Michigan dairymen are on the march again in a battle to keep the Detroit milkshed fluid milk price from slipping.

More than 100 of them turned out Monday night in Mason to map battle plans and to start a drive in the Mason area against the milk marketing act submitted to the state legislature by Senator Bert J. Storey of Belding. Fair Share has a proposed marketing act of its own which it wants enacted into law.

At Monday night's meeting Rolland Brengle, president of the Michigan Fair Share Bargaining association, branded the Storey bill as a device sponsored by the creameries, Michigan Farm Bureau and Michigan Milk Producers association.

McBride Plans Another Talk To MMPA

Glenn McBride of the Michigan State university dairy department will speak to members of the Michigan Milk Producers association, Mason local, in Leslie Tuesday. It will be the annual meeting for the local when members and families will also attend a banquet at noon in the Grange hall.

It will be a repeat performance for McBride. He spoke at last year's banquet and exchanged hot words with Homer Martin and Sam Ballo, then leaders of the Fair Share dairy faction. They haven't been invited to speak this year.

The business meeting will start at 10:45 Tuesday morning, according to M. L. Surato, local secretary. Dinner will be at 12:30 and the program will follow. Also scheduled to speak is Fritz Olson, district MMPA sales committee.

Terms of Ray Lott, vice-president; Surato, secretary-treasurer; and Chellis Hall, director, expire with the annual meeting. Members of the board whose terms do not expire are Leonard Crowl, president; and Gerald Diamond, Carlyle Waltz, Clarence Minnis and Kenneth Baker, directors.

Jury Disagrees On Verdict in Embezzling Case

Members of the jury which heard testimony in an embezzlement case 2 days last week and a day and a half this week failed to agree on a verdict. They were discharged late Wednesday afternoon after being deadlocked since taking the case at 11:30 Wednesday forenoon. Mrs. Jane Shellman, Lansing, on trial for embezzlement, was remanded to custody of the sheriff to await trial at the March term of court.

Mrs. Shellman was charged with embezzling $11,326 from the C & P Corporation of Lansing. She admitted taking about $1,200, claiming she had it coming in a profit-sharing plan. She denied taking more.

There was no court at Mason Tuesday. The criminal trial was recessed to permit Judge Louis E. Coash to sit in judgment in a case at Corunna. Prosecutor Jack Warren handled the case for the people. Seth Burwell defended Mrs. Shellman.

Judge Marvin J. Salmon presided in court Thursday morning when the civil suit of Marie H. Davenport vs. Howard S. Staman came on for trial. Both parties reside in Lansing. A sum of about $1,400 is involved. Mrs. Davenport claims she loaned Staman money. He insists that he paid back some and gave her furniture and other goods to cover the rest.

Stuart J. Dunnington of Lansing is representing Mrs. Davenport. S. DeWitt Rathbun is representing the defendant.

Mason High School Pupils Undergo Tests for Talent

Possible scientists, doctors, writers, opera singers and others of unusual talent are being sought among Mason high school pupils.

All pupils in the 4 high school grades are taking tests supervised by Youth Unlimited, the Eaton Rapids talent discovery institution. The school district pays $1 each for the aptitude and achievement tests and will receive confidential "graded profiles" of them.

If and when unusual talent or achievement is discovered, the Brengle also struck out at critics of the Fair Share group who prophesied that organized labor would withdraw its support of the group's program just as soon as the 1956 elections were past. In answer to those critics he read a long letter from Walter Reuther, president of the U.A.W. The letter promised full support from the U.A.W. and also mentioned a check of an undisclosed amount sent by the U.A.W. to help Fair Share in its fight.

Brengle closed with the statement that Fair Share dairymen don't want turmoil, trouble and strikes. What they are after, he declared, are contracts assuring dairymen of a just and reasonable share of the milk dollar.

In other action taken Monday night Ernest Knoch was elected secretary of the Mason local to replace Dr. George Clinton of Mason. Dr. Clinton told the group that pressure of other affairs made it impossible for him to devote adequate time to the job.

The state Fair Share association will have its convention at the Elsie American Legion hall, Monday, February 11. Rae Collar and Paul Scherer are delegates from the Mason local. Don Lip-straw and Knoch were named alternates.

House Trailers May Be Pulled Out of Mason

At a council meeting Monday night, councilmen discussed the idea of putting wheels under house trailers parked in Mason and pulling them out of town. Fired by the thought of inadequate assessment features of house trailers and the unsightliness of them, Mayor Alfred Forche said he will press for a city regulatory ordinance.

Councilman Clifford Walcott was among the most outspoken in asking for a city ordinance which would channel house trailer inhabitants into trailer parks. The trailer discussion even touched off a statement from Fred Olds, Lansing State Journal reporter. He declared that Lansing and Lansing township and many other governmental units have eliminated house trailers, except in parks, because they cannot be assessed their true value.

Olds, who lives in Mason, said that the existence of scattered trailers lowers property values and stands in the way of the construction of more easily assessed property.

"Those who live in house trailers in Mason have the advantages of water and sewer connections, fire and police protection and all the other municipal advantages, but they contribute little help in supporting these services," Walcott said. "They even send their children to city schools without paying adequate school taxes."

Councilmen asked City Attorney Howard A. McCowan to study regulatory trailer ordinances of other towns and townships and submit them at the next council meeting in 2 weeks. Forche said that 22 trailers were approved in Mason by the county health department during 1955. Under the county health department ordinance, trailer inhabitants must secure written permission of property owners within 200 feet of proposed trailer sites. Licenses must be renewed each year. Although it's a county ordinance, the city receives a $2 license fee for each approval.

Williamston Girl Wins Pie Contest

Judges chose the cherry pie baked by Phyllis Partridge, 15, of Williamston as the best in competition Saturday. She'll represent the county in the state contest in Grand Rapids February 14 and 15, and should she win there she'll compete for the national title in Chicago.

It took a lot of huddling, conferring and second-sampling for judges to determine the winner among the 17 contestants; it was that close. Some of the pies with the most luscious filling didn't measure up to standards on crust, or the techniques used didn't meet with approval. Posture, natural poise, grooming and the ability of girls to express themselves also counted, so it wasn't just the pie; it was the baker too.

There could be a possible 1,000 points from each of 3 judges. Winners also received more than 2,000. Each judge could award 50 points on method of preparation of the pie, 350 on the crust, 300 on the filling, and 200 on personal qualifications of the contestants.

Janice Clark, 15, of Mason, placed second and Carolyn Morris, 18, of Haslett finished third. Honorable mention went to Carmen Snyder, 16, Webberville. The winner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Partridge. She's a ninth-grader in Williamston high school with 6 years of 4-H work and FHA experience behind her. Even more valuable, she said, was the cooking she regularly does in the Partridge kitchen. Last year she placed second in the Williamston school bake-off.

Janice Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Clark. She's in the 10th grade at Mason. She has had 2 years of food preparation in 4-H and is a member of the FHA. Ever since she was 9 she has helped do the cooking at home.

Carolyn Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morris of Haslett. She has had 3 years in 4-H and 2 years in FHA. She prepares the family supper 4 nights a week.

Other girls in the contest, all of whom baked good pies, were Linda Morris and Eunice Crippen, Mason; Vicki Stough, Ann Smith, Sue Sheppard and Marian Casaday, Haslett; Nancy Bowlin, Willa Ruth Eaton and Joan Keck, Williamston; Mary Louise Donaldson and Joan Skippin, Okemos; and Deanna Hamlin and Janet Schneider, Webberville.

Mrs. Merlin Green of Mason, Mrs. Clifford Allen of Dansville and Mrs. William McQuillan of the home economics staff at Michigan State were the judges. Helen Watkins, Ingham dairy princess and last year's county pie champion, assisted the judges. Baking of the pies was done in 2 shifts in the Mason high school home economics kitchen.

First prize was the all-expense trip to the state contest plus a Better Homes and Gardens cookbook. Second and third place winners were given cookbooks by the Tri-County Grocers association.

Sewer Project Gets Hearing February 19

Special assessment rolls totaling $32,332.24 will be reviewed at a public hearing Tuesday night, February 19, at the city hall. It will begin at 8.

The hearing will cover 11 specific lateral sewer projects which will eventually serve the southwest section of Mason. Property owners have already been notified of the scheduled hearing, according to Howard A. McCowan, city attorney. He said the projects will be considered separately.

The lateral projects are part of the program of enlarging the present sewage disposal plant, building a new water tower, extending trunk sewers to the southwest section of town and providing a lift station for pumping sewage into the present system.

Estimated costs of the complete project now surpass $300,000 including the work to be financed by special assessment. Mayor Alfred Forche said Monday night that specifications including a detailed cost sheet will be ready for council approval within a few weeks. He declared that the major portion of the project will be financed by revenue bonds.

Several immediate building projects hinge on installation of the entire sewage system as well as the part covered by special assessment. John Carroll, who has already planned a subdivision on his property at Lansing and South streets, has sold 4 lots to prospective home owners. However, he informed councilmen Monday night that they are hesitant to install septic tanks if the city sewer system is only a few months away.

A detailed list of the projects included in the special assessment roll is published on Page 3 of this section.

Democrats Will Meet Wednesday

Ingham county Democrats will meet in the circuit court room Wednesday night, February 13, at 8 o'clock for their county convention. In previous issues of the Ingham County News the convention date was erroneously given as February 6.

First order of business will be to pick the 35 delegates for Ingham county at the state convention in Grand Rapids February 22 and 23. At the state convention candidates for the Democratic ticket on the spring biennial ballot will be chosen.

Thomas Quimby, director of Michigan Workmen's compensation fund, will deliver the keynote address at the county convention, according to Raymond Rapaport, county chairman.

Special Election Appears Certain

Because of the death of Senator Harry Hittle Tuesday, a special election looms in Ingham and Livingston counties.

It will be up to the governor to call an election and to set the date. Word from the capitol Thursday morning was that the special senatorial primary will be on April 1, the day of the biennial spring election. Then the election would be set for 3 or 4 weeks later.

Had Senator Hittle died between March 1 and April 1, county political committees of Ingham and Livingston could have nominated candidates and the contest would have been added to the April 1 ballot.

Because more than 30 days separate the senator's death and April 1, there will have to be a primary election to determine nominees.

Supervisors Delay Vote on Merger For Frandor Sector

Lansing supervisors won a delay Tuesday on a proposed election for the merger of the Frandor area with East Lansing.

They were aided by an amendment to the law which makes it necessary for 35% of the freeholders to petition for annexation if the proposal is renewed within 2 years of a previous consideration. While the previous election was on annexation of the Frandor area to Lansing, instead of East Lansing, supervisors tabled a resolution which called for a decision of the electorate April 1.

Petitions were signed by 27.49% of the freeholders within the area. Had the supervisors decided that the amendment was not binding, only 1% of the property owners within the area would have had to have signed petitions.

The first time around Tuesday, supervisors favoring placing of annexation before the people April 1 appeared to have won 20 to 18. But when the vote came on submitting the annexation proposal April 1, it was defeated 20 to 15.

Another Issue Involved Heat generated in the decision on annexation carried over to an exchange of views between Supervisor C. G. Card of East Lansing, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Prosecutor Jack Warren. It was about duties of the prosecutor and his decision not to assign a member of his staff to handle legal work for the county drain commissioner.

Supervisor Card found fault with the prosecutor's opinion on the proposed annexation matter, and with the prosecutor's refusal to furnish legal counsel to the drain commissioner. The prosecutor took the floor to defend his opinion and to insist that the volume of criminal work in his office is too great to lend an aide to the drain commissioner. (There's a related story in the adjoining column.)

In the background is friction over annexation petitions. The Frandor area of Lansing township adjoins East Lansing. It includes university housing adjacent to Harrison road. Lansing is promoting parallel annexation of suburban areas and school districts. Two years ago several Lansing township areas voted down annexation to Lansing. Supervisor Raymond A. Wilcox of Lansing township is loath to see what's left of his township annexed to either Lansing or East Lansing. East Lansing officials have been charged with promoting the present annexation move of the Frandor area to their city. They have denied it.

Most of the Frandor area to be annexed is in the East Lansing school district. Recommendation Lacking A special committee made up of Supervisors Max Murnighan, Lansing, Wilcox of Lansing township and Bruce M. Stone, East Lansing, failed to agree on a recommendation for the annexation proposal. That committee had asked the prosecutor for an opinion. The opinion left up to supervisors recommendation for action, pointing out alternate actions but withholding specific decision on validity of the petitions.

At the morning session Supervisor Stone said the petitions carried 415 signatures. Slimming them down to names on assessment rolls, the total was 348, he reported.

Supervisor Stone pointed out that petitions for annexation of the area to Lansing had been filed in July, 1953, but proceedings had been stayed by injunction until September 9 of that year. The supreme court appeal kept the board from considering the petitions until September of 1955, Supervisor Stone said. It would be September of 1957 before the county board can again consider annexation of the area unless petitions contained 35% of the signatures of property owners, he asserted.

Lower Budget Is Cited The prosecutor insisted that the budget for his office is reduced $340 from the budget of his predecessor while criminal work has increased. "I have tried 6 cases since January 1," Warren declared. "Chamberlain tried only 6 during 2 years in office."

On motion of Supervisor Earl Leeman, authority was granted Graham to hire a lawyer. Supervisor Wilfred Jewett of Vevay insisted that the county at large and not the drainage district should pay the lawyer.

Hearing Has Been Called Legal counsel will be needed in the Northrup drain proceedings, Graham reported. It's the third time proceedings have been launched. The first was in 1950 when the board of determination turned down the petition. The second try was in 1955 when condemnation proceedings were called off by a legal technicality, Graham said. Petitioners for the third try are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henry Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Northrup and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Loudenslager.

