell party Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Vince of Leslie honoring Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Vince, who plan to leave soon for Florida where they will spend the winter.

MADISON CLUB MEETS

Collecting things of beauty is a favorite hobby among women. One of the most prized collector's items is fine ENGLISH BONE CHINA CUPS and SAUCERS.

There are three main factors that determine the value of a cup and saucer: one is the thinness of the china, another the translucency when held up to the light, and the third, the amount and delicacy of the decorative work on the piece—gold trimming.

ONE OF THE MOST UNUSUAL CUPS AND SAUCERS IN OUR COLLECTION IS DONE IN BLACK WITH PINK AND YELLOW ROSES AND A GOLD TRIM. A TRULY LOVELY PIECE TO ADD TO ANY COLLECTION.

Prices Range from $1.69 to $6.50.

From the fascinating Orient come many treasured pieces. One of the loveliest is the CHINESE RICE BOWL. These bowls are done in blue and white with red tracings around the design, created by actual kernels of rice in the china.

THESE CHARMING LITTLE BOWLS ARE USED FOR NUTS, CANDY, SEAFOOD COCKTAILS AND FOR PURELY DECORATIVE EFFECT.

Patients discharged from the Mason General hospital during the past week included Fred Walsh, Mrs. John Eldridge, Ralph Purney, Mrs. Lee Roberts, Bruce Horton, Mrs. Oral Lewis and son, Mrs. William J. Hardy and son and Mrs. Allen A. MacDonald.

Mrs. Bernard Puckie, who entered Sparrow hospital October 23, underwent surgery Wednesday. She is expected to remain in the hospital two more weeks.

Work Starting for Clearing House

Plans for the Mason Community Clearing House are taking shape for the Christmas and Thanksgiving season.

Friday afternoon members will be at the Clearing House headquarters in the basement of the court house to receive used clothing for the organization.

Frank Dalkin, Clearing House president, asks that all clothing brought in before December 10. Cash contributions from organizations and individuals should be received by December 1.

The Mason Community Clearing House was set up four years ago to handle the distribution of Christmas boxes for the needy families in Mason and Vevay, Alton, Aurelius and Ingham townships. It has since grown into a year-around organization to help families out in emergencies.

There are 21 service, church and fraternal organizations in the community which support the project.

Referral cards for families needing assistance may be obtained from the president, Mrs. C. W. Cowley, secretary, Mrs. C. W. Cowley, or at the Ingham County News office. Cases are investigated by the organization and needs noted. The referral cards do away with overlapping of work by other organizations.

Women Complain About Junkyard

Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Elmer Javender and Mrs. Maynard Campbell, all of Rogers street, appeared before the city council Monday night to complain of the Haines junkyard. They declared that previous complaints resulted in no permanently corrective measures.

It is going to be different this time, city fathers assured the women. Mayor C. H. Hall and the city council authorized Building Inspector Ralph Hall to ask for a warrant if Osmond and Oyelle Haines persist in violating the zoning ordinance.

Alderman John Taylor first asked that a committee of three be appointed to investigate the situation. He later withdrew his motion when Alderman Frank Evans demanded that the zoning ordinance be either enforced or repealed. City Engineer Walter Zimmer declared that the ordinance prohibits the operation of a junkyard in a residential area.

Day-Long Event Saturday to Mark Opening of Christensen Ford Sales

With the completion of a two and one-half months program of remodeling and redecorating, the Roy Christensen Ford sales has scheduled its grand opening celebration for Saturday, November 11.

The day-long event, from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m., will afford visitors the opportunity to see the remodeled show rooms, to visit the modernized service department and to be entertained with several special programs. Souvenirs are in store for every guest, Christensen said, along with special gifts, children, down to Mason from Hawaii specially for the opening event, will be presented to the first 25 women who visit the showrooms during the morning and afternoon and the first 100 women who attend during the evening.

Starting at 4 p. m. there will be music by Max and Tommie Ruess, a program of magic by Ronsens, followed by movies at 5 p. m. Music and entertainment will continue throughout the evening, Christensen said.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies to officially announce the opening will be held at 8 p. m. V. J. Brown will officiate at the dedication to which Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Darr, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. White, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hall and Mrs. Brown have been invited as special guests of the Christensen organization.

Christensen bought the Ford agency in August from J. B. Dunn, who retired after 30 years in the automotive business. Coming to Mason from Dearborn, he has an extensive background with Ford. In 1936 Christensen joined the staff of the Ford Motor company at Boston, Mass., and since then has held various positions with the company at the Dearborn sales offices. In 1946 he was appointed parts and sales manager for Michigan, northern Ohio and part of Indiana.

Business has been conducted as usual during the period of alterations. The sales drop has been modeled to include private offices, and a separate bookkeeping department. The parts department has been shifted to the northwest end of the building for greater efficiency and ease of operation.

Farm Bureau

Northwest Aurelius
The Northwest Aurelius Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Bullen last week. Don Stark of the Agricultural Economics department of Michigan State college spoke on livestock marketing. Fifteen members and one guest attended.

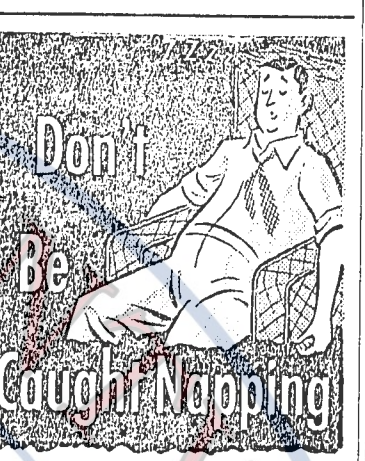

Mrs. Katie Waggoner, who has been sick at her home, is now being cared for at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sam Clemens.

Roy Christensen

Service facilities have been expanded with an increased service staff since August. Additional service is being planned in the near future, Christensen said.

In addition to showing visitors through the plant, Christensen will have several 1950 Fords on display. Members of the sales staff will be ready to give interested persons a ride in the new car at anytime during the day.

Election Comments

clinet of the college city went Democratic, not all the way. It is crowded with married veterans and faculty folk. The other four East Lansing precincts were in the regular G. O. P. groove.

Maybe the rain along towards night helped the Republican cause. Something cut down the expected turnout in Lansing and Delit townships. Democratic majorities were counted on there. They didn't amount to much.

Kit Clardy did his best to beat Congressman William W. Blackney in the Republican primary, and after that was over Clardy did his best to elect the Flint man. That's one reason why Ingham gave a 10,000 majority to Blackney. Clardy was out working day after day. He could hardly have been more jubilant Wednesday had he won the seat himself.

"I am gratified over the Ingham vote for my opponent of last September," Clardy declared. "I am proud of the county and of the district."

Mrs. Ethel Nichols telephoned from New York Wednesday morning to get Ingham election returns. She is there on a visit and New York papers said little about the Michigan election and nothing at all about Ingham county.

At 11:30 Tuesday night a man telephoned the Ingham County News to get the latest word on the race for sheriff. Barnes was ahead and his lead appeared safe, the man was told. He didn't like it. He had bet $400, he said, on Hernly.

The Democrat who made the best showing ran as a Republican two years ago. Jack Hernly wanted to be sheriff. He came in a close third in the 1948 Republican primaries against Sheriff-Elect Barnes and Sheriff Allan A. MacDonald. This year the Democrats coaxed him to run on their ticket. They promised him heavy support and they delivered it, too. He cut the Barnes lead to 9,000.

Undersheriff Jack Lechler, beaten by Barnes in the primaries, was accused of working for Hernly in the election. The rumor has no foundation, Lechler declared. He said he knew nothing about Hernly's ad in the Williamston Enterprise until after the paper was printed. The ad promised a job to Lechler if Hernly became sheriff. He never asked for and would not have accepted a job under Hernly, Lechler said.

Carl A. Smith, John H. Russell and Bert M. Foote, all members of the board of supervisors, lost out in Lansing aldermanic contests Tuesday. Rina Dell and Edward Lucius, both supervisors, won by narrow margins. So did Marshall Graham, former leader on the county board.

Ingham canvassers began their task Wednesday morning, while some of the election boards were still counting.

It was 7:30 before Mason's first ward board finished its count. Stockbridge was first and Aurelius was second in the out-county count. Many boards waited until 9:30.

James B. McInnes of Bunker Hill, Mrs. Carmela Stanley of Lansing and Ardell Rosenbrook of Onondaga make up the board of county canvassers. They are all experienced hands. They first began their duties 10 years ago.

A few days before election C. Ross Hilliard, county clerk, gave printers an additional rush order on Lansing township ballots. Tuesday's vote proved he was right. All Lansing township precincts came within 100 ballots of the original order. In No. 8 422 voters exercised their rights. The original ballot order was for 400. Additional orders were placed for ballots in East Lansing, Meridian, Ingham, Leslie, Delhi and Stockbridge townships. They were not needed.

P. T. A. Schedules Visitation Night

Mason P. T. A. will hold a special visitation night during its regular meeting Monday evening. Members of the Mason faculty will be in their class rooms from 8 to 10 p. m. so that parents may visit their children's rooms and teachers.

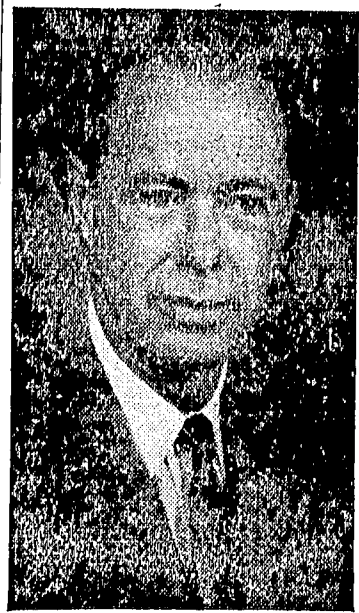

Pupils will have no night classes; teachers only will be in their rooms. Supt. James H. Vander Ven explained.

J. Edward Soper, shop instructor, is arranging a special exhibit of woodworking and some metal work done by his classes. Mrs. Robert Leonard, Mrs. Randolph Bowman, Mrs. Edward Campbell and Mrs. Dee L. Bray are hostesses for the meeting.

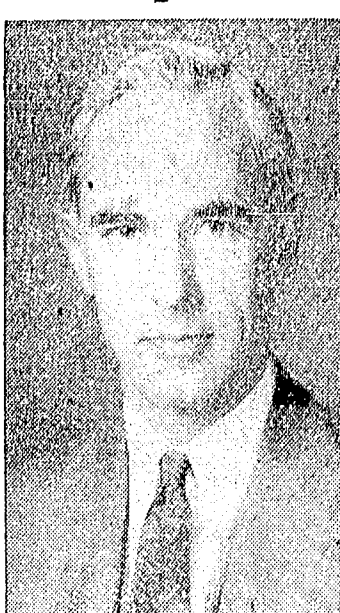

TIM STOLZ ON FURLOUGH

Pfc. Tim Stolz of the U. S. air force arrived Friday morning from Cheyenne, Wyoming, on an emergency furlough. He was called here by the death of his grandfather, John Stolz of Lansing. Stolz visited his mother, Mrs. Florence Stolz of Mason, and his father, Ed Stolz of Lansing. Tim and his brothers, Ronald, Denny and Stanley, attended the funeral services at Estes-Leadley funeral home in Lansing Saturday morning.

Republicans Gain Big Leads

Fred M. Alger, Jr.

John B. Martin, Jr.

William C. Vandenberg

Frank G. Millard

These five men were all elected to state office Tuesday.

Fred M. Alger, Jr., is completing his second term as secretary of state. He survived the Democratic victory two years ago. He was runner-up to Kelly in the Republican primaries for nomination as governor. Governor Kelly gave him a blessing when Alger sought re-nomination as secretary of state.

Alger is a neighbor of G. Mennen Williams in Grosse Pointe. He attended Milton Academy, Phillips Academy, Andover, and Harvard. After leaving Harvard he became assistant to the financial advisor of the Polish government. He is a World War II veteran.

Martin, elected auditor general, is a Grand Rapids man, a graduate of Dartmouth. He was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and was graduated from the law school of the University of Michigan in 1936. He served with the national office of Civilian Defense during the war and also did secret service work for the navy in Europe. After the war he served on the staff of the United States prosecutor of war criminals at Grand Rapids.

Vandenberg is a Holland businessman. He organized the Vandenberg Oil Co. in 1919 and disposed of it in 1946. He was elected to the state senate in 1944 and was re-elected in 1946 and 1948. He is not and does not claim to be a relative of U. S. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, although the sharing of the name probably attracted some votes Tuesday.

Millard is a Flint lawyer. He is a native of Corunna. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1914 and from the law school in 1916. He played varsity football. Millard served in both World Wars and is now a lieutenant-colonel in the Michigan National Guard.

Brake was graduated from Fremont high school in 1914, taught a country school for a year and then went to Albion college. He was graduated from Albion in 1916. A few years later he entered the University of Michigan law school, graduating in 1922. From 1927 through 1930 he was Montcalm county prosecutor.

Ingham County Farm Bureau

Office Hours Above Mill Street, Mason Tuesdays and Fridays 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Leon J. Fellows' Office Hours: Wednesdays and Saturdays 10 to 5 p. m. Mason 2-6291

Annual Meeting A delegation of Farm Bureau members from this county are attending the 31st annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau at Lansing this week, and numerous conferences which are a part of the Farm Bureau meeting, according to William Fanson, president of the County Farm Bureau.

