

Duffy Daugherty Will Show Rose Bowl Films in Mason

Sunday night in Mason's Legion building north of town the Rose Bowl game will be replayed. Duffy Daugherty, coach of the year, and several of his Spartans will come along with the movies taken in color. The show is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock. In addition to the appearance of Daugherty and his Spartans there will be refreshments.

St. James Men's club is sponsoring the Sunday night show for which tickets are being sold to the public.

Dave Kaiser, the Alpena sophomore who kicked the field goal with 7 seconds left in the game; Jerry Planulis, Spartan fullback; and Bob Jewett, Mason end, are expected to accompany their coach to Mason. All-American Earl Morrill may also come to the party, reported Fr. Paul DeRose at a meeting of the Men's club in the parish hall Monday night. Some of the highlights of the Tournament of Roses parade will also be shown.

Dave Froh of Lansing's WILS will be master of ceremonies for Sunday night's events. Club guests, Fr. DeRose announced, will include George Alderton, sports editor of the State Journal; Richard Brown, Ingham County News; and Rt. Rev. Jerome MacEachin, pastor of St. Thomas Aquinas parish, East Lansing.

Don VanderVeen, Jr., and Edwin Kehe, Mason football coaches, are co-chairmen. Harold Bell and Frank Guerrero are team captains for ticket sales. The losing team will treat the winning team to dinner.

At the Men's club meeting, Frank Schmidt reported on hall arrangements. Howard Tinkler told of publicity progress and James Birney reported on plans for refreshments at Sunday's Daugherty party. The free lunch will include ham sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, coffee or Coke and ice cream.

Highways 127 And 16 Secure First Priority

Up front in priorities for improvement under Michigan's expanded road building program are US-127 and US-16. Both will be started this year, announced Highway Commissioner Charles E. Ziegler this week.

All of 127 from Mason to Jackson is in the works. There are also 18 miles of US-16 from Lansing to M-47 between Williamston and Webberville. Both will be converted into 4-lane divided highways.

US-127 will be rebuilt all the way to Jackson and will be limited access. A new route will be followed from a point 2 miles north of Leslie most of the way to Jackson. In Ingham it will follow Hull road. Much of the right-of-way has been bought.

In addition to the 18 miles on 16 and 20 miles on 127, other improvements scheduled for 1956-57 will be a grade separation over the C. & O. tracks on US-27 at the north city limits of Lansing, a revamped intersection (one-half mile) at US-16 and M-78 between Lansing and East Lansing, a half-mile of resurfacing on 16, East Lansing at Park Lake road, Grading and concrete surfacing of 27 in Lansing on Larch and Cedar and the Main street crossover, 8 of a mile of widening curb and gutter on 27 and 78 in Lansing on Main from Logan to west city limits, 1.4 mile of grading and concrete surface on 27 and 78 St. Joseph to Main, and the three-quarters of a mile of grading and concrete surface and an overpass and underpass on M-78, Saginaw street in Lansing from Washington to Pennsylvania avenue.

Widening and rebuilding of 16 will extend west through Clinton, Ionia, Kent and Ottawa counties.

Besides the 127 job north of Jackson, there are another 15 miles of 127 in Jackson county to connect 112 and 12, 27 miles on 12 from Parma all the way to Marshall in Calhoun, and 3 miles on M-60, a Jackson relocation.

Throughout the state more than 450 miles of 4-lane divided construction are scheduled for completion by the end of 1957, Ziegler said.

Mothers Will March Next Thursday

Ingham Women Enlist in Polio Drive

Four thousand Ingham women have volunteered for next Thursday's (January 26) house-to-house canvass for funds to be used against polio.

The Mothers' March on Polio is scheduled in every section of the county between 7 and 8 next Thursday night. Householders who want to contribute are asked to turn on porch lights and one of the volunteers will stop.

The goal in Ingham for the march is $45,000, announced Mrs. Justin Sutton, Lansing, county chairman.

Sherriff's deputies, city and township police and members of Moose lodges will serve as escorts for the mothers conducting the drive. Radio-equipped cars manned by amateur short-wave fans will assist in directing solicitors.

Assisting Mrs. Sutton will be Mrs. Nels Ferriby, Mason, captain in the Mason and Leslie areas, Mrs. Harry Neumann, Williamston, Williamston and Webberville zone, and Mrs. David Diehl, Dansville, Dansville and Stockbridge areas.

Other special events also are planned next week as the month-long March of Dimes drive nears its climax.

On Friday, January 27, the Mason March of Dimes organization will stage its annual polio dance in the Legion hall.

March of Dimes funds were swelled this week by observance of "Coffee for Polio" day in Lansing, East Lansing and Mason restaurants. More than 75 eating establishments affiliated with the Greater Lansing Restauranters association allotted 3 hours of coffee sales to the March of Dimes, and in Mason, Art's Hamburger Shoppe staged its 13th annual pancake and sausage day to raise funds to fight polio.

The Blue Crutch campaign conducted by Mason Lions last Friday night netted $175. Lions sold 500 crutches at an average of 35c each.

Monday night at 8 in the Dansville school, workers of the Dansville-Stockbridge area will hear Mrs. Sutton. She will tell of polio work in Lansing and show a film about therapy treatments given at the Sparrow hospital's east unit.

Fire sirens and church bells will announce start of canvassing by mothers next Thursday night at both Dansville and Stockbridge, said Mrs. Diehl, area captain. She said mothers assigned to rural sections may do their canvassing in the afternoon if it will be difficult for them to do it at night.

Enlisted in the Dansville-Stockbridge area are:

Stockbridge—Mrs. John Williams, captain; Mrs. Harold Lantis, Mrs. Arthur Wilde and Mrs. Louis Roepcke, lieutenants; and Mrs. Roy McCloud, Mrs. Kenneth Stanfield, Mrs. Maynard Stanfield, Mrs. Cecil Cobb, Mrs. James Spencer, Mrs. Doris Young, Mrs. Ernest Porzolt, Mrs. Clyde Faber, Mrs. Arthur Collins, Mrs. Leonard Esch, Mrs. Ward Hutson, Mrs. Allen Nagley, Mrs. James Rowland, Mrs. Gerald Rindelman, Mrs. Dave Basore, Mrs. Wayne Collier, Mrs. Daniel Owens, Mrs. Andor Lindberg, Mrs. R. C. Stowe, Mrs. Don Foell, Mrs. Robert Powell, Mrs. Walter Barbour, Mrs. Cecile Hudkins, Mrs. Don Curtis, Mrs. Betty Proctor and Mrs. Betty Lou Ward, contact workers.

Stockbridge township—Mrs. Ray Morgan, captain; Mrs. Hugh Brown, Mrs. Orla Ackley, Mrs. Walter Bower and Mrs. Howard Pomrenke, lieutenants; and Mrs. Ted Fay, Mrs. Ernest Sprinkle, Mrs. Ken Byerly, Mrs. Margaret Schubert, Mrs. Mavis Simons, Mrs. Robert Trice and Mrs. Don Sayles, contact workers.

Council Asks Building Code For Next Month

Mason's proposed building code may receive final approval of city councilmen at the first meeting in February. If adopted then, it will be ahead of the March 1 completion schedule aimed at by Councilman Clifford Walcott and his committee.

Ray Neff, county highway department, engineer and former building inspector at Kalamazoo, met with councilmen Monday night to shape a standard code to Mason needs.

Neff and Walcott's committee recommend a standard code now in use in many Michigan cities. They pointed out that local talent can not match the years of work required to arrive at a workable code.

The proposed code is a fat 130 pages with detailed information on every phase of building construction.

"I wouldn't be in favor of this code if I thought it would hinder certain people from building a home by themselves," Councilman Robert Phillips declared. "I want to be certain that the code doesn't play into the hands of contractors. I want to be sure that the code is only a listing of sensible minimum requirements."

"The only hindrance involved here is the hindrance of dangerous construction," Mayor Alfred Forche asserted. "The code will actually help the little man who wants to do his own work. It will make sure that he is not endangering himself, his family and those who may purchase the structure later."

Walcott's committee will meet Thursday night to work up an ordinance to be presented to the council in February.

Neff also suggested that certain parts of Mason's zoning ordinance be amended so it will be workable with the building code.

"The 2 ordinances will be adequate to insure an orderly expansion of the city," Neff told councilmen. "It is easy for a town to grow logically and with a minimum of headaches with the correct building code."

The fire started in a food cupboard in the basement recreation room, Mrs. Lamphere was the first to be awakened by the smoke and heat about 2 in the morning. Lamphere hooked up a garden hose to control the flames until firemen arrived.

The fire charred the cupboard, parts of the wall and first-floor joists. Smoke filled the house.

Fire Chief Leland Austin said it is possible a mouse could have started the fire by chewing on matches found in the cupboard. However, he said it was unlikely that a mouse would bother with a match when the cupboard was full of food.

The house, located on Dexter Trail just east of Dansville road, was completed last fall.

Boys Pay $50 For Pheasants

Two Mason boys paid $50 for a pair of cock pheasants and then didn't get to keep the birds. They also forfeited their hunting licenses.

Last Friday Ingham township Conservation Officer Twister Mutchler took James Chard, 17, and Ronald L. Johnson, 17, into custody. Both were taken before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams at Mason. Chard pleaded guilty, to shooting and having in possession 2 cock pheasants. Johnson pleaded guilty to attempting to shoot a pheasant out of season and to having one bird in possession. Each youth paid $25.

Wyeth Executive Makes Report on Business Mission

Howard Selbert, manager of Mason's Wyeth Laboratories Inc. plant, told Kiwanians Tuesday night of his business mission to South America last year. He also showed colored slides taken on the 14,000 mile trip.

Selbert made the trip both ways by air, taking Panagra's Andes flight. He visited Argentina, Brazil and Colombia, looking for areas where milk industries can be developed. He was in Argentina just before the revolution which overthrew Peron.

When the dust settles in Argentina, the Mason executive said, his company may resume negotiations for manufacturing there. Contacts which were made prior to the revolution were encouraging, he said.

At Cruzeiro in Brazil Selbert stopped off to inspect operations of a Wyeth plant which started production 2 years ago. Progress has been satisfactory there, he reported.

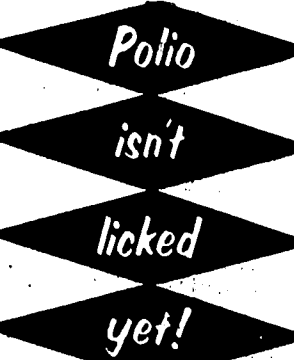

In Colombia Selbert found a valley where Swiss have developed a promising dairy industry and are interested in beginning the manufacture of SMA. SMA sales in Colombia are as high now as they were in the United States in 1932, he stated. Jose Abolashen of the Mason factory staff joined Selbert in Colombia. Abolashen has been at Mason preparing himself to head up production in Colombia when factory plans there are completed.

Plane Spotters Await Training

Volunteers in Mason's ground observer corps of the air force will get initial instructions Thursday night. Staff Sergeant Adwin Cole of the air force filter center in Grand Rapids will come to Mason to tell volunteers what is expected of them. The instruction meeting is booked for the school at 8 o'clock.

The GOC station south of Cedar Street school is near completion. Power and telephone lines must still be installed and painting is yet to be done.

Stanley Cornwell, Mason GOC committee chairman, said the present plan calls for 24-hour, 7-day, manning of the tower beginning February 1. He is now drawing up schedules.

Pre-Trial Plan Speeds Action In First Week

Ingham's scheduling of trials after pre-trial conferences has sped court action this week. The new plan has also reduced court costs in that a smaller jury panel has been employed.

Judge Marvin J. Salmon, presiding at the January term of court, expressed satisfaction over the initial test of Ingham's new court rules.

Pre-trial conferences last Friday resulted in 6 pleas in criminal cases and one out-of-court settlement in a civil matter, the judge reported. Pre-trial reviews of criminal cases also cut down the volume of testimony in another case, the judge said, and brought about an endorsement of witnesses without arguments in court.

Although unable to reach a settlement at a pre-trial conference, attorneys for litigants came to an agreement in a civil case Wednesday forenoon. A bastardy case scheduled for trial Thursday was also cleared and jurors were excused until Monday morning at Mason.

Under the new rules only 50 instead of the usual 60 or 70 prospective jurors were summoned. The panel was reduced to 25, enough for 2 juries if necessary.

Judge Salmon has been conducting the jury trials at Mason with Judges Louis E. Cash and Charles H. Hayden handling non-jury cases in Lansing.

There was a backlog of 80 criminal cases starting the term, Judge Salmon pointed out. He said he expected most of the cases will be disposed of before the end of the term.

Two Are Convicted
Juries returned verdicts of guilt in both criminal cases tried Monday and Tuesday.

On Monday the jury convicted Albert Coffield, 30, Lansing, on a charge of larceny from Bill's Bar and restaurant in Lansing August 19. He was charged with taking $250 from the till. Upon cross-examination he admitted serving time for narcotics possession and numerous terms for petty theft in Ohio in addition to a Michigan prison term. He was remanded for sentence. Coffield was defended by Robert Platt, Lansing lawyer, with William A. Austin representing the state.

Warren Harris, 35, Lansing, charged with breaking and entering Judy's Lunch in Lansing August 14, was convicted Tuesday. He, too, was remanded for sentence. Edward Spence of Lansing defended Harris with Peter J. Treleven handling the prosecution.

