

Point Four Advisor Explains Self-Help Program for Peace

Peace can't be bought; it can be won only by helping people from undeveloped areas help themselves, declared Dr. John M. Hannah at Mason Wednesday afternoon. He was addressing the district meeting of supervisors from Ingham, Clinton, Eaton, Livingston, Saginaw, Shiawassee and Genesee counties.

Dr. Hannah, president of Michigan State college, is a member of the International Development Board which has recommended adoption of a plan to send technical advisors and capital to undeveloped areas.

"It is not essential that you and the people back in your townships approve the program we have recommended," Dr. Hannah asserted. "It is essential that Americans everywhere start thinking about these things."

Dr. Hannah deplored the trend to irresponsibility on the part of individuals. Citizens must think for themselves, he declared, they must refuse to accept the opinions of propagandists and newspaper and radio commentators as holy writ.

Men in Washington are no brighter than are men on farms right here in Michigan, Dr. Hannah said. The people are much more likely to be right than politicians in Lansing or Washington, he added.

Good Place to Think

"Give people the facts, get them to think and let them decide the issues," pleaded Dr. Hannah. "There is no such thing as Washington omniscience. The best place for thinking is riding a tractor down between long rows of corn."

"People need to have convictions," asserted Dr. Hannah. "Americans need to be proud and confident if they are to carry out the American mission of building world peace."

Whether Americans like it or not, whether they admit it or not, the welfare of the United States is inextricably entwined with the welfare of other peoples, Dr. Hannah said.

This cold war with communism may last for years, Dr. Hannah warned. Americans will be affected by the strife between ideologies as long as the present generation shall live, he added.

Americans started the revolution business with the war to gain religious, economic and political freedom from England, the college president declared. For that reason, he said, Americans should not be surprised that subject peoples in Asia and Africa want freedom.

Somehow, some way, Americans must assure other peoples that America wants them to have their freedom, Dr. Hannah told the supervisors.

"What side are we on in Iran today?" challenged Dr. Hannah. "Too many times we have been on the side of the masters instead of the people. The Russians come in at the bottom of the revolutions. Americans try to get in at the top."

Only Two Camps

The world is divided into two camps, according to Dr. Hannah, the Kremlin and the free nations lined up with Washington, with a few yet on the borderline. The United States has made an irrevocable decision to combat communism, the speaker said. No one will win now, whether it's a shooting war or a cold war, he said.

"If there is a shooting war and the free nations win it there'll still be the economic war to win," Dr. Hannah asserted. "We could still win another war and lose another peace."

Point Four calls only for helping nations willing to help themselves, according to Dr. Hannah. The board upon which Dr. Hannah serves with 12 other civilians under Chairman Nelson A. Rockefeller has recommended that $500,000,000 be set aside to launch the program. As explained by Dr. Hannah, maybe only $50,000,000 or $25,000,000 is needed to help undeveloped nations achieve economic and political stability.

Outlook Is Doubtful

Right now the outlook for launching Point Four is not promising, the college president said. If the program is launched, it should be handled by administrators with their feet on the ground, Dr. Hannah asserted.

"These funds should be administered wisely, not men in striped trousers and high hats," the speaker insisted. "The secretary of state's department is held generally in such low repute that it would be foolish to entrust it with this program. No matter who handles it, the operations should be administered under one umbrella in Washington. Now as many as 23 different governmental agencies are engaged in different aid fields abroad. What is needed is one agency in one place to get around the squabbling and quarreling which now prevails. The squabbling should be done in Washington, not in foreign capitals. We shouldn't keep on looking as foolish as we now do."

U. S. Is Dependent

By charts Dr. Hannah showed that 44 per cent of U. S. exports go to undeveloped countries and that 57 per cent of the exports come from them. Coffee, tea, cocoa, rubber, copra, burlap, bananas, manganese and tungsten are among the imports which come almost entirely from undeveloped areas, the charts revealed. Of the strategic materials being stockpiled for war, Dr. Hannah said, 73 per cent must come from undeveloped areas which would be aided by Point Four.

While in the United States only 13 per cent of the people produce the food, in Thailand it takes 88 per cent, in Pakistan and Turkey, 82 per cent, in Europe 23 per cent, the speaker said. A few American county agents can show even the most backward peoples how to increase food production by 60 per cent in two years, Dr. Hannah explained. He told of such an accomplishment in India.

The United States can't guarantee plenty in India by giving or loaning two million tons of wheat, the Michigan State college president said, but by exporting American know-how the Indians can quickly learn to feed themselves.

Michigan's Share

"No one questions the need for spending 50 billions of dollars for armament," Dr. Hannah asserted, "and such a burden will be necessary for years. Michigan's share of that 50 billions is two billions. Our legislature has been fashioning a state budget of 207 million dollars. Perhaps while Americans are spending 50 billions for war, it might prove wise to invest just a few millions in peace."

In opening his talk before the supervisors, Dr. Hannah declared that Americans must accept change. There can be no return to isolationism, he pointed out. He told of the establishment of the Point Four program, as recommended by President Truman.

Dr. Hannah revealed that government officials have decided to build a Pacific bastion on Okinawa, Michigan State college will take the lead in establishing an American education program on Okinawa, he said. Okinawa will be used as a base for attacking Russia and defending Japan should a shooting war break out with Russia, Dr. Hannah declared.

Supervisors Discuss Efficiency

More money was spent in the afternoon than the supervisors saved in the morning. At the morning session they listened to precepts of economy and frugality at township and county levels.

A panel discussed four questions. They covered the current trends in local government, dangers and advantages in those trends, the role of the public in local government, prospects for counties to support present services without securing added revenue, and the need for counties and townships securing technical assistance and supervision.

Prof. James W. Miller of Michigan State college was moderator of the panel discussion. Members were Vernon J. Brown of Mason, Frank K. Evans of the Ingham road commission, Daryl Minnis of the Ingham board of social welfare, and County Clerk William L. Leppien of Saginaw county were on the panel.

In a discussion on efficiency in county government, Brown contended the county needs a coordinating or administrative head. Roundtable sessions of supervisors and elected county officers will bring about coordination, Leppien insisted.

Brown declared that township government has been in a supervisory, as does the state in a governor and the nation in a president. The county in taking over the welfare, highway and other former duties of the townships lacks a head to carry out those duties, the Mason man declared.

Association President Julius Sutto of Saginaw county and Secretary Claude Cope of Shiawassee county participated in the sessions. K. G. Brown of Williamston, chairman of the Ingham board, welcomed the supervisors to Mason. Jacob Schepers of East Lansing was also on the afternoon program.

At noon the supervisors had dinner at the Legion Memorial building. Members of the Legion Auxiliary served it.

Satan Finds Mischief for Idle Hands to Do

Instead of permitting able-bodied men to sit idle in the "bull" day after day, Sheriff Willard J. Barnes wants to set them to work. He has secured garden spots about town but that only provides part-time jobs for three or four. What the sheriff wants is big acreage for garden truck, the kind of farm work requiring hand labor.

Physical therapy with a shovel or scythe would do just as well as with a hoe, Sheriff Barnes declared. That's why he expressed himself as being agreeable to a highway work program.

Berrien county has recently set up a work program. Prisoners serving short terms for minor offenses are working on it. Berrien highways. They cut weeds and bushes, paint guard rails and work in pits. Berrien prisoners work under supervision of a deputy sheriff.

"I see no reason why such a program wouldn't work out in Ingham county," Sheriff Barnes remarked. "It isn't good for men to sit in idleness day after day. Most of the prisoners would rather be at work than to have nothing to do."

When the county jail, farm was bought by the county 20 years ago it was the understanding that prisoners would work much of the land. General farming has become mechanized and there is little call for labor on what little farm land there is at Rayner park. The race track oval cut off a big slice of

Council Holds Final Session Under Charter

New Charter Becomes Effective on Friday, Few Changes Expected

Mayor C. H. Hall and Aldermen W. O. Hall, Frank K. Evans, W. Davis Post and Hugh W. Silsby performed their final official acts under the present charter Monday night. On Friday the new charter adopted in the June 12 special election becomes effective.

Two aldermen were absent for the final session under the old charter Monday night. Alderman Harold Barnhill was away on business and Alderman Alton J. Stroud was on vacation, City Clerk George Kallagos announced.

Mason has operated under the old charter since 1893. Amendments were made in 1928 and in 1930.

When the council meets again July 2 the mayor and aldermen will meet as seven councilmen. Until present elective terms expire those holding offices will not be disturbed. They will continue in office as though elected under the new charter.

Under the new charter only the seven councilmen and the justices of the peace will be elected by the people. The councilmen will appoint the clerk, treasurer, city assessor and constable.

The councilmen will have the authority by a five-sevenths majority vote to hire a city administrator.

City Appoints New Man

City Engineer Walter Zimmer told the council Monday that the city needs another man to learn the operations of the sewage disposal plant. The plant is now operated by S. L. Demorest. Zimmer pointed out that in Demorest's absence, there is no one who knows the mechanics of the plant.

The council agreed that someone should be hired to work with Demorest until a permanent man is hired. Zimmer told the councilmen that he knew of such a man and the council gave him the go-ahead to hire him. Mayor C. H. Hall asked Zimmer to meet with Demorest and the new man and to outline the duties of each.

Petition Is Filed

A petition received by the council from residents on West Center street asking that curb and gutter be laid in the 600 and 700 blocks of West Center street. The petition was placed on file to await other curb and gutter plans of the city.

Aurelius Soldier Killed in Korea

Lt. Keith Weeks, son of Mrs. Dan Shuett of Eaton Rapids, was killed in action in Korea on May 27. Word was received on June 16. Lt. Weeks lived in Aurelius for seven years. He was married and is survived by the widow, Phyllis, and a daughter, Joan.

NEW SUMMER HOURS

During July and August the Modern Dry Cleaners will be open Friday evenings and will close Saturdays at 1 p. m. to give employees the advantage of a longer week end. The Hicks Cleaners will give employees their annual vacation between July 4 and July 11 when the Mason and East Lansing plants will be closed.

Sheriff Suggests Therapy with Hoe

Expansion of the picnic area and development of water run-off plots whittled off some more. There isn't enough farm land left at Rayner park to justify the employment of supervision, the sheriff said. Much of the work done at Rayner park by prisoners is for the benefit of the county fair board, he added.

The sheriff has secured about two acres of good garden land from David Potter on Rayner street. Potter donated the use of the land. Also on Rayner street Fritz Kinville has donated the use of a small garden plot. Even at the jail part of a flower bed has been planted to tomatoes, lettuce and other garden stuff.

Sweet corn, potatoes, tomatoes and cabbage have been planted on the Potter acreage. Carrots, radishes and lettuce are being raised at the Kinville garden.