Wednesday some 1200 women delegates attended the annual meeting of the women of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Wednesday the Farm Bureau conducted commodity conferences for farm co-operatives interested in the purchase of farm supplies, and the marketing of dairy, livestock, fruit, grain and other commodities. Out of these conferences come recommendations by the co-operatives for the Farm Bureau to work on in 1950.

Thursday and Friday the annual business meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau will draw upwards of a 1,000 delegates and visitors from 62 county Farm Bureaus. Officers will make their reports. The resolutions adopted by the convention shape the organization program for the coming year.

Delegates from this county were: William Fanson, James Grams, Harold Artz, Harold Wilson, Bruce Granger, Wayne Bullen, Mrs. Ross Sumption and L. J. Fellows.

The annual meeting of Farm Bureau women met Wednesday at the auditorium at Michigan State college to hear Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Iowa, president of the Associated Farm Women of the World and national president of Farm Bureau Women, discuss her views of farm women and their place in the shaping of the world's future.

Twelve hundred women from 65 counties in Michigan traveled to East Lansing for the day-long event. Mrs. Carl Topf, women's chairman of the Ingham County Farm Bureau, and chairman of the invitation, Mrs. Harry Whitaker of Lapeer county, told about her summer trip to Copenhagen, Denmark, for a meeting of the International Congress of Associated Country Women of the World. Mrs. Elmer Armstrong, director of the home department of the Indiana Farm Bureau spoke on "Farm Bureau and the Family Project."

In relating her observations of European economics, Mrs. Sayre pointed out that no one should underestimate the aims of the Kremlin. She added that the Marshall plan stopped the advance of communism in Greece and the air-lift accomplished the same purpose in Berlin. But, she went on, there is deep fear of war in Europe and nothing can actually stop the communists if they decide to march on Europe.

In expressing the views of farm women everywhere, Mrs. Sayre said that they would rather die on their feet than live kneeling. The responsibility of women in the United States is to become fully acquainted with the world situation, in fact, to become citizens of the world, in order to help bring European countries up to our level. In that way American women can better come to grips with their own problems as they understand the problems of other women throughout the world. "There is no boundary to our hearts," she concluded.

Resolutions passed by the delegates were: That there should be a mandatory study of United States history and civil government in all Michigan schools; an objection to sports broadcasts being sponsored by producers of alcoholic beverages and tobacco; work on a better class of movies for local houses on Fridays and Saturdays when most children attend; a continuation of the work on improvement of comic books and radio; urging Congress to amend the present food laws so manufacturers would be required to furnish food that chemicals used in food preparation are not harmful; and a recommendation

HUNTER SHOOTS HOLSTEIN Holstein heifer, grazing in the pasture on the Phil Stiles farm, met up with a hunter's bullet several weeks ago. Stiles, who lives four miles east of Leelanau, doesn't know who killed the cow.

Farms Assessed For Heavy Costs On Storm Sewer

Two farms on East Columbia will bear heavy taxes if the storm sewer is approved. Out of the total estimated cost of $5,120.50, Mrs. Nettie Lane and her son, Lawrence, will have to pay $1,024.00 and A. W. Cole will have to pay $284.70.

Arthur W. Rowett is assessed $701.25. The city at large will assume half the cost, $2,550.64. The balance will come from assessments ranging from $2.00 to $3.60 on city residential property in the area.

The hearing on East Columbia storm sewer benefits is scheduled for December 4. At a preliminary hearing Cole and the Lanes both protested any bill assessment against their farms for benefits.

Bids received at the letting of the sewer job October 18 were rejected as being too high and the city will do the work on force account. Property will be assessed at the estimated cost of $5,120.50.

Ray Soblain, Inc., of Lansing bid $5,592.40 and Hazel Bros. of Lake Odessa offered to do the job at $5,826.00.

City Engineer Walter E. Zimmerman recommended Monday night that the bids be rejected.

Mason Street Improved Alderman Frank Evans, chairman of the street committee, reported that $500 has been spent to improve North Mason street, or the place where the street will be when it is accepted by the city.

The city engineer presented a new diagram of the proposed street. He and Evans agreed that the city will have to acquire one parcel by purchase or condemnation. Residents of the Mason street area have demanded a street for the past 10 years.

Services Friday For C. J. Collins

Funeral services for Carlton J. Collins, 58, will be held at the Jewett funeral home Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Lloyd Caraway of the Mason Baptist church will officiate at the service. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Collins died at the Mason General hospital Wednesday, where he had been confined for the past six weeks with a bad heart condition. He had been sick for four months.

He was born in Washtenaw county on March 31, 1892. Mr. and Mrs. Collins resided on East Columbia road.

Surviving are the widow, Mabel; four sons, Argal of Montana, Wilford of Albion, Vernon and Clayton of Lansing; two daughters, Pearlne Robertson of Plymouth and Pauline Bates of Stockbridge; two sisters, Mrs. Winifred Redewa of Lansing and Mrs. Marion Hump of Eaton Rapids; and several grandchildren.

CUSTOMER HELPS SELF Someone took three wheels and tires from a car at the Christensen used car lot Monday night. The wheels were painted gray. The tires were 6.16.

Ag Advisory Council Organizes To Develop Extension Programs

The first meeting of the Ingham county extension agricultural advisory council was held Thursday, November 2, at the county agricultural agent's office in the court house.

Farmers present at the meeting were Otto Hartig and Harold Glynn, representing the dairy interest in Ingham county. Both of these individuals had been appointed to the committee by the dairy planning committee, which had met earlier in the month. Alfred Wardowski, representing the fruit growers; Paul J. Simpson, the soil conservation of the county; L. E. Barr, the beef breeders and feeders; and Clarence Patterson, the swine and sheep interests of the county, as well as the agricultural committee of the board of supervisors.

It was the purpose of the committee to confer with county agent Donald G. Curry regarding the development of extension programs as they relate to the agricultural interest of Ingham county. Several suggestions came out of the meeting regarding future programs of the extension service. These included the possible formation of a livestock improvement association to include both purebred and commercial growers of beef, sheep and swine; and the possible development of more interest in the production of better quality of certified seeds for growers of the area. Also suggested was the possibility of a livestock directory to assist those seeking purchased livestock in locating good sources.

One of the purposes of this meeting was to elect a representative to represent the Ingham county group at the district conference which was held at St. Mary's lake near B. L. the creek on Monday, L. E. Barr of Neway township was selected to represent the group at the meeting. At the meeting on Monday, Mr. Barr was also designated as chairman of the council meeting there.

It represents some eight counties located in south-central Michigan that meet as a conference extension group. It is the plan to formulate district conferences including representatives of 4-H club committees, home economics advisory committees and the newly-formed agricultural advisory council.

Plans here in the county call for the formation of an extension advisory council on the county basis, including members of the 4-H club council, home economics advisory committee and of the agricultural advisory council. These individuals will work with the home agent, 4-H club agent and county agricultural agent in an attempt to correlate and coordinate the respective programs operated by these three agents.

Kiwanians Pick 1951 Officers

Mason Kiwanians chose R. G. Henson as club president for 1951. He will succeed Howard McCowan. M. D. Collins was chosen vice-president and Walter E. Zimmerman, Ray Perkins, Howard Seibert, Dr. D. R. Lethbridge and Raymond H. McLean were elected directors.

The election was held Tuesday night. Since June the meetings had been held at the Mason golf course. Starting Tuesday night they will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall.

Next week's meeting has been set for Thursday night. Mason teachers will be guests of the club.

VISITOR MISSES SIGN

Fred L. Olds of Alpena failed to see the stop sign at the southeast corner of Park and Ash streets Monday morning and drove into the intersection. His car struck one driven on Ash by Grover C. Buckner of Lansing. Both cars were damaged but the occupants were not hurt. Olds was in Mason visiting his son, Frederick and family. He had taken his two grandchildren to school and was returning to the Olds home on East Ash when the accident happened. A parked car obstructed his view of the stop sign, he said.

WHEELER AT PORT RILEY

20 ACRES, nine miles from Mason, blacktop road, seven-room house, bath, furnace, large roof basement barn, silo, plenty of other farm buildings, heavy, level, well tiled soil, this good fence, 30 acres ready, 28 acres wheat, 30 acres corn, $20,000 with $8,000 down. Over night consider small house or cottage in trade. Bradshaw Realty, Webberville, phone 54. 45w2

FARMERS AND COUNTRY home owners: Have you enough fire and wind insurance to protect you? Remember, if a fire gets started in the country, the building usually goes to the ground, and you know that in the last 12 months lumber has gone up approximately 35% to 50%. Would you like your fire and wind policy combined into one policy, one company, one agent? There are no more benefits by being insured with the Farm Owners that we cannot put them in writing. Please call for rates and a comparison of our coverage with what you have now. Harold Jewett, 551 West Maple St., Mason, phone 5511. 45w1

WOMAN'S WORLD

Many Small, Fashionable Tricks Round Out Winter Wardrobe

By ETTA HALEY

MOST WOMEN AND school girls have their basic fall and winter wardrobe completed by this time, but many of them are still searching for those extra special, certain effects that will give their clothes distinction.

Cloves accessories mean so much to those who would be appropriate, by dressed, and some spend hours hunting for just the right belt or button to complete a certain costume.

In many cases, it's not money that's involved. It's just a matter of finding a certain item that will turn a dress or suit from something ordinary to something distinctive.

When you're seeking such items, it's wise to investigate what you already have for you may have something tucked away in the recesses of the closet that can be used or altered into something with a lot of service.

Before you buy, investigate what you have. It's often surprising what you can find, a nice piece of plaid that makes just the right belt, some old rhinestones that can be glued to buttons or that might be made into costume jewelry, so correct for the current fashion picture.

Bells, Cumberbunds Are Distinctive

Skirts and blouses of luxury materials are an important part of the fashion scene. If you're tall and slender you'll want to put them together in a single costume with a cumberbund effect at the waist.

Cumberbunds can be made from all sorts of old, luxurious pieces of material such as old dresses, scarves, or a wide ribbon trimming on an old hat.

Many of the pieces of fabric you find will need only a light cleaning and pressing to bring them into condition. Wash only those materials which are washable. If you're in doubt, snip off a piece for laundering before trying out the whole piece. After reconditioning, cut and finish the material to fit the waist, cumberbund fashion.

Plaid belts and cumberbunds are high fashion, too, for long shorts or slacks whether you're at home or on campus. Sources for the plaid might be a remnant tucked away in a scrap bag, an old woven dress, or even the lining of an old coat.

Cumberbunds or belts for tailored clothing should be neat and clean-cut. For wearing with tailored clothes, the plaid cumberbund is cut just long enough to go around the waist. It's flat, and high and rounded in front, and may be fastened with snaps in back or front. Sometimes a huge ornamental pin is attached to the front.

Search for Remnants To Use as Neckwear

Plain classic sweaters, tailored dresses as well as coat and jacket fashions all demand some sort of ornamental scarf at the neck. Most of these are small, tied in a knot at the front of the neck, and then ornamented with a single decorative pin.

Remnants are good sources for these scarves, whether you buy them at a bargain counter or find the material in the attic or scrap bag. Little or no sewing is required for these have simple hems.

The short jacket coats made of fur or pseudo-fur give an excellent background for scarves made from luxury materials such as taffeta, crepe, satin, faille or chiffon.

With dressy sweaters, a bit of chiffon to which is attached a flower of crushed velvet, is excellent. For the more rugged costumes, use plaid, striped or plain wool scarves.

Old Fabrics Yield Excellent Trimmings

Many not quite new dresses can be easily rejuvenated with just a touch or two of luxurious trimming to bring them right back into the fashion spotlight. For these you need more strips of satin or velvet, velvet or faille.

Take for example, a good basic dress that needs a bit of brightening. You might trim the small collar and cuffs with velvet or satin. This trimming is easy to apply and will take but a short time. If the dress is brown, try a black trimming if you want to be right up to the minute in the fashion-wise details. Other good choices include orange, rust, purple or a deep bright shade of red.

Do you have an old skirt that can be converted to a waist for the college or high school-age daughter? She can wear it with long shorts, slacks or a skirt. If she already has a waist, it can be made even smarter with an all-around piping of velvet or velveteen.

Since refter coats are back, you might try remodeling an old one with touches of velvet at the neckline, or putting on velvet buttons. These are simple changes, but very effective ones.

Old dresses and formal frequent yield excellent buttons. If you have some with rhinestones, remove them and use them marching down the front of a classic button-front dress for a very smart look. The same kind of buttons can also be used on sheer wool or velvet suits.

Last year's suit with a plunging neckline can be trimmed with velvet or velveteen or rhinestone buttons substituted for old ones. Add a bunch of soft velvet flowers from an old formal, possibly, and you'll have a costume such as is being widely shown.

Skirts, Weskites Make Wardrobe Extenders

Skirts, blouses and weskites to go with them make exceptionally nice wardrobe extenders since the three together may be worn to make a good casual costume.

Then, too, the skirts may be worn with sweaters and jackets. While blouses will go with the other skirts, and weskites may be worn with other skirts, as well as slacks and shorts.

Tubular jersey is a popular material that may be purchased by the yard for making skirts.

