BRICKYARD INDUSTRY REVIVES

Plant Makes Stone Veneer

Mason is back in the brick business. But there are no kilns, no heaps of blazing 4-foot logs and no clay pits which existed when the brick industry flourished in Mason more than 60 years ago.

Today, National Cement Industries Incorporated turns out thousands of square feet of precast brick and stone each week in the former Whitecraft garage on East Ash street. National Cement, a Detroit corporation, moved into Mason during the winter. The Mason operation started out as a branch plant. However, the Detroit factory and office will be closed down this summer and the entire production will be in Mason, according to Silvio Fortino, secretary and treasurer and partner in the firm.

Fortino said he's had his eye on Mason for a long time. Following World War II, he was a salesman in the building with Whitecraft Sales.

"With our business expanding in Detroit, we began looking around for a spot more centrally located in the state," Fortino said. "We heard that the Whitecraft building was available and we moved right in."

Dart National bank owns the building.

All National Cement employes are local men. Right now, there are 10 workmen, but the number will go to 15 when the Detroit plant is shut down, Fortino declared.

The Mason operation manufactures brick and stone. It leaves the selling up to a dealer system. Beginning this spring, the dealer program will be stretched nationwide with the assistance of Hilstone Incorporated of Detroit.

"We are months behind production now," Fortino declared. "However, we are gaining every day. Last week we manufactured 75,000 square feet of pre-cast stone. We plan to be even with sales by the time Hilstone salesmen start sending orders."

The National Cement stone facing is revolutionizing the building industry, Fortino said. No 2 stones are alike. They are colored by hand and broken into suitable sizes. Applied to a wall, it's difficult to tell that the stone is only about a half-inch thick and made of concrete, he pointed out.

Ketchum Gravel Co. has the contract to furnish washed sand for National Cement. The cement is bought directly from cement companies in the Thumb. Colored concrete dyes are bought in the East.

Men work in pairs making the stone and brick. The mortar is mixed by hand, using dyes to give it the preferred coloring. It's then shoveled into square forms about 4 by 5 feet and leveled with a straightedge to about a half-inch in thickness. The stones-to-be are given a realistic touch by scattering colored dye and white sand on the wet concrete. The form is divided off into various widths and then laid away to dry.

Brick is made about the same way, except that individual bricks are accurately scaled and colored so the finished product is hard to tell from regular fire-cured brick.

Donald Gross, a partner in the corporation, is production manager at Mason. Adrian Saff of Lansing is president.

90 Are Chosen For Jury Duty At 2 Sessions

Court officials drew names of 90 prospective jurors at Mason Thursday morning. Thirty were drawn to bulk up the March panel so as to have enough on hand for a big trial scheduled at Mason May 7. The other 60 are for the regular May term panel.

Benjamin D. Ritholz of Chicago is scheduled to go on trial before Circuit Judge Philip A. Hadsell of Niles in Mason. Ritholz is charged with bribery of public officers. James A. Haggerty of Detroit and Victor R. Anderson of Lansing are the defense attorneys. Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh will assign an assistant to aid Prosecutor Charles E. Chamberlain in the prosecution.

During the Ritholz trial, which may take 2 weeks, regular May term trials will be shifted to Lansing.

Justices of the Peace W. Robert Wood of Williamston and Roy W. Adams of Mason, Sheriff Willard P. Barnes, and County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard and his deputy, Gertrude Ludwick, conducted the drawing of jurors' names.

The 30 who were chosen as prospective jurors for the balance of the March term are to report at Mason May 7. They are: Edith Baldwin, Alaiedon; Donis Haynes, Aurelius; Raymond Lane, Bunker Hill; Mildred Fors, Delhi; Mrs. Doris Bachman, Ingham; Catherine T. Red Cross Sends Bloodmobile to City Wednesday

Mason will become a center for blood donors to the Red Cross next Wednesday. The Red Cross bloodmobile stop will be made at Presbyterian church, from 12 to 6.

There has been a conflict on announcements of the time. The Red Cross first scheduled the hours between 1 and 7 but several Mason groups were not informed. They scheduled appointments from 12 to 6. Thursday morning the Red Cross shifted its official schedule to 12 to 6.

Mason Kiwanis club is sponsoring the bloodmobile stop. James Frew is chairman. The organization will provide the food for lunches.

Mason Child Study Club No. 1 has the task of recruiting volunteer workers. Mrs. Donald Edgington is chairman.

Members of the Auxiliary of the VFW have volunteered their services for registration and clerical work.

The need for replenishing the blood supply in the Red Cross area bank is urgent, Frew said. Hundreds of pints from the Lansing headquarters were sent to Grand Rapids after the tornado struck.

Even if no disaster need arose, Frew said, Mason donors do not keep even with demands at Mason General hospital and for Mason patients in Lansing hospitals.

Frew said a telephone solicitation will be undertaken to recruit donors for the Wednesday stop. Whether or not persons are asked, he added, they will be welcomed if they report next Wednesday at the church.

Giving blood calls for only between 20 and 30 minutes of time and there is no pain, Frew said. All those who report have their blood pressure checked and hemoglobin tests made.

FLAMES CONSUMED North Aurelius Union church last Friday afternoon. No one knows how the fire started. No one was able to save the building. Fire ran up to the roof and defied the efforts of Mason, Delhi, Leslie and Eaton Rapids to combat it. In an hour's time the 75-year-old building was reduced to embers. When this picture was taken the east walls had already fallen. (ICN photo.)

Fire Destroys 75-year-old Structure

North Aurelius Will Build Again

Undaunted by the heavy fire loss of last Friday, the North Aurelius Union church is planning to rebuild.

Flames left only the foundation walls and sections of the tin roof. They even burned the big trees that sheltered the church for three-quarters of a century.

Temporarily the congregation is meeting in the Webb school, across the road from where the church stood.

Embers smouldered through Saturday and Sunday. On Monday morning volunteers began hauling the debris away.

The building and contents were insured for a total of $11,000. The estimated replacement cost of the building destroyed was $40,000.

Cause of the fire remains unknown. Two boys walking home from school discovered it. John Prince and Raymond Crippen saw smoke puffing from the eaves. They ran to the Crippen house nearby and Mrs. Crippen telephoned the Mason fire department.

Lee Webb, whose tractor had broken down, was on his way to Mason to get repairs when he saw the smoke. He stopped at the home of Mrs. W. C. Norris and telephoned the alarm. Four alarms on the fire were turned in within the space of a minute, sheriff's officers said. The first came in at 4:55.

Mrs. Howard R. Smith was driving past the church when she spied the smoke. She stopped her car in front of the Norris home and was running inside to use the telephone when her brother, Lee Webb, came out. She then ran with him to the church. Robert Lee was there and they all grabbed the Hammond organ and carried it to safety. The only fire they could see, they said, was near the pastor's study in the northwest corner. They saved a few folding chairs, several tables and some books.

Rev. John Pruden, the pastor, said there had been no fire in the furnace since the previous Sunday. Wood was used as fuel.

When Mason fire equipment arrived, smoke was seeping from the eaves and coming out the front door. The fire was in the roof. When the flashing was removed to permit the firemen to use water on the flames the draft sent flames on up beneath the tin roof. The tin roof prevented firemen from reaching the blaze from above.

A strong wind fanned the blaze. Heat caused an explosion which actually lifted the roof off the church. After that the entire building and the trees near it were aflame.

Delhi township, Leslie and Eaton Rapids firemen gave Mason an assist on the fire but their efforts could not save the building. The parsonage north of the church would have been destroyed had it not been for the water played upon it. The old North Aurelius postoffice building on the Maude Bullen farm, across Elfert road to the east, was on fire but was saved.

Last October 30 the congregation celebrated the 75th anniversary of the church. The church was incorporated February 17, 1880, as the North Aurelius Methodist and Baptist Union church. On February 18, 1921, it was reincorporated as North Aurelius Union church.

In 1917 the building was remodeled. A basement was built, stained glass windows were installed and pews and other furniture were replaced. In 1947 the parsonage was built. Rev. Pruden has been pastor since 1952.

Road Builders Plan to Start 127 Monday

Equipment is being moved in to start work on US-127 south of Mason next week. The contract between the state highway department and S. J. Groves & Sons of Ann Arbor and Minneapolis is being signed this week. It calls for almost $2 million for the 7 miles.

The first move will be to clear the right-of-way for the new road, which will be of dual 22-foot concrete roadways separated by a median strip from Tomlinson road to Hull road. From Tomlinson road south there will be a service road paralleling the limited access superhighway on the west. Present US-127 will be maintained as a service road for the east side.

Buildings are being razed and even some dirt in the right-of-way is being moved this week, but not by the contractors. Owners who retained buildings within the right-of-way, or those who have bought them, are doing the razing and moving. At the Mason golf course 2 greens are being moved.

Up until Wednesday afternoon the right-of-way at the north end of the job, across the Allen Frederick farm to the golf course, had not been secured by the state.

A project engineer is expected to take over the Walters school building for an office.

County Board Will Come Back On Equalization

Ingham supervisors are due in Mason Tuesday to decide on the equalization of property valuations.

The equalization committee has had several sessions since the board meeting April 10 but the report had not been completed Thursday. There were indications that 2 sets of figures might be submitted to the county board.

At the April meeting supervisors tabled a state tax commission analysis and decided to go ahead with their own computations.

Under interpretations of state law, all counties which have school districts fractional with other counties must use state valuations. There is no compulsion, however, for counties to adopt the analyses prepared by the state tax commission.

The state analysis for Ingham set total valuation at $421,899,624 for 1955. The county on its own figures equalized at $421,897,098. There is a considerable difference, however, on valuations as set locally and by the state on individual townships and cities.

Supervisor Earl Leeman of Williamston is chairman of the equalization committee.

In addition to deciding on equalization Tuesday, the county board plans to handle other business which would have regularly come before it the following Tuesday, May 8.

Permit Was Obtained

The Ingham County News carried an erroneous report last week concerning Robert Medley, Onondaga. He paid $24.80 all right for setting a fire which damaged the property of another, but he did have a permit to start a fire. The newspaper report indicated that he had not obtained a permit.

Dart National Executives Move Up . . .

Son Follows Father and Grandfather

When D. C. Dart steps aside as president of Dart National bank May 1 his son Rollin will become president. D. C. (Doc) Dart followed his father Rollin C. Dart as president in 1943.

The change in the presidency of the bank will bring changes throughout the organization. Albert A. Humphrey will move up from cashier to become executive vice-president. E. A. Densmore will remain as vice-president and Mrs. Marion Murray and Delmer Kramer will both become assistant vice-presidents.

Leonard G. Carter will be advanced to cashier and Mrs. Gertrude Robinson and Jan R. Dart to assistant cashiers.

D. C. Dart is remaining as a director and will serve as consultant to the bank. He will continue his regular schedule at the bank, executives said.

Rollin Dart plans to continue as an active partner and will devote most of his time to the Dart Insurance Agency. His father and his uncle, John Dart, are partners in the agency.

Dart National bank was founded 31 years ago. It developed out of the private banking business launched by R. C. Dart in 1906. After graduation from Mason high school in 1892 he entered the employ of the Farmers bank. In 1906 he began business for himself. In 1923 he and his son Doc formed the private bank operated as R. C. Dart & Co. On May 1, 1925, the bank was reorganized under a national charter.

R. C. Dart was president of Dart National from its founding until his death in 1943. D. C. Dart was cashier at the founding of the bank and remained in that capacity until he became president in 1943.

R. C. Dart 1925-43

Rollin Dart 1956

Albert A. Humphrey entered the employ of the bank in 1935. He was elected assistant cashier September 7, 1943, and became cashier April 3, 1945. As executive vice-president he will continue as the chief executive officer of the bank.

E. A. Densmore was one of the original stockholders and directors of the bank. He has been vice-president since 1944.

Mrs. Marion Murray entered the employ of Dart National bank in 1942. She was promoted to assistant cashier in 1949.

Delmer Kramer's rise has also been rapid. He was graduated from Mason high school in 1947. Before his graduation he had gained business experience in Mason retail stores and was in business for himself at Eden. He entered the employ of the bank immediately upon discharge from the army in February, 1954, and was made an assistant cashier January 1, 1955.

Leonard G. Carter is another young man who found or made an opportunity in banking. He started with Dart National July 1, 1953, and was promoted to the post of assistant cashier January 1, 1955. On May 1 he will become cashier.

Mrs. Gertrude Robinson has been with Dart National much of the time since its founding. She worked for the bank while attending school. She is a daughter of the late R. C. Dart. She will become assistant cashier May 1.

Jan R. Dart, who will also become an assistant cashier next Tuesday, is a son of D. C. Dart and a brother of Rollin Dart. Although in his early 20s he has had considerable banking experience at Dart National and at the Holt branch of the American State bank of Lansing.

When Dart National received its charter the financial statement showed $25,000 in capital stock with a surplus of $5,000. The total resources were then $138,807. Now the capital accounts and reserves of the bank are $621,615.

R. C. Dart & Co. and Dart National bank had offices in the building on the southeast corner of Jefferson and Ash until 1936. That year Dart National bought the First State Savings bank and its building on the northwest corner and Dart National moved there. Dart Insurance Agency and Dart Brothers Co. occupy the former Dart National offices.

Teen-Ager Tells About Break-In

Three break-ins were solved when a 13-year-old Mason boy confessed to Mason police officers Monday. He admitted breaking into Mason Recreation March 5 and taking $36. He also admitted entering Law's grocery and taking candy bars, and the Church of the Nazarene where he damaged property. He was one of the 8 boys involved in the bombing at the fairground last summer.

The boy named 3 companions in the entry of Law's grocery. He said he entered Mason Recreation and the church alone. He used a crowbar at the Recreation, jimmying a door. He carried away the $36 in a bank deposit pouch. Someone hijacked $10 of the Recreation loot, he said. He hid about $10 in a vacant building immediately after he left the Recreation, he declared. When he returned that afternoon after school to get the money it was gone, he said. He entered the Recreation shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning, he said.

The boy was turned over to probate court. He is already on probation for his part in the fairground episode.

LESS LAND AND MORE YARDS

Golf Course Gains Length

Herman Fiebig has a bigger golf course after releasing 2 greens to the state for new US-127. It now measures 6,217 yards. By next week when greens 4 and 5 and No. 5 fairway is ripped up, the course will measure 6,316 yards. The extra 99 yards is being gained by moving the 2 greens and lengthening other tees.

The old well house has been razed and a new one is under construction. That change would have been made regardless of the sale of land for the right-of-way, the owner of the Mason golf course said.

A triangular chunk is also being sheared off the southeast corner of the golf course land to provide a clear-view intersection for the new superhighway and Tomlinson road. That piece does not come out of the fairways.

No. 5 green is being moved this week, shifted to the west. No. 4 green will be moved to the west, too. No. 5, by being shifted, will become one of the sportiest holes on the course, Fiebig said. Golfers teeing off for No. 6 will still have to clear the pond. No. 7 is being lengthened.

Play is continuing while the 2 greens are being moved. Fiebig contracted with E. D. Scarlett for moving the dirt and with a specialist for the resodding job.

Cold weather has slowed opening of the Mason course, Fiebig reported. Only the hardy ones brave the cold, he said.

Improved facilities are being made available. Fiebig has erected shower and locker rooms in a new building adjoining the office on the east. One room contains showers and lockers for women and another is for men.

Nazarenes Move To New Building

Members of the Mason church of the Nazarene will have their services in their new church at Maple and Steele streets for the first time Sunday, April 29.

Formal opening and dedication of the new building is being planned for Sunday, May 6.

The church was constructed mainly by the members themselves. It has taken them over a year and a half but it will be one of the most modern and convenient church structures in Ingham county.

Carpeting is being laid this week. Most of the interior decorating is finished. Grading and landscaping must yet be done.

