

Registration Deadline Nears on Bond Voting

This article is one of a series written by Mayor Paul D. Richards about Mason's sewerage and water system needs. In next week's article he will attempt to answer any questions about the proposed system and the financing.

Voters not now properly registered have until next Monday, October 7, to register and thus qualify to vote on Mason's proposed $300,000 bond issue on November 5.

Harry Spenny, city clerk, will receive registrations at the clerk's office until 8 o'clock next Monday night. He will assist or advise persons on their registration status. The office will be closed at noon Saturday for the rest of the day.

Under the provisions of the city charter, only qualified electors who have property assessed for taxes in Mason, or the lawful husbands or wives of such persons, shall be entitled to vote at the special election. The general obligation bonds may be issued only with the approval of at least 60% of the electors voting on the bond issue.

The city council is seeking the will of the people of Mason in this matter. All qualified electors have the right as well as the responsibility to express their decisions by ballot on November 5.

An affirmative vote by 60% or more of those voting at the special election will authorize the city council to proceed with the sale of general obligation bonds. Advertising for bids for the construction of the new sewage disposal plant, and the awarding of contracts will follow. Construction of the new sewage disposal plant will be started early in 1958 and completed by the summer of 1959.

The city council would have to abandon present plans for the correction of Mason's water and sewage problems if the affirmative vote at the special election falls below 60% of the electors voting. The program cannot be carried through without the issuance of general obligation bonds. The Michigan department of health has indicated that a court order to force the construction of the new sewage disposal plant would then be sought.

Failure to approve the bond issue would also make it impossible for the city to construct new sanitary sewers. New sanitary sewers can be installed only after permission has been received from the Michigan department of health. The health department will refuse to grant permission for the installation of any new sanitary sewers in Mason until a disposal plant is built which can properly treat the sewage.

Pertinent questions and answers will be printed in the next article. Questions may be submitted to the mayor or left at the city hall, or at the office of the Ingham County News. An attempt will be made to present clear and concise answers.

It was erroneously stated in the last article that a 12% increase in water and sewer rates would raise a $10.00 bill to $10.40. Actually, a $10.00 quarterly water and sewer bill would be increased to $11.20.

State Hospital Walkaway Takes to the Saddle Again

Jerry Pratt, 16, who walked away from Traverse City state hospital September 7, had a long ride on horseback before he was taken back Tuesday.

Pratt (without asking) borrowed a horse from Harold Lantis, Stockbridge, Saturday night. He rode it to the Earl Jones farm on Gale road, Onondaga, Sunday, trading the Lantis horse to Jones. Monday at Albion, Calhoun county deputies took Pratt into custody. He had the Lantis saddle on the Jones horse.

Both Lantis and Jones recovered their steeds. Jones was reluctant to get his horse back. He said the horse is hard to handle and when Pratt rode up on his lathered horse Jones was easily persuaded to trade. Jones said Pratt quickly saddled the fractious horse and rode away.

At Albion the rider gave his name as Johnny Morningstar, but Deputy Joe Southwell of Stockbridge identified the boy as Pratt.

With the finding of Pratt the disappearance of chickens from the Vincent Heeneey farm in Bunker Hill was cleared up. The Pratt boy once stayed with the James Zeitz family at 2224

Alchin Heads ASC Board

George H. Alchin of Leroy township again heads the Ingham agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

Delegates chosen in township balloting re-elected Alchin for a third term at the county convention in Mason Monday. They re-elected Harold Lockwood of Williamston to his second year as vice-chairman, and chose Harold Spink of Delhi as third member.

Spink has served on his township committee for years. It is his first term on the county committee.

Arthur Fogg, Leslie, who was third member of the committee, was named first alternate, and Ludell Cheney, Vevay, was re-elected second alternate.

Thirteen of the 15 township delegates participated in the convention voting.

Members of the new committee assumed office Tuesday. The old committee met for the last time Monday night.

The new committee has a meeting scheduled for Monday afternoon at 1.

Legion Leader Deplores Apathy

Andrew Templeton, American Legion department chairman for membership, lashed out at the indifference toward patriotism when he spoke at the sixth district Legion meeting in Mason Sunday afternoon. Templeton declared it is up to the American Legion to fight indifference at every point. He suggested that individual posts counteract indifference by patriotism by setting good examples of citizenship and by instructing young people in the proper respect for United States patriotic symbols.

Templeton and other departmental officers and officers of Browne-Cavender post of Mason spoke before 100 delegates at the district meeting. Women of the sixth district auxiliary also joined for the day to discuss future plans. Both men and women of the Browne-Cavender post provided a buffet dinner.

The annual session is intended to provide a re-appraisal of Legion objectives, according to Clyde B. Smith, sixth district committeeman.

Trailer Disposal Trails Proposal

In the want ads this week is an ad that can be set to music, possibly to Lohengrin's wedding march.

The bride-elect has a trailer, but doesn't need it anymore because she met "the swellest guy." The lyrics are under the heading of "Trailers," Page 6, this section.

School Addition Opening Lags

Workmen on the 6-room addition to Cedar Street school are still several weeks from completing the job, James Vander Ven, superintendent of schools, reported at a board meeting Wednesday night. The addition, contracted to be completed in time for the opening of school in September, is now expected to be ready for youngsters by Thanksgiving, he said.

First graders at Cedar Street school have been on a half-day schedule.

Plasterers are completing the first coat of plaster in the addition. After that, the rooms must be decorated, floors laid, and equipment installed.

Vandals Damage 3 Rural Schools

Nichols and Wilcox schools of the Mason system and the Ferris school in Onondaga were damaged by vandals Sunday night.

Sheriff's officers said they believed the same vandals raided all 3 schools. They smashed windows, littered some of the rooms with corn cobs and tossed small equipment around.

Road Officials Inspect Program

Ingham highway officials and members of the road and bridge committee of the supervisors know what's been done on highways this year. And what will probably be done next year. They completed their annual tour of the Ingham highway system Wednesday.

On the 2-day tour were Commissioners L. D. Dunkel, Roy B. Moore and Ward Vicary, Engineer Frank K. Evans and other key men of the commission staff, and Supervisors Phillip Mills, Raymond A. Wilcox, Fred L. Kircher, Max E. Murnighan and Charles S. Woods of the road and bridge committee and Earl W. Leeman, chairman of the board.

Tuesday the group toured the south and central parts of the county, with a luncheon stop at Mason Manor. On Wednesday the suburban area was visited with a luncheon stop in Williamston.

There was a stop at the site of the new Waverly bridge across the Grand at the VFW home Tuesday and other stops at the treated timber bridge on Base Line road across East Onondaga creek and the new US-127 bridge over New York Central tracks and Huntton creek.

There was a stop Wednesday to see operations on Mt. Hope where the county is placing a new bituminous concrete surface.

Boy Friend's Jeep Becomes a Heap

In a heap at Nichols and Aurelius roads Wednesday night was all that a girl friend had left of a boy friend's car.

According to Sgt. Ralph Smith of the sheriff's department, Sandra E. Bogart, 16, of Lansing had cleaned her boy friend's car. It looked so nice she invited a friend, Janet Pelletier, 15, Lansing, to go for a spin. They went south on Aurelius road. When they reached the road repair sign the Bogart girl applied the brakes, forgetting that her boy friend had warned her they were out of order. One wheel skidded, the other 3 kept rolling for 165 feet. Then all 4 skidded for another 100 feet and overturned.

The girls were taken to a Lansing hospital. The driver had a few bruises. Her passenger had broken or bent ribs. Officers pressed the driver with 2 tickets, one for driving on a restricted license without an adult as a passenger, and the other for driving too fast for highway conditions. She said she was driving 50 miles per hour.

Judge Asks Youth Guidance Standards

Judge Robert L. Drake recognizes the need for a measuring stick parents can use for behavior of their children. Night hours, car privileges and dating for boys and girls of junior and senior high schools require serious consideration, the judge says.

He has appointed a committee and members of it are meeting with the judge in Lansing Thursday.

On the committee are Chief Charles Pegg of the East Lansing police department, Vern Williams of Lansing public schools, Lt. Clarissa Young of the Lansing police department youth bureau and Warren Ritter, counselor in juvenile court. They are going to attempt to work out degrees of standards. They insist that they have no intention of invading the prerogatives of parents or assuming responsibilities which belong to parents.

"Those serving in youth agencies," the judge said, "are repeatedly confronted with difficulties arising when parents are too strict or not strict enough. Often parents who want to be fair lack knowledge of standards to determine what privileges should be sonably be given young people of a given age. This committee will deal with standards."

The committee is preparing a questionnaire for parents. They'll be asked questions about night hour restrictions imposed on school nights and week end nights, desirability of a curfew and car and dating privileges.

Postal Changes Come Saturday

Postmasters and carriers in Mason, Okemos, East Lansing and Lansing are urging patrons in the area between Mason and Okemos to notify correspondents and publishers of address changes. A big change comes Saturday.

Okemos is going to have a third route. It will serve some of Lansing and East Lansing routes and part of Mason 4. Some of those on Mason 4 will be shifted to Mason 3.

Lansing Route 2 is being discontinued with patrons shifted to Okemos and East Lansing.

Ingham County News subscribers need not notify the publishers. The list of changes has been provided by postal authorities.

School Executive Serves on Panel

Alton J. Stroud, Ingham county school superintendent, was a member of a panel before the State Helping Teachers association meeting at Western Michigan university, Kalamazoo, Monday.

Others on the panel were Lyle Torrant, Jackson; Alfred Bradford, Kalamazoo; and Lynn Clark, Kent; all county superintendents. Dr. William McKinley Robinson of Western Michigan was moderator.

The panel discussed the changing role of the intermediate unit, as county school boards are now designated.

Regional Planning Board Hires Executive Director

Sanford S. Farness of Ann Arbor is the man Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties are relying upon to carry out directives of the Tri-County Regional planning commission.

The commission has been set up by the 3 counties to map plans for industrial, highway and drain developments in the area surrounding Lansing.

Farness is expected to assume his duties about November 15. Offices are now in the Lansing Civic Center.

The commission is operated through public funds provided by the 3 counties. Ingham will contribute $20,000 next year. The sum is based upon each county's state assessed valuation.

Farness studied at the University of Wisconsin and Harvard after graduating from high school at De Forest, Wisconsin. At Harvard he received degrees in city and regional planning. He has been director of the Washtenaw

Shot from Gun Kills Holt Boy

Handling shotguns resulted in tragedy at Holt Tuesday afternoon.

Michael Groh, 13, is dead, killed by a charge from a .410 shotgun accidentally fired by his pal, Rodney Bordner, 14.

The boys were at the Bordner home, 4636 Krental. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bordner, were absent. The boys went to the bedroom to inspect the father's shotguns in a rack. The Groh boy then walked into the living room. The Bordner boy picked up a .410 bolt-action gun and shoved the bolt home, not realizing that the closing of the bolt carried a shell into the chamber. He took the gun to the living room, he told officers. As he was about to show his friend how the magazine looked his finger accidentally touched the trigger and the gun discharged.

Michael had been standing near the door. He staggered out the door to the porch and into the driveway, collapsing and dying there. He received the charge in his chest.

The 2 boys were close friends, both members of the freshman class in Holt high school and of the same Boy Scout troop. Before going to the Bordner home the boys had been looking at a gun at the Groh home, 2185 Coolidge road.

The shooting victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groh. Besides the parents he is survived by a sister, Judy; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Groh of Stockbridge and Mrs. Ada Farr of Holt; and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Reuben Hauke, Holt.

Funeral services will be in Holt Presbyterian church Friday at 2 p.m. Rev. Vernon Smith officiating. Burial will be in Maple Ridge. The body will be at the Estey-Leadley funeral home in Holt until Friday noon.

Jury Acquits Driver in Fatal Crash . . . DeZeeuw Case Closed

Jacob DeZeeuw of Kalamazoo was acquitted Tuesday of negligent homicide in the traffic death of Ronald Strickling March 1 of this year.

A jury in circuit court in Lansing returned the verdict after 2 days of hearing testimony and arguments and after deliberating a half hour.

Ronald Strickling, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Strickling of Aurelius, was the victim in the accident. He and 2 companions were riding their bicycles on West Columbia, going home from school.

The case had been followed closely by neighbors in Aurelius township where the accident happened and drew more letters to the editor than any other incident in the history of the Ingham County News. The trial was conducted in Lansing, before Judge Louis E. Coash.

DeZeeuw was bound over to circuit court for trial April 16 after examination before Paul R. Luck, Meridian justice of the peace. Eugene Field of Kalamazoo was DeZeeuw's lawyer. Ingham Prosecutor Jack Warren and Howard McCowan, assistant prosecutor, represented the people at the trial.

DeZeeuw's car struck the Strickling boy as he and Dean Peters and David Campbell were riding home from the Bullen school. The boys and DeZeeuw were all going west on Columbia.

Twenty-five jurors were called before a jury satisfactory to both the prosecution and defense was sworn. Field had previously declared the impossibility of obtaining a fair trial for his client in Ingham county because of biased jurors, and had asked and been denied a change of venue.

Witnesses for the people were the 2 boys, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Smith, Captain Versie Babcock, Deputy Charles Chapman, Dean Avery, George Bullen, Dr. Jack J. Williams and Dr. Gordon Shee-

Testimony of the boys was indefinite and at times, as pointed out by attorneys, contradictory to their testimony at the examination. The Campbell boy was brought back from Plant City, Florida, where he now lives, to testify. He and the Peters boy were the only eye witnesses.

Both boys testified that they previously had been making circling movements with their bicycles and David admitted circling at least once when another, oncoming car was in sight. Both boys stated that Ronnie Strickling had turned into the path of DeZeeuw's car. David said he had yelled 2 warnings and Dean testified to hearing them.

At the preliminary examination both boys testified that DeZeeuw did not notice the boys on their bikes and that he could not have been driving over 50. Monday the Campbell boy's testimony was that DeZeeuw had said, "I saw the 3 boys but I didn't think they were going to turn out."

On the stand Captain Babcock introduced statistics regarding skid marks and their location on the blacktop. From them attorneys computed the location of DeZeeuw's car on the road at the beginning of the skid as almost completely in the left traffic lane.

Dr. Williams, a surgeon at University hospital, Ann Arbor, testified as to the cause of the boy's death. The boy died at the hospital the morning after the accident.

Avery, a neighbor of the Stricklings, testified that he and 3 other neighbors, George Bullen, Clare Swift and Bernard Fellows, along with the boy's father, Cletus Strickling, had taken measurements of skid marks and width of the highway.

Dr. Sheeche, director of the highway traffic safety center at East Lansing, explained to the jury tests made on April 13 in order to figure the speed of DeZeeuw's car when he applied his brakes. Through what is called the square law principle accepted by traffic experts, Sheeche computed the speed as a minimum of 49 miles per hour.

After denial of a motion by the defense for a directed verdict of not guilty by the judge, Field presented DeZeeuw as his only defense witness. The man, a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. executive, testified that he had not been drinking and that he had had sufficient sleep the previous night.

According to DeZeeuw's testimony, he saw the boys when he was about a half-mile behind them on the road. At that time, he said, they were riding more or less in single file, well on the right side of the pavement. They all looked back and saw him, he asserted. He did not sound his horn, he said, because they all saw him and he thought the horn would unduly startle them.

He pulled his car into the left traffic lane to be safe, DeZeeuw said, when the Strickling boy started a U-turn into the left lane. The boy was completing the circle and heading back to the right side of the pavement when his car hit the boy, in spite of his frantic effort to swing further left and off the road, DeZeeuw testified.

The prosecution claimed that DeZeeuw was guilty of negligence because he had just passed a school, was driving in a hilly area and that, in spite of seeing the boys ahead riding on bicycles, he continued his speed, without sounding his horn.

In his last plea to the jury Field pointed out that testimony indicated all 3 boys saw DeZeeuw's car coming behind them, that the boys were 12 and 13, or almost grown, and that as operators of vehicles on the highway they had assumed responsibility. He claimed that the Michigan law does not specifically require sounding the horn when passing.

In charging the jury before they retired to consider the verdict, Judge Coash pointed out that it was up to them to decide whether or not in this instance failure to sound the horn constituted negligence. He also said that contributory negligence, or any negligence of Ronnie, was to be considered. Slight negligence on the part of the defendant is not actionable, he said.

Thirty minutes later the jury returned its verdict of not guilty.

Fewer Farmers Sign on Wheat

Fewer Ingham farmers plan to place wheat acreage in the soil bank reserve next year. At least, indications pointed that way Thursday with just one day remaining for sign-up. The deadline is Friday at 4:30.

Last year 321 Ingham farmers signed applications for payments under the wheat acreage reserve program. The total stood at 230 Thursday morning.

