In the family since 1868, the furniture and funeral home business will be continued by Ball-Dunn. The co-partnership is made up of Mrs. A. Bruce Ball and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dunn.

The change in ownership was made Saturday following Dunn's settlement of the A. Bruce Ball estate. Dunn has been managing the business since the sickness of A. Bruce Ball two years ago. Mr. Ball died September 17, 1951.

The business goes back to Samuel P. Stroud in 1868. He made his own coffins, doing the cabinet work and lining them. His son Fred Stroud followed in the business. In 1893 the son was joined by Angus McDonald, a brother-in-law. Mr. McDonald was a cabinet maker. He later became sole owner. His son-in-law A. Bruce Ball entered the business in 1913 and in 1928 bought the interest of Mr. McDonald.

No change in the personnel of the furniture store and funeral home is contemplated, Dunn stated Wednesday.

Associated in active management will be Schuyler Smith, a licensed funeral director. He has been with A. B. Ball and Ball-Dunn for 24 years.

Dunn was born in Rockford, Illinois. He was brought up in Muskegon until the family moved to Lansing in 1935, when the father, R. Glen Dunn, Sr., became assistant attorney general. The family came to Mason in 1936. Glen Dunn was graduated from Mason high school in 1938 and from Michigan State college in 1943. He served in the navy during World War II, attaining the rank of lieutenant (JG). He served with the fleet in the Pacific. He is now a lieutenant in the naval reserve. Following his release from active duty he enrolled at Wayne University in the mortuary course. He was graduated from Wayne in 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have one child, a daughter, Deborah, 4.

School Officials Ask Salary Tilts In Health Service

Supt. H. M. Murphy of the Haslett school asked Ingham supervisors Monday to raise the wages of public health nurses and sanitarians.

Murphy, who said he spoke on behalf of other Ingham school superintendents, declared that school health services have been curtailed because of nine vacancies on the county health department staff.

According to Murphy, the vacancies are the result of low wages in Ingham. He said that Ingham's starting rate of $2,880 is low. The going rate, Murphy stated, is $3,000 for registered nurses, $3,300 for nurses with one semester of public health work, and $3,600 for nurses with a year of public health study.

Three more vacancies will occur soon, Murphy warned, unless wages are raised.

The Haslett school chief asked that Dr. R. Laning be permitted to use his salary budget to hire personnel without regard to wage ceilings set by supervisors.

If public health programs are not carried through, Murphy declared, the way will be paved for socialized medicine. He expressed opposition to socialized medicine.

The school superintendent read to the board a letter received from Dr. Laning. In the letter Dr. Laning said that routine visits to schools not always prove necessary.

Supervisors referred the school superintendent's plea to the public health committee.

Rate Is Unchanged

Supervisor Hubert Bullen of Aurelius reported that after conference with the board of social welfare the convalescent home rate on county cases will remain at $5.00 per day unless extra care is ordered.

At the February meeting a delegation of convalescent home operators demanded an increase to $6.00 per day.

Supervisor Bullen said he did not believe it good policy for the supervisors to go over the head of the social welfare board, which has the authority to fix rates.

Supervisors Cut Convention Cost

Three votes were taken Monday by the supervisors to cut the cost of district association meetings.

Up to Monday any supervisor could attend and draw mileage and per diem.

On Monday the board by an 18-14 vote decided that all supervisors who attended Wednesday's meeting at Saginaw would have to go at their own expense.

Supervisor Lloyd Aseltine of Alameda, who said he voted with the majority because he thought the motion was a joke, moved for reconsideration. By a vote of 17-15 the matter was reconsidered.

Supervisor John Patriarche of East Lansing said that the issue should be taken out of the joke class. He moved that the chairman appoint a committee of five to attend the Saginaw meeting, with expenses of only the five to be paid. The motion was adopted. Chairman K. G. Brown, Williamston, chose Supervisors R. F. Wall, John Russell and Rina Dell of Lansing, Seth Carlson of Locke and Patriarche of East Lansing for the Saginaw mission.

Welfare Costs Go Up After Drop in 1951

No Career Relievers Are Tolerated in Ingham, Welfare Director States

Relief Director Daryl Minnis used both hands in making his report to the supervisors Monday. He used one to point with pride to the record drop in relief costs in 1951. He used the other to point to the danger of unemployment which increased Ingham costs $10,000 in January and another $10,000 in February.

In 1951 the decrease in public assistance expenditures, Minnis reported, was the greatest since the present welfare law was passed in 1939. Total expenditures were $2,649,608 compared with $2,942,847 in 1950. The decrease was $293,239.

Direct relief, adult hospitalization and operation of the county hospital showed a decrease of $136,893; from $764,239 in 1950 to $627,346 in 1951.

Old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and aid to the disabled decreased $156,340. In 1950 those programs cost $2,178,608. Last year they dropped to $2,022,267.

Employment and liberalization of the old age insurance and survivors brought about the savings, Minnis said, along with improved employment conditions for aged persons and mothers. He also credited administrative procedures and regulations with removing many cases from relief rolls.

No Career Relievers

There are no career relievers on Ingham rolls, Minnis declared.

"We try to get every family off relief as soon as possible," Minnis explained. "Usually the time limit is three months. By that time they are back at work, or if unemployable, are on federal programs."

Minnis commended the Olds Motor Works and other Lansing industries for employing the blind. He said Olds now has eight and other Lansing industries have 85, making a total of 93.

About three per cent of the population of Ingham receives welfare assistance of some sort, Minnis stated. The individual count runs about 5,100, he added.

Average monthly caseloads in the five categories, Minnis reported, were: Direct relief, 487; old age assistance, 2,408; aid to dependent children, 521; aid to the blind, 51; and aid to the disabled, 33.

The high cost of hospitalization is a major factor in relief, the director declared. Were it not for medical fees and hospital costs many people could be self-supporting who now have to have medical aid, he said.

If there is further inflation and further unemployment, Minnis warned, the welfare costs will rapidly go back up.

Miracle Finish Gives Mason Share of Title

Eleven points behind Charlotte with only three minutes left to go. That's where Mason stood Friday night, with a victory needed to tie with Lansing Everett for the Capital Circuit title.

The scoreboard showed 54-43 with Charlotte in the lead. Jim Roggow dumped in three quick baskets and put down two free throws with Doug Alderman adding a bucket and Merwin Crandall a free throw. Charlotte's Marvin Stall gave the Orioles a point in the meantime. Roggow's second free throw tied the score at 55-55.

There Charlotte began to run out of eligible players with 60 seconds left to play. First there were four Orioles, then only three left fluttering. With 14 seconds remaining there were only two pitted against the Mason five. Stan Stolz was fouled. Stepping to the foul line he tossed the ball through the meshes. That clinched the game.

With the game-end signal there was a rush from the Mason bench. Players grabbed Stolz and carried him on their shoulders to the locker room. It was the only point Stolz made. Yet it won the game and a share of the title.

Seventy-two fouls were called in the game, 43 against Charlotte, 29 against Mason.

This picture was taken in the locker room while the Bulldogs were still pinching themselves to see if they were dreaming or if the scoreboard was right.

Flames Damage Marquedant Car

Fire did extensive damage to Lyle Marquedant's car at the home of Earl Dunsmore on West Columbia Wednesday night.

Marquedant and his son, Lyle, 11, had driven from their home south of Eden to the Dunsmore home. The father was consulting with Dunsmore on income tax.

The son left the house frequently to go to the car to start the motor. At 9:15 when he started it fire developed around the motor.

Flames were shooting high when firemen arrived. Even the front tires were ablaze. Fire and smoke also destroyed the upholstery.

Firemen said they believed the blaze was caused by a short circuit setting fire to alcohol leaking from the water pump or radiator hose.

George Ward Dies Of Heart Attack In Williamston

George A. Ward, 72, suffered a fatal heart attack in Williamston late Tuesday afternoon. He with his son Donald drove to Williamston to pick up some repair parts.

As Mr. Ward parked his car in the business section he stepped to the pavement. He started to wipe ice from the windshield when he exclaimed to his son, "I don't feel right." He immediately toppled to the ground unconscious.

Remi Cremer, a neighbor, was driving past and saw Mr. Ward fall. He stopped his car and helped the son lift Mr. Ward into the rear of the car. They were near the office of Dr. Edward Reynolds. The son ran to the office. The doctor was not there. The nurse summoned Dr. Charles Shaw, who responded quickly. But Mr. Ward was dead.

For 25 years before he retired two years ago Mr. Ward managed the Farmers Elevator in Mason. He had an attack of pneumonia two years ago from which he never fully recovered. A few weeks ago he underwent an operation on his nose to stop recurrent hemorrhages.

Mr. Ward was born at Pavilion, New York, the son of Henry C. and Ellen Ward. When he was 12 he came with his parents to Mason. For a few months they lived on South street. Then they moved to the present Ward home on Barnes. George Ward lived there until his marriage to Cora B. Rossiter September 7, 1908. They went to the farm at 300 North Meridian road, where they spent the rest of their lives.

Mr. Ward was a widower. His wife died in 1938. The mother, Mrs. Ellen Ward; two sons, Donald Ward of Mason and Harold Ward of Fair Oaks, California; five grandchildren; and two sisters survive. The sisters are Mrs. Helen Collier and Miss Alta Ward of Mason.

In Mason high school Mr. Ward and Dr. Cecil Pollock were classmates. Dr. Pollock, who left retirement to become pastor of the Wheatfield Methodist church, will preach the funeral sermon. Services will be held at the Jewett chapel Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Remi Cremer, Rolfe Speers, Ben Felton, Earl Smith, Clarence Elbert and Kenneth Squires will be pallbearers. Burial will be in Maple Grove.

Dr. Crocker graduated from the University of Michigan dental school in June of 1951. Before entering the army air corps during the war he studied at Dennison University in Granville, Ohio.

He was a fighter pilot during the war, serving 18 months in the central Pacific.

Michael Crocker is five years old and will attend the kindergarten in Mason.

Elevator Plans For Court House Undergo Change

Four bidders on installing a court house elevator will have to submit new bids. They bid on an elevator to be installed on the north side of the corridor. Last Thursday it was learned that it would be impractical to build a shaft there.

The shaft provided when the court house was built 50 years ago will now be used for the cage. Water and sewer pipes will have to be removed to make room for the counter-weights.

Bids on the elevators in the old shaft will be taken within a few days by a joint committee made up of the ways and means and the county buildings committees. The board Monday authorized the joint committee to act if the total cost is within the $25,000 budget.

Chairman John Russell of the county buildings committee assured his colleagues that the bids will be within the budget.

O. J. Munson, Lansing architect, informed the committee last Thursday. Chairman Russell said that to build the shaft in the north corridor sections of three floors and parts of two vaults would have to be removed. The main joists would have to be cut, Russell said.

The Haughton, Otis, Westinghouse and Detroit elevator companies placed bids on the court house job, Russell reported.

Balderson Buys Farmers Elevator

F. L. Balderson of DeWitt purchased the Farmers Elevator Company business in Mason.

Balderson was formerly manager of the DeWitt elevator in the Farmers Elevator chain. He left the organization in 1939.

Balderson purchased the Mason feed mill and elevator last May at the public auction conducted by the state for redemption of sales taxes. The sale did not go through at that time due to some legal snarls.

Extensive repairs are being made to the mill machinery. The new owner expects to have the elevator in full operation by the middle of the week. In the meantime sales are being limited to seed orders and fertilizer orders.

Balderson has his home in DeWitt. He expects to move to Mason as soon as a house can be found.

Brown Urges Supervisors To Show Way with Aged

Vernon J. Brown of the Ingham County News urged Ingham supervisors Monday to show the way in the care of aged.

More people are growing old, Brown declared. Old folks are living longer and there are few places left in industry or on the farms for them, he added. The small houses now being erected aren't big enough to shelter grandparents and aunts and uncles, the publisher continued. There are no chimney corners left for the old folks, he said.

"We are faced with an inescapable fact, and Ingham is in a position to do something about it," Brown declared. "We don't have to wait for the state or the federal government to point the way. Over at Okemos we have an ideal set-up. We should go ahead with a building program."

In Michigan mental hospitals, Brown declared, 5,000 old people are keeping curable cases out, denying treatment to younger men and women who can be restored to normal life.

Loneliness and hopelessness are the chief contributing factors

Council Names 3 Candidates To Fill Ticket

Voters Now Have Choice Of Eight For Four Posts At Election On April 7

Frank Dakin, Earl Urquhart and Roland Troxell jumped, or maybe were pushed, Monday night into the April 7 race for four council seats. They will compete with five other men who filed petitions last month.

Under the new charter, there must be two candidates for each office. Five filed for the council seats. The charter forced the council to nominate three more. Councilmen picked the trio from a list of eight names submitted by a citizens committee. The committee, Leo Harrison, Nelson Brown and Cordie Bashford, were asked by the council last month to submit a list of possible candidates. The councilmen took the list and came up with Dakin, Urquhart and Troxell.

