

Judge John McClellan Loved His Fellowman

"Thou hast rightly judged" could be the text for a sermon on the life of a man who lived long and served well. It could be used for the life of John McClellan who died Monday, 10 months after his retirement as judge of probate.

For 20 years he was Ingham judge of probate. Before that he was Lansing municipal judge. In every case that came before him, and there were thousands, he tempered justice with mercy. Instead of merely meting out punishment to fit the crime he sought ways and means to prevent a repetition of the crime. In juvenile court he insisted on thorough investigation of the background of every boy and girl who went before him. By every means within his power he tried to direct neglected, dependent and delinquent children into channels of usefulness.

Judge McClellan used his judicial power and his authority not as a weapon for revenge, but as a shepherd's staff—a staff to guide and direct to the right paths those who had strayed.

Although he loved his fellowman and was endowed with boundless patience, he shirked no duty, no matter how onerous. When the circumstances warranted, he was stern and unyielding.

Judge McClellan was first elected to office on a partisan ticket. Before he came up for reelection the law was changed so that all Michigan circuit and probate judges and supreme court justices were elected as non-partisans. That change was not needed for Judge McClellan. He was non-partisan in the administration of his office and his service as judge right from the start. He incurred criticism from party leaders for ignoring their demands for patronage appointments in his office.

Judge McClellan was born on a farm near Springport 77 years ago. He was the son of Robert

... lifetime of public service

McClellan and Elizabeth Adams McClellan. After graduation from Springport high school he taught, to earn money to continue his education at Albion college. Upon graduation from Albion he transferred to the law school of the University of Michigan. He was graduated from law school in 1907 and immediately began the practice of law in Lansing. He was city attorney and later was elected municipal judge.

In 1922 he and Mary Jane Maturer were married. They built a beautiful home north of Mason on College road where they lived in recent years.

During his last year in office the judge's health, up until then robust, began to fail. He was a hospital patient on several occasions but exhaustive tests failed to reveal the seriousness of his condition. He was a sick man in July he underwent surgery. While he was able to return home, where he was cared for by his wife, who is a registered nurse, his condition worsened. He was taken to Sparrow hospital in Lansing 2 weeks ago.

Judge McClellan was a member of Central Methodist church in Lansing, a life member of Lansing P. & A. M. 33, and a member of Lansing Royal Arch Masons and Knights Templar. He was also a member of Lansing Optimist club and of High Twelve club. He was a past president of the Michigan Association of Probate Judges, and a member of the Ingham County Bar, State Bar of Michigan and American Bar associations.

Mrs. McClellan is the sole survivor. There are no children.

Services were at Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing Thursday afternoon with burial in Evergreen cemetery. Dr. N. A. McCune, pastor emeritus of Peoples church, East Lansing, officiated. Honorary pallbearers were Charles H. Hayden, H. Lee Bancroft, Elisha J. Carroll, Dr. Jay W. Sexton, Claude J. Marshall, Barrett Lyons and Robert T. Arvidson of Lansing and East Lansing, Charles S. Woods of Lansing and Nelson Brown of Mason. Pallbearers were Judge Robert L. Drake, Allison K. Thomas, John B. Bratlin, Benjamin F. Watson, T. E. Daw and David Beatty.

Boy Is Pinned Under Tractor

Soft muck and luck saved William Reed, 10, from serious injury Saturday morning. He escaped with bruises when a tractor pinned him to the ground.

The Reed boy, son of Mrs. Dolie Reed, of North Aurelius, lost control of the tractor when it slipped off the blacktop to the shoulder of Elbert road 2½ miles from his home.

He was on his way to North Aurelius church to join a work party fixing the church grounds.

The tractor flipped over, pinning the boy's leg to the ground in soft muck. Reed's cousin, Allan Davis, 17, who lives with the Reeds was driving ahead of the tractor and saw the accident. He raced back and with the help of others lifted the tractor off the boy.

Sheriff's officers took the boy to Mason General hospital. X-rays showed no broken bones. He left the hospital later in the day.

Mason Builder Dies of Heart Attack

A man known throughout a wide area of Michigan and even down into Ohio for his ability to get jobs done died with scarcely any warning Sunday morning. Russell L. Whipple, 45, (Buster to hundreds of people) died of a heart attack.

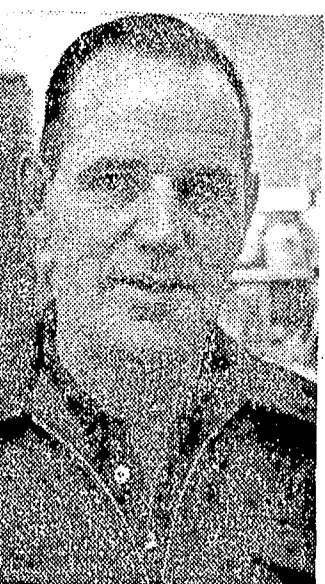

The junior partner of E. D. Whipple & Sons was a carpenter and general builder. As a boy he worked with the family contracting firm. As a man he led construction crews. For years the firm has specialized in building barns and in repairing barns and other buildings wrecked or damaged by windstorms. They also built houses. Their work has taken them all over central Michigan and often far beyond.

There was no man in Mason of more robust physique or of greater physical strength. He was apparently in rugged health until Saturday.

While at work at the Richard Aseltine place Saturday morning he complained of numbness in his forearms and of prickling sensations in his fingers. At noon he went to a barbershop and in the evening he seemed to be well. After supper he lay on the floor at home and watched TV, later changing his clothes to go with his wife to a square dance club party in the IOOF hall.

After one of the dances he complained of the heat. It was a warm night. He also said he had a pain in his leg and in his chest. He stopped dancing. He and his wife arrived home about 1:30. He did not go to bed until a half-hour later. He spoke of the pains in his chest and took a remedy for what he diagnosed as indigestion.

At 4 o'clock he called to his wife and said he needed a doctor, that his pains were severe. Mrs. Whipple telephoned for a doctor, and the doctor came.

... a talent for friendship

Hardly had the doctor left the house before the pains grew more severe again. Mrs. Whipple telephoned the doctor a second time and he suggested she take her husband to the hospital. Within a few minutes Mrs. Whipple was on her way. At the hospital Mr. Whipple left the car and walked in and was immediately put to bed. His condition steadily worsened and within an hour he was dead despite all doctors and nurses could do for him.

Mr. Whipple was born in Mason June 2, 1912, son of Earl and Mable Cook Whipple. He attended the Mason school and even while in elementary school worked with his father and brother on construction jobs. After leaving school he entered the partnership. In 1933 he married Dorothy E. Foster. There are 2 sons, Harlan and Dennis. Harlan worked with his father. Dennis Whipple is a senior in Mason high school. The family lives on M-36, 2½ miles east of town. In addition to his work for others, Mr. Whipple rebuilt the farm house and other buildings and landscaped the grounds, converting the yard into a place of beauty.

He was possessed of the talent of industriousness to go with his endowment of vigor. He was a leader of his men. He also had the talent of winning and keeping friends.

Attendance at the funeral services and the profusion of flowers attested to the friendliness of Mr. Whipple. The funeral home was filled to capacity. Even the upstairs apartment was occupied by people who could not be accommodated downstairs. There were even some who stood outside the entrance besides those who stood in the hallways upstairs and down.

Mr. Whipple was a member of Vevay lodge No. 93 of the Odd Fellows. He was long a member of the Mason fire department. Besides the wife and sons he is survived by a brother, Ray, and sisters, Mrs. Lillian Wise, Mrs. Janet Aseltine and Mrs. Thelma Bowman, all of Mason, and the parents.

Services were at Ball-Dunn funeral home Wednesday afternoon with burial in Maple Grove. Rev. Paul L. Arnold of Mason Presbyterian church officiated.

Edward Campbell, H. M. Silsby, Al Rice, Ray Phillips, George Dunwoody and Ed Hinkle were honorary pallbearers. T. R. Fernand, Grand Lodge; William Mahensmith, Holt; Francis Walker, Lansing; and Robert Coon, P. J. Somerville, William Hart, Joe Roe and Robert Driggs, all of Mason, were pallbearers.

Towns Shuffle Rural Routes

Lansing, Okemos and Mason will reroute portions of their RFD systems beginning Saturday, October 5. Changes will affect Mason Routes 3 and 4, Lansing Route 2 and will result in the creation of a Route 3 at the Okemos postoffice.

Postmaster Leslie B. Palmer of Mason said the changes will result in better postal service and should eliminate some of the confusion for those who live close to one town and have phone numbers and postal addresses of 2 others.

Postal patrons living on Mason Route 4 on Okemos road from Cavanaugh to Bennett, on Bennett, on Hulet from Bennett to Cavanaugh, on Cavanaugh road from Hulet to Okemos and all those on Kansas road will be transferred to the new Okemos Route 3.

Postal patrons on Mason Route 4 who live on Okemos road from Harper to Lamb will be transferred to Mason Route 3.

Patrons living on Mason Route 3 on Harper from Okemos to Every, on Every from Harper to Lamb, on Walline, on Holt from Walline to Simmons, all on Simmons, and on Lamb road from Simmons to Okemos will be transferred to Mason Route 4.

Lansing Route 2 will be discontinued with part of those patrons transferred to the new Okemos route and the rest to East Lansing.

Okemos Route 2 will also be extended to cover Plat No. 1 of Tacoma Hills, Plats 2 and 3 of Forest Hills and the original plat of Hiawatha Park.

Ingham Teachers Set Holt Meeting

School teachers of the Ingham district of Michigan Education association will meet at the Midway school in Holt Monday night.

Audio-visual aids and teaching methods will draw the attention of the 800 Ingham county members in the district.

Marie McMahon, Battle Creek audio-visual consultant, will talk to the elementary teachers and Lou Saks, audio-visual director in the East Detroit school system, will work with the secondary school teachers.

Emphasis of the speakers will be on bulletin board construction, field boards, field trips and other teaching aids.

The meeting is scheduled for 8. There will be a short business meeting, program and refreshments, according to President John Post of Haslet.

Bomb Trickery Reaches Mason

Lansing's outbreak of fake bomb warnings reached Mason Monday. Someone telephoned the high school, declaring that a bomb was set to go off at 3 that afternoon.

A fire drill was thereupon called and while pupils were outside, city policemen and deputy sheriffs searched the building.

Mrs. Margie Clark received the message. She said the voice was disguised.

Capt. Tim Stolz of the police department was still questioning suspects Thursday morning.

Court Ponders Drain Dispute

Participants in the Northrup drain dispute have another war confronting them.

Judge Robert L. Drake adjourned Tuesday's hearing until Tuesday, October 22.

Thomas J. O'Brien, attorney retained by opponents of the drain; Howard McCowan, representing County Drain Commissioner Gerald Graham; and Thomas G. McGinnis, Jr., representing Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henry Northrup and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Northrup, renewed the battle over the legality of the initial proceedings.

Tuesday's hearing was the eighth in the attempt to construct the Vevay drain serving 470 acres of North M-36 and on both sides of Every road.

The Northrups made application for establishing a drainage district in 1950. According to testimony of Graham, the drainage district was established but the petition was turned down by the board of determination.

Another petition was filed in 1955 but that time the probate court decided that the petitions asking for the drain were faulty in that some signers of the petition were not property owners.

Another petition was filed this year. A temporary injunction was awarded the drain opponents in circuit court but Judge Sam Street Hughes turned down a plea for a permanent injunction and sent the case back to probate court.

At Tuesday's hearing O'Brien renewed his arguments that the time lapse between the original application in 1950 and filing of petitions was too great. He argued that many of the application signers were deceased, no longer owned land in the area or are now opposed to the project.

Judge Drake must rule as to whether there were any irregularities or errors in the proceedings for establishing the drain. His ruling will come after the hearings are completed in October.

O'Brien also put Paul Fuller, East Lansing civil engineer, on the stand.

Fuller testified he had inspected the land lying east of Every road and in his opinion the drain as proposed by the drain commissioner would not be of value.

All through the testimony presented Tuesday McCowan and McGinnis raised objections to the procedure and line of questioning by O'Brien. They contended the hearing was to consider the appointment of commissioners, not to determine merits of the drain or the legality of the proceedings used in establishing the drain. They both pointed out the fact that these questions had already been decided in previous hearings.

Lions Pay Off Part of Pledge

Mason Lions turned over $190 Wednesday night as part payment on their hospital pledge.

The money came from county fair club enterprises.

President Jim Inghram presented the check to Howard Seibert, president of the Mason hospital board. Seibert told the club of the hospital building schedule. He also stated that the cash from pledges is coming into the treasury faster than the hospital board anticipated.

He added that the board expects to have some construction under way yet this fall.

Leonard Bureleigh, immediate past district governor and Lansing businessman, spoke to the club on the challenges individuals and civic organizations face in the fast life of today and the future.

He told of the work of Lions clubs in 82 countries of the world in such fields as sight preservation, leader dog training, children's hospitals, old peoples homes and Scout work.

MANY PEOPLE WORKED to make the annual Kiwanis rummage sale a phenomenal success. The picture shows the mayor delivering a used mattress to an eager buyer. The cash register jingled Friday and Saturday, ringing up $2,200 in sales, announced J. B. Dean and Glen Coon, co-chairmen. The profits will be used for the annual community Halloween party, to send boys and girls to camps and 4-H gatherings, to provide scholarships and for other community projects.

Exhibitors at County Fair Ask for Additional Space

Exhibitors and department heads joined Wednesday night in a plea for more space at the county fair. They want that space in the big brick building or in some other building with adequate facilities.

The pleas for more and better space were voiced at the annual public meeting of the fair board. It was in the circuit court room of the court house.

Mrs. Hershel Head of Webber, ville called the situation at the 1957 fair disgraceful. Some of the 4-H displays, she said, were exhibited beneath the grandstand, with dirt and dust sifting down through the floor. In the brick building, she declared, girls' dresses were packed in tighter than they would have been in clothes closets at home. She and Mrs. Harold Glynn suggested that clothing, fancy work and food displayed in the brick building be protected by having counters roped off and by placing food-stuffs in showcases.

They also suggested that until a new building is provided, commercial exhibitors should be moved out of the brick building, along with the floral department.

What is needed, Mrs. Head said, is a new building designed for club use during the year and for women's departments at fair time.

Defense Chief Calls Meeting

Harry Chandler, Mason police chief and local civil defense director, has called a meeting for next Tuesday night at 7:30. It will be in the county civil defense building on US-127 north of town.

Members of all committees assigned in the local disaster program should attend the meeting, Chandler said.

Legion Leaders Head for Mason

State and national leaders of the American Legion are coming to Mason for the sixth district meeting Sunday. Browne-Cavender post No. 148 will be host. Sessions are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. Clyde B. Smith announced. Smith is sixth district committeeman.

Heading the list of Legion leaders are Giles Reeve, commander, department of Michigan; Donald Smith, past-commander; Harry Shaffer, national field representative; John Corey, department finance officer; Bill Luddy, department public relations director; and Andy Templeton, department membership chairman.

Officers of the sixth district who will direct affairs of the district for the coming year are: Committeeman, Clyde B. Smith; Mason, alternate, Clifford Spencer; Flint, first vice-commander, Donald Teed, Howell; second vice-commander, Helen Beckwith, Lansing; third vice-commander, Wayland Reid, Flushing; finance officer, Glenn Carson, Fowlerville; chaplain, Clarence Briggs, Flint; historian, Les Rennie, Lansing; and adjutant, Frank A. Schmidt, Jr., Mason.

A number of questions will come before the meeting, but it is not expected any major issue regarding the centralization of state headquarters in Lansing will be brought up, Smith said.

Contractors Figure On New Hospital

Contractors are figuring bids for construction of Mason General hospital. Bids will be taken up to 6 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, October 17.

Plans and specifications are now ready. They were prepared by Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc., Detroit. The Detroit architectural firm has the contract for design and supervision of construction of the new hospital.

Plans call for 36 beds. Alternates may be taken on additional beds.

On October 17 the bids will be publicly opened in the meeting room of Hall Memorial library.

Court Orders Taxes Spread

Ingham supervisors returned to Mason Thursday forenoon to apportion 1957 taxes.

The apportionment committee report calls for the levying of $2,869,218 against the county valuation of $365,865,545 which the state tax commission increased to $368,162,000.

Taxes as apportioned by the board of supervisors will now be spread along with school and drain taxes and certain other local taxes against property in the 16 townships and 4 cities. Taxes are due in December.

Supervisors handled a few other matters in their Thursday session.

