

Jury Systems Differ Widely

Dr. Hans Seiss, head of the Bavarian state police criminal section in Munich, Germany, took a look at the Ingham county police and the court system this week. He also took a look at grocery store shelves and new cars and television sets.

He was amazed at the amount of wealth of America and the goods the average citizen possesses," Dr. Seiss said.

Dr. Seiss took special interest in the court system. There are no juries in Germany as they are known in the United States. Only what Dr. Seiss calls "voluntary" men are allowed to sit as jurors and to determine a verdict. No laymen are allowed to pass judgment in court, he said.

In fact, only the most serious criminal cases are heard by juries in Germany. Dr. Seiss stated that juries are then composed of educated men who have studied law and have passed government tests.

Cases settled in civil courts are heard by one, three or five judges, according to the importance of the case involved. Officials who are appointed civil judges in Germany hold the position for life.

German youths have been a problem in Germany since the war, Dr. Seiss said. Stealing is common. The doctor calls "voluntary" men who do not have the right home guidance during the war when their fathers were in the army. The Korean war put a premium on scrap metal, and that is another reason for the juvenile crimes. Even door knobs are stolen in the United States, Dr. Seiss said.

Thirty per cent of the homes and apartments were destroyed in Germany during the war. As a result two or three families sometimes live in a few rooms. Food is scarce.

"When people lack necessities, it is easier to fall into crime," Dr. Seiss stated.

Americans are not helping cement good relations when in Germany they live in the best homes, eat good food and dress around with the clothes and new cars, according to Dr. Seiss. German people, as any people, resent it when they themselves must live in hovels, he explained. The doctor admitted that German soldiers did the same thing while they occupied countries during the war. But he added that for the United States' own good, the situation is bad.

Dr. Seiss visited Mason with two other German police officers, Peter Bert, deputy police chief of Regensburg, and Fritz Todenhant, police chief of Coburg.

The men left Germany June 6 and will return September 1. They are part of a 15-man group picked to visit the United States to observe the police and court system. Michigan State College has been their home away from home. All MSC they were drilled on American history and federal and state constitutions.

After the five-weeks schooling the group was split into smaller units and assigned to police posts in Lansing, Benton Harbor and Grand Haven and the Ingham county sheriff's department in Mason.

From Mason the group will visit Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and New York.

State Returns Half a Million To Local Units

Intangible Tax Payment Is Held Up Because of Delay in Federal Census

Ingham's county treasury is bulging with more than $600,000 sent by the state. The money won't stay in the county coffers long, though. It is earmarked for the townships, cities and incorporated villages.

The state sent $246,808.26 in sales tax money diverted to schools, and $322,659.44 in intangible tax.

Distribution of the intangible tax is being held up until final census figures are received from Washington. State officials suggested the delay. They said the complete census figures will be available late this month.

The intangible tax for 1950 is $297,458.52 and is paid at the rate of $1.72 per capita upon the 1950 federal census, plus an adjustment of $25,200.92 due Ingham units on 1950 schedules.

Sales tax diversion money is the first apportionment for 1951. It is split among districts at the rate of $6.86 per 1950 school census child.

The county treasurer is sending out school district checks this week. The major shares will go to Lansing, $132,404.86; East Lansing, $13,692.56; Mason, $5,741.92; Williamston, $4,774.56; Holt, $6,222.02; Leslie, $2,888.06; Stockbridge, $2,709.70; Okemos, $5,350.80; Haslett, $1,500.16; Ingham Township Agricultural school, $3,135.02; Webberville, $1,317.12.

Alcedon township unit, $2,785.16; Island, $1,020.00; North, $4,527.60; Maple Grove, $6,824.14; Onondaga, $706.58; Onondaga-Kinrossville, $1,502.79.

Carl, Meridian, $3,335.66; Mayfield, $2,517.62; and the following Lansing township schools: Northwestern, $1,399.44; Pleasant Grove, $6,681.64; Windmere, $2,956.66; Horsebrook, $1,214.22; Stoner, $2,773.00; Community, $1,132.76; and Forest Road, $2,291.24.

Committee Asks For State OK On School Sites

State school authorities are expected in Mason within the next week or two to view school sites. The invitation was extended Monday night at a meeting of the committee set up to study the needs of the Mason district.

At the meeting Monday night, the committee decided that the basic need of the district is to eliminate elementary grades from the present building. With 11 grade rooms made available there would be room enough for the high school, members of the committee agreed. Under that plan the junior high school would probably occupy the first floor.

Whether one centrally-located elementary school or two of them located away from the center of town would be best is still to be determined. The determination may rest upon the approval of the state department of public instruction on sites. Chairman Al Rice of the committee said.

Members of the committee reported on new school buildings at Holt, Maple Grove, Pleasant Grove and Elmhurst. The costs, which now run about $20,000 per room. The school district has about $120,000 available in its building and site fund. There is no school debt.

The Mason school study committee serves only in an unofficial capacity. It was set up at the annual school meeting, commissioned to study school needs and present recommendations to the district.

Besides Rice those on the committee are Raymond H. McLean, Mrs. Hugh J. Bartley, Mrs. William E. Clark, Dr. D. R. Leithbridge, Richard M. Demlow and Nelson Brown.

New Gas Tax Law Holds Up Split

Because of a changed formula incorporated in the new gasoline tax law, there will be a delay in distributing the money. It may be October or November before the counties, cities and incorporated villages receive their shares of this year's collections, according to state and county officials.

When the legislature upped the gasoline tax 14c per gallon the distribution formula and machinery were both changed.

The delay will not hamper road commission operations in Ingham. The commissioners set up a reserve to tide the county over the period of delayed payment.

Board Puts Off Wage Decision Until October

Supervisors Vote Raise To Court House Custodian And Salary for Jail Clerk

Supervisors took no action Monday on the petitions presented by county employees at the July meeting. The salaries committee of the board of supervisors reported that salaries will be considered at the annual session in October.

The supervisors accepted the committee recommendation unanimously.

Recommended by the salaries committee and approved by the board was a resolution providing $180 cost-of-living bonuses for employees hired after January 1 of this year. It is the same bonus granted last January to employees then on the general payroll.

Merit Raise Granted

The county board approved a $400 salary increase for Robert Stevenson, custodian of the court house. He was hired January 1. Supervisor Russell said, "The salary is the salary to which he is entitled. There isn't any question about the quality of his work. He has saved enough on painting alone to more than make up the difference in the salary."

Chairman J. K. Reed of Lansing, chairman of the salaries committee, said his committee had no knowledge of the arrangement made with Stevenson. The deal was made, Supervisor Russell explained, when the late Hugh W. Silsby headed the county buildings committee.

On roll call, the raise was granted Stevenson without a dissenting vote. The $2,800 salary is retroactive to July 1.

Supervisors also authorized Sheriff Willard P. Barnes to employ Mrs. Davis Abert as record clerk at the jail. The salaries committee recommended a salary of $1,040 a year. That figure includes board and room.

"The sheriff's department needs a clerk and I hate to pass up such a bargain," Sheriff Barnes said.

Supervisor Eno Helms questioned his colleagues about studying the monthly mimeographed reports mailed to supervisors by the sheriff. The sheriff's reports are valuable, Supervisors Reed, Hubert Bullen of Aurelius, Raymond L. Wilcox of Lansing township and Wilfred L. Jewett of Vevay, agreed. The Vevay supervisor suggested that other departments adopt the sheriff's policy. Supervisor Jewett expressed the wish that the health department in particular send a detailed report to every Vevay voter.

Lions Corral 143 Turtles

Mason Lions have 143 turtles lined up for the three days of racing at the fair next week.

All 143 will run in the preliminaries Thursday afternoon. The 30 fastest will race again Friday with the finals scheduled for Saturday. All of the races will be staged in front of the grandstand. Ken Horn announced. On Thursday and Friday the turtle derby will be staged before the horse racing begins. On Saturday night the finals will be held just before the night show or at an intermission during the show.

Council Accepts VanderVeen Plat On Subdivision

Mason city council agreed to accept the Don VanderVeen subdivision plat at its meeting Monday night.

VanderVeen presented it to the council three weeks ago and asked that the plat which is west of the county park and south of the Hall subdivision be approved. VanderVeen plans to build a circular drive in the subdivision. Alderman Frank Evans moved that when VanderVeen gives a bond to the city amounting to $3,000 per lot of proposed street, City Clerk George Kellogg be permitted to sign for the city. The bond will state that the gravel must be 20 feet wide and six inches deep with gravel and be completed within 12 months.

Previously, VanderVeen had agreed to give a bond.

Kellogg Will Buy

Under the provisions of the new city charter, the council must appoint a purchasing agent. The council appointed City Clerk George Kellogg Monday night for a 90-day trial period. He will handle all city purchases over $5.00.

Fire Chief Leo Austin got the green light for a trip to the international fire chiefs convention in Grand Rapids next week. Alderman Hugh Silsby asked the council to pay the expenses of Austin. The council agreed to ask the chief to make a report to the council upon return.

The council agreed to extend the Cherry street sewer line to the edge of Athletic field. School Superintendent James Vander Ven said if the school board agrees, toilet facilities will be built at the field before football season starts. However, no action will be taken.

Leg Work Pays Off

Trampling out the vintage where the spearmint is stored on the Leo Shinevar muck farm in Stockbridge township are Ken Shinevar, Jerry Ramallia, Ronny Craft and Bob Hackworth. As the mint stems and leaves are forked into the steam vat the boys tramp 'round and 'round to pack a tight load. The vat holds three wagon-loads of mint.

When the vat is loaded with spearmint, the cover is tightened down and steam is forced through the forage from the bottom for 30 to 40 minutes. At the left is the outlet through which the steam and extracted oil pass. The vapor condenses after traveling through a series of pipes in a tank of cold water. The oil is drained off at the bottom of the condenser.

Shinevar and his son, Ken, distill their own 50 acres of mint plus some custom work for neighbors. The Shinevars, like other mint growers, work long hours during the distilling season and eat most of their meals right beside the stills.

STILLS TAKE PLACE OF DERRICKS

Oil Flows from Leaves

Oil is booming in Ingham county. It's not the common petroleum oil which is pumped from the ground. Ingham's oil production comes from peppermint and spearmint plants which grow on the muck lands of Stockbridge, Bunkerville, Hill, White Oak and other townships. Thousands of pounds of clear mint oil is flowing from the field stills in the muck areas. Peppermint oil sells for $7.00 a pound; spearmint sells for $6.00.

An acre of mint will produce 50 to 60 pounds of oil.

Most spearmint oil is used for flavoring. Much of it is bought by candy and candy manufacturers. Wrigley buyers were in Ingham last week to contract for spearmint. However, most Ingham oil is bought by F. B. Todd in St. Johns and William Leman in Bremen, Indiana.

Peppermint oil is also used as a base for medicines as well as for flavoring.

Leo Shinevar has 50 acres of muck planted in peppermint and spearmint on Catholic Church road in Stockbridge township. He distills his own mint and some belonging to his neighbors. His method of processing is much like that used by other mint distillers in the county. There are stills in every area where mint is grown. Many growers have their own.

Mint is cut just like any forage crop. The cutting lies on the ground for a day or two until the leaves wilt and turn brown. It is raked into windrows and loaded onto a truck or wagon and taken to the stills. Veril Baldwin of Stockbridge township uses portable vats and the mint is loaded directly into them, which saves the labor of transferring the mint from the wagon into the stills. Shinevar uses stationary stills.

Each vat holds a wagon-load of hay. Shinevar has two vats. They are round tanks which set about six feet into the ground and rise above the ground about four feet. At the bottom is a steam inlet and at the top there is an outlet for the steam and oil vapor to pass through.

A wagon wheel is placed in the bottom of the vat and half of the mint is dropped in. Boys and men tramp on the mint and draw chains around the mint, securing it to the wheel for ease in moving when the operation is over.

Another wheel is placed on top of the first load of mint and the rest of it is loaded on top. The men and boys tramp again and the chains are set around the second load.

Steam is turned on while the workers tramp. This wills the leaves and permits a bigger load in the vats.

The vat cover is clamped shut and the steam is turned on full force. The distilling process takes 30 to 40 minutes. The steam passes through the mint forage in the vat and removes the oil. The steam and oil pass through the flue at the top of the vat and travel to a condenser. The flue pipe winds through a tank of cold water where the steam separates into water and mint oil. The liquid runs into another tank at the base of the condenser where the oil floats on the water and is drawn off. Sixteen to 20 pounds of mint oil is the average yield for each vat-load of mint forage.

Shinevar has a small hole in the vat where he tests the mint. He lets the steam go to work until no mint odor rises from the test hole.

Shinevar expects to cut about three vat-loads on each acre. He would like to plant just peppermint. However, the land must be built up so that the peppermint will grow on it, Shinevar said. Spearmint is a harder plant and will thrive where peppermint won't. Shinevar is rotating part of his muck land with spearmint and grain crops. He plows the grain under.

A mint planting is usually good for three years. The first year mint roots are planted in rows. The following fall after the mint forage has been cut, the land is plowed and left for the winter. In the spring the land is disked and cultivated. The crop is called meadow mint the second and third years.

In the fall of the third year, Shinevar uses a potato digger to dig up the roots and they are planted in rows the next spring. The roots are cut into six-inch lengths for planting.

One Post Filled, Second Vacant at County Library

With one vacancy filled, the county library board at its meeting Wednesday afternoon learned of another one. Assistant Librarian Dorothy Rozek placed her resignation before the board. She will leave September 15 to become supervisor of branch libraries for Snohomish county, Washington. Her headquarters will be at Everett, on Puget Sound.

Mrs. Mary E. F. Tressider will become Ingham librarian September 1. She will succeed Miss Alta Garry, Indiana, library staff.

Mrs. Tressider is a native of Oklahoma. She received her bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in library science at the University of Oklahoma. Last June she received her masters degree at the University of Michigan.

Before enrolling at the University of Michigan Mrs. Tressider served as librarian in Cordell, Oklahoma; Bonne Terre, Missouri; Garfield county library, Enid, Oklahoma; and at Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Mrs. Tressider is a widow. She has a six-year-old daughter who has been staying with grandparents in Oklahoma. The daughter will join her mother in Mason in October, the new librarian said.

Miss Rozek, a native of Grand Rapids, joined the Ingham staff four years ago as assistant. After graduating from Aquinas college in Grand Rapids she studied at the University of Michigan. She was graduated from there with a library science degree. She was a junior high school librarian in Springfield, Ohio, and then was on the staff of the Michigan state library before coming to Ingham.

Exhibits Fill Buildings and Display Tents

Entertainment Includes Racing, Pulling Events And Grandstand Shows

Canvas flew Wednesday afternoon as hurried hands pitched tents to be used at the Ingham county fair Monday through Saturday next week. Wednesday was about the earliest that tents have been pitched for the fair in recent years, according to Fair Secretary Joy O. Davis. Commercial exhibits have already begun to roll in at the fairgrounds.

Open class and 4-H exhibits will be put in place over the week end. There will be more open class livestock at the fair than ever, according to Mrs. Ethel Nichols of the extension office. In fact, all open class exhibits will be larger than last year, Mrs. Nichols stated. Exhibits in 4-H will equal last year's record amount.

While the fair actually does not start until Monday afternoon, the Methodist church choir will present its "Musical Americana" at the grandstand Sunday night.

Tractors Will Pull

Tractors will pull at the fair Tuesday afternoon. The event was tried on an experimental basis last year and because of the interest, the tractor pull will be held again this year.

Tractor pulling is fairly new in Michigan. Elsewhere the event ranks with horse pulling in popularity. New concrete runways have been built for the tractors in the infield in front of the grandstand. Cows, the blocks weighing 250 pounds have been poured for the tractors to pull. First prize will be $75.00. The tractors will pull on a percentage of weight basis.

Horses will pull Saturday afternoon beginning at 1:00.

Pets Will Parade

Children's day is scheduled for Monday afternoon. The pet parade will start at 1:15. Cash prizes will be given for the best entries in the parade. Games will be played after the parade, according to Ralph Strope, chairman of the children's day program. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Contestants in the parade will be given free seats in the grandstand performance in the afternoon. All children under 12 years of age will be admitted free. Rides on the midway will cost 9c during the afternoon.

Pie Plant Pete and Bashful Joe, WFR radio comedians, will perform at the grandstand Monday night. Lucky Lot's Hell Drivers will present a thrill show Tuesday night. Kline's Revue will perform Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Livestock will parade in front of the grandstand Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Children's day is scheduled for Monday afternoon. The pet parade will start at 1:15. Cash prizes will be given for the best entries in the parade. Games will be played after the parade, according to Ralph Strope, chairman of the children's day program. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Contestants in the parade will be given free seats in the grandstand performance in the afternoon. All children under 12 years of age will be admitted free. Rides on the midway will cost 9c during the afternoon.

Pie Plant Pete and Bashful Joe, WFR radio comedians, will perform at the grandstand Monday night. Lucky Lot's Hell Drivers will present a thrill show Tuesday night. Kline's Revue will perform Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Livestock will parade in front of the grandstand Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Canvas flew Wednesday afternoon as hurried hands pitched tents to be used at the Ingham county fair Monday through Saturday next week. Wednesday was about the earliest that tents have been pitched for the fair in recent years, according to Fair Secretary Joy O. Davis. Commercial exhibits have already begun to roll in at the fairgrounds.

Open class and 4-H exhibits will be put in place over the week end. There will be more open class livestock at the fair than ever, according to Mrs. Ethel Nichols of the extension office. In fact, all open class exhibits will be larger than last year, Mrs. Nichols stated. Exhibits in 4-H will equal last year's record amount.

While the fair actually does not start until Monday afternoon, the Methodist church choir will present its "Musical Americana" at the grandstand Sunday night.

Tractors Will Pull

Tractors will pull at the fair Tuesday afternoon. The event was tried on an experimental basis last year and because of the interest, the tractor pull will be held again this year.

Tractor pulling is fairly new in Michigan. Elsewhere the event ranks with horse pulling in popularity. New concrete runways have been built for the tractors in the infield in front of the grandstand. Cows, the blocks weighing 250 pounds have been poured for the tractors to pull. First prize will be $75.00. The tractors will pull on a percentage of weight basis.

Horses will pull Saturday afternoon beginning at 1:00.

Stockbridge Wins 3 Games in Row

Stockbridge won all three games played last week. They defeated Webberville 3 to 1, Thursday and Fowlerville 20 to 8, Saturday at the Fowlerville fair. Playing under lights at Stockbridge Sunday night, the Merchants defeated Quick Industries of Jackson, 21 to 8.

Bob Price and Neil West of Webberville hooked up in a pitching duel at Fowlerville with Price and Stockbridge coming out on top. Price struck out 15 men and allowed but four hits, while West struck out 12 locals and allowed seven hits.

Saturday, with Coppertown pitching, Stockbridge pounded Fowlerville's Elliot, Davis and Hyatt for nine hits in making their 20 runs. Bases on balls and errors by Fowlerville aided the Stockbridge cause as they walked to an easy win. Fowlerville scored one run in the first and four in the second before Stockbridge came up and made three runs in the third and six in the sixth inning. Stockbridge added three runs in the seventh, one in the eighth and seven in the ninth.

Sunday night, behind the eight-hit pitching of Bob Lambert, Stockbridge scored another easy win in defeating Quick Industries of Jackson 21 to 8. Stockbridge batters made 17 hits, which coupled with eight errors by Quick, made their job an easy one.

I like your paper. What a joy to find an editor with principles like yours and thinking that is Christian and clear. How wonderful to have a paper with no liquor advertising.

One of my "life crusades" is the alcohol issue, and whenever the opportunity arises I try to do all I can to help folks understand the truth. Among the periodicals which come to our home, is the National Magazine of the WCTU, called the Union Signal. I feel that it gives us first-hand, truthful news from Washington, and the unvarnished facts on the alcohol situation as a whole. There are so often, very fine, witty things which I would love to see inserted in a paper such as yours, and which I'll gladly share, if you are interested.

Your picture of the fatal accident several weeks ago, showing the beer bottles in the car, etc., really gave me new hope. I told my husband, "When we have editors with courage like that, our splendid country may yet pull itself out of the moral depths into which it has fallen." Your article explaining why you printed that picture and your policy of giving "cause" as well as "result," was one of the finest.

Your editorial several weeks ago called "Loss of Face" was also very good. How I thrilled at the statement, "The sole American concern ought to be what's right, not to save the American face."

No Rest in Korea

I am with the 21st Infantry of the 24th Infantry Division in North Korea. I would like to speak a little of what I have seen. I keep reading in newspapers where we are just sitting around over here.

Well, we pushed off the other day and now there are only two left in my squad and we even lost most of the first platoon. Other companies took a beating as well. I was wounded but not bad though for I am back with my outfit.

I don't mind people speaking about us over here but when your buddies get killed, it seems queer to read that we are just sitting around. The war is still on for us. We don't like the build-up we are getting back home.

Water Pressure Is Too Low for Fire Sprinkler

Because Mason's water pressure is too low, a sprinkler head system in the court house attic won't work. That's what Ingham supervisors learned Monday when Supervisors John Russell of Lansing and Hugh W. Silsby of Mason reported. They are members of the county buildings committee commissioned to study fire protection at the court house.

Supervisor Russell suggested that the Michigan Inspection Bureau be asked for recommendations as to fire protection. State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner recently recommended the installation of a sprinkler system at the court house. Chemical bombs might be a solution, Supervisor Russell said.