Mayor C. H. Hall announced the selection at the meeting Monday night. He explained that the list was passed around the council table and each councilman voted for the three candidates he would like to see on the ballot. The other candidates who were listed by the citizens committee were Mrs. Lucille Leonard, Mrs. Elsie Demorest, Gordon Kennedy, Gerald Parsons and Silas Bement.

Councilmen said that neither of the women received a vote. Parsons had withdrawn his name.

The terms of Councilman Harold Barnhill, W. Davis Post and Frank Evans and Mayor C. H. Hall expire with the April 7 election. Evans and Hall are candidates. Barnhill and Post are not seeking re-election. In addition, former Mayor S. A. Harrison, Ralph G. Strope and Chairman Everett filed petitions to qualify for the April 7 election.

The four successful candidates will serve for two-year terms. The terms of the other three members of the council do not expire until 1953. They are: Hurl, Silsby, Alton Stroud and W. O. Hall.

The new charter provides that a mayor will be selected from the councilmen who take their seats after the April 7 election. As a result, Mayor Hall will run for a council position.

Dakin is a former city alderman and supervisor. He is a retired mail carrier. Urquhart is associated with Schmidt's department store. Troxell works for Wyeth Incorporated.

Classes Arranged For Women with Heart Ailments

Free classes for Ingham county housewives, to teach them how to live and work with less strain on their energy, will begin on Tuesday, March 25, in Lansing according to Dr. Douglas Donald, Detroit, president of the Michigan Heart Association.

The classes, which are a free community service project of the Michigan Heart Association, are designed to fill the doctor's prescription of "take it easy" by showing the homemaker how to save as much as 75% of her walking, 75% of her movements and 60% of her reaching. This saving of time and energy means lessening the strain placed on the heart by reducing the physical effort expended by the housewife.

"Most people can enjoy the luxury of extra time and energy that results from finding easier and better ways of doing things," Dr. Donald stated, "but for the housewife with heart disease, the savings of time and energy in an absolute necessity."

The course of instruction is available to any woman in the community, but cardiac patients will be admitted to the classes first. Housewives may register for the free classes by writing to the Michigan Heart Association, 706 North Washington, Lansing or by calling its office at 4-7665.

Application blanks can be obtained this week from the Michigan Heart Association in order that they may attend the first class.

Each homemaker will be able to attend four demonstration-lecture classes which will be held on March 25 and 27 and April 1 and 3. Classes will meet in the home management building at Michigan State college.

Center street residents will have an opportunity at the next council meeting a week from Monday to speak for or against a proposed curb and gutter project.

Councilmen plan a public hearing then to hear ideas on the curb and gutter project. A majority of home owners have already expressed a want for the project in a petition submitted to the council two months ago.

Acting upon the petition drawn up by Center street home owners, the city council had City Engineer Walter Zimmer draw up plans and specifications for the project. Zimmer laid them on the council table at the meeting Monday night. The council approved the plans which call for a curb and gutter on Center from Walnut street to Lansing street.

Hall asked City Attorney O. J. Hood, Superintendent Julius Schmeichel, and City Clerk George Kellogg to draw up specifications before the garbage collection contracts come up.

One hundred six families have received aid through the Community Clearing House at Mason during the four-month period ending February 29. A report of activities was submitted by the chairman, Paul L. Arnold, at a meeting in the city council chamber last Thursday night.

Milton Beebe is treasurer. He reported a cash balance of $379.48 last October 24. Receipts from then until February 28 amounted to $488.50. Beebe said. Disbursements came to $757.18, for a present balance of $110.80.

The Clearing House support comes 100% from Mason and the townships of Vevay and Alaledon, while 37% of aid goes to non-supporting areas, the report indicated.

"This imbalance in distribution and financing requires a modification of policy," Chairman Arnold said. "Some method must be devised to secure support from areas not now contributing, but receiving benefits. The executive committee is considering plans to secure additional support."

Capital Circuit May Take in Holt

Holt may be the seventh member in the Capital Circuit if present sentiments are any indication. While no official action has been started the matter will probably come up for discussion at the meeting of Capital Circuit representatives Monday night at the Famous Grill in Lansing.

There has been talk for several years of including the Ramblers in the Capital Circuit. Holt is the team to be beaten year in and year out in the Ingham County league. In the past four years the Ramblers have won or shared the cage title every year and have yet to be beaten in football.

The Capital Circuit is primarily a Class B league. Everett is the only member at present rated in Class C. Lack of a ninth grade at Everett dropped the Vikings to Class C. Mason is another member of the Capital Circuit that is barely in Class B. The rest of the Capital Circuit teams are Charlotte, Eaton Rapids, Grand Ledge and Howell.

Holt is in C but will reach B within a year or two.

For the past two weeks the Capital Circuit has been sounding out member schools on the matter. Holt has wanted to get into the Capital Circuit for some time.

Holt-Everett Finals Assured

Holt and Everett both came through with first round wins Wednesday night at Lansing. Holt swamped Okemos 74-45 and Everett slaughtered Leslie 65-29.

These two teams will meet Friday night in the finals for Class C.

Holt had little trouble in disposing of the Chiefs. Bud Buermann, the ace Holt center sat out almost all the second half. The rest of the crack Holt squad saw limited action.

Bob Spraker led the Ramblers in the point department with 22. Bud Miller added 18 and Buermann collected 16 in the short while he worked.

Everett finally got started in the second game Wednesday night and beat Leslie. For the first quarter the Blackhawks put up a stiff battle. The down-the-floor tactics of the Ingham County league entry had the Vikings fooled for a while. Leslie stayed even with Everett until near the end of the first quarter when Everett was in front 9-8.

Then the Vikings found their shooting eyes and before Leslie could add a point Everett had shot out in front 21-9.

Marlin Mauter was the top man for Everett with 21 points. Tom Moon and Gerry Bentley each added 12. Dick Hecksel was held to six points, his lowest total this year.

J. B. Deans Become Grandparents Twice

Twice in a week Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dean of Mason became grandparents.

On Monday morning at Sparrow hospital a daughter, Priscilla Hazel, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dorn Diehl of Dansville. It was their second child. Mrs. Diehl was Lucille Dean before her marriage.

Myrtle Clickner Dies Following Long Sickness

Mrs. Myrtle L. Clickner, 59, died Sunday in the Sparrow hospital after a long sickness.

She was born October 26, 1892, in Aurelius township, the daughter of Harvey and Annie Field. She attended school in Aurelius. On May 5, 1912, she was united in marriage to Wells T. Clickner. They resided in Ingham county most of their married lives and lived on the corner of Waverly road and M-99 for 10 years previous to moving to 3710 Collins road in Lansing township.

Surviving besides the husband, Wells T., is one son, Charles of Lansing; two grandchildren and two brothers, Byron H. Field of Aurelius and Cyrus Field of Jackson.

Funeral services were conducted from the Ball-Dunn funeral home Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock with burial in the Woodlawn cemetery. Leslie, Rev. Calvin Thorpe of the Maple Grove Bible church officiated.

Pallbearers were Roscoe Foote, Henry Foote, Carl Foote, Boyd Relyea, Jerry Field and Donald Riddle.

Attorney Upholds Security Payment

Attorney O. J. Hood advised the city council Monday night that there has been no ruling on retroactive payments of social security for government employees. His opinion followed indecision as to the legality of the city making retroactive payments for city employees.

Hood pointed out that it is any legislative body's privilege to consider justice and fairness when making decisions of this type.

"That's exactly what I had in mind when I urged that the city make these payments for city employees a month ago," Councilman Alton Stroud stated.

Recently the city council adopted the newly-created social security status for city employees. The council decided to make social security status retroactive back to January 1, 1951. Donald O'Hara of the State Employees association had reported that such public spending could be considered a misuse of public funds.

Progress Is Made On War Memorial

Progress is being made on the project for a memorial shaft in Maple Grove cemetery at Mason. The Womens' Relief Corps, the Blue Star Mothers, the Auxiliary to the Disabled American Veterans, the Jean Anderson Post of VFW and Browne-Cavender American Legion Post and its Auxiliary were represented at the committee meeting held in the Legion Memorial building Monday night.

Sketches of various types of memorials were exhibited by Carlton Hunter. The committee chose a plain shaft of granite as most suitable for the memorial lot in the cemetery. As the monument is to be dedicated to all soldiers of all of the nation's wars, the committee members expressed the hope that many individuals may wish to contribute to the fund. With this idea in mind, arrangements have been made for gifts or pledges to be left at the Farmers bank of Mason, with Mrs. Gladys Burroughs at the Farmers Mutual Insurance office or with Laurence Parker or Miss Ethel Adams at the office of the Ingham county treasurer.

The committee expects to have receipts and pledge cards prepared within the next few days, to be available at these places. Members of the committee said they hoped that the project may be carried through so that the monument may be in place for dedication on Memorial Day.

Audubon Society Plans Meeting

The next meeting of the Lansing Audubon Society will be held on Thursday evening, March 13, in the social room at Eastern high school in Lansing. The speaker for the evening will be Dr. C. T. All persons in the Lansing area, including both Ingham and Clinton counties, are invited to the meetings and to take part in the activities of the society. A hiking program will be sponsored during the spring and early summer, the first bird hike to take place near Lake Lansing on the afternoon of March 29.

Clerk at Leslie Has Purse Stolen

After the couple had left, Mrs. Heukelum discovered her purse containing about $50 was missing. ### Band Is Appreciated

Last night Mr. Adams and I attended the mid-winter band concert at Mason high school. We have attended many such concerts and as I watched the eager faces of the young people in the cadet and concert bands I thought of others through the years, who have had the privilege of belonging to the school band here in our community. It is a privilege to be a band member and as I watched and listened last night, I came to the conclusion that the members of the band are glad they belong. Their performance proved to me that they are putting real conscientious effort into their music.

George Murthum works hard with our boys and girls. We as parents as well as the band members, should be very thankful. Mason high school has as capable a director as Mr. Murthum.

We take our hats off to the members of the cadet and concert bands, the soloists, for their fine performance and Mr. Murthum, director. It was a fine concert.

I should also like to add that everyone enjoyed the performance of the special guests, the Barbershop Quartet.

Holt PTA Members Will Hear Report On Growth Studies

At 8:00 p. m. Monday, March 10, in the high school gym, the Holt PTA will hear Dr. Arthur DeLong, assistant professor of elementary education at Michigan State college, report on the college's study of child growth and development which is being carried on in the Holt public schools.

Through Dr. DeLong's report it is hoped that parents will get a clearer picture as to what the total research program is, what things the college observers are looking for through tests, interviews, sociograms, and case studies, how their findings may influence education in general, what a child's optimal development ought to be, and what constitutes true balanced development in a child.

A preliminary description of the Holt study appeared in a recent issue of the Journal of the Michigan Education Association. A good attendance of parents is expected, since this study of the growth and development of Holt's school children may prove to be one of the more important pieces of research now going on in the nation.

A recently completed group of enlarged pictures of Holt children and teachers at work in the classrooms, with college observers watching and helping, will be available for inspection. This collection of pictures was taken and prepared by a college photographer for use in describing the program to educators and lay people throughout the state.

Other features of the meeting will be the annual election of officers and refreshments.

Montgomery Opens Campaign For Post of Judge of Probate

State Representative Robert M. Montgomery, who has served as Lansing township justice of the peace for 18 years, has declared himself a candidate for the office of Ingham county probate judge. His candidacy has been rumored for several months.

In making clear his intentions, Justice Montgomery brings to a close an eight-year career as a member of the state legislature.

During his four terms he was twice elected speaker pro tempore of the house of representatives and served as Republican floor leader. He was also chairman of the important house state affairs committee and chairman of the committee on reorganization of government.

As head of the latter committee, popularly known as the "Little Hoover Commission," Montgomery came into state-wide prominence as a leader in the fight for widespread reforms in state government. He has been mentioned numerous times as a possible candidate for high public office, including that of secretary of state.

"I have concluded I can best serve the people of Ingham county as their probate judge," he said. "I am sure the experience I have had in the legislature, on various study commissions and as justice of the peace has given me the training and background needed to properly administer this important office."

As probate judge, Montgomery said he will give special attention to the problems of juvenile delinquency.

"The problems of youth will always be with us," he said. "But there is no doubt in my mind the prudent administration of justice, rather than harsh punishment, can go a long way toward a solution of these problems."

"I see no reason why boys and girls who make a single mistake should automatically be committed to institutions, thus giving them the kind of start in life which practically assures them a life of criminal activity."

He pointed out that records show more than 75 per cent of all criminals in our prisons have juvenile records.

"More can be accomplished through the use of wise, fatherly guidance than by placing children behind prison bars," he said. "Having raised three children to adulthood, I know whereof I speak."

Montgomery also promised to use extreme care and judgment in ordering the commitment of insane persons to mental hospitals.

"It is common knowledge that in the past, throughout Michigan,

Judge Montgomery

there have been abuses of this power on the part of some probate judges," he said. "No doubt there are numerous persons held in bondage in state hospitals merely because selfish relatives wanted those persons out of the way."

