

Come to the Open House

Next Wednesday afternoon and evening the Ingham County News will hold open house. We want you to see how we have rebuilt after the fire.

We've cleaned up and painted up and lighted up; some folks say like a Christmas tree. We've changed things around and done them over.

Visitors are welcome anytime, this week or next, or any other week. For next Wednesday, though, we are making special plans to entertain our guests. We hope you will come.

Ingham Co-Op Group Views Coldwater, Hudson Stations

Three Ingham egg and poultry men spent Tuesday in Coldwater and Hudson seeing how cooperative poultry and egg marketing systems operate. The men, Arthur Deyo, Ted Fay and Fred Ruthig, are members of a county committee selected in December to find out co-op possibilities for Ingham. The Ingham men were accompanied by Henry Fozaleer of Michigan State college.

One hundred crates of eggs are needed each week in order to make a satisfactory start, Deyo stated after the Coldwater trip.

"That many crates would give a cooperative a price bargaining power which most individuals could never experience," Deyo explained.

The trip was part of a general survey which the committee hopes to make, Deyo stated. Before a formal recommendation is made, the committee will make a listing of farm group feelings and obtain information relative to producer locations and sizes of flocks. Deyo said the committee hopes to talk over the possibilities of a poultry and egg co-operative with every flock owner in the county.

If such a cooperative becomes a reality, the bulk of the eggs and poultry will be aimed at the Lansing market, Deyo said. Most

More Jurors Are Called

To fill the ranks of jurors, 15 more names were drawn Thursday noon. There were 50 summoned for the term. Twenty-three were excused, leaving only 27 for duty in two courts. Because of the shortage of regular jurors, talesmen had to be summoned in a criminal trial Monday.

The 15 new jurors summoned Thursday are: Thelma Pink, Bunker Hill; Ethel N. Shuff, Delhi; Patricia Vogt, Ingham; Howard Gelsenhafer, Lansing township; Edith Ballard, Leroy; Marie Powers, Leslie; Emma Wilkinson, Locke; Mrs. Henry Dornier, Meridian; Myrtle Byrum, Onondaga; Arthur Cobb, Stockbridge; Thelma Boughton, Vevay; Dora Bird, Wheatfield; Rella Miller, White Oak; William E. Glaser, Williamston; Jud Winegardner, East Lansing; and Ernest Wickham, Lansing.

Red Cross Asks 200 Pints From Blood Donors

Mason donors are expected to contribute 200 pints of blood at the bloodmobile stop here next Wednesday.

The stop will be made at the Mason Presbyterian church. The hours are from noon until six o'clock.

As explained by Dr. H. W. Wiley, medical director of the Lansing Regional Blood Center, the blood donated to the Red Cross is given free of charge.

"It is not sold under any circumstances," the doctor emphasized. "A certain percentage of the blood is allocated to the armed forces and government hospitals. The rest goes to local hospitals for civilian use. A nominal charge is made to cover part of the cost of laboratory processing and hospital administration, but the blood itself is free. The Ingham County Chapter of the Red Cross bears the collection expense of blood used locally."

Blood donors must be between the ages of 18 and 60. If unmarried and under 21, they must have the consent of parents. They must not eat for four hours before reporting to the station and they must omit fats from their diets that day before giving blood.

Mrs. Sterling Moses is chairman of the blood bank campaign. Appointment cards will be placed in the mail over the week end, she said. If donors want to change the scheduled time they can call 2-2321 before Tuesday night, stating the time of their choice.

Filing Deadline Falls Saturday For City Office

Council Forgets About New Charter Provisions For Primary Election

Mason's new charter caught the council by surprise Monday night. The city officials had apparently forgotten that the new charter sets the fourth Saturday before February 18 as the last day for filing nominating petitions. That fourth Saturday is Saturday of this week.

Too late to do anything about it was the registration deadline for the primary. That fell Monday.

If there are no more than eight candidates for the four council posts then no primary election will be needed February 18. If nine or more candidates file an election must be held to elect candidates down to eight. Then on April 7 voters will choose the four they want.

Under the city charter, effective since June, the council is required to advertise the filing date at least one week and not more than three weeks before the petition deadline. There is only one week for publicizing the notice one week, the councilmen concluded after studying the city charter Monday.

FILING TIME EXTENDED
City Attorney O. J. Hood has ruled that the council has authority to extend for one week the time for filing nominating petitions. On that authority Mayor C. H. Hall has extended the time to Saturday, February 2.

"One notice is better than none," Mayor Hall stated at the meeting. "We must have an election and so it seems to me we will have to proceed as best we can."

The councilmen agreed to advertise the Saturday filing date Thursday.

Petition blanks are available at the city hall, according to City Clerk George Kellogg. Each petition must have at least 25 signatures of qualified voters. The petitions must be submitted to the clerk Saturday.

Under the new charter, two candidates must compete for each vacancy. If the required number of petitions are not turned in, the charter requires that the council nominate enough candidates to satisfy the provision. The councilmen will be elected for a term of two years and will be elected from the city at large. The office of mayor will be decided among the elected councilmen.

Councilmen took the last 15 minutes of the meeting Monday night to pat each other on the back. At the start Mayor C. H. Hall, Councilman W. Davis Post and Councilman Frank K. Evans announced they would not be candidates for re-election. After the congratulatory session, they were not so sure. Councilman Harold Barnhill, whose term also expires this spring, was not present at the meeting.

Councilman Evans said he thought it was a good thing for the town to pass the council positions around. His fellow councilmen agreed, but said they hoped Evans would continue on the council.

Mayor Hall told the group that he couldn't have picked a better council to serve the city. The council has cooperated fully, the mayor said.

Councilmen left the chamber Monday night armed with nominating petitions. Mayor Hall and Councilmen Post and Evans indicated that they could be talked into campaigning for the council posts.

Cordie Bashford was out bright and early Tuesday morning circulating nominating petitions for Sidney A. Morrison, former mayor.

Until this year parties have held caucuses to nominate candidates for city offices. The new charter pulled the rug out from under parties. Every candidate is now on his own.

Prisoner Weeps As Jury Returns With Acquittal

Roland Cram, 30, broke down and wept when a jury brought in its verdict acquitting him on the charge of robbery. He was on trial for breaking into the Dansville school May 24 and carting off the safe.

The jury, which took all of Monday morning to secure, took the case to the jury room Tuesday just before noon. The jurors returned four hours later to have much of the testimony read back to them. Then at 3:15 the jury came back, reporting that the prisoner had been found not guilty.

But Cram didn't gain his freedom. The handcuffs were snapped back onto his wrists and he was taken to the jail to await transfer to Jackson prison. He was out of prison on parole when he was implicated in the robbery at Dansville and the Michigan Bell Telephone company job at Mason. Some or all of the gang were involved in the theft and stripping of Norm Pritzel's car at Mason, robbing Dr. Harlan Campbell's office in Leslie, and Bartholomew's Sales and Service in Mason. Cram was taken back to prison last summer as a parole violator and was brought back to stand trial on the Dansville charge this week. He still faces the other charges.

Lawrence Lindemer of Stockbridge was appointed by the court to defend Cram. Prosecutor Paul C. Younger handled the case for the people.

Nephew Accuses Uncle

Rodney Duckett, 17, was the principal witness. He is Cram's nephew. Duckett told of breaking into the Dansville school and finding the safe after breaking and jimmying doors. He related that he and his uncle took time out to patronize the soft drink machine and to tap it for $70.

Later, according to Duckett, they drove to Lansing in an attempt to steal a car to haul away the safe. But they finally returned to the school just before dawn May 25. Duckett said, and re-entered the school to get the safe and load it into Cram's car. They hid it in brush on Jessop road, Duckett said, and he cut open the bottom with a pickaxe later that day. The nephew said he and his uncle split the loot.

Zoning Dispute Pops Up Again

Another dispute has popped up on the zoning of the triangular area bounded by State, Park and Sycamore.

Donald H. VanderVeen, Sr., made application for a building permit for construction of an ice cream drive-in structure at the State-Sycamore apex. Building Inspector Julius Schmeichel turned it down because he held the area was in B residential. VanderVeen appealed the decision, insisting that the council never legally changed the area from C to B.

The area has been both. VanderVeen was once denied a permit for a store on his property. Then there was another battle over the display case erected by the Krass-Khan Studio.

At the point for years stood Jack Fowler's blacksmith shop. Finally it became a bump shop and was destroyed by fire. VanderVeen moved the Fowler house away and eventually razed the blacksmith shop.

There was a meeting of the zoning appeal board Wednesday night but the appeal was not considered. It was put off to give city Attorney O. J. Hood opportunity to study council proceedings.

Howard McCowan, attorney representing VanderVeen, declared that the council again failed to give due notice when last the area was listed as B. That move was made after a dispute over whether it was B or C. On the appeal board are Ralph S. Adams, chairman; Hugh W. Slisby, Gerald Parsons, Raymond H. McLean and Rueli Kruse.

According to McCowan, the Pastee-Freeze corporation wants to lease the VanderVeen property.

Leslie Boy Keeps Up Fight for Health

Farmers Mutual Has Good Year, Adds to Surplus

Patrons of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company will hear good news Saturday afternoon at Mason. They'll learn that their company was able to add $15,000 to the surplus fund in 1951.

Total claims paid by the company amounted to $40,890.72. That will make the surplus stand at $151,063.01. Deducting $57,825.13 for the unearned premium reserve leaves a net surplus of $93,237.88. Secretary Louis A. Stid explained.

The annual meeting is called for 1:30 Saturday afternoon in the court room. The terms of office for the secretary and the 16 directors expire. E. A. Densmore of Mason is president of the company. His term does not expire. Stid is completing 20 years as secretary of the company. He was first elected to the job in 1932.

The directors whose terms expire are Ralph Sullivan, Alcedon; Clyde Snow Aurelius, Austin; Cavanaugh, Bunker Hill; J. W. Ried, Delhi; Clifford Allin, Ingham; Richard Andrews, Lansing; Howard Sims, Leroy; John LaRowe, Locke; John C. Grettenberger, Meridian; Paul Kilbourn, Onondaga; Lawton Heeney, Stockbridge; Emory Jewett, Vevay; Jess Fisher, Wheatfield; Ralph Hayner, White Oak; and E. D. Brown, Williamston.

There's also a vacancy. Lou Sherman was director for Leslie township for many years. He died last summer.

Exam Is Called For Okemos RFD

Examinations will be held for the permanent appointment of a rural carrier out of the Okemos postoffice.