Mason Band Ranks at Top In State Class B Festival

At the state band and orchestra festival at East Lansing Saturday Mason's school band repeated its success at the district festival. That was a first division rating in Class B.

Director George Murthum expressed pride in the performance of his school musicians. His ears and those of his bandsmen are still ringing with praises bestowed by the judges.

The rating itself is a distinct compliment to any band, Murthum said. First division represents "the best conceivable performance for the event and the class of participants being judged and worthy of distinction of being recognized as a first place winner."

Many good bands had to be content with second division at the state festival, Murthum said.

Here is what some of the judges said of the performance of the Mason band:

Leonard Meretta, Western Michigan, Kalamazoo: "The style and intonation were fine. A well-trained band, no glaring faults. The faults that were evident were of a minor nature."

Kaarlo Mackey, director of music, Conneaut, Ohio: "I think this is a very musical organization and I enjoyed your performance. The band displays good tone and restraint, and is conscious of musical style. For the most part the sound is clear and flowing. Good spirit and a fine effort at sensitivity is evident."

Ernest Caneva, director of music, Lockport, Ill.: "This band shows fine fundamentals. The tone quality and intonation were good."

Urho Seppelin, director of music, Wickliffe, Ohio: "You have a well-trained group of musicians. The community must be very proud of you. The technique, rhythm and tone quality are well developed. This is a good disciplined group and a good looking group of youngsters."

Other Class B bands gaining top rating were St. Johns, Grand Rapids Godwin, Caro, Manistee, Hillsdale, Clawson, St. Joseph, Dowagiac, North Muskegon and Holland Christian. East Lansing's band gained a second division rating. Its orchestra gained first division rank. Michigan School for the Blind won first division in D on both its band and its orchestra. Webberville's band gained a second division rating.

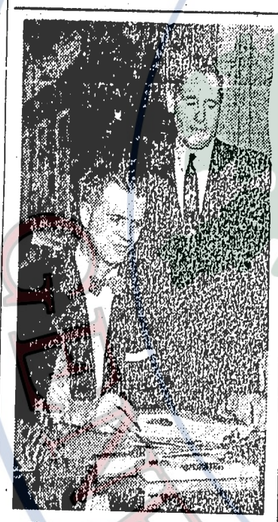
WANNA BET?—Julius Lewis, of Memphis, Tenn., above, is gambling $100,000 on the probability that a ballplayer won't clout one through the bull's-eyed knothole of the ball-park fence during team play this year. He says that Lloyd's, the fabulous London, England, insurance firm, takes a cheery view of his enticing ad. They, too, are betting that no one will accomplish the theoretically possible feat.



Kenneth H. Johnson, M.D., of Lansing, representing the Michigan State Medical Society, looks on as Gov. G. Mennen Williams proclaims April 22-28 as Medical Education Week. The number of doctors now being graduated by the medical schools at University of Michigan and Wayne University is 68 per cent greater than in 1950, the Governor pointed out. He urged the citizens of Michigan to heed the State Medical Society's invitation to take wider interest in "the continuing needs for expanded and even better medical education facilities in our state" so that "the advantages of modern health care can be translated into everyday benefits for all."

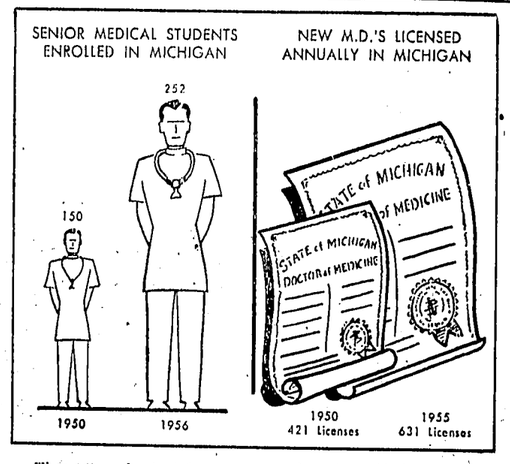
A bat native to the Philippines has a normal wingspread of 4 feet, and feeds on fruits and insects.

Greenland and Antarctica are each almost completely covered by icecaps, in some places as much as 10,000 feet deep.



These two charts tell an encouraging story of the increasing supply of doctors of medicine available to Michigan. The number of M.D.'s graduating from Michigan's two medical schools has jumped from 150 in 1950 to an expected 252 in 1956. At the urging of the Michigan State Medical Society, the State Legislature has increased appropriations to medical schools. These, plus supplementary grants from private funds, have made possible the increase in teachers and facilities needed to train the added students. Meanwhile, the number of new doctors each year successfully seeking a license to practice medicine in Michigan grew from 421 in 1950 to 631 for the year ending June 30, 1955. This means that Michigan communities have a likely source from which to attract competent medical service, according to William S. Jones, M.D., of Menominee, President of the State Medical Society. He emphasized, however, that the number of licensed M.D.'s who remain to practice in Michigan depends upon the opportunities offered them here.

Corner Grandson Dies in Idaho, Fell into Canal

Jack Moffett, 7, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Corner of Mason, lost his life in Idaho April 12. He fell from a footbridge spanning a canal at St. Anthony, Idaho. In some manner he received a blow on his head. It was that and not drowning that took his life, doctors told the parents.

The boy's father is an assistant forest ranger at the Buffalo ranger station. He and his family spend the winters in St. Anthony down in the valley, their summers high in the mountains at Island park.

When the boy returned from the home of a friend where he had been playing he took his dog for a romp. It was about 5 o'clock. The dog returned about 15 minutes later alone. Mrs. Moffett, the former Esther Corner of Mason, and her husband went outside immediately to see what was keeping the boy. They didn't find him. They widened their search and still could find neither him nor anyone who had seen him. The whole town then joined the search. Water was drained from the canal. An hour later the lifeless body was found in a clump of willows a mile downstream from the footbridge, which is behind the Moffett home.

Surviving the boy besides his parents is a twin sister, Jill. There are also the grandparents in Mason and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Moffett, Allegan, Mich.

Mrs. Corner left by train for St. Anthony immediately upon receiving word of the tragedy. She is expected to remain there for several weeks.

Election Board Applicants May File with Clerk

Applications for work on election boards are now being taken by Clerk Kathryn Farley. A change in election laws no longer permits the township board or the village council to act as an election commission and pick election boards. The next election will be the August primary, but application for work on the board may be filed at any time.

Another change in the law requires that where paper ballots are used, no more than 800 registered voters shall be in that district.

Since Leslie had over 1,200 registered voters, the township has been divided into 2 precincts with 707 registrations in precinct No. 1; and the unincorporated part in No. 2. Present plans are to have both precincts vote in the GAR hall. There are now 707 registrations in No. 1 precinct and 498 in No. 2.

Workmen Start Remodeling Job For Ball-Dunn

Fire April 17 at the Ball-Dunn store resulted in an extensive remodeling job. Part of the warehouse damaged in the blaze is being razed. A new loading dock is being constructed, along with a shelter for the dock. There will be a new ceiling and a new floor on the second story. Downstairs walls and ceilings will be painted.

Space made available by razing the fire-damaged rear of the store building will be made available for customer-parking, Glen Dunn said.

New flooring upstairs is not being done because of the fire, Dunn explained, but because it can best be done while the store is empty. Big vans from Chicago salvage companies carted off the smoked and even the unsmoked furniture this week. All that remained in the store was linoleum.

Lawrence Simpson has the contract for rebuilding part of the warehouse and razing the rest. The flooring will be placed by the Ball-Dunn linoleum crew.

Dunn left for Chicago Wednesday to buy a complete new stock of furniture. Deliveries are being made of summer stock on order before the fire. Furniture manufacturers have promised Dunn that he may expect delivery of new orders by May 15.

The store is being kept open during the remodeling.

Church Women Resolve Issues At Convention

At the fourth annual convention of the Lansing Diocesan Council of Catholic Women in Lansing Civic Center Wednesday resolutions were adopted on several issues. Among them were resolutions urging Christian education of children, a movie and TV code, a statewide safety program in school areas, and restoration of the sacredness of Sundays by opposing current trends, condemning indecent literature and protesting the lack of adequate laws for the protection of migrant workers.

Rev. Edward O. Brill of Jefferson, Wisconsin, luncheon speaker, stressed humility and intelligence in the formation of a Christian Personality, his topic. "Don't worry about your emotions; your feelings aren't important," he said, "It's what you do with them that counts."

Father Brill stressed that humility is the cornerstone of all virtue and urged the 650 women present to build the Christian Personality on that foundation.

The Most Rev. Jos. H. Albers, Bishop of Lansing, complimented Mrs. Kenneth R. West of Lansing, the out-going president, and said that he was gratified by committee reports. "Through your work, religion has been bettered and souls have been brought closer to Christ," he said. The Bishop announced that the diocese of Lansing collected a total of 133,000 pounds of clothing of the 15 million pounds collected in the Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Drive.

Bishop Alberts also urged the women to cooperate with Diocesan Development Fund on May 20.

Workshops which concluded the convention program held were spiritual development, committee for the Spanish speaking, libraries and literature, family and parent education, public relations, and cooperating with Catholic Charities.

PRICE—In memory of my mother, Mrs. Charles Price, who passed away a year ago April 25, 1955.

Boy Spears Foot

Terry Plakke, 13, speared his foot instead of a fish. While on his way to a stream he came to order arms but placed the spear end down on his instep. He is now confined to his home with his leg elevated and bandaged. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Plakke.

Plowing Contest Will Be May 5 In Wheatfield

Ingham's 10th annual 4-H and F. F. A. tractor contest will be Saturday, May 5, at the Kenneth Myers farm near Williamston. The all-day event puts stress on tractor, belting, backing and plowing. Operators are also judged on safety practices.

The Myers farm is located 4½ miles south of Williamston on the east side of Williamston road.

Belting and backing contests start at 10 Saturday morning. Plowing demonstrations and lunch carry the program through to 1:00 when the plowing contest starts. Awarding of prizes will be at 3:00.

Jim Berg of the Standard Oil Co. is general chairman. Everett Schultz, Lansing; Cecil Cobb, Stockbridge; Paul Card, Williamston; and John Boersma, Mason; are soliciting contest prizes from implement dealers. Berg and Williamston boys have the job of laying out the contest areas. Robert Oesterle, Carroll Glynn and Bill Drake have charge of the belting contest. Harold Sheathelm, George Coons and Ken Myers will conduct the backing contest. Larry Tripp, Frank Wieland, Melvin Oesterle and Ted Dansby have charge of the plowing contest and Kenneth Brown, Harold Gates and Melvin Stroud will judge safety.

Contest officials are torn between wishing for a good warm bright day and a cold wet one, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Good weather usually limits contestants, he pointed out. The boys and the tractors are needed at home this time of year when the weather is nice, Avery said.

But even during good weather, there are at least 25 tractors competing. Avery said the committee looks for an even bigger turnout this year.

Jurors Go Home As Pleas Change

A plea of guilty to a changed charge Tuesday and a decision to plead guilty in another case Wednesday gave circuit court jurors a holiday. They were excused Tuesday until Monday.

Jurors went to court both Monday and Tuesday but had no work to do. Monday's scheduled jury trial was waived and on Tuesday after a jury was picked the case washed out.

On Monday in the suit of Ralph J. Carroll vs. T. C. Keith neither the defendant nor his attorney, William Jenkins, appeared. Carroll, represented by James Burns, waived trial by jury. Judge Charles H. Hayden gave a judgment of $4,161.84 for the plaintiff. The suit resulted from an automobile accident May 31, 1954, on US-16 west of Lansing.

Kenneth Duane Wilson went on trial before Judge Hayden Tuesday, charged with breaking and entering the North school near Holt February 21, 1955. John Wendell Bird of Lansing, defending Wilson, had a flock of motions to have the information quashed and to have his client freed. He also argued that the offense charged was not warranted by evidence. Motions were denied and a jury was sworn in, when Assistant Prosecutor William A. Austin asked for a recess. After a conference between attorneys the breaking and entering charge was dropped and a charge of larceny was substituted. To that charge Wilson pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to serve from 3 to 4 years in Jackson prison.

SAVED IN THE NORTH AURELIUS FIRE last Friday was the former postoffice and general store. Flames which leveled the Union church across Columbia road found their way to the almost-forgotten wooden building standing on the Maude Bullen place. Less than 50 years ago, this building was the center of activity of the farm community and stood just east of the Howard L. Smith residence. Known as the Holley & Bullen farmers supply store, it stocked groceries, seeds and tools, several catalogs and a good cracker barrel. The store was also the postoffice and social center. Blood Is Sought

The Grand Rapids tornado caused a heavy demand on the Red Cross area blood bank. Extra effort is being put behind the drive for donors at the bloodmobile stop at Mason next Wednesday. In recent months Mason donors have not contributed enough to keep even with the demand at Mason General hospital, let alone the blood needed for Mason patients in Lansing and other hospitals.

Mason Firemen Keep on Run With 10 Fires in 3 Days

Ten fire alarms between Thursday noon and Sunday afternoon put the heat on Mason firemen. Seven were grass fires. The other 3 caused several thousand dollars of damage to the North Aurelius Union church, a house on Meridian road and a brooder house on Barnes.

The marathon started Thursday afternoon at 1:00 when firemen extinguished a grass fire on Randolph street. Then later at 4:45 there was another grass fire at the corner of Bunker and Aurelius roads. Friday was relatively quiet for firemen until the alarm sounded for help at the church about 4:45. While Mason men were battling the church fire along with neighboring fire departments, they were summoned to another grass fire behind Howard Pontiac garage on Kipp road.

Firemen were back at it Saturday. They fought a grass fire at 4088 Willoughby road at 9:50 in the morning, a grass fire at the corner of Aurelius and Harding in Holt at 12:30 and a grass fire at the trailer camp on Elfert road at 1:26.

The Mason department assisted the Williamston department at a house fire at 3012 North Meridian road at 4:15 Saturday. An overheated hot air furnace caused the damage, according to Chief Leland Austin. The house, owned by William Wheeler, was insured for $5,000 and contents for $1,500. The Wheeler farmily was not at home at the time of the fire.

While at the house blaze, a brooder house fire broke out on Barnes road west of Aurelius Center at the Stanley Morrow place. Because the Mason department was then several miles away, Eaton Rapids firemen covered for Mason until the Mason unit could get cross-country. An over-heated brooder stove caused the fire which killed 315 chickens valued at $170 plus damaging the brooder house.

A grass fire Sunday afternoon at the Dr. Joseph Ponton farm on Phillips road rounded out the fire runs to 10.

Chief Austin fell from the water tank truck on the way to a Saturday blaze, but was unhurt.

Fire department expenses within the Mason city limits are repaid out of taxes. There is no direct charge to individual property owners where fires occur. The Mason department receives $40 from townships for grass fires and other relatively minor blazes. Townships pay the city $75 for fighting fires in buildings.

Dansville Defeats Haslett On Brown's One-Hitter

Friday evening at Haslett the Dansville Aggies defeated the Haslett Vikings 7-3. Dansville's Don Brown fanned 13 as he allowed but one hit in posting his second win of the year.

Dansville scored first in the top of the first inning. With 2 down, Dick Brooks hit a sharp single to center. Brooks then stole second. Glen Wireman ripped a drive down the third base line that got through the Haslett third baseman enabling Brooks to score. Wireman was left stranded as Soule fanned to end the Dansville threat in the first.

Haslett scored in the bottom of the third as Childs led off with a walk. He reached second safely on an attempted steal when the ball got away from Dansville's Jerry Wing at second on Keith Douglas' throw. Brown got Tiller on a fly to center. Tebo struck out, but the third strike got away from Keith Douglas. As he retrieved the ball and attempted to get Tebo at first he threw the ball into right field. Paul Carl chased down the ball in right field and Tebo was caught in a run down between second and third, Glen Wireman eventually making the put out. On the overthrow into right, Childs scored the first Haslett run. Wilson, at this point, got Haslett's only hit of the ball game. It was a well-hit ball to left which was misjudged by the Dansville fielder, Breslin, and it rolled to the far corner of the field. By the time the ball was retrieved and relayed back to the infield, Wilson was on third with a triple. Brown then got Fulton on strikes to end the inning.

