Club Agent Meets Death When Car Strikes Train

Gerald VanSingel, 31, Ingham 4-H club agent, lost his life on the Colloge road grade crossing of the Michigan Central at 3:15 Thursday morning.

He was returning to Mason after attending a social event for extension agents at Kellogg Center. He apparently did not see the south-bound freight train rolling over the crossing. There is no flasher. His car struck the 44th car of the 95-car train. No member of the train crew knew of the accident until Ingham sheriff's officers telephoned the dispatcher's office in Jackson 2 hours afterwards.

Frank Foster, who lives nearby on Colloge road, saw the wreckage about 5:30 a.m. as dawn was breaking. He notified the sheriff's office. When officers reached the scene they found VanSingel's lifeless body.

Coroner Dorwin Hoffmeyer arrived about 6 o'clock. It was his opinion that death must have been almost instantaneous from chest injuries.

VanSingel's car was picked up by the moving train, jounced along on the railroad embankment 60 feet to the southeast. There the car dropped down a 7-foot embankment clear of the train, nosing down into a ditch. The car could scarcely be seen from the crossing. Only the rear end as it stuck up above the railroad grade was visible. The impact of VanSingel's body pushed the steering post 10 inches out of line. "The car did not overturn," L. T. Gardner was engineer and Fred Lateen the conductor on the heavy train rolling from Lansing to Jackson. Both said there was no shock felt. When notified of the accident they examined the train in the Jackson yards and found the car which had been hit.

A north-bound passenger train sped past the wreckage at 4:20. Members of the train crew said they did not see the wrecked car. Mrs. VanSingel said she expected her husband to be out late but when he did not arrive at 2 o'clock she grew worried. She decided he had had car trouble. It was 6 o'clock when she learned what had happened.

VanSingel went to Kellogg Center to attend a conference and banquet. It broke up about 11:30. He and other close friends engaged in extension work fell to visiting and it was 2:30 before the session ended around a coffee table.

The Ingham club agent was a native of Grandville, born there June 1, 1924. He was graduated from Hope college in 1949 with a bachelor of arts degree and from Michigan State in 1951 with a bachelor of science degree. After teaching vocational agriculture at Hudsonville for 3 years he joined the college extension staff. He was assigned to Mason as county club agent, beginning his work in September, 1954. A month later he and his wife bought their home at 551 East South street in VanderVeen subdivision. There are 2 sons, Dirk, 4, and Chris, 7 months.

Besides the widow, Helen, and 2 boys, VanSingel is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick VanSingel of Grandville, a brother, Henry VanSingel, Grandville, and a grandfather, Henry Veldman, Grand Rapids.

Mute testimony of the love he cherished for his wife was a packaged gardenia which he was talking to her. It was found amid the wreckage of the car.

The Ingham club agent was a member of the Reformed church at Grandville. In Mason he attended the Presbyterian church. He was a member of Mason Lions club and Browne-Cavender post of American Legion. He had served a war-time stretch with the U. S. marines.

While studying for his advanced degree at Michigan State the VanSingels lived in Mason. Mrs. VanSingel taught biology in Mason high school.

Services will be at Ball-Dunn funeral home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Rev. Paul L. Arnold of Mason Presbyterian church officiating. A second service will be conducted Monday afternoon at 1:30. It will be at the Pothumus-Hildreth funeral home with burial in Wyoming township cemetery.

CLUB AGENT Gerald VanSingel was acquainted with thousands of Ingham girls and boys and their parents and club leaders. His services were rated highly by extension department heads at Michigan State university and by his co-workers on the Ingham staff.

Report on Fair Will Be Made

Final reports on the 1955 county fair will be made at the annual fair board meeting scheduled for the court house in Mason Wednesday night, November 2. The meeting is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, in the board of supervisors room. Now that the county has legally taken over the fair, there will be no directors or other officers to elect. Directors said that all angles of the 1955 fair will be open for discussion and suggestions will be asked for the 1956 fair.

Fawn Visits Farm Yard

A half-grown fawn visited the Lewis Shaw farm on Rolfe road last Thursday afternoon. It ran from a corn field into the barn. When the youngsters went to the barn to see the fawn it leaped out of a grade door and into a chicken run. Another leap took it out of the run and then it headed back to the woods.

4-H Clubs Raise Memorial Fund

Sponsored by the Ingham 4-H Council, a memorial fund for the VanSingel family was launched Thursday morning. Instead of sending flowers, or in addition to flowers, clubs will make donations of cash to go to the family as a memorial.

"Gerald VanSingel gave his life for 4-H," declared Dorn Diehl, Dansville club leader who suggested the memorial. "This money will be used to perpetuate his memory. The Dansville club will give at least $25."

Contributions, Diehl said, should be made to the county extension office at Mason.

New School Site May Gain in Area

Mason's Steele Street school, now with its entrance from Steele choked by the E. J. Betcher dwelling, may be that much bigger.

A real estate agency representative appeared before the Mason board Wednesday night offering to sell the property. No agreement was reached, however. Supt. James H. Vander Ven said that board members want to first learn how much the district can realize from the house for moving away.

Halls Sell Out At Williamston

C. H. Hall and his son Robert have sold their Williamston Chevrolet agency. They bought it in July and this week closed a deal with S. D. Watson of Royal Oak. C. H. Hall was long associated with the automobile business in Mason, operating the Chevrolet agency before selling to Al Rice. He announced Wednesday that he has no immediate business plans.

The son has joined the staff of Perkins hardware store in Mason.

Rifle Mishap Takes Life of Jack Swerlein

Fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of his 22 rifle Sunday afternoon, Jack E. Swerlein, 18, died on the operating table at Sparrow hospital 2 hours later. A hollow-nose bullet struck him near his right ear, particles of the bullet splitting off and lodging in his brain. Had it been a hard bullet the wound might not have proved fatal, surgeons told the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Swerlein of Bath.

The Swerleins moved from Mason to their farm near Bath 18 months ago. Their son Jack joined them there last month after his discharge from the air force.

Sunday afternoon Jack Swerlein and 2 neighbor boys, Bill Parker and Sheldon Ackles, decided to test their marksmanship. They stood on the edge of the lawn in front of the house and were firing at clods of earth from a newly-plowed field.

The Swerlein youth had his bolt-action rifle strapped to his right arm. The other 2 boys were using a shotgun. As one of the boys fired the shotgun he handed it across to the other. Jack cautioned them to watch the safety. He had just uttered the words when his own rifle hanging from the arm strap discharged. Jack fell to the ground. One of the boys ran to the house to summon Mr. and Mrs. Swerlein and their brother-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Cotner of Dunkirk, Ohio.

The father reached the boy's side in time to hear him subconsciously mumble again, "Watch the safety." Jack was taken to the Lansing hospital by ambulance. At the hospital he was given blood transfusions and was placed under an oxygen tent while surgeons prepared to operate. They were operating when the boy's life expired.

Jack became a member of the Swerlein family as a baby. Mrs. Swerlein was then matron of the Ingham juvenile home at Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Swerlein gave the baby, then sick, the love and care which restored him to health. They adopted him and gave him every advantage parents could give a son.

Funeral services were in Jewett chapel, Mason Wednesday forenoon with Rev. Raymond L. Norton of Mason Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Dunkirk, Ohio. William Parker, Sheldon Ackles, Richard Root, Tom Kiesling, Paul Brown and Charles Douglas of Bath were pallbearers.

Achievement Day Mason Offers Full Program On Halloween

Ingham's 4-H achievement program will still be Thursday, November 3, at the Mason high school. Gerald VanSingel, 4-H club agent, killed Thursday, made plans for achievement day. M. H. Avery, county agent, said a special memorial service will be held for the former 4-H club agent.

Deputy Sheriff Fights Off Four In Jail Attack

A. J. Snyder beat back 4 jail inmates Sunday evening and with the assistance of trustees prevented a jail break.

Snyder, a volunteer deputy, and a husky one, went into the second floor cell block corridor to make a night count. There he was jumped by 4 inmates. They pounded him with bills made from a broom handle and stabbed and scratched him with a knife fashioned from the handle of a spoon. Snyder retreated step by step. When the keys to the gate leading to the first floor were finally wrested from him, inmates had spread the alarm. The 4 inmates fled to their cells as Sheriff Willard P. Barnes and Turnkey George Hill sprang up the steps from the floor below.

Snyder suffered only bruises and minor cuts. X-rays revealed big lumps on his skull but no fractures. He remained conscious, fighting all the while and inflicting punishment upon his attackers.

Albert Miller, 27, and Donald Nash, 29, transferred from Jackson prison to stand trial for kidnapping a prison guard in Ingham, William F. Smith, 29, of Pontiac, and William Purchase, 19, of Williamston, made up the quartet arrayed against Snyder. Miller and Nash were both sentenced Monday on the kidnapping conviction following their present terms. Miller was given 25 to 40. He is now serving from 10 to 15 years for manslaughter and 2 sentences of from 4 to 5 years for auto theft. Nash was doing from 3 to 15 for unarmed robbery in Detroit when he fled the Cassidy lake camp. He received a sentence of 2 to 4 1/2 for his escape attempt and on confession to an armed robbery charge received another 3 to 15. For the kidnapping conviction he drew 4 to 15.

Fauly Locking Device Snyder, who works at the jail because he likes it and asks no pay, went to the second floor Sunday evening after supper to lock 14 men from the day room into their cells for the night. The locking is normally done from a station outside the block but in a recent escape attempt the locking device on one door was damaged.

Snyder went into the corridor outside the day room. One of the prisoners complained of being sick and asked for aspirin. Snyder returned to the first floor to get the aspirin. After he delivered it he walked on down the corridor to take the prisoner count.

The 4 men leaped from the cell with the faulty door and ganged Snyder. He fought them the length of the corridor, out through the corridor door and through the main door to the area way at the head of the first floor stairs.

Trustees working in the kitchen on the third floor heard the commotion. Roswell Berry and 3 other trustees took the elevator to the second floor. The 4 men were then frantically trying to find a key to unlock the door leading to the first floor. The trustees sent the elevator to the first floor and shouted a warning to Turnkey Hill. He summoned Sheriff Barnes and radioed a dispatch to all deputies and state police.

The sheriff and Hill raced up the stairs. They slammed the doors shut behind the retreating attackers and gave aid to Snyder. By that time other deputies and state police were arriving. The 4 attackers were jerked into solitary cells.

Smith is being held on 2 uttering and publishing charges with 3 holders filed against them from other jurisdictions. Purchase is being held on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime with 2 holders against him. Both men may also face charges of attempted escape from jail and assault with a dangerous weapon.

Mason Offers Full Program On Halloween

If there's good weather, Mason's 24th annual Halloween party Monday night is expected to draw a record crowd.

The big party will be at Athletic field, with events for boys and girls from the first through the seventh grades. Kindergartners will have their parties during school hours Monday. High school pupils, from 8th through 12th grades, will have a dance in the gym Monday night.

Mason Kiwanians are staging the party at Athletic field and the kindergarten rooms and are providing the refreshments for the dance at the school. The American Federation of Musicians, through its Lansing local, is furnishing the dance music without charge. Jo Cappo's orchestra will play.

Principal Richard Demlow said that each Mason high school student will be permitted to take one guest, and the guest can be from out of town. The party will start at 8, stop at 11, the principal announced.

Roy Christensen is general chairman of the Kiwanis club Halloween committee. He said the parade is scheduled to form at the Jefferson school at 7 o'clock, marching to Athletic field behind the school band and escorted by police cars and a fire truck.

The first event will be judging of "costumes" by grades, with several prizes offered in each grade. Howard Seibert and Dr. O. K. Patten have charge of the judging.

Jack Davis is chairman of the entertainment committee. There will be 10 minutes of fireworks and then will come a pie-eating contest, which will be followed by a football game between 6th and 7th grade boys. They have been training for the big game for weeks.

There will be a bonfire and then refreshments of cookies and hot chocolate. Each guest will also receive a bag of candy and several favors. High school girls helped Kiwanians sack the gifts Tuesday night.

The annual community Halloween party represents a compact between businessmen and youngsters. The party replaces the nuisance of trick or treat and Halloween vandalism.

Boiler Blows Up At Zimmerman's

An exploding steam boiler blew the front windows out of Zimmerman's gift and paint store and did other minor damage about 9:00 Monday night. Mrs. K. A. Zimmerman, only one in the building at the time, was in the Zimmerman's second floor apartment. She was not injured.

Safety features of the boiler did not operate, according to K. A. Zimmerman. He installed the boiler and converted to an oil heating system only a few weeks ago. He said the boiler had worked perfectly until the explosion.

There was practically no stock loss. Even delicate vases and dishes standing near the explosion were left unharmed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dean were walking past the store when they heard the explosion and saw the windows fall out onto the street. Dean jumped through the window space and headed for the basement. He checked the oil flow and turned off water. Dean makes a hobby out of steam engines and boilers. He had a chance to put his hobby to work.

Ralph Swinehart, working at Ware's drug store, heard the explosion and summoned the nearby Mason fire department. He also checked to see that Mrs. Zimmerman was aware of the situation. The damage was partly covered by insurance.

Pages Won't Stretch

Some news, features and advertising scheduled for publication this week had to be left out because of the coverage given the Gerald VanSingel accident.

Council Votes 7-0 Against Permitting Weekly Auto Races

Mason councilmen by a vote of 7-0 Monday night refused to modify the ban against stock car racing at the fairgrounds track. Where the week before for the prospect for a 4-3 decision one way or the other loomed, no such division resulted Monday night. Councilman Richard Morris introduced a resolution authorizing lifting of the ban and Councilman L. A. Wileden supported it, both explaining that they wanted to bring the matter up for a decision. Both councilmen voted with their colleagues against the resolution.

Races are still permitted at the fairgrounds providing existing facilities are used. No change in terrain is permitted under a 1954 city ordinance.

R. G. Atwood of Lansing, sought lifting of the ban so he could go through with a deal with the county fair board. He had fair board consent for building a quarter-mile banked oval track inside the half-mile track for staging stock car races Friday nights.

Atwood had more backers at Monday night's meeting than there were opponents who spoke up. After the adverse vote and adjournment of the meeting he declared that the council should have abided by a poll of the people at the hearing. He also intimated that he may seek to secure another location in Mason, north and east of the business section.

Promotor Still Trying "I am not whipped yet," said Atwood, "I am still going to try to work out a solution with the county fair board."

Mayor Alfred Porche prefaced the hearing with an admonition that councilmen should put aside personal feelings in considering the request for lifting the ban.

"We want to arrive at a reasonable and just solution," said the mayor. "Anyone who engages in personalities will forfeit his right to be heard."

The mayor limited the discussion to residents of the city and Atwood. Several from outside the city were in attendance. They were race drivers and followers and Supervisors Wilfred Jewett of Vevey and Clarence Puffenberger of Onondaga, members of the fair board.

Atwood took the floor first. He outlined his program, saying he intended to build a blacktop track inside the racing oval. He promised to treat with chloride or oil the entire parking area and roads serving the park, even the shoulders of the roads and track. He estimated he would stage 20 races a year, attracting 2,500 to each race. For that the county would receive $5,700 and the city's share would be $2,840. He also said the city and school district could use the track and other facilities for recreation and the Junior Chamber of Commerce could stage pan-dragging events.

1,000 ARE MISSING

Books Stray from Library

Before Ingham had a county library many owners of books would write or print admonitions in the front or back of their volumes. A popular one was "If this book should chance to roam, box its ears and send it home."

Not enough ears are being boxed these days. More than 1,000 books are listed as strayed or stolen from county library shelves. That's for a 6-year period. Under a rigid follow-up plan, the losses so far this year have been held to less than 100, reported Norman Bunker, county librarian.