They rescinded the 1958 salary schedule adopted last week, but it's only to make corrections, promised Supervisor Alvin S. Potter of Lansing, chairman of the committee. The total of salaries will not be increased, he said. Some clerical and typographical errors were discovered, he explained, and a corrected schedule will be presented in October.

A sum of $5,537.48 was ordered transferred from the general fund to the revolving drain fund to cover deficits.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard was authorized to lay in a supply of blanks and record books for justices of the peace. The legislature passed a law which sets up controls over transactions in justice courts. It provides that the county furnish supplies.

A resolution of respect was adopted on the death of John McClellan, former judge of probate. The board adjourned at noon, to return October 15.

10 from Ingham Hear Draft Calls

Ten young men from Ingham county are leaving for army service next Thursday morning.

The 10 have received orders to report to the local draft board office at 1120 May street in Lansing at 7:05 to board a bus for the Detroit induction station.

Those getting the word are Elton E. Brink, Donald C. Sober, Philip A. Klopfenstein, Laurence K. Castle, Marlan J. Dorin, Terry W. Archer, Aaron Kinnebrew, Andrew Kinnebrew, Irineo Herrera and Arthur R. Beck.

City Water Rates Will Likely Go Up

This article is the seventh in a series presented by Mayor Paul D. Richards in order to inform Mason people on the half-million dollar sewer and water systems improvement projects. On November 5 a $200,000 bond issue will be submitted to the people.

Mason's water and sewer customers face a 12% rate increase in order to finance the proposed water and sewer revenue bond issue.

Mason's half million dollar disposal plant and sewer extension will require more than the $300,000 general obligation bonds already discussed in these articles.

To complete the financing the city must issue $175,000 in water and sewer revenue bonds.

The revenue bonds will be secured by the pledge of the revenue of the combined water and sewer systems. It will be paid from the water and sewer rates charged to customers. It will not be paid from taxes.

Bonds will be placed on the market with maturity dates ranging from 1 to 30 years. The longer term bonds will be made callable so they may be redeemed in advance if revenues yield a surplus.

The bonds will be offered at a maximum interest rate of 5%. Experience of other communities indicates that the bonds will sell for lower interest rate than the maximum.

Present water and sewer rates are based on the number of users, operational expenses and funds needed for service expansion. To these factors the city will add a replacement fund and bond revenue account when the revenue bonds are sold. The 12% rate raise will go into these new funds.

The replacement fund will be set at $5,000, according to present council plans. In 5 years the fund limit will be increased.

The bond revenue account will be set up to accumulate a total of $200,000 over a period of 5 years. The purpose of this account is to provide a reserve to fall back on in case of declining revenues for any reason.

This reserve would be used to pay the interest and principal on the bonds if the revenue was not available. If not used during the bonding program to cover emergencies the money could be applied to retire the balance.

According to the invitation to bidders, bids will be considered only from contractors known to be skilled and experienced in work of similar character to that required for the Mason hospital.

Al Rice is chairman of the building committee of Mason General hospital. He said that the architects believe ground for the hospital can be broken this fall and that actual construction can be started.

Mason launched its hospital fund drive in May, shooting for $500,000. Because 2 previous campaigns for mere fractions of the half-million had failed, some people expressed doubt that the goal could be reached. At the final report meeting June 12, after an extra week of unusual effort, the total stood at $490,763. Then came the climax. Workers in the campaign began to increase their pledges and within a few minutes the goal was reached and passed. The total rose to $501,763.

Then General Motors Lansing plants came through with a contribution of $25,000.

There's money enough paid on pledges to finance the beginning of the hospital. Pledges extend over a 30-month period. Borrowings against the pledges will be necessary, hospital board members said. They are now working out a borrowing program.

Father of 8 Dies in Crash

Lyle E. Foster, Sr., 39, died in a crash at the Williamston west city limits last Thursday night about 10:30. He was the father of 8.

Foster's car, with a 2-wheel loaded trailer hitched behind, went out of control as he attempted to pass another west-bound car. The car and trailer were swung into the extreme left lane, Williamston police said, and then were whipped back in front of the other vehicle. The trailer overturned and Foster's car left the pavement and hit a tree.

Foster was killed almost instantly, police said. Charles Foster, 5, was riding with his father. He was thrown clear of the wreckage and was not seriously hurt.

Elwood Casler, Williamston police officer, witnessed the accident. He was following Foster's car and trailer. He said Foster was exceeding the speed limit. The crash happened before the officer turned on his siren and flasher. Foster was driving about 60 miles per hour, Casler reported.

A son, Lyle, Jr., drove by just after the crash. He recognized the car and trailer and stopped to learn his father had been killed.

Surviving the Williamston victim are the wife, Tessibel; 3 sons, Lyle, Jr., 19, Norman F., 13, and Charles; and 5 daughters, Roberta, 16, Nancy, 11, Velma Ann, 8, Wendy, 2, and Anna Marie, 1. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Foster of Ypsilanti, also survive.

Funeral services were Sunday at Gorsline Bros. in Williamston, with burial in Waterloo cemetery, Jackson county. Rev. Harold Reese of Williamston Baptist church officiated.

Driver Saves 2 By Wrecking Car

Leonard D. Craft, 23, Lansing, swerved to avoid hitting 2 boys on bicycles Thursday afternoon and ended up rolling his car over a 35-ft. gravel pit bank.

Craft, driving south on Mason street, swerved to avoid hitting David Gonzales and Peter Sonora, riding their bikes south. Craft's car slipped off the road and plunged down the bank.

Officers rushed Craft to Mason General hospital where his deep wrist cuts were treated.

According to Captain Tim Stolz of the Mason police department, it took longer to clean Craft up than it did to repair his injuries. The back of his station wagon was filled with red calling compound. When the car plunged down the bank the calling compound covered the driver and the interior of the car.

State Requires Crash Reports

Roy W. Adams, Mason justice of the peace, called attention Thursday to a state law which requires reports on all accidents in which there are personal injuries and all accidents in which property damage amounts to $100 or more.

Accident reports must be sent to the secretary of state in Lansing, Judge Adams said. The reports are separate from those made by police officials, the judge explained. They must be made regardless of whether reports are made to city or state police or the sheriff's department, he added.

The penalty for not reporting accidents, the judge said, can be revocation of drivers license.

Methodist Pastor Leaves After 12 Years of Service

By Mrs. Alton Kinney

Rev. Wilson Tennant will leave Holt Brotherhood Temple Methodist church, which he has served the past 12 years, to become pastor of the new East Lansing church which he helped organize. He will be succeeded by Rev. George Elliott of Jackson, who will begin his duties on October 6. Rev. Elliott has pastored Haven Methodist church in Jackson the past 7 years. He and Mrs. Elliott have 3 children.

Rev. Tennant will conduct baptismal and communion services Sunday evening at the church at 7:00 p. m. New members will be received into the church. This will be Rev. Tennant's last service at Holt.

A farewell dinner for Rev. and Mrs. Tennant and daughters was conducted Wednesday evening in the social hall of the church. The program included a vocal duet by Bill Barnhart and Virginia Brown, and a farewell speech by LeRoy Carpenter. Slides of the Tennant family and church activities of the past 12 years were shown. Snapshots were included in the decorations.

The Tennants were given a typewriter from the congregation. William and Betty Griffin were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Paul Van Sickle was hostess to a tea and open house given by the WSCS for Mrs. Wilson Tennant Friday afternoon. Pink and white carried out the decorative color theme. Coffee, tea and cookies were served for refreshments. The group presented Mrs. Tennant a set of dishes.

Midway PTA Sponsors Supper

Midway PTA reported 425 persons attending the bohemian supper Monday night at the school. Frank Onkes was elected treasurer during a short business meeting, presided over by the president, Frank Brown.

The film, "Jimmy the Safety Patrol," was shown and safety songs were given. Books of safety songs may be purchased from the teachers.

Rites Spoken in Lansing Church

Miss Irene Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Vermillion of Holt, became the bride of Edmund E. Orr in recent rites at Colonial Village Baptist church, Lansing.

Rev. Aaron Buhler performed the double-ring ceremony. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mahler of Woodland. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Leon Fitzgerald. Her floor-length gown was of Chantilly lace and tulle, styled with a Peter Pan lace collar and a bouffant tulle skirt, overlaid with a lace tunic. A lace plateau embroidered with sequins and pearls held her illusion veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Roberta Orr and Miss Annabel Orr, sisters of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids, and Miss Sandra Fitzgerald, sister of the bride, acted as junior bridesmaid. All were in gowns of sea foam green.

Mrs. Edward Homer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a sunset beige gown and carried a cascade arrangement of matching flowers. Edward Rosser, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Edward Homer and Duane Smith sealed the guests.

A reception was conducted in the church parlors after the ceremony. The bride chose a navy blue outfit to wear to their honeymoon destination to Shreveport, La. The newlyweds are making their home in Lansing.

Dairy Farmer Cooperative Calls Webberville Meeting

Ingham dairy farmers will have a chance to hear plans on the proposed milk strike direct from the men in charge Tuesday night at the community hall in Webberville.

Dairy Farmers Cooperative association of Michigan is organizing the meeting. Alvin E. Lloyd, secretary of the state group, Haul Dehning, treasurer, and Homer Marth, organizational director, head the speakers list.

According to Paul Scherer, head of the Ingham county district, the association's demands on the Detroit area milk handlers and strike preparations will be explained.

The meeting will also reiterate the association's demands that the association be the bargaining agent for dairy farmers, that yearly written contracts be established, twice-a-month pay and most important—a jump to $6 for Class 1 milk and $4 for Class 2 milk.

State Asks Bids On Leroy Bridge

Next Wednesday at the Civic Center in Lansing bids will be opened on construction of a bridge on Holt road, across Donn creek, in Leroy township. Opening is scheduled for 10:30 in the forenoon.

The bridge will have a 46-foot span with 25-foot roadway and 2 safety curbs, each 18 inches wide. The completion date is June 1, 1958.

Federal funds will be made available for the new bridge on the county road system. That is the reason the state highway department is handling the letting.

165 Attend Wyeth Union Supper at 4-H Building

Members of Wyeth Local 413 UN & DWS and their families gathered in the 4-H building at the fairgrounds Saturday evening for a potluck supper, fun and fellowship. There were 165 in attendance.

After the ham supper, Mrs. Emery Guytas led in group singing. Mrs. Dean Noble of Onondaga furnished piano accompaniment.

For the program, Mrs. Rex Gillen introduced Al Aiken of Detroit, graduate student at Michigan State university, who provided entertainment with gags and impersonations.

Further enjoyment was provided by Leland Austin, who showed movies he took at the plant and at Valley Forge, and of mayor exchange day. For the kiddies he showed Mickey Mouse cartoons.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. Gillen announced there would be a penny scramble upstairs for the youngsters. They immediately stampeded for the stairway to see who could get the most pennies.

Couple Travels in East After Vows Are Solemnized

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Parsons are traveling in New York and Pennsylvania this week for their wedding trip. Miss Helen Marie Bozang and Mr. Parsons exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, September 21, at 10 o'clock at St. James Catholic church. Fr. James Lee performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Bozang, Sr., of Eden. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parsons of Astoria, New York.

The church was decorated with bouquets of white chrysanthemums for the wedding. Guests were members of the immediate families.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and tulle over satin. The fitted bodice, which featured a stand-up collar of lace and long sleeves pointed over the wrists, was buttoned down the back. Her full skirt was floor-length. Her veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a prayer book topped with a white gardenia, tied with streamers.

Mrs. Ray Kirkpatrick attended her sister as matron of honor. Her floor-length strapless gown of pink net was draped with a tulle stole. She was a matching headband of net and ribbon with a short veil and carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with pink ribbons.

Mrs. Arthur Parsons, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, wore a similarly-styled gown of blue with a matching headband, and carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with blue ribbons. She was maid of honor.

Ted Plocharczyk of Lansing, cousin of the bride, was best man. Arthur Parsons, brother of the bridegroom, served as usher and groomsmen.

Mrs. Bozang wore a dress of blue crystallette with pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. She had a corsage of white chrysanthemums, tied with pink ribbon.

Saturday evening a reception was given at the AF of L-CIO union hall on McKinley street, Lansing.

One hundred and fifty guests were present. The hall was decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums for the occasion.

The serving table, covered with white linen, was centered with a white tablecloth.

Reserves Drop 6-0 Game In Opener at Grand Ledge

Mason's reserve football team made its first appearance Tuesday night at Grand Ledge and suffered a 6-0 defeat.

In spite of the loss it was one of the better reserve efforts. Tackling and blocking was sharp and the defense was solid.

Grand Ledge scored its touchdown in the first quarter after recovering a fumble. The rest of the time the teams battled on even terms.

Mason's team composed of sophomores only had to give away a weight advantage to the Cornets. Grand Ledge used 7 juniors in their lineup.

In the line Chuck Walcott at center and Keith Haynes were standouts. Ed Brown, Dick Patterson, and Jerry Willis performed well in the backfield.

Mason came close to scoring in the third period when Brown intercepted a pass on the Grand Ledge 30 and almost broke into the clear. The Cornets held and forced Mason to give up the ball, though.

Captain Bob Cone and his assistant, Pete Roan, have their hands full this year. Besides handling the reserves, they also are running a freshman squad.

The freshmen have 5 games scheduled. They open with Grand Ledge at Athletic field Thursday night, September 26. The game will start at 7 o'clock.

Thursday night, October 3, at 7:30 Mason's reserves will take on Everett.

County Budget Exceeds $3 Million

For the first time in history, Ingham county is going to spend more than $3 million dollars a year.

The budget adopted by Ingham's supervisors last Thursday covers appropriations and commitments of $3,155,637 for 1958. It is an increase of $487,397 over the 1957 budget.

While the total to be raised and to be spent is higher than ever before in history, the tax rate of 5.05 mills is virtually unchanged from this year. The extra money will come from the same rate applied to increased valuations.

In general there were increases provided in nearly all departments. The big jumps, though, were $125,000 in direct relief and $105,000 in social welfare. An additional $131,158 was appropriated to the contingent fund for next year.

Supervisors appropriated $325,000 for direct relief and $550,000 for social welfare.

The county by supplementary appropriations made $100,000 available for direct relief this year. Chairman Carl G. Card of the ways and means committee expressed hope that the cost will come down next year. If not he said, the contingent fund will have to be used.

There was a reduction of $10,000 in the county health department budget. Appropriated for next year is $205,600.

Ingham Chest hospital was granted an additional $15,000. The total will be $195,000 for operation and maintenance plus another $12,000 listed for industrial use.

Supervisors appropriated $5,000 for buildings at the county fairgrounds.

Taxpayers will have to pay more into the county employee's retirement fund. This year the pension program cost the county $58,000. Next year $70,000 will be required.

On recommendation of the ways and means committee, departments will be forced to keep within their budgets next year. Card declared that 24 departments had overdrafts so far this year.

There were no dissenting votes cast on adoption of the budget.

Okemos Factions Organize For November 4 Decision

For the next month the pros and cons of the Okemos school district's building program will be aired. An election is being scheduled for November 4.

There are two factions. First to organize were groups opposed to the school board's proposal to bond the district for $500,000 to build a new high school, a swimming pool and other facilities upon a college-style campus. There would be 4 buildings in the group to be erected.

School officials conducted a public meeting Tuesday night of last week. About 100 attended and 155 of those present enlisted in the campaign for the new school.

Those opposed to the big bond issue claim that the proposed program is unrealistic. They have voiced objections to the proposed $250,000 swimming pool.

School board members insist that the swimming pool will be worth all it costs and that few big schools now erect new buildings without pools.

The bonds will be payable over a period of 20 years. School officials said that amortization of the bonds will not raise the tax levy beyond the present level. They explained that the Okemos district is undergoing such rapid growth the school tax rate could well be reduced when the levy is spread over a bigger tax base.

Capitol Grange Sets Saturday Open House

Capitol Grange No. 540, one of the oldest in the state, will have open house Saturday, September 28, to show off its remodeled and newly decorated quarters on Trowbridge road in East Lansing.

Capitol Grange moved its quarters to the rear of its property this summer in order to make way for the planned extension of Main street through to Harrison road.

The open house will start at 6:30 p. m. with a potluck supper. The Grange organization will furnish the meat, according to the committee.

Capitol Grange No. 540 boasts a long and colorful history. It received its charter in 1875 and conducted its business in a cooperative store on what is now Grand River avenue.

The Capitol Grange has long been a leader in state and national Grange circles.

The roster of Capitol Grange members down through the years tells the story of Michigan and Michigan State university.