Jurors were excused Wednesday morning for the balance of the week when settlement was reached in a civil case brought by Lauren and Grace LaParl of Eaton county and the State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. as subrogees against M. H. Madden of Eaton county. Cars driven by LaParl and Madden collided at the intersection of M-78 and Waverly road in February of last week. The LaParls and the insurance company asked for recovery of damages to the LaParl car and compensation for pain and injury.

Board of Review Gets New Member

Mayor Alfred Forche at council meeting Monday night appointed Earl D. Whipple to a vacancy on the board of review. Whipple is a veteran contractor and builder. He succeeds Leo H. Harrison on the board. Other members are Dean Taylor, city assessor, and Frank Guerrero and John Hassinen. Whipple's term on the board of review will expire January 1, 1959.

The board of review is empowered to review, and if need be, correct valuations of real and personal property for tax purposes.

School May Hire Two More Guards

Mason school district may hire 2 more crossing guards, one each for Cedar Street and Steele Street schools.

Up to now there has been only one guard and he is stationed at the high school. With kindergarten and elementary pupils moved to the new schools, the Jefferson crossing is still guarded, with safety patrols functioning at the elementary schools.

Parents registered complaints about their children crossing Cedar and East Ash streets, Supt. James H. Vander Ven said. He also stated that the school board holds the view that a guard is still necessary at Jefferson street school even though no elementary pupils attend.

OPEN HOUSE is scheduled in Mason Saturday and Sunday when Kessler Construction, Inc., opens up the first of a 25-home subdivision on Mason's west side.

In the picture are Carlton Kessler, president of the company, and his son Carl Kessler. They have constructed 2 National prefabricated 3-bedroom homes for models. The houses will be furnished by Mason merchants during the open house.

The Kessler development is in Snyder subdivision just west of US-127 near Columbia road. Open house hours Saturday will be from noon until 6, Sunday from 2 until 8 and all next week from 6 until 9.

Rural Mt. Hope Residents Protest Proposed By-Pass

Proposal of Lansing's Chamber of Commerce for converting Mt. Hope road into a by-pass for US-16 has stirred Mt. Hope residents. They are organizing a committee to combat the proposal. They have already filed protest petitions with the state highway department.

Out of 225 persons living on or close to Mt. Hope, 97% declared their opposition to making Mt. Hope a by-pass or alternate trunkline, declared the committee.

The survey, said the committee, revealed that the majority of the people recognize the traffic problem in the Lansing area but oppose the Lansing Chamber of Commerce plan. Of the 255 persons interviewed, 248 are opposed to diverting additional car and truck traffic over Mt. Hope by extending it east to US-16 and by constructing a bridge over Grand river.

Reasons given for opposing conversion of Mt. Hope to a trunkline were: Mt. Hope already carries heavy traffic; property values and aesthetic values would be depreciated; additional truck traffic would endanger children going to and from school; there could be no limited

City Taxes Take Penalty Saturday

Friday night at 9 o'clock is the last day and hour for Mason property owners to pay 1955 school and county taxes without penalty. Beginning Saturday a 4% penalty will be added, said Mrs. Doris Austin, city treasurer.

Taxes are payable at the clerk-treasurer office in the city hall. Mrs. Austin said she plans to keep her office open until 9 o'clock Friday night in order to give property owners full opportunity to escape the penalty.

Payment of the 1955 county and school taxes had reached 85% Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Austin reported.

Two School Sites May Go on Sale

Mason school district may sell the Wilson school site on Columbia road east of town and Walters school, 2 miles south on US-127. At the next school election voters will be asked to authorize disposal of the properties, the school board decided Wednesday night. Fire destroyed the Wilson school 25 years ago and the land has stood vacant since. The Walters school, built of brick, was abandoned a few weeks ago. State highway department engineers told school board members that the school will be perched high above the highways when the new road is built. There will be a deep cut at Tomlinson road intersection.

Appraisals on the E. J. Betcher property, adjoining Steele Street school, on the north, were not available at Wednesday night's board meeting. Superintendent James H. Vander Ven said. The district has offered to buy and the Betchers have offered to sell the property but there has been no agreement on price.

City Council May Sell Bonds For $200,000

Mason councilmen may authorize the sale of $200,000 in bonds in February for construction of water and sewer improvements. Councilman Clifford Walcott submitted the proposal to the council and councilmen asked City Engineer Walter Zimmer to prepare a revised estimate of costs and present them at the next meeting.

Most of the proposed improvements were considered by the council in 1948. The plan was rushed in 1953 and was touched on lightly last winter.

Now, Walcott said, it is time for the council to either do something about the proposals or take them off the books.

"In 1948 councilmen by-passed the proposition because they said costs would go down," Walcott stated. "But they didn't. Between 1948 and 1953, estimated costs increased 100%. In 1953 no action was taken because councilmen said costs just couldn't go any higher. But they did. It's time to quit putting off this needed project."

Included in the proposed project is another water well, more water storage, improvements to the sewage treatment plant totaling nearly $30,000, a sewer extension on the southwest side of town plus a sewage lift station for about $32,000, miscellaneous sewer projects throughout town for about $30,000 and 3,000 feet of new water mains for about $10,000.

Julius Hanslovsky, municipal finance consultant from East Lansing, has previously told councilmen that revenue bonds would pay off the project with no additional taxes or increases in water and sewer rates.

Councilman Phillips said Monday night that he wants to see figures on both general obligation and revenue bonds and what they would mean to taxpayers.

Members of St. James church are anxious for city action on the sewer and water program. They purchased the Nazarene church on Elm street for use as a parochial school, but sewage facilities are not adequate to meet state school standards, Walcott explained. Sewage from the building is dumped into Sycamore creek.

"If Mason is to expand, it must have proper water and sewer development," Walcott stated. "This proposed public improvement looks to the future as well as the present. We have gone without it long enough."

Walcott explained that revenue bonds do not require a vote by the people. A general obligation bond does, he said. However, he pointed out that even on revenue-type bonding, there must be a vote if enough people petition for a referendum.

Doctor Bans Parking
Dr. L. C. Kraft of Leslie, owner of vacant property in the first block of West Maple in Mason, declared Thursday that it is not parking lot and that such use is against his wishes.

Railroads Find Stop Signs Reduce Crossing Accidents

Instead of using reflector tape on freight cars, the New York Central favors erection of highway stop signs.

That's the remedy suggested by George H. Wyatt, general attorney of the New York Central system at Detroit in reply to suggestions that reflector tape be used on freight cars.

The request for reflector tape marking followed the death of County Club Agent Gerald Van Singel on College road crossing north of Mason last October 27. His car struck a freight car midway of the train.

According to the Michigan Central attorney, the freight train was traveling 25 miles per hour and Van Singel passed a railroad advance warning sign 250 feet north of the crossing and a reflectorized sign 40 feet north of the crossing. The attorney said that the whistle of the train had been blowing and the bell on the engine had been ringing.

Stop signs provide a simple way to prevent crossing accidents, Wyatt declared. Highway authorities are now permitted to erect stop signs at crossings just as they do at certain highways, he continued. Now there are 50 rail crossings so marked, he stated.

"Results from marking crossings have been almost unbelievable," Wyatt said. "On our railroad at the 25 crossings so protected the number of accidents have been reduced by 85% over the 10-year average of each crossing. It now appears to me that these stop signs are more effective than flasher lights, gates or any other type of warning. It is paradoxical, but apparently motorists are more concerned with avoiding traffic tickets than they are in avoiding danger. It is my belief that if stop signs had been erected at College road crossing, Gerald Van Singel might still be alive."

The railroad attorney said that a Detroit railroad equipped one engine with headlights which illuminated both sides of the locomotive during night time. After that, he reported, the engine was struck more often than any locomotive in similar service.

"I do not imply that the lights increased the number of accidents," said Wyatt, "but the test convinced me that they did not reduce the number of crossing collisions. In one case a motorist drove into the side of this engine after it had been standing for more than 2 minutes on the crossing. In each instance when the engine was struck the motorist claimed that the lights were not burning, although disinterested witnesses testified to the contrary."

A state regulation on reflectorized tape or paint markings on freight cars would not cover cars belonging to railroads that do not operate in Michigan, Wyatt said. A good share of the cars making up the train which Van Singel hit were from out-of-state lines, Wyatt added.

Under the law cited by the New York Central attorney Ingham county road commission has erected stop signs at 3 crossings. They are at the C. & O. crossing of Elm road at the southwest corner of Webberville, the new York Central crossing of Jolly road west of Aurelius road, and the C. & O. crossing of Dobie road near the county hospital.

Rehabilitation Fee Is Set at $96 Per Week

Private patients at the Ingham county rehabilitation center operated in conjunction with the Ingham county hospital at Okemos pay $96 per week. Patients are admitted upon request of a member of the Ingham County Medical Society.

The charge of $96 per 7-day week includes all hospital and rehabilitation charges. Extras include consultation services of physicians as requested by the professional advisory committee, braces or other equipment, and periodic hospital visits by the referring physician.

The board of social welfare is responsible for the administration and supervision of the county hospital. The rehabilitation program has been developed and is supervised by a separate division. On the staff now are a clinical psychologist, 2 physiotherapists, an occupational therapist, a diversional therapist and a medical social worker.

Members of the county medical society and members of the staff of Michigan State university helped set up the rehabilitation program and still serve as advisors.

The program is designed primarily to help bed patients become ambulant and to take care of themselves. Outside patients are admitted as and when beds are available, hospital authorities said.

Ingham adopted the rehabilitation program as a solution to the problem of chronic hospitalization. The county had many cases which required surgery but which after surgery remained bedridden. The rehabilitation program enables many men and women to lead more normal lives, records indicate.

juries suffered by Mrs. LaParl. The total was less than $1,000. Madden filed a cross-declaration for $10,000. Terms of the settlement were not announced beyond the statement that the LaParl benefited.

Richard Brake of Sines, Dramis & Brake represented the plaintiff with Gregg, Glassen, Parr & Rhoad representing Madden.

Six Hear Sentences
Monday Judge Salmon sentenced Jesse James Bolton to 2 to 15 years in Jackson prison. Bolton pleaded guilty to a series of break-ins and thefts in the Munnich-Stockbridge area.

Pleading guilty to being disorderly, third offense, Robert Ash, no permanent address, was sentenced to serve 1½ years in Jackson prison.

Four other sentences were passed Wednesday. The Mollitor brothers, Kenneth and Harvey, each were sentenced to serve from 2 to 15 years in Jackson prison for breaking and entering in the nighttime. Richard Rice was sentenced to serve 3 months in the county jail for non-support and Norman Shaw was placed on probation for 4 years with the first 60 days to be served in jail. He had pleaded guilty to grand larceny. All 4 were from Lansing.

Court Facilities Face Added Use

While Lansing is building its new city hall, more court trials may be shifted to Mason.

Introduced in the legislature Wednesday was a bill authorizing transfer of court sessions to Mason during September and March terms. Presently the law provides that September and March terms of circuit court be conducted in Lansing with January and May terms conducted in Mason.

The bill provides for permission to shift Lansing trials to Mason during the 2-year period during which the Lansing city hall is being constructed.

County Officers Confer

County Treasurer Laurence Parker and County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard plan to be in Detroit Monday and Tuesday to attend annual conferences for clerks, treasurers and registers of deeds.

Thorburn Leaves Hospital

Ross B. Thorburn was released from Mason General hospital Wednesday and is at his home. He was stricken with an abscess on his appendix last Thursday and was taken to the hospital for an operation to prevent rupture. After recovery from the treatment another operation may be necessary, he was told.

Mason Man Tries To Escape Jail

Recaptured in the basement of the Atlanta, Georgia, jail last Thursday was Byrd Slusher, 28, of Mason. He and an Atlanta man, both held as burglary suspects, and Michael and George Krull, awaiting trial for rape and kidnapping, overpowered a maintenance man and took his keys. TO ARTHRITIS SUFFERERS:
I would like to give my testimony in regard to Sars Rheumatic Solvent.
When I started taking it, my hands and fingers were swollen, cracked and sore; hips and knees so stiff and lame it was almost impossible to move.
After taking two treatments the swelling and pain has left me. My nerves are settled down. Arthritis has cleared up, sugar does not bother me any more. My eyesight has improved, and I have strength and energy I had not known for years. I call it "my life insurance medicine."

Letters to Editor

Faith Is Affirmed

Friday night, January 6, my son Wayne Clark was in an automobile accident. Four days later, on Wednesday morning about 4 o'clock he passed away. He left a wife and 5 children and another child, yet to be born.

All of this has been written in the papers, but what has not been written is the manner in which friends and neighbors have supplied the needs of this family.

From the time Wayne was hurt until after the funeral, there were 8 children to be cared for most of each day and part of the nights. There was always someone ready to care for them. Food was supplied to each of our families, my husband and I, the John Fries, and Wayne's wife and children. All day Wednesday, 2 young men of the neighborhood called in the community with the purpose of creating a fund for the immediate needs of a family which has lost a loved father.

The response was far above what normally occurs at such a time. Food, clothing, and money from the church, the Standard Block and Supply where Wayne had been employed, and the community and relatives has been directed for the use of Jean and the children.

We, whose task it is to help in the future, cannot let this opportunity pass to express our thanks and appreciation for these deeds of kindness, and to affirm the faith that although one has been taken from us the power of God is helping care for those who are left.

Former Road Executive Dies After Long Illness

Fred A. Palmer, 73, died in St. Lawrence hospital, Lansing, Tuesday after sickness extending over many months.

