

Stork Starts Dropping Those Big Bundles Again

Eight youngsters in 4 1/2 years—that's the record established by the stork at the home of Gerald Hastings on Holt road in Alaiedon.

First to arrive were triplets, Alice Marie, Barbara Ann and Charles Edwin, August 2, 1947. Next came the twins Donald Eugene and Donna Leona September 14, 1949. Then on December 3, 1950, the stork brought just one, Patricia, and the parents were a little disappointed. They weren't quite living up to expectations, they felt.

Last Thursday the stork circled around the Mason General hospital again and finally dropped down. In his bundle bearing the Hastings tag were two little girls, Marilyn Mae and Carolyn Kay. Carolyn is at the right in the picture. She weighed 6 lbs, 12 oz. Marilyn weighed 6 lbs, 2 oz. Besides the difference in weight, the girls can be distinguished by their coloring. Carolyn is the darker and has more hair.

The multiple-birth factor is on the mother's side in the Hastings family. Her father had twin sisters.

Dr. A. V. Smith of Mason has delivered all eight of the Hastings babies. He had extra help last Thursday when the second set of twins arrived.

Stroud Warns of School Increase All Over County

In 10 years the number of school children in some Ingham districts will double. That's the warning issued by County Superintendent Alton J. Stroud and the members of the county schools area study committee.

"Some schools face a tidal wave of children which will swamp existing school facilities," the county school superintendent said.

The area study committee will meet in Mason Thursday night of next week. The meeting will be held in the county building, beginning at eight o'clock. Several committees are scheduled to report their findings as to the probable needs of Ingham schools during the next few years.

Reports are expected, Stroud said, on finances, transportation, buildings, curriculum and population trends. Sub-committees have been studying those problems.

Lyle Thorburn of Alaiedon is chairman of the county study committee. He owns a farm in Alaiedon and is assistant dean of students at Michigan State college.

In telling of the work of the committee, the county school chief said, "The hard-working people who are giving their time

BLESSINGS DON'T COME SINGLY

People Want to Help

Instead of counting their blessings one by one, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hastings count them by twos and threes. With one set of triplets and two sets of twins, along with one sibling (as the sociologists say) they now have eight youngsters under five years of age.

That's why a lot of people have said they would like to help.

Mr. and Mrs. Hastings have never sought help from anyone. They are both joyous that they have been given the responsibility of raising such a fine family.

Right now, though, the father is nursing a broken foot. He has had his leg in a cast for seven weeks as the result of an accident at the Michigan Fertilizer works in Lansing. He goes on crutches.

The Pet Milk Co. furnished milk for the triplets as an advertising promotion. Twins have to have milk, too, even though the advertising value isn't so great.

Yes, many people want to give birthday presents. They have asked the Ingham County News to set up a fund out of which Mr. and Mrs. Hastings may buy dresses and special foods the six little girls and two little boys ought to have to keep them growing and to keep them healthy.

So the Ingham County News is accepting birthday gifts for the eight Hastings youngsters. The opportunity to give is thus open to all.

and energy to assemble facts on school needs are to be commended. Any individual who is interested in joining this movement on behalf of our children is cordially invited to join us, and particularly invited to attend the February 7 meeting."

NO TEEN-AGE DOPES

In a talk before the Mason Kiwanis club Tuesday night Charles Carter declared Lansing has no teen-age dope menace. Carter is a member of the police force in charge of juvenile crime investigations.

City Council May Nominate 3 Candidates

Under Charter Council Must Have 8 Contenders For 4 Council Posts

Mason councilmen are looking around for candidates who will oppose them.

Under the new charter there must be two candidates for every council post. If there are not eight candidates for the four vacancies coming up this spring, the present council must round up enough to fill out the list. So far, only five petitions have been reported in circulation.

Three petitions were filed before the charter deadline which fell at noon Saturday. Because the council itself overlooked the matter of giving notice of the deadline, it extended the time to Saturday noon of this week.

Terms of Mayor C. H. Hall and Councilmen Frank K. Evans, W. Davis Post and Harold L. Barnhill expired last November. Under the charter their terms were automatically extended until the April election this year.

Before the charter deadline petitions were on file for former Mayor S. A. Morrison, Clairmont Everitt and Councilman Evans. Petitions are reported to be in circulation for Mayor Hall and Ralph G. Stroppe.

Two Want to Retire Councilman Post is not a candidate. He declared Tuesday that he will not accept nomination.

"I have served for more than four years and that's enough," he said. "I have enjoyed my service on the council but I have had enough."

Neither is Councilman Barnhill a candidate. He was elected as alderman-supervisor. Because he is on the sheriff's staff he has not served as supervisor.

Besides the four councilmen, whose terms under the old charter expired last November, the terms of City Treasurer, Doris Austin and Constable Fay Beebe also ran out. Mrs. Austin has continued in office although there has been no official appointment made.

The terms of George Kellogg as city clerk, Dean Taylor as city assessor, and Emory Colby as constable will expire this coming November along with the terms of Councilmen Hugh W. Silsby, W. O. Hall and Alton J. Stroud. The charter makes provision for the three councilmen to hold office until April of 1953.

Under the new charter the clerk, city assessor, city treasurer and the constables are appointed by the council. The offices of clerk and treasurer can be abolished or combined. Either the clerk or treasurer can be made city manager or hold other offices.

The new charter provides that only the seven councilmen and a full-time justice of the peace and a part-time justice will be elected by the people. All other officials are hired and fired by the council. The terms of Justice of the Peace Roy Adams does not expire until July of 1952, that of Justice of the Peace William S. Seelye not until July of 1954. Under the charter they will continue in office until the elections the following springs.

Things Have Been Changed Around

"You've moved things around since I left here 29 years ago," quoth Schuyler (Sky) Marshall of St. Johns Wednesday.

He came back to the Ingham County News open house, and who should he meet but Mrs. Harry Willett. She and Sky worked together while Sky published the Ingham County News. He sold to the present publishers in 1923. Mrs. Willett also worked for the Ingham County News under the Browns. She was a hostess at the open house. Sky and Mrs. Willett are looking at papers coming off the Duplex press.

SURPRISE was registered by some of the guests Wednesday afternoon when they saw former Governor Kim Sigler inspecting the plant. He was a frequent caller during the graft conspiracy trials at Mason and came back to see how the place was rebuilt following the December 10 fire. When the picture was taken the former governor was sampling cheese at the refreshment table. He said he never tasted better. It was contributed to the open house affair by neighbor Les Palmer. Thanks, Les.

Visitors Are Always Welcome

Hundreds Attend Open House

More than 500 people attended open house at the Ingham County News Wednesday afternoon and evening. Others inspected the restored office and plant Monday and Tuesday. Many came Thursday and more are expected Friday and Saturday.

Beautiful flowers and kind words still grace the office and plant even though the refreshment table which stood Wednesday has been put to other use.

The open house attracted people from all sections of the county and drew some from outside. Many of them said they liked the new arrangement, and most of the lighting. They marveled at the transformation which had been wrought since fire ate out the interior of the building December 10.

There was no formal reception line. Visitors came and went. Some took educational tours through the plant. Others like Albert J. Hall recalled early days in Mason's history.

At the refreshment table at various times during Wednesday afternoon and evening were Miss Betty Crum, Mrs. Harry Willett, Mrs. Don Denmore and Mrs. Rex Jewett, former employees who returned to greet the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Brown, Mrs. Nelson Brown, Mrs. Richard

DOCUMENTS BRING $210

Seven tons of old records and files hauled from the court house attic brought $210. The Lansing Iron and Metal Co. hauled the ancient documents away at $30 per ton. There are still several tons of old papers remaining in the first floor corridors. They can not be destroyed until the state historical commission and the state administrative board, and in some cases the circuit court, give the word.

Jurors Hear of Fatal Accident After Big Game

Lansing Man on Trial For Manslaughter as Result of M-36 Crash

Jurors will have to determine whether or not Ralph E. Maier of Lansing by his negligence caused the death of William J. Kain, also of Lansing. Kain died following an accident at the intersection of M-36 and Stockbridge road last September 29.

The car in which Maier and Kain and two other men were riding skidded and overturned on the curve. The four were returning from the Michigan-Michigan State football game in Ann Arbor.

Judge Marvin J. Salmon is on the bench. Prosecutor Paul C. Younger and his assistant, John McCune, are trying to prove that Maier was operating his car "unlawfully, recklessly and negligently, thus causing the accident."

Kim Sigler, Victor C. Anderson and Leland Carr, Jr., are defending Maier. They insist that Maier was not reckless or negligent in the operation of the car. In the opening statement Sigler declared that because Maier was unfamiliar with the road he was taking directions from Kain as to when to make turns.

Sigler also declared that had sheriff's officers been as anxious to get aid for the injured as they were to take Maier's statement when he was in no condition to give it, Kain's life might have been saved.

The prosecution claimed that all four men had visited the

Engineer Picks Elevator Site At Court House

On the north side of the rotunda is the best spot for an elevator, an engineer has informed the county buildings committee. The committee is now taking bids on the installation of an elevator in the court house.

Bids will not be received until February 15. There was not time enough after specifications were drawn to have the bids submitted at the meeting of the supervisors Monday, Supervisor John Russell of Lansing said. He is chairman of the committee. Hugh W. Silsby of Mason and Wilfred Jewett of Vevay are the other members of the committee.

Two elevator companies have taken out proposal blanks and a third has made inquiry, Supervisor Russell said.

When the court house was built 50 years ago provision was made for an elevator. Through the years, however, the shaft has been taken up by water pipes and steam pipes. The shaft provided is not big enough for a modern elevator, engineers have said. The location now proposed is about where the drinking fountains are on the main and top floors.

The elevator shaft proposed will extend into the attic, but the car will serve only the first, main and top floors under present specifications. The elevator being considered will be operated by passengers.

In the 1952 budget the supervisors put $20,000 to cover the installation of an elevator.