The list includes such names as Dean Ernest L. Anthony, Dr. Dora Stockman, Seymour Person, President John Hannah of Michigan State university and many others. Capitol Grange members have contributed much to the growth and welfare of Michigan and Ingham county.

Republican Group Arranges Meeting

Approximately 300 Republican women from all over Michigan will meet in Traverse City to attend the Fall State Conference of the Republican Women's Federation of Michigan, October 7 and 8 at the Park Place hotel.

The Republican Women's Federation of Michigan is made up of 120 individual clubs located throughout the state, with a total of over 9,000 members.

The chief reasons for the conference are to help acquaint members with one another, to inform them on GOP principles and accomplishments, and to unite them in a concentrated program behind the 1958 campaign.

Mason Graduate Enters Seminary

Aaron Hyde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Menlo Hyde of Mason, has entered Louisville Presbyterian Theological seminary at Louisville, Kentucky.

Hyde graduated from Mason high school in 1953. He received his A. B. degree from Alma college in June. He is a member of the Holt Presbyterian church.

At Louisville he will start a course of study which will prepare him for the gospel ministry. After the 3-year course he will graduate with a bachelor of divinity degree.

Since leaving Alma in June he has served as pastor of a 4-church Methodist circuit in Fredricksburg, Indiana. Next week he will take over the pulpit of Hobron Presbyterian church in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde and their daughters, Debbie 1½, and Terry, 3 months, are making their home in Charlestown, Indiana, 18 miles north of Louisville.

Father DeRose Will Emcee Italian-American Banquet

Father Paul DeRose, former pastor of St. James church in Mason, will be master of ceremonies at the Italian American club's Columbus Day banquet Wednesday, October 9, at the Lansing Civic Center. Father DeRose was assigned to a Flint parish, St. Leo the Great, during the summer.

The banquet, open to the public, will be in the ballroom beginning at 6:30. The program includes a 6-course dinner, an address by Eric Darin of Detroit, consul for Italy in Michigan and Indiana; professional entertainment and dancing.

In Mason tickets are available at Mason Foodland.

Profits from the event will be used for community charitable causes, according to Orlando Spagnuolo, publicity chairman.

ARVIDE R. NORTH of Mason was in Milwaukee last Thursday, Friday and Saturday to attend the centennial assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Wisconsin. He was the official representative of the Grand Council of Michigan. He is most illustrious grand master of the Masonic order in Michigan. At the Milwaukee assembly the honorary degree of Ish-Sodi was conferred and an honorary membership in the Grand Council of Wisconsin was presented to the Mason man.

County Adopts Salary Scale

Last Thursday afternoon Ingham supervisors approved the report of the salaries committee introduced at the morning session. It provides for increases approximating $120, not by across-the-board raises but by automatically advancing most employees a grade.

Supervisor Robert Brooks of Lansing objected to the method of advancement, declaring that the promotions undercut the entire system of merit grades. The raises are justified by cost of living increases, Brooks said. He cast the only vote against adoption of the salary committee report.

Upon request of Lloyd C. Service, friend of the court, a committee was appointed to study the mileage allowance for county employees using their private cars connection with work. Present allowance is 8c per mile for all departments except the health department, which allows 8c per mile driven, plus 5c for each mile under a total of 500 miles not driven. Service urged that all employees work on the same mileage basis.

Supervisors authorized expenses of Service to attend a conference at Hot Springs, Arkansas October 3-5. He is a member of a committee to study reciprocal cases handled through probate court. Expenses were authorized with 2 dissenting votes, cast by Austin Cavanaugh, Bunker Hill, and Charles Woods, Ingham.

HOPE YOU HAD FUN AT OUR PARTY

We sure enjoyed entertaining you. We're happy so many could come. The weather almost dampened our spirits but luck was with us.

It is almost impossible to thank all the people who helped put on the party. Our employees worked harder than ever and many gave up free time to help with festivities.

The IGA headquarters staff members who came right to our store and worked with us and the Ingham County News staff who gave much time to our promotion deserve special thanks.

Mrs. Anita Forman and students of the Patsy Watson school of dancing were kind enough to put on the show.

Many of our suppliers and representatives, former employees and friends were on hand to help.

Darlene Brown Is Bride of Robert Webb

Miss Darlene Edith Brown became the bride of Robert Bruce Webb of Lansing Saturday, September 21, at Mason Baptist church. Rev. Clarence Rodd, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Large baskets of gladioli flanked by candelabra graced the altar for the nuptial ceremony. Miss Lorraine Demorest played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Norman Lyons as he sang "Because, I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Brown is the daughter of Merle S. Brown. Mr. Webb is the son of Mrs. Lydia Webb of Lansing. For the wedding Mrs. Webb wore a blue lace dress. Her corsage was made up of orchids.

The bride selected a floor-length gown of chantilly lace styled with a sweep train. Cutouts of lace decorated the neck, and tiny lace scallops edged the bottom of her skirt. Her long sleeves extended to points at the wrists. A Juliet cap of matching lace held in place her fingertip veil. She wore a pearl necklace and carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Linda Oakes of St. Louis was maid of honor. Ellen Boughton and Margie Cronwell, both of Lansing, and Janet Brown, sister of the bride, assisted as bridesmaids. They were dressed identically in halter-length gowns of hunter green velvet with three-quarter sleeves. Their matching headpieces of velvet had attached face veils.

Norman Fitzpatrick of St. Johns was best man, and ushers were Bruce Fitzpatrick, Carl

MRS. ROBERT WEBB

Strahle and Dick Pulford, all of St. Johns, and Harry Colby and Roger Brown, both of Mason.

Wedding cake, groom's cake, nuts, mints and punch were served at the reception in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony by Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mrs. Arthur Webster, Miss Evelyn Freshour and Mrs. Harry Colby.

After their return from a honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds will reside at 619 Spring street, Lansing. The bride is a graduate of Mason high school with the class of 1957, and Lansing Business university. Her husband graduated from St. Johns high school and attended Michigan State university one year.

The rehearsal dinner was given at the Merle Brown home.

MRS. WAUVLE IS HONORED

Clarence Hughes of Lansing visited his aunt, Mrs. Martha Wauvle, Sunday, and showed movies made on his trip to Arizona and California. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bravender were also guests of Mrs. Wauvle for the movies. The gathering was in honor of Mrs. Wauvle's 86th birthday anniversary.

Picnic Given For Mrs. Linn

Mrs. Alvin Linn celebrated her birthday anniversary Saturday at a family picnic supper at Grand Woods park, Lansing.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kuhn, Terry, Kuri and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massman, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Balance, Robin and Rick and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lay and Barbara, all of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Al Assad and Betsy of East Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Massman and Shailie of Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lay, Mike and Chuckie of Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barnhill and Merritt, Mrs. Fred Collar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Densmore, Dawn, David and Debbie and Mr. and Mrs. John Lay.

Lined Draperies Wear Longer

The addition of a lining to your draperies will increase the wear life of the drapery fabric, according to Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, home demonstration agent. The lining not only protects the back of the fabric from air-borne soil, but protects the fabric from the intense heat radiated from the window glass. The lining also protects the fabric from sun fading. However, if the dyes used in the drapery fabric are not colorfast to sunlight, laundering and fume fading, the lining will only serve to retard the rate of fading.

The way in which draperies or curtains are made will help determine the length of time they will withstand use, but proper construction is even more important in their appearance.

Before you buy draperies examine the way they are cut, stitched, lined and reinforced. Mrs. Schaeffer said. Note whether or not the selvages have been removed. If not entirely cut away, has the selvage edge been clipped at intervals? The selvage of a fabric is ordinarily woven more tightly and unless clipped or cut away, the side hems will look pulled. Examine or ask the clerk if permanent-finish buckram has been used in the heading. Corners should be mitered, and where multi-panels are used, the lining and the face material should be coat-tacked at each seam at the lower edge.

Put God First Is Rally Theme

Rally day services, in the theme Let's Put God First, will be conducted at Mason Baptist church Sunday. The attendance goal is 225. There were 200 present for rally day last year.

Services will be in charge of the Sunday school beginning at 11:15 a. m. Boys and girls will be promoted and awards will be given for regular attendance. Those who are promoted from the sixth grade will receive Bibles, and children promoted from kindergarten will receive books entitled "Tell Me About Heaven."

The youth service will feature a film strip of the Holy Land. At the evening service a film, Daniel in the Lion's Den, will be shown. There will also be a sing-along period, special music and a brief message.

Saturday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Densmore were Mrs. L. G. Lane of Whitlir, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane of South Bend, Ind., and Mrs. Harold Sandberg and children of Grand Rapids. On Sunday Professor and Mrs. Gail Densmore of Ann Arbor were guests of the Densmores.

Kenneth FitzPatrick of Lansing was best man. Robert Perry of East Lansing and Gary Powers of Lansing ushered guests to their pews.

Decorations at Miller Road community hall were in the fall motif for the reception after the ceremony. Miss Peggy Smith, Miss Nancy Irish, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Walker and Mrs. Richard Tilford, all of Lansing, served.

Immediately after the reception the couple left on their honeymoon trip. The bride is a graduate of Alma high school with the class of 1954, and also of Lansing Business university. She is employed at Oldsmobile division of GMC. Her husband graduated from East Lansing high school in 1954 and attended Central Michigan college. He works at Don's Auto Trim, Lansing.

A rehearsal dinner was served at Porter Hotel Friday evening to 14 members of the wedding party. An arrangement of white snapdragons and pink carnations centered the table.

Morrison's Are Honored

MR. AND MRS. S. A. MORRISON

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary recently were Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Morrison. The golden anniversary and Mrs. Morrison's birthday anniversary were marked by a family gathering at the Morrison cottage at Lake George.

The Morrises were married at Maple Rapids on September 1, 1907. They have lived at 1109 South Lansing street for nearly 30 years. Mr. Morrison, now retired, was employed at Wyeth Laboratories Inc. for 28 years.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Lyla Cavanaugh of East Lansing and Mrs. Elsie Cappa, 6 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

Anniversary Reception Honors Carl Topliffs

One hundred and forty-five guests called Sunday to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Carl Topliff on their 40th wedding anniversary. The open house at their home began at 2 o'clock, sponsored by their children Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Topliff, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heilig and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Carrier.

For greeting the guests Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen of Clinton called on Mrs. Alfred Allen and her houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Bush of Yucalpa, Calif., Sunday.

Mrs. Mina Otis of Dansville spent the week end with Mrs. Ona Almond and helped her celebrate her 88th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Almond resides with her granddaughter, Mrs. Glenn Webster, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Bailey, Maurice Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bailey, Margaret and Mary were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Alston of Detroit Sunday.

Mrs. Donna McFarland of Lansing and Dorra Bateman and son, Guy, Mrs. Temple Christian and daughter, Celeste, and Mrs. Ruth Bateman were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davison and Miss Josephine Bateman at Union City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Bush of Yucalpa, Calif., arrived last Thursday to visit friends and relatives in Michigan. They are making their headquarters at the home of Mrs. Alfred Allen. Monday and Tuesday the Bushes visited friends on Leslie and Jackson. On Wednesday and Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Bush, accompanied by Mrs. Allen, went to Kalamazoo and Battle Creek. They plan to spend Sunday in Mason. The Bushes will leave for their home in California October 3.

Broiler Meals Are Quick And Simple to Prepare

By Annette Schaeffer

Many of you are interested in preparing quick meals. Your broiler can help you do this so well. Yet do you ever hesitate to use your broiler because it makes such a mess in your oven? Try using a moderate temperature, such as 350 degrees.

Not only will a moderate temperature cut down on smoking and spattering grease, but it will result in meat that is more tender, shrinks less and is more evenly cooked.

To keep your broiler temperature at the desired setting, you will want to leave your oven door ajar while broiling. If your broiler has only one setting and it's either "on" or "off," then the distance between your broiler pan and the heating unit will be your means of adjusting the heat. The farther away the rack is from the unit the lower the temperature will be. It will make a big difference in the way your meat will look and taste too. Putting it too close to the unit will result in meat that is seared on the outside and rare in the middle. If you place the pan so that the top of the meat is 3 inches from the heat, your steak will be nicely brown on the outside and evenly cooked on the inside.

whether you like it well-done, medium or rare.

Since salt tends to draw the juices out of meat, therefore, you shouldn't season it until you are ready to turn it over on the broiler. You may find it easier to wait until you are ready to serve before you season.

Know what not to broil. Although pork is generally tender, you need to cook it slowly and in the presence of moisture to develop its full flavor and to lessen shrinkage. The danger of trichinosis makes it necessary for you to cook pork to the well-done stage; by the time the inside of pork is well-done, the outside is almost charred if you're using your broiler!

Veal, because it has so little fat and so much connective tissue, also requires long, slow, moist cooking. You should broil both pork and veal chops and steaks.

200 Extension Women Attend Annual Rally Day

Two hundred home demonstration women gathered at Delhi township hall in Holt last Wednesday for a potluck smorgasbord and annual rally day. Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, home demonstration agent, announced the type of program for the year.

Dr. James Harrison, assistant director of continuing education at Michigan State university, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Stanley Adams, county chairman, introduced the county home demonstration council: District 1, Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Paul Baur of Williamston and Mrs. Roland Graham of Webberville; district 2, Mrs. Kenneth Ruth of Leslie and Mrs. Elbridge Wolfgang of Dansville; district 3, Mrs. Ralph Kitchen, Mrs. Kenneth Brooks and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers; district 4, Mrs. William Quick and Mrs. Donald Kram; and district 5, Mrs. Robert Lechitner, Mrs. Burgess Dalrymple and Mrs. Stanley Adams.

For the program Arlin and Marvin Head, members of Vantown 4-H club, presented their demonstration on how to take a good picture, and Ruben Droscha from Aurelius played a piano selection.

Mrs. Ralph Kitchen was program chairman. Reports of summer events were grouped together and presented as topics told over the tea table.

Mrs. Austin Todd of Leslie and Mrs. Dalrymple reported on last summer's tour to Niles. Mrs. Robert Lechitner told of the flower arrangement workshops, and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers summarized the hair-styling clinic. Mrs. Phillip Abbot told of her experiences at homemakers week. Mrs. Kenneth Brooks reviewed fair exhibits.

Cheerful Chatterers club and the Ingham group conducted the smorgasbord. Flower arranging students provided floral centerpieces.

MRS. LAMB IS 82

Mrs. Ford Lamb of East Lansing, Alfred Lane of Lakeland, Florida, and John Lane of Detroit called on Dr. Kate E. Lamb and Mrs. Ella L. Lamb Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. VanNess and Linda of Ann Arbor were week end guests and Sunday evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell W. Parrott, Doug and Mike of Jackson. Guests called to congratulate Mrs. Lamb on her 82nd birthday anniversary.

Temple Christian and son, Gregory, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Christian of Fowlerville.

David L. McConkeys Are Honeymooning in Florida

Mr. and Mrs. David L. McConkey of Lansing are on a 2-week honeymoon trip to Florida. The couple exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening at Holt Brotherhood Temple Methodist church. Rev. W. M. Tennant, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of 250 guests.

Mrs. McConkey is the former Evelyn Ann Croton of Lansing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Croton of Alma. The bride's groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McConkey of Holt. The newlyweds will reside at 1317 Vine in Lansing when they return.

A gown of dupioni silk was worn by the bride for her wedding day. The scoop neckline and long torso bodice was trimmed with alencon lace, iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The full skirt of unpressed pleats flowed into a chapel train. She wore a scalloped pillbox of lace set with sequins and seed pearls and carried a white rose and carnation cascade.

In identical waltz-length gowns of emerald green chiffon, Mrs. Kenneth Fitzpatrick of Lansing, matron of honor, and Miss Marion Sinclair and Mrs. Kenneth Norris, both of Lansing, bridesmaids, preceded the bride to the altar.

They carried Talsman roses and bronze mums with fall leaves and were matching crowns. Margie Johnson and Bruce Johnson of Lansing, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

Kenneth FitzPatrick of Lansing was best man. Robert Perry of East Lansing and Gary Powers of Lansing ushered guests to their pews.

Decorations at Miller Road community hall were in the fall motif for the reception after the ceremony. Miss Peggy Smith, Miss Nancy Irish, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Walker and Mrs. Richard Tilford, all of Lansing, served.

Donley Youths Attend Camp

Thirty sixth graders from William Donley school, Meridian township, are attending conservation camp at Pond lake near Milford this week. The school is using the camp, part of the Dodge estate, for the second year.