Haslett went ahead in the bottom of the fourth. With one away, Keith Douglas, the Dansville catcher, dropped Imhoff's pop-up in fair territory in front of the plate. Imhoff stole second and on the play the ball went into deep center field. By the time Brooks had reached the ball and it was relayed to the plate, Imhoff had scored.

In the top of the fifth Haslett collapsed. Brown opened the inning with blooper hit to right. Kaye Douglas then followed with a sharp single down the left field line. Brown stopped at second. Paul Carl fanned but Keith Douglas kept the rally alive by drawing a base on balls to load the sacks. Jim Breslin fanned but Dick Brooks came through with a single to center. Brown and Kaye scored and on the play at the plate Brooks went to second and Keith went to third.

Wireman followed with another single to center scoring Brooks and Keith and on the throw in to the plate the ball eluded the catcher and went to the screen and allowed Wireman to reach third. An error on Soule's grounder down the third base line enabled Wireman to score. Soule advanced to second on a passed ball but was left stranded as Wing fanned to end the inning after Dansville had batted around and scored 5 runs on 4 hits, one walk, a passed ball and 2 errors and had gone into a 6 to 2 lead.

In the top of the sixth Dansville added another run to its total. Brown hit a deep fly ball between the Haslett left and center fielders. Just as the left fielder started to haul in the fly he was crashed into by the center fielder also attempting to make the catch. Both fielders lay prone on the turf with the wind knocked out of them as Brown scampered all the way around the sacks.

Tebo took the mound in the seventh for Haslett. He got Wireman on a fly ball to center and Soule and Wing on strikes.

Haslett scored its final run in the bottom of the seventh. Imhoff opened the inning with a walk and advanced to second and third on successive infield outs. A passed ball allowed Imhoff to score. Brown bore down and fanned Lerch to end the game.

Aggie Thinclads Beat Stockbridge

Bulldog Runners Beat Stockbridge

Hallenbeck was Mason's top point-getter. He took first in the broad jump with a leap of 18 ft., 9½ in.; placed second in the 220 and third in the 100-yard dash.

Mason Keeps Circuit Lead With 3 Straight Victories

Cold weather hasn't hurt Mason's Capital Circuit baseball title chances. The Bulldogs knocked off Grand Ledge 2-1 Thursday night and then dumped Everett 12-3 Friday night to bring the season record to 4 straight wins. Three of the victories were in Capital Circuit competition.

Friday Charlotte will play at Mason. Jerry Lumianski will probably draw mound duty.

Dick Wheeler went all the way for Mason against Grand Ledge. He gave up 5 hits, allowed 5 walks and struck out 7 Comets.

Mason broke the scoring ice in the fifth inning when Doug Hilton went all the way around the bases on 3 errors.

In the sixth Mason scored a legitimate run when Dart Stone singled, moved to second when Duane Clark grounded to pitcher and came home on Wheeler's single to left.

Doug Baxter scored the Comet run in the first of the seventh when he singled, took second on a ground ball hit to Wheeler and came home when Dick Lawler singled. Wheeler settled down to strike out Irish and then took a pop fly off the bat of Jerry Waldrop to end the game.

It was a little easier for Mason over at Everett. In the first inning Mason scored when Hallenbeck tapped Lloyd Beardsley for a single and then came home on a single and an error. Everett tied it up in the last half of the first but Mason came back to score 3 runs in the second on hits by Bruce Horton and Doug Hilton and 2 walks. Everett picked up one run in its second inning.

Mason had no trouble the rest of the way. The Bulldogs slapped out 8 hits including Clark's home run.

Lumianski limited the Vikings to 4 hits, struck out 9 and walked 6 men.

On the mound Wheeler handcuffed the Greyhounds, allowing 6 scattered hits. Sherm Stanley was the only batter to solve Wheeler's pitching with any regularity. He collected 2 singles and a double.

Couple Speaks Vows in Methodist Church

Miss Nancy Ellen Weaver chose a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over Duchess bridal satin for her wedding to Phillip L. Parisian Saturday, April 21, at Mason Methodist church. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weaver. Mr. Parisian is the son of Roy Parisian of Lansing and Mrs. Max Hovey of Shaftsburg.

Rev. Raymond Norton, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony at 8 p. m. in the presence of 150 guests. Three large bouquets of white gladioli and pink snapdragons decorated the altar for the nuptial ceremony. White satin bows and greens marked the first 4 pews. Mrs. Don Densmore played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Arthur Carr of Lansing as she sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's gown was fashioned with a beaded sequin-sparkled Sabrina neckline and a princess line lace front panel. Tier upon tier of nylon tulle ruffles flowed from the sides and continued around the back. Long sleeves of lace extended to points at the wrists. A tiny headpiece of lace and pure silk with pearl trim held in place her fingertip veil of bridal illusion. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of red Happiness roses and white daisies.

Betty Weaver was her sister's maid of honor. She wore an ice blue chiffon ballerina-length gown styled with a cowl neckline with a scarf in back. Her flowers were a cascade of red Delight roses and white daisies. In gowns identical to the maid of honor's were the bridesmaids, Miss Kay Scofield and Miss Gerry Rickly. They all wore matching headpieces of white daisies. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow roses and white daisies.

Terry Parisian of Lansing served as his brother's best man. Ben Parisian and Norman Parisian, both of Lansing, cousin and brother of the bridegroom, respectively, were groomsmen and ushers were Robert Parisian of Lansing and Don Wiley, cousins of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Weaver selected a frock of Alencon lace over brown silk taffeta and nylon tulle fashioned with a scoop neckline and full skirt. She complemented her ensemble with beige and yellow accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother donned a navy blue dress of nylon with navy blue and white accessories. Her corsage was made up of pink roses and gardenies. Mrs. Parisian wore an azure blue frock of silk chantilly lace with matching accessories, and a gardenia corsage.

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP PARISIAN

A reception in the church parlors honored the newlyweds immediately after the ceremony. Wedding cake, nuts, mints, coffee, tea and punch were served. Farmer Peck's Wife

Birthday dinner at Schuler's.

The new puppies arrived.

Many things in Sammy's wake.

Yes, they arrived! And I do not know who is happiest; the mother, the children or Pete! Maybe sort of everyone, including me.

Now what could be cuter than 5 little puppies? Something that should happen to every child some time in his life. (From age 3 to 90!)

You never saw anything so helpless and cunning to watch. Pete dashed, and I mean dashed in breathless and excited to tell us, if we came quietly and carefully we could see them.

Kneeling in the straw we took in a most wonderful and interesting sight. Judy doesn't seem like much more than a puppy herself. Well, time surely does go fast and in dogdom she is quite a young matron already, I suppose.

To every father should go the joy of sharing a batch of new puppies with his children. To every child should go a father who will kneel in a special gentle way at a time like this.

I wish that Susy, Sally and Sammy could carry this picture of their dad with them as long as they live. It would be something to sustain them, no matter what, to remember love like that. Tender happy times like this help children feel very close to their parents. I believe many many times we have been spared from taking a wrong step by the knowledge of what sorrow it would bring our parents, who love us so much.

It surely is a wonderful time in the spring on a farm. There are so many baby animals to enchant and entertain. There is something about the very young, of anything, that is delightful.

Right now the puppies have priority over everything. The children haven't asked to sleep or eat down there but they spend most of their time at the barn.

For in addition to the pups there are new kittens, rabbits, calves, 500 chicks and their banties. They come in looking like they had bird nests in their hair. Sammy, with his many pockets and rolled up jeans, socks, etc. chaff, straw, oats, corn and several other kinds of litter. I can trail him for he leaves in his wake the above mentioned items along with little stones, bits of corn stalks, sundry of Pete's bolts, nuts, washers and clevises. On top of the things that sweep up easily from a rug there is something else that neither sweeps nor airs out well, after some of his excursions to the barn.

Pete had such a look of pride and joy last night that I had to smile too. Even though Sammy was a terrible sight. I could have used the water his clothes were rinsed in as pure, undiluted 100% strength plant grower.

Pete said that when he cleaned the barn that Sammy had walked back and forth behind him talking man-to-man fashion with his hands clasped behind his back, never missing a trip. He thought after he slipped down the first time that he was about as dirty as he could get anyway so he might as well stay . . . and it sure was fun having the little fellow visit like that.

Sammy has always amazed us. He began talking so young and saying his words plain using a large vocabulary. It is fun to hear him talk and explain things. Guess parents will never get over the wonder of hearing their children speak.

After church Sunday we celebrated Pete's and Ruby's birthday anniversaries at Schuler's in Marshall—in the Dickens room. It was a long wait for an extra fine feast with lots of atmosphere and reputation. Ruby, Pete's youngest sister, and I enjoyed it immensely. Pete and Raymond went to eat.

We were a long way from home and it didn't seem likely we would see anyone we knew. But it just goes to show you that it's a small world. We saw Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dodge of Pompeii, neighbors of childhood days. In fact, the first radio I ever saw or heard was over at Dodges. Carl had rigged one up and it created a sensation.

It's the one thing I remember about him the most and that comes to mind when his name comes up. He was quite a genius to us younger kids. It's odd how he became a banker instead of a man of radio, television, jet propulsion or space control.

P. S. And what do you think Mr. Birthday ordered? Roast beef and apple pie a la mode! Old standbys at Peckadilly Farm with a whole cow in our freezer.

Girl Is Injured On Way to Fire In Car Accident

Although a quarter-mile from the scene of the North Aurelius church fire Friday afternoon, Judy Plakke, 17, was a victim. The car in which she was riding hit a truck being used in fighting the blaze. The Mason junior is in Mason General hospital with her pubic bone in her pelvis broken in 3 places. She will not be out of the hospital in time to re-enter school this year.

When the fire siren sounded, Joe Bement, 16, took Tobey Pearsall, Polly Diamond, Virginia Taylor and the Plakke girl to the fire. They left the fire to drive south on Elfert road to visit a home and then turned back. As the car neared a culvert the driver noticed a truck parked in the right hand lane. When brakes were applied the car skidded in loose gravel and sideswiped the truck. The Plakke girls was riding in the left rear seat. Impact against the arm rest caused her fractures. The others in the car were only bruised.

Robert Ingham and Gail Every had taken an auxiliary pump off the fire truck and placed it in an Al Rice pickup truck. They had driven the pickup to the creek to set the pump so tank trucks could be refilled. They saw the Bement car approaching and leaped into the creek to avoid being struck.

Widow Collects From Risk Firm

In an out-of-court settlement Mrs. Bernadine Stowe of Alaiedon received $6,900 in damages from Mrs. Margaret Jordan of Mason, an automobile insurance company paying the sum.

Mrs. Jordan was convicted of manslaughter in the death of Lenwood Stowe. Her car hit Stowe as he was walking toward his home on Dobie road after a date and a quarrel with Mrs. Jordan. He died May 2, 1954, and Mrs. Jordan was convicted in October. She was taken to the Detroit House of Correction October 28, 1954, under sentence to serve from 2½ to 15 years. She was released from prison last Wednesday on appeal for a new trial. The appeal is based on the contention that negligent homicide should have been included in the charge to the jury.

In the civil suit Raymond H. McLean of Mason represented Mrs. Stowe. William J. Sessions represented Mrs. Jordan and the insurance company.

Howard A. McCowan of Mason and Benjamin F. Watson of Lansing defended Mrs. Jordan in the criminal trial and are handling the appeal.

Holt Plans for School Roundup Of Youngsters

Plans have been completed for the annual pre-school roundup of next year's kindergarten pupils at Holt. It will be conducted at the 3 elementary buildings—Midway, Sycamore and Elliott—all day Wednesday, May 9, Supt. Rex Smith said.

Parents are asked to register their children between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30 in the forenoon and from 12:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon, the superintendent said. Parents should take their children to the school nearest home if the children will be walking. If they will go by bus, registration may be made at any of the 3 buildings.

The superintendent said parents should take to the roundup the birth certificates of their children and memoranda of immunization dates and of childhood diseases. To enter kindergarten next fall a child must have attained the age of 5 years or reach that age before December 1, 1956.

There will be no free medical examinations this year, the superintendent said. Parents will be provided with forms to be taken to family doctors and dentists, to be returned to teachers when school starts in the fall.

Cleaners Offer Help to Church

According to Rev. John Pruden, pastor of North Aurelius church, the H & M Cleaners at Holt will contribute all proceeds from business so designated for the benefit of the church. The church building was destroyed by fire last Friday.

"Not just a percentage, but the entire charge will be contributed to the church rebuilding fund," the pastor said. "When garments are taken to be cleaned, however, the one who takes them must ask that the proceeds be credited to the church fund."

The pastor reported that a meeting will take place within a few days to reach final decisions on building plans. The type of structure, whether single-story or 2-story, is now being considered, he said.

The Greeks had a medical school 4,000 years B. C.—called it "The Temple of Saturn."

DAIRY CAREERS may be in the future for 6 Ingham county farm boys because of the encouragement of Wyeth Laboratories Inc. in Mason. The corporation sponsored the group at the dairy career day at Michigan State university Saturday afternoon.

Chemist John Hassinen led the tour which included a look at the Wyeth production line, including development and qualitative laboratories.

The Ingham group met with about 40 other young men and women from several counties at a dinner Saturday noon at the MSU Union building. Group discussions and tours of university dairy facilities filled out the afternoon.

The dairy career day is a plan to encourage more young people to enter the dairy processing and development phases of the industry. A growing list of scholarships is available for those interested in training at MSU. (Ingham County News photo.)

Wheat Allotment Date Is June 1

Farmers holding land on which no wheat has been seeded for grain for any of the years 1954, 1955 and 1956 may apply for a 1957 wheat acreage allotment, according to G. H. Alchin, chairman of the Ingham Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of these years, the farmer must apply in writing to the county committee by June 1, 1956.

Blank application forms are available at the ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments, Alchin stated.

Judge Imposes Life Sentence

Life in prison, but which under Michigan law may mean only 10 years, was imposed on a Lansing man Friday.

Judge Charles H. Hayden passed the sentence on Antonio Herrera, 28, convicted of statutory rape against his 7-year-old daughter. A jury brought in the verdict April 12.

In sentencing Herrera, Judge Hayden said he had listened to shocking evidence in criminal trials but could recall no case in which the testimony was more shocking. The father was also charged with savagely beating his daughter. He had previously been convicted of 4 offenses involving violence and once for desertion of his family.

Lt. Harold L. Barnhill and Sgt Ralph Smith transferred Herrera to Jackson Friday afternoon.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT THE MILK STRIKE!

The ill-advised milk strike, in which organized labor endeavored to "take over" the dairy farmers of the Detroit milk shed, proved one thing: That labor union practices and the business of independent farmers don't mix.

It became evident from the start that the instigators were not striking the dairies for a higher price. They had, in fact, agreed with dairies they would take the prevailing market price for farmers' milk!

Instead, they directed their attack against the dairy farmers' own organization, the Michigan Milk Producers Association, which they aimed to control or destroy. In this attempt, forces within organized labor sought to capitalize on the economic plight of the farmer and exploited a minority group of farmers to their own ends.

There should be no misunderstanding the fact that MMPA is a dairy farmers' cooperative, operated by the farmers, for the farmers, to cooperatively market their milk and protect their economic interests. It was the propaganda line of the strike leaders to mislead the farmers and the public in this respect.