Architect Scans Recommendations On New Schools

Malcolm Williams of the Warren S. Holmes Co. of Lansing met with the Mason board of education Tuesday night. He went over the recommendations submitted to the board by the school study committee. The recommendations were those presented at the public meeting January 21.

President Maurice Rieky was unable to attend the meeting Tuesday night. The other members, Charles A. Densmore, Stanley Holmes, Dee Bray and Raymond H. McLean, and Supt. James H. Vander Ven, went over the recommendations and discussed the matter of sites, material shortages and financing.

Williams made an appointment with the board to return to Mason next Wednesday to view several prospective sites. Among them are the west side site now owned by the school district, the area south of Athletic field on the east side, also owned by the district, the Burgess property north of East Maple, and other possible sites on East Sycamore.

The special committee was named at the annual school meeting in July. The committee made a study of school enrollment, future development of the city and the financial structure of the district.

At the January 21 meeting the committee presented recommendations that 12 new elementary schools be provided and that a building be erected across from the school on Oak to house band, farm shop and agriculture.

When the prosecution rested Wednesday night Sigler moved for dismissal. Judge Salmon took the motion under advisement but on Thursday morning denied it.

Jury Deliberates
For eight hours Monday, with time out for supper, 12 men and women debated over the guilt of James Cartwell, charged with statutory rape. They finally reached a verdict of guilty. The jury took the case at 1:30 Monday noon and didn't agree on the verdict until 9:45 at night.

Judge Marvin J. Salmon heard the testimony in the case. It was started Thursday and continued through Friday. A 13-year-old girl was involved.

Before Judge Coash last Thursday Howard Klingner went on trial, charged with drunk driving, second offense. The jury returned a verdict of guilty as charged.

On Monday John J. McLean came before Judge Coash on an appeal from the justice court of Henry Schram, East Lansing. There he had been convicted of drunk driving. Monday the charge was reduced to reckless driving, to which McLean pleaded guilty. Judge Coash imposed fine and costs of $75. If not paid, McLean must serve 30 days in the county jail.

There was no court in Mason Tuesday.

On Tuesday in Lansing Carl D. Cox, 20, of Lansing, was sentenced to from 1 1/2 to 2 years in prison for felonious driving. The previous week Cox was charged with violation of probation and sentenced to serve from 15 months to 2 years. The sentences run concurrently. Cox was the driver of a car which ran up onto a Holt sidewalk, injuring an 8-year-old girl.

Also in Ingham circuit court in Lansing Tuesday was a hearing at which Walter O. Estes, Lansing, and Williamston attorney, and John Safran, an attorney and Methodist preacher, had the opportunity to show cause why disciplinary action should not be taken against them as recommended by the grievance committee of the State Bar of Michigan. The two men are charged with inserting improper language directed against supreme court justices in briefs filed with the court. The briefs were in behalf of clients mixed up in the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance legal battle. On the bench Tuesday were Circuit Judges Raymond L. Smith of Holland, Harry D. Boardman of Jackson and Lucien Sweet of Kalamazoo. The judges adjourned the hearing to permit Estes and Safran to file a dismissal motion and for the Bar association to make reply.

Lelton Fowler, charged with robbery armed, went on trial before Judge Coash in Mason Thursday morning. Joseph Lavey is defense attorney. Fred Newman, assistant prosecutor, is representing the people.

Eight hundred copies of the Delhi township school study bulletin have been mailed to residents of the Holt school district. The bulletin was prepared by a committee representing all school districts in the township.

Bulletins were sent to all whose names were on the list of registered voters, the superintendent said.

"Anyone in the Holt school district who did not get a bulletin by mail should realize that his name is not now on the registration list," said the superintendent. Matinee Musicale Arranges Frolic

On Friday, February 8, at two o'clock in the afternoon, Sexton high school musicians will "Strike Up the Band" to open the "Village Frolic" at Olds Engineering auditorium in Lansing.

The people of Lansing and vicinity are invited to roll back the years and relive a Gay Ninety gathering on the Village Green. The Goodrich "Old Fashioned Orchestra" and the Sexton high school band will vie for honors in the village bandstand while the top on the beat keeps the park benches free for those who wish to listen.

Strolling musicians will alternate with the Esquires, popular barbershop quartet, to render the old songs. A medicine man will bark his wares and Johnnie Appleseed will be on hand with his sack.

For those with money burning holes in their pockets there will be four shows in the "Old Opry House," featuring dancing, singing, magic, Frank Logan at the piano, and a stirring drama "The Shooting of Dan Magraw."

For the children an area to be known as The Merry Go Round will provide fun, games and movies. Special features will be a "Playground Ride" and "Jack and the Bean Stalk" Puppets show. Ice cream, popcorn, taffy apples and pink lemonade will give that quick energy needed to make the rounds.

Watch the folk dancing on The Green.

There will be no admission fee. All proceeds will go to Percy Jones and Veterans hospitals at Fort Custer to be used for music therapy.

Farm Forester Gives Advice on Tapping Maples

The season for making maple syrup will be with us soon. Many sugar bush operators already have their wood cut for the boiling of the sap. Others are getting their fuel by cutting out the weed species in the stand. Beech, American elm, and ironwood should be discouraged in the stand. Basswood, red and rock elm should be left to maturity if not competing for light with more valuable maples.

The amount of top or crown usually determines the ability of the sugar maple to produce. The leaves contain the factories which produce the sugar for the tree and food for growth. Ideal conditions are when the crowns of adjacent trees are close together but still have room to spread and fill in the canopy. Improvement cuts are needed in the stand at intervals to keep up the vigor and get reproduction. Trees which do not produce should be marked during tapping time so that they can be cut later. Avoid making large openings in the stand, which may subject the stand to wind damage. Maple will start reproduction in small openings whereas larger openings will encourage inferior species.

The edges of the woodlot should be kept as wind-tight as possible. These edge trees whether good sap producers or not are usually wind-firm and protect the trees inside the woods. A brushy edge keeps the hot wind of summer from drying up the woods; growing conditions are better, and the sap run will last longer.

Cows and other grazing animals should not be allowed in the woodlot. These animals damage the woodlot by eating the reproduction. Trampling causes damage to the roots and compacts the soil so that it becomes much less permeable to water. In the grazed woodlot the leaves which should lie under the tree are quite often blown out of the woods, causing a loss to the soil in both the water-holding capacity and fertilizer value.

A plant always does its best under the most favorable conditions. It responds readily to any improvement of its growing conditions. So, owners should keep their stands growing under the best that is possible in their farm business. Improvement cuts in the stand are necessary to the health of the stand and are profitable to the timber wise owner. Assistance with timber problems is available through the district forester, Elton C. Twork at Mason.

Scouts Will Get Awards Monday

During the bi-monthly Ingham district Scout rally Monday night eight explorer Scouts of Haslett and Williamston will be receiving Scouting's highest award—the eagle—with some receiving eagle palms for further merit badge work beyond eagle.

The board of review at five o'clock at the Williamston high school will be directed by Leo Kelly, Ingham advancement chairman. Following a bohemian dinner, Scouts and parents from Holl, Mason, Leslie, Grovenburg, Stockbridge, Dansville, Williamston, Webberville and Haslett will see Roger Sweet of Williamston, Roger Wilson and John Harrison of Haslett receive the eagle award. Bronze palm awards will be presented to Richard Pettit, Mickey Taber, Roderick Wilson and Neil Ralya of Haslett, with James Howe of Haslett receiving the gold palm award.

Harley Hull, Scoutmaster of Williamston troop 63 has arranged for former members of his troop, the oldest troop in the council with continuous registration, to act as master of ceremonies and to present the awards.

Smiths Get the First Model of the New Ford

Friday is not just another day for Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Smith. That is the day that their new car will be on display. Mr. Smith is standing at the right and Mrs. Smith is inside the car. Roy Christensen, Mason's Ford Dealer, is pointing out some of the new features on the 1952 Ford. According to Christensen, Ford is the only completely new car to be introduced this year.

The Smiths believe in being first. They placed their order for the first '52 Ford last January. They already have an order placed for the first 1953 Ford.

The Smiths' car will be on display at the Christensen showroom starting Friday. The Mason dealer will hold an open house for everyone interested in the newly designed Ford on Friday and Saturday. There will be orchids for the women and a big time for everyone.

The Open House will start Friday morning at 9:00 and the showroom will remain open until 10:00 p. m.

According to Christensen the new Ford is a revolutionary one both in exterior and interior styling and in engineering. More power has been added to both the six and the eight cylinder engines.

Bulldogs Play Good Basketball, Take St. Johns into Camp 51-45

Mason snapped out of its two-game losing streak in fine fashion Tuesday night by whipping St. Johns 51-45. Though not a Capital Circuit game the victory was sweet. The Red Wings from Clinton county have been rated at the top of the state basketball picture for the past five years.

So far this season St. Johns had lost only one game, a close decision dropped to Mt. Pleasant, a much larger school.

Next Tuesday night Mason will take on Leslie in a return engagement in the Mason gym. In the first game of the season Mason looked sharp in shooting down the Blackhaws. Leslie has not won a game since.

First Half Is Fright

Mason and St. Johns slugged it out on pretty even terms in the close first half.

The Bulldogs took an early lead and held onto it until late in the first quarter when Dale Knight put the Red Wings out in front temporarily with a tip-in shot. Mason came back before the first period ended, though, to again move into the lead when Doug Alderman and Herb Hovey both hit in rapid succession. Mason then commanded a 12-10 margin.

The second quarter was even hotter than the first. The lead changed hands seven times. Rogg was the main gun in the Mason attack. He dropped in two shots from the floor and three free throws. Mason ended up the second quarter with its biggest lead so far in the game. The Bulldogs were on top 26-23.

The third quarter was all Mason's. Before the first 10 seconds were over Mason tallied two quick baskets. By the time the Red Wings snapped out of their temporary slump Mason had moved out in front 41-29. That is the way the quarter ended.

Mason started out the last quarter by following the same pattern. For the first four minutes the Bulldogs could not miss. They rolled the score up to 48-30. That was all for Mason. St. Johns took over.