The youngsters were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Mona Duncle and Lyle Weldon, and Supt. Arthur Lange. They will study soil and leaf collections and fish, wildlife and forestry conservation.

Youngsters raised money last year for the trip by selling cup cakes, candy and papers.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Lethbridge and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson D. Brown attended the silver wedding anniversary open house for Mr. and Mrs. Dan Reason at Okemos Sunday afternoon. Sunday evening for supper Dr. and Mrs. Lethbridge had the Davises and Browns as guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferris K. Green and son, Allan, of Cadillac spent the week end with Mrs. Burt Green. Allan entered Michigan State university Monday.

Robert Ware and Rev. Paul L. Arnold were commissioners from the Mason Presbyterian church to the fall meeting of the Presbyterian of Lansing in North Presbyterian church on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Akers and 3 of their grandchildren, Judy Stone and Phillip and Tommy Leato, drove to Midland Sunday to visit the Akers' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stone. The group went to Bay City to attend a 4-H rodeo in which the Stones' daughter, Beverly, was participating.

Saturday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Densmore were Mrs. L. G. Lane of Whitlir, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane of South Bend, Ind., and Mrs. Harold Sandberg and children of Grand Rapids. On Sunday Professor and Mrs. Gail Densmore of Ann Arbor were guests of the Densmores.

Kenneth FitzPatrick of Lansing was best man. Robert Perry of East Lansing and Gary Powers of Lansing ushered guests to their pews.

Decorations at Miller Road community hall were in the fall motif for the reception after the ceremony. Miss Peggy Smith, Miss Nancy Irish, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Walker and Mrs. Richard Tilford, all of Lansing, served.

Immediately after the reception the couple left on their honeymoon trip. The bride is a graduate of Alma high school with the class of 1954, and also of Lansing Business university. She is employed at Oldsmobile division of GMC. Her husband graduated from East Lansing high school in 1954 and attended Central Michigan college. He works at Don's Auto Trim, Lansing.

A rehearsal dinner was served at Porter Hotel Friday evening to 14 members of the wedding party. An arrangement of white snapdragons and pink carnations centered the table.

THEATRE HITS

FOX

The Young Stranger
Friday and Saturday
RKO Radio Pictures' "The Young Stranger," starring James MacArthur, Kim Hunter and James Daly, will be on the screen Friday and Saturday at the Fox theatre. This outspoken drama about a misunderstood teenager and his efforts to adjust to the adult world marks the screen debut of 18-year-old MacArthur, for whom his studio has high hopes. He's the son of actress Helen Hayes and the late playwright, Charles MacArthur.

FOX

Beyond Mombasa
Friday and Saturday
"Beyond Mombasa," Columbia Pictures' African adventure starring Cornel Wilde, Donna Reed, Leo Genn and Ron Randell, opens Friday at the Fox theatre. Eddie Calvert, known to jazz experts as "The Man with Golden Trumpet," is introduced to the screen in the new film which was photographed in color by Technicolor.

FOX

Night Passage
Sun., Mon., Tues.
James Stewart and Audie Murphy are teamed in "Night Passage," outdoor action picture from Universal-International which will be shown at the Fox theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Co-starring with Stewart and Murphy in this turbulent tale about banditry and pioneer railroad building in the old west are Dan Duryea, Dianne Foster, Elaine Stewart and 14-year-old Brandon DeWilde.

ARCADÉ

Sunday and Monday
Something of Value
Robert Ruark's sensational "blood-and-guts" best seller of 2

seasons back has been turned into a vivid drama of the East African whites who live in constant terror of the ferocious Mau Mau. It's strong fare—not for the squeamish, with Rock Hudson, fresh from his triumphs in "Giant" and "Written on the Wind," Richard Brooks, who directed from his own screenplay, maintains interest throughout but concentrates on the horror and cruelty of the Mau Mau slaughter of the white families and the lengthy chase sequences. Dana Wynter's heroine is a portrayal in contrast to Wendy Hiller's memorable performance as a courageous wife. Rock Hudson continues to gain in histrionic stature and is completely convincing, as are Walter Fitzgerald and Robert Beatty, other members of a Kenya pioneer family. Also fine are two of the screen's top Negro actors, Sidney Poitier, as an embittered young native, and Juano Hernandez, as the Mau Mau leader.

CRIST
Joe Butterfly
Friday and Saturday
An amusing film about American soldiers in post-war Japan that, because of the impossible situations in which they find themselves, borders on the farcical. While Audie Murphy, the war hero, again proves himself a rising star of the screen, the chief provoker of laughs is Burgess Meredith, star of "Major Barbara" on Broadway, who, as Joe Butterfly, gives a straight-faced portrayal of a likeable Jap with a talent for minor larceny. The story follows a conventional formula, with the officers credited with less than an overabundance of intelligence. A newspaperman gets the same treatment. Feminine beauty is added through the presence of Kieko Shima.

Leslie

Cutler Oil Co. Gets Bid

By Clara Strange

President of Leslie school board, Alvin C. Woodland, stated that the fuel oil bid was let to the Cutler Oil company of Leslie for 12.97¢ per gallon, the lowest bid guaranteed for a full year on a minimum of 5,000 gallons. The cost is less 1¢ for 30 days cash, which will bring it down just below 12 cents, says Woodland.

Tabled for another week to permit time to get comparative costs per size on deep freeze units was the plan to provide either one large unit or 2 smaller ones.

Reports showed the 66 by 120 parking lot being made at the rear of the high school building has been graded and is ready for gravel. The village will cooperate in the graveling, Woodland said. Graded, too, is the area south of the shop. Both grading operations were done by the FFA chapter with its new caterpillar equipment. The chapter was paid $100 for the 2 jobs.

Progress was reported toward shaping up a policy for annexing further schools, according to Woodland.

John Michells Are Honored

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell were feted by their children honoring their 45th wedding anniversary Sunday, September 22, at a dinner at the Foyers in East Lansing. They were presented with many gifts. Their anniversary was Friday, September 20.

Present were their children, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell of Lake Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mitchell of Leslie. Their son, Richard, was unable to attend because of an accident a few weeks ago. Their daughter, Mrs. George D. Purvis of Jackson, Mississippi, phoned congratulations to her parents.

Other guests included Mrs. Mitchell's sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Disenroth of Leslie and Mrs. Harry Peck of Mason; Mr. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. Edmund Young of Dansville; and their sister-in-law, Mrs. George Mitchell.

Hugh Hamilton of Leslie, formerly of Mason, is still in room 471, Foote hospital, Jackson.

African Mission Sends Greetings

Last year Mrs. W. G. Reeves of Stockbridge sent Christmas cards and some pictures to the Norwegian Lutheran mission in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Africa. Monday she received return greetings from there.

The letter from Ethiopia, signed by P. A. Bredal, read: "It has been a great pleasure to get your parcels with bright cards for the children. They enjoyed them so much both in our Sunday school and when I am out distributing tracts on Saturdays. It is a blessing to have them."

"At present we have the vacation in the school and the children have gone home. They are spread all over this big plain and have taken up their former jobs as shepherds. They have also been asked to teach the children and grownups the alphabet and tell stories from the Bible. That is the only way we can reach many of these nomads. Sad to think that nobody has preached the gospel to them before now—nearly 2,000 years after our Saviour came to the earth."

"Any amount of cards you may send will be useful."

Letters to the Editor

Need for Child Guidance

I sincerely hope the county supervisors read and reread the letter from Gordon M. Jones, vice-president of the Lansing child guidance clinic — and then sit down and did some serious and intense thinking about it.

I have a dog in the household and also an emotionally disturbed child. Although the dog means much to our whole family there is no comparison to our child.

I realize fully that the majority of the public realize or don't want to, what a problem these children present. If you don't think these children need help and need it badly you go and spend a few hours sitting in the waiting room at the guidance clinic. Watch the parents' faces, then take a look at the 10- or 12-year-old who doesn't know where he lives or whether his birthday anniversary is in hot weather or cold. Then watch the child screaming for no reason or the one kicking a much younger brother or sister for no apparent reason. Talk to some of the parents and to some workers. Find out just how much they (the workers) can accomplish with a child in an hour or a week. If this isn't enough drive down to Hawthorne or Lafayette Centers. Sit there and watch. Ask questions there, too. Find out that in the 2 years Hawthorne has been opened they have been able to discharge only 20 patients. Find out how many are waiting and how long they have waited to be placed there.

Hawthorne Center was very newly closed this spring due to lack of funds and now is able to accommodate less than 100 patients at a time.

If this doesn't convince you that children are more important than dogs and cats, seek out a family with these or worse problems—talk to me. I'll tell you how it feels to wait almost 2 years to be able to get an hour's time at the guidance clinic, how it feels to watch your child grow worse each week unable to do a thing but wait and how it feels to have a child wish more than anything they could go back to school, go back to scout meetings, join again in football and baseball games and to have friends again. Also how it feels to be told "yes, your child needs much more in tensified help than he can receive at the guidance clinic but we have no idea when we can help you," and "yes, we realize it is worse the longer we wait but what can we do?"

You listen to this a few times, then go home and watch the younger children's favorite toys broken, purposely, and live in fear someone is going to be seriously injured during an unprovoked "fit of anger." Talk to me, Mr. Supervisors, or to thousands like me, who will tell you which is more important, dogs or children.

A CHILD FANCIER

Stockbridge Panthers Sparkle

Stockbridge served notice on the rest of the Ingham County league Friday night that the Panthers have sharp claws.

They looked great in the opener by dumping Mason 26-0.

Stockbridge put on a power display which had the Bulldogs reeling and writhing right from the start.

Paced by Fred Mills and Frank Lee, Stockbridge played in mid-season form.

The Panthers will settle right down to business Friday when they open their drive for the Ingham County league crown.

They will play Fowlerville in Stockbridge.

Fowlerville will be in the same position as Mason found itself. The Panthers will have the edge in experience and size.

Mason will take on another Ingham County league team Friday night before tumbling into the Capital Circuit grind. This time the Bulldogs will play Okemos.

Coach Fred Driver's boys should fare better in this one which will be played on the banks of the Red Cedar. Last year's Ingham County league champs are in the midst of a rebuilding job.

Okemos did well in the opener, though, posting a 20-0 win over Perry.

It didn't take long for Stockbridge to show the opening night fans at Mason how the game would progress.

The Panthers took the kickoff and marched straight to a touchdown. Mills and Lee took turns tugging the ball. They picked up first downs almost at will. Gary Cornish added the extra point.

Mason couldn't do a thing with its turn with the ball and Stockbridge again took over. Mason's defense barely slowed up the Stockbridge power plays from the split-T formation. With Mills and Lee still shearing the running chores, Stockbridge moved in for another touchdown.

This time Dave Dunsmore crashed through the Stockbridge blockers to knock down Cornish's extra point attempt.

In the second quarter Mason started to pull itself together. Dart Stone and Doug Lamke picked up a pair of good gains to give Mason the ball on the Mason 45. The attack fizzled, though, and Bruce Horton dropped back and tossed a pass. Lamke and Mills both went up in the air after the ball. Lamke caught it but when both crashed to the ground Mills had it. Thus ended the only Mason threat in the first half.

In the second half the Panthers still continued to snarl and claw. Even though Mason's defense began to show promise on many plays, Mills continued to break through for long gains. Once he went 55 yards to score without a hand being placed on him. Two other times he was on his way except for sharp open field tackles by Tom Clipper.

Before the third quarter ended Stockbridge scored twice. Dunsmore again bucked one extra-point try but Cornish made good on the other.

The last quarter was played on even terms. Mason penetrated deep into Stockbridge territory twice but failed to deliver a touchdown.

The Stockbridge line had charge. With Dave Schutte, 200 lb; Dick Ludtke, 185; John Horst, 220; Norm Jacobs, 205; and Matt Hemsley at 190, the Stockbridge line threw back Mason's defenders and shoved aside Mason blockers.

Though boasting a big line, the Panthers displayed speed to go with it. Mills, Lee and Spadofora are a well-balanced backfield combination.

Mason's new coach has his work cut out. Mason showed potential at times in the opener but inexperience hurt. Line blocking was ragged and defensive play was inconsistent.

On defense Mike Holbrook, playing at tackle, made several outstanding plays. Rod Caltrider and Larry Wheeler displayed good defensive ball at the ends. Clipper and Stone looked good on defense. If they hadn't, the score would have been much larger because they dragged down runners several times when they were headed for clear territory.

On offense Stone and Lamke stood out along with the punting of Keith Stone. Horton's passing looked good on the 2 times he was able to get rid of the ball. He completed both of the tosses. The rest of the time the Stockbridge line tossed him for losses.

Williamston Opens Season With 38-0 Scoring Display

Williamston ran into an easy time in its opener Friday night at Byron.

The Hornets stung their non-league foes 38-0.

It will be a different story Friday night, though. Williamston will meet Haslett in a league encounter.

Haslett dropped its first game of the season to Holt 24-6 but looked much better than the score indicated. Williamston and Haslett, along with Stockbridge, are rated at the top of the Ingham County league. Neither team can afford to drop behind, so Friday's game should be a scorcher.

Against Byron Williamston could do no wrong. The Hornets started out with one touchdown in the first period, added another in the second quarter and then really settled down to business. In each of the last 2 periods they scored twice.

Armon Sober lived up to his pre-season rating as one of the league's top backfield performers. He scored 2 touchdowns on runs of 20 yards, passed to Dick Rathburn on a play covering 10 yards for another score and tossed a 16-yard scoring pass to Chuck Gubry for the fourth tally.

Ron Griffith broke into the scoring act with a 32-yard end sweep and Gene Tracy made a trip into the end zone from 10 yards out.

The Hornets will find the going just a little rougher Friday night. Byron's defense was full of holes and Williamston had a weight advantage which the opposition couldn't overcome.

Howell will find the going just a little rougher Friday night. Byron's defense was full of holes and Williamston had a weight advantage which the opposition couldn't overcome.

Davis Predicts Football Games

Davis Men's Wear is making it easy for local football enthusiasts to compare game forecasts with Joe Harris, nationally famous sports forecaster. The clothing company is publishing weekly football forecasts of both collegiate and professional games.

Harris is a New Yorker and during the past 11 years his forecasts have been correct 82.9% of the time. This week, he's giving the edge to both Michigan State University and University of Michigan. Other predictions are published in the Davis ad elsewhere in the paper.

Shaver Leads Holt Attack

Darwin Shaver loomed as the big man in Holt's football plans after Holt beat Haslett 24-6 in the season opener.

Shaver scored 4 times in leading the Rams to victory. Shaver, a runner of the Bob Tuttle, Bucky Phillips type, displayed an ability to score from any spot on the field.

He smashed over from inside the 5-yard line on his first 2 touchdowns and wound up the performance with a touchdown run of 52 and 54 yards.

Bob Lerch was the only Haslett runner to solve Holt's defense. He scored the Laker touchdown on a 60-yard punt return.

As good as the Holt offense was, it was the defense which stood out. John Weaver and Bob Foster played exceptional games in the line and Gary Howell backed up the line with vicious tackles.

Holt will have a chance to pit its forces against stiffer competition Friday night when the Rams take on St. Mary at Everett's field. The Big Blues are expected great things after the day they handled Laingsburg in their opener.

Darkness Doesn't Help
Flickering lights didn't help Mason in its football opener Friday night. Three times a power overload plunged the field into darkness. Repairs were made with the promise there will be no more failures.

Orioles Clip Vikings 18-13

Everett opened the football season on a sour note Friday night with an 18-13 loss to Charlotte.

The Vikings couldn't cope with the first-half Oriole passing game. Charlotte grabbed 2 fumbles and then tossed passes for fast touchdowns before the Everett defense could set itself.

Charlotte scored one in the first period and added 2 in the second before Everett began to click.

Tom Sweeney started the Everett attack rolling with a 70-yard touchdown sprint in the third quarter. In the final period Sweeney again broke loose. This time he went 51 yards before Gene Montgomery dropped him from behind on the 14. On fourth down Sweeney went to the 3 and then Roger Hersey scored.

Charlotte stiffened during the closing minutes and Everett never threatened.

Friday night Everett will make a long trip to Hillsdale for a non-conference tilt before starting the Capital Circuit war.

Dansville Shows Power In Winning Grid Opener

Dansville's green team looked like a million in its opener with Fowlerville Friday.

The Aggies dropped the Clinton county team 20-7.

Friday afternoon Dansville will try to start its league play on the same happy note when Leslie comes to town. Although Leslie received its lumps in a 39-6 loss to Eaton Rapids Friday night, Dansville will find the Blackhaws a tough team to beat.