"What gardening work is now available only furnishes employment for four of five," Sheriff Barnes said. "And what we produce falls far short of meeting the needs of the 100 men and women housed at the jail," he added. "Our food bill could be cut materially if we could get land to work. We could even provide garden and cow crops for the county hospital and the tuberculosis sanatorium."

"Fifty men could go to work tomorrow if there was something for them to do," the sheriff said. He explained that the Wednesday

Holt's Festival Starts Monday

Holt Masons will stage the second annual Summer Festival on June 25 and continuing for six days. The event will be staged on the Myran Hancock farm two blocks south of the stop light on US-127 in Holt.

The W. G. Wade shows and rides are booked for the six-day fair. There will also be several other tents housing commercial exhibits and local cutting stands.

According to the Mason, the profits will be used to repay the debt on the Holt Masonic Temple, built two years ago.

Juvenile Court Sets Hearing on Waiver Requests

Judge John McClellan of the juvenile court will conduct a hearing Saturday morning on waivers for two 16-year-olds who have confessed to a series of crimes.

The boys, both from Dansville, admitted participation in the Michigan Bell robbery at Mason, the Dansville school robbery of May 24, Dr. Harlan Campbell's dental office at Leslie, the stripping of Norman Pritzel's car and the robbery of Bartholomew's Sales and Service at Mason June 5.

Held in the county jail awaiting trial in circuit court is Ronald Cram, 20, of Dansville. He is also being held as a parole violator. The two boys said Cram induced them to undertake their careers of crime.

Prosecutor Paul C. Younger requested the juvenile court waivers on the Dansville boys so they can be taken into circuit court for trial and sentence.

Marines Advance Greene to Major

Thomas N. Greene is now a major in the U. S. marine corps. As a captain he has been stationed at Ames, Iowa, the past two years as instructor in the Naval R. O. T. C. at Iowa State college.

Major Greene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Greene of Dexter Trail. He was graduated from Mason high school as valedictorian in 1938 and as an honor student at Michigan State college in 1942. He immediately entered the marine corps, winning a commission at Quantico, Virginia, in December of 1942.

For two years Major Greene, then a lieutenant, served with the marines in the South Pacific. He fought at Tanawa, Saipan, Tinian and Okinawa. Twice he was decorated for gallantry in action.

Major Greene is now on cruise out of Pensacola, Florida. Later he and his wife plan to make a tour of Mexico and go on to visit the major's sisters, Mrs. James M. Roberts at El Paso, Texas and Miss Ada E. Greene, R. N. Long Beach, California, and Mrs. Greene's sister, Mrs. Charles H. Lauritsen, also of Long Beach.

While her husband is on cruise Mrs. Greene is visiting her parents in Grand Rapids.

Leroy Approves Power Franchise

Leroy township and the village of Webberville voted unanimously to extend the Detroit Edison company franchise for another 30 years. Webberville cast 23 votes Wednesday all in favor of the proposition. The township cast 25 votes on June 5 all in favor of the extension of the franchise.

The old 30-year franchise expired this year. The Detroit Edison company supplies electrical power to the homes and businesses in Leroy township.

Jurors Off Duty Until Next Week

Ingham circuit court jurors have been off duty since last Thursday. They won't have to return until next Monday. There remain three or four civil cases yet to be tried at the May term of court at Mason. There is little likelihood now that more criminal cases will be tried at the current term.

Last Thursday a jury in Judge Charles H. Hayden's court brought in a verdict of guilty against Alvin A. McCarroll of Lansing. He was charged with possession of policy and pool slips. He was permitted liberty on bond until he is summoned for sentence.

Graham Awards Drain Contract

Carl Foote of Leslie submitted the low bid on the Ranley drain in Lansing township. He was awarded the contract Thursday morning after the sealed bids were opened.

The Foote bid was $6,175. Jerald McCabe of Dansville entered a bid of $7,000 for the job and Hazel Brothers of Lake Odessa entered a bid of $7,791.20.

County Drain Commissioner Gerald Graham said Foote will start on the drain in about three or four weeks, or as soon as materials are available.

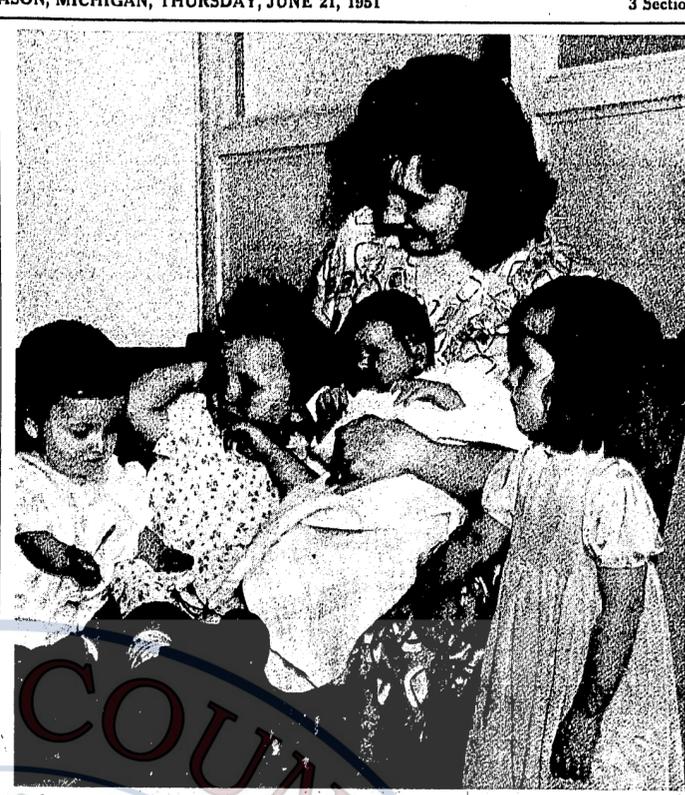

The drain is 1,140 feet long and will require 836 feet of 21-inch pipe and 212 feet of 18-inch pipe.

Limited Parking Is Now Extended

Parts of two more blocks have been added to Mason's two-hour parking zone. The two-hour signs have gone up on the south side of East Ash from Jefferson to the east line of the Root building, and on the north side of East Maple from Jefferson to the east line of the Court cafe.

The north side of East Ash and the south side of East Maple remained unrestricted except for the 2-6 a. m. period.

Two-hour parking was proclaimed two months ago on West Maple and West Ash from Park to Jefferson and on Jefferson from Maple to Oak.

PASTOR RETURNS TO FIRST PULPIT

Rev. Cecil E. Pollock will preach again. After more than 60 years of activity in many Methodist churches in Michigan and three years of retirement, he has accepted the Eastern Michigan Methodist conference appointment to the Wheatfield Methodist church. That's where he preached one of his first sermons in 1899.

Since retiring from the ministry three years ago, Rev. and Mrs. Pollock have made their home in Holt.

"They wanted me to come," replied Rev. Pollock when he was asked why he accepted the post. "That is a good reason for the decision. 'But another reason,'" he added, "is that the Wheatfield community is my old neighborhood. I lived there as a boy and preached one of my first sermons there. That is the reason I have decided to return."

In 1920, Rev. Pollock was superintendent of the Lansing Methodist district. Later in 1932 when the district was merged with the Albion district to form the Albion-Lansing district, he remained as superintendent.

Rev. Pollock left the Wheatfield community when he was 14 years old and came to Mason. He was graduated from the Mason school and it was after that he preached in some of the local churches including the Wheatfield church. He attended the Mason Methodist church and was a member. Rev. Pollock said that is the only church membership he has ever had. Later he attended Albion college and after being graduated there, he received his M. A. degree at Northwestern University.

After attending seminary, Rev. Pollock became pastor of Methodist churches in Kalamazoo, Ludington, Petoskey, Big Rapids and Grand Ledge. A new church was built during his five-year stay.

Rev. Pollock retired after preaching seven years in Lowell.

After attending seminary, Rev. Pollock, who was then Nettie Thornburn, was in the same Mason high school graduating class as Rev. Pollock. She attended Albion college.

The Pollocks will still reside at 2143 Cedar street in Holt.

Rev. Pollock will replace Rev. John H. Lippincott who left June

Ingham Pioneers Recall Old Times At Mason Meeting

More than 75 people attended the 74th annual meeting of the Ingham County Pioneer and Historical society in Mason Wednesday. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Baptist church. Fifty-one people attended the dinner at noon. During the morning and afternoon sessions, many of the long-time residents of the county told stories of pioneer days and the experiences of the people who settled the county.

Mrs. J. O. Hogan, secretary for the society, said that when enough of the old stories have been recorded by the society and pieced together into one history, the society will publish a book.

E. A. Densmore of Mason was president for the past year. He was re-elected for the coming year. Ray DeCamp of Bunker Hill was chosen vice-president. Mrs. Hogan was re-appointed secretary and George Shafer of Mason was elected treasurer.

Plans are underway for a big society meeting to mark the 75th anniversary of the founding of the society next year.

Schools Divide $410,340 Aid Out of Surplus

County Treasurer Sends Ingham School Districts Surplus in School Aid

Ingham school districts, along with all others in the state, are receiving an extra dividend in state aid this week. They are receiving what's left in the state school aid fund after payment of specified school aid based on enrollment. Ingham's share is $410,340.14.

Schools were entitled to $126 per pupil enrolled in elementary and $146 per pupil enrolled in high school grades for the 1949-50 school year. After that distribution was made an additional $14.77 per pupil became available. It's the $14.77 per pupil which is being distributed now.

Mistake at Williamston

Williamston is being left out of the current distribution because of an overpayment made last month. A mistake was made in the accounting department of the state superintendent of public instruction which gave Williamston $30,635 instead of the $18,635 due.

Supt. Wilbur Bockstahler at Williamston discovered the error immediately and notified the county school superintendent and state superintendent. The district was permitted to keep the overpayment with correction to be made in future payments.

Williamston had $9,999.20 coming on this distribution but won't get it because of the previous overpayment. Another $2,000 will be deducted from future state aid. Supt. Bockstahler explained.

Lansing Grease Big Sum

On the basis of $14.77 per child, the Lansing school district is being paid an extra $232,597.06 beyond the promised aid of $126 per elementary and $146 per high school child enrolled in school.

East Lansing's share of the dividend payment is $24,724.98. Mason will get $13,957.65.

Other high school districts gaining major shares are: Leslie, $10,146.99; Haslett, $8,418.00; Okemos, $10,102.68; St. Clair, $7,325.92; Ingham Township Agricultural, $8,330.28; Holt, $13,030.95; and Webberville, $5,530.03.

Graded districts with heavy enrollments are being paid as follows: Aledo township unit, $3,766.35; Island, Delhi, $1,299.76; North, Delhi, $6,498.80; Maple Grove, Delhi, $7,414.54; Lansing Northwestern, $1,905.33; Lansing Pleasant Grove, $8,197.35; Lansing Windward, $3,234.83; Lansing Horseshoe, $1,565.92; Lansing Stoner, $4,519.67; Lansing Forest Road, $3,367.56; Meridian Carl, $4,091.29; and Onondaga Riverside, $1,004.36.