Many farmers who summer-fallowed wheat acreage reserve land this year believe they can make more on a crop than by summer-fallowing for the second year, said William Crampton, ASC office manager.

This year the average per acre payment on wheat land in the reserve was $34.41. If farmers place in the same land in the reserve for next year they'll get an additional 10%.

Ingham School Enrollments Keep Right on Increasing

More people with more children mean more youngsters swarming into schools.

Ingham schools this year are 1,400 more pupils than last.

While the greatest increase are in the Lansing suburban schools, there is growth in all sections of the county. Lansing city school figures showed a slight increase, with the fringe areas getting the big growth. Haslett and Okemos enrollments have spurred.

Enrolled in Ingham public schools are 41,703. Last year the total was 40,364.

In addition to children in public schools, there are 4,793 in parochial and private schools. There are 3,923 in Lansing Roman Catholic schools, 115 in Lansing Christian, 578 in East Lansing St. Thomas, 90 in Mason St. James and 87 in SS. Cyprilian and Cornelius, Bunker Hill. There is also Our Savior Lutheran school in Pleasant Grove with an enrollment yet unreported.

Of the 41,762 in Ingham public schools, 21,100 are in Lansing. Other totals are: East Lansing, 2,564; Mason, 2,249; Holt, 1,779; Stockbridge, 1,700; Okemos, 1,464; Haslett, 1,211; Williamston, 1,068; Leslie, 1,066; Dansville, 619; and Webberville, 569.

Lansing suburban schools, according to figures from the office of Alton J. Stroud, county superintendent, have these enrollments: Forest Road, 280; Maple Grove, 662; Marble, 542; Meridian No. 7, 331; North, 662; Northwestern, 453; Pleasant Grove, 1,096; Stoner, 459; Horsebrook, 175; Windemere, 589. There are 840 in one-teacher schools and 281 in other small schools.

Dansville News Aggies Down Blackhawks 26-0

Dansville Aggies opened league competition with a surprise win over Leslie 26-0 on the home field Friday afternoon.

Coach Capper's Aggies got underway in the second quarter by completing 2 passes that hit pay dirt. Early in the quarter Jim Breslin hit Glen Wireman for a 10-yard touchdown play. Ed Bearse passed to Dick Lampman in the closing seconds for a 65-yard play and a touchdown.

The Aggies scored twice in the second half, once in the third quarter when Gordon Ries ran 19 yards to score and in the final period when Ralph Oakley scored from the 2-yard line. Ries kicked one conversion and Bearse passed to Wireman for another.

The Aggies will travel to Williamston for a night game Friday.

Adult Class Planned

Vincent Carlen has scheduled a meeting at the Dansville school for Monday evening, October 7, at 7 p. m. for the purpose of organizing an industrial arts class to be conducted weekly at the school. The class is open to both men and women. The areas of instruction will be determined by the interest shown by members of the group. Anyone interested in enrolling in the class is asked to attend the meeting at the school Monday evening.

Sixty Attend Game

Sixty Dansville FFA boys, FHA girls and football players attended the Michigan State-Indiana football game at East Lansing Saturday. They were accompanied by Garrett Wheaton, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Briggs, Francis Capper and G. E. Manning.

Kiwanis Sponsors Sale

By Mrs. Al Knoll

The Kiwanis club of the Haslet-Okemos area had a rose sale last Wednesday evening. Net proceeds of the sale are to be used to finance the underprivileged children's projects. During the past year they have sent a handicapped child to a private school, paid for 2 eye examinations, bought a pair of prescription ground glasses, and built a room on the grandparents' small house for the child.

Mrs. Martha Knoll of Indian Hills and the Spartan Supperette spent the past week visiting her brother, Jose, and mother in Pontiac.

The annual chicken supper at Wheatfield Grange is Saturday evening, October 12, with serving beginning at 6 and continuing until all are served. The usual bazaar of baked goods, Christmas ideas and other articles will be on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brickner of Ottawa Hills returned home after visiting their son, Wayne, in Lexington, Kentucky.

Robert Weinstein of Ottawa Hills is recuperating at home after an operation for cataracts.

Clarence Rinehart, 61, of East Lansing and Okemos, died last Tuesday. Funeral services were held Friday at Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing.

E. E. Kinney of Kindale, who was retired last year at Michigan State university, has been requested to return for a month before his departure for Florida where he and his wife will remain all winter.

The Okemos School District Civic association had an open meeting on Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Meridian township hall.

THE WEATHER

Perfect Days

Cool nights, some a little below freezing, and warm wonderful days characterized the end of September. No rain fell during the past week, according to weathermen at the Mason disposal plant.

Average temperature for the week was 48 degrees, 10 degrees cooler than the average of a year ago.

Daily temperatures reported at the plant were as follows:

	Low	High
September 26	26	58
September 27	26	60

Stockbridge Druggist Sells Store

Things aren't the same in Stockbridge.

Alden W. Brown, who has served the community as druggist for 62 years, has disposed of his business and retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bollman of Eaton Rapids and John C. Willmore of the Brown store staff are the new owners. The business changed hands October 1.

Alden W. Brown started work as a registered pharmacist for

C. E. DePuy July 5, 1895, at a salary of $9 a week. Two years later he was made a partner, the business being known as DePuy & Brown. The partnership continued until 1910 when Brown became sole owner, operating as The A. W. Brown Co. He continued until October 1. He has been dean of Stockbridge retailers. With his retirement there is none of the old generation remaining in business.

The young druggist went to Stockbridge directly from the pharmacy department of Ferris Institute at Big Rapids. He was the first and only pharmacy student in 1894 and 1895. Since then the Ferris pharmacy school has grown to become the largest pharmacy school in Michigan.

The retiring Stockbridge druggist finished more than 65 years in the retail drug business upon his retirement Monday night. He received citations for 50 years of service from Ferris Institute and the Michigan state board of pharmacy and had a big start on a 75-year award.

"I am retiring reluctantly," the Stockbridge druggist said, "I'm almost 82 and health conditions make continuation in business unwise."

Ingham Spartans Leave

Off for the west coast through the sky Thursday went Bob Jewett of Mason, Sam Williams of Dansville and Dean Look of Everett. They are all due to see action with the Michigan State Spartans Saturday against California. Jewett was taken on the trip despite a broken bone in a hand. Jewett and Williams play at end. Look is a halfback.

Reports Given At Council Meet

Reports on the completed sidewalk construction were given at the Leslie council meeting Wednesday evening. Progress was reported on curbs and gutters to be completed in 2 weeks. Arthur Sheathelm appeared again about the sewer extension to include his new subdivision on Pennsylvania street. The council reaffirmed that they would furnish him with plans and he would have to do the construction and supply the materials.

It was decided to buy the large used pump from Layne Northern of Lansing for a revised figure of $900. It is the pump which the company has loaned them for the past summer's use. The old pump belonging to the village could not be repaired.

It was voted to employ a licensed operator for a Class C sewage disposal plant in accordance with the recommendation of the state health department.

Shoemaker and the Shah

Shah of Iran Greeted Capt. Shoemaker

Capt. Robert Shoemaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shoemaker of Mason, and the ruler of Iran are on speaking terms. Capt. Shoemaker is at the left in the receiving line at the summer palace near Teheran with the shah moving along the line. Behind him is an embassy official.

Although the United States does not have any military mission in Iran, many officers are assigned to the embassy staff. Capt. Shoemaker is aide to General Seitz, head of the MAAG (Military Aid Assistance Group) to Iran. On the U. S. military staff are navy admirals, army generals, high marine officers and subordinates.

Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, 38, is the shah.

Capt. Shoemaker was graduated from West Point in 1946. He served in Korea and 3 years in Germany before being assigned to army staff work in the Pentagon. He and his wife have been in Teheran for about a year. Capt. Shoemaker's assignment takes all over the Middle East, visiting the military and high officials of governments.

Mrs. Shoemaker is able to take some of the trips with her husband. She also helps with a mission school.

Mrs. Young Dies in Jackson

By Clara Strange

Mrs. Sarah Angeline Young, 89, widow of Clyde E. Young who preceded her in death by 26 years to the day, died at Foote hospital Friday morning. She underwent surgery Monday.

She was the daughter of the late Thomas P. and Mary Wood Smith of Rives township, and one of 12 children. During her childhood she lived with her maternal uncle, H. K. Wood, of Rives.

Sarah Smith was married to Clyde E. Young, February 27, 1890. Two sons were born to them, one of whom, H. K. Young, preceded her in death by less than a year.

Mrs. Young was a member of the Rebekahs in her younger years but after the death of her husband was not active in the organization. She was a member of the Pleasant Lake Methodist church. Her husband helped build the church and was superintendent of its Sunday school for many years. She was a past-president of the Forget-Me-Not Society of the East Rives cemetery and was active in seeing it was kept attractive. She was active in social and community matters, remaining alert up to the day of her death.

Mrs. Young is survived by a son, Lynn E. of Territorial road with whom she made her home; 5 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Altha Sheffield of Jackson.

Funeral services were Sunday at Lucchi funeral home in Leslie, with Rev. Robert Worful of Leslie Baptist church, and Rev. James E. Craig of Pleasant Lake Methodist church officiating. Burial was in East Rives cemetery.

Couple Speaks Vows in Jackson Church

At Brookside Methodist church, Jackson, Robert L. Scofield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scofield, claimed Miss Patricia Lee Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jackson of Jackson, for his bride. Rev. Kendall Cowling, pastor of the church, united the couple in a double-ring ceremony at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the presence of 200 friends and relatives.

Two large altar baskets of pink glads with white satin bows decorated the church for the nuptial ceremony. Miss Judy Massman played Because, I Love You Truly, O Promise Me, and O Perfect Love.

The bride chose a waltz-length strapless gown of nylon tulle over ivory satin with a fitted jacket of Chantilly lace. Long sleeves of her gown extended to points at the wrists. She wore a fingertip veil of French illusion attached to a crown of tiny illusion petals separated with seed pearls. Pink Bouffant and white Killarney roses made up her cascade bouquet tied with satin ribbon entwined with English ivy.

Miss Joan Gilman of Jackson was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a candle green taffeta princess-style dress with a wide bow and belt in back. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Bouffant roses and white pompons and statice. Junior bridesmaids, Susan and Gwen Jackson, sisters of the bride, wore mint and emerald green taffeta styled with full skirts, boat necklines, and puff sleeves. They wore matching picture hats and carried cascade bouquets like the maid of honor's.

Stuart Hilton of Lansing was best man. Steve Jackson of Lansing, brother of the bride, and Richard Gilmore of Lansing, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, ushered the guests to their pews.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jackson wore a Dior blue with beaded trim and matching jacket. She accented her costume with a white feather hat. Mrs. Scofield selected a wendwood blue Chantilly lace sheath dress with a back drape of chiffon. Her accessories were pink. Both mothers wore corsages of pink orchids.

A reception at 729 West Michigan, Jackson, honored the newlyweds immediately after the ceremony. Garlands of greens, pink vladolus and statice encircled the tiered cake. Punch, nuts and mints were also served. Mrs. Richard Gilmore served cake, and Pat Keyes presided at the punch bowl. Miss Joanne Rodel of Jackson had charge of the guest register.

For their wedding trip to Chicago, the bride donned a black and white tweed suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage. She is a graduate of Jackson high school with the class of 1955 and is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone company. Her husband graduated from Mason high school in 1951 and attended Central Michigan college. He is employed at Kelsey Hayes Co., Jackson. The newlyweds will reside at 729 West Michigan, Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Scofield entertained the bridal party at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Wildwood Inn, Jackson.

Nursery School Group Chooses New Officers

Nursery school mothers and the teacher met Wednesday night of last week to elect officers and to make plans for the year.

Mrs. Anne Munschauer-Romal is the teacher. She received her training at Michigan State. She also teaches at the Quonset Cooperative nursery school in East Lansing.

Officers are: Mrs. Rollin Dart, chairman; Mrs. William Breakey, enrollment; Mrs. Temple Christian, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Elmer Jaderjohn and Mrs. Ray Snyder, participation chairman; Robert Beebe, supply chairman; Mrs. Sherman Seadeck, publicity chairman; Mrs. Frank Suggitt, delegate; Mrs. Donald Cairns, social chairman; and Mrs. George Post, field chairman.

The next general meeting will be Monday night, November 4, in the Presbyterian church parlors. There will be a potluck supper at 6:30. Both mothers and fathers are invited.

Pupils at Mason will be divided into 2 groups. Children from 2½ to 3½ will attend Tuesdays and Thursdays, those from 3½ to 5 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

There are openings for children in the older age group. Mrs. Seadeck said. Parents who want to enroll their children in pre-school classes should call Mrs. Breakey.

Six Girls Are Advanced To First Class Scouting

Members of Girl Scout troop 171 staged their court of awards Wednesday evening at Mason Methodist church. Six girls were advanced to first class Scouting.

The girls conducted a candlelight ceremony with each reciting a Girl Scout law as she lighted a candle.

After the flag ceremony, Mrs. Lawrence Barton presented badges to: Doretta Elmendorf, pioneer, first aid, child care, cat and dog, and mammal; Judy Peterson, pioneer, first aid, interior decorating, and conservation; Mavis Craddock, first aid; Judy Guerrero, pioneer, and first aid; Janice Horton, first aid, pioneer, and homemaker; Nancy Schofield, first aid, home gardener, mammal, and pioneer; Elaine Cummings, pioneer, first aid, reptile and amphibian, mammal, and wood; Phyllis Barton, wild plant, conservation, interior decorating, tree, salt water, and reptile and amphibian.

Mrs. Elmer Schofield presented first class awards to Doretta Elmendorf, Judy Peterson, Judy Guerrero, Janice Horton, Nancy Schofield and Elaine Cummings.

Phyllis Barton received her first class badge at the last court of awards.

The girls demonstrated what they learned in first aid, after which, Elaine Cummings told about troop camping at Hayes state park.

Mrs. Howard Seibert talked to the girls and their parents about the requirements for curved bar Scouting.

At the close of the meeting the girls served punch and cookies from a yellow linen-covered table centered with yellow chrysanthemums flanked by yellow candles.

Group Elects New Officers

Eleven members of Bunker Hill extension club met at Labertaux school Wednesday evening to map out their program for the coming year. Mrs. John Koker was elected chairman.

Other officers include: Vice-chairman, Mrs. Wilford Adams; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Philomena Stiles; project leaders, Mrs. Luanan Stiles and Mrs. Frank Balluff; and community chairman, Mrs. Branch Vicary.

The group voted to send donations to the harvest home festival at Okemos on October 6. Refreshments of elder and doughnuts were served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Koker and Mrs. Leslie Wilkinson.

The next meeting will be Monday, October 8, at 8 p. m. at Labertaux school. All members will be taking part in the Christmas workshop project.

Sandhill group met with the president, Jeanne Wells, last Wednesday. Yearbooks were given to members and forthcoming events were discussed.

The possibility of forming a new club was considered, as there are several women who are interested. Sandhill has an enrollment of 20. Further plans will be made Tuesday evening, October 22, at the home of Leola Wells during the regular meeting. United Nations will be the topic with a guest speaker.

A special pillowtop workshop will be conducted at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, October 10, at the home of Mazie Downey.

III-Lighters club met at the home of Mrs. John Graf last Monday evening with 12 members and one guest present.

New officers assuming their duties were: Leaders, Mrs. Marguerite Shubert and Mrs. Frank Cowick; chairman, Mrs. John Graf; vice-chairman, Mrs. Dick Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Alva Cronkhlite; community chairman, Mrs. Orla Sheathelm; and reporter, Mrs. Howard Gauss.

Mrs. Marguerite Shubert and Mrs. Warner Pickett joined the group as new members. Plans for the coming year were discussed. After the business meeting the hostess served lunch.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Cowick Saturday, October 21.

Mason No. 1 extension group had its first meeting of the fall season at the home of Mrs. Clara Smith on East Oak street September 26. Ten members and a visitor, Mrs. Floyd Watson, were present for the potluck luncheon. Mrs. Watson was invited to join the group and each member is to take a guest to the next meeting.

Mrs. Donald Higbie, the new chairman, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Raymond Nif gave a report of the last regular meeting in April. The May meeting was a group trip to the Simplicity pattern factory at Niles and there was a picnic in June.

The leaders, Mrs. James Jackson and Mrs. John Taylor presented the lesson on floral arrangements. They made several arrangements using various styles of vases.

The October meeting will be a combined extension group meeting at the Legion hall on October 17 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Members of the Legion auxiliary will serve the luncheon. There will be a Christmas display of felt animals, clippers and lapel pins.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Coon visited Mrs. W. S. Adams of Jonia Sunday. They also called on Mr. Adams at the hospital there. He is Mr. Coon's brother.

made by various extension groups. Patterns will be available.