Coach Francis Cappaert was happy with the action of the Aggies Friday. The Dansville coach must rely on a lot of youngsters this year.

Gordon Ries turned out to be the big gun in the Dansville attack plans. He scored Dansville's first touchdown on a 35-yard run.

The next Aggie touchdown came on a pass from Jim Breslin to Glen Wireman on a play covering 35 yards.

Ries again broke into the scoring column with a 4-yard smash after the Aggies drove 70 yards.

Besides showing up well on offense Coach Cappaert's crew indicated it had learned its defensive lessons well. Fowler managed one touchdown drive in the second quarter but never threatened after that.

Breslin looked good at quarterback for Dansville. He handled the ball well and was sharp with his passing. Ries showed speed and drive with his runs. What everyone thought might be a dismal season for Dansville might turn out to be quite happy.

Okemos Scores 20-0 Victory

Okemos stopped Perry Friday night 20-0.

Mason will play at Okemos Friday in what should be a good test for both teams. The Chieftains and Mason are both in the same boat. Both lost most of last year's season. Both are rebuilding.

The biggest difference is the way they started the season, though. While Okemos won easily at Perry Mason absorbed a 26-0 whipping from Stockbridge.

Against Perry the Chiefs shared the scoring honors. Ron Webster smashed over the middle for 3 yards and the first touchdown. Case Hoonhout skinned and for a 35-yard scoring effort and Chuck Clawson picked up the final tally on a 20-yard run.

Okemos passing, long an important part of its attack, failed to gain the usual yardage.

Greyhounds Clip Blackhaws 39-6

Leslie, considered by some as one of the dark horse entries in the Ingham County league race, wasn't too impressive in its 1957 debut.

The Blackhaws lost to Eaton Rapids 39-6 in a non-league encounter.

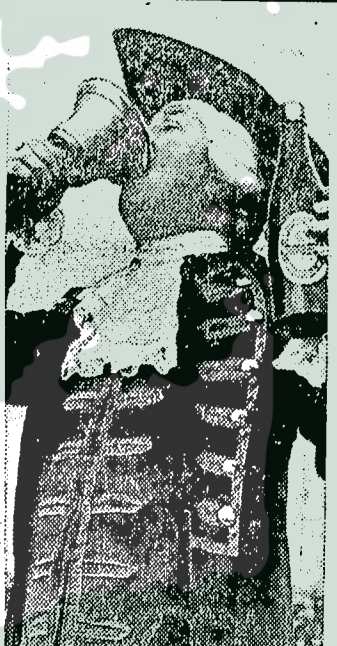

Friday afternoon Leslie will travel to Dansville to open league play. The Aggies, supposed to be also-rans this year, looked like world-beaters in taking care of Fowler 20-0 Friday night.

Eaton Rapids spread the scoring through all 4 quarters. Five different players crossed the goal line for the Greyhounds.

Bruce Conard started the route when he fell on a blocked punt in Leslie's end zone. Gary Oade followed with a 10-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

Eaton Rapids increased the tempo in the second half. Oade passed to Jim Aitken for one, George Hertzfeld rounded end for 35 yards and another score. Jack Pell skirted the other end for a touchdown and Oade smashed over for the final tally from 4 yards out.

Leslie's touchdown came in the second quarter when Daryl Wilkinson slipped around right end and traveled 35 yards.

Howell Rallies To Beat Fenton

Howell, supposed to flatten all opposition with its powerful football team, had a hard time squeezing past Fenton in the opener. The Highlanders finally emerged with a 13-6 win.

Friday the Highlanders will have another warm-up contest before jumping into the Capital Circuit battles. This week Howell will play the Flint Northern reserves. Flint is known for developing football talent. Howell should have a rough evening.

Against Fenton Doug Gerkin and Jim Bimpey, counted on to pulverize the opposition, couldn't gain much yardage. In place of the stars a pair of unknowns carried the load. Harold Schimmel smashed over from the one-yard line in the first quarter to open the scoring but the kick for extra point was not good.

At the start of the second quarter Fenton bounced back to tie the score on a 4-yard scoring effort by Bruce McKenna.

Howell waited until the third period before launching another sustained drive. This time Ted Ochamagah crashed over from the 5-yard line.

Aggies Trounce Fowler for First Football Victory

The Dansville Aggies won their first football game of the season last Friday, 20-7, by defeating Fowler in a non-league game. The Aggies scored in all quarters but the third.

Coach Cappert's Aggies tallied first in the first quarter when Gordon Riles broke away for a 30 yard touchdown and Edward Bearse passed to Glen Wireman for the point.

In the second quarter Jim Breslin passed to Wireman for a 35-yard touchdown and the point was missed. Again in the fourth quarter Riles plunged from the 4-yard line after a 70-yard march and plunged the point.

Fowler scored in the second on a plunge from the 4-yard line by Curtis George and Neil Epkey ran the point.

The Aggie band, under the direction of their new instructor, Richard Devey, played for the game. On Friday Leslie plays at Dansville, the game beginning at 2:45 p. m.

Girl Scouts Report on Camp

Neighborhood meeting No. 24 of Girl Scouts of America was conducted Monday afternoon at the town hall.

A report of day camp was given, indicating that all 15 girls in the newly organized troop, with Mrs. Ronald Morse as leader, attended camp every day and stayed overnight.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be Monday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. at the town hall.

An effort is being made to organize a Brownie troop. Any girl between 7 and 10 years of age or in the second, third or fourth grade may enroll.

There must be 8 girls in a troop before it can be registered, with 2 leaders for each group and 3 members of a troop committee.

Each troop is allowed one money-making project a year besides the cookie sale. Brownies are the youngest Girl Scouts. They are taught good citizenship, cooperation, sharing and helpfulness.

Any person interested in leadership or assistant leadership may call MA 3-2861, Mrs. Harold Wing.

A training class will be conducted in Mason for Brownies October 2, 9, 15, 23 from 9:30 to 3:00. Registration for the class should be a week before enrolling.

Mrs. Peck Proves Men Are Most Curious Sex

Men certainly are curious creatures! Any idea that women have a monopoly on curiosity you can put in your pipe and smoke from now on!

I have proof that men are nosy, inquisitive and curious.

While waiting in the car in front of a vacant building (being remodeled) I had a good chance to observe just which sex "peaked" the most.

(I had just read that there were lots of interesting things that you could do with the time you wasted, waiting for folks. I used it on this survey.)

Well, 7 out of every 10 men who came along stopped to look into the building. Some got up and pressed their noses flat against the window to get the best look. They shaded their eyes to get the best light. (A well-known local man, S. M., included.)

Only one woman who came along stopped to wonder what was going on inside... and she was with a man who stopped. She kept urging him to come along at that!

But he turned and squirmed and peered and leered. Why another second more and I'd have been out of that car to see what made those men so curious!

End of survey number one but beginning of number two.

This really isn't a survey. It's a question. Does an appointment at 7 o'clock... on Tuesday... in August... mean at 7, on Tuesday, in August? Or does it mean at 10 on any other old day in the week in any of the other 12 months?

Within the past month I have heard of over a dozen different deals of this kind where it was from a few hours to several days off from the set time. Some of this has meant a great inconvenience. What has happened to the old-fashioned virtue of "sticking to your word?"

Leslie

Council Members Consider Water and Road Situations

By Clara Strange

Members of Leslie village council voted to pay Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May, consulting engineers, $2,553.00 for professional services rendered from October 1, 1956 to September 1, 1957. This covers a survey of the water system to provide new maps of lines and connections, work regarding the sewage treatment plant and interceptor sewers, Pennsylvania sewer extension, portion of storm sewer report and preliminary advice on the building of an east side alley.

Representatives of Leslie business men's association and village council will meet to discuss the degree of participation of the village in paying for the graveling of the industrial site road. The gravel was purchased at Mason, being ordered by a member of the industrial committee who believed the council was going to provide gravel for the road. When the bill for 56 yards of gravel was presented, it was tabled until the 2 groups could confer.

Whether to buy the rebuilt pump which the village has been loaned free of charge for the summer by Layne-Northern of Lansing for $900, buy a lesser value new pump for $1,200 or a new pump unit comparable in value with the rebuilt unit for them to be decided by the council. Two representatives from Layne-Northern appeared before the council to show why their attempt to repair one of the village's water pumps had proved unsatisfactory.

Members of the council agreed that an adjustment in the wages paid one of the Main street crossing guards for school children schedules makes it necessary for both guards to put in the same number of hours. A council committee will work this out with school officials.

The group voted to buy 2 new fountains. It was reported that the trash containers ordered by the village have arrived.

A Jackson firm will be hired to dig up the water main on Mill street to repair a leak, since local equipment is insufficient.

WSSCS Hosts District Meet

Taxpayers Need School Reports

Taxpayers are like stockholders in a large corporation, Elmer E. White, executive secretary, Michigan School Association, told more than 500 school superintendents meeting at the 28th annual conference of Michigan Association of School Administrators at Mackinac Island last week.

They are entitled to the same kind of report about goings on in their organization as is the stockholder, he added.

In addressing the Mackinac Island meeting, White urged school administrators to regard a new law which requires publication of pertinent information about schools as a golden opportunity to tell their story to the public. "If conditions are good," he said, "you can compliment the people and the board of education. If things are rough, you can point it out in advance so they'll be ready and not unpleasantly surprised."

State law requires districts large enough to engage a superintendent to report, among other data, the value of the buildings, sites and equipment; number of students, teachers and classrooms; teacher salary range; and a statement of at least 100 words by the superintendent about the condition of the district.

White referred to a recent report by Dr. George Gallup of the American Institute of Public Opinion which showed that the desire for more information about education is second only to that for medical matters. He stressed that this desire would result in the need for more and better coverage of school affairs and said that this would benefit the capable school official, the parent and the school system.

Office Sends SS Man

Lansing's district social security office will send a representative to Mason Thursday, October 17; Thursday, November 21; and Thursday, December 19. According to W. ### Club Elects New Officers

Munith All Round 4-H club met at the church house Monday evening. The meeting was conducted by the president, Helen Stanfield. The group voted to pay $100 to the 4-H camp fund.

Election of officers took place. Those selected were: President, Janet Stanfield; vice-president, Ann Spooner; secretary, Sharon Titus; treasurer, Arvalene Simons; news reporter, Sue Freymuth; and recreation leaders, Rena Carley and Carl Shortz.

Several new members joined the club and all signed up for their fall projects.

Harris Attend World Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harr were in Peebles, Ohio, several days last week to attend the 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contest, Inc., where 33 different foreign countries participated together with the United States and Canada.

More than $1,000,000 worth of farm implements were on exhibit. A style show and musical, Pennsylvania, U. S. A., was staged each day. Concerts were given by the U. S. army field band, U. S. air force band and the U. S. women's air force band.

Demonstrations of modern farm policies in irrigation and soil conservation on the 2,500-acre plot, as well as many farm home demonstrations were given in the family living center for the women attending. Thursday afternoon, the Cairn of Peace (a gold plow on a standard built of bricks brought from many countries of the world) was dedicated.

Holland won the plowing contest, with England placing second. The sixth World's Conservation Exposition will be in Germany in 1958.

Cubs Plan Meeting

Cub Scout pack 329 will have their September pack meeting in the gym at Munith school Saturday evening at 7:30. New cubs may join the pack if they are between the ages of 8 and 10. Those interested should attend the meeting with their parents.

Robert Titus returned from a week's stay at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he attended a heat engineering school Saturday morning.

Mrs. Fred Ford and Mrs. Marilyn Barnhart were hostesses Saturday evening at the Ford home at a shower for their niece, Miss Beverly Wild, whose wedding will take place October 12.

Mrs. Hazel Katz, Dean and Doris, attended the 25th wedding anniversary recently for Dr. and Mrs. Donald L. Katz of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. G. Graf, Ernest Graf and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pauls and Kathleen of Millville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lytle and family.

Mrs. Bernadine Fransted and children of Gifford, Illinois, were week end guests at the home of her sister and family, the Gerald Dixons.

Farm Bureau Has Meeting

Munith Farm Bureau group met Thursday evening at the farm home of Helen and Jane Hankert with 11 families represented.

The group was shown through the spacious, century-old, well-kept house of 12 rooms, where many pieces of antique furniture were in evidence.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Harold Harr, and all joined together in repeating The Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Forrest Miller, and approved and the treasurer's report was read.

Committeewoman, Mrs. Sherman Hartman, reported from the Jackson county fair that the Farm Bureau booth had received third ribbon and that proceeds from the apron and baked goods booth was sufficient to provide 2 nurses scholarships again this year. She stated it was time to pay 1958 pennies for friendship again.

The district Farm Bureau meeting will be Tuesday, October 8, at Coldwater. The group's delegate to the World Assembly at Ceylon will speak. Jackson county is to furnish salads for the cooperative luncheon to be served in the Methodist church there.

A tour for homemakers is scheduled for Tuesday, October 17, planned and conducted by the soil conservation district officers. They will visit 2 outstanding farms and the Goodyear company, where luncheon will be served at the cafeteria.

Fred Ford, minuteman, gave a report on teachers' salaries. Harold Harr led the discussion on zoning.

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT AND RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE SUCCEEDING YEAR

The financial condition of the district is as well as can be expected in a low-valuation area with rapidly increasing student enrollments and a tax base made up almost entirely of residential properties. Less than one-fourth of the district's operating income came from local property taxes, while three-fourths came from State grants.

During the year all half-day sessions were eliminated with completion of additions to all three elementary schools. These additions consisted of a total of 15 classrooms, 3 all-purpose rooms, and related facilities.

April of this year saw construction begin on the new high school, which will make possible the opportunity for improved curricular offerings in both senior and junior high school. It will also facilitate our chances of accreditation by the North Central Association. After the 1957-58 school year the space vacated by grades 9-12 in the old high school can be used for an improved junior high program and for elementary school overflow the next few years.

Bonded indebtedness was reduced near the end of the fiscal year by a total of $70,000 with the aid of a loan of $5,855 from the State. Basic grading, fencing, seeding, etc., were started on a new athletic field to replace the old one which is the site for the new high school.

Teachers' salaries have been increased but need more improvement in order to maintain the quality of our teaching staff.

The financial accounts of the district have been audited by the firm of Garlock & Howland of Lansing and found to be "well kept and the system of internal control was satisfactory."

The Board of Education is in the process of getting a Citizens' Education Study Committee started on the job of studying the needs of our school system in order to serve better the youth of the district.

Respectfully submitted,
MARGARET SALM, Secretary
Board of Education

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Frightening, isn't it? You see a picture like this and suddenly you feel as if you are standing at the edge of a chasm in the dark. You are confronted with the threat of the unknown, and you don't like it.

Why, you wonder, does it have to be like this? Why can't men live together in peace?

We all need the courage to face the unknown future unafraid. We need to find and to develop love, understanding, and peace of mind. But to attain our goal, we need help. That help can be found in the Church, which gives us Faith.

On World Wide Communion Sunday—millions of men and women will unite in solemn observance of one of Christianity's holy sacraments. There will be new faces at thousands of altars, men and women who have only recently begun to realize where man's Hope is to be found.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Visit in Europe Broadens Outlook

By MAX BENNE

To get back home is always one of the best parts of any trip. I will soon be back in Michigan telling about my life as an IYFE. My only regret is that more people can't experience it firsthand instead of having a rather poor description from me. I am sure my trip has considerably broadened my outlook and understanding of people and life.

The past few days I have been plowing and field-cultivating. I was surprised to learn that it would all be plowed again in December after being fall-fallowed. It doesn't seem possible that in a country which is as far north as Hudson Bay there could be any field work done in early winter. Of course, it has been explained to me that the water of the Gulf Stream which surrounds the country keeps the temperature above freezing until late December. Yet it is still hard for me to imagine. Particularly, since I am about freezing to death writing this letter. The damp air and strong wind makes it chilly.

The United States has really been in the news lately in Europe and not in a way that I am proud of.

The situations which arose from school integration especially in Little Rock have been given much attention. It didn't take long for me to get some of the repercussions. They have ranged all the way from simple questions to remarks such as I should hurry home and join the army to fight the Negroes.

It has been suggested that perhaps I should have stayed home and worked for better understanding there. That might have been a good idea because it is difficult to get people in foreign lands to have much faith in our attempts to establish better human relations as long as we have second class citizens at home.

It is hard to try to explain why these conditions exist when we profess to be a Christian nation with a constitution which expresses the belief that all men are created equal. It always boils down to the fact that we have no real excuse for it. Many people that I have talked to realize that we are trying to remedy the problem and that it cannot be done overnight.