Mr. Palmer was one of the men who took Ingham county out of the mud. When the county road commission system was first set up he became a construction foreman. When machinery replaced teams and wagons, and slip scrapers, and men with shovels, Palmer became superintendent of equipment. He was a master mechanic and he could get things done. He was a key man in the Ingham county road commission for years. After leaving county employment he worked for contractors in southwest Michigan.

Sheriff Asks for Addition to Jail

Ingham needs a fourth floor of the county jail, declared Sheriff Willard P. Barnes Monday. He also suggested that he be permitted to add 4 turnkeys to his staff so an around-the-clock guard can be maintained on the second floor where prisoners awaiting trial and sentence are confined.

It was on the second floor that prisoners stabbed one of their own last week. Another suggestion made by the sheriff and approved by William Nestle, state jail inspector, is to convert part of the jail garage into cells for temporary detention of drunks and other minor offenders.

The sheriff discussed jail needs with Supervisors John B. Fay of Delhi and Dean Taylor of Mason, members of the jail committee, Monday. The supervisors said they may call a meeting of the complete committee next week, along with members of the ways and means committee. There is a possibility that recommendations will be placed before the board of supervisors February 7, they indicated.

Sandra Skinner Wed at Holt Church

Holt Presbyterian church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sandra Jean Skinner of Holt and Gordon Grant White of Lansing Saturday evening, Rev. Vernon T. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Skinner chose a rose lace dress and navy accessories. Mrs. White wore a light blue lace dress with navy accessories. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of red rosebuds and white carnations.

Immediately following their marriage, the newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

How To Meet New Friends

"The only way to have a friend is to be one," Emerson said. But there is more to it than that. Some of us can't make new friends because we don't meet new people.

There are various ways of meeting new people. But none is better than the church. It has even been said that the church is the very best place to meet your future husband or wife.

The church has been called a fellowship of believers. A fellowship is "a company of friends." So, the church is "a company of friends" who believe.

Belief in God is the reason for the existence of the church. And the primary reason for going to church should be to worship God.

Nevertheless, it is a fact that meeting many new friends—fine, loyal friends—is one of the wonderful results of attending and serving the church.

Go to church every week. Worship God and become a part of the "company of friends" who believe in Him.

National Homes Arrive Early in the Morning, Are Assembled on Foundations by Nightfall

Every National Home that is shipped by truck must leave the factory at exactly the right time so it will reach the building site right after breakfast. There's a good reason for this. The local dealer-builder, in this case the Kessler Construction, Inc., then has a full working day to erect the house, and get the whole structure under "lock and key" before nightfall.

Before the home leaves the factory the local company has prepared the foundation to receive it. Carefully trained crews specializing in this work are used by the Kessler company and must conform to strict standards.

Foundation walls for homes with basements are constructed of high quality concrete blocks or poured concrete.

Where a basementless house is constructed, the home will have a wood floor with crawl space. National Homes pioneered this new type of construction.

Fiberglass insulation 2 inches thick and extending 2 feet across is placed around the perimeter of the foundation to seal out the cold. The edges of the foundation are also sealed against the cold.

National Homes Use Extra Safe Chimneys

A packaged chimney, color matched to your National Home, is approved by Underwriters' Laboratories for use with all fuels. This Van-Packer Packaged Masonry Safety Chimney will resist temperatures of 2,100 degrees.

Built to last as long as the house it serves, this chimney is made of a fire-resistant inner liner, a 3-inch vermiculite-concrete insulating wall with a cement-asbestos, brick-panel housing. It is said to be the equivalent of one built of 2 feet of solid brick or 5 feet of concrete.

Then the surface is covered with wire mesh and concrete is poured over the whole area. In this manner the slab is thoroughly insulated and vapor-sealed.

Delivery is timed so that the National Homes trailer truck arrives early in the morning. An erection crew is ready. Quickly the men unload a variety of room-sized panels, some with doors and windows, some without, as well as other items necessary for the home. An outer wall section is fitted in place, then another, until the entire outside of the house has taken shape. Within a few hours the roof is in position and workmen are shingling it. By evening the house is under lock and key.

It is fascinating to watch the speed with which a home springs into life. Neighbors going to work see only a foundation. When they return at nightfall, the new house is up.

The operations generally require a few hours, from first panel until house is under roof. And though the emphasis here has been on speed, the emphasis placed by the Kessler company is on durability.

Actually, the completion takes from 3 to 4 weeks. The interior must be finished, cabinets, furnace and water heater installed, wiring, plumbing, painting and grading as well as other details all must be taken care of before the house is ready. But, by comparison with a conventional home, the time is brief.

Homes Stamped With 'Value'

Prefabricated homes built by the National Homes Corporation, such as those being erected in Mason, have "value" stamped all over them—value readily evident to the home buyer—but, in addition, they have many "hidden" values, which may be regarded as unsung heroes of quality home construction. That's according to Karlton Kessler, developer of Snyder subdivision in Mason.

Among the hidden values of the homes in Mason is a strong, easy-to-erect, all-metal corner reinforcement, which adds strength and stability to external corners of gypsum wallboard walls in the homes.

Dura-Bead is nailed to the gypsum wallboard panels meeting to form an external angle, resulting in a metal corner after Dura-Bead is applied. In addition to its strength factor, Dura-Bead builds a straight, true corner.

After its application, Dura-Bead is covered with the same joint cement used to conceal flat joints of Sheetrock wallboard panels on the walls and ceilings. Thus it becomes a hidden value—an unsung hero of quality wall construction, Kessler claims.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO HELP

This plea is directed to the citizens of Ingham County and to every citizen in the United States and Canada. It is to advise you that every law enforcement officer and agency now has the news—the information regarding the hammer slaying of 2 of our citizens. Our tremendous job now is to get this message to every citizen in the United States. This circular will tell the story but it will need all of us to scatter the word. I know everyone is ready and willing to help.

CUT OUT THIS CIRCULAR

Will you cut out this entire circular and mail it to your relatives, friends and acquaintances? Mail it to someone and ask them to place it on display at their grocery store, or any other place of business or restaurant. Will you invest just 3c and mail a copy of this ad today?

KILLERS ON THE LOOSE...

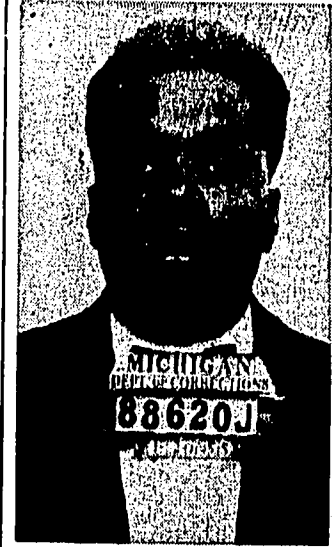

This title may chill your blood but facts are facts and the truth in this plea to the people can not be denied. That is the reason I, the sponsor of this Herrick Reward Fund, will ask every citizen to pause for just a minute and ask himself if we the people should not aid in every way we can and support every law enforcing agency in their task of tracking down this cold-blooded killer.

Howard Herrick and his wife Myra were hammered to death and covered with holes of straw in their barn. Down in Chicago 3 little kiddies were beaten to death and dumped in a ditch and a short time later one of the fathers died of a broken heart. A mother and son were clubbed to death in Detroit—the 90-year-old woman was found crumpled in a room and the son was found underneath the stairs. Up in Muskegon we body of a Boy Scout camper. . . We could go on and on with these horrible tales.

Where will some of these killers strike next? Will it be you or someone you love? Let's all unite and see that these killers are caught and brought to justice.

BE ON THE ALERT FOR INFORMATION—At the slightest suspicion call your local law enforcing agency.

National Homes Arrive Early in the Morning, Are Assembled on Foundations by Nightfall

The current high level of home building is an entirely normal and orderly response to a basic need for new housing, according to Karlton Kessler, developer of Snyder subdivision in Mason.

"Furthermore," Kessler said, "the prevailing type of long-term mortgage financing with a steady amortization is well suited to the economy of the American household today."

Kessler's company is erecting the homes in Mason's newest subdivision on the west side of town.

In an analysis of the current situation, Kessler pointed out that the market for houses rests upon "a genuine demand" arising out of at least 4 factors: (1) Increasing population; (2) a larger percentage of the population in the middle of income group; (3) the relative stability of personal incomes when compared with 2 or 3 decades ago; and (4) social changes which encourage many more people to maintain homes of their own.

Pointing out that Dr. Arthur F. Burns, President Eisenhower's economic adviser had called the long-term mortgage "one of the great reforms of our time," Kessler added:

"The long-term, fully amortized mortgage, with little or no down payment, is in some respects more conservative and safer than that which prevailed prior to enactment of the National Housing Act of 1934 and creation of FHIA. In those days down payments of 50% were commonplace, and the mortgages were written for no longer than 5 to 10 years. But amortization was rarely required and the high interest rates that then prevailed often invited default and foreclosure at the least economic downturn.

"The mortgage risk lies in the ability to maintain payments. The current type of long-term mortgage is better tailored to the pocketbook and in addition provides for growth of the owner's equity month by month."

"The best test of the mortgage credit's soundness is the default record of home buyers, asserted, and the delinquency rate on all home mortgages reached a record low in the first quarter of this year, according to a survey of 2 million mortgages by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

Speaking of the demand for new homes, Notestine said the faulty habit of measuring the market by the rate of "household formation" was responsible for some gloomy estimates of its potential.

"There has been some apprehension that building over a million homes a year since 1949 (this year about 1.3 million) would saturate the market," he said.

"This theory assumes erroneously that prospective home buyers are largely those establishing new households. Our experience is that newlyweds constitute only about 5% of our home buyers. And only recently the Federal Housing Administration announced that of 6,500 home buyers sampled in the first 10 days of March, the typical buyer of a new home was 34.6 years old. Since the median age for marriage is now around 22 years, this means that the average home buyer in the FHIA sample had been married over 10 years.

"All of this evidence supports our belief that homes are most frequently bought when families expand to the point of having 2, 3, or more children.

"What all this means, so far as the marriage rate goes, is that the rate of 10 years ago, not the present rate, is the one affecting the present home market. And 10 years ago the marriage rate was breaking all records. The all-time high was 2.3 million marriages in 1946. Home builders are now undoubtedly reaping a sales harvest from the "founding families" resulting from those marriages.

"Moreover," he added, "the evidence indicates that this pressure for home buying will continue, with another upsurge after 1960 when the army of 'war babies,' which set records during World War II, commence themselves to marry and have children of their own."

'Nature's Own Colors' Used To Give Homes Individuality

Nature's own colors were used by Beatrice West, to give the homes in Snyder subdivision an unusual amount of individuality and charm, according to Karlton Kessler, president of Kessler Construction, Inc.

Miss West, who is color stylist for the 1956 National Homes being erected in Snyder subdivision, selected a number of attractive colors, including a rich spruce blue, soft canary, pumpkin, driftwood gray and light pine.

"Today," Miss West said, "home buyers appreciate the value of color. The era of the all-white house with blue or green shutters is becoming as extinct in America as the buffalo or the Indian head nickel.

"Nothing static in color today," she continued. "Colors have become more subtle and more greatly varied. Gone is the simple primary-color palette. In color-styling National Homes, we have turned to the rainbow and are using a whole spectrum of decorative new colors and color combinations."

"This color-styling by Miss West brings into immediate focus the architectural line of the National homes in Mason and gives added appeal. There is also a 3-D quality in her color-styling that makes a home look larger or smaller, higher or lower, whichever is desired. Furthermore, a National home blends in with the immediate terrain so that it looks as though it were "just built" for that particular site, she claims. When used throughout a subdivision such as Snyder, color-styling gives a long life and lasting beauty to the entire community.

In color-styling, Miss West concentrates as much attention on color distribution as she does color selection. The main color areas—roof, body, trim and accent—all are co-ordinated with each other.

The roof is the first consideration. Here, the selection depends upon the size and style of the home and whether the roof is very high or low. Dark color roofs absorb heat, while light ones reflect it. Dark color roofs also visually lower the appearance of the roof, while white or light pastels give a contemporary and higher look to the house.

Four Types of Sidings

The body of the home may be cedar shakes, masonite siding, asbestos shingles or masonry. Light body colors visually enlarge the size of a house while dark colors make it seem smaller. Colors such as pebble, gray, driftwood and spruce blue are long-lasting body colors that fit almost any surroundings. On homes where part of the siding is masonry and the rest another finish, the 2 materials should be unified with color.

Trim around windows, soffits, doors and the roof may match or be lighter than the body color. Trim colors are made by adding white to the body color until sufficient contrast is achieved. Cable ends generally should be painted the trim color or, in contemporary style houses, may be painted the accent color.

Accents are the finishing touch that creates a center of interest exactly where the home buyer wants it. Directing attention where attention belongs the accents are contrasting relief from the overall tone of the house. With dark body colors, such as fawn, spruce or charcoal, a bright accent such as citron, poppy, or peacock should be used. Lighter, brighter body colors such as light pine and carnation pink may demand darker accents.

For the best effect, these accents are used sparingly by Miss West. For example, windows are never outlined with accent colors on shutters and window boxes. Garage doors are painted an accent color only if the house is of a long design. In that case, an accent color may give that area a little "lift." Generally, however, garage doors are painted the body color.

In color-styling the interior, Miss West co-ordinates the exterior and interior colors. In the kitchen particularly, the 2 should merge as exterior doors usually open into the kitchen. The living-dining-kitchen area is decoratively treated alike due largely to open planning.