A hearing on the petition has been set for 10 a. m. Monday, February 25, at the Fred Northrup home. Supervisors Philip Mills of Leroy, Austin Cavanaugh of Bunker Hill and Dean Taylor of Mason have been named to the board of determination.

Capt. Tim Stolz

Robbery Suspect Caught in 8 Minutes

Hunch of Capt. Tim Stolz Pays Off

Because Capt. Tim Stolz of the Mason police force played a hunch for all it was worth a Detroit ex-convict is awaiting examination on a larceny charge.

In 8 minutes after Captain Stolz and his volunteer helper, Dr. Charles M. Hubbard, went into action Saturday evening, Vernon Moore, 47, was wearing handcuffs.

Captain Stolz and Dr. Hubbard, Mason veterinarian interested in crime detection, were cruising near Columbia and US-127 when they heard a police radio flash which mentioned Hartley's market near Holt. That was all of the message before it was cut off. Captain Stolz, because the store had been robbed previously, said he had a premonition it had been hit again. He wheeled his car around and headed north, stopping near Densmore's IGA store. There his radio picked up another snatch which gave a description of a man but again the message flickered out before it was finished. Still there had been no word of a robbery or what the man described was wanted for.

But Captain Stolz swung his car to the side and started lights flashing. He stopped and had a look at passengers in several cars. Then he made a minute search of one car and released it. Immediately another car was halted but before the halt the driver swung his car to the shoulder and refused to come on. As the police officer walked to the parked car he saw that the description of the man tallied with the message, except that the man was clad in a sports coat instead of a leather jacket.

Beside the man in the front seat were milk and a package of prepared biscuit mix, but the man denied having stopped at Hartley's store. He said he had bought his articles in Lansing. But Captain Stolz and Dr. Hubbard were suspicious. They ordered the driver from the car and snapped cuffs on him. In the man's pocket was $111. He claimed it was his. Captain Stolz placed the suspect in the police car and Dr. Hubbard drove the suspect's car to jail.

There the Wayne doctor who had watched a man take cash from the Hartley store identified the suspect, except for the sports coat. Under the sports coat was the leather jacket which the doctor had described.

While the suspect protested his capture, and insisted the $111 was his own, Captain Stolz and Dr. Hubbard searched Moore's car. Hidden in the trunk compartment was a paper sack containing about $1,200. As they returned to the jail with the money, word was received from the Hartley store bookkeeper that $1,800 had been taken from the safe.

Taken before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams of Mason Monday on the charge of larceny from a building, Moore stood mute. He is in jail awaiting examination. His record covers 3 pages, ranging from misdemeanors to 3 prison terms.

Dr. Harold Oster of Wayne was with 3 nieces, Kathy and Lonnie Keelan and Ray Ellen Platt, in a parked car outside Hartley's store when they noticed a man on his knees before the safe in an office partitioned from the market. As Dr. Oster saw the man emptying money from a cash drawer into a paper sack he leaped from his car and ran inside to give warning. The suspect ran out as Dr. Oster ran in but the doctor had gained a close look at the man.

Robert Hartley, store manager, said the man who had been at the safe was not an employee, and immediately telephoned the sheriff's office. It was part of the dispatch from the sheriff's office which was heard by Captain Stolz and which induced him to play his hunch.

Kathy and Lonnie Keelan are children of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Keelan of Johnson street, Holt. Ray Ellen Platt is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Platt of Lansing.

Justice Costs Reflect Growth Of Population

There is no cause for alarm in the increase in justice and coroner claims, according to Supervisor Fred L. Kircher of Lansing. He assured his colleagues Tuesday that the increased costs merely reflect growth of the county and a resultant increase in crime.

Supervisor Kircher said his committee had carefully studied every claim placed before it. County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard pointed out that criminal action brought against some justices had spurred others to make a full accounting of transactions. Some of the increased claims are offset by increased fees, Hilliard said.

Chairman Robert S. Brooks appointed 6 supervisors to a committee to work out an agreement between the city of Lansing and the county over transportation and care of county and city prisoners. He named Supervisors C. G. Card and Harold Pletz, East Lansing; Hugh W. Silsby and Dean Taylor, Mason; and Max Murningham and Robert Klock, Lansing.

that he had been a member of a committee considering petitions for annexation to Lansing in either 1953 or 1954.

Search Reveals Mention

During the noon recess a further search of board minutes revealed that there was a period in July of 1951 when injunctive restraints had been lifted and a supreme court appeal had not again restrained consideration when the annexation matter had been brought before the board.

It was action of the board at that point on which the 2-year clause depended. Instead of stating whether the board did or did not give consideration to the petitions at that time by the appointment of a committee which never filed a formal report, the prosecutor said he left the decision to the board.

The prosecutor said supervisors knew better than he did whether their prior action on the petitions constituted consideration. He cited various legal definitions of consideration from Blackstone.

Supervisor Murningham read the statutes to his colleagues, maintaining that the petitions were insufficient in that they did not contain signatures of 35% of freeholders. He claimed supervisors should follow the letter of the law. The board can do nothing except disqualify the petitions, Murningham said.

Proposals Not Related

Supervisor John Patriarche of East Lansing pointed out that the petition for annexation of the area to East Lansing is entirely different from a prior proposal for annexation to Lansing and that the board should not consider the proposals to be alike or similar. He also declared the amendment to the annexation law to be ambiguous.

"There is no reason for this board not to approve the petitions, no reason for this matter to be kicked around, no excuse for ordering a special election," Supervisor Patriarche asserted. "It is not up to the board of supervisors to decide on annexation," declared Supervisor Patriarche. "It is up to the people in the areas affected. They have the right to vote and it should not be denied them."

On both votes Lansing supervisors stood together. The first vote to table further consideration for a month (which would have delayed placing annexation before the people April 1) was turned down 20 to 18. Against tabling were Supervisors Card, Patriarche, Pletz, Stone, Putnam, East Lansing; Silsby and Taylor, Mason; Clark, Williamston; Cavannah, Bunker Hill; Durkee, Locke; Fay, Delhi; Jewett, Vevay; Johnson, Wheatfield; Lee, man, Williamston; Marshall, White Oak; Puffenberger, Onondaga; Ruthig, Leslie; Wilcox, Lansing township; Watkins, Alaledon; and Woods, Ingham.

For tabling were Supervisors Becker, Beelen, Hauser, Heller, Murningham, Potter, Foxson and Chairman Brooks, Lansing; Ward, Meridian; Brown, Williamston; Bement, Mason; Rowe, Aurelius; Mills, Leroy; and Cronkhite, Stockbridge.

A few minutes later on Supervisor Patriarche's motion to have the annexation matter placed before the people at the April 1 election enough votes switched to give the victory to opponents. Added to the Lansing votes were those of Bement, Brown, Rowe, Jewett, Mills, Puffenberger, Ruthig, Ward and Wilcox.

DOLBEE HOME FROM ARMY

Sgt. Charles Dolbee arrived home Wednesday morning with his discharge from the army after 3 years of service. He had been stationed in Germany, where he served as a tank commander. Dolbee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Dolbee of Aurelius.

UNBELIEVABLE, BUT TRUE is the way it stacks up for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Antes and family of Dansville. And stack is the word for it. After a fire which reduced their farm home to ashes last month, the Antes family has received donations including enough furniture to outfit 8 rooms, $150 cash, clothes for the entire family of 6, household equipment and uncountable personal assists. Mr. and Mrs. Antes are shown in their Dansville home with a few of the donated items. They and their youngsters escaped with only their nightclothes. They had no money, no house, no clothes—that is until Ingham residents came to the rescue.

Supervisors See Virtue in Bill To Raise Wages

Ingham supervisors by unanimous vote Tuesday backed proposed state legislation to raise the present maximum of $10 a day for supervisors to $20 per day.

Several months ago supervisors voted against the proposal.

Supervisor Phillip Mills explained Tuesday that supervisors would not have to adopt the maximum permitted.

Ingham supervisors also approved a round-robin from Washington county supervisors to increase house trailer fees and another from Osceola and Grand Traverse counties to secure more law library money.

No action was taken on other proposals to have the state legislature ban the use of trucks on trunklines over week ends, changing the makeup of the state board of equalization, amending the drain code to require deposits of $300 with all petitions, giving supervisors control of the killing of deer, opposing state ferry service across Lake Michigan, restricting powers of the state superintendent of public instruction, amending the basic school law, and repealing the recovery act on welfare.

Fordor Advances On Probate Staff

Judge Robert L. Drake of the probate court appointed Byron T. Fordor director of children's services for juvenile court. Fordor for 6 years has been a county welfare agent.

During World War II Fordor served in the U. S. air force.

Mrs. Hulett Asks Change in Zoning

Mrs. Hazel Hulett, through her representative, A. Z. Breen Brokerage of Lansing, seeks to have her property at South Lansing and Columbia streets rezoned for commercial purposes. Breen made the request at the council meeting Monday night, explaining that Gulf Oil Co. will erect a service station on the site if the change in zoning is made.

The Hulett property is on the northwest corner with Mickelson-Baker Lumber Co. to the east and Mason Elevator Co. diagonally to the southeast.

Councilmen referred the request to the planning commission for a recommendation. In the event the request is favored by the commission and the council it will still require a public hearing. City Attorney Howard McCowan said.

Juvenile Court Adds to Staff

Supervisors Tuesday authorized Probate Judge Robert L. Drake to add 2 social workers to his juvenile court staff. Each will start at $3,870. The judge had asked for a bonus system so experienced workers could be induced to remain on the staff. Supervisors made no provision for the bonus.

The judge was authorized to lease an extra room for the branch office in Lansing.

Supervisors authorized the granting of seniority to members of the county health staff to cover their former service with the Lansing health department. Supervisor Robert Klock said that otherwise employees with the highest seniority would be carried in a low seniority bracket for sick leave and vacation.

A resolution was adopted providing for computing payrolls of all county employees on the general and county health department lists except those in the sheriff's department on the basis of 52 weeks per year, 5 days per week and 8 hours per day.

County Government Units Receive Record Tax Split

County Treasurer Laurence Parker and his staff are busy this week sending out checks covering fourth quarter sales tax split to local government units.

Payments are based on $2.21 per capita according to the 1950 census, the highest per capita payment yet. Ingham county's share is $381,554.29 for the last quarter of 1956.

Lansing received $203,918.25, the largest slice of the tax melon. East Lansing was next with $203,081.32. Other cities and vil-

Contest of Will Reaches Court

In circuit court in Lansing Judge Theodore P. Ryan is listening to testimony over the will of Mrs. Mary Clements Mead. The suit is being tried before the court without a jury.

Burl Betterly of Dansville brought the suit, claiming that the will of Mrs. Mead violates an agreement he had that he would inherit all the real estate and personal property if he took care of Mr. and Mrs. John Clements during their lifetimes. Upon that promise Betterly testified, he and his wife operated the Clements farm in White Oak, Mr. Clements died in 1934. Mrs. Mead, who remarried, died in 1955. She left a will giving personal property to Leo, Howard, Cloie, Leslie and Vance Mead and Mrs. Juanita Henselett, stepchildren of Mrs. Mead. Mr. Mead's estate.

Student's Mother in Africa Thanks Holt Hostess

Mrs. Clarence Hudson of Holt gained pleasure during the Christmas holidays by entertaining a student from Monrovia, Liberia, in Africa. She received added pleasure a few days ago when she received a note of thanks from the boy's mother in Africa. She learned that she and the Liberian mother have much in common, in goals for their children, in concern for others and in religious training.

"When we asked that our home be included with those open to foreign students during the holiday season," said Mrs. Hudson, "we received word that our guest would be Charles Johnson from Liberia in Africa. Liberia was peopled along the coast with freed slaves who were returned from the United States to establish a colony from 1817 to 1822 and again in 1831. Monrovia is named for President Monroe during whose U. S. administration the colonization scheme was developed.

"Our guest's skin was dark but in just a few hours' residence on both sides broke down and he seemed just like one of our own sons who are his age. He is a Presbyterian, as we are. His favorite hymns he played on the piano are our favorites, too. Our service at the Holt Presbyterian church was one familiar to him. He said it seemed like theirs at home."

The young visitor's father was educated in a school established and operated by U. S. missionaries. The parents of the visitor and his brother and sisters are the only Christians in their family—and are thus disowned by their relatives. Mrs. Hudson learned, however, the student visitor said, he and his parents and brother and sisters are joyful in their decision. "It made the world seem smaller to us to become acquainted with this boy from so far away—so much like us," Mrs. Hudson said. "It seemed to us to be a valuable dividend from our missionary work. As a mother I could just feel how I would hate to send our sons away at 18 to a far-off land for 4 years of college with not a single visit back home possible during all that time. So I sent a note to the boy's mother as I thought it would please her to know we enjoyed her son's visit."

In reply, Mrs. Hudson received this letter from the boy's mother, Mrs. Martha D. Johnson: "My dear friends: Many, many thanks for your kind letter and for the kind interest that you both have taken in Charles. He wrote me about your kindness towards him during his stay in your home at vacation time and how nice your sons were to him. "I do not know how to thank you, but all I can say is that God is a rewarder and He shall reward you for me. I really can't but praise Him, when I think of His goodness toward my 2 children abroad. May God bless you and yours."

"I, too, am a member of the Presbyterian church. I am a deaconess evangelist in my church, and the presbytery has sent me out on a charge in a settlement near Monrovia, named Crozierville, to pastor the Presbyterian church. It's a small church and the congregation is small, but it carries the spirit of God into that church, and we sure do have some happy times in the Lord there. Pray for our work over here."