The obviously false claim of strike leaders that they won a price increase was a part of this propaganda technique. Actually, nothing good for the dairy farmer resulted from the strike. Rather, only harm was accomplished, the seeds of dissension were sown, and the real issues and facts were wilfully misrepresented.

What Caused the Strike?

The strike stemmed from the ambition of a few within organized labor to control the Detroit milk market and to collect union dues from dairy farmers who ship milk to that market. To accomplish this, the strike organizers turned farmer against farmer in their drive to destroy his cooperative organization.

Who Were the Strike Leaders?

Major leadership and direction came from organized labor. Joined with these professionals were a former union organizer and a small group of dairy farmers who have consistently opposed the methods and policies of MMPA and sought this means of imposing their will on the MMPA membership.

What Were the Real Issues?

This was not a strike for a higher price for milk nor did it accomplish any economic advantage for farmers. The real issue was recognition of the so-called Fair Share group, organized labor's "front", for the purpose of dues collection and check-off. By this action, the strike directors sought to gain control of the assets and functions of MMPA.

Who Won the Price Increase?

The bargaining power of MMPA, carried out in an ultimatum voted at the March 28 delegates' meeting, was alone responsible for the price increase gained on April 1. The Class I price of $5 would have been achieved sooner and without ultimatum if obstructionist tactics of strike leaders and others had not blocked price negotiations carried on by the MMPA Detroit sales committee.

What Are the Economic Facts?

The increased price of $5 per cwt. applies only to that portion of the milk used for bottling and fluid purposes. It is not a net price to the farmer, who must pay marketing and shipping costs. Only part of the milk can be sold at this price, the rest must be used for manufactured products at the prevailing market price.

Outside Milk a Problem

Another factor not to be overlooked is the deluge of milk which results in any market where a higher than average price prevails. Competition from outside the milk shed can cause havoc for regular producers, even to the extent of losing their market.

No one realizes more fully the serious problems of the dairy farmer than does the MMPA, whose affairs are directed by these self same farmers. The present farmer price squeeze is the nation's Number One problem. It cannot be solved by mob action nor by looking for help from agitators outside the ranks of agriculture. They have their own axe to grind.

It's a 1956 Buick SPECIAL—which means, of course, it's a big car.

But look again at the price news it carries.

It tells you this big Buick SPECIAL can be yours for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars—for even less than some models of those very same cars. (And the price we'll show you proves how true that is.)

The gospel truth is—this brawny new beauty is the biggest bundle of high style and hot performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

The extra satisfaction of commanding Buick's walloping new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine—

The extra joy and comfort of Buick's new buoyant ride, Buick's matchless new handling ease, Buick's extra solidity of structure—

The extra thrill that comes from the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off—and the extra gas-saving mileage—of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.†

Delhi Township Proceedings

Regular meeting of the Delhi township board was called to order by Supervisor Fay on Monday evening, April 23. Minutes of the preceding meetings were read and approved.

Messrs. W. R. Carlyon and Glen Coon of Consumers Power Co. were present and made arrangements with the board for a gas franchise election to be held on June 6, 1956, in the township of Delhi.

A delegation from Kenbrook subdivision was present to make inquiries about what had been done to relieve the drainage problem in the Kenbrook subdivision. They were informed what action had taken place and advised to contact the county road commissioners for further information.

The first amendment to the Delhi Township Zoning Ordinance No. 2 was read and adopted by the township board.

John Hill and wife of Lansing were present and requested an option on ten lots in Maple Ridge cemetery for one year. He proposes to build a mausoleum on these lots if the residents of Delhi township are interested in purchasing spaces. After considerable discussion a motion was made by Myron Hancock, supported by Dr. Troost, to accept the option offered by Mr. Hill and authorize the supervisor and clerk to sign same for the township. Carried.

A communication from the department of public service of the City of Lansing, relative to supplying water to the residents in the northern part of the township, was read. The clerk was instructed to write the superintendent of public works and request a meeting of the sewer and water committee of the City of Lansing with the Delhi township board.

Motion by Myron Hancock, supported by Edith Adcock, to request the survivors of the Frank Lott Estate to remove the shrubbery on their cemetery lot in the Maple Ridge cemetery on Willoughby Road. Carried.

A communication from the county road commission, outlining a recommended list for the 1956 road betterment program, was read and discussed. Motion by Dr. Troost, supported by Harry Chaffee, that we accept the suggested program of the county road commission and authorize the supervisor and clerk to sign the contract for the board. Carried.

Progressive Dinner Given By Spanish Club Members

Mason high school Spanish club had its annual progressive dinner Saturday evening. Nineteen members gathered first at the attractively decorated home of Julie Davis where Spanish bean soup with crackers were served.

The second course was the traditional Mexican eggs served with tortillas at the home of Ruth Strickling. From there the club proceeded to Connie Bell's where Mexican snap beans enticed everyone to second helpings. The fourth stop was at the home of Barbara Norton where fruit salad and Spanish peanuts helped renew the appetites of guests.

Jean Ann McBride served the main course among Spanish souvenirs and decorations. It consisted of Venezuelan Spanish rice, arroz con pollo, bread, vegetable plate and milk. Afterward, the guests listened to Spanish and American music.

The party culminated at the home of Douglas Dancer where dessert (orange ice and Bien Me-Sabe cookies, a delicacy from El Salvador) was served. For entertainment Jean Ann McBride showed slides of Brazil and Jose Abohasen showed slides and moving pictures of Colombia.

The next party will be the annual spring picnic, at which time the first- and second-year classes vie for superiority in softball. Officers for next year will be elected.

Spanish is the predominant language spoken at each of these meetings.

State Extension Accepts Home Economics Awards

Four national 4-H award programs in the field of home economics have been accepted by the state extension service for 1956. Club members who excel in the canning, food preparation, clothing and dress revue will receive awards through the programs.

Canning awards are provided by the Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., food preparation by the Kelvinator Division of American Motors Corp., clothing by Coats & Clark Inc., and dress revue by the Simplicity Pattern Co., Inc.

Four county winners in canning, food preparation and clothing are eligible to receive gold-filled medals of honor, and medals will be presented to a blue award group in the county dress revue.

State winners in each of the 4 programs will receive all-expense trips to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago, November 25-29. At the congress, state dress revue winners will participate in the national 4-H dress revue.

National honors of $300 college scholarships will also be presented to 6 canning winners, 12 clothing champions, and 8 winners in food preparation.

The 4 programs are among the most popular in 4-H club work. Each year, 187,000 4-Hers enroll in canning projects, 675,000 in clothing, and 600,000 in food preparation. About 350,000 of those carrying clothing projects also participate in dress revues.

The cooperative extension services of the U. S. department of agriculture and state land grant colleges conduct the 4-H program, and the awards are coordinated by the National Committee on boys and girls club work. Complete information may be obtained from the county extension office.

Farm Bill Vote

Sometimes it is difficult to correctly appraise men and motives. But events have a way of catching up with deceptions. When the conference report on the farm bill came before the house, the Democrat congressman from this district voted for its passage and against the administration. Then came the president's veto. Practically every Democrat voted to overturn the veto. And once again the Democrat from this district voted against the president.

When the bill was first before the house some time ago, the Democrats moved to kill it because they didn't like the president's ideas. The Democrat from this district voted with his party even then by voting to send it back to committee. When that move was defeated, it was apparent that the bill would pass, and so it did. But his vote to recommit was a vote against the president's recommendations. The real test, however, came when the conference report was before the house and again after the president's veto.

On these tests this district's congressman twice voted with Democratic leaders and against the president. I call these things to mind now because they may be forgotten before the November election. Remember how he campaigned on the ground that he would furnish great support for the administration's program? My vote was for the president's farm bill which is now the law.

No congressman should be expected to vote against his own judgment as to what is right or wrong. He should follow the president's example and vote for what he believes to be right. But you can't be right by voting on both sides of the same question. Nor should anyone expect a Democrat to furnish continuing support for a Republican program. Some folks may be deceived once, but they should not allow themselves to be misled a second time. On this farm bill the Democrats voted almost solidly against the administration when the final showdown came—and that included all those from Michigan. Remember this when you hear Democratic talk about supporting a Republican program. And remember the president's words of last week.

Hunt Continues

Some people complain when I call attention to the fact that a murder is still at large. Such complaints are not going to deter me from a continuous urging that the search for him be continued. I am putting not only time but money into the search. Being printed on my order right now are 5,000 posters which will be distributed throughout the United States. Some day the murderer will be caught and I am determined that the day will be soon. So bear with me.

Last Sunday morning at 6:15 I drove to the Dansville cemetery and stood at the foot of the grave of Howard and Myra Herrick. As I stood there in the quiet of the dawn and gazed across the cemetery where so many loved ones lay, many things passed through my mind. I said to myself that no one there had been asked to pay such a price as Howard and Myra, with the possible exception of men killed in battle. The soldiers gave their lives for a cause, that we might live and enjoy freedom. Howard and Myra gave their lives without cause, not that we might live in freedom but in fear. The voices of Howard and Myra seemed to come to me, asking, "What are you doing to bring our killer to justice?"

Some folks may ask, "Why doesn't Harry toss in the sponge?" Sometimes I wish I were chairman of a political group. Then I would find no trouble in getting workers. Sometimes I wish I were the sheriff so I could devote full time and all a sheriff's resources to solving the crime. But I am glad just to be the imaginary chairman of a Hunters club, helping to hunt for a long-wanted suspect for murder, not just one murder, but at least 2. There are many names recorded in this Hunters club. Many have made generous contributions.

Crime marches on. There has always been crime and perhaps there always will be. But our deep concern is that 6 months have passed since the Herrick murders right here in Ingham county. The murderer should now be listed close to the top of the "Ten Most Wanted."

The search for this suspect must be given the undivided attention of many men and women —police officers and ordinary citizens. We must scour the United States to find this suspect. We can do it. We must do it. This world of ours is a small place for a killer to hide in.

Here in the United States the FBI is regarded as one of the best police organizations in the world. Our state police has a national reputation for ability. There are sheriffs in every county in the United States. On metropolitan police forces are experts in solving crimes. There is no place in the world where the facilities for tracking down criminals are better. There is no doubt but the murderer of Howard and Myra Herrick can be captured.

The trail petered out. That made rough going. Maybe what we need is a general review of the crime. Governor G. Mennen Williams might well take a hand. He could lead a crusade in Michigan and elsewhere to find the killer. He could spearhead a nationwide hunt. Here in Ingham county every public official should enlist in this hunt.

How can you help? Here at my store I have 5,000 circulars describing the crime and the suspect. I have letters from many police officials offering cooperation in distributing the circulars. Here is where you come in. Come and get these circulars. Mail them to friends and acquaintances throughout Michigan and in other states. Ask that the circulars be posted in prominent places. If you can't conveniently come to the store at Oakwood, just ask and I'll mail the circulars to you free of charge.

Let's all unite in this great hunt. Let's cooperate with law-enforcing agencies and dig this killer out of hiding.

You sometimes forget that many Michigan laws are different from those in other states.

We're all proud that Michigan continues to be one of the nation's fastest-growing states. Each year thousands more swarm here to benefit from the many opportunities in, business and industry. In addition to their skill and brainpower, these newcomers bring with them a variety of legal papers and ideas which are based upon the laws of other states.

We don't always remember that federal laws are only a part of our system and that each of the 48 states has "reserved powers" under the constitution to make its own laws. "States' rights" is one of the most jealously-guarded principles in American government.

Because of this difference in state laws, for example, a state like Nevada becomes a popular spot to get a divorce, many businesses incorporate in Delaware, and some other states become havens for quick marriages. But there are many lesser-known variations in state laws which can have quite a bearing on your legal affairs.

If you own property in another state, or prepared your will before moving to Michigan, or have business interests elsewhere, no matter how small, the variations in state laws could make a difference to you and your family.

If I were new in Michigan I know I would take a second look at my legal standing in the light of Michigan law. If I should move to another state, I would do the same thing when I got settled there. Or if I had a plot of land in Florida or California as part of my retirement plans, let's say, or even minor interests in another state I'd protect myself beforehand against any possible complications due to differences in state laws.

The best-laid plans in your home state might put you or your heirs at a disadvantage when interpreted under the laws of another state.

"Of course we haven't actually counted all the Joneses. But it seems a safe guess. Because this year—as they have year after year—more people are buying Chevrolets. And 2 million more people drive Chevrolets than any other car. Maybe you ought to come in and see why this is so.

Miss Baxter is provocative, hip-swinging Cherry Malotte, proprietress of Nomes biggest and best goldrush days saloon, the Northern.

Ray Danton playes Blackie, a crooked employee of the Northern, secretly in love with Miss Baxter.

Barbara Britton, long a screen favorite, gives a fine portrayal as one of the "spoilers," as does John McIntire in the role of Chandlers business partner.

When organized crime tried to move in on Detroit, America's auto capital, as depicted in Columbia Pictures' "Inside Detroit," starring Dennis O'Keefe and Pat O'Brien af the Fox Theatre, a grave problem was posed for all America.

According to world-famous news commentator, John Cameron Swayze, "Inside Detroit" shows "how this city battled the forces of gangsterism to overcome a grave threat to our security."

Comedians Take Up Art

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis offer their latest and funniest performances at the Fox Sunday and Monday when "Artists and Models" plays.

The comedy kings dip into their famous bucket of hilarious tricks and paint the Vista-Vision, Technicolor screen with another goofy adventure as they don smock and beret, crash the crazy world of art and run riot as comic book illustrators.

Co-starring with these Greenwich Village artists are Shirley MacLaine, Dorothy Malone and Eddie Mayehoff, with Eva Gabor, Anita Ekberg and George "Foghorn" Winslow.

Six hit songs and many production numbers pace Dean and Jerry as they keep one jump ahead of bat ladies, vulture men and interplanetary rockets.

Great Story Is Told

Behind the shuttered windows of a brooding Gulf Coast house lies a strange and moving story—

The strangest, wildest courtship a woman ever knew is the subject of Hal Wallis' "The Rose Tattoo," which stars Burt Lancaster and Italy's Anna Magnani. Arriving Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Fox Theatre, the Tennessee William drama, Miss Magnani's first American film, also stars Marisa Pavan and Ben Cooper.

the tale of indelible mark of love, "The Rose Tattoo." It will play at Fox Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

To the house's occupant, living a cloistered existence with only the memory of a lost but mighty love for company, the mark meant all she had ever wanted from life, but to each of the 3 people branded with it, it had a meaning all its own. One died with it on his chest, a dance hall hostess flaunted it shamelessly, and the last tried to bury the memory of his rival with it. Beneath the rose tattoo beat the raw emotions of love itself.

The cast of "The Rose Tattoo," is headed by Burt Lancaster and Italy's Anna Magnani.

Hits booked for the following week at the Fox include John Agar and Mara Corday in "Tarantula," Mickey Rooney in "Twinkle in God's Eye," William Holden and Kim Novak in "Picnic," and Howard Keel and Ann Blyth in "Kismet."

"Kismet" is being sponsored by Mason high school band.

Book Talk

Mementos, old programs, souvenirs, documents and old money will be cheerfully accepted by the Michigan Week committee for display in Mason business places on May 20-26. That is Michigan Week for this year, and several merchants have agreed to display such articles during the week. One day of Michigan Week is set aside as OUR HERITAGE DAY, an appreciation of what has made us what we are. OUR HERITAGE DAY is followed by NEW FRONTIERS DAY, demonstrating how the present is just a step between the past and the future.

Anyone with articles of historical interest suitable for display in a store window, or business men will to give some display space, are asked to notify the Heritage Day chairman, Norman Bunker, at Hall Memorial library.

Before that day, it is planned that the Ingham county library will be a part of the Scout-O-Rama show in Lansing Friday and Saturday. It will be loaded with materials of interest to young people and Boy Scouts. Library staff members will be in attendance both days to answer questions about the service. Get aboard the bookmobile for the trip that lasts a lifetime!