This will be my last letter to the newspaper. It is my hope that my letters have been fairly interesting. My knowledge and outlook on conditions here is continually changing so there are many things which I have written which I would revise now.

Goodbye for now. I hope I can talk to you about my trip when I get home.

Editor's note: Clubs, Farm Bureau, Grange and other groups who are anxious to hear Max Benne talk about his experiences abroad should notify the county extension office at once. The Benne engagement book is being rapidly filled.

Delhi Township Park Board Studies Expansion Plans

Members of the Delhi park board are summing up the service they rendered the community during the summer season and making plans for the future.

Delhi voters approved a park fund at the April election. In June the park board launched a program.

Participation in the many and varied sports and projects amounted drew several thousand children and adults to the park. Attendance of spectators was also at a high level.

At one of its recent meetings, the park commission originated a planning and study committee for developing a long-term park and recreation program.

The commission together with a group of citizens have under advisement a plan for an even greater and more successful recreation program for the coming year.

Although emphasis has been on recreation, park locations and land are being studied.

If you aspire to the highest place it is no disgrace to stop at the second, or even the third.

Thriller Writer Had 20 Pen Names

Max Brand is revealed as a poet too big for his chaps.

He wrote under 20 pen names, the best known being Max Brand, Evan Evans, George Chavis, George Owen Baxter and David Manning. His real name was Frederick Faust, and his real love was writing poetry.

Before being killed in action in Italy in 1914 at the age of 32, he had published more words of fiction than any other man, close to 30 million, plus movie scripts, poems, etc. There are still 150 novels of his yet to be published.

He was a big man, 6 feet, 3 inches, and 220 pounds. He was bigger than the heroes he created, as Dostoevsky the writer, and Dr. Kildare the surgeon. In "The Notebook and Poems of 'Max Brand'" he wrote: "I am starting to learn a little about the west, having written 4 years of pot-boilers on that same subject." He was living in the west at the time.

Those who eagerly awaited his latest western in magazines or books should do him the honor of reading a few of his poems. They can be found at the Ingham county library, along with some of his 425 novels. You will find that the seemingly cynical master chief of pot-boilers also felt that:

Some evening when the wind is hushed
And both our hearts are still
For wonder that so large a world
Should hold so little ill.

If you must be conservative, let's be intelligent about it. Russell Kirk, Michigan author of the "Intelligent Woman's Guide to Conservatism," is here to light the way. A graduate of MSU and resident of Mecosta, Kirk is best known for his book "The Conservative Mind." G. B. Shaw wrote "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism" a generation ago, believing that women's heads could be turned toward radicalism. Kirk makes the point that women have proved themselves the most determined conservatives in modern society.

That's in politics, of course. There's no need to be too conservative in the kitchen. Sula Benet inspires the most backward cooks with her "Festival Menu 'Round the World." She is a folklorist who has observed that every country has special dishes for special occasions. While American eaters regularly digest many foreign dishes, Sula suggests we try sacher-torte from Austria, moth-er-in-law's eyes from Brazil, stuffed grape leaves from Egypt, not to mention Korean kimchi. The latter is guaranteed to take your breath away.

There are a few weeks left to practice conservatism on the golf course. Phil Galt's "Secrets of Accurate Putting and Chipping" features a technique that helps the duffer keep control of a par short iron game. According to Phil, it's amazingly simple if you bend the right joints and keep your eyeing square.

Readers, authors and publishers have cooperated in sustaining interest in books about World War II. The present pace may have these books neck-and-neck with the number of books written about the Civil War.

Numerous books on the European phase of World War II have been added to the library, including "Operation Sea Lion" by Peter Fleming, which covers the projected invasion of England in 1940 with an account of German preparations and British counter-measures.

A number of books are available about naval action in the Atlantic. S. E. Morison tells a story of teamwork between land, sea and air forces in "The Invasion of France and Germany, 1944-1945." He calls it the most massive amphibious operation in history, and includes the smaller actions in the channel and the Mediterranean.

Exploits of Captain Otto Krellsch, the most dangerous German U-boat commander of the war, are described in "Night Raider of the Atlantic" by Terence Robertson, while "Twenty Million Tons Under the Sea," by Daniel Gallery tells of the capture of the Nazi submarine U-505, which was the first enemy vessel since 1815 to be boarded by the U. S. navy on the high seas during war-time.

The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, is retold in Walter Lord's current best-seller "Day of Infamy."

Action in the Pacific from the Japanese point of view is described in "Zero," by Masatke Okumura. The author gives the reason for early success by the Japanese and tells of the events leading up to the final surrender.

Other titles that explain the Japanese side of the war include Emmanuel A. d'Albas "Death of a Navy," Saburo Sakai's "Samurai," and Ronald Set's "Secret Services," a history of Japanese espionage.

Submarine action in the Pacific is vividly described in "Zombies, Subs and Zeros," by Charles Lockwood and "By Sea and By Stealth," by Burke Wilkinson.

How others kept the war going is covered in such titles as "The Naked Warriors," by Francis Fane; "Battle Hymn," by Dean Hess; "Guerilla Surgeon," by Lindsay Rogers; "Hiroshima Diary," by Michiko Iachiyu; "The Man Who Never Was," by Ewen Montagu; and "Sea War" by Felix Riesenberg.

Phone Company Asks New Raise

Michigan Bell Telephone company has petitioned the public service commission for a rehearing of its rate application.

The company also has filed an application for approval of a $40 million debenture issue to retire demand notes already incurred on past and current construction projects. The proposed debenture issue would be offered at public bidding about November 18.

In a statement accompanying the petition for a rehearing of its rate application, Michigan Bell said the return on investment allowed by the commission does not meet the costs of doing business today and that the company will be unable to achieve even that return in the near future.

The commission handed down an order August 6 allowing the company additional revenues of $2,835,000 a year on its application for an increase of $12,500,000 annually.

Powdered Milk for Korea

Five thousand pounds of whole milk powder is on its way to Korea for feeding babies who do not thrive on skim milk. This was made possible by gifts from Michigan people to CROP. Other recent Michigan CROP shipments are 500,000 vitamin pills to Korea, Hongkong and the Near East Arab countries.

Farm Bureau Group Elects

At the meeting of the Triangle Club Farm Bureau September 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Wigman, officers were elected. There were 26 members present.

Those chosen were Lewis Schoo, discussion leader; Bruce Deeg, chairman; Mrs. Robert Olson, chairman; vice-chairman and recreation leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ansley; Blue Cross secretary, Mrs. Ansley; Mrs. Fred Horstmyer, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Horstmyer and Mrs. Arnold Rorbaugh, women's committee; Dewey Doane, news reporter; Robert Droscha, resolutions chairman; and Mrs. Dewey Doane, roster committee.

Dore Hudson, group member, suggested a resolution for sending to the county office. He suggested that the laws requiring the placement of posters and placards be enforced. One principal objection to the placing of campaign posters, fair advertisements and school announcements, is that nothing is done regarding their removal, it was said. More frequently than not, the announcements are left to the elements to be destroyed by a long period of ugly defacement of property, it was pointed out. Something must be done to require the removal of these signs and placards by the person or group originally responsible for their erection, the group agreed.

The September discussion regarding zoning of farm areas was conducted by the discussion leader, Bob Olson. The group impression is that intelligent zoning is a necessity in an ever-changing area. Comments regarding zoning brought up specific instances of public indifference to zoning problems.

It was suggested that township zoning boards should be approached regarding the handling of future zoning issues. Mrs. Jack Dorr commented that even though legal methods of handling zoning are met, the public serves such things as notices of rezone on proposed rezoning plots and more clearly written notices in newspapers which will not only carry the legal wording but which will be more informative as to the proposed rezoning use of the property.

The group agreed on the importance of industrial units within townships and their carrying a major part of the tax load when enough land is zoned for industrial use. Allowances should be made for industrial growth within townships by zoning boards, the group decided.

Refreshments in the form of a buffet-style lunch was served by the host and hostess.

The October meeting will be at the Ray Ansley home.

Time to join!

Here's your once-a-year opportunity to get Blue Cross • Blue Shield protection without enrolling in a group

Now, for a two-week period—September 16 to 30—those who are not eligible to join Michigan Blue Cross • Blue Shield through a group can join through this special non-group plan.

No red tape . . . no physical examination needed. The only requirement is that you be a Michigan resident under 65 years of age.

If you are married, Blue Cross • Blue Shield coverage will protect your entire family . . . if you are single, you will be covered individually.

And remember . . . the non-group plan provides many of the broad benefits usually available only under group coverage. They include, after six months' membership, the same new out-patient benefits just made available to Group Members.

But you must act now. This special non-group offer cannot be repeated for at least another year. Clip and mail the attached coupon . . . no later than September 30 . . . and we'll send you complete information on rates and benefits.

MICHIGAN BELL

IF YOUR TEEN-AGERS are like everybody else's teen-agers, they'll be busier than ever now that school's open again. Why not have an extension phone installed for them—right in their own room? Then they'll be able to keep up with their hectic school and social activities in privacy, and the rest of the family will love the peace and quiet. An extension telephone in your home would cost less than four cents a day. And in a teen-ager's family, there's hardly an easier way to make everybody happy.

OF COURSE, the kids aren't the only ones who'll be busy this fall. With PTA., service clubs and church affairs all going strong, the whole family is pretty active. Think how hard it would be to make plans and keep track of things without your telephone! And wouldn't you be lost without the day-to-day help your phone gives you with all the little important things? Like that call to the hairdresser's for an appointment; or the call from your youngster, telling you he's stopping at Billy's after school.

THIS MONTH marks the 60th Anniversary of the United States Independent Telephone Association, representing more than 4,400 companies across the nation. They serve over nine million telephones, working in partnership with the Bell System to provide Americans with the best telephone service in the world. In Michigan, 116 telephone companies joined in celebrating Independent Telephone Week, September 8 to 14. Michigan Bell salutes these independent companies on the 60th birthday of their association. Side by side we build for Michigan's future, working together to bring people together.

Schools and Politics

Most of the recent state superintendents of public instruction recommended that their offices be made appointive instead of elective. They said the job should be divorced from partisan politics.

But those recommendations were not adopted. People reflected that while the jobs were listed as political, the men elected did not play politics, did not take an active part in partisan affairs.

Now comes the new superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett. In office only a few months, he has found little time for school business. He's out campaigning against Republicans. On every occasion—and he makes what occasions he can't find—he flays Republicans. He is left little time to devote to the responsibilities and the administration of schools. He is campaigning—using the schools and the school crisis in the interest of partisan politics.

Michigan people were reluctant to surrender their right to elect a state superintendent of public instruction. Now with the man they chose traveling about the state on what looks like a mobile pogrom against Republicans they may change their minds. They may want a superintendent of public instruction who shows more devotion to education than to partisan politics.

Relief Figures Discourage

Ingham supervisors in their 1958 county budget set aside $325,000 for direct relief and $550,000 for social welfare. That's a total of $875,000 for the 2 categories, and that's in addition to what the state pays. It's in addition to the value of surplus commodities distributed to the needy. It's in addition to the unemployment pay which covers employables.

In the depression and in the recession people were encouraged to believe that liberalized state and federal programs would scale down local relief costs. Raising unemployment pay would keep people off relief rolls, people were told. Unemployment benefits become more liberal year by year, but relief costs do not diminish. True, many of the people on direct relief are unemployed, yet some of the direct relief money goes to supplement unemployment checks.

Social security was going to trim local relief rolls. Perhaps it has, yet there are authorities who declare that much more will have to be paid out in social security than can be paid in. Some Ingham people drawing social security also get direct relief.

Money comes from state and federal funds for aid to the blind and aid to the handicapped, but some of those costs must come from local funds directly or indirectly.

Most people would say that the country is prosperous. Few would say that the past 10 years have not been the most prosperous in the history of this nation and of this county. Perhaps what is being paid out on welfare is no more than should be expected, no more than is warranted. Yet if Ingham county is spending almost a million dollars in good times, what should we be prepared to spend in bad times?

That question is what alarms people. It is what discourages them. They wonder why the situation doesn't begin to show improvement.

Satchmo Should Stay Home

The state department is reported as hoping that Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, the jazz trumpeter, still will take his band to Europe and "fracture them cats" behind the Iron Curtain.

Many other people have a different view. They believe that this sending of professional musicians and artists to foreign countries on propaganda tours is a scandalous waste of public funds.

Far better would be an investment in an exchange program which would send the best of our young people or farmers abroad and would bring in the best from other countries. Such a program is IFYE. So far this year a young woman from Iran and a young man from Honduras have lived within Ingham farm families, and a young man from Okemos has been staying with families in Denmark.

These young people can't play hot jazz like Satchmo, but they have good manners, superior judgment and they come a lot cheaper.

Voters with No Place to Go

Most rank and file Republicans have been resentful of the fact that persistent Democratic propaganda has linked the party to Big Business in the minds of so many voters. And it is a fact, in our 2-party system, being under constant attack by the opposition, big business has had no other place to go. How large a part it has taken in the selection of candidates and the financing of campaigns is a moot question.

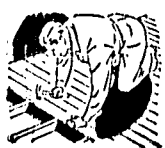

Regardless of how much influence Big Business has had in party councils, Republicans who have sought to keep the party in the hands of the rank and file and make it truly the representative of the ordinary, industrious American, whether he be farmer, laborer, housewife, small business or professional man, have resented the stigma they have had to bear. Because of it, new young party blood has been more difficult to attract, too.

The independent voter, whose opinion of the Republican party has been influenced by the persistence of the Democratic campaign to make it appear as completely dominated by Big Business, and who has not cared to join the party dominated by Big Labor, has taken no interest in either party and had little or no voice in choice of candidates for public office.

It may be cause for regret in minds of many conservatives—Republican, Democratic and Independent, alike—that we cannot go back to the conditions existent at some previous time. But we can never go back. The question is, how do we go forward from here and maintain a true representative form of government?

Under present conditions it is the thought of many that the people are not permitted the proper choice—either they go forward under a party where Big Business has too big a voice, or they go forward to socialism or worse under Big Labor leaders in whose political decisions they have no voice.

The time and effort of these younger men, in attempting to revamp the Republican party to make it truly represent the interests and thinking of the citizen who is sincerely concerned with preserving the American way of life for his children and grandchildren, is an invaluable contribution to the state and nation.—Griati County Herald, Ithaca.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Saturday morning Russell (Buster) Whipple led some of his building crew into Art's restaurant for breakfast. As usual, Buster was full of fun, raring to go. Had any person in the restaurant been asked to pick out the huskiest, strongest man, the man with the best health, Buster would probably have been chosen. Yet Saturday's breakfast was the last that Buster ate. He died before breakfast Sunday morning.

As his brothers and sisters, Buster was endowed with energy and ambition. The Whipples are up and at 'em folks. They get things done. When word spread Sunday that Buster Whipple had died people could scarcely believe it. When they were convinced, they gasped in astonishment, and invariably remarked, "He will be missed," "It's a great loss," "there was a worker."

Whipples work, not because Earl and Mabel told them to, but because the parents disciplined them in the true sense, converted them early into disciples of energy and industry.

Discipline and discipline come from the same root. Discipline does not necessarily mean the issuing of edicts, cracking down or punishment. It can mean training or a course of training which corrects, molds, strengthens and perfects. That's why discipline in the home and in the school accomplishes more when taught by example instead of precept. If a boy smokes and drinks because his father or mother does, he is being disciplined in the discipline sense and that usually carries more weight than what the parents or the teachers say.

Notice of the death of Mrs. Ruby Campbell was given preferred position last week because of the criticism that no matter how important a woman is she does not get the recognition in either life or death she would receive if she were of the opposite sex. Mrs. Campbell was a successful business woman, a woman who filled an important place in the community, a woman who had many friends.

Life and Times of Jim Crow

Integration in the South takes on a fine Alice-in-Wonderland flavor when you read the postwar history of Dixie. It is a nice little paradox that the Republicans fathered the very one-party system that keeps them out of the South.

Our school textbooks devote a chapter to the Reconstruction period of 1863-1876 when the South had integration. They make little mention of how and why it came to an end.

The end was brought about by a "gentlemen's agreement" known as the Compromise of 1876. Its basic result was to return white supremacy to the South 11 years after the war to free the slaves, in payment for political and economic concessions to the North.