"I shall like to be better acquainted with you good Christian folks. My best regards to your dear sons. May God bless them also. I am always thankful to God for providing such Christian homes and friends for Charles. Please write again and you will hear from me again. Love."

In commenting on the letter of thanks, Mrs. Hudson said, "Our little hospitality was a small thing and took only slight effort yet it gave pleasure to a boy who may become a factor in world understanding, and joy to a mother devoted to spreading Christianity in Africa.

"Our colleges have many foreign students who stay 4 years.

It is a wonderful opportunity to increase world understanding—this opportunity is available not only at Christmas season but at all other times. Just a little effort toward friendliness on our part presents to these foreign students a true picture of American people, a picture far different from the Hollywood version. Such hospitality makes the story of students in the United States happier and far more rewarding."

Senator Fails to Recover From Operation on Brain

Michigan lost its senior state senator Tuesday in the death of Senator Harry F. Hittle, 70, at his home in East Lansing. Senator Hittle underwent an operation for removal of a brain tumor after his election last fall. At first he appeared to be making rapid recovery. For the past week, however, his condition gradually worsened.

The senator from the Ingham-Livingston district was first elected in 1934 and had easily won election every 2 years since that time. For all his recent terms he had headed the important judiciary committee and had also served as president pro tempore of the senate. He was regarded as the balance wheel of the state senate. Representing a district outstanding in both industry and agriculture, he helped shape many policies on old age security, unemployment measures, education and welfare. He was labeled a liberal.

Senator Hittle was born at South Boardman July 10, 1886. He studied at Ferris Institute, University of Chattanooga and the Detroit College of Law. He first was elected to office in Lansing county as prosecuting attorney. After serving in that capacity there he entered the practice of law in Lansing and in 1924 was elected Ingham prosecutor. Before becoming a lawyer, he had been a member of the original state police organization.

The Ingham-Livingston senator was a member of the senate committee of the Michigan commission on interstate cooperation and the commission charged with erecting and financing state office buildings in Lansing.

Surviving Senator Hittle are his widow, son and daughter and a brother. The son is Col. James Donald Hittle of the U. S. marine corps. The daughter is Mrs. Charles A. Rigaud of Falls Church, Virginia. A brother, Frank, resides at Thompson.

Funeral services will be Friday forenoon at 11 at the Estes-Leadley chapel in Lansing with burial in Evergreen cemetery.

Members of the state police will serve as pallbearers. Members of the state senate will attend in a body.

Church Gains On Fund Drive For New School

St. James school and convent fund campaign went into high gear Sunday when campaign workers received $33,000 in pledges.

Victor Brenner, vice-chairman of the drive, said workers had contacted only 65% of the parish members. If the present trend in pledges continue the total should easily exceed the $35,000 goal, he stated.

The amount pledged includes $1,000 from business and professional people in Mason and 5 memorial gifts of $1,000 or more from parishioners, Brenner explained. Seventeen families have also donated $500 to $750.

Funds from the drive will be used to remodel the former Nazareth church which will house the teaching nuns, classrooms and other facilities for a 6-grade school.

The fund campaign will continue until February 15, according to Brenner.

Kennedy, and Cub Scouts Merritt Barnhill and Paul Knudstrup.

Douglas Laing, East Lansing, who will become Michigan governor for a day as part of the Scout program, has ties in Mason, too. His mother is the former Eileen Terrill. The boy is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ami Terrill.

Okemos Baptists To Break Ground For New Church

Okemos Baptists will have ground breaking services for their new church Sunday, February 10, at 11:45 a. m. The services will be after Sunday school at the site for the new church, just off the Okemos-Haslett road near Hamilton road.

The congregation plans to start digging the basement by the end of February, weather permitting. The new church, expected to cost about $150,000, will be a contemporary structure with seating capacity for 600 in the main auditorium.

Lee Butler of Detroit is the architect. Roy Hogle of Okemos is chairman of the building committee. Albert Best of Okemos will be superintendent of construction.

Rev. John Booko is pastor of the Okemos Baptist church.

FFA Gives Charter To Webberville

Twenty Green Hands will become charter members of the Webberville Future Farmers of America chapter in a special ceremony Monday night. The program will be in the school starting at 8, according to W. Conrad Search, vocational agriculture instructor and advisor to the new chapter.

Scheduled to address the boys, parents, teachers and other guests are Harry Nessman, vocational agriculture director of the department of public instruction, and Irwin West, executive secretary of the Michigan FFA.

It is the first time that Webberville has had an FFA chapter. A Mason FFA chapter was formed in January. Other FFA chapters in the county include those in Williamston, Okemos, Dansville, Leslie and Stockbridge.

Red Cross Chooses Palmer To Lead Services Agency

Leslie B. Palmer, Mason postmaster, has been appointed chairman of the county services committee of the Ingham county Red Cross.

Palmer, president of Mason Lions club and past commander of Browne-Cavender post, American Legion, first became acquainted with Red Cross services while a prisoner of war during World War II.

Red Cross parcels meant survival to many Americans in Stalag Luft One, near Rostock, Germany, Palmer said, adding that he has observed peacetime activities of the Red Cross since that time and has a high regard for the organization's service programs.

In his volunteer position, Palmer will be contacting leaders in various communities and townships throughout the county to serve as Red Cross representatives. These leaders will be given information about Red Cross programs so they may better inform the public of services available.

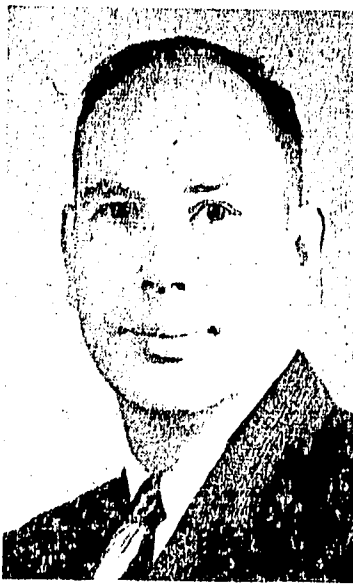

In time of disaster, urgent need for blood or emergency communication with a serviceman on active duty, county residents may not know the procedure to secure Red Cross help, Palmer said. By having a local representative they can get information in a hurry, he pointed out.

Sanitarians Keep on Move Handling County Problems

Sanitarians are busy people according to the report submitted to supervisors and city and township governing units by the Ingham county health department Wednesday.

According to the report submitted by Philip V. Shirley, sanitation department director, department personnel made 4,719 general sanitation field calls. Of these 4,000 were made on request or complaint of individuals.

Swimming pools are responsible for a lot of calls, according to

Leslie B. Palmer

People throughout the county interested in first aid, water safety and home nursing courses will also be able to obtain information concerning classes from their community or township representatives.

The plan for a county services committee was developed by the chapter board of directors as another means of providing Red Cross services throughout the county, Palmer explained.

the report. Sanitarians made 360 field visits to inspect or sample swimming pools.

Meridian and Delhi suburban areas have created the most demand for sanitarian services, the report shows. A total of 1,111 field inspection trips were in Meridian township while 799 trips were made to Delhi. Most of the trips to these areas were for water and sewage inspections.

Lansing township and the city of Lansing led the 24 local governing units served by the department in nuisance calls.

Volunteers of America Ask For Donations of Clothing

Fires during January in which several families lost clothing and furnishings brought about a heavy demand for help, reported the Volunteers of America.

Red Cross investigations resulted in orders for clothing, bedding and household furnishings to rehabilitate the families hit by fires. Stocks of the Volunteers were depleted in many lines and sizes, it was stated.

According to Major Newton L. Haney, Jr., Lansing director for the Volunteers, the organization needs everything in the field of discards. He said January collections were slow due to the weather, and emphasized that a special drive now in progress is aimed at replenishing stocks to provide for the needy.

"We need clothing for children and adults and our supply of bedding is very low," he said. "In the household line we need refrigerators, beds, ranges and everything else that can be used."

The January fires brought an appeal from fire department authorities for a clean-up of discards that in many cases contribute to fires in attics and basements. Articles donated to the organization's workshop where they are renovated and rebuilt for use by persons who would otherwise be jobless, Volunteer leaders said. They are given free to needy families and sold at the cost of repair and handling to low income families in the 3 stores operated by the Volunteers in Lansing. It was explained.

Pick-ups are made in Lansing, East Lansing, Haslett and Okemos on the day after calls are received. Holt and Mason are covered on Tuesdays. Other community pick-ups are made when calls merit truck runs. Those with articles to contribute are asked to notify the Lansing office.

Feathered Friends Visit Farmer Peck's Sanctuary

Moved the dining room table back a bit and am writing on it. The desk faces a wall and it's not nearly as interesting as looking outside. Now I can watch the bird feeder on the light pole too. Sally sweeps the ground free of snow around the pole and scatters chicken mash, cracked wheat and corn. They tied the Christmas tree up close to the pole and with 3 evergreen shrubs close by, it makes a little haven for wild creatures. It is a welcome shelter from the wind.

We call it our "Bird Sanctuary" . . . though a very small one. Ears of corn are stuck out on the pole. Sunflower heads are nailed to it. A roofed feeder facing the house is 5 feet up on the pole and kept supplied with suet, cracked hickory nuts and bird cakes. Two window feeders and a suet log hang from the awning. Surely is fun to see the little wild creatures that come visiting! Mornings when there is fresh snow we can see where rabbits have come in the night. Pheasants are frequent visitors, sometimes flying into the trees in the front yard. The roosters crowing close are a sight to see. Guess they take the cake for all time splendor. They really have something to crow about!

The blues, purples and reds flash in a hundred different shades. Once a bronze beauty stood for several minutes with his neck seemingly alive with fire. We all stood fascinated by him. Until something better comes up I'll call it the most beautiful creature I ever saw.

We haven't had the squirrels this winter and we like them. There is enough feed for the birds and the squirrels so we welcome them, too.

For several years we watched a couple of them scamper across the road from a huge elm tree. They were so cunning and neat and such fun. They last fall a hunter sauntered past the house with 2 limp squirrels dangling from his belt. Sammy stood sadly watching them flip-flop as long as he could see them. When he told the girls that someone shot our squirrels tears fell.

Sally said, "Why would anyone want to shoot our squirrels? They never hurt anyone and they were so little. The way they hold up their little paws. . . " and she could not go on.

I don't know as they were the same squirrels at all. And they really weren't ours anyway. Lots of folks enjoy squirrel hunting. And they are very tasty. It's the way it is. . . always was and will be. . . But I might as well have kept quiet.

They think it was a dirty trick and are going to put a sign on that tree next fall, please not to shoot any squirrels in this particular tree.

Ingham Jurist Sits on Panel In Shiawassee

Judge Louis E. Coash had to recess a trial in circuit court in Mason Tuesday to serve on a panel of judges hearing a grievance against Virgil O. Braun of Owosso. The hearing was conducted in the Shiawassee court house in Corunna. As a result of it, Braun was suspended from practicing law for 30 days.

Sitting with Judge Coash on the panel were Judge John Simpson of Jackson and Judge Raymond Fox of Kalamazoo.

The action against Braun was recommended by the State Bar of Michigan on the allegations that Braun accused Norman L. Desjardins and James Tealton of Owosso of unethical conduct in the "fixing" of a lawsuit.

The hearing was called by Circuit Judge Michael Carland of the Shiawassee-Livingston circuit when Braun refused to apologize. Braun did apologize before Tuesday's hearing and had asked that suspension not be ordered, but it was. After the findings of the panel Braun issued a statement of regret for the charges he had made against the 2 lawyers.

staring most impolitely. "There were 20 of them. Then they darted through the perennial bed to the dog dish by the down spout.

From the girls' bedroom we could count only 19 of them. Whoops! . . . around the corner he came and skidded to a halt among them. We sighed with relief. They pecked around for several more minutes, then scurried into another perennial bed and compost pile.

We continue to see them at intervals. How anxiously we count to see if it is the right amount. . . the same amount as the first time we saw them.

To me, birds seem to symbolize a hope, cheerfulness, enthusiasm for living and persistence that is like a lesson to see and let soak in. More than once they have landed on our window sill, flashed their magnificence, uttered a demanding chirp and dared me to be down-hearted!

P.S. If anyone has an especially interesting or rare bird at his feeder it would be fun to know about it. . . and even more so to go and see it if it isn't too far off the beaten track.

State Schedules 47 Miles Of Ingham Road Building

Ingham county will have 47 miles of construction work done on state trunkline roads in the next 3 years, according to the construction program for 1957 through 1959.

LIFE with the Zimmermans

Time: 9:15 a. m. Thursday

Place: Zimmerman's

Janet: Zim, what would you say the Miss or Mrs. of today have in common with Martha Washington?

Zim: They're women?
Janet: Oh silly, of course they're women—but what else?
Zim: They all like clothes and spend money.

Janet: Oh, I give up! What I was about to point out was that the same Valentine gifts given to Martha Washington would just suit the Miss or Mrs. of today. For instance Martha would love a frilly white handkerchief.

Zim: And a plain one to go with it. Didn't they use to say "One to show and one to blow?"

Janet: And scarves and stoles are as much a part of the modern Miss or Mrs. wardrobe as they were in Martha's day.

Zim: Sometimes the stoles grew and became shawls because of the lack of central heating. We don't have that problem thank goodness.

Janet: And jewel cases were as much as must in 1776 as in 1957, along with party bags.

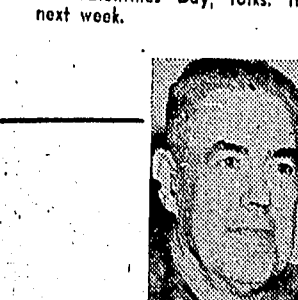

Zim: Did they call them receptacles or were those used to carry fish?