Justice Montgomery also promised:

"To expedite the normal work of the probate judge's office by spending full time on the job."

An honest and straight forward administration of the provisions of wills.

Wider use of foster homes for children who have become delinquent due to broken families.

Montgomery is a native of Lansing and attended the public schools. He is a graduate of Ferris Institute and also attended Michigan State college and the Armour Institute, of Chicago. He lives with his family at 3001 Greenoak street.

SERVICE COUNCIL TO MEET

Members of the Ingham County Service Council will meet Friday at 11:45 at the Ingham county library. Donald DeVinney, district consultant, and Miss Eulaine Murphy, interstate correspondence supervisor of the state department of social welfare, will present the program. Those attending are to take their own sandwiches. Coffee and dessert will be furnished.

Chicago Newspaper Prints Mason Joke

Up in the right-hand ear on the front page of the Chicago Daily News Saturday was an item about the Mason women who complained to the sheriff that her hearing aid picked up CAP and police radio signals. The story was in the January 24 Ingham County News.

Suburban Area Vote Date Set

Supervisors Monday set November 4 as the election date on the incorporation of West Lansing.

The area lies west of Lansing between the bends of Grand river.

Supervisor Walter Munyon of Lansing headed the special committee which checked the petition signed for calling the election on incorporation. Supervisors John B. Fay of Delhi and Wilfred Jewett of Vevay were on the committee with Munyon.

A special election is too costly and only those who favor a proposal are interested, Munyon said. At the general election November 4 the cost of deciding the incorporation issue will be small and the vote will be representative, he declared.

Red Cross Opens Roll Call Drive

A Red Cross sticker in every window in Ingham county became the slogan in the annual month-long membership campaign, which opened Saturday.

Going back to its old method of financing its program, Red Cross seeks to sell 45,000 memberships to individuals, businesses and industrial plants, according to Eugene N. Houck, campaign chairman.

The enrolling of members will be left to 1,000 volunteers in the county, Houck said. They will contact each of the 45,000 homes in the county. There will be no canvassing of employees in stores, offices or plants.

In all communities, Houck said, "majors" and "captains" are being named to direct a "house to house" canvass in quest of memberships. The East Lansing effort, headed by Mrs. Frank Montgomery, is now under way.

Setting the pace, Houck signed Frank Kropschot, chapter chairman, and Mayor Ralph W. Crego, as the No. 1 and No. 2 members of the campaign. Business memberships will be enrolled by a "team" headed by Charles W. Fratcher, Jr., local insurance underwriter who is active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Through sale of the memberships, Houck said, the chapter will finance its blood program, veteran, armed forces, and home services, disaster relief, entertainment for veterans at Percy Jones hospital, and other programs.

County Spent $7,000,000 in 1951

One of Ingham's biggest businesses last year was running the people's business. For that the sum of $7,173,584.26 was paid through the county treasurer. Left on hand at the close of 1951 was $1,243,535.25.

Much of that $7,173,584.26 went to schools and townships, villages and cities from sales tax or highway funds, already earmarked for local units when the money was received from the state.

Both County Treasurer Lyle B. Austin and County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard submitted their annual

LINDEMERE REPORTS TO INGHAM DISTRICT

State Payroll Issue Causes Strife

For the first time this year I have found occasion to compose a legislative report to the voters in my district such as I prepared on a monthly basis during the session of the legislature last year. The reason has been the difference in the two legislative sessions.

This year the legislature is seeking to operate under a so-called speed-up rule which will permit adjournment by April 11. Last year the first two months of the legislative session were largely devoted to a small number of minor bills. This year every day of the legislative session has seen increased activity both by the committees and on the floor of the house.

Personally, I feel that the rule is working well and the purpose for which it was designed is being accomplished. However, I must be frank and tell you that the session has been somewhat hectic to this date.

Governor's Budget Soars

At the beginning of the session the legislature was presented with a budget request by Governor Williams which was by several million dollars larger than any ever presented to the legislature before. That budget request set the pattern.

The Democratic members of the legislature, in conformity with the dictates of the Front Office, are doing everything within their power to offer everything to everybody with the cost as a final and less important consideration. Until about the middle of February there actually was little inter-party strife, but lately it is becoming clearer that Democrats will be Democrats and that Republicans must be Republicans and at least for the present administration, there is little chance for compromise.

One major exception to this statement is the Lindemer election bill. The senate passed a bill which moved the date of the primary election up to June of 1952. This bill was anathema to the governor and in fact was considered unwise legislation by many Republicans. As a result, after an exceptionally fine spirit of cooperation, the Lindemer bill passed the house and set the primary election on September 2. Objections to the bill as it presently stands have been pretty largely withdrawn in the interests of good election procedure.

There may be minor amendments put on the bill in the senate, but for anyone to attempt to anticipate the moves of the senate at this time would be folly.

In the past week the Republicans of both house and senate caucused and arrived at a determination that economy could no longer be something to be talked about, but must instead be something of an actual experience if the state finances were to in any way resemble the product of sane minds. It was a difficult step to take for the Republicans to say economy must be practiced even though there will be some among our friends who will be jeopardized thereby. It was a step that took either political courage or political foolishness, depending upon your viewpoint.

The governor's reaction to the step of economy was typical. He immediately proceeded to denounce the program before interested and biased groups as an attempt by the legislature to destroy the efficient functioning of such groups. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

Living Within Budget

The question of living within the budget as applied to individual segments of our government that survive to the extent that the legislature provides funds for them is no longer something to be given. The governor's comptroller, Robert Steadman, has failed his duty of enforcing the ship act, which provides that budget allowances should not be exceeded. That, of course, is in conformity with the approach of his administration in Lansing. If solvency such as we desire in our private lives is to become a reality in our public finances, then the bitter medicine of self-denial that we practice in our private lives must be practiced in our public finances.

The governor's pet scheme of a corporate income tax, was thoroughly studied by a non-partisan citizens tax study commission, including among its members the former Democratic United States senator, Prentiss Brown. That commission came to the conclusion that a corporate income tax was a bad move for the state of Michigan to take.

The commission has determined that there are inequities within the present tax structure which, if corrected, will add from 32 to 50 million dollars more revenue to the state. An inequity, by definition, exists when different people or groups which should be treated alike in the tax program are, in fact, not treated alike and some people or some groups are given a favorable or unfair treatment. It is to be expected that some of these inequities will be corrected in tax legislation presented in this session.

To date your representative has been absent from only one day's session of the legislature. It is my hope that I shall be able to continue not only my record of attendance, but my record of participation in constructive state legislation.

As in the past, I have attempted to do that which my constituents and the people generally wanted and which I determined to be in the best interests of the state as a whole. I shall continue in that manner. In so doing there may come times when you and I shall disagree. On these occasions I invite your comments and criticisms and I assure you that I shall accord them the consideration which they merit.

Council Passes Sewer Project On Okemos Street

Residents on the north side of Okemos street near the Randolph street intersection have a new sanitary sewer to look forward to as a result of city council voting Monday night.

The council voted unanimously to ask for bids immediately for the construction of 600 feet of sewer. Eight parcels of land will be assessed for the improvement. Under terms agreed upon Monday night, the city will pay 40% of the estimated $2,000 cost with the remainder being paid by the property owners benefited.

The sewer can be used to an advantage by the people in the area, Councilman Frank Evans said at the meeting. One property owner has an outside toilet and two others have septic tanks. According to a report made by the county health department, the land is too low to permit the use of such equipment.

"It appears to me that the need for a sanitary sewer in this area is evident and the cost will not be prohibitive," Evans told the council.

Council Boosts Rate

Councilmen approved a new water and sewer rate ordinance at the Monday night meeting. Under the new scale rates will be 25% to 40% higher. The rate will go into effect April 1, 1952.

The present 10% discount will be continued, councilmen agreed. A public hearing was arranged for Monday night to discuss the bill in water rates. No property owner appeared to ask a question.

The new water rates are based on actual costs, according to Julius Schmeichel, superintendent of public works. Councilman Evans stated that if the city allows 10% discounts, then the water and sewer department will just be short that much at the end of the year. However, if such a discount program will make a savings on bill collections, then the water and sewer costs might remain the same with any savings going to the people, it was pointed out.

The council agreed to continue the discount method at least until the system causes a deficit in the water and sewer account.

Register of Deeds Reports Busy Year

In a report to the board of supervisors Monday, the register of deeds stated that 44,614 papers were recorded during 1951. Mia Bell Humphrey, deputy, submitted the report.

Most of the chattel mortgages covered automobiles, Mrs. Humphrey reported, although the present trend is to household goods. Real estate mortgages dropped below the 1950 total in number although the amount loaned increased.

Receipts from the office came to $31,432.04 in 1951 with disbursements of $24,648.63 charged to the office, leaving a net balance of $6,783.41.

Farmer Fears Profs

Why I mentioned Columbia University last week is because Felix Frankfurter, a good friend of Alger Hiss, was professor there. Now Dwight Eisenhower in his spare time heads Columbia. There is a connection or relation between Columbia and some other schools and the internationalists.

Should we build up and improve the United States for the communists and socialists without even knowing who they are?

The question in my mind is: Can we pick up enough truth and honesty out of Democrats and Republicans we elect if we write them to maintain a government in the best country in the world? Or must we and congress be so much Democrat or Republican that we actually endanger our two-party system? We already have forfeited part of it.

I think the Detroit Red investigation should have been televised. We could have told something about the situation had we been permitted to view faces and observe actions. The gigglers and the lawless men and women who were before the committee would have been put in their places and honest men and women recognized them for what they are.

UN and controls may be all right in the hands of honest people. When they are not in those hands we must take action.

FROST UPDIKE,
Stockbridge

Lawyers Milk Cow

I was drawn on a lawsuit as a witness in December in February and again in March. It makes me think of the two farmers who both figured they owned a certain cow. John got her by the horns and Jim got her by the tail. They both pulled while the two lawyers each with a pail sat down to milk. When they got what they could they said, "Let her go boys. When she fills up we will milk her again."

Air Raid Practice

I don't think the sound of the fire siren confuses the people as much as you might be confusing the people by writing the article you wrote.

I have this to say: The air raid practice we had a couple of weeks ago showed what it would be like if a bomb had struck Mason without warning. See? We showed the people how many could have been saved, or how many would have been killed, by not being warned by some means.

If Civil Defense had warned the people of the air raid practice they might have gone for cover, but I doubt it, as some people think we don't need it, and are unconcerned about it. None of us expect such sudden attack. But it could happen. If Lansing or the state had sent word to Mason's center control that night that there was a bombing, all Mason Civil Defense could have done would have been to blow the siren.

What time would the Civil Defense had to advise or notify the people at the moment?

You spoke about even the firemen themselves were fooled by the recent air raid alarm. Let me inform you, the head members of the fire department were notified about the air raid practice run to be on that night. In regard to the fireman who works on the night shift in Lansing. Do they have to call him every time there is a fire if he is at work in Lansing? Why didn't his wife call at the fire barn and find out first before she called her husband? Before she endangered her husband's life?

People are asked not to follow the fire trucks as the fire department has enough men to handle the situation. If not they can call for more help from other fire departments. People needn't be killed by careening cars or fire trucks if they stay where they belong.

Being struck by an atomic bomb wouldn't be the fault of our Mason people or Lansing people. And this Civil Defense is being set up by federal and state officials to help protect the people in the United States.

Civil Defense authorities are anxious to guard the rights of the American people and their property if the people will work along with them. Civil Defense isn't only for a few people to do it all. It is everybody's job.

And about the fire siren: Why so much criticism? No one was hurt; only their feelings because they were not warned. If you had been interested and had read what has been printed in the papers about Civil Defense this surprise air raid practice might not have been such a surprise to you.

As you should know, the fire siren isn't used only for fires. It is also used for Civil Defense air raids and air raid practice. Nowadays by knowing Mason has Civil Defense why aren't more people considerate of it?

Why was there any more danger of people getting hurt the night of the air raid practice than there is at any other time when the fire siren blows for a fire? Don't people rush just the same? Isn't it just as dangerous then as it was on the night of the air raid practice? No one to my knowledge was hurt.

For rigging up another siren for Civil Defense, I see no sense in that. All that is asked is that people be on the alert, as you know we are living in an atomic age.

If the people stay away from the fire barn and let the firemen handle the situation when the fire whistle blows, as they know all about it if it is a fire or air raid or alert, they won't get hurt. Even if the fire department were called on atomic bombing explosion they have their help.

There is no need for confusion and it would be eliminated if everybody would take an interest in what is supposed to be their protection. As I've explained before, this Civil Defense is not only for atomic bombing, it is also for any serious disaster. I feel that there is just a little too much criticism, as this Civil Defense is a thankless job.

A. J. BETCHER,
Civil Defense Director

March of Dimes

Now that the 1952 March of Dimes campaign is officially closed, I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the many people who so generously contributed their dimes and dollars to fight polio.