Corduroy and velveteen may be used for the weskites, and if you like plaids or woolsens for these, you can easily get together enough material for them from old dresses or coat linings.

Weskites are made in two popular styles, the small, tight type with a V neckline, and the other, a tuxedo front, that shows small, tucked blouses off so well.

If you have any long-sleeved old white blouses in your wardrobe, these can easily be brought into use again. Dye them, in the rich fall shades, if you want to spice the costume with color, or bleach them to snowy whiteness if you prefer.

Robes, Gowns, Pajamas Should Yield Warmth

You can cut the corners on your clothing budget by sewing pajamas, robes and gowns at home, especially when you use easily managed cotton flannel. Both cutting and sewing are easy, and the flannel is still being used extensively, but a new favorite style currently is the one-piece which is gathered at the wrists and ankles. It has an oversized Peter Pan collar and front opening, with the waist nipped with a narrow self belt.

Plaid and flannel nightshirts that are made like large men's shirts, with long sleeves and large upper pockets are also being favored.

For robes, there are two good choices. The first is a short, full study coat frequently styled in a large bold plaid, much after the style of short, back-fitted coats that were being worn with dresses and suits some time ago.

The second is the regular full or short length robe, either in plaid or the very popular solid colored flannel wool. It may be trimmed with plaid or a contrasting solid color.

Practical Pumps

Pumps that go anywhere and keep your feet comfortable are these black calf sling shoes with a fairly low heel and a fancy cumberbund at the instep. Open toes assure comfortable room at the tip of the shoe.

Harry Webster Dies

Harry Webster, 78, of Jackson died at the Potts Memorial hospital, Jackson, on Monday, November 5. Mr. Webster was born in Bath, but had lived most of his life farming in Onondaga township. He is survived by two sisters Mrs. Lois Steele of Leslie and Mrs. Grace Stevens of Mason; also one brother, Charles of Onondaga; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 2 p. m. at Edwards funeral home, with burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

Union Services Held

The Baptist church united with the Childs Corner church for the Sunday evening service, November 5. Rev. Maurice Harlow directed the service and Leslie Vince led.

Weather

Temperatures for the past week averaged 39 degrees. For the same period last year the average was one degree higher, 40.

There has been a mixture of rain and snow this week, with one and a quarter inches of rainfall, and a little over an inch of snow. It began raining early last Saturday morning and there were snow flurries mixed with rain most of the day. Weatherman reported Thursday that the temperatures will fall and there will be more snow during the night and on Friday.

Book Talk

from
Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason-Dubay, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; Saturday, 10-12 a. m.; during school year, Tuesday, Friday noon.

ACROSS THE RIVER AND INTO THE WOODS is the last of the Ernest Hemingway books. With little of the gusto and daring-do used in his former stories, it falls short of plot strong enough to carry it along. The same theme has to do with the last days of a regular army man who knows he is to die soon. Although in his fifties, he has fallen in love, as nearly as a person of his conceit ever could, with a girl in her early twenties, an Italian countess, and as the author would have it, she is also in love with him. It is said that Hemingway probably chose this theme because of his own near death in an accident not long ago. It is a depressing story, and certainly adds little to the prestige of the author.

DR. KATHERINE BELL is the story of a woman doctor who tries to combine successfully a career in her chosen field, and family responsibilities. It is not heavy reading, but will prove satisfactory to many women and older teenagers.

KNEE PANTS is another of those stories of boyhood and young manhood which have been proving so popular since LIFE WITH FATHER. Father in this case was an outstanding veterinarian in New York at the time when automobiles were just beginning to be used. He is accused by some of deserting his best friends, when he buys a car for better reach. His patients, Emile has the fun expected of a boy in that interesting period. Imagine the consternation of the piano salesman and his would-be client when Emile's improved player-rolls are demonstrated. Emile had turned them around on the roll and added a few holes, so that there are entrancing toots and whistles in the Poet and the Peasant.

DAFFODIL BLONDE is the newest Frances Crane mystery. Told in the bluegrass country at the time of the Derby, the story deals with the mystery surrounding the death of a respected trainer, as well as a playboy recently returned from Europe. Clashes of family background, newly rich, and the one spot findings of the detectives on vacation make good reading.

The large reduction in the 1950 Michigan bean crop can be traced to bacterial blight. Dr. Axel L. Anderson, Michigan State college plant pathologist, says that blight was indirectly responsible for the loss due to weathering this year.

Groups Planning Open House for Branch Library

The Williamston branch of Ingham county library is holding open house at its new location in the city hall during Book Week, Tuesday, November 14.

Each grade room at the school will visit the library during the morning to hear a story by Miss Dorothy Rozek, children's librarian, and to learn where materials for their grade may be found. The afternoon will be open for junior and senior high groups.

During the evening from 7:00 to 9:00 people of the neighboring townships and schools, as well as the adults of the community, are invited to see book displays, the ceiling projector, viewmaster films, slushpots and other library material.

Besides Mrs. Glen Bentley, local librarian, and Miss Alta Parks, county librarian, members of the Library Guild, Junior and Senior Child Study clubs, Parent-Teachers association and the Woman's club will act as hostesses and serve refreshments.

SPEECH STUMPS SMALL FRY—When Sen. Scott Lucas, campaigning for reelection on the democratic ticket, spoke at Watseka, Ill., one listener in the front row audience apparently had trouble following the theme of the senator's speech. And so the corduroy-clad youngster sauntered down the aisle to stand at the rail where he could pay closer attention.

CAR ROLLS INTO DITCH

Mrs. Marian Dodes of Jackson took her eyes off the road to chide a youngster and she left the road, too. The accident happened on South Jefferson last Thursday afternoon. The car knocked down guard rail posts and shot down the steep embankment onto the creek flats. No one was seriously hurt.

Churches Unite For CROP Drive

Catholic and Protestant churches are again working together in the annual CROP campaign. CROP stands for Christian and Overseas Relief. Wheat, milk and other farm commodities are shipped to the needy in Europe and Asia.

Rev. Paul Mergener of the Robinson and Govenburg churches and Earl Salisbury of Williamston are co-chairmen of the Ingham CROP committee. Other members are Rev. Fr. Hugh Condon of St. Mary's church, Williamston, and Harold Artz, Stockbridge, representing Catholic Rural Life; Rev. Wilson Tennant and George Kahnes of Holt, representing Church World Service; and Rev. Glenn Sachs, Lansing, and James J. East, Lansing, representing Lutheran World Relief.

Grant Salisbury of WKAR and Rev. Lloyd C. Caraway, Mason, are publicity directors for the campaign.

Ingham farmers will be asked to provide a carload of wheat as their commodity. Farmers who have no wheat to give may give other produce which will be sold and the money invested in wheat. Cash donations will also be accepted.

Aldermen Settle With Themselves

Mason aldermen paid themselves $50 each for their year's work Monday night and also showed the same generosity toward Mayor C. H. Hall. The charter provides for salaries of $50 per year to the mayor and aldermen.

Mrs. Doris Austin, city treasurer, was paid $495. For 10 months of service as city assessor Dean Baylor drew $375. John Carroll, who served as assessor two months of the present year before resigning, was paid $75.

Charter commissioners will work for free, the council decided Monday night. The city will pay for clerical and stenographic services when and if needed.

Aldermen John Taylor and Gerald Parsons bade their farewells to their colleagues. Both men said they had enjoyed serving the city and working with other aldermen and the mayor.

Alderman Parsons urged the council to take action on the well and on a building code.

VA Warns Vets To Give Notice Of Active Duty

Veterans recalled to active military duty while they are receiving benefit payments from Veterans Administration can save themselves and the government a lot of trouble by notifying the V-A immediately of their recall, according to VA officials.

These benefit payments include GI Bill or Public Law 16 subsistence allowances and compensation for service-connected disabilities.

The law does not permit a veteran to receive such V-A payments once he goes back into uniform, nor to V-A officials.

VA added that if a veteran receives such a payment, covering any period after he has entered active duty, he should return it to the V-A office which has his record.

Otherwise, it will remain as an overpayment against him until disposed of.

The notification to V-A of recall to active duty should include the veteran's "C" (claims) number, his complete name and address, the amount of the V-A payment, what it's for, and the date he is to go back into service.

Michigan veterans should send their notices to the V-A Regional Office, 310 East Jefferson, Detroit 32, Michigan.

AYRES LECTURER

The annual William F. Ayres Foundation lecture on "The Evolution of the Soul" will be given in Plymouth Congregational church, Lansing, Wednesday evening, November 15, at 7:30. The lecture will be given by Dr. Ernest M. Ligon, nationally-known psychologist of Union college, Schenectady, New York. No admission is charged.

BROTHER AND SISTER MOVE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fillingham and their three children left Sunday morning for Laramie, Wyoming, where they expect to make their home. They had been residing on Kipp road, Fillingham's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lance, and two children left the same day for their new home in Grand Rapids. Lance is attending a watch repair school there. Mr. Fillingham and Mrs. Lance are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fillingham.

Transport Driver Damages Cargo

Lawrence F. Leach of Perry damaged his cargo of new Chevrolet cars on the narrow bridge on Okemos road last Thursday night.

Leach was headed toward Jackson with new cars on his trailer. As he was approaching the bridge from the north he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car, he told officers. Suddenly he saw the railing of the bridge looming right in front. He swung his trailer into the opening but his trailer hit the bridge. One new car toppled off and three others were marred and dented.

Complete Auto Transit Co. of Flint owned the tractor and trailer.

AGENTS IN CONTEST

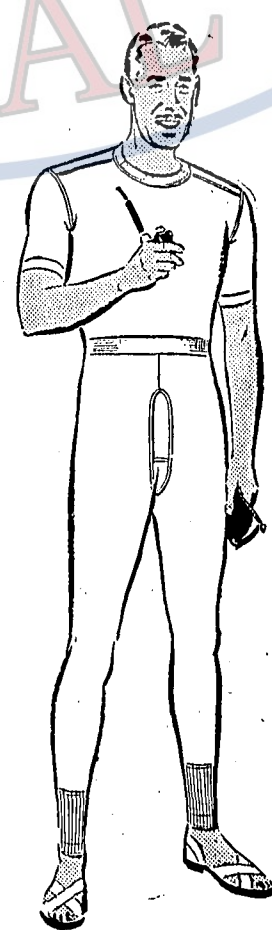

Harry Freeman of Mason, Clarence Reynolds of Webberville and Paul Gibbs of Williamston, all Standard Oil agents, are in a motor oil sales contest which continues through November. Winners will be taken from Detroit to Whiting, Indiana, by chartered plane to inspect the Standard Oil refinery and new research laboratories there.

The treasurer of the United States is appointed by the President and the appointment is confirmed by the Senate.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we witness the wonderful, wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to the unquestioned best. A Cadillac buyer has his mind made up when he starts to move.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he's anticipating a bit too much?

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round. There are some things a man wants to try for himself—with no one near to watch him!

Those are thrilling days that follow.

There's the first long ride with the family

... the first trip to the office, with a waiting delegation to admire his choice... and there's the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up for a checking over. It's hard to part from a great new love, even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.

Refresh Old Curtains, Drapes With Inexpensive Trimmings

By Eritta Haley

Cleaning, painting and wallpapering are at this time of the year some of the most popular home improvements. They yield only a small measure of satisfaction since they merely serve to point up how dingy curtains and drapes look.

You've suddenly discovered this state of affairs and simply can't afford new curtains or drapes. What's to be done?

New and inexpensive trimmings have saved many curtains and draperies from being a complete disgrace. A simple tinting or dyeing job done quickly in the washing machine is another answer to this rather perplexing problem.

Neither of these involves much expense or time and both offer great satisfaction because they make old things look almost new.

If you merely want a change, then add a touch of inexpensive trimming temporarily which you'll plan to remove when fall comes around. Effects rather than intricate stitches are what we strive for in both curtains and draperies, and this means little work for you.

Look over problem window apparel carefully and decide from these tips just what would be the best solution. It may be that shrunken curtains or drapes may be more easily used with smaller windows in another room than trying to make them fit the original room. If so, you may be able to afford new draperies for this particular room. On the other hand, some fringe or other trimming might be used for edging the drapes, thus giving them a whole new aspect, very possibly more effective than they were originally.

If the color of curtains needs refreshing, plan to use the washing machine to do the work quickly and without streaking. An agitator will spread the color evenly.

Use These Tricks

To Lengthen Curtains

Ruffled curtains which have become rain-stained or worn out by the youngsters pulling at the lower corners are among the easiest of curtain problems to remedy. Simply remove the old ruffles and add two or three rows of ruffling straight across the bottom.

If curtains have shrunk, ruffles all around the curtain answer the problem perfectly. Make the new ruffle wide enough so that the resulting curtain will look truly luxurious.

Ruffles and fringe, loops and such added to curtains do not have to be of the same material as the original curtain. In fact, contrasting fabric, color or design might be even more effective.

One point you should observe, however, if your curtains are very old and look obviously that way, and fringe for lengthening curtains.

do what you can to restore the original new look with proper laundering, starching and ironing to add body. If you are adding very new and crisp material, it's best to wash this a few times before using so the contrast between old and new is not too pronounced.

What about marquisette curtains which have small tears and pulls in them? They should be completely discarded or is there any possible way of using them?