Mason Lions Club Plans Turtle Race

Mason will be host to the sport of kings (the queens) during the county fair in August. About 76 of the fastest turtles in Ingham county are being groomed for the race sponsored by the Mason Lions club. More are being rounded up to compete for the purse.

Outside interests have entered the lists and local breeders will have to produce their best steeds to make a good show — or win or place as the case may be, according to Ken Horn of derby headquarters.

Nineteen entrants from Mason are scheduled to compete so far. However, Horn said that more merchants from Mason have indicated they will enter turtles in the derby, but as yet have not held any time trials to determine which turtle will run.

The money will be used by the Lions club for the sight conservation movement and for other club projects.

Extension Women Camp at Mason

Ingham county extension women are camping at the 4-H building on the fairgrounds in Mason. The camp began on Wednesday and will continue through Friday. It is the first such program to be held for women in extension work.

Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, home demonstration agent, said she hopes that the women will learn many practical ideas to take back to the local areas. On Wednesday the women had a recreation period, worked with leathercraft and prepared stunts for a program at night. On Thursday the group worked with leather goods, had a power arrangement demonstration by Dick Jowett and worked on a smoked pillow.

Friday morning's program calls for more leathercraft and a display of crafts in the afternoon.

William Maxwell Dies Following Long Sickness

William Maxwell, 51, died at the University hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday evening, June 10, following brain surgery. He entered the hospital last week. Mr. Maxwell had been in poor health for three years.

WILS Operator Cites Progress

Bill Pomeroy, operator of Lansing's WILS, was in Mason Tuesday night to outline the progress the station has made. It was established three years ago. Pomeroy spoke before the Mason Kiwanis club.

During the war when one served in the army and the other in the merchant marine, they continued to dream about the station, the elder brother added. After the war permission for the station was secured and the brothers launched their enterprise.

Wattage and broadcasting periods have been increased and further expansion is planned, Pomeroy declared. He expressed the hope that WILS will offer television within a year.

Television is here to stay, Pomeroy asserted. So is radio, he added. Radio in the home, factories and in barns can be enjoyed where television is distracting, the WILS manager said.

Services Held Wednesday

Mrs. C. A. Parkhurst, 79, died early Monday morning in the Sparrow hospital, Lansing. She had been taken to the hospital May 15 with a broken hip. Until last Thursday her condition appeared to be satisfactory. On that day she took a turn for the worse. She was placed under an oxygen tent but she was unable to rally.

Mrs. Parkhurst

No woman in Mason played a more prominent part in club, civic and church affairs for a longer period. For 60 years she lent her support to every good cause. She also took an active part in the operation of the family business, the C. A. Parkhurst store, for 48 years.

Mrs. Parkhurst was born Theresa Burns September 10, 1871, at Chelsea. She was the daughter of James and Margaret Burns. The family came to Mason when the daughter was a small child. Mrs. Parkhurst attended the Mason school. She was graduated from high school with the class of 1892. On November 14, 1900, she married Charles A. Parkhurst. They celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last November.

The interests of Mrs. Parkhurst were wide. She attended the Presbyterian church and was active in the Women's association. She was a past president and a charter member of the Mason Woman's club and of the Ingham County Federation of Women's clubs. She was a past chief of the Pythian Sisters and was a member of the first board of trustees of the Women's Home in Lansing.

For 45 years Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst had lived in the present family home at 229 West Maple. There on May 15 she tripped and fell, breaking her hip. She had been suffering with an arthritic condition for the past year. Until then she had good health. Three children were born to Mr. and Mrs.

Parkhurst. One died in infancy. The two remaining are Charles King Parkhurst of Okemos and Mary Elizabeth, now Mrs. Francis C. Bleicher of Lansing. Besides the husband and the two children, Mrs. Parkhurst is survived by four grandchildren, Joseph and Mary Barbara Bleicher and Lee and Donald Parkhurst. There is also a cousin, James F. Lynn of Tuscaloosa, Alabama. Mrs. Parkhurst had one sister. She died several years ago.

Services for Mrs. Parkhurst were held at the Ball funeral home Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Paul L. Arnold of the Presbyterian church officiated. Burial was in Maple Grove.

Rupert Duntons Will Live in Tokyo

MR. AND MRS. RUPERT DUNTON

First Presbyterian church in Mason was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joan Davis and Rupert Duntun Saturday evening, June 16, at eight o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan S. Davis of 414 West Maple street, Mason. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Duntun of Baltimore, Maryland.

Rev. Andrew Burt Ellis of Detroit officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of 100 friends and relatives. The altar flowers were arrangements of white stock and Esther Reed Shasta daisies. Palms and ferns decorated the chancel and candleabra with ivory tapers were placed on either side of the altar rail. The choir rail was decorated with an arrangement of white Starlight roses and palms were placed in the choir loft.

Following the ceremony Miss Harriet Johnson of Minneapolis, Minnesota, played favorite selections of the couple. Miss Dorothy Auxt of Hagerstown, Maryland, sang "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," and "Oh Zion Haste, Thy Mission High Fulfilling," accompanied by Miss Johnson. Miss Johnson also played traditional wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, selected white Japanese silk over taffeta for her wedding gown. The top was made of embroidered Japanese silk and featured a small Peter Pan collar and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Covered buttons extended from the collar to the waist in the front and a panel in back, which extended into a short train.

She wore a cap of the embroidered silk which held in place her long-length veil of white illusion. A cascade arrangement of white delphinium, white Phalaenopsis orchids and white satin ribbon, with a pullout corsage of Phalaenopsis orchids, made up her wedding bouquet. The bride also carried a handkerchief which had previously been carried by several brides in the Duntun family.

Mrs. Darwin Barr was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was white organdy over yellow taffeta. It was designed with an organdy eyelet top and a Peter Pan collar. It had cap sleeves and buttoned to the waist. She carried a ballerina bouquet of yellow Gloria roses and light blue delphinium flowers.

Miss Kathryn Grimes of Massillon, Ohio, Joan's bridesmaid, wore a white organdy dress over blue taffeta, styled like the matron of honor's. Her ballerina bouquet was made up of Better Times red roses and deep purple delphinium flowers.

Both attendants wore cloche hats of white organdy and white organdy mitts.

The bridegroom asked Raymond Fox of Ithaca, New York, a former college friend, to be his best man. Frank Duntun of Baltimore, Maryland, brother of the bridegroom; Verne Davis, Jr. of Lansing, cousin of the bride; and Darwin Barr, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered the wedding guests to their seats. Each man in the wedding party wore a boutonniere of white stephanotis.

Mrs. Davis was attired in a gray mesh gown with which she used white accessories. Her corsage was of hybrid Cattleya orchids. Mrs. Duntun's dress was navy blue. She used white accessories and wore a corsage like Mrs. Davis'.

After the ceremony the newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors. The reception line was decorated with a basket of white delphinium and shell pink peonies. See What YOUR Ford Can Take

Stock Cars Used in Dare-Devil Stunts

Naturally you're not going to drive your Ford off the nearest high bank but dramatic proof of the sturdiness of the new 1951 Ford was witnessed by this capacity crowd at the fairgrounds last Sunday.

Stock car models, just as they roll off the assembly line (no special bracing), are used exclusively by Joie Chitwood and his dare-devils. Their daring stunts prove the durability of the '51 Ford. Proof that when you drive a Ford you drive one of the safest cars on the road—and the most beautiful!

Immediate delivery available on some models. Stop in today.

Both coverages all in one policy, one agent, one company, prompt service. If your house does not have $1,000 per room insurance plus $500 for bath and $500 for basement, you are probably under-insured. If your house is less than 10 years old you should carry $2,000 per room insurance. The Farm Owners Mutual Insurance company specializes in more coverage per building than allowed by most companies, and they pay 100 cents on the $100 insurance up to the value of property lost. Remember: today it costs about $10,000 to $15,000 for a 4-room bungalow. If you have a partial fire loss, you have to pay the same cost to make repairs that it would take to build a new house.

Big Trout Plead to Be Caught

Lowell Robinson of Robinson Molar Sales and Doc C. Dart, president of the Dart National bank were in a party which recently invaded the north country of Ontario.

Jack W. Carlin of the Hart Journal was also in the party. He provided the following account of the expedition:

I have finally rested up sufficiently from our annual trip to Canada to be able to use a typewriter, so I will try and give an account of this year's journey.

We made the trek in company of Vern (Red) Hendrickson of Hesperin, Don Powers and Bill Loomis of Newaygo and Lowell Robinson and Doc Dart of Mason. After loading the cars at Newaygo and purchasing of a lunch we took off one early morning for Sault Ste. Marie. The trip up was uneventful from a scenic standpoint outside of seeing several deer along the road. Doc Dart went to sleep when we left Newaygo and woke up when the state ferry blew the whistle upon leaving the dock.

Upon arriving at the Son, we purchased our licenses, groceries and other miscellaneous items of the day, necessitating our waiting until late in the afternoon before we could get transportation to the lake we were headed for. The pilot, after looking at Lowell, 247 1/2 pounds, decided that he had better wait for the second trip, so three of us, the tent, groceries, one canoe and our gear went in to set up camp. The pilot decided to take the risk on the next trip, and brought in Lowell, Don and Doc

Alaiedon Farmer Taken by Stroke

Adam Biebesheimer, 78, died at the Mason General hospital Friday. He had suffered a stroke at the farm home on Okemos road a few days before.

Mr. Biebesheimer was a successful farmer and a man held in high respect by his neighbors and all who knew him. He loved nature. Always his home was beautified by flowers and shrubs. He loved his fellowmen. He had no children of his own so he helped others. He made it possible for several young people to attend high school.

He was born on a farm in Delhi township January 5, 1873, the son of Phillip and Mary Biebesheimer. He married Clara Rusi of Fremont, Ohio, March 25, 1900. After their marriage the couple moved to the farm on Okemos road where they lived for all except about five months of their 51 years of married life.

For five months Mr. and Mrs. Biebesheimer lived in Mason. They had sold their farm. They grew home sick and bought the farm back and returned there to spend their declining years amid the familiar surroundings. Although Mr. Biebesheimer had not been well for several years, he was able to be up and around until he was stricken last week.

Mr. Biebesheimer is survived by the widow, and a brother, Charles, of Delhi.

Rev. David Evans of the Okemos Community church officiated at the funeral home Monday afternoon. Burial was in the Lee cemetery in Alameda. Neighbors were pallbearers. They were George Cady, Benjamin Arend, Fred Fichter, William Fillwick, J. George Fogle and Leon Swaim.

County Roads Get Asphalt Treatment

Ingham county roads are improving at a fast clip, according to Highway Engineer Frank K. Evans. Many long stretches of good blacktop have been restored within the past 10 days.

