Kiwanians beautify the pathway.

Mason Kiwanians tossed armfuls of posies in the pathway of the living Tuesday night. They were strewn for Vernon J. Brown.

Club members and invited guests found much to commend in the service given by Vern Brown to the club, the community, the county and the state down through the years. They showered praise upon him for his leadership in government, for his activity in the church and for his devotion to the better things of life.

Guests included old friends from many walks of life. Present were Supreme Court Justice John Dethmers, State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, Judge Charles H. Hayden, State Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler, Don Gardner, former capital correspondent, Schuyler L. Marshall, former Mason and St. Johns publisher and now a member of the Public Service Commission, Joseph Alexanian of Lansing, past district governor of Kiwanis and Joseph Thompson of Ypsilanti, former member of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

President R. G. Henson welcomed the guests. Brake responded. He lauded the guest of honor for his ability and leadership in the legislature and as auditor general and lieutenant-governor. He spoke of the high regard in which the Mason man is held throughout the state.

In presenting the Mason Kiwanian with scrolls Joe Alexanian declared that Vern Brown translated Kiwanis objectives and exemplified his Christianity in his daily living.

The guest of honor made a feeling response. He said he cherished the friendships he made and he expressed appreciation for the affair staged in his honor. He told of the relationships he had enjoyed with many of the men present.

Mrs. E. G. Millard, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Dean at the piano, sang a group of songs.

Howard McCowan was master of ceremonies.

The picture was supposed to show Joe Alexanian, upper left, presenting the certificate of good character to Vern Brown, with President R. G. Henson sitting at the table memorizing his speech. The picture wasn't good, but because the Ingham County News co-publisher was in it, the staff decided to run it anyway to see if he reacts the same way other dissatisfied posers sometimes do.

Teachers Arrange Exercises for Eighth Grade

County School Superintendent Alton J. Stroud and rural teachers have arranged promotion exercises for eighth graders next week. On Wednesday night the exercises will be held in the Williamson school auditorium and on Friday night at Mason.

Eight graders from schools in Williamson, Locke, Leroy, Wheatfield and part of White Oak will receive their promotion certificates at Williamson. Vernon Ebersole, secretary of the Lansing Insurance Agency, will be the speaker.

Eighth graders from schools in Aurelius, Delhi, Alameda, Onondaga, Leslie, Bunker Hill, Stockbridge, Vevay and part of White Oak will attend the exercises in Mason. Rev. Vernon T. Smith of the Holt Presbyterian church will speak.

Superintendent Stroud will also be on the program at both Williamson and Mason.

Teachers who arranged the program for Williamson were Mrs. Marian Rykert, Branch school of Williamson; Irvin Cobb, Baker school; and Miss Evelyn Smith, Locke school, both of Leroy; and Charles Bartlett, Locke Center school. On the committee for the Mason program are Mrs. Vivian Saterlee, Weeks school; Leslie, Mrs. Effie DeCamp, Lohrsteins school; Bunker Hill; Mrs. Elsie Rowe, Pink school; Vevay; and Mrs. Doris Cogswell, Harper school, Delhi.

THEM WAS THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Ordinances of 1867 Are Found

Mason people are now considering the adoption of a new charter. Back in 1867 the people were studying a 12-page pamphlet containing all the village ordinances.

Mrs. Earl Salisbury has the booklet of ordinances. She obtained it from the late Effie Beach Shiner, whose father was a leading citizen in the early days.

Most of the ordinances in 1867 had to do with the restraining of animals and with plank sidewalks. Cattle within the village were permitted to run at large from April 1 to November 15 except from nine o'clock at night until five o'clock the next morning. Residents fenced the cattle out instead of in. They built fences around their yards and gardens to keep the cattle out. The ordinance denied the right of owners to permit breach and vicious cattle to roam at large.

The poundmaster received a 50¢ fee for handling any animal which came into his possession. He was also entitled to receive 10¢ a day for feeding horses, cattle, mules, and sheep and 5¢ a day for feeding pigs, geese and turkeys.

Those who blocked sidewalks or crosswalks with wagons and carriages for more than five minutes could be fined $1.00. An ordinance also provided that residents must keep the planks in their sidewalks securely nailed.

While Mason residents of 1867 had to travel by foot, there was even then the problem of spectators at fires. An ordinance provided that the city marshal must keep all "idle and suspicious persons from fires and the vicinity of fires."

Ten miles an hour was the speed limit inside the village. Persons who rode or drove a horse at a faster clip in any street or lane were subject to fines of five dollars and up to 90 days in jail.

On benches at the peak of the 1867 ordinances didn't fool. Here's the section: "Be it ordained by the Common Council of the village of Mason that any person who shall make, countenance or assist in making any noise, disturbance, in improper diversion, or who shall be guilty of any indecent, insulting or immoral conduct, language or behavior, or be found drunk in the streets or elsewhere in said village, and all persons who collect in bodies or crowds in said village for unlawful purposes, or to the annoyance or disturbance of citizens or travelers, shall for each offense, on conviction thereof, be fined not less than one or more than one hundred dollars, and all costs of suit; and in the imposition of any such fine and costs, the court may make a further sentence that the offender shall be committed to the county jail until the same shall be paid for any period of time not exceeding ninety days."

George M. Huntington was village president and S. W. Turner the clerk when the ordinances were printed in pamphlet form in 1867.

Plowing Match Is Scheduled For Saturday

Boys Will Match Skill In Plowing Contest on Sheathelm Vantown Farm

Rain or shine, if it doesn't rain too much, the 4-H and FFA plowing contest will be held Saturday. It will be held at one of the Henry Sheathelm farms a mile north and a quarter of a mile east of Vantown on Dennis road in Leroy township. That is not the home farm in White Oak.

The contest was originally scheduled for last Saturday. It was put over a week on the basis of a long-range weather forecast. The forecaster declared the May 5 date perilous. On Tuesday of last week he forecast an inch of rain between that day and last Saturday. He was as right as he could be. More than an inch fell at Vantown, although only a sprinkle reached Mason and the west part of the county. Hail and wind also struck the Vantown area. Over the county line in Livingston a cyclone developed. Many barns were leveled.

Seventeen boys are entered in Saturday's plowing contest. Most of them have also entered the hacking and the belting contests. The belting and hacking events will be held Saturday forenoon. Plowing is scheduled to start at one o'clock.

Lunch Arrangements Made

Dansville Future Farmers will have a chuck wagon on the grounds to serve noon lunch and refreshments.

Art Bell of Michigan State college will supervise the plowing contest with Chellis Hall and Carlyle Waltz of Mason and Clifford Allen of Dansville doing the judging.

Robert Oesterle of Webberville is chairman of the belting contest. Carrol Clyne of Webberville is the timer and William Malcho of Webberville and Charles Langdon of Williamston will serve as judges.

Forest Anderson of Dansville will supervise the hacking contest with Delmar Carr of White Oak doing the timing and Ray Lott and Frank Wieland of Alameda serving as judges.

Clark is Chairman

Zane Clark of the Lansing Standard Oil Co. staff is chairman of the general committee for the contests. William Malcho of Webberville, Francis Platt of Mason and E. I. Schultz of Lansing are on the prize committee. Clarence Reynolds, Standard Oil dealer at Webberville, is providing the gasoline for the contests.

M. H. Avery of Mason, Orla Sheathelm of White Oak and Clark have already marked out the plots to be plowed. Assignments will be made by drawing lots.

Dorwin Sheathelm, last year's winner, is again a contestant. Harold Sheathelm and Elmer Phelps, also of White Oak, have entered. Others in the starting list include Douglas Heeg and Gaylord Risch, Williamston; Gordon Monroe, Donald Williams and Wayne Malcho, Vantown; Dick Culpis and Melvin Jordan, Dansville; Richard Chisholm and Walter Krantz, Mason; and Stanley Fay, Richard Parks, Wayne Musick, John McKinney and Kenneth Lewis of Stockbridge.

Draft Is Taking 32 from Ingham

Thirty-two Ingham young men have received orders to report for military service Tuesday. They are due at Veterans hall at 6:30 that morning. A bus will take them to the induction station at Fort Wayne, Detroit.

The 32 who got the call are James Urban Gierman, Louis Frederick Hehnus, Richard Earle Jones, Harold S. Darbar, Sylvester Harold Hawkins, Raymond Louis Snider, Virgil Allen Foltz, John Martin Pearson, Jack Clyde Callahan, Edward Morris Green, Louis Herbert Fuller, Harold Joseph Moody Jr., Robert Dale Sullivan, Jim G. Stevens, Robert Guy Whitney, James Hugh Hogan, Harry William West, Cloyce Martin Odell, Robert Thomas Cross, Wilbur Wendell Cox, Hulon Thomas Benson, Jr., Wayne Lorenzo Cervenka, Roy Russell Hawkins, Stanley Arthur Frisell, Charles Arnold Haase, Richard E. Mackinder, William Earl Brunton, Thomas Wayne Sieb, Robert Eugene Crosby, Thomas Charles Mathews, Claude James Salisbury, Jr. and Marshall Duane Osterander.

The local draft board did not release street or postoffice addresses.

FIREMEN WANT PAPER

Mason firemen will collect waste-paper Friday night. They ask that the paper be tied in bundles or placed in cartons at the curb.

Blossom Time

This is the week of blossoms in Ingham county. Cherries, pears and plums have passed their peak. Apples are just coming on.

Thursday's cold drizzle halted the work of bees.

The weather forecast Thursday noon was for a continuation of light rain and cool weather through Friday, clearing and warmer Saturday, with scattered showers and colder Sunday.

Teaching Staff For Next Year Is Announced

Only One Vacancy Left, Three New Teachers Sign Contracts, Board Reports

With the exception of a fourth grade teacher, the Mason faculty for next year has been secured, Supt. James H. Vander Ven announced Thursday morning.

There were only four vacancies when present teachers returned their signed contracts last week, and all except one of them have been filled, the superintendent reported.

Teachers now to the system next year will be Mrs. Richard Demlow, wife of the high school principal. She taught at Seottville and is now teaching in Lansing. She will have the kindergarten at Mason.

Miss Mary Scott, who will graduate from the music department at Michigan State college in June, will teach music at Mason.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hassinen of Mason will teach bookkeeping and mathematics. She formerly taught in Cass City for three years.

Miss Jean Bush, kindergarten teacher, has taken a teaching position elsewhere. Miss Marianne Rathburn, vocal music, has wedded plans and will live in Detroit.

Miss Elmer Bell, third grade teacher, will also be a bride and live elsewhere. Mrs. Doris Finn, fourth grade teacher, does not intend to teach.

C. Allen Parker, commercial teacher, has signed a contract to teach at Morley. Parker relieved Mrs. Leona Simpson of her duties the middle of the school year. Mrs. Simpson will resume teaching in the fall.

This year's second grade has three teachers. Next year there will be only two, with about 40 pupils in each room, according to present plans.

The list of teachers as announced by the superintendent Thursday follows:

High school Richard Demlow, principal; Donald Edgington, social sciences; James Heathcote, mathematics; Mrs. Helene Howel, and Miss Ruth Collier, home economics; Harry Cairns, science; Donald Carey, history and physical education; Mrs. Helen Strait, physical education;

Louis Lort, coach; Miss Mary Viola, music; Mrs. Verna Rikoff, mathematics; Mrs. Eliza Bell, mathematics; Mrs. Eliza Bell, mathematics; Mrs. Pomaia Shoemaker, librarian; Mrs. Leona Simpson, commercial; J. Edward Soper, shop; Miss Doris Woodcock, English and speech.

Kindergarten—Mrs. Van Demlow, principal; Mrs. Leona Simpson, and Mrs. Betty Reynolds, first grade; Mrs. Alberta Pawlett and Mrs. Ann Frederickson, second grade; Mrs. Phyllis Byrum and Miss Marion Rathbone, third grade;

Mrs. Ruth Hall, fourth grade; Mrs. Mina Hows and Mrs. Olga Juckerjohn, fifth grade; Mrs. Clyde Mills and Mrs. Virginia Elliott, sixth grade.

Ingham Orchards Burst Into Color

Cherries, pears and plums are in full bloom this week. Most peach varieties are now reaching the full blossom stage and all will be out by Friday and Saturday. Apples will reach their peak blossom stage next week.

After a chilly Sunday and Monday, the bees swarmed out into the warm sun Tuesday to drink deep of the nectar offered in Ingham orchards.

"Right now prospects for good crops of all tree fruits are bright," declared Alfred Wardowski, of Blossom Orchard at Leslie.

The weather has been just right. Cold weather held the blossoms back a few days and then when they came the temperature was warm enough for bees to do their work in pollination.

"I'm not making any predictions," cautioned Wardowski, "because a late freeze or a hail or wind storm can bring ruin. But right now the prospects for cherries, peaches and apples never looked better in this area. There is no indication of severe drought which will greatly reduce peach yields in southwestern Michigan."

"Her children arise up and call her blessed"

Mother's Day doesn't pass unheralded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jewett on Tomlinson road in Vevay. Five reasons why are shown in the picture.

The five children have come to the Jewett home over the years because they were wanted there. Some came to board through social agencies. All stayed and are now legally adopted. None of the five is related by blood to brothers or sisters or to the parents. They are related—united is a better word—in love and understanding.

Robert, 16, a strapping six-footer, is at the left. He attends Mason high school. Sitting on Mrs. Jewett's lap is Roger, 4. Next is Phillip, 7, Phyllis, 6, and Sharon, 12. The three all attend the Walters school.

Yes, it's a big active family. The youngsters play hard and sometimes rough. They use up some of the energies helping about the house and on the farm. Those old enough are interested in 4-H work. Bob is a three-sport star at Mason high school.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jewett take active parts in community life. He is supervisor of Vevay township and a director of the county fair. Mrs. Jewett is a leader in extension and 4-H work, in the Legion Auxiliary and in the Methodist W. S. C. S. Both Mr. and Mrs. Jewett are workers in the Walters Community club and the Farm Bureau.

Council Studies Trailer Parking And Junk Yards

What, if anything, should Mason do to control house trailers was dropped into the council's lap Monday night. The junk yard issue also reared its ugly head again.

Police Officer Ralph Hall said complaints on the influx of trailers have been lodged and that he asked Samuella Philip Shirley to make a survey. Shirley's survey showed 39 trailers within the city, 21 of them occupied.

Shirley pointed out that under the state law there can be no more than two trailers on a lot unless a licensed trailer camp is operated. He said that there is a sanitation issue where trailers are not connected with sanitary sewers. He suggested that the council could insist on sewer connections being made. As an alternative, he pointed out that some cities maintain trailer parks.

Complaints on trailers have been made by residents who fear the placing of trailers will lower property values, Shirley explained. He reported, however, that the trailers are as tightly kept as neat and trim as the houses near them.

"I have nothing against the use of trailers or the development of trailer camps," Shirley said. "The only consideration in which my department is interested is public health. Beyond that I can be of little help."

The council took no action on the trailer situation. Several aldermen inquired about the possibility of the zoning ordinance preventing the parking of more than one trailer to a lot.

Crackdown Authorized

Mayor C. H. Hall and aldermen hinted that action may be taken against junk yards within the city when Policeman Hall reported that Osmun Haines still operates his on Sycamore street.

The mayor said that while Roy Kilpatrick still stores waste-paper in a garage on Cherry street, all neighbors except one have granted permission.

Policeman Hall was authorized to serve notice on Haines that unless his junk yard is cleaned up and fenced within 30 days, court action will follow.

Alderman Harold L. Barnhill said neighbors have complained about Haines burning automobile bodies at his yard.

The council decided to use chloride to lay the dust on West Columbia until a temporary black-top mat can be placed on the new fill. Leslie Palmer complained of the dust nuisance.

On recommendation of the street committee, the city will contract with Michigan Chemical Co. for dust-laying of other streets and alleys.

Enabled for two weeks was the petition of three property owners on Hall subdivision for abandonment of a public alley laid out to serve only the three. In case of abandonment the property would revert to the owners of the lots. The petition was tabled to permit the aldermen to learn why the owners want the alley abandoned and to learn of any public interest in the alley. Alderman Frank Evans explained.

Mason Is Seeking Willing Workers For City Crew

Want ad columns of the Ingham County News will be relied upon to line up willing workers for the city. Then by fair treatment and good leadership those willing workers will have their morale boosted. That's the program of the city council as decided Monday night.

Mayor C. H. Hall spoke up about the emergency facing the city. Few good young men are attracted to city employment even though the wage scale compares to that of the county road commission, the mayor said.

"Maybe the tradition of welfare street and sewer work, and the WPA projects has given city employment a bad name," the mayor commented.

"Instill pride into city workers," retorted Alderman Frank Evans. "Instead of saying how bad they are, let's tell them how good they are and make it come true by giving them proper supervision. If we do have men who won't work, let's get rid of them."

Much of the city work is now done by machinery, the mayor pointed out.

The council agreed that a helper should be provided at the sewage disposal plant. Aldermen also said that instead of one supervisor overseeing both street and sewer work, two men should be hired.

Finally the discussion drifted to the proposition of a city manager, or administrator. City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer said he had hoped the charter commission would adopt a mandatory clause of a permissive clause on employing an administrator. Mayor Hall upheld the charter commissioners. There may be times when an administrator is needed while at other times he would have little to do, the mayor asserted.

Alma President Will Deliver Mason Commencement Talk

President John Stanley Harker of Alma college will deliver the commencement address for Mason high school seniors May 31. Plans are being made to hold the commencement exercises at Athletic field. They were held there in 1948 and 1950 under favorable weather conditions both times. If rain threatens, the exercises will be shifted to the school auditorium where there will be room for parents only.

Dr. Harker has served as president of Alma since January of this year. He is a native of New Jersey, a graduate of Grove City college in Pennsylvania and of McCormick Theological seminary. He also holds degrees from the University of Pittsburgh. He was the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hamilton, Ohio, for 13 years before taking the presidency of Alma college in January.