Yes, and here's what you can do: if the curtains are white or ecru, select colored mending tape which goes well in the room in which curtains are used. Cut flowers or leaves out of the mending tape and apply scatter fashion to the curtains simply by pressing with a hot iron. These give a novel decorative touch to the room as well as added life to the curtains.

Faded Draperies Respond To Treatments Like These

Badly faded draperies often result after long time usage because they are exposed to sun as well as windows which leak. Don't feel too low about this situation because it, too, can be helped.

If the draperies are light and you want to cover all the faded spots the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Caltrider, and family.

completely, plan to use a fairly dark dye. If you don't want too dark a color on the draperies, then remove the original color with remover. Check a sample of the material to see whether the drapes will take both color remover and dye since many of these require hot water.

Interesting results are often achieved by dyeing printed draperies because the print remains and background color is made darker. You can outline the print with light colored yarns, thus giving interesting texture and new color to the drapes.

If the drapes have been lined, remove the lining and see what the reverse side looks like. Frequently this may have been saved from fading and often this has an interesting texture of its own. In this case, simply reverse the drapes, lining the side that has already been used. If it's necessary you can arrange some fringe, deep "v" arrangements of this can be very effective in living and dining rooms.

When it's essential to dye a drapery a darker color that is less effective in the room, you might consider adding a border that will lighten them sufficiently to be attractive.

Add Length, Width

By These Methods

There are several ways to remedy skimpy draperies whether they have shrunk through cleaning or laundering, or were just too small in the beginning. The easiest way is to add a clever border along the inside edges of the drapes, and possibly along the bottom, too.

When drapes are plain, choose a geometric print in the necessary width, making certain the fabric and texture match or harmonize properly with the drapery fabric.

Five or six inch inserts as borders can be extremely effective with plain drapery fabric. They may be purchased frequently in this width; otherwise, you may buy them wider and cut to fit.

If desired, another effective way to acquire a border is to buy material which goes well with the drapes, then stamp and stitch it with yarn to carry out an effective idea for a border.

If you have taffeta or glazed chintz drapes which need refreshing, you might consider adding a quilted border to them. With a printed design on the drapes, select one of the predominant colors and get quilting to match in the same material as the drapery. If ready quilted material is not available, it is easily made with material and cotton batting. Use the sewing machine attachment for the quilting to make quick work of the whole thing.

Here Are Good Ways For Kitchen Curtains

One of the best ways of introducing color into the kitchen is by means of colored curtains. They can add an infinite amount of cheer to this room which is so frequently all-white.

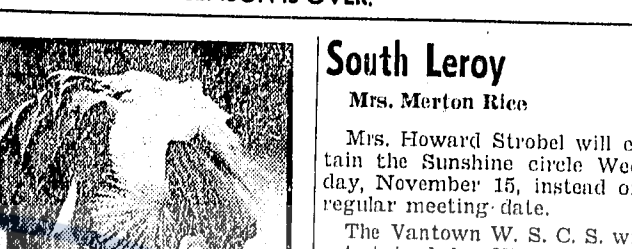

With white or pastel curtains, use narrow borders or peasant print trimming which can be purchased at a notions counter for just a few cents. Or, rick-rack or several rows of colored bias might be used with much the same effect.

For those who like to keep the kitchen cool and uncluttered with curtains, an excellent idea uses wide ruffling to frame the windows. The ruffling may be purchased ready made or sewed at home from remnants. Run it around the window with rods or insert elastic. These ruffles make a beautiful frame for the window and don't shield a pretty view from the kitchen.

Medical Society Is Sponsoring Diabetes Detection Campaign

In an effort to find the estimated 1,600 unknown diabetes living in Ingham county and get them under medical care, the Ingham County Medical Society is sponsoring diabetes detection week, November 12 through 18. Arrangements have been made with drug stores all over the county to act as collection centers. From collection centers urine samples will be taken to local laboratories for urinalysis. This service is being made available without charge to individuals participating. The medical society urges everyone in the county, young and old alike, to cooperate in the drive to control diabetes by taking laboratory samples for urinalysis to the nearest drug store sometime between November 12 and 18. Clip the form boxed at the end of this article to use in labeling your sample. Samples may be collected in any clean 3-oz. or 5-oz. screw-capped bottle, preferably an hour or two after a meal.

Diabetes occurs in people of all ages, but is most common after middle age. It is not uncommon in children, however, especially among those in their early teens.

The disease can be controlled so that the diabetic individual can live a virtually normal life, but untreated diabetes may cause death.

Couple Wed in Jackson Church

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT D. ANKNEY

Helen Francesa Elleff and Robert D. Ankney were married Sunday, October 22, at the First Baptist church in Jackson. Helen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elleff of Jackson. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ankney, Sr., of Mason.

Dr. L. L. Popst, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Marilyn Palmer of Jackson sang "Because," and "Always," preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white lace over ice-blue satin for her wedding. The tight bodice extended into a long train and the off-the-shoulder neckline was edged with a double row of seed pearls. A tulle of seed pearls held in place her bluish veil of illusion net. White mums and carnations tied with ice-blue ribbon made up the bridal bouquet.

Dorothy Elleff was her sister's maid of honor. Her dress was jeweled blue satin styled with a tuxedo-type jacket over a strapless gown of nylon net. She carried white roses fashioned after the bride's bouquet.

Miss Elaine Barnum and Miss Mary Elleff, both of Jackson, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns like the maid of honor's and carried arrangements of carnations. All three attendants wore braided satin tiaras to match their dresses.

Mrs. Lou Elleff and Sylvia Roadgrief were junior bridesmaids. Their dresses were sky blue with ruffled necklines and they carried bouquets like the bridesmaids'.

Glenn L. Ankney, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Harley B. Ankney, Jr., of Holt and Kenneth Cary, Jr., of Lansing shared the guests to the seats.

Mrs. Elleff wore a black dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Ankney's dress was green trimmed with green satin. She used brown accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white full mums.

Following the ceremony the 350 guests attended a reception at the Navy club in Jackson. Tied wedding cake, sandwiches and cold drinks were the refreshments.

Mrs. Harry Willett and Maxine visited their aunt, Miss Anna Drennan, at Redford Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Millard and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Seibert attended the Michigan State-Indiana game at East Lansing Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Bisel of Aurelius and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lock of Mason were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fry Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Graham attended the Michigan-Indiana football game at Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon and then went to Lumbard where they visited friends over the week end. The Graham children visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Graham.

Miss Laura E. Lamb of South Haven attended the Michigan State-Indiana game Saturday afternoon and then came to Mason to remain with her grandparents.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. K. Lamb, until Sunday, Corp. David E. Lamb of the air force is now stationed at Wiesbaden, Germany. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smale were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Straight and Robert in Leslie Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Nichols is spending the week in New York City. She accompanied her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Nichols, buyer for the boys' clothing department for Knapp's, Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Collier entertained Mrs. Gladys Hyde and Mrs. Navette Campbell of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Acker of Lansing Sunday. Mrs. Hyde is a sister of Mrs. Collier and Mr. Acker is her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parisian and family were guests of the Norman Parisian family Sunday. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Norman Parisian.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Parker were guests of their nephew, Charles Prince and Mrs. Prince at dinner Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snyder and Jackie of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Snyder of Mason visited Mr. and Mrs. Dean Crandall and family in Jackson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Edgington entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cook of Cement City Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fink and Jack were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fink and family in Stockbridge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Parks of New Haven, Ind., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ankney of Jackson spent the past week with the Albert Fought family. Guests of the Foughts at dinner Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jackson and Stevie of Jackson. In the afternoon all went to Jackson to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elleff.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pearsall were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Darrow in Leslie Sunday.

ANNIVERSARIES MARKED

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Snyder of Potterville were hosts Sunday evening at a family potluck supper, the occasion being the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Fannie Lamphere of Mason and Fred Lamphere of Eaton Rapids. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Lamphere, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Lamphere, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bullen, Verle Lamphere, Mr. and Mrs. Celand Lamphere and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Lamphere of Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner of Erie, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Lamphere of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mix of Potterville and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lamphere of Eaton Rapids.

Variety and Care Are Necessary in Packing Lunches

Giving special attention to packing noon lunches for school or work may not make us wealthy and wise, but it's one of the best ways to keep the family healthy, says Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist.

Miss Bodwell believes packing the noon lunch is just as important as cooking any meal. We can't make up for slighted lunches at breakfast or dinner.

An ideal lunch is packed in a good lunch box, not a paper bag or shoe box. It provides for the average person, at least one-third of the day's food needs. It has variety and eye and taste appeal.

To accomplish this, the homemaker must plan lunch box menus ahead, allow enough time for preparing the lunch, and try to keep the daily packing operation from becoming a chore.

What does it take to make up an enjoyable and nutritious lunch? Here's a "lunch guide" suggested by Miss Bodwell:

1. One or more sandwiches, filled with meats, eggs, cheese, peanut butter, vegetables or preserves.
2. At least one raw vegetable or fruit.

Vegetable Cheese Treat

3. A beverage, preferably milk, cocoa, buttermilk or fruit juice.
4. A hot dish, such as buttered vegetables, soup, stew, escalloped or creamed dishes.
5. One sweet such as cake, custard, pudding, canned fruit or any other dessert.

Variety in the hot dish, of course, will depend on whether the school, factory or office provides a place for warming foods. Foods not adapted to packing in thermos bottles can be carried in small jars which could be warmed easily in a pan of hot water.

In following this lunch guide, careful attention should be given to the needs of the person. These needs depend on age, type of work, and other individual conditions.

Physical labor requires a good share of protein foods which "stick to the ribs." Office workers need a lighter lunch, more fruits and vegetables. School children especially need minerals and vitamins in addition to adequate protein, plenty of fruits, vegetables, milk, eggs and green foods.

Remember, too, that an adequate lunch needs more than nutritious foods. It should be attractive and tempting. Keep the lunch box clean and try to wrap each food separately. Vegetables should be crisp, fruits firm and ripe, and sandwiches moist but not soggy. Include a touch of gay color and an occasional surprise and your "customers" will have few complaints.

Bright idea for a fall main dish is corned beef and cauliflower in mellow cheese sauce served piping hot in individual casseroles. These three "Cs"—cauliflower, corned beef and cheese sauce—are a texture and flavor trio superb, and make imaginative use of one of fall's most dramatic vegetables with delicious, nutritious cheese.

Make this hearty main dish now while cheese is so abundant and so reasonable.

Cauliflower Scallop

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 cauliflower | 1 1/2 cups milk |
| 1 cup coarsely chopped cooked corned beef | Salt, pepper |
| 3 tablespoons butter or margarine | 1/2 pound mild flavored pasteurized process cheese, shredded |
| 3 tablespoons flour | Buttered crumbs |

Break the cauliflower into flowerets and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain well, and arrange in 3 or 4 individual casseroles. Sprinkle the cauliflower with the chopped corned beef. Make a cream sauce with the butter or margarine, flour, milk and seasonings. When thick and smooth, add the shredded cheese, and stir until it is melted. Pour this cheese sauce over the cauliflower and corned beef in the casseroles, bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., sprinkle with the crumbs and the remaining cheese and bake 10 more minutes.

Economist Advises Dyeing Old Rugs For Longer Wear

Increasing prices of rugs and carpeting are causing many homemakers to take a second look at their old rugs and question whether they might be brightened and used a little longer.

You can revive an old rug and add several years of wear to it by giving it a dye bath, advises Dorothy Washburn, Michigan State college home economist. She believes the results are well worth the effort, that the cost is very little, and that it is not a difficult project.

It takes about six packages of the kind of dye that is boiled to dye a 9x12 rug. It is possible to combine colors of dyes to obtain a desired color as you would combine paint colors or oil paints. Follow the directions on the package of dye for preparing it, but don't dilute it. Keep it full strength.

Put some of the dye in a pan, leaving the rest on the stove so that it can stay hot. Then take a scrub brush about 10 inches long and dip it into the dye bath. Scrub it into the nap of the rug, beginning at one end and continuing to the other end. It is preferable to dye it twice.

Let the rug dry thoroughly and then raise the rug with a carpet sweeper or a vacuum cleaner.

In a figured rug it is generally the background color that shows the wear. You can revive the background color by making a dye bath to match it and using a small brush. An old tooth brush will get into the smaller places successfully.

Holiday Party Appetizers

As promised last week, here are more appetizers to try out on the family so they will come easy when getting ready for holiday parties. These will be made with sardines.

- Appetizers
- Cut bread into triangles, rounds, or fingers, and saute' on one side.
 - Mix following ingredients in order given and spread well:
 - 1/2 cup mashed sardines
 - 1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - Few drops Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/4 teaspoon onion juice
 - 2 tablespoons minced stuffed olives

Spread on sauted bread and decorate with slices of stuffed olives.

Sardine Spirals

Mash two cans of sardines which have been drained free of oil. Mix with 4 teaspoons lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish. Spread this mixture on thin slices of fresh bread from which the crusts have been removed. Roll up and secure with a toothpick. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Toast and serve hot.

Tea Parties Are Age-Old Tradition

Tea has been called the romantic brew of the ages and in all lands the serving of tea is a ritual which invokes warmth and pleasure. The little details will make your party memorable.