Mason never scored another point until St. Johns had dropped in 10. Time was too short for the Clinton county boys, though. The clock plus a free throw and basket by Jim Rogg were just too much to overcome.

Jim Rogg had his best night of the year for Mason. He dropped in six field goals and six free shots for 18 points. Herb Hovey also came through in fine fashion. He collected 12 points before the shooting stopped. A last minute switch by Coach Don Carey paid off. Hovey has been playing at forward while Rogg was installed at guard. Neither has been doing any great amount of scoring. Carey switched them over for the first time Monday night and they both came through.

Dale Symonds was the top scorer for the Red Wings. He hit for 16 points. Dale Knight was second high with 13. Knight and Symonds are a couple of big boys who really like to get up in the air under the basket. They met their match in Bob Jewett, though. Jewett outfought them to either tie them up or get clear possession of the ball.

Reserves Look Good

Mason's reserves looked much better than they have all year against the Red Wing reserves. Mason came out on top 38-27. Every Mason man had to give away height. In spite of that Mason controlled the ball and the game.

The Bulldog puppies moved out in front early in the game and stayed there right down to the final second. Stan Stolz played his best game of the year. Besides leading the Mason scorers with 15 points he also was a hard man for the Red Wings to handle on defense. Time and again he stole the ball and raced in for lay-up shots. Keith Baldwin was top scorer for St. Johns. He collected 16 points.

Jim Richards was one of the St. Johns scrappers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Richards and attended school in Mason along with his three brothers.

Richards is the starting Red Wing guard and while he is the smallest man on the team he is also one of the fightingest. Against his former schoolmates he was banished with five fouls.

Leslie Outplayed By Stockbridge

Leslie lost game number nine Friday night. This time Stockbridge did the trick 47-44.

Friday night Stockbridge will play Dansville on the Panther court. Leslie will attempt to notch its first victory of the season over at Williamston.

Leslie almost but not quite won over Stockbridge. The Panthers jumped on the Blackhaws in the first period for a seven-point lead. After recovering from that shock the Blackhaws fought back. By intermission time the Stockbridge lead was out to six points.

In the third quarter Leslie started to really get down to business. With Dick Hecksel hitting from all angles Leslie ended the third quarter on the short end of a 40-37 score. In the final quarter the Stockbridge defense stiffened and the two teams battled it out on even terms.

The victory put an end to the seven-game Stockbridge losing streak. Both teams finished last year among the leaders in the Ingham County league. This year they have been run over by everyone.

While the Blackhaws have failed to win a game they do have one distinction. Hecksel is the leading scorer in the league. Against Stockbridge the Leslie junior hit for 24 points on 10 field goals and four free throws. Terry McFarland was next in the Leslie scoring race. He dropped in nine points.

Ted Basore was high for Stockbridge with 15 points. John McKinney was second high with 12.

Gladiators Win With Late Rally

Fowlerville had to rely on a big 20-point last quarter rally in order to set down Okemos 54-52, Friday night.

The Gladiators will have their hands full Friday night. Haslett will be in town to make up for its loss to Holt.

Okemos will move on over to Holt in another attempt to stop the rampaging Ramblers.

Okemos threw away a big lead in that wild last quarter against Fowlerville. The Chiefs ended the first quarter on the long end of a 11-9 score. By halftime the Chiefs had stretched their lead to 30-22.

While the Chiefs outscored the Gladiators 13-12 in the third period the handwriting was on the wall. The Chiefs started to throw the ball away and easy shots started to go wild. On the other hand Fowlerville caught fire. With Bill Judd carrying most of the scoring lead the Gladiators turned the last period into a rout.

When the final horn blew Fowlerville was out in front 54-52. Judd was top scorer for Fowlerville with 18 points while Wayne Copeland was second with 14.

The top scorer for the night, though, was Dee McDonald. He tossed in 20 points for Okemos on nine field goals and two foul shots.

Dansville Wins On Free Throws

Coach Jack Finn's Dansville Aggies took advantage of free throws Friday night and came out on top of Williamston 56-42.

Friday night the Aggies will play at Stockbridge and Williamston will host Leslie.

The Aggies really clicked on their charity tosses in the Williamston game. Fourteen of 21 foul shots dropped through the hoop.

Dansville marched to the front in the first quarter with a three-point lead. In the second quarter the Aggies added three more points to their lead to end the first half out in front 22-16.

Williamston dropped farther behind in each of the last two quarters, too. The foul shots kept the Aggies safely out in the lead.

LeRoy Brower had one of his better nights for the Aggies. He collected 17 points. Bob Brooks was second high with 13 points while Hedglen hit for 12.

Williamston scoring honors went to Glen Lounsberry. He hit for 14 points.

Holt Rolls on To 58-37 Win

What appeared to be the last barrier between Holt and another Ingham County league championship was blasted aside Friday night when Holt beat out a 58-37 victory over Haslett. The Holt victory avenged an earlier loss to the Lakers, the only blemish on the Holt floor.

Friday night the Ramblers will be favored over Okemos in a game that will be played on the Holt floor.

Haslett will take on another toughie over at Fowlerville.

Friday night it looked as if the Lakers were going to make a game out of it. The usually high-scoring Rams could not get going. After a slow first quarter Holt finally managed to land on top 9-8. In the second period Haslett stuck right on the Ramblers' heels. At intermission Holt held a slight 28-20 lead.

Then the Lakers fell apart. Bud Miller, Budd Buermann and Bob Spraker scored with ease. By the time the third quarter was over Holt was out in front 46-28.

The Holt attack kept right on rolling in the last period. Miller was high for the Ramblers with 21 points on 10 shots from the floor and one free throw. Buermann was second in the Holt scoring race with 16 points and Spraker followed him with 11.

Fred Schaibley was the top scorer for Haslett. He dropped in 10 points.

Comets Pick Up Another Game

Grand Ledge picked up one more victory Friday night at Eaton Rapids. The Comets whipped the Greyhounds 56-49. Glen Smith put the game on ice for the Comets in the third quarter with five straight long shots.

Friday night Grand Ledge faces the giant task of stopping the Charlotte express. The Orioles will play at Grand Ledge. Charlotte has picked up steam as the season has progressed. Right now the Orioles are on top of the Capital Circuit. If there is going to be any stopping them it will have to be soon.

Eaton Rapids will be looking for one of its rare victories of the season over at Mason Friday night. Before Christmas Mason had a hard time getting by the Greyhounds. Since then Mason's game has lost some of its lustre.

Up until Glen Smith caught on fire in the third quarter the Comet-Greyhound fray was anybody's contest. The score was all tied up at the end of the first quarter and at the half Eaton Rapids held on to a slim one-point lead.

The first part of the third period followed the same pattern. It looked as if the two teams would battle it out right down to the final second. Then Smith broke

Mason Fails to Stop Everett Slips to Second

Mason slipped another notch in its bid for the Capital Circuit crown Friday night. This time it was Everett who rose up and slapped the Bulldogs down 45-35.

Two weeks ago the Bulldogs were in clover with a clean Capital Circuit record. Then on successive Fridays Charlotte and Everett dumped the Bulldogs on the seats of their pants. Right now Mason is tied with Everett for second place and chances of climbing any higher appear rather dim.

Friday night the Bulldogs will try to snap out of their losing streak when they entertain the Eaton Rapids Greyhounds. Eaton Rapids has not made an impressive showing this year but still cannot be classed as a pushover. Everett will take on Howell Friday night over in Livingston county.

Mason Is Careless

The main cause of the Mason breakdown in the Everett game Friday night was carelessness. Mason was wild with its passes and wild with its shots.

The Bulldogs had many more shots than the Vikings but could not capitalize on them. Everett played steady basketball all the way. When good shots presented themselves the Vikings opened up and cashed in on the opportunities.

Coach Charlie Sweeney's crew moved into an 11-8 lead in the first quarter and never gave it up. In every quarter the Vikings added hard night with the offlemb. Mason to their margin. Mason did not get close once.

Besides not being able to hit the basket the Bulldogs had a son was charged with 21 personal fouls. Herb Hovey, Bob Jewett and Jim Roggow all had to leave the game via the foul route. The three Mason players ejected comprise the Mason front line.

Marlin Mauer came through with 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws for the Vikings. Art Smith was next in the Everett scoring with 11 points.

Jewett's 10 points and Roggow's nine tallies were the top scoring efforts for Mason.

Reserves Lose, Too

Mason's reserve team looked as helpless as the varsity in the preliminary game. The Viking youngsters rolled to an easy 50-23 victory.

Gordon Baldwin was the top scorer. He hit for 16 Viking points. Stanley Stolz with eight was the top scorer in the Mason camp.

CAGERS PLAY THURSDAY

Mason's representative in the Independent loop will take on Eaton Rapids in the Mason high school gym Thursday night. Mason has not lost a game so far. The Mason team holds an earlier 78-61 decision over Eaton Rapids in a non-conference game.

EVERETT GETS DECISION

Now Everett high school cage followers can rest easy. The state high school athletic office has awarded the Ionia game to the Vikings. Everett and Ionia tangled way last December in a wild fray. First Everett was declared the winner then the officials called it a tie. In the overtime Everett lost out. In a review of the case the Vikings were awarded the game.

New Fords Make Debut On Friday

Ford Division of Ford Motor Company today announced three completely new lines of Ford passenger cars for 1952. Featuring Coachcraft bodies and more powerful engines, the new models are scheduled to go on display in Ford dealerships throughout the nation Friday, February 1.

There are a total of 18 models in the three new lines—eight in the Mainline series, seven in the Customline series, and three in the Crestline series.

"Ford Mainline cars are for buyers chiefly interested in lowest-cost dependable transportation," explained L. D. Crusoe, vice-president of Ford Motor Company and general manager of Ford Division. "The Customline models incorporate many special refinements and conveniences, and the Crestline series features three luxurious body styles.