Most of the missing are children's books, Bunker said. Many of them have been borrowed through bookmobile service, he added.

The bookmobile serves about 80 schools, or did. Some of the schools may be cut from the list, the librarian indicated, because of the loss record.

At most schools the authorities cooperate fully with the library, whether the service is through a branch or by bookmobile, Bunker explained.

Some parents show little concern over the books their children have borrowed, Bunker stated. He said that the library gets little response from letters sent to delinquent borrowers or, more aptly, delinquent returners.

Reward Offer in Herrick Murders Gets Bigger Play

Word of the growing reward offered in the Herrick murders is spreading. Newspaper wire services and the National Sheriffs association are attempting to make the offer known throughout the nation.

Harry Doesburg, Oakwood storekeeper, reported Thursday that the total stood at a little over $1,400 and he cherished hopes that it would grow to at least $3,000. Included in the total is $500 put up by the Ingham board of supervisors and $50 offered by the state for information leading to the return of an escaped convict. Doesburg himself has put $200 into the reward fund besides paying for 3 display advertisements appealing for contributions. What he lists as his final appeal appears in the Ingham County News this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herrick were murdered in the Herrick barn September 3. A warrant has been issued charging Buchanan, who had escaped Jackson prison the day before, with the double killing. He was traced from Oakwood to Millville, thence to Mason and finally to Lansing. Before it was known he had escaped prison and 48 hours before the murders were discovered, he stepped out of a taxi in front of the Greyhound bus station in Lansing. There has been no report of his whereabouts since.

The FBI has joined the nationwide search. Sheriff Willard P. Barnes commended Doesburg for promoting the reward fund and the sheriff made a contribution to it. Wednesday the sheriff announced that the National Sheriffs association is spreading the word on Buchanan and the reward throughout the country.

It is Doesburg's theory that those harboring Buchanan are as low as he is and that they can be coaxed to talk only if a substantial reward is offered.

Agencies Plan X-Ray Drive On Chest Ills

Joining forces, the Ingham health department, Ingham Chest hospital and Ingham Tuberculosis and Health society will conduct a chest X-ray campaign throughout the county. It will start November 21 and continue through December 16, said Dr. E. K. Musson, county health director.

Object of the campaign is to seek out and treat tuberculosis and lung cancer, the doctor said. If the diseases are discovered early, cures can be made, he added.

Quentin Ewert of Lansing is general chairman for Lansing and East Lansing division. Howard McCowan of Mason is chairman for the out-county area. Organization of area committees has been accomplished, Dr. Musson said. Committee chairmen will arrange for publicity, transportation and registration.

Committee chairmen as announced by Dr. Musson are: Mrs. Frank Quinlan, Williamston; Mrs. Joseph Pearce, Okemos; Mrs. William Aehntberg, Haslett; Mrs. Josephine Schoff, Whitmanston township; Mrs. L. J. Boyles, Towaw Gardens; Larry Boger, Marble school area; Mrs. Orville Erb, Leckie; Mrs. Jack Witt, Webberville; Mrs. David Beatty, Sr., Leroy; Mrs. Bernant Jensen, Wheatfield; Mrs. Jerald McCabe, Darsville and Ingham township; Mrs. Clark Nottingham, White Oak; Mrs. William Caskey, Stockbridge; Mrs. John B. Frey, Stockbridge; Mrs. Eli Quick and Mrs. Russell Warner, Leslie township; Mrs. Robert Clapham, Pleasant View school district; Mrs. Charles F. Hemans, Aurelius.

Don Whitney, Mason; Mrs. Glen Oesterle, Vevay; Mrs. Marie Pratt, Holt; Mrs. Richard Fay, Delhi (south); Mrs. Woodrow Nallet, Maple Grove school district; Harry Thompson and George Dittman, Urbandale;

Mrs. M. C. Smythe, Horsebrook school district; Mrs. John Taylor, Stockbridge township; Mrs. Maynard Barber, Bunker Hill; Mrs. Ward Lenz, Onondaga; Mrs. Charles Keep, southeast Lansing township; and Mrs. Dale Reeves, Miller road area.

Court Sentences Negligent Driver

In circuit court in Lansing last Thursday Judge Louis E. Coash sentenced William C. Crane, convicted of negligent homicide, Crane was the driver of a car which struck a car driven by Mrs. Victor F. Brenner, Mason, September 17, 1954. Robert Brenner, 11, suffered fatal injuries and Mrs. Brenner and Marvin and Harold Pulver, riding in the Brenner car, were injured.

Crane was placed on probation for 3 years. The terms are standard, that he is not to leave the state during the 3 years without consent of the court and that he must not violate any criminal law of the state or any ordinance of any municipality. He was also ordered to pay costs of $400 and $36 in probationary fees.

Search Continues For 2 Shotguns

State police and conservation officers are still searching for 2 shotguns peddled in Mason October 15. Two convicts stole the guns from the district conservation office in Jackson after they broke from prison. The convicts were captured. They said they sold the guns to a man in Mason, a man they met on the street. They told officers they got $8 for the guns, a 12-gauge Remington automatic with Winchester barrel and a Winchester single shot.

Officers have the serial numbers on the missing guns. They ask that any person knowing anything about the guns report the matter to Walter Mutchler, state conservation officer at Mason, Mason police chief Harry Chandler or state police.

Post Makes Plans For Veterans Day

Browne-Cavender post No. 148 is making big plans for Veteran's Day, November 11. The evening will begin with a potluck dinner at 7 p. m. Coffee will be served by Mrs. Wayne Miller and members of her committee of the Auxiliary.

For entertainment the Legionnaires have some movies to be presented by Sgt. Joe Jones and Sgt. Joseph Filko of the U. S. marine corps, who are stationed in Lansing on recruiting duty.

Commander LeRoy Saelens of the V. F. W. reports his post will attend the dinner. Commander Jim Stubbart states that the D. A. V. will also participate.

Lindemer Chosen As Legal Expert

Lawrence B. Lindemer, Stockbridge, a member of the Lansing law firm of Foster, Foster, Campbell & Lindemer, will be in Washington this week end as a consultant. He was named vice-chairman of an American Bar association section on administrative law.

The Stockbridge lawyer was appointed at the request of Chairman Rufus G. Poole of Washington in the belief that Lindemer's experience with the report on legal services and procedure with the Hoover commission would prove of great value.

Alaiedon Farmer Stricken While Working in Field

Clarence E. Warner, 74, 2761 East Holt road, died Monday morning at the farm home following a heart attack. Mr. Warner was working alone in the field picking corn. The picker apparently became plugged and he killed the tractor and went around to unplug it when he was stricken.

Mrs. Robert Bowman went in search of her father when he did not come in to dinner and found him lying on the ground. She went to the Bartholomew farm for aid and finding no one home, ran to the Arend farm where she got help.

Mr. Warner was born August 4, 1881, near Elsie to Dovolio and Lydia Porter. He obtained schooling in that area and in 1914 he moved to Lansing. In February of that year he married Bertha Reynolds at Lansing. Mr. Warner worked in the factory there and in the fall of 1922, they moved to the farm home on Holt road. Mrs. Warner died in 1938.

In December of 1942, Mr. Warner and Edna Wright of Lansing were married at his home. She preceded him in death November, 1953. Besides working the farm, Mr. Warner had been employed at the Federal Drop Forge. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman and family moved to the Warner farm a year ago in June to be with her father. She said he had not been feeling well for the past 2 years.

Mr. Bowman was a member of the First Spiritualist church, Lansing. He was also a member of the Alaiedon Farm Bureau group. Surviving besides the daughter, Marjorie, are 2 step-sons, Vernon Blessner of Lansing and Amos Blessner of Chicago; a step-daughter, Mrs. Logan Hannahs of Lansing; 2 brothers, Sam Warner and LeRoy Warner; a sister, Mrs. Mattie Morse, all of Lansing; 3 grandchildren and several step-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Estes-Leadley Holt chapel with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery. Rev. Ethel McLain of Jackson officiated. Pallbearers were Roy Collar, Benjamin Arend, Sr., Arden Marquardt, Albert Fry, Ernest Larner and Ralph Bartholomew.

Light and Color Brighten Court

When Harry Howell and his helpers and electricians get through with the Ingham circuit court room Justice will need a thicker blindfold.

New fluorescent lights are being installed by Robert Leonard, mole batteries of them hung low where they will shed light. Howell, with the help of a man from the jail, is giving the big room a new coat of paint. It's going to be a pretty blue.

Heretofore painting of the courtroom has been let by contract. Howell decided to go ahead with labor from the jail.

Pioneer Daughter Dies in Aurelius

Mrs. Nellie Pratt, 93, one of Ingham's oldest residents, died Saturday. All her 93 years was spent in Aurelius. She was the daughter of Dr. George and Caroline Hopkins. She was a nurse for her father, one of the first physicians to practice in the area. She was also a school teacher.

Mrs. Pratt was born September 27, 1862, at the outbreak of the Civil War. Since the death of her husband, Ward, Mrs. Pratt lived alone, doing her own housework. She was taken sick Wednesday night of last week and on Friday entered Mason General hospital. She died the following day.

Surviving Mrs. Pratt are a nephew and 3 nieces, George Freeland, Detroit; Mrs. Nellie Crowley and Mrs. Jennie Elliott, Ann Arbor; and Mrs. Ward Tupper, Dexter.

Rev. Robert Worgul, pastor of the Aurelius Baptist church, conducted funeral services for Mrs. Pratt at the church Monday afternoon with burial in Greenwood cemetery, Aurelius. Ray DeCamp, Cleo DeCamp, Fred Dolbee, John Parker, Claude Parish and Carl Davis were pallbearers.

Holt Taxpayers Will Decide on School Bonding

Holt school district residents will vote on a proposed $1,525,000 bond issue Thursday, November 3. Polls will be open from 7:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. in the school gymnasium.

Included in the bond issue is $118,000 for an addition to the Midway school, $170,000 for an addition to Sycamore school, an addition to Elliott school costing $170,000 and $890,400 for a new high school. Furniture, equipment and handling expenses would cost another $176,000.

Estimates of enrollment in the Holt school system by 1958 are 1,400 elementary pupils and 600 junior and senior school pupils. This year elementary pupils number 950 and junior and senior pupils number 503.

Even this year, conditions are crowded, according to Rex B. Smith, school superintendent. Smith, the board of education and members of a citizens committee point out that the proposed bond issue will provide the Holt district with adequate facilities for many years.

Financial arrangements provide for no increase in school tax millage, Smith pointed out. He explained that district taxpayers are now paying $23.73 per $1,000 of assessed valuation into a debt retirement fund. Taxpayers will continue to add to the fund until 1958 when the present school debt will be paid off, he stated. If the bond issue passes next Thursday, the present tax rate will be continued when the present debt is retired in 1958, Smith said.

Panel Discusses Farmer Relations

Mason Kiwanians and guests heard a panel discussion of town and country relationships Tuesday night.

County Agent M. H. Avery was chairman of the panel. Others on it were Ernest Hunt, Holt manufacturer; Dorn Diehl, Ingham township farmer; and Bernard Cady and Nelson Brown, Mason businessmen.

In a sugar beet guessing contest Glen Coon and Stanley Cornwell tied on the amount of sugar in 2 big beets. On a second guess Cornwell won, taking home a 25-lb sack of sugar furnished by Diehl. To the 2 worst guessers went the big beets. They went to Ben Weaver and J. B. Dean. The amount of sugar in the 2 beets was supposed to be 3 lb., 13 oz., Diehl said.

Witnesses Tell Of Mason Mishap

Before Judge Marvin J. Salmon in circuit court in Lansing Wednesday witnesses testified in behalf of Mrs. Ford Aseltine of Mason. She is asking for damages of $12,000 against the Lansing Ice and Fuel company for injuries suffered December 6, 1952. She fell on the sidewalk in front of what was then the branch office of the Lansing firm on West Ash street. She testified she slipped because of the negligence of the Lansing Ice and Fuel Co. in not clearing the walk of ice.

The husband has also started suit to recover hospital bills and other expenses resulting from the accident. That suit is not being heard at the present time.

Mrs. Aseltine's case is expected to reach the jury Thursday afternoon.

Son Meets Death In Oakland Crash

Harold D. Latimer, 39, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Latimer, 308 S. Lansing street, was fatally injured in a head-on crash in Waterford township, Oakland county, Tuesday afternoon. He was returning from work in Pontiac to his home in Milford when his car and a truck met head-on. Latimer was driving west on M-59 and the truck, driven by Laurence G. Klemz, Berkeley, was headed east. The truck driver was unhurt. Latimer died in a Pontiac hospital shortly after admittance.

Mr. and Mrs. Latimer and their daughter Connie left Mason Tuesday night for Milford. Their son is survived by the widow and 5 children, with another child expected soon.

Marian Pollok of Mason heard the horn blowing on his parked car Saturday. When he ran to shut it off, he discovered his car afire. Mason firemen put the flames out, but not before they had destroyed everything except the engine. The car was parked near the Donald Ward residence on Howell road. Fire Chief Leonard Austin said the fire was caused by faulty electrical wiring.

The Main Drag By the Ad Staff

Plans are shaping up for the grand opening of Mason Food Land. The new self-service food store was formerly known as Tom's Market. The interior of the store has been re-arranged. Work will start on the exterior this week.

Lamphear Bros. contractors started work Wednesday on tearing up the sidewalk in front of Ware's drug store. A new entrance way into the store will be constructed and new sidewalk built at a higher level.

Bob Hall and Lynn Bullen have joined the sales staff at Perkins hardware. Hall and his father, C. H. Hall, recently sold their Chevrolet agency in Williamston. Bullen has been in the construction business since he returned from army service in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Densmore, owners of Densmore's IGA Food, liner and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morris attended the IGA district meeting at Frankenmuth Tuesday.

J. A. Dart Co. building on S. M. A. street has a fresh coat of green paint. Earlier this year several thousand square feet of lawn was planted around the remodeled building.

Mason's Reserves dropped a 12-0 decision to the Howell reserve team Tuesday night over at Howell. Mason could not put a sustained drive together.

Auto Races

on the track without charge except for lights.

Mrs. Charles Hilderbrandt, Atwood's sister, declared Mason needs parking up and that the entire community would benefit from the races. She suggested that the city's share of profits could be used for a recreation center.

D. C. Dart, president of Dart National bank, backed the proposal for the races. Jack Betcher pointed out that people who built their homes in the area knew the track was there.

Schuyler Smith of Hall boulevard and Mrs. Don Snyder of Jewett subdivision expressed fear that weekly racing would make the area less attractive and property values would decline. Mrs. Snyder also took issue with a statement attributed to Atwood at the October 17 meeting—that the noise from the races would be no more disturbing than the ringing of church bells on Sunday mornings.

Arthur Newman, 809 East Columbia, told of the value of racing driving, insisting that drivers learn by track experience that speed is dangerous on highways. Racing teaches them responsibility, he said.

Police Chief Advises Chief of Police Harry Chandler told the council that revenue expected from stock car races would not return to the city the cost of extra polling on race nights. He said he was not opposed to racing but merely wanted to point out that the city could not recover extra costs.

Capt. Verslie Babcock of the sheriff's department declared stock car racing to be a bad influence on drivers. He said records show an increase in fast and reckless driving following motorcycle and auto races and so-called thrill shows.

"The chief reason advanced why Mason should permit stock car races," said City Attorney Howard A. McCowan, "is revenue which the city would get. It wouldn't be enough to cover additional costs. The extra revenue wouldn't make up for declines in property values of homes in the area. The county fair is staged by the county for the benefit of 4-H boys and girls. It is unfair to ask a few people who happen to live close to the fairgrounds to suffer discomfort and financial loss on the chance that auto racing will help support the county 4-H program. Much fairer would be a tax spread over the entire county to make up fair deficits."