The topic chosen by Dr. Harker for Mason commencement is, "It Does Cost to Live Well."

Baccalaureate will be at the Presbyterian church Sunday night, May 27. Rev. Lloyd Caraway will preach the sermon.

There are 66 in this year's graduating class at Mason. Many of them are now getting ready for the annual senior lake cruise. Mason seniors will visit Chicago and Mackinac leaving Mason May 19. They are due to return the following Tuesday.

State Experts Enter Probe of Water Supply

Mayor Commends Ferris For Notifying Council of Gravel Pit Operations

Experts from the state health department and the state conservation department will advise the council on Mason's water supply.

Mayor C. H. Hall and aldermen expressed concern Monday night over the notice of the Ferris Co. of its intention to mine gravel down to bed rock in the Sheltraw pit.

The mayor commended the Ferris Co. for submitting its plans to the city council. The company owns 21 acres of the old Sheltraw pit extending along the Michigan Central from the city pit to Kipp road. The northern boundary is within 500 feet of the Jefferson street well. The Ferris Co. plans to go to bed rock, about 20 feet below the water table, to get gravel. When the gravel is exhausted there will remain a lake on about 15 acres.

Ferris Asks for Study

In a letter to the council, Ed Ferris declared he wanted to take every precaution to safeguard the city's water supply. He also set forth his desire to make certain that no person will be drowned in the lake which will be formed as gravel is taken out.

The council referred the Ferris Co. letter to City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer. The engineer promised to enlist the aid of state hydrologists and of experts retained by the Layne-Northern company. Layne-Northern has a contract to develop a third gravel pack well. A tentative site has been picked in the esker in the north part of town.

Alderman Frank Evans pointed out that the water-filled pit will create a physical hazard but may not jeopardize the water supply. Instead of a lake, a fill might be made, Evans suggested, and the abandoned pit developed as a subdivision. He warned against permitting a dump to develop.

Clifford Smith, handling the pit of the late George Smith, might be willing to sell to the city. Alderman Evans said. The city also owns a little strip between the Smith pit and the Ferris holdings. Those two areas might protect the Jefferson well, alderman said.

According to City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer, there may be no more health hazard to the lake. Ferris contemplates that the flow of sewage in the Sycamore, the Septic tanks now empty into the Sycamore above Elm street, the engineer said, to peril the water taken from the Ash street well.

Third Man Added To Police Force, Fines Going Up

Mason's police force has been increased 50 per cent. There were two and now there are three full-time policemen.

Charles Hildebrandt is the third man. Ralph Hall and Kenneth Merindorf are the other two. Emory Colby will continue as relief man under the new schedule.

It might have been only a coincidence, but the change came up just before the increase in the force was approved was a schedule of increased traffic fines. The traffic commission, which recommended the third policeman be hired, also recommended a tilt in traffic fines.

The new schedule of fines was held up until City Attorney O. J. Hood studies any possible conflict with the proposed new city charter.

Alderman Harold L. Barnhill is chairman of the police committee of the council and is a member of the traffic commission.

Asked by Alderman Frank Evans what conditions have brought about the need for a third policeman, Barnhill said there always was such a need. He declared the third man should never have been let out.

"It was an economy move designed to save a few dollars," Barnhill said.

Morrison Cut Forces

The police force was cut by former Mayor S. A. Morrison. He declared there was no need for a third man. His council backed him.

Under the schedule set up for the three-man force, Barnhill said, there will be 24-hour police protection except for Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays when swing shifts will be employed so two men can be on duty those three nights. When two are on night duty, Barnhill said, one may patrol streets in the car while the other tries doors. Some of the time the two men will be authorized to ride together in the car.

At previous council sessions Barnhill expressed fear over the safety of officers when only one mans the patrol car.

Hildebrandt will receive the same pay as the other two, $2,640 a year, Barnhill said.

Thieves at Mason Must Answer to Clinton Charges

James Moyer, 28, John Armstrong, 25, and Robert Brewer, 25, all of Lansing, will answer in Clinton county instead of Ingham for a series of robberies.

The three men broke into the Mieselson-Baker coal office and Ed's Refinery Station in Mason May 2. They got $120 at the gas station and $60 at the coal office.

Last Thursday Lansing and state police picked off one of the men and he implicated the other two. They admitted the Mason jobs along with other break-ins in Greenville and in Clinton county. They were turned over to Clinton for prosecution.

Fair Board Hints At Share of Tax

Ingham's fair board may ask the board of supervisors for one-tenth of a mill to erect permanent 4-H buildings at the county fair.

Six of the 10 men on the fair board are also supervisors. Supervisor Rima Dell of Lansing is one of the fair directors. At Monday's session of the supervisors he indicated that the one-tenth mill tax will be sought when appropriations are made next October. The one-tenth of a mill would yield about $34,000 for the fair.

Tent rentals now run about $2,600 a year, Dell said. Asked by Supervisor Charles Hayden of Lansing how much of the tent rental is for 4-H tents, Supervisor Clarence Pufferberger of Onondaga reported that four tents, including the big commercial tent, are rented for exhibits other than 4-H.

A letter from Manager C. H. Harnden of the Saginaw county fair was read. After a survey of the fair grounds at Mason, Harnden reported that the setup is favorable. In Saginaw county he said, the county appropriation of one-tenth of a mill for the 20 years between 1918 and 1937 provided the county with enough buildings. Rentals of the buildings for storage outside of fair week has returned a profit, the Saginaw man declared.

Michigan's Scenic Outdoors Serves As Wayne U. Hosteling Laboratory

Looking over hosteling routes in the State of Michigan are two Wayne University students, Marian Johnson (left), of Hancock, and Phyllis Panches, of Howard City.

With Michigan's scenic peninsula as a laboratory, Wayne University in Detroit has opened a course to supply leadership in a recreational field increasingly attractive to Michiganans: Youth Hosteling.

First school in the nation to offer college credit for a course in Youth Hosteling, Wayne University includes in the instruction numerous field experiences in areas where hosteling facilities are to be found.

The national Hosteling organization, which encourages healthful recreation through inexpensive travel, has established four permanent activity headquarters, or "council" centers in Michigan. These are at Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, and Detroit. It is with the Detroit center that Wayne works closely in presenting the course.

Among the major trips outlined by hosteling authorities for selection by Wayne students is a bicycle trip beginning at the Boon hostel north of Cadillac. This route includes the National Music Camp at Interlochen, a car-ferry trip from Frankfort to Manistique, extensive bicycling in the Northern Peninsula, and a return through Boyne City and Gaylord.

Count of Children Starting May 20

School district enumerators will begin their annual count of youngsters May 20. All children up to the age of 20 are included.

Distribution of state primary fund money is based on the number of children between 5 and 20 in each district. Other state school aid is also based on the annual census taken by school districts each May. The count is taken as of May 31.

County School Superintendent Alton J. Stroud mailed out supplies to local districts, except Lansing and East Lansing, this week. The county office does not supervise the census for the two city districts.

CAN DO

Antique Pieces Need Special Treatment

ANTIQUE furniture is very much in vogue again, and no one needs to tell you how fortunate you are if you have one or two fine early American pieces.

But what condition are your antique pieces in? Possibly they need refinishing, and you've been somewhat at a loss as to how to go about it. Here's a recommended process for refinishing early American pieces of maple or pine, or for putting an original finish on reproductions. It will result in an authentic color, give the piece the desired worn appearance, and withstand a lot of wear.

You will find all the materials you need available at your favorite hardware store, including the varnish remover that might be required to remove the old finish.

When you have brought the piece to the bare wood state, wet the wood to raise the fibers and then smooth it with fine sand paper. Follow this with an application of boiled linseed oil mixed with turpentine, which will give the wood a filler so that the sapwood and end grain around the knots won't take stain too fast.

Now you're ready for the stain, which consists of one teaspoonful of burnt umber and one teaspoonful of sienna in one pint of boiled linseed oil and turpentine mixed half and half. Consistency of the stain should be that of very thin paint. Add more oil, if necessary, to get the stain first on a piece of scrap pine or maple to achieve the color you want. Adding umber will increase the brown color, and adding sienna will heighten the red value.

Brush on the stain in the usual manner, then let the piece dry in the sun, if possible. When it is almost dry, wipe it off with a lintless cloth. For authenticity, wipe more stain from those parts which normally would get the most wear—the seat and arms, for instance, on a chair. This will give the article that well-worn finish you want.

After the stain has dried thoroughly, polish it with a solution of three parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine. Use this polishing solution three times altogether, letting the piece dry completely between polishings, of course.

Genius at Work

MY, MY, the things that are possible if only you can think of them. For instance, did you ever get in a spot where you had to have an exact inside measurement—as between the walls of a closet, the height of certain shelves, etc.—and didn't know how to get a true figure?

CLOTHESPIN

HOME-MADE CALIPER

The answer is a very simple home-made caliper, consisting of a clothespin and two flat sticks of whatever lengths you wish. The sticks are thin enough to slide snugly, on edge, through the slot in the clothespin. A small pin through the prongs of the clothespin keep the sticks in the slot, and stop pins in the edges of the sticks keep them from being pulled all the way out. To use this caliper, just extend the sticks on both sides of the clothespin between whatever surfaces you're trying to measure.

How A Combine Works

The harvest season will find more than 650,000 combines harvesting a wide variety of field crops across the United States. Much of the progress made in reducing man-hours required to grow an acre of wheat from 87.7 hours in 1830 to less than 6 hours today can be credited to the modern combine.

Each of the steps in combining grain is illustrated in the diagram of the Deere-Wood Bros. Combine, prepared by Deere Bros. The combine reel (A) pushes the standing grain against the flail bar (B). The crop is carried by the moving canvas (C) to a rapidly revolving cylinder (D) which delivers to the grain pan (F). Straw and chaff are "walked" out the rear on an agitating straw rack (G). A constant stream of air from fan (H) blows dirt and chaff out of grain. The clean grain auger (I) delivers clean grain to grain tank or to the bagger.

SMALL BUSINESS

There's a question as to how long a man can spend billions of other people's money without becoming dizzy. Around Washington it is wondered if William C. Foster, head of ECA which gives billions away under name of Marshall Plan has not reached that point.

Foster, a former Western European industrial producer is 40% more than 1938 export trade up 50%, farm crops up 10% more than 1938. In C. W. Harder other words, Europe on statistics, never had it so good. Yet more billions to give away are wanted.

Few days later, Foster announced that European cartels, or monopolies, are big stumbling block to average man being prosperous.

Assailing European trusts that curtail production, fix prices, Foster told a St. Louis audience, "Too many Europeans follow the practice of small production with high unit profits. Instead, management must become imbued with the idea of high production, lowering the costs of production, passing the benefits of lower costs to buyer and worker."

So after giving away billions of dollars in free goods, including a half billion in tobacco alone, Foster finds answer that Gen. Douglas MacArthur found without giving away a cent.

Japan has made great recovery stride, despite atom bomb.

Sen. J. Lee Sparkman's Small Business Committee, probing rubber situation is finding rubber allocation program which is driving out of business all but the very few Rubber Biggs, was issued at a meeting of which no record was made and nobody seems to know who attended, or what they said.

Officers Check Lights

Sheriff's officers set up a road block on US-127 north of Mason Sunday to check drivers whose car lights were faulty. From 9:30 to 11:00 the officers found 30 drivers whose car headlights or rear lights were out of order.

Robert Drake Chosen Service Council Head

Robert Drake, register of the probate court, was elected chairman of the Service Council at its meeting Friday at noon in the Hall Memorial library. Mrs. Myrtle Louden will serve as secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Lechtner of Miller road is the vice-chairman.

At the meeting Drake discussed the work of the probate office. A dessert luncheon was served.

Old Resident Dies At Home in Holt

Mrs. Lydia Wiechert, 85, died Wednesday morning at her home, 2214 N. Cedar, in Holt. She had been sick six weeks.

Mrs. Wiechert was born April 23, 1866, in Zurich, Ontario, the daughter of Jacob and Margaret Schatz. She was married in Cassville, Michigan, March 7, 1896, to Ernest Wiechert. They moved to Holt in November of 1908 and since that time had resided in the house where death came Wednesday.

Besides the husband there remain two sons, Leroy of Lansing and Emmanuel at home; a daughter, Pearl, at home; and three grandchildren.

The body will be at the Logan funeral home in Holt until Saturday noon when it will be taken to the Brotherhood Temple Methodist church where funeral services will be held at two o'clock. Rev. Wilson Tennant will officiate with burial in Maple Ridge cemetery in Delhi township.

Obituary

Mrs. Lydia Sutherland

Lydia Sutherland, 90, was the third oldest daughter of John and Jane Elizabeth Moore. She was born in Ingham county August 18, 1860, and never at any time was out of the county. She watched Lansing grow from a cow pasture to what it is today.

On May 24, 1882, she was united in marriage to Oscar Sutherland, of another pioneer family. He preceded her in death by 40 years. Six children were born to this union: Floyd Sutherland and Flossie Neaving of Lansing; Johnnie of California; Roscoe, who died in infancy; and Sybil Babcock and Russell, both of Lansing. Floyd and Flossie preceded her by death in 1950 and 1951. Besides the children there are 31 grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Sutherland spent her whole married life of 68 years on the farm at 3527 Forest road. The home was a log house up until a few years ago. The house burned down and was replaced by a one-story dwelling. She died there. Mrs. Sutherland had been an invalid for two years. Her son, Russell, and his wife cared for her.

Funeral services were held Saturday, April 28, at 10:00 a. m. at the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing with Rev. Vernon Smith of the Presbyterian church of Holt officiating. Burial was at Mt. Hope cemetery.

Youthful Slayer Faces Life Term

Lawrence Gibson, 15, of Lansing is hanged for Jackson prison on a sentence for life. The only thing between him and the sentence is a mental test. He is being held at the jail until three psychiatrists interview him.

If the psychiatrists find Gibson sane, and that he had the ability to distinguish right from wrong when he killed LaVern Roose April 6, the boy will be taken to Jackson prison.

Dr. David C. Asselin and Dr. C. W. Bradford of Lansing and Dr. Frank Schwarz of Battle Creek have been named to the sanity commission to determine Gibson's mental condition.

Probate Judge John McClellan waived jurisdiction over the boy slayer. Gibson waived examination before Lansing Municipal Judge Earl E. McDonald and on Monday went before Circuit Judge Charles H. Hayden to plead guilty to the murder charge. Judge Hayden imposed the life sentence.

Gibson confessed to shooting Roose in an attempted holdup on a parking lot on West Saginaw street in Lansing.

Williamston Noses Out Holt To Win County Track Trophy

By half a point Williamston won the Ingham County league track title at Michigan State college Wednesday afternoon. The Hornets finished with 57 1/2 while Holt had 57. Okemos with 32-2/3 points was third, Fowlerville with 14 was fourth, Leslie with fifth with 12-2/3. Haslett was credited with 10-2/3 and Danville with 10.

Holt closed the gap to a half-point by setting a new record in the 880-yard relay. VerPlanck, Pearce, Lott and Morrison went the distance in 1:38.5. Had Williamston's relay runners not finished second, Holt would have won the trophy.

Hornets placed in every event except the hurdles. They were strong in the runs. Holt captured first in the pole vault, shot put, high jump and high hurdles in addition to the relay. Williamston took the mile run and 880 run and picked up a lot of points in seconds, thirds and fourths.

Placing in events and the times or distances were:

120 High Hurdles 16.5 VerPlanck, Holt; Miller, Fowlerville; Thompson, Danville; Arly, Williamston; and Hanes, Holt.

Modley Relay 2:44.2 Okemos, Holt, Williamston, Leslie, Fowlerville.

100-yard Dash 10.7 Ewing, Okemos; Harris and Burkley, Williamston; Morrison, Holt; Hagenbach, Haslett.

Mason Goes into Two-Game Slump, Everett and Charlotte Are Next

Mason booted away its golden opportunity Friday by losing to Grand Ledge Comets 6-0. Grand Ledge had not lost a game this year. Mason could have moved into a tie with the Comets by winning from Grand Ledge.

Mason fell further down the ladder by dropping a game to Eaton Rapids Tuesday 14-6.

Thursday Mason will play at Howell and on Tuesday Lansing Everett will come to town.

Comet Pitcher Hot

Dick Kleinfelt, star Comet pitcher, was never better than he was against Mason Friday. He limited Mason to two hits. Chuck Howell poked out a double and Bob Thomas beat out an infield roller for the other safety.

When Kleinfelt had the Mason batters eating out of his hands his teammates were getting the range on the left-handed tosses of Mason's Chuck Howell. The Comets picked out nine hits and six runs in the first three innings and then coasted through to the victory on the strong right arm of Kleinfelt.

Doug Armstrong and Vic Hauser paced the nine-hit, Comet attack with two hits in three appearances at the plate.

Howell Takes Rest

Against Eaton Rapids Tuesday Coach Don Carey gave starting pitcher Chuck Howell the day off.

Howell Is Host To CC Trackmen

Capital Circuit track men are awaiting the starting gun for the Capital Circuit championship meet which will be held at Howell Friday afternoon and night.

Interest is higher for this year's meet than at any time in the past several years.

Lansing Everett, one of the track powers of the state, is considered almost a sure thing to walk off with the team championships. The interest lies in some of the individual honors. Every school in the circuit has some outstanding performers.

Preliminary heats in the hurdles and sprints will be run off at 3:30. All finals will take place at 7:30. The meet officials will be provided by Michigan State Normal college. Mason dropped another dual meet Monday afternoon to Grand Ledge. The Comets need to a 60-42 victory. Wayne Every and Jim Blauvelt and the medley relay team of Don Seefeldt, Bob Jewett, Don Lyon and Ralph Ellison were the only ones to pick up first place points over the star-studded Comet team.