"These Fords for 1952—in every respect—are the finest cars we ever have built, and their advanced styling, engineering and quality features establish them as the leaders in the high-volume field," Crusoe said.

The new models are the result of Ford's far-reaching forward planning program, according to Crusoe.

"We are fortunate that our facilities, design and tooling programs were far advanced before the Korean crisis developed, and that we could bring these new models to completion without interference with the defense program. In the meantime, we have eagerly sought defense contracts and have taken on all the work the government has requested."

Ford's styling identity is preserved in the low-wide lines of the hood and front-end of the new cars, centering around a triple-spinner, air-scoop grille arrangement. The new cars have curved one-piece windshields and rear windows, and their body lines sweep backward from extended headlights along the hood and higher fender line to the jet-tube taillight sections.

Among the 1952 models are three completely new utility passenger vehicles, one for each of the three lines of cars. The Ranch Wagon in the Mainline series is a two-door, six passenger unit, with all-steel body. In the Customline, there is the Country Sedan, a four-door, eight passenger vehicle with all-steel body. In the Crestline is the Country Squire, another four-door, eight-passenger model, with wood trim over the steel side panels.

Only Ford in the high-volume class offers both six-cylinder and V-8 engines, three transmissions, foam rubber padding on all passenger car seats, center fill gas-line fueling, suspended-type power pivot clutch and brake pedals and a dash-mounted master brake cylinder, Smead said.

A greatly increased use of safety glass makes Ford cars much safer to drive, and all four-door models have rear-door safety locks as standard equipment.

The 1952 Fords are more maneuverable and have a more comfortable ride because of new "tailored-to-model" springs, a longer wheelbase, wider front tread, a more rigid frame and a new steering linkage with a higher turning ratio. The front tread is 58 inches and the wheelbase is 115 inches.

In addition, Ford is introducing the new 101-horsepower Ford Mileage Maker Six, a high-compression low-friction engine produced after four years of intensive research and testing.

Both Ford engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines and embody many features found only in more costly cars, such as aluminum autothermic pistons, full-pressure lubrication, free-turning valves and weather-tight ignition.

A range of 10 two-tone exterior body color combinations is available for closed car models, and there are 12 single body colors, all with matching and harmonizing trim and upholstery, adding up to more than 80 combinations.

The curved instrument panel blends into the doors in the cockpit styling of the driver's compartment.

Letters to the Editor

New Look for Old Eyes. Congratulations on "New Look," wonderful on old eyes—several years past 80.

Freedom of the Press. I know your paper has over 5,400 subscribers, but I wonder how many of them appreciate the extra work and effort of the staff of the Ingham County News put in to bring us the paper same as always even though the es-

Establishment was gutted by fire. If all of the many subscribers appreciate their copy of the News, as I do mine, they as well as myself say, "Thanks folks."

Another thing that is good to know is that we have all of the thoughtful newspaper people in the surrounding cities and communities that offered their facilities to the Mason paper. I also know that the complete staff of the Ingham County News would be ready to do the same for any of those communities.

Regrets Are Sent. After reading your warm and kindly invitation to your "Open House" on Wednesday, I desire to express my regrets.

After reading your warm and kindly invitation to your "Open House" on Wednesday, I desire to express my regrets.

Only Editor Is Ugly. Your new type is real pretty, and we are sure that the building is, too. Bob and I are sorry that our schedules routed us via St. Johns so that we didn't have a chance to see your place after the Restoration.

Best wishes to all of you for the Open House. BILL MYERS, Lapeer

Make winter cole slaw look festive: Add finely diced green pepper and pimiento to it. Or if you haven't any green pepper substitute finely minced parsley. Line a salad bowl with lettuce leaves, heap the slaw in the center, and then sprinkle the cabbage mixture with a little paprika for a professional touch.

Farmer Peck's Wife

A little oil on troubled hinges.
Take back what you borrowed.
Build the home around the church.

Sally is eating an apple like a squirrel nowadays. She's lost a front tooth and three more are loose. For some reason it seems she's grinning all the time and it does look comical. Pete says he wants her picture like that when all four come out.

I've been going the rounds with my little oil can this week. I've been told that what I do isn't called oiling—but drowning—but even so hinges and doors and slides and springs open much easier ever since. My stove drawers glide outward with such a yongance that they almost knock me over now. And that little gadget that holds a door shut with a fairly fly open by itself with a drop of oil. It really takes but a drop so don't squirt the bottom or sides of an oil can endlessly. I go very easy on electric motors, too; but where everything is open and in need of oiling I have it humming now. I did my sewing machine, too.

Now there's a good friend that often gets neglected! If you are like I am your's will need a while to recuperate and do good sewing without smearing everything. Better run a piece of cloth back and forth before sewing on a good garment unless you want it greasy. Please excuse me, maybe you don't oil like that! But oil it.

They have a week for almost anything and everything you can think of. I wonder why they don't have a "Take-back-what-you-borrowed" week.

I guess books and tools would come in first so if any of us have either of those why not do it this week? It surely is easy to forget or else put it off. I think it's friendly and neighborly and all right to borrow—if it's taken home. I looked around before I started to write this and I have everything taken home that I can think of so I could write this with a clean conscience. Now probably someone will read this and say, "Say, Mrs. Smartly, you asked for it. How's about re-lubricating my..."

Ruby and I went to Ithaca Tuesday night to a meeting on family life at the Methodist church. We thought it was a profitable evening. We talked on the way home about how it's good to get together and talk. I came home enthused to get more folks to go to church and Sunday school because we really do have something to offer there. When I shook hands with our minister Sunday I told him how much good his sermon did me. When we do miss occasionally I feel as though a part of the week had been skipped, as indeed it has.

At the meeting the magazine "The Christian Home" was recommended and I agree with them. We take it and like it very much. I read that when I didn't have time for other magazines—wish I could read more.

Our school went to Grand Rapids on the train to the circus. I went along to help with some of the children and to drive to St. Johns where we took the train.

For the price paid it certainly was reasonable for a trip by train and a circus, too. I know everyone enjoyed it. One of the mothers got sick coming home and we all felt so sorry for her. She had a green look—even though she had on a green hat and jacket, she looked mighty sick. I thought all day that I would get over to see how she was but I can't seem to get wound up properly myself. Tonight I do want to go over.

Maybe this will explain why things are going haywire around here. We have something new, something I always wanted but according to Susy is making us do cuckoo things. It's a cuckoo clock. She says everything we do must be wrong because that little bird comes out and calls us cuckoo all the time. No matter what we do he says it. She thinks he ought to say something else some of the time, and really means it.

I sent for it on sale or I never would have felt right about buying it. There are some things that I just can't feel right about wanting and to put good money into and this happened to be one of them. For two nights now it has called to us and it wakes me up every time. I'm losing a lot of sleep but I don't want to mention it in front of Pete for you know how that will look. The girls are very fond of it and do addressing and dressing and chores by it. If Susy gets done before it comes out she says, "Now please don't call me cuckoo when I've been so nice."

Yesterday she stayed at Oberlins and played with Mary Lou while I helped get the tables ready at the church for our annual birthday supper tonight. When I came out the door I said, "Now let Mary Lou come over and stay with us." And Allan said, "And let her talk away and tell things like Susy—not on your life."

When equipped with a seven foot sickle and mounted on versatile R tractor, MM Pull-Behind Disk-Mower cuts up to 24 acres per day. It is best for all types of forage and hay crops.

The MM Model R is RIGHT for the Farmer Who Needs 2-PLOW POWER!

For the modern businessman farmer who demands dependability, long-life, modern design, economical operation, comfort, and safety... the MM Model R Tractor is RIGHT! Here's the tractor that offers you four kinds of power for immediate use with economy of cost: drawbar, hydraulic lift, power take-off, and belt. The balanced weight, automotive steering, and improved disc-type brakes of the R make it one of the easiest tractors to operate under all field conditions. The rear wheels are adjustable from 52 to 88 inches, permitting proper adjustment for plowing without side draft. The simple construction of the R's heavy-duty, 4-cylinder engine assures minimum maintenance with 140 fewer parts than most conventional valve-in-head engines.

To match the superior performance of the Universal R, MM offers a complete line of dependable quality-constructed tractor-attached machines. This system of Quick-On—Quick-Off tractor-attached tools saves time and money in all types of field operation.

UNI-MATIC POWER

Here's hydraulic power that is constant. A constant running (engine-driven) pump assures users plenty of power at all times whether the tractor is in motion or standing still. A lockout in the jack prevents overloading of hoses and valves, and keeps implements locked in a desired position when the engine is not running... a very important safety feature.

WELCOME

We Are Glad You Came

As this section is coming off the press Wednesday a lot of people are here with us. We have tried to welcome them all as they came in the door, and to ask all to come again.

To those who were unable to be with us this afternoon we extend an invitation to drop in anytime.

We want you to see how we are equipped to serve you in producing the Ingham County News. We want you to see our restored job printing department. And we'll take this opportunity to say that other equipment has been ordered and will soon be here. With that we'll be able to serve you even better.

Yet it isn't just a matter of equipment. That's important, of course, in these days of rising costs. Even more important, though, is the training and the ability, the willingness and the loyalty, of the men and women who operate this machinery and this business.

Printing isn't just a matter of taking so much type, so much paper and so much ink and turning out a newspaper or any other piece of printed matter. It isn't that easy, any more than baking a cake is as simple as the directions imply. It's the skill, the experience, even the appetite of those who eat it—that's what counts.

With a newspaper it's the use to which the equipment and the paper and the ink and the labor is put which counts most.

Here at the Ingham County News we try to use the equipment and the materials and the labor in the interests of this community—a community which stretches a long ways outside the city limits and the rural mail routes.

There are thousands of bigger printing plants in the United States. There are hundreds of newspapers with circulations which by contrast make the Ingham County News seem small indeed. Yet there is no newspaper anywhere more anxious to serve you.