The case of the kangaroo who reported to a psychiatrist because he wasn't feeling jumpy has been much talked of lately. Anyone with similar troubles is advised not to medicate themselves, but to find out WHY YOU DO WHAT YOU DO by reading the book of that name by Robert Linscott and Jess Stein. They have provided selections from 22 of the world's greatest psychiatrists, including heavyweights Freud, Horney, Alexander, Menninger, Saul, Reik, and others.

Speech days are coming on! Get ready now for any assignment you may get. The latest at the Ingham county library is SPEAKERS ILLUSTRATIONS FOR SPECIAL DAYS, by Charles L. Willis. Appropriate remarks are classified for 23 occasions, such as Mother's Day, Fathers Day, commencement, etc.

A former 4-H club agent in Missouri has compiled THE 4-H CLUB LEADERS HANDBOOK. T. T. Martin worked in 4-H for 29 years. In this book he starts with the philosophy of 4-H and carried it through to evaluation. Anyone in 4-H can benefit from this book.

Ground observers never look at the ground, but air observers watch it closely. It all depends upon where you stand and how well you know what to look for. The enlarged edition of THE AIRCRAFT OF THE WORLD contains 1,200 photographs and 3 view silhouettes, designed to enlighten observers of any station. This book contains the latest and most radical combat aircraft types, commercial machines, and research machines revealing future trends in aircraft design.

If the high cost of ammunition is spoiling your target practice, consider AIR GUNS AND AIR PISTOLS. L. Wesley, an expert in this field, contends that a boy with an air gun need not be a menace. With proper guidance such a boy can learn important lessons. Wesley provides essential information for school boys with junior airguns to adults with high pressure pneumatic rifles.

The Gilbreth girls seem to have more amusing things happen to them than anybody. It all started with CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN, and now Ernestine Gilbreth Carey carries on with RINGS AROUND US. This book is about her own family, rather than her mother's, and every member is a happy, romping extrovert.

Oren Arnold has beaten Ernestine in the laugh marathon, but with the sacrifice of continuity. His book, THE WILD WEST JOKE BOOK, claims that the Western U. S. is the natural habitat of the hairy-chested backslapper, out where the wide open spaces stretch from ear-to-ear.

An island for the birds, that's the Canary. Not according to Richard Walter, though. In CANARY ISLAND ADVENTURE he tells how, with his wife and 3 children, he decided to stop growing ulcers and to cultivate his own family in a relaxed atmosphere. The Grand Canary, an island off the West Coast of Africa, specializes in eliminating deadlines and strains.

THE ATLANTIC BATTLE WON, May 1943-May, 1945, by S. E. Morison, begins with the birth of the anti-submarine Tenth Fleet and goes on to the advent of the snorkel submarines at the very end of the war. With good and plentiful illustrations, Morison shows how a combination of ships, planes, and science defeated the Nazi wolf packs.

Politicians Begin Harvest With Talks Through State

By ELMER WHITE
Michigan Press Association

"Harvest season" is almost here for politicians, and they are eagerly examining the crop of voters.

Democrats are embarked upon a series of "reports to the people" starring Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the 5 officeholders who moved into top state administrative positions 18 months ago. This party is touring the state for a face-to-face meeting with its many people. While the "report" may have much value to the citizens in general, there can be little doubt that it can have substantial political value to the Democratic party.

Lack of a gubernatorial candidate who can inspire enthusiasm in the GOP has been a matter of prime concern for Republicans. But leaders are not sitting on their hands until they select their man.

They are making things unpleasant, to say the least, for Secretary of State James M. Hare by emphasizing embezzlement charges involving his branch managers, and for Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh by underlining his difficulties with traffic regulations.

Democrats will make liberal use of their record since they took control of the state administrative board, and during the 4 terms of Gov. Williams. They will attack Republican legislators for not coming up with money and laws requested by the governor, especially in fields of mental health and education.

"A look at the record" will be the defense of Republicans. They will talk of what they did accomplish in these fields; claiming that laws they supported and money they helped appropriate will handle the problems, and without running the state's treasury in the red.

Republican leaders might total the list of appropriations requested by the governor and show how far the state would be in the hole if the legislature had acted according to his lead.

A spirited battle can be expected as this campaign gets underway. The prize is high for either party. The loss for either is serious.

Michigan judges have been asked to crack down on bad drivers with stiff fines.

The associations of municipal judges and justices of the peace already have adopted an "advisory" schedule of uniform fines —$1 a mile over the limit for the first 5 miles, $2 a mile for the second 5 and $3 a mile for the third 5 miles of speeding.

A conference of judges and law enforcement officials at East Lansing heard Secretary of State Hare say that the speed limits and other safety laws are "merely tools."

He said the final answer to highway safety lies with educating the driver and "changing his attitude."

"Until we can do that, we're in trouble," he said.

Vacations will be big business in Michigan again this summer.

The tall steel work of the Mackinac Straits bridge already is drawing sightseers to Michigan, the harbinger of what to expect when the bridge linking the peninsulas is completed in 1957.

Resort owners are beginning to build on either side of the straits, to be ready to serve the vacationing public—now and when the bridge is completed.

Michigan residents are considered to be the best advertisements for the state's resort areas.

Last year 9,000,000 people spent their vacations in Michigan, 4,000,000 of them state residents and 5,000,000 of them from other states—and nations.

Fishing for walleyes, northern, blue gills, pan fish and trout starts April 28 and bass season opens June 16.

Michigan Week will be highlighted May 21 with the annual exchange of mayors.

This is the custom of sending the chief executives of the state's participating cities and villages to other city halls for the day—to see how the other fellow operates.

More than 500 cities and villages are taking part in the 1956 exchange.

Local committees have been organized to make their one-day mayors comfortable, taking them on tours of municipal attractions and swapping ideas on the conduct of local government.

It will be a major day in the Michigan Week celebration May 20-26, set aside for the state to count its blessings and advertise its attractions to the world.

A "pep meeting" for young Republicans is scheduled for Lansing May 11-13. More than 400 active, interested GOP workers of more tender years will gather to organize themselves, elect officers, decide how they can best aid the Republican cause in 1956. They'll also crown a "Miss Young Republican."

Official sponsor is the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans. Keynote speaker is Congressman Orvin B. Fjare from Montana, who is invited to add enthusiasm to the sessions. General chairman is Charles Harmon, a student at Michigan State university.

Dahlia Growers Arrange Auction

At the horticulture building at Michigan State Saturday, May 5, the Michigan Dahlia association will have an auction. The Commercial Growers of Michigan has donated the stock to be auctioned. Funds obtained at the auction will be used to sponsor the dahlia show at Flint next fall.

Members of the Michigan Dahlia association are being asked to take articles other than dahlia stock to be sold. The suggested list includes needlework, home baked goods, homemade candy, potted plants, gladiola and begonia bulbs and bird houses.

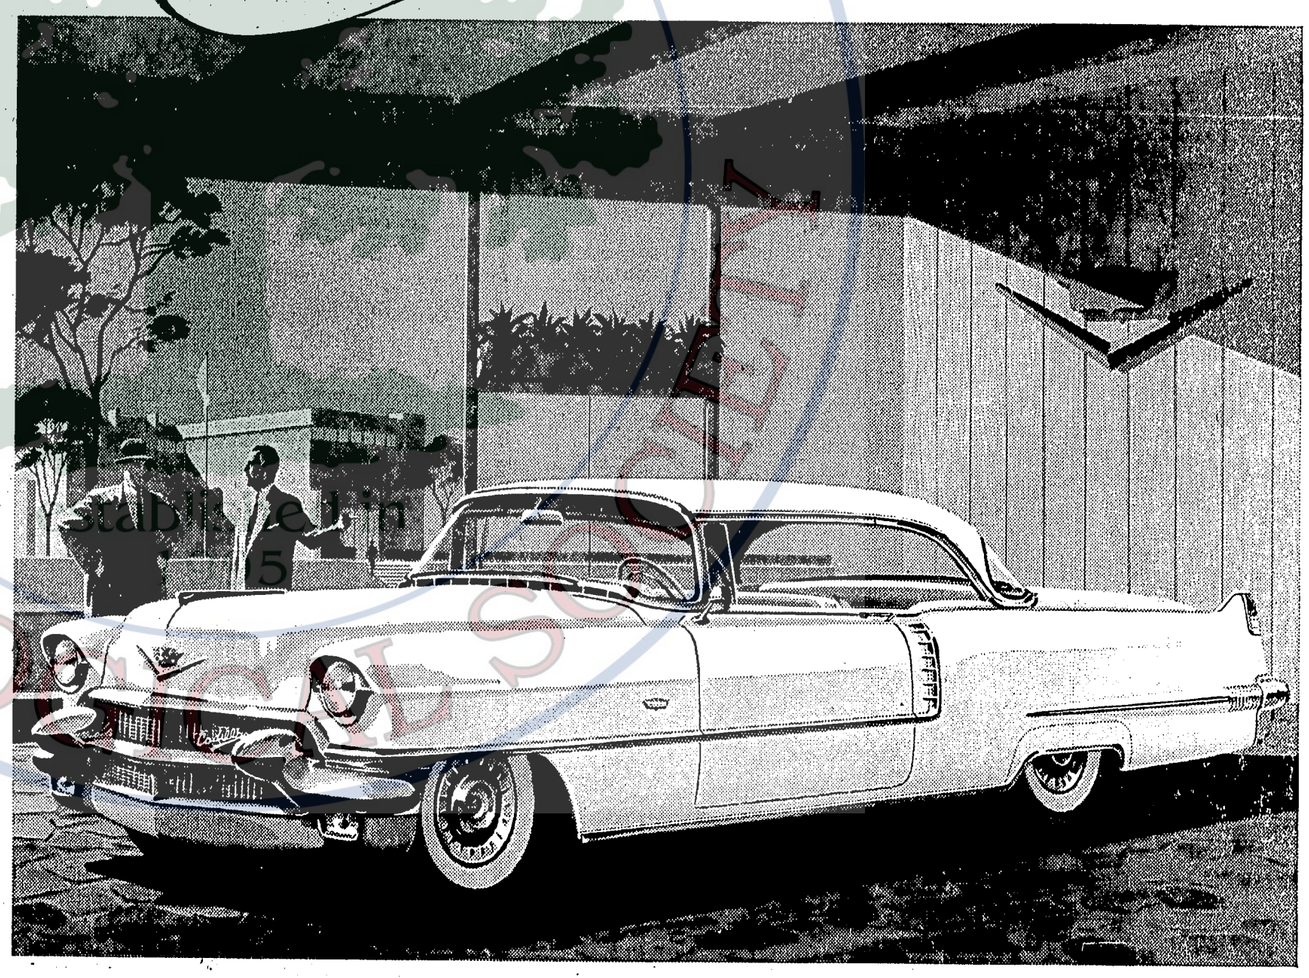
Cadillac



Giving In...To His Practical Side!

We will tell you, in all honesty, that this gentleman was a little dubious when he first walked into the showroom.

There was no question, to be sure, about his wanting a Cadillac.

But, quite frankly, he wondered whether or not he was in a position to purchase a motor car as fine . . . and as luxurious . . . and as wonderful as the 1956 Cadillac.

But now he is learning some facts about this distinguished motor car that are removing the doubt from his mind.

First of all, he is learning that a Cadillac is relatively modest in its initial cost.

He is finding out about Cadillac's extraordinary dependability and freedom from repairs.

He is discovering the remarkable facts about Cadillac's resale value . . . and how Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its original value over the years than any other automobile in the land.

And, lastly, he is being told that, at this particular time of the year, his dealer is able to make Cadillac ownership even more practical and attractive than usual.

That's why we suspect that—having given in long ago to his heart—he is now giving in to his practical side. And that's a combination no man can resist!

If you have considered Cadillac the car in your future—but have postponed making the move for reasons of economy—we urge you to stop in soon.

As an experienced Cadillac dealer, we have established a wonderful relationship with fine-car motorists throughout the community. Our reputation for integrity is positive assurance of your satisfaction as a customer.

We will be happy to see you at any time.

Insurance Is Not a Luxury

A man must be rich indeed to carry his own fire insurance.

There has been a series of fires at Mason this past week. Losses have been serious, even where there has been ample insurance. Where the insurance has not been adequate, losses have been appalling.

There were business acquaintances who insisted that Glen Dunn of the Ball-Dunn furniture store carried more insurance than was warranted, that he was devoting too much of the store income to special extensions such as business interruption and other new wrinkles.

Fire came despite precautions against it. Firemen fought the blaze skillfully. Thousands of dollars worth of expensive furniture was carried to safety by volunteers.

Yet Ball-Dunn did not have too much insurance. There was enough insurance and enough salvage to almost cover the loss. Some of those extensions which some people called luxuries came in handy. Instead of having to sell salvaged stock, the management through its insurance coverage was able to have that sold elsewhere. Ball-Dunn stock will be completely new. Instead of watching the overhead mount while the store is awaiting arrival of new merchandise, the management is receiving insurance payments to compensate for interruption of business.

The store management has found insurance adjusters as quick to settle as insurance agents were to sell.

Any man in business should not look upon insurance as a luxury. Any man in business who has suffered a fire loss never does. He regards insurance as a prime necessity.

How does your policy read?

Liquor Advertising Again

At most recent sessions of congress bills have been introduced to ban the interstate advertising of liquor, wine and beer. Up until now those bills have been pigeonholed in committees. The liquor traffic, backed by some newspaper and magazine publishers and by many radio and TV operators, succeeded in scaring congressmen from taking action.

This congress could be an exception. Before the interstate commerce committee is the Siler bill. The committee is conducting hearings and there is some reason for belief that the bill will be reported out of committee. Then the pressure of the liquor interests and its backers will be used against all members of the house of representatives. If the lower house should pass the bill, the bales of letters and telegrams now going to representatives would descend upon the senate.

There is little hope for passage of the Siler bill in this congress. But someday such a bill will become law.

If alcoholism stems from a breakdown of morals, then advertising inducements for a spread of the breakdown ought to be prohibited. If publishers and broadcasters won't voluntarily stop prostituting their press and air freedom then they should be prevented by law from so doing.

Yes, but alcoholism has no connection with morality, the new school of pseudo-scientists declare. Alcoholism is a disease, they insist. If that be true then publishers and broadcasters and telecasters have no more right to spread the disease than they have to spread polio, smallpox or syphilis. Alcoholism, if it is a disease, takes a far greater toll than all contagious diseases combined.

Those who believe that the spread of alcoholism should be checked should not let the piteous cries of publishers and broadcasters deter them from informing their congressmen and senators of their beliefs. And the information could and should be placed before publishers and broadcasters. If publishers received only a few hundred letters of protest from readers they might impose their own bans without waiting for congress to act.

If you believe it is wrong to use the press and the air waves to make new and bigger crops of alcoholics, say so. Write your congressman today. In this district the congressman is Don Hayworth. His address is the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Supply and Demand

The plight of American farmers stems from war-time production. Food played a big part in winning the war and in keeping the peace afterward. But the expanded production, the reclamation at government expense of vast new areas and the artificial props to prices, interfered with the law of supply and demand.

Since 1952 the government has bought as surplus 912 million pounds of butter, 614 million pounds of cheddar cheese and 2 billion pounds of non-fat dry milk solids.

American herds produce more milk than the market demands. The law of supply and demand has been set aside for milk as it has been for wheat, for cotton and for tobacco and peanuts and other crops.

In the greatest era of general prosperity this nation or this world has ever known the people can not consume, at least do not consume, all the dairy products put on the market. In fact, the government up to this point has not even been able to give away the surplus fast enough to keep storage available.

In discussions about the production and the marketing of milk we ought not to lose sight of the main difficulty.

Less Than Stone's Throw

Security restrictions on the Soo locks have been eased, according to news dispatches.