There was a route added October 1. George Barlow received a temporary appointment as carrier but the appointment as permanent carrier is up to civil service. Harold Voelker is carrier on Okemos Route 1. He has a permanent appointment.

Applications for the examination must reach Washington by February 7. Applicants must be residents of the area served by the Okemos postoffice. They must have lived there a year before February 7, 1952.

On a standard route of 30 miles the salary of a rural carrier is now $3,158 with $20 per year additional for each mile or major fraction thereof over 30. Rural carriers must furnish and maintain their own cars at 9¢ per mile on the basis of the daily mileage scheduled. That comes to $823.50 per year for a 30-mile route.

LEES PURCHASE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lee have bought the Emory Barn place on Dexter Trail. With the house they bought two acres of land. Mr. and Mrs. Lee lived in an apartment in the Ingham County News building before the fire on December 10. Since then they have been staying in Lansing.

Farmers Choose Soil Directors

Dorn Diehl of Ingham and Gerald Elbert of Alcedon were named to the board of directors of the soil conservation district Wednesday night. The 125 farmers at the meeting elected Diehl and re-elected Elbert. The meeting was held in the court house.

Other members of the board are Paul J. Simpson, Aurelius; George Alchin, Leroy; and Gerald L. Diamond, Vevay.

Dr. L. A. Wolfanger, soil scientist at Michigan State college, addressed the group. He compared the soil resources of the United States to those of Russia. In Russia's southern zone crops suffer from lack of moisture, he declared. In the north where there is sufficient moisture, Wolfanger stated, the growing season is too short for many crops.

Russia has pioneered in soil science, Dr. Wolfanger said, but the Russian soil resources are far below those of the United States.

IT'S REGAL!

Do You Like the New Look?

You've noticed something different if you've read down this far. It's the new dress, of course. The front page and most of the type on other pages is set in Regal. This is 10-point, leaded. Most of the type is eight-point, set on a nine-point slug.

Regal has become one of the most widely used news faces in America. This attractive new type is pleasing to the eye, easy to read, easy to follow.

Here's the difference between Ideal, which has been used for 15 years by the Ingham County News, and Regal, the new face:

This paragraph is set in 8-point Ideal on a 9-point body. It is considered even more readable than Ideal and on a 9-point body will prove easier than Ideal on the eyes. There won't be so many words on a page as when Ideal was set 8-point solid but the extra spacing between lines will make those words easier to read.

We blushing confess that the grammatical error in the Ideal escaped unnoticed until the font had been replaced with Regal. So the error had to stand. We are all going to try to do better with Regal—which is royalty with a popular appeal.

School Board Will Consider Building Plan

Committee Makes Report To Electors at Meeting Held at School Monday

At a special meeting to be called within a few days, the Mason board of education will begin its study of the expansion program. Monday night electors heard the report of the special study committee set up last fall.

The committee recommended the construction of 12 elementary classrooms, and a separate building on the site across from the high school to house agriculture, shop and band. The elementary school or schools would be on sites chosen by the school board. The estimated cost of the building across from the school was reported as $90,000. Another $300,000 would be needed for the 12 elementary rooms.

Al Rice, chairman of the special study committee, presented the report of the committee. Dr. D. R. Lethbridge, Richard Demlow, Raymond H. McLean and Mrs. Hugh J. Bartley, who served on the committee, discussed the program as recommended, and answered questions from the 100 people present at the meeting.

There was the usual argument about enrolling students from outside the school district. Supl. James H. Vander Ven presented figures to show that the Mason district profits from accepting such students. They not only pay their own way, he said, but bring in enough extra state aid and tuition to bolster the district's building and site fund.

The people present at the public meeting showed enthusiasm for the program presented by the committee. Maurice Rickley, school board president, promised that the board will give full consideration to it.

$275,000 More Needed
On the basis of the recommended program the district would have to have $300,000. Available from the building and site fund by July 1 will be $150,000, leaving $240,000 needed. However, another $35,000 was added to make a bond issue of $275,000.

The responsibility for acquiring sites and erecting buildings lies with the school board. The people must pass upon any bonding proposal.

A member of the school board after the meeting pointed out that the program as presented at the public meeting has a few wrinkles in it. "Therefore, the people have turned down programs calling for the construction of one building," the board member said. "I'm not so sure they'll now approve a program calling for two buildings or three buildings. There is also the problem of building two or three buildings at once even though the people approve the bond issue. It's hard enough to find materials to build one building at a time."

"There's the matter of operational costs, too," the board member pointed out. "We now have a low operating cost. That will climb when two or three buildings are added."

Culhams Spotlight 10th Anniversary

Art Culham will mark his 10th anniversary in the Mason restaurant business Monday. As part of the anniversary celebration Art's Hamburg Shoppe will serve free sausage and pancakes all day Monday with the exception of from 11 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.

City Seeks Bids For Repairs on Leaky Standpipe

Bids on repairing Mason's standpipe will be taken by the council February 4.

Alvin Kirby of the Dixie Bridge and Tank Co. appeared before the council Monday night to outline what his company can do for Mason's standpipe. He estimated the cost of needed repairs, cleaning and painting, at $1,300. The council agreed to take sealed bids on the job.

Fire Report Submitted

Fire Chief Leland Austin submitted his annual report to the council Monday night. The period covered a year ending December 1, 1951. According to the report, the department answered 35 alarms inside the city limits. Two were false alarms. Austin estimated the loss on buildings other than dwellings amounted to only $50. Total loss on contents was $975, according to the chief's figures.

The fire chief closed his books December 1. The Ingham County News building burned to the tune of $30,000 or so on December 10. During the year included in the report, the department bought 300 feet of fire hose and a fire siren. On December 10, the department bought a $750 two-way radio for the fire truck.

Permits Add Up

Julius Schmeichel, city building inspector, submitted his report for the past year. According to the inspector's figures, 24 dwellings have been built at a cost of $159,000. Thirteen garages totaled $8,500, one office was built for $500 and 33 permits were granted for additions and alterations which totaled $15,550.

Public works administration costs more than maintaining the Mason sewers, but not as much as pumping water or maintaining the city streets or sewerage treatment plant. The figures were revealed at the council meeting Monday night by Julius Schmeichel, superintendent of public works. Schmeichel's figure's included the period from September to December. No records were kept prior to that time.

According to the figures, maintenance of streets cost $229,778 for the period. Sweeping and trash collection cost the taxpayers $136,988, snow removal and ice control cost $247,364, street lighting cost $1,330,777. Miscellaneous activity sliced off another $1,168,40.

Schmeichel recommended to the council that something be done about some of the sidewalks in the city. Many are in poor shape and vary in width and thickness, Schmeichel said in his report. It makes snow removal difficult, he added.

Review Board Named

With the council's approval, Mayor Hall appointed Emory Jewett, Frank Guerriero and S. A. Bement to the board of review to hear complaints on property assessments. The men were appointed for one, two and three years respectively. Hereafter, the new city charter provides, one board post will be filled every January. City Assessor Dean Taylor is a member of the board, but has no vote.

Councilman Alton Stroud will represent the council on the election board. He was appointed by the councilmen Monday night.

from the safe, $190, and the soft drink machine.

Cram did not take the stand in his own defense.

Witnesses called by the prosecutor besides Duckett were Supt. Searl Briggs of the Ingham Township Consolidated school at Dansville, Gary Briggs, Deputy Sheriff's Kenneth Preadmore and Versile Babcock and state police detectives Joseph Pearce and Lawrence Stackable.

Because he was 16 at the time of the robbery, Duckett was placed on probation by the juvenile court.

The trial Monday and Tuesday was held before Judge Louis E. Coash.

Youth Found Guilty

In Judge Marvin Salmon's court Tuesday afternoon a jury returned a verdict of guilty in the trial of Albert Joseph LaHale, 16, of Lansing. LaHale also was returned from prison to face trial. He was on probation for a period of robbery armed when he picked a fight with William Douglass in Lansing and knifed him. He was charged with assault to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

Immediately after the return of the verdict, Judge Salmon summoned LaHale before him. The court sentenced the youthful offender to a term of from 3 to 10 years to run concurrently with the term of 3 to 15 years being served on the armed robbery charge. Judge Salmon urged LaHale to correct his anti-social tendencies. The judge expressed sorrow at the failure of LaHale to go straight while on probation for the armed robbery offense.

Harold Glasson of Lansing defended LaHale. Assistant Prosecutor John McCune prosecuted the case.

At a recess in the trial of LaHale Monday, Warner Kean pleaded guilty to a statutory charge brought by officers as the result of an investigation involving two Holt girls under the age of 16. On Tuesday Judge Salmon placed Kean on probation for two years. He paid $50 costs.

Before Judge Coash Monday John C. Bennett of Toledo was ordered to settle up his alimony. The man from Toledo was charged with leaving the state while he was in arrears for the support of his family. He was ordered to pay $200 to support his family, plus $100 costs and plus $50 to repay the county for the expense of going after him. He must also keep up his current payments of $18 a week in alimony. He was placed on probation for three years.

John Jenkins of Flint, arraigned before Judge Coash Monday, stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. He was charged with embezzlement.

A jury in Judge Salmon's court brought in a verdict of guilty against Earl W. Clement Wednesday. He was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime.

The trial of Howard S. Kilinger, charged with drunk driving, second offense, was delayed two hours Wednesday morning by the hearing of motions and because a court file had to be brought from Lansing. It was finally begun at noon before Judge Coash.

In Judge Salmon's court Thursday morning James Cardwell of Lansing went on trial. He is charged with statutory rape.

Edward P. Mills Dies in Lansing

Silsby Gets Post On Defense Board

Hugh W. Silsby is Mason's representative on the county civil defense council. He was elected by his colleagues on the county council Monday night.

Under the new setup as approved by the board of supervisors last week, all the county is under one civil defense command. Supervisors chosen by the county board and by cities will make up the council. The council is authorized to employ a full-time director. There is also the possibility that a full-time executive secretary and a part-time instructor will also be added to the staff.

Interest Drops In Cherry Pies

Right now it doesn't look as though Ingham will have a cherry pie contest.

Mrs. Annette Schaeffer said there has been little interest in the contest shown by high school home economics teachers.

Over at Dansville, though, Mrs. Margie Briggs reported that she may hold one for her own pupils. Mrs. Briggs was the only home economics teacher who showed interest in the annual contest, Mrs. Schaeffer said. Mrs. Schaeffer is home demonstration agent. If there is an immediate response, she stated, it may still be possible to hold the county contest, and pick a winner to enter the state contest at Grand Rapids.