Janet: A very special gift Martha would have treasured, as we do today, I left 'til last.

Zim: You mean a snuff box?

Janet: I mean a sort of named jewelry. Perhaps it might be iridescent pearls set with rhinestones or the daring new onyx that goes so well with charcoal and black or it could be Rhinestone Modern that is worn all summer with dressy cottons.

Janet and Zim together: Give your Martha something personal for Valentine's Day, folks. It's next week.

Stockbridge Throws a Road Block In Path of Floundering Dansville

Stockbridge slapped Dansville down Friday night 40-30 to all but eliminate the Aggies from any title consideration. Dansville is now running a poor second with a 6-2 record. Williamston heads the pack with a 9-1 record. The Aggies will have to strip out of their slump if they are going to hang onto that second spot in the standings. Friday night they will take on Okemos at the Dansville gym. Okemos has finally started to roll. Even though the Chieftains are eliminated from the title chase they are probably one of the highest scoring teams in the league.

Stockbridge is tied for third place with Haslett. The Panthers have a chance to move past Haslett this week. The Lakers are idle Friday night while Stockbridge journeys to Williamston. The Panthers will be the underdogs but they have delivered several times in that capacity. When Stockbridge has a good night it is one of the top teams in the league.

Defense Is Key

A tight man-for-man defense was the stumbling block Stockbridge showed in the way of Dansville. The Aggies just couldn't work the ball in close enough to set up an offensive pattern. The usual fast-breaking Aggies found Panthers waiting for them everytime they started down the floor. Stockbridge throttled Dansville 14-5 in the first period but Dansville regained some of the ground with a 14-point surge in the second quarter. The teams left the floor at the half with Stockbridge clinging to a 25-19 lead.

Dansville really struggled in the midst of a scoring famine in the third quarter when only 2 points were scored. Stockbridge picked up 7.

The Panthers tried to play a controlled ball style in the last quarter. The plan worked. Dansville didn't have the ball enough to overcome the Stockbridge lead. John Mason, sophomore center for Stockbridge, continued to show development. He paced the attack with 15 points and gave Don McCabe a battle on the backboards. McCabe usually has his own way in that department.

Dansville's usually high-scoring squad drew too many blanks. McCabe topped the scorers with 15 points but Keith and Kaye Douglas, usually in the double figures, managed to score 2 points between them.

Rams Add Highlanders To Growing Victim List

Holt maintained its hot pace Friday night. The Rams took a 50-37 decision from Howell. The Highlanders were the eighth victims of the Capital Circuit leaders.

The victory enabled the Rams to stay one jump ahead of second place Everett. Friday night Holt will travel to Eaton Rapids. The Rams always have a rough time on the Eaton Rapids floor but the Holt string should continue to grow at least through Friday night.

Howell will take a vacation from Capital Circuit action Friday night. The Highlanders return to the court Friday, February 15 when Eaton Rapids comes to town.

Holt Starts Slow

The Rams had a hard time getting started against Howell. The first 5 minutes went by without a single point on the Holt side of the scoreboard. When the period ended, though the Howell lead was cut to 10-9.

Once the ice was broken the Rams started to play their own special brand of tight basketball. The half closed with Holt in front 22-11.

Holt stepped up the pace in the third quarter with Bob Tuttle doing the bulk of the scoring. When the quarter ended Holt held a 43-28 lead. In the last quarter the Rams continued to pull away from the helpless Highlanders.

Tuttle again demonstrated his scoring ability with a 20-point output. Dick DuBois was next with 16 points.

Dick McCracken topped the Highlander attack with 11 points.

Mason Glovers Are in Folds

Mason's trio of nose blockers in the Lansing Golden Gloves boxing tournament advanced to Thursday night's finals in City Center action last Thursday. Gary Caltrider knocked out his man in the third round in the 160-lb class.

Allan Tomlinson was declared the winner on a TKO in 58 seconds of the first round. Tomlinson fights in the lightweight division. Both are novices. Bob Caltrider advanced to the finals in the open featherweight class.

Thursday night's battle was the second for Gary Caltrider. He stopped his man in the first night of boxing, too. Tomlinson drew a bye the first night so he has reached the finals with less than a minute of fighting under his belt.

Gary Caltrider will fight Jim House. Bob Caltrider will take on Johnny Gonzales and Tomlinson will mix it up with Jim Lewis.

The Caltriders are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Caltrider. Tomlinson is the son of Mrs. Sam Tomlinson.

The Mason boys are boxing under the supervision of Dr. O. Keith Pauley.

Hornets Lose Close One

Williamston may be the top team in the Ingham County league but Spring Arbor wasn't told. The Jackson county team dropped the Hornets 48-47 Tuesday night. Dick Rathburn topped the Hornets attack with 15 points. Willie Gaffner was off his game. He scored only 14 points.

Mason JH Cagers Add to Records

Coach Maurice Strait's junior high cage teams added 4 more victories to their strings in action the past 2 weeks.

The seventh graders dumped St. Johns 23-19 and stopped Stockbridge 35-24. The eighth grade team topped St. Johns 23-19 and beat Stockbridge 38-18.

Friday afternoon the 2 teams will take on the Grand Ledge squads at 4 o'clock in the Mason gym. Grand Ledge is the only team to stop the Mason seventh graders this year. Mason's eighth graders have won all of their contests.

Tom Coss had one of his best games against the St. Johns seventh graders. He scored 11 points. Dave Arnold followed with 8. Against Stockbridge it was again Coss at the top of the list of scorers. He hit for 10. Dean Dudley added 9 and Kim Strickland tossed in 6.

Mason's crack eighth grade squad was lucky to move past St. Johns. Players had a hard time finding the range. Ron Snyder kept the Mason victory string intact with 12 points and an excellent defensive game. In the Stockbridge encounter Pete Robinson regained his shooting eye. He tallied 13 points. Snyder added 10.

Williamston Adds To League Lead

The top had no trouble whipping the bottom when Williamston and Fowlerville met Friday night. The league-leading Hornets disposed of the cellar-dwelling Gladiators 69-39 without working up much of a sweat.

The win coupled with Dansville's loss to Stockbridge gives the Hornets a little breathing room at the top of the Ingham County league.

That breathing room may come in handy Friday night when Stockbridge comes to town. The Panthers are upset minded. They proved that Friday night in stopping Dansville. Stockbridge has come up with a new scoring find in John Mason. Williamston will have its hands full Friday night.

Fowlerville is in for another rough night Friday. The Gladiators, still looking for their first victory of the season, will take on third-place Haslett.

Williamston showed under Fowlerville in the first quarter. When the first 8 minutes of play ended the Hornets held a 21-5 lead. From that point on there was never any doubt as to the game's outcome.

Dick Rathburn and Al Newman topped the Williamston scorers. Each bagged 16. Willie Gaffner was slightly off his usual pace. He scored 15.

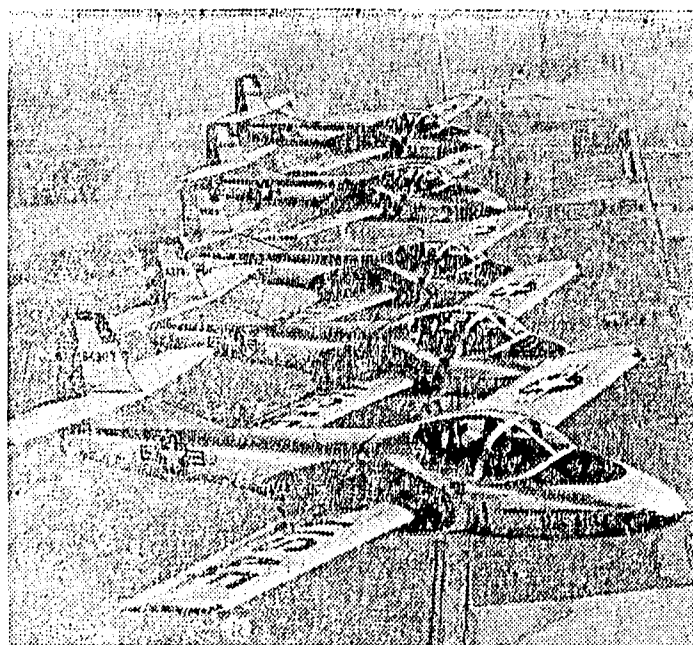

Dennis Judd was the only Gladiator to reach the double figures. He scored 6 field goals and 5 free throws for 17 points.

Reserves Boast Perfect Record

Mason's undefeated reserve basketball team will swing into action Friday night after a long layoff. They will tangle with the Grand Ledge Comet reserve teams.

Mason has a well-balanced squad. Top scorer of the group is midsize Jerry Willis. The freshman hotshot has plunked in 140 points in the 10 games played. Bruce Horton follows him in point production with 108. Mike Holbrook has 98. Jim Halenbeck has 70 and Bill Dietz has scored 54.

Mason has rolled to a total of 535 points while holding opponents to 345.

Vikings Remain In 2nd Place

Everett's Vikings had their hands full Friday night. They had to come from behind to notch a 70-60 victory over fired-up Grand Ledge.

Keith Morrill was the main reason for the Vikings' score. He kept the scorers busy with 34 points. His performance indicated he was back in form after a month of inactivity due to a bad ankle.

Everett has another tough test on tap this week. The Vikings will entertain Charlotte. At times the Orioles have looked like worth-saters. Friday night was a good example. They poured in 89 points in defeating Eaton Rapids. If they are on, Everett will have to hustle to keep its second place spot and stay within striking distance of undefeated Holt.

Grand Ledge will try to gain revenge for its loss to Everett in game at Mason. The Bulldogs looked pathetic the last time the teams met. They haven't shown much promise since so Grand Ledge might not work up much of a sweat Friday night.

Morrill Needs Help If the rest of the Comets had come to the aid of Morrill Everett would have been in bad shape. Jerry Waldrup was the only Grand Ledge player to break into double figures.

It was a close contest all the way. The teams finished the first quarter in a 15-15 deadlock. Everett pulled away in the second period but before the half ended the Comets had cut the gap to 31-28.

Grand Ledge dropped behind another 3 points in the third quarter and skidded 4 more in the final period.

Everett's scoring balance was the difference between victory and defeat. Jim Beardsley topped the Vikings with 21 points. Bill Morehouse added 16 and Lloyd Beardsley contributed 11.

Charlotte Sets Scoring Record

Charlotte opened up on Eaton Rapids Friday night in the best Oriole shooting exhibition of the season. Charlotte trimmed the Greyhounds 89-57. The point total broke the Charlotte record of 84 set against the same Greyhounds earlier in the season.

The Orioles probably won't travel at such a fast clip in Friday night's game. They take on Everett in the Viking court.

Eaton Rapids will also have a hard night Friday. The Greyhounds will entertain front-running Holt.

Greg Allen continued to dominate the Oriole scoring in the one-sided game with Eaton Rapids. He tallied 23 points from the pivot post and handled most of the rebounding work. He only played 3 quarters. LeRoy Cole topped the Eaton Rapids attack with 21 points.

Greyhounds Take Leslie 82-81

Eaton Rapids edged Leslie Tuesday night in a non-conference tilt which had the fans on their feet most of the night. The Greyhounds finally emerged 82-81 winners.

Star of the game was Dick Caterino, in the Greyhound lineup for the first time this year. He sank the winning basket with 6 seconds left to play. Caterino has been out of action ever since breaking his ankle in the Mason-Eaton Rapids football game in October.

In the late stages the lead changed hands 9 times as the team battled down to the wire. Eaton Rapids led at the end of the first quarter 32-30 but Leslie recovered to take a 49-46 lead at the half. The rest of the way neither team could move more than a basket or 2 in front.

Bob Cole topped the Greyhounds with 24 points and Dick Reese had 20. Leslie's top scorer was Lynn Heksel with 22. Bill Durfee was next with 16.

St. Johns Tops Comets

St. Johns toppled Grand Ledge 75-68 Tuesday night. The Comets outplayed the Redwings in every quarter except the second. In the 8-minute letdown St. Johns scored 21 points to 9 for Grand Ledge. That was the same point spread at the finish. Jerry Waldrup topped the Comets with 27 points.

Jackson Team Stops Panthers

Stockbridge didn't do so well Tuesday night. The Panthers fell before Jackson St. John 58-56.

A last quarter Stockbridge rally fell short.

The Jackson parochials took a 16-14 lead and stretched it to 33-28 by the end of the first half. The Panthers continued to slip in the third quarter but in the last period they found the range and came up with 20 points. St. John stalled the last couple of minutes to win the game.

Bob Cornish topped the Stockbridge attack with 12 points. The Panthers had a hard time at the free throw line. They outscored St. John from the floor but fell behind on the charity tosses.

Okemos Power Is Too Much For Blackhawks

Okemos may be running a poor fifth in the Ingham County league cage race but no team ever looked better than the Chieftains did in snowing under Leslie 75-38 Friday night.

The Chieftains will have to continue playing the same brand of ball this week if they expect to duplicate the Stockbridge feat of dumping Dansville. The Aggies will have the home court advantage, too.