Dansville Remains in County Race With an 83-69 Win Over Blackhawks

Dansville maintained its hold on second place with an 83-69 win over Leslie Friday night. The Aggies are just one game behind the unbeaten Okemos Chiefs.

Friday night the Aggies will take on Williamston on the Hornet floor. The Hornets are a dangerous crew. With Willie Gaffner leading the way, they have come along fast. Friday night Okemos had to rely on some last-minute heroism by George Voss in order to squeeze past the Hornets. In that game Gaffner came up with 32 points.

Leslie will tangle with Haslett Friday night. The Lakers picked up their second victory of the season but chances of extending the streak to 3 games seem remote. The Blackhawks have too much for the Lakers to contend with.

Friday night it was John McCabe's turn to pace Dansville to victory. The Aggie center registered 28 points on 11 field goals and 6 free throws.

One reason for the Dansville success story has been the ability to shift the scoring burden from game to game so the defense cannot set itself for individual players.

The Aggies started the game on the right foot when they took a 20-18 lead at the end of the first quarter. Leslie refused to stay

Haslett Takes Panther Cagers

Haslett beat Stockbridge Friday night 61-47 in a battle of the also-rans. With the Panthers and the Lakers both out of the running for Ingham County league honors for the first time in years, the game lacked its usual luster.

It was the second league win of the season for the Lakers. Stockbridge has one victory to its credit.

Friday night Stockbridge will take a break in the schedule. Haslett will entertain the up-and-down Blackhawks from Leslie.

Neither team displayed much shooting ability Friday night. The Lakers picked up 23 baskets for a 35% shooting average while Stockbridge hit at a 22% clip.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt. Haslett took the lead in the first quarter and added to it in each of the remaining periods.

Bob Beechum topped the Lakers' attack with 21 points. Bob Canburn and George Risner each put down 11 points to lead the Stockbridge scoring.

In the reserve game Stockbridge outlasted the Haslett reserves 20-17 in an overtime and sudden death playoff.

Chieftains Keep Win String Intact

Okemos had to rely on the last ditch shooting of George Voss in order to sneak past Williamston 66-63 Friday night. Voss came off the bench to score 5 baskets in the last quarter to overcome a sizeable Williamston advantage.

Friday night Okemos will move over to Fowlerville. Judging from past performances, the Chiefs need not worry about being knocked out of first place in Ingham County league standings and tarnishing their string of 6 straight wins and no defeats.

Williamston will entertain the high-flying Aggies from Dansville Friday night. Chances of a Hornet win rest on whether they can stop the 5-pronged scoring attack of Dansville.

Although Williamston didn't beat Okemos Friday night the Hornets provided the game's scoring star. Willie Gaffner, fast developing into a smooth basketball machine, added 32 points to his collection on 14 field goals and 4 free throws.

While the Williamston flash was burning up the nets the Okemos mas top scorer was having a tough time. While piling up a 22-plus game average, he found himself bottled up by tight Williamston defensive play. He still led the Okemos attack but only with a 15-point total.

Okemos stepped out to a 17-12 lead in the first quarter but couldn't add to it as both teams came up with 16 points in the second period.

In the third quarter Gaffner just couldn't be stopped and before the period was over Williamston was out in front 49-42. It looked as if the Okemos winning streak was coming to an end.

Voss entered the game for the Chiefs, though, and with 5 straight shots overcame the Williamston lead and the Chiefs took over.

Schoolboy Cagers Have Close Games

After 3 weeks of play the Wildcats have emerged at the top of the fifth grade league with a perfect record. Saturday they downed the Badgers 4-3. Bud Jewett and Vern Brown shared the scoring for the Wildcats with a basket apiece. Jim Bullen scored all the points for the Badgers.

In the other fifth grade game the Buckeyes shut out the Spartans 13-0. Roger Harkness was top man for the winners with 5 points.

The Wolverines and Boilemakers each won their games in the sixth grade division to step out in front in the standings. The Wolverines stopped the Gophers 13-4 with Kim Strickland bagging 6 points. Dave Arnold and Ron Schram split 4 for the losers.

The Boilemakers came up with a hot scorer in Bob Peck and coasted by the Hoosiers 16-7. Peck scored 12 of the 16 points while Tom Coss led the losers with 4.

Junior High Teams Take Two Games

Mason took both ends of the junior high school game double header at Eaton Rapids Friday afternoon.

The seventh graders dumped Eaton Rapids 34-16. They were never in any trouble. Pete Robinson had one of his best games. He came through with 18 points. Bob Forche added 6. Coach Maurice Straight used 10 men.

The eighth grade game was a little tighter but Mason led all the way. Jerry Willis topped the Mason scorers with 16 points. Keith Stone added 6 and Chuck Tworick collected 4 besides giving Mason control of the backboards.

Holt and Everett Will Meet Tuesday

Coach Ted Bauer's Everett cagers, currently resting comfortably at the top of the Capital Circuit with a record of 5 straight victories, will again take it easy this week with nothing to fear in Friday's game with St. Mary. Regardless of the outcome of the Viking-St. Mary contest and the outcome of the other Capital Circuit games the Vikings will still be on top.

It will be a different story Tuesday night, though. Holt will journey north to take on Everett. The Rams are still in the running even though they are currently tied with Charlotte for third place with a 2-2 record.

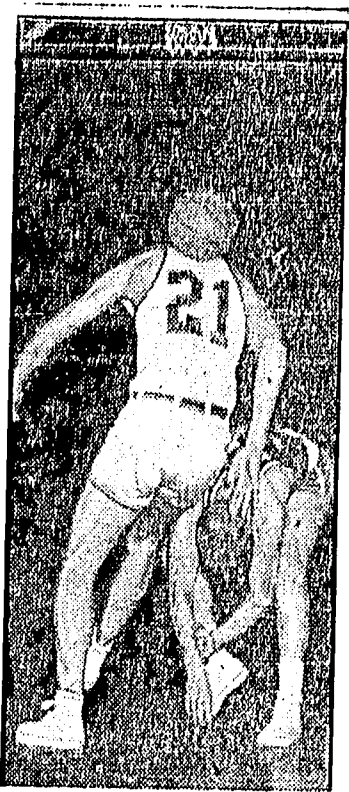

Everett has a smooth ball club with lots of speed and drive. Dean Look and Roger Quinn are the top scorers but the rest of the squad delivers the baskets when it is necessary. Quinn is also a top performer on the backboards.

Holt has much the same type of team with fast aggressive players and not too much height. Bob Tuttle, George Albert and Ken Blalock have been doing most of the scoring. Albert and Blalock are good backboard men.

Fowlerville Drops Game

Fowlerville didn't receive any mercy over at Webberville Friday night in a non-league contest. Webberville dumped the Gladiators 69-48. The Spartans completely bottled up Roger Dye, the Fowlerville scoring ace. Bill Challis topped the winners with 22 points. Bill Tesch was high-point man for the Gladiators with 16. Friday night Fowlerville will entertain Okemos. Webberville will take on another Ingham County league foe Tuesday night when the Spartans journey to Dansville.

Bulldog Cagers Fall Apart In Game at Eaton Rapids

HEAD for the game is what spectators say about Dayton's Bill Uhl. Here he is shown as one of the stars in the University of Kentucky's invitational tourney at Lexington. The fellow stooping over isn't looking for Uhl's own head; he's Art Burt of Utah, and is trying to knock off Uhl's block with a leg block.

Mason did it again. The Bulldogs fell flat on their faces over at Eaton Rapids Friday night coming out on the short end of a 57-49 score. Mason never looked worse.

Friday night the Bulldogs are in for more of the same unless they mend their ways. They will be playing over at Holt. The Rams are currently tied with Charlotte for third place behind Everett and Howell.

Holt has its usual scrappy outfit. The Rams are a bunch of ball hawks and specialists on defense. George Albert is the leading scorer and a power on the backboards. Bob Tuttle pours the shots through the hoop from out in front and is a good defensive man. Ken Blalock is a sharp defensive player and drives in for those sure close shots. These 3 are veterans from last year's squad. Mike Marshall and Ken Boettcher have come along fast in the other 2 starting spots.

Wild passing, wild shooting and just plain wild playing paved the way for the Eaton Rapids win Friday night. In the first 5 minutes of play the Mason guards threw the ball out of bounds 8 times.

Mason could have won the game with ease from the foul line. In 17 free throw attempts Mason players bagged only 3. In the meantime, the Greyhounds fired away from the foul stripe at a 49 out of 57 clip.

From the floor Mason was the most accurate, bagging 23 field goals to 19 for Eaton Rapids.

Mason fell behind in the first quarter with the score reading 14-11. In the second period the Bulldogs came back to take the lead but by the time the period ended the Greyhounds evened the score at 20-20.

In the third quarter Eaton Rapids again took over and nosed out in front 44-39 and in the last quarter the Greyhounds increased the lead with 13 points while Mason was shooting for 10.

Dick Wheeler topped the Mason attack with 20 points. He didn't have much help from the rest of the team.

Jim Decker came through with 20 points for the Greyhounds and Bill Reese added 16. John Maguet was the most important cog in the Eaton Rapids machine, though. He controlled the backboards, was a tiger on defense and added 11 points to the Greyhound cause.

Tuesday night Mason will entertain Charlotte. The Orioles started out strong but have been faltering the past 2 weeks. Friday night they dropped a decision to Holt.

Howell Moves Up To Second Place

Howell climbed into second place in the Capital Circuit Friday night with a 60-59 win over Grand Ledge. The game was a tight one all the way with the lead changing hands 12 times in the last half.

The win gives the Highlanders a record of 3 wins and 5 losses, well behind the leading Everett Vikings who have a record of 5 straight victories.

Dick McMacken, the top man in the Highlander attack, bounced back into form after being shut out by Everett without a point Tuesday night. Against the Comets he racked up 23 points with the bulk of them coming in the crucial minutes of the last quarter.

The Highlanders won the game from the free throw line, sinking 21 in 41 attempts while Grand Ledge was firing at a 15 out of 24 clip. A total of 24 fouls were called against Grand Ledge while the officials saw only 16 rule infractions committed by the Highlanders.

John McCloskey gave the giant McMacken a lot of help both in scoring and on the backboards. He came through with 15 points. Keith Morrill topped the Comet attack with 15 points. Mike Miner was next with 14 and Bob Lyon bagged 11.

Sinatra and Cooper Take Over at Fox

Columbia Pictures' delightful comedy reprint, "The Return of October," starring Glenn Ford and Terry Moore, in color by Technicolor, opens the Friday-Saturday double bill. The featured supporting cast is topped by Albert Sharpe, James Gleason, Dame May Whitty and Henry O'Neill.

One of the funniest love stories ever filmed, "The Return of October" has to do with a lovely young girl, Miss Moore, who believes a horse named October bears a striking resemblance to her late Uncle Willie, a race track habitue. She also believes that Ford, a young professor of psychology who is more than a little bewildered by her antics, is the man of her dreams.

In the second hit Wild Bill Elliott is starred in "Dial Red O."

Stage Hit Filmed

Frank Sinatra, Debbie Reynolds, David Wayne and Celeste Holm head the star cast of M-G-M's comedy-romance, "The Tender Trap," which comes to the Fox Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Filmed in Cinemascope and color, the picture is based on the Broadway stage success, a play built around the adventures of a gay New York bachelor, who believes the Utopian life means safety in numbers until he finds he is hard put to win the one girl in the world he wants.

Frank Sinatra, whose roles in "Not As a Stranger" and "Guys and Dolls" have placed him at the top of his career, plays the care-free bachelor, with Debbie Reynolds, last seen in "Hit the Deck," cast as the one girl who is able to elude his charms—at least, for a while.

Celeste Holm is a girl who appreciates him right at the start, with Sinatra's string of other glamour girls in the picture including Janna Lewis, the Bowery belle of "The Bar Sinister," Lola Albright and Carolyn Jones.

For David Wayne and Miss Holm, "The Tender Trap" marks a return to films after several years on Broadway. It is Wayne's first picture since his hit in "The Teahouse of the August Moon," in which he was a member of the original stage cast, and Miss Holm's first since "All About Eve," for which she won an Academy Award nomination.

Hero's Trial Filmed
Gary Cooper will appear on the screen Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Fox Theatre in the role of Billy Mitchell, the defiant general who risked disgrace and dishonor to warn his country of a great impending danger, in the Warner Bros. presentation, "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell."

Cooper, an old hand at films dealing with aviation, accepted the role the moment he heard the studio was planning to use him.

A powerful supporting cast co-stars with Cooper in the historic drama consisting of Charles Bickford, Ralph Bellamy, Rod Steiger and Elizabeth Montgomery, who makes her screen debut. Elizabeth is the daughter of famed actor-producer Robert Montgomery.

Billy Mitchell was a dynamic personality, who fought with all he had to make this nation aware of a weak and neglected air service. It cost him his career.

Rod Steiger, who made his triumphant film debut in "On The Waterfront," a role that made him a nominee for the Academy Award, portrays a rough and sarcastic army prosecutor whose job it is to expose Mitchell and make him appear the dreamer and publicity seeker.

Veterans Stage Venison Dinner

Browne-Cavender post No. 148 of American Legion is having a stag venison dinner Thursday, January 19. Everything will be furnished, with the committee chairman for the affair, Joy Davis, guaranteeing to have enough venison available for everyone who shows up. Other committee members are Jim Evans, Ken Merindorf, Dick Corbin, Leslie Palmer, Ken Sheffer, Wayne Miller and Clare Mosher.