Mrs. Clara Schray will be hostess to the group for the November 21 meeting. Members will answer roll call by telling something to be thankful for.

Sixteen members and friends of Peppy Homemakers extension club met with Mrs. Pat Lewis last Thursday evening for a paint party.

The group painted with ball point paints on cloth. The painting resembled embroidery when finished. Each member painted a quilt block. Prizes went to Mrs. Vera Lance, Mrs. Edith Welch and Mrs. Ruth Goble.

Mrs. Lewis served cake and coffee as refreshments.

Mrs. Mary Hagg entertained 9 members of her extension club Tuesday. It was the first meeting of the year, and part of the time was spent getting organized.

Mrs. Susan Gerhardtstein explained the meaning of the extension club and what it stands for. The main topic for the evening was the Christmas carnival Thursday, October 17. Coffee and cakes were served at the close of the meeting.

There will be a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Betty Esch Thursday, October 24, to make flowers from milkweed pods.

The regular meeting will be November 5 at the home of Mrs. George Bohnel.

Organizations

Onondaga Community church Ladies Aid will sponsor a turkey supper Friday, October 11, at Onondaga town hall. Serving, family-style, will begin at 5 p. m.

The October meeting of the Hawley extension group will be at the home of Mrs. Edward Johnson, East Columbia road, on Thursday, October 10, at 10:30 a. m. There will be a discussion of the coming year's program. The chairman and leaders attended a meeting September 23 at the Vesper hall. Mrs. Annette Schaeffer presented many ideas for conducting the extension meetings.

Wheatfield Gleaners will have a regular meeting at their hall Tuesday evening, October 8, at 8 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gillette will have charge of the social hour.

Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service will meet Wednesday, October 9, at one o'clock for a 50c paid luncheon at the church. Miriam circle will be hostess for the meeting. Mrs. Ray Perkins, program chairman, will present a segregation program entitled "The Kingdom Beyond Caste." Devotions will be given by Mrs. Albert Fry. Each member is asked to take a current newspaper article on segregation.

Browne-Cavender unit 148 of the American Legion auxiliary will meet at the Legion building Tuesday, October 8, at 8 p. m. Girls State representatives, Joan Muehlner, Judy Leonard and Linda Morris, will give reports on their visit there. Parents of the girls will also be guests.

NY Convention Trip Pays Off

If you know how to bid you can win valuable prizes on the TV program "The Price Is Right." Mrs. Stanley Colby of Pontiac knows how to bid and she returned from New York by plane Thursday with a wrist watch, television set and a coffee table. She appeared on the TV program Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Mrs. Colby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norton of Mason. The Colbys were in New York attending a convention. Mr. Colby is field director for the Polio Foundation of Oakland county. They have 3 children, Cheryl Lynn, Terry Norton and Kevin Clare. Terry stayed with his grandparents in Mason while the Colbys were in New York. Cheryl and Kevin remained in Pontiac with friends.

Mrs. Colby won the diamond-set wrist watch valued at $2,000 and the coffee table Wednesday morning and returned Thursday when her "price was right" on the coffee table.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Dean were in Owosso on business Wednesday. Sunday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Skylasky at Grand Ledge. Dinner guests of the Deans Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Skylasky and Osmond Dean of Lansing, Mr. Dean's son.

EVANGELISTIC services will begin Sunday night, October 6, at Mason Baptist church with Rev. Gilbert Miles, speaking each evening at 7:30.

Rev. Miles graduated from Moody Bible institute in 1919 and the Northern Baptist Theological seminary in 1922. He has been pastor of the Judson Memorial Baptist church for 16 years. Under his leadership, it has become necessary to have 2 morning services and build 20 additional rooms to their educational unit at a cost of $85,000.

Duane DeLoach, publisher of the Bilesfield Advance, visited his grandmother, Mrs. Lovisa Allen Saturday.

Club Schedules Benefit Dance

Mason Junior Child Study club is completing plans for the benefit hospital dance Friday, October 18. The Bob Berube orchestra will furnish music for dancing from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the American Legion building.

Mrs. Rollin Darr is general chairman of the dance. Individual committees have been meeting to complete arrangements, according to Mrs. Frank Schmidt, Jr., publicity chairman.

Read 11 Timothy 1:1-7.
I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, as did my fathers. (11 Timothy 1:3. RSV.)

One's conscience needs to be educated and kept sensitive. The best way to do these things is to read the Bible. Then the conscience will be filled with the workings of God as revealed in the prophets, psalmists, apostles, and above all, in Christ. Martin Luther had so familiarized himself with the Bible that he could say, "My conscience is captive to the Word of God."

A good man is he whose conscience is so firmly rooted in God that when he is doing what he pleases to do he is a true servant of God.

Prayer should follow our Bible reading. As we wake up in the morning, we can offer to God a prayer of thanksgiving and devotion. The time before we go to bed at night can be spent in Bible study and prayer so that we may make the conscience more sensitive to the divine love and will of God.

PRAYER

O God, Thou speakest to our minds and hearts through the pages of the Bible. We thank Thee for thus guiding us. Help us to serve Thee this day with a clear conscience. In the Saviour's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The Word of God is enshrined in the conscience of the Christian.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Mrs. Margaret Heal

Although she had not been in good health for several years, death came unexpectedly to Mrs. Margaret E. Heal, 50, Saturday. A blood vessel erupted Friday night and she died a few hours later at the home, 106 Kathryn.

Mrs. Heal was born March 16, 1907, at Lanark, Illinois, daughter of Simon P. Stutzman and Annie E. Kramer Stutzman. She attended Rolfe district school and Mason high school. She and Don Heal were married at Dansville November 13, 1926.

Surviving are the husband and a son, Terry, 16. There are also 3 brothers, Don Jenks, Leslie; Raymond Jenks, Haslett; and Dr. Glenn Jenks, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; and stepbrothers, Howard Jenks, Lansing, and Charles Jenks, Dimondale.

Rev. Raymond L. Norton of Mason Methodist church officiated at service in the Ball-Dunn funeral home Monday afternoon. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery, Leslie. Potter Fights Water Steal

Your editorial on the subject of water diversion has come to my attention.

I should like to assure you that I am in agreement with your view that waste of water is criminal. During my 10 years in congress, as a representative and as Michigan's senior senator, I have fought any diversion of Lake Michigan water into the Illinois river. Such diversion will lower overall lake levels. Surely it would be foolish, after allocating millions of dollars to taxpayers' money for the deep St. Lawrence Seaway channel, to hamper its usefulness by diverting water.

I enclose for your information a release of last April 4, typical of my repeated public objections to water diversion.

Children Get Needed Help

I am with the woman who signed her letter "A Child Fancier" all the way.

There are 2 more places right in Lansing one can go to see children who are being helped and need more help too.

It makes you have all kinds of feelings.

One is the room for handicapped at Walnut Street school. The other is the Larch school, in the basement of Michigan Ave. school, corner of Logan and Michigan avenue.

Our handicapped child goes there afternoons. The school is private, paid for by the parents and whatever help they can get. Just children outside the city can go there. They have to wait their turn to get in. The state can't pay any tuition for private schools. There are all ages, all sizes and many different troubles. Emotionally disturbed, retarded, blind and others.

It's interesting to see what those teachers can do. They work so faithfully day after day and are so happy to see just a little progress. We never could thank them enough and no amount of money could really pay them.

I guess we must have been lucky because it hasn't taken too long to get in the different places.

We had a visit at the child guidance center about 2 years ago, at Walnut Street school and trips to Ann Arbor. Everyone seemed to be interested and as helpful as they could be.

Our child is retarded, spastic also, and has seizures which are

Praise & Blame

Somebody has done a good job cleaning up the creek banks between Ash and Maple.

Somebody is doing a poor job converting Griffin flats into a dump.

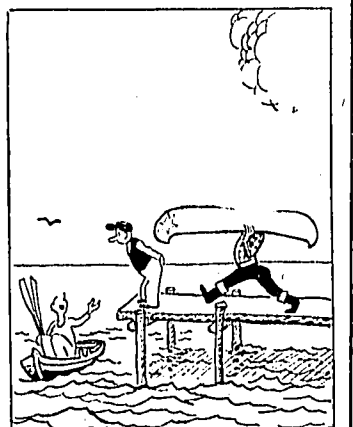

There's no need to fill that property on Rogers street. All it needs is smoothing out and seeding. Use the land as it was intended—as a flood plain in the spring. Keep the weeds down. Dump the broken concrete slabs somewhere else.

This land was bought for community use, not for a dump.

If the land is filled in, the water will have to run somewhere else, maybe into my cellar.

Grange Wins District Service Award

Efforts of Wheatfield Grange to make the community a better place in which to live won for it central Michigan district first place honors recently in the 10th annual community service contest sponsored by the National Grange and Sears Roebuck Foundation.

According to Mrs. Berton Johnson, Wheatfield Grange community service chairman, 117 of the 121 members of the rural fraternal group took part in the wide variety of community service activities.

A strong design woven through the pattern of the group's activities has been its legislative and educational work. C. Ross Hilliard, Ingham county clerk, spoke one evening on local government at a Grange-Farm Bureau meeting, at which the Grange was host. A similar event was conducted a month later with Judge Robert Drake as speaker. Mrs. Nancy Williams, wife of Michigan's governor, was speaker at another Grange meeting.

Other educational programs were presented, including an illustrated talk on the Tournament of Roses and Rose Bowl game by George Alderton, Lansing State Journal sports editor, and a film from the Livestock and Meat Board.

Wheatfield Grange also tackled various legislative problems. Members opposed: Dictatorial methods used in forcing rural school district annexation; a rise in Federal Land bank loan interest rate; billboard law; and a state milk marketing act. The group urged: A commodity-by-commodity approach to the national farm problem; a moderate sales and income tax for raising money for school construction, instead of putting the burden on property tax; and water rights legislation.

It came to the Grange's attention that the Pinkney library was in need of books, so members responded generously. The Grange's "clearing house" was also continued. A large wardrobe, cupboard and trunk was filled with used donated clothing and shoes for all ages, quilts made by Grange women and bedding. Contributions then go to burned-out or otherwise needy families in the area.

When Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Antes and 4 children of Dansville lost everything in a fire, Wheatfield Grangers responded with contributions.

The Grange was also influential in securing stop signs for the intersection of Zimmer and Frost roads, which had previously been an open intersection.

One big activity of the year was an auction sale at the Grange hall in April. Members donated farm equipment, furniture, dishes, canned goods, baked goods and money. With the profits the Grange bought a wheelchair and hospital bed to loan out to those needing them. Women of the Grange prepared quantities of cancer dressings. The Grange remembered—with gifts and cards—the sick and shut-ins in the community as well as servicemen at Christmas and other times. The Grange also sponsored a series of first aid classes, through civil defense.

The Grange's membership includes 8 leaders of 4-H clubs, 8 teachers, 3 extension leaders, 2 township supervisors, 8 election officials, 6 school board members, 6 township officers and officers of many farm organizations.

The Grange also made some improvements on its own grounds, including graveling a parking area to relieve traffic congestion on the highway. Many special dinners and luncheons were served to various groups by the Grange during the past year.

Delmar Carr of Webberville is master of the Grange and Mrs. Vernon Bird of Williamston is secretary.

At the annual booster night meeting last Friday Grange members received official notice of their award.

The booster night program included a welcome by Ivan Launstein, vocal solos by Mrs. Marlene Dembroski and Mrs. Lois Whipple, a playlet by Mr. and Mrs. Carr, a tableau by Jean Johnson, a pageant on Grange activities and a talk by Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News.

Men Receive Army Training

Pvt. Roger D. Eberly, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton R. Eberly, Mason, and Pvt. Larry W. Jason, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Jason, Webberville, recently began 6 months of active military training under the reserve forces act program at Fort Leonard Ing. After completion of the 6 weeks of basic combat training, which will be followed by advanced individual and unit training. After completion of the 6 month tour, they will spend the remainder of their military service with a local army reserve or national guard unit. Eberly is a 1957 graduate of Michigan State university, and Jason was graduated from Webberville high school in June.

Pvt. Charles R. Delaney, son of Mrs. Margie Sloan, Williams, recently was graduated from the radio relay and carrier operation course at the army's Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga. The 8-week course trained Delaney to operate and maintain field radio relay, carrier and associated equipment.

Walter E. Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Franks, Webberville, recently was graduated from the eight-week metalworking course at the Army's Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. The course trained Franks to repair metal parts and equipment by forging and welding. Franks entered the army in March, 1957, and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Scouts Announce Roundup Program

Neighborhood roundup rallies will play a major part in the 1957 recognition roundup of Boy Scouts this fall, said William Thacker, scout executive of the Chief Okemos Council.

Through a program of neighborhood activities the nation's 111,674 scouting units plan to bring into the organization additional thousands of boys. Surveys show that 3 of every 4 boys desire to become Scouts, but many fail to become members because no one in the organization has invited them to join.

Thacker said the neighborhood roundup rallies will be held with patrols from all troops taking part. Each Scout will invite another boy of Scout age to participate with his patrol.

These rallies will be conducted in vacant lots, schoolyards, parks and in gymnasiums.

During September Scout units have had "buddy nights." Each member was asked to invite non-members to see how a meeting was run and to try Scouting skills. Later in the fall the new members will take part in open house meetings which will be attended by parents and friends.

Induction of new members, demonstrations, reports and a court of honor will be conducted.

State Department Recruits Women

Two years overseas—with pay—may sound too good to be true, but it is an opportunity now being offered to young secretaries, stenographers, typists and clerks who are willing to travel anywhere in the world.

Miss Kathryn Groot, personnel officer from the United States department of state, is now at 7310 Woodward avenue, in Detroit, to interview applicants who are between the ages of 21 and 35, single with no dependents and U. S. citizens in excellent health, for assignment to any one of the 270 American embassies, consulates and legations abroad.

The starting salary for qualified secretaries is $3,800. A typing speed of 50 words a minute and a shorthand speed of 96 words a minute is required. Stenographers who type 50 words a minute and take shorthand at 80, start at a salary of $3,390 a year, as do communications code clerks with a speed of 45 words a minute and general clerks with a speed of 35 words a minute. All salaries are supplemented by overseas allowance and free housing. Employees have liberal vacations while overseas and, between each tour of duty, 6 weeks of home leave at government expense. All applicants must have at least 3 years of office experience.

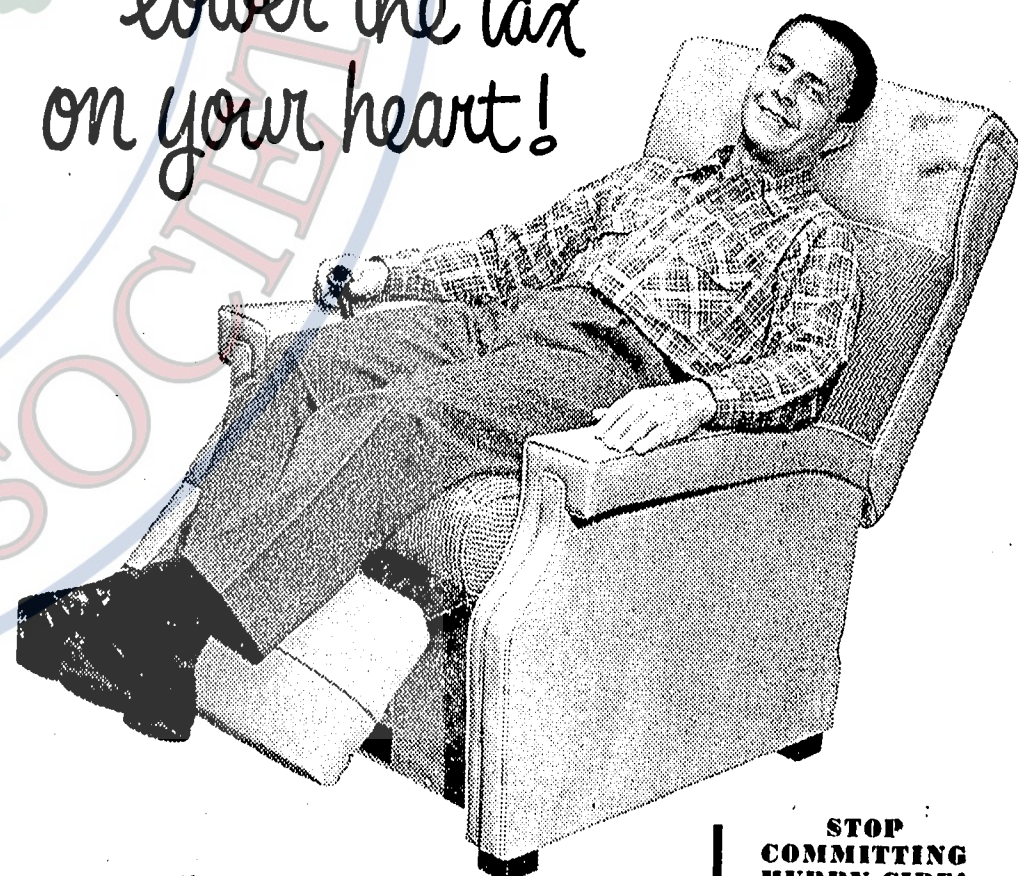

Typists, 18 years of age, who can type 40 words a minute and stenographers who can, in addition, take shorthand at 80, are being interviewed for positions in the department of state headquarters in Washington, D. C. The starting salaries range from $3,175 to $3,415 a year. No previous experience is required.