There is a sprinkler system, explained Supervisor Silsby, which employs a pump. He indicated that more particulars will be available at the September 4 meeting of the board.

Vault Not Practical
The building committee also had the task of clearing some of the ancient records from the attic and from other storerooms, and of building a vault if one were needed. According to Supervisor Russell, building of a vault is not practical. It won't be needed if old records are eliminated. Some of the papers stored are dog licenses, records going back 30 years, the Lansing supervisor said. Hundreds of pounds of other old records could also be destroyed, he suggested.

Supervisor Russell asked the board of supervisors to grant authority to the county treasurer to destroy a long list of old records. Supervisor Raymond L. Wilcox of Lansing township offered an amendment providing for the prosecuting attorney to advise as to authority of the supervisors. Prosecutor Paul C. Younger was present. The status of old records is obscure, Younger said. There are few laws governing the disposal of old records, he added. First the state historical commission and in some cases the state administrative board must be notified before the county can destroy records, the prosecutor said. Upon withdrawal of the Russell motion to authorize disposal of the old records, it was agreed that the prosecutor will present a legal opinion at the September meeting.

Appointments Made
Chairman K. G. Brown named Supervisors Jack Patriarche of East Lansing, Walter Munyon of Lansing, Fred Marshall of White Oak, Earl Crakes of Leslie and Phillip Mills of Leroy to represent Ingham at a conference of assessing officers. The conference is scheduled for Michigan State college September 24 and 25.

The chairman also picked Supervisor Hubert K. Bullen of Aurdalus, Ward Vicary of Bunker Hill, Rina Dell of Lansing and Raymond L. Wilcox of Lansing township to attend the annual summer meeting of the Michigan Association of Supervisors and Social Welfare association September 10 and 11 at Lake George, Under the motion made by Supervisor John B. Fay of Delhi, Chairman Brown will also be in the delegation.

Chairman Brown suggested that a committee be established to which elective officials could carry their problems. On motion of Supervisor Fay the board rules were amended to provide for the appointment of such a committee provided the prosecutor holds such appointment within the province of the board.

At the morning session Monday the supervisors adopted a resolution providing for the county to guarantee to reimburse the state for costs of returning acquitted alimony jumpers.

There is little likelihood that a man facing a double-barreled charge of contempt of court and non-support will be acquitted, the prosecutor pointed out. Extradition of six men is now being sought for being in arrears up to $2,500 for alimony, the prosecutor said.

Queen Decision Due Wednesday

Who will preside as queen at the Ingham fair will be determined Wednesday night, Chairman Ken Horn of the Lions club contest committee announced.

The club is now seeking some notable or dignitary of the state to present the queen with her crown and to introduce her and her court to the crowd. The crown is scheduled for Saturday night. Governor C. Mennen Williams will be unable to attend the Ingham fair, he has announced. He was counted upon to do the crowning.

Contestants for the crown are Susie Pearsall, Nancy Weaver, Sue Bergeon, Donna Acheson, Helen Wiley, Joan Parsons, Joyce Mowlock, Mona Sherwood and Elaine Swan of Mason, Faith Sutcliffe of Leslie, Georgia Eoster of Dansville and Carol Askie of Holt.

BOOTH HAS TELEPHONE
The Ingham County News information booth at the fair will be open Monday through Saturday from 9 a. m. until the fair closes.

City Will Limit Free Water to Mason Churches

Cleanliness may not be next to Godliness, it was brought out at the Mason city council meeting Monday night.

Since the first water mains were laid in Mason, the city has not charged the churches for water. But Alderman W. Davis Post told the council Monday night that some churches use 40 times as much as others. He proposed that 20,000 gallons of water be given free to each church each quarter, with water used over the base charged at regular rates.

During the last nine months, the Baptist church used 280 gallons of water, the Christian Scientists, 12,560; the Presbyterians, 49,900 gallons; the Methodists, 76,650; and the Nazarenes, 200,120 gallons.

Most of the churches normally use under 20,000 gallons a quarter under the present system, according to Alderman Post. By fixing a few faucets and making sure to keep the water turned off when not needed, the churches should be able to still get free water, the councilman agreed.

In Mason the sewer rental charge is based on water consumption. Because water has been furnished to churches free, no sewer rental charges have been levied against them.

Justice Court Happenings

The jury disagreed in the justice court trial of Willard Chapman of Holt Tuesday afternoon at Mason before Justice of the Peace Roy Adams. Chapman was charged with using obscene, profane and abusive language to Joseph Westwood of Holt. The two men live neighbors on Pine Tree road.

Chapman denied using obscene and profane language. As his remarks were repeated in court they were abusive and insulting, Assistant Prosecutor Fred Newman insisted. The warrant charged Chapman's language was obscene, profane and abusive. The defense finally clung to the point that inasmuch as the warrant did not charge "obscene, profane or abusive" that Chapman should be freed. The jury split 3-3.

It was rumored. On jury were Fred Parker, Homer Potter, Mrs. Carlton Hunter, Mrs. Ezra Haddy, Cordie Bashford and L. J. Adams. Howard McCowan defended Chapman.

Sam Wright of Toledo, Ohio, pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Saturday to a charge of illegal fishing. He paid $12.50.

Newton Campbell of Stockbridge pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Monday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was given the choice of paying $17.60 or spending 15 days in the county jail. He chose the jail.

Paul Whitaker of Gregory pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Monday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was given the choice of paying $17.60 or spending 15 days in the county jail. He chose the jail.

Mervin Sellers of Lansing pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Monday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $14.70.

William Olguin of Mason pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Tuesday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $65.70.

Phillip Farrand of Leslie pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Tuesday to a charge of violating his probation. He was sentenced to 25 days in the county jail and assessed costs of $7.50.

4-H Clubs

Wheatfield
The Wheatfield 4-H cooking club met at the home of Dorothy Langham on July 25. Ten members were present.

A demonstration of cupcakes was given by Barbara Wagner and Helen Simon. A demonstration was also given by Jackie Rich and Nila Smith on frostings.

The next meeting was held at the home of Nila Smith on August 1. Ten members were present.

It was a party given by Nila Smith for her "4-H Girl Entertainers" project. Games were played after which there was a business meeting. At the end refreshments were served.

Canaan
A meeting of the Canaan 4-H club was held at the home of Mary Jane Morse, Friday, August 3. An informal discussion of the branch that is to be given for the month was held. The next meeting will be at the home of Jean Ann McBride Thursday, August 9.

Tomlinson
The regular meeting of the Tomlinson 4-H club was held Monday evening, August 6, at the Vevey town hall. A judging day picnic will be held Wednesday, August 15, at noon at Rayner park in Mason.

Fair entries and exhibits were discussed during the meeting. John Coy, softball captain, reported that the team had won four games and lost two. Franklin Lyon, chairman of the float committee, announced that plans for the float are in progress. Members of the club met at 7:30 p. m. at the Vevey will meet at the Lyon home at 7:30 p. m. to decorate the float.

Walter Kruza, Jr., and Burt Warner, Jr., were in charge of refreshments for the meeting. They served dixie cups and cookies. The next meeting will be held September 6, 8:30 p. m. Friday, August 10, to town hall.

Four-Winds
The meeting of the 4-Winds 4-H club was held on the lawn at the home of Joyce, Joan and Nolan Hall. Twenty-five members answered roll call by naming their favorite food. They received fair entry tags and passes. Sharon Miller and Judy Emens told about 4-H camp. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games. Refreshments of dixie cups were served by the hosts.

APPLE PIE CONTEST
If she can bake an apple pie, she should enter it in the contest at the Ingham county fair, according to Mrs. Ethel Nichols of the extension office. The Michigan state apple commission will sponsor the contest. Prizes are $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00.

County Consents To Closing Road

Ingham county will offer no objection to closing Seven Gables road in Ingham township. Only the north three-quarters of a mile has been maintained. Nature reclaimed the south mile in Ingham and all of the section in Bunker Hill years ago.

At the end of the road, and along both sides for that matter, lies the Dansville public hunting area. The state conservation department gained permission from the Ingham board of supervisors a year ago to flood 300 acres along the Ewers lake outlet. The flooding is being done to improve living conditions for muskrat and waterfowl. A dam or dike where the outlet crosses Seven Gables trail is being constructed. For years no one has been able to drive south of the abandoned Seven Gables from anywhere.

Ingham supervisors Monday turned the state's request for abandoning a section of Seven Gables road to the road and bridges committee. The committee was unable to confer with the road commission Monday. When the commissioners learned of the request, later in the day, they gave their consent. The road commission has been maintaining the north three-quarters of a mile. The entire road will now be abandoned, County Engineer Frank K. Evans indicated, with a barricade erected at Dexter Trail.

NICODEMUS RUNS
Odds on the Lions club turtle derby dipped and soared Thursday morning as news of escape or theft of Nicodemus spread. The two-year-old pacer is owned by County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard and was being groomed for first position in the races next week. Nicodemus was quartered in File "m", according to Hilliard. It may be that Nicodemus was lost during some cross-filing Thursday morning, Hilliard stated. However, the clerk said that he suspects foul play.

Ingham Friends Attend Party Held Tuesday for Alta Parks

Friends from all parts of the county came to Mason Tuesday evening to attend the open house at the Hall Memorial library given in honor of Miss Alta Parks, Miss Parks will leave next Wednesday for her new position with the library at Gary, Indiana. She has been Ingham county librarian for the past 7 1/2 years.

A group of Mason friends, assisted by the Ingham county library board, organized the party in Miss Parks' honor.

Those who served as hosts at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Crossman of Williamston, Miss Fannie Ferris of Eaton Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. Alton J. Stroud of the library board, and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Vander Ven, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Bartley, Mrs. Curlye Waltz and Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Lethbridge.

Miss Phoebe Lou Bartlett registered the 150 guests. Bouquets of gladioli were placed throughout the library.

For the occasion Miss Parks chose a satin gown of antique gold with a corsage of pink carnations and red rosebuds.

Refreshments of lime punch and cookies were served from a lace-covered table centered with an arrangement of petunias and ivy, flanked with pink candles. Miss Wanda Beebe and Miss Gerry Rickly poured the punch.

Mrs. Bruce Ball had charge of the table decorations and Mrs. Gibbins Howlett headed the refreshment committee. Others on the committee were Mrs. U. B. Shoemaker, Mrs. W. A. Bergin, Mrs. Wayne Bullen, Mrs. Fern Slagh and Mrs. Thomas Belt.

Open House Honors Blakelys On 50th Wedding Anniversary

Three hundred friends, neighbors and relatives called on Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Blakely of 5105 Miller road, Delhi township, Tuesday in honor of the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Nellie Cline, who is Mrs. Blakely's sister, and a group of friends were hosts at an open house from 2:00 to 4:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Mrs. Cline greeted the guests. Bouquets of flowers were placed throughout the Blakely home.

Mrs. Blakely chose a blue silk print gown for the occasion. She pinned a corsage of yellow roses to the shoulder of her dress.

Mrs. Robert Pifer of Leslie had charge of the guest register. Guests came from Chicago, Detroit, Almont, Leslie, Lansing, Addison, Danville, Holt, Dearborn, Haslett, Albion and Mason.

The lace-covered table was centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a gold lily and decorated with smaller gold lilies. Floral arrangements completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Elmer Fay of Chicago, niece of the couple, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Gerald Powers and Mrs. Earl Braman of Danville and Mrs. Phyllis

Legion Auxiliary Wins State Trophy

Brown-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary No. 148 of Mason was awarded a trophy and received other honors at the department convention of the Legion and Auxiliary held in Detroit last week. The trophy was the result of the work of Mrs. Gladys Burroughs who has been unit chairman of Americanism and national security during the past year. This award was presented for the first time at last week's gathering and is the gift of Mrs. Agnes Dunn, a past president of the department of Michigan. It is to be given each year to the Michigan unit having the most complete and outstanding program on national security.

Mrs. Burroughs will also receive a personal cash award of $10, one of three such prizes bestowed upon unit Americanism chairmen having the best program throughout the year.

Mrs. Grace Ankney and Miss Ethel Adams, president and secretary of the Mason unit, were delegates to the convention attending the entire four-day session. Mrs. Ankney received the department president's citation for enrolling the unit's quota of membership last March.

A scrapbook of the Mason Auxiliary's publicity for the past year was entered in the convention displays, with a total of more than 1,100 square inches of newspaper space. Only two or three other units in the state exceeded this amount, but as Mason's news stories had appeared in both weekly and daily publication, they could not qualify in the publicity contest. Trophies are offered only for publicity appearing entirely in either a daily or weekly paper.

The Mason delegation was also permitted to present before the department community service com-

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of Richard A. Ohm. In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Richard A. Ohm, who died one year ago, August 14, 1950. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled the boon his love had given. And though the body slumbers here, The soul is safe in Heaven. Greatly missed by wife, Mrs. Richard Ohm, and family. 32w1p

FORD TRUCK DEMAND GREATEST IN HISTORY

• You're wise to follow the big trend in truck buying—the swing to Fords—because so many people must have many good reasons for choosing FORD TRUCKS!

New truck registrations for 1950 versus 1949, as compiled by R. L. Polk & Co., show that Ford Truck sales increased 56%—a sales gain 6 times greater than all other makes combined! Some good reasons for Ford preference: Ford step-ahead engineering... Ford's TWO new cabs... Ford longer life... and Ford's lower running costs with the POWER PILOT!...

Ag Agents Plan Two-County Tour Of Farm Areas

There will be no reason for inefficiency on the farm after August 28, according to County Agricultural Agent Don Curry. Charles Kniffman, agricultural agent in Livingston county, and Curry are organizing a farm tour which will hit some of the best farms in the two-county area.

"This program may be the answer to expensive farm labor," Curry said. Farms were picked which are operated primarily as family businesses.

The tour will start at the Henry Sheathelm farm on M-36 four miles east of Lansing on Tuesday, August 28, at 10:30 a. m. Sheathelm and his son, Orin, operate 1,284 acres. More than 700 are under cultivation.

From the Sheathelm farm the tour will move on to the Gottfried and Fred Graf farm on Swan road, five miles north of Stockbridge. The tour will arrive at 11:15. The Grads operate 149 acres, milk 35 cows and fatten 40 sows a year.

The Grads have a new dairy barn which will be open for inspection.

Lunch will be available at the Graf farm. Following the lunch, Andrew Jackson of Howell, Harry Covert of Leslie and W. D. Byrnes of Onondaga will discuss dairy herd management, efficiency measures, and how to keep costs down. The combined operations of these three farmers totals more than 1,200 acres, 130 milk cows and many cash crops. Rybicki Holmes, agricultural teacher at Potlatchville, will introduce the panel.

Following the lunch and talks, the tour will move on to the Norman Topping farm at 1:30. The farm is located four miles east of Stockbridge on M-100. Topping has 350 acres and cultivates 245. The tour at the Topping place includes a trip through the Topping dairy plant.

Seeding from an airplane will be featured at the next stop on the tour, the Topping farm at 3:00. The Topping farm is located about three miles south of Stockbridge on Morton road. Topping operates 140 acres, Stanley Topping, still in high school, rents an adjoining farm. Both farms will be open for inspection. Don Cronkrite, agricultural teacher at Stockbridge, will assist at the Topping stop, according to Curry. Henry Sheathelm of Stockbridge will demonstrate how a plane can be used to seed corn. He will use his own plane.

The tour is sponsored by the county extension services with the cooperation of Ingham and Livingston county farmers, John Donella, farm management specialist at Michigan State college, will help conduct the interviews.

Dehn Goes Back To Belding Paper

Jack Dehn, after selling his interest in the Leslie Local-Republican, has returned to the Belding Banner-News as advertising manager. He held that post before joining Don Foust as a partner in the Leslie paper.

Charles Marriott Dies on Tuesday

Charles C. Marriott, 77, died Tuesday morning at an Eaton Rapids convalescent home. He was in the home two weeks. He was a resident of Aurelius Center and had been a barber there for many years. Mr. Marriott was born February 25, 1874, at Dayton, Ohio.

He is survived by the widow, Maude; a son, Clayton of Aurelius; a daughter, Mrs. Irah Vannoy of Detroit; one stepson, Fred Gauss of Gary, Indiana; two brothers, Alvin of Florida and Fred of Jackson; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Booth of Jackson; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Jewett funeral home Friday at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Paul Murgener will officiate and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery, Aurelius.

Speech and Talent Contests Are Held

Representing Ingham county at the 4-H club speech and home-talent district finals Thursday at Michigan State college were Dave Beatty of the Vantown club and Junia Carr of the White Oak club. Winners in the Southern Michigan contests will go to the state show.

The Ingham contestants were chosen Monday night in a contest held in the court room at the county court house. Speeches could be on any topic, and were from five to seven minutes long. Miss Alta Parks and Miss Elizabeth Adams of Mason and Mrs. Mel Avery of Okemos selected the winners.

Beatty spoke on "America" and Miss Carr's talk was "What 4-H Work Has Done for Me, My Home and My Community."

In the home-talent show Beatty will represent Ingham county again. He was chosen for his series of "readings" on Casey from "Casey at the Bat."

Michigan Bell Plans Exhibit

The Michigan Bell Telephone company will have its "Little Theatre" exhibit at the Ingham county fair, Daniel J. Reck, district commercial superintendent for the company, announced.

Always popular with fair visitors, the exhibit includes the showing of several motion pictures on telephone subjects and a demonstration of how telephone calls and radio and television programs are transmitted over micro-wave relay systems.

Lansing Lions Judge 4-H Crops

Preliminary inspection of Ingham 4-H club gardens by a committee from the Lansing Lions club was held Wednesday. Information gained on the trip will be used in selecting the winners of the Lions 4-H awards at Lions crop show this fall.

The committee visited 17 gardens, some in the morning and the rest in the afternoon. At noon the men had a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Paul Rowe of the 4-Winds club.

Detroit Cops Take Firsts in Shoot

Detroit police swept the annual state championship pistol matches in Flint Friday, taking first places in .45, .38 and .22 caliber competition.

The Michigan state police placed second in the .38 and .22 caliber matches with their four-man team. Detroit's number two team also took second in the .45 caliber team contest.

The state police also won 13 first and second places in expert, sharpshooter and marksman classes of individual competition.

The matches were sponsored by the Flint Rifle and Pistol club and registered by the National Rifle association.

Former Resident Dies on Sunday

Mrs. Emma Wilcox, 87, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beryl A. Wharton of Battle Creek. She was born December 11, 1863, in Mason.

Surviving her besides the daughter is a son, Dr. Floyd C. Wilcox of Redlands, California.

Services were conducted from the Farley funeral home in Battle Creek Thursday at 2:00 p. m. with burial at the Maple Grove cemetery.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES
Lt. Col. Lorin C. Grieves, 74, died in the Iowa hospital Sunday. For several years he and his wife lived on Oak street in Mason. Colonel Grieves was an army officer in the Philippines, on the Mexican border, in the A. E. F. in World War I and also served in World War II.

Ancient History

One Year Ago

The Ingham board of supervisors by a vote of 10 to 12 turned down a proposition to schedule a vote on providing $405,000 to remodel and enlarge the tuberculosis sanatorium.

Arthur Jay Foote, 43, was killed when struck by a Michigan Central train at Mason. He was walking on the tracks.

Mason firemen rescued Floyd Sprout of Williamston when Sprout landed in a high tree in the Rayner park woods. He was parachuting down from a plane to entertain the crowd at a bricklayers' picnic.

The Kras Studio won out in its controversy over erecting an outdoor showplace at the corner of Park and Maple streets. The vote on the zoning appeal board was 3 to 2, Gerald Parsons and Al Rice voting against authorization and Raymond H. McLean and Hugh Sibley, Jr., voting for the permit. Chairman Ralph Adams cast the deciding vote in favor of the permit.

10 Years Ago—1941
Governor Murray D. Van Wageningen named D. C. Dart of Mason as a member of the Ingham county national defense committee.

The state board of health has approved the water from Mason's new well on South Jefferson. The water from the new well is 20 per cent harder than water from the Park street well. The hardness of the water from the new well is 24 grains.

William J. Barber is scheduled to succeed Ernest J. Kelly as Mason postmaster sometime this month. Kelly is retiring because of poor health.

Dr. Keith Pauley, graduate of the Kirkville College of Osteopathy and Surgery in Missouri in June, has secured office space in Mason and will establish a practice here. He has leased the offices above the Mills store.

20 Years Ago—1931
Manufacturing of SMA and other milk products at Mason is being restricted for the next two months until the market catches up with the surplus. Manager William F. Richards said. The milk received at the plant is being shipped to Detroit.

The Ingham board of supervisors appropriated $1,000 for the county fair Monday.

A delegation from the Lansing Real Estate Board appeared before the supervisors Monday to demand a road holiday for next year. The times demand rigid economy, the leaders of the delegation said.

The state health department has approved the samples of water taken from Mason's new well on Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Zimmerman of the Michigan Poultry Farms are in Louisville, Ky., this week attending a meeting of hatchery operators.

Betty Jane Darrow has returned from University hospital at Ann Arbor where she was taken for treatment of mastoid. She is making rapid recovery.

50 Years Ago—1901
Benjamin Stern & Co. of Crosswell have purchased the dry goods business of L. M. Russell at Leslie.

Gregg & Bennett have been making extensive improvements at the Phoenix mill. They have placed an entrance on the east side.