"Now visitors can come to within a stone's throw of the General MacArthur locks," the news item said.

That stone's throw business must mean that the wire netting will still be in place. Thousands upon thousands of people are now and still will be kept back from the locks because of the fear that somebody will throw a bomb. If a saboteur wanted to bomb the locks he would find a way to do it, fence or no fence. He would hide the bomb on a ship. He would drop a bomb from a plane. He would cut his way through the fence. Or he would go to the Canadian side where there are no fences and plant his bombs.

That fence at the Soo locks should come down and visitors should be permitted to get closer, closer than a stone's throw, to watch the ships locked up and down.

Unbalancing of Nature

Lansing and East Lansing and Lansing township are making plans for killing every insect, bug and microbe which flies or crawls, with a series of sprays.

The venture was first undertaken to fight some terrible scourge that threatened trees. The trees may or may not have been saved, but the spray did kill bugs and insects.

Such spraying may save a little slapping and scratching but it unbalances nature. Many birds depend upon insects for their food and where there are no insects there are few birds. Where there are no bees there must be imperfect pollination of fruits.

There must also be some danger to human health in spraying many square miles with poison enough to kill every insect.

Here at Mason are people who hope that when the time comes to apply the spray in Lansing and East Lansing that the wind won't be in the north. We want to keep our insects healthy for the birds. We want to keep bees around for our fruit trees and cucumbers.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Mason people have been concerned over elemental things for a week; the elements which concerned the Greek philosophers. They were fire, water, earth and air. Aristotle added a fifth. That was the ether which contained the stars.

In a report on the Ball-Dunn fire the Ingham County News credited the firemen with playing "streams of water and chemicals" onto the blaze. As the walls toppled at the North Aurelius church fire Friday afternoon and there was little firemen could do, Chief Leland Austin took time out to set me straight.

"What made you think we used chemical at the Ball-Dunn fire?" he asked. "We haven't used chemical for years."

They were using it right then. Onto the embers the firemen were squirting hydrogen, oxygen, carbon dioxide, various chlorides, sulphates, nitrates, ammonia, calcium, magnesium and fluoride and a lot of other chemicals and salts and minerals thrown in for good measure.

Even had firemen been using distilled water on the blaze they would have been using chemicals, 11.188% hydrogen and 88.812% oxygen, and from the atomic standpoint right then they were applying a chemical made up of 2 atoms of hydrogen to one of oxygen.

During the course of the fire the Mason firemen even changed the molecular structure of their chemicals. They poured on dihydrol. The heat changed it to hydrol. Before morning when the steam was changed back to water and the water became ice the molecular structure was trihydrol.

Every fire is a chemical process whether at Ball-Dunn or the North Aurelius church, and every attempt to fight or feed a fire becomes a chemical process. Firemen are actually chemists. To snuff out a fire they try to exclude oxygen by stamping on the flames or by water which is a mixture of chemicals. To feed a fire, add oxygen.

Chemicals making up the mattresses and the wood furniture at Ball-Dunn and the pews and hymnbooks at North Aurelius were oxidized.

Being born, living and dying are chemical processes. Oxygen is drawn into the lungs to oxidize the blood. When that process ceases, the body is consumed by oxidation. Those who want quick oxidation rely on cremation. When oxidation is not that quick, bacteriology helps chemistry along. In either process the chemicals making up the body decompose—ashes to ashes, dust to dust.

After leaving the North Aurelius fire I took my wife and daughter and a couple of granddaughters to the Onondaga OES turkey supper. There I discovered that the chemical composition of many turkeys had been changed by oxidation and by the addition of bread and sage. Chemistry had also changed a lemon, a sugar beet, and fat from a hog into a delicious lemon pie. The chemistry of my body converted that turkey and lemon pie into energy and I was finally able to shove myself away from the table and onto my feet.

Firemen are chemists who wear rubber coats instead of white smocks. Living and dying are chemical processes. Lay off that bicarbonate of soda.

Subscribers in Ingham and adjoining counties who don't receive their Ingham County News Friday should complain to postmasters. All our papers go to the Mason postoffice Thursday afternoon. All except those for Mason, Leslie and Dansville leave Mason Thursday afternoon. Leslie papers ride on the early Leslie truck Friday morning. Dansville papers ride in the star route car. Mason carriers take the Mason papers.

We make our share of mistakes here in the office. Labels sometimes come off. But when sacks of papers are not delivered the fault does not lie with our office or the Mason postoffice. Complaints over delays in transportation should be made to us and to local postmasters, too. They can file complaints also and probably obtain quicker results than we get.

Badminton is a game imported from India, played there with a woolen ball and with 5 players on a side. A woolen ball here would cut the cost of the game and probably not cut down the fun.

There's going to be more wool, too, in Ingham county. Sheep are making a comeback, even though the wool market is down. Synthetic fibers such as nylon, dacron, crystalette and orlon have lowered the price of wool and cotton. All wool and a yard wide is not the impressive statement it used to be. Too many customers don't want it all wool and they don't seem to care whether it's a yard wide.

Please, please, don't write poetry for the Ingham County News. Two epics have been submitted the past week and both have had to be rejected. The Ingham County News has an agreement with Poetry magazine. We don't print poetry and the magazine doesn't print want ads.

Here is something that ought to encourage dieters. Hides from thin cattle are worth 4c more per pound than hides from fat cattle. Leather from fat cattle can only be used to advantage in soles of shoes. Hides from lean cattle go into uppers.

Sale Customer Got a Bargain

Those who attended the sale at the Emmons Wilson farm near Leslie April 16 are asked to check what they took home from the sale against their purchases.

Wilson reported that one of the buyers at the sale was short a turkey and 9 steel fence posts when he went to gather up his purchases. The man waited until the end of the week to report it, thinking it was just an honest mistake and someone would recognize it and return it as is often the case at large sales, Wilson said.

The Jackson Western Horsemen's club had a pancake breakfast for members, at noon, Sunday, April 22, at the club house on Dutch road, Leslie.

Percy Gilman, Fred Gilman and Percy Todd came home from smelt fishing with a washtub and a half full of fish. They were on the bay just beyond Au Gres. They reported traffic conditions serious because of the rush of smelt fishermen. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adkins and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brattain went up beyond Au Sable last week end for smelt.

Archers Will Compete

The Leslie Bowman's club will have a field shoot on the Neil Harland farm, on Hull road at 2 p. m., Sunday. The next regular meeting of the club will be on May 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams.

Rally in Lansing Attracts Youth

Camp Barakel rally at the Inter-City Tabernacle in Lansing Friday was attended by 18 from the Leslie Baptist church. Phyllis Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gilman, was given a free week's camping for bringing the most new registrants.

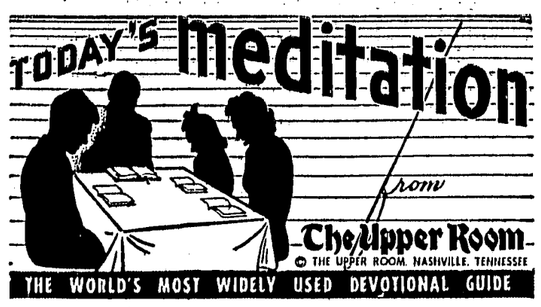
Square Deal Farm Bureau met Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Boyce.



Will ye also go away? (John 6:67.) Read John 6:66-71.

When the crowds turned their backs on Jesus, He turned to His disciples, His friends, and asked them, "Will ye also go away?"

The fortune of Christianity in any generation depends upon the friends of Christ. Demands are heavy. The crowd turns its back. What about us, His disciples? We call Him Teacher, the most excellent teacher of all time. Do we try to follow His teachings in word and deed and spirit?

We call Him Master, one to whom we subordinate all desires and ambitions. Judas Iscariot said, "Master," and betrayed Him. Still another asked: "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He turned his back upon Jesus when told the cost of eternal life. Is Christ our Master indeed.

We call Him King. Another said the same thing in his day. Pilate wrote on the cross, "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews." But this same Pilate condemned Jesus to crucifixion. We call Him "King," but do we give Him sovereignty over our lives?

PRAYER

O God, pardon our sins. Increase our faith. Implant Thy spirit within our hearts. Give us courage. Grant us the will to make Christ Teacher, Master, and King of our lives. Help us as we pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

God does not rule over our actions unless we give allegiance to Him in our hearts.

TELEPHONE lines

ONE GOOD EXAMPLE of how telephone research benefits all of us is the amazing transistor. This versatile marvel, an electronic amplifier, was conceived, invented and developed at Bell Telephone Laboratories. As development progresses, transistors are replacing vacuum tubes in more and more telephone equipment. Tiny and mechanically simple, transistors last longer than vacuum tubes and need little power. These economical features help keep down the cost of providing telephone service.

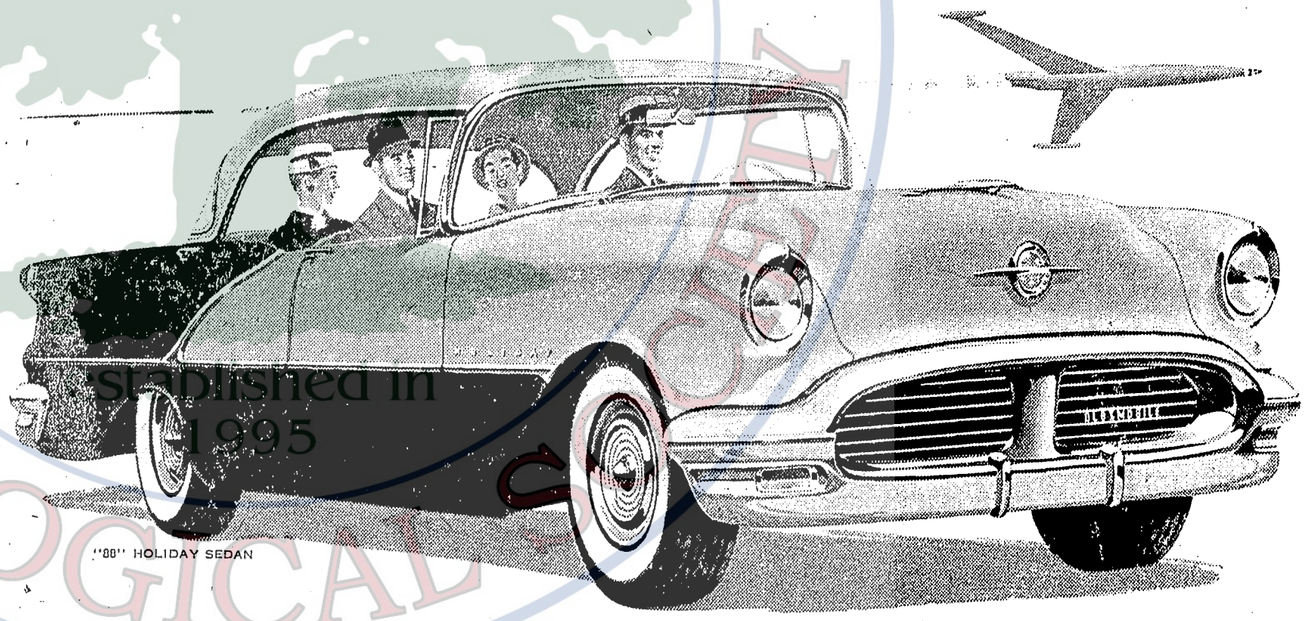
WHAT DO YOU have planned for, say, next week end? Perhaps a drive to see some friends or relatives in the next town. Or maybe you're going to spend a quiet two days at home. Either way, the telephone can help you enjoy your week end. If you're planning a visit, call ahead and let the folks know just when you'll be there. And if you're just going to loll around the house, wouldn't that be a good time to talk to those out-of-town friends or loved ones? Telephone calls cost so little and they are so appreciated.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

BREAKFAST IN BED is one good example of luxurious living. But that's a luxury most of us can't often afford. A bedside phone on the other hand is a very inexpensive "luxury." For about $1 a month you enjoy the comfort and convenience of an additional telephone at your finger tips. It will mean the end of stumbling around when you make or get calls at night—you just reach for the phone. To order your bedside telephone, call our Business Office.

IT'S TORQUE THAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO 'ROUND!



...And the High-Torque Output of Oldsmobile's Famous Rocket Engine Is Instantly Translated into Outstanding Performance at the Rear Wheels!

LET'S TALK TORQUE! In plain language, torque is "twist"—like turning a door knob. It's the force that makes the wheels go 'round.

So it follows . . . the more torque your engine has, the more go power your car has . . . the more getaway at the light . . . the more action on the open road!

That's why, when it comes to power, there's nothing like Oldsmobile's Rocket T-350 Engine—because the Rocket is torque TNT! Figures prove it: 350 pound-feet at 2800 rpm (340 pound-feet at 2400 rpm in "88" models).

OLDS CHASSIS IS ENGINEERED TO HANDLE HIGHER TORQUE!

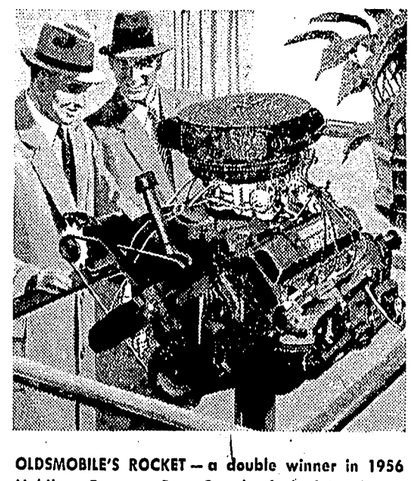
Oldsmobile has the chassis to take Rocket torque . . . a skillfully engineered Oldsmobile chassis with an extra-sturdy, dynamically balanced drive shaft, and an extra-rigid frame that resists twisting and weaving.

What's more, the Rocket's got horsepower *—to spare! And with Oldsmobile, it's high, usable horsepower . . . a by-product of engine design aimed straight at the wheels—design that translates horsepower into terrific torque at normal engine rpm's.

TOP TORQUE MEANS TIP-TOP PERFORMANCE!

The result is higher torque—silken, responsive Rocket action. Touch the accelerator, ever so gently, you "go" . . . and we do mean "GO!" You thrill to smoother, swifter bursts of power in medium speed ranges—tip-top performance for everyday use—spectacular performance when you need it . . . when you want it.

Any way you look at it; you can't top the Rocket for thrills for the money—or for top return when it's time to trade. Stop by soon. Rocket 'round the block . . . or around the town if you like!



OLDSMOBILE'S ROCKET—a double winner in 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run. Get the feel of top horsepower, top torque in the engine that's an economy champion, too!

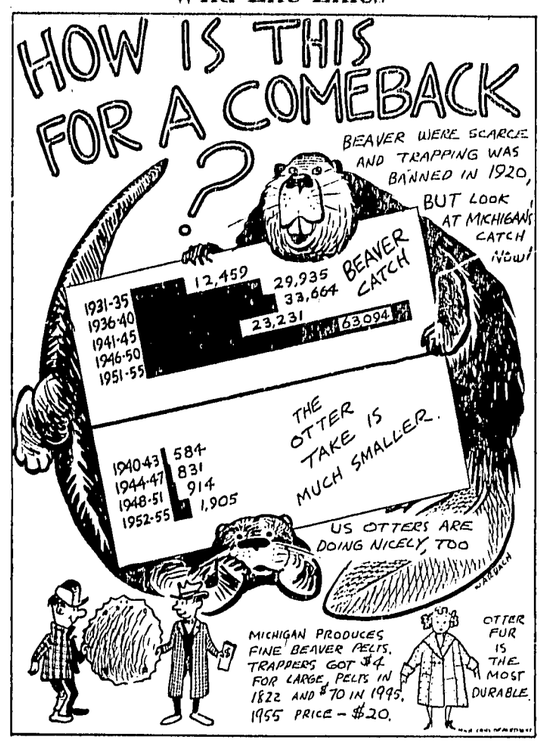
Wild Life Lines



Michigan beaver and otter seasons start in late March and continue into April and an estimated 4,000 trappers will try their luck on ponds and streams throughout the state. Under Conservation Department control in recent years, the catch of these animals has been high. Season lengths are better regulated and bag limits cut or increased to give trappers chance to harvest the annual surplus without loss to disease, predation and other causes.