A recap has been laid on one mile of Barnes road east of Aurelius Center and on Edgar road starting at Toles road and continuing east for a mile and a half to Kipp road and one mile of Kipp road from Edgar to College road. This stretch has had about three miles of gravel for almost three years.

One mile of bituminous surfacing was placed on Elfert road north and south of Harper road. This application has put the stretch from Columbia road to US-127 north of Holt in good shape, according to Evans.

An asphalt recap has been laid on Bunker road west to Aurelius road and the county road commission has been completing the approaches to the Columbia road bridge west of Mason.

Next on the county road program will be the two-mile stretch from Vanlow south on Delitz road and the recapping on Dexter Trail east of the game farm west to Ives road.

The county has been helping the state with concrete patching in Leslie. Traffic has been detoured for about 10 days, but Evans stated that the work will be completed this week.

Marines Offer Chance To Enlist After Call

Young men who have taken or have received orders for pre-induction examination may now be enlisted in the Marine Corps, according to Captain Welby W. Cronk, officer in charge of Marine recruiting in Michigan.

Previously men who had their pre-induction orders could not be accepted for enlistment in the Marines.

The term of enlistment for men in this category is the same as regular enlistments, three or four years.

Audience Enters Act At Ford Thrill Show

Fire in the grandstand at the county park proved thrilling to the spectators at the Jole Chitwood auto thrill show Sunday afternoon. Someone dropped a cigarette butt through the stand floor and it lit in stored straw and hay on the floor below. The fire built up a smudge which stopped the show until Firemen Bob Inghram and Dave Stone plus men from the VFW brought it under control.

Deputies at the show enforced a no smoking ban for the remainder of the program. The state fire marshal has ruled that the hay and straw must be cleaned up before any more programs are presented.

Holiday Magazine Gives Play To Michigan Vacation Spots

Michigan as a vacation state is given a big hand by Phil Stong in the July Holiday now on the newsstands.

After preface his piece with paragraphs about Father Matquette and Hiawatha, Stong paused at Lansing as a starting place for his tour. He found much of interest at Michigan State college and then he headed for Grand Rapids. From Grand Rapids Stong drove up the shore of Lake Michigan to stop off at Mackinac Island. He was entranced by the beauty of the island. He finally pulled himself away and traveled on into Upper Peninsula. On his return trip he dropped down along Lake Michigan again and also visited scenic spots in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula, eventually reaching Detroit.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

"... God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16.) Read John 3:14-21.

Many times during his long, useful life people asked the late David H. Dugan the basis of his belief in everlasting life. He always cheerfully answered with a friendly, disarming smile and the simple statement, "Read John 3:16. There is the best answer I can give you."

After his death, family members in the Dugan business thought of many ways in which to perpetuate his memory. The simplest, and the one they were sure he would love best, was the framing of a simple statement of his belief as explained above. These were placed in each Dugan Company business location. Below each framed statement were placed copies, free for the taking, of the Gospel of John.

Over a period of 10 years thousands of copies have been taken by those who have passed by. How better could a true lay Christian's witness be given! Even yet it continues!

PRAYER
Dear Father, we thank Thee for the continuing influence among us of Christians Thou hast called home. We praise Thee for Thy love that challenges us to honor Thee by being of service to our fellow men. Help us to witness to Thee and be found faithful in service day by day. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
My truest service is my Christian witness.

Scientists Say Spiritual Laws Will Save World

Complete defense from disaster and destruction is immediately available to every individual and nation through spiritual understanding of God, according to the Christian Science leaders.

Taking note of the world crisis they affirmed that the deepest laws of the universe are spiritual laws of harmony and can be utilized for individual protection and preservation of human freedom.

Their special message was read at the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, to nearly 7500 Christian Scientists assembled from all over the world.

Church members from all over the world—Japan, New Zealand, Sweden, and other distant countries, as well as Canada and the United States went to Boston for the meeting, which has been held annually for more than half a century. Smaller meetings on specialized subjects convene on days following the main session.

In their message the directors called for individual spiritual courage in meeting critical global problems. They said Christian righteousness has never been defeated, and forecast "great spiritual progress" ahead.

New president of the Mother Church for the coming year is Mrs. Lora C. Rathbone of Boston. In an address Mrs. Rathbone said that never was the need more urgent to look beyond the material sense of life, to "see man as God's spiritual idea." Forecasting greater spiritual achievements, she said, "We are standing on the brink of a new era."

This theme was emphasized also by Walter S. Cross of Fitchburg, Mass., retiring president, who said the world is undergoing "the most profound and stirring revolution of all time."

"Materialism is being overturned," he said. He spoke of an

He's grown fast!

Pearl Harbor—1941. Korea—1951. Only ten years. But in that time the Bell System's capacity to serve the nation has literally doubled!

And the Long Distance telephone network which ties America together has grown even more. In 1941, there was very little coaxial cable in use. Radio relay was still in an experimental stage. Yet today there are 8,000 miles of coaxial cable in service—plus thousands of miles of radio relay. And Long Distance telephone circuits have increased in ten years from about 4,800,000 miles to 20,800,000.

In times like these, telephone lines are defense lines. For they are helping America rush its big production program. It's fortunate this nationwide network has grown so big, so fast.

Future Farmers Elect Officers

On Thursday evening, June 14, at 7:30 p. m., a group of Dansville Future Farmers met at the school for the first summer F. F. A. meeting. Early roll call was had on the hall diamond when Russell Redman and Pat Risner chose sides for a softball game. Art Maynard acted as umpire after his arrival. After five innings the game was called because of darkness. There was no official score-keeper, but the final score was something like 5 to 2 in favor of the Redman team.

The members met in the agriculture room at 8:45 for the F. F. A. meeting. A total of 30 members were present. Due to the resignation of Bob Brooks, president-elect, and Richard Dockett, reporter-elect, it was necessary to elect two new officers for the next year.

Bob Brooks was elected president of the student council and Richard Dockett is representative on the student council. Because of school policy that one person holds only one office, it was necessary that new officers be chosen. Gordon Monroe, who had previously been elected as secretary, was moved up to president. Darwin Shethelm was elected as secretary, and Wayne Melcho as reporter.

Other F. F. A. officers for the year 1951-1952 are: Vice-president, LeRoy Soule; treasurer, Donald Rice; and sentinel, Carl Osterle. The meeting was adjourned about 9:30 p. m. Refreshments of cookies and potato chips were served. The next F. F. A. meeting will be held sometime near the middle of July.

Dairy testing continues at I. T. A. S. during the summer months. A number of Dansville Future Farmers have signed up for voluntary Junior D. H. I. A. testing during the summer. Testing is now underway for the month of June. In order for testing records to be accurate and useful, it is necessary that records and testing be continued throughout the entire year. Most of the boys who are continuing their testing through the summer will complete their testing year in August.

Farmer Peck's Wife

This year there is a bumper crop of fun.
Pete isn't as hardboiled as he makes out.
Elizabeth models clay to limber up her fingers.

What do you know? Phebe laid an egg... the finest little thing which sent the girls into fits of rapture. It made Sally more than ever determined to get a father bird so she's saving for it. I just know the little monkey won't spend a cent for candy or gum until she gets enough saved and Pete is right behind her. If we ever do have baby birds which is her goal! Those two... well, guess I won't say it but I'm thinking it!

In spite of the toll and long hours on a farm there are many compensations. And this spring we have a bumper crop. You should see the rosy cheeks on our little girls as they romp carefree and happy through the sunny days.

And our animal pets... the girls outside all day watching, feeding, loving and admiring... even the pigs. They have long ago ceased to be the cute roly-poly little hogs they were but now they have a new attraction. The method they have of rooting and lying in the mud holds the girls in a spell and they stand at the fence watching and giggling. Sally says, "I'm awfully glad, awfully glad I'm not a pig." But Susy says, "That looks like it would be a lot of fun. Wish I was a pig for one day. I bet I'd be the muddest pig in there. Wouldn't you like to be a pig, Mama?"

And then there are kittens... the all-time favorites because even when they grow up they are pets and something that does not have to go off to market. We have three so far and they are the most cunning things there are on a farm or anywhere in my notion. The girls are at the back door almost a dozen times a day asking for bread and milk for them... because they are soooooo "honeyray." They follow and scamper along on their short legs and fall over each other.

They each have one and one is mine. Pete does not share our enthusiasm for them. He says he has them under foot while milking and that is enough for him trying to keep them from committing suicide under a cow's foot. They have outgrown the box we put out for them and now scramble over the sides to what fate may befall them, and believe me, a farm can be a dangerous place to grow up with

THE INGHAM COUNTY NEWS Section 3

Book Talk

from Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Daily, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; also Saturday 10-12 a. m.

We've been reading a very mixed group of books this week—some we think you'll want to read now, and others you'll just want to remember to read next fall or winter.

DAMNED OLD CRANK, the self-portrait of E. W. Scripps is one of these. Not exactly the founder of the Detroit News, but the one who made it a really paying newspaper and who set the policy which has continued to a large extent to the present day, he talks of himself as a rather objectionable, but interesting character. Anyone interested in journalism or local history will find this particularly of interest. It is not literature in the great sense. Scripps actually wrote little himself, and this book is taken from miscellaneities bits he dictated when he had the urge to get down some of his thoughts and to rationalize his actions, for he realized it was an important person.

ALLAH THE GOD OF ISLAM is the third of the series of religious books written by Florence Mary Fitch. As in the preceding ones of ONE GOD and THE SEARCH FOR GOD she has told something of the history of the religion, carried it to its various regional groupings, and included many pictures which will be helpful in understanding. It is this understanding of the belief of others which she emphasizes. Although planned primarily for older boys and girls, we think all adults will find it an accurate and easily comprehended book on a usually not very easily understood subject.

THE FOUNDLING is Francis Cardinal Spellman's novel about a World War I veteran who finds a place for himself in society after returning to America horribly disfigured. He finds his place through the founding he discovers in a Christmas crib at St. Patrick's Cathedral. The growth of the baby to boyhood and young manhood in many ways duplicates his growth. A little too "pat" in his conclusions and results, but a satisfactory story for a little light reading.

It will operate southbound Sundays from July 1 to August 26 and also Labor Day, Monday, September 3, leaving Mackinaw City at 4:30 p. m. and arriving in Detroit at 11:30 p. m.

The resort train will have reclining seats, air-conditioned coaches and a tavern-lounge car. Stops will be made in both directions at Woodward Avenue in Detroit, Rochester, Lapeer, Vassar, Bay City (West Side station), West Branch, Roscommon, Grayling, Gaylord and all stations between there and Mackinaw City.

This service is in addition to the daily overnight pullman and coach train in each direction between Detroit and Mackinaw. On the overnight train, additional pullman service will be provided during the summer months beginning Friday, June 15.