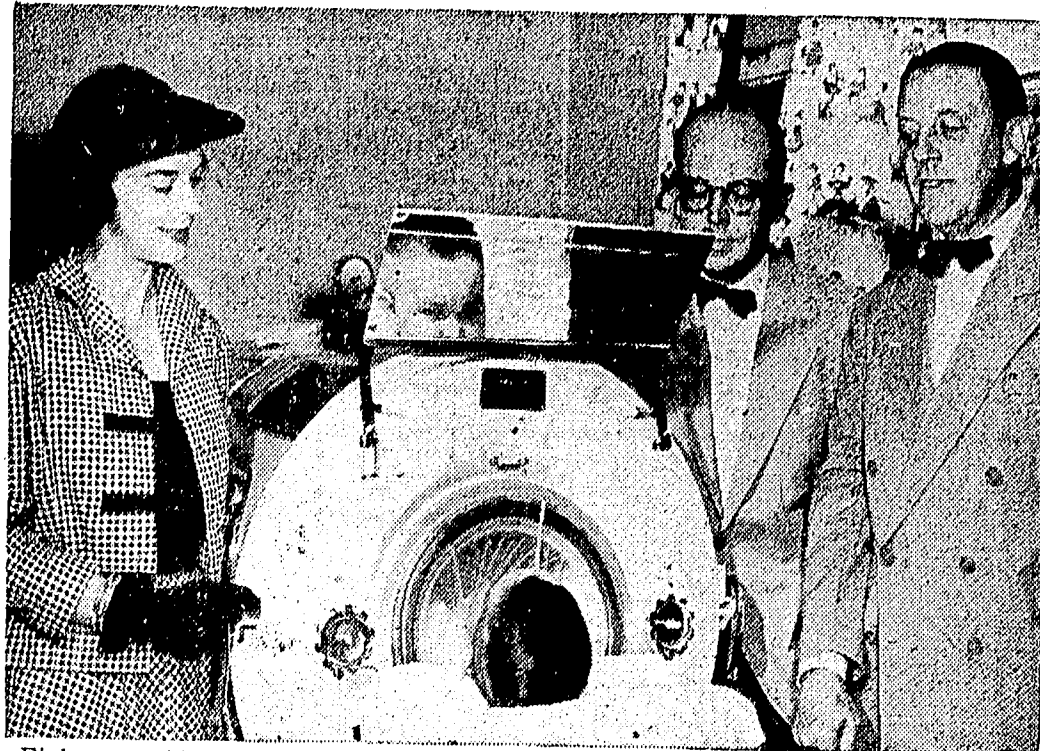

Ethel Blackely and Miss Minnie Swan were married at eight o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Ingham.

Co. B, with a strength of 50 men, is at Manistee this week on maneuvers. The roster includes: Captain E. E. Hartwick, First Lieutenant Fred Parker, Second Lieutenant William P. Rayner, Dr. O. H. Freeland, battalion hospital steward, Quartermaster Sergeant, Garry E. Sanders, Sergeants Frank C. Ives, William L. Clark, Jr., Andrew G. Lang and Chester A. Osborne, Q. M. Riggs, Frank Seymour, E. Sherman, Casper Snook, Miles Snyder, F. C. Taylor, R. C. Thomas, J. M. Thompson, R. G. Welsh, L. R. White and T. Williams.

The oat harvest is finished. Weavels are working in the early beans, early potatoes are rotting, late potatoes look good, corn is well set, those who have threshed report extensive losses due to the Hessian fly, and the apple crop is poor.

WRONG NAMES—RIGHT ACT
It was August Ribby, Thomas Mick who saved Rodney Bordner, 8, from drowning in a gravel pit at the corner of Jolly and Aurelius roads July 27. Rodney was wading in the pond when he stepped into a hole. The two men were fishing nearby and rushed to the aid of the boy. Mick and not Ribby applied artificial respiration until the Lansing township fire department arrived. Last week the Ingham County News had the names of the two Mason men printed wrong, and credited Ribby instead of Mick with applying artificial respiration.

U. of M. Gets Polio Grant

Eight-year-old Richard Brink will use part of the $27,380 March of Dimes grant from the national foundation for infantile paralysis to University hospital at Ann Arbor. Richard is from Morenci and has been confined to an iron lung at the hospital for more than a year. The money will be used to establish a respirator center for polio research. On hand for the check presentation were Mrs. Tom Oyler, Ypsilanti, vice-chairman of the foundation's Washtenaw county chapter; Dr. Kenneth Landauer, New York, director of medical care for the foundation and Dr. Albert C. Kerlikowske, director of University hospital.

Myles Gray Dies At Lansing Home

Myles F. Gray, 82, died at his home in Lansing Monday night. He had been in poor health for several years, and had been confined to the house for months.

For three terms, from January 1, 1919, to December 31, 1924, Mr. Gray served as register of deeds. During that period the family lived in Mason. Before that he had served the city of Lansing as clerk. After leaving the office of register of deeds he became clerk of the house of representatives, serving from 1929 through 1944, except for the 1937-38 period when Democrats controlled the legislature.

Mr. Gray was a newspaperman before entering politics. He was born April 25, 1869, in Parkhill, Ontario. His father died and the boy went to work. At 16 he became editor of the Review at Richmond Hill, Ontario. Six years later he moved to the Plymouth Mail in Plymouth, Michigan. He said that after eight years and went to Lansing to buy the Lansing Record $15,777.

He sold that a few months later to devote himself to a commercial printing business.

In 1904, 1905 and 1907 Mr. Gray was elected Lansing city clerk. In 1908 he was elected to the house of representatives. After the term in the legislature he went to Ithaca to publish the Ithaca Journal. Shortly he returned to Lansing to re-enter the commercial printing business.

Immediately upon leaving the office of register of deeds Mr. Gray became superintendent of the Odd Fellow home in Jackson. He was an active Odd Fellow and was elected to high office in the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray had been married 58 years. They celebrated the anniversary last October 18.

Besides the widow there survive a son, Carlyle A. Gray of East Lansing; a daughter, Mrs. Joyce Philcox of Lansing; a brother, Joseph Gray of St. Williams, Ontario; and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

MASON FIRM GETS JOB

Dart & Cady of Mason has the plumbing and heating contract on the new agriculture-shop building for the Grand Lodge school. The Mason firm was low bidder at $15,777.

Jackson Seeks Deer Rifle Ban

Jackson county supervisors have asked the Ingham board to join in a fight against the use of high-powered rifles for deer hunting in populous counties.

By recent action of the conservation commission, hunters this fall will be permitted to use rifles to shoot deer in Ingham and Jackson and other southern counties. Heretofore only shotguns have been permitted.

The resolution from the Jackson supervisors came before the Ingham board Monday morning. It was referred to the legislative committee. No report was made at the August session.

38th Supervisor Gains Board Seat

V. A. Triquet of East Lansing became Ingham county's 38th supervisor Monday.

Supervisor Triquet is president of the Weissinger Paper Co. in Lansing.

The 1950 census credited East Lansing with 20,310. That total entitles a city to five representatives on the board of supervisors. For the first time, the census gave credit to college towns for enrollment of students at the school. That change gave East Lansing not only a boost of some 8,000 in official population, it meant cash. Sales tax distribution, highway revenues and some other forms of state aid are based on population.

At the July meeting of the board of supervisors the 37th supervisor, S. A. Bement of Mason, was seated. Under the 1950 census Mason is entitled to three supervisors where there had been only two.

The county board is now made up of 12 supervisors from Lansing, five from East Lansing, three from Mason, two from Williams-town and one from each of the 16 townships.

Have You Met?

Fowlerville Is Still on Top In League Race

Fowlerville barely sneaked past Bell Oak, 15-14, in 11 innings to maintain its half-game lead over the Williamston Bills. It was a see-saw battle throughout the game with the winning run coming on Gene Liddick's triple and a perfect squeeze play in the top of the 11th. There are two important games next week with Webberville at Williamston, and Chelsea at Fowlerville, which may tighten the league race.

The Williamston Bills took over second place in the league standings by routing Lansing Labor Local 602, 11-1. Wally Dunkel and Marly Ruby shared the mound duties for the Bills to hurl five-hit ball. The Williamston attack was led by Bob Baker with four hits.

The Chelsea-Saline game was postponed because of the death of the Chelsea first baseman, Bob Vogel, Saturday night.

Standings

	W	L	Av.
Fowlerville	6	1	.857
Williamston	5	3	.625
Chelsea	5	3	.625
Webberville	4	3	.571
Saline	4	3	.571

Bell Oak	2	9	.222

Baseball Circuit Names All-Stars

Tri-County baseball teams picked an All-Star team and planned the league playoffs at a meeting in Webberville Thursday night.

The All-Stars will meet at the Fowlerville ball park on August 18, for practice and a game at 8:30 p. m. Players will use their own equipment, teams will supply the balls and the league will furnish the awards. Malcolm Dale of Ann Arbor will be in charge of the game.

Labor Day is planned as the first day of the league playoffs with the first place team playing the third, and the second playing the fourth. On the following Saturday the winners will play for the championship.

Picked for the All-Stars were Wally Dunkel of Williamston and Fred Huguenot of Webberville as catchers, Chuck Roifaynder of Lansing and Dean Gaffner of Williamston for first base, Gene Powell of Webberville and Marly Ruby of Williamston for second base, Don Turner of Bell Oak and Jim Ewald of Chelsea for third base, and Ron Porter of Lansing and George Heydallauf of Chelsea as shortstop.

Playing in the outfield will be Jim Miller of Chelsea and Red Howe of Williamston in left, Larry Marckel of Lansing and Jim Botsford of Bell Oak in center and Dan Ewald of Chelsea and Clem Burmeister of Saline in right.

The planned pitching staff of the all-star team includes Al Hoff of Saline, Neil West and Roy West of Webberville, Doug Brandenburg of Williamston and Dave Crocker of Chelsea.

Managing the All-Stars are Walt Ewald of Chelsea and Bernard Tubandt of Lansing. The coaches are George Keck of Bell Oak and Roland Dunkel of Williamston, and the utility men will be Bob Baker of Williamston and Frank Randall of Saline. Walter Tubandt of Lansing will be bat boy.

A&P Has Good Buys Galore To Help You Keep Cool When Temperatures Soar

Customers' Corner

Have you noticed that chickens generally are plumper, meatier than they were a few years ago?

The principal reason for this is the "Chicken-of-Tomorrow" breeding program, sponsored by A&P with the cooperation of the poultry industry.

This six-year program has resulted in chickens that mature when they are younger and more tender, and have more meat in relation to bone.

Why don't you try the superior chickens at your A&P and let us know what you think of them? Please write:

Wedding Vows Are Solomnized

Miss Barbara Ridgway and Kenneth Richner spoke their wedding vows Wednesday evening, August 1, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ridgway, Williamston road, Dansville.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Richner of Dexter Trail, Mason.

Rev. Samuel Selzer, pastor of the Dansville Methodist church, performed the double-ring ceremony in front of an improvised altar of gladioli and asters. Members of the immediate families attended the ceremony.

The bride wore a navy blue suit for the wedding and her shoulder corsage was of red roses.

Miss Charles Nelson, friend of the bride, and Gordon Richner, brother of the bridegroom, attended the couple. Miss Nelson also wore a suit and a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

After the ceremony refreshments of cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

The newlyweds left on a short honeymoon in Michigan.

Mrs. Richner graduated from I. T. A. S. in 1951. Mr. Richner in the class of 1948. He has attended

MRS. KENNETH RICHNER

Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti and Michigan State college at East Lansing. At present he is in the U. S. army stationed at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

Roman-Tabachki Vows Spoken In Saturday Morning Nuptials

Miss Marion C. Tabachki and Francis K. Roman spoke their marriage vows Saturday morning at nine o'clock at the Church of Resurrection, Lansing. A double-ring ceremony was used.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Theresa Tabachki of Mason. Mr. Roman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roman of 1100 May street, Lansing.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mike Tabachki of Detroit, wore a gown of white tulle with a bodice of chantilly lace, long sleeves ending in points over the wrists, and a Peter Pan collar edged with seed pearls. Her finger-length veil of illusion, which was edged with lace, was held in place by a half hat trimmed with lace and seed pearls. She carried a lavender orchid tied with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Mirko Tabachki was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Her strapless gown was of lavender lace, styled with a matching jacket. She carried an arrangement of yellow gladioli.

Ray Rapelle, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ray Shallow, cousin of the bridegroom, and LeRoy Parks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, ushered the wedding guests to their seats.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Tabachki selected a light blue dress with navy accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Rapelle wore a navy blue with which she used gray accessories. Her corsage was like Mrs. Tabachki's.

Immediately following the rites a wedding breakfast was served for members of the immediate families at Odams in East Lansing.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Miss Joan Tabachki, sister of the bride, registered the wedding guests. Bouquets of gladioli were placed throughout the Roman home.

Three-tiered wedding cake and ice cream were served from a lace-covered table. The cake was flanked on either side by candelabra. Mrs. Shallow and Mrs. Rapelle assisted with the serving.

Following the ceremony the couple left to spend a week at Bass lake. For traveling Mrs. Roman selected a pink linen suit with white accessories. Upon their return August 12 they will make their home at 5515 Ferley street in Lansing.

Mrs. Roman graduated from Mason high school in 1945. She works in Kresge's Dime Store in Lansing. Mr. Roman is a graduate

Jenvey - Burghdoff Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Margaret Louise Burghdoff and Cpl. Walter Jenvey, Jr., Saturday afternoon, August 4, at three o'clock at the Holt Brotherhood Temple Methodist church.

One hundred-fifty guests witnessed the double-ring candlelight ceremony read by the Rev. Wilson Tennant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie C. Burghdoff of 3289 Eaton Rapids road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jenvey, Sr., of 4304 Keller road, Holt.

Margaret was given in marriage by her father, before an altar decorated with palms and lily of the white gladioli and bouquets of roses.

Just before the ceremony, the tapers were lighted by Mrs. Harley Burghdoff, groomed in hallerina white with a Juliet cap.

Carrying a white Bible topped with a corsage of white gardenias, the bride wore a white embroidered organza hallerina gown. Her white lace Juliet cap held in place a shoulder-length veil.

Mrs. Marston Dixon, matron of honor, was attired in navy blue lace with navy accessories. Maid of honor, Miss Jean Jenvey, sister of the bridegroom, was dressed in white and navy sheer with white accessories.

The flower girls, both cousins of the bride, were Karen and Myrna Burghdoff of Lansing.

Marston Dixon served the bridegroom as best man. Harley Burghdoff of Lansing and Cpl. Bob Gillis of Camp Custer were ushers.

Soloist was Miss Betty Love of Maple Grove, accompanied by Mrs. Neil Carpenter, organist.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Baskets of gladioli decorated the room and the lace-covered table held small baskets of lily of the white gardenias.

The square tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. William Love, assisted by Miss Peggy Spaulding, Janet Carpenter and Mrs. Harley Burghdoff. Mrs. E. Ray Spence registered the wedding guests.

Mrs. Burghdoff chose a navy blue gown with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Jenvey was dressed in a white and navy sheer with navy accessories. They wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride and groom are spending a few days at Big Pine Lake and will travel in the north. Upon their return Cpl. Jenvey will return to Camp Custer and the new Mrs. Jenvey will reside with her parents.

Guests attended from Jackson, Marshall, Dowagiac, Muir, Michigan City, Decatur and Chicago, Ill.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served by the hostess. Centerpiece for the lace-covered table was made up of snapdragons and ferns.

The couple left for a trip to Canada for a week. Mrs. Smith, recently retired, was superintendent of the Miller Road school for several years. Mr. Smith is employed at the Motor Wheel in Lansing and plans to retire in March. They will reside on Watson street, as soon as their new home is completed.

Sunday guests of the Russell Jessops were Mabel Jessop of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jessop and son, Dicky of Royal Oak, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jessop of Lansing.

Mrs. Lucille Gehringer and son, Tommy, and Miss Norma Lou Worden of Dearborn visited at the Leland Rosher home last week.

Mary Dixon spent last week at Higgins lake.

Rex Smith, superintendent of Holt schools, announced that Miss Joanne Sytz has resigned her teaching job in Holt in the fourth grade. She is to be married this summer and her husband-to-be will be employed in Detroit this fall, after changing plans to attend Michigan State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris, Sr., closed their restaurant last week to vacation in northern Michigan.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dyer and family and Miss Barbara Howard toured the Upper Peninsula.

The Carlton Watters and Keith Hamilton spent last week camping in northern Michigan.

The Barrett Vorce family is moving into the Luke Fay house this week on West Holt road, from their residence on North Cedar.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jennings attended the 250th birthday celebration of Detroit. Mr. Jennings is the leader of the Lansing 46 Divisional band which took part in the Detroit parade.

Golden Wedding Party Given for Ernest Langhams

In a setting of palms, candelabra and baskets of flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Langham, in the re-affirmation of their marriage vows, were attended by their former attendants of 1901, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Russell of Mesick.

This golden wedding anniversary celebration was held in the town hall last Sunday when the couple's sons and daughters-in-law honored them by holding an open reception at two o'clock.

The service was read by Rev. Donald Smith of Elgin, Ill. Mrs. Langham was dressed in aqua and wore an orchid corsage, presented to her by her grandchildren. Ring-bearer was Mary Jane Langham, a granddaughter, and Mrs. Cecil Langham, daughter-in-law of Columbus, Ohio, sang "I Love You Truly." Music was furnished by sons, Dallas and Cecil Langham.

The couple was given a new set of rings by their sons and daughters-in-law, and these were used for the double-ring ceremony.

Refreshments were served and the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Clifton Cornelius, Mrs. John Horst, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mary Cunningham, Dorothy Langham and Mary Jane Langham.

During the afternoon more music was furnished by Myron Barnes and Nat Lewis. The hall was decorated for the occasion and the refreshment table was spread with a lace cloth. Huckleberry leaves and tiny golden bells surrounded the tiered wedding cake.

Three hundred guests attended the reception from Flint, Plushing, Mesick, Cadillac, Mt. Pleasant, Milledgeville, Detroit, Antwerp, Ohio, Elgin, Illinois, Williamston, Owosso, Lansing, St. Clair Shores, Wayne, Birmingham and Holt.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Working in the garden solves lots of problems. Pipelines serve some people, but not us.

As far back as I can remember if anything bothered me or if I felt sad, I worked it out by scrubbing hard or hoeing. This morning again I had a "botheration" to get out of me so out I went to pull up the pea vines that were done bearing. Now here I am refreshed and ready to be Mrs. Farmer Peck, and really happy, too!

I had a good think-out this morning—something I guess most of us could have once in a while. Lately I've been all skinned with so much hoeing and fussing over things. I know a lot of being like that was born in me but I also know that I've let it be nurtured along inside me as the weeks have gone by. And I want it stopped! Do you ever get so disgusted with yourself that you wish you were someone else for a minute so you could give yourself a good talking to and end with a swift kick in the pants?

My, but hasn't it been dusty and dry lately? I feel sorry for folks who live along a busy road. Luckily we don't have much travel by here as this is a half mile road and doesn't go way through, but even so when cars and trucks go by, there is a whiff that chokes us.

One of those pipe lines is going across here and oh, you lucky farmers who don't have that contention. I suppose (I know) that progress and comfort will be a result at the end of the pipeline, but unless you have had to put up with a pipeline going across your farm, crops or woods, you don't know what it's like. When I heard those saws going zing, zing in Mr. Farmer's woods I felt like crying. Three years ago they cut a swath through it putting in another pipeline. Oh, well, as I said, it's progress.

You know I told you I was disappointed in my garden this spring. Well, it has come along pretty well and my garden tractor has done so well (after I got used to it again) that I am ashamed to look that trusty little machine in the engine.

It's dry and we need rain but still I have a nice garden and lots of flowers. We've had tomatoes for several meals now and will soon have sweet corn, string beans and peas in the freezer. It's a good thing we like cauliflower as what I put out for cabbage turned out to be cauliflower, but I'll freeze what I don't give away and it won't go to waste.

Friday we're going on a tour of the 4-H gardens in the club of which I am the leader. So far I've seen every garden and let me remark that I'd be back in a few weeks to take a picture of each one standing among his vegetables.

This Friday is the day. Hope that parking lot has some room in a few cases and no weeds growing in the weeds continue to grow in spite of no rain?

I sure enjoy leading a 4-H garden project. I wish I could have been a member when I was 10.

Last week I promised to tell you about Charles and Marilyn Wadell's garden. Now there is a garden for you, and clean! They have one of the nicest gardens I have ever seen.

Charles is only 11 but he has the ability and push to do well whatever he attempts. Last year was the first year he was in 4-H and he raised every vegetable himself.

If Michigan had a crop of 4-H gardeners like him there would be some mighty good eating. Maybe I'm giving Charles all the credit for having a good garden, but his mother told me he has always liked having a garden and he puts a lot of time on it. I'm anxious to get back to see their flower garden, too, as they have so many different kinds.

Carolyn Oberlin had the first ripe tomato in the club on the fifth of July. She said Martha Ann, her younger sister, ate it. We have a contest in our club to see who has the best garden, the cleanest and the first ripe tomato.

And about the ducks. I turned out too soon on them. They began to be regular demons when it came to trimming various plants and flowers. I almost wrung their necks but Susy and Sally held me off. Dad had no garden so I thought maybe he would board them until they got too big to crawl through our fence. If you saw a man running up and down the road over by Pompeii chasing 11 ducks and a hen, that was dad. He said they never stayed home.