Interviews are being conducted daily from 9 to 5, until 7 on Wednesdays and from 9 to noon on Saturdays, from October 7 through 26, at the Michigan State Employment Security Commission, 7310 Woodward avenue, in Detroit.

Onondaga Township Zoning Ordinance

AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH ZONING DISTRICTS AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE UNINCORPORATED PORTIONS OF ONONDAGA TOWNSHIP, INGHAM COUNTY, MICHIGAN, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF ACT 184, OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1943 AS AMENDED: TO PROVIDE FOR THE COMPLETION, RESTORATION, RECONSTRUCTION, EXTENSION AND SUBSTITUTION OF NON-CONFORMING USES; TO PROVIDE FOR A BOARD OF APPEALS AND ITS DUTIES AND POWERS; TO PROVIDE FOR BUILDING PERMITS AND THE COLLECTION OF FEES THEREFOR; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THIS ORDINANCE INCLUDING THE OFFICIAL WHOSE DUTY IT SHALL BE TO ENFORCE THE PROVISIONS THEREOF; TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE; AND TO PROVIDE FOR CONFLICTS WITH OTHER ORDINANCES OR REGULATIONS.

The Township Board of Onondaga Township, Ingham County, Michigan, Ordains:

ARTICLE 1 TITLE AND PURPOSE

Short Title

Section 1.1. This Ordinance shall be known and cited as the Onondaga Township Zoning Ordinance.

Section 1.2. The fundamental purpose of this ordinance shall be that contained in Act 184, Public Acts of 1943, as amended.

ARTICLE 2 DEFINITIONS

Definitions

Section 2.1. For the purpose of this ordinance certain terms, phrases, and words shall, whenever used in this ordinance, have the meaning assigned in this section. Terms, phrases, and words not herein defined shall have the meanings customarily assigned to them by general usage in the English language.

ACCESSORY USE: In a use, subordinate to the main use on a lot, which is used for purposes customarily incidental to those of the main use.

ALLEY: Any dedicated public way providing a second means of egress to a property.

BUILDING LINE: A line formed by the face of a building.

CORNER LOT: A lot where the corner interior angle at the intersection of the two street lines is less than 135 degrees. The owner of such lot shall have the privilege of designating one street frontage as the front of the lot, except where the front of the lot is clearly indicated by the original plat of record.

DEPTH OF REAR YARD: The horizontal distance between the extreme rear line of the main building and the rear lot line.

EXISTING BUILDING: A building existing, or a building for which a legal permit has been issued and the foundations are in place or upon which there has been substantial work done, prior to the adoption of this ordinance.

ESSENTIAL SERVICES: The erection, construction, alteration, or maintenance by public utilities or municipal departments of underground or overhead gas, electrical, steam, or water distribution or transmission system, collection, communication, supply or disposal system including mains, drains, sewers, pipes, conduits, wires, cables, fire alarm boxes, police call boxes, traffic signals, hydrants, poles, and other similar equipment and accessories in connection therewith, including any building, reasonably necessary for the furnishing of adequate service by such public utilities or municipal departments for the public health, safety, or general welfare, shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law and other ordinances of Onondaga Township in any use district, it being the intention hereof to exempt such erection, construction, alteration, and maintenance from the application of this ordinance: Provided, That the same are designed and constructed so as to be in harmony with the character of the neighborhood in which located.

HEIGHT OF BUILDING: The vertical distance from grade to the highest point of the roof surface of a flat roof, to the deck line of a mansard roof and to the mean height for gable, hip, or gambrel roofs.

FAMILY: Is any number of individuals living together as a single housekeeping unit and doing their cooking on the premises.

GRADE: Is the elevation of the curb at the midpoint of the front of the lot.

LOT: Is a parcel of land on which a principal building and its accessories are, or are to be, placed together with the required open spaces.

PERSON: Is an individual, firm, or corporation, both private and public, and the use of the word in the singular number shall extend to and include the plural.

YARD, REAR: A space unoccupied, except by a building of accessory use as hereinafter permitted, extending for the full width of the lot between the rear line of a building and the rear lot line.

YARD, SIDE: An open unoccupied space between the building and the side lot line and extending the full length of the building.

ARTICLE 3 DISTRICTS

Districts Defined

Section 3.1. For the purpose of regulating and restricting the location of trades and industries and the location of buildings designed for specified uses and also for the purpose of regulating and restricting the volume, height, and area of buildings hereafter erected or altered, the following four classes of districts are hereby created within Onondaga Township, as follows:

Agricultural—All areas not zoned as residential, commercial, or industrial.

Residential—Single Family: Provided, That double family occupancy may be allowed by the Board of Appeals where there is a showing that the size of any dwelling in existence on the effective date of this ordinance is too large for present day occupancy by a single family, and: Provided, further, That such dwelling is equipped for occupancy by two families living separately.

Commercial—Retail and Service Business.

Industrial—Manufacturing.

The Agricultural District

Section 3.2. The Agricultural District established by this ordinance shall comprise all lands and lots and parcels of land which are not contained in areas comprising any other type of district as defined and set forth in this ordinance.

Industrial Districts

Section 3.3. The Industrial District of the township shall be comprised of that area within the township which measures 330 feet northward and 330 feet southward from the right-of-way lines of the Michigan Central Railway Company, except as provided in Section 3.4 and 3.5 of this ordinance.

Commercial Districts

Section 3.4. The first 256 feet of frontage of each Residential District in the township, measured from the intersection of the center lines of the road upon which such frontage abuts, shall comprise the Commercial Districts of the township under this ordinance: Provided, That commercial uses shall be so located that there shall be 500 feet of clear visibility in all directions for all vehicles entering the highway on which they abut, either as frontage or by side lot. In the platted Village of Onondaga, that area bounded by the center lines of Rossman Street, Bellevue Road, and Sherman Street, and the properties abutting on the south side of Rossman Street, between Baldwin Street and Sherman Street.

Residential Districts

Section 3.5. The Residential Districts of the township shall include and be limited to the frontage upon each of the highways in the township and to a depth of 165 feet measured from the right-of-way lines of such highway and at right angles to the centerlines thereof. In the platted Village of Onondaga, all the area thereof, other than as provided in Section 3.4 of this ordinance.

ARTICLE 4 APPLICATION OF REGULATIONS

Tense

Section 4.1. Except as otherwise specifically provided or indicated by the context, all words used in this ordinance indicating the present tense shall not be limited to the time of adoption of this ordinance, but shall extend to and include the time of the happening of any event or requirement for which provision is made therein, either as a power, immunity, requirement, or prohibition.

Headings

Section 4.2. The charter and section headings used in this ordinance are for convenience only and shall not be considered to be a part of this ordinance.

Township Functions

Section 4.3. No provision of the ordinance shall deprive or be construed as depriving Onondaga Township of the power to construct or maintain within the township any building or structure required for the performance of its governmental or proprietary functions: Provided, That such buildings or structures shall comply with the provisions of this ordinance and be built so as to conform with surrounding uses in so far as possible.

Buildings and Lands Affected

Section 4.4. Except as hereinafter provided no buildings are to be erected or altered, and no lands or buildings are to be used for any purpose other than the uses permitted in the district in which such lands or buildings are located.

Non-Conforming Uses

Section 4.5. (a) At the discretion of the owner, the lawful use of any parcel of land, building, structure, or trailer, existing at the time of the enactment of this ordinance, although such use does not conform to the provisions of this ordinance, may be continued as a non-conforming use: Provided, however, That, if such a non-conforming use be discontinued for a period of one year or more, the use of such premises, buildings, or structure shall thereafter conform to the use permitted in the district in which it is located.

(b) Buildings which were built and occupied before the adoption of this ordinance, which do not meet the structural requirements for the zone in which they are located, may be improved if they have the proper foundations and siding: Provided, however, That any new addition made to such building must be made upon proper permit and must comply with all structural requirements for the zone in which it is located. No permit shall be issued for the construction or moving of non-conforming buildings: Provided, however, That the Township Clerk may issue a permit to move a non-conforming building for the purpose of its elimination.

New Building and Alterations

Section 4.6. (a) All new buildings erected in, or buildings moved, within or into Onondaga Township, shall conform to the requirements of this ordinance.

(b) Additions to and structural alterations of buildings shall comply with the requirements of this ordinance for new buildings even though the building so added to or altered does not so comply.

ARTICLE 5 RESIDENTIAL ZONE

Permitted Uses

Section 5.1. No land or building within any district designated in this ordinance as a Residence District shall be used for other than the following specified uses:

- (a) Dwellings for one family only, subject to Section 3.1 hereof.
- (b) The office of a professional person, customary home occupations and the boarding and the renting of rooms: Provided, That such use shall be accessory to a residential occupancy: And provided, further, That there is no display of advertising other than a sign not over two square feet in area.
- (c) Churches, parish houses, or Sunday school buildings.
- (d) Schools.
- (e) Signs advertising the rental, lease, or sale of the property upon which they are maintained: Provided, That the total area of such signs displayed on one property does not exceed nine square feet: Provided, further, That the area of any one sign shall not exceed three square feet.
- (f) Accessory uses customary or incident to any of above uses. No building occupied by any such accessory use shall be within fifty feet of any street line, except on a corner lot where such building may be not less than fifteen feet from the street line on the side street.

An accessory use shall not include a building or use not located on the same lot with the building or use to which it is accessory. A private garage to be deemed an accessory use shall not provide storage space for more than one motor vehicle for each 2,000 square feet of ground area of the lot. Such private garage may have living quarters for servants or members of the family: Provided, That all requirements of a single residence for yard space are fulfilled.

The term accessory use shall not include the conducting of a rental business but shall include only the use of a portion of the building by an occupant of such building for the conducting of his or her trade, profession, or occupation. Such accessory use shall not occupy more than twenty-five per cent of the floor area of any one floor.

No accessory use shall be permitted which by the emission of odor, smoke, dust, or noise or which in any other way is objectionable or detrimental to the amenity of the neighborhood.

(g) A home occupation which:

- (1) Is conducted entirely within a principal residential building or any accessory use;
- (2) Does not change the character of the building in which conducted;
- (3) Does not constitute, create, or increase a nuisance with respect to the use of adjoining or nearby premises; of excessive noise, objectionable odors, or attract or breed vermin or flies or mosquitoes;
- (4) Is carried on only by the inhabitants of the residential building on the premises in which conducted, plus not more than one person who is not such an inhabitant;
- (5) Displays no sign which is not permitted in the zone where conducted;
- (6) Devotes not more than 50% of the floor area of one story of any dwelling to such home occupation;
- (7) Does not involve keeping a stock in trade or the sale of commodities on the premises;

Building and Lot Occupancy Restriction

Section 5.2. (a) No building shall:

- (1) Be erected on a lot containing less than eight thousand square feet, exclusive of any part thereof lying within the boundaries of a public highway nor having less than sixty feet of frontage on the public highway. This restriction shall not prevent the building on lots that have been heretofore created having less area or frontage than required in this section.
- (2) Be constructed, used, or occupied for the housing of cattle, horses, hogs, sheep, or goats, unless it shall be at least three hundred feet from any adjacent side or rear lot line, and those housing either poultry or rabbits, or both, shall be at least fifty feet from any dwelling.
- (3) Be closer than twenty-five feet to the nearest line of a public highway right-of-way: Provided, however, That all dwellings shall be erected in conformance with any established building line.
- (4) Be closer than ten feet to any lot line which does not coincide with, or lie within the boundary of, any public highway, corner lots excepted.

(b) No dwelling shall:

- (1) Contain less than three rooms, exclusive of bathroom or toilet.
- (2) Have subsidiary buildings closer than fifty feet from the front lot line, except garages, which may be attached to the dwelling.
- (3) Be erected on a lot upon which another dwelling is located or is being constructed, unless such lot shall have the minimum requirements of land area and frontage to permit the erection of additional dwellings.
- (4) Have a minimum ceiling height of seven and one-half feet over the entire first floor, and seven feet over at least fifty per cent of floor area of second and other floors.
- (5) Have windows with glass area equal to not less than ten per cent of floor area of each room.
- (6) Contain less than five hundred seventy-six square feet of first floor area, exclusive of any attached garage.
- (7) Be constructed, used, or occupied, unless it shall have interior plumbing and sanitation.

Multiple Dwellings

Section 5.3. Two family or multiple dwellings shall be permitted by special application to the Onondaga Township Board accompanied by properly signed petitions indicating the consent of the owners of eighty per cent of the frontage within a radius of five hundred feet of the proposed site thereof.

Old and Used Automobiles

Section 5.4. No land or lot or parcel of land, which is zoned as residential, may be used for the commercial storage of automobiles, or for the business of wrecking or dismantling of automobiles.

House Trailers

Section 5.5. After the effective date of this ordinance, no house trailer, whether it shall be on wheels, detached from its wheels, or placed upon foundations of any kind, shall be used or occupied for dwelling purposes for more than thirty days in any calendar year in any area which is zoned as residential: Provided, That, where the Township Clerk has issued a building permit for the construction of a residence building, the owner of the premises on which such residence building is to be built may be granted an extended permit by the Township Clerk for the use and occupancy of a house trailer on such premises by such owners. Such permit may be renewed by the Township Clerk for an additional six months period, if the residence building for which such permit was issued has proceeded not less than one-third of the completion thereof. After the granting of such additional six months period any additional extension of such permit shall be granted only by the Township Board and for such period or periods of time as it shall deem fit.

Basement Dwellings

Section 5.6. After the effective date of this ordinance, no structure comprising a basement of a proposed dwelling, or which is more than fifty per cent below grade for the average perimeter thereof: Provided, That where the Township Clerk has issued a building permit for the construction of a residence building, the owner of the premises on which such residence building is to be built may be granted a permit by the Township Clerk for the use and occupancy of a basement on such premises by such owners. Such permit may be renewed by the Township Clerk for an additional six months period, if the residence building for which such permit was issued has proceeded not less than one-third of the completion thereof. After the granting of such additional six months period any additional extension of such permit shall be granted only by the Township Board and for such period or periods of time as it shall deem fit.

ARTICLE 6 COMMERCIAL DISTRICTS

Permitted Uses

Section 6.1. In Commercial Districts all buildings, structures, and premises, except as otherwise provided in this ordinance, may be occupied and used for residential purposes, including multiple dwellings, and for business or commercial purposes except the wrecking or dismantling of automobiles and except such as may cause unhealthful or unsanitary conditions, excessive smoke, traffic congestion, objectionable odors, objectionable noises, or such as may cause any nuisance to adjoining properties.

ARTICLE 7 INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS

Permitted Uses

Section 7.1. (a) Lands and lots or parcels of land located in the areas comprising Industrial Districts may be used and occupied for any purpose permitted in the Residential and Commercial Districts and for any light or heavy manufacturing or business prohibited in commercial zones, if such factories or business places provide for the elimination of excessive smoke and do not create traffic congestion: Provided, however, That such factories and business places must provide sufficient off-street parking facilities for vehicles ordinarily used by them and their agents and employees. In the manufacture or handling of dangerous or explosive materials adequate precautions must be taken to protect all adjoining properties. Sanitary fills and dumps may be operated in the areas comprising the Industrial District, subject to the provisions of Section 8.2.

ARTICLE 8 AGRICULTURAL DISTRICTS

Permitted Uses

Section 8.1. (a) Agricultural areas shall be used for agricultural purposes only: Provided, That this restriction shall not prevent the construction, use, and occupancy of any land or any lot or parcel of land, or any structure thereon for public, private, or parochial schools, for churches, hospitals, or libraries, for radio and television relay towers and stations, sub-stations, and antennae, and for public utility plants and sub-stations.