All veterans are invited to attend this first stag party in the new Legion building, whether they are Legionnaires or not. Vern Davis will show movies of hunting and fishing.

Fiberglass Assures All-Season Comfort

Fiberglass insulation in National Homes is "built in" at the fabricating plant to assure the home owner a comfortable house the year round. Sidelwall insulation is installed between the studs of panel sections as they are put together at the plant. Two blankets of fiberglass are installed between the ceiling joists for ceiling insulation.

An additional roll of fiberglass sections as they are put together they have been put in place at the building site. If the home is basementless, fiberglass perimeter insulation is used around concrete floors to keep them warm and prevent heat loss.

Since fiberglass insulation saves home owners money by cutting heating costs in winter and keeping houses cool in summer, it is popular in all sections of the country.

In making pastry, the shortening should be soft enough to measure easily, but firm enough that pieces about the size of small peas remain when the fat is cut into the flour. The flakiness of the pastry depends on these pieces of fat and on the lightness of the fat-flour mixture.

Planting the Seeds

A garden can not be grown merely by pulling weeds. Seeds must be planted and cultivated.

Take a look at most vacant lots. They are either grown to weeds or are made barren by spray or other means of weed control. Few of them grow anything useful. That's because useful crops have to be planted and have to be cultivated. Even trees have to be protected against infection. They have to be occasionally trimmed and sprayed.

Courts, reformatories, prisons and jails and most public social agencies can be concerned only with pulling or otherwise controlling weeds. They can plant few seeds and they can't make many people anxious to cultivate their gardens.

Planting of good seeds and training in cultivation must come from the home, the church and the school.

Mason churches in their attendance campaign are planting seeds and teaching men and women and children how to cultivate their gardens. Pulling of weeds is not enough in a garden or in a life. Good seeds must be planted and protected. Church and sabbath school attendance is a good way to plant and cultivate the seeds that should be growing in every garden.

New Neighbors Are Coming

Mason people are going to have new neighbors. This week end there will be an open house by Kessler Construction Co. on Mason's west side. The company plans to erect 25 new homes in that subdivision, and other firms are planning to start action in Mason shortly.

The companies and many individuals are building homes in Mason because there's room, because city facilities are readily available, because streets and sewers, fire protection and schools and many other services are not left to some distant future but are available right here and now.

Sure, we'll have to expand our sewage disposal plant and extend sewers. We'll have to extend water mains. But all those expansions and extensions have been needed anyhow.

We're going to have new neighbors here in Mason, maybe a lot of them. We should not wait longer to provide the expanded facilities.

Michigan Might Welcome Poujade

Pierre Poujade and his new party, Union for Defense of Shopkeepers and Artisans, pulled the rug out from under the center parties of France.

A man like Poujade might do the same thing with both major parties in Michigan.

Poujade is leading a tax strike in France. He and his followers have refused to pay taxes and have declared their continued opposition to confiscatory taxes.

Here in Michigan 25 years ago there was a taxpayer movement. The 15-mill tax limitation was adopted, but it created no political leader. Republicans and Democrats quickly obeyed the mandate placed in the constitution.

But the edge is wearing off the 15-mill amendment. The supreme court edict which has practically forced substitution of state equalized valuations in place of county equalized valuations has taken away some of the advantage gained under the 15-mill amendment.

Since adoption of the amendment though the "shopkeepers and the artisans" have been burdened with taxes and burdened with collecting taxes from the people. Business men now must make out monthly sales tax returns and an annual return. They must make out returns and pay unemployment taxes to both state and federal agencies. They must collect and pay over withholding taxes to the federal government. They must pay old age pension taxes to the federal government. A legislature enacted a temporary business receipts tax. The rate has been jumped and the temporary tax has been made permanent. There's another form to make out, and another tax to pay.

Business men have completed or are still working on their federal income tax reports; in most cases having to pay lawyers and accountants to guide them through all the intricacies of the forms.

Artisans see their take-home pay shrink with taxes of every kind.

In the letter column this week Congressman Don Hayworth indicates that while the wage earners' taxes may be too high that the rate of 52% may not be high enough for corporations. And Hayworth knows that the tax take from corporations must come from either the wage earners or the stockholders, and they're all individuals.

Presently there appears to be no hope for any substantial reduction in any tax—local, county, state or national. That's because there is no organized demand.

It takes no prophet to point out that a way is being made for a Poujade. Such a man could quickly gain a following in Michigan. That's something that Democratic and Republican politicians ought to keep in mind.

Facts Stronger than Fiction

Up to 40% of automobile accidents last year involved persons who had been drinking.

That's not a claim of the Michigan Temperance Foundation or the W. C. T. U. It is the finding of Dr. C. W. Meuhlbarger of the state crime laboratory.

Within the last 6 months here in Ingham county most justices of the peace have been cracking down on drunk drivers. They should. With Dr. Meuhlbarger's findings on tap, there's little excuse for any justice of the peace not sending drunk drivers to jail.

Lansing Bypass Should By-Pass

Lansing's Chamber of Commerce has mapped out a proposed US-16 by-pass which would further congest Lansing traffic. It would channel US-16 traffic through East Lansing and Lansing.

The logical route is to build US-16 north of both cities, north of the Grand Trunk and C. & O. tracks, north of Grand river below Lansing.

A by-pass should pass by, not through, a city. Converting Mt. Hope avenue into a trunkline by-pass or making it an alternate route would send trucks and cars all the way through Lansing from east to west and then there would have to be another expensive road to connect with present US-16 northwest of Lansing.

Every trunk line route should by-pass cities. It would have been far better for Lansing and for highway users had US-127 gone north between Lansing and East Lansing instead of trying to squeeze its way through local Lansing traffic.

Lansing's Chamber of Commerce ought to take a longer look at trunkline routes. The horse and buggy days are past. The quicker Lansing can get by-passes built to take traffic around, the better off the city will be. And the better off highway users will be.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Printers are often asked why the most common words like the, an, of, to, as, in, and, etc. are not cast together. To the non-printer the combinations often look as though they would save time. It doesn't work out. Two hundred years ago some books were printed that way, but it lost time, not saved it.

On linotype keyboards and in linotype fonts fl, ff, fi and fi combinations are available. We use fi, fi and ff. We have supplanted fi and fi with quads and leaders in newspaper body type. In several fonts we have fi and fi combinations but they run pi and are seldom used, not even when the operators set Latin.

Italians claim that a man named Castaldi, not John Gutenberg, invented movable type. Italians say that Castaldi explained the art to the German and that Gutenberg went back home and started his own printing plant. At Feltré, 50 miles north of Venice, there's a monument in honor of the Padilla Castaldi, "discoverer of the art of printing."

Good fortune more than foresight accounts for a present safe supply of newsprint at the Ingham County News. We even had enough to lend 11 rolls to the East Lansing Campus Press to keep the Michigan State News circulating for 3 weeks in November and December. We also helped the Plymouth Mail out with a roll and were able to repay part of a war-time debt to the Albion Evening Recorder.

We were anxious to help out the Campus Press because we secured aid there in the time of our greatest need. For 2 weeks after our 1951 fire the Campus Press set much of our type. Back in the final days of war-time scarcity the Albion Evening Recorder sold us a 3-weeks supply of newsprint, so we were glad to repay a small part of that favor. The Recorder had reached its last 8-page roll while awaiting a delayed shipment. The Marshall Chronicle had 8-page but was short on 6-page rolls. We had 6's but were short on 8's, so we let Albion have 6's which were traded to Marshall for 8's and everybody went to press.

Yes, paper is getting scarce, so read every word, even when misspelled.

Because paper is so scarce, a copy of Der Wummehote of Ostersberg, Germany, is being saved at this office for the first German-speaking man or woman who calls for it.

Bill Myers told me about 2 Lapeer women who met in Paris by accident. Each wanting to impress the other with their knowledge of French, they sprinkled French words liberally throughout their sentences. In the course of the conversation one remarked to the other, "You know, my dear, I've been here a week and I haven't been to the Louvre yet."

"I wouldn't worry, Alice," replied the other, "it may be just the change in water."

The Sunday school teacher told the children to draw a picture illustrating a biblical text. One girl drew a picture of a plane with a man, woman, baby and a pilot.

"What's this?" asked the teacher.

"The Flight into Egypt," the youngster replied. "That's Mary, Joseph, the baby Jesus and Pontius the pilot."

Dogs in the United States are now increasing 5 times faster than humans, and probably fleas are increasing 5 times or more faster than dogs. There are now 23,000,000 Americans who own dogs or are owned by them. The U. S. dog food business grosses $200,000,000 a year.

If you have a taste for butter, apply for one of the 300 butter-grader jobs which new state legislation made possible.

The legislators must consider us plenty dumb if we have to rely on a state inspector to tell us the difference between good and bad butter.

Which again brings up the old Stockbridge story about the woman who went to the Dancer store with a crock of butter.

"I make good butter, you know that," she told the late W. J. Dancer. "But the paper came off this crock and I found evidence of mice. My folks spleen against it just because they know about the mice. Another person wouldn't know."

So W. J. took the crock of butter to the basement and returned with another crock in exchange. A week later the woman came back.

"That was good butter," the woman reported, "and I'd just like to know who made it."

"You did," replied W. J. "You said any person who didn't know about the mice would like the butter. You proved it. I just changed crocks, not the butter."

"Sometimes I wish charity didn't begin at home," quoth the Republican as he paid for his ticket to the $100-a-plate Eisenhower dinner at Lansing's Hotel Olds Friday night.

What is now the city flower pot at the northwest corner of the court house was once a watering tank for horses. P. C. Shroyer and Burt Green with the aid of an engineering professor at what was then Michigan Agricultural college designed it and its mate which stood on the southwest corner.

When the tanks were built wisecracks declared they wouldn't stand through the first winter; that water would freeze in their throats and the tanks would burst. The secret is the construction. There's a cistern below. Never did the water below the surface freeze.

Two of Mason's best skaters are Priscilla Johnson and Mary Ann Arnold. Both are self-taught. The Titian-haired Priscilla has been on Rayner park ice ever since she was old enough to stand alone. Mary Ann the preacher's daughter took up skating only recently and must be just naturally graceful.

Book Talk

A new set of American Landmark books and a new set of World Landmark books have arrived at the Ingham county library. Several of the American series concern the period which Mason eighth graders and probably others are studying right now. ROBERT E. LEE AND THE ROAD OF HONOR, by Hodding Carter, is a story of the Civil War from the southern viewpoint by a famous Greenville, Mississippi, journalist.

CLARA BARTON, FOUNDER OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, by Helen Dore Boylston, takes us right onto the battlefields of the Civil War with the young woman who dedicated her life to improving the care of soldiers wounded in battle. Helen Boylston writes this true story as interestingly as she does her "Sue Barton" books.

KIT CARSON AND THE WILD FRONTIER, by Ralph Moody, gives a lively account of Kit's work with the settlers and Indians before and during the Mexican and Civil Wars. It covers the little known story of the Southwest in the Civil War.

J. Frank Dobie's UP THE TRAIL FROM TEXAS tells of an exciting and important phase of our history, the spread of beef cattle over the West—not the blocky Herefords and others that we know but the intrepid longhorns of the Texas plains. Many of the trail driving cowboys who took these cattle north were young men recently discharged from the Confederate Army.

COMMODORE PERRY AND THE OPENING OF JAPAN, by Ferdinand Kuhn, tells of an event which, though almost overshadowed by events at home, proved of great importance to the world. That event was the opening of Japanese ports to trade with the United States.

THE STORY OF SAN FRANCISCO, by Charlotte E. Jackson, covers a wide span of our history from the arrival of the first Spaniards there in 1769 to modern times. It is probably the most colorful and most written about city in our country.

Several other titles concern earlier periods in our history. OLD IRONSIDES, THE FIGHTING CONSTITUTION, by Harry Hansen, covers the time during which American men and ships were making the seas safe for American shipping—safe from pirates in the war with the Barbary pirates and safe from the British in the War of 1812.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE by Thomas B. Costain, tells of a scheme promoted in France in the early 1700's to develop the Louisiana Territory then a possession of France. Many Frenchmen expected to get rich from gold supposed to be there but lost all their money when this "bubble" finally burst.

Stewart Holbrook's new DAVY CROCKETT takes nothing from the legend already built up about this famous frontiersman and maybe adds a bit. There is a list of memorials to Davy Crockett at the end of the book.

GUADALCANAL DIARY, by Richard Trogaskis, is a rewriting of his earlier book by the same title. Entirely new chapters tell of the importance of this early World War II campaign in the war as a whole. The earlier book was written while the battle was still raging.

New titles in the World Landmark series are:

THE LIFE OF SAINT PATRICK by Quentin Reynolds. Saint Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland and is supposed to have driven the snakes from that green isle. It is in his honor that Irishmen wear a shamrock on March 17.

THE EXPLOITS OF XENOPHON by Geoffrey Household. Xenophon was a Greek noble who gave an on-the-spot description of what happened in a campaign against the Persians.