When he said he didn't come over Sunday for dinner, because he had to stay home and watch the ducks so they wouldn't get away—I went and got them and tried to sneak them back quietly so Pete wouldn't hear me as you can imagine what he would say. (He said it anyway along with a big laugh.) Now suppose you wonder why I'm so happy now. They're in with the hens in the chicken park swimming in their water, eating their mash and having a picnic.

I told you before that Susy and Sally think kittens are the best all-around pet there is.

Mrs. Fisher came home from her vacation and brought each of the girls a white rabbit. I never saw Sally so happy over a gift. She got down on her knees and hugged them and laughed and almost cried she was so pleased. Every day now they are out in the yard lying face down with their arms making a fence around a nice spot of clover and inside a rabbit and a kitten. I wonder. Will rabbits be like the Benlies, kittens, ducks, canary, fish, turtles and pet butterflies? I must make another trip around now to see if all these little animals have had their breakfast.

But anything in spite of how hard-boiled Pete makes out that before a year is over, we'll have rabbits in more than one pen around here. For who was it that woke Sally this morning with a whisper, "Guess what we got at the barn." It was three new kittens and he wanted to see that wonderful look that comes on their faces just as much as I do.

I hope we don't love these two little girls too much for their own good.

Famous "Show Boat," Filmed in Color, Coming With Spectacle and Song!

With a powerful romantic drama as its basis, "Walk Softly, Stranger" co-stars two of Hollywood's top personalities, Joseph Cotten and Valli.

A small Ohio town is the locale for most of the action. Cotten, a card sharp who has decided to make one more big "killing" and quit the racket, comes to the town and quietly gets a job in the local shoe factory. His coolness and indifference attract the attention of Valli, the beautiful daughter of the factory owner.

Some months later Cotten and a pal, Paul Stewart, meet in a distant city and execute their prearranged hold-up of a wealthy gambler. They divide the loot and Cotten returns to his job, but the handily have in him is disturbing. Moreover, he realizes he is falling in love with the factory owner's daughter.

At this point Stewart appears, broke and frightened, for he suspects some of their victim's gunmen are trailing him. Cotten, his security shattered, finds himself at a crisis, the way in which he resolves the dilemma brings on the climax of the picture.

Double Bill
The dramatic story of a fighting editor, highlighted by a megalomaniac and a romance, is brought to the Fox screen Saturday in "Home Town Story," starring Jeffrey Lynn, Donald Crisp and Marjorie Reynolds.

Lynn plays Blake Washburn, who returns to his home town embittered at his failure to be elected to the state legislature. He gets back his old job as editor of the local newspaper and, determined again to fill a spot in the community out of which he can make both a scandal and a legitimate goal, he sets his sights on the power of the press in a fight against what he terms the "unreasonable profits made by industrialist John MacFarland (Donald Crisp). It is not until the picture's explosive climax, in which Blake's little sister is rescued from a mine cave-in and her life saved with the aid of the technical appliances turned out by the MacFarland industries, that Blake realizes the untenable foundation of his newspaper crusade.

Here comes the Show Boat! The colorful Cotton Blossom, as it appears on the Fox screen Sunday and Monday in M-G-M's lavish new technicolor production, "Show Boat," based on the immortal musical play by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein, II. In insert are Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ava Gardner who star in the celebrated story of a Mississippi show boat troupe, supporting roles.

One of the greatest entertainments of all time is brought to the Fox screen Sunday and Monday in "Show Boat." M-G-M's technicolor version of the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II musical play, which has run up a record number of performances in its original Broadway presentation and in subsequent revivals.

Enacted in the film version by a cast headed by Kathryn Grayson, Ava Gardner, Howard Keel and Joe E. Brown, and featuring the score which includes such songs as "Ol' Man River," "Make Believe," "Why Do I Love You," "Bill," and "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man," the screen version of "Show Boat" comes as a blend of music, spectacle and color.

Cap'n Andy Hawks' glittering and exciting Mississippi show boat, the Cotton Blossom, is the setting for the story of the stage-struck Magnolia, who falls in love with the fascinating gambler, Gaylord Ravenal, and lets him whisk her off as his bride for a year of love and luxury in Chicago. But the honeymoon ends when Ravenal's gambling blood reasserts itself and the happy couple find themselves destitute. Magnolia returns to her family's show boat and Ravenal strikes out for parts West, and it is not until years later, when a chance happening informs Ravenal that he is a father, that the pair are again reconciled. Less happy is the fate of the beautiful singer, Julie LaVerne, who goes rapidly downhill when the tragic secret of her life is discovered.

Private Eyes
"Abbott and Costello Meet the Invisible Man," Universal-International's current comedy with the famous laugh team, more than lives up to the high hilarity standard maintained for years by these funny men. It will be shown at the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story concerns Bud and Lou as private detectives who try to help Arthur Franz clear himself of a murder charge. The fact that Franz is a middleweight boxer, necessitates, of course, Lou becoming a fighter, with Bud his manager, and the Costello schmozzola taking a lot of punishment in the ring.

Western Adventure
"California Passage," Republic film starring Forrest Tucker, Adele Mara and Eddetta Radtke, is a suspense story which will be shown at the Fox on Thursday and Friday.

Set against the background of pioneer California during the epoch gold-rush days of the mid-nineteenth century, the picture follows the fortunes of pretty Beth Martin and her young brother, Tommy, as they travel across the country to join their brother, Bob, who has staked a claim on a rich gold mine.

Upon their arrival in Conroe Gold, California, they discover that Bob has been killed and the mine taken over by Mike Prescott, co-owner of the Golden Bear Saloon. Mike's partner, Line Correy, a charming, quick-witted crook, has had to augment his bank account by stealing gold shipments since he and Mike cut cards for their profits and Line is unshaky at cards.

Line is determined to do away with Mike and gain complete control of the saloon, the gold mine—and Beth. Just as it looks as if Line will accomplish his purpose, Tommy stumbles on his secret.

Avocets Like to Wade

When the Avocet wings his way northward each spring, he is likely to enter the United States somewhere along the Gulf of Mexico. He may remain in Texas, or he may alight anywhere along the way up to Canada, but he seldom goes east of the Mississippi river.

His stopping place is always along the borders of a shallow lake, a pond, or a grassy, muddy pool. There he can wade, hunt for food in the water and build a nest on some swampy spot.

The Avocet knows how to swim, too, but he never goes far from the bank. He would rather stay in shallow water, where his feet can easily touch bottom. There he can gracefully pick his way along the fringes of the pool.

With each step, the Avocet holds his head near the water and sweeps his long bill from side to side across the bottom of the pool. Stirring through the mud, he finds tiny water creatures which he likes to eat. If the pickings are slim there, he raises his head and watches for insects on the surface.

The Avocet is well built for this kind of life. He is a fairly large bird, measuring 16 to 20 inches from his bill to his tail. His legs are long, and so is his bill, which is slender and curves upward toward the tip. You would know at a glance, says the national wildlife federation, that he is made for wading, and that his bill is a good tool for scooping around in the mud.

Another conspicuous thing about Avocets is their color. Both males and females have black and white wings. The rest of their feathers are white, except for the head and neck, which are a light, pinkish brown during the summer season. Their feet and legs are bluish gray, and their bill is black. For a bird that is so attractive and graceful in the water, the Avocet seems sloppy and careless when building a nest. It is poorly constructed of rushes, weed stems and water grasses, and placed on wet ground. In it are laid three or four eggs.

You aren't so likely to find the Avocets tending their brood as you are to see them wading in the water. Sometimes they step off the edge of the bank into their pool, but often they come in from a flight and light where they are going to wade. Before settling down to hunt for food, they stretch and wave their wings above their backs and bob their heads.

Now and then, the Avocet pauses in whatever he is doing and excitedly calls, "Pee-cek, pee-cek, peck-cek, peck-cek!" He can be heard for some distance, because the call is loud, clear and shrill.

FAST, ACCURATE TELEPHONE SERVICE IS VITAL TO CIVIL DEFENSE

Warnings of approaching planes, coming from air raid spotters or military radar screens, are flashed over networks of Long Distance and local telephone lines to Filter Centers.

Telephone reports are quickly charted on Filter Center maps. Then waiting Air Force interceptor planes are alerted.

This is but one type of the many special telephone networks serving government and military forces to help protect our nation.

This great and growing telephone system was built to serve America in peace. But it is just as ready to serve in any emergency.

The value of this nationwide telephone network was never greater—never clearer—than it is today.

It must be kept strong. It is vital to a strong America.

To help speed your Long Distance call, please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number. • Telephone lines are busy with national defense.

For the Triumph of the Good

"All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing," Edmund Burke once said.

A committee at the general assembly of the Presbyterian church reported, "A major factor in the present world crisis is the lessened influence of the people on public policy. By inaction and lethargy, careless citizens use their freedom to reject their responsibility for serious study and courageous action on hard questions. The evil is aggravated by the action of willful men who seek power by playing on our fears and repressing freedom of thought and debate."

The percentage of good people to bad people is overwhelming. The percentage runs as strong in Great Britain, in Germany, in Japan, in China, in Canada and in all other countries as it does here in the United States. Yet because many good men do nothing, evil men rule.

Good Germans did little or nothing so Hitler became dictator. Good Russians put up no fight so Stalin followed Lenin as dictator. In setting up a post-war government in Yugoslavia the good people, amazed at American favors showered upon Tito, did nothing. Tito became dictator. Peron in Argentina has taken advantage of the good people who did nothing.

By inaction and lethargy, the American people permitted a handful of men at Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam to commit this nation to policies which have brought on war. We have kept silent when we should have spoken out. We have permitted a few men to make secret commitments and decisions. We have not insisted on open congressional debates on major policies. Evil has temporarily triumphed because good men have done nothing, or have done far too little.

Good can quickly triumph over evil. It can happen overnight, if the good people do something instead of nothing.

We can clean up all the messes revealed by the Kefauver committee if the good people go into action. There aren't enough evil people in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City or anywhere else to hold out against good people when the good people go into action.

Individual citizenship responsibility will transform our communities. It will drive out the evil in cities and states and nations. Using our freedom for courageous action at home and abroad will safeguard both our individual and national freedom. It will help others to gain freedom. The triumph of good over evil is just that simple.

Legislator Wants to Replace Sales Tax With an Income Tax

By Vernon J. Brown

News writers from Lansing are reporting that Representative Lewis G. Christman of Washtenaw county is working on a new tax bill.

According to the reports appearing in the press, Representative Christman proposes to repeal the retail sales tax law and thus avoid the constitutional requirement that most of the revenues therefrom be diverted to cities, villages, townships and school districts. In its place he would have enacted a state income tax law with rates fixed so that only the necessary and essential requirements of the state will be met.

Representative Christman points out that the retail sales tax rests with undue burden upon those who are forced to live in the low income brackets. Like others, he would turn to people of larger means and to business and industrial concerns for the revenues required by the state government.

There are some fallacies in Representative Christman's logic provided he is being correctly quoted.

"There is no denying that the sales tax law is unduly harsh on low income families," the Washtenaw legislator is quoted as saying.

What Figures Show

Let us take a look at the record and see if this is altogether true.

During the last fiscal year for which figures are available at this time to me, the state government collected approximately $291,000,000 from Michigan taxpayers. It received from Washington about $53,000,000 of the many, many millions paid in by Michigan people to the federal government. That makes about $350,000,000.

Out of these funds the state was forced to turn over to local units of government—the cities, villages, townships and the public schools—about $325,000,000, leaving only about $25,000,000 which is not enough to pay for what the state undertakes.

Now let us see how this money is spent and for whose benefit.

First, public education—the schools and the colleges—look $164,000,000. Welfare and social agencies look next biggest at almost $98,000,000. Public health operations, carried on locally, received more than $11,000,000. All these operations are for the most part of direct benefit to those with larger families and with low incomes.

Most of this money is in substitution of money once raised by a direct tax levied against the homes and other properties of the state. This money is expended largely for those in the lower income brackets and much of it is substitute payment in lieu of oppressive local property tax, once almost the exclusive source of public revenues.

Consumer Pays Tax

Let us go a step further. Any tax levied against an industry or a business is passed on to the ultimate consumer. That being true, then any income tax would be so passed on. Representative Christman's bill, it is reported, will include a $600 exemption which is intended to be of great relief to those with low incomes.

With the sales tax abolished, with property tax no longer to be relied upon, with generous exemptions for the wage earners, they would pay little in direct taxes but they still would have the benefit of free schools, free health services, welfare and social aid in case of distress and all the other benefits and services now provided for all but more especially for those who otherwise could not afford them. Income taxes would of necessity be forced to new high levels and passed back to those who consume the commodities manufactured and the professional and other services required by the public.

Representative Christman may come up with a good bill and its adoption might be good, but the Denver in its very early gold rush days—days even a little before the real "rush." The chief character is a man who calls himself Owen Pentecost. A gambler by trade, he is feared and hated by all because he is not afraid to be killed. In a period when abolitionists and secessionists were drawing up on opposite sides, he would not take sides. What was worse, in the eyes of all, was that when they were growing poorer he was growing richer. Not a particularly important book in many ways, it does, however, show the ruthlessness of those who would get rich on the misfortunes of others, and the occasional sense of integrity found in the gambler. Readers of both western and historical fiction will enjoy it.

MORE FISH TO FRY is another book of Beatrice Cook, bride in TILL FISH DO US PART. This time she has been married several years, the boys too are learning to manage for themselves and do a better job of fishing than do their parents. For the wives of fishermen this should be fun, and we think a few fishermen themselves might enjoy it.

reader a general overall view of legal questions.

First, the municipal and school officials will not take kindly to having their present generous allowances cut off or disturbed.

Second, those who would pay more under an income tax than now, will be in there fighting against passage of any such law.

And, third, the people of the state will not line up in complete enthusiasm in favor of any income tax law and until they do this and remove the limitations on any graduated income tax rate, no such law is likely to stand up in the courts.

Then, too, what is there about this plan that is any better than the governor's proposal for a revenue law based on taxing corporations on their net earnings?

The governor's proposal has this to recommend it: Michigan is a great industrial state, the products of whose manufacturing plants go to all corners of the earth. As stated above, all taxes imposed on business and industry are passed on in the form of price increases. In consequence, such increases would be paid by consumers of Michigan-made products, whether it be corn flakes, baby foods or automobiles, and no matter where these articles are consumed.

We wonder sometimes if the Republicans in the state legislature are going out of their way to make votes for a Democratic governor.

When Play Becomes Business

We're all to blame for the West Point tragedy. From grade school on through college we have over-emphasized sports. We do it here in Mason, and probably in Stockbridge, Holt, Dansville, Leslie and Williamston. Certainly we have converted amateur sports into Big Business at Michigan State and the University of Michigan. Now we are reaping what we sowed.

In our high schools we give the breaks to the athletes. We have set up special easy courses for them in our colleges and universities. At both Michigan State and the University of Michigan star football and basketball players have been granted special favors. For a long spell there were athletic scholarships openly offered at Michigan State. At Ann Arbor the same situation existed except that the trading in athletes was covered up. Thousands of young men have been well paid for playing games for colleges.

Bribery scandals have rocked the basketball world. Not satisfied with the going wages, basketball players took bribes to hold scores down or to change the results of games so gamblers could cash in.

Basketball, football and baseball and other games were invented for boys to play for fun. The fun has been taken away as the games have been developed into Big Business.

We were shocked with the basketball disclosures. We are shocked over the West Point tragedy in which 90 cadets stand accused of violating the academy code of honor. Forty-four of the cadets were members of the academy football squad.

The only answer to the situation existing at high schools and colleges is to take the play away from Big Business, take it out of the hands of coaches, and give it back to the boys.

In basketball and football we have permitted coaches to change the rules so they can call every play from the bench. We have let them change the substitution rules to the end that football especially has become a parade of specialists instead of a game. We have let ourselves be gouged into parting with big money to watch the spectacle. Coaches have been and are being paid to win. Sport and sportsmanship have gone by the board.

Football and basketball and baseball are games designed for boys to play. When college heads regard them in that light there will be no more scandals.

Mason Needs Water Tank

An elevated water tank will cost money, maybe $75,000. What will the lack of such a tank cost?

At their meeting Monday Ingham supervisors learned that a sprinkler head system can not be installed in the court house because the city water pressure is too low. Mason's city council has been told even by well drillers that additional wells will not increase the pressure. The only sure remedy to low pressure is an elevated tank.

Another well may build a reserve of more water to drink. One more well, or a half-dozen, won't build a reserve of water pressure for fighting fires.

If the water pressure in city mains is too low to operate sprinkler heads in the attic of the court house the pressure is too low to reach other buildings.

Mason needs an elevated water tank. The report made to the board of supervisors Monday left no doubt on that score.

For the time being, perhaps a pump can be rigged to furnish the necessary pressure to operate one type of sprinkler system for the court house. It is even possible that high pressure fire-fighting apparatus can be used to overcome low pressure. Eventually, though, Mason must have an elevated tank to even provide adequate water service for homes. We ought not to wait much longer before erecting a tank.

Down by the SYCAMORE

This county fair edition of the Ingham County News is dedicated to the Sycamore Kid with the Wrigley eyes.

Weeks ago when we visited the salons of New York perfumers to choose a scent for the county fair edition they first assailed our olfactory senses with standard sniffs of pine and rose and carnation. Those scents wouldn't do. They just didn't take hold. Then the perfumers loaded their spray guns with such exotic blends as Intoxication, Tigress, Divine and Taboo. They took hold too well. We just didn't dare use them with the memory of last year's midway shows still so fresh.

Then came the inspiration. Why not scent the paper with something produced right here in Ingham county? Why not use a pungent scent pleasing to the olfactory senses and soothing to the sinuses during the start of hay fever season? Those questions answered themselves. We turned from the New York perfumers. Right here in Ingham we put distillers to work. Isn't it delicious? Don't you just love it?

After reading this issue thoroughly, thrifty housewives will be able to use the want ad section (40 words for 40c) for stuffing lamb, the county fair supplement for serving with carrots and lemon juice, and the society section for making raspberry mint ice.

For stuffing lamb, wrap four cups of toasted bread cubes, one-quarter cup of melted drippings, a teaspoon of salt and two pinches of pepper in the first two want ad pages. Unroll shoulder of lamb and stuff, then roll again and tie.

Use the complete county fair supplement with the carrots. Take two tablespoons of butter, the juice of one lemon and 1 1/2 quarts of cooked and diced hot carrots. Steam and then wring out the 12 tabloid pages over the carrots. Serves six.

For raspberry mint ice take 1 1/2 cups of water, 1 1/2 cups of raspberries, a cup of sugar and an eight-ounce glass of plum jelly. Allow the water to come to an active boil, then pour over raspberries and the society section. Melt sugar and jelly together over a low flame. Strain mint-herb mixture into sugar-jelly mixture. Add pinch of salt and mix well. Turn into refrigerator trays and freeze with control at coldest setting. Remove to bowl, stir thoroughly and finish freezing—three or four hours altogether. Serves six.

Cooks who want to save the Ingham County News as a memento of the fair, should substitute one cup of mint leaves, firmly packed, for the raspberry ice, a half a cup of crushed mint leaves for the lamb stuffing and 1 1/2 tablespoons of chopped spearmint for the carrots.

Cory and George Van Koeveering of the Zeeland Record were at the Ingham County News Thursday when we opened up the drum of mint for this week's run. The brothers from Michigan's poultry capital rushed back home to work out a special ink for the Record, an ink which can be wrung out of the Record and used for chicken gravy.

Thirty years ago neighbors thought Anthony Leinhardt of Bunker Hill was crazy to plant his fields to mint. Anthony reaped a fortune for his optimism. He made a mint of money, if you care for puns.

I heard a story about the pessimistic farmer who stood on the shore of the Hudson watching the first American steamboat. Robert Fulton's Clermont, make its trial run. "They'll never start her," the farmer gloomily declared. But the steamboat did start. The people cheered. The boat increased its speed. Faster and faster it went. The farmer remained a pessimist. "They'll never stop her," he said.

While Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune was unable to repay my recent call in person, he sent a member of his classified advertising staff to Mason Saturday. His emissary was Joan Hall. She reported that the colonel is determined to catch up with the Ingham County News on livestock and farm machinery classifieds. Miss Hall studied back issues of the Ingham County News and also visited Ingham farms to interview advertisers.

To repay the Ingham County News for courtesies shown his classified advertising expert in Mason, Colonel McCormick has offered to advise the Mason editor on the writing of editorials.

That handsome petunia bed at the foot of the WWII war memorial on the court house lawn is the inspiration and the work of Jack Long. He dug the plants which sprang up from last year's seed in the old horse trough on the northwest corner of the square and planted them at the memorial.

I tried to give Bob Stevenson credit for the posies. "Give it to Jack," Bob said. "He's done wonders with the lawn this summer."

A suitable reward to Long would be permission to trim the two cedars or junipers which flank the front walk to the court house. He did trim them a little at the top Monday. He should trim them at the roots. They have never done well nor looked right there on the lawn. They just don't belong.

Cucumbers are generally converted into pickles but all pickles aren't cucumbers. That's the stand of the Ingham County News. Michigan State college holds that cucumbers and pickles are synonymous. The college has issued a bulletin on how to raise pickles. I claim it's wrong. A grower grows only cucumbers and gets paid for cucumbers. He doesn't raise pickles nor does he deliver pickles to the H. W. Madison plant in Mason.