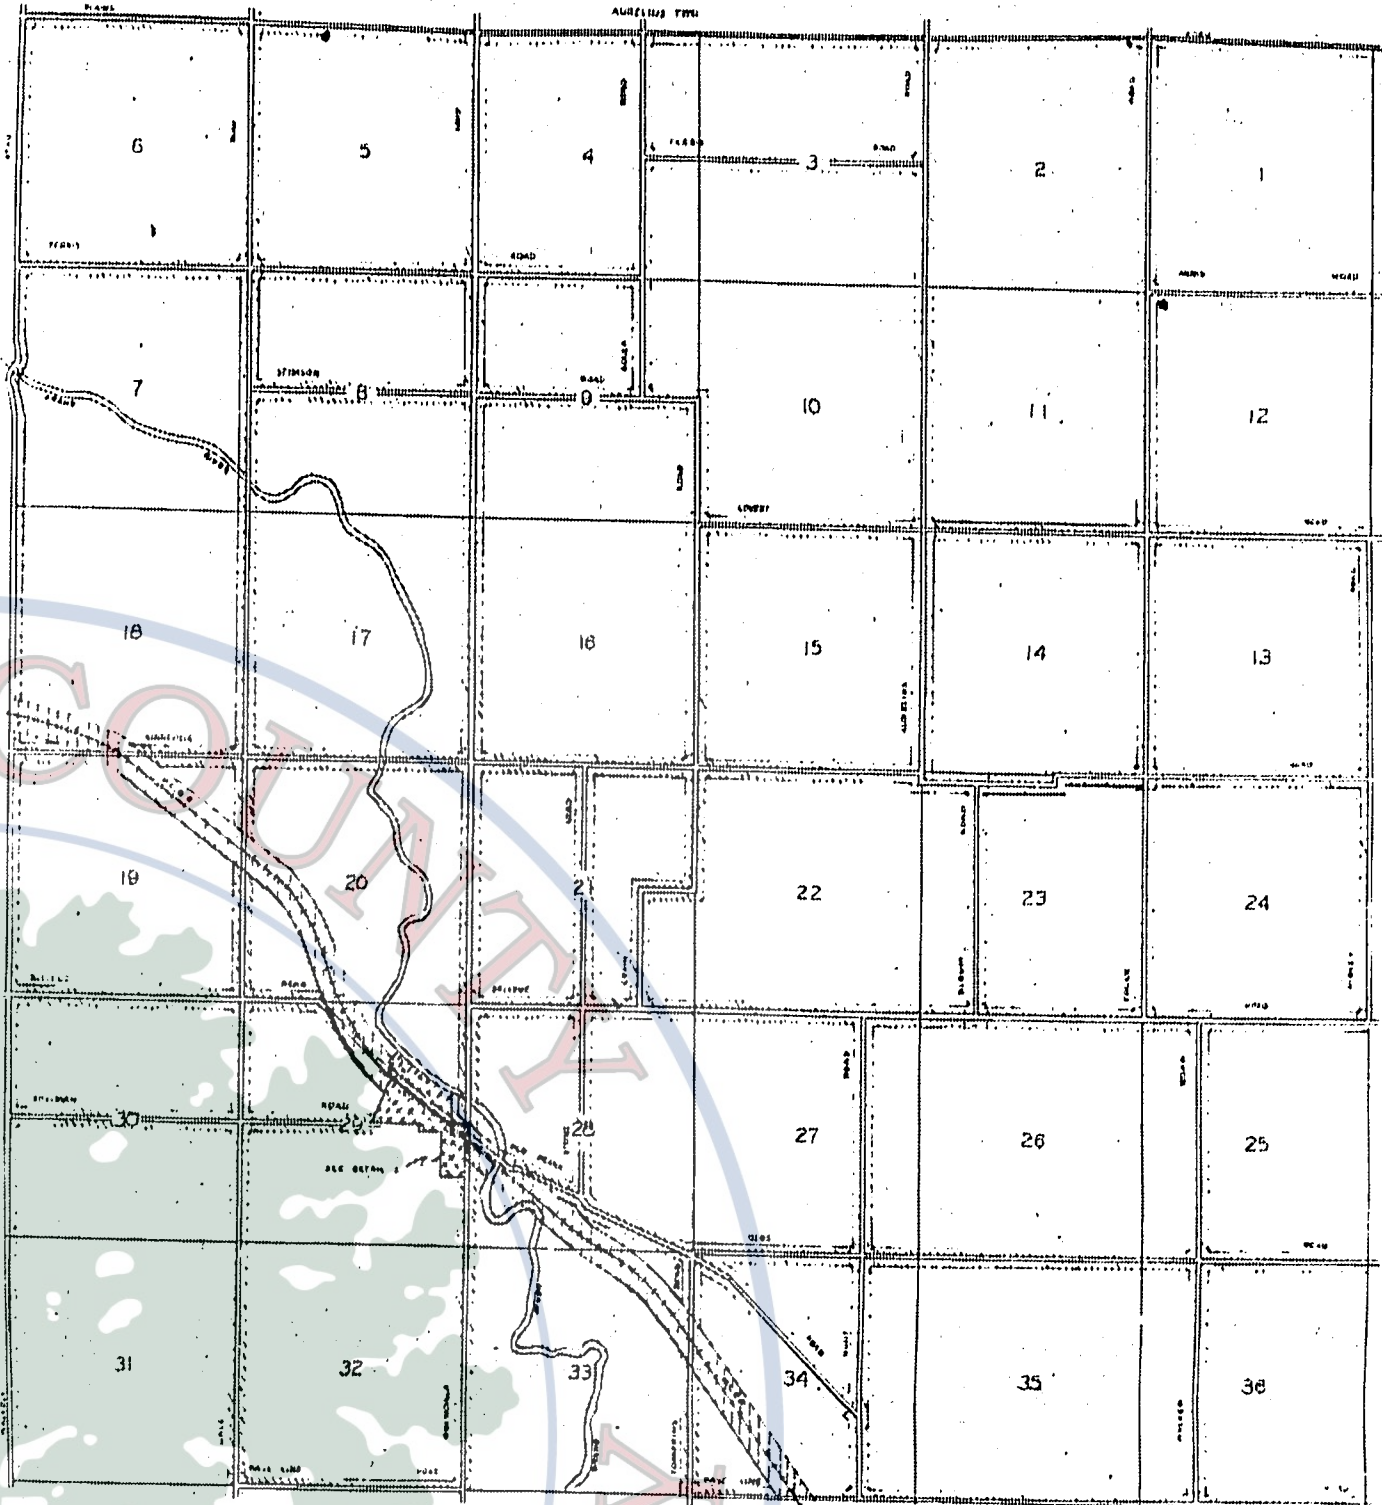

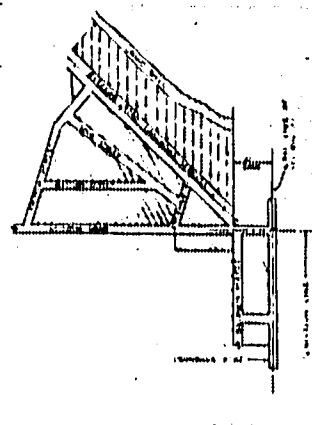

(b) All dwellings must conform at least to the minimum requirements of the Residential Districts.

(c) House trailers may be used for residential purposes but must be used and occupied subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the rules of the Ingham County Board of Health.

Sanitary Fills and Dumps

Section 8.2. Fills and dumps may be operated: Provided, however, That the greatest elevation of the completed surface of such fills and dumps shall not be higher than the elevation of the crown of an adjacent highway: Provided, further, That where two highways are adjacent to such fills or dumps, the Board of Appeals shall determine the height of the completed fills or dumps.

Land Area for Dwellings

Section 8.3. No person shall construct, use, or occupy any house or other structure for dwelling purposes in the Agricultural District, unless such house or structure is, or is to be, located on land or a lot or parcel of land which has been platted in the manner provided by law or, if not so platted, on land or a lot or parcel of land having an area of five acres or more: Provided, That the Township Board may set aside this requirement upon the recommendation of the Board of Appeals, setting forth that the peculiar shape or the nature of the land is such that an area of five acres or more is not feasible or obtainable for such house or structure: Provided, further, That the requirement contained in this section shall not be set aside with respect to any land or lot or parcel of land containing an area of less than three acres, unless such land or lot or parcel of land existed and was recorded as a description of land, or of a lot or parcel of land, in the office of the Register of Deeds of Ingham County at the time of the adoption of this ordinance by the Township Board.

ARTICLE 9 SUBDIVISION OF LAND

Plat Act

Section 9.1. No person shall subdivide any land or lot or parcel of land, except in accordance with the Plat Act of 1929.

Plat for Residential Purposes

Section 9.2. No person shall submit to the Township Board any proposed plat for the subdivision of land for residential or dwelling purposes, except for such lands and lots or parcels of land as are located in one of the areas comprising the Residential Districts of the township, as established by this ordinance.

Hitchcock-Dunsmore Vows Are Spoken

In Vantown Methodist church Saturday evening, Miss Dorothy Jeanette Dunsmore of Webster, became the bride of Allen Lee Hitchcock of Williamston. Rev. Harold Mondol, pastor of Danville and Vantown Methodist churches, performed the double-ring ceremony at 8 o'clock, before an altar flanked by palms, white gladioli and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dunsmore of Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hitchcock of Williamston are parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Dunsmore wore an aqua jersey dress for her daughter's wedding. She complemented her ensemble with black and white accessories. Mrs. Hitchcock selected a dress of blue lace over taffeta with blue accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white roses.

Harold Monroe sang O Promise Me, Because, I Love You Truly, and The Lord's Prayer. He was accompanied by Mrs. Harry Daman who also played Perfect Day, Always, True Love, and traditional wedding marches. There were 250 guests at the wedding.

Chantilly lace, handelipped and patterned, and nylon tulle over gladioli satin was used to fashion the bride's gown.

The molded bodice of lace featured scalloped on the wide sheer yoke. Long fitted sleeves were finished in deep points at the wrist. The bell-shaped skirt of layers of tulle was styled with a top layer of scalloped lace in the front. A shallow scalloped crown of tiny pearls and briscent sequins held in place her fingertip veil of imported French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and English ivy with a shower of satin ribbons tied in lovers knots.

Miss Barbara Dunsmore was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald Betterly and Miss Charrie Hitchcock, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical gowns of open blue taffeta styled with wide scoop necklines and torso bodices. They wore matching headpieces with circular tulle veils and carried cascading bouquets of yellow pompoms and matching ribbons. Barry Hitchcock was his brother's best man. Wesley Smith, Gerald Nell and Robert Benjamin served as groomsmen and ushers. Craig Hitchcock, brother of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer, and Cindy Hitchcock, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Blue, white and yellow crepe paper decorated Locke town hall for the reception immediately after the ceremony.

Mrs. Jack Force served wedding cake, and Miss Marlene Warfield served the groom's cake. Mrs. Robert Smith presided at the punch bowl. Ice cream was served by Miss Joyce Schuchaski. Others assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Burton Boisford, Mrs. Burton Johnson, Mrs. Harlow Sly, Mrs. Carroll Glynn, Mrs. Grant Fellows, Miss Jean Daman and Miss Jean Johnson. Miss Evelyn Townsend had charge of the guest register.

The bride changed to a black and white knit suit for their wedding trip to northern Michigan. She is a 1957 graduate of Danville Agricultural school and is employed at Pioneer Mutual life insurance company, Lansing. The bridegroom is a graduate of Williamston high school with the class of 1957. He is engaged in farming near Williamston, where the couple will reside on Meech road.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Country Kitchen.

Garden Club Has Meeting

Mrs. Robert Seyfarth opened her home to members of Mason-Danville Garden club Tuesday. Mrs. K. A. Zimmerman and Mrs. Herman Wall were co-hostesses at the dessert luncheon. Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Joe Roe, were present.

After a short business meeting, the group spent the remainder of the afternoon working on their terrariums. Mrs. Roe took materials for members to use and also assisted with the program. Mrs. Wall and Mrs. Seyfarth went to Grayling Thursday to gather materials for terrariums.

Mrs. William Clark, Mrs. A. O. Greenough and Mrs. Glenn Osterle, delegates to the State Federation meeting at Kellogg Center Thursday, gave their reports.

Preceding the meeting the hostesses served angel food cake and ice cream with fresh strawberry topping. Mrs. Seyfarth picked the strawberries from her patch.

Read Labels, Avoid Dangers

The increased use of household chemicals for cleaning can make simple household chores a rather dangerous pastime, according to Carol Morris, home demonstration specialist at Michigan State university.

The same applies when you don't read labels and realize the strength of the chemicals you are using to clean your floors, sinks and clothes. Miss Morris cautions.

She states that 600 to 1,000 deaths from accidental poisoning occur annually, mostly to children. The total number harmed or injured is 1,000 to 2,000 and the effects exceed those of any of the childhood diseases.

Homemakers are often unaware of the dangerous chemicals they are using because of insufficient information on the labels or because they don't read the labels. Miss Morris stresses that buyers should look for and insist upon informative labels.

She cites the following examples: Household bleach, found in almost every home, is a water solution of sodium hypochlorite. Any acid or acid-producing substance will react with chlorine bleach and liberate deadly chlorine gas.

Mrs. Carrie M. Westover, who has been a guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Collar Potter for the past 3 months, left for Detroit Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Shultis and family of Roseville spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shultis.

Dr. and Mrs. George R. Clinton went by plane with Harry Smith to Hamilton, Ohio, where they spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. C. Paul Clinton and daughters. They visited Sharon at Mercy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Tiffany of Marine City visited Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Zickgraf over the week end. Harry Smith left Wednesday on a business trip for Freedom, Pennsylvania, regional offices for Ashland Oil Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hays and sons of Phillips road returned home Sunday night from Rensselaer, Indiana, where they had been visiting Mrs. Hays' mother, Mrs. C. C. Parks, and other relatives since Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. DuWayne Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fiedler went to Schuler's at Marshall for dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Walt were week end house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klemm of Saginaw.

BEFORE HER MARRIAGE Friday evening, September 20, at Holt Baptist church Mrs. Arden Raymond Strother was Norma Hazel Richter of Holt. Rev. James Pasma performed the nuptial ceremony.

Double-Ring Rites Unite Couple in Holt Church

Holt Baptist church was the scene of a pretty wedding Friday evening, September 20, when Miss Norma Hazel Richter became the bride of Arden Raymond Strother. The couple spoke their vows before an altar flanked by candelabra, palms and baskets of gladioli. Rev. James Pasma performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Richter, Sr. of Holt. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Strother of Highland Park.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of tulle over satin. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline.

Her bouffant skirt had inserts of lace and extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown. She carried a white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom's sister, topped with a white orchid, Stephanotis and ivy with satin ribbon and lovers knots.

Mrs. D. Ray Moore was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length pink frock of net over taffeta. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Bobby R. Bush of Corinth, Mississippi, and Mrs. Maurice Baldwin of Holt, sister of the bride, wore waltz-length dresses of blue net over taffeta. They carried cascade arrangements of pink roses, pompoms and ivy.

James Gordon Strother of Detroit served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Bobby R. Bush, Maurice Baldwin, and Dud and Robert Richter, Jr., brothers of the bride.

Mary Moore, in a pink gown identical to the matron of honor's, was flowergirl. John Baldwin carried the wedding rings. Gladioli and mums decorated the church parlors for the reception in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake was served from a lace-covered table. Miss Lois Strother presided at the guest register.

Mrs. Caroline E. Atterholt of Grand Rapids, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, was a special guest. Out-of-town guests were from Detroit and Grand Rapids.

For going away the bride chose a light blue ensemble with black accessories. After returning from a northern Michigan honeymoon, the newlyweds are making their home in Detroit, where the bridegroom is taking an electronics course. The bride attended Moody Bible institute.

Choose Coat Carefully, It Is Key to Wardrobe

By ANNETTE SCHAEFFER

Your coat is the one article of clothing you will wear the longest, wear the most often, and pay the most for. That's what extension specialists from Michigan State university tell us. That's why one of the important secrets of dressing well is to key all the other clothes you buy to your coat.

There are some suggestions for choosing that all-important winter coat for high school or college . . . or for any wear, for that matter.

Choose a style that is basic enough so that it looks well with your school, your date and your "Sunday best" clothes. Few of us can afford coats for different occasions.

You like a strictly sports coat. But, how will it look over a date dress? The strictly dress coat is a "dream," but, will it look right over school clothes?

Watch out for radical style features that quickly date a coat. Select something less expensive . . . accessories, for example, if you like things that are different. There is also the question of plaids. A plaid coat, while lovely and colorful, is limited in wearability, especially in a short coat. For, then you'll need to be concerned about stripes, tweeds and plaids in your skirts and dresses.

In a well-planned wardrobe, the colors of your dresses, suits and separates are all coordinated with the color of your coat. You will have more leeway for color combinations if your coat is in a basic color . . . gray, blue, beige, brown or black. And, we might add that red, although not a basic color, certainly goes well with many things. This year there is so much color in coats, you may have to plan more basic colors in the other garments to harmonize well.