Speedway Plans Stock Car Races
On Sunday afternoon, June 24, stock cars of the superior automotive racing association will present a program of stock car racing on the high-banks of the half mile track of the Owosso Motor Speedway.

Promoter Lysie May has entered a contract with the Superior Automotive Racing Association to sanction all future stock car races at this track to assure fans of a large field of cars at each meet. Advantage to the drivers of a large hospital fund and better insurance were also considered.

Among the lead footed drivers will be the well-known Wilson Fedewa of Lansing, Bob LeCureux of Owosso, Dale Solem of Owosso, Bill Critt of Perry, Micky Katlin of Howell, Larry McCloskey of Saginaw, Len Quenby of Mason and many more of the favorite drivers.

Time trials will start at 1 p. m. and the first race promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Masons Set Date For Holt Festival
Holt Masons will stage the second annual summer festival starting June 25 and running six days.

The W. G. Wade shows and rides will be featured, according to Masons Bud Ellis, Alvin and Spence Fisher. There will also be a commercial tent housing Ingham merchant's exhibits. The festival will be staged on the Myran Hancock farm two blocks south of the stop light on US-127.

Combat Team Story Features Heroes and Horseplay

The feature at the Fox Theatre Saturday will be the surprise drama, "Cause for Alarm," starring Loretta Young.

"Cause for Alarm," unfolds the story of an innocent woman whose jealous husband accumulates circumstantial evidence pointing her out as a murderer. George Jones (Barry Sullivan), suffering from a heart ailment, is convinced that his wife, Ellen, is in love with Dr. Ramsey Graham (Bruce Cowling), and that the two are conspiring to hasten his death. Resolved to kill Ellen, instead, George intrusts her with a letter to the district attorney, in which he incriminates her. When he suddenly dies of a heart attack, his terror-stricken wife finds a mountain of false but incriminating evidence piled up against her, and her first move is to attempt to retrieve the incriminating letter. The episodes in which she follows the course of the fatal letter, the pressure laid upon her by inquisitive neighbors and her husband's prying aunt, her efforts to prevent the doctor from becoming involved in a suspect, build up to the climax.

Deep-sea Story
Passions blaze beneath the sea in Columbia Pictures' "Smuggler's Gold," featuring Cameron Mitchell, Amanda Blake and Carl Benton Reid, which will be the second feature at the Fox Saturday.

Mitchell is seen as a deep-sea diver in love with Amanda Blake, who helps her uncle, Carl Benton Reid, run his fishing vessel and marine equipment store. A kindly, jovial man, Reid conceals the fact that he heads a gold-smuggling racket.

The picture winds up in a climax on the ocean floor, where Mitchell, in a diving suit, is abandoned by the ruthless Reid.

Most Decorated Unit
"Go for Broke!" new M-G-M drama starring Van Johnson comes to the Fox on Sunday.

It tells the story of the 442nd Central Postal Directory, the most decorated group in World War II and one of the greatest fighting units of that or any other war. Composed of Nisei (Americans of Japanese ancestry), all volunteers from continental U. S. and Hawaii, they amassed a record-breaking total of personal and unit decorations and citations, including more than 6000 Purple Hearts. After some of the bitterest fighting in the Italian campaign, they moved to France where against seemingly overwhelming odds, they rescued the "lost battalion," the 26th Texas Division. "Go for Broke!" Hawaii-an dice-shooting slang for "Shoot the Works," was their do-or-die battle cry.

Outdoor Drama
Robert Taylor as the Shoshone Indian comes to the Fox Theatre Tuesday in "Devil's Doorway."

The picture, filmed high in the Colorado Rockies, is the saga of the courageous stand of the American Indian against the inroads of the white man and his westward march to the cattle lands and sheep-grazing country. Convicted with conviction, and some beautiful photography, the story centers on the proud Shoshone, Lance Poole, who returns from the Civil War to his home in the Sweet Meadows Valley, land his family has owned for generations. Although his bravery in battle has won him the congressional comedy in the Bowery Boys series, starring Leo Gorcey and due to open Thursday at the Fox Theatre.

The film deals with spiritism and included is a sprawling mansion reputed to be haunted and a ghost, some 300 years old. Gorcey and Huntz Hall set upon breaking up racketeering among those who take their spiritualism in a very serious vein. In this, they are aided by their pals, Billy Benedict, Buddy Gorman and David Gorcey, and their benefactor, Bernard Gorcey. Lloyd Corrigan plans the ghost.

Another "Hopalong Cassidy" film, "Strange Gamble," is the second feature Thursday and Friday, with Bill "Hoppy" Boyd once again in the saddle.

Traditionally, "Hoppy" is involved in some daring and romantic episodes, all of which and satisfactorily, due to his sleuthing.

Families Gather At Grovenburg

Grovenburg Methodists held their family night at the church last Thursday.
Before the dinner, served by women of the church, there was a gathering in the sanctuary. Mrs. Howard North asked the blessing. Then the people went downstairs where they were served cafeteria style. Beautiful ponies graced the dining room.
Mrs. Marvin Hoskins was toastmistress. Mrs. Arlene Strickling presided for group singing.
Mrs. Richard Hoising and the reading for a clever skit entitled "And the Lamp Went Out." Joyce Binkley, Bonnie Rice, John Ellsworth and Ralph Hart took the melodramatic parts.
Leon North read a tribute to sons and sang one to the daughters. He sat in a rocking chair, held his little daughter on his lap, and sang a lullaby.
Ronnie Strickling gave the toast to the mothers.
Accompanied by her father, Marvin Hoskins, on his guitar, Linda Hoskins sang a toast to the fathers.
Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News gave a short talk.

Ax Has Fallen On Sloppy Tourists

Michigan's department of conservation will be all business as they patrol the state vacation lands this year.
The department has published official notice that it will be considered a violation to camp on state property for more than 15 days without written permission from the department, to leave rubbish at camp sites or along the roads, to peel bark from trees or to gather blueberries with any mechanical device.
Any of the above violations and more will be punishable by fine of not more than $100 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 90 days.
Richard Fletcher, chairman of the conservation commission, said the department's aim is to keep Michigan clean and natural so that tourists may enjoy the state parks and woods.

Scholastic Achievement Pays Off

There are some boys who would run their hearts out to keep from finishing near the tail end in a foot race. They would give their last ounce of strength to advance the ball in a football game. They would make every attempt to keep from dying on third in a baseball game. Yet a lot of young men in high school, and even a few in college, coast along in their studies. They say, "Being first in school work doesn't count. Big companies seldom hire the valedictorian or salutatorian."

That's where the young men are wrong. Big companies do hire the valedictorians and salutatorians unless some other company has hired them first. Only in the minds of school boys is there any prejudice against those who lead in scholastics, and that's something teachers and the general public can and should do something about. We should reserve some of our banquets and applause for the boy who develops his mental powers.

Dick Christensen of Mason was one of 10 boys chosen from among thousands competing for Westinghouse scholarships at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. A Westinghouse scholarship provides for four years of study. The cash value is listed at $2,850.

After the list of applicants for the 10 scholarships was narrowed down to 600 the young men underwent a three-hour achievement test by the Carnegie college entrance examination board. The final awards were made for mental ability and engineering aptitude, and for qualities of leadership as shown in extra-curricular activities and in community affairs.

With so many from which to choose there was plenty of opportunity for Westinghouse to skip valedictorians and salutatorians and to choose those at the lower end of the class.

Yet it didn't work out that way. Of the 10 chosen for the scholarships three were valedictorians of their high school classes, another three were salutatorians, one stood third, another fourth, and the other two were near the top in graduating classes containing several hundred students.

The mere fact that a boy or girl was valedictorian may be of no great importance in itself. The fact that he or she has the mental ability, the drive, the courage and the aptitude to lead in scholastic achievement is important. At least, Westinghouse and Carnegie Tech hold that opinion. They have no fears that valedictorians and salutatorians are maladjusted or are apt to become so later.

A boy who would never say, "I could have won the race if I had wanted to run harder at the start," or "I would have made the touchdown if I hadn't been afraid people in the stands might have thought I practiced too much," will say, "I could have been in the upper 10 in my graduating class if I had wanted to study." Sometimes they mean, "I would have been in the top 10 if someone had not told me that studies should come after athletics or music or other less important things."

Often it is the attitude of parents and sports followers, sometimes even the apparent attitude of the school, that scholastic achievement is secondary at best.

Of course, it isn't secondary. It is primary. Scholastic standings indicate aptitude, purpose and ability. They carry promise of success.

In announcing the scholarship winners, A. C. Monteith, vice-president of Westinghouse Electric Corporation and chairman of the Westinghouse Education Foundation, said, "Westinghouse firmly believes that America must have a growing body of professional men who can build well-adjusted personal lives and who can act intelligently and effectively in many fields of human relations, business and industry. They should learn to assume their full responsibilities as citizens as well as advance to leadership in their technical specialties. That is why we have put our concrete support behind Carnegie Tech and the Carnegie plan through these 10 scholarships."

Yes, the management of one of the most important companies in all the world measures future promise of men by achievement in high school. What further proof is needed that scholastic achievement pays off.

WHAT IS THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE?

Acheson Gives His Definition

By Vernon J. Brown

This is Sunday afternoon. I attended church this morning and heard a good sermon on "love," not that sexual emotion which Hollywood portrays and which is so featured in radio and TV programs, but that overmastering passion of which the world is so in need and which down through the ages has led to sacrifice and service, which asks nothing and gives all, which is the very foundation stone, the key to the arch, the supporting pillars, of the Christian faith.

After such a morning and such a sermon I should be in an amiable mood. I am not. I am upset, unhappy, disturbed and mentally unfit to write this piece but just the same I am going to do just that.

The Way in Korea
A day or two ago I was talking with a good friend who has some of his family in Korea. A letter had just come from the very front lines where Chinese communists were being brought in as prisoners of war. This man was astounded to learn that when questioned these Chinese did not know what the war over there is about or why they were fighting the soldiers of the United States.

I asked this man if he thought the average United Nations fighting man along the Korean battle lines could tell anyone why he was there or why he was fighting the Chinese.

The answer I got stumped me and I have been thinking it over ever since. It was this, "They are fighting for a way of life."

That sounds good but is it true? And if it is true what particular way of life is it that takes the best of our youth away from home, far away, and stands them up as targets for fanatics to shoot down who also, in all probability, are told the same thing.

So as I ponder on what the American way of life has come to be, I wonder what in particular this man or any other individual anywhere has in mind when the term is used.

The Way at Home
In the sanctuary, the "way" is one thing. In the dives of sin and the dens of iniquity which infest much of big city living nowadays, the "way" is quite different. Children molested, assaulted and killed and left by the roadside, women found dead at trysting places, drink-cazied men and women slaughtering their own little children, commerce crippled by strikes, government charging unlawful monopolistic practices on the part of business—these are some of the things which we do not care to talk about when our "way of life" is discussed.