While here at the hub of the great Madison cucumber area a pickle is usually a cucumber, we also produce pickled peaches, pickled pears, pickled apples, pickled onions and pickled pigs feet. There are also pickled herrings, sardines and other kinds of fish put up. A cucumber remains a cucumber until it goes into the brine, just like a hog remains one until he becomes pork chops, hams, salt pork or pickled pigs feet.

Once again the Ingham County News will go under canvas for a week. This newspaper will once more operate the information booth at the county fair.

Along with the free information will go free water, free telephone service on Mason, Holt, Dansville and Lansing emergency calls, free announcements and free baby-sitting for babies between the ages of 16 and 26.

Two years ago the Ingham County News showed how a newspaper is printed. Last year there was a photographic display. This year there will be something different; no telling what it will be. You'll find a welcome and all the water you want to drink at the Ingham County News tent.

Book Talk

from Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Daily, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 2-3 p. m.; also Saturday 10-12 a. m.

INUK is a recent book by Robert Bullard, Catholic priest assigned by request to the far north of Canada to work with the Eskimos. Their incredible childlikeness as well as their brutality are described here. He tries to show their way of life and the things that have made them as they are. It is very readable and should take its place with KONTIKI as a popular book of non-fiction. GREAT DAY IN THE MORNING is a story of the building of

Pfc. James Wylie Is in Germany

Pfc. James H. Wylie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wylie, is now located in Germany with the 67th medium tank battalion of the Second Armored Division.

He sailed on the transport General Mitchell from New Orleans, July 5, and landed at Bremen, Germany, July 17. The men of this battalion are on a two-month field maneuver duty after which they will be stationed in Mainz, Germany, in the French occupational zone.

James has written home that the country is beautiful, the food good, and that the surroundings are clean and well kept up.

Glenn Caseys Take Trip to Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Casey left Sunday for Ladington where they took a boat across Lake Michigan to Manitowish, Wisconsin. They then planned to go to Watertown, Wisconsin, where they will attend the Lairs and Darcy registered Holstein sale. On the return trip Mr. Casey will start selecting cattle for the 41st annual Michigan State sale which will be held November 2 at Michigan State college, East Lansing.

For the past few weeks Mr. Casey has been busy judging as well as auctioneering at several Black and White shows, including Ludington, Ithaca, Berrien Springs, Hillsdale and Imlay City. On August 21, he will be at South Bend, Indiana. He has also been judging cattle at several Michigan fairs, including Hartford, Imlay City, Carson City and Hillsdale county parish show.

CAP to Sponsor Show Saturday

The Civil Air Patrol of Williamston is sponsoring the C. Elliott Gardner Amastars show Saturday, August 11, at 2 p. m. in the Sun Theatre. This show, having appeared in over 200 communities in Michigan, is recommended as a youth talent program with competition restricted to youth under 25.

Main attraction for the 25-act show will be Beverly Branch, 12-year-old contortionist from Water-vliet, who was Amastar's grand champion of 1950 in addition to being the 1951 state champion. Her unusual talent has been widely recognized as outstanding.

Included will be Sharon Ann Downing of Hudson, nine-year-old tap dancer who has appeared on several amateur and television programs. The Vandenberg trio, composed of Purcell, Maurice and John Vandenberg of Byron Center, also state champions, will entertain with western style and polka music. They are among the leading ensemble instrumentalists in Michigan on Amastars shows. The third top winning champion will be Warren Smith, baton twirler from Coldwater, who does a two-baton routine and also a sword novelty act.

Runner-up in the state finals will be Francis and Patty Klobucher of Mattawan, accordianists, ages 4 and 15. The rest of the program will be made up of local talent from Williamston and the surrounding community. Youths under 25 who can sing, dance, play a musical instrument or execute a novelty act are invited to the auditions held Friday at the local high school.

The Amastars show has been sponsored by several Civil Air Patrol units in southwestern Michigan as a means of making the public aware of the needs and functions of the Civil Air Patrol. This organization, which is self-sustaining, is in need of funds to procure equipment.

George B. Johnson Buys Auto Business

George B. Johnson has purchased the Chrysler-Plymouth dealer business of Mrs. Elsie Jabs, whose late husband, William Jabs, was the local dealer for many years. Mr. Johnson took possession the past week and has leased the Jabs Service Station and garage on Grand River Avenue and will operate a used car lot adjoining the sales rooms and garage.

Mr. Johnson has been in the automobile business and the U. C. I. T. for the past 15 years. He was salesman for Al Hansen of Lansing for Studebaker cars for five years. Later he purchased a one-third interest in the Hillsdale Motor Sales at Hillsdale where he handled the DeSoto and Plymouth cars, having sold his interest there recently.

Mr. Johnson was manager of the Colonial Finance company and district manager of the Universal C. I. T. of Lansing and was a resident of that city for 15 years. He moved to Williamston six years ago, and purchased a farm where he, with his family will continue to reside.

The new car agency will be known as the George Johnson Motor Sales. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Williamston Masonic Lodge and Kwanis club, and has been actively interested in Boy Scout and Cub Scout work for the past few years.

Sunday School Class Has Party

As an award for attendance and memory work, the pupils of the third grade primary class of the Methodist Sunday school were entertained by their teacher, Mrs. Mildred May, at a picnic at McCormick park Wednesday afternoon.

Following the supper, games were played and the children were further entertained by attending a show at the local theatre. Mr. and Mrs. May were hosts at the picnic, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith and Rev. and Mrs. Horace James.

Wrestler Lives In Williamston

Williamston has been the home of several noted persons during its existence, all in different fields. At the present time Williamston has a wrestler who is well known in television, as well as at the ring side, in Ed Farhatt, wrestling name "Sheik of Arab." He lives with his family on South Putman street. From this city he travels to his various wrestling bouts.

Monday night of last week he wrestled in Sarnia, Ontario. Last Thursday night he met Lone Chief Eagle taking the first fall.

On Tuesday night he was in Indianapolis, Indiana. This week Monday evening he and Martines Angelo met Bert Ruby and Louis Klein in the Australian tag-team which was televised from Fairview Gardens in Detroit.

Mr. Farhatt was born in Damascus, and came to this country when 14 years old. He graduated from St. Mary's high school in Lansing. He began his wrestling career in the Lansing Y. M. C. A. for several years he wrestled three times a week with members of the wrestling teams at Michigan State college. In 1948 he entered the professional field which he has since followed.

Couple United at Baptist Parsonage

The Baptist parsonage at Howell was the scene of a simple wedding when Miss Hazell Donna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith, became the bride of Robert O'Dell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Dell of Bell Oak. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Meeden, pastor of the church.

The bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith of Howell, attended the couple. Those present were the bride's parents, the bridegroom's parents, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fish of Williamston, and the bridegroom's brother, Marvin O'Dell.

Following the ceremony the couple left immediately for a resort in northern Michigan. Mr. O'Dell is a former student of the Williamston high school and is employed as a member of the Ann Arbor police force. Mrs. O'Dell is employed at the Dairy Bar in Howell.

The couple will make their home in Ann Arbor following their wedding trip.

Former Schoolmates Meet on Wednesday

Lt. Burgess Earns Bronze Star Medal

First Lieutenant Burr E. Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Burgess, recently received the bronze star medal for meritorious achievement. Brigadier General Robert P. Sink, Assistant 7th commander, made the presentation during a ceremony commemorating the 150th anniversary of the 17th Infantry (Buffalo) Regiment.

Lieutenant Burgess was later congratulated by his regimental commander, Colonel William W. (Buffalo Bill) Quinn.

During the drive to the Manchurian border by the regiment, Lt. Burgess was serving as regimental supply officer. Throughout this period he kept the advancing infantry supplied in spite of the frigid climate and poor transportation facilities. After the Chinese Communist forces intervention, he was faced with the task of evacuating all supplies to the Hamburg-Hungnam beachhead. Through the supervision and ingenuity of Lt. Burgess, these tasks were accomplished. Lt. Burgess is a veteran of two and one-half years service. He is a graduate of Michigan State college and the Williamston high school.

In addition to the bronze star, he also has the Korean service medal with three battle stars and the combat infantry badge.

Lewis Family Has Annual Reunion

Descendants of the Lewis family held their reunion at McCormick park Saturday, July 28. Eighty-six members were present. A bohemian dinner was served at noon, after which a program was presented by Mrs. Mable Fish, which consisted of readings, recitations and songs by the younger members. A ball game was also played.

Dallas Lewis, president, presided at the business meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Harold Dolph of Detroit; Vice-president, Vincent Wright of Morrice; and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Genevieve Lab-dell of Fowlerville. The 1952 reunion will be held the fourth Saturday in July at the Dodge State park No. 2 near Highland, with Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Hartland as the hosts.

The following towns were represented: Augusta, Bancroft, Bell Oak, Detroit, Fowlerville, Haslett, Hartland, Howell, Lansing, Midland, Perry, Morrice and Williamston.

Self-Serve Stand Opens

The Eldridge Gardens, operated by Fred Eldridge at the self-serve stand 1½ miles east of Williamston on US-16, opened to the public Monday. Mr. Eldridge has operated this truck garden for the past few years, and for the past few seasons has entered upon a novel way of attracting motorists on the busy highway. Mr. Eldridge has a position as printer with the local Enterprise office and, unable to be home during the daytime, lets people help themselves to his produce from his stand, depending on their honesty to deposit their money in a metal box. He states that people are honest as he has never yet been cheated out of his produce.

One Good Cow Is Worth Three Poor Sisters

One high-producing cow can give the dairy farmer as many dollar bills above feed costs as three of her low-producing sisters, according to Larry Johnson, dairy extension specialist at Michigan State college.

According to actual records taken from the annual summary of the state Dairy Herd Improvement association, one cow producing 500 pounds of butterfat will put the same profit in the farmer's pocket as three average Michigan dairy cows producing 230 pounds of butterfat.

The average cow in the state produced 234 pounds of butterfat and 5,920 pounds of milk in 1950, the Michigan cooperative crop reporting service shows. The average production of 44,425 cows in 320 local DHIA organizations averaged 296 pounds of butterfat and 9,221 pounds of milk per cow during 1950.

Among other interesting facts about Michigan dairymen uncovered by Johnson is the fact that about one in 10 cows in the herd improvement association produced 500 pounds of butterfat or more during last year.

The summary also shows that about one-fourth of the cows were removed from DHIA tested herds. About half of these were culled because their production wasn't up to par. Udder trouble and sterility accounted for most of the others.

Additional indications that a dairyman with a well-managed herd receives the greatest number of dollars above feed costs with fall-freshening cows came out of the summary. Winter-freshening was second highest and spring third, with summer-freshening cows, giving the lowest return above feed costs.

Johnson said that the DHIA summaries and other reports clearly show that the farmer who tests, has records to guide him in herd management, other farmers have to rely on their guessing ability.

"Testing shows what the cows are doing, gives information necessary for well-rounded herd management practices in feeding, culling and breeding," Johnson said. "They help attain the goal of more profits for the labor and money invested."

GRASS IS NOT ADAPTED

A new lawn grass imported from Japan, known to specialists as Zoysia japonica, is not recommended for use on Michigan lawns.

The Japanese lawn grass has been widely acclaimed for some sections of the country but James Tyson, of the Michigan State college soil science department, thinks results to date in this state do not warrant its use.

Guide Post Since 1853

Gradually becoming a Michigan rarity are original bearing trees such as this one which Dean DeLaMater, conservation department surveyor, "discovered" near Gwinn in a routine forest survey. Still partially visible but not entirely readable is the marking made in 1853, locating this particular spot as townline 14 north range 25 and 26 west, linking sections 19, 21, 23 and 30. DeLaMater reports this is the first "location" tree he has come across in 12 years of forestry work. Tree was cut in early upper peninsula lumbering days. Most likely area to still find original bearing trees is in the few upper peninsula virgin timber tracts.

Now Is the Time to Groom Animals for County Fair

Fitting 4-H club calves and heifers for showing at the Ingham county fair should be started now if it hasn't already begun, according to Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H club leader at Michigan State college.

Pearson advised junior dairy and beef showmen that good care in the past will be wasted as far as the show ring is concerned if animals do not lead well or if they are dirty and ragged.

Prospective show animals should be cleaned thoroughly by washing with soap and water once or twice, but no more than necessary. Brush the animal daily, Pearson added.

Ingham - West Herds Average 30 Lbs of Fat

Sixteen herds in the Ingham-West Dairy Herd Improvement association averaged over 30 pounds of butterfat for July, according to the report of the tester, Bob Witte.

The 20 registered Holsteins owned by Coe Emens of Mason were high with 54.5 pounds of fat from 1,552 pounds of milk. Other high herds are: Harry DeLaere, 25 registered Holsteins, 45.1 pounds fat, 1,296 pounds milk; Harry Freshour & Son, 20 registered Holsteins, 43.7 pounds fat, 1,225 pounds milk;

C. A. Diehl & Sons, 27 registered and grade Holsteins, 43.4 pounds fat, 1,292 pounds milk; Homer Launstein, 17 registered and grade Jerseys, 40.3 pounds fat, 805 pounds milk; Clyde Snow, Jr., & Son, 24 grade Jerseys, 40.0 pounds fat, 826 pounds milk; Ludell W. Cheney, 16 registered Holsteins, 39.7 pounds fat, 1,192 pounds milk; Charles J. Davis, 21 registered Holsteins, 35.1 pounds fat, 1,033 pounds milk; Paul J. Simpson, 21 grade Holsteins, 35.0 pounds fat, 1,081 pounds milk;

Harold L. Wilson, 18 registered and grade Holsteins and Guernseys, 34.7 pounds fat, 1,027 pounds milk; Chellis P. Hall, 33 registered and grade Holsteins, 34.0 pounds fat, 987 pounds milk; Lloyd Wheeler, 19 registered and grade Jerseys, 33.5 pounds fat, 663 pounds milk; Carl Robb and Clair Bressette, 23 grade Holsteins and Guernseys, 32 pounds fat, 921 pounds milk;

Paul C. Rowe, 16 registered and grade Holsteins, 32.0 pounds fat, 875 pounds milk; Francis R. Platt, 28 registered Holsteins, 31.5 pounds fat, 1,030 pounds milk; and Millers Dairy Farm No. 9, 27 registered Holsteins, 31.2 pounds fat, 958 pounds milk.

Individual cow recognition honors in class of five years and over: C. A. Diehl & Sons, registered Holstein, 104.7 pounds fat, 2,380 pounds milk; Coe F. Emens, registered Holstein, 88.9 pounds fat, 2,540 pounds milk.

Over four and under five: Charles J. Davis, registered Holstein, 88.5 pounds fat, 2,270 pounds milk; C. A. Diehl & Sons, registered Holstein, 63.5 pounds fat, 1,760 pounds milk.

Over three and under four: Harry Covey & Son, registered Holstein, 102.4 pounds fat, 2,180

Rock Phosphate Has Little Value On Michigan Land

Answers to the problem of raw rock phosphate's value to Michigan agriculture are being sought by scientists of the Michigan agricultural experiment station in East Lansing. Existing shortages of superphosphate have created a great interest in use of rock phosphate as a substitute.

R. L. Cook, research soil scientist at Michigan State college, reports that experiments so far have shown that superphosphate is a better buy than all forms of raw rock phosphate.

Several low grades of raw rock phosphate are now on the market and are only raw rock phosphate mixed with clay.

Availability of phosphorus in these materials is no greater than it is in common ground rock. It may be less in some cases.

Rock phosphate and superphosphate have been compared in the field in a large number of experiments. Many soil types have been included in the studies. In most cases, the results have shown superphosphate to be superior to rock phosphate. In almost all cases, the rock was applied at much greater rates per acre than was superphosphate.

Phosphorus in raw rock phosphate is insoluble in water and in citric acid used by fertilizer agencies as a measure of availability of plant foods. For these reasons, Cook points out that raw rock phosphate cannot be used in the manufacture of mixed or complete fertilizers. Because of this, its place in Michigan's agriculture is limited.

An eight-year test program has been set up in a number of western states to study the problem of the value of raw rock phosphate. Michigan tests are located on the John Campbell farm near Kalamazoo; the Harold Leach farm near Davison; the William Vandresok farm near Mesick and the Jim Moelock farm in Isocoo county.

Ingham Breeders Win Trophies at Show in Corunna

Ingham Holstein breeders did right well at the third annual Black and White state show last Friday. It was held at the Shiloh-wassee fairgrounds in Corunna with 200 head in the competition. The Holsteins were the pick of 25 county and district shows held during July.

The Ingham herd won the trophy for the top county herd. The trophy will be displayed in the county agent's office in Ingham until the next state show at least.

In the county herd were animals from the Don Willings herd at Mason, and C. B. Smith, H. A. Miller & Sons and Wil-Ru Farms at Williamston.

H. A. Miller & Sons went back to Williamston with three trophies, one for produce of cow, another for junior get of sire and a third for the three best females bred and owned by exhibitor.

The Millers also had the first place junior yearling heifer, the first place yearling bull and the first place two-year-old cow. Herb Miller exhibited the two-year-old in the 4-H class.

C. B. Smith of Williamston had the grand champion cow.

Trench Silo May Provide Answer To Storage Need

Heavy hay crop, bad weather conditions and increased interest in grass silage have combined to put the trench silo in the farmer's eye.

These factors have resulted in many ordinary silos full of hay silage and farmers now are looking to trench silos as a place to store their corn silage, according to A. J. Bell, Michigan State college extension agricultural engineer.

Bell says that trench silos have proven successful and he recommends them for additional silage storage.

There are several points to keep in mind for successfully using them. One is that they must be lined to keep out air. Concrete probably is best for that purpose, but treated plank, stone or other material will do.

The trench silo may be entirely below ground, partly below or entirely above ground. Walls should be sloped in at the bottom to keep the ensilage from settling away. This would allow air to enter causing spoilage. Too much slope hinders settling. Bell says a foot slope between top and bottom widths is about right.

Properly covering the trench silo to prevent spoilage is important. One of the best ways is to first put on a good grade of building paper or asphalted paper. Then add six to eight inches of sawdust, chopped hay or straw over the top.

Ordinary tramping along the sides is sufficient for packing. Bell points out. He adds that trench silos are just as permanent as any, cost less to build, lower machinery costs and there is no reason for any spoiled ensilage if the job is properly done.

Ingham Cows Complete Test Of Production

With 672 pounds of butterfat and 17,287 pounds of milk testing 3.9 per cent, Mar-Jo-Lu Ormsby Canary Jean, registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Ray Lott & Son of Mason, completed a 349-day production test in official Herd Improvement registry.

She was milked two times daily, and was eight years and five months of age when she began her testing period.

Donald A. Williams of Mason recently acquired a registered Holstein-Friesian cow from the herd of W. H. Freshour of Mason.

Change of ownership for this animal, Michome Winona Inka Ormsby, has been officially recorded by the Holstein-Friesian association of America.

The Association issued 21,970 registry and transfer certificates to Michigan breeders during 1950. With 579 pounds of butterfat and 14,011 pounds of milk testing 4.1 per cent, Trailwood Ormsby Echo Green, registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Hugh Osterle and Son of Webberville, has completed a 365-day production test.

She was milked two times daily, and was two years and six months of age when she began her testing period.

Fight wounds that become infected are a common ailment of city cats. Such injuries are numerous during the spring and fall breeding seasons, when toms congregate in the neighborhood of queens.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

Wheat crop in Kansas is down about 50 million bushels. 1942 federal potato market order becomes ineffective after August 15.

Small farms can make the biggest contribution to the food supply.

We may get some "old fashioned" weather during August. At least the weather bureau's long-range forecast indicates temperatures will average above the seasonal normal in most of the country. Hottest weather is expected in the central plains states. Sub-normal rainfall is forecast for the area around the Great Lakes. Considering the abundance of rain we have had lately, there should be quite a bit of moisture in the sub-soil. A bit of good hot weather will do wonders for the corn crop. Too bad we haven't had longer periods of hot dry weather during the wheat harvest. A lot of wheat has been graded tough and farmers have been taking a discount on their grain.

Apparently the winter wheat in Kansas took a hard beating from the floods. Some field reports say the crop in that state is down about 50 million bushels. The spring wheat crop has deteriorated some, too. The government crop report due out about August 10th is expected to show a decline of from 35 to 50 million bushels under the July indications. The official estimate for the July 1 carryover is 395 million bushels. With another large acreage expected next year, the carryover at the beginning of next July is expected to be around 400 million bushels.

No one is worrying about surpluses now. Farm officials want plenty of food stocks on hand just in case.

Beef supplies should be much more plentiful in a few weeks. Grass-fed cattle will start coming from the range country the latter part of this month. Peak movement is expected in September. The fall movement of cattle from the ranges will exceed that of a year ago, according to livestock reporters. Marketing specialists say that between 10 and 12 per cent of the range cattle will go into Midwest feed lots where they will be finished on corn.

The heavy cattle run will come at about the time last spring's heavy pig crop starts to market. The resulting heavy supplies of livestock hitting the markets at about the same time are expected to weaken prices. However, with consumer buying power at a high peak, meat prices aren't expected to drop very far. What weakening in beef prices do occur will be in cheaper cuts. Choice stuff won't come out of the feed lots until later in the year or next spring.

Considering the relatively small proportion of choice stuff produced, and the high demand for it, prices of prime beef probably won't be affected.

As a rule, cattle that are permitted to huddle all the salt they wish are quieter, eat more feed, and make faster and more economical gains, according to Iowa State college beef cattle specialists.