Mason business men have spent money to promote Friday night buying. McCowan continued. People who come in early to get a grandstand seat and leave town late won't leave money in Mason stores, he added.

"Mason can either be a carnival town or a residential town," McCowan said. "It can't be both."

That about wrapped it up for the people and just then the fire siren wailed. Around the corner the holler in the Zimmerman store blew out the windows and the hearing was recessed. Fifteen minutes later when it was reconvened the councilmen took over, some of them thinking out loud.

Councilman Robert Phillips pointed out that a residential area has developed around the county park and even on M-36 and Dexter Trail. Operation of stock car races on a weekly basis would not fit in, he declared. He urged that an out-of-town location be secured.

"Fostering automobile races in Mason just doesn't make sense," said Councilman Clifford Walcott. "The governor has called a special session of the legislature to work out speed controls and yet here in Mason we are being asked to help promote speed."

Both Councilmen L. A. Willeden and Bernard Cady declared they had gained new perspectives during the week end at the hearing. Dr. Willeden remarked that the cost of polling was a major factor. Cady pointed out that few local young men could afford racing cars for the events here. They would benefit only professional drivers, Cady said.

In his summing up, Mayor Forche listed as advantages profits for the promoter and fair board and entertainment provided spectators. Disadvantages listed included lack of gain for the city, noise from cars roaring around a small track without mufflers, dirt and fumes, traffic hazards, lowered property values and lack of any advantage to

Work on Street Encounters Delay

Installation of sewer and water mains and construction of curb and gutter on Katherine street must wait for an adjourned hearing November 7.

At the hearing scheduled for Monday night in the council room the estimate of cost was not available. Walter E. Zimmer, city engineer, said he was not provided with plans until 4:15 Monday afternoon. Carlton Resaler of Kessler Construction Co. explained that the engineer he engaged did not finish the plans in time for Zimmer to have the estimate ready.

Zimmer gave the council an estimated figure of $15,650 for the work, $5,000 for the sanitary sewer, $7,000 for water mains and $2,650 for curb and gutter. Figures on sidewalks were also estimated at $4,300.

The city engineer informed the council and Don Heat and Richard Hall, 2 property owners in the subdivision, that the street grade and the drainage will be satisfactory.

Mason businessmen. The disadvantages far outweigh the advantages, he said; and then he called for action one way or the other. Councilman Morris produced his resolution lifting the ban.

The vote was 7 to 0 against changing the ordinance.

Last Call For the Reward Fund

This fund was started a month ago to raise a reward for the capture of the hammer slayer of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Herrick of Stockbridge. This was not just one person's idea, but the combined idea and effort of many friends of Myra and Howard Herrick. The capture of this murdered should be the deep concern of every law-abiding citizen in Ingham county.

More Money Is Needed to Catch the Hammer Butcher of Howard and Myra Herrick

The goal of the reward fund is $3,000. So far Ingham county residents have given $1,393. That's not even half of what is needed to bring the murderer to justice. Law officers believe that the $3,000 reward is necessary to force this man into the open. Won't you give and then someday share in the feeling that you helped capture this bad man? Remember, the fate of Myra and Howard could have been yours!

He Murdered Our Friends!

DO YOU WANT HIM? WILL YOU GIVE?

This is the killer all America is looking for. This is the murderer who pounced on the Herricks and brutally hammered them to death near Stockbridge, Michigan, September 3. This is the killer that YOU can help bring to justice by contributing to the reward fund.

SOMEWHERE A VOICE IS CALLING (WILL YOU GIVE?)

Family Expresses Thanks

We appreciate the contributions people have made to this reward fund and we express our thanks to them and to Harry Doesburg who has asked for contributions. We, the children of the murder victims, will be ready to contribute our share to help bring criminals to justice in other cases.

MONIE, LUCILLE, HAROLD and LESTER

This Is Last Appeal for Funds

In behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Herrick, I make this last plea. To the mothers and fathers, the businessmen, public officials and even children, I urge each of you to band together to help reach the $3,000 goal. My thanks go out to all who have contributed to the fund and who will do so after this final appeal. The money is well spent.

Church Plans Anniversary Observance

North Aurelius Union church will celebrate its 75th anniversary Sunday, October 30. The church was originally incorporated February 17, 1840, as the North Aurelius Methodist and Baptist Union church. On February 18, 1921, the name was changed to North Aurelius Union church, and it is an independent, Bible-believing church.

At the reorganization meeting there were 38 members present. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Bullen, Oscar J. Wilson, Mrs. Della Hillon, Miss Maude Bullen, Herbert Norris, Herman J. Bullen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spink, Mrs. Florence Clark and Howard L. Smith attended the meeting.

The anniversary program will consist of 3 services—morning, afternoon and evening. Former pastors of the church have been invited to be guest speakers. Rev. Gordon Toloff of the Kent City Baptist church will speak in the morning service at 11:15. Rev. Ernest Martin, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Detroit, and Rev. Carl Briggs, pastor of the Skeels Baptist church in Gladwin, have been asked to be the afternoon speakers. This meeting will be at 2:30. The girls ensemble from the Okemos Baptist church will present special music in the afternoon. The history of the church will be given by Hubert Bullen, chairman of the board of trustees. At the evening meeting, which begins at 8 o'clock, Rev. Harold Dakin, pastor of the Unionville Methodist church, will speak, and special music will be furnished by a trio from the Easton Rapids Baptist church.

A bohemian dinner will be served in the basement of the church. Those planning to attend are to take a dish to pass and their own table service. A lunch of sandwiches, cake and jello is planned for the evening.

The original church building was remodeled in 1917. At that time the basement was built, stained glass windows were added, new pews were installed and other improvements were made. During the years various repairs have been made. A special offering was taken at Easter

Churches Show Luther Picture

"Martin Luther," the feature film produced by a cast on location in West Germany, will be shown at Mason Presbyterian church Sunday night at 7:30. It is being brought to Mason as a cooperative venture of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

The film deals with the 16th century monk who defied the strike in his demand for religious reform. It was produced by Louis de Rochemont Associates.

The title role is played by Niall MacGinnis, British actor, who heads a cast and crew of 500 drawn together for the production from the U. S., France, Ireland, England, Scotland, Germany and Austria.

Lothar Wolff produced the film on location in the towns, castles and churches of West Germany. Irving Pichel of Hollywood directed and played one of the key roles.

The script, prepared by Allan Sqaene and Wolff, is based upon Catholic and Protestant sources and leans heavily on historic documents for its dialogue.

The support of museums in Berlin, Mainz, Wiesbaden, and Breiten were enlisted for authentic costuming and reconstruction of scenes such as the Diet of Worms and the Diet of Augsburg. Music was furnished by the Munich Philharmonic orchestra with an original score by Mark Lothar of the Bavaria state theatre.

This will be one of the first showings in a Michigan church since becoming available in 16 mm. said Rev. Raymond L. Norton of the Methodist church. It is the same picture, without cutting, that has been setting box-office records in the theaters throughout the United States and England, he said. There will be no admission charge. An offering will be taken. Rev. Norton announced.

Doctor Lectures At Club Meet

Dr. Lucille Barber of MSU gave a lecture on the subject Your Child Is Normal at the meeting of Mason Child Study Club No. 1 Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Don Chapman.

Dr. Barber stated to the group that a normal child is able to live in harmony in the community and profits in a comfortable, productive way. She pointed out that each child does things in his own way according to his environment and will always be different from other children, but is still normal. Dr. Barber also mentioned that times are different now; that we live in a more competitive society and that we should encourage children to take a part in this life rather than being seen and not heard.

Mrs. Don Chapman, Mrs. Merwin Everett, Mrs. Harvin Lott and Mrs. Herb Newman were elected as delegates to represent the club at MSU on November 9 and 10.

Following a question and answer period Mrs. Marvin Lott and Mrs. Wallace Bailey served members and their guest dessert and coffee.

Death Claims Irving Snyder

Irving A. Snyder, 77, 521 Randolph street, died Sunday morning at his home following a sickness of several months. He was born October 29, 1877, in Jackson county to Amos and Nora Manley Snyder.

For 44 years, Mr. Snyder was a farmer in Tompkins Center. The past 4 years, he had been a resident of Mason. On June 25, 1902, he married Clara Harvey at Vermontville. Mr. Snyder was a member of the Odd Fellows at Tompkins Center.

Surviving besides the widow are 2 sons, Harry of Onondaga and Owen of Jackson; 2 daughters, Mrs. Mildred DeMarais and Miss Thelma Snyder of Mason, 3 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at Ball-Dunn funeral home with Rev. Raymond Norton of the Mason Methodist church officiating. Burial was at Tompkins Center cemetery.

Pallbearers were George Southworth, George Simson, R. G. Woodard, Clifford Dorell, Clifton Dowling and Lewis Leggett.

Mrs. Grove Perrin Dies at Hospital

Mrs. Mary Ann Greve Perrin, resident of Mason and Lansing for many years, died at the Mason General hospital Monday. She had been in falling health for several years.

Funeral services were Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ball-Dunn funeral home. Burial was at Maple Grove cemetery. Rev. Raymond Norton of the Mason Methodist church officiated.

Mrs. Perrin was born in New York state. More than 50 years she was spent in Mason and Lansing where Mr. Greve was a State Journal employee. In later years she was married to Edward Perrin. Both Mr. Greve and Mr. Perrin preceded her in death.

Mrs. Perrin was a member of the Eastern Stars, White Shrine, Royal Neighbors, Women's Relief Corps, Moose, Happy Twenty club and Methodist church. A daughter, Mrs. W. B. Rice, of Mt. Clemens survives.

Former Publisher Dies at Springport

E. C. Sibley, retired publisher, died in Springport Sunday. He retired in 1949 after 40 years as publisher of the Springport Signal. He launched the Diamond News in 1897 and in 1909 bought the Springport newspaper. His column, "As We See It," was widely quoted.

For a few months during the war Mr. Sibley was on the staff of the Ingham County News at Mason. A brother, C. J. Sibley, is editor and publisher of the Stockbridge Brief-Sun.

Surviving Mr. Sibley are the widow, 2 daughters and 2 grandchildren.

Vandals Smash Windows

Taxpayers of Mason school district had to replace 10 panes of glass at the Hawley area school Monday. Somebody with a shotgun blasted out the windows on the east side of the school Saturday night. Captain Versie Babcock said that Martin Pollok reported hearing shots about 11:30 Saturday night. He lives a quarter-mile away at the state game farm.

Mason Cadillac Dealer Displays New Models

Cadillac's line of 1956 automobiles presents a completely restyled appearance, features an impressive list of important engineering advancements and has been expanded to include 2 new body styles it was announced today by Lowell Robinson, Mason dealer.

While consistent with Cadillac's progressive styling continuity, Cadillac's 1956 models are dramatically new in appearance both inside and out.

A new, more powerful, 285 horsepower engine and a 305 horsepower El Dorado engine coupled with a vastly improved transmission system are typical of the many engineering developments designed to insure the 1956 Cadillac owner the greatest possible driving satisfaction.

Presented for the first time are the Sedan de Ville, a 4-door hardtop; and the Eldorado Seville, a limited production model supplementing Cadillac's dramatic Eldorado convertible, the Biarritz.

With the addition of the 2 new models Cadillac now offers a total of 10 body styles in 3 series. Designed to convey a feeling of sweeping loveliness, the new 1956

Top Cast Heads Tough Guy Comedy at Fox Theatre

Fox theater fans will have a whole week of top attractions in store for them.

Starting off the week's attraction will be a double feature on Friday and Saturday. Featured will be 2 of Hollywood's top efforts for the year.

Sterling Hayden co-stars with Yvonne DeCarlo and Zachary Scott to lead the cast of Allied Artists' Technicolor production, "Shotgun," the first hit at the Fox theatre.

"Shotgun" brings into focus 3 sharply contrasting characters. Hayden is a deputy United States marshal grimly tracking a cold blooded killer who had blasted to death by shotgun Hayden's superior officer. It is by shotgun that the tall and taciturn deputy vows to get his man. On the trail he meets under dramatic circumstances a half-breed girl named Abby (Miss DeCarlo), who attaches herself to him as a lover might stalk a hunter. Eventually she tames, but the process is far from uneventful.

Scott portrays one of the most despised characters of the old west, a "bounty hunter," or a man who makes his livelihood by killing wanted men for whom a "dead or alive" reward has been posted.

The picture was filmed against the Arizona Mesa country, where white clouds, blue skies and the reds, blues, mauves and yellows of the cliffs and mountains make a paradise for Technicolor photography.

In the second hit a great Broadway stage star has been put on film.

Motion picture audiences who first saw the extraordinarily talented Shirley Booth in her cinema debut as the slovenly housewife in "Come Back, Little Sheba" are in for a surprise. Miss Booth, whose characterization of that slatternly, blowzy haridan, won an Academy Award, now appears in a brand new Hal Wallis production, "About Mrs. Leslie."

In "About Mrs. Leslie" which co-stars Robert Ryan, Shirley is seen as a night club singer who gets romantically entangled with a tall, dark and handsome industrialist, Robert Ryan. It is one of the most sensitive and compelling love stories ever brought to the screen and the acting of Miss Booth lends a magical quality to the film.

Convicts Have Soft Hearts Pursuing a talent for murder, swindling or safe-cracking may land a man on Devil's Island, but trying to put that talent to more honest use may get him into almost as much trouble. That's the situation with Humphrey Bogart, Aldo Ray and Peter Ustinov, starring in "We're No Angels," Paramount's wonderful off-beat drama playing at the Fox Sunday and Monday.

"We're No Angels" is the tale of 3 unlikely candidates for angel's wings, who escape from Devil's Island, succumb for the first time in their crime-riddled lives to the urge to help their fellow man, but instead stir up a hornet's nest of murder and larceny.

Graced by a starring cast of extraordinary quality, the drama in addition to Bogart, Ray and Ustinov boasts the top-flight talents of Joan Bennett, Basil Rathbone and Leo G. Carroll, plus 3 young and highly appealing supporting players: Gloria Talbot, making her debut, John Baer and John Smith.

Chandler is Indian Again After a succession of full-blooded Indian roles, Jeff Chandler is playing only half an Indian these days, in his co-starring role with Jane Russell and Dan Duryea in Universal-International's fiery Technicolor love story, "Foxfire," playing Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Fox theatre. Nevertheless, the half-Indian half-white man role is Chandler's favorite to date.

"I don't have to be so darned monosyllabic in this one," says the rugged portrayer of Cochise and other top-ranking American Indian figures. "Too many original roles call for a maximum amount of grunting from the leading man. Frankly, I'm tired of being a grunter."

Instead of making sign language to Jane Russell in "Foxfire," the actor delivers what he says are some of the most intelligent lines written for an Indian (if only half an Indian) in a good number of years.

Chandler, who portrays a half-breed Apache mining engineer, who falls in love with an Eastern debutante, says that his role is a long step in the direction of a true portrayal of the Indian's real emotions.

Fatal Accident Results in Suit

Court action has resulted from a fatal automobile accident on M-36 east of Dansville last April 3.

Mrs. William G. Hunter and Mrs. Arlene Arnold of Lansing have brought suit against William C. Hunter and Robert Hunter, Munith.

William C. Hunter, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Thelbert Arnold, all of Lansing were headed east on M-36 with Hunter at the wheel of his car. The bill of complaint alleges that Robert Hunter, driving west on M-36, turned his car into a farm driveway and backed out onto the highway into the path of William Hunter's car. William Hunter swerved his car, losing control. The car hit a tree and Arnold was thrown out. He was killed instantly.