We're glad you came, because you—the readers and subscribers and advertisers—are more important than anyone on our staff. You're the reason we are in business. If it were not for you the equipment would be left to gather rust. If it were not for you there wouldn't be any work for us to do here.

We're here to work for you, to do our best to make every revolution of our presses serve you and all the community.

EVERYBODY HELPS

It takes the cooperation of a lot of people here at the Ingham County News to publish the paper. The items must be typed and edited. Then the words must be set into type, and the type proofread (yes we do), and then the type must be placed in page forms and justified, lugged to the press and printed.

Ne, we didn't start back far enough. Someone first has to tell us what has happened or what is going to happen. Our correspondents get thousands of news items for us each week. People give us news tips, too, and how we appreciate them.

It's this cooperation on the part of everyone that makes the Ingham County News interesting. With greater cooperation it can be made more interesting.

When we call up for news it isn't our news we want it's yours. Because your friends and acquaintance, want to know you and what you're doing. Through the newspaper they want to meet your family and your friends.

Through the newspaper they want to know where and what to buy and where and what to sell.

People buy the Ingham County News and other newspapers to find the information they want, to learn what's going on around them.

There are many newspapers which tell what is going on in Iran or Egypt or New York or San Francisco. Only the home newspaper can tell what is going on right here at home where we live. Only you can help make the Ingham County News more interesting and more representative of this community.

This is your newspaper. Help us to make it better.

THANKS A MILLION

To all the men and women who helped the Ingham County News after the fire we express our thanks.

We've said it before and we say it again; without the help and the encouragement the task would have been greater than our strength.

We're back here in full operation again in a restored building and with our machinery all in working order, thanks to the hundreds of people who lent us a hand.

We're glad you came. All of us here at the Ingham County News are glad to see you. And if you were one of those who couldn't make it this Wednesday come in at your first opportunity.

Tank Division Glorified in Film at Fox

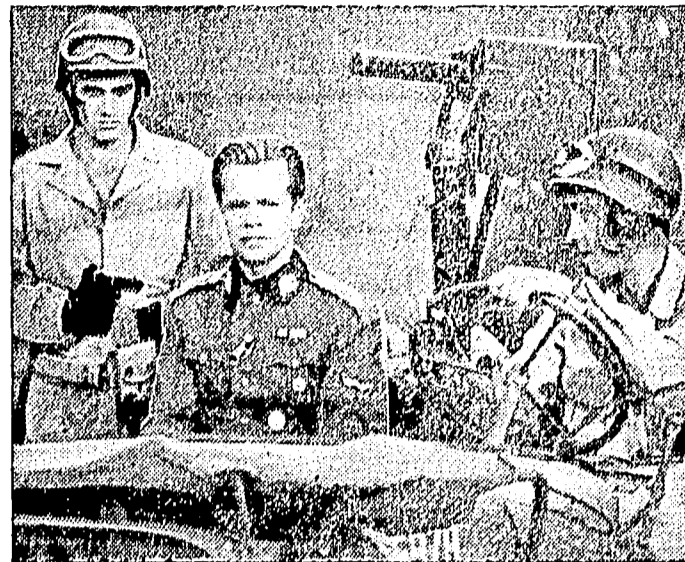

Action films will take over the Fox Theatre screen this week.

A big double feature program featuring Roy Rogers and Dale Evans in "Pals of the Golden West" and "Varieties on Parade" will be on the Fox screen Thursday and Friday.

Newspaper Story Is Next
Everyone, including metropolitan dwellers, has a warm spot in his heart for the small-town characters—the kid reporter, the young school teacher, the housewife addicted to penny poker in the relaxed evenings, the once important columnist who in his old age has become the newspaper's librarian, the veteran high school teacher who has seen his young charges grow into manhood, the local garden club, and even the inevitable racketeer who tries to run the town by intimidation.

"They're all present in "Bannerline," M-G-M's colorful drama of a small town which is given a "shot in the arm" through the efforts of an idealistic cub reporter who, fed up with the petty assignments of his routine beat, conceives a daring idea for a really big bannerline story and puts wheels into motion which effect the lives of all the principal characters.

The picture is the first feature directorial effort of Don Weis and the first film to be produced by Henry Berman, two of Hollywood's brightest new talents, and M-G-M placed a top-notch cast of both young and veteran actors at their disposal for their introductory offering. The youthful players are represented by Keeffe Brasselle, who is making a rapid climb toward stardom as the result of his fine work in such pictures as "A Place in the Sun" and "The Unknown Man"; and Sally Forrest, who recently scored in "Excuse My Dust" and "The Strip." The established performers include Lionel Barrymore, as the ailing high school teacher who devotes his last hours to instilling a spirit of courage and integrity into a former pupil; Lewis Stone, as the ex-columnist now happy to be filling obits in the newspaper "morgue"; Spring Byington as Mrs. Loomis who loves penny poker and J. Carroll Nash as the town's gangster overlord.

It is Keeffe Brasselle who plays the cub reporter engaged to pretty school ma'am Sally Forrest and finds a way to hasten their marriage, to vindicate the faith placed in him by his former teacher, to achieve a coup by which the local racketeers are forced to leave town and at the same time to bring about the biggest bannerline his newspaper has ever put into print.

"The Tanks Are Coming," Warner Bros.' forceful drama

which describes the storming of the Siegfried Line by the heroes of the 3rd Armored Division, opens at the Fox Sunday and Monday.

Steve Cochran, who is rapidly becoming one of Hollywood's top delineators of action roles, heads the stellar cast.

Whereas the recent screen success, "Breakthrough," told the dramatic story of the hedgerow-fighting infantrymen at St. Lo, "The Tanks Are Coming" unfolds as a dynamic account of the events leading up to the fall of Berlin. The film presents Cochran and Philip Carey, bitter rivals, assigned to the same tank outfit. Carey, a lieutenant, and Cochran, a tough sergeant, have locked horns because of the latter's utter disregard for teamwork. Also, Cochran's "one-man army" tactics sets off more fireworks. However, as the "Operation Spearhead" advances further into enemy territory, the two G. I.'s settle their differences and return to the business of war.

Mari Aldon, lovely actress who makes her debut in "The Tanks Are Coming," has the female lead, while Paul Picerni, Harry Bellaver and George O'Hanlon head the featured cast of the film.

All-Star Cast Is Provided
Big-time entertainment at bargain prices comes to the screen with Warner Bros., all-star extravaganza "Starlift," which runs at the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday. For, in addition to its own cast, the film boasts the appearance of 10 other top Hollywood celebrities.

Doris Day, Gordon MacRae, Virginia Mayo, Gene Nelson and Ruth Roman play the film's lead roles, while the guests include James Cagney, Gary Cooper, Virginia Gibson, Phil Harris, Frank Lovejoy, Lucille Norman, Louella Parsons, Randolph Scott, Jane Wyman and Patrice Wymore.

One of the most important star-filled presentations since "Hollywood Canteen" and "Thank Your Lucky Stars," "Starlift" is packed with singing and dancing numbers and is the story of the part played by show business personalities in the entertainment of our troops at Travis Air Force Base in California. The plot concerns a young Air Force corporal who falls in love with a movie star, and the host of her thespian friends who join in to play cupid.

Featured in the "Starlift" cast are Janice Rule, Dick Wesson, Ron Hagerthy and Richard Webb, directed by Roy Del Ruth, famed for his direction of screen musical comedies.

Film Spoofs Western
All the hokum and "corn" which have marked the screen Western since the early silent days are present in "Skipalong Rosenbloom," co-starring Maxie Rosenbloom and Max Baer, which will play at the Fox on Thursday and Friday, but this time it's all done for laughs.

Producer Wally Kline, who made the picture for Eagle Lion Classics release, screened more than 40 old Westerns along with Dean Reiser and Eddie Forman who wrote "Skipalong Rosenbloom." From these they have distilled dozens of standbys of Western producers and kidded them. In "Skipalong Rosenbloom" are the historic line "we'll cut 'em off at Eagle Rock," the gun battle where thousands of rounds and rounds are fired and no one gets hurt, the torrid chase, etc., etc.

"Slapstick" Maxie Rosenbloom, for whom the picture is titled, plays a cowboy called back to town to help his old uncle resist the crooked gang which is taking up a mortgage on the uncle's land which includes an old gold mine.

He is drafted by a crooked judge into becoming the sheriff of the town. No local men will take the job because "Butcher Baer" and his gang have wiped out scores of previous law-makers. Max Baer is the "Butcher" and Millay Brook plays the lady saloon keeper who is the "brains" of the mob.

Rosenbloom follows a gopher and discovers the lost mine. He is captured by the gang and tied up in a room filled with gunpowder. "Butcher Baer" laughs fensively as he lights a slow fuse and leaves the mine.

But Rosenbloom escapes and corners the "Butcher" in the saloon which sets the stage for the film's climactic fistfight. Rosenbloom gives up his girl to an upright local citizen, played by erstwhile child star Jackie Congan and rides off to new adventures.

The second feature on the Thursday and Friday program will be "Havana Rose," starring Estelita, the toast of Pan-Ameri-

Prisoner Escaped From Laxton Farm

Keith E. Satterfield, 19, was brought back from North Carolina to answer a charge that he walked away while serving a term in the Ingham jail.

The Ingham County News carried a story last week that Satterfield walked away from the jail farm. That was a misstatement of fact. Satterfield walked away from the farm of S. A. Laxton. The prisoner was permitted to leave jail to work on the Laxton farm, and it was from there he made his escape.

"Out of thin air" comes the HIGHEST HORSEPOWER in Buick history

NOTE FROM YOUR BUICK DEALER:
Presented here is the story of a great new engine development, as told by the men who did the job. We reprint the story here in its entirety—as we couldn't beat it if we tried.

No, we didn't have to build a new engine to do it.

We took Buick's valve-in-head Fireball Engine—which makes the most of high compression. We drew on 12 patient years of Buick carburetion research. And we came up with more might, more miles, from gas—right out of thin air, in more ways than one.