Mushrooms Abound in State But Some Are Not Edible

Want to collect some succulent mushrooms to decorate a sizzling steak?

Chances are you can locate just what you want since Michigan can boast over 1,000 different kinds of mushrooms growing wild in the woods, fields and bogs, said Alexander H. Smith, University of Michigan professor of botany.

"A word of warning," he said, "always learn to know the species before you eat any of it. Never—but never—rely on any rule of thumb such as whether the cap peels or whether the gills are pink, all such rules are dangerous."

"You should learn to recognize both the edible and poisonous kinds," Professor Smith said. "Best way to do this is to obtain a book or pamphlet on the subject and acquaint yourself thoroughly with the general characters of the plants, and the terms used to describe them. Then apply this information to the specimens you collect."

"Try particularly," he added, "to locate those which are highly recommended in your pamphlet and also those marked poisonous. After you have learned to recognize an edible species beyond any shadow of doubt, you can begin to think about eating it."

The university mycologist explains that mushrooms are seasonal in their fruiting habits, "By learning to recognize about a dozen edible species, you can collect wild mushrooms from about the middle of May almost to cold weather in the fall."

"In this region (southern Michigan) your best chances of finding morsels are from May 15 to June 25. From around July 10 to August 5 the common milk fungi are abundant. From the middle of September on into October or November slippery jacks and other fleshy pore fungi are common under pines and gill fungi are abundant around old stumps.

"These periods all vary somewhat depending on the weather. If we have a wet summer, collecting may be good from just after the Fourth of July on into September," the botanist added.

Poultry Business Changes Rapidly

Fast moving changes in the poultry industry have been reported by the U. S. department of agriculture, according to poultry specialists at Michigan State university.

The 1951 agricultural census indicated that numbers of chickens on farms dropped 19% from 1950 to 1954. Even more startling is the report that 41% fewer farms are selling chickens and 30% fewer farms are selling eggs.

As a result of the rapid changes, the USDA has revised its estimate of the number of eggs consumed per person, say the Michigan State university poultrymen. The revised figures show that 366 eggs per person were consumed last year. Previous estimates had put this figure at 417 eggs consumed per person.

A consumer survey is now being tabulated to check the accuracy of these revisions.

God, Not Money, Should Motivate Soil Conservation

Soil Stewardship Week Starts May 6

By BERT SCHERTZING
Soil Conservation District Director

On Sunday, May 6, the Ingham Soil Conservation District along with soil conservation districts throughout the nation will begin the observance of Soil Stewardship Week or Rogation Days.

Through the ages man has been conscious of the need to give thanks to God for His bountiful blessings. The 3 Rogation days are over 1500 years old. They began at Vienne, France, in the year 470 A. D. There had been crop failures due to earthquakes and bad weather with resulting famine. The clergy and the people made penitential processions calling upon God to help and ask His intercession. Other communities took up the custom, and from France it soon spread throughout the world.

Last year thousands of people all over America participated in Soil Stewardship Services and Rogation Day prayers in cities, village and country churches. This was a tremendous demonstration of man's desire to give thanks to God and to ask for His continued blessings.

Good, productive soil is more than dirt. It is a living organism. It is God's gift to man. The soil will benefit from man's wise care, or it will suffer because of his ignorance or greed. The Christian farmer knows that good soil practices pay off in dollars and cents, but his motive will be higher. He will follow these good soil practices because of a strong desire to be a good steward of the soil.

Basically, the problem of soil conservation is the selfishness of the human heart. We must have a genuine concern for others. A farmer's motto might well be, "I will not destroy that which I did not create. For the fields that I till today will be someone else's to till tomorrow."

When man fails in his stewardship of the soil, he brings poverty not only to himself and his community, but to his descendants for generations to come. In spite of the misuse of many acres of our land, we are blessed in this country with abundance and surplus.

Good soil stewardship implies, I believe, that we share our abundance with our needy neighbors wherever they may live in the world. Christian stewardship morally obligates each generation to pass on a land resource of higher productivity than it receives.

All people, city and rural, are encouraged to participate in the observance of Soil Stewardship Week, May 6 through May 12.

BERT SCHERTZING practices soil conservation all year long. He is shown above holding a leaflet heralding Soil Stewardship Week, May 6 through May 12. Schertzing is a director of Ingham Soil Conservation district. Mr. and Mrs. Schertzing live on a 160-acre poultry farm in Bunker Hill township. There are 3 sons, Albert, 8; Chris, 3; and Mark, 17 months. The Schertzings are members of the Bunker Hill Catholic church and the Hi-Neighbor Farm Bureau group.

Grubs Lure Moles Into Lawn Area

Lawns infested with white grubs may be damaged by moles because the rodents feed on white grubs, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Avery explained it this way: The grubs of June or May beetles feed on the roots of grasses. When they become abundant, these white grubs cut the grass sod from the ground. Because the sod can no longer obtain water and minerals from the soil, it turns brown and dies.

Chlordane is the material to use. The amount to apply to the surface of the soil is 5 lb of a 5% dust to 1,000 square feet. For a spray use ½ lb of 50% wettable chlordane powder in a gallon of water and apply this amount to 1,000 square feet of lawn.

When 5% chlordane dust is used, it is necessary to soak it into the soil with the garden hose. The aim is to soak the chlordane into the lawn and not wash it off in streams of water. It is also advisable to wet down lawns treated with a chlordane spray.

If Aldrin is used for control of white grubs, 3 actual lb of this chemical should be used to an acre. This would amount to ¼ lb of a 25% wettable aldrin powder to 100 square feet of lawn surface. Read the label on how to use aldrin carefully and safely.

It is perhaps advisable to apply white grub treatments in the fall and spring. However, treatments can be applied at any time of the year just so they can be soaked into the soil. If a lawn is being prepared for seeding apply the chemical to the surface of the ground and work it into the top 6 inches of the soil.

Tomato Yield Doubles with New Process

An inexpensive chemical treatment can mean twice as many tomatoes to sell during the early months of the season, according to tests just completed by horticulture researchers at Michigan State university.

Dr. S. H. Wittwer and Dr. F. G. Teubner produced these increased yields by spraying tomato seedlings with chemicals containing N-arylphthalamic acids. These chemicals caused the number of flowers on the first cluster (potential early fruit) to increase 2, 3 and even 4 times. Ten other related chemicals have also been found to produce similar results on both field and greenhouse varieties.

The increased yields were produced when fertilizer and moisture were made available above normal recommendations to provide for the additional fruit set.

The scientists further discovered they could also increase the number of flowers on each of the succeeding clusters by spraying at 2-week intervals following the first treatment. The first application is made when the plants are 2 to 3 weeks old and when the first true leaves have developed.

The researchers point out that increasing numbers of flowers for all clusters might even double the total season yield if proper amounts of moisture and fertilizer are supplied. A tomato plant may develop as many as 9 clusters in a season. For field tomatoes growers may be able to harvest more fruit in a shorter time.

This chemical treatment gives the same results as chilling of seedlings to increase number of flowers on the first cluster. However, the chemical application has the advantage of producing additional flowers on all clusters rather than just the first one when repeated.

Dahlia Growers Plan Meeting

Michigan dahlia enthusiasts will exhibit their prize specimens at the state dahlia show in Flint September 1 and 2, reports C. F. Wildon, Michigan State university horticulturist and chairman of the show.

The show is to be held in conjunction with the silver anniversary of the Flint Yard and Garden club at the I. M. A. auditorium.

Genesee county 4-H club members will have a special section in the show. The state's commercial dahlia growers will provide interested members with a collection of roots if they agree to exhibit at the show.

State and Federal Research Often Yields Big Dividends

By CARL COLLIN

This year the states and federal governments are spending some $160 million for agricultural research. That's about 96c a person a year. About 50c of that comes from the federal government, the other 46c from the states.

As an example of the returns on research money, federal officials point out the spectacular gains in broiler production. Twenty years ago broiler production wasn't an important farm operation. Today it's a highly commercialized business which last year grossed $800 million. Production has increased almost 2,400% in the last 2 decades!

Research has added so much new information on poultry feeding that the ration now gives a half-pound more poultry meat in 9 weeks on a half-pound less feed. A grower can produce 42% more meat from the same amount of feed he used 20 years ago. The time to produce a 3-pound broiler has been cut by nearly one-third. And the labor efficiency has improved by far greater margins than that for other livestock enterprises.

Shoe uppers are usually made from light hides which come from slim cattle. Because cattle feeders have been feeding stock to heavier weights, anticipating higher prices for top quality beef, hides have grown heavier. Leather from these weighty hides is used mostly for soles. The result is that prices for light hides have jumped 4c since January, the highest level in 3 years. Heavier hides have sold off a cent or so in the last several months.

Prosperity in some Eureopean areas is being felt in demand for some U. S. farm products. Exports of corn, oats, barley and sorghums from July through February jumped to 210 million bushels, up from 102 million bushels the year before. Our sales of breeding cattle jumped 600% from 1949 to 1955. Prospects are good for a continuation of this demand. Incidentally there's a severe shortage of potatoes in Britain. That may be one reason for the rapid rise of spud prices in the important Maine area in the last few weeks.

Farm purchase of fertilizer is down materially so far this year. Bad weather and smaller acreages for some crops may be partly responsible. Sales of plant food thus far in 1956 are nearly 20% below those of a year ago. Sales of fertilizer in the spring usually determine the trend for the year. Farmers normally buy about 60% of their needs in March, April and May. Bettering weather conditions could bring on a splurge of fertilizer buying during the next few weeks. And there's some indication buying is stepping up as weather moderates and planting season gets closer.

Cumulative purchase of dairy products under the government's price supporting operations since the program began April 1, 1952, amounted to some staggering figures. Total purchases of butter amounted to over 912 million pounds; cheddar cheese to 614 million pounds; non-fat dry milk solids almost 2 billion pounds. As of March 31, 1956, CCC had no uncommitted stocks of butter; about 228.2 million pounds of cheese and over 46.4 million pounds of dry milk. Huge donations were mainly responsible for complete reduction of butter stocks.

Wind erosion in the southern Great Plains has been severe again this year. Latest report on damage places some 7.2 million acres affected by strong winds blowing over dry soil. Some 16.6 additional million acres in the southwest are in condition to blow if the moisture situation is right when strong gusts push across the expansive plains area. Some kind of permanent conservation program is needed to get this land back into a cover that will protect the top soil. It's an area planted mainly to wheat and that's a commodity we're oversupplied with anyhow. Furthermore the type of wheat produced in the southwest is the kind that's jamming storage because of slow demand compared with needs for other types which make better flour for baking.

Farming operations are getting off to a slow start this year. If the weather bureau's forecast for the next 30 days pans out we might not do much catching up. The outlook is for below normal temperatures and about normal rainfall. So far the cool weather has been a break for fruit growers, but the cool dry weather has held back fitting and seeding. Reports from around southwestern Michigan indicate need for plenty of water in the subsoil. The deep frost didn't allow late winter thaws to replenish moisture supplies down deep where we'll need it later on.

MISCELLANY . . . The new support rates on butter have been boosted to 59.5 cents, Chicago basis. This is an increase of 2c . . . Farmer's share of the consumer's pork dollar sagged to about 82% in 1955 from 61% in 1954. A record 47.4c of each pork dollar went to middlemen last year. Costs of processing and distribution have been increasing since 1949. Transportation costs have risen 17%. Average hourly earnings of workers have jumped 42%.

Congressional Democratic leaders say the administration already has authority to put the soil bank plan into effect under present law. House appropriations committee last Thursday approved a money bill 36-7 which would give the administration $1.2 billion to go ahead this year with the soil bank idea. Just how far this move will get in the house and senate is a question, possibly answered by the time you read this . . . Number of cattle on feed for market in the 14 major feeding states on April 1 showed an 8% decrease from a year ago. Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle and calves during January-March period were off 7% from the same time in 1954.

Peach Brown Rot Can Be Stopped

Peaches you buy for canning or freezing can be a disappointment if they have brown rot—a big headache for growers, processors and housewives alike. But the problem may be solved. Scientists at the Michigan State Agricultural Experiment Station have controlled brown rot in peaches with their electron beam generator that shoots cathode rays into the fruit to destroy the organism that causes brown rot. Here, Dr. F. J. McArdle, an M.S.U. horticulturist, shows how the fruit is exposed to the cathode rays in polyethylene bags. Inset shows peaches that were inoculated with brown rot spores. Lower pan of peaches was exposed to the cathode rays. Top pan was not treated and the peaches show severe brown rot. McArdle said more tests are necessary to find the right dosage of cathode rays to prevent a change in the texture of the fruit when exposed to irradiation. Control of brown rot would do a lot for the quality of our frozen and canned peaches. (M.S.U. Photo)

MMPA Asks Hearing On Milk Order

An emergency hearing on milk markets in Michigan to bring a higher Class I price for milk began Wednesday, April 25, in Minneapolis.

The U. S. department of agriculture is currently holding hearings in Minneapolis on other midwestern markets and the decision to give emergency status to the Detroit, Muskegon and upstate Michigan marketing areas was made at the request of Michigan Milk Producers association.

The purpose of the special hearing is to receive evidence for additional changes in the federal order for these markets in order to bring it into line with the negotiated $5 Class I price, according to Howard F. Simmons, MMPA secretary-manager.

Eighty per cent of the sheepman's income comes from lambs —that makes proper care at lambing a must for a profitable year.

If a soil has been fertilized and limed according to sample tests, plants will make better use of the soil moisture.

Ag Notes

By M. H. AVERY

The results of feeding Vitamin D for milk fever look good, but it is too expensive to feed to all cows; not all cows need it. We don't know which cows need the vitamin D until they get milk fever. The normal incidence of milk fever is relatively low. For now at least, it seems most practical to wait until a case occurs and then have it treated by a veterinarian.

The widespread use of antibiotics in the treatment of animal diseases presents the distinct likelihood that these potent drugs will find their way into food products consumed by the general public. Some investigations showed that under certain conditions of treatment, pencillin could be detected in cow's milk for 6 days after treatment, chlortetracycline for 3 weeks, oxytetracycline for 3 days and streptomycin for one day. However, concentrations were low and the bulk of the antibiotic was excerted during the first few hours following treatment.

The federal food and drug administration checked 474 samples of raw and pasteurized milk in the United States and found pencillin present in 11.6 per cent of the samples. Opinions of authorities were that it was unlikely the amounts would be sufficient to cause ill effects except to consumers of milk extremely sensitive to antibiotics.

Producers should follow recommended period of time for discarding milk from treated animals. Three days has been generally recommended and should be adequate unless otherwise prescribed for the particular antibiotic.

Repeated intake of small amounts of the antibiotic in milk may have some accumulative effect.

The report from the State Dairy Herd Improvement association shows that Ingham county leads the state with numbers of cows on IBM testing. Ingham has 73 herds with 1,997 cows on IBM.

However, Ingham county has about 170 herds on test.

Sanilac county, the county with more cows than people, is second with 87 herds and 1,928 cows.

During these times when efficiency of production is important it would seem that more herds in Ingham county should be on test. If you are interested contact the cooperative extension office or DHIA tester in your neighborhood.

Barley May Improve

Farmers around this area of the state are reporting considerable damage to winter barley.

Some fields appear to be completely dead, while some are looking good.

We contacted Michigan State university crops department and they report the same information. They are not sure whether it is the variety or the hard winter.