Another dual meet has been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday with Coach Jack Finn's Danville Aggies. The meet will be run off at the county park.

Thieves TAKE TIRES

Thieves Saturday night took a tire from a used car parked on the Dart Motor Sales lot and a tire and wheel from a car parked in the David Stone garage, 121 N. Lansing street. Basil Pruitt also reported the theft of a battery from farm equipment on the Lansing farm.

Summer is the time to install that sewage disposal system. Your county agricultural agent can provide information.

Max McCarn Now Commands District VFW

Max McCarn is the new sixth district commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Mason man was elected Sunday at the sixth district convention held at Ypsilanti.

Delegates were present from 40 posts in the counties of Ingham, Washtenaw, Livingston, Jackson, Hillsdale, Monroe and Lenawee.

Other officers elected at the Ypsilanti meeting were William Beiderman, Ann Arbor, senior vice-commander; Harry LaPointe, Erie, junior vice-commander; Ronald Lewis, Fowlerville, quartermaster; R. W. Tensdale, Monroe, chaplain; and Harry Harris, Lansing, surgeon.

McCarn has long been active in the affairs of the VFW and also of the American Legion. He is a navy veteran of World War II and at present an officer in the Michigan National Guard.

In Fennville, where he lived before coming to Mason, he was the first commander of the VFW post.

McCarn was one of the organizers of the Jean R. Anderson post in Mason and has served as quartermaster for the Mason post for three years.

He has served the sixth district as junior and senior vice-commander and is a national wide-camp and department of Michigan co-chairman of the Americanism committee.

McCarn was employed by the Michigan department of public instruction before taking a position with the Al Rice Chevrolet company in Mason.

The sixth district is the biggest district in the Michigan department. The 40 posts represent a membership of 8,300 VFW members.

Social Workers Honor Ingham Foster Mothers

Sixty-five foster mothers for Ingham county probate court wards were honored at a party Tuesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in Mason in celebration of Mother's Day.

Don DeVinney of the Michigan state department of welfare, in his speech, traced the growth of the state laws regarding the care of juveniles and cited Michigan as one of the more progressive states in laws relating to child care. He pointed out the trend toward care of these children in private homes rather than in large institutions. In Ingham county there are 250 licensed boarding homes.

DeVinney touched briefly on the requirements of a good boarding home and emphasized that two of these were sincere interest in and love for children. "Since the pay is small, the task is one which is done for love," he pointed out. "It is a task for which there is little appreciation given from the children's own parents, the children themselves or the general public."

Miss Dorothy Zietz, professor in the social service department of Michigan State college, spoke on the feelings of the foster child in the boarding home. Miss Zietz emphasized the importance of the boarding mother's remembering that she is a substitute mother and must have a special knack of loving and mothering the child without alienating the youngster from his natural parents. She believes that it is important for the boarding mother to feel that she is part of the staff as a paid worker and that personal affairs of the child are a professional secret between herself and the court social worker, not a subject for neighborhood gossip.

A question period followed the talks. Many of the mothers expressed a desire for later discussion groups.

Refreshments of cookies, coffee and tea were served, with Mrs. John McClellan and Miss Merle Parker pouring. The tea table centerpiece of snapdragons, tulips and plum blossoms was arranged by Mrs. Ira Baccus of East Lansing.

The 14 children who accompanied their foster mothers to the party were cared for in the Presbyterian nursery room by wives of members of the Optimist club of Lansing.

The dinner will be prepared by Mrs. Richard Morris, Mrs. Orville Woodard and Mrs. Edward Lee Ware, assisted by the executive board.

Mrs. Morris has made plans for the entertainment. A clown from one of the outstanding circuses will do stunts to amuse the children. He is employed by the circus in the summer and during the winter attends Michigan State college.

Mrs. Glen Dunn, Jr., president of the club, is general chairman for the occasion.

Mrs. Anna Ellsworth and Mrs. Frank Dowl of Detroit called on Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Ellsworth Sunday. Mrs. Ellsworth visited Mr. and Mrs. Maldonado in Detroit Tuesday through Friday. She attended the Detroit Women's club luncheon Thursday at the Rotunda Inn at Pine Lake Country Club.

Obituary

William John Knauf, son of James and Mary Knauf, was born in Waterloo, Jackson county, Michigan, June 27, 1875, and departed this life on Sunday, April 22, 1951 at the age of 75 years, nine months and 26 days.

When a small child he, with his parents, moved to Bunker Hill, Ingham county. In the year 1900 he was united in marriage to Myrtle Hart. To them were born two children, William Lewis and Mildred Onnadene McKinney, both residing in Lansing. Mr. Knauf was a man of great strength and ability, never undertaking a task without success.

In early life he was a professional sheep shearer and grain thrasher, also owned and operated a dray and express business in Leslie for 14 years, and several years he worked as a carpenter with the Hamilton Brothers. He was a volunteer member and later the chief of the Leslie fire department for 25 years.

For the past eight years he has been employed at the Dail Steel Products Company of Lansing.

Besides the widow and children, he leaves four grandchildren: Miss Donald Knauf, Mrs. Donyia Christman, Donald Knauf, and Miss Mildred McKinney, all of Lansing; two great-grandchildren, Robyn Joe Christman and David William Knauf, IV; one brother, Reuben; one sister, Mrs. Fred Reed of Leslie; also an aged invalid aunt, Mrs. Carrie Hoffman of Murieth; besides several nieces and nephews and many, many friends who share the loss.

For the past six weeks he had been in constant suffering. The services were conducted by Rev. L. D. Brown of the Packard Memorial church. He was laid to rest in the Felt cemetery near his boyhood home April 25, 1951.

"Dearest Husband-Father you have left us.

And your loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God that has bereft us. He can all our sorrows heal. Yet again we hope to meet you. When our days of life has fled, Then in Heaven we hope to greet you, Where no farewell tears are shed."

A dry laying house will contribute to the production of clean eggs, say Michigan State college poultrymen.

Cub Scouts Have Circus Frolic

Cub scout Pack No. 148 met May 4, at the Robbins Methodist church on Bunker road. Among the 15 persons present there were 18 cubs, five Scouts and nine adults leaders.

The circus theme was followed with crepe paper streamers outlining a circus tent, balloons, clown and elephant table decorations, and cakes in the shapes and colors of circus ring props.

Every cub present participated in a circus act or stunt, and cubs from two dens gave baskets to their mothers for Mother's Day. Phil Shirley is cubmaster.

Bobcat pins were awarded to Johnny Baumer, Harvey Clark, Donald Pickworth, Jr., and Jay Shirley. Douglas Clark received the wolf badge with gold and silver honor pins. Bruce U'ren was awarded the webelos in a special ceremony. Scoutmaster Art U'ren took the older cubs with the scouts on a four mile hike and camp cooking outing on the evening of May 7.

The climate in the "central business" of Ecuador is springlike the year around.

Holt Youth Hurt In Traffic Crash

Roland Farr, 23, of Holt broke his left shoulder and suffered cuts and bruises Saturday afternoon on US-127 in front of Charlie's Barn at the north city limits of Mason. Farr was riding his motorcycle, north on the trunk line. He was attempting to pass a car driven by Norris Parker, Sr., of Mason. Parker turned left off the pavement into the tavern driveway. Farr crashed against the rear of Parker's car.

THIS IS OUR MOST SHAMEFUL WASTE!

THE NUMBER OF FOREST FIRES IS UNBELIEVABLE!

THERE IS AN AVERAGE OF 200,000 FOREST FIRES EVERY YEAR. THEY BURN ABOUT 30 MILLION ACRES, AN AREA LARGER THAN THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA! THE SAW-TIMBER TREES DESTROYED WOULD BUILD ALL THE HOMES IN A CITY OF OVER ONE-HALF MILLION POPULATION!

HOW MUCH LONGER CAN WE AFFORD THIS SHAMEFUL WASTE?

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY—PEOPLE LIKE YOU! CARELESSNESS—NOT LIGHTNING OR OTHER SUCH CAUSES—IS THE MAJOR CAUSE OF FOREST FIRES! PLEASE—PLEASE—BE CAREFUL THIS YEAR. ALWAYS FOLLOW THESE FOUR SIMPLE RULES:

1. HOLD YOUR MATCH UNTIL IT'S COLD—THEN PINCH IT TO BE SURE.
2. CRUSH OUT YOUR CIGARETTE, CORN, PIPE ASHES, ETC., IN AN ASH TRAY.
3. DROWN YOUR CAMPFIRE, THEN STIR AND DROWN AGAIN.
4. ASK YOUR RANGER OR FIRE WARDEN BEFORE BURNING GRASS, BRUSH, FENCE ROWS OR TRASH.

FOREST FIRES BREED DISASTER!

GREAT FLOODS THREATEN WHEN WATERSHEDS ARE BURNED. VITAL POWER AND WATER SOURCES ARE ENDANGERED. OUR FOREST PLAYGROUNDS TURN TO BLACK ASHES. WILDLIFE IS WIPED OUT. MEN DIE.

SMOKEY SAYS:

"THE RECORDS SHOW A HEARTENING DECLINE IN FOREST FIRES, BUT THEY ARE STILL A TREMENDOUS LOSS. OUR THANKS TO ALL YOU PEOPLE WHO ARE GIVING SO GENEROUSLY OF YOUR TIME AND MONEY AND CAREFULNESS. LET'S MAKE 1950 THE BEST YEAR YET!"

REMEMBER—ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Vocalists Harmonize at Annual Spring Concert

The audience was, and Miss Marianne Rathbun must have been, pleased with the performance of Mason school vocalists at the annual spring concert last Friday night.

Every group did well. Their tones, their time, their discipline, their enthusiasm did credit to themselves and their instructor.

The seventh grade chorus bubbled over with harmony in "O Lord, Most Holy; Go Down, Moses; and Rock-a-my Soul."

The mixed chorus sang Handel's Hallelujah, Amen; and Where'er You Walk; the two spirituals, Bow Low, Elder, and Little David Play on Your Harp; and the tuneful Czechoslovakian dance song, Nancy Bartlett played the accompaniment.

With Louise Van Horn at the piano, the girls trio made up of Verna Lou Collins, Miriam Ervin and Caroline Brown, sang the Prayer from Handel and Gretel, the Kyrie Song of St. Bride and Big Rock Candy Mountain.

The quartet with Nancy Bartlett accompanying, sang Carmencita, When You Wish Upon a Star, and Smoke Gets in Your Eyes. In the annual spring concert last Friday night, John Lutton and Loren Shattuck.

The girls chorus, accompanied by Alan Curtis, sang the Heavens Are Telling, Slumber Song, and When Love Is Kind.

As the finale Miss Rathbun presented her mixed chorus in selections from Victor Herbert with Susan Forche and Louise Van Horn at two pianos. It was sensational, the audience declared with its applause.

Court Will Set Trial Dates at Mason Monday

Trial dates will be set and arrangements will be made at the opening of the May term of circuit court in Mason Monday.

Presiding Judge Marvin J. Sullivan will be on the bench.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard mailed out May term calendars Monday. They listed 40 criminal cases and 17 jury civil cases. More criminal cases will probably be added Monday. However, of the 40 listed on the calendar many will not go to trial. Some of the respondents are expected to plead guilty.

Victor Veronyasse's name appears on the calendar on a murder charge but he's been in the Inonia state hospital even since his sanity hearing held two years ago.

Others on the criminal calendar and the charges lodged against them are Robert J. Bowman, gross indecency; Paul Falcenberg, intent concealment and removal of contract property; William Mitchell Rooney, Alfred Hickey, Donald Ray Wagster and Ronald Lee Boynton, Edward Seales and James A. Leonardson, breaking and entering in nighttime;

Edward C. Hamilton, embezzlement; Miller Shirley and Richard Clay Yates, assault with dangerous weapon; Maynard Cole, Eugene Pressley Heller, Pete Johnson, Richard Bergan, Solomon Robinson, Robert Stoneham, Jack Parr and Richard Fiser, bastardy; Lawrence F. Garow, Robert May, Kenneth Greathouse and James Arnold, statutory rape;

Paul Tadrick and James Johnson and Alfred Hickey, unlawfully driving away an automobile; Burdard E. Arent, driving while intoxicated; Robert Edward Zeitz and Douglas Eugene Sherman, felonious assault; Lee Kinder and James Franklin Calder, forgery and uttering and publishing; Elwood P. Duncan, fraud by contractor; Leiton Ralph Fowler, larceny from a person;

Courtney Little, larceny from a dwelling; Harry Marchant, fraudulent conversion; Leo Saul, resisting an officer; Windsor W. Davidson, public service commission violation; Bennie Fletcher, non-support; and Lemar Aldrich, Emil Dobrick, Harold Dobrick and Eugene Heller on justice court or traffic court appeals.

There are 97 non-jury cases on the calendar along with 14 non-contested and 16 contested chancery cases. Of the 182 chancery cases, 116 are divorce issues.

On the calendar and subject to dismissal for want of progress within the past year are 88 chancery and 34 law cases.

The story of the poppy is familiar to nearly all Americans. During World War I, the one touch of life and cheer on the battlefields of France was the sight of the little wild poppy growing even on the edges of the trenches and around the shell holes. The red flower sprang up over the hastily dug graves of American soldiers, and became a symbol of the sacrifice they made. The first instance of wearing the poppy in honor of the war dead occurred in New York on November 9, 1918, two days before the signing of the Armistice, and in 1921, it was officially adopted as the memorial flower of the American Legion Auxiliary.

This year the campaign in Mason will be carried on under the direction of Mrs. Thelma Smith, chairman of Browne-Cavender's poppy committee. "Let us remember, especially," says Mrs. Smith, "that not only is every cent of the poppy contribution used for the rehabilitation of veterans and their families, but the flowers themselves are made by hospitalized men, whose morale and income are improved by the work. We hope the people of our town will wear their poppies proudly on poppy day and contribute generously to the fund for disabled veterans and their families."

It has been estimated that less than 10 per cent of the population of the earth can obtain food to provide a diet acceptable to a modern dietitian.

East Side Areas Deaf to Sirens

Neither of the two fire sirens on trial can be heard on East Ash and in certain other east side areas. Fire Chief Leland Austin told the council Monday night.

Tests on the sirens will be continued, the fire chief said, with changes made in the mountings. If neither of the sirens can be heard from all parts of town, he added, relay sirens may be installed.

Defense plans call for a siren which can be heard by all, Austin said. He blamed recent confusion and the location of the court house for the East Ash siren failure. The siren has been heard in Dansville, he pointed out, while sound waves bound over an area within three blocks of the fire station.

Leslie Palmer informed the council that he may have to surrender his duties as defense chief. He has received notice, he said, that he may be called up. He is a reserve officer, trained to pilot four-motor bombers.

DEER INVADERS LANSING

Friday night at 11:15 a deer was struck by a car and killed on East Michigan avenue near Clippert street in Lansing. George Dexter of Williamston was driving along when the animal leaped into the path of his car. Conservation Officer Walter Muehler of Mason dressed out the carcass and donated it to the Boys Vocational School. Muehler said there have been several reports of deer along the Red Cedar river inside the Lansing city limits.

Grover Sitts Dies After Long Illness

Grover I. Sitts, 58, long active in the American Legion, the Mason lodge No. 70, P. & A. M., died Friday at Sparrow hospital in Lansing. He had been sick for more than a year.

For many years Mr. Sitts was a carpenter and builder. Later he served on the city police force. He served in the army in World War I.

Mr. Sitts was born in Alaford township November 18, 1892, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sitts. He lived alone in his home on East South street until sickness forced him to enter the hospital. Two weeks ago he was able to be in the business district to visit friends.

A sister, Mrs. Mildred Waterhouse, and a brother, Harold Sitts, survive. Both reside in Holt. Mason lodge No. 70, P. & A. M., conducted funeral services at the Ball funeral home Monday afternoon with burial in Maple Grove. Chaylon Collar, Dr. Russell R. Robbins, Harold L. Barnhill, S. A. Morrison, Emory H. Jewett, and S. A. Benoit were pallbearers. Honorary bearers were police and sheriff's officers, Emory Colby, Kenneth Merindorf, Fred Frye, Ralph Hall, Fred Burroughs and Versile Babcock.

Auxiliary Sells Poppies May 26

On the Saturday preceding Memorial Day, the people of Mason and the surrounding community will be asked to wear a poppy to honor the dead of two World Wars. When members of Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary No. 148 appear on the streets May 26 with the familiar bright red flower this year, it will symbolize also the sacrifice in Korea of many American lives, while the contributions made by the public for the Auxiliary's welfare activities, will aid not only disabled veterans of the two older conflicts, but many Americans wounded and families left fatherless within the past year.

The story of the poppy is familiar to nearly all Americans. During World War I, the one touch of life and cheer on the battlefields of France was the sight of the little wild poppy growing even on the edges of the trenches and around the shell holes. The red flower sprang up over the hastily dug graves of American soldiers, and became a symbol of the sacrifice they made. School Accredited For It's 58th Year

Supt. James H. Vander Ven received notification Tuesday that Mason high school has been continued on the accredited list by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges. Mason has been on the approved list since 1933.

Inclusion in the accredited means that Mason graduates may enter most state universities without taking entrance examinations. It also means, Supt. Vander Ven said, that the school maintains acceptable teaching standards.

LINDEMOR BROADCASTS

Lawrence Lindemer will be guest speaker over radio station WKAR, East Lansing, at 5:15 p. m. Saturday evening. He is the second district representative in the state legislature. Lindemer will discuss probable action on bills in the legislature and legal matters of interest to citizens of Ingham county.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA CLOSES

Mason school lunch cafeteria will close Friday, May 11.

This dessert is for that busy day when everything happens at once and there's no time for extensive cooking. Mix together very lightly a can of applesauce, ginger snap crumbs and whipped cream. Pile in dessert dishes and place in the refrigerator to chill.