Turkeys from the Midwest are arriving in big eastern markets now. Demand in latter part of July was reported weak. On July 1 there still were about 39.5 million pounds of turkey from the 1950 crop in cold storage.

The federal potato marketing order and agreement, which has been in effect in the Midwest (including Michigan) since January, 1942, will end at midnight on August 15th. Potato growers in a recent referendum rejected a renewal of the marketing order. Only producers of about 35 per cent of the crop voted in the referendum. Growers now will market their 1951 crop on an individual basis, free of any regulation limiting size or quality of shipment.

Small and medium-size farms can make the greatest contribution to greater food supplies. That's the conclusion of economists after an extensive study. They found that our larger farms are now producing near capacity. The large farmers keep their production practices up to date. Generally speaking, they are the ones who upgrade their herds and stocks, use more fertilizer, and make more use of improved seed varieties. A larger share of their cropland has already been shifted to high-producing grains and high yielding legumes. Large farmers hire most of their labor and use it near maximum efficiency.

Many small and medium size family farms have increased their production materially during the past few years and use the latest production methods. But it's still the smaller units which can show the greatest improvement. With adequate financing and more technical help, family farmers can boost their production comparable to gains made by the larger producers. Recently proposed farm programs, centering around the family size farm, could play a part in raising total food production in this country by aiding the smaller farmer.

In extending price control authority for 11 months, Congress ruled that farm price ceilings can be set no lower than parity, or 90 per cent of the May 19, 1951, price—whichever is higher. This eliminates further beef cattle price rollbacks amounting to about nine per cent. Present ceiling prices will remain with little change. The new law cuts out slaughter quotas. And the new defense production act further restricts imports of fats and oils, including butter and cheese, for two years.

Draftee, (boarding a Pacific transport): "Sarg, I'm beginning to feel seaisick. What can I do?" Sarg: "Don't worry, son, you'll do it!"

L. W. CHENEY GOES ON ONCE-A-DAY SYSTEM

Once-a-Day Feeding May Be Answer to Short Labor

With labor scarce, Michigan dairy farmers are looking at devices and methods to save and extend their own labor on the farm, according to Kents Vining of the Prairie Farmer.

Five years ago the Laro Farms of Detroit began studying the effects of once-a-day feeding on their dairy herd.

Today they report that "feeding once a day is feasible." They suggest that silage and grain be fed about 10 a. m., grain according to milk production.

In the afternoon managers should have enough hay to satisfy the cows' appetite.

The work at the research farm showed that a saving up to 35 percent of time could be made by once-a-day feeding methods. Production in the dairy herd of the research farm held high. Two of their cows made national records under the program.

No New Equipment.

It isn't necessary to install new equipment, but managers should be large enough to handle the hay for one feed. Cows will eat around the clock as much hay as when fed two or three times a day.

There are no exceptions to breeds in the once-a-day feeding program. Jerseys adapted themselves as readily as the larger breeds.

Prairie Farmer visited three Michigan farms where this feeding system has been in use from one year to four years.

Arthur Leitch, Montclair county dairyman, living near Stanton has been using this system of feeding for four years. He milks 30 purebred Holsteins, Leitch has 240 acres.

Lack of help forced Leitch to adopt the once-a-day plan.

He made no changes in his stable set up. The cows are milked then turned outdoors. The manure and the gutters are cleaned.

With the cows back in the stable they are fed their ensilage and grain for the day. Grain is fed according to production. The Leitch herd is in DHIA.

Production went up when he switched to the once-a-day program. At noon hay is fed. Hay is partially broken out when fed.

Once in the afternoon he goes through the barn and forks the hay back to the cows. Any hay left goes for bedding. It takes him about 15 minutes to throw down enough silage for the day's feed. He milks regularly at 6:30 a. m. and at 5:00 p. m.

The cows are turned out late in the afternoon and the stables are cleaned the second time. In summer with the cows on pasture, the once-a-day feeding program is ended. The cows are fed their grain at milking time.

Leitch likes this feeding program and figures that it is a time saver.

Visits Research Farm.

Another exponent of the once-a-day feeding is L. W. Cheney of Mason. He operates 230 acres, milks 22 grade Holsteins.

Cheney visited the research farm. He liked their program. He and his 16-year-old son Russell find that it fits well into their farm program, particularly in winter.

The Cheneys have used chopped hay for six years and like it. They have access to two openings in the hay mow, making it easy to feed hay.

It takes only 10 minutes to get the hay from the mow to the cows. Hay is fed after dinner. Cheney likes the program for he handles hay and silage only once a day.

The Cheneys feed grass silage the year around. A 14-acre field of alfalfa furnishes pasture in the summer. Production has held up under the once-a-day plan.

Over in Clinton county, Fred Trierweiler, living near Portland, also had farm labor problems. He was reading in a farm paper about once-a-day feeding. He decided to change and did so the next day.

His Jersey cows didn't drop in production with the change. He has used the system since last fall. He even feels that his cows' appetites have been sharpened with the change. He made no changes in his equipment or stable arrangements.

Boron Makes Legumes Jump

Two Starke county Indiana farmers believe that boron has stepped up their legume yields. Though Purdue university has found no boron deficiency in the area, two experimental farmers think they have. Art Paulsen in the southwest corner of the county added boron to his regular fertilizer.

He treated half of the field with boron. On May 16 his alfalfa was twice as tall and his clover stood out more.

Samuel Craigville in the northeast part of the county treated his alfalfa with boron last summer. This spring his poor stand has revived and there are no deficiency symptoms.

Paulsen top-dressed his 15-acre hay field with 300 pounds of 0-20-20 the spring of 1950. This spring he added 300 pounds per acre of 0-2-27. To him the field he added 22 1/2 pounds of boron per acre.

That was 150 pounds per ton of fertilizer. The field was seeded alone in the fall of 1949. The mixture is four pounds red clover, four alfalfa, four alfalfa and two timothy.

His results as of May 10 were, in the treated area, taller alfalfa and clover and more standing. The alfalfa was eight inches high compared to four inches in the untreated half.

The most apparent difference was that boron had no effect on the timothy. In the untreated half, the timothy was the main plant evident. In the treated area, the alfalfa and clover were way ahead.

Craigville had 15 acres of first and second year alfalfa. In 1949 part of it was light colored. The leaf nodes at the top of the plant were bunched up and they had no seed. The growth was stunted.

Last summer he added 300 pounds of 0-2-27 with 150 pounds of boron added per ton. Much of the field had already killed out and it was about gone as a field. It peeped up by fall and this spring it was a good field with no deficiency signs.

Michigan V. B. Pfeiffer's Mayr, registered Brown Swiss cow owned by Max Elbert & Son of Mason, recently completed a 301-day milk production test. The cow produced 10,937 pounds of milk and 443.76 pounds of butterfat. She tested 4.06 per cent and was milked two times a day.

Thelma of Plainview, registered Brown Swiss cow owned by Max Elbert & Son of Mason, has completed a 305-day lactation record of 9,653.5 pounds of milk testing 4.45 per cent and 429.86 pounds butterfat on twice a day milking. The cow is six years and four months old.

Michigan V. B. Pfeiffer's Mayr, registered Brown Swiss cow owned by Michigan State college, has completed a 305-day lactation record of 10,893.2 pounds of milk testing 4.03 per cent and 438.58 pounds butterfat on twice a day milking. The cow is eight years old.

Michigan Tex Mary, registered Brown Swiss cow owned by Michigan State college, has completed a 305-day lactation record of 12,685.2 pounds of milk testing 3.98 per cent and 504.85 pounds of butterfat on twice a day milking. The cow is three years old.

BEE POPULATION DECREASES

Midwest bee numbers are about three per cent under a year ago. USDA estimates bee colonies of July 1 numbered 1.8 million. An above average honey crop is expected this year.

THEY ALSO SERVE WHO ONLY STAND — War does not always consist of bombs, bullets and bayonet thrusts. Sometimes it consists of just sitting around and waiting for the order to move on again. At such times it is deemed highly desirable to have a recruit who will carry more than his share of the load, which is precisely the reason why these G.I.'s in Korea enlisted a native horse in their outfit.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Mother came home Tuesday night. Last week Dr. M. J. Green performed a Caesarian operation to save her from pain and death. The babies were born dead, but I am happy to say that the Black Cat is all right, or as the doctor's wife told me over the phone, "She is sitting up and looks rather bright."

There was a time when cats meant absolutely nothing in our family. Oh, we wouldn't go out of our way to run over one, but cats—ha!

Up until last week we had two cats. Then tragedy struck. Someone in the neighborhood set out poison. Blondie, the Black Cat's brother, swallowed it and died in a convulsion the same night.

The following day the Black Cat came down with labor pains. I rushed her to the hospital. She went under the knife at 9:17 p. m. July 30.

Dr. Green strapped her to the table. A rope was tied to each leg and tightened to each corner of the table. The cat cried and yowled. The room was hot. At first the doctor gave a local anesthetic. Some cats don't object, Dr. Green said. Cats usually come out of the operation better when a local is given.

Ten minutes went by. The doctor started to cut. The local had not dulled the pain. A full anesthetic was needed. Mrs. Green assisted the doctor. She wet gauze with ether and wrapped it around the Black Cat's face. The animal kicked. She kicked again. For eight minutes the cat struggled against the fumes of the ether. Finally her muscles went limp. The doctor nodded to his wife and prepared to make the incision.

With the cat squirming, Dr. Green took his electric razor and shaved her belly. He then mopped the blue-black skin with antiseptic.

Ten minutes had elapsed, enough time for local anesthesia to take hold. The surgeon started to cut. The cat objected. She didn't like twilight sleep. She wanted complete darkness. So a full anesthetic was ordered. Mrs. Green wet gauze with ether again and spread the cloth over the patient's face. The animal kicked but finally after eight minutes she was out cold. The surgeon nodded to his wife and took up his knife again.

Dr. Green worked fast with nimble fingers. With a razor-sharp knife he cut four inches down the belly of the Black Cat. The top layer or epidermis tissue gapped open. The doctor went deeper, this time to cut through the epithelial tissue which lines the body cavity.

Dr. Green slipped a finger around the uterus and held it in his hand while he slit it with a knife. He made a cut through two layers of tissue, before delivering the dead kitten. Again he made a cut on the uterus and brought forth the second one. Both kittens were fully developed, but had failed to be born.

The cat squirmed. She was coming to. At 10:05, the doctor stopped to give more ether. He resumed surgery at 10:10.

Dr. Green stitched the uterus together with a fishhook sort of needle. The organs were slipped into place after two shots of penicillin were injected into the uterus.

The outer skin was brought together with a series of string ties.

The ropes were cut after another shot of penicillin was put in the left hind leg.

The Black Cat just laid' for awhile. She finally sat, but shook and acted drunk.

Yesterday she came home.

The Black Cat went to sleep under the wheel of a car last winter and was run over. The broken bones were set in the left hip. That may have been the cause of the birth failure, Dr. Green said as he was washing up after the operation.

Interesting, you may say, but where's the moral? One moral could be that cats, especially female cats, ought to keep out from under automobiles. Another moral could be that God created all animals pretty much alike. Any competent surgeon could perform a Caesarian operation on your cat or mine, or my sister's as Smoky happened to be. Or any competent veterinarian could do a Caesarian section on your wife or mine, if the emergency arose, and, of course, if I had a wife. After witnessing Dr. Green perform I might even be able to lend a hand myself.

Local Herds Win Top Honors at Black-White Show

H. A. Miller and Sons of Williamson exhibited at the state Black and White Holstein cattle show which was held at Corunna Friday, August 3.

Other cattle raisers who exhibited at this sale were C. B. Smith, owner and operator of the Wolverine Sales Pavilion and William Wright, owner of the Will-Ru Farms. Harvey Swartz of Waukesha, Wisconsin, was the judge.

For the past two years the Black and White show has been held at the C. B. Smith Pavilion in Williamson, and last year the show was the largest display of Holstein cattle in the entire country.

Last week the Ingham county show was held at the C. B. Smith Pavilion, which is well equipped to handle large or small shows. It was attended by over 100 with over 70 head of cattle exhibited.

O. F. Foster, president of the Holstein association, and manager of the Lakefield Farms at Clarkston, was the judge.

The herd of the H. A. Miller and Sons won several firsts at the Corunna show as follows: First place for yearling bull, owned jointly with Don Williams of Mason; first place, yearling heifer; first place produce of cow, trophy given first place on three best females bred and owned by exhibitor, trophy given first place Junior get of sire; and first place 2-year-old cow, which was the 4-H project of Herb Miller, Jr., who also showed the animal named Milford Marathon Pride.

The largest trophy of the show was given for the best county herd in the state, which consisted of one animal from the Will-Ru farms; two from the C. B. Smith farm; one from the Don Williams farm and two from the H. A. Miller and Sons farm. These animals were selected as the best Black and White county herd over all other counties in the state. The trophy which they won will be on display in the office of the county agricultural agent at Mason.

This Black and White show climaxed the showings made at 25 previous county shows held in 1,000 people were in attendance.

Several representatives from the National Holstein association were present, including secretary, H. Norton, Jr.; Glenn Householder, extension director; Russell Miller, national field man; Charles Fley, commissioner of agriculture, and many representatives from Michigan State college.

Ninety-second Year

Come to the FAIR

This Year's May Be The Biggest Yet
Story On Page Three

Methodist Choir Will Officially Open Fair

Opening this year's county fair will be the Mason Methodist Vesper choir presenting their second adaptation of "Musical Americana" at 8:15 p. m. on Sunday, August 12. Last year the choir presented the fair's first pre-opening "Musical Americana," to an audience of 1500. It is returning to begin fair week in 1951.

Under the direction of Mrs. L. Derwood Carn, the 40-member Mason Methodist Vesper choir presents evening concerts, regular Sunday services, and makes out-of-town appearances.

"In order to undertake a program such as the one our volunteer choir does," Mrs. Carn said, "the members must, and do, enjoy the fellowship derived from blending their voices in song."

Seven weeks of rehearsal during the vacation and harvest months of July and August were devoted to preparing the fair program. The four-part presentation is arranged to salute leading composers and arrangers.

The group sings as a whole and also divides into male and female choruses and trios. Several soloists also add variety to the concert.

L. Derwood Carn who was guest-director at last year's program will again lead the choir.

Pianos and a Lowery Organ have been furnished by the Kline piano shop of Lansing for the program. There will be no charge for the concert, but a free-will offering will be taken.

Alberta Adams, Margaret Austin, Nancy Bartlett, Pat Bartlett, Ethelyn Durbin, Mary Emens, Helen Frederick, Dorothy Hall, Clara Jewett, Thelma Kranz, Jean Ann McBride, Agnes McWhorter, Suzanne Pearsall, Marilyn Swaninger, Anna Welsh, Marian Wilhelm, Clarion Woodard and Ethel Woodard will sing soprano in the choir.

Doris Austin, Mildred Bailey, Gloria Burgess, Beverly Dean, Susan Porche, Edna Shepard, Ruth

Shultis and Virginia McBride will sing alto.

Robert Blackie, Glen Coon, Glen Dunn, Jr., George Kellogg, Larry Miller and Wayne Wright will sing tenor; Wallace Bailey, Dan Norton and Terry Shultis will sing baritone and Wayne Bullen, Richard Crowley, Joe B. Dean, Paul Sauter, Marvin Shepard and Lewis Woodard will sing bass.

Ingham Fair Opens August 13

To the strains of "This Is My Country," the Ingham county fair will open a solid week of entertainment, Sunday, August 12.

Hundreds of livestock, poultry, agriculture, food, clothing and handicraft exhibits, both open class and 4-H, in 24 departments, plus a complete program of events are included in the annual show. Entertainment, commercial displays, a midway and contests are extra attractions.

To open fair week the 40-voice Mason Methodist vesper choir will present its second adaptation of "Musical Americana" at 8:15 p. m. Sunday. The choir sang last year for cana" at 8:15 p. m. Sunday. the fair's first Sunday evening opening program. After last year's performance before an audience of 1500 people, the fair association asked the choir to make the concert an annual event.

"Musical Americana" is a four-part presentation arranged to salute leading composers and arrangers.

Kids Have Special Day

Monday is children's day at the fair. Contests, races and a special matinee are planned for everyone 16 years old or under. Twelve-year-olds will be admitted to the fair free, and they can sit in the grandstand for nine cents to see the matinee. Prizes totaling $114 will be offered in the 19 events.

Everyone who enters the pet parades will receive a free ticket to the grandstand and one free ticket to any ride on the midway. The other events for children will vary from a three-quarter horse race to a balloon race for lots.

Entertainment and Rides

Pie Plant Pete and Bashful Joe, WJR radio stars, will put on the grandstand show Monday evening. Pete plays a guitar and Joe blows a harmonica.

Lucky Lott's hell drivers will smash their cars and burn up the track on Tuesday night. Old wrecks, hot-rods and motorcycles race, jump, crash through flaming walls and do everything but walk. W. G. Wade's shows and rides will be on the midway.

Kline's Fair Time Review will provide the evening grandstand show Wednesday and for the rest of the week. Included in the variety show is "Silvers" Johnson, the originator of the midget auto routine, the Volandos on the high aerial bars and colorful dance numbers.

Veterans Have a Day

Tuesday is veterans day and all veterans and their families will be admitted to the Ingham county fair free.

Highlighting the day's program will be the tractor pull. A 10 by 75-foot concrete slab has been poured, and special equipment obtained for the new event. Lester Spencer of Cassopolis, who supervised the tractor pulls at the Hartford and Cassopolis fairs last year, is in charge of the contest.

Races for Three Days

Harness racing for purses totaling $11,200 will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 2:00 p. m. Two and three-year-old trots and paces, and early closers, will be featured on Wednesday and Thursday. Twelve races, four each day, are planned for the track show.

Livestock will parade on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. After the final parade the calf scramble will be held. Any farm boy between the ages of 12 and 16 is eligible to enter the scramble if he has the facilities to feed and care for his steer. Steers from the 1950 scramble will be auctioned off immediately after the Friday racing card.

Popular Event

The horse pulling contest will be held Saturday at one in the afternoon. Top teams from all over Michigan in both the light and heavy classes will compete for almost $800 in premiums.

For a more colorful spectator show, the stone boat will be used instead of the dynamometer. Each year at the fair the crowd has been asked which type of contest they want, and the boat has always been their choice. But boat or weights, the Ingham horse pull has been called one of the best in Michigan.

Parking Is Free

Parking at the Ingham fair is convenient and free. There is plenty of parking space inside the grounds.

Single admission tickets are 50 cents and membership tickets are three dollars. Membership tickets are a strip of coupons good for 15 single admissions. Children 12 years old or under will be admitted free. F. F. A. and 4-H exhibitors will not have to pay either.

Prices

Single admission to the fair this year is 50c, including tax. The rest of the price schedule is unchanged from last year.

Reserved seats in the grandstand may be obtained from Harold Bender. He is in charge of the ticket office. Call him at 25471, or at the office of Joy Davis, secretary of the fair.

This is the price list for the 1951 fair:

Membership Tickets—$3.00, including federal tax. These are strip tickets containing coupons good for 15 single admissions.

Single Admission—50c, including federal tax.

Children 12-years-old or under and F. F. A. and 4-H exhibitors will be admitted free.

Grandstand, afternoon and evening, 60c, including federal tax.

Reserved seats in the grandstand, afternoon and evening, 90c and $1.20, including federal tax.

Famous Fliers Will Fill Fair Air

One act in the "Fair Time Review" is a revival of the old high aerial bars. The Volandos will do bounces, swings, catches and planned misses high above the ground in front of the grandstand. Rough play, thrilling stunts and complete mayhem will provoke laughter and gasps.

1951 Fair Schedule Makes Full Week

Here is a list of the main events and features that will take place during fair week.

Gov. Williams Unable To Attend Fair

Governor Williams will be unable to attend the fair on Governor's Day this year due to former commitments to attend fairs in the upper peninsula, during the week of the Ingham fair, according to Joy Davis, fair secretary.

Invitations have been sent to all legislators and county officials, he said, and high interest in the fair has been expressed by those contacted.

"Many legislators have indicated they will be here Wednesday and we expect high attendance from both state and county officials," Davis stated.

FREE PARKING

There is no charge for parking at the fair. However there is no parking allowed on the midway and area surrounding exhibit barns and buildings.

Cover Boy

Young Herb Miller of Williamston is the Ingham County News' idea of an outstanding 4-H worker. He and his two-year-old ribbon-winning Holstein appear on page one of this supplement. Choosing one boy or girl to represent the Ingham County Fair is no easy task.

Herb fills the bill, however. He takes his dairying seriously. Club members and leaders alike consider him one of the top boys in 4-H. He is shown with Milsons Marathon Pride who placed first in the 4-H class at the 1949 fair and third as a senior calf in the state 4-H show that year.

In 1950 Milsons Marathon Pride was the junior champion in the county Black and White show and she placed first in the fitting and showing class at the fair. She then went on to finish first in the state 4-H club show.

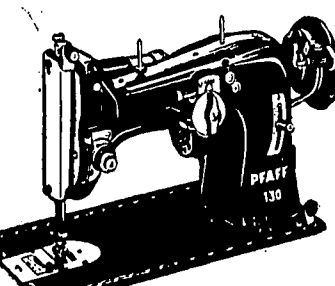

Herb will show his cow at the Ingham county fair this year.

Herb is a member of the Wheatfield 4-H club. He is 14 years old and is in his fifth year of 4-H work. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Miller of Williamston.