Robert Hunter and William Hunter are unrelated.

The plaintiffs allege that both drivers were negligent. Mrs. Arnold is asking damages of $10,000 and Mrs. Hunter, $5,000.

Immediately following the accident Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams of Mason impounded a coroner's jury. After listening to testimony the jury declared both drivers to be guilty of contributory negligence.

Couple Speaks Nuptial Vows in Home Wedding

A trelis banked with autumn leaves was the setting for the pretty home wedding of Alyce Marie Hazelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Hazelton of West Olds road, and Arnold Frank Bannister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bannister of Grand River road, Rives Junction, Saturday.

Traditional wedding music was played before the ceremony. Anthony Vasek sang Because.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Rev. Samuel W. Wenger of the First Congregational Christian church, who was the officiating clergyman.

A waltz-length gown of white net over satin was chosen by the bride for her wedding. It was made with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her veil of nylon net was finger-tip in length. She carried a white Bible, on which yellow roses and baby mums tied with lovers' knots, were placed.

Mrs. Joseph Fruehly of Lansing

burg was the bride's only attendant. She wore a waltz-length pink taffeta dress made like the bride's. She wore a headdress of pink and white mums and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

James Helmker served the bridegroom as best man. Mrs. Hazelton wore navy blue for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of yellow and bronze mums. The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua dress, and yellow and bronze mums were in her corsage.

A reception was given in the bride's home, with 80 friends and relatives attending. Mrs. Emma Shaw was an honored guest. She is the great-great-aunt of the bride.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Shirley Bannister, sister of the bridegroom, of Rives Junction, Diana Hatch of Leslie and Barbara McMurtrie of Jackson. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Lynn Hazelton, baked the bridegroom's cake. The 3-layered wedding cake formed the centerpiece for the buffet table, which was covered with a white linen cloth. Green leaves were in garlands at the base of the cake flanked by tall green candles.

Out-of-town guests were from Atwater, California, Okemos, Williamston, Jackson, Mason and Rives Junction.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will be at home on Grand River avenue, Rives Junction. The bride was graduated from the Leslie high school in 1955. She is employed at the National Bank of Jackson. The bridegroom graduated from Leslie high school in 1954 and is employed by Blair Auto Parts in Jackson.

Showers were given for the bride by Mrs. Harold Huffine and Mrs. Robert Brownlee with Mrs. Russell Taylor and Mrs. Dan Darrow as co-hostesses.

Charlene Tiller Is Chosen
Charlene Tiller, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tiller, was voted Red Feather queen by the senior class of the Leslie high school at Friday's meeting. She will represent the village of Leslie at the luncheon in the Olds Hotel November 1, when the Red Feather collections will be reported by towns, says Otto Carlsson of Lansing.

Leslie Children To Canvass for UNICEF Aid

This year at Leslie's Halloween party, children will spend their first hour of trick-or-treat, taking canisters to homes where they will ask for funds for UNICEF. This fund will provide aid for 300,000 destitute children in the Arab land.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Wenger, who just returned from Europe and the Near East, saw the pitiful plight of these youngsters.

Following their trek with canisters, the weird ghosts, spirits and comic characters will go to the Grange hall for a party sponsored by the Lions club and the P. T. A. with the village helping to foot the bill.

Otto Hecksell will represent the Lions club. The P. T. A. committee for judging costumes will consist of Otto Hecksell, George Luecht, Mrs. Claude Smith and Donna Coppens.

Games will be under the P. T. A. committee of Richard Frohrip, Leonard Gyles, Mrs. Clare Fuller and Mrs. Robert Darling.

Arthur Bardens Are Installed In Leslie OES

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bardens were installed as worthy patron and worthy matron of the Leslie chapter No. 155 OES, Monday evening in the Masonic temple.

Flagbearers, Mrs. Dorothy Carter, Mrs. Kathleen Brownlee and Mrs. Bessie Byerley; county chaplain, Audrey Layton; and county flagbearer, Fay Wardowski.

Mrs. Esther Eckeri was the installing officer. Mrs. Lenore Burnette was the installing marshal and Mrs. Lela Archer was the installing chaplain.

Mr. and Mrs. Bardens were escorted to the East through an honor line formed by their children, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roggow, and their twin sons, Lester and Larry.

Retiring Matron, Mrs. Faye Wardowski, was presented her past matron's jewel by Mrs. Lucille Bardens. Mrs. Wardowski presented the past patron's pin to her husband, Wilfred Wardowski. Mrs. Ina Rex and Mrs. Ruth Brownlee were in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Dorothy Carter presided over the guest book.

Rites Are Said For Roy Brown

Funeral services for Roy Z. Brown, 61, of 1855 West Olds road, Leslie, were conducted in Luecht funeral home, Monday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Alton West of the Spring Arbor Free Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Stockbridge cemetery. Mr. Brown died at University hospital in Ann Arbor Friday after a sickness of 2 months.

He was a native of Jackson county and moved to Leslie 4 years ago. He liked gardening and was especially proud of flowers he raised. A carpenter by trade, he had been employed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. for 14 years. He was a member of the Independent Order of Forresters.

Survivors include the widow, Adella; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Carley of Munith; 2 brothers, Lloyd of Plymouth and June of Battle Creek; 3 sisters, Mrs. Anna Leggett of Pontiac, Mrs. Fleda Loughlin of Petoski and Mrs. Elsie Elliott of Royal Oak; and 2 granddaughters.

Brothers Capture Inmate
Ronald Drake of Clark lake and Roland Drake of Jackson, twin brothers, captured Arthur Prewitt, 32, who had escaped from Jackson prison last Friday morning. The Clark brothers were pheasant hunting on the Ralph Tanner farm on Coonhill road when they discovered Prewitt, who was doing 5 to 15 years in prison for armed robbery. They took Prewitt to the nearest home and called police. State Trooper Albert Gerber answered the call.

Boy Injured in Chicago

Mitchell Burdick, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Burdick of Grand River road, is improving according to his parents, after being struck by a car in Chicago, while crossing Cleora street at 57th. His most serious injuries were listed as a compound fracture of the right leg and possible concussion. A silver plate had to be inserted in the injured leg. The Burdicks were told by hospital attendants that they might be able to take him home in another week but that he would spend 3 to 4 months in bed after returning. They are spending the week end in Chicago.

There will be a cleaning bee at the parsonage at Munith Tuesday, November 1, from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Those attending are to take a sack lunch. Anyone until a sewage disposal plant is built.

This statement was made when Pixley met with former councilmen and village presidents, for an informal discussion of the sewage situation recently.

Pixley went on to say that the village is declared in contempt of an order, given by the water resources commission, to have built by June, 1955, a sewage disposal plant to permit the abatement of emptying of raw sewage into Hutton Creek. Should the people of Leslie reject the bond issue permitting the building of the plant, he said, the state could order, and would be likely to order the plant to be built.

The question was then raised as to why they could not be built at the same time. Companies would have their equipment and trained people right on the spot. The answer seems to lay in the cost. Estimated as possibly an other $200,000 beyond the proposed sewage disposal plant, it would bring the total to approximately a half million dollars.

It is estimated that each taxpayer would pay an additional tax of $5.50 for the general obligation bond retirement plus $1.50 hydrant rental tax for the first 5 years after the bonding issue is passed. After 5 years, due to the reserve that would be built up, the general obligation bond tax could be dropped to $3 per thousand.

The tax millage at the present time, in the village is $15 per thousand. This would raise it to 22 mills.

There will be an open meeting at the high school on the evening of November 22 for further discussion on the matter.

November 30 Is Date for Voting On New Plant

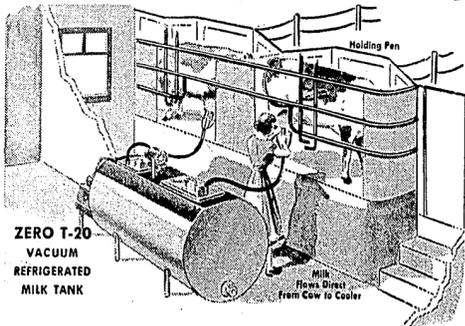

November 30 is the date for voting on the proposed sewage disposal plant for Leslie.

The proposed sewage disposal plant will add only a few hundred feet of new sewers, and will serve only existing sewer users. Village president, Marvin L. Pixley, pointed out, however, that it was doubtful that the state would permit any new sewers to be hooked up to the present system.

Grovenburg WSCS Has 15th Anniversary Party

Fifteen years ago when Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Protestant and Methodist South churches joined in the merger, all Aid Societies and Missionary Societies were asked to assume the name Women's Society of Christian Service. They were asked to celebrate this month at an anniversary party.

Twenty-one members and visitors met at Grovenburg church Thursday afternoon, October 20, for the occasion.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. Francis Johnnides, wife of the minister, who spoke of the life of Sarah, wife of Abraham.

The Backward Look went back 15 years beyond the 15 year period, 1925 when the first Methodist Protestant Missionary Society was organized. At that time, Rev. and Mrs. Richard Ferwigger served the church and Dinondale. Mrs. Hazel Strobel and Mrs. Mildred North remembered many things about the old Aid Society of years before that.

A lace-covered table was centered by a beautiful birthday cake baked by Mrs. Lily Jarvis. This was flanked by 2 candles at either end. Mrs. Margaret Leonard lighted the candles. As the first was lighted Mrs. Janette North, spiritual life secretary, distributed prayer cards. Charter members and past presidents were presented with corsages after the lighting of the second candle. Two past presidents of the 15 year period, Mrs. Mary Esther Denning, of Battle Creek and Mrs. Marian Christensen of Lansing, were present. Mrs. Harriet King was unable to attend and Mrs. Iva Wilson now lives in California.

Four charter members of the Society of 30 years ago are Mrs. Hazel Strobel, Mrs. Ila McCue, Mrs. Emma Thompson and Mrs. Mildred North. All except Mrs. Thompson served as president.

The anniversary offering was taken by Mrs. Maxine Nichols, W.S.C.S. secretary, and its purpose explained after the third candle was lighted. Names, addresses and birthday anniversaries of missionaries were distributed after the lighting of the fourth candle, by Mrs. Mildred North. These are to be sent cards during the year.

Mrs. Marian Christensen and Mrs. Janette North sang The Shepherd of Love. Mrs. Doris Ellsworth gave The Forward Look and Mrs. Betty Hart gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. Lily Jarvis, Mrs. Hazel Strobel, Mrs. Dorothy Barrett and Mrs. Betty Hart had charge of decorations and refreshments. A letter was read from Mrs. Iva Wilson of Turlock, California.

WE'RE NOT 'SPOOK

Farmer Peck's Wife

Tears of onions — not remorse.
Spectators in the kitchen.
More truth than poetry!

Boo, hoo! Our tears ran a stream down our faces. The phone rang and I groped my way blindly. Susy and Sally were leaning on the wall unable to see. We were making relish and smack in the middle of the onion peeling part. They must have been extra strong for I never cried like that before. I was peeling them when the girls came in and they begged me to let them help. . . there is absolutely nothing they like better than "helping" in one of my relish spreads. The counter was lined with peppers, cabbage, onions, green tomatoes and there was the grinder. That wonderful and fascinating object.

Well, but for the onions, relish making is fun. I have such good help. They have long since gone over to the help-not-hinder side. But even then they were interested and by-my-side spectators. In fact, there are some tasks I don't know how to do properly without a face on each side of me and my elbows held down tightly. Now Sammy is taking their place asking about every piece that comes out of a chicken. . . ingredient in a cake or motion of my hand.

Some day I will be able to turn around swiftly and not fall over a pair of feet (my own included); When I lay down a utensil it will be there when I turn around; There will be no eggs in the pickles. . . but will I be as happy as I am now? It takes someone you love who is interested in what you are cooking to make housekeeping fun.

Many years from now I will be able to hear. . . "I got there first. I want to stand on this side. I asked first!" And pictures of their animated faces will flash before me.

I don't know how this is going to sound in print! But it's what I believe. If girls would work a while before they were married

Superior General at Maryknoll Will Preach Dedicatory Sermon

The Most Reverend Raymond A. Lane, M.M., D.D., superior general of the Maryknoll Fathers, will deliver the sermon at the pontifical high mass which will open the week-long dedicatory exercises of the Lansing Civic Center on Sunday, October 30, at 10:30 a. m.

Bishop Lane was a Japanese prisoner at a camp in Szepingkai, Northern Manchuria, during most of the war years up until V-J Day, August 14, 1945. He was elected head of the Maryknoll Fathers in August of 1946 to succeed Bishop James E. Walsh, who was imprisoned by the Chinese Communists, and who only recently has been released by his Red captors.

Bishop Lane returned early this year from a 6 months trip in the Orient and his many years of activity and experience in the Far East have left him deeply impressed with the problems there.

U. S. Indecision Hurts Asia

In an interview with the press recently, the Maryknoll Head remarked, "Everybody's off balance in the Far East. People are asking: 'Where are the Americans going, what do they believe in?'" The bishop stated that America's answer must come in terms of social justice in the international sphere. "Put yourselves in the place of the people of Asia," the bishop told reporters. "They ask: 'Are you going to sell us down the river?'"

"We sold them out at Yalta. We sold them out in Korea. We fought a fantastic war there with one hand tied behind our back. We lost that war. We were routed. The Chinese still say 'We beat the Americans.' The fundamental problem in Asia is the right of human beings to exist. We are not doing anything in a big way to remove the problem of food and over-population. We've done nothing to solve it."

Bishop Lane, a veteran of many years' missionary service in China, had some ideas on the Formosan issue centered around the islands of Quemoy and Matsu and the effect that America's move will have on world opinion.

"We have lost all we can afford to lose," he stated. "Every step backward by us is a blow to the freedom-loving people behind the Iron Curtain."

Moral Issue is Important

"Most of our troubles," the bishop continued, "and those of other people are caused by the fact that men in high places who make decisions do not have any belief in God and do not allow moral factors and religion to enter into their calculations. The term 'Iron Curtain' does not apply only to geographical areas. It is also a line of division between ideas on Communism. This line cuts clear across the U. S. On one side are the disbelievers and appeasers of Communism, and on the other are the believers. One pretends and actually does not uphold something like morality in international affairs. The other is the all-out appeasement to obtain its objective, and ultimately, fails to attain that objective."

One of the highpoints of Bishop Lane's experience was a conference with General of the Army Douglas MacArthur just before the latter's dismissal. Bishop Lane told about this, "The general told me that 'first, belief in a Supreme Being, and, then belief in individual liberty, or what the pope so well calls it—the dignity of man is fundamental to any society.'" The general told the bishop that "lack of religion, with the ensuing lack of a sense of moral responsibility, is one of the reasons for the present crisis." Commenting on the impact of the American occupation of Japan, the Bishop declared, "The saving feature of our occupation in Japan was Douglas MacArthur."

Some borrowers refuse to acknowledge notices or letters. The Ingham county prosecuting attorney's office has advised the library to bring suit against any or all delinquents, and has asked the library to provide a list of the same. At this time, it seems to be the only alternative. Adult and juvenile bibliomaniacs will learn that books, documents, magazines and newspapers in a library are protected by law against loss or damage.

Use of library books by children, besides their educational and recreational values, offer an excellent opportunity for parents and teachers to instill in children a sense of responsibility for public property. If children learn this lesson early enough, they are less likely to commit acts of vandalism later on. Some parents and teachers do not think books are that important.