When your guest has removed her wraps, she should be introduced to the tea service table. The hostess at the tea table will provide, greeting the guests as they are brought to the table and pouring the tea. The service, whether a formal silver set or pewter should gleam. For November teas, the colors of the fall harvest, burnt oranges, rampart scarlets, and maize yellows, will make attractive decorations. And for a different note, a bowl of amber spiced tea punch, as well as the regular tea service, will create a conversation piece. Another hostess can serve hot coffee at the other end of the table.

A beautiful cloth is a must for a formal tea, but for any tea party or service, some kind of cloth and dainty napkins are really considered necessary. Low bowls of tea roses and tall ivory candles at each end of the table will be beautiful, or bowls of bittersweet. Lemon wedges, sugar and cream should be arranged a little to one side of the tea service so that guests may help themselves at the suggestion of the hostess. Food should be confined to small sandwiches, petit fours and canapés that are not difficult to handle. And an adequate source of boiling hot water must be set up so that guests can help themselves.

- Spiced Tea Punch
- 4 level tablespoons black tea
 - 2 level tablespoons whole cloves
 - 1 teaspoon allspice
 - 1 cup strained orange juice

1/2 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup simple sugar syrup
8 cups freshly boiled hot water
Pour 5 cups of boiling water over the tea and cloves and allspice; let steep for five minutes; strain; add orange juice and cranberry juice and syrup, and remaining 3 cups of hot water. Stir until syrup is thoroughly dissolved.

To make tea for a party, pour three quarts of vigorously boiling water over one half pound of tea. Let steep for ten minutes. Then strain into a storage crock or stainless steel container. The resulting concentrate can be used for making either hot or iced tea. For hot tea, pour one part of the concentrate into a serving pot and add seven parts of very hot water. The water need not be boiling, but it must be hot enough, allowing for inevitable cooling, to give a piping hot serving.

When the service of a party is well arranged, the hospitality of your house will be unforgettable. Good service leaves room for conversation and intimacy. In the final analysis that is what makes for success and gives the ceremony of the tea the glamour it has held for hundreds of years.

Ever notice how many people start giving youngsters good advice as soon as they get too old to set a bad example themselves?

Farmer Peck's Wife

On record players as gifts.

Good weather makes winter seem far off.

Big families make own entertainment.

Lights go out at 10.

Hay rides are fun.

Round and round and round go Mary and her little lamb, Little Bo-Peep, the Farmer in the Dell, the 24 Blackbirds, Old MacDonald and all his farmyard and a few others. Sally was six yesterday and we bought her a record player and some little nursery rhyme records for her birthday. I do declare she has played Old MacDonald a hundred times and I question the wisdom of getting it for her. The idea was to instill a little sense of tune in the songs they sing but I dunno, I guess we're growing up around here and to think that I was the one who fostered this act, but of course the novelty will wear off soon. Won't it?? Don't tell me I've brought this thing down upon our heads prematurely!

It's one of the things I can't look at Pete with raised eyebrows over because I just know he'll say "You asked for it," and grin and go to his work where BEI BEI O can't be heard or felt. You know only last week Old Mac was such a popular fellow around here and now I'm beginning to wonder if I like him at all. Three more times around and I know I won't.

Such grand weather we have been having. Yesterday, November 1, it was so warm we had all the windows open and almost roasted. Dad had a forsythia bush in bloom, the yellow blossoms making it seem more than ever like spring. It makes a person unprepared for winter to have good days like this. We will all be caught with our storm windows down and many bulbs and root crops in the ground come some wintry morning. May be snow. And I will be one of those caught. Most of the dahlias are still in the ground and so are the canna's. I'm going to finish the glads as soon as this gets in the mailbox.

I almost forgot how pretty they are during the summer when I come to the digging, labeling and lugging hither and yon. But after a winter of frozen earth and gray tones in the landscape around I will be bounding with enthusiasm to start all over again next spring. I don't know what I'd do if my back were of the weak type because a gardener has to have something besides will and determination and good intentions.

Sunday Pete's folks celebrated his dad's 70th birthday anniversary with their annual chicken dinner. There are 36 of us and quite a houseful. Twenty of them are children although Doris will not appreciate that statement as she is out of high school and a big girl now. We draw names on this date for Christmas gifts and then at Christmas there'll be another big family dinner. There is always so much going on in a big family that you don't have to go outside the family to look for excitement and fun.

Tuesday morning two sisters-in-law and I went out to St. John's to help on the chest X-ray. While there both Mildred and Helen had their high school sons come in with the Elsie high school group to have an X-ray. There were 180 Elsie students and what a long line. Some of the kids were pretty scared and didn't know what to expect but they found it a simple matter... nothing to it and took

Indoor Garden Needs Fertile Soil

INDOOR GARDEN... no

Green growing plants add much to the beauty and enjoyment of the home. Success or failure in growing indoor plants is often determined by the growing medium; that is, the soil and its condition. The soil must be in a good physical condition and have the capacity to hold moisture and yet provide good drainage. This kind of soil can be made by mixing three parts of loam soil, one part of decomposed organic matter, such as peat moss, composted material or leaf mold, and one part of sand. Into this mixture add one tablespoonful of complete plant food for each gallon of soil. Gravel should be placed in the bottom of a two inch of the window box or pot before the soil is added. This is a very important requirement and should not be omitted, since the lack of proper drainage is one of the most common reasons for failure with indoor plants.

While providing for proper light conditions and the best physical condition of the soil medium, regular care in the matter of watering, cleansing and insect control are also important for success of indoor gardening. Equally important is the provision of an ample supply of plant food nutrients. A friable soil can be unfruitful. In the case of house plants, where the ratio of soil volume to the plant volume is very low, frequent feeding is essential. Allow one level tablespoonful of complete plant food for each square foot of soil area and feed every four to six weeks. The plant food should be worked into the soil near the edge of the box or pot and watered in thoroughly.

and Jim Peters tied marshmallows on strings and everyone was to eat the string without using hands to get it into his mouth. I started home rather early and probably many mothers had straw to sweep up the next morning.

I shampooed my hair and set it after I got home. I didn't want to go with a wet and plastered head and it didn't look much like going away the next day.

Today I'm going with Katherine Mead to the leaders home extension lesson in St. John's. Wonder what Pete would say if he knew it was on furniture arrangement. He would think I didn't need any more lessons after that one I did on our bedroom last week. After changing the bed around I almost fell out of bed and got so confused because I didn't know where I was.

Couple Speak Vows At Sunday Rites

A pretty full wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Groh Sunday afternoon, November 5, at 1:45 o'clock when their daughter, Evelyn, was united in marriage to Frank Bernard Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jensen of Williamston.

Rev. K. Wagsdoff of the Fowlerville Lutheran church performed the double-ring ceremony before an improvised altar of palms and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Ray Lane accompanied the wedding march and also accompanied Betty Lou Keener, who sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony. The couple was attended by Harry and Joan Doss of Gregory.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of brown crepe, with a corsage of red roses. Joan wore a street-length dress of green crepe with a corsage of yellow roses. The bride's mother was dressed in blue and the bridegroom's mother wore navy blue. Their corsages were tallman roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 150 relatives and friends was held at the community hall at Wedderburn from 3 to 6 p. m.

A five-tiered wedding cake, trimmed with yellow roses, white wedding bells, and a miniature bride and groom that adorned the cake at the golden wedding of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Groh of Danville in 1935, was served by Mrs. Bernice Palmer, Mrs. Evelyn Glasgow, and Mrs. Inez Phelps and J. J. Jones acted as hostesses at the hall. Mrs. Virginia Groh and Miss Alice Jensen presided at the guest book and Mrs. Ada Lewis had charge of the luncheon. The young couple received many beautiful gifts.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will be at home to their many friends at their new home on Williamson road.

St. Mary's Church Scene of Wedding

St. Mary's Catholic church was the scene Saturday morning of the marriage of Vera L. Carley and Howard J. Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Berry of Stockbridge.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carley of Munith, was given in marriage by her great-uncle, Arthur McCreary.

Her gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a tight bodice, flared sleeves pointed at the wrists, a sweetheart neckline and a cathedral train.

Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom. A bonnet of shirred illusion trimmed with seed pearls extended into a fingered veil. She carried an arm arrangement of white poinsettias and chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Marguerite Richardson, was attired in a blue tulle gown with a wide bertha, hoop skirt and matching mitts.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Dorothy Apple, Mrs. Helen Crabb, Miss Mary Grievess and Miss Helen Egan, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. Their bouquets were of chrysanthemums, huckleberry leaves and croton leaves.

Paul Collings was best man. Guests were seated by Jack Berry.

of Detroit, a cousin of the bridegroom; Earle Richardson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Clifford Carley, brother of the bride, and Marvin Stevens of Stockbridge.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Carley wore a heavy pink dress with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Berry chose a toast dress with brown accessories and her flowers were red roses.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate family in the Casades club. A reception for approximately 1100 guests was held in the late afternoon in the home of the bride's parents.

Mason Plays Belding Friday After Victory at Grand Ledge

After a dull first half Friday night at Grand Ledge Mason came back in the second half for a 26-19 victory over the Comets and a third-place spot in the Capital Circuit standings. It was the last Capital Circuit game of the season for the Bulldogs.

Friday night Mason will wind up the 1950 season with a battle at Belding. Belding plays good football against Mason.

Mason and Belding have met twice before. In the first game in 1947 Belding held the upper hand but two years ago Mason wound up the victor. This is the playoff game.

Belding is one of the stronger teams in central Michigan. Friday night Belding measured Hastings 19-14. On the basis of comparative scores it should be quite a contest. Hastings has given almost every Capital Circuit team it has faced a sound thrubbing this year.

Game time at Belding will be at 7:30.

Jewett Goes Again
Mason turned Bob Jewett loose against the Comets Friday night and he didn't let the Bulldogs down. He gave as good an exhibition of football as could be asked for. He ran, he passed, he kicked, he blocked, he tackled, he scored touchdowns.

After a colorless first half in which Mason never gained a yard by rushing and just one lone touchdown by passing the Buldogs came back with their finest display of team balance and offense shown this year. At the end of the half Mason was out in front 7-6. The score gave no indication of the way the game was running, though. The Comets were pushing Mason all over the field. In the first quarter Mason scored a touchdown after recovering a fumble on the Comet 35-yard line. Denny Stolz stepped back and flipped a pass to Bob Jewett who lugged the ball over without a hand being placed on him. Bob Thomas booted the extra point.

In the second quarter Mason's attack was still bogged down and the defense was little better. With Don Leuthjohann doing most of the ball carrying, Grand Ledge was in a threatening position all of the second quarter. Leuthjohann punched over tackle for the first Comet score. The try for the extra point was not good.

Second Half Different
Mason came out after the half-time intermission a different ball club. Denny Stolz started the attack on the march with his best run of the year. He broke through on a quick opening play and reared 35 yards to the Comet 25 before he was forced out of bounds. A couple of plays later Stolz hit Chuck Howell with a pass and Howell stepped over for the score.

For its next score Mason took to the ground. Howell, Stolz, Phil

Popular Dance Team Scores Again in Musical at Fox

Vincent Price as the "Baron of Arizona" opens the week's program at the Fox Theatre when the western film will be shown on the Saturday program.

It will be followed on Sunday and Monday with "My Blue Heaven," starring Betty Grable and Dan Dailey.

"My Blue Heaven," taking its title and story cues from the favorite old song by Walter Donaldson and George Whiting, concerns itself with the efforts of a celebrated husband-and-wife team of radio entertainers (Miss Grable and Mr. Dailey) to have themselves a family. "And baby makes three" is their theme, but when it proves that they can't have their wish and efforts at adoption fall through, it looks as though their wish won't come true. It does, though, and multiply, when two sources of adoption come through just when the Morans learn they can have their own after all.

New Tricks for Hope
In color by Technicolor, "Fancy Pants" gets off to a hilarious start when the credits are flashed on the screen revealing the star is "Mr. Robert Hope (formerly known as Bob)." Portraying a gentleman's gentleman who finds himself very much out of place in a rough, tough cattle town, Hope is every inch the swaggering, lovable coward when ever danger threatens. Part of the time Bob is called upon to impersonate a British earl, and in that capacity he makes President Theodore Roosevelt, delightfully played by John Alexander. The resulting confusion is just about what you might expect, only twice as funny.

Lucille Ball is the daughter of the family for which Hope serves as butler, and she dislikes him almost as much as does her father, Jack Kirkwood. Only socially ambitious Lee Penman is pleased with the addition of a "fancy pants" to her household. However, when Bob, armed only with a seltzer bottle and a pair of speedy legs, stands up to two-gun Bruce Cabot, he wins Lucille's love and howls of laughter from the audience.

The comedy is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fox.

"The Friendly Islands" are populated by Betty Grable and Dan Dailey in one of the many musical numbers in the Twentieth Century-Fox technicolor production, "My Blue Heaven," which arrives Sunday at the Fox Theatre. David Wayne, Jane Wyatt and Mitzi Gaynor all add to the general merriment.

Authentic Local
Excellent, suspenseful melodrama, exploding into first-rate screen entertainment, is the measure of "Where the Sidewalk Ends," which will be shown at the Fox on Thursday and Friday. The difficult, unique leading role of a suspect into his own hands, Dixon becomes panicky and tries to utilize his inside knowledge of the workings of police method to twist the blame onto someone else. The way he resolves his dilemma makes for powerful film fare. Tex Williams in "Fargo Phantom" completes the double-feature program.