Keep coordination in mind when it comes to silhouettes, too. A coat with straight, slim lines is ideal for straight slim dresses. But, how will it look over a full skirt? A fitted coat and a princess dress go well together. But what happens when you wear a boxy suit under a fitted coat?

If you wear both slim and full dresses and outfits, select a coat with enough fullness to look well with both. Check to see that the coat has an adequate lap so that it doesn't gap when you walk or sit down.

Keep Michigan Green Is Historical Society Theme

Help Keep Michigan Green—Bring Money was the unofficial slogan of Michigan tourism at the 83rd annual meeting of the Historical Society of Michigan in Bay City's Wenonah hotel Friday.

The meeting opened with a panel discussion on What Can Michigan History Do for the Tourists? Answers were supplied by officers of Michigan tourist associations and state officials. John Gray, editor of Michigan

Conservation, stated that his department can do nothing about historic sites on the 6 1/2 million acres under its control. Panel members stated that new attractions should be developed at the local level throughout the state to offset the through traffic expected at completion of the new highways from Ohio to the Soo.

First copies of a new county history, Bay County—Past and Present, was presented for inspection at the meeting. Written for use in the public schools, the book was published by the Bay City schools. The author, Ira W. Butterfield, along with Dr. Louis Doll, was later initiated into the local Indian tribe. Chief Blue Cloud led his band in an exhibition of Indian dances preceding the ceremony.

Dr. Emil Lorch of the society's architecture committee reported that Michigan history had suffered a great loss in the recent wrecking of the old clerk's quarters on Mackinac Island. He deplored the development of that island as a tourist trap rather than as an attraction based on its colorful history.

New trustees elected to the Historical Society were: Madison Kuhn, MSU; Clair Brown, Cassopolis; Charles Follo, Escanaba; J. S. Gray, Monroe; and Knight McKesson, Lansing. Norman Bunker, county librarian, represented Ingham county at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Smith and Mrs. Lela Sampson of Monroe called on Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith Sunday.

Mrs. James Hulett visited Mrs. Mark Lamoreaux and son, Glen Lamoreaux, at Grand Ledge Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Collar Potter spent the week end with Mrs. Nan Moran and Herbert Taylor.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Janice Kester to Dennis Doolittle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Doolittle of Mason, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sanders.

Both Miss Kester and Mr. Doolittle are 1957 graduates of Mason high school. He is employed by the Ingham county road commission.

The couple will exchange vows Thursday, October 26, at Mason Presbyterian church.

FOX

Fire Down Below
Sun.-Mon.-Tues.
Bounded by heat, hurricane and the Caribbean Sea, where banana boats and hunted women ply their trades, Fire Down Below is the story of a beautiful woman, a mysterious exile who might run out of countries but never out of men, and of the 2 adventurers who are ready to tear each other apart for a chance to pick her up. Fire Down Below tells about Rita Hayworth, a woman from nowhere who is going no place without a passport, without hope. She is weary with life and with the countless encounters she has had with men, until she joins Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon on their small fishing boat, for clandestine transportation from one tropic island to another.

FOX

Spook Chasers
Thurs.-Fri.-Sat.
Huntz Hall is his usual zany self as he leads the boys into a madcap adventure that finds the gang enmeshed with spooks, ghosts and hobgoblins in a dilapidated farmhouse that once was a hangout for a band of crooks. The gags fly fast and the laughs come even faster before Hall and his buddies finally unshuck the ghosts and solve the mysteries.

FOX

Hold Back The Night
Thurs.-Fri.-Sat.
Hold Back The Night is taken from the best-selling novel by Pat Frank. John Payne portrays the respected Marine captain, Sam MacKenzie, in this story of the Korean conflict, with Mona Freeman cast as his fiancée. The picture was directed by veteran movie-maker Allan Dwan for Producer Hayes Goetz.

Couple Speaks Vows

By Ruth Horstman

Carol Lee Dillingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Dillingham, of Route 2, Williamston, became the bride of Ralph Edward Opper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Opper of Lansing, in a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian church, Lansing, Friday, September 20.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William G. Kithen.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of imported rose-point lace and nylon tulle over satin. The bride carried a white chapel train of patterned lace was cut in redingote-style over a tulle skirt of over-lapping tiers.

Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion fell from a lace plateau, scattered with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a crescent bouquet of pinocchio pumpkins and Fuji mums.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Gerald Bierhoffer, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were her sisters, Mrs. Willard Robinson and Mrs. Ronald Terrell of Lansing, and a classmate, Ruth Reese of Williamston.

All 4 attendants were identically gowned in ballerina-length dresses of Nile green nylon chiffon with matching headpieces.

Donald Wilson of Lansing was the best man, and ushers were Willard Robinson, Ronald Terrell and Gerald Bierhoffer, all of Lansing.

A reception was given in the church social hall after the ceremony. Aiding hosts were Mr. and Mrs. A. S. DeVries and Mr. and Mrs. O. Grow. Assisting with the serving were Joane Beatty, Vada Stedman, Helen Homan, Janet De-

Riverside Motel Opens in Lansing

Lansing's new Riverside Manor motel, 150-room facility, is open for business and it promises to be good.

The new motel costing $1,500,000, is an ultra-modern structure which the owners describe as "the traveler accommodation establishment of the future." It has deluxe hotel features with motel informality and convenience.

It is located within easy walking distance of state capital buildings and downtown stores on US-27 and M-78 at Washington avenue and Main.

Riverside Manor has room-controlled heat and air conditioning, television in every room, coffee shop, private dining room and convention room, ample free parking space and its "no tipping" policy.

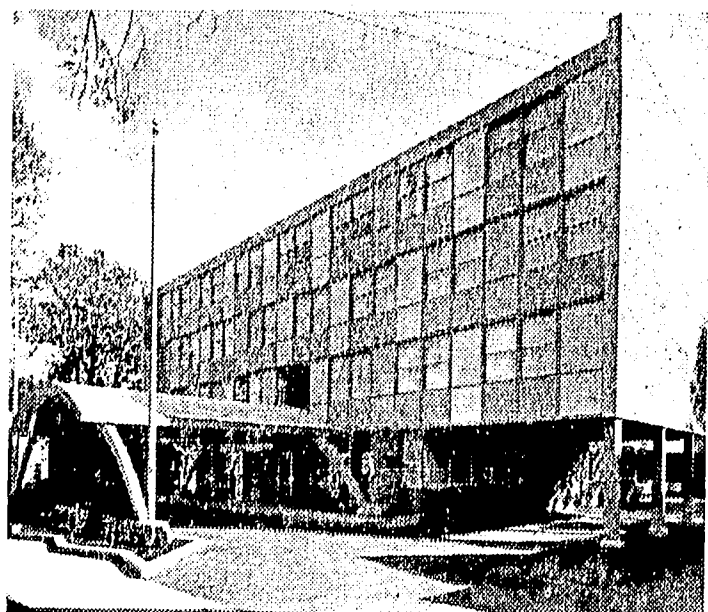

Much of Riverside Manor's unusualness stems from its architectural and interior design.

The 4-story building is raised on stilts in recognition of downtown parking requirements. The exterior pastel colors of blue, yellow, pink and chartreuse were influenced by both early Egyptian architecture and Mondrian, the modern French painter.

The exterior color theme has been carried throughout the interior of the building. One color predominates in the design of each floor.

Rosen and Horowitz of Chicago, Illinois, were the architects. They have also designed many other commercial buildings in the mid-west. Nationally famous Richard Himmel, A. I. D., also of Chicago, was the interior designer. He is noted as an author, furniture designer and he designed the cover of "Better Homes and Gardens Idea Book of 1957."

The furnishings and fixtures, from lobby to guest rooms, were custom designed and coordinated

Lansing has a brand new hotel even though it is called a motel. It has 4 floors elevated on stilts. The elevation is to provide parking space for guests. Guests help serve themselves at Riverside and this escapes the nuisance of tipping. There's a no-tip policy. The motel is on the right bank of the Grand between Washington avenue and Cherry street with the entrance on East Main.

to follow the modern theme of the motel.

Poster-Schermerhorn-Barnes, Inc. of Lansing, the general contractor, started work on Riverside Manor a year ago.

Landscaping was done by R. D. Miller Nursery of Lansing.

The coffee shop will be operated by Buddy Food Service of Toledo. It is expected to open in 2 weeks.

Each Riverside Manor room is attractively and completely furnished. Carpeted rooms are available with either double or twin beds. Each guest may control his room's heat and air-conditioning by individual thermostats and blower controls. Bathrooms are equipped with combination tubs and showers.

The private dining room is available for parties, conferences, etc., and the convention room located in the lower level can accommodate 175 persons at meetings and 100 at banquets.

Other Riverside Manor conveniences include telephones in each room, automatic elevator service, soft drink vending machines, extra hot or ice cold water fountains, ice cube making machines and room service.

Robert D. Coleman is the manager.

One of Washtenaw's Best Farmers Buys Pauley Farm East of Mason

Taking over the Dr. O. Keith Pauley farm, east of Mason on M-36, is one of the leading farmers of Washtenaw county. Industrialization forced the Frank E. McCalla family to seek more acreage all in one chunk. They bought the 312-acre Pauley holdings.

This is what the Ann Arbor News had to say about the McCalla family which Washtenaw is losing to Ingham:

The creeping industrialization of Washtenaw county, noted almost with alarm in recent years by planning commissions and land utilization experts, has proceeded so far that today there appears to be neither space nor opportunity for an ambitious farmer to develop a modern, efficient, large-scale operation here.

Case in point is Frank E. McCalla's effort to centralize his several widespread farming operations for more efficient use of his big investment in mechanized farm equipment. Thwarted in this effort he is moving this week, with his wife and family, to his recently purchased 312-acre farm at the outskirts of Mason, on M-36.

His acceptance of the inevitable takes on added significance in the light of the high place he holds in the county's agricultural life. He is more than a member of a family whose name is synonymous with good farming in Washtenaw. McCalla is a former president of the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau whose membership includes 1,700 of the 2,100 farm family heads in the county. He was one of the organizers of the Farm Council, and building chairman for construction of the new $55,000 Farm Council buildings, at Pleasant Lake and Saline-Ann Arbor roads. He and Mrs. McCalla are active in the Zion Lutheran church on Northfield Church road, the Webster Grange and in 4-H club leadership.

McCalla's greatest pride is the Blue Ribbon Livestock 4-H club of which he is leader. For 5 straight years their Chester White barrow entries at the state 4-H club show and at the Michigan state fair have captured the grand championships.

From his own herd of approximately 400 head of Chester Whites have come animals that won blue ribbons almost without number.

The move to the Mason farm involves an almost complete change in operation. There he will have a centralized base of operations where he will concentrate on milk production with a herd of 70 Holsteins and egg production with a flock of 3,000 Leghorn layers. The farm's grain and hay output will be utilized largely on the farm itself. His children will take along only a few Chester Whites and Berkshire hogs for their county and state show entries.

Here in Washtenaw county McCalla has never been able to find available for purchase a single farm large enough to justify his huge investment in mechanized equipment. He felt he needed a tract of 300 to 400 acres.

With little employed help he has been operating the 160-acre Fritz farm on Miller avenue, the 120-acre Walters farm on Newport road, the Roland Stein 120 acres on the Whitmore Lake road and with his brother, Ralph, the Washtenaw county farm of 150 acres at Washtenaw and Platt roads. All that, in addition to his own 33-acre farmstead at 430 W. Five Mile road.

In Washtenaw county the name McCalla means good farming. Practically all of the many members of the various McCalla families are engaged in some form of activity. Charles McCalla, Frank's father, operates the Washtenaw Farm Bureau store, with the help of Frank's brother, Ray. Three other brothers, Bill, Ralph and Albert, are farmers. Morgan works for the Ann Arbor dairy; and a sister, Mrs. Dalton Stump is in the agricultural stabilization committee office in Ann Arbor.

Three of their 4 McCalla children are moving to the Mason farm with their parents. They are Darold, a senior at Michigan State university; Dale and Susan who already are enrolled, respectively, in the ninth and seventh grades in the Mason school. A fourth child is Mrs. David Balduz, the former Francis McCalla.

Visitor Stricken At Mason Home

In Mason for a week end visit with his sister, a Chicago man died of a heart attack Sunday morning.

Wendell J. Pander, 44, a seaman in the merchant marine, was at the Robert Newman home on Dexter Trail. He had been in a hospital several weeks previously but was regarded as making recovery.

The seaman with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pander of Chicago, arrived at the Newman home Saturday. He died at 5:30 Sunday morning. Mrs. Newman and daughters, Kathy and Diane, went to Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pander Sunday. The body of the dead man was taken there by Ball-Dunn ambulance Sunday. Robert Newman left Tuesday for Chicago to attend funeral services Wednesday. He is laboratory technician at Mason General hospital.

Students Finish Work on Degrees

Several Ingham county students were among the 630 who completed work on degrees at Michigan State by summer study.

Mason students who have qualified for degrees are Ralph W. Furtney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Furtney, bachelor of science in mechanical engineering; Kathleen G. Hunt, daughter of M. L. Hunt, bachelor of arts in elementary education; Mrs. Suzanne Pearsall Budd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilson Pearsall, bachelor of science in nursing education; and Arthur L. Wells, son of Fred W. Wells, master of science in entomology.

Williamston students finishing degree work were Gerald Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Smith, bachelor of science in geology; and Irvin V. Kuehner, son of Mrs. Alma Kuehner, master of science in geology.

Mrs. Beth N. Baldwin, daughter of Guy L. Hack, Holt, qualified for a bachelor of science degree in physical education; Walter C. Jenvey, Holt, a master of science in administrative and educational services; and Daniel Hovanessian, master of arts in physical education.

Church Leader Says: God's Laws Insure Freedom

New freedom and power are opened up to humanity as the spiritual laws of God are understood and applied, Ralph E. Wagers of Chicago told an audience at Mason Monday evening.

Laws of God which are ever at hand are being successfully applied to human problems of every kind, Wagers declared. During the course of his lecture he described healings through spiritual means of arthritis and cancer.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mason, in the church auditorium, the subject "Christian Science: A Spiritual Discovery." He was introduced by Mrs. Phyllis Hasty, second reader of the Mason church.

"The large number of new church edifices of various Christian denominations that are springing up everywhere are healthy signs of the times," Wagers said, "especially when we see that they point to the need of another kind of building—the building of Christian character."

"The tremendous physical forces that are in men's hands today make such building more important than ever."

Physicists are warning, he said, that progress in the moral and spiritual realms is vitally needed.

Ag Grads Are Needed

Two career opportunities for every agricultural college graduate is a fact in today's man power situation.

That's the present national picture, according to Vernon C. Larson of Michigan State university. Each year the nation's land grant colleges and universities graduate about 8,500 young men and women in agriculture while nearly twice that many, 15,000, agriculturists are needed, he declared.

Larson points out that more than a third of all U. S. workers are engaged in agriculture or agriculture-related jobs. And as agriculture has made technological advances, there are fewer unskilled jobs and more positions for craftsmen, technicians and scientists.

A recent survey of nearly 3,000 MSU agricultural graduates showed that they are involved in over 500 different types of work. General types of work included agricultural business and industry, public agricultural service, teaching, farming and research.

Mason Student Enters Wheaton

Miss Marie Lyons, daughter of Harold Lyons, is a graduate student at Wheaton college (Ill.). She attended Michigan State university and taught in Jackson before entering Wheaton where she is preparing for a teaching career.

Located in suburban Wheaton, 25 miles west of Chicago, Wheaton college attracts students from all over the country as well as an average of 36 foreign countries who lend a cosmopolitan atmosphere to the attractive campus. Wheaton has a limited enrollment of 1600 students and 100 graduate students in the graduate school and seminary.

Other departments of Wheaton college include Wheaton academy, a preparatory school offering 4 years of high school on its own campus at Prince Crossing, 7 miles west of Wheaton college. It accommodates 225 students. A nursing program for 250 young women in affiliation with West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, Illinois, leads to the bachelor of science in nursing degree at the college.

Dansville Wins Second Straight

Everybody's happy in Dansville. The 1957 football season is already a success.

The Aggies beat Leslie 26-0 Friday for the second victory in 2 starts.

The record is quite an accomplishment for a team which some people figured wouldn't beat anybody.

Last year Dansville had a senior-loaded squad with speed, size and ability. Dansville was supposed to be the team to beat for the Ingham County league title. Instead the Aggies managed to win only 2 games.

This season Coach Francis Cappaert had only 30 boys report for football. Candidates came in all shapes and sizes with most of them small. In spite of the inexperience and the featherweights the Aggies have looked good in both outings so far.

Just how good Dansville is will be determined Friday night at Williamston. The Hornets are buzzing over their shutout at the hands of Haslett. After the Hornets poured on 39 points in the opener at Byron, Haslett, listed as another weak one, derailed them Friday night.