In serving 80 schools in the county, the county library has found some teachers who want to use library books in their classrooms, but will not take the slightest responsibility for the preservation or return of books. In some cases, this attitude is reflected by school administrators. Coupled with the attitudes found in some homes, how can we expect those children to be concerned with the public property of the library, the county, the city or the school district?

The library is considering discontinuing service to schools with past and continuing records of lost books. This will reduce the loss of books and allow better service to schools who appreciate books and book services.

By turning over records of delinquent borrowers to the prosecutor's office, the library hopes to make more books available to persons who are willing to respect the rights of others in the use of public property.

Film Program Continues

Program planners are reminded that, until November 18, 4 films will be available at Hall Memorial library in Mason. They are: WHAT IS MODERN ART, JAVA—TROPICAL MOUNTAIN ISLAND, FEARS OF CHILDREN and CANOE COUNTRY. From November 18 to November 25 MICHIGAN WATER WONDERLAND will be available.

All branch libraries have descriptive catalogs of the films and dates for scheduling. Ingham county groups may borrow any of the films for a small fee. The films cannot be used by schools, however.

CROP food girls from Michigan helped put smiles on the faces of these seven little refugee girls, when they were photographed this summer in Greece by Michigan CROP Director Russ Hartzler. Born in Albania - of Greek descent - they came to Ioannina, Greece, with their parents who chose to become refugees instead of living under a Peoples State dictatorship. Mr. Hartzler surveyed CROP food distribution channels in Europe and the Middle East. He found that emergency needs in these countries depend on the 1955 CROP food appeal.

Clardy Praises Legion

The American Legion adopted several resolutions at Miami. The Legion proved once more that it is just about the strongest bulwark this nation possesses in the fight against the evil forces at loose on this globe.

They repeated and strengthened statements and positions taken in past years. The significant thing, however, lies in the fact that some backstage efforts had been made before the convention met to persuade it to retreat from several of its firm positions. It is a most hopeful sign to find that organization standing firm and refusing to be gulled into reversing itself.

All of which brings to mind the latest episode in the MacArthur story. This last release of secret documents once more proves that responsibility for Yalta and the other conferences rested squarely on the shoulders of Roosevelt and Truman. Senator Lehman must have known he was not telling the truth when he publicly charged MacArthur with having advised Roosevelt to give Russia the loot she now holds. Everyone should now see that the smear attacks on MacArthur were made for the deliberate purpose of distracting attention from the truth. It is to be regretted that these facts were not made public years ago. We cannot have intelligent decisions if we do not know the facts. Condemnation will always serve only the dishonest politician. Our system cannot long survive if those we place in office hide their mistakes until it is too late to rectify them. General MacArthur stands vindicated. The record clearly shows he was not consulted and that Alger Hiss and his kind were the ones whose advice was being sought and employed.

Enlistment Term Changes

Enlistments in the United States Marine corps for a period of 3 years are once again being accepted. Young men between the ages of 17 and 28 can enlist for 3 years.

There are about $275 million worth of house trailers sold yearly in U. S.—and one out of each 4 is over 40 feet long. Most of these are used for permanent living, however, not on the roads.

Political Embarrassments Play Part in Traffic Talk

By ELMER WHITE
Michigan Press Association

Political embarrassments have been taking the play away from the campaign to improve the chances for long life for those who drive cars on Michigan highways.

It's been a hectic autumn for Secretary of State James M. Fares.

He proposed his "14 steps to highway safety" at a point when the public was generally concerned about the slaughter on the highways.

"This has got to be non-political," he said.

Insiders figured Fares was sincere in his proposals. Many of them had been projects of Republican legislators in the past, but Fares had them in a package attractive enough to sell.

It contained a proposal for a state system of driver license examiners, supplanting local officers who for years have issued licenses.

Sheriffs, under fire before from reformers who believed a politician could never adequately enforce the law, were incensed.

At a meeting in the capitol, they pinned Fares's ears back, demanding that he prove that his competence in licensing was killing people on the highways.

Fares worked for weeks and came up with statistics to prove the sheriffs and other local officers were ill-trained for issuing licenses to hurt a 3-ton projectile across the highways.

At a second meeting with the sheriffs, Fares had them on the run with his statistics, case histories. His point was that with state control, Michigan would have better—or fewer—drivers.

At this point, Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas, secretary of the Michigan Sheriffs association, said: "Maybe the state officials, too, have been doling out favors for their friends in licensing."

Sidney Woolter, Fares's deputy, insisted on proof and Lucas slowly pulled out of his pocket a photostatic copy of an order to report for a license hearing that was ignored.

It bore the name of Thomas M. Kavanagh, of Carson City, who now is the state's attorney general, the chief law officer in Michigan.

Fares immediately ordered an investigation, another examination for Kavanagh. Republican politicians leaped on the episode, promising that Fares's program would be junked.

Fares was embarrassed.

Rep. Herb Clements (R-Deerfield), said that "in view of the disclosures of Kavanagh's driving record, you can be sure that Fares's program will never be enacted."

He admitted that Kavanagh was only one of 3,000,000 drivers in Michigan. Others said it would be "just too political" to scrap protection for the other 2,999,999 because of Kavanagh's record.

Then, due to a misunderstanding, a parking ticket affair at first seemed to involve Fares. This brought out more political spears.

He was either impersonated by a violator in Ionia or a traffic cop misunderstood. But the first report was that Fares was fined for a parking violation, identified himself and the ticket was torn up. The time was 3:08 p. m. on a Friday.

Fares said at that exact minute he was talking with a reporter in his Lansing office, 35 miles from Ionia.

The incident made the headlines, of course, and the chances of Fares's program, an accumulation of ideas gathered over the years by legislators was again under a cloud.

"I certainly hope this very important program, whoever gets the credit for it, can survive these embarrassments which seem to be political, at least on the surface," he said.

Farmers became the focal point of Governor Williams' most recent announcement.

He ordered the state agricultural commission to change its emphasis from quality and production to marketing and research.

"Times have changed since I first came into office," Williams said.

For the past year, Governor Williams has been pointing out the plight of the farmer—too few dollars for the work put into a crop.

Quality has been reached, he said, and now the emphasis should be placed on convincing the buying public. He has ordered the commission and the state agricultural marketing council to come up with a plan.

A Logical Conclusion

Members of Mason's city council, after a week of consultation and deliberation, voted 7 to 0 against lifting the ban on stock car races at the fairgrounds track. Their decision is logical.

Councilmen are not opposed to entertainment, even automobile races as entertainment. There were just too many disadvantages—more than the advantages.

What the city would receive in revenue from the track wouldn't pay for the extra policing costs. What the city and the county would get from the split with the promoter wouldn't compensate for the nuisance and inconvenience caused those who live nearby.

There are those who say that the city ought to surrender jurisdiction to the county inasmuch as the property is owned by the county. And there are others who say, "The race track was there when the people in Jewett subdivision and on Hall boulevard built their homes. They shouldn't kick because it will be used once a week."

It is well to remember that the land was never purchased for a race track. It was purchased for a park and for a farm on which county jail prisoners would work. The building of the race track came along with WPA.

"But other towns have tracks scheduling automobile races," people ask, "why shouldn't Mason?"

The Hastings track is 2 1/2 miles out of town. Owosso's is 6 miles away. The Capitol City track is 6 miles from Lansing. Jackson had a track for automobile racing and it was finally moved outside of town. Saginaw has a track inside the city and it is a continual source of complaint.

Automobile race tracks do not belong in any town. Lansing wouldn't permit such a condition.

"But the county owns the property and the fair board controls the fairgrounds," people insist. "The fair board has the same rights in the county property that other owners have in their property—no more, no less. The owners of other property have no right to use it for the harm of others. The county has no rights superior to those of owners of adjoining property."

Neighbors have no valid complaint over the noise and confusion which disturbs their neighborhood for a week of the county fair. They do have reason to protest over prospects for noise and confusion one or more nights a week during the entire summer, noise and confusion necessary for a promoter to gain a little profit.

Disadvantages of an automobile speedway within the city outweigh any possible advantages. City councilmen reached a logical decision.

Changes on the Farm

Down on the farm brings up nostalgic thoughts to many. They believe that farming offers the simple life, where events follow familiar patterns, where there is little change.

There is no sector of American life today where changes occur more frequently or with greater rapidity than on the farm.

Automation and mass production have revolutionized farming. And in transporting and marketing farm produce the changes have been as numerous.

Take a look in your own neighborhood. Glass-lined refrigerated tanks are now driven to many farm milk houses to take milk directly from collecting tanks to milk processors. The milk goes from cow to tank by way of the milking parlor and pipelines.

Have you noticed the truck loads of corn heading south? Hundreds of tons of Ingham corn are going into a mammoth elevator at Maumee, Ohio, and from there by rail to the East to feed dairy and beef herds.

Up to 7 or 8 years ago local elevators would bring in carloads of shelled corn from Illinois and Iowa to supplement local corn. Now with new corn hybrids and potent fertilizers, this section of Michigan produces far more corn than it can use. That's why thousands of government storage huts have been built. That's why many more thousands of huts are going up on farms. They're to hold the corn that Michigan feeders don't need, corn produced under government-support prices.

These giant elevators at Blissfield and Maumee are taking wheat and corn that once used to pass through local elevators first. Some of it still does. But when the seaway is completed the grain may all go to port elevators by farm truck, by-passing local elevators and the railroads.

Once there were beet sugar refineries scattered all through lower Michigan. Lansing's factory has been dismantled. So have other factories. From as far away as Howell sugar beets are now trucked to a giant loading dock at Mason and they go all the way to Caro.

Ten years ago nearly every Michigan farm raised its own potatoes with enough extra to supply home markets. About the only commercial growers left in Ingham are on the muck, engaged in big production.

Eggs are being produced by factory methods. The Mason stockyards, which shipped stock by rail after most stock elsewhere went by truck, have been torn down. Because so much stock goes directly from farm to processing plants, some of the big packers are abandoning their Chicago plants.

Transportation, mechanization, laboratory research and government subsidies and price supports have wrought great changes not only in farming but in the marketing of farm products.

Those good old days down on the farm that so many people long for are idle dreams. There is no place for idleness on any farm today. Farming is big business, with something new developing every day. Look about you. See the changes.

Mason's Halloween Program

In scores of towns next Monday night property will be damaged, boys and girls will be injured and there may even be traffic deaths resulting from Halloween pranks. Youngsters in those towns won't have half as much fun as they do in Mason.

Mason has developed an outstanding Halloween program. Boys and girls look ahead to having fun together. They enjoy the parade. They have fun planning their costumes and they like the competition and the prizes for the best costumes. There are fireworks and other entertainment. And they like the favors and the refreshments.

This year Mason is staging its 24th Halloween party. There has been an entire generation reared here without what has become Halloween vandalism elsewhere. The trick or treat nuisance has not taken root in Mason. Youngsters know that it isn't in the Mason tradition.

For 23 years Mason business men, led by the Kiwanis club, have presented a constructive program which offers youngsters more fun than their parents and grandparents ever had soaping windows, tipping over privies and otherwise damaging property. We now have our own tradition established. It is up to all of us of all ages to see that the tradition is upheld next Monday night. Adults can help by discussing the program with their children and lending a hand at the festivities. Children can help just by participating in the fun.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Brother Paul L. Arnold came up with a solid chunk of philosophy Sunday. He pointed out that most people, including teachers themselves, seem most concerned over standards set for teachers and texts. Of far more consequence, the pastor said, is the quality of the pupil and that is so often overlooked or ignored.

Yes, it takes 2 in teaching—the teacher and the pupil. The best teacher in all the world will be wasting his time if his pupils are disinterested. If young people today don't know how to spell or read or write, then it could be that the teachers are not to blame. The fault could rest with the boys and girls and their parents.

If the youngsters were given the right incentives at home, the proper discipline and encouragement, many would be eager to learn. Even if their textbooks went back to the McCarty type, the youngsters would learn, because they would be eager to learn. And when children or anyone else is eager to learn they can always learn something from everyone.

There was another angle to the preacher's philosophy. That was that people who make the excuse they can't understand the Bible are actually confessing they lack basic knowledge. They need to learn fundamentals. Just as a student of calculus and trigonometry must start with the multiplication tables, too many people today are permitted to skip the fundamentals. Thus they are not in a position to learn.

We have raised the qualifications of teachers and have gone to great length to improve texts. But there'll be no payoff until we furnish better students. It sounds reasonable.

Here's what J. Edgar Hoover has to say about Sunday school pupils: Shall I make my child go to Sunday school and church? Yes! And with no further discussion about the matter. Startled? Why? How do you answer Junior when he comes to breakfast on Monday morning and announces that he is not going to school anymore? You know! Junior goes! Why all this timidity in the realm of his spiritual guidance? Going to sit and let him decide what church he'll go to when he is older? Quit your kidding! You don't wait until he's old enough to decide to go to school. Be consistent!

If you intend to buy apples by the bushel at local orchards don't wait longer. The local crop was so short that at most orchards the apples will be sold before Thanksgiving. Some are sold out now.

No. 4 and No. 5 greens at the Mason golf course will have to be moved to make room for new US-127. If you have any suggestions, notify Herman Fleibig at Mason golf course or Charlie Ziegler, state highway commissioner. They're the men who'll do the moving.

Winter wheat, with all the rain and warm weather, never looked better than it did Sunday.

Whether the Moslemite is published by the Shriners or by a Mohammedan, here's a piece that's worth reading: "Take time to live, my friends. Take time to work—it is the price of success; take time to think—it is the source of power; take time to play—it is the secret of perennial youth; take time to read—it is the fountain of wisdom; take time to worship—it is the highway to reverence; take time to be friendly—it is the road to happiness; take time to dream—it is hitching your wagon to a star; take time to love and be loved—it is the privilege of the gods; take time to look around—it is too short a day to be selfish; take time to laugh—it is the music of the soul. Take time to live, my friend."

Do you wonder why greeting card cabinets occupy prominent space in stores? In the United States last year 35 billion of those cards were sold with sales amounting to $253,000,000. Forty-eight per cent of the sales were Christmas greeting cards and this year the Christmas sales are expected to reach 50% instead of last year's 48, so better buy early.

Earl Salisbury was among the mourners Saturday when the football team representing his alma mater (Illinois) fell before Michigan State's Spartans 21-7. Sal was once a drummer in the Illinois marching band. The year he likes to remember best was when he organized a party to go all the way to Champaign to see Michigan and Illinois play. Red Grange took the kickoff and went for a touchdown and ran up and down the field all afternoon.

Walter Carven carried his bride over the threshold of their new home on Dansville road Monday afternoon and they slept there for the first time Monday night.

People who want to know the reason for promoting 4-H beef projects can find it right on their plates at the Stevens T. Mason cafeteria in Lansing. Gust and Steve Mellios bought a lot of the prize 4-H beef at the state show and are serving it now in all styles. It's delicious.

Fellowship Group Has Regular Meet

Methodist Youth Fellowship gathered Sunday evening at 7:30 at the church for their regular meeting. There were 18 members present and 2 sponsors.

The first part of the meeting was used for discussing plans for the booth to be exhibited at the Chelsea home festival in November. David VanDamme is chairman. Rev. Gross reported that each booth is to be set up by 6 o'clock and each church in the sub-district is eligible to enter the competition. The prize for the best one will be a revised standard version of the Bible for their church.

Following the business meeting there was a short movie explaining the United Nations.

The meeting closed with a worship service led by Larrie Linninger. During the service he led the discussion on the fall action project and the way individuals may participate. The service was closed by singing hymns.

Next Sunday evening the service will be led by Don Williams and his topic will be Reformation.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Carr Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Will Carr entertained at an open house Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 in honor of their parents' golden wedding anniversary. The celebration was given at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Carr.