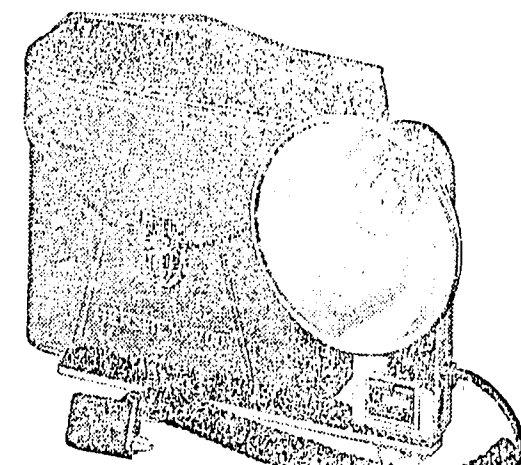

Leslie will take a breather Friday night. On Tuesday Mason will be in town for a non-league game. Okemos unlimbered its big guns in the Leslie game. Max Creaser stepped up his scoring pace with 24 points. Jim Kreider was close behind with 21 and Tony Broed came through with 14 and his best game of the season. Coach Bob Baker used 13 men with 11 of them breaking into the scoring column.

Leslie had an off night. Not a Blackhawk hit the double figures in scoring. Bill Durfee and Ed Hasbrouck each scored 9 to pace the feeble Blackhawk attack.

Okemos was in command all the way. The game started slow with Okemos finally emerging with a 14-9 first-quarter lead. The Chieftains took all the fire out of the Blackhawks with 29 points in the second period. From then on Leslie couldn't come close.

FOX

Zarak
Sunday and Monday
Delight and adventure are combined in Columbia Pictures' "Zarak," starring Victor Mature, Michael Wilding and voluptuous Anita Ekberg. The new film is set in India's northwest frontier, a land of pillage, plunder and passion.

The picture includes Ekberg's harem slave dance, Zarak's brig-

and army storming down from the Himalayas to rape the fortress-city of Peshawar, a mill-long caravan flinging off its cam-ouge to become an army of vengeance, and a duel to the death fought by dagger-armed Victor Mature against a scimitar-wielding executioner for the pleasure of a primitive court.

FOX

The Come On
Tues., Wed., Thurs.
Sterling Hayden has a role right up his nautical alley in "The Come On," with Anne Baxter as his romantic co-star. The Allied Artists film is in Super-scope.

Hayden's role is that of a sea-faring soldier of fortune, knocking around southern California and Mexican resort ports, ready to take any job that is reasonably honest, an attitude not exactly matching Miss Baxter's approach to life.

Attorney General's Opinion Keeps Hospital Beds Empty

While the governor and legislators are talking about more taxes to provide more hospital beds, hundreds of state and county hospital beds are empty. They are empty because of an interpretation of the law which prevents empty beds in tuberculosis hospitals being used for other patients who are physically or mentally sick.

There has been a suggestion that patients from the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Howell be shifted to empty beds in other TB hospitals so the Howell institution can be made available for mental cases. That move has been balked by a recent interpretation of Michigan health laws. The interpretation made by the attorney general is that state and county TB hospitals may not convert excess beds to the treatment of patients with diseases other than those specified in the statute.

Hospitals which used money from the state hospital bonds funds of 1950 may not convert facilities created by those funds to other than tuberculosis control purposes, according to the interpretation.

With the dramatic drop in tuberculosis incidence rates and the change from bed rest to surgery and drugs in treatment of the disease, the state and the counties have more TB beds than they need.

In Ingham county, TB patients are taken from other counties, and patients with lung cancer and other infirmities are admitted. Even the name has been changed; to Ingham Chest hospital. So far the Ingham hospital has not been handicapped by the attorney general's ruling, said Dr. C. J. Stringer, medical director of the Ingham hospital.

However, Dr. Stringer met Friday with directors of other tuberculosis hospitals to urge the legislature to change the laws to make the empty beds available for treatment of other diseases. Figures released last week showed there are 105 beds in the Copper Country state sanatorium at Hancock with only 55 occupied. At Northern Michigan state sanatorium at Gaylord only 64 of 176 beds are occupied. The

State Asks Bids On M-78 Stretch Through Ingham

Low bidders will be determined February 20 in Lansing on a state trunkline highway construction project for 7.1 miles of single and dual roadways on M-78 from near Abbott road, north of East Lansing, northeast to the Clinton-Shiawassee county line.

The roadway project on M-78 north of East Lansing will consist of widening the present 3-lane pavement to a 4-lane undivided pavement from near Abbott road east to Alton street. From that point east to Lake Lansing road, a distance of about 1.3 miles, dual, 24-foot-wide concrete roadways on new location will be constructed. From Lake Lansing road east to the Clinton-Shiawassee county line, a 24-foot-wide concrete roadway will be constructed just south of existing M-78 to carry eastbound traffic. The existing 20-foot-wide pavement from Lake Lansing road east will be widened to 24 feet and blacktopped. It will become the westbound roadway.

The existing M-78 pavement from Alton street east will serve as an access road to Haslett.

A project for 8,001 miles of single and dual roadways on M-78 from the Clinton-Shiawassee county line northeast to M-47 was let on December 12, 1956. This project will adjoin the above project. When the 2 are completed there will be a 4-lane highway from Abbott road to Perry corners, all of it a divided highway except the small section near Abbott road. The completion date for the 7.1 miles of construction is November 30, 1957.

Services were on Tuesday afternoon at Ball-Dunn funeral home with Rev. Paul L. Arnold of Mason Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was in Maple Grove.

Mr. Vyse was born in Detroit June 11, 1879, son of Japheth and Fannie Vyse. He is survived by sisters, Miss Ida M. Vyse and Mrs. Jennie Huggins of Detroit; and a brother, Fred L. Vyse of Howell.

Retirement of the field administration supervisor of Region III of the conservation department has moved Robert A. Thompson of Dansville ahead. The Dansville man has been named to succeed Roy Lamoreaux, who recently retired.

Thompson has been with the conservation department for 28 years. He started as draftsman with the land economic survey in 1928. He was shifted to the Gaylord office in 1933 and remained there 3 years. For the next 3 years he had charge of fire towers and communication, working out of the Lansing office. From 1939 to 1944 he was project supervisor and regional forest fire technician at Roscommon. After a year as communications supervisor at the Roscommon regional office he became forest fire technician of Region III at Jackson and later at Lansing when the offices were moved.

The Dansville man after his graduation from high school studied natural science at Michigan State Normal and received a bachelor of science degree in forestry at Michigan State in 1928. He taught at Chelsea high school before entering state service.

Farm Leaders Back Research

Two Michigan men today were named to the group of 20 top farm leaders who will help America's farmers keep pace with the age of advanced mechanization.

Named to the advisory committee of the new Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living were J. L. Butt, St. Joseph, and Prof. Arthur W. Farrall, Michigan State university, East Lansing. The committee was announced by Neil C. Hurley, Jr., founder and president of the center.

The distinguished group will guide the Thor Research Center in its nationwide "Operation Farm Improvement" program to increase operating efficiency and living comfort through better planning and use of the farm shop, Hurley said.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson last fall dedicated the non-profit center, which represents the first organized effort to help the nation's farmers offset their heavy dependence on farm production machinery with modern methods, materials and tools for equipment maintenance and home improvement.

Farming Needs Engineer Skill

Research and training in agricultural engineering must play an important part in the progress of rural Michigan, according to A. W. Farrall, head of the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State university.

The agricultural engineering department at MSU is working to aid both farmers and industry. Farrall reported. It trains over 200 men on the college level each year and instructs several thousand through service courses.

In addition, the department is carrying on over 30 major research projects to explore tillage methods, the use of solar energy, and dozens of other areas. Cooperative extension specialists seek to bring research results to

Haslett Plans X-Ray Schedule

Ingham's mobile X-ray unit will be in Haslett Thursday, February 14, from 12-4 and 6-8 p. m. Persons 15 years old and older may be X-rayed. Children 5-15 years may be X-rayed if a parent is X-rayed at the same time. Last year 400 people in Haslett received the service. It is free, takes only a minute and requires no undressing.

Mrs. William Achtenberg is community chairman for the X-ray survey. She is being assisted by the following committees: Home calls, Mrs. M. C. Bekaert, chairman; publicity, the Meridian Township Firemen's association; transportation, Mrs. Richard Williams, chairman; and registration, Mrs. Doris Chambers, Mrs. Alvin Bates, and Mrs. Raymond Yerkle.

Organizations which are helping are the Women's Auxiliary to the Meridian Township fire department, Haslett Dozen Mrs., Haslett Lakesiders, and Haslett Learn-A-Bit club.

Farmers and industrial suppliers. Farming requires a large investment, Farrall explained. Michigan farmers alone have invested $1 billion in buildings and three-fourths billion dollars in equipment.

The farm worker requires 3 times as large an investment as the industrial employee. A farmer must use labor saving machinery and methods in operating his farm business.

Yard Plans Opening

Mickelson-Baker Lumber Co. has scheduled a grand opening of the new show room Friday, February 22, according to Robert Coon, yard manager. ## 4-H Leaders Plan Session

Youths in 4-H club work receive many honors, but on March 2 and 3 it will be 4-H leaders who will take their bows.

Three hundred Michigan 4-H leaders will meet on the Michigan State university at the first annual 4-H leader's conference. It will be a get-together of local 4-H club leaders from every county in Michigan, explains Russell Wawby, state 4-H club leader.

Mawby describes the leader's conference as "an old, long-cherished idea coming to reality." Its purpose, he points out, is to give recognition to local leaders, exchange ideas, provide discussions on 4-H leadership and give inspiration to local leaders.

Sponsored by the State 4-H council, the cooperative extension service and the Michigan 4-H club foundation, the 2-day session will be attended by 5 delegates from Ingham county.

Held at Kellogg Center, the leader's conference will open Saturday, March 2. That morning will feature idea-swap sessions and get-acquainted groups. Following the luncheon will be an afternoon of discussion periods. The evening banquet will be sparked by 4-H talent and a "stem-winding" nationally known speaker.

On Sunday more discussion

Judge Ryan Lays Blame for Crime On Environment

In a talk Sunday before a meeting of the Lansing group of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Judge Theodore P. Ryan placed blame for juvenile delinquency upon bad environment.

"While we all read about crime in the newspapers," the circuit judge, because of the volume and variety of matters coming before him for decision has a unique opportunity to observe the problems, the conflicts, and the failures of individuals in the community," Judge Ryan said.

"The underlying pattern of causes, particularly in the case of juvenile offenders, has been apparent, even during my brief service as circuit judge.

"The court must deal, however, with the individual offender within the framework created by the law. The larger problems involved in so many of our criminal matters are not legal questions at all, but social problems which involve the entire community.

"Building additional schools and recreational facilities for our young people are certainly important in improving the education and the opportunities for good citizenship of our young people, but they are not the final solution. Our greatest need is to interest and educate parents of today in taking an active interest in the lives and the futures of their children."

"As a circuit judge," Judge Ryan said, "I am reminded daily that in this task of providing good home environments, often we fail."

groups will meet. A summary of the meet will follow the 12:30 dinner when Mawby will point up the highlights of the conference.

CAMERAMEN did not have to look far to find bad conditions prevalent in many of the parks. Picnic tables, broken down and worn out through overuse and age, should have been replaced long ago. Lack of both funds and manpower has been the chief obstacle to the conservation department. ## Hate Sin — Love Sinner

I have met Harry Doesburg through your newspaper. He did a fine piece of work in finding a murderer to stop him from murdering again. I, too, wanted him caught. At the time of his capture my brief joy turned to sorrow when I read the statements in the paper of those who said words to this effect, "If we had caught him around Stockbridge the state wouldn't have to keep him."

"Those people have murder in their hearts and are only a shade better than one who does the act. He murdered out of fear; their feelings stems from hate. And now, Dear Reader, they want you to help them to legalize murder."

We have been taught to love the sinner and hate the sin. Why doesn't Harry Doesburg attack the root of murder which is "drink." Search the stories of crimes in the news and note how many are laid to "drink." Vague: "He is a good man, but drink is responsible for the crime." The state receives a good revenue from alcoholic beverages, and then spends many times that amount to support the crimes caused by it. It is like the story of a woman who received a beau-

Political Truth

J. Edgar Hoover once wrote, "If I had a son, I'd do one thing. I'd tell him the truth. I'd never let him catch me in a lie." When a fellow hears the many tales that come from political sources he wonders sometime are they true.

It was not so long ago when we heard the dog story that came from Washington, and the pooch in the kennel. There sure was a heap of barking but soon someone got the leash and tied the dog up and the story ended.

I see that the red carpet is down and someone is again in the dog house, or on the carpet. With all the air conditioning we have in the country, it is hard for anyone to duck the draft, or even dodge the many draft boards. When I was just a kid, I did a 3 year hitch in what they called the national guard. I thought it fun. It was educational to a young fellow. But I found out their rules and regulations were about as rigid as I cared for. Kitchen detail was rough. Sometimes the eggs were not up to par. Kero syrup on my rolled oats was not too pleasing, and when the bugle blew we were flat on our back, or standing erect on both feet. In the month of June, 1943, if it had not been for this unit, landing in Detroit there could have been many lives lost during a riot.

The National Guard was once looked upon as a unit to protect industry, but that is water over the brink. They are ready, they are willing, and they have fought side by side, with the French, and also the British, and their work was well done. Today some of the boys who were once National Guardsmen, lie asleep, with just a cross over them.

Let's keep eyes on the men in Washington. I for one hope and trust that all the Cadillacs are in perfect shape and that there are no leaks in roofs of the kings castles, and that if the market should slump, and the royalties get less, maybe we can help by buying some oil. I am not jealous, but it sure must be swell to have so many cooks in one house. I wished Abraham Lincoln were alive, maybe he could do some of the common folks over there some good. European trouble today, and for many years has been caused by empty stomachs and we have a few right here in America.

And don't forget, since 1846 there have been hundreds of Michigan citizens die at the hands of brutal killers.

HARRY H. DOESBURG,
Stockbridge

tiful scarf for her old piano. It looked so nice she had to buy a new piano to go with the new scarf. It isn't funny in this case. It is a vicious cycle and can go on forever.