Dansville will give away weight in the line and will be facing an experienced crew. This hasn't stopped the inspired Aggies in their first 2 games, though. Leslie, still seeking its first victory, will take on Stockbridge. The Blackhawks are in for another rough night. Stockbridge has a line averaging 200 lb and backs to go with it.

Dansville was slow starting against Leslie but once underway the Aggies left no doubt as to the outcome. Early in the second quarter Jim Breslin fired a short pass to Glenn Wireman on a touchdown play covering 10 yards.

With time running out in the first half Ed Bearss caught Dick Lampman beyond the Leslie secondary and with a perfect strike. Lampman jogged the remaining yards for a 65-yard scoring play. With the ice broken, Dansville settled down to dominate play. The first time the Aggies had their hands on the ball in the third quarter they started a drive which sent Gordon Rles over from 19 yards out.

Ralph Oakley completed the Dansville scoring in the last quarter when he climaxed a drive by smashing across the goal line from 2 yards out.

Dansville outgained the Blackhawks in the air and on the ground.

"YOU THERE?"—These fenceers in Paris, France, seem to be trying to make sure each is there. Or maybe it's a staring match. If so, man on left should have switched his gaze to his stocking, which apparently got tired of it all.

Everett Is Next Foe

Mason Stops Okemos 13-6

Good breaks, alert defensive play and some timely passes enabled Mason to down Okemos 13-6 Friday night at the Chieftain field.

The Chiefs, fresh from a win over Perry, were favored to hand Mason its second loss of the year. Coach Fred Driver's crew played good steady ball to upset the Chieftain plans.

Friday night Mason launches its Capital Circuit season in a game at Everett. The Vikings will be tough in spite of 2 straight losses. In the opener Charlotte nosed them out and Friday night Hillsdale used Everett bobbles to do the same thing.

Everett has a big line but Mason's linemen are becoming used to the big boys. Both Stockbridge and Okemos had big weight edges. Everett also has a good passing game with Jim Yarger and Larry Counsellor doing most of the throwing.

Against this crew Driver will stick with the team which looked so well against Okemos.

The Chieftains won't have much time to lick their wounds. Friday night they will take on Haslett. The Lakers surprised everyone by stopping Williamston with ease Friday.

Coach Fred Driver had plenty to smile about Friday night. After the poor defensive showing against Stockbridge in the opener, Mason's line finally found out they could charge and tackle. Though Case Hoonhout, star Okemos back, punched through the middle for long gains once in a while, Mason always managed to stiffen and stop the drive.

It took about 5 minutes of the first quarter for Mason players to find themselves. After a mediocre start Bruce Horton dropped back and tossed a pass to Larry Wheeler. Wheeler snatched it out of the hands of the Okemos safety and scored without a hand placed on him.

With the first touchdown of the year under the belt Mason settled down.

In the second quarter Don Torrance, Mason sophomore, picked off one of the Okemos passes and ran it back 35 yards to the Okemos 15. Doug Lamke plunged to the 5 and then Horton scored on a beautifully-executed fake hand-off run around end.

Dart Stone kicked the extra point.

Okemos came back in the last quarter with a drive covering 65 yards. Hoonhout was the main ground gainer for the Chieftains. He tallied the touchdown on a 17-yard sprint. Gary Gardner blocked the extra point try.

With time running out the Chieftains put on the pressure. Twice they penetrated into Mason territory and twice they were thrown back. With 2 minutes remaining Okemos had the ball on Mason's 17 with a first down.

Four times Okemos backs plunged into the line and 4 times Mason held to take over the ball on downs.

Mason punted the ball out of danger and clinched the game when Wheeler recovered the fumbled punt.

Except for a few occasions Mason's line displayed good defensive ball. Surprise of the game was the play of Bill Gavin. The Mason freshman was in on most the tackles and on 2 occasions jarred the runners from the ball. One of those fumbles he recovered.

Other linemen who stopped Okemos backs in their tracks most of the time were Jack Silsby, Gary Gardner, Mike Lett, Dennis Whipple and Dave Dunsmore. Wheeler's play at end was outstanding.

Lamke and Stone gave Mason a good running threat and for the first time this season the Bulldogs had a passing attack. Horton had more protection and more times. Clipper's work on defense, along with that of Don Torrance had much to do with Mason posting its first victory.

Okemos will make trouble for Ingham County league teams this fall. The Chiefs are big and rangy and Hoonhout is an outstanding runner with lots of deception and power. Bob Zaver played a hard-charging game in the line.

Freshmen Battle Comets to Tie

Mason's freshman football team battled Grand Ledge to a 0-0 tie Thursday night at Athletic field.

Both teams showed sharp blocking and tackling. Mason's youngsters tackled sharper and harder than the varsity.

Coach Bob Cone will send his reserve team against Everett Thursday night. The freshmen are idle until Wednesday when they travel to Howell.

Mason has some good backfield prospects in the mill if the freshman game Thursday night is any indication. Bob Porche, Dave Doolittle, Eric Lett and Pete Lumianski played outstanding ball. Lumianski and Porche came close to breaking into the clear several times, only to have the Grand Ledge secondary nip them from behind. Doolittle's punting was also exceptional.

In the line Bill Bray, Dennis Dudley and Joe Miller were standouts.

Rocks Take 20-6 Win

Resurrection handed Kalamazoo St. Augustine a 20-6 setback Saturday night at Everett's field. St. Augustine lost 2 in a row to Lansing teams. Last week St. Mary did the trick. Jim Keagle was the key man in the Shamrock attack. He scored twice on passes from Doug Waters. Keagle added the third touchdown on a sprint around end. Kalamazoo picked up its touchdown on an intercepted pass. Resurrection will face stiff competition Friday in a Capital Circuit game at Howell.

Williamston Fumbles Help Haslett Post 21-0 Upset

Fumbles paved the way for Haslett's 21-0 victory over favored Williamston Friday night.

One of the fumbles belonged to the Lakers and was one of their better gains. Ron Taber fell on the ball in the Williamston end zone when it slipped from teammate Ron Ferguson's hands in the third quarter. The fumble accounted for Haslett's first score.

The next Haslett touchdown came after Haslett recovered a fumbled punt. Two plays later, Bob Schram picked up the last 12 yards.

In the final quarter Haslett again converted a Williamston fumble into a touchdown. The Hornets lost the ball on the 49-yard line. Haslett drove the remaining yards with Bob Nostrand rolling the scoring on a play covering 4 yards.

Williamston, after displaying a powerful offense last week at Byron, never did have an attack rolling. The Hornets didn't move inside Haslett's 20-yard line all night.

Friday night Haslett will hook up with Okemos in what always is a bruising grid battle.

Both teams have 1-1 records. Both are listed among the teams capable of winning the Ingham County league championship. Okemos has the bigger squad and Case Hoonhout, one of the best runners in any league. Haslett has a green but promising team.

Williamston will have its hands full again Friday night. The Hornets will entertain the surprising Dansville Aggies. Dansville, a team which lost most of its players last year, is doing real well with the newcomers. So far Dansville pulled off upsets in its first 2 games.

The win places the Aggies at the top of the Ingham County league along with Stockbridge and Haslett.

ROCKS ARE NEXT

Howell Is Easy Winner

Howell had too much for Flint Northern reserves Friday night. The Highlanders scored in every period except the third for an 18-6 victory.

Victory won't come so easy for Howell Friday night when Lansing Resurrection brings its Shamrocks to town for their first Capital Circuit game.

Resurrection and Howell loom as the powerhouses in the conference. Resurrection topped Kalamazoo St. Augustine Saturday night 20-6, in spite of the many Resurrection fumbles.

Jim Keagle and Doug Waters give Resurrection the best running and passing combination in the league. The Shamrocks have a heavy line to clear the path and show good defensive play.

Doug Gerkin is the key of the Howell offense. He is a sharp passer and a strong runner.

Against Flint Northern Gerkin gained 2 yards for one score. Byron Rogers picked up another touchdown on a 5-yard run and Karl Kendall, a newcomer, added the third touchdown on a 4-yard smash.

Howell has not shown any explosive power so far this year. The Highlanders just keep grinding out the yardage in small

Holt Dumps St. Mary 7-0 To Spoil Circuit Start

Holt roughed up St. Mary Friday night in the initial Capital Circuit contest for the Big Blues. The Rams emerged with a 7-0 win thanks to a screen pass in the last seconds of the first half.

St. Mary pushed Holt all over the field but when the chips were down Coach Walt Palowski's Rams stopped St. Mary short of the goal line.

Saturday night St. Mary will take on Kalamazoo St. Augustine while Holt meets a new foe, Comstock Park. The game will be played in the Grand Rapids suburban community.

Holt could not move the ball against the bigger St. Mary line. Just how thoroughly St. Mary throttled the Rams is shown in the game statistics. St. Mary gained 235 yards on the ground while Holt picked up 98. The Big Blues rolled to 13 first downs to 6 for Holt.

The Rams had a slight edge in the air, picking up 30 yards on 3 completed passes. The Big Blues would have been better off without completing their one pass. It lost 11 yards for them.

Doug Holliday set up Holt's touchdown when he picked off a St. Mary pass and returned it 45 yards to the Big Blue 18. With time running out Holt failed on 2 passes but on the next one Darwin Shaver tossed a screen pass to Jack Livensparger which accounted for the lone score of the game.

Holt made one more threat in the last quarter when Shaver and Livensparger sparked a drive which carried to the St. Mary 28 before it sputtered to a halt.

St. Mary almost pulled the game out of the fire in the last quarter with a 66-yard drive but Holt's defense rallied on the 13-yard line. The Rams couldn't move the ball and punted. The kick was short and again the Big Blues started to march but again Holt's defense stopped the drive.

Panthers Defeat Gladiators 15-0

Stockbridge knocked off Fowlerville Friday night in its first Ingham County league start to move to the top of the standings along with Dansville and Haslett. For the second game in a row the Stockbridge goal line was not crossed.

Chances of it being crossed Friday night are rather remote, also. The Panthers will move over to Leslie for what should be an easy victory. Leslie has been far from impressive in its 2 losses so far. The Blackhawks have scored one touchdown so far. They have given up 6 touchdowns to Eaton Rapids and 4 touchdowns to Dansville.

Fowlerville will take a rest from league competition and tangle with Perry.

Fred Mills continued to plague the enemy defenses. The hard-running back tore through Fowlerville in the first period for 63 yards and a touchdown. Frank Lee tallied the other Panther touchdown on a 12-yard power play in the third quarter.

Stockbridge picked up the 2-point safety when Dave Schutte and Gary Cornish stopped Archie Crowfoot behind the goal.

Routes entitled to 90% federal aid in the 16-year federal highway program

Ingham will be traversed its full breadth by US-16 with the federal government paying 90% of the costs. The stretch from Detroit to Muskegon is on the schedule for early construction.

Only 35 of Michigan's 83 counties will share 90% U. S. aid in highway construction under present federal highway plans.

"The 5-year highway construction program which the state highway department will soon announce will place emphasis on speedy development of routes which can earn 90% federal aid," declared John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner.

Latest estimates indicate the reconstruction of the some 1,000 miles of interstate routes in Michigan would cost in the vicinity of $1,500,000,000.

Detroit, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and Saginaw have been given special urban interstate connecting routes in the program which will qualify for 90% assistance, but, with the exception of the John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways in Detroit, final locations of these connections have not yet been determined.

Latest information from the bureau of public roads indicates the federal government hopes to reimburse Michigan for the cost of the reconstruction of the system over a period of 16 years. The state is attempting to budget for completion of the entire system in less than that time, perhaps in less than 10 years.

ONLY 32 PER CENT OF THE HIGHWAY ROUTES IN MICHIGAN WHICH HAVE A U.S. DESIGNATION ARE ENTITLED TO 90-10 FEDERAL ASSISTANCE. THE ABOVE ROUTES, DESIGNATED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AS THE VITAL INTERSTATE SYSTEM, WILL RECEIVE HIGH PRIORITY IN MICHIGAN'S ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM. THEY MUST BE BUILT TO LIMITED ACCESS STANDARDS TO EARN 90% FEDERAL AID. FEDERAL ALLOCATIONS TO COMPLETE THIS SYSTEM ARE TO BE MADE OVER A PERIOD OF 16 YEARS.

Dorcas Circle Meets at Taylors

Twenty-two members of the Dorcas circle were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wayne Taylor with Mrs. Dorn Diehl and Mrs. Roscoe Arnold, as assistant hostesses. Devotions were led by Mrs. Vincent Carlen. Programs for the year were discussed and booklets were given to members.

After the business meeting gifts were presented to Mrs. Harold Mondol, the honored guest, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dorn Diehl.

Frank Woods of Kinross spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woods. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wing and family and Miss Nancy Wilkinson attended the wedding of Miss Dorothy Dunsmore and Allan Hitchcock at Vanport Methodist church Saturday evening. They also attended the reception at Locke town hall after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sherman and family were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carney of Wayne. Miss Frances Keene spent the week end at the home of her brother, Mort Keene of Ypsilanti.

The system is designed to connect major Michigan cities with a national system of highways mileage but carry over 20% of the traffic. In order to earn 90% federal aid, all routes on the interstate system must be built to controlled access or expressway standards. There will be no stop lights, cross traffic will be separated at all intersections, and in most areas a right-of-way of 300 feet will be required, which will comprise 1% of the total U. S. highway.

Farmer Peck Is Glad October Has Arrived

Morning and night the girls recite Helen Hunt Jackson's September. They say it over and over as though it had some magical hold over them. Then this morning Susy started using different tones and odd sound effects, high and low, and asked me if I didn't think it made it sound almost like a different poem altogether. It seems to have charmed her.

It does not charm their father. He thinks they have run that one to the ground and is glad October is here. Wonder if he has forgotten that there is an October just as catchy and that October has one more day in it than September!

Sammy has joined the latest fad of reciting and enjoys adding what he knows and hears. He and I have had some chummy talks and times, now that the girls are back in school. I remember writing of this same closeness last year at this time.

He and I were sitting in the lawn chairs this morning after every one had gone. The actual times that I have sat there that relaxed and easy all summer were few and far between. (They are almost more of an ornament than of much use to me personally. My own fault though.)

The last of the old hens were sold yesterday (380) and that left just the pullets (450) to tend. How that does shorten time. These chickens had me on a string all summer like a puppet running back and forth among the 3 coops feeding, watering and gathering eggs. They really laid well and I hate to think of doing them without the egg washer.

Though Susy kept wondering where that time went to that we saved cleaning eggs. She says, "I ought to be somewhere just like a little piece torn off the calendar and half an hour or so that you could do anything in the world with." I told her that that is one of the mysteries of the world of where the time goes that we save with time-saving devices.

As Sammy and I sat there happy and free as the air we breathed it came to me with a leap how fast the world is turning. Sammy is not a tiny little boy any more. He's 4 and a half.

It's funny how we mothers go along from day to day cooking and washing and keeping house. Our families are around us and we are so busy we scarcely see them unless something comes up. I mean we just see them as being the same as they were the day before . . . the changes come on gradually. Then something is said or happens, maybe not even anything out of the ordinary, and you open your eyes and look at them as though you hadn't seen them in months. Really seen them. You have been so busy with the essentials that some mighty important incidentals have gone by unnoticed.

We didn't even take many movies this summer. Why? We got the movie camera so we could take the children when they were small and changed so much; when there is so much life to catch and then let time get away because the things that had to be done swallowed up the things that are the best part to save and remember.

I wonder if mothers use September as their time for reflection (along with the peaches and tomatoes and pickles) more than at any other time of year. The empty house and strange quietness mean a definite stopping of one kind of life to begin another.

Anyone who can say that that morning rush, lunch pull rituals and after school stampede (starved) aren't a different way of life from summer's freedom must live in a vault!

Do mothers with their last chick gone from the home nest still waken in the fuzzy dawn (until thoroughly awake) with the idea that they must get up and get the kids off to school?

Learning About Health . . .

Most schools now have regular health classes, and some textbook guidance. Having health education an indirect product of many classes is now standard practice in schools.

Parents too, should be respectful of this very important part of child training. Become familiar with the health education your child is receiving. Ask your doctor to suggest both reading and study. It is all for the good.

THE WORK BENCHES OF GOD

Christians are not turned out on assembly lines. The skill and patience of many a human soul, the blueprint of Christ's own example, and the unseen but mighty craftsmanship of the Creator Himself—these over the decades bring forth a noble Christian life.

There must be understanding, guidance, faith. There must be a Christian home with sincere, loving parents. There must be prayer, the Bible, worship, thought, study. And at length practice and persistence must win many a victory over self before the world begins to recognize the hand of God in the life of a man.