One hundred-fifty relatives and friends were present at the reception from Stockbridge, Jackson, Fowlerville, Webberville, Williamston, Mason, Lansing, East Lansing, White Oak and Dansville.

Will and Etta Carr have been residents of the Dansville community all their lives until 14 years ago when they moved to Lansing. They were married October 25, 1905, at the farm home of Mrs. Carr's parents, which is now occupied by the Delmar Carrs and where the open house took place. Rev. Saxbee of Millville was the officiating clergyman at the wedding 50 years ago. They were attended by Effie Van Sickle and Allie Braman.

The Carrs have 5 sons, Truman of California, who was unable to attend, Delmar of White Oak, and Earl, John and Stanley of Lansing; 7 grandchildren; and 2 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr received many nice gifts.

The 10th anniversary of the United Nations was celebrated at I. T. A. S. by a program sponsored by the F. H. A. Monday morning. Maxine Snyder, chairman of the program, presided. Roylyn Voss gave a talk on the UN from its beginning to the present time. A movie, 'The Earthquake in Ecuador,' was presented showing how the UN not only works in time of war but also in time of need to bring happiness and peace to people.

Mrs. Earl Parson of White Oak visited Mrs. Bessie Turnbull Friday.

Mrs. Frances Patch of East Lansing was a guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Diehl.

Mrs. Ada Ridley of Leslie is spending a few days this week with Mrs. Doris Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Glover.

Second UNICEF Is Planned for Dansville Youth

For the second year the children of the community will have a UNICEF Halloween. The success of the project last year inspired the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Doreas circle with the help of other community organizations to sponsor it again.

Next Monday evening, October 31, at 6 o'clock, at the sound of the siren the children with their canisters, will ring door bells and ask for contributions to help the underprivileged children of the world.

Mrs. Vincent Carlen is acting as general chairman. Other committees are as follows: entertainment, Mrs. Roylyn Miller and Mrs. James Crumbaker; kitchen, Mrs. Harold Wing, Mrs. Searl Briggs, Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. Lewis Freer; refreshments, Mrs. George Vogt, Jr., and Mrs. Forrest Walker; prizes, Mrs. Don Leonard and Mrs. F. C. Anderson, Jr.; finance, Mrs. Alfred Sherman, Mrs. David Diehl and Mrs. Roscoe Arnold.

Students in the sixth grade are making posters for the UNICEF Halloween and prizes will be given for the best ones. At 7 o'clock the siren will sound again and the children will gather at the school where they will receive treats, have a grand march in the gym after which prizes will be given for the best costumes. A movie will then be shown for entertainment.

OES to Install New Officers

There will be a public installation of OES officers of Dansville Chapter Thursday evening, November 3, in the Masonic hall at 8 o'clock.

Following installation there will be refreshments by the committee, consisting of Mrs. Jean McCabe, Mrs. Searl Briggs and Mrs. Claud Campbell. The reception committee is Mrs. J. B. Dalton and Mrs. A. J. Miller.

School of instruction will be November 23 at Dansville at 7:30 p. m. The associate grand matron, Mrs. Etta Burgoyne, will be the instructor.

Youth Rally Is Planned
A district youth rally for FMY members and their friends will be conducted Saturday evening, October 29, at the Free Methodist church of Perry. James Manola, professor of social studies of Spring Arbor college will be the speaker. There will also be special music by a quartet from the college. The service will begin at 7:30. Transportation will be furnished for all young people who desire to attend, by calling Rev. H. E. Moore.

Senior Class Sells Christmas Cards

Members of the senior class are busy with Christmas card orders. Orders for all imprints must be in by next week in order for delivery.

The first paper drive netted the class a considerable sum of money. Charles Weeks was appointed chairman again for the second drive. Anyone having old papers or magazines should contact him or any other member of the class.

High honors for magazine subscriptions were awarded to Jack Cook and Pat Warvel. They received the gold Oscars. Harold Reed won third place and was given the $300 with Bob Sly winning fourth and "Wee Otto." The play, Boarding School, is well underway for presentation on Friday evening, November 18, with a matinee performance on Thursday afternoon, November 17. The cast has undergone a few changes with Gilbert Ries playing Kid Kennedy, Ward Soper as Dick Sloan and Charles Weeks, as Andre. Mrs. Alice Hunt, class advisor, is directing the play.

FFA Elects Officers
Last Wednesday, members of the Dansville F. F. A. attended a meeting of the county F. F. A. chapters at Stockbridge. During the business meeting the new county officers were elected and Carl Minnis of Dansville chapter was elected treasurer. Richard Brooks, also of Dansville, was elected one of the 2 conductors. CADILLAC for 1956

Top to bottom—Eldorado Seville, Sedan de Ville, Sixty Special

Presenting the Most Inspiring Motor Cars the World Has Ever Seen!

You are looking at three of the most magnificent and inspiring creations ever to issue from the drawing boards of Cadillac's designers and engineers. They are the Eldorado Seville and the Sedan de Ville—two entirely new and exciting additions to Cadillac's royal family of motor cars—and the brilliant new Series Sixty Spécial.

These spectacular new Cadillacs—in company with the other Cadillac models for 1956—introduce a standard of automotive excellence that will find no counterpart on the highways of the world.

Where, for instance, could you find anything to match them for beauty and elegance? Their low, sweeping lines . . . their jewel-like grille and rear-fender designs . . . their exciting new colors . . . their sparkling highlights of chrome and gold . . . all combine to create a beauty that is truly unique.

Where could you find anything to equal them in luxury? Inside are fabrics of rare richness and pattern . . . appointments that are beautiful and regal almost beyond description . . . and features of comfort and convenience that will delight even the most experienced Cadillac owner.

And where could you find anything to rival them in performance? There's a completely redesigned Cadillac engine developing 285 and 305 horsepower . . . an entirely new, controlled-coupling Hydra-Matic Drive . . . advanced Cadillac Power Steering . . . and improved Cadillac Power Braking.

This extraordinary new Cadillac beauty . . . and this brilliant new Cadillac luxury . . . and this dynamic new Cadillac performance . . . have been interpreted in four separate series and in nine individual body styles.

We sincerely urge you to stop in for a personal inspection and demonstration at your earliest convenience.

We know you will agree that, from every standpoint, these are the most inspiring Cadillacs of all time. And that, of course, means that they are the most inspiring motor cars the world has ever seen!

"I'LL BE GLAD TO"

When they want an angel food cake for the church bazaar, Mrs. Turner is apt to be asked to bake it. She almost always responds to such requests with a simple, "I'll be glad to."

If you ask people about Mrs. Turner, they will tell you that she is one of the happiest women in town. Yet not so long ago she was feeling pretty sorry for herself. Life seemed such a humdrum affair. As an accomplished musician, she had had dreams of the concert stage, but marriage and children had changed all that. Somehow it didn't seem fair!

Then one Sunday, a friend persuaded her to go to church. The sermon happened to be about the ingredients that make a full and happy life. The things the minister said struck home, and the next Sunday she found herself back in church again. Then one Sunday Mr. Turner went along, and next, the youngsters.

Now Mrs. Turner is still "just a housewife," but she is dissatisfied with her role? Look at her face, and see for yourself! It took the Church to show her that she already possessed all the tools needed for fulfillment and happiness, if she would but use them. Now, she does.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For his own sake. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ANOTHER MASON ATHLETE is breaking into the big time in college football. Ralph Ellison is seeing action at Central Michigan at Mt. Pleasant as an end. He is another product from the same team that produced Bob Jewett, Michigan State end, and Jim Blauvelt, former Michigan State player.

Ellison graduated from Mason in 1953. He starred at Adrian as a freshman end in 1953 then transferred to Central Michigan. He sat out last year because of the transfer rule.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellison of Dexter Trail.

Okemos Moves Closer to Grid Title With 28-0 Conquest of Dansville

Okemos moved to within one game of the Ingham County league title and a perfect season Friday night with a 28-0 victory over Dansville.

This Friday night the Chiefs will step outside the league to take on Holt. The remaining game, and the crucial one, will be played over at Fowlerville November 4. The Gladiators have lost one game, an upset turned in by Dansville. If the Gladiators move past Leslie this week the stage will be set for the do-or-die contest November 4.

The Chiefs will not have any chance to coast this week in preparation for the tussle with Fowlerville. Holt has a scrappy club which has lost only once and been tied once. The Rams boast a strong running game with as adept a set of backs as any coach could desire.

Both Holt and Okemos are offensive minded. With both teams any play is apt to go all the way. Dansville will try its hand Friday night at snowing under the helpless Stockbridge Panthers, last year's Ingham County league champs. The Panthers are looking for their first victory of the year. Chances of finding it Friday night seem slim.

The Aggies made Okemos go all out to win Friday night. The game was a lot closer than the score indicates. Okemos picked up one touchdown in the first period but in the second quarter the Aggies dominated play, even though they couldn't push across a score. Okemos picked up another score in the third period and then broke loose with 2 more in the last quarter.

Dave Perfect was just that for Chiefs. He ran 40 yards for one touchdown and passed to Garth Richey for another on a play that covered 56 yards. Al Wells came up with a 65-yard scoring effort and Jim Kreider ended the touchdown spree with a 28-yard run. Dick Cooper converted after all 4 tallies.

Mason's Offense Fails to Click As Holt Rolls to 14-0 Victory

Mason, after dropping 2 close decisions to Everett and Howell and displaying some fine football in the process, forgot all the fundamentals over at Holt Friday night. The Bulldogs came out on the short end of a 14-0 score.

The Bulldogs didn't charge across the line and after they did reach the ball carrier, they forgot how to tackle.

Friday night Mason will go over to Eaton Rapids. The Greyhounds have had rough sledding this season, coming close in several games but managing to post their only win in a non-conference tilt with Hastings.

Mason hasn't come up with a scoring punch since the victory over Charlotte a month ago. The Bulldogs have a hard time picking up first downs. Over at Holt they managed to collect 3 of them. Duane Clark's toe has been the strongest part of the Mason game. The Mason junior has kept the opposition back in its own territory with his booming boots.

Holt meets Okemos Friday night in what should be a terrific game. Both teams play the explosive type of football with well drilled backs and plenty of downfield blocking. The Rams are opportunistic. They have a knack of turning enemy aerials into touchdowns with run-backs.

Mason had very little chance at lugging the ball against Holt. The Rams started out; the first period deep in their own territory. They never gave up the ball, except for 4 plays, until they had marched 84 yards to score. Line smashes good for 4 or 5 yards at a clip are up most of the yardage. Art Hall scored the touchdown on a smash from the one-yard line. Don DeChelbor booted the extra point.

The second quarter was just like the first. Mason could go nowhere while the Rams held onto the ball. The Bulldogs managed to pick up one first down. Defensively Mason stiffened and managed to stave off Holt's touchdown thrusts.

Neither team had much to offer in a slow third period. The Rams would drive for 50 or 60 yards and then lose the ball. Mason would try 3 plays then punt and the Rams would start all over again.

At the end of the last quarter Holt pushed to Mason's 3-inch line before Mason took over on downs. The Bulldogs moved out to their own 35 on 2 last ditch passes but a third pass went astray and was picked off by DeChelbor. He carried it to the one-yard line and then Bob Tuttle toted it over. The kick was again good.

Blackhawks Lose Non-League Game

Leslie started off a series of football contests with Battle Creek St. Philip Friday night on a sour note. The Blackhawks were outclassed 32-7. St. Philip is rated as one of the toughest parochial teams in the state.

Leslie will try to derail the Fowlerville championship express Friday night in the final league game for the Blackhawks. The Gladiators must win this game if they are to battle Okemos for a share of the title the following week.

Leslie didn't give in to the superior Battle Creek gridders until the last quarter. Up until that time the Blackhawks were very much in the game. St. Philip picked up one touchdown in the first period and one in the second but Leslie closed the gates in the third period.

The fourth quarter was a different story. St. Philip broke out in a rash of 3 touchdowns to ice the game. Leslie managed to pick up its lone score in the closing minutes of the game when Bill Moore passed to Ken Wheeler for 45 yards and the touchdown.

Fowlerville Win Boosts Title Talk

Fowlerville hung onto its hopes for an Ingham County league title or at least a share of one by downing Haslett 20-7 Friday night. The victory was the fifth one for the Gladiators in 6 starts.

Chances of overtaking the Okemos Indians are good providing the Gladiators can get past Leslie Friday night. A win over the Blackhawks would set the stage for the crucial game with Okemos November 4.

Leslie could give the Gladiators some trouble, though. The Blackhawks started the season strong, surprising even themselves. In recent weeks they have faded, though. Friday was a fine example of the way Leslie fortunes have slipped a little. The Blackhawks were soundly thrashed by Battle Creek St. Phillip 32-7.

Haslett will entertain an up and coming Williamston grid team Friday night. The Hornets are tabbed the favorites in this contest.

Neither Haslett nor Fowlerville could unhook any kind of a touchdown drive in the first quarter Friday night. In the second period Neil Tesch started the festivities off for Fowlerville with a 40-yard touchdown run. Frank Davis took over from there and scored in each of the last 2 periods. He also made good on 2 conversions to pace the Gladiator attack.

Haslett had to wait until the closing minutes of the game to scratch pay dirt. The Laker score was set up when Haslett recovered a Fowlerville fumble. Ron Ferguson went the remaining 25 yards on the next play.

COACH MOVES UP

Bob Walls, former reserve football coach at Mason under Lou Lori and present football coach at Gaylord, is moving out of the coaching ranks. He will take over as high school principal at Boyne City November 4.

Everett Posts 20-6 Grid Win Over Comets

Everett snapped any hopes of the Grand Ledge Comets to move into title contention by turning the Comets back 20-6. At the same time the Vikings strengthened their position behind the league-leading Howell Highlanders.

Friday night the Vikings will have more on their minds than their own game with Charlotte. They will also be thinking about Howell's final Capital Circuit game with Grand Ledge. The Highlanders are in the throne room ahead of Everett unless the Comets can fashion an upset.

Grand Ledge will have its work cut out for the evening. The Highlanders have won every game and up until the Friday night game with Charlotte the Highlander goal had not been crossed. Charlotte managed to score one touchdown before going down to a 19-7 defeat.

Everett looked a little more like the champ it was supposed to be at the start of the season in its game with Grand Ledge. The Vikings ground out 255 yards on the ground and completed 3 passes for 38 yards and 15 first downs.

The Vikings dominated play all through the game even though they didn't score in the first and third periods. Dean Look set up the second period score with a 30-yard punt return to the Grand Ledge 30. Dick Kniffen picked up 13 yards as part of the Everett drive and Look smashed over from the one. The Viking ace ran the extra point.

The Vikings broke loose in the last quarter when Bob Sudberry scored twice on runs of 23 and 28 yards. After the first one Look kicked the extra point but he was short with the second.

Grand Ledge finally broke the ice with a touchdown in the closing minutes. With Fred Pantera and Mike Miner taking turns the Comets started a drive which was good for 82 yards with 5 first downs logged in along the way. Pantera drove over for the tally.

Howell Gives Up First Touchdown

For a few fleeting seconds a storm cloud hovered over Howell Friday night, blocking out the Highlander championship hopes.

The Highlanders finally pushed it back to win from Charlotte 19-7 and keep their winning streak intact.

Howell gave up its first touchdown of the year in the first quarter but the score failed to throw the Highlanders into panic and they bounced back to win going away.

The Comets have a strong team and should force Howell to go all out in order to clinch the title. Everett will have just as hard a time in disposing of Charlotte. The Orioles have started to click after one of the most dismal seasons in years.