I also feel that credit should be given to those who gave so unselfishly of their time and effort to make this campaign a success. Among those active in your area were George Harris of Lansing, Ingham county campaign director, Frank Guerriero of Mason, and Searl Briggs of Dansville, community campaign directors. As Michigan March of Dimes chairman, I have seen the excellent work that has been done by these people. I am sure your readers will want this information so that they can express their thanks personally to these people for the very fine job that they did.

I am sorry that space does not permit my personally thanking the many clubs, organizations and other groups which sponsored fund-raising activities which resulted in the 1952 March of Dimes being the most successful in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in this state.

In closing, I want to thank your newspaper for the news reporting and the human interest stories so essential to the attainment of our goal.

PAUL D. BAGWELL
East Lansing

The Japanese Lesson

Ask the Japanese, Hiroshima and Nagasaki had almost no civil defense as we know it. When atomic bombs were dropped, their citizens were almost completely unprepared. Results: The people panicked badly. Many thousands were needlessly hurt or killed, families were broken up, property was lost. Thousands were left homeless with no one to care for them. The wounded and helpless, who might otherwise have lived, died because proper civil defense was not organized to save them.

But there was something of even greater importance to a nation that was fighting for its life.

The fact that there was no civil defense meant that the factories left standing after the atomic blast could not operate.

Without civil defense a nation is helpless. With it, cities can get up off the floor and fight back after an attack. Casualties can be cut at least in half.

A. J. BETCHER
Civil Defense Director

Maple Syrup Customer

I am writing to send along a notice which I would appreciate your putting in the columns of the Ingham County News, as it is something I think will be of interest to your readers.

While writing, I want to tell you how keenly I enjoy the paper, not only the legal notices which are helpful in knowing what cases are being filed, etc., but I particularly enjoy the column "Down by the Sycamore."

I shall be looking around in a week or two to see who has syrup for sale, and also trust you will have some want ads on that.

This notice concerns the Lansing Audubon Society and we feel that the folks down in the county would enjoy that just as much as we up here.

Unforgivable Sin

I am writing in regard to Mrs. Allen's letter on the birthday of A. J. Hall. My grandmother, Mabel Stevens, was his cousin. I believe, Mrs. Allen's letter was good except for one thing, you committed an unforgivable sin when you spelled the word Negro with a small "n." It has long been established in the publishing world that only those with the most backward undemocratic principles slur the Negro people in this way.

I am inclined to agree with your editorial on U. M. T. In my six years of service to our country I found that my training under such leaders as Mel Avery (4-H clubs) did far more toward preparing me to live with my fellow servicemen than those who had attended such schools as Culver Military Academy. My experience of three amphibious landings, North Africa, Sicily, and Makin Island, prove to my satisfaction that a soldier is not a soldier until he is baptized by fire. U. M. T. is a device for giving jobs to the military brass hats and to instill regimentation in our youth.

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life.

A good part of the time, they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thriftily feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

You should also know how Buick's Power Steering* provides a helping hand in slow-motion maneuvers—lets you keep the "feel" of the car in straightaway driving.

And just for good measure, this '52 ROADMASTER also has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick—the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders—a warning light that glows when the parking brake is set—and to top it all, the smartest interior fabrics that Buick has ever offered.

When are you coming in to look this distinguished performer over? We urge you to make it soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER only.

Sure is true for '52

God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him. (Acts 10:34, 35.) Read Acts 8:26-38.

Some years ago a graduate of a famous university took a vacation journey across the United States. A brilliant scholar, he had begun a graduate course in law. Religion had no place in his life. He fancied that he had outgrown God. Imagine, then, the astonishment of his friends a year or so later when—after earning his degree—he announced that he was giving up law to enter a seminary.

Today the book that lists him writes "Reverend" before his name and after it the one word, "minister."

"Three things on that trip west," he explained, "changed everything for me: a sophomore theme I happened to read; the kindness of a railroad brakeman; the faith of a little girl in a home where I was entertained."

We can thank God that He works His righteousness among us. We shall never outgrow God when we let Christ have His rightful place in our lives.

PRAYER. Our Father, we thank Thee for every good influence that has touched our lives. Help us, in turn, to introduce to others the faith that saves through all the world—the knowledge of Thee as revealed in Thy Son, our Master and Lord, in whose name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY. God works righteousness everywhere through the humble-hearted.—Harriet M. Lucas (Minnesota)

Churches Survey Holt Area Homes

On Sunday and Monday there was carried on in the Holt area one of the most extensive religious activities ever to be attempted. More than 180 youth and adults, representing the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, made a nearly complete religious census of the community. The census was a part of the Greater Lansing participation in the National Christian Teaching Mission.

Canvassers worked under the direction of Rev. Vernon Smith and Rev. Wilson Tennant, ministers of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in Holt, assisted by Rev. Paul Arnold and Rev. Raymond Norton of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in Mason. The group met for a bohemian dinner in the social hall of Brotherhood Temple Methodist church at 12:45 Sunday noon. Instructions were given by the use of a film strip and verbal directions by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Norton. Twelve captains had been selected ahead of time and assigned to specific areas.

Captains from the Presbyterian church were James Grinnell, Earl Smith, Robert Hall, Harold McKinney, George Knight and Walter Knowles. Serving as captains from the Methodist church were John Bell, Merle Fluke, Floyd Lott, Harold Laycock, Jay Parkhurst and Marshall Chappell.

The census takers reported good cooperation from the Catholic residents of the area. As the cards were brought back in to the church they were processed and then given to the respective churches. Each church in the area will benefit from the census in knowing more definitely its responsibility, leaders said.

The area covered by the Holt group was from Jolly road to Harper road and from Phillips road to South Washington road. Analysis of the returns showed the following general results: 53% of the people indicated a preference for the local protestant churches, Holt Methodist, Holt Presbyterian, or Miller Road Bible. About 83% gave Protestant affiliation or preference when all Protestant churches are included; 8% indicated Catholic affiliation or preference; and 8% indicated no religious preference.

BETTY WAS THE BEST. No matter what side of the fence spectators were sitting on, Betty was hailed as the best man on the floor in Friday night's fantastic game. In the left hand picture the Charlotte star wearing No. 33 leaps high in the air to get off a one-hand shot. From Charlotte's standpoint the best thing about Betty is the fact that he will be around for two more years. He is just a sophomore.

Jim Roggow is the Mason player on the left vainly trying to get to Betty in time to stop the shot. Clarence Randall is at the right of Betty and Mason's Jon Davis, No. 11, is also trying to close in on the Oriole star. Joe Jauch is the Charlotte player wearing No. 52.

Tragedy had developed into comedy when the center picture was taken. The man on the left enjoying the laugh is Elkin Isaacs, the Charlotte coach. Orm Osborn, the official with the striped shirt, has just put the eighth Oriole out of the game on fouls, leaving Charlotte with only two men on the floor. Mason's coach, Don Carey, is the other man with his back to the camera. He is really enjoying the laugh—his team won. J. Edward Soper, Mason's scorer, is the man on the right with the big smile.

In the picture on the right Mason's hard-driving Jim Roggow pounds toward the basket from the corner. He has just driven past Charlotte's Betty and still has to get to Joe Jauch, No. 52. Clarence Randall is the Mason player watching the play unfold.

Haslett Closes With 50-42 Win

Haslett wound up a fairly successful cage season Friday night with a 50-42 victory over Williamston.

Haslett finished the season in second place in the Ingham County league race with only Holt in front.

According to pre-season dopsters that is the way the final standings would look.

Williamston ended the season with a record of eight victories and six defeats. The Hornets were the surprise team of the year. Last year Williamston failed to win a game. With the same crew Coach Clair McDermott came back to take over fourth place in the final standings. The Hornets were a team to be feared all year.

Against Haslett Williamston could not put up with the belated Laker attack. Darwin Hart led the Lakers with 17 points. Bill Haslett flipped in 10, Fred Schabley hit for nine and Bud Wilson was good for eight to give the Lakers a good for-pronged attack.

Jim Eckman was the top point producer for Williamston with 17. Wes Exelby was next with 12. The rest of the Williamston points were scattered. Except for a bad Williamston second quarter the game was close all the way. The Lakers took their one-point lead built up in the first half and stretched it to 25-19 by the end of the half. In the third period the two teams produced an equal number of points and in the last quarter Haslett edged the Hornets by two markers.

MAURER MAKES IT
Marlin Maurer, Everett cage ace was named to the Class C all-state second team by the Detroit Free Press. John Betty of Charlotte was given honorable mention in Class B.

Mason Wins Share of Circuit Title In Fleeting Minutes of Final Game

By Dick Brown
Ingham County News

Wow! There was never another game like it.

Those are the sentiments of the 800 cage fans who watched Mason overtake and finally pass Charlotte for a 56-55 victory—Friday night in the Mason gym.

By beating Charlotte the Bulldogs climbed onto the Capital Circuit throne alongside of Lansing Everett. This is the second year in a row that Mason has tied for the honors. Last year Everett, Charlotte and Mason all were knotted at the top when the season firing came to a close.

Friday night's game was the most fantastic ever written into the record book. Charlotte finished out the game with only two players—yes, two—players—on the floor. The rest of the Charlotte squad was forced out of the game on fouls. This is the way it went.

The Bulldogs and Orioles played on even terms in a torrid first half. Charlotte edged Mason 13-12 in the first quarter. In the second period the Orioles again out-scored the Bulldogs. Charlotte left the floor at intermission with a 25-22 lead. Up to that point it was just another good ball game.

Betty Sparks Rally

In the third quarter John Betty opened up with three quick shots for Charlotte and Joe Jauch, the Oriole center, caged another. Mason staggered under this one-two attack and the Bulldogs chances of victory and a chance of sharing the title with Everett withered.

Midway in the third period both teams forgot their basketball and picked up hockey tactics. Orm Osborn and Gordon Myer, the two officials, tried to keep the game in hand by close calling on fouls. Before they finished their evening's work the referees had called a total of 71 fouls and had forced eight Orioles and three of Mason's men from the game.

Mason was hit first. Bob Jewett left with five fouls after three minutes of the third quarter. Then Charlotte lost Joe Young. In the meantime the Orioles had built up their lead to 11 points, 42-31.

Mason refused to stay down. At the end of the period Mason trailed 43-34. Jim Roggow opened up the fourth quarter with a flurry of shots and then Doug Alderman pumped in a salvo to put Mason up to within one point of the Orioles.

Then Charlotte extended its lead to 54-44 on quick baskets by Betty and Jauch. Mason's hopes seemed doomed. Three minutes remained in the game, with Mason 10 points behind.

Roggow swished a quick shot and followed with a free throw. Alderman added a charity toss and then Roggow hit for two more quick baskets. Again Mason was only one point behind the Orioles. The score stood at 54-43. There was only one minute left to play. Each team had five men on the floor.

Then Charlotte players started to leave the game. First, there were only four Orioles on the floor. Coach Elkin Isaacs called time out and recruited two men from the audience. The pair made a mad dash for the locker room to climb into borrowed uniforms while the game went on.

Two Orioles Depart
Then there were only three Orioles. Coach Isaacs again called time out and coaches and officials gathered around the scoring table to argue as to whether the Charlotte water boy and a six-foot, three-inch spectator could rightfully be recruited. Don Carey, the Mason coach, insisted they could not as long as they were not listed as possible players before the game started. His views were upheld by the referees, Osborn and Myer, and the game went on with five against three.

Roggow was fouled again. The Mason star stepped up to the foul stripe and dropped in the game-tying point while bedlam broke loose among the spectators and officials and coaches again went into a lengthy discussion.

When play was resumed Charlotte took the ball out of bounds. The three Oriole players, Ken Olmstead, Marv Stall and Bob Carr, could not get the ball up the floor and Mason took over. Roggow drove in toward the basket and was called for charging. Stall dropped his foul shot to again put Charlotte out in front.

Mason took the ball out of bounds and Roggow drove in on the three Charlotte defenders. This time Stall was called for blocking and Roggow stepped to the foul stripe and dropped his shot, tying up the game. Again officials and coaches, along with a few spectators, gathered around the bench for another heated discussion and again Charlotte appeals were denied.

When play was resumed Olmstead and Carr took the ball out of bounds. Mason's live men, Roggow, Alderman, Loren Shattuck, Merwin Crandall and Stan Stolz, clamped down and the Oriole two-some could not get the ball across the 10-second line. Mason took over at mid-court and again drove in on the two Oriole defenders. This time Olmstead was called for hacking and Freshman Stan Stolz, playing his second varsity game, was given a shot. He coolly swished it and Mason was out in front.

Olmstead and Carr again were stopped from bringing the ball up the floor and Mason took the ball out of bounds. The Bulldogs were tapping the ball from one side of the basket to the other when the final whistle blew.

That final whistle was a sweet sound to Mason ears. It meant victory over the Orioles and a share of the Capital Circuit championship. The loss put Charlotte in third place.