Mechanized Pulling Contest Is Exciting New Fair Feature

Machines and the modern age enter another stage in taking over the old way of life when tractors try pulling the stone boat in the tractor pull Tuesday afternoon at the county fair.

The first step toward invading this old stronghold of the horse was taken in the tractor event at the fair last year. Five different makes of tractors were lined up at a rail for a race against time. Each contestant had to go down the line starting a machine, driving it to another rail, backing it into a parking place and then coming back to do the same to the next until he had moved the whole line.

Other tractor stunts were planned for that day but this test of the ability to handle different brands took all afternoon. Enough interest both from the contestants and spectators was shown though, for the fair board to hire an expert to supervise a tractor pull at this year's fair.

Planning and taking charge of the mechanized pull is Lester Spencer of Cassopolis. Spencer directed similar contests at the Cassopolis and Hartford fairs last year. According to Joy Davis, fair secretary, these were about the only Michigan fairs to feature the new pulling event last year.

The pull will be held in front of the grandstand on a 10 by 75-foot concrete slab that was poured especially for the event. Weights, a boat and other special equipment have also been made ready.

Eight prizes totaling $335 are being offered to contest winners. First prize is $75.

Tractor pulls are exciting and have attracted a lot of attention and interest at the two fairs last year and at the Ionia fair this summer. Drivers can't yell at or urge their tractors on to get better results, but they don't just sit and steer. By jumping and throwing their weight back and forth they get the machines rocking and bouncing off the ground.

This may or may not help the pulling by giving the tires a better grip when they hit the ground, but at least it makes the show more interesting.

Aimed at keeping all this movement from getting violent is an official rule that says the driver must remain seated while pulling. This probably won't keep the driver from bouncing, but it will keep him from getting off to push.

Other rules for the tractor pull limit the contest to rubber-tired Michigan tractors, set the draw-bar height at no more than 20 inches and specify that pulling will be on a 10-foot chain that must be tight when the pull begins.

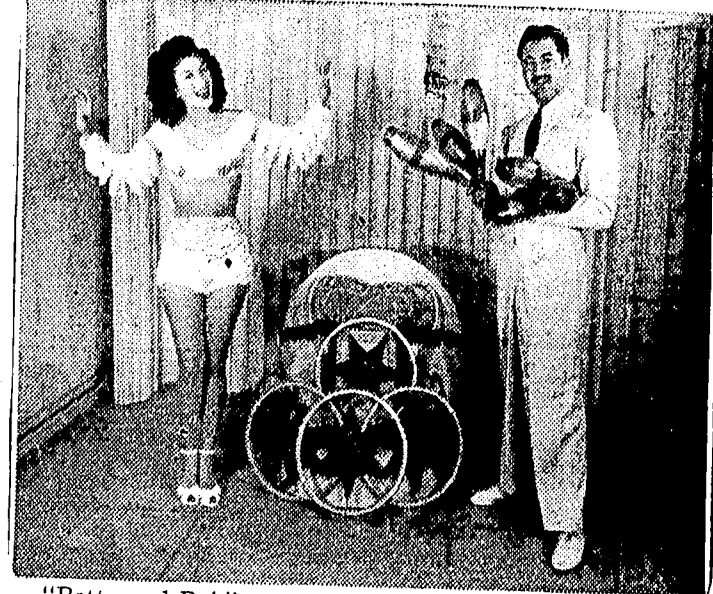

Tractor drivers entering the pull won't have some of the trouble that team drivers have. With mechanical entries there won't be any worry about making weight or sweating off a few pounds just before weighing in. Also tractors won't be "off their feed" or feeling slightly under the weather on the morning of the pull.

Tractor size will be neither an advantage nor a disadvantage because pulling will be on a percentage of weight basis rather than light and heavy classes like the horse event. Weighing in will be at the Thorburn Lumber and Coal company where the driver should receive an official weight slip. No tractor will be admitted after noon, August 14.

The officials rules don't provide for a counterpart to the horse pulling regulation that says: "If there is evidence that any stimulant is being used on animals competing in the contest, a veterinarian will be requested to pass judgment."

Perhaps in the future human nature and bigger prizes will make it necessary to have a mechanic on hand to check for souped-up tractors or ether in the gas tank. In the same vein maybe some day

Couple Throws without Ducking

"Betty and Bob" are the jugglers in the fair's grandstand show. Salvos of Indian clubs, hoops and glistening disks pass between the "Two Marvels" in an act that's backed by years of practice and natural coordination.

Queen to Reign At County Fair

Everytime a group of Americans gets a chance they choose a "Miss something-or-other," or a "Queen of whatever-it-is," to represent them. A pretty girl seems to be a necessary part of any big occasion.

The Mason Lions club project this year is to see that the county fair has complete equipment by choosing, or at least helping to choose a Queen of the Fair.

Queen selection is not a simple matter because people have different ideas about what makes a girl pretty. Elimination contests, boards of judges, elections and probably even coin-flipping have been resorted to by queen selection committees.

A board of judges is usually a good method if the expertness of the board is unquestionable. This is what the Lions club decided to try.

All of the members of the board they chose are old and wise and don't have much to do. They spend most of their time lying around bathing beaches watching people, and pretty girls. With such an excellent background, deciding which girl out of a group is the prettiest is a natural job for these judges—who are, of course, turtles.

A turtle derby, with 140 turtles, is the gimmick the Lions are using to select the "Queen of the Fair."

Candidates for queen are Faith Sutliff from Leslie, Georgia Foster from Dansville, Carol Askie from Holt, and Susie Pearsall, Nancy Weaver, Sue Bergeon, Donna Acheson, Helen Wiley, Joan Parsons, Joyce Morlock, Mona Sherwood and Elaine Swan from Mason.

The winning candidate will reign as "Queen," and also receive many gifts including a complete fall wardrobe. She will probably be invited to the "Miss Michigan" contest in Detroit.

Voting on the queens has been in progress and will continue on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lions club booth at the fair, across from the Rebekah stand.

On Thursday the Lions will start the "Turtle Derby" either in front of the grandstand or on the baseball diamond and all voting stops. The turtles will run in a round track 50 feet in diameter, starting in the center from a wheel-like starting gate. The first turtle to cross the rim of the circle will win for his queen candidate.

After the 12 elimination heats will run in semi-finals on Friday. The final race will be run on Saturday, and as soon as it's over the "Queen of the Fair" will be presented.

The Mason Lions club was organized about five years ago. Since then they have purchased almost 90 pairs of glasses for people who had eye trouble but couldn't afford to buy glasses themselves. The club has also given a Christmas party for underprivileged children, purchased many pairs of shoes and rubbers for children, and donated to several charities.

Jerry Graham from Mason is heading a committee composed of Ken Horn and Joy Davis from Mason to manage the derby and queen selection.

Of course the queen won't be in charge of the fair. Pretty girls seldom run the events they reign over, and queens receive very little power with the title. But they're nice to have around anyway.

Little Lunch Stand Grew Up Fast

All the delicious looking food around the Ingham county fair can make a person hungry, but helping yourself to a snack is frowned on at most exhibits. South of the 4-H building though, is a place where food is on display for eating. It's the restaurant run by the Rebekahs and the Odd Fellows.

Back in the days of the old street fairs in Mason the Mason Rebekah lodge set out to provide good food during fairtime. In a 10 by 20-foot tent the women served orangeade, ice cream and hot sandwiches to hungry fairgoers, according to Mrs. Pearl Ferrill of Mason who was one of the early workers. Mrs. Maude Elfert, Mrs. Lulu Whipple and Mrs. Nina Carn of Mason also worked in the first Rebekah stands.

As the years went by business got bigger than their one tent, and the lodge added a kitchen tent to the booth. The menu expanded, too, and hot sandwiches began to look more like whole meals.

While the volume grew, the load of equipment that had to be moved every year got heavier, and the women decided that the annual stand was getting to be more than they could handle alone. To get some strong backs to help with the moving, and some serving assistants too, the Rebekahs took the Odd Fellows in as partners.

Five years ago the groups got permission from the fair board to put up a permanent building. Using the building as a kitchen and a tent as a dining room they have just about enough room for their business now.

Mrs. Elton Weston of Dansville, noble grand of the Mason Rebekah lodge, is chairman of the women's committee for the restaurant this year, and Burr Potter of Dansville is running the men's side of the business as part of his duties as noble grand of the Mason Odd Fellows. The women work during the day when most of the cooking is done, and the men take over at night to serve snacks and give the Rebekahs a rest.

The menu at the Rebekah-Odd Fellows restaurant includes complete meals now, and is varied every day. Hot beef sandwiches that were a standby at the street fairs are just another item in the cafeteria that used to be just a little stand. Mrs. Weston estimates that 1300 pounds of meat was served at the restaurant during last year's fair along with 360 pies and uncountable other things to eat.

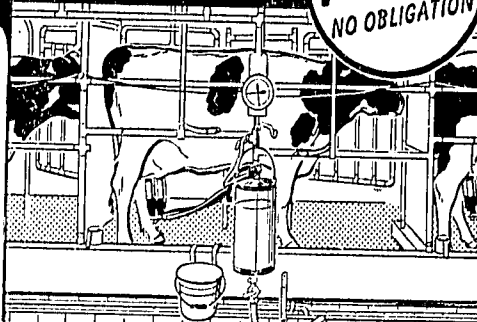

And this year at the Ingham county fair even more food may pass over the counter at the food-for-eating exhibit as fairgoers come to the stand that's nearly as old as the fair itself to satisfy the appetites they picked up in the food-for-looking departments.

Evelyn Will Be Stiff Competition

Ingham county fair foods department boasts one of the 12 best cooks in the United States among its exhibitors, but even more amazing this cook is only 14 years old. She is Evelyn Wood of Rives Junction.

Last year Evelyn won first prize on her angel food cake at the Ingham county fair in the girls division of the open class. She also won the Centennial ribbon and represented Ingham county at the State fair in Detroit.

At Detroit while competing against the best cooks in the state, Evelyn's cake was judged the winner and she received in addition to the blue first ribbon, the sweepstakes prize for winning at both county and state fairs.

Following this, her now famous cakes were shown at the Jackson, Saginaw and Hillsdale fairs and three more first prize ribbons came home with Evelyn.

She is not limited to just cakes in her culinary ability, however. Breads, cookies, candies and canned goods were among her exhibits last year.

Her achievements attracted the attention of the Fleischman Yeast Co. After questioning her on her cooking, community activities, and general achievements and against competition which included the whole United States, she was picked by the Fleischman Co. as one of the 12 best cooks in the United States. She was given a $25 award.

Evelyn has also received prizes from flour companies. However, she has won first prizes using many kinds of flour, so it must be skill on Evelyn's part.

Last March, after being chosen as one of the 12 best cooks in the United States, Evelyn's picture appeared in Pathfinder, Michigan Farmer, Woman's Day, Family Circle, Country Gentleman, Farm Journal and Successful Farming magazines.

She has been active in 4-H club work and has completed five years in food preparation, five years of canning, four years of clothing, three years in good grooming and one year of knitting.

In 1949 she received a trophy from the Jackson Citizen-Patriot for her news reporting of 4-H club activities. This was the first such award given by the newspaper for 4-H reporting.

Mrs. Lawrence Wood, who has been a 4-H food leader for 11 years, says that she and Evelyn make their cakes at the same time for the fairs and use the same methods with one exception. Evelyn mixes hers with a hand beater and Mrs. Wood uses an electric mixer.

Perhaps this proves that the old fashioned way is better, but more likely it proves she has been well taught.

They plan to exhibit at Ingham, Jackson and the State fair this year.

Evelyn will attend Leslie junior high school this fall.

HENS HOUSED IN GARAGE

At the 1927 fair, poultry was housed in the old Spenny garage now occupied by the Al Rice garage. Coops were constructed ("without expense to the public") at Michigan State college for the birds.

Try This Prize-Winning Easy Angel Food Cake

MRS. LAURENCE WOOD & MISS EVELYN WOOD

Rives Junction

Angel Food Cake
Preheat oven to 350°. Have egg whites at room temperature. Sift flour lightly on waxed paper.

Step 1

Measure and sift 3 times:
1 cup Softasilk cake flour
7/8 cup (3/4 cup plus 2 tbs.) sugar

Step 2

Measure into large mixing bowl:
1 1/2 cup egg whites
1 1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. almond extract
Beat until foamy throughout and gradually add 3/4 cup sifted sugar 2 tbs. at a time. Continue beating until meringue is firm, holds stiff straight peaks and is glossy and fine grain. Sift flour-sugar mixture over this, about 3 tbs. at a time using 8 to 10 strokes, turning the bowl a quarter of a turn with each stroke. Repeat this process until all flour and sugar is folded in. With a rubber scraper, push batter into ungreased 10 inch tube pan. Carefully cut through batter several times to break air bubbles. Bake 45 minutes to 60 minutes. When done turn upside down and let hang until cold.

Standard White Bread

(Makes three loaves)

1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package dry yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
1 quart lukewarm water
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts sifted general purpose flour (about)

Dissolve yeast and sugar in 1 cup lukewarm water, add fat, remainder of water, salt and about half of the flour. Beat until smooth, then add remainder of the flour to make a dough that can be handled. Toss out on floured board and knead well.

Place in a greased bowl; brush with fat. Cover and set aside in a moderately warm place, free from draught, until double in bulk.

Turn out on floured board, knead lightly to expel the large gas bubbles. Mold into loaves, place in greased baking pans and grease top. Allow to rise until double in bulk. Bake at 375° F. for 1 hour or at 425° F. for 15 minutes, then reduce temperature to 375° and bake about 30 minutes longer.

Mrs. Bailey does all the kneading right in the pan in which the bread is mixed to save flour and always uses dry yeast which she finds more convenient.

MISS RHODA KELLY

Okemos, Michigan

White Layer Cake

1/2 cup soft shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
5 egg yolks
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups sifted cake flour
3 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups milk
Beat shortening, sugar, egg yolks, and vanilla until very light and well mixed. Add four mixtures alternately with milk. Place into two 9 inch layer pans. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes. Should be a few hours old to cut well.

Horses Will Pull Unofficial Load

Climaxing a week of grandstand entertainment at the county fair will be the annual horse pulling contest, Saturday at 1:00 p. m. Crowds pack the stands every year to see the horses pull the old stone boat, and sit for hours, often missing supper. This year they'll probably do it again, and they shouldn't be disappointed ac-ording to Clayton Hulett, superintendent of the event.

"We hope to have 30 or 40 teams," he said, "with some champions and several local entries." Hulett explained that it is hard to plan in advance because a team isn't definitely in the pull until it has weighed in.

Last year two lightweight teams failed to get below the 3,000 pound mark. It was a hot, muggy day and Hulett said the drivers could have walked their horses all day without sweating-off the 20 or 30 necessary pounds. "One fellow finally pulled with the heavies," Hulett said, "and the other one went home with some doubts about the accuracy of the scales."

A driver will decide not to enter his team at the last minute for other reasons too. "If a horse isn't taking his feed right, or has a lame foot," Hulett said, "his driver just forgets about pulling for that day."

Official records won't be set at the Ingham county fair because a stoneboat is used instead of the dynamometer. Top teams enter the pull though, because the rules, rule enforcement, and $790 in premiums are in line with official contests.

The horse pull at the county fair is put on for the spectators. They have been asked which they would rather see, the boat or the weights, and they have always preferred the boat.

Clubs Will Parade Before Grandstand

Secrecy and intrigue accompany preparation for the 4-H clubs' float parade according to Mel Avery, county club agent. "Float committees hide their projects in barns and work on them in private to keep spys from other clubs from borrowing plans or ideas," he said.

More floats are expected for the parade this year than last, Avery said, "but that's just guessing because they don't say very much."

Vantown won the parade last year with a float that was made of 60,000 paper napkins.

The float parade is an added part of the regular parade of animals, the club agent said. Besides being a good club project, the floats make it possible for small animals to ride in the parade. Garden crops and handicraft can also be shown on the floats, Avery said.

Delmar Carr, superintendent of the parade, said floats should represent the activities and projects of the club. They will be judged on originality, attractiveness and project activities shown.

Five prizes are offered in the float competition. For winning first place a club will receive $25. The other prizes are $20, $15, $10 and $5.

Red Cross Trailer Is Station For Minor Fair Accidents

Cuts, rope-burns, sun-stroke, muscle strains and all the mishaps that accompany big events and massed people are taken care of at the Red Cross trailer at the main gate.

"American Red Cross . . . Ingham county chapter," is painted on the trailer, and inside is medicine, a bed, ice water and qualified personnel to handle emergencies. The trailer and its staff of a Red Cross first-aid and a trained Boy Scout handle 150 to 175 accidents every year at the fair.

Mrs. John F. Morley of the Red Cross is in charge of the mobile first aid unit.

The equipment in the trailer and the portable first aid kit included for use when a victim can't be moved, is up-to-date and under medical supervision. Dozens of people trained in first aid donate their time to run the Red Cross mobile unit. Boy Scouts volunteer as assistants.

At the fair one first-aid is on duty from eight in the morning until supper time. A Boy Scout with first aid training works with the Red Cross representative during the day, and sleeps at the trailer at night. Sometimes as many as a dozen people come in for treatment while the fair is closed.

"I think the younger generation is much more first aid-conscious than older people," Mrs. Morley said when asked about the trailer services. "Tiny children are always coming in with scratches and little cuts. They get bandaged and leave all smiles."

"About 75 per cent of the people we help are 4-H members," Mrs. Morley said. "They have mostly rope burns, cuts or bruises."

Anyone seriously hurt is taken to a doctor as soon as possible. "I think one of the most important things we do," Mrs. Morley said, "is provide quick and proper transportation to a place where an injured person can receive medical care."

The Red Cross aides put in long hours in addition to their own jobs. They enjoy helping others.

"Most people take the service for granted," Mrs. Morley said, "but once in a while parents make the whole business worthwhile when they come to the trailer and say, 'Johnny is going to be here all week, and we'll feel a lot better knowing you're here.'"

Questions and Answers Meet At News Information Tent

Questions and problems are natural companions of people—especially people who are involved in anything as complicated as a county fair. But as plentiful as questions are, their counterparts, the answers, are usually scarce.

In order to help the supply of miscellaneous facts and bits of information needed by curious people, those in doubt and those in trouble, the Ingham County News runs an information booth at the fair.

Last year hundreds of people took advantage of the service. They wanted to use the telephone, locate a toilet or find something or somebody. One boy (or man) wanted to find Sally Rand, but the News, with its 91 years of experience, vast files of facts and photographs and organized facilities for gathering information, could not help him.

Skilled Help Wanted

A lot of fairgoers needed to have something done, and they came to the booth to locate a skilled craftsman to help them. "Where can I find an electrician?" asked a half-dozen people who needed wiring done or lights to be fixed.

"Is there some place around here where I can get a key made?" said a man with a lock.

"My car is stuck in a hole in the parking lot. Where can I find a tractor to pull me out?"

"Pardon me," another said, "is there a glass blower at the fairgrounds?"

Some Questions Were Easy

"Excuse me, what time is it?" was a common question which was always easy to answer. But it was never so simple as the question one man, who wasn't at all particular, asked, "what day is it?"

Midway attractions roared in the background as the information tent answered questions. Barkers hollered "hurry, hurry, hurry."

The merry-go-round honked and hooted its dizzy tunes. Whistles, screams and shouts came from kids on the thrill-rides. But a little girl, with her mother in tow, came to the booth looking for entertainment. Not at all interested in the wonders of the machine age, she asked hopefully, "are there any ponies at the fair?"

Lost and Found

Contributing to the noise, and doing some good at the same time was the public address system at the question and answer tent. Parents used the loudspeaker to locate lost children, and children used them to locate lost parents.

Hearing a name thunder above the crowd eased a great deal of anxiety. And the announcements, always brought the family back together again.

Besides each other, people misplaced, dropped or accidentally threw away all sorts of things at the fair, and the information tent served as a part-time lost and found office. Wallets, glasses, pictures, buttons and other odd items were turned in at the tent. Later they were picked up by the owners.

Directions Were Given

One of the jobs of the information booth was to give directions and help visitors find their way around the fair. "North of the brick building . . . next to the gate . . . by the grandstand . . . right behind you," were directions given dozens of times.

Locations of the dance, toilets, particular offices, exhibits, the ticket office and the midway were passed out with a smile. When the operator of the dodgem-ride on the midway didn't dodge, the information staff gave directions to the first aid trailer.

People Need Things

Probably the information tent wasn't the only place that fell in the paths of people looking for some little thing. At the fair everyone needs something, and they need it badly.

"Do you have any string?" asked one fellow. "Thumbtacks?" "No, we're sorry. Is there something else we can do for you?" "Yes, would you hold this sign up for a while?"

Booth Became a Headquarters

After a few days of supplying people with ice water, telephone service and the answers to questions, the information booth became a headquarters for many regular fairgoers. Whenever anything happened, some people came to the booth right away to get help or to notify someone.

Information Tent Offers Free Help

Safety pins to replace that button you'll lose at the county fair will be available at the Ingham County News information tent.

Two years ago a blushing woman came to the booth and quietly asked for a pin. No one had one. Blushing more brightly the woman left, but an idea came out of her predicament.

Last year a record was kept of the items people asked for, and this year the News will try to have available the things people requested most often. String, glue, thumbtacks, safety pins and other last-minute necessities will be added to the drinking water, folding chairs, public address system and telephone which were in the information tent in the past.