Onondaga Woman Dies in Hospital

Before her marriage Mrs. Clay was known as the music teacher in that area and traveled from place to place with a horse and buggy to give lessons. In 1902 she was married to Malcolm Clay.

Mrs. Clay was dearly loved by all who knew her. She was an active church worker in the Onondaga Community church, a member of the Knowledge Seekers club, and a member of the Royal Daughters and Outlook club of Leslie. Driver Is Killed When Car Skids

John Johnson, 48, of Port Huron died instantly Saturday noon when he lost control of his car on US-427 just north of the Harper road intersection and smashed against a big elm tree.

Johnson was heading south in the sleet and rain. As he entered the first part of the S curve his car hit a slippery spot, and skidded off on the east side of the road and against the tree. It is the only tree close to the road for a mile in either direction.

The car bounced back onto the highway but Johnson was thrown through the windshield by the impact of the crash and lay crumpled at the base of the tree with a broken neck and a severed jugular vein.

According to two witnesses, Ben Johnson of Lansing and John Wolf of Dansville, the Johnson car was traveling at an estimated speed of 50 to 60 miles per hour. The witnesses said that Johnson had just passed them when his car skidded on the icy-cracked pavement.

Johnson was a Port Huron fight promoter. He is survived by his wife, Marie, and two daughters.

Justice of the Peace Roy Adams acted as coroner. The body was taken to Mason in the Ball Funeral Home ambulance. A Port Huron funeral director came to transfer the body to Port Huron where services were held Wednesday.

Oldsmobile Unveils 'Classics'

By Vernon J. Brown

This reporter was one of about 600 who glimpsed the 1952 Oldsmobile at Lansing on Monday. The affair represented the homecoming of the traveling show which has spanned the continent and told the story of the cars Oldsmobile has planned for the coming year. Eight other cities have witnessed the glitzy, television inspired, presentation of the new "Classics" as Oldsmobile calls the new cars.

Suppliers, dealers, distributors, advertisers, radio and press representatives and distinguished Michigan industrialists filled the engineering building of the Olds plant to overflowing.

Douglas Edwards, news commentator on the Olds TV newscast, was on hand to act as master of ceremonies at the unveiling. The stage had been made over to represent a huge television set perhaps 50 feet in width. Here in turn were shown the new line of classic 98's and the super 88's, each with brand new 160-horsepower motors and new

ENGINEERS ARE NEEDED

During the next three years, U. S. colleges will graduate a little more than half the engineers needed for civilian and military efforts. The U. S. department of labor says that 63,000 engineers will graduate through June, 1954, compared to a normal civilian need of 90,000 plus heavy military demands.

BLOODMOBILE COMING

Do you want to be a hero without hurting much? All you have to do is to report next Wednesday when the Red Cross bloodmobile stops at the Presbyterian church in Mason.

Greed and waste—which have robbed the world of many birds and animals—almost put fur seals out of existence. But reckless men were halted in time to save the amazing creatures.

There were no more than 150,000 of the seals left, some 40 years ago, and they were fast disappearing. At last a treaty was made which forbade killing the seals while they were migrating in the ocean. It was also agreed that only limited numbers of the seals might be taken each year under the supervision of the United States government.

Thanks to this protection, fur seals have increased in number. The National Wildlife Federation reports that there are now between two and three million of them.

Only when they spend a few months of the spring and summer on land does the government permit between 90,000 and 100,000 to be killed. Eskimos do the hunting, and they take nothing but young male seals—never females.

At the time that this hunting goes on, the seals are living on the cold, rocky Pribilof Islands in the north Pacific ocean. The males arrive there early in May, and the females come in June.

Soon after the females waddle ashore, their young pups are born. The babies weigh 10 to 12 pounds apiece. They are black at first, but later turn gray. Though they all look alike, and spend their time together, the pups cannot find their mothers. The mothers can pick their own pups out of the pack without any trouble.

Along in October and November, the herds begin to flop off their rocky islands. They plunge into the waters of the Pacific and head southward. From then until spring, they stay in the water.

Traveling in groups, the fur seals swim hundreds of miles to the south, sometimes going as far down as California. But they never get closer than a hundred miles off the shore. Only a sick or crippled seal tries to find land during the long winter migration.

At the end of the winter, the packs make their return journey to the Pribilofs. Always they keep a sharp lookout for their worst enemy, the killer whale, and for their favorite food, small fish.

The males are especially anxious to eat well, because they go without food from May to August. The females fare better in the spring and summer, often leaving land to get something to eat.

Nevertheless, the males are the giants of the herd. By the time they are fully grown, at the age of seven, they weigh from 400 to 500 pounds each. They are black or dark brown. The females are lighter in color and smaller, weighing an average of 80 pounds.

Though awkward on land, fur seals are powerful swimmers. With their flippers, they gracefully cut through the water and cover many miles without stopping. They are also skillful at leaping into the air and diving under the waves.

Newlyweds Will Live at Keego Harbor

Miss Shirley Anne Belt of Mason and Charles LeRoy Johnson of Keego Harbor chose Saturday, January 19, as their wedding day. The couple spoke their vows in a candlelight service in the Mason Presbyterian church at eight o'clock.

Rev. Paul L. Arnold, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Harry E. Philo, pastor of the Congregational church in Durand. An altar decorated with floral arrangements of pink carnations and pink satin bows formed the background for the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Belt of Mason. Mr. Johnson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, Sr., also of Mason.

Mrs. N. S. Davis played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches for the ceremony. She also was accompanist for Guenther Decker who sang "I Love You," from Song of Norway and "The Lord's Prayer."

Thomas Belt gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white satin was designed with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The gown featured a basque waist and a bustle back which cascaded into a short train. A seed pearl tiara held in place her fingertip-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with a pullout corsage of white gardenias and pink Sweetheart roses.

Miss Jane McClelland of Flint, roommate of the bride's at Hurley hospital school of nursing, was maid of honor. Her gown was seafoam green satin styled with cap sleeves, a fitted waist and square neckline. She wore a tiara of pink carnations and mits to match her gown, and carried an arrangement of mixed flowers.

Joe Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Don Lehman of Flint and Harold Wade of Keego Harbor ushered the guests to their seats.

Mrs. Belt selected a two-piece royal blue velvet gown with navy and white accessories for her wedding. Her shoulder corsage was made up of white gardenias and pink Sweetheart roses. Mrs. Johnson's gown was navy blue crepe with pink collar and cuffs. She used pink and navy accessories to complement her outfit and her corsage was like Mrs. Belt's.

Reception Is Held

The couple greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors after the ceremony. Miss Marjory Belt, sister of the bride, registered the wedding cake.

A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, was served. The bridegroom and decorated with pink roses, centered the serving table. Tea and coffee were also served. Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. Paul Mudgett, Jr., Miss Donna Hunt and Mrs. Herbert Fox, Jr., served the refreshments.

At Home in Keego Harbor

After the reception the newlyweds left on a short trip to the South. For traveling Mrs. Johnson chose a gray wool suit with a pink blouse and black accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 1561 Kessler street, Keego Harbor.

National Security Is Discussed at Auxiliary Meeting

National security and the legislative activities of the American Legion Auxiliary were discussed at a meeting of Browne-Cavender Unit No. 148 held at the Memorial building Tuesday evening. Speaking on the second theme, Mrs. Janet Zimmerman, legislative chairman of the unit, stated that one of the purposes for which the Auxiliary was organized is "to participate in and contribute to the accomplishment of the aims and purposes of the American Legion," as stated in the preamble to its constitution. The Auxiliary has no legislative program of its own. It is pledged to work for the projects of the Legion.

The bill for Universal Military Training sponsored by the American Legion will come before Congress in the next few weeks, stated Mrs. Zimmerman. Other bills to be introduced include expansion of the G.I. Bill of Rights, the extension of social security credits to veterans of the Korean conflict and a request that the government furnish the small grave marker to families of service men whose bodies have not been recovered.

Mrs. Pearl Jewett, national security chairman of the unit, spoke of the great need for vigilance at home against subversive activities. She also called attention to the 36th Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, which will be held in Washington this week end, with a delegation of auxiliary members from Michigan attending.

Both Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Jewett asked unit members to write letters to their congressmen in regard to matters of public interest requiring legislation, commending worthwhile programs and protesting the employment of known Communists and fellow travelers as speakers and entertainers.

At Tuesday evening's meeting, Mrs. Marjorie Parker, music chairman, presided over a musical game and group singing. Mrs. Anne Brown, Mrs. Harriet Castro, Mrs. Helen Casper and Mrs. Harriet Jones were added to the unit's membership list. Mrs. Grace Ankney, unit president, is planning an initiatory service for the next meeting, February 12.

Book Talk

from
Ingham County Library

These long winter evenings are good for reading, and the Ingham county library has a number of new books, fiction, biography, travel, and others, in which many people will be interested.

This week we have several good new biographies on the shelves, and one of the best is YEARS OF ADVENTURE, the first volume of the memoirs of Herbert Hoover, our only living ex-president and one of the foremost statesmen of our time. This first volume sketches his life from his birth in a Quaker family in Iowa in 1874, to 1920 when he became secretary of commerce in the Harding cabinet. Much of this volume was actually written many years ago, so there is a feeling of closeness to the events and personalities described. The book is on all the best-seller lists now, and probably would be even if it was written about an anonymous individual because of its moving Alger-like story.

Another excellent new biography is VOYAGE TO WINDWARD, by J. C. Furnas. This is the life of Robert Louis Stevenson, and is the first adult biography really worthy of him. Mr. Furnas has explored every aspect of the life and mind and career of the fascinating and fantastic Robert Louis Stevenson, and made a book which you will not want to miss.

THE INDIGO BUNTING, by Vincent Sheean, is an unusual and interesting little biography of the poet, Edna St. Vincent Millay, and also, a criticism of her work. The title refers to her extraordinary relationship with the birds. The book reflects faithfully and with dignity a good part of the light and warmth given off by one of the most remarkable personalities in American poetry.

JOURNEY WITH GENIUS, by Witter Bynner, is a disturbing portrait of D. H. Lawrence, and gives one the impression of a great but unstable man and a magnificently unshakable and loyal wife.

BRADFORD OF PLYMOUTH, by his descendant, Bradford Smith, is a full-length, scholarly biography which tells the story of Plymouth colony's great governor from his youth in Scrooby, England, to his death. It is a highly readable book about a very real human being and an understandable, if exceptional individual.

Other new books in the Ingham county library this week include: CLEOPATRA SLEPT HERE, by Lillian Brown.

THE GLA, by Edwin Corle, by James A. Michener.

LIBERTY AND PROPERTY, by R. V. Coleman.