Betty Is the Best
Without a doubt the best player on the floor was Charlotte's John Betty. The Oriole star with the handicapped left arm displayed coolness and smartness throughout the game. Until he left with two minutes remaining in the game the Orioles definitely were outplaying Mason. His ball-handling was superb and his night's harvest of 19 points on eight field goals and three foul shots attested to his accuracy. Time and again he outsmarted Mason's good defenses.

Joe Jauch also was a handy man for Charlotte. He tossed in 13 points while Lightner added 10.

Jim Roggow was the big scorer for the evening's battle, though. He registered 20 points on six field goals and eight foul shots. Eleven of Roggow's points came in that last hectic quarter. Doug Alderman added 19 points and played a good game on the backboards.

Mason's reserves came through in fine style. Crandall, Stolz, Davis, and Shattuck have not seen very much action this year. That didn't keep them from turning in good defensive games when the chips were down in the last quarter.

Seventy-one fouls were called for what possibly is a Michigan high school record. Charlotte drew 43 of the whistle blasts and Mason was charged for rule infractions 28 times.

Mason was given 50 shots from the foul line and could cash in on only 26 of them. Charlotte had a chance at 28 foul shots and cashed in on 13.

The entire Charlotte starting lineup fouled out of the game and two of the Mason starters' plus Clarence Randall failed to stay around for the finish.

SMITH IS NAMED
Jim Smith, former Mason basketball player, was named to the Detroit Free Press all-state high school team in Class D. Smith now plays at Ellsworth up by Traverse City. Ellsworth is rated as one of the contenders for the Class D crown. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, former Mason residents.

Echoes of the Big Game

Had Coach Elkin Isaacs of the Orioles wanted to lose by forfeit instead of free throws, he could have ordered one of his two remaining players to foul out. There would have been only one man left and the game would have come to a halt. There would have been no one to have fed the ball out on an out-of-bounds play.

Mason and Charlotte may have a chance to meet again in the district tournament this week end. Of course, Mason must first get by Hastings Friday night, and Charlotte must play Grand Ledge. Mason has the toughest assignment. Hastings has 67 Lynn Beadle, all-state center.

Friday night's game drew the biggest crowd of any ever staged in the Mason gym. Youngsters and adults squatted on the sidelines and clung from the balconies.

The Orioles lost one basket when a coat fell from the balcony just as a Charlotte man shot for the hoop. The coat neatly blocked the ball and saved Mason two points.

Officials at the game were from Jackson. They officiate at games in the recreation league there. They called the fouls as they saw them, and they saw a lot, and then they didn't see all of them. It was just a case of two teams going at top speed—maybe the old physics problem of what happens when an irresistible force hits an immovable object.

There were 575 paid admissions. Team members, teachers, cheer leaders, coaches, assistants, a lot of visiting firemen and many late comers went in for free. With the crowd milling outside the doors in the corridors the unofficial tally was 800.

One factor which added to Friday night's record crowd was the interest the game between Mason and Charlotte stirred up in Everett. There were almost as many spectators from the Lansing suburb as there were from the two competing schools.

The southwest corner of the Mason gym took on the aspects of a coaches convention. Cage coaches and officials were on hand for the game from just about every team in the Capital Circuit, Ingham County league and West Central league.

The busiest visiting coach was Lou Lang of Hastings. He scribbled notes all night. Hastings stands a chance of meeting both teams providing Mason can be beaten in the opening game of the district. Friday night.

Guy Royston, the dean of the Mason cage fans, got so excited he almost fell out of his choice seat in the balcony. He has watched Mason teams play ball for over 40 years and has yet to see one to compare with Friday night's extravaganza, he said.

Okemos Grabs Third Place In Last Win

Okemos wound up the 1952 basketball season with a 61-49 victory over Stockbridge and undisputed possession of third place in the final Ingham County league standings.

The Okemos victory coupled with the Haslett defeat of Williamston, puts the Chiefs in the third slot behind Holt and Haslett.

Dee McDonald saved his best night of the year for the final game. The high-scoring Chief forward dumped in 28 points on 12 field goals and four free throws against the Panthers.

Phil Ray, the other Chief forward, also had a night for himself. He tallied 18 points.

Stockbridge had two scoring leaders. Both Ray McKinney and Bill Sweet tallied 11.

Okemos edged Stockbridge in every period except the last when the Panthers climbed over the Chief reserves.

At the end of the first quarter the Chiefs were riding along with a 19-12 lead. This was increased to 32-20 by halftime and at the three-quarter mark Okemos was comfortably out in front 49-35.

Doug Alderman Is Top Scorer

Mason cagers closed out the 1951-52 cage season Friday night with one of the best point-producing outbursts in the history of the school.

Doug Alderman led the scoring parade with 220 points piled up in 16 games. Jim Roggow was not far behind with 207 and Bob Jewett added 175. Both Jewett and Roggow played in every one of the 16 games.

Herb Hovey was fourth in scoring with 80 points. Hovey played in only 13 games because of an injured arm. Charlie Willis added 77.

Stan Stolz produced the lowest total, just one point, but that one point was the most important one of the season. He won the championship with his free throw. Stolz played in only one game for just a minute or so in two games.

Bob Thomas played in only one game this year. The rest of the squad saw limited action. Thomas lost the tips of his fingers while repairing a car and was unable to play after the opener.

A Salute to Girl Scouting, on Its 40th Birthday

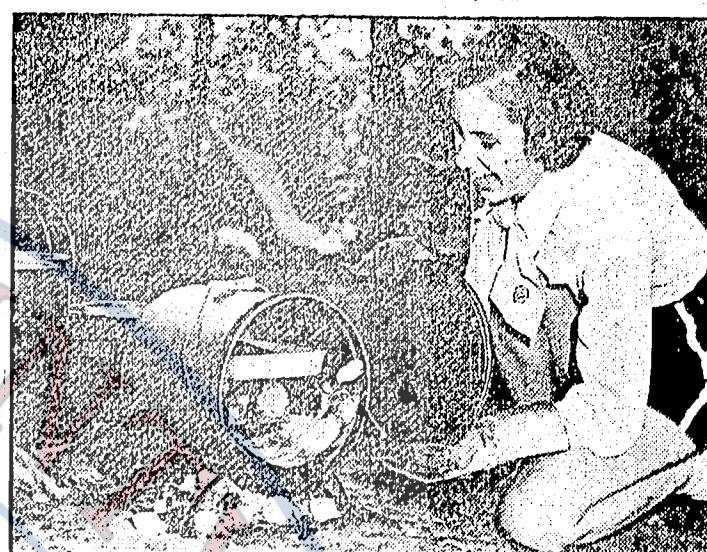

Forty years ago in Savannah, Ga., Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low held the first troop meeting of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. There were 12 girls present. In less than half a century their ranks have swollen to over a million and a half. Though the years have changed the styles of scout dress and equipment, the aims of Girl Scouting remain the same. The organization stands for the development of healthy, alert citizens. The pictures below show the contrast between camping in the pioneer days of the movement and today.

In the early days, as now, camping was an important part of Girl Scouting. Cooking equipment and uniform styles have changed, but the girls had just as much fun.

Juliette Gordon Low founded Girl Scouting in United States forty years ago.

The modern Girl Scout has the advantages of modern equipment such as this portable oven, but the moving spirit of healthy living and good citizenship is unchanged.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Baby chicks are ordered.
Lemon pie is a favorite.
Letters give you a lift.

Susy and Sally are counting the days! And they have eight to go yet. That's when we get our baby chicks, 400 of them with 25 roosters for each of them.

We have been getting the brooder house ready for occupancy and it's been quite a job. Originally it was sided with a material called Nu-wood which the chickens have been eating for several years and this year time, and those pecking bills caught up with us. Something had to be done. Pete patented it with some siding all the way around for about two feet up. I said I sure hated the way it looked and he thought I was getting pretty fancy. Well, the brooder house sits right behind my flower gardens and you can't miss that big looming creation.

To that there is only one answer for they are definitely my project. We would never have chickens if it were up to Pete. I want them and I tend to them and I have visions of juicy broilers and a sizeable check some day. Besides, those little fuzzy chicks are so cunning. In spite of the work involved I look forward each spring to the time they arrive and I get an added boost or reason for living.

Yesterday Susy and I went over to help Dad celebrate his 76th birthday anniversary. We went for dinner. When we went in the back door there sat a lemon pie with a generous slice taken out. How familiar it looked for that is an old trick of his. I remember when I was a little girl and as I grew bigger of Dad trying to get me to eat a bite along with him so he could say, "Annie had some, too."

Later we had some of Mina's lemon pie for dinner and was it ever good. (She is a real good cook.) I asked her how she made it and came home and put three lemons on my grocery list for next week. I'll put her recipe in here. I think lemon pie is my favorite along with butter scotch, apple and cherry. Oh, yes, pumpkin, too. We like pie and who doesn't!

The nicest things come in small packages. I refer to letters for to me they can lift me up till I feel I am floating. For instance, this week some of the most interesting letters arrived, and on such a variety of stationery. The one that Maxine Hundy of Howell used was printed with butterflies, bees and flowers and was pretty enough to take anyone out of the doldrums. Just what I needed the day it arrived. She is mother's cousin and we have something else in common. We, including her mother, like flowers and have exchanged flower seeds in the past.

Then this past week I received another letter from Mrs. Ernest Chapman from Japan. I want her to know how that thin paper with the foreign stamp made me act. I ran all the way to the house from the mailbox and could hardly wait to get it open for there was a lump inside that felt like pictures. Sure enough there were several with one of her. I think that is a fine idea as it's much more fun to be writing to a certain face instead of picking out a vague misty sort of face. (I bet some folks would be surprised to see the faces I attach to their letters and their thoughts.) Mrs. Chapman is the missionary in Japan who has been there 35 years and who uses the Lansing County Press version of this column as shelf paper.

She said she expects to come to America this summer and will try to come and see us. Won't that be exciting? One of her daughters is married to a minister and they went to Palestine this past summer by one of Paul's routes. She mentioned Thessalonica—what an interesting letter. As I did dishes and fed chickens it seemed lots easier to do them that evening.

Mrs. Mac Best of Fingal, Ontario, Canada, gave me another lift as her letters always do—not very frequently but whoppers when she does. We visited them this summer and since then it is so extra easy to think of her as a close friend. She can write so you actually feel like you are right in her kitchen with her stirring up the birthday cakes she prepares for her four youngsters. They plan on visiting us some day. It may take years to accomplish this but it's a someday affair—something you enjoy for all the thinking involved.

Mrs. Archie Londry of Merrill made us all laugh here with a story of her little girl. A few years ago they made her a snowman and then when they were picking out a name for it and suggested "Farmer Pete," she called it that. They took a picture of it and put it in her snapshot album. Recently she saw the picture heading this column and said, "I never knew Farmer Pete was married before." She cut out the picture and put it alongside the picture of her snowman Farmer Pete.

Brake Defends Legislature

By D. Hale Brake

Again the deluge of criticism is falling upon the heads of our legislators. That is nothing new. Each session since 1935 to my personal knowledge, and I suppose the process went on long before then, some of the metropolitan newspapers have solemnly announced, "This is the worst legislature the state ever had." The words have been varied but the meaning has always been the same.

Of course, that could be true—but it has not been true. These years have seen definite improvement in the legislative structure, operations and attitudes. Both houses have reduced the number of their committees and the senate has that number down to a good working basis. The senate has adopted the procedure of appointing its own committees. The old roadways of the final night of the session is gone. The attitude toward our mental institutions has definitely improved and there is a new and very marked consciousness that the taxpayer must be given some consideration. This legislature and its immediate predecessor have been the most economy-minded of any legislatures of this state for a generation, at least.

Working under the most adverse possible conditions, they have done a remarkable job in holding down state expenses. As state government generally goes around the country, it is the legislature trying to spend and the chief executive trying to hold them back. That is not the situation in Michigan.

Perfection in a legislature is not to be expected. When you bring together 132 people from all walks of life and with every possible background and with many of them inexperienced, that there would be some inefficiency, wide differences of opinion, and some failures is inevitable. Perhaps they could do better if they were left alone but instead they are put under pressures that many of them never experienced before. The pressure groups descend upon them in droves. Most of them represent legitimate interests but each tends to emphasize its own interest to the exclusion of others and the legislator's job is keeping things in balance is one of tremendous difficulty. From time to time suggestions are made for special training to be given to people elected to the legislature, but what they need more than anything else along that line is a good solid course in sales resistance.

With all their difficulties, they are the most democratic branch of government, the branch closest to the people, and the greatest safeguard that the people have. A casual reading of history discloses that when somebody is trying to become a dictator and get everything in his own hands, the legislature is always the first thing he wants to put out of the way.

Comparing Michigan's legislature to those of other states, there are some noticeable differences. One is the greater independence from executive control. The legislature here is more nearly a coordinate branch of government than it is in most of the states.