INGHAM REPRESENTATIVE SUBMITS REPORT

Important Legislation Has Piled Up

By Lawrence B. Lindemer

This report on the fourth month of the legislative sessions of this year is one week late for the simple reason that the press of other matters prevented my writing it sooner.

I am fully aware now of what experienced legislators mean when they refer to the log jam at the end of the session. For the first couple of months of the session, committees by and large were not too active and bills were not introduced and reported out for the consideration of members. The result is that because of the rush of last minute bills and conscience-inspired action by the committees the docket of the house was filled with matters for consideration. On April 30 there were 128 bills on the calendar.

During the month the house considered and disposed of the capital punishment bill by defeating it on the floor of the house.

Consideration was given also to the one-man grand jury bill. This bill, before it was finally passed, was watered down by amendments so that it is doubtful that a one-man grand jury system as set up in the house would be very effective. It is true that the one-man grand jury system was abused and a great many things were done which might better not have been done; nevertheless, it has long been by opinion that if proper safeguards are provided to protect people and to prevent types of abuse which attracted notoriety, the system itself could do much in the way of detecting crime in Michigan. Of course, at the present time there is much doubt as to what will happen to the bill in the senate because it has been known for some time that many senators looked upon the idea with extreme disfavor.

Bills finally passed the house providing some of the funds for the carrying out of the hospital program in compliance with the dictates of the people as manifested in last fall's election. The house passed one bill appropriating approximately $12,500,000 to be used for this work.

Sunday Hunting Bill Dead

The month of April rang the death knell on other bills in which I had a personal interest. As it had been expected, all Sunday hunting bills were killed in the conservation committee. It is with regret that I also report that the bill I introduced to put some teeth in Michigan's life law was permanently tabled in committee.

As you may recall, the bill provided for a 30-year minimum sentence for first degree murderers and an 18-year minimum sentence for other lifers. It further provided that the action of the parole board should be unanimous. It is apparent from discussions that I had with members of the committee that killed the bill that a new popular concept of corrections work is opposed to any idea of severity in connection with punishment. I have not yet decided whether I shall attempt to introduce the bill in 1952.

New Senator Appears

The death of Arthur Vandenberg, which so saddened all of us in Michigan, was followed shortly by the appointment of his successor, Blair Moody. Moody addressed the house of representatives on the day following his appointment and the general impression among both Republicans and Democrats was one of reservation. The consensus seemed to be that Governor Williams could have made a much worse choice from among those whom he was reported to be considering and it could not be denied that Moody was a young appearing, pleasant man who was very familiar with Washington politics. Most of us seemed to feel that he should be given an opportunity to perform, before being judged.

The big question in Lansing now seems to be the one of raising the money to do those things which must be done by the state this year. After four months of work, it is regrettable that nothing has been forthcoming acceptable to both Republicans and Democrats to provide the revenue. Governor Williams has repeatedly asserted an interest in bi-partisan politics relative to our financial status but, as repeatedly has contradicted his words by his actions. I think it is fair to say that there is much less chance now of the governor and the legislature getting together than there was during January and February.

Personally, I feel that the blame for this situation rests directly on the shoulders of Governor Williams. I know that at one time the Republican leadership of the house seemed willing, in order to effect a compromise, to accept some of Governor Williams' ideas of which I personally did not approve. That was done, as I believe, in an honest attempt to work out a solution to difficult problems. It is to be regretted that the governor by his actions has precluded the furtherance of a compromise in the interests of the state as a whole.

It is fortunate that I was able to attend every single meeting of the legislature during April so that I may report at this time that the one meeting missed during March was the only one I have missed so far this year.

Next month I shall present my final monthly report through the papers of Ingham county that have been so cooperative in this matter.

Personally, I feel that the blame for this situation rests directly on the shoulders of Governor Williams. I know that at one time the Republican leadership of the house seemed willing, in order to effect a compromise, to accept some of

Record Number of 4-H Clubs Make Summer Project Plans

Thirty-seven community clubs are organized with the prospect of two or three more being organized, which will be the largest number of community groups that there have been in the past in the county.

Enrollments are not all in yet so it cannot be ascertained whether the total enrollment of members will be as large or larger than previous years, however, most clubs are running large with lots of enthusiasm at the present time.

A letter was sent last week to the leader in charge of each community club with suggested material which each club should have for the overall organization. Also club members should have in special material available for 4-H leaders at the extension office. If leaders do not have this information they are requested to call the 4-H office or the extension office will be glad to mail the requested material to any leader asking for it.

Club Agent Avery says, "We are in hopes that leaders will attempt to acquaint the members, especially the older ones, with the many contests and activities which may be carried on either as a club group or individually. National contest leaflets are available through the county office for members and leaders."

Announcements and suggestions made to the leaders were as follows:

Send enrollments in to the extension office after the second meeting of the community club. These enrollments will be typed and one copy returned to the leader for their use.

Do not accept new members after June 1. All members planning to carry 4-H club work should have joined the club before that time.

Hybrid corn seed is available

now. Leaders should let the extension office know the number of members who wish seed in their club. The seed will be put up in two-pound bags for each variety with each member receiving four varieties for their acre plot. If leaders will let the extension office know the corn can either be picked up at the office or delivered to the leader.

Clothing Judging

Four-H club girls interested in clothing judging met at the court house Saturday morning, April 28. The top four girls selected to represent Ingham county at the district eliminations in August are as follows: Diana Clamahan and Phyllis Pearson from the East Lansing club, Katherine Kahve and Carolyn Childs from the Gunn club of Holt. These girls will compete at the district contest in clothing judging with the other contestants from the county.

Rural Life Sunday

Sunday, April 29 was set aside for Rural Life Sunday. To be a time when 4-H club members and leaders were to encourage participation in church services and to plan on going to church.

Ingham county 4-H club members in many cases participated in the church services. The list of members who participated in the church services are The Southwesterns club led by Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller assisted with the program at the Robbins church. The Wheatfield and Alameda clubs assisted with the program at the Wheatfield church. The White Oak club participated in the program at the Millville church. At Aurelius Baptist church, four groups attended and assisted. The four groups attending were the Aurelius groups, the Wilcox club, the Ferris club and Gretton. In the Congregational church at Leslie, several leaders and adults assisted with the program.

Two clubs which had a large part in the program sent their programs to the extension office and they are as follows: Vantown club assisted at the Vantown church. Ushers were Wayne Malcho, Mike Myall and Bill Sly. Collections were taken up by Don Hingue and Keith Douglas. The superintendent was Don Williams. All members participated in the choir. A 4-H story was given by Paul Osterle, the prayer by Arthur Webster, musical selections on the accordion by Beverly Hensell and Betty Risch and a vocal duet by Sally Ann Nemer and Dorothy Eldridge. There was a piano duet by Pat Monroe and Barbara Webster.

The Cross Roads Farmers club also sent in their complete program. The scriptures were read by Kenneth Rutherford and the prayer given by Naomi Lantz, a song, "In the Garden," by Jean Baker and Dick Todd, pledge to the flag by George Cansie, a baritone solo by Naomi Lantz, a poem "The 4-Hers" by Bethel Wilbur, and the 4-H pledge by Phyllis Pearson. The collection was taken by Doron Howe, Jerry Galloway, Bonnie Wilbur and Lois Evans. A song, "God Be With You," was sung by Irah Baker and Faith Fernald, and the ushers were Ralph Kitchen and Jerry Fernald.

The Okemos club also had a nice participation in the Okemos Community church. Two services are held at the Community church. At the first service, Dick Benn gave a five minute talk on the meaning of 4-H Rural Life Sunday as far as 4-H clubs are concerned, and a quartet composed of Margaret and Mackie Black, Marilyn Bennett and Clarence Prentice sang. At the second service, Rhoda Kelly gave the talk and Clarence Prentice played a solo on the trumpet. Rev. Evans built his talk around Rural Life Sunday and used two of the local farmers in the community to read the scripture. They were Mr. Bennett for the first service and Ralph Stillman for the second.

This is the largest participation in Rural Life Sunday that Ingham county has had and Club Agent M. H. Avery hopes that all the members and ministers enjoyed the cooperation of each other in putting across this fine program and that more clubs will participate in these services in the coming years.

4-H Club Camp

It is asked that leaders emphasize 4-H club camp to their members and especially that they make up their minds and send their registrations in to the office before June 1 if they plan on going.

A number of clubs have already made out programs for their club which have been sent to the county office for mimeographing and copies enough returned to leaders for their members. It is valuable for the club to have their program planned for the summer and their mimeographed program makes it possible for all members to know when their meetings are going to be held.

The safety activity program is again being carried on in the county with the expectations of selecting the top club and top individuals to be recognized by the General Motors dealers of Lansing at their winter meeting. Several pieces of material are available on safety, along with a suggested outline for the club and the individual members' activity report to be turned in, in the fall, with their regular 4-H club report.

At the suggestion of the county 4-H council clubs have been asked to make a donation to the extension office for three 4-H club flags, one to be used in the county at achievement day and county-wide events, the other two to be sent to the state 4-H office to be used in the state show to advertise the 4-H program in each county there. Clubs have also been asked to make a donation to the National 4-H Foundation in Washington, the site of the Chevy Chase college which has been purchased for this 4-H Foundation. At the present time about $80 has been sent in by the various clubs. It is suggested that clubs that have not sent in their donation plan to do so soon so that this money may be turned over to the State extension office.

A softball meeting for coaches and boys interested is being called at the extension office at 8:00 p. m. in the evening of May 15 to go over rules and regulations for the program this year. A statewide 4-H softball elimination contest is going to be run off this year in the state and Ingham county is interested in participating in this event.

Sandhill

The second meeting of the Sandhill 4-H club was held Friday evening at the home of Jerry Lumianski, Jim Kranz, club president, called the meeting to order. Secretary Norma Kranz read the minutes. New members were introduced. Installation of officers was postponed until all officers could be present.

The paper drive netted $7.35 for the club. A baked goods sale was suggested to raise more money for clippers. Mrs. Carl Thorburn, Mrs. Arthur Gruhn and Mrs. Kenneth Brown will have charge of the sale which will be held at Rathbun's Hardware Saturday, May 12.

New officers appointed were: Robert Wells and Mike Pekuri, recreation leaders; Jerry Lumianski, song leader. Records and books will be distributed at the next meeting which will be held May 25 at the home of Sandra Montaven. Mrs. Lumianski served pop and cake at the close of the meeting.

Following is a list of county cents for the remainder of the year:

May 29 the foods leaders will meet. June 1-3 the Waldenwoods older youth camp will be held and the Service club will sponsor a junior leaders meeting. June 29, June 26-28 4-H club week will be observed at Michigan State college. The first week in July club camp will be held in Algonquin lake near Hastings. The county dairy tour on July 10 will be followed by poultry day at Charlotte and Greenfield Village and see the Detroit Tigers play July 18 and 19. The latter part of July will be spent in judging, with a vegetable and flower tour and judging planned for July 24, the Lions tour of gardens and corn July 26 and foods and canning judging July 27.

August 1 and 2 will be spent in Bangs testing and August 3 the club leaders will have a meeting concerning the county fair. Judging eliminations will be held in Michigan State college August 9 and 10, and August 12 the barn committee and clerks will meet at the fair grounds. The county fair, August 13-18, will be followed by the state show, August 28-31.

September 14 the final reports, except for beef feeding and crop projects, are due in the county office. Winter clubs will be organized during October and the 4-H Council meeting October 8 will be followed by the Lions crop show October 23.

National Achievement Week, November 3-10, will follow the Ingham county achievement day, November 1. Winter project leaders will meet November 8 and National Club Congress will be held in Chicago November 28-29.

The junior livestock show in Detroit is scheduled for December 4-6. The 4-H Council meets December 17.

Dietician Speaks At Little Club

Little club members met Tuesday evening at the town hall to hear Miss Olive Henderson, dietician from the Ingham County Sanatorium, in Lansing.

After reviewing the well-known seven basic foods plan, she stated that table appearance plays an important part in helping to create appetites. The use of colorful linens, attractive serving dishes and various food garnishes are all an aid to lugging appetites.

Miss Henderson suggested people watch the packaging of foods, such as weights and quantity as well as quality, and with the correct use of proper kitchen equipment, food values can be retained.

Hostess, Mrs. Leland Roshier, served refreshments during the question and answer period following Miss Henderson's talk.

Summer meetings are to be dispensed with this year. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bruce Jones.

Cub Scouts Plan Annual Carnival

The annual Cub Scout carnival is planned for May 18 in the Presbyterian gym at seven o'clock. The denners are preparing a program featuring movies, refreshments and concessions.

The carnival committee met Thursday evening with Mrs. Naomi Nichols to complete plans for the affair.

Each Den will plan and operate its own booth or concession. Signs, posters, props and decorations are being made by the Scouts.

P. T. A. Officers to Be Installed Monday

Holt P. T. A. will meet for installation of officers and a hotel supper at 6:30 in the high school, Monday, May 14.

New officers to be installed are: President, Bruce Jones; father vice-president, William Fudge; mother vice-president, Mrs. Frank Landers; teacher vice-president, Mrs. Bruce Andersen; secretary, Mrs. Russell Darling; treasurer, Mrs. George Yonkers; parliamentarian, Mrs. Bud Ellis; and historian, Miss Marian Pierson.

Clean-Up Drive Starts Monday

The second annual clean-up drive for Holt starts Monday, May 14, and pickups will be May 18-19.

Sponsored by the Holt Community Council, and under the chairmanship of Marshall Coolidge, the campaign will last a week and pickups will start early Friday morning on all streets on the west side of Cedar street.

Rubbish and junk should be ready because the truck will make only one round. Saturday, May 19, all streets to the east of Cedar will be canvassed.

All useless articles should be placed in wooden boxes or other suitable containers and put in front of the house at the curb. No ashes, tree trimmings or dirt will be picked up.

Attics and basements can be made safer from fire and accidents and vacant lots would be improved by cleaning.

Recital Is Given By Piano Pupils

Piano pupils of Mrs. Gertrude Curtis appeared at a recital May 1 at her home on North Cedar.

Students taking part were Gayle Utter, Loraine Jessup, Billy Hunt, Edmond Heck, Randy Herod, Leroy Kenna, Sandra Coledge, Patty Bassler, Sharon Wirick and Kay Kreiner.

Ingham Women Observe Extension Anniversary

Extension women from all over the county attended the 24th annual achievement day Thursday at the Legion Memorial building.

Anne Costello, senior speech student at Michigan State college, opened the program with a reading hour recital, "Anne of a Thousand Days."

Mrs. Floyd Farnsworth, county executive committee chairman, revealed the result of balloting which the individual groups did for district representatives to the executive committee. Those elected were Mrs. Morell Fox of the Fanny Doers club, northwest district; Mrs. Alvin Goble, Elmhills Corners club, southeast district; Mrs. Lawrence Dolbe, Aurelius Center club, southwest district; and Mrs. Howard Pollok, Wheatfield club, northeast district. Mrs. Pollok is serving her second term in office.

Mrs. Gerald Dimmond, executive committee member, awarded the gavel to the group with the largest percentage of attendance at achievement day and the blackboard to the next group. The two items will be used by the groups winning them until the next achievement day.

Dave Beatty of Williamston, winner of the 4-H variety show, gave his winning reading, "Casey's Daughter," and Mrs. Paul Mendelsohn of Lansing gave three musical readings, "Husbands," "Patchwork Philosophy," and "Ma and the Auto." Mrs. G. S. McIntire of Lansing sang a solo.

Assistant State Home Demonstration Leader Ruth Peck brought greetings from Michigan State college and Mrs. Annette Schaefer, Ingham county home demonstration agent, gave recognition to the leaders and secretaries and reported the year's work.

Mrs. W. B. Ketchum of Mason, first Ingham county extension chairman, gave the invocation. M. H. Avery led the group singing and summarized the county agricultural extension program.

Mrs. Howard Pollok reported on the pennies for friendship project and Mrs. Kestor Antcliff and Mrs. Floyd Farnsworth talked about the women's camp which will be held June 20-22 in the 4-H club building at the fairgrounds.

The Michigan extension women's creed, minutes of the 1950 achievement day program, the presentation of county chairman pins and a game were also included in the program.

FLOYD STARR

Floyd Starr, founder and president of the Starr Commonwealth for Boys near Albion, spoke on "There's No Such Thing As a Bad Boy" at achievement day Thursday.

In 1913 he established his school for boys faced with problems they were unable to solve. Through two wars, a destructive fire and the depression of the 1930's, he has managed to maintain the school and expand the opportunities offered the boys enrolled. More than 1,500 have attended the school under "Uncle Floyd's" supervision. Starr believes that his record is proof of his methods and his faith in the innate goodness of boys given a chance in an environment of love and activity.

Auxiliary Members Honor Their Mothers At Banquet Tuesday

Spring flowers and candles in pastel shades furnished the decorations for the mother-daughter dinner of Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary No. 148 at the Legion Memorial building Tuesday evening. One hundred Auxiliary members and guests were at the planned bohemian dinner served under the direction of Mrs. Maud Bergin, Mrs. Mabel Salisbury and Mrs. Ethel Woodard, with Mrs. Violet Moses in charge of decorations.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Grace Ankney, unit president, called the group to order and turned the meeting over to Miss Ethel Adams, program chairman. After community singing with Mrs. Erma Smith at the piano, Mrs. Ankney introduced the special guests and each member presented her guest. An unusual feature was the presence of Mrs. Ankney's family group, three daughters, two daughters-in-law and six granddaughters at a special table.

Several small girls furnished numbers on the program. Judy Guerrero, Dana Rathburn, Kathy Brown and Valerie Brown gave recitations. Linda Lang and Jeanie Rowland did a tap-dance and Carole Rowland, with Dana, Judy, Linda and Jeanie, sang "When Mother Sews."