MY HOME ON THE RANGE, by Marguerite W. Kennedy.

GOD'S GRAVES AND SCHOLARS, by C. W. Ceram.

SIZING UP PEOPLE, by Dr. Donald A. Laird.

THE PARTY GAME BOOK, by Margaret Mulac.

GOOD FOOD FOR BAD STOMACHS, by Sara M. Jordan.

ENTER MRS. BELCHAMBER, by Elizabeth Cadell.

Weather

Winter eased up this week. There have been warnings of bitter weather on the way but it had not arrived by Thursday. The mercury dipped to 8 above Thursday morning yet the sun soon warmed it up. Average temperature for the week was 29 degrees, five degrees warmer than the same week in 1951. Rain and snow yielded 1.6 inches of precipitation. The snow is less than half an inch deep, which would make it hard for sleighing. If there were any sleighs or horses to pull them, or men to drive the horses.

As reported by Ross Richmond, Mason's eagle-eye weather observer at the sewage disposal plant, the temperature readings were as follows:

Mason Collapse in Last Period Evens Up Capital Circuit Race

Mason high school's cage team stubbed its toe again Friday night. The Bulldogs dropped their first Capital Circuit game to Charlotte 42-38. Mason and Charlotte are now tied for first place honors.

Friday night Mason will take on the Vikings at Everett in the most crucial contest on the schedule. Mason outplayed Everett before Christmas but since then the Vikings have improved and will be a hard team to beat, especially on the home court.

Marlin Mauer, last year's leading scorer in the Capital Circuit, has found his shooting eye and Gerry Bentley has been coming through with plenty of points.

Tuesday night Mason will entertain St. Johns in a non-circuit contest. The Red Wings are again rated one of the top teams in central Michigan. This is not a new honor to the Red Wings. They are always powerful.

Doug Knight is the leading scoring threat and uses his great height to good advantage on both backboards.

If the Bulldogs are going to win the Capital Circuit championship, they are now forced to do it the hard way. The Bulldogs must get by Everett, an up and coming Grand Ledge, Howell and again Charlotte. All four games will be tough ones. If Mason had beaten Charlotte Friday night, the pressure would not be so great. Instead of being on top all alone Mason now shares the Capital Circuit lead with Charlotte.

Mason Gives Away Game
Mason gave away the Charlotte game Friday night. With five minutes remaining, Mason held a 11-point lead. Then the Bulldogs went through a basket famine. The malady was not contagious. Charlotte caught fire and with Sophomore John Betty leading the way with a wonderful display of pressure basketball Charlotte closed the gap, moved out in front and stayed there.

During the last-ditch Charlotte rally, Mason did not score a point. In fact Mason's grand total for the last quarter was a lowly four points. This total did not show one field goal in the last period.

Mason led most of the way. The first quarter was fairly even. Mason jumped into the lead and managed to stay out in front until the end of the quarter. Mason held the upper hand in the second quarter too. Bob Jewett and Herb Hovey contributed most of the baskets in the second quarter. Mason ended the half on the long end of a 22-18 count.

The third quarter was all Mason's. The Bulldog attack really started to roll. Charlotte appeared to be befuddled. Several times Mason broke up Charlotte passes and went in for easy scores. Mason stretched its lead to 31-27 before the third quarter ended.

Then came the Mason collapse. Betty came through with three quick baskets and big Joe Jauch, the Oriole center, did his share to make the Oriole rally a success.

Betty, playing with a hand-capped left arm, was the best player on the floor. He made his shots count and never gave up. He was forced to share the scoring honors with teammate Wally Bruce, though. Each man collected 14 points.

Bob Jewett was high for Mason with 10 points. Charlie Willis was next high for Mason with 8.

It was a bad night for Mason all the way around. The Mason reserves also dropped their game 47-37. One quarter of basketball was not enough to win for Mason. The Bulldog puppies were pitifully weak in the first half. Then Stan Stolz and Bruce Collins got together and started the long road out of the woods. At one time Mason was 20 points behind.

Collins was high for Mason with 14 points. Marv Borgman topped the Charlotte scorers with 18 points.

Holt Pulls Way Out in Front

Barring a major upset, Holt now has a firm grip on the Ingham County league crown. The Ramblers rolled over Williamston Friday night 65-37. Williamston was the team most likely to give the Ramblers a rough night.

The victory moves Holt out in front of the rest of the league by two games.

Williamston did not stand a chance against the high-scoring Ramblers. The score at the end of the first quarter indicates the futility of the Williamston chances. The Ramblers closed the first period on the top end of the 17-1 score. By the end of the half the Ramblers jumped the score to 32-10.

In the second half Coach Ted Bauer sprinkled his team liberally with reserves and the one-sided contest became more of a game. At no time, though, did Williamston threaten.

Bud Buermann was the top scorer for Holt with 14 points. Bud Miller was next with 10. Every man on the Holt squad had at least two points to contribute to the Holt total.

Williamston was paced by Ken Eckman's 12 points.

Vikings Come Up With Another Win

Everett notched another victory in its comeback drive Friday night by roaring past Eaton Rapids 60-36.

Friday night the Vikings will attempt to get back into the Capital Circuit race at Mason's expense. Mason is currently tied with Charlotte for first place honors. Two weeks ago Everett dumped Charlotte to start its comeback drive.

In Friday's game with Eaton Rapids the Viking point-making machine finally got into high production. Everett wound up the first quarter out in front 20-7. At the end of the half the lead was increased to 26-16.

Eaton Rapids tried hard to get back in the game in the third period and did manage to outscore the Vikings 17-12 but the Viking start was too much to overcome.

In the last quarter Everett started to pour it on and won going away.

Marlin Mauer and Art Smith topped the scoring column with 20 points each. Tom Moon was held to 10 points at center. Lin-ton Davidson came off of the Greyhound bench to pace the Eaton Rapids attack with nine points.

Comets Upset Favored Howell

Grand Ledge bagged a mild upset victory over Howell Friday night. The Comets turned back the Highlanders 46-33.

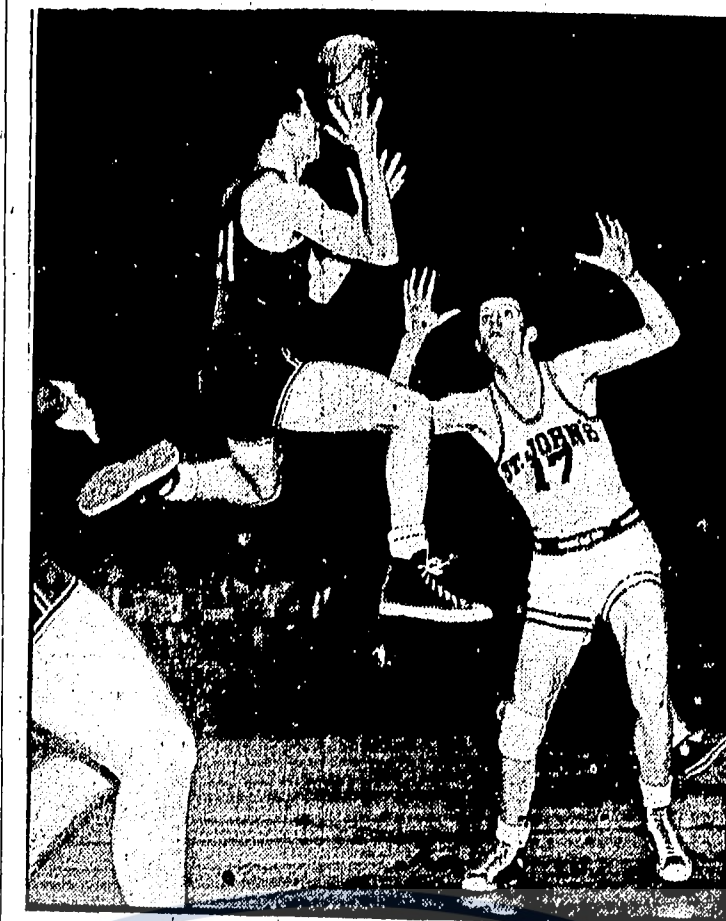

It took a last-quarter 13-point spurge to do the trick for the Comets. Grand Ledge made a three-point first-quarter lead stand up all during the first half. Then Howell bounced back in the third quarter to go out in front 34-43. In the final eight minutes, though, Howell folded and Grand Ledge took the victory.

Carmen Kypke was high man for the night with 14 of the Howell points. Jim Teman sparked the Comets with 13 points.

Friday night Howell will go over to Charlotte with revenge in mind for its past two defeats. The Highlanders were beaten by the Orioles on the Highlander court once.

Grand Ledge will play Eaton Rapids Friday night. The Greyhounds should turn out to be the next victory notch in the Grand Ledge record.

Honey makes a delicious sauce for ice cream.

HIGH MAN—Pretty high up in the air for a little man is Vanderbilt University's five-foot-seven-inch Bob White, seen getting off a lay-up over the head of St. John's Jim Coyle in Madison Square Garden, New York. But Vanderbilt lost, 60, to 54.

TO HAVE NOT—Typical of hundreds of war-orphaned children roaming through the Korean port city of Pusan, this dirt smudged urchin carries a battered pall in which he will collect whatever scraps he can find. Despite his hunger, he forces a smile for the photographer, then trudges on his way.

Aggies Hold Fast After Good Start

Friday night it looked as if it was Dansville's night to howl over at Haslett. The Aggie bubble broke, though, and Haslett came out on top 41-35.

Darwood Hart and Ken Mitchell led the Lakers to victory. After Dansville moved out to a 14-6 lead at the end of the first quarter the two Laker players took over. Hart tossed in seven points and Mitchell added four more to end the first half with the lead firmly in the grasp of the Lakers.

Haslett continued to dominate the play in the third period but Dansville came back in the slow last quarter in a futile attempt to get back in the game.

Fred Schaubley was high for Dansville with 11 points.

Ray Scores 21 in Easy Okemos Win

Okemos used a red hot first half to drop Leslie Friday night. The Chiefs came out on top 51-33.

The outcome was never in doubt right from the first. Okemos poured in 21 points in the first period while Leslie could part the meshes for only three. The Blackhawk woke up a little bit in the second quarter but Okemos still dominated the play. At the halfway mark Okemos was out in front 37-10.

Leslie held the scoring honors in the second half but the 27-point Okemos margin was just too much to overcome. Okemos clamped the lid on the basket every time Dick Hecksel, the leading Ingham County league point-maker, took a shot. He finished the evening with a total of only seven points. In fact that seven points was the top Blackhawk effort of the night.