Another distinguishing feature is the extreme authority given legislative committees. There is no state in which the committees have more authority and very few in which they have as much authority as in Michigan. This focuses attention upon what is probably the greatest weakness of our legislative setup, namely, the secrecy of committee proceedings. While there is a permanent and public record of how each member votes on the floor of his chamber, there is no such public record of his vote in committee. There should be. A constituent ought to be able to find out just how his member stood in any definite action concerning any bill in committee as well as on the floor, and that is particularly true where the committee is given as much authority as it is in Michigan.

When the oratory and the confusion are over and the legislators go home, to one who examines the bills they killed and the bills they passed the marvel is that they could come out so well under the circumstances under which they work.

Spring Comes One Day Early Because of Leap Year Gain

Spring is due for an official arrival earlier than last year regardless of what the weather man may dish up in the way of snow, rain or sunshine.

The official date and time will be 11:14 a. m. on Thursday, March 20, according to Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

This is nearly three-fourths of a day earlier than in 1951 when spring arrived at 5:20 a. m. on March 21. The earlier date is due to the insertion of the extra leap year day in February, Professor Losh explains.

"Days and nights will be equal on March 20 since the sun crosses the equator on that date and will rise and set at the exact east and west points," she declares. "After March 20, the sun will be moving north on the horizon and our hours of daylight will increase until late in June."

The effect of more daylight will be more noticeable in the

Gable and Gardner Headline Film

Never before has the Fox Theatre offered such an outstanding program for one week's film presentation. Friday and Saturday gets the week off to a good start with "Now Mexico," starring Lew Ayres. The outdoor action picture is filmed in new Ansco color. The second attraction on the Thursday and Friday program is "Stars and Guitars," starring Virginia Bruce.

James Novel Next
Filmed in thrilling Technicolor and starring Fred MacMurray and Anne Baxter with Burl Ives, Twentieth Century-Fox's encore triumph of Will James' beloved classic, "Smoky," will play Saturday afternoon and night at the Fox Theatre.

The film, which is being brought back in all its rich beauty, is a story of the West today told in the spirit of the West of old.

MacMurray is the hard-hitting, danger-loving cowpuncher who finds a close bond with a horse named Smoky whom he trains from a colt. Anne Baxter appears as the trim romantic-minded ranch boss, while Burl Ives, the famous American ballad singer, spreads his magic spell throughout the proceedings.

James, from whose classic novel Lillie Hayward, Dwight Cummings and Dorothy Yost fashioned the screen play, was a cowhand himself, writing the tale from out of the rough-and-tumble West of cattle stampedes and gun-toting badmen he had known all his life. First printed in 1926, "Smoky" has been published in 32 separate editions.

Others in the cast of over 100 players include Bruce Cabot, Esther Dale, Roy Roberts and J. Farrell MacDonald.

Gable Mixes It Up

From a hitherto untapped vein of colorful American history, M-G-M has extracted a dramatic story of love and conflict in which Clark Gable and Broderick Crawford, two of the screen's most rugged actors, fall in love with Ava Gardner, film's most exciting new star personality.

"Lone Star," playing at the Fox on Sunday and Monday, is the epic story of the Texas of more than 100 years ago, days of strife and conquest, when it appeared for a time that there was to be no state of Texas but rather an alien country which would stand between the United States and Mexico. It is the story of how a group of brave patriots fought for and won annexation of the area to the Union. It is also a love story as untamed as the great outdoors, in which it is played; an action story as savage as the six-shooters with which it is played; and a dramatic story as fiery as the characters by whom it is played.

As the hard-riding, trigger-quick shooting adventurer, Burke, popular Clark Gable has his most colorful acting assignment since "Gone With the Wind," and a role which takes him back to that same colorful era of American history. Ava Gardner teams with Gable for the first time since "The Hucksters," and comes to her new characterization as a crusading newspaper owner from her recent smash hits in "Show Boat" and "Pandora and the Flying Dutchman." The Academy Award-winning Broderick Crawford ("All the King's Men" and "Born Yesterday") makes his first M-G-M appearance in "Lone Star" as Gable's implacable enemy and the bitter foe of annexation.

Heading a supporting cast of hundreds are Lionel Barrymore, Beulah Bondi, Moroni Olsen, Jim Burke and William Farnum. "Lone Star" was directed by Vincent Sherman, and was produced by Z. Wayne Griffin from a screen play by Borden Chase. Tender Romance Next
One of the most emotionally gripping stories ever to reach the screen is unfolded in M-G-M's "Invitation," story of a wealthy girl doomed to invalidism, for whom her father attempts to "buy" one perfect year of happiness. It opens Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fox Theatre.

Four top film personalities were garnered for the leads, with Van Johnson, Dorothy McGuire, Ruth Roman and Louis Calhern in the starring roles. Both Johnson and Miss McGuire make an abrupt switch from comedy portrayals to fill straight dramatic assignments in "Invitation," Johnson, last seen in "Too Young to Kiss," plays one of his most

Double Program Thursday

Suspense as taut as the string of a fine musician at that, is the principal entertainment ingredient of "The Steel Fist," an exceptionally fine piece of motion picture making, that headlines Thursday and Friday's double feature program. For the fine production, much credit must go to the Wesley Barry, who makes his debut as producer and director with this picture.

Barry, whose motion picture career started when he was the freckle-faced youngster in the old Our Gang comedies, has taken a cast, headed by Roddy McDowell and Kristine Miller, and has made an exceptional film.

McDowell and Miss Miller are perfectly cast. McDowell portrays a young idealist who willingly risks torture, imprisonment and even death in the cause of human justice. Miss Miller, and her brother, played perfectly by Harry Lauter, take the same risks for the same cause. There is a strong and poignant love story interwoven in the powerful net of drama which binds the picture into some 70 minutes of sheer entertainment, but never once does Barry permit the romance to become cloying, as easily as it might in other hands.

Millions of ex-G. I.'s who thrilled to the songs of petite blue-eyed and blonde Frances Langford, will be able to see her once again when Columbia Pictures' "Purple Heart Diary" opens Thursday and Friday as the second feature on the program.

Miss Langford, whose USO tours earned her the title of the Number One Girl of World War Two, entranced G. I.'s throughout the world with her songs and dances. The singer's own Army-life story, from Seattle to Slam, is said to be told in "Purple Heart Diary" the way she lived it.

As a result of her wartime activities and since, Miss Langford is one of the most decorated performers of all time. Veterans' groups, the government and various branches of the armed forces have all acclaimed and cited her "for outstanding patriotic devotion and distinguished performance."

According to Hollywood, "Purple Heart Diary" tells how Miss Langford and her USO troupe, consisting of comedian and guitarist Tony Romano, toured the South Pacific.

Myopic Legislators

Last week Representative Lawrence B. Lindemer of Ingham's second district introduced a bill which would have saved a considerable sum of money to the taxpayers and would have saved the time of voters and the men and women who count the votes.

The bill was on the size of ballot squares. Some 20 years ago the law did not provide for a standard size square. After the Groesbeck-Brucker recount there came a move for standardization of ballots and the square used on Ingham ballots was adopted. It was this size—. Printers call it 18-point.

In drawing up the legislation to standardize the square the committee members made a mistake in measurement. They didn't want to use a printer's measurement so they used a ruler. They read the ruler wrong. They called three-sixteenths of an inch three-eighths. No one discovered the error until after the bill was adopted. Since then the squares have been 30-point——like this:

Ever since the first mistake was made, printers have had to supply bigger ballots, voters have had to lug the bulky, unwieldy ballots into booths to mark them, and election workers have had to count the unnecessarily large ballots.

The mistake has cost money in extra paper, in having to run the ballots on big presses instead of smaller, faster ones, and has cost money in wrapping and counting, yes and recounting.

Names of candidates opposite the squares are the size of the type used in this article. Under the law the type can be even smaller.

Yet last week in the legislature the representatives voted down the bill which would have provided for smaller squares. They said voters couldn't see squares this size—.

If voters can't see the smaller 18-point squares, then how can they possibly see the names set in 10-point opposite the squares like this?— Richard Roe.

Legislative myopia apparently runs only to squares and not to type.

Slashing State Payrolls

Instead of saying it can't be done, Governor G. Mennen Williams and State Controller Robert F. Steadman should accept the legislative job slashing plan as a challenge.

State officials should make every effort to pare the payrolls to fit the state's pocketbook instead of claiming it can't be done.

It is no worse to lay off a public employee than it is a man or woman in a private office or a factory. Even if the economy plan caused 3,000 lay-offs, or 5,000 lay-offs, the total on the state payroll would be as big as it was just a few years ago.

The state through its civil service commission has followed the wrong theory on employment. Instead of monkeying with the calendar to give state employees a flock of extra holidays, the state should see to it that every employee puts in full time. George Washington and Abraham Lincoln could best be honored by public employees doing a full day's work. This shifting around of Christmas and New Years to work in extra holidays and the observance of election days as holidays is costly to taxpayers.

Most people like to work. Most people in state employment like to work. And most of them know that there is scarcely a department where a smaller crew of selected workers couldn't turn out more work than present staffs.

Instead of saying it can't be done, state officials should give the legislative economy plan an honest try. They might be surprised. They might learn that they haven't been working anywhere near their capacity. After an honest try at doing more work with less help they might find, even at the cost of not doing some of the useless jobs now done, that they all liked it better.

Our City Election

The nine members of the charter commission, and the people who voted for adoption of the present charter, need to stir up some interest in the April 7 election.

They decided that the party system was bad. They declared that somehow it was undemocratic to name candidates in caucus and then pit them against each other at the election.

Yet where are we now? With election a month away there is a woeful lack of interest. Even to get a full ticket up the council had to name a committee to go out and plead for candidates. Then instead of having the nominations come from an officially advertised and called caucus, the council itself, only seven men, had to nominate three candidates. Even the former party committees did as well as that.

What do the eight candidates stand for? What are the issues of the April 7 election? What do these candidates have to recommend their services? These are questions that should be put and should be answered.

Between now and April 7 the candidates themselves, now that there is no party to present their views, should make some speeches or issue statements. They should tell people why they want to serve the city, and why they believe they can do it better than others.

Mason needs some interest in its city election. That's the only way to prove that adoption of the new charter was a proper move.

Zionism Helps the Jews At Expense of Moslems

By Vernon J. Brown

This time I am going to talk about something far removed from Homestead Hills. In fact, it is to be about something of which I myself had never heard until our son came home from the Middle East last summer and gave us the real lowdown as he has seen it in that far-away region.

I am going to tell of the plight of some 800,000 to a million human beings ruthlessly driven out of the country where they and their ancestors have lived for centuries and off the land where for generation upon generation they have reared their flocks and their children. It is about the Arabs, Moslems by faith and nomads and villagers by heritage I would speak.

We have all heard about the terrible plight of the Jewish people who suffered at the hands of the Nazi forces. We have heard much about the state of Israel. Indeed we hear over the air and by way of TV broadcasts of the drive to sell millions upon millions of lands floated by the promoters of Israel from the proceeds of which it is claimed great agricultural and industrial progress is being made for the refugees brought from Europe. We have been taught to rejoice that these refugees are being returned to their rightful former possessions.

Arabs Are Forced Out
But what of the hundreds of thousands of Moslem Arabs who have lived longer in the land than any claims of Jewish occupancy ever has boasted?

Not only were the lands and possessions of this Arab people confiscated, the Arabs themselves fled from the country in fear of their lives. More than 800,000 are now homeless, their children are dying from malnutrition, their wives are unkempt, ragged and crushed with the hardships they have endured. And these unfortunate face the future without hope of anything better.

Until our son told of these mistreated displaced human beings and of the hatred being built up among the Arab people against the United States for its part in the smoldering fires of war and confiscation of American properties in that region and understood the underlying reasons and causes, we had no conception of what has happened.

Sanctioned by UN
Remember it was the United Nations which sanctioned the establishment of Israel and in the Moslem world it is Great Britain and America that constitutes the United Nations and so far as money is concerned it is the United States which is known to provide that.

Millions upon millions have been poured forth from both private and official sources to set up and support the state of Israel and to subsidize its national economy. While this has been going on in an ever-increasing tempo, the same United Nations has handed out in meager dribbles, a little here and there just to keep alive these suffering Moslem hordes, now without country or hope. Feeble and poorly supported efforts on the part of a few missionaries have certainly done little to foster or promote Christianity in that part of the world. The missions have so little for so great a disaster.

A few years ago I was among the invited guests at a finely appointed dinner held in one of the leading hotels in Detroit. Seated next to me was one of the leading Catholic laymen of the state, himself occupying a high judicial position, at my other elbow sat a distinguished Protestant prelate. Up and down the table were representatives of all faiths and religious denominations. Jewish rabbis were there in profusion and among the guests were financiers from all over the middle west and north central states. The occasion was the "sound off" for a campaign to stimulate sympathy for the downtrodden Jews of Europe.

Arab Rights Are Ignored
Nothing was said that evening about the Arabs who were to be driven out. There are few Moslems in this country and these few neither speak up or vote in numbers. I assume that is the reason so few people know about the plight of these unfortunate wanderers in a barren and impoverished land.