Harry Doesburg has good ideas and ability. I am surprised to see him working on the wrong angle. It is easier to keep well than to heal a disease. One inoculates for polio rather than keep his money to heal the disease after it strikes. Why gather liquor revenue to punish murderers after they strike?

"To Mr. Doesburg I would say, 'Would you wait for polio or murder? No! Get on the right track in the right direction: inoculate men's minds against liquor, and you've got your murders solved plus all the other misery, poverty and unhappiness. Would you work for peace or would you legalize murder?'"

Lincoln's Words

This is the time of year when we think of Abraham Lincoln. Our hearts grow warm as we remember his tender spirit, his understanding of people, and his powerful words.

We are, of course, glad that we are Americans. And perhaps as significant a reason as any for being glad, is that we have the privilege of living in the land of Abraham Lincoln.

On February 22, 1842, Lincoln gave a famous address about George Washington. Following the talk, he wrote a letter to a West Point cadet, for whom he had procured the academy appointment. In that letter he said, "I have just told the folks here in Springfield, on this 11th anniversary of the birth of him whose name we mention in solemn awe, that the one victory we can ever call complete will be that one which proclaims that there is not one slave or one drunkard on the face of God's green earth. Recruit for that victory."

As I sit here this morning, I wonder what Abraham Lincoln would think of us today. I wonder what immortal words of sorrow would come from his lips as he would look upon poor America today; as we slaughter our potential leadership of the future upon the highways; as we pour our money into this deadly drink, and go without hospitals, schools, churches, homes; as we turn ourselves into a nation of slaves to a tremendous and vicious advertising monster, the alcohol propaganda machine.

I know he would repeat the words of that speech on Washington's Birthday, 1842, but I am also certain that he would pour his heart and soul into the words with greatly increased earnestness.

Let us listen: "Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by a total and final banishment from it of all intoxicating drinks, seems to me not now to be an open question. Three-fourths of mankind confess the affirmative with their tongues, and I believe, all the rest acknowledge it in their hearts."

Congressional News

Most members of congress send newsletters to constituents giving information and comment on national affairs. I have decided to do so.

Taking the oath of office... heading the president address congress on the Middle East and the state of the union... participating in the inaugural ceremonies and watching the parade... these were the high points of the first 3 weeks. I was grateful for the opportunity to participate in this pageantry.

President Eisenhower's first address to congress set forth a plan to establish the line of demarcation between the free and Communist worlds. The house of representatives on January 30, by a vote of 355 to 61, served notice to the Kremlin that we do not propose to let the Middle East slide into the Communist orbit. This method worked in Formosa.

The Middle East declaration makes clear that we will not intervene militarily unless we are asked to do so, and that we will cooperate with the United Nations. It aims to eliminate the root of the trouble: economic weakness. It is hoped that strengthening the commerce and industry in Middle Eastern nations will enable them to maintain their sovereignty and advance the cause of freedom. I support this policy.

The new budget is tremendous! Everyone hopes it can be cut. However, 63% of the budget is for defense expenditures. The Suez crisis pushed up military demands. The president's candor was most refreshing. He invited congress to reduce expenditures wherever we justifiably can.

In view of the budget, tax cuts are out for the present. However, looking hopefully to the time when they are possible, I have sponsored 2 bills which would reduce the tax burden. This will allow time for public study of these proposals.

One of my bills, H. R. 2790, has

THEY'RE GOING TO STICK A NEEDLE IN ME

Yes, Sonny, we do it all the time!

Mommie holds you in her lap. And that nice, friendly doctor gets the needle ready. Then... OUCH! And there's one less disease for you to worry about.

If only it were that easy to protect you from some of the other diseases that infest the world... the plagues that eat away man's moral and spiritual fibre.

But religion can't be injected with a needle!

So it requires wise parents, and Christian homes, and worshipping families, and vigorous churches to get you ready for a noble, happy life.

Better take it up Sunday with your folks: ISN'T IT TIME FOR ALL OF US TO GO TO CHURCH?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

University Offers Courses Designed for Home Study

High school students who need a course or so to complete graduation requirements may take advantage of the supervised home study courses offered by the University of Michigan extension service.

There is still time to enroll and complete a course before the middle of May, the point at which marks usually have to be recorded for graduation in June, Mrs. Alfred O. Lee, supervisor of the correspondence study department, explained.

Schools as well as individuals take advantage of the service offered by this department of the university extension service, she reported, adding that many of the smaller high schools in Michigan supplement their curricula by enrolling groups of students in "classes" in needed work not offered by the school itself.

The same courses can be utilized by young men who are interrupting high school to go into military service, Mrs. Lee pointed out. In such cases, these students use correspondence study courses to continue their high school education, regardless of where their military service may take them.

Correspondence courses are also used by students who must drop out of high school because of illness or for financial reasons. In other instances, students who have accompanied their parents abroad on governmental or business assignments have kept up their high school studies and have graduated with their own class when they returned. Adults who wish to complete a high school education also may take advantage of these courses.

Any student who intends to apply correspondence courses toward a high school diploma must obtain the approval of his high school principal before enrolling to be sure that the work he is doing is acceptable for his own particular program.

College courses offered by the correspondence study department may be used in these same ways at the college level.

Bulletins listing and describing both high school and college courses and containing other pertinent information about fees, enrollment procedures, and textbooks are available on request. Interested persons are invited to write to the University of Michigan correspondence study department, 4001 Administration Building, Ann Arbor.

PICTURES TAKEN in Michigan's state parks last summer are being used as documentary evidence of the over-crowded and run-down condition of the park system. Motorists often had to wait up to 4 hours to gain admittance and then spend more time searching for a parking space, as shown above at Holland state park.

Former Cadet Helps Rule U. S. Coast Guard Academy

Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain, once a cadet at the U. S. coast guard academy, is now a member of the board of visitors. He was appointed to the board last week, one of 6 members of the house of representatives and 4 senators. The board of visitors represents and reports to congress on the operation of the coast guard academy at New London, Conn. The board's official function is to inspect the training of cadets.

During World War II, Chamberlain joined the coast guard as an apprentice seaman in January, 1942, graduated from the academy at New London, and served 4 years in both the Atlantic and Pacific theatres of operation. He achieved the rank of lieutenant-commander in the coast guard reserve. He served on 3 vessels, first as commanding officer of a sub-chaser assigned to patrol the Cape Hatteras mine fields; later as gunnery officer of the USS Mojave, an escort vessel on North Atlantic convoy duty. During the final 2 years of the war, he served as commanding officer of an army cargo vessel in the South Pacific.

Book Talk

With the indoor sports season in full swing, books on card playing and indoor games have increased in popularity at Ingham county library.

Especially popular are books which provide ideas for family fun indoors. The library has manuals such as "The Omnibus of Fun" and the "Family Fun Book," both by Helen and Larry Eisenberg. These and other books are packed with ideas for family activity.

Handbooks are available on bridge, canasta, chess, checkers and other games.

A classic among game books is Ostrow's "Complete Card Player." It contains procedure and rules for 350 card games, including Michigan Boodle. Other useful titles are Clement Wood's "The Complete Book of Games" and "Foster's Complete Hoyle."

A wide variety of indoor games for children and young people are outlined in such books as Brewster's "American Non-Singing Games," Hindman's "Handbook of Games and Stunts," Harbin's "Fun Encyclopedia," Mula's "Fun and Games," and Forbush's "Book of Games."

Instructions for making and playing various table games can be found in "Games You Can Make and Play" by Paul Champion; "Games to Make and Play at Home" by Joseph Leeming; and "Table Games" by Ray Maran. Joseph Leeming's "Fun with Pencil and Paper" contains a variety of games, quizzes, stunts, puzzles and other pastimes for which pencil and paper are the only equipment needed.

For the smaller children there is Marian Webb's "Games for Younger Children" and Evelyn Borst's "The Book of Games for Boys and Girls."

One in every 10 Americans today is over 65, according to recent figures, this compares with about one in 25 in 1900. Within 2 decades, it is predicted, one in every 7 Americans will be above 65.

This steady increase in the age of population is being reflected in the lending of library books. Several new books on the problems of retirement and aging are now available at Ingham county library.

Two current books—Thomas Collins' "The Golden Years" and Joseph Buckley's recently revised "Retirement Handbook," are being read by persons looking ahead to retirement. Both books cover such aspects as planning, work opportunities, avocations, economic considerations, and desirable climates.

Other helpful titles published in recent years include "Where to Retire and How" by F. Blanchard; "How to Retire and Enjoy It" by Ray Giles; "Should I Retire?" by George Preston; "The Best Years of Your Life" by Ray Benyon; and "Profitable Country Living for Retired People" by Haydn Pearson. There are also several books by Wilma Donahue of the University of Michigan. She has made special studies of these problems.

Ingham county should be getting better all the time. The number and quality of books on self-improvement in the library is on the increase. Non-fiction books on religion, psychology, marriage and family, personality, mental health, and success on the job, have been consistently in demand.

Outstanding are such titles as John A. Schindler's "How to Live 365 Days a Year," Norman Vincent Peale's "The Power of Positive Thinking," and Frank Bettger's "How I Raised Myself from Failure to Success in Selling."

Titles which seemed to fill a need are "Guides to Straight Thinking" by Stuart Chase; "Love or Perish" by Smiley Blanton; and "Our Inner Conflicts" by Karen Horney.

A recent book on marriage has joined such classics as "Marriage Manual" by Frances B. Strain and "Successful Marriage" by Morris Fishbein. It is Mrs. Strain's new book, "Marriage Is for Two."

Also in use are books on speaking, writing and reading better. Titles like "How to Read Better and Faster" by Norman Lewis and "Get It Right" by John Opdycke are waiting for you now.

Knudstrup Heads Church Conference

Harold Knudstrup, president of Lansing Presbytery Council of Men, presided at a church officer training conference at Albion Sunday afternoon and night. The meeting was held at the Albion First Presbyterian church.

David Proffitt of Marysville, Tennessee, moderator of the Presbytery church, gave the evening address.

Officers of the Mason, Presbyterian church who attended the meeting were Robert Cone, N. S. Davis, Peter Roon, Marvin Lott, Ralph Swinehart, Gerald Strickland and Richard Brown.

The next meeting of the Lansing Presbytery will be Tuesday, February 12, at the Howell Presbyterian church, the newest church in the Lansing Presbytery. Sam Cotton will be the commissioner for the Mason church.

Poultry May Get State Inspection

By ELMER WHITE
Michigan Press Association

Elimination of diseased poultry from Michigan markets is the aim of a program underway in the Michigan department of agriculture.

At present there are no federal laws requiring inspection of poultry. Many of the chickens and turkeys eaten in Michigan come from southern states where there are few quality controls.

To combat the problem, the agriculture department is offering Michigan poultry producers an inspection service which guarantees the consumer that the "chicken in the pot" is entirely wholesome and free from disease. It is voluntary—for the farmer—and its success can only be insured if "Mrs. Housewife" demands the protection.

Any producer can avail himself of the service. He contacts the department of agriculture, which sets the machinery in motion. A veterinarian (usually local) is hired by the department to inspect the birds during processing for market.

The inspector removes diseased birds and assures that the processing is conducted under sanitary conditions.

The healthy poultry is tagged by the veterinarian with a special green and white metal wing clip provided by the agriculture department guaranteeing the wholesomeness of the produce. This clip identifies the inspected birds in the markets and grocery stores.

The producer's only cost is payment for the veterinarian's time.

However, many poultry men are reluctant to add to their costs when they must compete with cheap, uninspected poultry coming from southern states.

The key to the success of the program is consumer "demand." If the consumers want a better product, they can have it. Unless they do, it is easier and cheaper to provide uninspected poultry.

Here's a knotty problem: design a hollow metal ball capable of being shot 300 miles through space; able to attain speeds of 18,000 miles per hour without disintegrating; strong enough to withstand the pressures of outer space, and light enough to carry delicate measuring equipment without harm.

Brooks & Perkins, a Michigan metal fabricating company located in Detroit, is now working on this very problem. Last July the firm was awarded the government contract to manufacture the "earth satellite" sphere which the United States hopes to launch as its part in the international geophysical year, beginning July, 1957.

Part of the ultimate success or failure of the proposed earth satellite weigh on the shoulders of this Michigan company.

"Perfection is our primary problem," said E. Howard Perkins president of the company. Personnel connected with the project can only estimate some of the difficulties that may arise when the launching is accomplished.

The sphere is made from magnesium, a metal known for its combined lightness and strength. The manufacturing process includes machining the hollow globe to a three-hundredths of an inch thickness. The outside is then polished to perfection to minimize possible friction. Finally the globe is taken to the firm's Livonia plant where a gold plating is applied.

to deflect the sun's heat rays and keep the recording instruments cool.

Five spheres are already completed. Plans are now scheduled for a launching sometime after January, 1958, from a Florida site.

And what does the firm of Brooks & Perkins think about the role they are playing in the history-making event? They couldn't be happier. As they point out, before the satellite contract came to Michigan, they were practically unknown in Detroit. The contract changed that and brought them a host of new friends.

If Michigan were suddenly cut off from the rest of the country for food supplies how well would we eat?

Michigan's diversified agricultural economy provides a pleasant "burp" of satisfaction in answer to this question each year at an annual "All-Michigan Dinner."

This unique banquet is sponsored by the Michigan department of agriculture and Michigan Press association every January for newsmen from all parts of the state. The purpose is to show that Michigan food products lead the way in quality and "taste-goodness," that Michigan's farms produce many different kinds of crops. Only Michigan food is served. And from the variety presented, no one should expect more.