Berthel Moses, a member of the class of 1952 of the Mason school, gave the toast to the mothers, and Mrs. Marjorie Parker, responded with a greeting to the daughters. Mrs. Lillian Rathburn read a Mother's Day poem written by Mrs. Mildred North of Delhi township.

Caroline Brown, accompanied by Mrs. Roger Kistner, sang two numbers, and a flute duet was rendered by Nancy Smith and Patty Adams.

Mrs. Helen Carter of Lansing, who was president in 1950 of the Sixth District Association of the Auxiliary and who this year is Department Gold Star chairman, gave a short talk, stressing the organization's duties among the gold star members of the community.

Mrs. Florence Winn of Pontiac, president of the sixth district association, addressed the group, speaking of the Auxiliary's rehabilitation work at home as well as through contributions to veterans' hospitals and the children's billet.

She also spoke of the wide field of prospective members, and called attention to the fact that relatives of veterans of the Korean conflict may join the unit, and that our veterans' hospitals are now being rapidly filled by the wounded of this "police action."

Guests from Lansing, Grand Rapids, Danville, Holt, Onondaga and Fenton attended the banquet. At the meeting, May 22, plans will be completed for the annual poppy sale.

Mrs. Harold Conklin went to Rogers City Tuesday to visit friends. She is expected to return Thursday night.

Rev. Hugh Putnam attended the Jackson Ministerial meeting Tuesday afternoon and evening, which was held in Charlotte.

TODAY'S meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

"Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord." (Colossians 3:20) Read Luke 2:41-52.

Respect for parents is an old and an excellent virtue. The fifth commandment in the Mosaic Law not only calls upon children to honor their parents, but includes the promised blessing of long life to those who will do so.

Obedience may be the result of fear. This motive is not the basis of Christian teaching. Jesus revealed God as a loving heavenly Father. His followers are to obey Him because they love Him and desire to do His will.

This is the plan that the Apostle Paul would have parents and children follow. Obedience, then, is to be based upon love, not upon fear. Children will honor their parents by loving them and through such love seek to obey them. Obedience based upon love surpasses obedience based upon fear.

Dear Father, we thank Thee for godly parents, for the love and care they give their children. In so doing they reveal Thy love. Bless all such parents the world over. Increase their number so that more children from Christian homes may learn the lesson of true obedience to parents and to Thee. In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If Christ dwells in the family circle, parents are held in honor and children practice obedience.

Baptist Church Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the Mason Baptist church was held Wednesday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. with the pastor, Rev. Lloyd G. Caraway, serving as moderator of the meeting.

Reports of all church departments and organizations indicated progress during the past year, he reports.

Contributions from all branches of the church totaled more than $8,500.00. Of this amount $2,400 was devoted to the missionary and benevolence program of the church.

Officers elected were: W. E. C. McCowan and Walter Zimmer, deacons; Mrs. E. N. Pettys and Mrs. Robert Ballard, deaconesses; Stanley Holmes and Ralph Hall, trustees;

Burton Thorn, Mrs. Harry J. Smith and Clarence Eickert, finance committee; Board of Christian Education; Walter Zimmer, Mrs. Lyman Freshour, Mrs. Burton Thorn, Miss Julia Holmes, Robert Ballard and Rev. Caraway. Mrs. H. J. Hartley was elected vice-moderator. Mrs. Laura Seely will serve as clerk. Burton Thorn is the new treasurer and Mrs. Harry J. Smith is financial secretary. Sunday school superintendent, Walter Zimmer was re-elected and superintendent of the children's division of the Sunday school is Mrs. Lyman Freshour. Ivan Heinemann will be chief usher.

Mrs. Lawrence VanHorn, Mrs. George Murthum and Mrs. L. G. Caraway compose the music committee; W. E. C. McCowan, Howard Coy and Dr. L. A. Wilken will serve as the auditing committee, and Mrs. H. J. Hartley is the church historian.

Kale is a nutritious and economical vegetable that should be served often. If you add a cream or cheese sauce to it and top it with sliced hard-boiled eggs, your family will enjoy it as a luncheon dish. Crisp strips of bacon are delicious with this kale dish, too.

Senior Actors Give Three Plays At School May 17

Next Thursday, May 17, at 8:15 p. m., the school department will present three one-act plays in the high school gymnasium, under the sponsorship of the local P. T. A.

The plays, directed by three members of the written and spoken English class, will present a balance of comedy, tragedy, and everyday life. In "Lucky Windows," directed by Kathryn Walter, the story of a boy's struggle against the domination of his mother is tender and humorously portrayed with a touch of the supernatural. The cast includes Barbara Ridgway, Joyce Lawrence, Mary English, Vera Snyder, Helen Palmer, Paul Osterle and Tom Wigle. George Cooke has condensed "Tommy and Juliet," now directing its production, complete with the famous balcony scene. Charles Nelson, Dick Carter, Lyle Weldon and Duane Jenks comprise the cast.

The three-play bill is completed by "Conscience Account," directed by Lyle Weldon. The play is a combination of mystery, quiet humor and romance that leaves the audience wondering until the end. Taking parts are Carolyn Hefty, Joyce Wilson, Phyllis Plannery, Charles Getz and Gary Mead.

The plays are a part of the work of the class, who will do their own make-up. Jim Young, class instructor, has acted only as a consultant to directors and casts.

There will be a free will offering taken at the door, the proceeds of which will be applied to the expenses of the senior trip and the P. T. A. The public is cordially invited to this evening of drama.

F. H. A. Has Dinner And Installation

The Dansville Future Homemakers held their installation dinner last Wednesday. Group singing followed the dinner, after which Verla Jean Snyder, president, presided over the opening ceremony.

All guests were welcomed and Carol Starkey, vice-president, then gave the club history. Rose Cochran, secretary, completed this year's history of the club and introduced the panel members for the discussion.

The questions for the panel were made up of problems of the F. H. A. relative to married life. The girls who comprised the panel were former members of the F. H. A. They were Mrs. Peggy Wright, Mrs. Pauline Wilson, Mrs. Yvonne Fry, Mrs. Ellen Paul, Mrs. Joyce Thompson and Mrs. Margie Gaus.

The F. H. A. club mothers also assisted in some of the answers to the questions. The club mother for the preceding year was Mrs. J. C. Bohmelt and the club mothers for the following year are Mrs. Bob Thompson and Mrs. Harlow Sly.

After the discussion the regular

Mrs. Ida Gardner Is Buried Monday

Ida Brotherton, only daughter in a family of four, was born in Waterloo, Jackson county, Michigan, on September 28, 1870 to Nancy and Otis Brotherton. At the age of 11 she moved with her parents to Dansville.

On June 20, 1890, she was married to Lee Warfle. They were parents of three children. Nearly all their married life was spent in and near Dansville. Mr. Warfle died February 21, 1934.

Mrs. Warfle was married to James Gardner, August 30, 1937 and since then they have lived on the farm two miles west of Dansville where she died Friday evening, May 4, following a long illness.

She was a member of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church and until ill health prevented, was always ready to help in any of its activities. Besides the husband she is survived by one daughter, Frances Otis of Lansing; two sons, Floyd Warfle of Dansville, and Lawrence of Lake Lansing; three grandchildren, two grand-grandchildren; and one brother, Ed Brotherton of Grayling.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 at the West funeral home with Rev. E. H. Kitchin officiating and burial in Fairview cemetery.

Sunday School Is Planning Party

Next Monday evening, May 13, the losing side of the contest in the Dansville Free Methodist Sunday school will entertain the winners at a party at the town hall.

Mrs. Alfred Sherman, Mrs. E. H. Kitchin, Miss Kathleen Presley and Jim Young, teachers on the losing side are in charge of the arrangements.

The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Charles Kingsley, business manager of Spring Arbor Junior college and ex-chaplain in Japan in World War II, will show pictures of Japan and Joe McFarlan, Irish tenor from Belfast, Ireland, will sing several selections.

There will also be games followed by refreshments. A gift will be presented to the largest family present. Everyone is invited.

Piano Students To Give Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Dora Diehl, Mrs. Arlo Warfle and Carol Starkey will be presented in a piano recital next Friday evening, May 18 at 8:00 at the Methodist church.

Aggies Lose Game In Extra Inning

Thursday night Dansville lost its second extra-inning league game to Haslett at Haslett. Although the Aggies had a five run lead at the end of the second inning, Haslett overcame it by scoring six runs in the third. Dansville came back to tie it up in the fifth and to go ahead in the first half of the seventh, 7-6. In the last of the seventh, after two were out, Haslett tied the score and went on to win the game in the extra inning on a Dansville error.

The Aggies showed more power at the plate than ever before this year. They collected 11 hits with Donovan Hayhoe and Jack Halbert getting three each, and Leroy Soule and Don Douglas two hits each.

Leroy Brower started pitching for Dansville and was relieved by Bob Thompson in the third. Paul Osterle was the catcher.

Others who played were James Hodglen, Richard Dockett, Bob Brooks and Duane Jenks.

Tuesday evening the team played at Fowlerville. Holt played at Dansville Thursday afternoon.

Deviled Egg-Macaroni Supper

Looking for a nourishing, appetizing dish to help balance this week's food budget? This deviled egg-macaroni supper is your answer! Though rich in proteins and in taste appeal, it is an inexpensive main course. To prepare it, you will use:

- 1 tablespoon salt, for macaroni
- 4 ounces elbow macaroni
- 2 quarts boiling water
- 4 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt, for sauce
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups grated cheese
- 4 hard cooked eggs, deviled

Put the salt and macaroni into the rapidly boiling salted water. Cook for 12 to 15 minutes or until tender. Drain and rinse. While the macaroni is cooking, prepare the eggs and sauce.

To hard cook the eggs, place eggs in a pan with a cover. Add enough water to cover the eggs. Bring gradually to steaming point. Cook just below the boiling point for 15 minutes. Drain and remove in taste appeal, it is an inexpensive main course. To prepare it, you will use:

Remove yolks. Season with salt and pepper. Add margarine or butter and beat until light and smooth. Re-fill egg whites with the yolk mixture, piling lightly. To prepare the sauce, melt the margarine or butter in a saucepan first. Add flour, pepper, salt and mustard. Mix thoroughly. Gradually stir in the milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in cheese until it is melted.

Arrange the cooked macaroni in a buttered baking dish with the hot cheese sauce. Arrange the deviled eggs on top. Put in a moderate oven (350 to 375 F.) for about 10 to 15 minutes, until sauce is hot and bubbly around edges. This recipe will make about six servings.

Clean Wallpaper Brightens House

Clean wallpaper does much to brighten up a home, and there are two ways to do the job, says Olivia Meyer, extension specialist in the Michigan State college school of home economics.

One is the use of a commercial dough type cleaner which may be used on washable or non-washable wallpaper. The other method is washing of washable wallpaper.

If you plan to use the dough type cleaner, Miss Meyer suggests you work a ball of cleaner until it is the temperature of the hands before using. Touch paper lightly, using long, even strokes, moving the hand always in the same direction. Be sure the ball of cleaner is moving as it touches the paper and as it is lifted up.

Keep the soiled cleaner worked into the center of the ball and replace with a fresh ball when completely soiled. Be sure to overlap strokes to prevent streaking and do not stroke against the edge of a seam.

If you have washable paper, the home economist suggests that you try the method first on some spot where the paper is hidden. The paper should be cleaned with a commercial dough cleaner before washing. The rich thick suds of mild soap in lukewarm water.

Apply the suds freely with a cellulose sponge. Rinse with a second sponge wrung out of clean lukewarm water. When washing wallpaper, begin work at the bottom of the wall and work upward. Be careful not to stroke against the seams of the paper, which may roughen and sometimes tear.

Grease spots can be removed from papered walls by making a paste of whiting or cornstarch and carbon tetrachloride. Spread this paste over the grease spot, allow to dry, then brush off.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Pete is dynamiting stumps.

Visits from old friends are appreciated.

A pat on the back is helpful. Good neighbors make good neighbors.

Pete is doing something that has many friends and needs! He's dynamiting stumps. Don't you other wives feel pity until your husbands get back and all in one place? Pete says that's not necessary and for me to go right on with my mending and forget him. And the windows rattling off the walls almost??? I told him if anything happened to him that I'd never have another husband to get attached to because the suspense and worry over something happening to him had taught me a lesson. . . . If you don't love anyone then you don't have to mourn over them.

How simple it is for the person who never has many friends or who doesn't have a large family. They don't have to have little pieces of their heart torn out from time to time. Maybe I'm only trying to make a poor joke. It's the way I feel sometimes even though you would want it that way. I remember saying many times when I was a youngster, "I don't ever want another pet as long as I live," as I was digging its grave. Anyway I wish we could swallow some kind of a pill to make us less sensitive or sorrowful and miserable.

I sound sad today, don't I? Guess until Pete quits dynamiting his stumps I'll find another job to do and quit this. Here's hoping a happier mood settles on me. This is making even me sad!

Later:

The dynamiting is done. At least for this spring. No one got hurt. Dad came while Pete was down there and when he came up he said several of the fuses refused to go off and he had had to start them over. I still think it's a dangerous job but will change the subject.

A lot of pleasant things have happened to me lately. One was a surprise visit from someone I hadn't seen in a long time. I made me guess who she was and I stood so puzzled. I didn't know her. It's a queer feeling to know someone and yet not recognize their name or remember just who they are. As soon as she said, "Don't you really know me?" I said, "Dora Reed." I stayed there three years when I went to Ithaca to high school and all the good times we had! I still have a lot of faith in her remedy of heavy woolen blankets on top of you, hot ginger tea in you and a steaming tent of peppermint vapor around you for a bad cold. She used to come to administer this torture but in the morning we would get out of bed feeling like new.

She came Monday morning in the middle of a huge washing but I shut off the outfit and she stayed for dinner and what a good visit we had. It had been 16 years since I had seen her and she didn't look at all like she used to. She was on her way back to Boyne City where she and her husband take care of a state park there.

Something else nice happened. I saw Dorothy Miniger in St. Johns and we had a good visit. She was an eighth grader in the first school I taught and we had sort of a companionship not very much like pupil-teacher but more half of each. She was larger than I and the only big girl. I was 19 when school started and with 33 pupils I never figured these two years the best ones of my life. Even so, I think they got their money's worth ($45 a month) as I never tried so hard at anything in my life. Dorothy assured me she had benefited and enjoyed it to boot and Dorothy, you don't know how much good that did me!

I'm not fishing for compliments for myself but I wonder why folks don't go out of their way to be kinder or more friendly and say nice things once in a while? You know how warm inside it makes you so let's start the ball rolling to pass on a kind word. The funny part of it is there is no one going that you have to make up something about. . . . there is something good or fine in everyone, no matter who. If you think I mean to go around and palaver and drop all over someone, you're crazy. I mean, when you see something that deserves a comment, don't think it but say it or write it.

And while I'm saying that I want to say this: Do you wonder why you don't get any letters? It may be because you haven't written any. We ought to write to our folks more often. . . . to our sisters and brothers and fathers and mothers and uncles and aunts if we don't see them very much. End of the page, but I've got to tell this: Mrs. Passenger and I went to see Mrs. Jim Ladd of Ithaca. They've been married almost 63 years. . . . were old friends of Mother and Dad. Mr. Ladd told me the first time he ever saw Mother was when she and Dad were coming home from getting married. This was the week of March 28, 1906. They had walked the mile to Oia and taken the train to Ashley where Elder Dull had married them. It was too muddy for a rig so they had walked. Then he said, "We surely had good neighbors in your mother and dad." My, but that made me feel happy and proud. Now Mr. Ladd is almost blind and Mrs. Ladd has to go on crutches. It had been years since I had seen them but I had heard about them all my life from my folks, heard what good neighbors they were. You know maybe it takes a good neighbor to be a good neighbor!

When Mrs. Passenger was here last fall she said they lived across from Ladd's. When I went to Ithaca last week Mrs. Passenger and I went to see them. I enjoyed that visit very much!

Have you made a call on someone sick or shut-in this week? Just thought I'd jiggle your rut a little. . . .

I just finished the cancer drive in this district.

I had just finished the Red Cross the month before. At first I thought I'd say no because I couldn't get done without anything else added on but I guess if you think you can, you can. And you can't I think the cancer drive is one of the most worthwhile door-to-door donation affairs there are. Cancer is so terrible and once it gets started there seems no stopping it so far.

Mrs. Fisher, who keeps house for Mr. Penner, had a sister who passed away last week with cancer and it was the most pitiful thing to see her. I took Mrs. Fisher over to see her several times and my heart ached for her husband and other sisters Ida and Nora who stayed with her in the final stages. I didn't seem possible she could last the night out and she lingered two weeks and a half.

We saw Anna Baum go the same way. It's a terrible thing. I hope the cancer fund gets a big amount collected and someone finds a cure soon.

Psychiatrist on Lecture Program

H. Waldo Bird, M. D., Detroit psychiatrist, will speak on "Sick Feelings Physical and Emotional" Tuesday, May 15, at 8 p. m., in the auditorium of the Lansing YWCA. This is the last in a series of lectures open to the public with no charge.

Dr. Bird will indicate that an estimated "one-third" of patients who visit their physicians do not have any definite organic disease to account for their symptoms. It is believed, further, that another one-third demonstrate symptoms which are dependent in part on emotional factors. And finally, the remaining third are felt to suffer from disorders which fall into the realm of physical disease in which the psychological life may be of some importance both in understanding cause and in the therapeutic management.

These lectures are sponsored by the Ingham county chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene and the mental health committee of the Ingham County Council of Social Welfare.

Andersons Buy Western Cattle

Henry Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson returned to Mason Saturday after a cattle-buying expedition which took them through the Dakotas. They finally bought two carloads near Bismarck in North Dakota.