A recent issue of a religious magazine tells of one camp counting more than 8,000 Arabs—men, women and children—all huddled together in dark and damp tents, tattered and torn by desert winds, and no place to find shelter or livelihood. The same mag-zine tells us that this is but one of many such concentrations of human misery.

Such tragic examples of uncivilized disregard for humanity—no matter what the color, the creed or the faith of the victims—help little in the building of international good will. Indeed, such examples as our treatment of the Arabs of the Near East destroys what good will past experiences may have encouraged.

If eventually, properties developed through the investment of American capital and the genius of its explorations, the work of pioneers and English-speaking craftsmen and artisans are driven from Moslem lands, none here need be surprised. That sort of harvest may be expected from the kind of tillage and the type of seeds we are now sowing in that part of the world.

This writer lays no claim to expert foreign opinion but plain common sense points with dead certainty to the error of present practices.

Down by the SYCAMORE

First on the agenda, as discussion leaders now say, is the matter of the pennies. Last week in a burst of generosity this offer appeared in this column: "We are paying $15 for 1951 Lincoln pennies."

Many people concluded: I was crazier than I am. They inferred I was willing to pay $15 for one 1951 Lincoln penny. I didn't say any such thing. My offer was $15 for 1951 Lincoln pennies, $15 for one thousand nine hundred fifty-one pennies.

The way I figured it, 1951 pennies are worth $10.51. Deducting my cost of $15.00, the deal would have netted me $4.51. Had I done business the way some people thought I meant I would have been out $14.99 on each transaction.

I received hundreds of calls from Mason, Lansing, Dansville and Holt people willing to sell a Lincoln penny for $15. When I explained the offer they were quick to see that I couldn't afford to pay $15 for a penny. I thanked them for calling and offered my regrets for the misunderstanding. They were out nothing but their time in counting their pennies and in making the call.

Those people who called long distance from Jackson, Detroit, Charlotte, Stockbridge and Leslie invested money in tolls. I advised them to send their claims to Bill Myers of the Lapeer County Press. He is the man who suggested the penny deal to me. He and his brother Bob cleaned up $315.70. I think that's what it was, on a similar deal in Lapeer. Of course, they had the Lapeer Home to work on.

Cupidity got the best of a Mason Boy Scout. He went around town paying two cents to unsuspecting neighbors for Lincoln pennies bearing the 1951 date. He had hopes of getting me to pay $15 each, leaving him a profit of $14.00.

The deal proved that millions of pennies are being hoarded. One woman said she sorted through four quart jars of pennies to find 410 bearing the 1951 date.

Shrimp cost a Lansing man his chance for a job as deputy sheriff.

A neat appearing young man applied for the job and was granted an interview by Sheriff Willard (Big Bill) Barnes. The applicant had his shoes shined, his pants pressed and wore a clean white shirt. He looked well groomed. But the sheriff quickly ended the interview, stepped to the phone and gave the job to an earlier applicant.

Said the sheriff to Undersheriff Jack Voss, "That man you sent in to me stinks. I couldn't have him working here with the rest of you or representing this office before the public."

"Why, Sheriff, that man smelled O. K. to me," Voss replied, "and I talked with him for 10 minutes."

"Then there's something wrong with your nose," retorted the chief.

A few minutes later the undersheriff walked into the sheriff's office.

"You see," said the sheriff, "You can still smell that man."

"Maybe it wasn't that man," Voss replied. He sniffed around the office and the sheriff. Then the two of them took up the trail. Their noses led them to the jail kitchen and then to the sheriff's kitchen. They searched the refrigerator. Everything was in order. Then the sheriff nosed around the stove. With a vibrant bay he lifted the cover off the cooking well. There at the bottom reposed three shrimp dropped there two nights before by the woman prisoner brought in to wash the dishes after a feed of fried shrimp. That was the stench that cost the Lansing man the job.

Charlotte basketball players and the fans they brought with them to Mason are the best of sports. The Orlean came out on the short end of the score. They took the wildest defeat in the history books without any show of bitterness or rancor. The Capital Circuit could well award a special sportsmanship plaque to Coach John Isaacs, his basketball players and the Charlotte rooters.

There are drugs and vitamins offered as cures for a lot of diseases, but not for Morbus Sabbaticus, better known as Sunday sickness, said Brother Paul Arnold to his flock. Continued the pastor, "The symptoms vary, but the disease never interferes with the appetite. It never lasts more than 24 hours. No physician is ever called, even though the disease is always fatal to the soul unless arrested. It spreads rapidly and is easily picked up. The attack comes on Sunday only, and suddenly. No symptoms felt Saturday night. Patient sleeps well and long, eats a hearty breakfast, but at church time the attack hits and continues until church is over. Then patient eats hearty dinner and feels better. He is then able to read papers, walk, drive, play. He eats a hearty supper, but at night about church time attack returns. ## Book Talk from Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at the Hall Memorial Library: Daily, 2-5 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday 1-3 p. m. Tuesday and Friday noons, Saturday 10-12.

IT HAPPENS EVERY THURSDAY, by Jane S. McIlvaine, should appeal, not only to those readers who are in newspaper work, but also to those "without an ounce of printer's ink in their veins." The author makes a good story of all the unforeseen difficulties that complicate the production of the small weekly newspaper which the author and her husband bought soon after World War II, and she writes with contagious enthusiasm about the compensations of being small town editors.

CLOSING THE RING, by Winston S. Churchill, is volume five of his monumental history of World War II. This volume extends from the invasion of Sicily to D Day. Besides being an important history, this is an absorbing study in statesmanship which also presents an intimate picture of Churchill himself, the man as differentiated from the indispensable leader.

THE PHYSICIANS, by Hazel Lin, is a novel about two Chinese doctors, old Dr. Wang, a physician of the Chinese school; and his orphaned granddaughter who received her medical training in America. The novel has the appearance of autobiography, and is not only a good picture of Chinese family life, but makes the point, as well, that Eastern and Western medicine are alike deserving of respect.

A book which would be excellent for Lenten reading is HEAD OVER HEELS, by the Right Reverend Maurice S. Sheehy. Called "a guide for the better self" and written by the head of the department of Religious Education at the Catholic University of America, this book is a simple, straightforward and honest confession of faith, illustrated with many examples taken from the author's experiences as a chaplain in the Pacific Theatre of World War II.

THE FOREST OF THE NIGHT, by Jean Louis Curtis, is a Gollancz Prize novel, first published in France in 1947, and is a fine and unsensational book, shedding light on the nature of many of the kinds of people that make a world. It is a portrayal of the complex life lived in France during the German Occupation of World War II and the author is able to show their development in the light of the changing conditions.

Other new books which would be of interest to readers in Ingham county are: December Bride, by Sam Hanna Bell
On Being Intelligent, by Ashley Montagu
Brothers Divided, by Edmund Fuller

Michigan Club Project Expanded To Include Nation

The Michigan 4-H club talent search program of "Share the Fun" which attracted more than 2,000 youth in 46 counties last year has mushroomed into a national 4-H club project.

Michigan was used as a proving ground for an idea of developing and proving outstanding 4-H club talent. Success of the venture in Michigan has resulted in the sponsorship of a similar program in 10 additional states.

Arden Peterson, assistant state 4-H club leader at Michigan State college, was in charge of the program.

George Taylor, director of agricultural development for the U. S. Rubber company, and former Michigan State college staff member, recently announced expansion of the project at a meeting in East Lansing.

Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Tennessee and Georgia state 4-H club organizations have accepted the program and will conduct it in 1952. The Michigan program will be expanded to reach more counties and more individuals.

Entertainment talent is developed on a community basis and winners in county contests will compete in regional contests. Regional winners will compete at the state 4-H club show at East Lansing in late August for state honors. From state winners, the sponsor will select a number of acts for presentation at Chicago during the national 4-H club congress. Three of the 12 acts used in the 1951 "Share the Fun Breakfast" were from Michigan's contestants.

Carol Leyburn, 18, Petersburg 4-H club girl, has been invited to New York to appear on a program on March 9 over a television network which will help commemorate National 4-H club week. The talented pianist was one of the state winners last fall.

New Machine Cuts Sugar Beet Labor

Reductions in the amount of hand labor needed for thinning and weeding sugar beets and elimination of one machine operation are two of the advantages of a new mechanical thinner-weeder developed by agricultural engineers of the U. S. department of agriculture and the Michigan agricultural experiment station.

In tests thus far, the experimental thinner-weeder has reduced hand labor needed for these jobs from 30 to 50 per cent.

Developed in the research laboratories of Michigan State college, the machine is a "down-the-row" type which takes out weeds and beets at random.

The sugar beet industry is planning to equip 25 commercial thinners with the machine's counter-rotating spring-tined wheels for further testing this year.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

"I think dairy farmers would drink milk and like it if banquet food committees would only serve it," Mrs. William Wilson of Fitchburg confided to me at a Milk Producers banquet last week.

Maybe that's the answer. Maybe dairy farmers would drink milk if it was put on par with nasty ol' coffee. As it is, there is a coffee cup at every place at most banquet tables. If anybody wants it, he can usually have three or four cups of brew during the meal. Then—while the plates are being cleared, someone breezes past the tables offering milk.

I'd like to see some food committee reverse the order and give each person a cold bottle of—no, not Coca Cola—wholesome milk. Then, after the meal, somebody could skip past the tables offering coffee.

It was the usual story of dairy farmers who sipped coffee instead of guzzling milk. The food prepared by the Rebekah lodge was delicious. A lot of people attended the dinner. Everybody had fun. But few drank milk.

An added twist was the fact that two officers from the Michigan Milk Producers association got all lathered up talking about the waning Detroit milk market. But when they were offered a glass of milk, they refused. I can't see why people who depend on milk for a living would pass up a meal without throwing down at least a glass of the Perfect Food.

You can bet your life that the Coca Cola Co. doesn't serve Pepsi-Cola at its banquets. Nor does the Sanka Coffee Co. serve tea. Then why does the dairy industry promote both at its banquets and put milk in the background?

From what I can learn, farmers are aware of the absence of milk at banquet tables. It might remain for some far-seeing committee to try the unusual sometime and promote milk right here in the country.

The dairy industry invests thousands of dollars each year promoting the sale of milk all over the country. It appears that one of the biggest markets—the dairy farmers—has not been touched by its selling program.

Michigan Milk Industry Establishes New Mark

Michigan's milk industry is an outstanding asset in the state's economic life and a significant factor in the welfare and prosperity of every community.

Vital support dairying gives to the state's economy is strikingly emphasized by a Milk Industry Foundation review of facts about Michigan's cows and the daily flow of milk. With 968,000 milk cows valued at $241,110.00 and 2,688,000,000 quarts of milk produced annually, bossy's records are impressive.

Michigan dairy farmers received a total of $177,293,000 in cash income from milk in 1950. Cheese production of 24,865,000 pounds, and ice cream 25,185,000 gallons, and butter 59,400,000 pounds plus other dairy products also added to the wealth of the state.

Milk consumption continues at high levels as consumers generally are drinking more milk. Better feeds, improved transport to the dairy plants and other production and distribution advances have helped in building and strengthening the milk industry.

A quart of milk is more than two pounds of food, and a bargain because every drop can be used with nothing wasted. Distributors declare that delivery is efficient with 80 to 85 per cent of the sales income being paid out to farmers for the milk and to workers in the plants and on the routes.

Milk prices to the consumer are lower than the average prices for all foods, according to the latest government index figures. The most widely used food, milk, including dairy products comprises more than 20 per cent of the foods purchased annually by the average American.

Sixty million quarts of fresh milk and cream a day are distributed to consumers through doorstep deliveries and stores. Milk consumption today is more than 13 per cent greater than before the war. Milk in this country

Growers of Beans Will Meet Friday

Michigan navy, red kidney, cranberry and yellow eye bean growers will converge on Saginaw Friday, to attend "Bean Day" and the annual meeting of the Michigan Bean Producers association.

This all-day bean event will be held at the Masonic temple, Johnson and North Washington streets, Saginaw.

According to John R. Vloch, executive secretary of the association, who has made arrangements for this event, "Bean Day" will unfold a full day's program for bean growers on latest bean research, production and quality methods, modern day packaging and a display of top bean samples in Michigan. Also, the display of the new rotary bean cutter which might well revolutionize the harvest of beans in Michigan.

Top-flight speakers have been secured to relate to Michigan bean growers the importance and latest information in the bean industry today.

Entertainment throughout the program will be provided by talent from bean-growing counties.

"Bean Day" will pin point a $35,000,000 farm industry in Michigan. Thirty-four counties in Michigan produce beans to the tune of 440,000 acres annually or 4,000,000 bags (100 lb.) a year.

Sheep Diseases Remedy Found

An effective treatment for lambing paralysis or pregnancy disease of ewes has been developed at Michigan State college.

Affected ewes should be drenched with a cup of cane molasses twice daily, according to Graydon Blank, Michigan State college extension animal husbandryman. He said that diluting the molasses with warm water makes it easier to give in cold weather. In severe cases sugar solutions can be injected into the blood stream by a veterinarian to hasten recovery. Giving the ewes choice feeds also will hasten recovery.