If the barley seems dead, watch it for a few days before discing up. If the roots are alive it may come on.

Ken Brown and I visited several fields. Kenneth Myers of Williamston has a field with heavy top growth that is entirely gone. Dickinson in Meridian township also has such a field.

Two other fields show green underneath and it is expected these fields will come on with good growing weather.

Check Wiring First

Reports have come to the extension office that some farmers are not checking carefully on adequate electrical facilities.

There is a tendency to keep adding more electrical fixtures without thinking about the extra electrical load.

I checked on it with Herm Walt, Consumer Power Co. field man. Herm says farmers putting in bulk tanks should do 2 things before adding this extra electrical load to their electrical line.

First, he says, check with the power company to see if the transformer is heavy enough to take the extra load.

And second, he added, have an electrician check the wiring to the milk house to see if it will handle the extra load economically.

Adding correct size wire to transformer will make for greater economy of operation and insure proper operation of the unit, he said.

It takes 6 pounds of coal to produce 1 pound of smokeless powder.

His hands were closed he could not move them or open them, his legs were wrapped around each other and he was rigid. By the time he had finished his first treatment he could use his hands. His fingers had straightened out, large joints had reduced to their normal size and arthritis of the eyes had cleared up and he can read again." Interested?

Pasture Control Takes More Than Just Grass and Livestock

Now that the condition of pastures coming through the winter is known it's a good time to plan a summer pasture program, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

"The perennial problem of too much pasture in May and June and not enough during July and August still confronts many Michigan dairymen," Avery said. "Over-mature pasture is no better in feed value than poor quality hay. For most of Michigan, what would appear to be an all-summer pasture supply becomes relatively unproductive soon after mid-June because of the increased fiber, and low protein content in the mature plants."

Here are some management methods that can help to extend the milk production value of pastures, according to Avery:

The system that is used will depend on kind of pasture land, crops that can be grown, the type of machinery for handling it, the kind and amount of storage space, and the amount of labor available on the farm.

Continuous grazing of one area may be the only practical method for handling June grass or bluegrass on permanent pasture that would otherwise be waste land. Application of 300 lb of phosphate fertilizer per acre on heavy, poorly drained clay will encourage the growth of white clover and extend the length of the productive season.

The pasture calendar system makes use of several crops that produce their growth at different periods during the pasture season. It may include Balboa rye, during early May, then June grass during May and June, Sudan grass planted in May for July and August followed by June grass and Sudan grass in early fall. Sweet clover seeded with spring grains will help out during part of August, September and October.

Field rotation is a system of confining the herd on a portion of one field until grazed down and then moving it to another portion of the same field until the first has had a chance to produce new growth. Several may be used in this manner.

John Ellsworth of Delhi township followed a field rotation pasture program in 1955 with good results. Ellsworth was one of the top farmers in the "Peppy Pasture Program" and well towards the top in this county in the DHIA program with a herd record of 509 lb fat for the year.

Strip grazing is daily rationing of the pasture by fencing off strips and then moving a cross fence daily to include enough forage to supply the herd for one day. Cattle are moved to new strips in succession allowing the grazed-off areas to recover before regrazing.

Marvin Glynn, near Vantown, followed a strip-grazing pasture program in 1955 with a simple and inexpensive fence system.

An electric wire supported by sharp metal stakes or tripods that are easily moved may be used for dividing off the daily pasture area.

Difficulty arises with any system of rotational grazing because the crop on the fields or strips that are pastured last are often too mature and undigestible. This surplus can be harvested as hay or grass silage when it reaches the right stage of maturity and fed when needed.

This system of limited acreage is successful on many farms. Since two-thirds of the crop growth occurs during the early part of the season, the herd is limited to about a one-third of the pasture area and the rest is harvested early as grass silage or hay for July and August feeding. The harvested area is then available for second crop pasture during late summer.

Combinations of systems may be useful.

Bluegrass may be continuously grazed until July 1, then strip grazing of second crop meadows or Sudan grass.

Continuous grazing of pasture, direct chopping of second crop meadows and then continuous grazing of fall growth of pasture works well in some cases.

All dry lot feeding gives the advantage of a large total yield of digestible nutrients per acre by preserving the pasture crop either as hay or silage when it is in the proper stage of maturity. Usually a smaller first crop, but a larger second crop, is harvested. This system is considered more expensive and requires a larger investment. It will require considerably more labor unless an efficient method of feeding is adopted.

Good pasture management is largely a matter of good judgment by the dairyman in selecting the method, or combination of methods, that can best be adapted to his situation. The end product should be high quality roughage supply throughout the pasture season.

Don Williams north of Mason is planning on keeping his cows off pasture in 1956. He will feed grass silage and hay.

Henry Beland, Lake Odessa, puts part of his pasture in the silo about June 15 for feeding later in the summer when good pasture is scarce. He ensiles some first-crop hay when he doesn't have enough pasture. Pasture and meadows are alfalfa-brome-ladino mixtures. His 30-cow herd averaged 547 lb butterfat and 12,511 lb of milk in 1955.

A community service award is going out to Bernard Plakke this week. Besides his usual long hours as parts manager for Al Rice Chevrolet, Bernie is handling a paper route for his son Terry. The boy ran a spear through his foot last week and then, just as the wound was healing, he sprained an ankle. But through it all, Bernie has toted the newspapers.

Six Ingham county boys may become dairy technicians instead of dairy producers if their Saturday experience has the desired affect. Wyeth Laboratories Inc. sponsored the boys at the Michigan State university dairy career day. F. L. Barnaby, Wyeth fieldman, organized the Ingham delegation for Wyeth. John Hassinen, Wyeth chemist, took the boys on a tour of the plant. From there, Barnaby escorted them to East Lansing. A lot of dairy people think that technical advances in processing plants should catch up with advances on dairy farms. Getting young men interested in dairy technology may be one way to distribute more milk and thereby provide higher milk prices for farmers. At least that's the theory.

Boys who took in the career day were Jerry Galloway and Lynn Adams of Leslie, Robert Sly and Arnold Scripter of Dansville and Allen Tomlinson and Pete LoVette of Mason.

For the second time in 3 years, the Keister "Support the Church" series appearing in the Ingham County News has received a national award from Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Penn. The award cites the series for "an outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life."

Mason's brickyard has skipped cross-town. It's now getting a fresh start in the former Whitecraft garage building on Ash street. National Cement Industries Incorporated of Detroit is making veneer brick and stone soon to be distributed nationally.

The company employs 8 local men and intends to boost the payroll to about 15 this summer. In fact, Silvio Fortino, secretary and treasurer of the corporation, said the Detroit plant will probably be closed this year and all activity centered at Mason.

Once Mason was the center of an active clay brick industry. Water holes on Mason's east side are the result.

The new brick and stone plant doesn't create holes — at least in Mason. In fact, the new activity is building a mountain of scrap cement and gravel at the rear of the plant. Within a few years, it could be moved over to Columbia and Lawton streets to fill in the clay pits of yesteryear. If there's enough left over, some could also be dumped in the abandoned gravel pits along Barnes street.

Hayworth Prepares Bill On Soil Bank

Congressman Don Hayworth has introduced a soil bank bill which specifies that some soil bank land may be used for public recreational purposes, and places an upper limit on soil bank payments, so as to favor the family-sized farm.

Hayworth is the first Democrat to introduce separate soil bank legislation since the presidential veto of the Democratic-sponsored farm bill.

Hayworth's bill departs from those introduced by Republican congressmen on 3 points: Advance payments, the public recreation feature, and limitation of soil bank payments. Hayworth's bill does not provide for the advance payments advocated by President Eisenhower, which Hayworth said he regards as unbusinesslike and merely an election year tactic.

The Hayworth bill aims at protecting the family-sized farm by limiting soil bank payments to $25,000 a year per farmer on the one-year acreage reserve and $7,500 a year on the long-range, 3 to 15-year conservation reserve program. These limits were adopted by the senate as part of its soil bank plan, but were eliminated in the administration-sponsored bills introduced last week.

In a speech on the floor of the house Hayworth pointed out that one farmer has a 340,000 wheat-acreage allotment. "If there were no limits to soil bank payments, he could collect a government check for some $3,400,000 for merely allowing half his land to lay idle for a year. The soil bank program should aim at increased income for small and medium-sized farms, not at making millionaires richer." He said enough participation in the soil bank plan could be obtained without opening it up to large corporation-type farms.

Hayworth said the secretary of agriculture already has authority to set up a soil bank program and that it is apparent that funds will be made available by congress. But to avoid any possible delay he would like to have this specific legislation passed, "so there will be no question about it," he said.

Hayworth indicated he introduced the bill in order to "keep faith with the farmers of my district." He said at a series of public meetings he held last fall farmers had almost unanimously favored the soil bank.

Grange Leader Expresses Regret at Farm Bill Veto

The Michigan State Grange, second largest of the farm organizations in Michigan, expressed regret that President Eisenhower vetoed the farm bill.

"While we are aware that seldom is anyone completely satisfied with a compromise measure," stated William J. Brake, master of the State Grange, "we feel that the merits of the domestic parity plan and the soil bank outweigh the objections to the rest of the bill."

"We hope that congress will immediately provide a farm bill acceptable to the president and embodying the domestic parity plan for those commodities to which such a plan can be readily applied," the Grange leader continued.

"We have seen farm income decline steadily in the face of a general economic increase. We have seen that decline accelerated during 1955 and feel that to place complete reliance on the act of 1954, now in effect, will but hasten the economic collapse of agriculture."

"We have seen high rigid support prices pile up surpluses and depress the market. But," Brake added, "we cannot agree that further lowering of price supports under the flexible system will result in increased income for farmers. Because of the many varied problems besetting agriculture, the Grange has long felt there is no one solution. Rather there must be a commodity-by-commodity approach—in the case of wheat and certain other exportable crops, a domestic parity plan."

Under this plan a certificate is issued to the farmer, which is redeemable at banks and which must be purchased by the miller before processing the commodity for food. The farmer would receive from the market place, and not from the government, his pay for the goods sold. The taxpayer would pay for administration of the plan. Because feed and export wheat would not receive a certificate they would be already at world price levels. Such a plan does not discriminate against livestock and dairy farmers, Brake declared.

SMALL ANIMALS STAY PUT

Field Mice Seldom Go Far

If you're bothered by field mice in your home, better move. Chances are the field mice won't.

At least not of their own accord. According to University of Michigan Prof. William H. Burt, curator of mammals in the museum of zoology, small animals like mice usually have a very small "home range," as it is called. This is the area in which they live and find food.

"In general, the smaller the animal, the smaller the home range," said Professor Burt, who has written a book on mammals in Michigan. "A mouse may spend its entire life within a fraction of an acre," he states.

"They're really quite a lot like people in their ways," the professor declared. "We buy a piece of property and will defend it against trespassers. Mice appropriate a piece of property, and will defend it even against others of their own kind."

Actually there are many different kinds of field mice, all equally pesky.

Nine types are abundant in Michigan, but most common in the country home is the white-footed or deer mouse, the professor said.

These are primarily seed-eaters and if you should find one of their food caches you might discover as much as a quart of seeds stored up for the winter, he observed.

Unfortunately this mouse is extremely adaptable and can find a congenial home almost anywhere, including your kitchen.

Mice aren't entirely the squeaky, scurrying creatures they are reputed to be. Some of them, like the "jumping mouse," leap. Jumps have been recorded which range between 6 and 12 feet, according to the professor.

And as for their noises: Some do more than squeak lightly. They sing.

According to some opinions both the white-footed deer mouse and the house mouse may have a song too high in pitch for the human ear, which lowers in pitch on rare occasions to become audible.

"There series of notes, when heard, are described as a birdlike trill that can be heard only a distance of a few feet," says one account.

American farmers produce about 120 million tons of hay yearly, of which 12 to 15 million tons are sold.

General

As of January 1, 1956 your County Road System consisted of 1155.24 miles of roads and streets which was an increase of 15.8 miles during the year 1955. This increase of mileage is approximately the same as we experienced in 1954 and is due to the continued development outside of incorporated areas.

The County arterial "B" System totals 362.2 miles as follows; Gravel 13.1 miles, Bituminous surfaces 340.9 miles, Concrete surfaces 8.2 miles, the increase of 13.7 miles during the year was due to the re-classification of the following roads from our "C" System to "B" System;

Wood Street from Grand River to Clinton County Line;
Hagadorn Road from Mt. Hope to Cavanaugh Road;
Miller Road from Waverly Road to Aurelius Road;
Waverly Road from M-99 to a point ¼ mile South of McCue Road,
and from Columbia Road to Toles Road,
and from Ferris Road to M-188,
and from M-188 to Kinneville Road,

The County Secondary "C" System of Local Roads and Streets totals 793 miles as follows; Local gravel 440.4 miles, Blacktop 198.6 miles, Concrete 0.8 miles; (Flat Streets) Gravel 102.8 miles, Blacktop 50.1 miles, Concrete 0.3 miles,

The total mileage of Bituminous and Concrete surfaced roads totals 508.9 miles or approximately 52% of the total County mileage.

INADEQUACIES disclosed by our annual condition survey as of January 1, 1956 are as follows:

(1) 15% of our "B" System which includes 13.1 miles of gravel, 46.3 miles of Blacktop or a total of 59.4 miles of the entire Primary System. This a reduction of 19.3 miles of inadequate mileage during the year 1955.

(2) Our "C" System shows 28% deficient, made-up of 35.7 miles of unimproved roads, 157.5 miles of gravel and 28.5 miles of blacktop, A total of 222.3 miles of deficiencies on the Local System. This is a reduction of 33.8 miles during 1955.

(3) "B" System bridges, 5 of the 30 bridges or a total of 15% are still deficient.

(4) "C" System bridges, 8 of the 36 bridges on the Local System are deficient or a total of 22%.

In summary our program of construction and re-construction appears to be accomplishing a more adequate road system by the removal of deficient sections. Under our present financing and programming this progress, if continued over the next fifteen years, should remove the bulk of our existing weak sections.

Administration and Operations

Your Board of County Road Commissioners acting in an administrative capacity, control and regulate the operations of your County Road Commission. In addition they act as your Trustees in the operations and maintenance of the County Park System and also are responsible for inspecting and processing all new subdivision plats outside of incorporated areas in this County. The Board meets twice each month with the County Plat Board to review and approve these new plat developments. During the past year the rate of subdividing has made it necessary to review an average of a plat a week.

Maintenance

Routine maintenance during the year 1955 required the placing of bituminous seal coating on 80 miles of the existing blacktops. Over one million gallons of liquid calcium chloride were used on our program of dust control and we purchased $5,220 worth of chemical solution for control of roadside brush. Our snow and ice control operations on winter maintenance during 1955 cost us $47,680 or approximately $10,000 less than in 1954.

As part of our routine highway maintenance, we shall continue to correct such items as minor drainage and surface deficiencies as well as continuing our program of controlling roadside brush. Considerable progress has made itself apparent in the removal and trimming of trees on our roadsides which are hazardous because of location or their physical condition.

Other Governmental Agencies

Close co-ordination and co-operation with other County Agencies has been continued during the past year resulting in greater services to the taxpayers in the County. In particular, we would like to commend the Township Boards who have made available their time for joint meetings during the past year. These meetings have made it possible for us to discuss their Local Road situations and to continue a program of progress at the Local level. During the year 1955 all of the Township Units participated in the cost of maintaining Local Roads and in addition twelve (12) of our Township Boards entered into Agreements with the Road Commission and paid for specific road and street betterments. During 1955 the Township Units provided $148,101.26 for use on our Local Road System. 25.6 miles of roads were improved as a result of this co-operation.

In conclusion we desire to express our appreciation to each of the governmental agencies and to the Citizens of this County for their co-operation that enabled us to successfully carry on our work during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,
Board of Ingham County Road Commissioners