Charlotte threw a scare into the Highlanders with a 50-yard pass from Jim Fetcher to Pat Mahan. The Highlanders managed to stop Mahan short of the goal but 2 plays later Larry Lavengood broke off tackle to score.

Howell came back in the second quarter to tie the game up when Gerald Humphries scored on an 11-yard run around end. In the third period Humphries scored again, this time on a pass from Doug Gerkin which covered 18 yards. Jim Struble broke into the scoring column in the last period when he scooted for 21 yards. Charles Brigham booted 2 out of the 3 conversions.

Shamrocks Whip Greyhounds 40-7

Eaton Rapids received its lumps Friday night at the hands of Lansing Resurrection in a non-conference game. The Shamrocks took the Greyhounds 40-7.

The Eaton county boys were absolutely helpless at the hands of the Lansing Parochials.

Friday night the Greyhounds swing back into Capital Circuit action when Mason comes to town. This will be a battle between a couple of also-rans. The 2 teams have one thing in common. They have both had tough sledding. Their records do not indicate their strength, though. Both outfits have thrown scares into the stronger teams before going down to defeat. The Greyhounds boast one of the best backs in John Magnet. He is a hard man to stop.

MSU Looks at Farming Crystal Ball

People will be using less hard wheat by 1975 but the consumption of Michigan's soft white wheat will increase slightly. Taken as a whole, the consumption of wheat will stay pretty constant. That's an estimate by Agricultural Economist James T. Bonnen of Michigan State University. Results of his research provide estimates of demand for many Michigan products for the coming years.

Bonnen bases his estimates on present trends and an analysis of the causes of consumption changes in the past.

He says these trends indicate an increase in U. S. population to 221,000,000 by 1975, a labor force of 91,000,000 people, an average work week of 35 hours, a 61% increase in labor productivity, a doubling of the national output of all goods and services and a 50% increase in disposable income.

That means, he indicates, that the total production and consumption of food will probably increase as much as 45%. Other estimates on the consumption of farm commodities.

Dairy products should increase at about the same rate as population. With the increase expected in production per cow, milk cow numbers will probably be upped only 7%.

Total consumption of beef and veal should increase by 45%. That means a boost in per capita consumption by 7 1/2%. There will be an increase of 10% in beef output per pound of feed input.

Pork should increase by 35% without any boost in per capita consumption expected. With constantly improved breeding, average litters will increase by almost 2 pigs and pork output per pound of feed fed will increase up to 20%.

Non-citrus fruit (apples, pears, peaches, etc.) consumption should increase by only 10%. That's the result of an 18% decline in per capita consumption.

At the same time the farm population is expected to decline by 32%—22,000,000 to 15,000,000; the farm labor force to be reduced by 30%.

Production per person on farms will be at least double while the total agricultural output should increase by 45%, Bonnen says.

Corn Prop Is The Same In Ingham

Average support price for 1955 crop corn in commercial corn counties will be $1.58 per bushel, according to Ingham County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee Chairman G. H. Alchin, Sr. This is the same as the minimum support price announced earlier this year.

Minimum county support rates will remain at $1.64 in Ingham county. The commercial corn counties for 1955 crop in Michigan are Allegan, Barry, Berrien, Branch, Calhoun, Cass, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Ingham, Ionia, Isabella, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Kent, Lenawee, Livingston, Midland, Monroe, Montcalm, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Joseph, Shiawassee, Van Buren, Washtenaw and Wayne.

The national average price of $1.58 per bushel, announced March 24, represented 87% of parity in accordance with legislation providing for a variable support level on the basis of the estimated corn supply.

If a combination of the corn parity price and the supply percentage as of October 1 had indicated a change, the support price could have been raised but not lowered, Alchin said. Since neither of the governing factors indicated an increase, the corn price support remains the same as previously announced, he added.

Alchin points out that the price support program for the 1955 crop will be carried out through loans and purchase agreements as under past programs. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from the time of harvest through May 31, 1956, in most areas and will mature on July 31, 1956, he stated.

To be eligible for price support in the commercial corn producing area, producers must be in compliance with corn acreage allotments, the chairman said. Ear or shelled corn to be eligible for support must grade No. 3 or better. The corn must be in adequate storage and also must meet certain moisture requirements, Alchin said.

In noncommercial corn areas, the support rate for each county is 75% of the rate which would apply if the county were in the commercial area. There are no corn acreage allotments in the noncommercial area.

Care is Needed With Pullets

Poultry farmers were advised by the American Foundation for Animal Health that the change over from range conditions to laying house confinement of pullets should be made without a major disturbance in the flock.

A smooth change-over from range to laying house will help the pullets winter better and lay more eggs. Five steps that will help make the change-over easy on the pullets are outlined as follows:

1. Change feed gradually. Continue the range ration immediately after housing and change slowly to the laying ration. Supply plenty of water.
2. Encourage use of community nests. Start with nests on floor and raise them gradually to normal height.
3. Leave windows in poultry house open to help "harden" birds for winter conditions. Leave windows open until temperatures drop below freezing to help birds get accustomed to severe winter temperatures.
4. Start a culling program and continue it all year. Severe culling should not be necessary if the pullet chicks were of good breeding and they were well managed during their growth period.

5. Be alert for signs of sickness. Prompt veterinary diagnosis and treatment will help avoid death losses and even serious drops in production.

Carload of Flour Leaves for Greece

On October 20 the first 1955 Michigan CROP shipment of commodities left Ionia. It consisted of 600 bags of flour, milled by Runckman company, destined for Greece. This will be followed by more cars of wheat and beans during the next few weeks. These shipments were made possible by early contributions of Michigan people to CROP. According to Russell Hartzler, state CROP director, this is the first year in Michigan CROP history that such large amounts of food could be shipped before the organized fall campaign got under way. These foods are urgently requested by Church World Service, parent agency of CROP, for overseas feeding programs.

In 1954 practically all CROP contributions from Michigan, as from many other states, were used for distributing government surplus food overseas. However, wheat, a very important food in most countries, was not made available to voluntary agencies as had been expected. Hence, flour is one of the commodities greatly needed to help balance diets in countries to which CROP sends food.

On his trip this past summer, Hartzler stopped in Greece for several days and traveled by Jeep from Athens, in the south, to Ioannina, in the north. At that time Mrs. Kruger, who is in charge of distribution of CROP food in Greece, made the request for a carload of flour as soon as possible. On arrival back in the states, Hartzler found that a formal request had already been made for a carload of flour for Greece. This was allocated to Michigan and shipment made.

In making the request Mrs. Kruger pointed out the need for this flour, particularly for older people, in the mountain villages in the north. Mrs. Kruger and her husband, Peter, who are serving in Greece for a period of 2 years, were themselves refugees from Russia after World War I, and came to America as immigrants, settling on a farm in Pennsylvania. Their son now works their farm while they do relief work. Mrs. Kruger has been in Europe most of the time since 1950, working among prisoners of war and refugees.

An additional $50,000 or more worth of food has been made available by contributions from children in vacation church schools during the past summer. Their funds are used for distribution of government surplus foods, distributing at least $20 worth of food for each $1.00 contributed.

In Michigan CROP is an agency of the Michigan Council of Churches.

Young Heifers Need Housing

It's time to plan for housing of young dairy stock, advised M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Signs of coming cold weather are also signals for bringing young stock in off pasture, he said. Calves and heifers need good winter housing and care to grow into the kind of milk cows farmers want for herd replacements, declared Avery.

Feed young stock lots of silage and good hay, he advised. If this recommendation is followed, animals over a year old will keep in good shape throughout the winter, he added. Occasional grain should be fed if the roughage is not top quality.

For calves under one year, feed about 2 lb of grain a day. With good roughage, corn and cob meal alone or with oats is good. If roughage is poor, add a pound of protein supplement to every 6 or 7 lb of home-grown grain, Avery recommended.

STARTING TO WONDER about family Christmas gifts? Additional telephones are wonderful to give, because they do so much for everyone. Installed in the bedroom, kitchen, basement, living room, they save hours of time and countless steps.

You needn't run when the phone rings... just reach! In solid or two-tone colors, they will brighten up your home, harmonize with your decorations. The cost? You can have three additional telephones in your home for about 11 cents a day. Order your gift telephones from our Business Office today.

PERHAPS YOU'VE HEARD that the Bell System has started installation of a new telephone cable under the Atlantic to the British Isles. The amplifiers (which keep voices strong and clear) are being built right into the cable and must last for years without repairs. It's vital to keep lint and dust out of the amplifiers so they are built in pressurized workrooms where employees wear special orlon work clothes, get their shoes vacuum-cleaned before going to work, and wear no cosmetics. They also get special fiber-free tissues if they get a cold in the head!

NOW THE BUSINESSMAN can hire an efficient, attractive secretary that his wife can't possibly be jealous of. It's an electronic telephone answering device called "Amanda." Here's what it does: Answers your telephone, gives the caller your recorded message, asks him to leave a message, then records what he has to say. You play back the calls when you return. if you're like me.

You have only a nodding acquaintance with the formal rules of evidence, although they're one of the important safeguards to your rights.

We've all seen a great many courtroom dramas in the movies, on the stage, or on television. Too many, I think, sometimes, but there's no denying the drama to be found in the courtroom.

A theater seat or a comfortable chair in front of the TV screen is the closest many of us ever get to a courtroom. It's from such a vantage point that most of our ideas come today about court procedures and how a trial is carried on.

Stage and screen trials normally present only the highlights and take many shortcuts in the interest of brevity and audience appeal. Often an attorney is pictured making objection after objection to the questions and answers as witnesses testify. He makes these objections vehemently, pompously or sarcastically—and often in a voice louder than necessary—according to the demands of his role, and depending upon whether he's on the side of the villain or the hero. The judge then raps for order, and booms out, "sustained," or "overruled," and those of us in the audience usually are at a loss over why he made his decision.

In a real courtroom it's true that attorneys protest against what's being done or said, as a means of assuring a fair trial, and the judge must allow or disallow each objection.

I've always figured the principals in the real courtroom were just practicing common sense when they follow the "rules of evidence" in placing facts before the judge and jury. If there's to be a fair trial and a just verdict, there must be true facts.

Evidence in the courtroom may take several forms, but 2 are most common. Answers to questions from a witness under oath are the best-known type of evidence. Exhibits—written records, letters, "the murder weapon," and other physical objects having to do with the case—are the next most common. "Depositions," or written statements, from a witness who for some reason is unable to appear personally in court, are sometimes admitted as evidence in certain cases.

Wet, Cool Weather Helps Get Winter Wheat Off to Fine Start

By CARL COLLIN

Wet, cooler weather the past several weeks has helped get the wheat off to a fine start. Soil conditions in the southwestern winter wheat belt have improved as they have here in Michigan, and even more. Drought conditions last summer in the southwest were broken in most areas by drenching rains in late September and early October. Soil conditions are reported to be the best since 1951.

Use of antibiotics in livestock feed to stimulate faster growth by preventing disease jumped to over 500,000 lb last year, a 44% increase in a year. Scientists report some wonderful results with several antibiotics on fruits and vegetables to prevent blight. There will probably be a great boom in their uses in sprays during the next several years.

Housewives bought 5% more margarine and 1% more butter in August than in the same month last year. They bought 58,700,000 lb of butter and 98,600,000 lb of margarine this August.

Land values, now as high as they've ever been, are expected to rise. The reason they are increasing in spite of lower farm prices is that demand for additional land to enlarge existing farms is strong. Farmers who have the equipment, funds or credit to expand their land holdings, and the know-how of modern farming, are increasing their acreages to get the maximum good from mechanization and lower unit production costs.

In spite of recent general rains, harvesting conditions are far above average throughout the potent corn belt. Almost 60% of the corn in Iowa was harvested by mid-October compared with 10% a year ago the same time. Generally in that area harvesting conditions are about 3 weeks earlier than average.

Farmers went deeper into mortgage debt in the first half of 1955 than in any similar period on record. Several reasons accounted for this according to Farm Credit Administration.

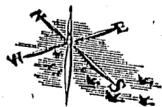

Drop in farm income is one reason. Many farmers with reduced earnings are shifting their short-term debts to longer-term financing. Many farmers are buying more land to make more efficient use of their mechanical equipment.

The 1955 USDA Yearbook, entitled "Water" will be out the last of October. Copies will be available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., for $2.00.

The nation's timber requirements are expected to be so high by the end of the century that timber growth will need to be from 70% to 120% greater than it is now. Better forest management and increased production on both private and public lands has been urged by a group which recently made a survey of timber resources for the USDA.

About a third of all farms and tracts sold in 1954-55 were bought for making bigger farms, and about half of those were operated as single farms before they were sold. Some 50,000 farms have disappeared by being absorbed into other farms. About 10,000 new farms were estab-

Country & Town

By Jim Brown

Some people are a lot like blotters, according to a cynic in the office this week. They soak up a lot of information, but they get it all backwards.

As for getting things backwards, modern-day college and high school bands are doing a good job of that. Instead of stressing high-spirited music and a military step, band directors are turning our youngsters into pumpkins and dancing girls and big bass drums.

Somehow, band directors have the idea that football half-time spectators want to see the disorganized cleverness of throwing a nice bunch of youngsters into seemingly complete chaos only to take the form of a banjo or buffoon which the spectators can't see anyway. Most spectators at football games can't tell what the band is trying to do until a public announcer tells them.

Half-time band entertainment is just that. It's entertaining about half of the time.

How much better it would be to see straight lines of youngsters marching up and down the football fields playing high-spirited music! The unison of step and the stirring music could be seen and heard by all. The first band to throw out the mass confusion of half-time formations will at once win wide acclaim. Spectators will think the director is downright clever to put on such a show.

Artificial breeding of dairy animals is hurting the high-bred silk stocking pedigreed cattle business. Bulls that used to sell for several thousands of dollars because of proved performance or a family tree of big producers are hard to sell these days.

Farmers belonging to artificial breeding associations can get the use of high-priced bulls for just a few dollars. And they don't have to bother keeping a bull. It's a real problem for breeders of fancy cattle. The market just isn't there.

Oldtimers who think today's youngsters don't measure up, ought to see the 4 young foresters in action out at the Fred Wedlick place on Howlett road. The sawyer, Richard Byrtus, of Farmington is just 19 years old. His brother, Gerald, is 18. And Lyle LaFontaine and Billy Adkins, both of Munith, are also 18. The 4 boys have almost completed cutting 80,000 board feet of white oak timber. They fell the trees, drag the logs to a portable saw and turn them into rough lumber.

An old sergeant told me once that the Marine Corps "ain't like the old days and it never was." It's probably the same with anything else. The tough old days the present old folks remember were considered pretty soft by the generation before them. Human nature doesn't change for the worse as fast as some of the skeptics would have us believe.

lished from parts of existing farms.

Land values were down significantly in only 3 states last year: Maine, Vermont and Wyoming. Largest gains were in the central corn belt, Texas, Louisiana.

How soon will the government start buying pork to buoy hog prices? Pressures are building up among producer groups and in congress for USDA to "get going." Department officials have indicated the government probably would buy about 170,000,000 lb of pork for school lunches and other domestic relief outlets.

Hog prices at the end of last week were running at a 10-year low. Receipts at principal markets have been heavy but the heavy runs are yet to come. Some marketing people think runs to market will be very heavy during November and December, while others figure they may not be any heavier than a year ago during these 2 months. But then there will be a resumption of the larger-than-a-year-ago marketings in the January through May period.

Egg production is on the rise—a normal trend for this time of year. Several factors could have a major influence on egg prices in the next few months. Apparently farmers are holding on to old hens, slaughter of old hens has been running as much as 30% below a year ago, in recent weeks. Also, cold storage stocks of eggs were up about 20% from a year ago.