Blank said that this is the season of the year when flock owners expect the disease to show up among their ewes. It occurs most frequently with old ewes and ewes carrying twin lambs. It may occur in either fat or thin ewes. In early stages of the disease the ewes are less active than the rest of the flock and walk very slowly. Later, they become weaker, show stiffness and have difficulty in getting up and down. An affected ewe frequently will walk in a circle and stand with her head against an object.

As the trouble progresses the ewe cannot rise and lies with her head turned to one side. Other symptoms are rapid breathing, blindness and grinding of the teeth.

The trouble may be due to an insufficient amount of feed, a poor quality roughage or failure to increase the quality and quantity of the ration as the gestation period progresses. Feeding badly-weathered hay and forcing the flock to consume all roughage offered them are frequent causes of the trouble. Prevention lies in checking the flock closely. Sort out the ewes that are losing weight and feed them more liberally.

Some Seed Prices Predicted to Rise

As seeding time approaches, it appears likely that seed prices will advance for red clover, alfalfa, brome grass and alfalfa, predicts Karl A. Vary, Michigan State college agricultural economist.

Although estimated seed supplies in the United States are somewhat larger than a year ago, due to record carry-over stocks, red clover, sweet clover, brome grass and Cheyenne's fescue are in shorter supply.

The 1951 crop season was unfavorable for the production of Michigan and Canadian-grown alfalfa seed. This short supply is offset by this year's large crop in the northwest and a record U. S. carryover two times that of last year. Michigan-adapted alfalfa seed is expected to retail at about 75 cents a pound.

Over one half of the revenue received and kept by county governments in Michigan comes from taxes, principally on real estate. Almost one fourth of the county revenue comes from the state in the form of aid for highways. The state also contributed another 12.5 million dollars or 9.6 per cent of the total receipts for welfare and medical assistance. There was much variation in the size of budgets in counties in different areas of the state.

Cows Complete Annual Tests

Three Holsteins recently completed annual production tests. With 759 lbs of butterfat and 16,792 lbs of milk testing 4.5% to her credit, Trillwood Piehe Rosette, owned by Hugh Oesterle & Son, Webberville, finished a 365-day test. She was 3 months, 5 years of age when she started the test.

H. A. Miller & Sons of Williamston had a Holstein, Milson's Ormsby Bess Rose, which ended a 311-day test with 598 lbs of fat and 15,937 lbs of 3.8% milk to her credit. She was 8 years old when she went on test.

Corliss E. Schlicher of Lansingburg had a cow, Bo-Cann Burke Piper Tot, with a mark of 579 lbs of fat and 15,083 lbs of 3.8% milk in 288 days. She was 3 years, 3 months of age when the test was started.

With an average of 544 lbs of butterfat and 13,970 lbs of milk testing 3.9%, the 14-cow herd of registered Holsteins owned by H. A. Miller & Sons, Williamston, completed their test year recently.

COW SETS TEST MARK
With 679 pounds of butterfat and 15,876 pounds of milk to her credit, Mar-Jo-Lo Modest Master Lady, a registered Holstein cow owned by Itay Lott & Son, Mason, has completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry. She was 4 years, 1 month of age when she began her testing period.

BUTTER GIRL PRODUCES
With 638 pounds of butterfat and 17,375 pounds of milk to her credit, Willow Hill Butter Girl Inka Bess, a registered Holstein cow owned by Howard Borton of Lansing, had completed a production test for 361 days. She was 4 years, 8 months of age when she began her testing period.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS

BY CARL COLLIN

More than half the entire population of the United States derives its income from producing, processing, handling, transporting and distributing food products. About 30 per cent of these people work with animal foods. It's interesting to note that 62 per cent of our meat is produced west of the Mississippi river, 69 per cent consumed east of it.

A good many marketing people missed the boat on what hog marketings and prices would do in February. They didn't follow the usual pattern, that's for sure. Unexpectedly large tail-end marketings of 1951 spring pigs and heavier-than-usual marketings of early fall pigs upset usual trends.

Now there is a question whether hog prices will show the sharp increase expected in March. Animals from the large spring crop of last year are still coming to market in good volume. And just recently lighter weight animals from last fall's crop started to show up. The fall crop now starting to come to market is the third largest on record. So it looks like large hog sales will be the rule for some time.

Pork production under federal inspection the third week in February was about 15 per cent heavier than in the same week of 1951.

Agriculture in this country may be able to get along with 17 per cent less workers in 1950. That prediction was included in a study made recently for the Senate Labor Committee's Labor-Management Subcommittee. The study will be made possible largely through increased efficiency in the use of chemicals and mechanical labor-saving devices—notably in aerial spraying and dusting operations.

The broiler industry continues its phenomenal expansion. The number of broilers ready for market in April may be about 22 per cent above April last year. Broiler production in heavy producing areas is really big business. Poultrymen now turn them out by the thousands. Because of the large output, commercial producers have to make only as little as a dime a bird to realize a good profit. That kind of operation makes pretty rough competition for the small operator. Poultry meat—both chicken and turkey—is giving pork and beef a good run for the money. The fastest expansion in commercial broiler production is occurring in southern states where housing and heating costs are far below those in more northerly regions.

USDA research scientists at the New Orleans Research Laboratory have come up with a new process of oil extraction which may be revolutionary. The process, primarily, for cottonseed oil but applicable to other vegetable oils, involves filtering out the oil through a series of filters. Low cost extraction is reported. The equipment is said to be about the size of a home washing machine. Just one of these small outfits can turn out 24 tons of oil a day. "Too bad we can't get some revolutionary processes for the dairy industry. Then costs for turning out butter and cheese and other dairy products could be reduced. Lower costs in the dairy industry would help dairymen in the competitive struggle with oleomargarine and other vegetable oil products.

Milk vending machines increase consumption of milk. One example of what this merchandising idea can do was reported recently. Milk vending machines were placed at strategic places in a Boy Scout camp where there were 100 boys and 25 staff members. Individuals in the camp bought over 100 half-pints of milk daily. Milk purchases from the machines at snack times were in addition to the regular meal-time diets.

When will prices for good quality corn begin to climb? A good many farmers are wondering about that. The best answer is when the wet corn is gone. And high moisture content corn will have to be used up by the time temperature moderates because it won't keep in warm weather. The Commodity Credit Corporation still has nearly 350 million bushels of good corn under storage. CCC will use its corn stocks to stabilize prices. The government agency is expected to feed its stocks of corn into market sparingly in wet corn period. Sales of this good corn will increase in the spring, probably heading off ceilings. Amount of corn CCC sells in the spring and summer probably will be dependent on 1952 crop prospects as the growing season progresses.

Miscellaneous . . . About 66 per cent of our beef and veal supplies come from beef cattle, 34 per cent from dairy cattle, according to 1951 figures . . . More than 40 per cent of the spring pig crop will not live long enough to be marketed . . . 10 per cent of the chicks and 15 per cent of the poults will not survive for 56 days . . . Out of five calves dropped, one will die before the age of six months. These high mortality rates among our livestock add a great deal to production costs and are a tremendous economic waste . . . The support price for 1952-crop pea beans (navies) in Michigan will be $8.65 compared with $7.84 on the 1951 crop.

Two old coon hunters were swapping tall stories about their dogs.

"Why," said one of them, "I had a yaller hound once and every time, just before I went a-huntin', I'd whistle out a hoard in the shape of a coon hide stretcher, just to show him the size of the one I wanted. Then I'd set it outside where he could see it. Well sir, one day my wife set the ironin' board outside, and the pore critter ain't come back yet!"

TRI-SODIUM CLEANS

Brick fireplaces that have become smoked can be cleaned with a tri-sodium solution. Extra stubborn stains will respond to steel wool and scouring powder.

Discuss 4-H Club World Contribution

It's not a small world, but this internationally-minded trio at Michigan State College can discuss quite a bit of it with authority. John A. Hannah, president of MSC, has traveled and discussed problems of a large part of the world in his work as a member of the advisory committee of the Point Four program of the United States for giving aid to underdeveloped nations. Kathryn Steneck, Ionia (center) MSC coed and former 4-H club member, represented Michigan's youth organization as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Austria in 1951. Jean Richards, Fenton, a 9-year 4-H club member and MSC student, will be one of four 1952 delegates who will live and work with farm families in foreign countries in the 4-H Club IFYE program for promoting world understanding. President Hannah is also a member of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. (MSC Photo)

World Day of Prayer Services Are Held At Methodist Church

"Christ, Our Hope" was the theme of the World Day of Prayer service held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church. Mrs. George Eckman, chairman for the arrangements, led in the service. Mrs. George Mitchell and Phillip Frederickson played piano and organ numbers preceding the program. Mrs. William Herzog sang "The Lord's Prayer" and a trio composed of Mrs. Harlo Smith, Mrs. H. C. Campbell and Mrs. Frederic Tamplin sang "Lift Thine Eyes." Mrs. Zora Buckingham was in charge of the music for the service.

The special speaker was Miss Gertrude F. McCulloch who is spending her furlough from Japan with her family in Jackson. Miss McCulloch taught in a mission school from 1919 until 1948 in China when conditions forced her to leave. She was sent to Japan where she has been teaching at the Girls' School at Sendai. She told how difficult it is for young people to break away from the family customs of generations before and to accept Christianity. Only one half of one per cent of the Japanese people are Christians.

The projects for which the offering goes were presented by a group of high school pupils. Mrs. W. S. Wenger had charge of this part of the program. Those who had part in the presentation were Wanda Selz, Marion Larson, Joyce Warner, Nancy Page, Bill Buck, Gail Archenbren, Maurine Wood, Betty Saines, Larry Allen, Marjorie Fennell and Margaret Gearing who sang "All God's Children's Got Shoes." Mrs. Paul E. Tucker closed the service with prayer.

Others on the committee were Mrs. S. C. Hendly, Mrs. A. T. Ingalls, Mrs. Warren Eckert and Mrs. Wayne Hampton. A children's service followed with Mrs. L. A. Gearing in charge. Miss McCulloch spoke to the boys and girls and showed them Japanese children's shoes and chopsticks. She said the Japanese children love the last-year Christmas cards Americans send to her.

Mrs. Hampton led the children in short prayers and the service closed with the singing of "Jesus Loves Me."

Maple Sugar Is Produced Only in U.S. and Canada

Production of maple syrup and sugar is distinctly a North American industry since maple trees are tapped for their sap only in the United States and Canada. The art of making maple syrup and sugar was first discovered by the Indians of North America and handed down to the early colonial settlers. Maple sugar seems to have been the first kind of sugar ever produced in North America. It was an important staple to early white traders along the St. Lawrence river, the Great Lakes, and the St. Marys river as these areas were in the center of the range of the sugar maple tree. Michigan's Sugar Island in the St. Marys river near Sault Ste. Marie owes its name to the maple sugar obtained by the early traders from the Ojibway Indians who inhabited the island. Maple sugar was the standard sweetening material until approximately 1875 when cane sugar began to under-sell the maple product. At the present time, cane and beet sugar is our standard sweetening material and maple sugar and syrup are luxury foods.

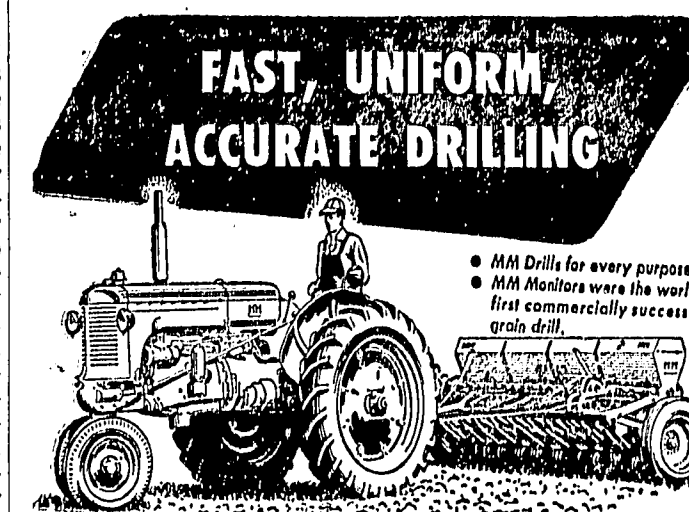

Michigan has long held an important place in the production of maple syrup and sugar. Since 1850, the state has never ranked below sixth place in the annual production of syrup and sugar in the United States. Michigan's maple syrup industry is growing, for it climbed from fifth place in the United States to fourth place in 1943 and has held this rank since. The 1944 production was 53 per cent greater than the 10-year average, 1933-42. The 1945 and 1946 productions were far below average, owing to unfavorable weather conditions. The sale of new sugar-bush equipment in Michigan has been larger the last 5 years than in many years, and only the lack of favorable weather in 1947-48 prevented the production being larger than that of former years.

Michigan farmers are strategically located for the marketing of their product, for many centers of large population are at their back door and they can market all of their sugar and syrup direct to the consumer.