Charlotte Wins Circuit Crown For Fifth Time

Coach Malcolm Gobel and his Charlotte Orioles are in the third room again in the Capital Circuit. The Orioles racked up their fifth straight Capital Circuit crown Friday night by putting down a stubborn Eaton Rapids team 13-0.

Howell, No. 2 team in the final standings, took on Fowlerville of the Ingham County league and polished them off 26-7. Mason clinched the No. 3 spot by whipping Grand Ledge 26-19 while Everett battled Holt, winner of the Ingham County league crown, to a 12-12 tie.

The 1950 season is over for everybody in the Capital Circuit except Mason and Grand Ledge. Mason will play Belding at Belding and Grand Ledge will play at Ionia Friday night.

Rolfe Oriole Weapon
Dale Rolfe scored both of the title-winning Charlotte touchdowns. The first one came in the first quarter on a 27-yard run, and in the third period the Charlotte speed merchant raced 38 yards for the second Oriole score. Eaton Rapids played one of the best games of the season but just didn't have the horses to compete with the star-studded Orioles.

Charlotte ended the season with a 7-1 record. The lone defeat was suffered at the hands of Battle Creek Lakeview, champions of the powerful Twin Valley league.

Strong Last Half Wins
Howell had to rely on a strong second half in order to down the never-say-die Bulldogs from Fowlerville. At the end of the first half Fowlerville was out in front 7-6. Up to half-time Fowlerville had dominated the play. After Marshall Borden scored the first touchdown for Howell early in the first period Fowlerville took over.

Howell staved off Fowlerville's deep thrusts into Highlander territory with the exception of the touchdown smash of Battering George Bessert. The try for the extra point was good and gave Fowlerville the lead.

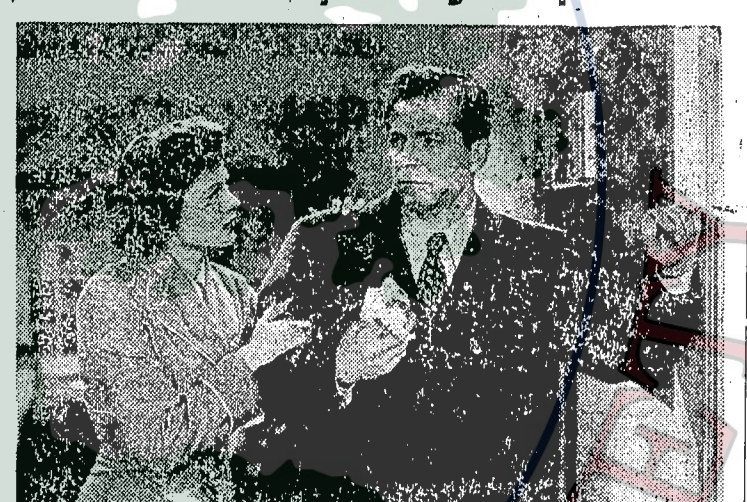

The second half was all Howell. Bill Hilton gave the game to Howell with a scoring jump in the third period and clinched the game with a touchdown pass to Dick Lawson. In the fourth period Borden again crossed the goal line for the final Howell tally.

Long Run Insures Tie
Gale Lott raced 55 yards in the last quarter against Everett to give Holt a tie with the neighbors to the north. It was the point after touchdown that cost Everett the game as it has all season. Everett has lost four games this year by the margin of one point.

Holt drew first blood with a touchdown in the first period. Larry Gule carried the ball across. The try for the extra point was no good. In the second period Everett took over and tied up the game when Art Smith crossed into pay dirt from the one-yard line.

Everett started out the second half with another score. Tim Clancy Quinn carried the ball for the marker. The score climaxed a 66-yard drive.

Okemos

The Okemos chapter No. 267, Order of the Eastern Star, installed new officers for the ensuing year Friday night at the Masonic hall in Okemos. Installing officers were: George Enlow, past patron, installing officer; Ruth Carlson, past matron, installing marshal; Anna Piper, past matron, installing chaplain; and Thelma Madden, past matron, installing organist. The meeting was called to order by the worthy matron, Georgia Huot. An impressive ceremony followed. The following officers were installed: Marvel Swab, worthy matron; Martin Skinner, worthy patron; Ada Reason, associate matron; Harlow Swab, associate patron; Mary Able, conductress; Vivian Brooks, associate conductress; Minerva Parvey, secretary; Ethel Horton, treasurer; Janet Severance, chaplain; Leona Davis, organist; Ada Helen Richards; Ruth, Dorothy Wilkins; Esther, Margaret Ver Plank; Martha, Elida Skinner; Electa, Agnes McKean; warder, Mary Bidwell; sentinel, Eulker Horton; colorbearers, American flag, Birdie Layons; Christian flag, Viva Ray; and Order of Eastern Star flag, Maxine Barnard. After the ceremony a reception line was formed in the dining room. The theme was the American Beauty rose. A huge ice punch bowl with American Beauty roses in it centered the lace-covered table. Tall red tapers were placed at each end. Each piece of cake had an American Beauty rose on it. Velda Barlow poured the punch and Isdel Williams served the cake. Anna Hooker was hostess. The committee consisted of Madeline Diley and Dottie Williamson.

Two Games To Go In County Race

Only two more games are on the docket for Ingham County league teams. Friday night Williamston will play at Perry and on Saturday night Holt will ring down the curtain on the 1950 season at Haslett.

Last Friday Holt had to go all out to grab a 12-12 tie with Lansing Everett. Stockbridge routed by a helpless Pinesley team 33-0 while Williamston had a bad night at Pottsville field, losing to Lansing Resurrection 39-0. Fowlerville fell before the Howell Highlanders 26-6.

Stockbridge didn't waste any time proving itself against Pinesley. The Panthers broke loose for 20 points in a big first period. Stockbridge added one more touchdown in the second quarter and pushed across another for good measure in the third.

It was the first good night the Panthers have enjoyed all year. Ron Byerly crossed the last stripe twice while Bob Lambert, Ron Thomas and Paul Watson all rolled to one touchdown each.

Shamrocks Have Too Much
Lansing Resurrection was loaded with too much talent for the Williamston Hornets. They passed and

P. T. A. Sponsors Halloween Party

Williamston Parent-Teacher association held a Halloween party at the high school auditorium Monday evening. Nearly all attended in costume. Those not in costume were fined and the money was added to the treasury.

The evening began with the announcement of the activities by Santa Claus, in the person of Josephine Schott. There was a grand march so the judges might see all the costumes. Prize for the most original costume went to Mrs. Forrest Hendricks; the funniest, Clarence Morris; and the cutest couple, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller.

Several got-acquainted games were played, the biggest event of the evening being the cake walk with Lester May acting as cake caller. Twenty cakes went to 20 contestants during the cake walk. Following the festivities refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served by the committee.

The membership committee announced that its goal of a 200-membership had been reached. The photograph was presented to Mrs. Ester second grade-room for the month of November. The next regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be Monday, November 27, at 8 p. m. at the school house.

Woman's Club Has Musical Program

Mrs. Hazel Adams entertained the Williamston Woman's club leader for the afternoon, introduced leader for the afternoon introduced Mrs. Adams who presented a program on music appreciation, assisted by her daughter, Jean Wilson of Lansing, who sang "Fark, Hark, the Lark" by Schubert. This was followed by a descriptive reading on the subject, during which many recordings were played illustrating the different phases of music.

Louis Stevens gave a report of the Southeastern district meeting held October 19 and 20 in Lansing. It was guest day and each member took a guest. Refreshments following the meeting were served by the hostess, assisted by her committee.

William Otto Is Kiwanis Speaker

The Williamston Kiwanis club met Monday evening for its usual dinner and many guests were present to hear William Otto, secretary of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce. He was a member of "Flying Classroom," which recently toured Europe, and his talk was very educational and interesting. He illustrated his talk with pictures taken of his trip.

The fund-raising sale, recently sponsored by the local club, was a big success. It was under the chairmanship of Ash Gatin, with the assistance of several Kiwanians and their wives. Due to the fact that several items of clothing were not sold, the goods may be purchased at the police station and the money received will be put into the Kiwanis fund.

Merrifield Retires After Carrying the Mail 33 Years

Roy Merrifield, rural mail carrier from the Williamston postoffice, retired last Tuesday evening after more than 33 years on Williamston rural routes.

Claude F. Dinkel, bonded substitute carrier, will carry the mail on Route 3 until the appointment of a new carrier.

Mr. Merrifield is one of the oldest men in point of service on the route. Ray Noble is the oldest man in point of rural service in the Williamston postoffice.

Mr. Merrifield was appointed a carrier on Route 5, on September 1, 1917, under Postmaster Fred Wint. In addition to Wint, he served under Postmasters John Krumbeck, Leon Webb and Flossie Brown. At the time of his appointment there were five routes out of Williamston, his route requiring 20 miles each day.

As various carriers have retired, the present system has only three carriers, Route 2, from which Mr. Merrifield retired, at present requires travel of 15.510 miles a year.

Community Council Being Organized

The foundation for a Williamston community council, the object being to build a Community Chest to take care of the many different agencies of a charitable nature for this community, was laid last week at a meeting held in the basement of the Peoples State bank. Representatives of 16 different organizations, as well as several business men, discussed the proposition. It was agreed that such a council was needed and that the Community Chest as proposed would be strictly a Williamston and community affair.

It was impossible for a complete representation to attend this first meeting, so another was set for November 10.

A temporary set of officers were selected consisting of: Arnold Prince, chairman; William Wylie, secretary; and Graham Jackson, Paul Gibbs, Lester May, Ted Thompson and George Rutland, board of seven to formulate a set of by-laws and make plans for the next meeting, when a permanent organization will be set up and definite plans made for the coming year.

Representatives from the various organizations at the first meeting were: Jesse Hawkins, Robert Brown, Williamston Grange; Wayne Runciman, Wheatfield, and T. S. William Wylie and Arnold Prince, Williamston O. E. S.; Robert Hadley, Graham Jackson, Williamston F. A. M.; Theodore Thompson, I. O. O. F.; Vivian Crisp, Follies White, Rebekahs; William T. Cromley, Josephine Schott, P. T. A.

Mrs. Forest Hendricks, Senior Child Study club; Ellen Lange, Virginia Ross, Junior Child Study club; Harold Bates, U. M. Employees; Mrs. E. T. Crossman, Woman's club; Mrs. Blanche Merrifield, Woman's Relief Corps; Howard Geisler, Earl Salisbury, F. W. The 1951 annual convention will be held next fall at Ypsilanti. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Dorothy Casey and Helen Miller. On November 10 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Gwen White, for a combined meeting with the Senior Child Study group.

Interest Shown in Coming Art Show

Much interest is being shown in the coming Art Show which will be held November 17 and 18 from 1 to 5 p. m. in the Methodist church basement. Here for the first time will be displayed the several branches of art work which is being done by people from the city. There will be some scenes of Williamston.

Any person in the city or surrounding vicinity is invited to exhibit his work. There will be no prizes or fees connected with the show. Each visitor will receive a ballot upon which to list the picture or drawing of his choice.

Remodeling Completed

The Methodist parsonage remodeling has been completed and on Sunday, November 12, the pastor will hold open house from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon for members and friends of the church. Refreshments will be served by the General Society of the W. S. C. S.

Sorority Has Meeting

The Beta Sigma Phi sorority held its meeting at the home of Mrs. C. B. Smith, Jr., Wednesday evening. A bohemian dinner preceded the business meeting, which was presided over by the president, Marion Gieszer. Miss Jean Smith had charge of a brief business period and Mrs. Beverly Nigro gave an interesting talk on "Poise and Charm."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dolph have returned from visiting friends at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. John Clarke spent Friday in Lansing.

Edna M. Rowley Dies in Detroit

Edna M. Rowley, 70, widow of the late Herman Rowley, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. LaVerne Flaherty in Detroit, Sunday, October 29, following a long illness. She was a resident of Williamston for over 50 years.

Surviving, besides the sister in Detroit, is another sister, Mrs. Gladys Trask of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Rowley was an active member of the Williamston Methodist church and W. S. C. S. until ill health would no longer permit.

Services were held from the Gorsline Brothers funeral home Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. Horace Janies, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in the Summit cemetery.

Palbearers were Leavena Howarth, Ed Porter, William Blosser, W. S. Barrett and Gaylord Fisher.

Look for These Constellations in November

Here are the prominent constellations visible in the eastern sky during November. Their location at about 8 p. m. Eastern Standard Time has been shown by Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

The stage is rapidly being set for the spectacular winter displays in the sky, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

The sun will continue its rapid retreat to the south during November, she reports. By the end of the month, the sun will rise and set as far as 50 degrees south of a line drawn across the center of the sky from east to west and our days will be cut down to about nine hours.

"With the fast approach of the longer nights, attention may be turned to the magnificent display of the autumn and winter constellations coming into view," Dr. Losh points out. "Along with the first and cold of the fall and winter nights, the constellations seem to shine with an increased brilliance and splendor. In fact, some of the most beautiful stars in all the sky light up the heavens during the month of November and the winter months to come."

This is a good time to look over the eastern sky on a November night since there are several constellations visible there-around 8 p. m. that serve as signs of the approaching winter.