Phil Ray could not miss for the Chiefs. The Okemos forward collected 21 points on eight field goals and five foul shots.

Marion spent Sunday evening in Jackson with Mrs. Roy Warner and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith.

Farmer Peck's Wife

I'm afraid of fire.
Children don't spill all the milk.
We passed up Bob Myers' new house.

Guess I was born an old scaredy cat! This morning I could have sworn the house was afire - or if not, was being blown to bits by the high winds raging around the outside. I heard a crackle and roar, that definitely sounded like flames and creaking falling timbers - so, frightened, I got up.

Pete had gone to the barn and I had intended to relax and stretch luxuriously for another half-hour in bed before getting up. (Why should that make me feel rich? It does, though). Well, I scrambled out and dashed around to find the house - in one place but I didn't go back to bed. I wasn't done yet until I took a look at the roof to see if it were in flames. This is a routine I go through many times a year. I'm afraid of fire and would like to live in a fireproof house, I think. I worry about the roof most and hope someday we can have asphalt shingles. The way we live back here on this by-road and no phone we could burn down before any one knew it.

I think I got my fear of fire from Dad because he always wanted to sleep where he could see into the living room and be near the stove or furnace. So now I have a home of our own and am just like him. Pete says in more ways than one! Well, fire can be both good and bad and it's a terrible thing to see a building on fire. It sends a chill through me that lasts for a long time.

To have someone sleeping in a burning house or in another room cut off by a wall of fire would be an awful thing. Guess all these high winds have made me think of this but sometimes it is better to think first instead of after it is too late. Be careful, I mean.

That being careful reminds me of the joke my family has on me. They call it a joke and it is, too. It seems lately that more is spilled on the outside than on the inside when we are eating. We usually eat on a plastic tablecloth but we all grow so used to being careless with jam and putting spoons on the table that I decided the children never would learn if they didn't have to be careful so a tablecloth. We started right out with milk running from here to yonder - no more than usual but it looked worse. Then last night as I poured the milk I said, "Now let's see if you can get through this meal without someone having to run for the dishcloth." Promptly tipped over a big glass of milk myself.

The three of them laughed so hard I must have made very easy digesting for that meal while mine didn't go down so easily. Then if I didn't spill another glass this morning, I don't know what ailed me - probably the same thing that makes children do it! Guess today noon I won't sit down and eat because

Sharks' Oil Serves As Satisfactory Barometer For Thrifty Individuals

"New Englanders are thrifty people and don't throw their money away on foolish gadgets," observed Capt. Nell J. Roach, master of the Canadian National Steamship liner "Lady Nelson," as he fingered an eight-ounce medicine bottle half filled with a sticky-looking white liquid. "Here's some shark's oil," the Nova Scotia skipper said on his last Boston visit, "and it makes the most expensive barometer known to seafarers." Roach went on to explain that when a storm threatened the ship, he would take the oil from the liver of the sea beast - becomes cloudy and bubbles. He has orders for a gallon for his New England friends to be picked up in Trinidad. "I don't mind getting the oil for them, but the bottles cost me three cents each," the "Lady Nelson's" skipper commented as he put his own bottle in his cabinet and locked it.

I'll have every eye riveted on me during the meal to see how I come out. It certainly makes for an interesting life - never a dull moment, and I feel ashamed, too. Pete hasn't said anything beyond a very merry twinkle in his eye but that speaks volumes. Oh, if only I could see on a little child's level on other things besides a glass of spilled milk!

I wanted to explain about the glass, too. I used to give them tiny glasses half-full to avoid those rivers every meal and then when we ate elsewhere a large full glass was always present. The first thing Susy would do was reach for the full glass and whop it right over her head and anything else handy making herself and those nearest her half drowned. An average sized glass each meal at home seemed to me a good idea but by now I wonder if a thimble full wouldn't be better for me anyway. The girls never had a bottle and learned to drink out of cups so early and was I proud of them! Elizabeth says this is a little tiny teeny problem. Wait until they grow older and then you'll wonder why such things ever bothered you.

We went to mother's near Capac last week. She was quite surprised to see us on account of the roads but Pete went and Elizabeth and I didn't worry with him driving. At first we had intended on going alone on account of all the chores and fresh cows but he didn't want us to start out. I wanted to drive off the main road near Lapeer and see the Bob Myers' new house that has the lake for a front yard but Pete said the roads weren't that good that we needed to go galavanting off course and go gadding; but to wait until next summer because he wanted to see it, too. It has made me feel lots better ever since we went to see mother, my step-father and Olga. She was so glad to see us and that Elizabeth was able to come. God has been so good to us.

The MM Model R is RIGHT for the Farmer Who Needs 2-PLow POWER!

For the modern businessman farmer who demands dependability, long-life, modern design, economical operation, comfort, and safety... the MM Model R Tractor is RIGHT! Here's the tractor that offers you four kinds of power for immediate use with economy of cost: drawbar, hydraulic lift, power take-off, and belt. The balanced weight, automotive steering, and improved disc-type brakes of the R make it one of the easiest tractors to operate under all field conditions. The rear wheels are adjustable from 52 to 88 inches, permitting proper adjustment for plowing without side draft. The simple construction of the R's heavy-duty, 4-cylinder engine assures minimum maintenance with 140 fewer parts than most conventional valve-in-head engines.

To match the superior performance of the Universal R, MM offers a complete line of dependable quality-constructed tractor-attached machines. This system of Quick-On-Quick-Off tractor-attached tools saves time and money in all types of field operation.

UNI-MATIC POWER

Here's hydraulic power that is constant. A constant running (engine-driven) pump assures users plenty of power at all times whether the tractor is in motion or standing still. A lockout in the jack prevents overloading of hoses and valves, and keeps implements locked in a desired position when the engine is not running... a very important safety feature.

...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!

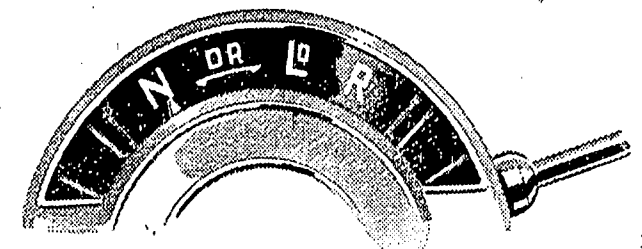

THE NEW 190 H.P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost twenty per cent—and its new four-throat carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name. . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. Inside and outside—it's the world's new standard for distinction. . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent—and is even smoother and quieter in its operation. . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving—or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. It is truly magnificent in every respect. . . . The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three separate series—the beautiful "Sixty-Two," the luxurious "Sixty-Special" and the distinguished "Seventy-Five." . . . These new creations are now on display in our showrooms—and we invite you to see and inspect them at your earliest convenience. We think you'll agree that, in celebrating this "year among years" in its history, Cadillac has produced what will long be remembered as a "car among cars"!

THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic now provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for traffic and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Standard equipment on the Series 62 and 60 Special, optional at extra cost on Series 75.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides hydraulic assistance that is graduated to fit the difficulty of the particular steering maneuvers, and so does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

F. F. A. Boys Tour Heatherwood Dairy

Monday morning at 9:00 a. m. the 9th and 10th grade boys enrolled in vocational agriculture boarded the L. T. A. S. school bus and left for Heatherwood Dairy at Lansing. The boys have been studying about the production of quality milk and the difference between Grade A and B milk and this trip was a followup to show the way Grade A milk is handled after it leaves the farm.

The trip through the plant lasted about one hour and a quarter and many of the questions the boys had regarding the processing of milk were answered. Two guides took the boys through the plant and explained each process and the whys and wherefores of the process. Following the tour of the plant the boys were given a package of ice cream so they had a sample of the finished product. The boys returned home with a greater appreciation of the job the dairy is doing in getting the milk from the farm to the consumer.

You Are Invited to Open House at the INGHAM COUNTY NEWS Wednesday, January 30

Afternoon and Evening 1:00 to 5:00, 6:00 to 8:00

On the afternoon of December 10 the Ingham County News was a shambles. The floor sagged where fire had eaten at the joists. Machinery was tilted at fearsome angles. Every piece of equipment in the place was coated with smoke and starting to rust from the water used on the fire. Tons of printing paper, charred and wet, were strewn all over the place. Plaster was dropping from the walls and ceiling.

We might have been discouraged had not hundreds of people lent us a hand.

We might have grown discouraged had not carpenters, plasterers, plumbers, electricians and painters dropped their other work to help us clean things up. To get us back into production fast, manufacturers of printing machinery sent their top machinists here.

Yes, discouragement might have overcome us had not hundreds of people expressed their interest in the restoration program, had not people written and called to say that they regarded the Ingham County News almost as a member of the family.

So we rebuilt with a new vision and new enthusiasm. In our rebuilding we made changes. We modernized as we restored.

Well, the work is just about finished. So the door is open for all to see.

Come in next Wednesday, afternoon or evening. Most of the wheels will be turning.

Of course, if Wednesday is not convenient you'll be just as welcome any other day. We do suggest that if school groups are planning inspection trips they should make arrangements ahead of time so there won't be a jam all at one time. Because with all our restoration the building is just the same size that it was.

We'll be looking for you next Wednesday, or any other day you want to come.

Thanks!

If we used many pages to set forth our thanks for those who helped us at and after the fire we couldn't name them all.

There were the firemen who fought and finally subdued the blaze. There were the volunteers who helped us move to temporary quarters. There were former members of the staff who came back to join the present force in working night and day to get out the paper and make repairs. There were the Livingston County Press at Howell, the Campus Press at East Lansing, the Service Typesetting Co. at Lansing and the Jackson Typesetting Co. who helped us publish until we were ready to operate our own equipment again. Printers in other towns, Grand Ledge, Charlotte, Lapeer, St. Johns and Leslie, ran some of our jobs for us.

Jim Dart and Don Cady permitted us to use their former building as an office. We borrowed tarpaulins, hydraulic jacks, trucks, chainfalls and a lot of other things.

For all these kind acts, for the expressions of encouragement, and for the patience of readers, advertisers and printing customers while we were operating under handicaps, we are grateful. We shall never forget your kindnesses.

We Want You to See How We Rebuilt After the Fire

Mr. and Mrs. Guy McCue of age, Both the Laskoskys and the Holt are again wintering in the west. They left December 7. In the Ozarks a stray bullet went through the windshield of their car. Judy Canova Is Back in Comedy Role

This is a big week at the Fox theatre. The big week starts off Thursday and Friday with a double feature program. The first attraction will be "Iron Man," starring Jeff Chandler and Evelyn Keyes. The second feature is a musical comedy, "Yes, Sir, Mr. Bones," based on the old minstrel shows.