This year's menu included such tasty items as half of a "golden fryer," spiced tomato juice, fresh rhubarb pie and cheese, buttered peas and mushrooms, fresh lettuce and cottage cheese, whipped potatoes, celery, carrot sticks and radishes.

Every bit was grown right in Michigan. Every year the menu is changed to include some of the many other products available.

Not only is a delicious dinner provided, but additional Michigan foods are introduced to the newsmen. Michigan beans, sausage, apples (fresh and spiced), pickles, salt, cherries, onions and other products all demonstrate Michigan's agricultural diversity.

Transportation Changes Rapidly

Many changes in transportation are apparent. Railroads superseded ship and barge transportation on rivers. The stagecoaches failed to survive. Interurbans took business away from railroads and within a span of 20 years they were ousted by bus lines and automobiles. Air transport has taken much of the profitable passenger transport business away from railroads and even ocean liners.

We can see the changes on the earth's surface and in the air. We don't look beneath us. Today in the United States there are more pipelines for moving petroleum underground than there is trackage of all the railroad lines combined.

Transportation changes rapidly, and many methods are employed to get that fuel from the refinery to your furnace, long travel through pipelines, a shorter ride by rail from a big bulk storage plant to a local one, and then a ride by automobile tank truck to your basement.

Teachers vs. Baby Sitters

The statement recently made by Detroit's new school superintendent that teachers are paid less than baby sitters at first seemed too silly to dignify by discussion.

Yet teachers who had not analyzed the statement must have repeated it to pupils, because Mason pupils are coming home with that statement implanted in their minds.

The illogic used by the Detroit superintendent of schools is that a teacher drawing a salary of $5,000 a year gets less per pupil per hour than does a baby sitter — $5,000 divided by 180 figures out $27.77 per teaching day, and divided by 6 hours, comes to $4.63 per hour, and then divided by 40 (for 40 pupils) comes out to about 11c per pupil per hour.

On the same basis an army colonel, with 5,000 men under him receives only a fraction of what a teacher gets.

Teachers talked so long about low wages that they can't seem to convert to the present prosperity basis. The teacher in the average system draws around $4,000 for 180 days of work. That figures out better than $22 per day, which even in this age of inflation is good money in any league. They ought to be the first to recognize it and glory in it, instead of trying to prove that they get less than baby sitters.

Where Fields of Fiber Grow

If research undertaken at the University of Wisconsin keeps showing results we may be singing songs about fields of fiber.

Outside of soybeans, cotton and a little flax, most fields are planted to produce food for humans, or for livestock which will be processed for human food.

Up until now we have done little toward producing fiber for an ever-expanding market. We have cut our own forests and are slashing Canadian forests for pulpwood. Presses run faster than paper mills, which is why newsprint today costs more than bond paper did only 15 years ago.

Paper can be made from almost any kind of fiber. In addition to wood, it is being made from bagasse — the fiber left from processing sugar cane. It has been made from wheat straw and corn stalks, but the cost of gathering and transporting the straw and stalks sends the price of the finished product up.

At the University of Wisconsin research is underway on aspen, on developing a strain which grows twice as fast and twice as big. A Swede discovered giant aspens growing along with the ordinary variety. Swedish scientists discovered that the giant aspens had 3 sets of chromosomes instead of the normal 2. At the University of Wisconsin scientists have now found a way to develop aspens not only with 3 sets but with 4 sets of chromosomes.

Land taken out of food production may thus be planted to pulp production, providing wood for paper-making and other needs.

"Only God can make a tree," is the way the poem goes, but man can help make trees grow faster. Making them grow faster and bigger is a better way of using otherwise idle land than planting it to buckwheat.

Ten North Frederick

Most people don't know what the story under that title is about — whether it's something like the old Fifty-Four Forty or Fight or a location like Main Street.

Detroit's police commissioner ordered the book taken off newsstands. He claimed the book endangers the morals of young people. The banning resulted in a wave of protests from so-called liberal thinkers and increased sale of the book through other channels.

We ought to consider literary and mental health as we do physical health. Here in Ingham county we insist on sanitation safeguards. Leslie is building a sewage disposal plant. Mason is undertaking improvements to its plant and the extension of its sewerage system. Williamston is spending big money to handle sewage. East Lansing and Meridian township and a section of Delhi township have built, are building or must build disposal plants. Even Lansing must add to its plant.

Need for sanitation is obvious on physical wastes. It should be just as obvious on mental wastes.

If the Detroit police commissioner has read Ten North Frederick and has found it unfit for young minds his findings ought to be just as acceptable as though the head of the Detroit health department found Detroit drinking water dangerous or school swimming pools polluted.

Few parents will be upset because an unfit book is banned from newsstand sale. There are things worse than the burning of salacious literature. One thing worse is offering it for sale.

The Stranger at the Gate

Americans ought to quit preaching about traditional American hospitality or start practicing it.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia came to the United States to have doctors check on the health of a little son. The king came upon the invitation of government officials. He came as part of our present campaign to lure Arabians away from the Soviet orbit. Yet in New York the mayor rolled out no red carpet. He was politically afraid.

Few people in the United States admire Dictator Tito or condone the tyranny which he has inflicted upon his people. We had the opportunity to demonstrate to Tito how our form of government works. But there have been so many threats of demonstrations against Tito that he will not make the trip.

Our propaganda about freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and all the other freedoms would carry more weight if we practiced what we preached.

King Saud has sins. So does Tito. Yet we have delivered millions of dollars into the hands of both. It surely can be no more sinful to greet them pleasantly than to hand them over billions of American dollars. If they are good enough to shower with tax dollars they are good enough to receive a generous welcome.

Down by the SYCAMORE

It's possible for people to forget their own pain in relieving the pain of others. Mrs. Opal Sedelmaier of Aurelius is between operations. She had one and is now trying to get her red corpuscle count up high enough for another. When pain became almost unbearable she took a job in an Elton Rapids nursing home. The pains let up, or else she forgot about them in serving others.

Mrs. Sedelmaier and Mrs. Mildred North, another top Ingham County News correspondent, have one thing in common. They both write poetry. Mrs. Sedelmaier has 3 poems and Mrs. North has even more in Evergreen Echoes, the volume of poetry published by the Lansing Poetry club last year.

The Charlotte Republican-Tribune publishes the poetry for the club, setting the type on a special machine, making adjustments for iambic and elegiac meter, in both blank verse and rhyme.

Macaulay observed that as civilization advances, poetry almost necessarily declines. That's why most poets have RFD addresses. The rumble of traffic, the whirr of machinery, the babble of civilization jar innermost feelings and interrupt the imagination.

Had the ribbons of frost clung to trees Saturday afternoon I might have broken into verse. I had to toil in the forenoon and when I was able to leave for the country to exercise my muse the frost melted. To be poets people must simplify their way of life.

Ralph Adams was a poet even though he lived on the edge of town. Several times during the week before he died he parked his car on the Elm street bridge to view the Sycamore slumbering beneath its beautiful blanket of snow.

One of the memories I'll always cherish is the sight of the 15 or 20 girls, all classmates of Patricia Adams, attending in a group funeral services for her father. It was inspiring to see so much loveliness meditating about death. Ralph, who so deeply loved his wife and 3 daughters, would appreciate the tribute as much as any man I have ever known.

Another group of girls also notable for good looks, gracious manners and culinary skill filled the home economics room at Mason Saturday morning. They came to Mason to bake cherry pies. There were 17 girls and 17 pies, and the jury had a difficult time arriving at a verdict.

Girls who want to win prizes in the cherry pie contest should start at once to do the family cooking. Winners of the 4 top places in the county contest are girls who do much of the family cooking, and have been doing it for several years.

In my opinion, rules for the cherry pie contest should be changed. Now they call for lattice work crusts. I cling to the tradition that to keep the flavor and juice in a cherry pie a full top crust is essential. While a cook is monkeying with the lattice work on the cherry pie she could be cutting out a batch of cookies.

Clark Hall is looking for a hired man willing to set pins. The Leroy farmer after building over his barn found he had room for a full-size bowling alley. He spread a roll of roofing on 40 feet and snow on the first 10 this side of the foul line. Off the roofing is in the gutter.

Methodists, Nazarenes and Presbyterians have to quickly switch the morning sermons from preachment into practice. They leave their meditations to get mixed up in the week's biggest traffic jam. The first block north of Ash on Barnes and the block of Maple between Barnes and Jefferson are jammed with cars double- and triple-parked.

One of the most valuable capsules of philosophy handed out at the Michigan Press convention was this: "No man can afford to have a fixed opinion in a changing world." Women learned that long ago. And opinions are entirely different from principles.

People who have been a little slow to send their contributions to the Joe Louis delinquent income tax fund have lots of company. The accounting as of February 1 disclosed that $3,000 had been received, leaving $1,197,000 still to go.

Nothing comes at less cost than learning unless you want to learn by experience. Through Ingham county flows one of the greatest streams of learning in all history.

On tap—ready, willing, even anxious to speak—are men and women from Michigan State university. In a catalog issued this week are the titles of more than 300 speeches. The catalog is available at the office of the Ingham County News. Come in and choose your topic and speaker.

Dairymen Must Keep Pace

Bigger and Better Are the Magic Words

By M. H. AVERY
County Agricultural Agent

Everything at Farmers' Week points to larger herds, more efficiency of operation through bulk tank pipe lines and possibly loose housing.

Purebreds are the basis of our herds today, according to Pat Ralston, head of the dairy department. These herds have furnished the purebred sires and herds with records from which we are selecting animals and offspring for present-day herds.

Production records have all started since around 1900 or in the last 50 some years. Production records are the key to better cows. With the large number of good sires and artificial breeding, good breeding is available to every herd.

Ralston stated that in recent years the average cow increased 100 lb. of milk per year.

Michigan produces about 8% more milk and milk products than we can consume. Our cows will continue to make this 100-lb-per-year gain in the future, therefore even with our increasing population we will no doubt be a surplus-producing state. Therefore those who efficiently produce milk will be the ones to stay in the business.

Dr. C. A. Lassiter of the dairy department talked on roughages and grain feeding at Farmers' Week. He stated that the basis of any dairy feeding program is good roughage, that the only reason for feeding grain is to supplement roughage and make up the deficiency in roughage for a balanced ration. It's important to watch the protein percentage when shifting from legume silage to corn silage. This is particularly important if on a heavy silage program. Since legume silage is much higher in protein than corn silage it will mean increasing the protein percentage of the grain ration.

Dr. Murrow Esmay gave a discussion on the comparative values of horizontal and upright silos. He showed that with an upright silo the cheapest cost per ton was with the large diameter silo, suggesting going to the 18 to 20 diameter silo which would hold over 200 tons if put up 40 feet high. The cost per ton would run about 50 cents on the 18-foot silo and 40 cents or less on the 20-foot silo per year.

An alternative upright silo to the present ones being used would be 30 feet in diameter 25 feet high made of steel with a circular bunk around the bottom for unloading chutes. This would have a capacity of about 400 tons and would be at a rate of about 50 cents per ton per year for cost.

Permanent horizontal silos made with a concrete floor and concrete sides, especially the tilt-up type, 6 foot by 20 foot by 100 feet, would have a capacity of 240 tons at a cost of 25 cents per ton per year which would be considerable cheaper than the upright. The horizontal silo would also be the cheaper type of silo for feeding, either directly or by using a scoop to take out the silage and move it to the animals. Dry matter losses on the upright silo would be about 10% to 20% and 15% to 30% on the horizontal permanent type.

Dr. Trout of the dairy department made several points in regard to flavors in milk. He said requirements will become more strict on flavors rather than less strict. He suggests the following 8 points: Allow at least 3 hours after pasture or silage before milking, provide good barn and milk parlor ventilation, reject milk from cows having any sickness such as mastitis, be cautious about using antibiotics around the milk or in the udder, cool milk to 50 degrees quickly after milking, do not stir milk with a stirring rod of any nature, have adequate equipment to produce good high quality milk, and keep milk sanitary at all times.

A few notes on the economic side of the dairy picture: Farm dairy sales of dairy products in 1956 showed a gain of 7% above the preceding year. High consumption by our population plus purchases by the C. C. C. support program have largely removed the accumulated stocks of recent years. However, production is expected to increase further in the coming years. Support prices will play an important part in the dairy income of the near future. Currently feed prices are 5% above a year ago and wages, machinery and other products are expected to average slightly higher for 1957.

It would look like those having relatively large dairy herds would be in the best position to make adjustments to maintain or expand their net income. New equipment is being brought into use at a fast pace by farmers who are making every effort to keep up with the changing times.

PLAY IT SAFE—Two important ex-farmers have birthdays this month. Of course we're talking about George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Both of them grew up on farms. I wonder how they would feel today if they learned that during 1955, 13,000 farmers were killed and more than a million were injured in accidents that didn't have to happen. The National Safety Council and the U. S. department of agriculture urge farm residents and workers to remember that no matter where you are or what you're doing, if it isn't the safe way, it's not the right way to do the job. Stay alert and stay alive.

SWEET NEWS—Smoke and steam will soon be rolling from sugar bushes all over the state when the spring sap run starts again. Michigan's sap run usually starts between Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

Putnam Robbins, of the forestry department at Michigan State university, claims it's time to put things in order for the early maple sap runs.

He says that the well-prepared farmer is the one who generally makes the biggest profits from his sugar bush. And the profits from the average gross income per acre for a well-run sugar bush ranges from $150 to $250 dollars per acre.

CUT 'EM BACK—By making less, you will get more. That sounds strange, but it holds true in the case of pruning raspberries. Harry Bell, of Michigan State university's horticulture department, says cutting back the raspberry bushes keeps vigorous new growth coming on all the while. And that new growth means more berries.