"Good feeders are scarce," reported the senior Anderson. "We drove to many ranches where we had heard good things. Few of them had what we wanted. It took us a week to find the two carloads which we bought."

WILKINS GOES TO AUSTRIA

David Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilkins of Jackson, A. Wilkins of Route 4, Mason, has been selected to represent Land O'Lakes Council and Troop 25 of the Consumers Power Employees club at the 7th World Scout Jamboree. This will be held at Salzburg, Austria, during the summer. David attended the National Boy Scouts Jamboree at Valley Forge last summer. He is being sponsored by the Consumers Power Employees club.

Valentino Film Revives Interest in the Tango

"Crisis," story of an American brain specialist kidnapped in an unnamed Latin-American country fomenting with revolution, and forced to perform a dangerous operation to save the life of its hated dictator, brings Cary Grant, Jose Ferrer, Paula Raymond and a distinguished supporting cast to the Fox screen on Saturday.

Cary Grant, returning to a straight dramatic role after a series of comedies, enacts the part of Dr. Eugene Ferguson whose vacation with his attractive wife is brought to an abrupt termination when he finds himself under arrest and is brought face to face with Raoul Farrago (Jose Ferrer), the country's tyrannical ruler. Farrago, suffering from a brain tumor and unwilling to trust his own medical experts, demands that Ferguson operate on him. Although he is well aware of the penalty should his operation fail, Ferguson's ethics as a physician persuade him to undertake the dangerous assignment.

It is not until after the operation, however, that he is forced to make an even more momentous decision. The country's revolutionary forces, headed by the noble Gonzales, have detained Ferguson's wife as she is about to escape to the States and they now offer him the choice of permitting Farrago to die and seeing the safe return of his wife—or the obvious alternative.

Striking Resemblance

Rudolph Valentino, the famed screen lover who made the hearts of countless millions of women skip many a beat, lives again in Columbia Pictures' "Valentino," which opens Sunday at the Fox Theatre. Eleanor Parker and Anthony Dexter as Valentino are co-starred, with Richard Carlson, Patricia Medina and Joseph Calleia featured.

In the intimate, behind-the-scenes story of the man so many women loved, Edward Small's production dwells principally on the romantic aspects. The star's inimitable personality, his striking handsomeness wove a romantic spell that has never before been equalled, until the casting of Anthony Dexter in the role of the great lover.

The "Valentino" tango is danced by Anthony Dexter, who stars with Eleanor Parker and Patricia Medina in Columbia's "Valentino," at the Fox Theatre on Sunday and Monday. The Edward Small production was filmed in color by technicolor.

In "Valentino," Dexter arrives in America after a romantic shipboard interlude with Miss Parker, who, unknown to him, is a great movie star. A dancer by profession, he ekes out a living as a gigolo until his meteoric climb to fame begins when he again meets Miss Parker, in company with Carlson, her director who starts him on the road to success in motion pictures.

Mexican Treaty

John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, team with ace director-producer John Ford to achieve the year's finest outdoor screen adventure, "Rio Grande," which opens at the Fox Theatre. The John Ford-Merian C. Cooper presentation for Republic co-stars Ben Johnson, Claude Jarman, Jr., Harry Carey, Jr., and Chill Wills, with J. Carroll Naish, Victor McLaglen, Grant Withers and the Sons of the Pioneers in support.

"Rio Grande" is a story of the U. S. Cavalry at a crucial period in the turbulent history of the West.

In 1876, the United States and Mexico had signed treaties respecting the sovereign rights of each country. Therefore, U. S. troops could not enter Mexico for any reason. Natchez, notorious Apache outlaw, look advantage of this treaty. He and his white-hating warriors would make forays on American villages in Texas, then scurry back across the Rio Grande into Mexico before they could be captured.

Around this dramatic situation hinges the tense action of the film. Wayne, as the Colonel in command of the Cavalry, is on the border of the Rio Grande, has to choose between letting the Indians continue their marauding, or breaking the treaty in order to stop them. A personal problem arises when his son is sent to his fort as a recruit, and his wife, from whom he has been separated for 15 years, follows in order to buy the boy's way out of the troop.

Calamity Jane Returns

"They're dynamite together! That's the best possible way to describe Calamity Jane, and the Texan who invaded her domain, as their story is told in Columbia Pictures' new outdoor action release, "The Texan Meets Calamity Jane," the Cinecolor film which will be shown at the Fox on Thursday and Friday.

Calamity Jane, whose real-life exploits constitute one of the most colorful stories of the Old West, ruled one of America's toughest towns, Deadwood, South Dakota. The new film takes up her life after her lover, Wild Bill Hickok, was killed. It goes on to tell how her rule of the town, and her ownership of the Prairie Queen saloon, was threatened by a Texan who was not only a lawyer but also a very tough hombre!

It seems that Calamity Jane inherited the saloon from a man whom she once had rescued from certain death. Her arch-rival in Deadwood, one Matt Baker, brings up from Texas both the niece of the deceased and the aforementioned lawyer, to claim the Prairie Queen and Friday.

Actual Safari

One of the most exciting scenes in Republic's "Jungle Stampede," filmed in Africa by the young explorers, George Breakston and Yorkie Coplan, and opening Thursday at the Fox Theatre, pictures the battle between two lions for the favor of a lioness.

The Breakston-Coplan safari included two trucks loaded with equipment, two hunting cars and one jeep. In the party were three white hunters and 22 native carriers and servants.

The hunters—all expert marksmen—were paid $300 a week, and it was their job, according to law, to finish off any wounded animal. They go into the jungle until they locate the beast, and make sure it's dead, for a wounded wild animal is a menace.

During its 7,000 mile trek through the African veldt, the Breakston-Coplan expedition pushed through such places as Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda and Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Although Breakston and Coplan are inclined to minimize them, the jungle was replete with dangers. They filmed some 20 different species of fauna, including rhinos, hippos, wild buffalo, lions and elephants. And there was never any telling what the animals were going to do.

KEEP STREETS CLEAN

Mason invested $7,000 in a street sweeper to keep the streets clean. But it can't do the job alone. In fact, it can't do the job at all unless people help.

The street sweeper is expected to pick up only the usual street dirt, not the leaves and twigs that people rake onto the pavement.

No rubbish, and that means leaves and sticks and stones, should be raked or otherwise placed in the streets. Nor should leaves or other rubbish be burned in the streets.

Thanks for your cooperation.

Button, button and the call goes through

Push buttons simplify a lot of jobs in this electric age. Ten little push buttons now help Long Distance telephone operators handle more calls more quickly.

A customer gives the operator the out-of-town number. She swiftly presses several buttons, which correspond to the letters and numbers on a telephone dial, and the call goes straight through to the distant telephone.

That's the way it works in Detroit and a number of cities throughout the country. In many other places, including more than a dozen Michigan exchanges, telephone operators speed Long Distance calls by dialing direct to many points with regular dials.

Named "operator toll dialing," this new development is already used on 1 1/2 million Long Distance calls daily and is steadily being expanded. Every minute it saves is important right now as the nation turns to the telephone to hurry our defenses.

To help speed your Long Distance call, please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number. Telephone lines are busy with national defense

Townships Can Spend Money Wisely

There is little basis for the charge that townships make poor use of sales tax diversion money.

True it is that the townships didn't demand a split. Also true is the statement that with the county taking over township roads and welfare responsibility there is no need for township funds to be raised for those purposes.

Here in Ingham county there is no showing that the townships have not used their new-found wealth wisely. They have used it to buy firefighting equipment, and to build and remodel township halls and fire stations. Townships have invested their sales tax cash in building new roads and to spruce up cemeteries.

Now in Alameda township a new use has been proposed. Alameda has $10,000 in township funds for which there is no immediate need. Some of the schools in the township need extra money for remodeling and for the installation of inside toilets. If the township voters approve the transfer of funds, the $10,000 will be invested in school buildings, divided on a school census basis between the different schools.

A special election for approval of the transfer has been called for May 21.

There's a move that some schools have pressed for money may have overlooked. There's no reason why township and city revenues, when available, can't be used to give added support to the schools.

Such use may well be the answer to the charge that townships and cities get too big a split from the sales tax. Such use of extra township and city funds may also be an answer to increased school needs.

A lot of people outside of Alameda will be watching with interest the decision reached at the special election May 21.

Mason Citizens Should Learn What Proposed Charter Offers

By Vernon J. Brown

This writer does not reside in the city of Mason. He did not at one time and once he had the honor of being elected to the office of mayor. He has paid taxes in the city since 1910 and still pays there. So perhaps a few words from one who knows something about the city and its affairs, the manner of doing business under the old charter and through the operation of an old-fashioned common council and a mayor, clerk, treasurer and other elected officials, might be excused.

More than a quarter century has now passed since the first deluge of city commission charters descended upon the cities of America. Michigan was one of the first states to recognize the policy of home rule for cities and see commission charters and modifications thereof adopted. Enough time has now elapsed to prove whether or not these innovations have resulted in all the benefits claimed for them.

People Get What They Want

If out of this experience no other fact has been brought forth, it is this—government in any city is just about what the people want or are willing to tolerate. If matters run so much whether the basic laws under which administration of its affairs are couched in modern or ancient language. With the right kind of public officials in charge, a city may progress under the most obsolete of charters. With the wrong kind of officials at the helm, no matter how progressive and liberal the charter may be, the city's business will lag and the people will suffer.

Mason is about to vote on the matter of adoption of a proposed charter decided upon, written and submitted to the electors of the city by public spirited men chosen by the people. After months of study of the charters of other cities and after consultation with many who are in position to judge of the merits or lack of merits of certain proposals, their work now is before the citizens of Mason.

Citizens Should Decide

The best interests of the public will be managed only by: (1) an indifference on the part of the voters which will lead them to refrain from any participation in the matter; (2) a disposition on the part of the average voter to yield to an impulse of doubt and suspicion and vote against adoption without finding out what is proposed; and (3) an equally fallacious attitude that merely because someone has spent time and effort in its framing, the new charter should be adopted, willy-nilly. Another danger lies in the attitude of some that because a thing is old it must be bad and because it is new it must be better.

Now let us scan the text to ascertain just what is proposed by the nine men elected last fall to prepare what is now before the people.

The old charter was somewhat restricted in the powers granted to the council, the mayor and the other city officials. This proposed new charter runs counterwise and hands out gobs of power and authority. State laws passed back in 1871 on which Mason's old charter was based, were restrictive. Modern thought appears more liberal.

Under the old regime the people elected all city officials, each thus holding mandate direct from the voters. Sometimes this may have resulted in divided responsibility, confusion, lack of acknowledged authority and ineffectiveness.

Short Ballot Provided

Under the proposed new charter, the only officials to be voted into and out of office are the members of the city council. They in turn choose the mayor and appoint the clerk, treasurer and the other officials, even to a city manager if desired and determined upon, to run things for the councilmen.

Under such a system, there can be no dodging the issue. Those elected to the council can be held to strict accountability and if they do not do things to suit the public, the public will know exactly where to point their fingers and whom to displace. There can be no "huck passing." Moreover, there will be no party emblems or insignia or catch-vote tillos.

Neither will there be any more city and ward caucuses. Wards are abolished and all nominations for city office will be by petition, primary election and then an outright general election in case there are contests.

Along with these new features the proposed new charter offers many other reforms. The innovations cannot well be discussed in the brief space available here. The commission has wisely decided upon public meetings at which different phases of the proposed charter can be discussed in detail and at which questions which may bother the average citizen may be answered. These meetings should be numerous. Every civic, social and fraternal body in the city should find the time, set a date, and arrange a meeting so that every proposed provision may be scanned and criticized.

Public Must Compare

Only by such means can the public be made aware of what the lengthy document contains. Without experience in governmental operations, the average reader will be lost in the maze of words necessary in such a legal instrument. It is easy to catch a phrase here and another there and thence from to reach a hasty and perhaps inaccurate decision.

If, on the whole, the instrument stands scrutiny and it is found good, by all means it deserves approval. On the other hand, if there are unwise provisions, if too much power is being vested in too select a group of public officials, this should be discovered and made known to the public and if the prospects of improvements are dimmed by the prospects of abuse, then the charter should by all means be rejected.

But the one challenging urge is for all citizens to learn for themselves what is being offered. Then to vote when that day arrives.

After adoption, if the charter is approved, the next big task before the citizens of Mason is to see to it that able men and women are elected to the council. Once that has been done, then all the citizen has to do is watch the council perform. If those whom the council selects to do the actual administration job fail in their duties, only the council can be held responsible. There are no others to watch or to complain of.

Birth rates of more than 40 per thousand a year are rare.

The Motherhood Symbol

Millions of words will be written and spoken about mothers within the next few days. Florists, candy makers, manufacturers of nylon hosiery and undergarments, and perfume makers will profit. We'll all feel so happy in paying tribute to mother on Mother's Day.

The gifts we'll bring our mothers will be symbols of our affection, just as mother stands as a symbol of understanding.

The courage of the race is lodged in the mothers. That's where all of us have our character first stamped. That's where we learn the lessons that stay with us long after those we learn in school are forgotten.

Motherhood is more than understanding, more than the comforting arms, more than the feeling of security that child psychologists talk about. Motherhood means not only the perpetuation of the race but the implanting of ideals in that race. The mothers have brought their children out of savagery and into civilization. Motherhood is not only symbolic of love and understanding, tenderness and mercy, it is synonymous with civilization.

Doing Good Too Much

Back again for a repeat performance is this little editorial on doing good too much:

"Had Lincoln lived today, the Rotary club would supply him with a set of books, the Lions club with a good reading lamp, the Cosmopolitan club with writing equipment, the Kiwanis club with a wooden floor for the cabin.

"He would have the protection of the child labor law, and a kindly philanthropist would send him to college with a scholarship. Incidentally, a case worker would see that his father received a monthly check from the county. The OPA would reduce his rent by 50 per cent. He would receive a subsidy for rail splitting, another for raising some crop he was going to raise anyway, and still another subsidy for not raising a crop he had no intention of raising.

"Result: There would have been no Abraham Lincoln!"

The Farmer's Share

In a talk before Mason business men and farmers Keith Tanner of the Michigan Farm Bureau pointed out that the farmer's share of the food dollar is 41c while during World War II it stood at 50c. The balance of the dollar goes to processors, jobbers, retailers and tax collectors.

Tanner also pointed out another thing which we sometimes overlook. That's our beefing about the rise in the costs of necessities while we say little about increases in the prices of the luxuries we think we can afford.

"Some people don't buy their food at the right time," Tanner said. "They first make their payments on television and radio sets and automobiles. Their pay checks are pretty well gone before they get around to buying their food. They may have failed to notice how much they paid for luxuries. But they can't forget that food costs more."

There are few people who know what the farmers are faced with today who begrudge the farmer what he gets. With 15 per cent less help than he had in 1940, the farmer is producing 35 per cent more. He's getting that increased production by working harder and longer and by making heavier investments in machinery. That's an example the rest of us might follow with profit to ourselves and with added soundness to the general economy.

The Right Approach

Ed Ferris of the Ferris Co. approaches the problem of getting his gravel out of his ground from the right angle. That's the angle of public welfare and public safety.

The Ferris Co. owns 21 acres of the Hogsback inside the city. That gravel is valuable and Ed Ferris knows it. He wants to dig down to bedrock, 20 feet under the ground water level. If he does, that will make a lake 20 feet deep. And if he does it may also ruin or damage the Jefferson well 800 feet away upon which the city depends for part of its water supply.

That's why he has asked the city council to explore the situation thoroughly before operations begin. That's why the council is doing it.

Many men would see only their gravel. Ed can see the lake or a public dump or a dry well. His concern with the public interest and welfare is heartening.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Had Ambrose been with Eve in the Garden of Eden the serpent might not have beguiled her and Eve might not have eaten of the forbidden fruit. And then Adam might not have had to have earned his bread by the sweat of his face.

Ambrose is Jo-Lynne Cappel's cat. Each day he goes into the garden of the Sycamore behind the house and comes out with a garter snake. He fetches the dying snake to the Cappel garage where Jo-Lynne's mother finishes up the job with a shovel.

There isn't a better rummage town in the United States than Mason. Rummage sales per capita run higher here than almost any place else, according to statistics which may be issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Many Mason people keep themselves well clothed by buying and selling at rummage sales.

Two of the best neckties I have ever owned were picked up at a rummage sale last fall for 3c each. I learned that both were placed on sale by Howard McCowan when he converted to bow ties.

Heading this way from California is the barefoot fall. Instead of wearing toed shoes, girls of high school and college age are wearing shoeless shoes.

Don't count on getting rich by saving Indianhead pennies to sell to collectors. According to U. S. Treasury estimates there are now 1,600,000,000 Indianhead pennies being held out of circulation under the mistaken notion that they are worth more than a cent apiece to someone.

By special arrangement with the collector of internal revenue, the Ingham County News has been authorized to collect pennies, 40 at a time. For 40 pennies, either Lincoln or Chief Okemos, the Ingham County News will insert one want ad of 40 words. The pennies will be placed in a special fund to be paid to the internal revenue collector.

A few weeks ago members of the want ad staff here at the Ingham County News pondered a warranty on ads. If a man inserted an ad for someone to build fence the Ingham County News would guarantee results. Vernon J. Brown would take his fence stretchers and go to work. The money received would go into a special want ad fund. Then when a farmer placed a want ad to sell his last year's Cadillac the Ingham County News would take money out of the want ad fund to buy the car if no other buyer with the cash could be found.

Merle Brown (no kinsman) inserted a want ad for someone to spray his fruit trees. No one showed up. So I took my spray rig and did the job. Then came the complaint that an Ingham County News want ad had failed to find a mate for Sam Conway's Quercus bill. Want ad staff workers are doing their best but are handicapped by ABA competition.