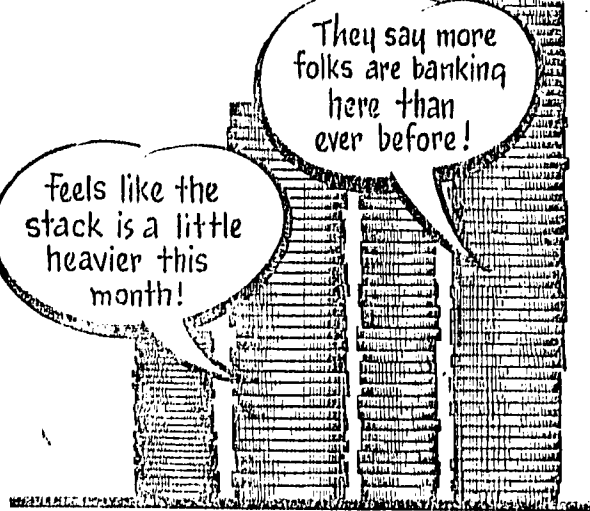

CAPTAIN JAMES COOK EXPLORES THE SOUTH SEAS by Armstrong Sperry. Captain Cook was a one-time shipyard apprentice who became one of England's greatest navigators. Before his death at the hands of natives on a South Sea island he crossed the Antarctic Circle for the first time, claimed Australia and New Zealand for Britain, and chartered many hitherto unknown islands.

WILL SHAKESPEARE AND THE GLOBE THEATRE by Anne Terry White. Here is a fascinating account of what went on backstage in the early days of the theater.

MARIE ANTOINETTE by Bernadine Kielly. Antoinette, as she was called as a child, grew up in a huge and happy family, the children of Marie Theresa and Francis of Austria. She grew up to marry the Dauphin of France who became King Louis the XVI after his father's death. With him she shared the exiling and tragic days of the French Revolution.

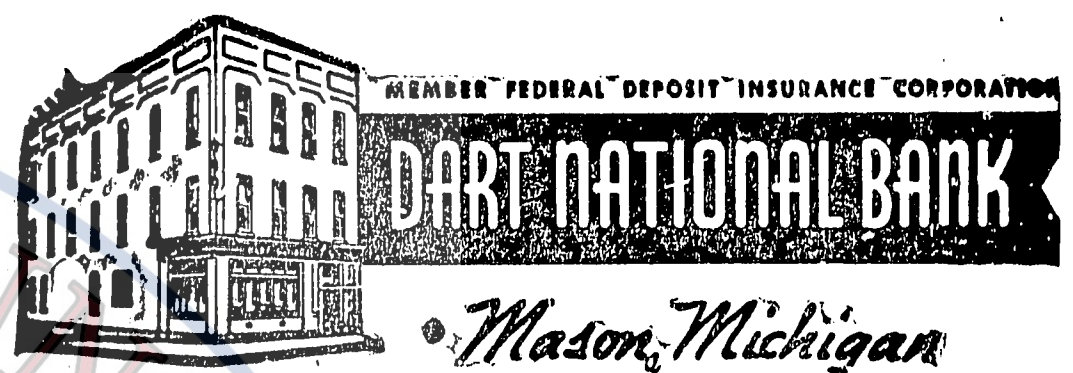

THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION by Wyatt Blassingame. Here is the story about the most famous, as well as the least known fighting force in the world. Based in North Africa and composed of men from all nations, it fights the battles of France around the world.

Credit to 4-H.

We're on another adventure! This time it's on a shipwreck with the Swiss Family Robinson. It's such an exciting story that the girls can hardly wait for the next chapter.

While we clean eggs, wash dishes, sew, knit, . . . someone reads, taking turns. All but Sammy. He just listens. As there are many animals mentioned it is hard to keep his attention. Pete

Eunice Stanley Is Chosen DAR Good Citizen

Senior class and faculty of Leslie high school have chosen Eunice Stanley as D. A. R. Good Citizen for 1956. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley of Route 1, Onondaga.

Eunice, an honor roll student, is secretary of the senior class, member of the student council and is in the senior play. She has had similar honors in each of her 4 years in high school.

Selection for D. A. R. Good Citizen is determined by dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. Members of the senior class nominate 3 candidates. Final choice is made by the school faculty. The contest is state-wide. Each Good Citizen winner competes for the state award by filling out a questionnaire.

Grange Plans DHIA Banquet

Business meeting of Leslie Community Grange No. 1736 at the Grange hall Thursday evening was taken up by tentative plans for the DHIA banquet to be served Wednesday, January 25. A more detailed announcement of the banquet will be made at a later date.

Entertainment for the evening was a description of the trip taken by the Paul Simpsons to the Pacific coast where they visited their son-in-law and daughter in San Diego.

Saturday, January 21, will be an all-day Pomona Grange meeting at the Williamston Grange hall. Officers elected in September for the 1956 term of office will be installed.

William Burdick Dies in Hospital

William Burdick, 81, 3368 Lansing road, died Saturday at St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing. Mr. Burdick has been ailing for several years. He was born in Bronson, but had lived in the vicinity of Leslie nearly all his life.

Mr. Burdick is survived by the widow, Eva; a son, Earl of Jackson; a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Curtis of Williamston; a brother, Edward of Clark lake; and a sister, Mrs. Rose Diller of Elkhart, Indiana.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Robert Worgul of Leslie Baptist church officiating. Burial was at Woodlawn cemetery, Leslie.

Latin Club Joins Classical League

Latin club of Leslie high school has become a chapter of the American Junior Classical League, a national organization of Latin clubs, announces Mrs. S. G. Curtis, teacher and sponsor of the club.

There are 835 chapters in the United States with approximately 43,000 members. Requirements for becoming a member are to be a student of Latin and to have an interest in classical studies.

Those who announced their affiliation with the national organization on Latin Day as charter members of the Leslie group were: David Haskell, president; Judy Chapman, vice-president; Jane Warner, secretary-treasurer; Sue Miner, reporter; John Kraft, parliamentarian; and Caroline Longstaff and Sandra Winchell, historians.

Club Elects Officers

Club Lambda met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Cooper. Mrs. Bernard Snow was initiated and accepted into the club. The following officers were elected for the year of 1956: President, Mrs. John Barnes; vice-president, Mrs. Don Karns; secretary, Mrs. Frank Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. Jack Christianson; and gift committee, Mrs. Robert Brattain and Mrs. Joseph Adkins. A supper was served by the hostess and Mrs. Brattain, co-hostess.

doesn't knit so he reads while we do. . . said guess he'd have to take it up.

What fantastic adventures this mother, father and 4 sons have! The author surely had a vivid imagination and used it. When the girls are sitting on the edge of their chairs, hardly daring to breathe for fear of capsizing the raft. . . I cannot help but smile. Getting animals off a shipwreck in that fashion is really something!!! Even the girls smile but, even so, are caught in the spell.

When we come to a new word someone looks it up because we're all curious. Do you know what a protege is? Or a calabash tree? Or an agouti? We're getting our money's worth out of our encyclopedia!

Sally is teaching me to knit. It is something that was on my list of things I wanted to do before I died. . . (not that I feel any special need for hurrying!) She sits knitting so happily and effortlessly. Looks easy. And fun!

So she is showing me how. The experience of having your daughter teach you is something pleasant. It makes her feel happy. It makes me feel good too and close to her. So close that I haven't felt like scolding her for a thing. I feel that something very wonderful has happened in this house!

It reminds me, though, of the saying, "Life begins at 40." It may begin all right. . . for I believe that . . . but it's harder to learn new things at that age. Sally can knit much easier and less awkwardly than I. Also like they say, "It's hard to teach an old dog new tricks." Sure is!

My aim is to make a pair of mittens. Sturdy hand-knitted mittens seem like such an accomplishment. What a difference between a ball of yarn and finished mittens. And those intricate patterns and combinations of colors that some use in knitted articles fill me with admiration.

Mother had a theory that if you wanted to hard enough and tried hard enough you could do anything you set your mind to. Well, almost anything! Certainly knitting!

So I attempt to conquer knitting. . . hitherto a profound mystery, just waiting for my wanting to hard enough to be matched by my trying to hard enough. That . . . and having a young daughter in 4-H knitting.

I, too, have become a parent who learned by having a 4-H child in the family. Add me to the statistics, Michigan State university and U. S. department of agriculture!

Club Plans Drive For Membership

Rod and Gun club board of directors met Sunday to plan for a membership drive. They decided to have a pancake supper February 22 at 6:45 p. m. at the GAR hall for all members and prospective members.

The club owns a skeet and rifle range, has money in the bank, has its own rifles and skeet and shooting traps.

Ben Bucior is president of the club. Other newly-elected officers for the current year include Frank Fogg, vice-president; D. D. Henderson, secretary; John Ingalls, treasurer; board of directors, Marvin Pixley, Oliver Eckert, Don Randolph, Dick Gretton and H. Dodge.

Mr. Bucior says the club has monthly meetings on the second Wednesday of each month in the rooms above the fire barn. Mr. Bucior and the board ask to hear from as many prospective members as possible before scheduling the number of meets and dates for them.

4-Hers Have Meeting

Southwest Leslie 4-H club had its monthly meeting recently at the Morse schoolhouse. Hosts for the evening were Nancy and Dallas Frisbee, Bobby and John Fauser and Kay Young. The group played games and a lunch was served. The 13 members in the clothing project have an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Deloy Monroe each Saturday. The 9 members of the handicraft class meet each Wednesday evening at the home of Denzel Parker.

Group Discusses Wage Law

Hi-Nabor Farm Bureau met recently at the William Zeltz home. The discussion topic centered around the guaranteed annual wage for industry. The group signified its approval of the guaranteed annual wage in that anything which helped to stabilize industry would tend to stabilize the market for farm products.

People who hold the key to a given problem often lack the ambition to insert it into the lock and turn it.

Deadline Nears On Price Props

Farmers expecting to apply for price support purchase agreements should do so by January 31 according to Wm. Crampton, Jr., acting office manager of the Ingham county ASC committee. The final date for approval of purchase agreements is January 31.

Price support may be obtained by the producer on wheat, oats, barley, rye, dry edible beans, flaxseed, or soybeans through purchase agreements by applying to the county ASC office on or before January 31. Purchase agreements differ from loans in that the producer receives no funds unless or until he delivers the commodity to CCC after the maturity date for the loan program. These maturity dates vary, depending on the crop, from 1 to 4 months after the final availability date of January 31.

Smartest Buy in the fine-car field

You've probably noticed that more and more people seem to be stepping into the upper circle of fine cars.

And there can be no doubt that "good times" have a lot to do with this.

But all by itself, it doesn't explain the sudden spurt in sales of the finest of Buicks—the 1956 Roadmaster.

For it has always been our experience that folks with the wherewithal to buy any car they choose are apt to be the choicest of all.

So it seems quite clear that the marked and increasing preference for Roadmaster is in the fineness of the car itself.

We can tell you why very simply.

Roadmaster starts off with all the virtues that have vaulted the full line of Buicks to soaring popular favor—then caps that acclaim with a worthiness all its own.

You sense this especial eminence at once—in the individualized styling of this gracefully proportioned car.

You recognize it again—in the quiet elegance of its custom appointments—and in the good taste of its luxurious fabrics and color harmonies.

But you know it for sure in the lift and thrill and spirit of Roadmaster performance.

For here is the obedient might of the highest-powered V8 engine in Buick history—coupled to the flash-fast response and absolute smoothness of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo—most modern transmission in motoring today.

And here is Buick comfort, Buick handling ease, Buick roadability, and the great Buick ride—each brought to its peak in this Buick of Buicks.

In all truth, no man who puts true merit above mere symbol could ask for more than is in Roadmaster.

If that applies to you, we'll be happy to arrange an introduction. Will you phone us—or come in—for a demonstration soon?

A Theory Is Disproved

Some of us have long been saying that a low standard of living is not the breeding place for communism. It has been quite fashionable for those who call themselves "liberals" to argue that a sure way to defeat communism is for the government to spend more and more money on public projects or to give money to other nations.

Last week the New York Times had to sadly confess that this just had not worked in the case of France. In one of its columns commenting on the French election it said "It seems also a blow to the theory that a sure cure for the communist infection is to raise the standard of living." It was compelled to say this because conditions in France have been steadily improved and the people are much better off than they were a few short years ago. The Times had to note that the communists polled more votes this year than they did in 1951 when wages were much lower and conditions not nearly as good as today.

This ought to tell us something. When even the New York Times must admit that there is no real relation between living standards and communist success, it is time for us to be re-thinking of our plans and policies.

The Times article does not attempt to explain just why 25% of the French voters preferred communism to any other system. It is well to know that the economic theory of Karl Marx on this score is not correct, but it is even more important to know why people do fall for the communist propaganda.

It is too important a subject and much too difficult to cover in a sentence or a paragraph. But I have found that one big reason for communist success stems from the fact that they are so fanatically devoted to their theories they make a religion of communism. Everything they do or say revolves around their devotion to the conspiracy.

Research shows that it is the self-styled "intellectuals" who lead the way. While empty stomachs may make men easier to convert, this French election proves that prosperity and socialistic welfare schemes will not check the spread of communism.

KIT CLARDY, East Lansing

Congressman Asks Economy

We have the same responsibility to manage our country's finances wisely that we have in the management of our family finances. During the depression our government had to borrow money to meet its bills, as did many families. Deficit spending had to be continued to finance World War II and the Korean war.

But during a time of general prosperity, such as we now have over most of the country, we need to begin paying off the country's debt. For if we don't start paying our debt in a time of prosperity, when will we pay it?

Therefore, I favor closing loopholes in our present tax laws. One example of a tax loophole is the "oil depletion allowance." Under if the oil companies pay only about half the taxes other corporations do—all companies pay, in taxes, an average of 20 percent of their tremendous incomes. Instead of the 52 percent other corporations pay. This one tax loophole cost the government nearly a billion dollars last year. That kind of thing should be stopped.