What a tale of irony it is! Stripped to its bone the story is this:

After the Civil War when southerners were in panic because of the race disorders of Reconstruction, and northern interests were looking covetously at rich untapped resources of southern materials and markets and labor, and Republican and Democratic parties were in heated controversy over a national election, the Republicans, backed quietly by northern economic powers, agreed to let the southern Democrats manage the "Negro problem" in their own way if their spokesman would accept the Republican candidate Hayes as president—though there was strong evidence that the Democratic Tilden had actually won the election.

The South accepted. Hayes became president. Negroes became the white South's "problem." The supreme court drew the teeth from the Civil Rights act, interpreting the Fourteenth Amendment to accord with this gentlemen's agreement, and new bright voices in the North began to drown out the old abolitionists' talk of human freedom by saying "the race problem is insoluble."

It was after the Compromise of 1876 that the South adopted the poll tax, the white primary laws, and the rest of the Jim Crow laws. That was when the White and Colored signs went up over doors. Railroad stations, rest rooms, drinking fountains were labeled. White church—colored church; white school—colored school; white toilet—colored toilet; white waiting room—colored waiting room.

From 1877 to 1915 there was peace among white folks, North and South. It was not good form to talk of white problems. This white unity swelled into a riptide of stereotyped defenses that made thinking unnecessary. In southern and northern accents, the proper answers were:

The South understands the Negro... After all, the Negro is only 300 years out of the jungle... Segregation is here to stay. It makes for peace for the races to be separated... You can't change things overnight... You can't legislate brotherhood... After all, now, would you want your sister...

These were not merely the answers of only the Segregationists, as they are today. They were the answers of churches, politicians, white leaders and newspapers of the whole nation.

This tide of white unity throughout our nation rose higher and higher and did not begin to ebb until the year 1915 brought the supreme court's first "no" to white supremacy in Dixie. It was a decision which ruled unconstitutional the voting requirements called "grandfather clauses" (which had been set up in the South to deprive Negroes of the ballot by requiring proof that their grandfathers had "voted.") In other words, had not been in slavery).

The tide turned very slowly. After that one 1915 decision, the supreme court made no other in favor of civil rights for more than a decade. And, until the New Deal, our national government was loath to break the old bargain.

It was with the New Deal that the real attack on segregation in the South began. It is that attack that the present Republican administration is continuing at a stepped-up pace.

Jim Crow was born in 1876—the bastard son of a political mating. Will he die in the violence he created?—Bob Myers in Lapeer County Press.

Abe Cohn lost a tooth while refereeing the Lansing St. Mary-Lansburg football game Friday night. He was standing over a jam pile as it unjammed and he caught an elbow with his teeth. Abe took it philosophically. It was a tooth, he said, that was knocked away in a football game he played 25 years ago.

Wear your red hunting coat if you want to, but you'll be a lot safer clad in yellow. Testing now indicates that red ranks fifth in colors most visible to both normal and color-blind hunters. And there's something about men with color-blindness that makes them twice as eager as men of normal vision to shoot something. Red blends with the colors of nature and looks gray to both color-blind and normal hunters.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Brown had a long wait between great-grandchild No. 20 and 21; then they began to arrive in a heap. No. 21 was Jennifer Lynn Brown of Mason, No. 22 was Jayme Lynn Brown of El Paso, Texas, and No. 23 was Richard Andrew Wallace of Mason.

Changes in household customs can be observed by what's offered and what's bought at the Kiwanis rummage sale. Big overstuffed davenport and chairs are no longer wanted. There just isn't room in modern houses, say some of those who donated the furniture. Others say that if people are tired they should go to bed, not lop around on a davenport or snuggle down in an overstuffed chair. New davenports are made smaller and harder. Easy chairs are made not quite so easy.

People who want to inspect the interior of the Christian Science church may have to take in next Monday night's lecture or visit the building some Wednesday afternoon when the reading room is opened. Asked when the Mason group planned an open house for their beautiful new building, a church official replied that it is not the custom of the church to have such an event. And that's probably the right stand. No church should pay much attention to the merely curious.

The business sign, "Tee House," at 3061 Okemos road, has made people wonder about the significance of Tee. It now has no local significance, said Mrs. Robert Antcliffe. It's the family name of her son-in-law. Tee House now caters to weddings. The proprietors expect to branch out into catering for all occasions. Over around Grand Lodge, where she found her son-in-law, and up around Barryton there are lots of Tees, Mrs. Antcliffe reported.

Oklahoma's land rush, the California gold rush and the Beulah smelt run all combined would have afforded no more excitement than the draining of the game farm pond. Hundreds of people wallowed in the mud and mire to catch goldfish when flood gates at the dam were opened. State crews wanted to rid the pond of coarse fish and replace them with game fish.

Holsteins from Ingham Find New Homes in Peru

Two bred Holstein heifers from Ingham are now in Peru infusing new blood in a foundation herd. The pair from Ingham were part of a shipment of 15 head to Peru's National Agricultural college.

The Peru herd descended from dual-purpose type Holstein foundation stock bought several years ago from the Netherlands.

Michigan furnished 7 of the heifers. Two came from Jay F. Bowley's herd at Shilwan Farms, Ovid, and one each from Robin Carr's Rainbow farm at Fowlerville, Fred Angell, Oak Edge farm, Lansing, H. A. Miller & Sons, Williamston, prison farms at Jackson and Ionia state hospital farm.

Other heifers came from Mooseheart Farms, Mooseheart, Illinois; 2 from the Harden Farms, Camden, New York; and one each from Pabst farms and Kyland farms, Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, Wisconsin School for the Deaf at Delavan and the state reformatory at Green Bay, Wisconsin.

The new animals—all bred heifers—represent 12 herds in Illinois, Michigan, New York and Wisconsin.

They were selected by Fred A. Uranga, a Peruvian Holstein breeder and a recent graduate of the University of California.

Uranga was assisted by special representative Glen M. Householder of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Householder, an internationally-recognized livestock authority, assisted in launching the project when he judged Peru's national dairy show earlier this year.

The 2 travelled more than 3,000 miles, visiting herds throughout the east and mid-west, in locating the 15 heifers included in the shipment.

Primarily, selection was based on the milk production and the dairy type of immediate ancestors in the official breed improvement program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

After meeting exacting health requirements, the animals were trucked to Miami and subsequently flown to their new home in South America.

Accompanying them on the chartered flight were Uranga and Herbert A. Miller, Jr., of Wil-

Fork-Lift Truck Makes Changes

Fork-lift trucks have brought about sweeping changes in fruit handling methods. These changes have a direct effect on the design of fruit packing houses, pointed out M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

To assist growers in planning their packing house operations, a new publication has been released by Michigan State. Copies of the bulletin, called Equipment and Layout for Fruit Packing Houses, are available from the Ingham county extension office, at Mason. It is special bulletin 417.

Authors of the bulletin visited a selected group of Michigan grower-owned fruit packing houses last year to study building design, equipment arrangement and movement of fruit through the house.

The bulletin is based on the information collected at the houses. Such important considerations as location of the house, cost, design, equipment and operation are discussed in detail in the publication.

H. P. Gaston, horticulturist, and J. H. Levin, agricultural engineer, wrote the bulletin.

Frost Affects Sudan Pasture

At this time of year livestock may become poisoned from grazing Sudan grass which has been frosted.

The American Foundation for Animal Health, which issued the warning, pointed out that Sudan grass normally is excellent forage. However, when affected by frost, certain chemical changes sometimes occur in the grass, and it develops a content of prussic acid, or hydrocyanic acid. Cane and several other common forage plants can be equally dangerous under some conditions of drought or frosting.

The poison acts quickly, and can kill an animal within a short time after the damaged Sudan grass has been eaten. Symptoms include an appearance of drowsiness, difficult breathing and difficulty in standing. Whether a poisoned animal can be saved depends upon how quickly a veterinarian can get to it. Treatment involves injecting antidotes directly into the blood stream.

Recoveries sometimes seem almost miraculous, the animal getting up and walking about shortly after the administration of the antidote. Such poisoning always occurs as a critical emergency and treatment must be prompt to salvage affected animals.

Sudan grass can also be made poisonous sometimes by the effects of drought or extremely hot weather.

Spring Boars Are Offered

About 75 of the state's top spring purebred boars will be exhibited and sold at the fifth annual boar day scheduled for October 7 on the Michigan State campus, announced M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

This is an all-breed event and all major breeds will be represented, Avery said.

Ed Miller, MSU extension swine specialist, said that exhibitors will show boars in the morning starting at 10:30, with the sale in the afternoon at 1:00.

For the first time this year, blue ribbon boars as selected by each breed's own judge will be auctioned off. Animals not in the blue ribbon group will be sold privately. Previously all boars were sold privately.

All boars will be inspected as they arrive for visual signs of disease and unthrifty animals will be rejected.

Miller indicated that some boars will be "graduates" of the Michigan swine evaluation station and some will be probed for backfat thickness. This information will be available to buyers.

This is a good opportunity for hog men to select a top notch boar, Avery said. Those wishing more information should inquire of Ed Miller, department of animal husbandry at Michigan State.

Boar day is sponsored jointly by the Michigan Swine Breeders' association and Michigan State university cooperative extension service.

Wheat Soil Bank Closes October 4

October 4 is the deadline for farmers to sign up in the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program.

That reminder comes from Charles Beer, extension specialist in agricultural economics at Michigan State university.

This October 4 date is also the last time farmers may change or cancel their agreements.

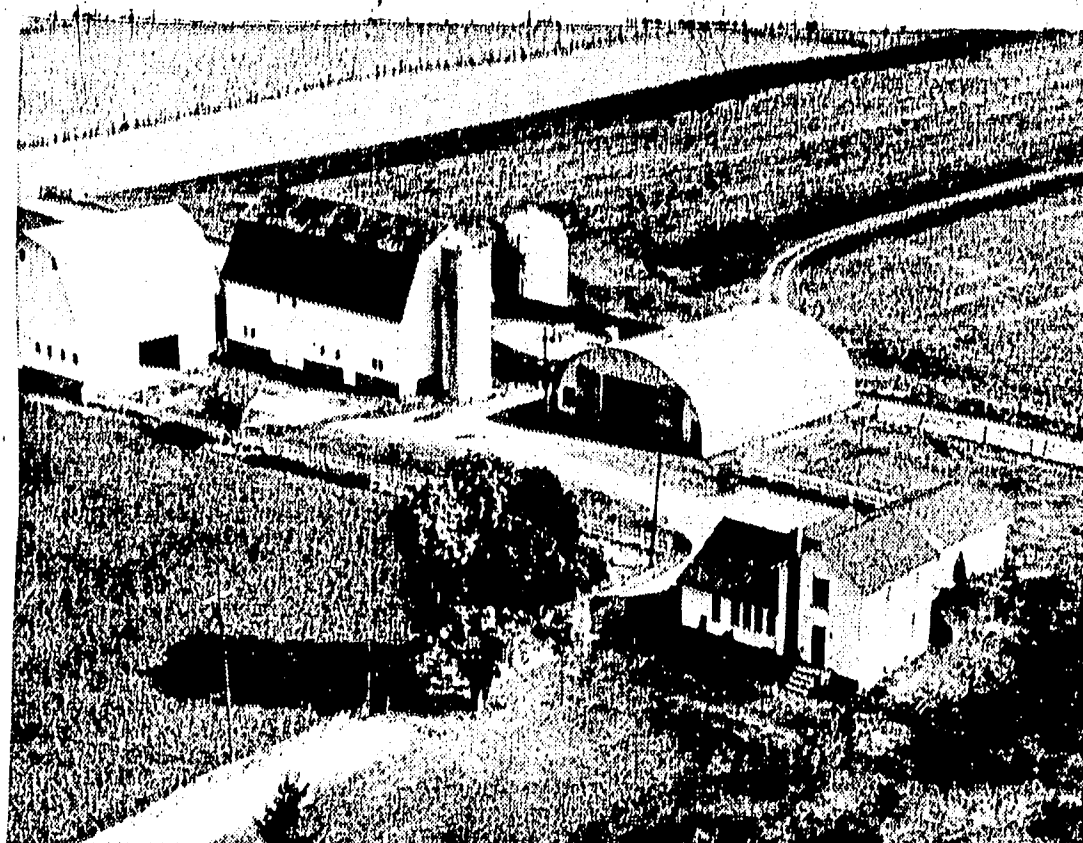

Wise use of the soil bank program fits in with other good farm management techniques, said Beer. County agricultural agents can help farmers decide where the program can best be used on their farms.

According to Beer, any farmer who has an "old farm" wheat allotment for 1958 and who usually produces winter wheat may place wheat allotment acres in the acreage reserve this fall. However, farmers who have wheat allotments for the first time are not eligible to put land in the wheat acreage reserve for 1958.

Farmers should check with their county agricultural stabilization and conservation office for information on eligible land and other benefits, said Beer.

Bibbins Uses Name

Kenneth C. Bibbins has been given the privilege of exclusive use of the name Bib Acres as a herd name in registering his purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle. This prefix name is granted and will be recorded by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

MR. AND MRS. CLIFFORD ALLEN and their 2 sons live on the mystery farm pictured in last week's issue of the Ingham County News. The Allen farm is located between East Columbia and Howell roads at 296 North Clark road.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen are the third generation of Allens to live on this farm. Allen raises beans, wheat, corn and 320 hogs on the farm. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias and both he and his wife are members of the Dansville Methodist church.

According to the rules of the contest the fifth person to correctly identify the mystery farm wins 2 subscriptions to the News. This week's winner was Mrs. Justin Brady, 217 North Lansing, Mason.

The first 4 persons to correctly identify the Allen farm were Bob Lemon, Janice Witt, Betty Swan and Mrs. Ralph Supiran.

New Plastic Covers Silos

Plastic makes a good cover for either upright or trench silos, said M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

The material can make silos air and weather-tight to keep silage from spoiling.

According to Avery, the big thing to consider in using plastic in the cost. Material costs 3c to 5c per square foot and for a medium-sized horizontal it would cost $10 to $60. However, if farmers take care of a plastic sheet, it can be used for more than one year.

Bob Maddex, extension agricultural engineering specialist at Michigan State university, reports that farmers can make a temporary silo by using snow fence to form the sides and using plastic to cover so it will be air tight.

Plastic can also be used to cover permanent horizontal silos as well as upright silos that aren't covered.

Cover the plastic sheet with sawdust or other chopped material to hold it down in place.

Interested persons may get information on where to buy at the county extension office.

The plastic comes in various weights from 2M to 8M (millimeters). The heavier weight will last longer and stand more strain.

The material can be purchased at Michigan Farm Bureau and Martin Block, both in Lansing. Trade names are "Vinyl Plastic" and "Polyethylene Plastic." It can be used as a plastic bag to entire cover a stack of silage.

A demonstration was given at the Martin farm near Charlotte last week.

IBM Shows Milk Yields

Seventeen dairy herds in Ingham county on IBM averaged over 40 lbs of butterfat for August, according to the report from Michigan State university.

The 15 registered Holsteins owned by Robert Hunt were high with 52.7 lb butterfat and 1,395 lb milk.

Other high herds were: Stanley Voss, 20 registered Holsteins, 49.6 lb fat and 1,457 lb milk; and J. H. Chamberlain, 22 registered Holsteins, 1,249 lb milk; L. Foster, 20 grade Holsteins, 1,240 lb milk; and Jerry Jorgenson, 56 grade Holsteins, 1,240 lb milk, all with 46.5 lb fat.

Two herds averaged 43.4 lb fat each—Kenneth Kurtz, 25 grade Holsteins, 1,209 lb milk; and Howard Burgess, 16 registered Holsteins, 1,178 lb milk.

Herds averaging 40.3 lb fat were: Hugh Oosterle & Son, 33 registered Holsteins, 1,085 lb milk; Russell Stover, 63 grade Holsteins, 837 lb milk; Fred Graf, 46 registered Holsteins, 1,085 lb milk; W. C. Wright, 45 registered Holsteins, 1,085 lb milk; Garth Brownlee, 21 registered Gas will form and billow the silage out for a week. After the gas has leaked out, pull the plastic tight and tie. Leave until ready to feed.

If covers are just placed over the top of silage it must be securely fastened down on the sides to keep out and keep air out and keep wind from blowing it off.

Michigan Livestock Exchange will have a special sale of 500 native breeding ewes and native feeder lambs for sale at the stockyards in St. Louis Friday night of this week.

Both ewes and lambs will be sorted into uniform lots of 20 to 50 head according to age and quality.