When you talk about "miles per gallon" you think of fuel. That's what you buy. But air's free—and for every gallon of gasoline, a busy engine can gulp more than 8,000 gallons of air.

The problem is to deliver air in the right proportions, throughout the full range of speeds at which you drive.

A carburetor—big enough to supply the air needed at full throttle—can be wasteful in stop-and-go driving.

A carburetor sized for thrift in city traffic literally smothers your engine when you really give it the gun.

So Buick engineers came up with the Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic—and here's how it works.

Loafing along, two barrels are working, two stay closed. And you get a low-speed thrift and smoothness that's out of this world.

As you pick up speed, the "stand-bys" smoothly come into play—feeding not just more gas, but more air too—which means that you keep on getting maximum power from each drop of fuel.

You have 170 effortless horsepower when you need it—a tremendous reserve ready to go into instant action at the nudge of your toe.

You have the satisfaction of knowing that you get this power with a frugal use of gas. At 40 you use less gas than you formerly used at 30.

That's the story of Airpower carburetion in factory facts and figures. But statistics can't tell you the breath-taking joy of heading for new horizons in a great-powered new ROADMASTER. Better come in soon. Lots of other folks are flocking into our showroom these days to see the greatest array of new Buicks we've had in years.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Common Sense Is Sensational

When a man stands up in public and speaks common sense these days he creates a sensation.

That's why Herbert Hoover in his speech Sunday drew the attacks of so many prominent people. His speech made too much sense. It stood out in vivid contrast to the one made by Mc-Too Dewey a few days before. It points the way out of the twisted tangle into which we have been led by President Truman's advisors. And the president and Dean Acheson and the other fumble with the U. S. foreign policy don't want us to find our way out of the jungle of secret commitments which they have woven.

We have become so accustomed to hysteria that when a man talks sense we are startled.

When Herbert Hoover stood up Sunday to say that the only bulwark against Communism is a strong North America and South America, strong economically, strong in military power for defense here on these two continents, and strong morally, his words carried conviction.

When Herbert Hoover warned against a continuation of policies which are making us feared and hated by people trying to throw off the yoke of Great Britain and France it should have brought all of us to our senses.

Common sense in both foreign and domestic policies has become sensational.

Candidates Are Needed

If any man or woman aspires to city office here in Mason let him step forth.

The new city charter insists that there shall be two candidates for every office. If the people don't make nominations by petitions then the council itself must nominate enough candidates to make sure of contests.

There are four candidates to be elected to the council. It is up to the people, or the council, to find eight men or women willing to make the race.

Because the charter is so new and so much of it unused Mason people can excuse themselves for forgetting about the primary election, and about the nearness of the filing date. The charter provides that the last day for filing nominating petitions is the fourth Saturday before the February 18 primary. That reached us too quick, so the council obligingly extended the time to Saturday of this week.

Here in Mason we are going to have eight candidates for four offices. If we the people don't choose them the council must. So here's a test for the new day the new charter has brought us. Let's get busy signing petitions, or we'll have less to say about our rulers than we had under the caucus system we abandoned.

The Champs Are Champing

Mason started off the basketball season with a bang. We had one of those championship teams coming up, we declared, as the team ran up big margins in early games.

Mason did have a championship basketball team so long as the team played championship basketball. But when the team grew content to play ordinary basketball the scoreboard quickly changed.

There is still time enough and games enough remaining for Mason to win the Capital Circuit championship and to go far in tournament play. Mason can do it by playing championship basketball from here on out.

Trophies don't amount to much. Championships are quickly forgotten by others. Yet they are never forgotten by those who win them. Always the champions have the lasting satisfaction of knowing they lived up to their possibilities.

Mason still has a championship team if the players live up to their possibilities. If they practice hard and train hard and play hard they may win a trophy. But more important, whether they win a trophy or not, they'll have the satisfaction of knowing they played their best.

Let's go, Mason. Let's play like champions.

The Tax Is Now 24.5%

Refrigeration of food is a necessity, not a luxury. Yet the tax paid by buyers of refrigerators now runs 24.5 per cent. That's the corporate tax, and does not include any sales tax or personal property tax paid by the buyers.

The retail price of a G-E refrigerator is $274.95. That price now includes $67.34 in income, excise and other taxes paid directly by General Electric or by suppliers, distributors and dealers.

GE is not in any special bracket. Every manufacturer of refrigerators and other goods is faced with the same problem. Every buyer of merchandise likewise suffers from the multiplicity of taxes which finally reach down to him.

This idea that somehow the taxes are paid by somebody else now costs us about 25 per cent on everything we buy.

Number of State Employees Has Quadrupled in 20 Years

By Vernon J. Brown

At regular intervals a capital reporter for a Detroit daily, Carl Rudow by name, and one of the ablest analysts of capital doings to cover the legislature and state departments, writes a piece about civil service and state payrolls. His newspaper is one of the original advocates of state civil service and was among the leading proponents and sponsors of the civil service amendment adopted by the voters. Under that amendment the civil service commission is set up as a separate state and is constituted as a law unto itself. Naturally Carl goes all out for the pet theories of his employers and on occasion is found flaying elected officials for failure to reduce expenses as was promised the people.

Such an article appeared in Carl's week end piece in his news writing. Nevertheless Carl is such a conscientious fellow he writes the truth even though it may not suit his editors and even though it may disprove some fine spun theories held by certain professional individuals who conceived Michigan's straight-faced employment system.

A market for the graduates of public service courses taught by deans and professors of political science courses in our universities and colleges had to be created.

Payroll Pyramids

According to the most recent article on state employment there are now 24,316 names on state payrolls. To the persons whose names appear on department and institution payrolls there was paid last year a total of $81,887,642. This is an increase of 8,522 employees since 1945, a short six years before. In dollars the cost has jumped from under $10,000,000 dollars a year in 1945 to almost $82,000,000 dollars in 1951.

If any reader cares to go back still further, he can stop at 1931, a mere 20 years ago. Then there were 8,735 individuals employed at a total pay of less than $20,000,000 a year. The number of state jobs has been increased more than three-fold and the cost to the taxpayer has been increased nearly four-fold in 20 years.

All this makes interesting statistics but the average citizen is as helpless as mere man in the face of a cyclone. He can neither stop the winds nor dodge the impact of the tornado.

Civil Service Rules State

Under present conditions the elected officials, the appointive heads of departments or the superintendents of state institutions are alike responsible to the employees who in turn are protected by civil service to the last ditch. The legislature is equally helpless because the constitutional amendment adopted goes so far as to set the appropriation available to the civil service commission for administration and other expense.

All this leads us to another matter in connection with current state matters. This has to do with certain proposals looking toward better and more equitable methods of districting the state for the election of members of the state legislature. For a long time the cities have complained that they are denied their proper share of legislative representation. Equally insistent has been the attitude of rural sections of Michigan that never should the cities be permitted full control of the legislature.

For long years the matter of reapportionment for senate and house membership has been delayed, dodged and ignored. A proposal now before the legislature is offered by Representative Louis C. Crampton of Lapeer. Representative Crampton is a former member of congress and has served his judicial district as circuit judge. His proposal is intended to ease the pressure and soothe the smouldering fires of feudism between urban and rural areas of Michigan. Rep. Crampton's proposal would give each county in the state, regardless of size or population, equal representation in the house with the senate districts computed on a strict population basis.

Cities Won't Be Sued

Of course, this will not suit the cities at all and personally I doubt if his plan, even if adopted, would bring good results to the state as a whole. It is my considered opinion that Michigan on the whole has suffered as much from over-representation of certain areas as it would ever suffer even by giving the cities their full share.

On the other hand, I do not expect to live long enough to see metropolitan centers given equal voting strength with the more sparsely populated areas. Neither do I believe congested, mass populations should be given full representation in our legislature. Nevertheless I do believe there are fair compromises which could be made. I am going to offer my own rough idea right here.

Here's My Plan

First I would adopt Rep. Crampton's idea but not his plan. I would agree to redistrict senatorially on the basis of population alone. Then I would reduce the size of the house from 100 to 96, this on account of the seating capacity of the house chamber. Then I would propose a redistricting of the state, somewhat on the basis of Rep. Crampton's resolution except I would combine counties of less than 15,000 population with contiguous counties to form regional districts of not more than 25,000.

All counties having 15,000 or more population would have a single representative as in Rep. Crampton's plan with the addition of a provision that counties having in excess of 100,000 would be entitled to an additional member for each additional 100,000 or more thereof. A county having more than 500,000 Wayne county is the only one—would get one representative for each 200,000 of its inhabitants.

This plan of apportionment would result in 56 counties having each one, with 12 of their number qualifying for additional members. Twenty-seven counties would be combined to form 10 districts, each district entitled to one member. The seven more populous counties among the 56 would divide 12 additional members between them, Wayne would be given a total of 10 members. This makes 88 to be elected by districts on the basis of present populations. An added eight would then be elected from the

"I had a good time," I remarked to my wife as we drove home from the Michigan Press association meeting in East Lansing Saturday night.

"This week you editorialized about learning something wherever you go," she countered. "Tell me what you learned at the meeting, especially what you learned in that square dance with the peach queen."

"I teach, as well as learn," I replied. "I taught that sweet young queen that grandfathers respond to kindness. Maybe you also noticed that I tried to teach our little Margaret how to dance the schottische. And I surely learned, as did you, that the most accomplished dancers on the floor were Publisher Bob Marshall and Mrs. Marshall of West Branch."

It was the same Bob who lived in Mason as a boy. He inquired about many of the boys and girls he used to go to school with back in the late teens and the early twenties. He has a sweet wife.

Of course, I learned a lot of other things at the two-day Michigan Press convention. I learned that Michigan produces 92 per cent of all navy beans and 52 per cent of all sour cherries. I learned that Michigan now has almost a million cows which yield 48,500,000 lbs of butter and 1,600,000,000 quarts of milk a year. I learned that Michigan now ranks seventh in the production of honey, the last census showing 183,000 colonies of bees which produce 15,000,000 pounds of honey a year. To show how busy bees are, it would take a Michigan Central freight train 3.3 miles long to haul away the honey Michigan bees make in a year.