Bell says that folks should prune berries twice a year. The first time should be right after the harvest in the summer when all the old canes should be cut out and burned to prevent spreading of disease. The second pruning should be about the first of March.

He has gained success in life who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has found his life's work and has learned to enjoy doing it; who has left his city or nation a better place to live, and who looks for the best in himself and others.

Clinton County Survey Shows Youngsters Have the Spunk

Young Farmers Are Still Getting Started

"Young farmers are still getting established in farming, according to E. B. Hill, an economics professor, who spoke at a MSU Farmers' Week meeting last week. "Fortunately they have either not heard or do not believe the older who says it just can't be done anymore. Many older men and some others make this statement after taking a look at the large capital investments involved in present day farming."

A study was recently made of 195 men, mostly ages 24-30, who were graduated from the eighth grade in Clinton county, in the years 1939-40 and in 1944-45. Hill pointed out. Of the 195 men, all formerly farm boys, 53 were farming in 1955 either as full-time or part-time farmers. Of the full-time farmers, 76% began farming on their home farm. The corresponding figure for the part-time farmers was 48%, he added. The most common method of getting land to farm was either on the home farm or on other land owned by the father or other close relatives. An important way for part-time farmers to secure a farm was to rent or buy from an individual they had known previously. Usually this was a neighbor.

Important sources of funds used in getting established in farming were earnings on the home farm, 4-H and F. F. A. projects, farm labor off the home farm, non-farm work, military service savings, veteran's training payments, wife's contributions, and inheritance and gifts.

Considerable credit was also used by these beginning farmers, according to Hill. The most common purpose of this credit was for the purchase of livestock, machinery and equipment, farm operating expenses and for the purchase of an automobile, he explained.

Most of the Clinton county young farmers had a capital accumulation and net worth of from $1,000 to $7,000 at the time they started farming either in partnership with their father or on their own as a tenant on a rented farm, according to the survey. The extreme range in net worth of these starting farmers was from a minus $400 to a plus $17,849.

"Young farmers of today are getting started in farming," Hill said. "Perhaps not exactly as

Beef Future Looks Good To Experts

Beef cattle industry has a bright future, according to a Kansas authority who was a headliner at the Michigan State university Farmers' Week program last week.

Dean A. D. Weber, the only American ever to judge the International livestock show at Chicago, gave several reasons for his convictions.

Beef cattle production is a key to balanced agriculture because of the great use of grass and roughage," Dean Weber said. "In this same connection cattle are an aid to soil conservation and in prevention of the exhaustion and erosion of soils. Profitable beef production is the key to a sound grass program.

"With the per capita beef consumption in 1956 being the largest in history, the long-time outlook is good. Dean Weber also pointed to the increase in population of 2,500,000 people annually and the awareness of people of the value of more protein in the diet."

Efficiency is the key to a successful beef operation, the Kansas livestock authority reminded the Michigan farmers. Maximum gains at lowest costs with minimum death losses and giving the consumer a quality product which will result in more repeat sales were pointed to as the aims of such an efficient program.

their fathers did, but nevertheless they are doing the job. Currently farm earnings are considerably less than they were 5 years ago. So a young farmer starting out with today's farm prices needs to figure and plan very carefully as to his earnings and debt-paying ability."

MSU Tests Two Grasses

Reed canary grass and brome grass pastures have about equal ability in producing gains in lambs and ewes, according to a Michigan State University agricultural research team.

In tests made over a 3-year period, nursing lambs gained a little more than a third lb per day while comparable lambs on brome grass gained a little less than a half pound per day. The dams of the lambs made better gains on the brome grass pasture also.

However, the reed canary grass pastures produced a yearly average of about 250 lb of lambs per acre while the brome grass produced an average of 226 lb per acre.

The final decision in selecting which grass to use will rest on which fits into the individual farming operation to best advantage, point out the researchers. Both grasses are well adapted to the better drained areas of Michigan's poorly drained or flooded organic soils, where sheep production might be a possible farm enterprise, the men said.

The team conducting this research included L. H. Blakeslee, animal husbandry, C. M. Harrison, farm crops, and J. F. Davis, soil science.

Many Ingham county farmers prefer brome grass over Reed's canary since Reed canary is hard to get rid of and less palatable, M. H. Avery, county agent, said.

Sunday was a great day for making snow balls, forts and snow men. Though the weather was too mild for topflight sliding, it was wonderful for packing snow. The kids (my own 2 and 7 others) built a really big snow man complete with vest buttons, but he couldn't stand the pressure of a mid-afternoon snowball fight. He fell before the battle was half won. They don't make snow men like they used to.

It's a fact: According to the National Grocers association, for every 100 customers put on the books of any store in any one year, they've lost 15 the next year, 28 at the end of the second year, 39 in 3 years, 49 in 4 years and 56 in 5 years. At the end of 10 years only 19 of the original customers remain. If John Q. hasn't won over a few in the meantime, he undoubtedly folded up before he got down to the last 19 and they're all trading with someone who kept on inviting 'em.

Dairy Herds in Michigan Will Show Size Increase

Larger dairy herds and greater production and consumption of dairy products are in store for Michigan, according to N. P. Ralston, head of the dairy department at Michigan State University.

The number of farms deriving at least 50 per cent of their income from dairying has declined 16% in the last 10 years and should continue to decline at a reduced rate in the next few years, he said. Larger herds, however, are expected to mean a slight increase in the number of cows in the state.

Ralston predicted that the number of farms keeping only a few cows will decline 35% by 1967.

Since 1947, production per cow has increased annually to the tune of 100 lb of milk and 4 lb of butterfat per year. Better breeding, feeding, and disease control along with improved equipment and management have made this possible.

Looking to the future, Ralston predicted that herds in the dairy

They Forget to Wipe Their Feet

Bees May Be Drafted to Control Blight

By CARL COLLIN

The USDA has urged congress to modernize the farm parity formula. It wants to abandon the use of the 1910-14 base in favor of 1947-56. The change would cut parity prices about 2%. The recommendation was made after study of several other proposals. One of these would calculate parity for each commodity separately in order to reflect its cost of production. Another would tie prices to some desirable level of income. Still another would reduce parity to reflect cost-saving technological gains. Now it appears doubtful whether any change will be made in the formula soon. Too many members of congress are concerned about the current level of farm prices in their areas to think with the basic plan which would tend to lower farm prices.

Bees may have to work harder and assume more responsibility for producing better fruit. They may be drafted to help control fireblight. Two scientists have built simple wooden structures which they fill with streptomycin dust and insert in entrances of bee hives. The bees have to crawl over the dust to get out of their hives, and dust clinging to their legs is carried to apple and pear blossoms. Any fireblight germs picked up by the bees are killed by the antibiotic before the bees can spread them to other blossoms. Bees distributed streptomycin has been very effective in reducing fireblight in pears, but the drug has to get all over the bees' bodies before it does much good for apples, because of the difference in structure of the two blossoms.

The government is again buying eggs to prop sagging farm prices. However, this time USDA will purchase U. S. Procurement Grade No. 1, large size (45 pounds average net weight per 30 dozen case) shell eggs. Last time the government was in the egg market medium size were purchased.

The persistent drought in the Midwest has apparently done some good anyway. Scientists think it has reduced the number of corn borers. In some corn belt states, less than half as many borers were recorded in 1956 as had been found in 1955. The herd improvement associations will average nearly 11,000 lb of milk by 1965 and 11,500-12,000 lb by 1975.

If Michigan's population reaches 10 million by 1975 as expected, per capita production in the state may drop in years to come. Per capita consumption of dairy products probably will increase, creating a real challenge for Michigan dairymen, he declared.

MSU Plans School On Sheep Clips

Would-be sheep shearers and those with limited experience can get special instruction on the fundamentals at annual sheep shearing school at Michigan State University Monday and Tuesday, February 11 and 12.

M. S. U.'s animal husbandry staff will conduct the school. All sessions will be at the livestock pavilion.

In addition to teaching shearing techniques, the school will include instruction on the care of shearing equipment and tips on sheep management practices.

count is based on the number of borers found in 100 stalks of corn. Iowa, for instance, has been the most heavily infested state. Borer numbers there have dropped from 497 in 1954 to 351 in 1955, to 220 in 1956. While there has been a decline in borer infestation in the Midwest, a build-up has occurred in the east.

A recent weather bureau map shows that precipitation deficiency in this area totals 50 inches in the past 5 years. Only in the northeast, the west coast and a small area in North Dakota is an above-normal moisture shown for the past 5 seasons. The most severe shortage is noted in the southwest where the cumulative total deficiency from 1950 to 1956 goes as high as 225 inches.

Middlemen will collect a little more this year than last for processing and distributing food. A recent USDA report, forecasting this trend, said wages, equipment, supplies, freight and other costs were higher last year than in 1955, pushing marketing costs up. Middlemen's profits also rose, at least in the first 9 months of the year.

Michigan farmers participating in the 1956 acreage reserve program of the soil bank received over $3.3 million up to the first of the year. Total for the country was $242.5 million.

Popcorn output last year reached 325 million pounds, up about 33% from the previous year. Wholesale prices of white corn are around $6.25 in Chicago, about half the level a year ago. Yellow corn wholesales around $6, off about a dollar from 1955.

A quarter of a billion trees will be available this year for farmers to plant on land retired from crop production and put into the conservation reserve program of the soil bank. Another 400 million seedlings will be ready next fall and the spring of 1958. By 1960, production for the soil bank will reach a rate of a billion seedlings a year.

MISCELLANY . . . Mid-January farm prices stood 7% higher than the recent low of December, 1955, but 4% below last June's peak. Farm prices continued their slow advance but higher costs kept farmers from gaining ground . . . Butchering of hogs in the 4 weeks of January was under any corresponding January in three years . . . Feed output last year was at an all-time high: 35.7 million tons. Poultry feeds accounted for 62% of this, were the lowest for that date on record.

0.5%, beef and sheep feeds 6.1% . . . A leading drug manufacturer has come out with a plant spray that combines an antibiotic and copper to fight both fungus and bacterial diseases at the same time . . . Firm exports hit a record high of $510 million in December . . . Wood growers will get the same incentive program this year as last . . . Pork stocks in cold storage on December 31 were the lowest for that date on record.

Veterans Group Lauds State System

Michigan has one of the finest structures of veterans' benefit programs in the country. This was the appraisal of the state's veterans program by leaders of the congressionally chartered veterans organizations of Michigan which make up the commanders' group of the state.

Celebrating the 10th year since the founding of the Commanders Group, leaders of the member organizations—including the United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Marine Corps League, American Legion, Disabled American War Veterans and World War II (Amvets)—were unanimous in saying Michigan's veterans program was the result of "hard work of many persons and the unity of the veterans groups."

Casimir Zablik, of Detroit, commander of the D. A. V., is current chairman of the Commanders Group. Secretary of the organization is Lawrence J. LaLone, of Lansing, executive secretary of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund.

LaLone, who has seen the Commanders Group grow into a strong, unified unit, said: "These men had to put aside personal and organizational differences to achieve the fine objectives that have been put across during the past 10 years. There have been numerous differences of organizational and personal opinion. Clashes in personality and points of agreement did not come about easily. Each man had to make personal sacrifices but their compromises and unity have led to a solid, bread-and-butter program for Michigan's veterans."

If You're Like Me

You've never thought of "laws" and "money" as being so closely tied together. But they are.

It's a well known fact that the government of the United States is the largest employer in the world. More than two and a third million persons are on the federal payroll. And every one of them is there because of a law that was passed by congress.

Since the government has no other income than that derived from taxes, it is axiomatic that the money to pay these people must also come from laws, i.e. tax laws.

Proposed laws which the present congress is working upon now—both for spending and for taxing—involve primarily the 1958 fiscal year. So I thought you might be interested in the estimates for that year in terms of the budget dollar. Then if you want to figure the actual amount of money involved in these laws, all you have to do is to take the total amount the president requested and multiply it by the number of cents in the budget dollar with each cent representing 1%. The total amount the federal government expects to receive from tax laws in 1958 is roughly $75,800,000,000.

Example: If you wanted to figure out how much would be received from excise taxes, on the basis that 12c of every dollar received by the federal government, comes from that source, you would multiply $75,800,000,000 by 12%, and the answer is $9,096,000,000.

Here is the estimate of where the money comes from, using the budget dollar of 1958: Individual income taxes—51c; corporation income taxes—29c; excise taxes—12c; custom and other receipts—8c.

Here is the estimate of where the money will go from the budget dollar of 1958: Major national security, including military, mutual security, atomic energy, stockpiling, 59c; interest, 10c; veterans, 7c; agriculture, 7c; debt retirement, 2c; other, 15c.

Figure those figures out and you'll find that laws have a great deal to do with your pocketbook.

Dental Problem Is Subject for MSU Meeting

"Our Children's Teeth—What We Can Do For Them" will be the theme of the second annual children's dental health conference, February 7, at Michigan State university.

The Kellogg Center event, co-sponsored by the Central District Dental Society and the MSU college of science and arts, will be in conjunction with children's dental health week, February 3-9. Highlight of the morning session will be a panel discussion by Lansing-area dental specialists on the necessity and advantages by preventive dentistry for children. Dr. Walter C. McBride of the University of Detroit will talk on the general conference theme at the noon luncheon meeting.

Dental decay is the nation's most prevalent disease, according to Dr. Leon Luke, conference chairman, Lansing. Twenty-five per cent of the children in the United States are afflicted, at some time with severe deforming irregularities of the teeth, he added.

Dr. Luke pointed out that the child's second teeth are designed to last a lifetime. They can and will last a lifetime, he asserted, if proper attention is given to the young child's dental health from the beginning.