Another Barrymore Stars John Barrymore, Jr., who makes his screen debut in the LeMay-Templeton production "The Sundowners," in Technicolor, which plays at the Fox Theatre Saturday afternoon and evening through Eagle Lion release, has now become the sole third generation member of "The Royal Family" to be active on the screen.

The 17-year-old son of the late "Great Profile" plays a trigger-happy young Texan in his first film, which tells the exciting and action-packed story of a Texas cattlemen's feud in semi-documentary screen terms.

Young John shares top acting honors in "The Sundowners" with Robert Preston, Robert Sterling and Chill Wills. Brunette beauty Cathy Downs and John Littel head the large cast of featured players in the film which was based on a novel by Alan LeMay and directed by George Templeton.

Laugh Hit Due Judy Canova returns to the screen of the Fox theatre Sunday and Monday as the rollicking star of Republic's "Honeychile." Judy's brand of hilarious shenanigans is just what the doctor ordered and "Honeychile" is a fast-paced comedy that keeps the audience laughing from beginning to end.

The film has Judy, a queen of the cowgirls in a small Wyoming town, writing a letter to a New York song publisher asking for information about a song she had submitted a year before. Her letter is turned over to the publisher's assistant, played by Eddie Foy, Jr. After a lengthy search the manuscript is located but Judy has decided she does not want it published under any circumstances.

Troubles really begin pyramiding when Eddie discovers that in error he has attributed the song to an already famous songwriter. In order to stave off the possibility of a $1,000,000 lawsuit, Eddie is sent by his boss to Judy Canova really makes Eddie Foy, Jr., jump in the comedy western-musical, "Honeychile," which plays Sunday and Monday at the Fox Theatre. There are 10 great comedy stars in the big Trucolor picture.

Judy's ranch to get her to sign a release. Judy, however, is more concerned with her romance with a local yokel, played by Alan Hale, Jr., than with fame or fortune and brushes Eddie off by explaining that she had submitted the song because she was sore at her boyfriend, but now that romance has blossomed once again she doesn't wish to have the tune published.

Judy is outraged but she agrees to accept $5,000 offered by Eddie for her song rights.

Then the crooked bookies who have lured Alan into the embezzling plot decide to kidnap

Judy's niece and nephew, ably portrayed by moppets Carolyn Grimes and Brad Morrow—in order to prevent Judy from winning the race.

Eddie's desperate courage and Judy's fighting talents defeat the plot and the kidnappers are placed in the hands of the law. Alan is so relieved at being saved from a jail sentence he vows to follow the straight and narrow and promises faithfully to be a good husband to Judy if she'll forgive him.

Tracy Returns to Drama Following his recent comedy hits in "Father of the Bride" and "Father's Little Dividend," Spencer Tracy returns to the field of straight drama in "The People Against O'Hara," powerful M-G-M offering at the Fox Theatre, which also has Pat O'Brien, Diana Lynn and John Hodiak in an all-star cast. The film is slated for Tuesday and Wednesday.

"The People Against O'Hara" tells the story of a criminal lawyer who is convinced that his client is innocent of a murder charge, but finds his case going against him and, in a weak moment, attempts to bribe a vital witness. How he vindicates himself and tracks down the real murderer at the cost of his own life, makes for an absorbing drama which shifts from courtroom to varied colorful locations in New York City, where portions of the picture were filmed.

Tracy offers a keenly-etched portrayal of Jim Curtayne, a man who has given up criminal law practice because of the strain on his health but who returns to defend young Johnny O'Hara, whom he believes to be innocent of the murder of his boss, fish marketeer William Sheffield. He finds Louis Barra, the assistant district attorney and prosecutor, a wary courtroom opponent who has the cards stacked in his favor due to the testimony of Frankie Korvack, Johnny O'Hara's co-worker, who swears that Johnny pulled the trigger which killed his employer.

Another witness for the prosecution is Sven Norson, a sailor, who claims he witnessed Johnny shoot down Sheffield after robbing him of a suitcase. It is this man who accepts a bribe from Curtayne only to double-cross him, and it is then that the brilliant lawyer contrives a plot by which the true murderer is induced to call for the all-important suitcase and is caught, although Jim Curtayne pays for his capture with his life.

"The People Against O'Hara" has been given taut, realistic direction by John Sturges, with William H. Wright on the producing end, John Monks, Jr., is responsible for the incisive screen play. Their united talents have given the screen a hard-hitting drama permeated with some of the best acting of the year.

Twin Bill Due The heroic activities of the United States Border Patrol are dramatically depicted on the screen in Roy Rogers' latest Republic outdoor adventure, "Pals of the Golden West," co-starring his talented wife, Dale Evans, and playing Thursday and Friday at the Fox Theatre.

Roy's a trouble shooter and ace tracker of the Border Patrol in this action melodrama. He's assigned to prevent the spread of the hoof and mouth disease from Mexico into the United States. With the help of a courageous little Mexican boy, Panchito, portrayed by Eduardo Jimenez, Roy carries out this dangerous assignment and sees to it that a ruthless gang of cattle rustlers is exposed and brought to justice.

Dale is a reporter for the local paper which is owned by Estrella Rodriguez. Both girls try to help Roy in this desperate situation but unfortunately some of their efforts only lead to confusion. But Roy manages to overcome all obstacles and finally vanquish the gang led by Roy Barcroft and Anthony Caruso. Comedy routines are supplied by Pinky Lee.

The usual musical touch, so welcome in all Roy's pictures, is not missing in this one with a brace of tunes handled in grand style by Roy and his new singing group, the Rogers Riders.

Screen play was co-authored by Albert DeMond and Eric Taylor. Edward J. White was the Associate Producer and William Witney directed.

The second feature will be "Varieties on Parade." This film will provide 60 minutes of footlight fun.

"We die Again!"

That's the jubilant news that comes from Flint to every Buick dealer—and here we pass the thrilling story on to you. It sure is true for '52 that better automobiles are being built—and Buick is building them. Read the good word and you'll agree.

Let's pare this down to plain statements of fact and let them speak for themselves:

The dynamic darling pictured here is the 1952 ROADMASTER.

It has the mightiest engine in Buick history.

It has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick.

It is the quietest car that Buick ever built.

It has the richest fabrics and smartest tailoring that ever graced a Buick's interior.

It has the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders.

It has the most superb ride in Buick history.

It has the finest carburetor that Buick research has ever devised.

And with all its new power, it delivers more miles per gallon.

But that is not all.

For those who wish it, there is a brand-new version of power steering that works like a helping hand—gives you the same sure feel of control you have always known in straightaway driving—takes less than one-fifth the effort needed to turn the ordinary wheel standing at curbside.

Sure, we're putting our best foot forward when we talk about ROADMASTER.

But you'll find a host of notable features in SUPERS and SPECIALS too—plenty to make them, as always, the standout buys in their fields—for ride, for comfort, for style, for room, and for power.

Come in—look this triumphant trio over—and you'll know why every Buick dealer from coast to coast is going around with a smile on his face.

Mason's School Problem

There is nothing complicated, there is nothing unique about Mason's school situation. All we need is more room. All we face is the necessity to raise more tax money to provide that room.

When the present school was built 30 years ago there was an enrollment of 550. Accommodations were provided for 800 in the new school. The enrollment is now 1,000.

The elementary grades have suffered most by the crowding. They have had to give up rooms for high school activities. Three grades have even been crowded out of the building.

For 10 years Mason people have been faced with the necessity of providing more room. Three times we have turned down the proposals made by the board of education. But we haven't come up with anything better. Our action has been negative. That's the privilege of electors. Yet it's a privilege that we have exercised a little too freely.

Now there's a new approach. A committee named at the annual school meeting has been studying the situation for several months. That committee concluded that Mason can put off its building program no longer. That committee recommended that 12 elementary rooms be provided, either in one building or in two, and that another building be erected to house the band, agriculture and shop departments. The people who attended Monday night's public meeting approved the program. The president of the school board promised to start action on the proposals.

So there it is. The matter of housing pupils rests just where it always has, with the board of education. The board has the authority to purchase sites and to build when and if the people decide to raise the money.

That brings the responsibility for new school rooms right back to the people. It's up to us. Nobody is going to build a school or schools for us. We must put up our own money. We must be willing to pay the bill. That's all there is to Mason's school problem that has been kicked around for 10 years and more.

It's a problem easily solved.

Congress Is Responsible

It is unfair to blame President Truman for spending so many billions of dollars.

Where the blame lies is with our representatives in Washington. They surrendered much of their authority to President Roosevelt and President Truman. Congress provided both with astronomical sums with few strings attached.

Had the senate kept its treaty powers intact there would not, there could not, have been, costly deals made at Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam. Had congress held onto the pursestrings there could not be the spending of billions without action of congress.

President Roosevelt and President Truman had no power to raise taxes. That right rests with the people through their elected representatives. Congress failed to do its duty. The people failed to hold their congressmen to account. That's why inflation still spirals and why it will continue to spiral.

The president can spend only the money congress provides. And if congress doesn't provide what he spends he'll soon run short and have to quit. So when congressmen talk about the Truman budget, let's remind them that it is the one they provide. The United States government is one of checks and balances. It is out of balance because congress has not checked.

Education in School and Out

Some educators met in Grand Rapids last week. They were school superintendents and principals and newspaper editors and publishers.

Yet there are hundreds, even thousands, actually millions of educators, who did not attend the meeting.

Every person, and that means every man, woman and child, is an educator. All of us, regardless of our ages, continually learn something from somebody else.

Inanimate things also teach. A stone in the path teaches us to go around or to remove it. A roaring fire teaches us to stay back. Every experience, good and bad, we have through life teaches us something if we are willing to learn.

Education that comes through the schools is formal education. We need that kind, and lots of it. But if we permit our education to stop there it will be largely wasted. Because we all learn more by doing or seeing or hearing than by reading out of a book. We can not, we dare not, confine our education to what we learn in schools even though formal education is essential.

Here in Michigan the University of Michigan, Michigan State college and other colleges, both state and private institutions, and even high schools in many cities offer extension courses. Here in Ingham the Michigan State extension service through agricultural, home demonstration and club agents, have and are educating thousands in better farming and better living.

Every radio program we hear, every movie or TV screen we see, every time we meet and talk with anyone, we learn something. Every time we read any book, magazine or newspaper, even the comics, we learn. Just as important, and fraught with even greater responsibility, is that we also teach. Every word we utter, if it is heard; every act we perform, if it is observed, teaches someone—teaches something good or something bad.