An added worker was taken on Monday morning to see what car he could find a market for. He was to find a market for a pair of Boy Scout pants. Mrs. Clifton Lamphere inserted an ad offering her son's pants for sale with no takers. We have tentatively decided not to make an out and out warranty on want ads results but to continue to lend all possible aid.

As such feeble new words and phrases as "Bye, now" come into use some of the old ones pass on. There were two words in the 1867 ordinances (see Page 1) which were regularly used but whose meanings have now been almost forgotten. One was breachy. Ask the first 10 people you meet what a breachy cow or horse is. A breachy cow or horse is one which breaks down fences. That causes a breach. Breach still clings on in legal parlance; in breach of promise, breach of contract and breach of peace. It is still used occasionally in military reports, such as a breach of the 38th Parallel.

The other word in the old ordinances was ardent as applied to liquor. Hollywood has taken over ardent for applying to passion or emotion. In the old days ardent was connected up with spirits, liquor which caused a burning sensation in the throat.

Grim has become the most over-worked word in the English language. When words are overworked they soon lose their potency.

As I surveyed the rows of empty seats at the Mason school spring choral concert last Friday night I thought that the community owed an apology to Miss Marianne Rathburn and her choruses and tries and quartets. But after more reflection I changed my mind because apologies are worth little.

Instead of apologizing, those who weren't there might better voice their regrets. Because they did miss as good a choral concert as was ever presented in Mason or any other town this size. And to the credit of Miss Rathburn and her pupils, let it be said that they sang as cheerfully and well as though an overflow audience had been hanging from the rafters.

There's just too much going on in the amusement and entertainment line. Competition is terrific. People don't have time or don't take time to enjoy the good things because there are so many other events they feel obligated to attend.

That goes for even such cultural agencies as the PTA, the College club, the Women's club, the Child Study clubs, the Kiwanis club and the Lions club. All of these organizations pride themselves on their cultural influence. How the Kiwanians applauded when Miss Rathburn brought her choruses before the club one night to sing! How some of the members of the women's clubs cooed when the trio or quartet sang for them! Yet there were few club members who cared to compliment Miss Rathburn and her singers by attending the free concert last Friday night. And the point is that those youngsters and many of the teachers didn't show up either.

We all share the blame. The school arranges pep meetings for football and basketball teams whether their play is good, bad or indifferent. The muscle men are honored at banquets. But those who sing and think and study usually do so without being interrupted by applause.

The spring band concert is next Wednesday night.

GOD'S MEN is the last of Pearl Buck's novels. It is receiving contradictory reviews. Either it is said to be very good, or it does not live up to the previous ones. It is readable, but we found the intertwining of lives which had barely touched each other, a rather difficult thing to follow. There seems to be not quite enough of either American or Chinese life to satisfy the reader. William and Clem were both sons of American missionaries in China. Both returned to America—William to have all the advantages that good education and wealth could bring him. Clem to build on a firm belief in the goodness of mankind if it is fed. Both become wealthy, and both are guided in the way that they live by their own past experiences in China.

WAR IN KOREA by Marguerite Higgins is the report of the only woman correspondent to be in the field who was back out in Korea. Young and attractive, Miss Higgins felt that not only was she as a person on trial in such an event, but the future of all women journalists. The book is not profound, but it seems to be good reporting. Pictures by Life photographer Mydans are quite plentiful.

GRAND PORTAGE by Walter O'Meara was a disappointment to us. We had expected it to be a story which told more of the old Northwest Company, fur traders which rivaled the Hudson Bay Company. Instead the emphasis is on the young man hero and the women who influence him. The fur trading serves only as a backdrop. HOW TO GROW VEGETABLES is one of our new garden books. It should be particularly helpful to the new gardener. Planting time, soil, insects are all here, but so also are special sections on varying kinds of vegetables—salad greens, root vegetables, cabbage family, vine-crops, etc.

Mother's Day

And what a girl Mom is. Take 3 meals a day, add the family washing, include tender care for her loved ones along with running the household on a slender budget and you have a 70 hour work week with no overtime pay.

Fresh Vegetables Are on the Market

It's asparagus and rhubarb time, and these two "early birds" among the many Michigan grown vegetables will be bringing welcome springtime freshness to our menus during May and June.

Rhubarb, incidentally, is truly a vegetable, although it is used and commonly thought of as a fruit.

Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college, lists several homemaker "tricks of the trade" to remember while taking advantage of the home-grown rhubarb and asparagus season.

For cooking rhubarb at its best here are three easy rules: (a) Use an enameled pan. It will prevent discoloring as sometimes happens in a metal pan. (b) Be sure all leaf parts are removed from the stalk before cooking as rhubarb leaves contain oxalic acid which we don't want to eat. (c) If you want the cut pieces to stay whole rather than "mushy up," drop them into a hot syrup and cook only until tender. If you like stewed rhubarb, the pieces can be put in at the same time as the sugar. The sauce will be more mushy in appearance.

In cooking asparagus, remember that the tips cook tender faster than the stalks. Here's Miss Bodwell's suggestion for getting the whole stem cooked evenly, preventing the tips from cooking to pieces. Add the tip ends after the cut pieces have been partially cooked. Or if you like to cook the spears whole, they should be set with the cut ends in the water so the tips can steam down while the lower parts are cooking.

If you're in the habit of "putting up" fruits and vegetables in season, you may have learned that rhubarb can be preserved very easily by freezing, not so easily by canning.

When canned it tends to lose color, and mushes easily. Commercial canners have had the same problems, along with the fact that rhubarb is very acid and thus difficult to pack in metal containers.

To freeze, simply wash the rhubarb stalks, cut up and seal in air-tight containers without sugar. Asparagus can be either canned or frozen easily.

Homemakers who have a garden patch of rhubarb or asparagus can usually cut their fresh supply when needed. If you buy asparagus at the store, it can be kept fresh and crisp easily. Put the cut ends in a shallow pan of water and keep refrigerated. Rhubarb to be kept fresh several days should be washed, then wrapped and placed in the refrigerator or placed in the vegetable hydrator.

The human body requires for growth, maintenance, health and vigor a mixture of foods and will supply at regular intervals a certain minimum of 30 or more different nutrients.

Oakland Dairyman Tells How To Hold Production

This is the fourth in a series of articles in which the nation's leading dairy farmers tell the farm editor of the Ingham County Press how they get their high production—Editor.

One of the nation's best dairymen is O. F. Foster, manager of Lakefield Farms at Clarkston over in Oakland county.

Every year his herd of about 30 Holsteins is near the top in production testing. Last year his cows on twice-daily milking averaged 569.7 pounds of butterfat.

"I look first in a dairy cow for dairy quality, capacity and strength," says Foster.

"Dairy quality covers a lot of cow, such as angularity, absence of belfiness and quality of head and udder. Capacity is indicated by a broad muzzle, large nostrils, depth and width of chest and rumen, and a fairly large udder."

"Strength is indicated by a fairly large head, a straight back, straight legs, a strongly attached udder and at least average size for the breed."

Foster thinks it is generally best to raise calves by hand—pail-feed them. "Whole milk should be used for six or eight weeks and then skim milk if it's available."

Foster's calves start eating pellets and crushed or rolled grain and a small amount of hay at six to nine days of age. He continues them on a limited amount of grain until 17 to 19 months of age, when they are bred.

He thinks a satisfactory ration can be made with farm grains, plus enough soybean meal to raise the protein content to 14 per cent. He adds two pounds of steamed bone meal, 1½ pounds of salt and some trace minerals to each 100 pounds of feed.

"Most important, as far as feed is concerned," says Foster, "is good pasture and good hay. You can't get production without them."

He feeds mostly corn silage but thinks grass silage is worth trying on any dairy farm.

Hay is fed several times a day to encourage the cows to eat more. The variety is changed to stimulate appetite. A little early-cut timothy is fed once a day.

Foster's Holsteins that milk over 65 pounds a day are fed a pound of grain for every 3½ pounds of milk produced. "But every cow is a new problem and no definite rule can be applied."

He thinks an intelligent dairyman, without expensive equipment or excessively high-priced cows, should be able to produce about 450 pounds of butterfat per year per cow. "And that kind of production means a good profit," he says.

Foster's methods do not vary widely from those of other top dairymen.

All stress the need of cows showing dairy character and plenty of capacity. All stress the need for good pasture and good hay. All feed their calves well and try to raise them to be big, healthy cows. All are men who study latest research and generally use standard methods recommended by agricultural colleges.

These herds are mostly established ones, run for a profit and not as a rich man's hobby. They are good evidence that a high-producing herd is a money-making herd.

High production isn't bought by men with big money to spend. It's not that easy. You get it, these men say, by careful attention to all the little details that go to make up a well-rounded dairy program. Getting good cows to start with is only the first step.

Herd of Jerseys Is Now Classified

Seven registered Jerseys in the herd owned by Ira D. Cronkright, Webberville, were recently classified under a program of the American Jersey Cattle Club. The classification rated the animals for type, comparing them against the breed's score of 100 points for a perfect animal.

This classification was for all previously unclassified females that have had at least one calf and for all bulls over two years old. They were rated by J. C. Thompson, St. Louis, Mo. Thompson is an official classifier for the club, which has its national headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

Three animals scored Very Good, one Good Plus, and three Good. The classification program sponsored by the American Jersey Cattle Club is designed to help breeders of registered Jerseys improve their cattle by knowing which ones come closest to the breed's standard of perfection.

Importance of pastures for balanced farming operations will be featured at the Grass Day programs which Michigan State college Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor during June.

COW MAKES RECORD

With 583 pounds of butterfat and 16,638 pounds of milk to her credit, Segis Walker Charlotte, a registered Holstein cow owned by Donald A. Williams, Mason, has completed a 290-day production test in official herd improvement registry. She was milked twice daily, and was 8 years 2 months of age when she began her testing period.

Good Pasture Helps Poultry

Good pasture will help farmers to control worms in chickens, J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college, advised this week.

Worm control is the most important reason why a new pasture should be provided each year for the growing flock, he says. So far as the egg business is concerned, the most difficult job the poultryman faces is to develop healthy, well-grown replacement pullets for the laying house.

Some of the better pasture grasses are a bromegrass mixture or ladino—if the soil and temperature are suited to ladino. In the alfalfa-brome mixture, the brome provides early pasture while alfalfa is unsurpassed in providing a succulent green feed during the hot, dry part of the summer.

Any poultry pasture should be clipped or pastured by other farm animals occasionally. The new tender grass is always provided for the chickens, Moore advises. Fibrous, dry, well-matured grasses are of little use for a poultry range.

Chickens are not good rangers, the poultryman says. They will go little distance from the summer-shelter unless the feeders are allowed to become empty part of the day. Unless the house is moved, they do not get full advantage of the pasture provided. Frequent moving of the brooding quarters, as well as feeders and waterers, will bring the pasture to the growing pullets.

The many benefits of a sound grassland program on farms will be features of the Grass Day programs, sponsored by Michigan State college and local agencies in six locations in the state during June.

Soybeans Offer Emergency Hay

If you're looking for a hay or pasture shortage on your farm this year, make plans for some emergency hay and pasture crops now, say Michigan State college farm crop specialists.

A good cropping program should provide for abundant production of long-lived forage crops. However, certain annual crops will serve well to give livestock the needed forage.

Certain crops are more useful than others, the farm crop specialists advise. Factors to consider are the location in the state, soil type, fertility, and forage needs.

Soybeans for hay excels other annual crops in production of protein per acre in sections where it is adapted. Climate and soil conditions required for the production of grain corn are favorable for soybeans. The composition of well-grown soybean hay is similar to alfalfa hay.

Earlyana, Lincoln and Manchito are the soybean varieties which have the best characteristics for hay production in Michigan.

The small grains, especially oats, are often harvested for hay. Oats and peas mixed bushels for bushel, and planted at the rate of two and one-half to three bushels per acre, is a valuable hay mixture for upper Michigan and the northern part of lower Michigan. The mixture is ready to cut for hay when the oats are in the late milk stage and the peas are forming in the pod.

Millet and Sudan Grass can also be used for emergency hay crops.

For emergency pasture, Sudan Grass planted May 20 to June 1 is usually ready to pasture shortly after July 1. Both oats and barley planted in the spring furnish considerable pasture in June and early July. Rape is used principally for hogs and sheep.

County agricultural agents can help you in selection of the emergency hay or pasture crop best suited to your section of the state.

HOLSTEIN FINISHES TEST

With 691 pounds of butterfat and 19,144 pounds of milk to her credit, Lyttona Imabelle Burke, a registered Holstein cow owned by W. C. Wright, Williamston, has completed a 359-day production test in official herd improvement registry. She was milked twice daily, and was 6 years 10 months of age when she began her testing period.

In selecting fresh asparagus at the store, look for stalks that are green most of the way down. Green stalks are rich in vitamins. Also look for stalks that are brittle and fresh in appearance, and tips that have not started to spread. Spreading tips mean the vegetable is either not fresh or over-mature.

Farmers Warned Of Damage Done Grain by Rust

"Control Stem Rust by Barberry Eradication" is a new Michigan State college extension publication to aid farmers in the fight against stem rust in grain crops.

Co-authors E. A. Andrews, Michigan State college extension plant pathologist, and M. E. Turner, USDA barberry eradication leader for Michigan, cite that two new races of stem rust broke out over a wide area for the first time in 1950. Control will become even more important as the need for cereal crops increases.

Stem rust is caused by a fungus plant that lives alternately on the barberry bush, and the small grains and many wild grasses. The rust-spreading barberry was brought to Michigan by pioneers about 1805 and used for hedge and ornamental planting. Local destructive epidemics of stem rust in the wheat, oat, barley and rye crops followed the introduction.

The disease became so severe in some localities that production of small grain was discontinued. As a result, in 1918, barberry was outlawed and its systematic eradication begun.

Federal, state, county and local agencies now co-operate in the barberry-eradication work in Michigan.

The authors recommend the following steps to help control stem rust:

1. Destroy all rust-spreading barberry bushes.
 2. Grow only varieties of grain that are resistant to stem rust and that are recommended by Michigan State college.
 3. Plant spring crops early and grow early-maturing varieties.

Wonder Drugs Help Chicks

Sensational developments have occurred in the field of poultry nutrition. The first of these was the isolation of vitamin B12 in the crystalline form. Second is the golden-colored antibiotic which bears the name of aureomycin. Results at Iowa State college show the gain from use of these wonder drugs amounted to 61.6 per cent increase over those where ordinary basal ration was fed.

Scientists frankly cannot account for these startling gains, an article in the April Successful Farming magazine reports. How antibiotics work they do not know. One theory is that they act like policemen in the intestinal tract of the chick. They kill bacteria which compete with the bird for food. After the bug population is thus reduced, the chicken does better.

Another theory is that antibiotics put to sleep—or slow down—those bacteria which produce poisons. With less poison to throw off, the chicken gains faster and makes better use of feed.

Also, the drug may be actually absorbed as a nutrient by the birds. If this is the case, then antibiotics are like a vitamin.

At the Iowa station one group of chicks was fed a basal ration containing green, soybean meal, alfalfa, minerals and vitamins. These chicks weighed an average 1.2 pounds at 8 weeks.

A second group, with just vitamin B12 added to this ration weighed 1.6 pounds. And a third group with both vitamin B12 and aureomycin added to their diet reached an average weight of 1.9 pounds when 8 weeks old.

Some county elevators now stock concentrates of vitamin B12 or antibiotics.

The amount of concentrate needed per ton of feed will depend on the potency of the concentrate. Only poultry per ton are needed with some of the more concentrated products, while premixes of low potency may be added at the rate of 100 pounds per ton.

Custom Farm Rates Are Due to Advance

The question: "Are custom rates higher for 1951?" is being asked often, said Acting County Agricultural Agent M. H. Avery.

To aid with the answer, he cited information received from B. R. Bookhout, Michigan State college agricultural economist, who says that 1951 rates are expected to go back up to equal or in some cases go above the 1948 rates.

Not all rates will be higher, he advised. In a recent survey conducted among farmers who do custom work, about 30 per cent of the farmers indicated they expected to charge more in 1951.

Bookhout cited some examples of possible increases. Where the work is a job like disking where the rate is a dollar to $1.50 an acre, the increase might be about 25 cents. For jobs such as combining where the rate is $4.00 an acre, increase might be 50 cents. Usually custom rates do not change by five or 10 cents but the rates hold steady and then change by 25 or 50 cents, he said. Avery said that custom work will be even more important in Ingham county this year, due to farm labor shortages.

About one-half of United States pedestrians killed are 50 years of age or older. Yet only one-sixth of the population is 50 years of age or over.

ROLLED BALE

Safe Deposit For Leaves

Reports from ROTO-BALER owners say that weather-resistant rolled bales contain more leaves. Livestock eat rolled hay better because it is soft, sweet and retains its natural color.

Here are some of the things farmers wanted to know:

Would rolled bales really shed showers? Would they handle and transport easily? Would livestock eat them without waste, fed whole or unrolled? Could straw for bedding be rolled out without shaking?

The ROTO-BALER has answered "yes" to each of these questions, satisfying farmers everywhere. Stop in and ask us for a free booklet on rolled bales and the ROTO-BALER.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS

Wet weather has held up seedling of oats throughout the grain belt. Here in Michigan only 5 to 10 per cent of the intended acreage was planted by May 1, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

The severe weather held back harvesting of last year's corn crop. About one third of the crop was unharvested when winter weather hit in November. About 8 per cent of the 1950 corn crop was still in the fields May 1. Yield and quality of crop still in fields probably will be reduced badly because of lodging.

The price break in hogs at Chicago during March was one of the worst in history of the hog market, according to Drovers Journal. Prices went down again through April to the lowest position since January.

April hog prices averaged $21.05—off 60 cents from March and $1.35 below February. The January average was $20.45.

According to the Journal, hogs during April sold farther below cattle than at any time in the history of the livestock industry. The average for the month was $15.05 per hundred pounds below the average of steers.