Closest to the horizon as you look northeast will be the constellation Auriga, a five-sided figure with the bright star Capella at the upper left hand corner. Capella is the third brightest star visible in this area and is so distant that the light we see left this star about 40 years ago, according to Dr. Losh. Actually Capella is larger than the sun and gives out 100 times as much light but the distance from the earth makes it look so much smaller than the sun.

Just to the right of Capella you should be able to pick out three fainter stars forming a triangle. These are "The Kids" since Capella also is known as "The Goat."

Shifting your gaze slightly south of Auriga will bring the constellation of Taurus (The Bull) into view. This consists of several stars in the form of a V that is upside down and tilted to the right. Highlight of Taurus is the ruddy star Aldebaran known as "the Eye of the Bull." Above Aldebaran and slightly to the left is another part of this constellation famed in both science and mythology. This is a cluster of fainter stars known as "The Pleiades." You should be able to see six stars in this little group and if you are really keen of sight you can pick out seven or more in the shape of a tiny dipper.

Far up in the northeastern sky is Cassiopeia, one of the oldest and most popular of the constellations since it is easy to see. Look for an irregular shaped "W." In between Cassiopeia and the Pleiades is Perseus, a zigzag row of stars with a winking and blinking star known as Algol or "The Demon Star." Algol once was regarded as a sign of evil but its changes in brightness actually are due to a less bright star which revolves around it and shuts off part of the light, Dr. Losh reports.

Just to the southeast of this blinking star are two well-defined groups, Aries and Triangulum, each made up of three main stars.

VENTILATION NEEDED

A good ventilation system is a necessity for the dairy barn, say Michigan State college agricultural engineers. Continuous breathing of damp, foul air lowers the vitality of cows and makes them more susceptible to disease.

Easy-to-remove, one-piece inspection plate saves time and labor... provides full view of rear axle gears when removed.

Splined Axle-to-Hub connection

Splines—not bolts—deliver the driving power evenly—without strain—on all heavy-duty models. Loose axle shaft bolts and costly grease leaks are eliminated.

Straddle-Mounted Pinion

Gears last longer... pinion gear is supported at each end by ball bearings to keep it in mesh. Adjustable thrust pad prevents distortion of ring gear when starting heavy-duty trucks with heavy loads.

4-Pinion Differential

Load and shock of heavy loads are distributed over four pinions instead of two in all Chevrolet medium- and heavy-duty trucks—for longer axle life and greater strength.

Chevrolet trucks are engineered to "take it" on the roughest, the toughest jobs. The single-unit design housing and splined axle-to-hub connection of Chevrolet's hypoid heavy-duty rear axle mean strength and stamina found in no other truck rear axle in Chevrolet's class. Combine that with other outstanding Chevrolet features... powerful Valve-in-Head engines, Synchromesh transmissions, channel-type frames with all-gator-jaw cross members! Here is the truck that can handle tough jobs... America's most popular truck. Come in and see these great Chevrolet trucks today.

Plus CHEVROLET ADVANCE-DESIGN TRUCK FEATURES Two Great Valve-in-Head Engines • Power-Jet Carburetor • Diaphragm Spring Clutch • Synchromesh Transmissions • Hypoid Rear Axles • Double-Articulated Brakes • Wide-Base Wheels • Ball-Type Steering • Unit-Design Bodies • Advance-Design Styling.

Free Methodists Plan Men-Missions Sunday

With emphasis upon the theme, "Men for the Master's Mission," the local Free Methodist church is cooperating with the Laymen's Missionary movement in its 20th annual observance of Men and Missions Sunday, November 12.

The Free Methodist church reports 20 missionaries under appointment and now waiting to sail for their various stations. Twenty-three accepted candidates are awaiting appointment. At its annual meeting, which ended October 26, the missionary board authorized a special campaign to complete the buildings of the Osaka Christian college, Osaka, Japan, which were destroyed by bombs during the war. Continuation of the project of the Young Peoples Missionary society of the church to complete an addition to the only co-educational school in the Dominican Republic was also approved by the board, as well as articles of incorporation for the Free Methodist church in Paraguay and in Japan.

A special program has been arranged for the morning services, both Sunday school and church. Mrs. Elton West, missionary superintendent, is in charge of a short missionary program which will be presented at the close of the Sunday school hour. This will be immediately followed by the worship service which will consist of talks by representatives of the children's, young people and adult departments. Special music will also be rendered throughout the service.

MMPA President Calls Dairyman Inflation Loser

That the dairy farmer is the "forgotten man" in today's inflated economy was the keynote of President Ivan K. Maystead's message to the 34th annual meeting of the Michigan Milk Producers Association held in Fairchild Theatre on the campus of Michigan State college November 2. He pointed out that high milk production brought about through government insistence during World War II now is flooding the markets with an excess which naturally drives down the price to the farmer. For that reason, many city milk markets have been demoralized and it seems to be expedient to turn to the U. S. department of agriculture for federal marketing orders to protect the supply by establishing minimum prices which all dairies must pay to farmers supplying fluid milk in those markets.

Howard F. Simmons, secretary-manager of the association made a complete report on the activities of the organization for the past year to the 400 assembled delegates and 150 guests in attendance. He stated that the past year broke all records for production by the membership, more than a billion and a half pounds of milk having been marketed.

A resolution adopted urged the state legislature to oppose any effort to change the present efficient setup of the department of agriculture which is controlled by a five-man bi-partisan commission. Also the delegates were unanimous in asking for a state law to enforce definite standards and requirements for the production and handling of cream used in making butter, providing for a maximum acidity content of .8 per cent and proper cooling, storage and transportation at a temperature of not more than 60 degrees.

Election of directors for three-year terms resulted in five incumbents being returned to the board as follows: I. K. Maystead, Osseo; B. P. Clothier, Nottola; Bruce A. Allen, Corunna; and Walter Christensen, Muskegon. John D. Horst, of Akron, was elected for one year to fill the unexpired term of M. D. Lynch, Silverwood, deceased.

Awards Presented to Youths at 4-H Club Achievement Program

Ingham county 4-H club achievement program was held at Holt high school Thursday evening, November 2, with 485 members, parents and leaders present.

Among county winners named to receive trips was Wilbur Rykert, North Williamson club, for his dairy production record. He earned a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago the last week in November. Junia Carr of the National Junior Vegetable Growers convention in New Orleans, Louisiana, in December. She will go with the state delegation.

Four members who won trips to Chicago are: Barbara Webster, Vanlown club, who is being sent by the J. C. Penney Co. of Lansing; Donna Voss, Alacodon, sponsored by the 4-H Service club; Frank Lynn, Dick Wheeler, Jean Lovette, Joyce Madden, Herb Miller, Elton Blossy, Quentin Glynn, Jerry Jason, Shirley Sly, Richard Carter, Grandolyn Oakley and Wilbur Rykert.

Dorwin Sheathelm received the tractor plowing contest plaque given by Standard Oil Co. The Lansing branch of the National Farm Loan association presented Robert Sterle of the Tomlinson club a $50 award toward the purchase of a registered heifer, for his outstanding project work with a grade heifer.

Peters Drug Store presented to the Dansville club the loving cup for being the champion softball team. Medals were also presented to each member of the team.

Donald Jones, representing the Lansing Kiwanis club, announced the winners of the club activity contest. Southeast Alacodon club placed first. Glen Watkins is club leader. Vantown club, with Hugh Oesterle as leader, took second place, and 4-Winds club placed third. Mrs. Paul Rowe is leader of the 4-Winds club. Members of the winning club will be the guests of the Kiwanis club next year.

State contest medals were presented to the following:

Garden, Margaret Black, Junia Carr, Dorothy Showerman and Matinee Rykert; canning, Phyllis Eitner, home grounds, Mary Singer, field crops, Gerald N. Brown, farm and home safety, Alan Clemens, Harold Starkey, Dorothy Showerman, Dean Felton and Peter Phelps; food preparation, Donna Voss; leadership, Jerry Jason and Barbara Webster; dairy achievement, Wilbur Rykert, Russell Rowe, Myris Singer and Franklin Lyon.

Clothing, Junia Carr; tractor, William Fouty, Lewis Fillwood.

Colder Weather Is Needed for Farm Butchering

You can start your farm slaughtering almost anytime now, according to L. J. Bratzler, Michigan State college animal husbandry specialist.

For rapid and proper cooling, night temperatures should not be above 40 degrees Fahrenheit, Bratzler said. After selecting a young healthy animal, the dressing should be carried out in a clean manner in a sanitary surroundings, he advises.

For quicker chilling in order to get a better-keeping meat, the beef and pork carcasses should be split down the center of the backbone, Bratzler said.

Within a 24-hour period after slaughtering pork fat should be rendered into lard, and three pounds of hydrogenated vegetable shortening should be added to each 50 pounds of lard. This will keep the lard sweet for a longer time.

The best known method for keeping lard is to store it in a tightly closed container in a dark room, the meat specialist advises.

Aluminum foil or moisture-proof papers and films will prevent freezer burn and flavor changes of meat during frozen storage. The freezer cabinet or locker should be maintained at zero degrees or lower, he said.

RENEWED

...or just fixed?

There's a lot of difference between a repair job that actually renews your equipment and one that just "gets by."

Genuine Allis-Chalmers repair parts fit perfectly and are made of the right materials for the job they have to do. You save money because the new parts last longer, your entire machine lasts longer and you get better performance.

All repair parts installed by our mechanics are made in the same factory and to the same specifications as the original parts in your Allis-Chalmers equipment.

Now is a good time to have your equipment checked for worn or broken parts.

Crop Specialists Advise On the Use of Soft Corn

High moisture content in some of Michigan's corn crop means that special care will be needed for handling and storage, says Michigan State college farm crops specialist, Leyton Nelson.

The farm crops department has compiled a list of suggestions for soft corn. Many may already be known to corn growers, but the agricultural workers believe a review is timely due to the estimated soft corn crop this year. Their general recommendations are as follows:

1. Ensiling both fodder and shelled corn.
2. Sorting and early feeding of soft corn to hogs and other livestock.
3. Delayed harvesting to allow maximum field drying.
4. Clean husking to eliminate trash that reduces crib ventilation.
5. Use of screens on the elevator to remove shelled corn and trash.
6. Good distribution in the crib to avoid pockets of shelled corn and debris where spoilage is most likely to start.
7. Storage of corn in narrowest cribs to help natural ventilation.
8. Use of adequate ventilators in cribs.
9. Storing of corn in the field in small shocks.
10. Sorting out most immature ears from corn which is to be cribbed. The immature corn should be used before spring.
11. "Hogging-out" or allowing cattle and hogs to harvest corn.
12. Use of commercial dryers, available in some parts of the state. Some elevators are equipped to purchase soft corn on a grade basis, less charges for transportation and drying.
13. Consult local elevator manager for information regarding handling soft corn.

Storing soft corn requires care, though some of the methods are simple and may involve very little in the way of new apparatus or construction.

R. L. Maddox, Michigan State college agricultural engineer, points out that cribs wider than four feet are unsuitable for soft corn storage. If a wider crib is used, some type of ventilation is necessary. If forced air is used, wide, shallow cribs are preferable to high narrow cribs.

Spoilage will be cut down if an obstruction is placed in the crib to provide channels for the increased movement of air under wind pressure. The "A" frame ventilator should be placed at the center of the crib and should be high and wide enough to reduce the air travel distance through the corn to four feet or less at any location in the crib.

Natural air movement can be increased by building a double walled partition lengthwise through the center of the crib, Maddox says. The space between the double wall should not be less than 12 inches and the divided cribs should be four feet or less in width.

Partitions may be placed crosswise in wide cribs to reduce the distance of air travel to four feet or less. These walls are usually four inches wide.

Maddox points out that posts, rails or plank bracing placed in a slanting position with one end on the floor and the other against the wall will allow air channels to flow through the crib as the corn settles.

County agricultural agents have information on soft corn. Their advice can be sought to answer questions of mechanical drying, crib alteration for better ventilation, and feeding of soft corn.

Canary Seedings Best in August

To merely scatter Reed Canary grass seed over a plot of ground is a waste of seed and labor, especially if the ground is covered with sedge and cattails, believes Carter Harrison, of the Michigan State college farm crops department. Dormant seedlings may be made in early November.

Only a small amount of seed will grow if the area is lightly worked with disk or other farm tools such as drags. By plowing during the dry part of summer and working the seedbed to destroy competing vegetation your grass will have a better chance, he says.

Fertilizer should also be added if you expect to establish a productive pasture on land which is otherwise of little value, the farm crops specialist maintains. Most soils are alkaline or nearly so in Michigan, therefore no lime is needed.

Seedlings made around August 15 generally work out best in Michigan because late fall and early spring weather is usually wet and a difficult time to fit and seed. If the seeding cannot be made in the middle of August, wait until early November and make a dormant seeding. The seed, if scattered on a prepared surface in early November, will lie dormant until growing weather returns next spring.

Practical Farmers Anticipate Science Many Fed Milk Product Long Before Vitamin B12

Practical dirt farmers, with little knowledge of nutritional theories, may prove to have again anticipated the latest findings of research scientists who have been turning their attention to hog and poultry rations.