Some learn fast, some slow. Some learn the first time, some after many lessons.

We are all educators, whether or not we get our pay from the school district. We are all learners whether we are too young for kindergarten or too old for college.

Educational opportunities are everywhere about us. The pity of it is that we don't recognize them. We are all learners. We are all educators. When we quit learning, when we quit teaching, we die.

THE GOOD CONTINUES ON

Good News Needs Magnifying

By Vernon J. Brown

During the past several months it has been my good fortune to meet from time to time with a group of people concerned with what the state should do for the mentally ill. In this connection there is the matter of the aged. For the past several years the number of the aged and senile being committed to state hospitals has been a matter of great concern to those engaged in this field. These old people of course are without much hope of recovery, they take up beds and facilities desperately needed by other patients who many times are denied admission merely because there is no room for them.

Accordingly in the study of problems surrounding the expansion of hospital facilities for the mentally ill, the question of what shall be done for and with the ever-increasing number of aged patients becomes imminent. Especially is this true when a program of building new and added facilities is undertaken.

The foregoing explains why in forming a study committee, welfare officials are included and also explains why the state as sociation of convalescent homes was asked to name a representative to sit with the committee. That association did send a representative and in the choosing of the person acted wisely. That representative is a woman of rare personality and ability. All have enjoyed her presence, her spirit of co-operation and all have admired her sound discretion and good judgment.

Woman Leads Group

At a recent meeting this woman who represents the licensed homes for the aged in Michigan had as her guests at a dinner, a married daughter, her husband and two fine children.

When I met these young people I thought how nice it is that while engaged in caring for the aged, this woman also has young people in whom she has vital personal interest. It seemed to me that such a life looked both ways, back down the years by association with the aged and sympathy with their problems, and ahead over the years when she contemplates her children and her grandchildren.

But another side came to light at a more recent gathering of

Down by the SYCAMORE

How do you like the new type? It's Regal. We did use Ideal and had every intention to keep on with it. But in cleaning the smoky mats hairlines developed. The smoke wouldn't even come off the spaces.

This new Regal has fewer characters to the line than the Ideal and we are also using more daylight. Ideal was set eight-point solid. We are so proud of the new Regal we are setting it on nine-point slugs. There won't be so many misspelled words to a column with the new type. That's because there won't be so many words to misspell.

Here at the Ingham County News we have always used short words instead of long ones. Now we'll have to whittle words down even smaller, because we are writing bigger and using more daylight between the lines.

There'll be fewer words per column but those words will show up better because they'll have more horizon. With the price of newsprint at an all-time high readers should get more enjoyment out of seeing plain paper.

Until the final adjustment is made on the fire insurance there'll still be 40 classified words for 40¢ and they'll be easier to read.

Setting type comes easy to Caroline Lacey, third grade teacher at Dansville. She was in the office Saturday as the Ideal was being taken out of the magazines. Although she had never seen a machine before, she sat down at the keyboard and set a line without error. She inherited the talent from her mother, who used to set type down in Ohio. I think Miss Lacey had the honor of setting the last line of Ideal cast in the plant. She promised to come back to try her hand on Regal.

A Mason woman called at the sheriff's office last week to see what she could do about getting a new wave length for her hearing aid. She has been picking up CAP codes telling her to drop her wingflaps and to tighten up her struts. Now and then she would also pick up police wave lengths. On the advice of the sheriff she sent her hearing aid back to the factory to get a new wave length setting.

Thanks to Mrs. Ethel Otis for trading in her old telephone number, 9031. The Ingham County News did have 9011 plus the unlisted numbers 9021 and 2-5101. But only 9011 and 9021 could ring in series, 2-5101 was an orphan. Now 9011, 9021 and 9031 are all connected. Mrs. Otis has agreed to take 2-7891. We appreciate it.

The movies, radio and TV have played a big part in killing interest in local trials. Twenty years ago the trial of Roland Cram would have packed the court room. Only witnesses and one member of the family were present Monday.

Wheels of justice grind slow, too slow for a man of action like Searl Briggs of Dansville. In talking with the Dansville superintendent I deplored the lack of public interest in court trials.

"It's too slow," declared Searl. "There's not enough action to sustain interest. I can't see much value in letting youngsters get out of school to visit court when so little gets done. There's too much standing around in the corridors and stalling around inside the court room."

Because Ingham people have been so democratic we have been backward about naming queens. A little bit bashfully last summer a county fair queen was crowned. Her reign has proved this group. Somehow in conversation with this good woman, she asked me if I ever had known a certain man who lived in Lansing 30 years ago. It happened that I knew him well and knew of his own background.

Children Are Successful

This man came from a family who lived in the southern portion of Ingham county. Early in life this man entered business at Leslie. Later he became a manufacturer's agent with offices and salesrooms in Lansing where he and his family came to some prominence. I knew that he had sons and daughters who in turn were successful in business and in the professions. I knew he won for himself an enviable position in the civic and business life of Lansing.

What I did not know but learned from this woman was the fact that after their own children had gained maturity and had gone out into the world this man and his wife had made their spacious home available to other-wise homeless young people, had seen these young people through high school and had helped them to get started in the world. After their own children were on their own this couple had made homes for an equal number of youngsters of no kin and for whom they had no legal or moral responsibilities.

The woman who told me the story was one of those girls. She herself was the victim of a broken home. Her parents had lived in northern Indiana. When she was 12 her father and mother separated and she was cast upon some distant relatives in Lansing. They had no means and she was being peddled about when she found haven in the home I have talked about. What she has done since leaving that home is evidenced by her own family and by her work among the aged now.

Hearing Needs Tuning

I read somewhere that the chief difficulty of those who resort to hearing aids is to tune the gadget down so the things the wearer wants to hear can be sifted out from the discordant and strident noises that are magnified as are the more pleasing tones. Perhaps that is why this world seems so distraught now. We have no way of sorting the good from the sordid. There is still much good.

It seems to me this great work of that Lansing couple beginning back in the early 20's and continuing until their deaths is bearing rich fruit. Good lives on through the generations, long after the door has finished his course.

I guess that is what Paul was saying to the Corinthians when he talked about the glory of God in our lives. Webster says that to glorify is to raise in dignity and honor and to magnify and beautify. That was what the preacher was saying Sunday. At least he helped me put these things together for a bit of reflection this Monday morning.

College Plans Breeding Tests With Hereford and Angus Bulls

Establishment of a beef cattle breeding project at Michigan State college's Lake City experiment station is aimed at improving the rate and efficiency of gains of meat animals.

Dr. Ronald Nelson, head of the MSC animal husbandry department, pointed out that applications of heredity principles have increased production of most farm crops to a considerable extent. Such principles have not previously been applied rigorously to animals. Active projects to improve the important economic characteristics of beef cattle are under way in many states.

The breeding herd is located at Lake City and feeding tests for rate and efficiency of gains will be conducted on the Michigan State college campus. The main objectives of this project are to measure individual differences in feed lot performance and find the extent to which these differences are inherited. This information will be used to develop methods of breeding that will result in the fastest improvement possible.

Eleven bull calves (eight Hereford and three Aberdeen Angus) are now on feed at the college. These calves are sired by three different bulls. Four Hereford calves were sired by one of the herd sires at Hi-Point Farms, Romeo; the other four Herefords by one of the herd sires at Elmer Hills Ranch, Gaylord; and the Angus calves by a herd sire at Great Oaks Farms, Rochester.

At the completion of the feeding trial, two of the Hereford bulls will be used for breeding 15 Hereford cows each and one Angus bull for 15 Angus cows at the Lake City station. The bulls will be selected on the basis of rate of gain, economy of gain and conformation. This procedure for obtaining bulls for breeding will be repeated each year.

Dr. Nelson reported that the offspring of these bulls will be tested in the feed lot for the same things as the bulls themselves.

This will give a measure of the degree to which bulls can transmit their feedlot performance to their calves.

"This is not an experiment that is necessarily going to produce foundation breeding stock," Dr. Nelson stated. "In the early years it is expected primarily to yield facts and figures that will enable us to develop methods and procedures for making more rapid progress in beef cattle improvement."

USE RIGHT FUSE

An expensive electric motor may be ruined if you replace burned out time-delay fuses with regular fuses, warn Michigan State college agricultural engineers. They suggest that you keep an extra supply of these delayed-action, motor-protection fuses on hand. A regular fuse may be large enough to start the motor but too large to "blow" when the motor is overloaded. A burned-out motor may result.

When you set the hydraulic lever on the WD Tractor, you can add as much as a thousand pounds of weight on the rear tractor wheels.

As the drawbar load increases, the hydraulic system uses the weight of the implement plus the weight of the soil to bear down on the wheels. Location of the implement behind the tractor gives it leverage, which multiplies implement weight at the tractor axle.

It's entirely automatic. The tractor selects the amount of weight needed. And it's all a part of the complete WD hydraulic system—no extra equipment.

Stop in and let us show you how the WD will do drawbar jobs which ordinarily require a much heavier tractor.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Don't wash eggs unless it's absolutely necessary, editors of Country Gentlemen wrote in the January issue. Eggs should be washed only when they're so dirty even the farmer's own wife and kids won't touch them. And even then, hot water washes or soap and water douches are not good enough. The gentlemen from Country Gentlemen recommend a new quaternary ammonium compound which cleans eggs as well as kills bacteria. But better yet, the gentlemen point out, hens should have a chance to lay eggs in clean nests and in dry coops. Most dirt can be brushed off.

My wife pointed out the egg article to me. She's a Chicago girl. She can't stand dirty eggs. She's one of those sweet young things who would drop her mixing bowl at the sight of a blood spot, a rotten egg or possibly a nasty old dirty egg. She's typical, according to Howard Zindell, poultry specialist at Michigan State college. And that's the reason clean eggs are worth more.

Zindell told poultry and egg folks at an Ingham meeting last month that blood-spotted eggs are just as good for people as the other kind. In fact, he went so far as to say that there is no reason to fear eating stale eggs.

But laboratory facts don't count much with a housewife who has her heart, mouth and pocketbook set against stale eggs and blood spots. It's the buyer who counts when selling eggs or salt boats. That's why clean eggs are all-important to a cooperative marketing movement such as Ingham poultry men are considering. It's just as important to the farmer who has developed his own market.

We like eggs at our house. The two of us eat at least a dozen a week. I hope my layman's point of view has helped the egg business. Last week Irvin Helmev told me I had spoiled his appetite for bacon and eggs in public eateries.