Dairymen are warned to check up on their farm milk coolers these first warm days of spring. That's the time bacteria counts can climb. During cold weather bacteria counts are held down to some extent. But warm weather stimulates growth of the lily bacteria. Failure to use enough cold water for milk cooling is one reason why bacteria counts rise in spring. Make sure that milk will be cooled quickly to 55 degrees or lower.

Average egg production per hen might go up 38 eggs a year in the next quarter century, say Purdue poultrymen. If egg production can be boosted that much, yearly lay per bird will have been upped 80 eggs in about 45 years from 1930 to 1975.

Newcastle disease is a tough one to cope with. The virus of this disease is one of the most infectious known to vets. A healthy bird can get the virus through the air. Direct contact with an infected bird isn't necessary. In recent tests at Cornell, healthy chickens were suspended in cages from the ceiling of poultry houses where Newcastle disease was present. The cages had been thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, yet within six days the chickens contracted Newcastle. The virus had been carried to them through the air.

As much as 50 per cent of the available soil moisture in the upper three feet of an orchard may be utilized in one week, MSC horticulturists say this means that available soil moisture, unless replaced, will be depleted to about 10 per cent within three weeks. The moisture supply is depleted faster under the limb-spread than at the edge of limbs or between trees.

Using geese to help keep strawberry beds clean is becoming more and more popular in Michigan. The geese will consume large amounts of most grasses but don't eat broad leaf weeds. According to John Tompkins, MSC small fruit specialist, five to seven geese per acre are doing the job for some growers. In addition to the grass they consume, the geese should have small amounts of grain and plenty of water. They require some shade and a 24-inch fence to keep them where they belong.

During the first three months of 1951 milk was produced at an annual rate of 120.8 billion pounds. That's about two per cent below the rate for the same period a year ago.

Consumption of fluid milk continues at a high rate. Quantity of milk going into manufactured products has declined substantially. Most of the decline has been in butter and cheese. During the first quarter of this year butter output was down 19 per cent, cheese off eight per cent from a year ago.

Nutritionists say that folks with high incomes may be short on milk consumption. They say families with incomes less than $1,000 a year get only half as much milk as they need. But families whose earnings are $5,000 or over are still short of adequate milk needs by 20 per cent. All of which means that prospects for greater consumption of milk are large. Recently a new angle for boosting milk consumption has been tried. Milk is distributed in bottles through vending machines just like well-known soft drinks. Initial reports show that when milk is handy, folks will drink more of it.

Antibiotics properly mixed with feed can do a lot for hogs and poultry. They don't take the place of proteins, vitamins or other essential nutrients, they only do the job when added to an already good feed. USDA scientists say that antibiotics need not increase food costs to any great extent—no more than $2.50 per ton on the average. Animal nutrition specialists aren't absolutely sure how the antibiotics increase efficiency and what they do for the individual hog or chicken. However, the present theory is that the antibiotics check development of certain toxic or undesirable organisms in the animal's digestive tract. The checking of these organisms allows the animal to make more efficient use of the feed consumed.

The rollback in beef prices is kicking up quite a fuss. Just what the announced rollbacks will do to the normal pattern of marketing is a question at this point. However, one point to keep in mind is that the current price control law expires June 30. Congress could make some changes in the law before extending it. There are several indications that congress will give the law a good working over before any extension is voted.

She had insisted on taking along every garment she owned. They arrived at the station loaded with baggage. "I wish," said the husband thoughtfully, "that we'd brought your piano."

"Now let's not try to be funny," came the frigid reply. "I'm not trying to be funny," he sadly explained, "I left the tickets on it."

Morris K. McGregor, Jackson county agricultural agent, died at Mercy hospital in Jackson Saturday night. His death was caused by a stomach ailment which he had had for two years. McGregor went to Jackson in 1942 as county agent and served four counties until 1946, when he became full-time agent for Jackson county. Early in 1950 he succeeded S. J. Culver as county agricultural agent when Culver retired.

He was born in Hillsdale, graduated from Reading high school in 1918, and after operating the family farm for several years, entered Michigan State college and graduated in 1925. Prior to entering agricultural extension service he taught school. Dairying Leader Urges Advertising To Hold Market

Thinking farmers see the need for more advertising of dairy foods if they are to maintain markets at a level that will encourage efficient production and return an adequate farm income, Bruce P. Clothier, president of the American Dairy Association of Michigan declared.

He commanded Michigan's 130,000 dairy farmers on their forward move in uniting with the nation's dairymen to step up public relations efforts during the coming year.

Dairy farmers in Michigan have voiced approval of the new expanded program to be financed by a 60-day ADA set-aside. Through the cooperation of dairy plant operators in all parts of the state and nation this set-aside of a penny a pound of butterfat will be made from farmers' milk and cream checks in the months of May and June.

"Sales of dairy products accounted for 8 billion, 900 million dollars in 1949, a tremendously important segment of the national economy," Clothier asserted. "If dairy foods had been consumed in proportion to the nutritional needs of America, these same dairy products would have added another 5 billion dollars to the nation's economy and much more to the health of its people."

"The key to success in any business," he added, "is uniformly high quality, backed up by sound, sensible, aggressive advertising and merchandising."

"Staggering sums are invested in promoting cigarettes, coffee, tea, autos, soaps, cereals, beer and hundreds of other commodities," he stressed. "They must continue to advertise if they are to survive. Dairy is no different."

Duroc Breeders Enter Litters

Robert Eifert, Mason, with two litters; Clarence Blosser, Williamston, with a litter of 11 pigs; Rollin D. Blosser, Williamston, with a litter of nine pigs; and Wayne Blosser, Williamston, with a litter of eight purebred Duroc hogs, have entered the Duroc production registry program, according to word received from B. R. Evans, secretary of the United Duroc Record association, Peoria, Illinois.

Many breeders are nominating litters this year in keeping with the demand for more production records of swine. Thus, more official production records are becoming available to aid farmers and other breeders in the selection of qualified breeding animals. Swine producers are becoming more efficient in their operations by giving more attention to official production records.

In keeping with this trend, breeders of Duroc hogs last year set a new all-time record high in their breed's official production registry. Total Duroc litters nominated was 4,185. This was 644 over the previous year.

A production registry qualifying litter is one in which eight or more pigs are raised to a minimum 56-day weight of 320 pounds for mature sows or 275 pounds for gilts under 15 months of age at farrowing time. The sow may qualify after two such litters and get a star for each additional litter.

GRAVEL FOR POULTRY YARD A good layer of gravel in chicken yards which lie close to buildings where they can't be plowed will aid in disinfecting the area, says C. C. Shepard, Michigan State college poultry specialist. Water will drain down through the gravel and carry away disease organisms. Work at Michigan State college's Lake City Experiment Station has shown good results with turkeys on gravel.

Testers Make Reports On April Production

Twenty-three Ingham-West herds averaged more than 30 pounds of butterfat for April, Tester Bob Witte reported. There were 30 herds (723 cows) with an association average of 32.8 pounds of butterfat and 897 pounds of milk.

Red Loscy set forth the records of 18 herds of the 36 herds (827 cows) on test in Ingham No. 6 as averaging 30 pounds or more.

Ingham-West The 24 registered and grade Holsteins owned by C. A. Diehl & Sons of Dansville were high in Ingham-West with 47.9 pounds of fat and 1,308 pounds of milk.

Other high herds were: C. F. Emmons, 18 registered Holsteins, 46.3 pounds fat, 1,280 pounds milk; Harry DeLaere, 24 registered Holsteins, 41.5 pounds fat, 1,063 pounds milk; Clyde Snow, Jr., & Son, 18 grade Jerseys, 41.4 pounds fat, 845 pounds milk; Warren Childs, 23 registered and grade Holsteins, 41.1 pounds fat, 1,202 pounds milk; Charles J. Davis, 22 registered Holsteins, 38.5 pounds fat, 1,062 pounds milk; Mrs. Sarah Butler and Ray Wilson, 15 registered and grade Jerseys and Holsteins, 38.4 pounds fat, 844 pounds milk.

Homer Lammstein, 18 registered and grade Jerseys, 38.0 pounds fat, 731 pounds milk; Francis Platt, 28 registered Holsteins, 37.7 pounds fat, 1,206 pounds milk; Howard J. Coy, 10 registered and grade Holsteins, 37.6 pounds fat, 956 pounds milk; Harry Coyert & Son, 24 registered Holsteins, 37.3 pounds fat, 1,072 pounds milk; Lucile W. Cheney, 17 registered Holsteins, 36.4 pounds fat, 1,085 pounds milk; Miller Dairy Farm No. 4, 27 registered Holsteins, 35.9 pounds fat, 1,020 pounds milk; Harry Freshour & Son, 23 registered Holsteins, 35.8 pounds fat, 871 pounds milk.

George Hobbs, 22 registered and grade Holsteins, 35.9 pounds fat, 963 pounds milk; Carlyle Waltz, 25 registered and grade Holsteins, 33.7 pounds fat, 904 pounds milk; Paul C. Rowe, 21 registered and grade Holsteins, 33.3 pounds fat, 911 pounds milk; Miller Dairy Farm No. 4, 22 registered Holsteins, 32.4 pounds fat, 951 pounds milk; Chellis P. Hall, 32 registered and grade Holsteins, 31.4 pounds fat, 918 pounds milk; Denstaeds & Grooms, 35 registered and grade Holsteins, 31.4 pounds fat, 841 pounds milk; Ralph H. Darling & Son, 35 registered Holsteins, 30.9 pounds fat, 895 pounds milk; W. D. Byrum, 50 grade Holsteins, 30.3 pounds fat, 912 pounds milk; and Lloyd Wheeler, 20 registered and grade Jerseys, 30.2 pounds fat, 821 pounds milk.

High cows in each age class were: Mature Class—Thomas Bell, registered Holstein, 83 pounds fat, 2,510 pounds milk; Lewis Shaw, Holstein and Jersey, 78 pounds fat, 1,550 pounds milk.

Under 5 years—B. C. Ottomann, Holstein, 81 pounds fat, 1,480 pounds milk; Derwood Dickinson, Guernsey, 73 pounds fat, 1,520 pounds milk.

Under 4 years—Paul Scherer, Holstein, 81 pounds fat, 2,300 pounds milk; B. C. Ottomann, Jersey, 74 pounds fat, 1,400 pounds milk.

Under 3 years—Lewis Shaw, Holstein, 75 pounds fat, 1,700 pounds milk; Lewis Shaw, Holstein, 61 pounds fat, 1,680 pounds milk.

To save on auto tires, motorists are reminded: 1. Tires will last twice as long at 30 m. p. h. 2. High speed is much more harmful in hot weather than in cold. Tire treads wear five times faster at 100 degrees than at 40 degrees.

3. Go slow on roads which have sharp projecting stones. 4. Take curves and turns slowly. Speeding around curves can multiply tire wear as much as 10 times.

Ingham No. 6 Lewis Shaw with 14 Holsteins, was high in Ingham No. 6 with 30.5 pounds fat and 1,279.2 pounds milk.

The 17 other herds averaging over 30 pounds of butterfat for April were: Glen Fox, 7 registered Guernseys, 44.1 pounds fat, 887.1 pounds milk; Richard Powers, 9 registered Holsteins, 42.1 pounds fat, 1,224.4 pounds milk; Paul Scherer, 22 Holsteins, 40.9 pounds fat, 1,136.3 pounds milk; Thomas Bell, 10 registered and grade Holsteins, 39.1 pounds fat, 1,087 pounds milk; Derwood Dickinson, 31 mixed breed, 39.1 pounds fat, 859.7 pounds milk; Frank Eifert & Son, 14 registered and grade Holsteins, 36.6 pounds fat, 989.3 pounds milk; Coy Dunsmore, 11 Holsteins, 36.6 pounds fat, 1,040 pounds milk; Vaughn Baxter, 31 Holsteins, 35.2 pounds fat, 951.6 pounds milk; Bert Scherzing, 33 Holsteins, 35.1 pounds fat, 951.5 pounds milk; Lynn Haynes, 15 Holstein and Durham, 34.8 pounds fat, 810 pounds milk; Leo Baumer, 19 Holstein and Guernseys, 34.2 pounds fat, 740.5 pounds milk; Dr. F. L. Troost, 13 registered and grade Jerseys, 31.5 pounds fat, 656.1 pounds milk.

Walter Krantz, 18 mixed breeds, 31.5 pounds fat, 661.9 pounds milk; John Fay, 17 mixed breeds, 30.7 pounds fat, 635.9 pounds milk; E. C. Ottomann, 26 Jerseys, 30.6 pounds fat, 610.7 pounds milk; Laurence Haskell, 9 registered and grade Jerseys, 30.1 pounds fat, 640 pounds milk; and Hyward & Todd, 33 Holsteins, 30.1 pounds fat, 871.8 pounds milk.

Muck Field Day Plans Are Made

Michigan State college has designated the last of Wednesday in July as the date for its annual muck farmers' field day.

The event is held at the college muck experimental farm, located near Bath, north of Lansing. Wednesday, July 25, is the date for the event this year and Michigan muck farmers will find many new demonstrations to inspect.

Special events are planned for the day to show farmers how they can profitably utilize muckland areas on their farms.

Correct air pressure in all tires is one of the most important ways of avoiding the dangers that come with tire failure. Make a check at least once a week to see that the pressure is right in all your tires, including the spare.

Scouters Have Annual Dinner

Seventy Ingham Scouters and their wives met at the second annual appreciation dinner held at the Methodist church Thursday, April 25. An organ prelude at 6:30 was played by Theodore Thompson, neighborhood commissioner of Williamston. The dinner which followed was prepared by the Parents club of the Williamston troop and was served by the Scouts of Troop No. 63. The invocation was given by Rev. Horace James of the Methodist church.

A cornet trio, composed of Robert Hull, Richard Latham and Jerry Smith from the Williamston troop, played two numbers before the dinner. The speaker, Charles Irvin, assistant professor of speech at Michigan State college, spoke on the topic, "The Near Sight and the Far Sight," in appreciation of the work of the Scouters and their wives.

Theodore Thompson acted as master of ceremonies, introducing officers, pack leaders and their wives, and committee members. The commissioners and wives followed, then the den mothers. The executive staff for Scouting introduced included Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neitz, Scout executive; and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brown, field Scout executive.

Clarence Neitz spoke on the Scout awards, announcing that in 1949 both troops 62 and 63 of Mason and Haslett won first awards; and during 1950, troop 63 of Williamston, pack 242 of Grovenburg, pack 262 of Mason, pack 264 of Okemos and pack 265 of Williamston received the merit award and troop 62, Mason, troop 65, Haslett, and packs 265 Haslett and 269 Leslie, received the first award.

A special Scout statuette was presented to John Grigel for his work as district chairman in the past two years.

A gavel was presented to Charles Raley, new district chairman for the coming year.

Womans Club Has Book Reviews and Flag Presented

The Williamston Womens club met Friday afternoon at the farm home of Mrs. Irene Putnam on Dietz road. Bertha Gulick presided. The collection of the club was given in union. Reports of the several committees were heard.

The retirement and presentation of a new flag, staff and standard was held at this time. Patriotic instructor Helen Johnson of the Womens Relief Corps No. 96 of Williamston, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, was introduced by Nina Ketchum, past department president and department council member. Mrs. Johnson presented the flag to the president of the club, Lulu Howarth, who then folded the old flag and delivered it into the hands of the Corps secretary, who in turn turned over to the patriotic instructor for private creation ceremonies, which will take place at the next regular Corps meeting.

At this time Lulu Howarth gave a report of the best selling books of 1950. The best seller, as in years past was the Bible. Then she gave a very brief summary of the other best sellers. She had read all the books which she reviewed during the past year in preparation for this report, and was given much praise for her work.

A communication was received from the county federation requesting the local club to recommend one of its members for the office of treasurer. Florence Allen and Marguerite Volmer were appointed on a nominating committee, and Lulu Howarth was recommended for this office, to run with like recommended nominees from the several clubs in the county.

Following the business meeting the hostess, assisted by her committee, served refreshments.

The Women's Patriotic Orders of Williamston are completing their plans for the auction sale will be held on the Williamston high school athletic field Saturday, May 19, beginning at 10:00 a. m. The purpose of this organization is to remember all the servicemen from Williamston on their birthdays and Christmas. All proceeds from this sale will be devoted to that purpose.

In addition to the various items in the auction, there will be clothing, baked goods and fancy goods on sale. Lunches of hot dogs, hamburgers and coffee will be available on the grounds.

The committee is now preparing items for sale at the auction, many having been donated. Persons who do not feel that they can donate the whole price of the article, however, may place it in the sale on a commission basis. Those having articles for sale should contact some member of the committee, which consists of Warren Galvin, Vivian Merrifield, Rhoda Stocum, Muriel Sadler, Ruth Eaton, Freida White and Ina Clausen.

Farm tools, feed, baled hay, furniture, antiques and dishes may be listed. One item is excepted, no fruit jars are wanted as there seems to be no sale for them. No article is too large or too small for this sale.

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

Nobody wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need. Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflow Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurably from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

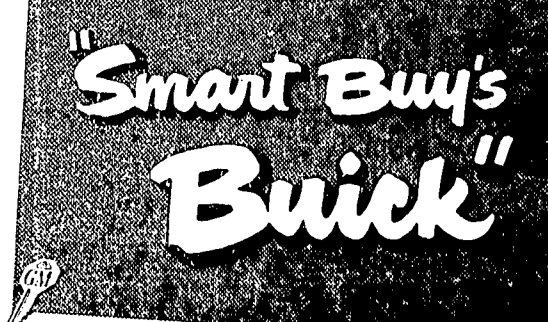

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

No other car provides all this:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL POWER
4-WHEEL COIL SPRING • DUAL VENTILATION
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS • DREAMLINE STYLING
BODY BY FISHER

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.