Maps showing population distribution and soil types in Ingham will be part of the exhibit in the information booth along with charts and graphs comparing In-

OLD FAIRGROUNDS

The 35th annual exhibition of the Ingham County Agricultural society was the last fair to be held at the old fairgrounds at the corner of the present Jefferson street and Klipp Road. This was back in 1880.

150 4-H Members Will Live at Fair

About 150 boys and girls from Ingham county 4-H livestock clubs will stay at the 4-H dormitory at the fairgrounds during fair week. Enough double bunks have been added since last year to increase the main floor capacity to 50 girls. Boys stay upstairs where there is room for more than 100.

Mothers of livestock club members will be in charge of the building. A chairman has been chosen for each day and she will select a committee of 10 or 12 other mothers to help her.

Mrs. Thelma Madden of the West Locke Brick club has been chosen as chairman for Monday. On Tuesday Mrs. Eula Parsons of the White Oak club will be in charge.

Chairman for Wednesday is Mrs. Dorothy Blosssey of the Wheatfield club. In charge on Thursday will be Mrs. John Taylor, and on Friday Mrs. Ethel Sly of the Vantown club will run the dormitory.

Mrs. Ruth Hayhoe of the East Alameda club has been chosen as chairman for Saturday.

Planning meals and acting as general supervisor of the dormitory will be Mrs. Annette Schaefer, county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Inez Trumble and Mrs. Vera Dayton, who prepare the hot lunches at the Mason school, will do the cooking at the dormitory.

Youngsters staying nights at the fairgrounds are supposed to be in a half-hour after the last show each day, but they may get up to start working as early in the morning as they wish. Besides taking care of their animals they keep the dormitory clean.

ham to other Michigan counties in many aspects of agriculture.

Photographs of news happenings and events which occurred in the county during the past year will complete the exhibit.

Along with the display and information services, the booth will take subscriptions for the Ingham County News, and take care of any classified advertising which fair patrons want to place without making a special trip to the News office.

The information tent will open early enough Monday morning to help exhibitors locate their displays, find electricians and club and fair officials, and will remain open from early morning until late in the evening, throughout fair week.

On Thursday afternoon, August 16, copies of the Ingham County News will be available at the booth immediately after publication.

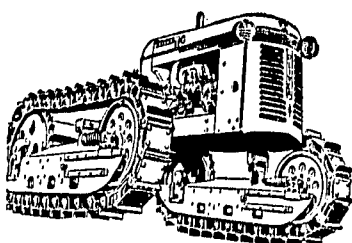

Dams built by beavers usually do not look very neat but they are effective.

Teams Pulling on Stone Boat Still Most Popular at Ingham Fair

"They have one of the best, if not the best boat pulling contest in Michigan," said Harry Moxley, assistant professor of extension animal husbandry at Michigan State college, when he was asked about the horse pull at the Ingham county fair.

Moxley has been in charge of the college's dynamometers since 1928, and he compared boat pulls to pulls against the machine. "No two boat pulls are alike, while every pull against the dynamometer is the same," he said.

Some of the reasons for the variations in pulling a boat according to Moxley are the boat being set deeper in the ground by previous teams, difference in ground surface and the effect of weather conditions on friction.

"Supervision can make or break a pull, though," he continued, "and at Ingham the supervision and the premiums are good. They draw big crowds and the top teams."

Good teams would rather pull against the weights according to Moxley because it is easier on the horses. He explained that a team that can't pull the load tends to "set" the load and make it tougher on the next team that tries.

"Also it's much harder to get the boat started than it is to keep it moving," he said. "To a lesser degree it's the same thing as a train getting started."

A big reason why drivers prefer to pit their teams against the dynamometer rather than pull the old stone boat is the definite rules in force and the good supervision, according to Moxley. "But the good teams will go to boat pulls when they are run well," he added. Laxity in rule enforcement can ruin a pull, he said, and added that it can lead to abuse of the horses.

"Clay Hulett is a member of the Dynamometer association," Moxley said, "and the rules and premiums at the Ingham county fair are in line with the association's."

Moxley has seen a lot of tractor pulls, and occasionally he lets the tractors pull against the weights. "Very few tractors can stand up against a team," he said, "in fact a lot of them couldn't hold their own against one horse." He said a tractor may have the power, but often it doesn't have the weight to use that power. "Big, heavy caterpillar tractors might pull against a team, but the usual farm tractor can't."

Uncertainty, training and the spectators' general interest in livestock were reasons the professor gave for saying that tractor pulls will probably never replace horse pulls. "Five identical tractors will usually pull nearly the same loads," he said, "but you never know whether or not a team will pull what it is capable of pulling."

Professor Moxley's job with the dynamometer is livestock promotion.

Most of the big horse pulls in the state use the dynamometer according to Moxley, and he says the crowds and premiums are large, which is the best indication of popularity. He also said that Ingham is in line with these top contests.

"Teams can get discouraged when they pull a boat," he said, returning to the horse contest. "Not being able to start a load that has been set may keep the team from pulling all it can. The dynamometer has an even pull from start to finish, and when a team can't pull anymore, it has done its best," he said.

Moxley said pulling against the machine is better than pulling a boat because of consistency and ease on the teams, and concluded by saying, "The dynamometer measures the best a horse can do. With it you can actually measure horse power."

Chiffon Cake Gets Special Awards

Winner of first prize in the chiffon cake contest will receive a hand cut glass cake plate with a 22 carat gold rim as special awards from General Mills incorporated and the Snowdrift Sales company. Last year Mrs. Nelson Brown of Mason won the plate for her foam-type entry.

The plate, a picture cook book, and a ribbon are donated by the two companies as first, second and third prizes for the best chiffon cake entries made with Softasilk cake flour and Wesson oil. These Betty Crocker awards are in addition to the ones offered by the Ingham county fair association.

The chiffon cake baking method was developed by General Mills and announced to the public three years ago. The company reports spending 25 years and many thousands of dollars trying to develop an easier, quicker cake. In 1943 this was accomplished by using a cooking or salad oil rather than the conventional cake shortening.

Rabbit Show Draws State-Wide Entries

Rabbits, hundreds of soft, cuddly rabbits will be under the grandstand at the county fair. From all over Michigan will come bunnies of 30 or 40 different breeds. They all have long ears and fur and wiggly noses and look like potential Easter egg bearers, but each breed is different, and is judged on its own standard.

Spots are the deciding factor in judging the Checker Giants. White with either black or blue markings, this rabbit has a butterfly spot on its nose, a stripe down its back and marks on its loins. He's quite a sight and popular with the crowds according to Phillip Luks who is in charge of the rabbit show.

In order for a Checker Giant to be registered and acceptable to the fair, its butterfly spot must look like a butterfly and its other spots must not touch each other.

Another rabbit judged on spots is the English. "This is a very difficult animal to breed and get proper markings," Luks said. "An English stripe looks like a watch spring that is slightly pulled apart."

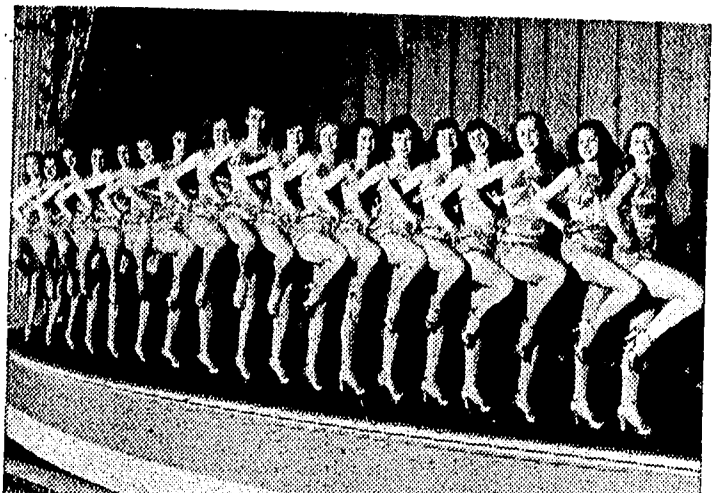

Rex, Chinchilla and Satin breeds are some that are raised for and judged on fur. All of the animals are raised for food, but these also have valuable skins.

Of the 300 rabbits in the open class at the fair some will be 20-pound Flemish giants and some will be two-pound little fellows that keep sneaking out of their cages and running around the show.

The Flemish giants are raised for meat, and are judged on type. About judging on type, Luks said, "You can tell an orange by its shape. It's shaped differently than a lemon or nearly anything else." Flemish giants, New Zealand whites and other rabbits in this category have distinct physical features. Whites are broad and meaty while the giants are longer and bigger-boned. New Zealand Whites, which weigh 11 or 12 pounds, are the most popular Michigan breed according to Luks.

All of the rabbits in the show are registered with the American Rabbit Care and Breeding association in Pittsburgh. This means the animals meet the breed standard: the right stripes for Check-

Grandstand Features New Review

Glamorous girls, action and lots of laughter are promised in front of the grandstand at the county fair. The new "Fair Time Review" comes to Ingham county for the first time with comedy acts, dance numbers, specialties and novelties. Colorful scenery and lighting, and bright costumes should add to this show of surprises that claims to "depart from accepted standards of production and scenic schemes."

er Giants, the right fuzz for Angoras and things like that. Crooked legs, short ears or whiskers or any defect disqualifies a rabbit.

Beneath the parent rabbit association are state and local organizations. In Lansing is the Central Michigan Rabbit Breeding association.

Raising rabbits is a big business in Michigan and the rabbit show will be a big thing at the fair. Hundreds of animals of many varieties for an interesting exhibit or stew.

Kids Open Fair With Their Day

Special games, contests, races and a matinee will highlight the opening day of the Ingham county fair when youngsters have their hey-day. The children's day program has been planned to provide activity for everyone 16 years old or under, according to Ralph Stroppe, superintendent.

Events for youngsters only will begin at 1:15 p. m. Monday in front of the grandstand. Children under 12 will be admitted to the fair free, and they can sit in the stands to watch the Kline's Revue matinee for nine cents.

All rides on the midway will be nine cents on opening day.

Fun for Everyone

Prizes totaling $114 will be offered in the 19 special events. Sack races, baseball throws, a wheelbarrow race, a three-legged race and eating contests will be included. Some new activities and some old standbys with new twists are being added to provide fun for contestants and spectators according to Stroppe, chairman of children's activities.

Boys under 16 will eat blackberry pie in one of the main features of the day.

Kids Bring Their Pets

Two pet parades are planned for this year's children's day, one for tots and one for children eight years old and over. All pets common to this area may be entered in the parade, and according to Chairman Stroppe, an important factor in picking the winners will be the originality of the clothing worn by the animals.

First prize in each parade will be three dollars, and second and third prizes will be two dollars and one dollar. All children entering this event will receive a free admission to the grandstand and a free ticket to any ride on the midway.

Special Stunts for Tots

Besides the tots' pet parade other events are planned for youngsters not yet eight years old. The children can blow up balloons to the bursting point and scramble for their shoes in two special races. Both the shoe race and the balloon race have prizes of three dollars, two dollars and one dollar.

Turf Events for All

A Shetland pony race and a three-quarter horse race will make up the turf events for the children up to 15 years old. The young jockeys will compete for $12 worth of prizes.

Mason businessmen have volunteered to help speed the events, handle the expected rush of youthful contestants and keep the program running smoothly. Members of Superintendent Stroppe's staff are Al Rice as master of ceremonies, M. B. Collins, William A. Bergin, Emory H. Jewett and Clayton Hulett.

Collisions, Crashes and Jumps Highlight Auto Thrill-Show

Flirting with the trouble at every turn of the wheel, "Lucky" Lott's Hell Drivers will present some of the nation's finest drivers for the automobile thrill show, Tuesday night at the county fair.

"Lucky" Lott is rated as the number one automobile daredevil and stunt driver in America. He has personally trained many drivers, several of whom will be seen in action with the auto show at the Ingham fair.

Highlights of the action-packed festival are numerous. They will include automobile rollovers, a reverse spin, the race of death, ice wall crash and head-on-collisions. All parts of the 90 minutes of tense drama join in making this one of the best shows of its type on earth.

Topping off the performance of helter-skelter "Lucky" Lott stunts will be the "transcontinental bus jump," regarded as the most dangerous stunt ever attempted with a stock model car. It requires jumping a huge transport without mishap. Already it has cost the lives of several great thrill performers, but "Lucky" Lott will attempt the jump at the fair.

Not exactly a pleasure drive is the dive bomber crash, which finds

Fair Buildings and Track Ready

The exposed portions of the grandstand have been newly painted for the 51 fair and necessary repairs and maintenance are being completed.

The race track promises to be in fine shape again this year and with the full three-day racing card some of the finest harness racing in the state of Michigan will be seen by fairgoers.

The portable starting gate which is mounted on a pick-up truck and folds inward as the horses "get away" will be used. This allows a better, more even start and makes the races more interesting. This portable gate is highly favored by horse racers.

Dare-Deviltry to Make Your Blood Run Cold

Topping off the Lucky Lott thrill show on Tuesday night at the fair will be the "transcontinental bus jump." This stunt has already cost the lives of several thrill performers. It requires jumping over a transport truck with a stock model car.

Who Smells Mint?

Peppermint news ink (unavailable this year in the traditional red and white candy stripes) was used to print the 1951 Fair edition of the Ingham County News. The mint scent will linger in the county for several days. It is in honor of the increasing amount of peppermint and spearmint growing and distilling in Ingham county.

County Fair Is Year-round Job

Preparations for the 1951 Ingham county fair started at the end of the 1950 fair. Some buildings have been painted, part of the grandstand has been painted, flood lights have been erected on the farm equipment exhibit area and all animal barns have been provided with fresh straw.

The fair board meets once a month throughout the year. Election to the board takes place in September. People who buy the family tickets are the only qualified Ingham residents who may vote, according to Fair Secretary Joy O. Davis. A dollar membership fee is included in the $3 family ticket price.

AG FAIRS RESUMED

Ingham county's first agricultural fair in more than a quarter of a century was held October 6, 7 and 8, 1927. It was a street fair, the kind which had a long history around Mason.

CONTRIBUTED PRIZES

Prize money for exhibitors in the 1927 fair was contributed by the Laboratory Products Co. of Mason, and the merchants of Mason. Prizes were awarded by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

SAVE ON TICKETS

You'll save $3.50 by buying the membership tickets good for 15 single admissions rather than buying them singly. If you are planning to attend more than one day, take advantage of this saving.

Be careful the horses and cattle on exhibit don't "shake hands" with you unexpectedly.

Judging Schedule

For Tuesday morning the open classes of the following exhibits and the judges who will handle them are:

Sheep, Del Chapman; beef, Al Griffith; poultry, C. G. Card; rabbits, Walter Littler; and foods and needlework by Mrs. Helene Howlett.

Tuesday afternoon
Open classes: Flowers, C. E. Wildon; vegetables and fruits, Jack Rose; crops, Emery Jewett.

4-H Exhibits: Flowers, Richard Jewett; poultry, C. G. Card; foods, Mrs. Alfreda McGuire; horses, Howard Wentz; and rabbits, Walter Littler.

On Wednesday judging will take place as follows:
Open class: Swine, Elwin D. Farwell.

4-H Exhibits: Dairy (Holsteins), Victor Beale; dairy (other breeds), Louie Webb; beef, Al Griffith; crops and garden, Kenneth Ousterhout; handicraft and electrical, Kenneth Ousterhout; canning, Mrs. Alfreda McGuire; and clothing, Mrs. Alfreda McGuire.

Thursday's judging
Open class: Dairy, H. E. Dennison.

4-H Exhibit: Swine, E. D. Farwell; sheep, E. D. Farwell; and the home economics demonstration in the club building. The only judging on Friday will be open class horses judged by Andrew Quirrie.

Home Lighting Theme of Exhibit

The theme of the extension booth at the county fair will be home lighting, a subject which the women studied as background material while learning to make lamps in special interest classes. Some of the lamps that were made will be on display.

The aim of the exhibit is to tell a story that will show what home-makers get from extension work. More than 90 women from all over the county form 58 groups. These groups meet regularly for special interest classes at Holt, Leslie, Williamston and Mason, the four leader training centers.

Mrs. Annette Scheffer, the county home demonstration agent, or a specialist from Michigan State college, takes charge of each meeting.

Mrs. Gerald Diamond of Mason is chairman of the extension booth this year. On her committee are Mrs. Morell Fox of Lansing, Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee of Aurelius, Mrs. Kester Antcliff of Mason, and Mrs. Harold Glynn of Wheatfield.

4-H Softball Teams Play Off During Fair

Winner of the 4-H softball county playoffs at the fair will receive for one year the championship cup donated by Peters Drug store, and represent Ingham in the eight-county district playoffs. The victor there will go to the state show.

Regulation nine-man softball is played by 4-H teams in the east side and west side county leagues.

Midget Taxi Putts Sans Driver

"Silvers" Johnson, the originator of the comedy Austin, will bring his pint-sized "black dot taxi" to the grandstand show at the fair. His self-propelling car, "chick" sales and likable antics will be a big part of the "Fair Time Review."

Menlo Hyde of the 4-Winds club is in charge of the west side league and Bob Oesterle, coach of the Vantown team, runs the circuit east of Meridian road.

One round of regular league games has been played and the top teams in each league meet in intra-league playoffs Friday. The league winners play for the cup and a chance at the district title Saturday at the same time and place, nine in the morning in front of the grandstand.

LEADING QUESTIONS

In order to save the staff at the information tent many questions the toilets are located near the north end of the midway—on the east side, and at the south end of the grandstand. There are also toilets outside the west gate, in Rayner park.

Prize Money High In Racing Events

Purses totaling $11,000 will be offered during the three days of harness racing at the county fair, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at two in the afternoon.

This year the fair board will not sponsor 25 pace and 25 trot early closers, two races that had $1,500 purses last year, but increases in the two and three-year-old trot and pace purses have made the total prize money almost what it has been in the past.

The three-year-old pace will be the first event Wednesday afternoon with a $1,200 purse. The two-year-old trot, with an identical purse, will follow. Both of these races are early closers as are the first two on Thursday. Two $800 events, the 17 pace and the 21 trot, will complete Wednesday's racing.

On Thursday the three-year-old trot and the two-year-old pace open the track program for two more $1,200 purses. The other two races that afternoon will be the $800 17 trot and 21 pace.

Taking the place of early closers that were dropped since last year are the first two races on Friday, a 25 trot and 25 pace. Both events are overnights for $800 purses. Finishing up this year's county fair track program will be a free-for-all trot and a free-for-all pace for $890 each.

WJR Radio Stars On Monday Show

Claud Moya and Joseph Troyan are two names rarely used by their owners, even when the boys' closest friends think of them as "Pie Plant Pete" and "Bashful Harmonica Joe."

"Pie Plant Pete" and "Bashful Harmonica Joe" have been known to the radio audiences in many sections of this country for the past several years. They are the stars of the Monday show at the fair.

Pete says the first thing asked of him when he meets someone new, is "How did you ever get the name of 'Pie Plant Pete'?" The story goes back to the mail order catalog. Few people realize that pie plant is another phrase for rhubarb. Pete claims that they called him "Pie Plant" because when he started in radio his music was so sour they gave him a name to fit, but actually he had little to do with choosing the title when he opened on WLS, Chicago, as an entertainer, whose versatility included singing, yodeling and harmonica and guitar playing all at the same time. This presented a problem for Harold Safford, program director, and Glenn Rowell, then musical director, who often assisted in finding the appropriate name. It was the custom of the program director to choose a name for each act that appeared on the station, such as the Kentucky Wonder Bean, Arkansas Wood-chopper, the Bring-Home-The-Bacon Girl, etc.

The men turned to a mail order catalog. They found a pie plant advertisement and knowing that Claud had carried the nickname of Pete since early childhood they struck on the combination of the three Ps. They soon discovered that they had a name difficult to say when they caught themselves saying "Pie Plant Pete." However, the name brought a chuckle and the following Saturday night Claude Moya appeared on the WLS Barn Dance under the name of "Pie Plant Pete."

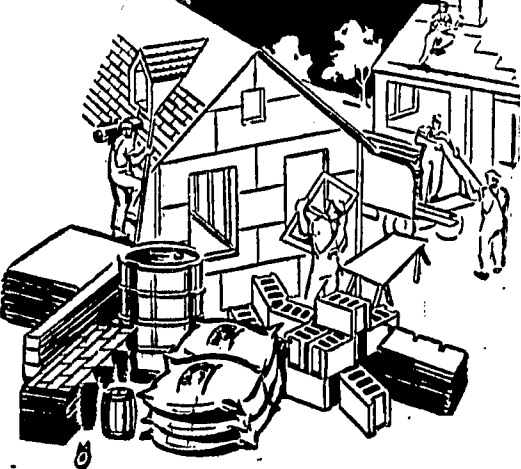

Pete says at first he did not like the name caught on quickly, and it meant so much for his fan mail he could not afford to change it, and pouring it. This imitation Today he is known to all his friends as Pete and very few know his real name.

The imitations that have made him famous did not come to him as easily as his name. Joe has spent many hours at the zoo throughout the country studying the antics of the birds and the monkeys which he mimics. All of the imitations he has mastered by self training. One of his best tricks on the air is the perking of coffee

For the past 13 years "Pie Plant Pete" and "Bashful Harmonica Joe" have been heard on nearly every radio station in the country, including long engagements in Cleveland, Rochester, Boston, Syracuse, New York and Chicago.