I also learned that Irv Helmey of Leslie is a crack salesman. He sold us the new proof press he had included in the Western Newspaper Union machinery exhibit. We brought it home that night.

Another item I learned is that Carlton Cady, a former Mason boy who has made good in the newspaper field, still thinks of Mason often. He is on the staff of a Grand Rapids paper. Then at the meeting was another man who spent his youth here and also was a newspaper man along with his soldiering, his police work and finally his railroad career. That's Col. Roy Vandercook of the Michigan Railroads association.

Saturday noon Miss Mary Louise Trapp of Beulah graced the table at which my father, Jim, and his wife and I sat. She was with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of the Bonzie Record at Beulah. Miss Trapp is the Michigan cherry queen and is as pleasant and as intelligent as she is beautiful. There's nothing haughty about her. It's the same way with the apple queen, the bean queen, the dairy queen, the queen of the north, the peach queen, the potato queen, the UP fair queen and the winter sports queen. They all have that something which is worth far more than beauty, yet which does much to make the one who possesses it beautiful.

The cherry queen does much more than stand around looking pretty. She works in a cherry pie foundry at Beulah. Every week day last summer she made and baked 48 cherry pies for the tourist trade. People drove way up from Chicago to buy her pies, the Johnsons declared. The cherry queen is now a student at Michigan State college. She told me she is studying to prepare herself for social welfare work. It would be a great break for the taxpayers if she would carry out her present intention. Men would leave the welfare lists in droves if she asked them to. Of course, I don't believe Miss Trapp will ever be doing much social welfare work. She'll be in her own home baking cherry pies and bringing up a family of handsome girls and boys of her own.

I have changed my mind on the queen business. I thought the matter was being overdone. When I saw that bevy of queens at the convention and found out what nice girls they all are, how democratic with a small d they are, I was impressed. I now think that when beauty and brains and good manners can be found together, the girls should be put on a pedestal and given attention. They wield a powerful influence for good.

Brother Arnold sustained me Sunday morning. From the pulpit he declared that Mother Nature intends every fruitful tree to be beautiful with blossoms in the spring. These blossoms will attract the bees and thus the most beautiful tree in the spring should produce the best fruit in the fall.

I didn't intend to leave the convention quite so quick, so I'll have to hop back. The meetings were held in the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, which is an awkward name for the best hotel in these parts.

The staff is comprised largely of hotel administration students, all the way from bellhops and hat check girls to the higher echelons of management. They are pleasant young people, anxious to please, and without having their palms out.

The building itself is beautiful and with all its space usable. The project also helps a lot of young men and women to pay their way through college. Here in Michigan we can use these young men and women in our resort trade.

Oh, yes, I learned again the truth of what I've said before. Michigan's most useful and important man, the man who stands head and shoulders above all others, is President John A. Hannah of Michigan State college. His ability is recognized from coast to coast. He is one of the advisors on Point Four. He is chairman of the committee assigned the task of cleaning up college sports. If the people could coax him to run for senator he would beat Senator Moody two to one. The drawback is that President Hannah may be doing Michigan a lot more good where he is than he could do in Washington. And maybe not. Just one man in the senate like John Hannah might bring us out of the slough where we now wallow.

Let's see, I learned something else. I learned from Dr. Franz Polgar that people waste their time when they tell someone to forget.

"How do you forget?" Dr. Polgar, the mental wizard, asked. "How do you go about forgetting this number, 825. Try to forget it. Tell me when you have forgotten it and what it is you have forgotten."

So if you want to remember, try and forget, and the impression will be made indelible.

Local Library Has Story Hour

The story hour is now being conducted at the local library in the city hall on Saturdays from 1:30 until 2 o'clock by Miss Gertrude Frederick, who is in charge of the children's department of the Ingham county library of which the Williamston library is a branch.

The librarian reports a circulation of 250 books last Saturday. Girl Scouts will deliver and call for the books for shut-ins they contact the librarian by card or phone, stating type of reading material wanted. The girls do this work on Wednesdays after school, and thus they are earning their extra merit badges.

KLEEN-MAID BREAD

It's Loaded—So Be Careful!

Before you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac, there is one thing we should like to impress upon you: It's loaded—so be careful!

There's more power in that dynamic engine than you'll ever need—except for the rarest emergency. And it should never, never be used for dramatic display on the get-away.

If somebody else wants the honors when the light turns green—let 'em go. You don't have to prove anything, anyway.

But that great power works for you—even when you're not unleashing it to the limit.

It works for you as a reserve—and gives you that easy, quiet, flowing ride which makes a Cadillac such a joy to own and such a thrill to drive . . .

It gives you that slow-moving engine—that simply loafs at all legal speeds—and which is a literal Methuselah when it comes to long-life . . .

And it is a primary reason for that unbelievably low upkeep expense, at which Cadillac owners never cease to marvel. Some fleet owners have found, for instance, that Cadillacs cost less to maintain than any other cars they have ever used. And their easy-going engine, that never operates under strain, is a big factor in this economy.

Yes—Cadillac's great power works for you—and is necessary—and is one of the vital reasons why Cadillac's performance is so outstandingly different.

But we trust that no Cadillac owner will ever use it for dominating the highway. To do so is not only counter to the rules of safety—but is not in keeping with the graciousness the motoring public has come to expect from the person at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Have you seen this great Golden Anniversary creation? If not, we should be pleased to welcome you to our showrooms.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS

BY CARL COLLIN

Michigan farmers had about 13 per cent more cattle and calves on grain feed for market January 1 than they had a year earlier. The average for the corn belt was an increase of 6 per cent, but out in the western states numbers were up about 24 per cent compared with January 1, 1951. Shipments of feeder cattle and calves into Michigan during the last four months of 1951 were almost double those of the same period a year ago and were the highest in several years.

Speaking of cattle, what would be your guess as to the state in which the highest slaughter of cattle occurs? Considering the large Chicago livestock market, the "natural" answer would be Illinois. However, California stood at the top in 1951 for the first time, with over 1.3 million cattle slaughtered under federal inspection during the first 10 months.

Illinois was second with about 1.2 million, Iowa came third with slightly less than a million, Nebraska was in fourth place with a little more than 824,000, and Texas was fifth with close to 814,000.

The leadership of California reflects recent shifts in population. West coast areas have outdistanced other parts of the country, a shift greatly speeded up during the last year.

Hog prices certainly haven't been following the "normal" pattern. This is only the eighth time in the last 70 years that the winter low price for hogs has come after January 1. Most of the previous exceptions have been due to unexpectedly large marketings or depressed economic conditions. About the only explanation that accounts for this low hog price is that the 1951 spring pig crop isn't as nearly sold off as livestock market people thought a few weeks ago. Market experts say the winter price will be delayed, instead of coming the last half of February. Now it may not come until March. But they figure the longer prices stay down, the longer and sharper the rise will be when it does come.

A couple of days ago I was talking with Denny Caul, county agent in Van Buren county, about current hog price trends. He had an interesting comment which might partially explain the current heavy marketings. Denny says there is a definite trend in Southwestern Michigan, and possibly in Indiana and Illinois, for summer farrowing of sows. Now if there are large numbers of pigs farrowed in June and July these farrowings would not be included in USDA's reports on spring pigs farrowed. The BAE reports include farrowing from December 1 to June 1 in the spring pig crop. Summer pigs, then, would be classified as "fall" pigs in USDA production reports.

Another factor of course in late marketings of hogs is the large amount of soft corn in the middle west. Farmers may be holding back hogs to salvage corn which won't store when the weather moderates. Large supplies of soft corn on farms is the big reason for marked increase in feeder cattle and calves throughout the corn belt.

During December, the estimated hatch of baby chicks in Michigan was up 19 per cent over November and 50 per cent greater than December 1950. Egg production in Michigan in December was up 11 per cent over the same month a year ago. The egg-to-ratio dropped sharply from November to December and is well below the ratio of one year ago. The number of eggs set for broiler production in 11 major producing areas for the week ending January 11 was running a fifth above the same week in 1951. Chick placements were up sharply to a level a third above a year ago.

Potato growers and handlers started this year with only about three bushels of potatoes for every five they had on hand at the start of 1951. Stocks were down to about 97,000,000 bushels on January 1. Stocks were not only well below last year but they were about a fifth below average for the last 10 years. The January 1 stocks of potatoes represented only about 30 per cent of the 1951 production.

Incidentally, the large cut in potato production last year has shown up in production of certified seed potatoes too. Production of seed potatoes last year was the smallest in six years. The crop totaled about 36,500,000 bushels compared with more than 51,000,000 bushels in 1950.

Under-Secretary of Agriculture Clarence J. McCormick said recently that "in the five years 1946-50, when the losses from price supports on potatoes were highest, the combined total of program costs and consumer purchases averaged around 78,000,000 per year. Last year, with no program, potatoes cost consumers in the market over $800 million a year and there were fewer potatoes available than in the years of the support program.

MISCELLANY... The surplus apple purchase program which USDA has been operating for 1951-crop apples has been extended to February 23. ... Corn prices are expected to touch ceiling when wet corn is gone, probably by March. Ceiling price on No. 2 yellow at Chicago is expected to be about $2 per bushel. ... Big Canadian shipments of feed grains starting in April are expected to hold down U. S. feed grains and wheat prices below ceilings. Lighter feeding of livestock will be another factor holding down some feed grain prices. ... During the six full crop years after World War II, one out of every three bushels of wheat produced in the U. S. went for exports. This year, the seventh, won't miss that average very far.

The angry wife was letting off steam. "All I do is wait on you hand and foot," she complained. "I'm getting fed up catering to your every whim!" The husband remained silent. "Just suppose," his irate wife continued, "that we wives went on strike. What would you do then?" "Well, you just go ahead and strike," replied the husband quietly. "I've got a peach of a strike-breaker in mind."