Miscellany. . . Michigan bees worked awfully hard this summer! They turned out 34% more honey than last year. Total Michigan output is estimated at almost 9,300,000 lb, average of about 50 lb per colony. . . National honey output is up 12% to 243,000,000 lb this year. . . Michigan's alfalfa seed crop is forecast at about 2,500,000 bushels, more than 3 times larger than 1954 and 30% above average. . . Consumption of frozen fish sticks jumped 60% during the first half of this year. Lower prices were a great buying stimulant. . . Surplus farm holdings of the government increased in August for the first time in 6 months. They were up $106,000,000 during the month.

Poultry House Should Be Dry

Keeping laying house floors dry is a constant winter problem to many Michigan poultrymen. Michigan's high humidity results in wet floors in cold weather unless houses are properly built, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

One hundred hens laying 60% give off about 22 quarts of water per day. Much of this moisture is in the vapor stage and must be moved before it hits the floor and condenses.

J. M. (Mac) Moore, extension poultry specialist at Michigan

Hot Summer Was Good For Birds

Although our hot, dry summer was rough on humans, Michigan's game birds thrived on it and now abound for outdoorsmen, be they hunters with gun or camera.

Along about the time they're full grown and legal for hunters they're also in full plumage and best shots for the camera fan, according to University of Michigan professor of wildlife management, Warren W. Chase. And the time is now.

Woodcock, partridge and pheasant will be in their heyday, and although there won't be as many grouse—"they're approaching a low in their 10-year cycle"—there'll still be plenty to pot at.

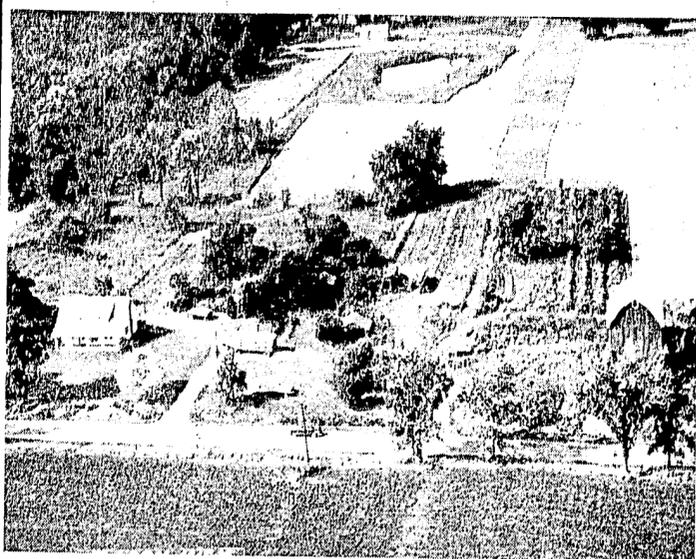

The best time for hunting by gun or camera is in the early morning, says Professor Chase. The birds are feeding then and less easily disturbed.

Michigan is an especially good place for woodcock hunters, this wildlife expert points out. "We have many low, marshy swampy areas with the thick cover favored by the woodcock," he explains, adding that the Canadian woodcock will migrate through Michigan southward within the next few weeks so hunters will have a good shot.

Hunting and good eating attract a lot of sportsmen to the birds, but even more people go State university, recommends using a straw-loft poultry house or forced draft ventilation to ease the wet floor problem: Insulating the house makes ventilation more effective, he added.

In a straw loft house, the floor of the loft is covered with about 3 feet of straw which acts as insulation. This insulation allows the moisture from below to move into the loft but keeps the heat in the laying area. Doors with louvers are placed at either end of the loft.

If forced draft ventilation is used, Avery pointed out that plenty of air intakes are needed. Thorough ventilation is not possible unless air can be moved into the building at many points. Intakes or open windows should not be over 10 feet from each outlet fan. With this method, the warm ceiling air is moved out of the house because it holds more moisture vapor than does cold air.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT OSBORNE live on the farm pictured in last week's mystery farm series. The 67-acre farm is located 1 1/2 miles south of Columbia road on Aurelius road. Most of the farm has muck soil. Osborne raises no cattle preferring to use the land for corn, cabbage, mint and other low-land crops.

In the picture a truck is being loaded with kraut cabbage destined for Saginaw. The picture was taken last fall. The Osbornes have 3 children. A daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Klont, live on part of the Osborne farm. Another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Noble, live in Onondaga. A son, Jim, is a staff member of the state Farm Bureau office in Lansing.

Osborne is active in Masonic work. He is a member of Mason lodge No. 70, F. & A. M., Leslie Council and the Lansing Commandery. Mrs. Osborne is an Eastern Star. The Osbornes bought the farm in 1918. They will receive a free mounted enlargement of their farm when they come to the Ingham County News office, Farrell Howe, 494 North Hogsback road, was the first to correctly identify the farm. Ag Course Is Popular Agriculture as a college subject is gaining popularity in Michigan.

The Michigan State university college of agriculture has a 13% increase in registration over the same period last fall. That makes the enrollment this fall a new record, said Dr. C. R. Moggio, assistant dean in charge of resident instruction.

The college of agriculture has 1,926 students this year compared with last fall's enrollment of 1,704. At the same time the all-university enrollment was boosted by 11% — from slightly more than 15,000 to 17,200.

Farm Problem To Stay, Says U-M Expert

The "farm problem" is here to stay and will probably get worse, says a University of Michigan business expert who has just written a book on "The Future of American Prosperity."

Prof. J. Phillip Wernette of the school of business administration explains his gloomy prediction this way: "Almost every other commodity has an expandable market—as prosperity advances you can buy several cars, homes, TV sets, washing machines, toasters, etc.—but the farmer's ultimate market, the human stomach, just can't absorb all that increasing farm productivity is making available."

The long-range outlook for the country's prosperity is "fabulous" the professor maintains, but although most farmers' incomes will go up gradually, they'll continue to lag behind urban incomes. And if experimentation with a wide range of synthetic foods comes to fruition, things will be even worse for the farmers, he adds.

"America is suffering from a reverse of the Malthusian proposition," Professor Wernette declares, because the food supply is multiplying more rapidly than the population.

As for world markets as an outlet, "We sell as much abroad as the people can afford to buy at the prices we can afford to ask," he states.

Speaking specifically of Michigan farmers, Professor Wernette points out that they have a much better time of it than farmers in the south. "Where the real farm problem lies," though, they're not as productive as their kin in other midwest states or California. "But income level varies greatly from farmer to farmer throughout the country and some are extremely prosperous," he qualifies.

What are the solutions to this problem? They're neither simple nor sure-fire, according to this expert. One suggestion he advocates is a population shift.

"There must be expanding urban opportunities to absorb people coming off the farms. The most salutary element of public policy would be pushing conditions necessary for expanding the urban economy," he says.

The prospect for the near future, however, is a continuation of present farm difficulties with no brighter outlook in store, he predicts. And although this knotty problem will be a 1956 presidential campaign issue, its solution isn't as simple as a Democratic or Republican administration, he concludes. It's bigger than both of them.

Year's Crop of Top Achievement Awards Is Gathered in by Farm Youth of Nation

HARVESTS TOP REWARD—Named Star Farmer of America, Joe Moore, 21, receives a congratulatory kiss from his fiancée, Ann Huttines. Moore was named "Star Farmer" by the Future Farmers of America, meeting in convention at Kansas City, Mo. He hails from Granville, Tenn.

THEY'LL FARM SOUTH-AMERICAN STYLE—Six months of work on South American farms is ahead for these 4-H Club members, meeting at Pan American Union headquarters in Washington, D.C. Quality Hay Brings Down Feeding Cost

The average farmer in Ingham county can cut his dairy herd feeding costs as much as 25% by improving the quality of his forage and by feeding more forage and less grain.

That's the conclusion of M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent. He pointed out that feed makes up about half the cost of producing milk.

C. R. (Ray) Hoglund, farm economist at Michigan State University, conducted a study of 172 south central Michigan dairy farms which showed that 50% of the farms' alfalfa-brome stands rated excellent. That means 70% or more legumes and few weeds.

Yet only 25 to 30 per cent of the hay harvested in this area was of excellent quality. Poor harvesting and storage methods were the reasons, according to Hoglund.

If a farmer has a good alfalfa-brome stand and uses improved harvesting methods, he can produce all the protein most dairy cows need, Avery contended. If a cow produces 2 or more pounds of butterfat daily she probably will need more protein, however.

He pointed out that early harvest of alfalfa-brome (by July 1) will furnish cattle with a good supply of protein. But, he added, if farmers have late-harvested alfalfa or the hay is of a lower quality because of having been wet it will pay to feed protein supplement. The crude protein content of grass hays often drops as low as 8% by July 1.

Food Industry Efficiency Must Keep Up With Changes

The nation's food needs are changing rapidly and the food industry must step up its efficiency to meet these new demands, Ralph W. Burger, president of A & P Food Stores, said recently.

Burger, in observation of the nation's oldest food chain's 96th anniversary, declared that Americans are the best fed people in the world.

"The quality and variety of food and the shopping conveniences they enjoy are greater than ever before," he said. "In addition, the cost of eating has been reduced in the past 96 years from half the average family's disposable income to only about one-quarter."

"But our families are increasing rapidly and new living patterns and shopping habits are developing. These changes pose serious new problems for the food industry."

The company's month-long anniversary observance marks the opening of the first A & P in 1859 by George Huntington Hartford, father of the chain's first board chairman. The firm's initial stock in trade was tea, bought from clipper ships and sold directly to consumers in the small store in downtown New York City. The savings made possible by this method enabled Hartford to price the tea at about one-third the prevailing rate.

In the years that followed, Burger said, a complete line of foods was gradually introduced, to the point where today's average supermarket carries more than 3,500 items.

"Despite new times and customs, the food industry's responsibility today is no different than it was in 1859 when the first A

& P store was opened in New York City on the basic policy of giving customers the most good food for their money," he stated. "Now, as then, the entire food industry should be guided by the 3 cardinal principles of better quality, better value and better service to the consumer."

"Food merchants will find competition keener than ever in this changing market," Burger said. "In meeting it, however, they must not lose sight of the basic principles of efficiency and economy through which the industry has performed its greatest service and achieved its greatest growth."

"Efficiency in food distribution is not only important to consumers, but to farmers as well. If we are to maintain agriculture on a sound economic basis we must do our best to reduce waste and spoilage and eliminate unnecessary handling operations and costs in order to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices."

He urged food merchants to give careful study to expansion programs. An unneeded outlet "matching too much store with too few customers," is one example of costly inefficiency, he said.

The A & P president also warned against the "general store" type of operation, where handling of non-food lines would distract the food merchant from his primary responsibility. "Efficient handling of food," said Burger, "is a full-time job."

"There is no question of our ability to improve the quality and quantity of the nation's food supply and to find new methods of making shopping and cooking easier. The pitfall of this progress, however, is that in a period such as this, unwise competitive devices can easily increase the cost of food to the consumer. Inefficiency in the food industry, with its attendant increases in the cost of distribution, would take us backward instead of forward in our efforts to give consumers the most good food for their money."

Most Apples Are Sold At Roadside

Most Michigan apples are not sold in grocery stores.

The majority are bought at roadside stands, farmers' markets and directly from farmers, a survey of 230 families in Lansing indicates.

The survey was taken by J. D. Shaffer and G. G. Quackenbush, Michigan State University agricultural economists. The economists noted top purchases for the last week in September. About 39% of the families reported buying apples at that time.

While 75% of the families bought apples at grocery stores, the MSU men found, only 37% of the apples purchased were bought in grocery stores. The reason: Housewives bought an average of around 4 1/2 lb at a time at the store. But the families bought over 20 lb at a time in other places.

And the average price at grocery stores was slightly over 11¢ compared with only 6¢ a pound from other sources. That was due mainly to larger quantities purchased from the latter—42 1/2 in bushel baskets.

Farm Bureau Members Hear Bell Discuss Farm Future

By M. H. AVERY
Agricultural Agent

Dick Bell, assistant director of extension at Michigan State University, in talking at the Ingham county annual Farm Bureau meeting last week, discussed the future of farming. He said a number of things that have been said before—he said them a bit differently and I thought they were worth bringing to those who were not in attendance.

He stated that we have an expanding population, particularly in the area in the vicinity of Lansing. Appearances are that this population growth will continue for the next 25 years and that there is a trend of population to the rural area. This means that there are decreasing farm land resources. This is especially well demonstrated in this area where sub-dividing is being done on what was recently good agricultural farm land. He stated that if we would divide all the land in the United States, each person would have about 2 acres. There are about 550,000,000 acres to produce the food needed in the United States.

Bell added that there is but little more land to be brought into cultivation without expensive irrigation. With a population now of 165,000,000 people in the United States and an increase of nearly 3,000,000 per year there'll be more mouths to feed in the next 25 to 30 years.

Farmers today are producing 40% more than just before the war. Much of this increase has been done by improvement in yields per acre since little land has been brought into production since that time. Bell asks, "Are we going to produce this same way in the future?" No one knows. However, the picture is quite clear that efficiency of production must continue. Though the number of farmers is decreasing, each year Bell does not see under-production in the next 20 years.

Here are some suggested changes which economists say farmers will want to be aware of in the coming decade:

1. Watch the market and try to produce what the market wants when it wants it.
2. Buy supplies seasonally.
3. Adopt new practices as soon as they are proven practical for the average farmer.
4. Your farm will be larger in acres.
5. You will have more capital investment in this farm.

6. You will no doubt specialize in producing those things which you can produce best. This is already noted in this area in the dairy farmer increasing the size of his herd, the crop farmer having more machinery and producing those crops which that machinery can be used on. For example — Ingham county is now producing very few potatoes except in some of the muck area where a few years ago nearly every farmer grew an acre or more of potatoes.

7. There will be fewer farmers to compete with; though these farmers will be better farmers since those who find farming unprofitable are gradually leaving this profession.

8. If you can effectively use new technology you will have increased income.

9. If you cannot meet the competition of new methods, new machines, new varieties, and methods of using and applying, then it is probably true that there will be a good job in industry for you.

10. We will all enjoy a higher standard of living than we do now if the above points are carried out.

Bell said, in closing, "I am not pessimistic about the future but very optimistic for those good, progressing farmers."

In view of the above statement it would seem that every farmer in Ingham county should take advantage of all sources of education available to keep up on the latest findings of research education both from the agricultural colleges and from the business field. Every farmer, no doubt, should take one or more of the good agricultural journals or magazines which tell of latest scientific experimental results and practical improvements made by farmers themselves. He will also want to avail himself of material put out from the experiment station of the agricultural colleges through the extension service. He will want to use the agricultural Agencies in the county which have the help he can use.

Above all, he will want to use credit wisely.

Two new chemicals that could be superior raw materials for manufacturing cortisone have been discovered in the tubers of a rare Mexican yam by U. S. department of agriculture researchers. Cortisone is widely used in the treatment of arthritis.

65,000 Dairy Farmers call ABS Bulls "America's Best"

Best for milk production, that is. And that's what you want: less work, more milk. Last year over 600,000 cows were bred to ABS Bulls because the records show daughters of our bulls produce more milk! Follow the leader!

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE GORHAM operate George's Market in Mason. Located on Jefferson avenue, it features a complete food selection. Although George's first love is the meat department, the market also has a stock of fine foods, fresh, frozen and canned. George has always been famous for having good meals.
The Gorhams bought the market in 1953 from Leslie Palmer. For many years it was owned by Palmer's father, Victor Palmer. Since buying the market, the Gorhams installed new fixtures and put in a self-serve system. (Ingham County News photo.)