Authorities on Marketing Will Discuss Livestock

Two men who specialize in livestock feeding and marketing will be in Mason Monday night, September 30, to discuss the situation with farmers. The authorities are Don Stark of the agricultural economics department and Wilton Finley of the animal husbandry department of Michigan State.

The meeting will be in the court house at 8 o'clock.

Stark will discuss the outlook for the purchase of feeder cattle this fall. He works closely with feeders and buyers and studies the market.

Finley will discuss the cost of feeds, the feeding margin and keeping cost down.

Other questions which will be discussed are effect of higher feeders and lower feed costs on the feeding program, returns on steer feeding for 1958 as compared with 1957, time of purchase of feeders, expected feeding margin for the coming season, hogs and lambs as feeders instead of steers and possible surplus of hogs in 1958.

It will be an informal meeting with a chance for questions. M. H. Avery, county agent, urged farmers to attend the informational meeting, and to take their questions to get answers or to stick the experts.

Youngster Gets Prize ABS Calf

Lois Jean Mason is busy with a new project in 4-H, a calf presented to her by Ralph Teeple, a Webberville stock dealer. The calf was presented by George Harris, American Breeders Service inseminator, to Teeple, who gave it to the youngster.

The calf was sired from ABS proved sire Pabst Repride Glen, a gold medal Holstein, and purchased from the herd of R. E. Bills, Mason.

But Watch Out in 1958

Hog Prices Are Leveling This Year

Market specialists generally figure that hog prices for the rest of the year will stay above those of a year ago. But they are getting apprehensive about price troubles in 1958-59. The favorable corn-hog ratio for the past few months has encouraged farmers to hold back more sows for farrowing this fall. A USDA survey in the 10 midwest states that make up the livestock belt shows farmers intend to farrow 74 more sows during the first half of 1958 than they did this year. The survey also showed that 44 more sows will farrow during the current June-November period than a year ago.

The increase in pig output not only has economic implications, it probably means a weakening of hog prices next year. But it also may be of political significance. The Republican leadership doesn't want low hog prices about election time in 1958. The GOP strategists figure the going may be rough enough in the midwest farm area without having to huck the dissatisfaction of midwest hog producers.

An interesting angle in the hog situation is that cold storage holdings of pork this month are the smallest on record for September. The meat packing industry apparently doesn't want to keep back pork that has come from relatively high-priced hogs when there's a good possibility they can load up storages in the next few months with less costly pork products.

Winter wheat growers aren't showing as much interest in the soil bank as they did a year ago. Through September 13, winter wheat farmers signed agreements to hold only 1.5 million acres of their 1958 allotments out of production under the program, compared with 4.25 million a year ago at the same date. A limitation of $3,000 on payments to individual farmers, as set up by congress in the 1958 program, is claimed by USDA officials to be a major discouraging factor.

It won't be long now before the corn pickers hum through the fields. Never forget for a minute that the corn picker is the most lethal piece of machinery on the farm. Statistics show that 3 out of 4 injuries suffered from corn pickers result in permanent injuries. Three in 100 are fatal. Hands and arms are injured most frequently. Over half the injured persons are under 40, nearly one in 10 is under 20. By age groups, the range from 40 to 49 years suffer the most corn picker accidents that occurred around pickers.

Don't try to make any adjustments on the picker while any parts are moving. Shut the thing off completely before you get your hands close enough to get caught. Don't try to save a few seconds by not taking the simplest precautions. Shut the thing off before you try to make any adjustments around the moving parts.

Every year a good friend of mine who is an orthopedic surgeon asks me to remind farmers to be careful at corn picking time. He says what comes out of the picker when a farmer gets caught is about the toughest injury there is to repair. A shredded arm doesn't leave a doctor much to work with.

Wonder what the government will do with all the grain sorghums being raised this year? The September crop report showed 1958 production at 481 million bushels. There aren't any acreage compliance restrictions on this crop so all of it would be eligible for a CCC loan at $1.02 a bushel. Last year 181 million bushels were used domestically, 20 million bushels were exported. Looks like a total supply this year, including an estimated 85 million-bushel carry-over from 1957, of around 566 million bushels. Perhaps as much as 300 million bushels can be used one way or another, then it looks like CCC will get the rest. The big grain sorghum crop probably will cause USDA some storage headaches a few months from now.

The Union of South Africa is setting up a soil bank program somewhat like ours. Purpose of the African plan is to check deterioration of soil fertility and cut down surplus crop production. Under the African plan the government will pay subsidies to farmers for establishing grass on crop land and will make loans to farmers for purchases of livestock to eat the grass.

Farm leaders expect USDA to reduce price supports for dairy products next April 1. Purpose of change would be to trim output and cut down CCC purchases under price support law. Disposing of dairy surpluses by CCC has been an expensive deal. To date, losses on inventory sold and given away total $1.3 billion—only 5% less than losses on all basics combined.

MISCELLANY . . . Michigan's potato crop this year will be off 19% from 1956, according to the September crop report . . . 1957 acreage is 4% less than planted in 1956, 28% under 1949-55 average . . . The 1957 price support program for corn includes a one cent a bushel premium for corn with a moisture content of 13.5 or less and a cent a bushel premium for corn with less than 2% cracked corn or foreign material . . . Corn produced on farms not complying with acreage allotments in 1957 will be supported at $1.10 a bushel. National rate for corn grown on farms staying within acreage allotments will be not less than $1.36. Idea back of supporting non-allotment corn is to bolster feed prices to discourage increase in hog output. It's estimated that about 1.5 billion bushels of 1957-crop corn not heretofore eligible for price support will now be under the $1.10 price prop.

Country & Town

Last cruise on the ferry

By JIM BROWN

This John C. Mackie gets things done. In the state highway commissioner's chair for just a few weeks and already the Mackinac bridge is almost completed. I had a fish-eye view of the 8-mile wonder of the world last week end along with son Tim and Bill Thorburn, fellow Canadian lumberjacks. We were heading north to a spot we call our own on St. Joseph Island in North Channel.

We were enroute across the Straits when the captain of the ship (they're not boats unless you row 'em) up and banked the craft towards the bridge. The ship criss-crossed beneath the huge structure and had my arm been long enough, I could have written Kilroy right down there next to the waterline.

U. S. Steel has proudly erected signs on each side of the bridge noting the fact that the company provided the steel. My glasses were misty, but someone said the sign says, "We Guarantee Our Work."

Folks who begin using the bridge within a few weeks will be happy to learn of this, we thought.

Upper Peninsula folks who were anxious for the Straits bridge to be built aren't as excited about the proposed international bridge linking the States and Canada at the Soo. Canadians, eager for a bridge across the St. Marys to take advantage of the new Straits bridge, are generally having to go it alone.

Increased tourist business in the north country has brought about many changes and more alterations are coming. There are several ways to lure tourist dollars. One is the easy way—the natural way. Beauty perfected by Mother Nature falls in this classification. The Michigan lakes, sandy beaches, beautiful scenery, fishing and hunting facilities and mountain drives are what the experts call natural attractions.

And where the natural attractions are few and far, the man-made attractions sprout up. Along US-27 are forest caves built by promoters, museums and Indian villages where there are no Indians and frontier forts where there never was anything to defend. Michigan doesn't need many, if any, of these man-made gimmicks.

Already, the state's central trunkline is lined with many junky tourist traps that discredit the natural beauty which abounds in the state. Michigan needs good accommodations for all tourists. That's all. Michigan, the Water Wonderland, can do the rest.

Canadian Capers sidetracks: There's no sales tax nor federal tax on phone calls made in Canada . . . High schools and elementary schools on St. Joseph Island, Canada, burn wood, and teachers and older children help stoke the fires . . . Elementary youngsters learn both English and French . . . A yearly property tax on St. Joseph entitles taxpayer and family to free hospital and doctor services at the local hospital . . . Don't worry about the 5% devaluation of the U. S. dollar in Canada . . . What you lose on the money exchange, you make up in the lower Canadian prices . . . Vacations are called holidays in Canada . . . Canadians use the word "dear" as we would use words "expensive" or "steep" . . . Our grandparents talked that way . . . Canadians and Upper Michigan folks are expecting big things from the Mackinac bridge. Traffic into the UP is expected to double in the next year alone.

Experts Urge Herd Testing

Dairymen interested in getting into a herd testing group should sign up by October 1. October is the first month of the year for IBM tabulation of records.

According to Don Murray, Michigan State university extension dairy specialist, dairymen can choose one of three types of records. They are Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA), owner-sampler, and weigh-a-day-a-month.

DHIA provides a complete official herd record. It includes animal identification, sire proofs, production of milk and fat, feed consumed, income over feed cost and summaries for herd analysis. An association fieldman does the testing.

Owner-sampler also provides a complete production record, but records are for the herd owner only. They are not official because the herd owner does the weighing and sampling.

The third type—weigh-a-day-a-month—provides a milk production record on a monthly basis. Milk weights are taken once a month and sent in to the county extension office.

Any one of the plans will help dairymen improve their herds, says Murray.

Contact your county agricultural extension agent and make arrangements for signing up in one of the plans by October 1.

Milk Trucks Win National Honors

Michigan Milk Producers association won the 28th annual maintenance efficiency award over company fleets from all of United States and Canada.

The award is presented each year by Fleet Owner, a national trucking magazine.

Over 500 fleet operators participated in the competition. Judges cited the dependability and efficiency of Michigan Milk Producer trucks and its salvage and repair operations. Other features which the MMPA scored high on were the number of miles of fleet operation per truck failure, the cost of maintenance per mile traveled and the general excellence of shop facilities.

Give according to your means, or God will make your means according to your giving.—John 3:16.

State Will Sell 3 Holstein Herds

Sale of approximately 400 head of high quality registered Holstein cattle now in state institutional farms will be made late in October and early in December at 3 state institutions.

The 1957 legislature decided that all dairy herds owned by state mental hospitals with the exception of the Ionia state hospital, should be sold before 1960. The forthcoming sales are caused by this decision, making it possible for dairymen to buy some of the best cattle that institutions have developed.

Some animals from bloodlines with exceptional production records will be offered, according to the Michigan department of agriculture which has charge of sales.

All animals are brucellosis-tested and many are vaccinated and are tuberculin-tested and accredited.

The place, time and offerings of registered Holsteins at the forthcoming sales are: Coldwater State Home & Training school, 11 a. m., October 24, 90 heifers and 5 service age bulls; Lapeer State Home and Training school; 10 a. m., October 30, 120 head, about 30 cows, 3 young bulls, several springing heifers; Traverse City State hospital, noon, December 11 and 12, 90 milking cows, 100 heifers and 5 bulls.

United States postage stamps were first placed on sale July 1, 1847.

Our Businessmen on the Farm

One of the wonderful things about doing business in a farming community, such as Mason is that most store customers are actually businessmen themselves! Yes, farmers, who represent a large segment of Mason customers, know the problems of business for they, too, are businessmen. They know the tax problems, the law of supply and demand—and what's more they must endure the sobering effects of weather conditions. Yes, it's a pleasure for merchants to have the confidence of such customers and in that spirit we have dedicated our methods of doing business. The following merchants collectively reach across the counter to congratulate fellow farmer-businessmen. You, especially, are welcome in Mason always!

Corn Field Day at Mason May Attract 800 Farmers

More than 800 farmers are expected to attend the area corn field day at the Carlyle Waltz farm at Mason October 8.

A county committee is completing final plans for the event. The committee are Carlyle Waltz, Richard Cheney, Larry Tripp, Leon Alger, Francis Platt, Dick Nelson and M. H. Avery.

Representatives of the soils, crops and ag engineering departments of Michigan State university planned and planted the plots. They will help harvest and assist at the corn day. County agents from neighboring counties will also assist with explanation of experimental plots.

At 9:30 there will be tours of the demonstration plots. Pointed out to those who take the trip will be fertilizing, varieties of corn, spacing, tillage methods, chemical weed control, speed of planting and population of plants.

Grange Opposes Army Dam Plan

Soil conservation leaders believe that the solution to downstream flood control is soil erosion control practices on farms, including small watershed dams. The Grange agrees.

This view is at odds with army engineers, who believe that large dams are the answer. Soil conservation leaders reply that these large dams collect silt and rapidly become useless.

"Big dam" advocates have recently sought approval for a million dollar dam on Cornplanter Indian reservation above Warren, Pennsylvania. The dam would be the largest in the eastern United States. Many experts believe it to be much more expensive and much less effective than upstream small watershed flood control.

Furthermore, the dam would displace a large number of Seneca Indians from land to which they were given title forever by a treaty with the United States in 1794.

There will also be an exhibit of corn harvesting equipment. Scheduled at 10:30 is a corn drying demonstration.

At noon women from Mason Methodist church will serve lunches.

The famous "Jughead" tractor safety demonstration is on the program for the lunch hour, and then will come the corn picking demonstration at 1:30 and a corn shelling demonstration.

There will be many types of machinery and equipment on display during the day.

Republicans Leave Door Wide Open

By ELMER E. WHITE

Michigan Press Association
Republicans are looking for a carload of candidates for governor.

The party made motions to ward the "Big Switch" at a Mackinac Island rally of leaders originally expected to designate one or two potential candidates.

When the questions came, John B. Martin, Jr., of Grand Rapids—once a Republican auditor general and later candidate for other posts—sizzled.

"If you mean when are a few men going to select the party's candidate for 1958, never," he snapped.

Martin is the Republican national committeeman and the organizer of the Mackinac Island meeting. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield did not attend.

Martin's election to the top party organization position was seen as a rebuff to Summerfield's leadership of the past.

Party speculators figure House Speaker George M. Van Pelt, a young Zeeland lawyer, might be the choice to run against the Democrat. Everybody is convinced it will be Gov. Williams. Rep. George Salade of Ann Arbor is an announced hopeful. There are others, none of whom have gotten enough of a nod to rise above the others.

Van Pelt was handed a summer speaking tour on behalf of the Republican legislature. He turned the job over to others when his voice gave out, and the campaign has been quiet since.

Williams, meantime, has the advantage of incumbency and the element of surprise working for him. He doesn't have to announce what he's going to do next year.

But both now are that Williams will go for another term as governor, with Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart opposing Charles Potter for the U. S. senate.

Potter, whose strength next year will depend, in part, on the strength of the party organization and its candidate for governor, sides with Martin's idea.

He opposes the idea of picking a gubernatorial candidate now. It has been done in the past and Republicans have lost, taking nothing away from Williams.

The late Mayor Albert E. Cobb of Detroit was drafted, Donald

S. Leonard was a front-runner from the start 2 years before.

Fred Alger was handpicked before Leonard and Harry P. Kelly, now on the Michigan supreme court, was recalled in 1950 after the Kim Sigler defeat to Williams.

Kelly had won before, had served as governor, and was the No. 1 vote-getter. He lost.

This time, Republicans contend, the push should be toward a young man who has never lost an election, one the party can unite behind.

Maybe the switch will work—nothing else has in the past decade.

The next general election will be held November 4, 1958.

Whether there will be another telephone rate increase this year is in the hands of the Michigan public service commission.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has asked for a re-hearing of its original request for a $125,000, 000 boost, after the commission approved $2,835,000 several weeks ago.

William M. Day, company president, said the increases fell far short of the needs of the company to expand and improve its services.

Efforts are being made again to sell state-owned property under the Great Lakes to private citizens.

The property was dedicated more than half a century ago to be reserved for hunting and fishing and other recreational activities.

Private developers have filled in parts of the lake near the shore for their own purposes. The state, still working under the FURROW QUEEN—Ann D. Lane, 16, reigned as "Queen of the Furrow" at the 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Pleading Matches at Peebles, Ohio. The lovely lass from Delta lives on a 160-acre farm and has been active in 4-H activities for four years. She won her title in competition with more than 1,000 farm girls.

You often find yourself confronted with legal problems when you least expect them. Sometimes you don't even know they're legal problems. It is a little bit easier in other aspects of living. When you have a pain you know it is time to see a doctor. When you want to build a building you see an architect, and if your faucet starts to drip, you know that something should be done about getting a plumber.

But when you have a legal problem you may not recognize it as such, or you may not even know it exists until it has gone past the time when you should have seen a lawyer. That is one of the reasons why lawyers or organizations are offering to their members and through their members to the public, a new and very valuable legal service. It is called the annual legal check-up.

The annual legal check-up is in the legal field just like the annual physical check-up is in the medical field. You go to a doctor to have him appraise your physical situation and likewise you go to a lawyer to have him look over your legal situation.

I am going to write a whole column on the annual legal check-up one of these weeks, but in the meantime I have a legal situation of my own. I need your help to tell me what you want to read about.