Some Michigan dairy cows may be getting more phosphorus than they need. Feeding phosphorus above the cow's actual needs won't hurt her but it does cost money—probably about $1.50 a year.

A recent survey made by the dairy extension department at Michigan State college, and reported by extension dairyman, J. C. Hays, indicates that about half of the leading dairy farmers feed their cows steamed bone meal to supply phosphorus. Chances are that not all these herds need bone meal because good dairymen feed legume hay which is a fair source of phosphorus. They feed corn and oats which equal alfalfa in phosphorus content. They feed soybean oil meal which runs three-fourths of a pound of phosphorus to a hundred pounds, or cottonseed meal which runs a pound a hundred, or bran which runs a pound and a quarter a hundred.

Dr. C. F. Huffman, dairy researcher at the college, says that cows probably don't need extra phosphorus if they are fed mainly alfalfa for roughage. The same thing holds true if the grain ration contains at least one-sixth of a concentrate like soybean oil meal.

One of the best ways to supply phosphorus if you think it is needed is to let the cow help herself to a mixture of three parts of salt and one part of bone meal. Or you can self-feed the salt and bone meal side by side and let the cow decide if she wants some.

A fully automatic system can be made with drain pipes, float valves and heating cable. Poultry raisers can save themselves trouble, time and money if they check with their power company farm service man for pointers on proper installation.

Be sure to test the soil for acidity if you are planting alfalfa. Lime the soil if it's too acid.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Probably Ingham poultry men should hold up plans for forming a cooperative until they get a look at the Chicken of Tomorrow. I got a peek at the bird Saturday night and again on Sunday. It's worth waiting for—this Chicken of Tomorrow.

According to Professor C. G. Card, head of the poultry department at Michigan State college, the Chicken of Tomorrow is a No. 1 broiler with lots of white meat. I was looking for something just a little more spectacular than a bird starred as Chicken of Tomorrow. I had my first look at the chicken at the Michigan Press association banquet at Michigan State college Saturday night.

I think I counted 657 people who sat down to the banquet with a chicken billed as the Chicken of Tomorrow at every place. I put my wife's chicken in a sack and took it home. We ate mine at the banquet. Later on the bathroom scales, her chicken weighed a pound and a half. It weighed about the same when we carved it Sunday noon.

No one can say that I speak without farm experience. Monday and Tuesday I turned farmer. Tuesday morning I turned a little late, but nevertheless, I turned. The only farmer in the family, Vernon J. Brown, left Homestead Hills out Diamond road way for a couple of days in the city. I naturally, or unaturally, was called to make an assist with the Hereford herd and the flock of chickens. Things went off without a hitch. I gathered the eggs and everything.

The last time the farmer left the farm, Nelson Brown was called in to do the chores. The cattle thirshed most of a day while dad pumped the handle which gushes forth the running water. Late in the afternoon he discovered that all he would have needed to have done was to turn the faucet.

A farmer must feel like a hero or something vital and necessary to life itself when he trudges off to do the early-morning chores. I pulled on my coat, hat, mittens, shoes and pants the two mornings that I was No. 1 on the farm and headed for the barn and chicken coops. I felt like a ship captain or a fireman or an engineer as I strode down the path to loss in the hay to the waiting steers and chickens. Farming looks like fun. I think I will have a little flower garden this year.

Farmers May Feed More Phosphorus Than Bossy Needs

Some Michigan dairy cows may be getting more phosphorus than they need. Feeding phosphorus above the cow's actual needs won't hurt her but it does cost money—probably about $1.50 a year.

A recent survey made by the dairy extension department at Michigan State college, and reported by extension dairyman, J. C. Hays, indicates that about half of the leading dairy farmers feed their cows steamed bone meal to supply phosphorus.

Chances are that not all these herds need bone meal because good dairymen feed legume hay which is a fair source of phosphorus. They feed corn and oats which equal alfalfa in phosphorus content. They feed soybean oil meal which runs three-fourths of a pound of phosphorus to a hundred pounds, or cottonseed meal which runs a pound a hundred, or bran which runs a pound and a quarter a hundred.

Dr. C. F. Huffman, dairy researcher at the college, says that cows probably don't need extra phosphorus if they are fed mainly alfalfa for roughage. The same thing holds true if the grain ration contains at least one-sixth of a concentrate like soybean oil meal.

MSC Tests Bulk Onion Storage

Interest in bulk handling and mechanical drying of onions is increasing rapidly in Michigan. James Boyd, research agricultural engineer at Michigan State college, told a Farmers' Week audience.

Labor supplies are tight and growing in cost, he pointed out. Mechanization is the answer to many problems facing onion growers today.

Boyd cited recent research at the Michigan agricultural experiment station to support his contentions. In a storage building located at the muck experimental farm near East Lansing, a series of bins were installed to study use of procedures for getting onions from field to bin. Onions were harvested into crates and poured into an elevator similar to those used for ear corn. Speed was reduced to one-half that of an ear corn elevator.

The elevator carried the onions to a conveyor near the ceiling which moved them horizontally to the proper bin. The conveyor was made of one-inch boards with two four-inch canvas belts. The onions were deflected off the conveyor with a one by three-inch board set at an angle on the conveyor deck. A canvas funnel took them to the bin.

Whenever a bin was filled with onions, a sample was also stored

Safer Farmyards Wins GM Plaque For Ingham 4-H

The efficient use of electricity on the farm and in the home, as well as daily practice of basic safety rules, were major 4-H activities in two Michigan counties during 1951. Ingham county was awarded a General Motors merit plaque for reporting the most outstanding 4-H farm and home safety program and Saginaw county received a Westinghouse Educational Foundation plaque of honor for its top-rating electric program in Michigan last year.

The 150 club members enrolled in the 4-H farm and home safety program in Ingham county, found the most common safety hazards to be farmyards littered with trash, tools left underfoot, and defective wiring and lighting protection, according to M. H. Avery, county club agent. All the 4-H club groups and local businesses cooperated in the program. Twenty-five safety surveys were made. The Wheatfield 4-H club held a special meeting for parents, members and friends at which safety movies were shown, and a safety play as well as a safety demonstration given. At another safety meeting, more than 1,100 persons were in attendance. As a result, everyone was made more safety-minded.

The most outstanding event of the 4-H farm and home electric program was the overnight electrical workshop held at the 4-H memorial building. Lighting and wiring demonstrations were given and movies shown. Fifty-one clubs were set up after the mid-night lunch and the boys settled down until 7 a. m. The next morning members soldered electrical joints and learned how to make good electrical connections. The demonstrations, workshop and local 4-H club groups have been instrumental in increasing the county's knowledge of electrical appliances and the value of using electricity in the home and as power on the farm, stated James F. Hahn, county extension agent. A total of 157 4-H members participated in the program.

Seed cleaning, testing and treating are good farm practices every year. They are especially important this year with increased costs of putting the seed in the soil.

COLLEGE COWS PRODUCE

Two Michigan State college Brown Swiss recently completed production records. Michigan Baba's Bertha 18824, in a 300-day test, produced 13,892.3 lbs of 3.75 per cent milk, and 521.35 lbs of butterfat as a nine-year-old. Another Charming Anne 141056, a five-year-old, in 305 days produced 12,601.3 lbs of 3.96 milk and 488.81 lbs of butterfat.

Holstein Herds Receive Ratings

Two Ingham Holstein herds, the Covert herd at Leslie and the Oesterle herd at Webberville, have recently been classified for type under the official type classification program. It was the second time both herds have been classified.

L. H. McDaniel of Turlock, California, was the official inspector.

Of 22 eligible cows in the herd of Harry Covert & Son, one was designated "very good," 14 "good plus," and seven "good."

In the herd of Hugh Oesterle & Son with 28 eligible animals, three were designated as "very good," 11 "good plus," 13 "good," and one "fair."

rate of one and a half pounds to the acre. Either the liquid concentrate or the wettable powder can be used. Toxaphene may be more dangerous from the poisonous residue standpoint than either benzene hexachloride or lindane. Therefore it should not be used later than when the plants are four inches high or 40 days before harvest.

Dusts may be used, too. Janes recommends either a one per cent lindane or a one per cent gamma isomer benzene hexachloride dust at the rate of 25 to 30 pounds to the acre.

The orange-colored young bugs will first be found in tiny specks of foam or froth in the crown or on other parts of the growing plant," he said. "Treatments should not be delayed later than 10 days after the first eggs hatch or later than when the plants are five inches high. If there is less than one spittle mass to the plant it is questionable whether or not it will pay to treat."

He warned against treating within 35 to 40 days of harvest time for the crop. Pasturing should be avoided for the same length of time after spraying.

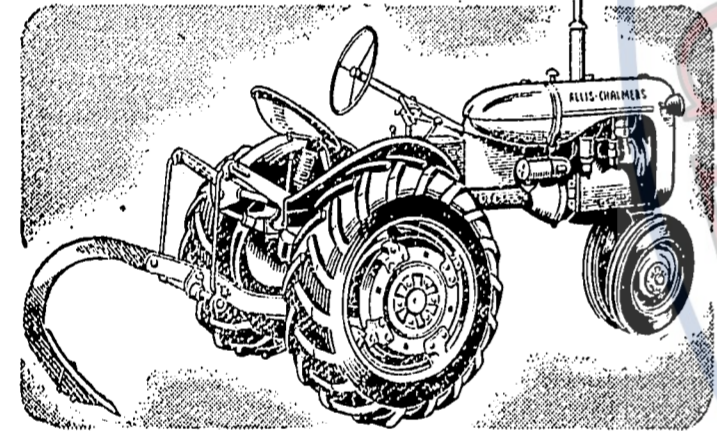

One spray treatment calls for use of benzene hexachloride or lindane at the rate of two-tenths of a pound of gamma isomer to the acre in 100 gallons of water. This would amount to either four pounds of five per cent; three and three-tenths pounds of six per cent; or two pounds of the 10 per cent wettable gamma benzene hexachloride per acre in 100 gallons of water. Toxaphene may be used at the