But the real menace to what most of us like to think of as the American way of life, is something which has crept in upon us in recent years and without our knowing it.

Dean Acheson's Way
Dean Acheson, our secretary of state, has just testified before a United States senate committee that it was at Yalta, where it was ist heading for the same field. The organist and the vocalist who performed at the wedding came on from Yale University and they, too, have been assigned to mission work in Japan. The young Lutheran preacher who tied the knot is also bound for Japan. A Nisei girl registered the guests at the reception and another Nisei poured the punch. Among the guests was a Japanese young man studying at Cornell on a Rotary scholarship.

The Japanese student came to the wedding because he had taught the Japanese language to Dunton. The student looked closer to 18 than he did 25, to which he confessed. He was in the Japanese army during the war. At Cornell he is doing graduate work in industrial engineering. He plans to return to Japan in July to help modernize industry there. I gave him the last available address of Juro Wyeno, former research chemist at Wyeth's plant in Mason. Juro is now vice to the top of the government-controlled dairy industry in Japan.

Don and Ruth Murray of Birmingham hurried to Mason from Ann Arbor for the wedding. At Ann Arbor Saturday they had attended commencement and heard their son Chuck make the presentation speech to Dr. Alexander Rutliven. Chuck was president of the graduating class. He's staying on at Ann Arbor to study dentistry.

West South street from Lansing street to McRoberts road is one of the sightliest in town. The John Carroll, Kenneth Shattuck and James Deuel yards and gardens are well kept. The Claude Mimer grounds at the corner of McRoberts and South streets are inviting.

I've been saving a piece of poetry for a year without finding a place where it really fits in. Because this is having season I'll make room for it. I like the philosophy:

The worry cow might have lived till now
If she'd only saved her breath,
But she feared the hay wouldn't last all day
So she choked herself to death.

decided that we Americans were to enter upon a foreign policy built around fear. The distinguished secretary of state glibly told the senators that because we dared not trust Stalin, we decided to team up with him. At least this testimony has one merit. It sets a date when America and Americans surrendered to a new philosophy. There was no referendum on the matter. A few men who happened at that moment to be in high places decided all that and now years after we are finally told. Meanwhile a lot of good American blood has been spilled and many a body maimed and shattered.

Probably George Washington could have saved his army a lot of hardships that winter they spent at Valley Forge if only he had made some sort of deal for warm quarters with the British in Philadelphia. Had he done so there would never have been a nation called the United States.

Just what that alleged peace trip to the outlying provinces of China soon after Yalta involved is still not known to the American people. If this MacArthur controversy serves no other purpose than to get some facts before the public it will be worth while.

Commando Kelly's Way
I like what Charles E. (Commando) Kelly, famed hero of World War II, said the other day. Kelly was awarded the highest honors which a United States congress can bestow any person for his services in that conflict. He appears not to have been swayed too much by this award for this is what he is quoted as saying, "I see no reason why our boys should be fighting and dying in Korea for a bunch of people in Washington who don't know what they are doing."

The fact that a brother is listed among the missing in action over there may have something to do with Commando Kelly's present viewpoint is supported by much of the testimony now coming out of Washington.

This nation of ours has deviated a lot from the straight pathways established by the founding fathers. Just how far we have been led away from the true course once so well marked, few of us realize or have been permitted to know about for that matter.

That is why I am unhappy. In the few years left to me, no great harm can come my way but when I see all these fine young folks of the current generation and all the bright young faces of the little children of this day, I cannot avoid a feeling of uneasiness, distrust and suspicion. Testimony like that given recently by our secretary of state holds no measure of reassurance.

Juvenile Delinquency Secondary

Juvenile delinquency is the result. Adult delinquency is usually the cause when youngsters go wrong.

There was an exaggerated case which was brought to light in circuit court in Mason last week. A 15-year-old girl (she was called a juvenile delinquent) was in court as a witness. She testified against a man in his 30's. The man, or beast, had hired the girl as a babysitter because his wife worked out. The man and several of his adult companions had attacked the girl.

The adults were delinquent, not the girl, even though she is now held as a juvenile delinquent. Her father was delinquent in permitting his daughter to work for such people.

Parents are generally delinquent before their children get that way. Sometimes they are delinquent in permitting their sons or daughters to roam the country at night, staying out until dawn with no questions asked. Parents are sometimes delinquent by the examples they set, even though they preach good conduct and right living to their children.

Often the adult delinquent is not even a member of the juvenile delinquent's family. He may be someone who exerts a harmful influence upon an impressionable boy or girl. The parents, however, must share the responsibility for that kind of delinquency. By proper training at home and by the influence of church and Sunday school, the boy or girl would have been more particular in choosing friends.

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase only because adult delinquency is on the increase. When we set better examples as adults there will be an immediate improvement among the juveniles.

Apathy Is Our Trouble

Probably Mason's transition from government under its present charter to government under the new charter would pass without anyone knowing the difference except for newspaper publicity. There isn't apt to be any drastic change. There will likely be some half-hearted comment if the mayor and aldermen who become councilmen June 26 immediately hire a city administrator.

Apathy, not the charter, is what ails local government. It's little different in Mason than in any other town. Maybe it is because people have become used to looking to the county, or the state or the federal government for the solution of their problems.

City residents once raised all their revenues locally. Then the county took over the relief responsibility, and control of public health. The city began to get generous slices of state highway money and then diverted sales tax and intangible tax money. As state aid increased local interest waned.

Few residents now care what city services cost. Few even take the trouble to learn what the services are worth. Most of the money comes from outside, or is included with the water bill.

Less than a quarter of Mason residents took the trouble to vote at the charter election.

That brand-new charter won't do Mason much good unless along with the new charter comes an awareness of citizenship responsibility. How to kindle and nurture that awareness is the chief problem here and in other communities.

Public meetings won't do it. The charter commission tried that and lured only 21 out. Changing the charter won't do it. Less than 25 per cent went to the polls to say whether they did or didn't want the new charter. Such pieces as this won't turn the trick. They have been written before.

Maybe the only solution is for one or more of the councilmen to deliberately challenge the people on something that can still be twisted into a local issue. Quarreling over city affairs is bad, but not so bad as the apathy which now has Mason in its grip.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Many toasts to mothers and fathers and to sons and daughters are platitudes with little meaning. Last Thursday night I heard three which came right from the heart. It was at the Grovenburg Methodist church family night. Leon North took a rocking chair and his year-old daughter. He held his daughter on his lap and crooned her a lullaby—a lullaby from all fathers to all daughters everywhere. Ronnie Strickling sang a toast to mothers.

Then Linda Hoskins sang a toast to fathers. She sang it well. I shall never forget the tenderness and beauty of that girl as she stood there with her hand on her father's shoulder, singing as her father strummed his guitar and helped with the melody. I seldom use the word lovely. I've been saving it for Linda.

Half the enjoyment of strawberry shortcake or cherry or huckleberry pie comes from picking the fruit. Saturday noon Margaret and I thought our strawberry shortcake tasted flat. We didn't blame the cook. We just decided that the berries hadn't been picked right.

Immediately after downing second helpings, we took off for Onondaga and Dean Hazelton's strawberry plantation here on the banks of the Grand. We found excellent picking and only had to pay 15c per quart for the pleasure. That makes strawberry picking come cheaper than golf, bowling or almost any other sport.

On the next row and picking with both hands was a Hoosier. He had finished the picking in Indiana and was following the crop north. After this week he is heading back for Indiana to pick huckleberries. He intends to follow that crop back to Ingham, too, he said. In the winter he keeps in trim by picking grapefruit and oranges in Florida. That kind of work isn't satisfying enough, though, he told me. He prefers the fine work of picking strawberries and huckleberries; the same as a needleworker prefers making lace to sewing up burlap bags.

"I retired once, years ago," the man from Indiana said, "and I sat around and felt miserable. I had always envied fruit pickers, so I thought I would try my hand. I discovered the joy of being out in the sun, crawling along the rows of luscious strawberries and wandering through huckleberry swamps. Oh, it's glorious."

The Hoosier drives a 1951 Chrysler Imperial. He bought it because of its riding ease and the luggage compartment, he explained. The riding ease keeps his berries from jiggling around and the trunk holds more berries than a Cadillac or Packard, he told me.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince and Mrs. Prince's daughter picked an even 50 quarts of berries at Hazelton's Saturday afternoon. Margaret and I fell short of that mark. She slowed up while I was resting beneath the shade of a tree.

It was my first picking at the Hazelton plantation. Last year more than 10,000 quarts of strawberries were picked from an acre. The acreage has been increased this year. Hazelton uses water from the Grand to irrigate his patch. He pumps the water up over the river and sends it over the ground through a system of perforated pipes.

As a service to people who want to devote part of their vacations to the sport of picking huckleberries, the Ingham County News dispatched its holiday editor to Ingham swamps Saturday and Sunday.

His report, submitted in writing and duly sworn to by a notary, is close to the sublime: to-wit: After being duly sworn, deponent deposes and says that on or about Saturday and Sunday, the 16th and 17th day of June in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-one, he did then and there tramp through various and sundry areas commonly known and frequently described as huckleberry swamps; that he did find in many swamps, the Don Dillingham swamp on Meridian road in particular, indications leading him to believe that picking will be sensational, that the most auspicious time for picking will be midway between July's new moon and its first quarter. He further deposes and says that in surveying seven Ingham swamps he did not see a serpent of any kind or size, therefore that he has reason to believe that no invertebrate reptile inhabits said areas; further deponent saith not.

The Dunton-Davis wedding was probably one of the most cosmopolitan on record. Dunton is a Methodist headed for the Japanese mission field. His bride was a Presbyterian and is now a Method-

Farewell Party Honors Kirt Hunt

The Williamston volunteer fire department held a going-away party Friday evening, honoring one of their members, Assistant Fire Chief Kirt Hunt, who is leaving for the army June 23. He was recruited to duty.

Members of the department and their families assembled at McCormick park for a picnic supper at seven o'clock. Sixty-three were present, among them being the auxiliary firemen who have been in training under the Civilian Defense plan.

Gracing the center of the long table was a huge three-tiered cake decorated with red roses and blue festoons on the white frosting. Topping the cake was a soldier in uniform with Kirt's name on one side. A smaller cake for Denny Hunt, whose birthday anniversary also fell on Friday, was placed in front of his plate.

Following the supper, the fire chief, Wilbur Smith, presented Mr. Hunt with a leather officers' traveling bag, with his name inscribed on it. Kirt responded with thanks, and expressed his appreciation to the men on the department for their co-operation and splendid work while on duty.

The official photographer of the department, Ralph Bartlett, then took a picture of the department of whom all were present except Lois Logel. All men were in their uniforms. Buick's newest engine
—the F-263 Fireball—gives this year's SPECIAL
the highest power in SPECIAL history

Remember - only BUICK has a FIREBALL ENGINE

WE get a chuckle, sometimes, over all the fuss that's being made about "new engines."