In view of the record profits of big business, I also favor restoring taxes on the high income groups and corporations which were removed 2 years ago.

If we tax wisely the record profits of our great corporations and close tax law loopholes, we can begin to reduce the debt and may also be able to allow some relief to lower income taxpayers. If any tax cut is to be passed by the present session of congress, I will do all in my power to see that it goes to the small taxpayer who has had so little tax relief and who needs it the most.

In managing our national finances one of our first obligations is to begin reducing the nation's debt, and this can certainly be done without hardship to anyone.

TO GUIDE...AND TO MEASURE...

A ruler... the humblest of instruments! Yet it meets two tremendously important needs.
It guides... giving man a straight, sure rule by which to draw his lines and sketch his plans.
And it measures... showing man where to begin, and where to end, proving the dimensions of his work.
That which the simple ruler does in the physical realm of life is the work of the Church in the spiritual realm.
For every man's life is like a blank sheet of paper, until, by his own living, he places upon it the lines which give it meaning and character.
The Church is our guide... giving us the tried and sure truths by which we can live... pointing us to the straight and unwavering paths which lead to God.
And the Church is our measure... showing us the standards by which every man's life must be judged... revealing the Christ whose teaching and example are the beginning and ending of all spiritual achievement, the perfect dimensions of life.
Are you letting the Church meet these tremendous needs in your life?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.
It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Michigan Traffic Fatalities Again Exceed 2,000 Mark

Police and alarmed state officials again are pounding on themes of highway safety.

For the third year in the last 10, more than 2,000 have been killed in Michigan traffic, and law enforcement officers admit they are unable to understand.

They point to the speed zones, educational campaigns on local levels, extra patrols, the use of the Michigan national guard on week ends and new safety devices in automobiles.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is working on a plan to install movie cameras in patrol cars and institute a "saturation patrol," one car every 10 miles around the clock on high accident stretches of highway.

"We're finding more and more that the final answer to safety lies with the driver," he said.

He estimated that the 13-month highway safety campaign, which started December 1, saved 38 lives—the decrease in the number of traffic deaths from December of last year.

But the 208 November toll was far out of proportion to the year before, assuring Michigan that the total for 1955 would go beyond 2,000.

Here's what Childs says about drivers:

"If drivers would only obey the rules of the road, look out for the other fellow and use common sense and caution, most accidents would not occur."

"But unfortunately, all will not do that. The question that remains to be answered is how many won't, and as a result, will get into trouble."

Experts have been trying for years to discover how to make drivers as safe as their vehicles.

Michigan State university and the University of Michigan both are now studying driver attitudes—the forces that cut his efficiency in any given situation on the highway.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, director of the crime detection laboratory for the state health department, says that up to 40 per cent of the accidents involve people who have been drinking.

Others say that cars have been built with too much power for the human mind and body to control. Automotive leaders answer that extra power is a safety factor.

Here's another factor: Secretary of State James M. Hare said new car purchases hit an all-time high in 1955 with 567,392 new certifications, a 16 per cent rise over the record in 1953.

January 19, 1956

The Ingham County News

Part 4

Transfers of titles of used cars were slightly increased.

He estimates that Michigan will have 3,900,000 vehicles on the highways during 1956. If all were on the road at the same time, the traffic jam would give police nightmares.

The question is how to coordinate all the danger factors into a package and find answers.

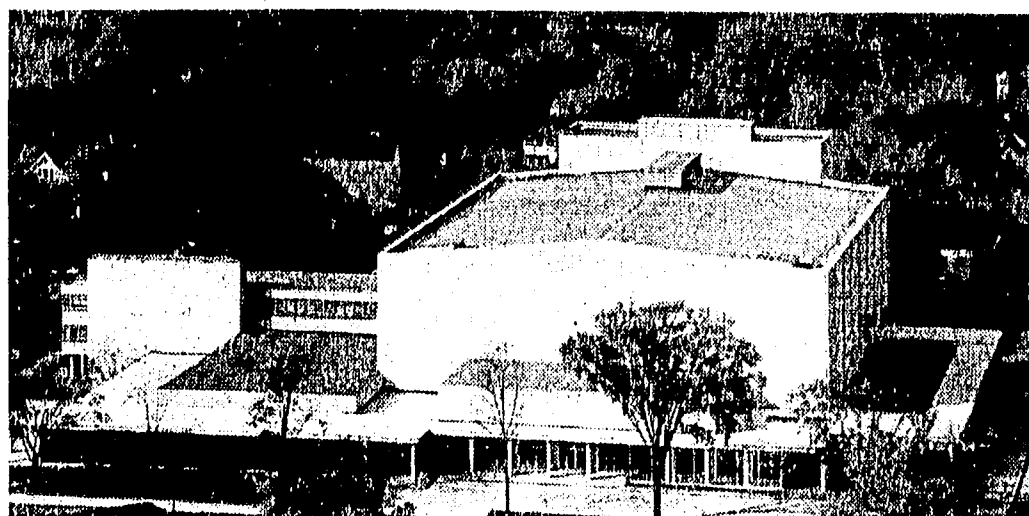

The legislature made a start during the special session in November with a new speed limit of 65 in daylight hours and 55 at night starting February 3, money for 200 more state police, and cash to pay for driver education programs in the schools.

Tighter violations records were ordered in an attempt to weed out bad drivers before they become accident statistics.

There will be more proposals in the 1956 legislative session.

They will include new attempts to legalize the chemical test for drunks as evidence in court—for or against the driver and bills already have been prepared for the proposal.

The state safety commission is scheduling 14 regional meetings to conduct grassroots safety campaigns and is seeking finances to educate drivers.

LANSING'S AUTOMOBILE SHOW will be staged in the new Civic Center and Veterans' Memorial auditorium February 14 to 18. Built at a cost of $5,500,000, the project is the largest of its kind in Michigan. The auto show will occupy more than 70,000 square feet in the center and will rank among the biggest expositions of its kind in the nation. Entertainment will include music of 16 bands, a style show, and the presentation of queens representing central Michigan communities. This picture is an air view.

"We want to do all we can before the speed limits become effective," said Maxwell Halsey, executive secretary of the commission.

Education, another major legislative problem, is seeking answers on 2 new fronts this week.

Citizens have organized a 52-member committee to disseminate the findings of the White House conference on education to the local areas where it can best be used.

The campaign will be focused on a "Little White House Conference" for Michigan in Lansing

February 14 when 1,800 citizens will be invited to exchange views on the issues.

Chairman of the conference will be Elmer E. White, executive secretary of the Michigan Press association, whose acceptance reflects the great degree of interest newspapers take in education.

Chief Okemos Council Has 6,217 Boys in 190 Troops

Membership in Chief Okemos Council, Boy Scouts of America, stood at 6,217 on December 31, reported the president, W. Victor Blomski, Wednesday. It's a new high, he said. The 6,217 are enrolled in 190 cub packs, scout troops and explorer posts, with 2,029 men and women enlisted as leaders.

The annual meeting of Chief Okemos Council is scheduled for Thursday night, January 26, at Lansing Civic Center.

John J. Richards, vice-president, at that meeting is expected to reveal some of the plans for 1956. They will include scout days in government and a get out the vote campaign.

Raymond H. Rapaport, Norris E. Smith and Lawrence B. Linde.

A main purpose of the state conference will be to develop leadership for local education among citizen groups.

Simultaneously, a legislative interim committee is preparing for a $150,000 study of Michigan's needs in higher education in the light of a 100,000-student rise in enrollment expected by 1970.

mer will direct government days in the county with Lyle Hare and Leo Austin taking charge of the program in Mason.

Sam Street Hughes has been given command of the 1956 Scout-O-Rama, which will be staged in Lansing Civic Auditorium April 27 and 28.

Leo A. Farhat and Thomas Walsh will direct the get-out-the-vote campaign next fall.

Senator Gets Citation

Twenty-two years of service to Michigan as a member of the legislature brought a citation to Sen. Harry F. Hittle, East Lansing, from the Michigan Agricultural Conference. The award was presented at the annual banquet of the group at Michigan State university last Wednesday night and was made by William I. Brake, Lansing, master of the Michigan State Grange. The $2 farm organizations making up the conference were hosts to legislators and state officials on the day of the opening of the annual legislative session.

County Agent Gives Advice On Management of Flocks

County Agent M. H. Avery said that management is the chief difference between profits and losses in the handling of sheep.

Here are some suggestions he offers:

Lambs should be getting at least one feeding per day of good quality legume hay.

Be sure they get exercise. Keep penicillin and salt mixture before flock at all times. Mixture should be 12-14 parts of salt to 1 part penicillin. Use trace mineral salt.

Keep flock from area where murrins may get into wool. Such wool is discounted as much as $3.00 per hundred pounds.

Castrate ram lambs and dock all lambs. Lambs not so treated will receive a heavy dockage on the market and are more susceptible to maggots.

Pregnancy disease or lambing paralysis may affect ewes just before lambing. The cause is the failure of ewe to secure enough nourishment to feed the unborn lamb or lambs. Older ewes carrying twins or triplets are most likely to be affected but younger ewes receiving poor quality roughage may also develop the disease. In the early stages of the disease, affected ewes are less active than the rest of the flock and walk very slowly. Later they become weaker, show stiffness and have difficulty getting up and down. They frequently walk in a circle and stand with their head against an object. As the trouble progresses, the ewe cannot rise and lies with the head turned around to the side. Other symptoms are rapid breathing, blindness and grinding of the teeth.

Prevention lies in removing the cause. Check the flock carefully for condition of all ewes. Increase quality and quantity of roughage as ewes get nearer lambing. Feed from one-half to one pound of grain daily one month before lambing. Separate ewes that are not gaining in weight and feed these more liberally.

Treatment, if given promptly, may be helpful. Affected ewes should be drenched with a cup of cane molasses twice daily. Diluting the molasses with warm water makes it easier to give. Sugar solutions can be injected into the blood stream by a veterinarian to hasten recovery in severe cases. The ewes should be offered choice feeds. After the lambs are born, the ewes usually make complete recovery.

Causes of stiff lamb or white muscle disease is a lack of Vitamin E in the lamb's diet. This deficiency causes a dystrophy or degeneration of the leg, jaw or heart muscles resulting in lameness, starvation or possibly heart failure. The symptoms are usually lameness in one or more legs. The trouble is most frequently observed before the lambs are turned to pasture or just as they are turned to pasture. Death may be sudden if vital organs are affected or the lamb may linger several days.

It is usually possible to prevent the trouble by feeding wheat in the ewe's grain ration. From one-third to one-half of the ewe's grain ration can be made up of wheat. Encouraging the young lambs to eat a creep ration containing wheat or bran is also helpful.

The use of Vitamin E (Alpha-tocopherol) capsules is an effective treatment for affected lambs. These are the same capsules prepared for humans and can be obtained from local drug stores. The 100 mg. size is usually the most economical to purchase. Affected lambs can be given from 1 to 3 capsules just as soon as symptoms are noticed and one capsule daily thereafter until recovery. The ewe and affected lamb should be placed in a small pen to prevent excessive exercise and to help keep the lamb well nourished. In flocks where the trouble is known to occur, lambs may be given one of the 100 mg. capsules soon after birth as a possible preventative.

Repeated tests have proven that iodine to be the best disinfectant to use in the sheep business. The milk strength (2% U. S. P.) should be used for any plying to the lamb's navel at birth and on wounds made in docking and castrating. It will practically eliminate losses from tetanus and when applied to the navel will help to ward off pneumonia, scours and navel ill. The 2% tincture should be available from local drug stores.

Emear EQ 335 contains linoleum and pine oil plus other ingredients. It is an effective wound treatment to prevent bloody maggots. One application gives protection for 7 days. It is now possible to dock and castrate lambs any season of the year as far as danger of maggot infection is concerned. Smear EQ 335 is equally effective for dehorning and castrating cattle. Female flies may be killed while laying eggs in the treated wound and young maggots are quickly killed as they hatch from the eggs. Smear EQ 335 is now available from most livestock supply companies. It is available at Link Pharmacy, Lansing; Michigan Coop. Wool Market Association; Jackson; and Ware's drug store, Mason.

There will be a sheep meeting in Ingham county, February 22. Gordon Blank of Michigan State university animal husbandry department will be on hand and newspapers will carry further details. Special sheep meetings are also being arranged for Farmers' Week.

Before the U. S. gets a farm program that will solve problems, people in general will have to realize that farmers have widely varied incomes.

And they're going to have to get over the idea that price supports can even out those incomes or make them equal to those in some other businesses.

That's the opinion of Agricultural Economist Lawrence Witt of Michigan State university.

When people think of "the farm problem," explains Witt, they lump together many different kinds of people—part-time farmers, retired farmers, the highly skilled dairyman and the hog producer who raises grand champions.

Most people would agree, says Witt, that price supports give little help to the small-scale operator.

"The amount he produces wouldn't make a good living if he sold it for twice the price he's getting now," Witt claims.

And while price props help some farmers, goods they produce are priced out of the export market. Along with this, continues Witt, European farmers have applied some of our farm technology to help them produce cheaper food. All this has helped add to our surplus and the general income price decline of 20% since 1950.

But per capita, farm income declined less than 10% during that time. Reason for the comparatively softer blow, according to Witt, was that 2,000,000 people moved out of agriculture during those years.

So, if many of the poorer farmers would move out of agriculture into more profitable jobs, farm income would suffer less, Witt insists. But, he adds, it costs money to change occupations and people resist such things for other reasons, too.