Irv published the Leslie Local-Republic a few years ago. He's now selling printing machinery. Restaurant eggs are just as good, maybe better, as eggs at home. But either at home or in the restaurant, poached eggs are guaranteed not to be rotten. The blood spots—well you can see them for yourself. I think poached eggs with crisp bacon is probably the safest, tastiest meal that any man can order in a restaurant or at home. Like I say, we eat more than a dozen a week at home.

My sister-in-law laughs when I tell her that my wife and I eat a lot of eggs. Her family polishes off a dozen eggs at a sitting.

Have another egg, Irv. Try a spotted one this time.

Michigan State Plans for Big Farmer's Week

Many things that are new, and old events that have proved to be favorites to Michigan rural people through the past 36 years are listed on the annual program for Farmers' Week at Michigan State college, January 28 to February 2. Ernest L. Anthony, dean of the school of agriculture and general chairman of the program, commented: "We believe our facilities to handle the huge crowds that respond to our invitation are better than ever. We have tried to get together a program that includes many of the features that have proven popular in the past, and added some new ones. With any help from the weather man there's no reason why the 1952 Farmers' Week shouldn't be one of the most successful in history."

Exhibits in Mackinac field stadium, agricultural engineering building, poultry building, livestock judging pavilion and at the new dairy cattle housing and research center are expected to draw many people.

Departmental programs will be held each day, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in all departments. Monday will be "Dairy Day" with special programs for dairymen, especially the purchased breeders. The agricultural engineers will also have a farm buildings meeting on the opening day. A new feature will include the youth talent review on Thursday night in the college auditorium which will be open to the public. Parking facilities for visitors will be available, especially on the south campus near the stadium. Nearly 50 state farm organizations will hold annual meetings during the Michigan State college Farmers' Week.

State Leads Nation In Farm Electricity

Michigan leads the nation in percentage of farms with electricity according to latest figures recently released by the rural electrification administration of the U. S. department of agriculture, reported this week by Michigan State college agricultural engineers.

According to the statistics quoted, 97.7 of the farms are now electrified in the Wolverine state. Iowa ranks second with 95.8 per cent and Indiana third with 95.5 per cent of the farms electrified. Figures are based on complete but preliminary 1950 census information. Ohio farms are 93.9 per cent electrified, the MSC agricultural engineers said.

Damage Results In Milker Speed

Some dairymen have the mistaken idea that the faster they run their milking machines, the quicker the cows are milked.

Michigan State college extension dairy specialists say that if milking time is to be reduced the operator, not the milking machine, should be speeded up. A speeded up machine may get less milk and give more chance for injury to the udder.

The manufacturer's recommendations should be followed for milking machine adjustment.

Education Proves Big Factor In Soil Conservation Plan

In soil conservation education plays a major part, as indicated by the eighth annual report submitted at the meeting of the organization in Mason Wednesday night.

The extension service, the farm forester and even the game division of the state department of conservation participates in the education program, in addition to the soil conservation technicians and directors.

The annual report as submitted by the board of directors showed 58 conservation plans drawn by Lawrence E. Tripp, soil conservationist, and his assistant, Melvin Stroud. Six farm plans were revised and 120 were reviewed. There were 72 soil slope erosion conservation surveys made, along with 77 preliminary and layout engineering surveys.

Other activities reported were 12 tours and demonstrations, eight neighbor groups formed, 26 meetings where conservation information was presented and 22 meetings or conferences to further conservation action.

Every farmer in the district is eligible to receive pine trees, wildlife shrubs and multiflora rose for plantings to improve the wildlife habitat on his farm.

Since 1948, a total of 61,230 multiflora rose, 34,055 conifers, and 12,820 food bearing trees and shrubs, have been planted by Ingham farmers. A large number of these went to district cooperators. In 1951, Ingham farmers planted 17,550 multiflora rose, 9,050 conifers, and 1,825 food-bearing trees and shrubs.

The agriculture teachers in high schools have been active in making soil conservation a part of their student instruction. Several teachers make use of the run-off plots, and tours to co-operators' farms to aid their teaching of this subject, the report set forth.

The district has provided a copy of the Soil Conservation Magazine to each agriculture department in the county. The district and the departments at Wilkeson and Okemos prepared the fair exhibits this year.

Grassland farming attracted new interest in 1951, the report indicated. Fifty farmers employed crop rotations and supporting practices to get better grass, 20 used manuring crops as part of the soil improvement system, 25 farmers put up hay silage to replace soil-depleting corn silage used in the past and 25 farmers top-dressed pastures with fertilizer in adequate amounts.

The report listed 18 farmers as developing waterways by moving earth and by seeding to gain erosion control. Forty-seven farmers left protective contour drilling of small grains and row crops and two did terracing to support contouring.

Some 10,000,000 "fire prevention" book matches are being distributed by a match manufacturer; on them is printed "For your own safety, please don't smoke in bed."

The very unfavorable corn-hog ratio is expected to result in a cut of at least 10 per cent in the spring pig crop. If this reduction in pig production does materialize, prices of hogs next fall should be sharply higher. If farmers increase corn acreage as much as USDA is urging, and if weather and growing conditions are favorable, a large corn crop coupled with reduced hog numbers and higher pork prices would produce a favorable corn-hog ratio next fall and winter.

A sharp drop in hog numbers and a good corn crop on the expanded acreage could result in lower corn prices next fall. Live-stock people say the hog feeding outlook is fairly sure to be much better than it is now.

Eggs today are bigger and better than they used to be. They are not only bigger around but also longer. Egg case manufacturers are making cups in the fillets one 32nd of an inch larger than formerly. The evolution of the larger egg has come about through improvement in poultry breeding, nutrition and management.

Consumers spent 26 per cent of their disposable incomes for food in 1951. That's the same as it was in 1950, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Food prices were higher in 1951. But income increased too. Per capita expenditure for food in 1951 was $375.

Poultrymen who order their baby chicks now will have their pullets laying large eggs when prices are going up late in the summer and early fall. Since it takes three weeks to hatch eggs, hatcherymen need plenty of time to fill orders. Farmers who order early will get the chicks they want when they want them.

Incidentally, a University of Illinois poultry production and marketing specialist says that sensible handling of poultry would allow a farmer to make more money from 500 hens than from 20 acres of land.

Purdue University scientists have been working with the new soil conditioner called Krilium. They describe it as a powdered plastic-like material that can be added to soils to improve them. The soils act as though great quantities of compost or manure had been added. However, Krilium isn't a fertilizer but a synthetic substitute for the natural humus components that make the soil loose and friable. Snap beans on treated soil had larger and more vigorous plants and showed a 20 per cent higher yield. Because of the relatively high cost of the material, it will be used mostly for high income crops and in holding new soil. Later on when the new conditioner can be turned out in quantity, costs probably will be cut down, making Krilium more economically feasible for more general use.

A new test to determine production ability of sugar maple trees has been developed by University of Wisconsin biochemists. It cuts time and cost over old tests in determining sugar content of maple sap. With the new test, a small hole is drilled in the tree, a few drops of sap are drawn out and MISCELLANY — With proper cultural practices, good corn land will yield best if about 15 thousand plants per acre are produced, say Ohio State crop specialists. Price supports on 1952 crop beans will be much higher on whites, not much change on colored kinds. Orders for Western pine lumber have been running 44 per cent less than a year ago. Shipments are off 33 per cent, production down 37 per cent. Bees had wintered well in practically all parts of the country up to the first of the year. Demand for homes continued to improve. Latest figures show that brucellosis in the U. S. cuts milk production 20 per cent and causes the loss of 300 thousand calves annually. The annual loss of feed grains due to insects, rodents, poor storage conditions and inefficient handling is estimated at 750 million bushels of grain.

Almanac Is Ready For Distribution

The thickness of beaver hides and muskrat houses has been replaced as the basis for weather wisdom, "Everyman's Almanac," Michigan famous statistical annual, declares.

How crows and bats fly, cats rubbing behind their ears, roosters on fences, these are some of the more modern and more nearly infallible phenomena on which to base weather predictions.

"Everyman's Almanac," now in its eighteenth year, is being distributed by the Michigan Railroad association to the state's universities, schools, newspapers, radio stations, libraries, state, county and city officials and to thousands of individuals who yearly ask for copies of the free-distribution volume which they religiously file in their private libraries.

"Don't think the almanac went out with the horse and buggy," a railroad official declares. "It has all of its old-time widespread appeal and as many requests for it come from city folks as from rural dwellers."

"Everyman's Almanac" is considered a national authority on railroad matters and the 1952 edition contains numerous facts and figures about the nation's basic transportation system.

Typical almanac facts and lore are contained in the eighteenth edition—tables of weights and measures, proverbs and other wise sayings, household advice and recipes, bits of verse—and, throughout, the famous little booklet retains the flavor of its forebears.

"If we changed its style and make-up thousands, many of whom have complete files of 'Everyman's Almanac,' would be disappointed," the association states. "That's one reason why, even though one edition ran close to 200,000 copies, we never have been able to fill the demand."

Two Are Added To MABC Staff

Two new workers have been added to the staff of the Michigan Artificial Breeders to strengthen its program of services on state and local levels, according to A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State college extension dairyman.

They are Richard W. Green, former dairy herd improvement association supervisor, and Byron B. Carpenter, former assistant county agricultural agent in Tuscola county. Green will analyze records for the MABC in connection with both the field results from local artificial breeders' associations and the sires selected by the organization.

Carpenter will assist all local ABA groups by supplying educational information, give assistance at meetings, summer tours and shows and keep membership contacts.

Both have bachelor's and master's degrees from Michigan State college.

Mobile unit grades apples in the orchard, boosts profits

Field tests have shown that mobile orchard graders increase the net income from apple crops, especially where fruit is stored orchard run or marketed in unfaced crates. Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, tested a grader that weighed about 450 pounds and was powered by a 1-hp. gasoline motor. With it, 6 or 7 pickers and a sorting crew of 4 picked and sorted 7,852 bushels of apples in 135 1/2 hours. Results of using the mobile grader were: less handling and bruising, no unnecessary handling of undergrade fruit, increased picker output, less packing-house space needed and longer storage life of apples. For more information, telephone, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.

Rural telephone service steadily improves

In 1951 Michigan Bell added 9,000 new telephones in rural areas. It made service better for 4,000 others with new equipment that put fewer parties on their line or gave them better ringing. Nearly three of every four establishments in Michigan Bell rural territory have telephones now; most are on lines with eight telephones or less. Money for extending and improving service must come from people who invest their savings in the telephone business. Naturally they expect the business to earn a fair profit, to pay them a fair return for the use of their money.