You'll note that the key feature of their design in every case is the valve-in-head principle - whether these engines are already in production or still in the dream stage.

Fact is, it takes this design to get the most from "high compression"—and how high you can go depends upon the available fuel. Using this design, wartime aircraft engines operated on 100 octane gasoline.

It also takes this design to get the more-miles-per-gallon which folks like in an automobile.

So what gives us a chuckle is this: No other type of engine has ever been used in a Buick—which means that Buick owners, all along, have been getting a lot of things that others have just "discovered."

swirling ball of gasoline vapor compacted around the spark plug. And when the fat spark sets it off, a cyclone of power lets go.

Of course, a Fireball Engine, being a valve-in-head, keeps pace with high-test fuel, when it comes to "high compression."

But what's more important in the present state of the world is this: A Fireball Engine is designed to handle the not-so-high-test fuel we may be getting in the not-too-distant future.

So, if you want to sample all that's fine in motorcar engines, your Buick dealer is the man to see. Come in soon, and find out what the rest of the world has been missing.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Dairy Cattle on Pasture Need Essential Minerals

The dairy cattle are out on pasture now after the long barn feeding season in Michigan. Farmers who have done a good job of bringing them through are entitled to take a pat on the back.

Good pasture is a valuable and economic source of high quality feed for dairy cattle. Cattle on pasture are easier to take care of than when they're in the barn in the winter.

Now comes the advice—don't let mineral feeding slip just because the cows are on pasture. There is no reason to believe that pasture plants contain any greater quantities of minerals than crops dried and stored from the same soil. George Ward of the Michigan State college dairy department insists that it is just as important to feed minerals to cattle on pasture as when they are on dry feed in the barn.

Fair minerals are lacking in Michigan. In some places all four are not present in the farm grown feeds. They are salt, iodine, cobalt, and phosphorus. Salt is not present in natural feeds in large enough amounts for dairy cattle. Most plants grown on Michigan soils are short of iodine. In some areas the soils and crops are deficient in cobalt. Whenever little or no grain is fed, the possibility of a deficiency of phosphorus arises. There are several products on the market which carry one or more of these minerals. There is plain salt, iodized salt, cobaltized salt, and trace mineral salt which contains both iodine and cobalt. To furnish phosphorus if needed, farmers can use steamed bone meal or delinorinated phosphate. If a phosphorus supplement is necessary it works well to mix one-third steamed bone meal with two-thirds salt. This mixture will furnish salt and phosphorus as well as cobalt or iodine if trace mineral salt is used. Free access to this mixture will prevent any known mineral deficiency in Michigan cattle. Feed the mixture in a box or trough with a roof over it to protect from rain and put it where the cattle have access at all times.

Clean Equipment Needed With Milk

With warmer weather it's necessary for all milk producers to check procedure in care and handling of milk to avoid trouble in marketing.

Don Murray, Michigan State college extension dairyman, recommends that first of all equipment must be kept clean. Dairymen should check over the milking machine and replace rubber that has become checked or has some other condition that makes it difficult to keep clean. Another suggestion is that a weekly routine of boiling the infusions and milk hose in a lye solution for at least 15 minutes. This will remove food material which encourages growth of bacteria. Michigan State college has recently published a folder entitled, "Keeping Your Milking Machine Clean." The number is extension folder F-159. It is available from county agricultural agents.

Foreign Ag Men Study at MSC

Nine German and Austrian livestock specialists are spending five weeks at Michigan State college, taking a special course in the use of artificial insemination for dairy cattle.

The program is a part of the "Point Four" program of providing technical assistance to foreign countries. Seven Germans and two Austrians, all trained in technical agriculture and some with veterinary degrees, are taking class work and doing practical work. George Parsons, Michigan State college dairy extension specialist and one of the nine staff members helping with the training program, spent six months in Germany last year developing an artificial breeding program.

The program is sponsored jointly by the Economic Cooperation Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture and Michigan State college. Similar programs are being carried on by other Land Grant colleges.

Control of Flies Is No Easy Task

Fly control is no easy job around the farm, but sanitation and use of recommended spray materials can make it less difficult, Ray Jones, Michigan State college entomologist, explains.

Sanitation means getting rid of all places where flies breed. Jones says unless breeding places are destroyed, it is doubtful that spray materials will do the control job. Before starting to use spray materials he suggests manure piles, camp areas, calf pens and all such areas be thoroughly cleaned up.

Present regulations are against use of DDT in the dairy barns. Lindane or methoxychlor will give good control of flies in barns, Jones reports. Ten pounds of 25 per cent wettable lindane powder or 40 pounds of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor powder in 100 gallons of water is the right strength. Jones says it should be applied in a coarse spray, but not in quantities that will run off the walls. Care should be taken not to spray feed, watering cans or mangers.

For treating outside walls or pig pens, DDT may be used at the rate of 40 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder to 100 gallons of water. Chlorthane, at a rate of 16 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder for 100 gallons of water may also be used. Lindane, mixed the same as for inside use, is also effective.

Jones says most farmers find lindane more satisfactory than methoxychlor for inside use and some have mixed the two for good control.

Ingham Sends 24 To 4-H Meeting

Twenty-four 4-H boys and girls from Ingham county will attend the 33rd annual Michigan 4-H club week at Michigan State college from June 26 to 29.

Delegates scheduled to make the trip are Diane Clannahan, East Lansing club; Lauren Bohnet, Lansing club; Nila Smith, Wheatfield club; Robert Wilcox, Kalamazoo club; Kathryn Kahr, Galesburg club; Rosemary Elliott, Northeast Stockbridge; Carolyn Dobbe, Aurelius; Mary Ann Minnis, Vantown; Margaret Black, Okemos; Jean Avery, Okemos; Dorothy Showerman, White Oak; Mary Emens, Four-Winds; Wesley Exelby, Wheatfield; Kenner Rathig, Cross Roads; Dean Baughan, West Locke; Larry Miller, Four-Winds; LaVon Prentice, Okemos; Dorwin Sheathelm, White Oak; Leon Fellows, Alaledon; Peter Stid, Skeeter Hill; Lee Anderson, Driver; Wilfred Wardowski, Northwest Leslie; Robert Sterle, Tomlinson; and Don Williams of Vantown.

More than 3,000 from southern Michigan will attend and hear outstanding speakers. The program will open Tuesday noon and evening programs will be held each night featuring entertainment.

President John A. Hannah of Michigan State college is scheduled to speak the first night. On Wednesday evening, a dress revue will be held to select southern Michigan entries for the finals to be held during the State 4-H club show in late August. Thursday night will be "fun night" with an entertainment and game program. Phil Hayhoe, Alaledon club, will represent Ingham county with an achievement booth. He and Junia Carr will be interviewed for the State 4-H Service club, an honorary organization for outstanding boys and girls.

Pork and Poultry Lower Budgets
The homemaker's food budget could be lowered considerably if consumers would use more cuts and grades of beef that are lower in cost, says Mary Bodwell, agricultural economist and specialist at Michigan State college.

Both chicken and turkey should also be considered in budget cutting plans, the extension food economist reports.

Beef, under O. P. S., is sold by grade under ceiling prices. Look for both grade and price ceilings when you buy. Beef grades on the market begin with choice as the top grade followed by good, commercial and utility in that order.

Pork has been relatively reasonable in price and is in good supply. Veal is in good supply but prices will vary with location and demand.

The lower grades of beef have as much food value as the higher grades but must be more carefully cooked, Miss Bodwell says. To get the most for the meat you buy she advises that all meats be cooked at low temperatures. The commercial and utility grades will be more satisfactory if cooked with moist heat. These grades lack fat and so are not as tender and juicy. Moist heat helps to bring out the flavor and tenderize the meat.

Lamb is in rather short supply and has been high in price. Poultry, both chicken and frozen turkey, has been in very good supply and quite reasonable in price.

A young lawyer was presenting his first case in court. It was a simple damage suit by a farmer against a railroad company, whose train had killed 24 of the man's hogs. But the young lawyer was trying to draw the case out.

"Just think of it gentlemen, 24 hogs," he stated impressively. "Twenty-four! Twice the number there are on this jury!"

YEAR-AROUND TURKEY—Good news for the housewife has come out of Lancaster, Calif., where Mrs. Phyllis Higgs has developed an eight-pound turkey. Mrs. Higgs, shown above with one of her junior gobblers, has been trying for 17 years to raise a turkey that can fit most budgets and ovens.

New Cattle Disease Has Spread To Midwestern Farming Areas

Cattle owners should be on the alert for a dangerous new cattle disease which first appeared in this country seven years ago and appears to be spreading, veterinary authorities report.

The disease, leptospirosis, was first diagnosed in Connecticut in 1944, and has now invaded the majority of our best cattle producing states, according to reports of the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Control efforts have been handicapped because symptoms of the disease vary so widely. Sometimes cows may be stricken without the owner knowing it. Sudden illness, loss of appetite, fever, depression and thick milk are all suspicious signs.

Owners may think that some light cases are only indigestion, since the cow may recover without serious illness. In other cases, however, the disease strikes hard, killing many animals.

Recovered animals may act as disease carriers for a considerable length of time, the report says. Also, owners may confuse the disease with mastitis or anaplasmosis. The only sure way of determining if leptospirosis is present in a herd is through blood tests and isolation of the disease-causing organism.

If cattle owners suspect an outbreak of the disease, they should obtain a diagnosis immediately. The sooner medical treatment is started, the better the chance of saving the affected animals and preventing the disease from spreading, the Foundation advises.

State 4-H Clubs Stress Home Food Preservation

Two important 4-H projects emphasizing home preservation of food are being carried by club members in Michigan and 46 other states this summer. They are the 4-H canning and frozen foods programs, which are supervised by the Cooperative Extension service.

Among their objectives is to put up home-grown products to provide well-balanced diet in non-productive seasons. Thus the cash outlay for foods also will be appreciably reduced.

As incentives for outstanding records of achievement, county canning winners receive gold medals of honor. The state 4-H champion gets an educational trip to the National 4-H club congress in Chicago in November. These awards and six national college scholarships are provided by Kerr Glass company.

In frozen foods, county winners are presented gold medals and the state winner's award is a 17-jewel wrist watch. Four sectional winners selected from the state champions will receive all-expense trips to the Chicago club congress. International Harvester provides these awards and four national $300 college scholarships.

More than 217,000 4-H members participated in these two programs in 1950. County Extension Agents will supply full information on these programs.

Helbig Is Member Of Holstein Group

George Helbig of Mason has been accepted as a member of The Holstein-Friesian association of America by action of the board of directors at a recent meeting in Des Moines, Iowa.