So, while the government tries to soften the blow of farm price declines with supports, the problem of low incomes continues, Witt says.

Provide for different work heights in your kitchen by using service carts, pull-out boards or by reinforcing a drawer for mixing height, say Michigan State home management specialists.

Samples of Hay Will Be Tested

Ingham farmers may take samples of their hay and silage to Farmers' Week at Michigan State university to see how they compare with other roughage, said M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Farmers' Week is January 30-February 3. Judges will receive hay, grass and corn silage samples on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the west concourse of the football stadium.

Specialists will estimate the feeding value of the roughage and grade each sample. Upon request, they'll discuss what grain rations are needed to supplement the roughage for the best milk production.

Farmers should take a note with their samples showing the stage of maturity at harvest, whether the material was field-cured or barn-cured, if a hay ensilage was used, and whether silage was ensiled direct-cut or allowed to wilt, and whether a preservative was used.

This information, said Avery, will help the judges make a better analysis and it will make the "roughage clinic" more interesting for others who want to compare the samples.

Paper sacks (20-lb size) will be provided to display chopped hay, grass silage and corn silage. From 3 to 4 lb of hay and 8 to 10 lb of silage will be enough for samples. Avery suggests a 3- to 4-inch slice from a bale of hay or a similar amount of long hay.

Department of agriculture will see that all butter of below 90 is labeled "undergrade" in compliance with the new law.

State Checks Weights and Food Quality

More than 3 million pounds of food totaling 800 lots was placed under seizure last year in the state by representatives of the Michigan department of agriculture. This was disclosed in a report of M. A. Nelson, chief of the division of foods and standards in that department to Director G. S. McIntyre.

Most common cause for seizures were short weight, adulteration and misbranding. If the products could be brought into compliance with state law by regrading or relabeling this was done, and the seizure lifted. Some lots had to be used for other than human consumption.

Short weight in pre-packed merchandise was higher than the year before, running 15 percent of merchandise checked. Nelson explained that the high percentage is due to the inspection method. When a package is found to be short weight, every package in the entire lot is checked. This naturally raises the percentage of short weight in relation to the number inspected. Violation of weights and measures laws in general were 50 percent higher.

The food most often found to be adulterated was ground meat products. This showed a gain of 15 percent over the previous year.

The number of violations involving labeling of food products disclosed a reduction from the year before.

Sanitation in stores, markets, restaurants, cafes, hotels and food processing plants also is a responsibility of the department. The number of convictions for insanitary conditions jumped to 119 from 90 the year before.

The total number of all convictions for that division last year amounted to 711 and ran the gamut from short weight on a loaf of coal to improper bottle cleansing in a soft drink bottling works.

Repellent Will Keep Rabbits Out

Rabbits can do serious damage to trees and shrubs in winter, cautions M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Their normal food supply consists of shoots, branches and buds as well as bark. If rabbits are numerous in the area, Avery advises applying a repellent on valuable trees and shrubs as a cheap and effective way to prevent rabbit damage.

Avery passes along this recommendation for a repellent from Don Haynes, zoologist, and H. A. Cardinell, horticulturist, of Michigan State university. Mix 7 lb of resin in a gallon of ethyl alcohol. Methyl alcohol (or methanol) will not dissolve the resin.

Don't heat the mixture, says Avery. And don't be alarmed if the mixture turns white as its effectiveness is not harmed, he added.

The final product is a heavy varnish-like mixture that should be applied to the tree with a paint brush. It is not effective on the snowshoe rabbit, the M. S. U. specialists warn.

MSU Gives Scholarships

Two Michigan State university 4-H scholarships will be available to Ingham 4-H club members entering State next fall.

A total of 50 4-H scholarships are made available by the state board of agriculture to reward outstanding 4-H members who wish to attend Michigan State university. The scholarships are awarded to counties on the basis of 4-H enrollment.

The 4-H scholarships pay college tuition during the freshman year. In addition they can be renewed again each year if a good scholastic record is maintained.

The nominees are selected on the basis of their 4-H record, leadership activity and high school scholastic record.

Last year's winner from Ingham county was Clark Phelps of Stockbridge. Phelps completed 9 years of club work and 19 projects before he entered college.

Work was progressing on a telegraph line through Canada and Alaska and Siberia and Asia to Europe when Cyrus Field completed his transatlantic cable.

Florida Crop Suffers

Cold weather has reached far down into Florida this winter. Damage from frost has been heavy in the vegetable areas in the northern part of the state and has also cut yields even in the south. All along the Atlantic seaboard and reaching back to the mountains in the Carolinas and Georgia the mercury has dipped below freezing.

Law Governs Butter Grade

Steps toward improvement of quality in the butter Michigan's housewives buy will result from a hearing January 24 regarding a proposed regulation of the state department of agriculture governing the grading of butter and licensing of graders.

The public hearing will be at 10 a. m. in Room 106 of Lewis Cass building in Lansing.

Butter is scored on flavor, body, texture, color and salt. Scoring is on a numerical basis with most butter on the market coming between a low of 90 score and a high of 92 score.

Under a Michigan law that became effective last October, butter that scores below 90 must be labeled "undergrade" in block letters three-eighths inch or larger on a strongly contrasting background.

The proposed regulation to implement the law provides for the licensing of industry butter graders who will do the preliminary grading of the product before it goes on the retail market.

It is expected that eventually the butter industry will employ about 300 of these graders. These graders will score the butter before it is offered to consumers. The de-

Army Seeks to Chisel Away Big Chunk of Game Refuge

The National Wildlife Federation cheered Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay for standing firm against military encroachment on the Wichita Mountains national wildlife refuge in Oklahoma but warned the nation's conservationists that "army brass is planning a new campaign in congress to force surrender of the disputed area."

The army wants 10,700 acres of the 59,000-acre refuge as an addition to Fort Sill's artillery ranges. Secretary McKay has refused to transfer the land and only last week reaffirmed his stand and quoted a report by Harry J. Donohue, a special assistant sent last month to inspect the area. Donohue summed up his conclusions in these words:

"I was impressed by the Wichita refuge as being a unique national asset, teeming with wildlife in a rugged natural setting. I think it is a matter of vital importance to preserve the refuge from further encroachment."

The state of Alabama is trying a new highway trick which motorists like. All state and national trunklines in the state are marked by distinctive colored signs. If you want to keep on a particular route, just stick to one color. Motorists who have tried the system claim it's easy to weave through heavy city traffic and keep on the right road.

Why not a whole new approach to driving? With the 400 to 600 deaths on highways each holiday, it seems like the time has come for something more than clever catchphrases posted along highways. Something more than safety slogans is needed to check highway deaths — and injuries — and gross waste of material wealth.

What American motorists need is a get-tough policy. The operation of an automobile should be considered a privilege and only after all qualifications have been met. Driving can no longer be accepted as merely a right. Perhaps that change in thinking is the biggest block to safer highways.

To be denied the privilege of driving an automobile might work a hardship on some. For younger people, it might be more difficult to get to and from work. In some cases, it might necessitate finding a non-driving job. For older people, it would prevent some from getting around under their own power.

But all of these hardships wouldn't equal one needless death. The kindest thing to many people would be to take away their privilege to drive.

There are some who simply can't drive a car. They can pass any written test. They can even squint and squeak through the eye exam. But when it comes to driving, they fall flat.

If habitually poor drivers (those responsible for 2 major accidents) were not permitted to drive, some safety experts claim that the automobile slaughter would be licked.

The get-tough policy will come some day, but only after we have sung our hearts out on safety songs.

Duffy Daugherty and the MSU Spartans who were victorious at the Rose Bowl will be in Mason this Sunday. They'll re-tell the story and show a colored film to prove it. It will be one of Mason's largest social gatherings. The sponsor, the St. James Men's club, has 1,500 tickets to sell. The $1 price covers a free lunch besides the fun of rubbing elbows with all of those football greats.

Mason is well on its way to having its own civic center in the American Legion building. Besides the Duffy Daugherty program this month, the March of Dimes ball on Saturday, January 28, will also fill up the new building. Ticket-sellers for the ball are hopeful for 2,000 fox-trotters.

On the local level, I thought for a minute Saturday that a get-tough policy had been instituted. I witnessed a city policeman giving a traffic ticket to a sheriff's deputy. It did my heart good to see the ticket issued for parking in the alley next to the Ingham County News office, because I got one for the same offense last week.

Best wishes to Kessler Construction, Inc., of Holt during the 2 open houses in the new Mason subdivision this week end. (See Section 3 for details). Kessler Co., by erecting 25 prefabricated National homes, will make it possible for that many families to move to Mason by the end of next summer.

Farmers' Week Features New Farm Building Ideas

Buildings headed with sunlight, farm home remodeling, roof truss construction and answers to farm building problems will be features of the farmers' week program at Michigan State university, January 30-February 3.

One of the featured speakers, Prof. Glenn Bressler of Pennsylvania State university will tell about his study of solar-type poultry houses throughout the U. S.

He will show how laying hens are being housed with only one square foot of floor area per hen. This is part of the February 1 program.

Muck Farming Development Will Be Farm Week Topic

In Michigan, especially in Ingham county, muck farming is becoming big business. New techniques are being employed. New varieties are increasing production. At Farmers' Week at Michigan State several special meetings are being planned for growers of vegetables and other crops on muck.

Is deep plowing the answer to control soil-borne diseases in mint?

M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent, reported that 2 Indiana muck farmers will answer that question as a feature of the program.

L. L. McCroskey of North Judson and Martin Blad of South Bend will speak at 11:00 a. m. on Wednesday, February 1, during a joint meeting of the Essential Oil Growers of Michigan and the Michigan Muck Farmers association.

The latest on mint research and recommendations will also be features of the morning session. Specialists Gordon Guyer, B. H. Grigsby, Ray Nelson and J. F. Davis will be the main speakers.

The morning program will conclude with an election of officers for the Essential Oil Growers.

To open the afternoon program for muck farmers, Leyton Nelson, farm crops specialist, will present the latest on sugar beets, potatoes and soybean production. A. J. Custer of Garrett, Indiana, Celery growers will learn of the latest research on their product in the afternoon meeting. Specialists S. R. Whitner, J. F. Davis, Gordon Guyer, John Kalerim, Ray Nelson and Jack Trapp will discuss these subjects: Varieties, fertilizers, insects and nematodes, diseases and marketing.

A panel of 4 growers will answer questions on celery problems. They include William Bellhouse, Cedar Springs; Joseph Fisher, Muskegon; Kenneth Trapp, Beulah; and Tony Schuring, Kalamazoo. Ed Wesie of Montague will preside at the afternoon session.

An entertainment session is planned for the evening. One of the features will be a movie of the Rose Bowl game between Michigan State and U. C. L. A.

Latest research and ideas on potato and onion growing will be presented. One of the features at a Friday session will be a discussion on things to consider before buying irrigation equipment. E. H. Kidder, an Michigan State university agricultural engineer, will talk on that subject at 10:30 a. m.

William Hooker of the Michigan State university department will open the program with a discussion on controlling potato and onion diseases. B. H. Grigsby, a weed researcher, will outline the latest recommendations on the battle against weeds.

Gordon Guyer, an entomologist, will tell of the best ways to control insects in muck crops. J. F. Davis and L. N. Shepherd of the soil science department will talk about last year's results with tests on the university's muck farm near Bath. Howard Trapp of Beulah will preside.

One of the highlights of the day will be the crowning of the 1955 onion king of Michigan — the farmer with the top onion field. This will follow the annual banquet of the Michigan Muck Farmers association.

Main address of the afternoon will be H. B. Tulkey, head of the Michigan State university horticulture department. He will discuss the impact of atomic energy on vegetable growing in Michigan.

Activities will close with the annual meeting of the Michigan Onion Growers association.

Flowers need to be staked, weeded, watered, fertilized, but weeds prosper alone. If only somebody could cross them.

Ingham's Dairy Banquet Is at Leslie Thursday

Ingham's ninth annual dairy banquet will be Wednesday, January 25, at noon at the Leslie Grange hall.

Upwards of 300 dairy farmers and wives are expected to attend the event. Highlights of the program will be the crowning of the dairy princess from Ingham county, recognition of top A. B. A. and D. H. I. A. herds, and discussion of I. B. M. programs by Larry Johnson of Michigan State university.

Five girls will be selected to attend the banquet and participate in the finals for dairy princess. Girls from the 4-H clubs of the county have sent in entries. A committee representing the 4-H council and Ingham county dairies will select the top 5. The audience at the banquet will select the princess by ballot.

The I. B. M. program now available to D. H. I. A.'s of the county will be discussed by Larry Johnson, extension specialist from Michigan State university dairy department. With the I. B. M. it

Isotopes Aid Plants

Tests with radioactive isotopes at Michigan State university have shown the way to improve liquid fertilizers.

Horticulturist F. G. Teubner said his experiments show that other combinations of liquid fertilizers can be absorbed by plants quicker than those now in use. The radioactive material used with the fertilizers made it easy to measure absorption rates into plants.

Plants with a large leaf area are able to absorb large amounts of fertilizer quicker than if the plant food were applied to the soil. That's the big advantage in liquid fertilizer now used widely by vegetable growers and home gardeners, he claims.

Last year, more than 80,000,000 tons of commodities were moved on the Mississippi river. Most of this tonnage was moved by towboats handling tows of 1,000 feet or longer. Nearly 70 per cent of these tows were powered with engines manufactured by Cleveland Diesel engine division of General Motors.