About a year ago, when discovery of the growth promoting vitamin B12 created a stir in feed and farm circles, many farm editors were quick to point out that practical farmers who fed milk and milk products to hogs and poultry had actually anticipated the scientists.

Because, after the new vitamin was first isolated from liver extracts, it was found that milk and milk-by-products, like skim milk and buttermilk, are particularly good natural sources of this growth vitamin. Generations of farmers, who had never heard of vitamin B12, had taken advantage of its growth promoting values when they fed milk and milk products.

Now research scientists have been testing the effect of "wonder drugs" in animal feeding. They have reported startling growth gains when streptomycin and aureomycin are added to hog and poultry rations. There are indications that farm editors have another opportunity to point out that practical farmers anticipated the scientists in this case too.

Not that there is any indication that milk or milk-by-products actually contain these wonder drugs, but it appears that to some extent, they have a similar effect.

KEEP THEM DRY A litter at least six inches deep in the floor of the laying house will help keep the house dry during damp winter months, say Michigan State college extension poultrymen.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

Economists generally are quite "bullish" about farm prices in 1951. It appears from BAE's farm outlook report that all major farm prices will be higher next year, with the probable exception of potatoes.

Large military expenditures are the chief factor in current inflationary picture. However, a first class business boom was underway before the Korean war started. Wholesale prices of farm products went up 16.1 per cent from the first week in January to October 17-40 per cent of the increase occurred before Korean hostilities started. Prices of non-farm products rose 10.9 per cent during the same period—30 per cent of the increase showing up before we sent troops to Korea.

USDA economists think that the average of farm prices will rise faster than production costs. They expect a 10 per cent increase in gross income over 1950. Farm profits are not expected to go as high as in 1947 and 1948.

"Crop surpluses" seem to change from a liability to an asset in a hurry. Our corn crop is estimated at about 3118 million bushels. Carry-over from last year's crop is figured at 859 million bushels. Together these make a total supply of around 4 billion bushels, which is roughly 4 per cent below the demand supply in 1949, but a billion bushels larger than in previous years. With the government's request for all-out production next year, this corn supply might be anything but "hardensome."

Our population is increasing at an annual rate of 2 to two and a half million. We now have to raise about 22 bushels of corn per person in the U. S. to produce as much meat, eggs, butter, and milk as we want. With the general economic activity high that means more employment and increasing wages. More consumer buying power means greater consumption of farm products.

Soybean prices shot up during the last two weeks in October, right at the height of the harvest season. Farmers held them in on their farms to prevent a sudden market glut. USDA had repeatedly advised storing beans and holding them for later delivery to elevators and processors.

With soybean prices bounding up, by-product meals aren't likely to be any cheaper. Higher prices of protein meals will discourage their use on farm crops. That means less efficient feeding programs. If every farmer feeds a little less protein than he should, that probably means a heavier use of corn.

If government suggestion to cotton growers is any indication, corn belt farmers may be asked to plant more corn in 1951. Allotments may be taken off (no final decision has been announced yet). But from Secretary Brannon's recent speech before outlook conference, it's quite apparent that USDA is going to gamble on surpluses rather than risk shortages.

In an all-out production program for next year, farmers are protected from price trouble by loans on storable commodities. Perishables—such as eggs, butter, hogs, etc.—could cause some price headaches.

If you've never spent a little time at one of the federal or state experimental stations, you've missed something. It's fascinating to see what scientists are working

Buying Feeder Pigs May Prove More Profitable

Hog raisers in the future may find it easier and more profitable to sell their sows and buy feeder pigs already weaned, wormed, castrated, dehusked, vaccinated, and started on feed.

This is the long-range program of a Wisconsin farmer whose "pig hatchery" output cannot meet the demand of a long list of customers. The Weix farm in Dane County, Wisconsin, produces a special kind of healthy, well-started weaning pig. According to hog farmers and livestock authorities at the Chicago market, this system has many advantages—among them saving of time in search of good boars and sows and their year-around maintenance. This eliminates time, work and risk in raising pigs from farrowing to weaning. It means cutting down on expensive housing and the elimination of guesswork about the kind of pigs that will result in the use of each new boar.

DOUBLECHECK ON RAMS Here's one way the sheep breeder can take out some insurance on the next lamb crop—use a check ram. Just in case your number one ram should turn out to be a non-breeder, Michigan State college animal husbandry specialists recommend putting in the check ram after the main ram has been with the flock for five or six weeks.

INSECTICIDE SHORTAGE Michigan fruit and vegetable growers may run into local insecticide shortages in 1951, say MSC agricultural economists in their outlook opinions. Orders should be placed early, particularly for those containing chlorinated benzene, such as DDT, toxaphene, chlordane, and benzene hexachloride.

Artificial breeding permits service from a bull of much higher quality than a farmer can usually afford.

More Cows Added To ABA Program

Thirteen thousand more cows in 2,207 additional Michigan dairy herds were added to the rolls of the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative during the first six months of 1950. A. C. Biltzer, secretary-manager of the group and extension dairyman at Michigan State college, reports that internal growth of the organization is now replacing expansion into new counties.

The farmer-owned cooperative, with its central laboratory on land leased from Michigan State college at East Lansing, serves 10 local associations in 70 counties.

EFFERT BUYS DUROC Robert Effert, Mason Durac breeder, bought the top selling Duroc boar in the Fred Ottinger & Sons sale at Elgin, Illinois. The boar Mr. Effert purchased was sired by Modern King, one of the Duroc breed's leading sires. Local demand was particularly heavy for the Ottinger & Sons sale offering. Thirty boars sold averaged $130.96, and 40 gilts averaged $91.50.

Acid Poisoning May Affect Cows

If any of your cattle begin to stagger as if drunk, they may have been poisoned by prussic acid. Michigan State college extension veterinarians say it pays stockmen to keep a sharp lookout for signs of prussic acid poisoning.

The acid, which contains cyanide, is often present in plants changed by wilting, bruising or frost. Second growth of grasses following the first frost, usually contains the poison.

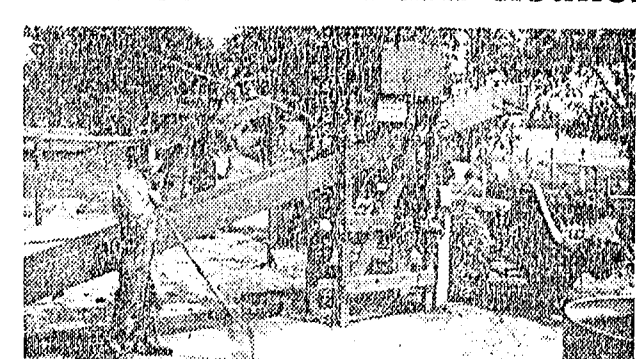

If in doubt about pasture, the veterinarians suggest you remove all stock from it. Then place a few less valuable animals on the pasture to see if it contains the acid before releasing all stock to graze.

MILKERS ARE POPULAR

The increased use of milking machines is the most important development in handling milk on the farm in the past 30 years. The

U. S. department of agriculture INGHAM COUNTY NEWS says that mechanical cooling systems are second in importance, November 9, 1950 Page 7

McComb-VanRiper Vows Solemnized

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hill VanRiper of Bell Oak was the scene of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Beatrice VanRiper and Rex McComb of Webberville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McComb, on Saturday, October 28.

Rev. H. G. Johnson of Webberville officiated. Miss Doris Fulton, accompanied by Mrs. Meredith House, sang "I Love You Truly." The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of forest green satin with a corsage of yellow mums.

Miss Doris Fulton served as maid of honor. She was dressed in a blue street-length dress with a corsage of yellow mums.

The bridegroom's brother, Dwight McComb, served as best man.

Both Mrs. Van Riper and Mrs. McComb chose dark blue gowns. They had corsages of red mums.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Lenah Jean Dieterle served the three-tiered wedding cake, assisted by Mrs. Beatrice VanRiper and the bridesmaids, Hilda and Beatrice. After a short trip in the north the couple will reside in Williamston.

Girl Scout Week Observed

Webberville Girl Scouts and their leaders and committee members observed Girl Scout Week by attending church in the body Sunday morning. Kay Johns gave a brief sketch of the Week's Meaning and of the Girl Scouts and their aims. They concluded the week with a bake sale at the Ford Garage Saturday.

Church Time Changed

The Methodist church and Sunday school changed the time of services beginning November 5. Sunday school now begins at 10:00 a. m. and church services begin at 11:15 a. m.

Harold Osterle on County Board

Harold Osterle of Williamston has replaced Harry Silsby on the county board of education. It was announced Tuesday. Silsby, automobile dealer, resigned because of the press of outside duties. He had been a board member since its inception three years ago. Osterle will attend his first meeting November 21.

Webberville faculty and school board members and their husbands and wives held a bohemian dinner at the school house Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Clarence Reynolds of the Ingham county O. E. S. and Mrs. Frank White, worthy matron of Webberville O. E. S., attended the county meeting at Lansing Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cooper entertained several from Lansing at a coon supper Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Briggs took his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Briggs, out for supper Friday evening in honor of their 53rd wedding anniversary which was November 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilpin and family visited her mother, Mrs. Dan Rice, Sunday. On Monday Mrs. Rice received word that Mr. Gilpin's mother, Mrs. R. Gilpin, and his brother-in-law, Charles Lugwig, were killed in a two-car collision as they turned in the Gilpin driveway on US-27. Mrs. Rice left for Mt. Pleasant Tuesday.

Clarence Reynolds, president of the village council, visited the American Government class and explained how it tied in the county and state government.

Past Noble Grands Elect New Officers

Officers were elected at the Past Noble Grand club meeting last Wednesday. Members of the Past Noble Grand association were: Dan De Vincent and their assistant, Connie Nelson. The Band Boosters club has elected officers as follows: President, Mrs. Plasse; vice-president, Mrs. Vincent; secretary, Mrs. West; and treasurer, Mrs. Wilcox.

P. T. A. Officers Are Elected

Friday evening a large group met at the school house to organize a P. T. A. Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Emma Letroy; mother vice-president, Harvey Schutt; father vice-president, Mrs. Edith West; secretary, Mrs. Muriel Smith; and treasurer, Mrs. Loris Johns. They will meet the first Wednesday evening in each month.

Pheasant Supper Held

With the help of some of the home economic girls, the ag boys gave a pheasant supper on October 17. The boys obtained the birds themselves and the girls prepared the meal, those attending saw comedy movies in the gym.

Students Attend Journalism Day

Six pupils from the Webberville school attended the annual Journalism Day held at Michigan State college on October 18. Both the yearbook and newspaper staffs attended. Betty Alchin and Jo Ann Alchin, co-editors of the yearbook, and Roberta Monroe who is assistant advertising manager, attended classes pertaining to the production of the yearbook. Those attending similar classes for newspapers were Mary Lou Vincent, the assistant editor and Van Da Lee Vincent and Virginia Wilson, mimeographers for the school paper. There were representatives from all school all over the state, including some from the Upper Peninsula.

School News

In observance of fire prevention week the kindergarten took a trip to the fire station where G. Lowe showed them things about the fire engine and then gave them a ride back to the school on the fire truck.

They talked on how to prevent fires and the danger of playing with matches. They had a Jack O' Lanterns in the room and it was lighted when they were in the room. They have learned the finger play about "The Five Little Jack O' Lanterns" and Mr. Dye taught them the song about a Jack O' Lantern. On Friday, October 27, they entertained the mothers. They had orange punch and gifts. Black and orange paper chains were strung across each window and between the light fixtures. For their nature study they learned how to distinguish each tree and the facts about them. They are dramatizing the "Three Bears" and "The Three Pigs."

The first graders are learning to write the letters of the alphabet and to write words. Addition and subtraction is being done in the number workbooks. In art they have collected pictures of things pertaining to fall, which they are going to assemble into a book.

Mr. Dye has taught the second graders the song called "Jack O' Lanterns." They had a Halloween party. Miss Dorothy Benz of the Ingham County Library told the story of "Three Little Pigs." On October 25 a committee of four children went to the local library and chose books for use in their rooms. In English they studied about Christopher Columbus and made silhouettes of Columbus' ships.

The third graders have made paintings of leaf men and fastened each one in a small branch of colored leaves, for art work. In arithmetic they are doing column work in addition. In English they learned about Columbus and made silhouette pictures.

In the fourth grade there were eleven children who were not absent or tardy the first six weeks. The fifth and sixth graders have their room decorated in fall scenes. The sixth graders have studied foods you should eat for health and growth in hygiene. They are reading the "Cyprian Toad Boots." A committee composed of Let Atley, Richard Patton, Vera Lee VanRiper and Larry Alchin, went to the local library and selected books for reading in their room during leisure time.

The freshman class enjoyed a hayride a short time ago. There were two tractors and two wagon-loads. After the hayride they had a Weiner roast.

The seniors held a bake sale at the Ford Garage which netted them $19.05. They also earned $87.74 from the sale of magazines. The boys were the losers so they have to treat the girls to a movie. They also had a hayride, followed by refreshments and a dance.

The 9th and 10th grade boys have been repairing kindergarten and first grade things for their rooms. Some of the boys are working on corner shelves, book ends and other small articles. In art culture they studied about wheat enterprises and also other grains.

Girls in home economics I have started the study of sewing. Their first project is the making of skirts. They have also visited Sexton high school and Ingham Township Agricultural school.