The association is the world's largest dairy cattle breeders' registry organization and represents breeders of registered Holstein cattle throughout the nation. Membership in the organization now totals over 41,000.

Sheep Breeders To Meet July 20

Michigan sheep breeders have picked Friday, July 20, as the date for the third annual Sheep Field day. It will be held this year at Michigan State college instead of the Eaton county fairgrounds, Graydon Blank, Michigan State livestock specialist, reports.

Results of recent experiments in preventing lamb losses, particularly from stiff lamb disease, will be featured on the program. The usual judging contest and discussion of purebred breeds will also take place.

ANY HIGHER?
Lewis Woods wants to know if he has the year's record in high mature wheat. He brought a stalk into the Ingham County News office which measured 66 inches. The stalk is well headed out and Woods says he has 12 acres of wheat on Meridian road just as good. "Can anybody top this?" he asked.

Testing was supervised by Michigan State college in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian association of America.

DRY HAY PREVENTS BLOAT
One of the best ways to handle the bloat problem with dairy cows on pasture is to provide a rack of dry hay or straw for the animals. If placed near the watering or resting place, Michigan State college dairymen say cows will consume the hay which need not be of best quality.

RICH BY-PRODUCT
A six-months accumulation of manure on a farm carrying 12 milking cows and corresponding young stock is equivalent to more than five tons of 10-5-10 fertilizer. At current prices, that would cost $300, so Michigan State college soils authorities say it's wise and economical to make use of manure.

Fewer Cows Plus Better Care — Same Profit

NY Farmer Shows Worth of Better Dairy Herd Care

A small, well-kept herd pays better than a larger herd with poor care. That's the conclusion reached in studies of the Horace Kulp farm in upstate New York.

At one time this dairyman milked three times the number of cows he now milks. But at the end of the year his bank balance was no greater than it is now. Successful Farming magazine says.

Several years ago his yearly butterfat average was 300 pounds per cow. Now it's over 500 pounds. Moreover, he previously had a hired man to pay and worked 16 hours a day himself. Farm life for Kulp has become easier since he started his present feeding and management program.

The change was expensive at first, but it has paid off since. The result is that his cows and his 106 acres of land now get much better care.

He feeds only one pound of grain to every five pounds of milk. The grain mixture he uses contains 100 pounds each of oats, corn meal, and protein supplement. The supplement is cut to about 50 pounds in the summer. In addition, his 11 milkers get extra high-quality corn silage and plenty of alfalfa-Ladino hay.

A seeding of eight pounds of alfalfa and two pounds of Ladino gives him "a wonderful catch." Kulp believes in using plenty of seed. He always top-dresses his land with manure, and in addition each acre gets 350 pounds of 0-19-19. In an ordinary season, he harvests at least four tons of hay per acre.

The article recommends that dairymen—even in times like these—should take the plunge and start improving their pastures. Because costs are probably going to remain high, there isn't much point in holding off on such programs. And should milk prices decline again, a strong roughage program will help to ease the shock. The wisest course seems to be to improve the pasture for your helpers, while keeping other costs to a minimum, the article concludes.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

May weather was good to wheat. The government's June 1 crop report showed that favorable growing conditions in May just about offset the unfavorable factors of winter and spring. Although acreage losses have been heavy, wheat prospects have boosted winter wheat production outlook about 23 million bushels from the May 1 estimate. The abandoned acreage is being planted to needed food crops, mostly corn and sorghums.

Meanwhile the first season estimate of the spring wheat crop indicates a production of over 348 1/2 million bushels—the largest crop since 1915. The total wheat crop on June 1 was estimated at 1 billion, 54 million bushels. Carryover on July 1, this year, is expected to be about 380 million bushels. The total supply for the 1951-52 crop year would be close to one and a half billion bushels. That would be enough wheat to take care of all domestic and export needs for the crop year and leave a safe margin for reserves.

Michigan's wheat crop was estimated at slightly over 32 million bushels on June 1. That would be 8 per cent more than a year ago, and the third highest output for the state since 1898.

The poultry industry really has something to crow about. The supply story on poultry products presents a good picture. Last year over 60 billion eggs were produced in the U. S. Based on the number of hens being raised this year, the 1951 egg crop should equal the 1950 output.

Over 616 million broilers were turned out in 1950. That was a gain of 115 million over 1949. And the broiler crop for this year is expected to be 15 per cent above last year's record.

Last year's turkey production was over 44.7 million birds. And this year's turkey crop is five to eight per cent larger. The total production of all-purpose chicken and turkey will be over five billion pounds in 1951! Here are the poultry products we'll eat this year: 395 eggs per capita, 27.2 pounds of chicken and five pounds of turkey per person. USDA estimates the volume of broilers to be marketed this month and next will be 20 to 30 per cent higher than in the same period a year ago.

Prices on red meats are helping keep poultry prices up. But also the poultry industry is doing a good job packaging and marketing poultry. June is expected to usher in the biggest chicken-eating summer on record.

Purchases of potatoes by the government under the price support program continues rather heavy for this time of year. Spuds will be bought by the CCC in Maine and Michigan through June.

Total purchases of 1950 crop potatoes through June 5 were over 100 and a half million bushels—about 20 1/2 million bushels more than at the same time a year ago, from the 1949 crop.

Makers of scyops, pitch forks and other farm tools have been assured by the National Production Authority that enough steel will be available to meet seasonal demands. Shovel, spade and scyop manufacturers have asked NPA to restrict non-essential use of certain high grade lumbers particularly ash) needed for handles for hand tools.

The June 1 crop report emphasized what peach growers here in Michigan have known for some time: This is going to be a tough year. Michigan's peach crop in 1950 amounted to 4.8 million bushels. It was the largest in the U. S. outside of California. This year's crop will be around 67,000 bushels... about 14 per cent as large as a year ago in the main peach areas. Peach crops in Illinois and Indiana are also far below a year ago. Only Ohio growers in this part of the country have a larger crop. The total U. S. peach crop is estimated at 65 1/2 million bushels, about 12 million greater than in 1950.

The cherry harvest in Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin will be smaller than a year ago. Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, and Missouri will have larger pear crops. Only Indiana expects to have a smaller pear crop than in 1950. Apple crop prospects in the midwest continue to look better than a year ago. Condition of the apple crop in Michigan on June 1 was estimated at about one-fourth above normal.

There's no shortage of meat animals on farms. The uncertain price of beef has caused slim stocks in some retail outlets. Receipts at terminal markets fell as farmers waited to see what would happen to the price roll-back program.

The Defense Production Act, which includes power to set ceiling prices, expires on June 30. Congress could decide not to renew the legislation. Such action seems highly improbable, however. Best bet seems to be the extension of the new law by early July anyway. Observers figure that beef price control will be kept. Whether additional roll-backs scheduled for August and October will go through is another matter. However, knocking out all beef price controls entirely would wreak havoc with all price controls.

There's too much economic and political dynamite involved for that to happen. Farm members of congress probably would settle for present beef price ceilings, if two additional roll-backs are eliminated. Getting present ceilings raised to spring price levels has only outside chance, top observers figure.

Export of dried, as well as of fresh apples is to be encouraged by USDA through program of export payments. Ten cents a pound, or half the export sales price, will be paid exporters. They in turn will then be able to sell the apples in foreign markets at a lower cost to the foreign buyer.

The fresh apple export program has been continued to the end of this month. There were still almost seven million bushels of 1950 crop apples left in U. S. at the end of April.

"THERMOSTAT" IS NOT EFFICIENT

Milk Production Varies With Heat

When the weather really gets hot, a man breaks out in a sweat and the perspiration keeps his body heat down. But a cow sweats very little and as the temperature climbs, her body heat rises sharply.

C. F. Huffman, dairy research authority at Michigan State college, has found that different dairy cows vary in ability to stand high temperatures. When the barn temperature was 95 degrees some cows had body temperatures up to 106 degrees with respiration rates of about 125 a minute. Another cow, next to these, had a normal body temperature of about 101.5 degrees with respiration of about 25.

The average cow converts about one-fourth of her feed into milk, the other three-fourths of her food energy is waste heat. Since her "cooling system" is not very effective, she often stops eating. That cuts down milk production.

Although some dairy breeds stand the heat better than others, the hot weather problem is one that dairy researchers must face.

They have found that pastures with adequate shade helps keep cows cooler.

Some farmers allow the cattle to come back into the barn in the heat of the day. If it is cooler and free from flies, the cows find it more comfortable. After they've had their fill of grass, dairy cows will usually find the most comfortable spot if allowed the freedom of choice.

U. S. Department of Agriculture authorities are working on cross-breeding dairy animals which will stand higher temperatures without a drop in production, but have reached no conclusive results.

Toward the Precipice

See that poor, old blind man nearly bent double by the load he is carrying down the road toward the yawning chasm—he stumbles, hesitates, but staggers blindly on. Look sharply—that's your Uncle Sammy—poor old fellow. He used to stand straight and be strong. Now he is bent and weakened with the load of debt he is carrying.

He used to be powerful because he had money and seemed to know from whence it came and how to use it wisely. Now he has debts, mortgages, promises to pay. He still collects increasingly high sums from taxpayers only to spend billions each year more than he collects, nay, insists that he have more—so taxes are increased. He continues to spend and spend, give away and give away. He is so many billions in debt now that no human mind can comprehend it.

Oh! please hurry! Stop the old fellow 'ere he topples 'ore the precipice and is destroyed—leaving only socialism, statism, communism—where once he walked so proudly.—Michigan Milk Messenger.

Zeelander Wins Chicken Trophy

Robert E. DeWitt of Zeeland gained the title of king of Michigan poultrymen in a state Chicken-of-Tomorrow competition so close that the judges required an extra hour of deliberation.

The 28-year-old manager of DeWitt's Zeeland Hatchery won the Michigan championship with a White Rock-New Hampshire Cross entry in the contest to produce better meat-type chickens.

For his triumph in a field of entrants representing the state's top poultry producers DeWitt was presented a trophy awarded by A & P Food Stores which sponsors the chicken derby with the Michigan State college poultry extension department and the broiler industry.

Less than a single point separated the top three winners in the eyes of the judges, E. C. Garlinger, Lake Odessa poultry dealer, and L. A. Dawson of Michigan State's poultry extension department.

Runner-up was a 4-H club agent, Leonard Hill of Berrien Springs, making his initial start in the contest. Hill previously had coached youngsters who were winners in the 1949 and 1950 junior chicken events.

Third prize went to Mrs. Pearl Miller of Sandusky, a poultry raiser for 40 years. Both Hill and Mrs. Miller had White Rock entries.

In the judges' scoring, DeWitt's birds rated 87.75 points to 87.50 for the Hill entry and 87.00 for Mrs. Miller's chickens.

Other DeWitt entries captured fourth and sixth places. Lial Gifford, St. Johns hatcheryman who captured the title last year, finished in fifth position.