Nearby in the church you will choose, there are busy hands at the work benches of God. And room for more—your child's and your own!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Do It Now—Pay Later

Listen to the alluring messages over radio and TV, read them in newspapers and magazines: "Buy now—pay later;" "Do it now—pay later."

People are now taking vacation trips, traveling by plane and ship to far places; doing it now, paying later.

The Nazarene church in its official organ has pointed to the danger of extravagance in the adoption of such slogans, and of the hardship when the day of reckoning finally comes.

If all of us had to settle at the time we bought many of us would change our ways. That goes for our personal habits as well as for the cars we drive, the houses we buy and even some luxuries which have become almost necessities under our time payment system.

If plugged sinuses, that hacking cough and lung cancer followed consumption of the first pack of cigarettes few of us would smoke.

If alcoholism was apt to set in after the first cocktail or beer party, few would ever take a drink.

If obesity followed immediately every overeating spree most of us would leave the banquet table sooner.

It's the slow repayment, it's the putting off of the day of reckoning, which fools us.

We have fun in the big car until the day comes when settlement is demanded. The tunes from the piano seem merry until the music house truck backs up to the door to repossess. Cigarettes have become a habit by the time the cough comes on. Drinking is merely social until the tremors come. Eating rich foods is fun until the accumulation of years affects the health.

Local, state and national governments have become unhealthy because it has been easy to deliver goods now and pay later. Inflation has become almost worldwide because the day of settlement always seems so far off, so far off that our children, our grandchildren and their children will pay for what we now spend or have already spent.

Our economic system is based on credit. The government itself would find it difficult to operate on a cash basis. Yet all of us would be better off physically and morally, as well as economically if we could convince ourselves that "because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily" it will not be imposed at all. The day of reckoning finally comes whether it is health, morals or money that we have spent.

National Newspaper Week

The first obligation of this and all other newspapers is to print the news.

A newspaper has some other functions but the primary obligation is to present the news honestly and fairly, whether the news be good or bad.

The newspaper in the United States and Canada and most other English-speaking countries occupies a unique position. Here in the United States its freedom to print is guaranteed by the constitution. From the beginnings of this republic the newspaper has been considered and has served as an instrument of the people's will.

The first act of every dictator is to suppress newspapers or to gain control of them. That's how Peron gained his power in Argentina. That's how dictators in Cuba and Spain remain in power. That's the way the Soviet government has retained its power, the way Tito and Nasser and all the other dictators gained power and the way they hold it.

Yes, readers may agree on the value and worth and responsibility of big newspapers, but what does the Ingham County News do here at home, they may ask.

That first obligation still holds. It is to print the news, to present honestly and fairly what happens at meetings of the board of supervisors, at meetings of school boards and town boards and city and village councils. Through a local newspaper the people know what transpires in circuit and justice courts. They know what churches and lodges and other groups are doing. At Williamston the Enterprise led the campaign for a swimming pool. At Mason the Ingham County News had an important part in the hospital fund drive. A newspaper tells what people are doing.

Local newspapers also have the responsibility of informing the people what merchants have for sale. Thousands of people use the columns of the Ingham County News to buy and to sell.

National Newspaper Week is not an occasion for self-praise. It is an occasion for self-appraisal. It is a time for newspapers to rededicate themselves to the trust placed in them.

Better Mail Service

Rescheduling of Mason, Okemos, East Lansing and Lansing postal routes makes sense. For postal routes, as do most other man-made arrangements, eventually become obsolete.

Mail carriers from one office have been carrying mail to within sight of another. Some rural routes have been allowed to sprawl in a disorganized fashion.

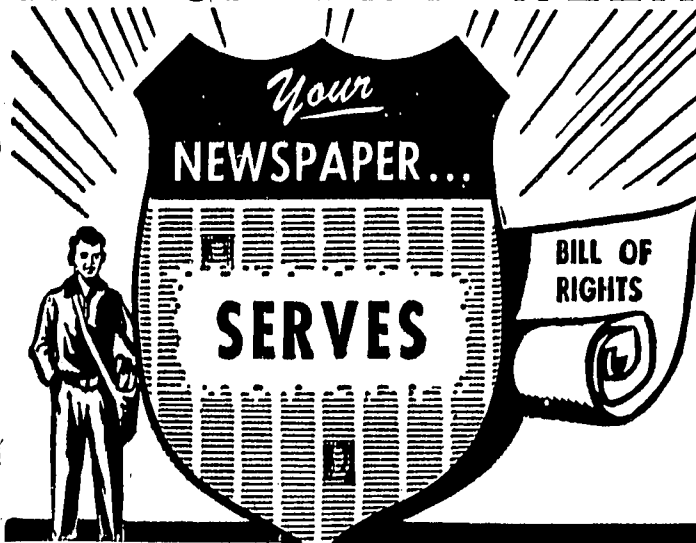

Postal authorities, realizing the confusion of people living in one town and having mailing addresses and phone numbers of one or two others, have brought about some changes. They become effective Saturday.

The addition of Okemos Route 3 and the elimination of Lansing Route 3 plus the juggling of postal patrons in East Lansing, Lansing, Okemos and Mason may cause momentary inconvenience for those who must notify friends of new addresses. But the new system will quickly make it easier for patrons to receive their mail. And just as important, the rescheduling of rural routes should result in lower postal costs.

We all pay the postage no matter where we get our mail or where we send it. The postoffice department does not pay its own way. Some say that it shouldn't be expected to. Taxes make up the difference between postal income and postal expense. When the postoffice saves money we all save.

Efficient mail service is a convenience to patrons and a saving to all.

New blood is what political parties, churches and business organizations demand. Detroit Tiger fans and followers of the Detroit Lions are continually demanding new blood. Even mighty Michigan State and Michigan Wolverines seek it, with tenders of steady pay.

The way to get new blood that's really new is to make it yourself. Here in Mason take a look at Harold and Donald Scofield, Mrs. Marguerite Bement, Al Rice, Bob Ingham, Robert Schaeffer and Frank Guerriero. Schaeffer and Guerriero have changed all their blood twice and the others have changed theirs once and have a good start on the second complete change.

They give their old blood, their tired blood, to others, and make for themselves brand new batches.

Each man and woman has 12 pints of blood in his or her veins. By giving a pint at every Red Cross bloodmobile stop he or she can get a complete blood change every 3 years. What a change does for others it can do for you.

Squirrels with a taste for hickorynuts, walnuts, butternuts and acorns are in the midst of harvest. This is a vintage year for nuts, regarded by some soothsayers as a sure sign of a hard winter. If any qualified person will promise to bake me a butternut or hickorynut cake, I'll reveal the location of fruitful trees.

It's the last time around for muskmelons at Palmer Orchards, Leslie. It was half a crop this year, only 600 bushels on 6 acres, but what a delicious 600 bushels. Before last week's killing frost 200 bushels were picked for Sunday trade. They brought a crowd.

At funeral services for Judge McClellan I saw Don Hootman of the Boo-Hoot Blueberry Ranch. The last picking was on Friday and already marketed from the 42 acres were 150 tons—yes, tons. That's one good reason why Michigan is now in first place in production of cultivated blueberries, taking the lead away from New Jersey.

Dr. N. A. McClure turned to Ecclesiastes in the Apocrypha to get a text for Judge McClellan's funeral service. It was inspiring and fitting: "Let us now praise famous men, men giving counsel by their understanding; leaders of the people by their counsels, and by their knowledge of learning mete for the people; wise and eloquent in their instruction; . . . merciful men whose righteousness hath not been forgotten; . . . whose bodies are buried but whose names liveth forevermore."

The Old Testament Apocrypha are books which Protestants recommend for use but are not regarded as authoritative for doctrine. Roman Catholics include the books, listing them as deuterocanonical.

People with tape recorders have turned to party line conversations for original humor. A Mason man has developed an entertaining program from tapes on his party line; funnier than Uncle Josh records by far.

Mason's school band gets around. Last Saturday it played for the Michigan State-Indiana Big Ten game. This Saturday the Michigan-Georgia game at Ann Arbor. The band will also be available for the Rose Bowl. Director George Murthum said.

Veterans Tax Exemption

A legislative study committee looking into the possibility of eliminating current tax exemptions for disabled war veterans has an important job to do . . . if it will really do the job.

Veterans organizations can be a great help by assuring the public that the cancellation of the property tax exemption for veterans is not to harm the vet but to right a situation that is becoming downright ridiculous.

No more unjust veterans benefit has ever been devised. No more outmoded statute remains on our books. And we doubt that any "benefit" has ever been used more unfairly.

It went on the books shortly after the Spanish-American war when there were only a few veterans and property tax furnished a major portion of our revenue. The federal government was not powerful nor rich and states took care of their own veterans.

Today, in an era of global war, the responsibility of caring for the disabled veteran belongs exclusively to the federal government.

What are the injustices of the veterans exemption? Just take a look:

A veteran with a 5% disability gets the same benefit, or possibly more, than one with a 100% disability or a widow of a man killed in the service of his country.

Assessments are placed on a local level but the local government gets paid by the state for all property exempted through disability. Quite obviously local governments throughout Michigan aren't too cautious about handling the exemption according to law.

The exemption is on the veteran's "homestead" but local assessors often grant the exemption on property used for business purposes.

Local governments throughout Michigan assess at different rates but taxes are paid on an equalized figure established by the state. Exemptions, however, are made on "assessed" figures according to law. This means a veteran in Arenac county gets less in dollar benefits than a similar veteran in Ogemaw county but gets almost twice as much as the same veteran in Wayne county.

This is not an argument to provide less money for disabled veterans. We'll support any plan, any time to provide more money than we are now giving to the truly disabled veteran or the widow and children of a man killed in service. None of these get enough but unfortunately the appeal is often to help the mass not needing the aid instead of these deserving few who need much more.

The veterans real estate tax exemption cost Michigan $1,500,000 in 1951. Last year it has skyrocketed to $5,000,000. Deserving veterans did not get five million dollars in benefit from the law but the money is gone just the same.

Veteran organizations are well aware of the inequities in this law. We hope they will come to the front with support for Sen. Frank Beadle in his attempts to get a bad law off the books. — Arenac County Independent (Standish).

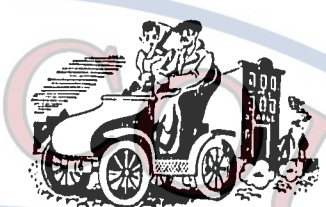

One of the most popular paragraphs in any recent Sycamore column was the plea for 8 instead of 6 pullbeaters on heavy trucks. There has come a demand that reprints and the Michigan Funeral Directors association, or at least to funeral directors in central Michigan. Some directors have already heeded the plea.

"Judge not that ye be not judged" has been tossed to the winds here at the Ingham County News the past 2 weeks. Judgment has been rendered on editorials in the annual Illinois and Florida contests.

Problems look to be about the same in those states as in Michigan—low prices for what people have to sell, high prices for what they have to buy, need for more schools and how to find the money, and annexation pains in school districts and city suburbs.

People who leave their home communities to escape problems might just as well take their own problems along.

This is National Newspaper Week. To enjoy it to the full, read all the display advertisements and want ads, and all the news on every page. Report any error or mistake promptly and we'll try to do better next week.

A gunman robbed Matie's cafe in Leslie of $66 in cash October 6. He pulled a gun on Ila Hetherington, a waitress, forcing her to hand him contents of the till.

Members of Browne-Cavender post, American Legion, harvested 45 acres of beans. The beans were pulled Friday and Saturday and were piled Sunday. Proceeds will be used to help pay for the Legion Memorial building.

Mason lodge No. 70, Knights of Pythias, observed its 50th anniversary Monday night. Judge Arthur J. Tuttle of federal court, a member of the lodge for 40 years, was present to receive a life membership.

Trailing 7-0 at the half, Mason came to life in the second half to beat Charlotte 12-7. LeRoy Lee smashed through tackle for the first Mason touchdown, and Wallace Bailey passed to Paul DeRose for the second.

30 Years Ago—1927

Forty Ingham farmers, led by County Agent J. G. Wells, Jr., spent last Thursday in Monroe county to view ravages of the corn borer and to study methods of control.

Two traffic lights, one at Jefferson and Maple and the other at Jefferson and Ash, have been installed and a third will be installed at Columbia and Cedar.

Roy W. Adams has ordered a pipe organ for the Pastime theatre.

A perfect pass gave Mason a 6-0 victory over Charlotte. Otis Clippert's toss to Hollis Bartlett for 10 yards gave Mason the touchdown in the final quarter.

50 Years Ago—1907

The 2c railroad fare rate is now in effect.

Eugene Edgar has returned from Detroit with 24 Belgian laborers to harvest sugar beets. He took another 50 to Jackson, and delivered some at other places.

The cucumber crop was a disappointment. The early planting was almost a complete loss and the frost put an untimely end to the late ones.

The Hawley block at Leslie was gutted by fire Monday morning. It was a landmark, first built and used as a hotel 50 years ago. Of late years the north part had been occupied by J. J. Murphy, a leading merchant, as a general store, and the south half by a millinery store and a harness store. Dan Moren's daughter discovered the fire. She was awakened by the crashing of glass and the roaring of flames.

On motion of L. B. McArthur, city attorney, Judge Howard Wiest issued an injunction restraining the Northern Construction Co. from doing work for Michigan United Railways company inside of Mason city limits until Monday's hearing. More than three-quarters of Mason residents demand that the company lay its tracks through Main street. The company wants to keep west of the Michigan Central.

Hog Prices Come Down in a Hurry

By CARL COLLIN

Decline in hog prices from the August high to the September low was the largest on record for that period with the exception of 1946. Back in 1946, top hogs were bringing around $24.50 when the OPA set a ceiling of $16.25.

Tonnage of pork increased 33% from early August to the latter part of September. Principal pork cuts in wholesale channels dropped from 11 to 18%. However, new crop hogs, which made up the bulk of the offerings, skidded from a high average of $22.95 on August 3 to a low of $17.90 on September 25. That's a decline of 23.3%. Many hog producers are asking "how come" hog prices fell so much more than wholesale and retail prices of pork.

Farm prices declined about 12% between mid-August and mid-September, ending a 6-month advance. The mid-September price level was 3.8% above that of a year ago but about 21.8% below the record high set back in February, 1951.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in farm production and family living increased one-third of one per cent during the month to match the record set in mid-April.

During the next 20 years, 5% of the nation's total cropland may be taken over for non-agricultural purposes. That's the claim of Sherman Johnson, one of the top economists of USDA. He said that even though this percentage isn't large, he didn't believe it was "good economy" to reduce permanently the nation's agricultural capacity by shifting productive cropland to other uses when poorer land will serve equally or nearly as well. Dr. Johnson suggested a definite need for state and local government planning bodies to work out plans for wiser development and better use of land for urban and farming purposes.

Leaders of the new farm organization, the National Conference of Commodity Organizations, met in Washington last week to work on programs and proposals for boosting prices of a wide list of farm commodities. But they had difficulty in agreeing on means of solving the farm income and surplus problems. Committees will make proposals for consideration of the group when it meets again in December.

One thing the conference did agree on was that the way to reduce surplus production is not by reducing prices or supports. This stand is significant, because it is counter to the administration's farm policy. Secretary Benson's ideas for cutting down surpluses and eventually stabilizing farm prices are based on the theory that prices should be reduced in times of surpluses to discourage output. But then supports should be raised in times of shortages to encourage production.

Some of the commodity leaders attending the conference proposed greater use of the "self-help" principle involving the use of producer funds instead of government money in the management of surpluses.

The production of part-time farmers takes a small but significant share of the market for farm products. A study based on 1951 figures (the latest available) shows that non-commercial farms which are primarily part-time and residential took 3.7% of the market in that year.

Farms with a gross of $25,000 or more a year take the largest share of the market. Figures covering 1951 show that this group took nearly one-third of the market, and the $5,000 to $25,000 group accounted for 27% of the market, and the $5,000 to $10,000 gross income farms had 20% as their share of the market. Farms with gross sales under $5,000 a year had about 17% of the market for their share.

Russia has resumed purchases of Canadian wheat. Under a trade agreement the Soviet Union is supposed to purchase a minimum of 14.8 million bushels annually over a 3-year period.

Butter production the latter part of September was at least 3% below the output for the same period in 1956. Not only did the government not have to buy any butter to boost dairy prices, but it's reported that large stocks were re-bought from CCC to satisfy consumer demand.

Wholesale prices of butter have been running above the support level, making government purchases unnecessary.

Lake Erie is the largest producer of fresh water fish. But up to 70% of the year's catch is taken in a 10-day period starting about mid-March.

The 1958 soil bank program continues to lag behind a year ago. At the end of the third week in September, winter wheat farmers had signed up to retire a little less than 2 million acres from their 1958 wheat acreage allotment. At a comparable date last year, farmers had agreed to take almost 6.4 million acres out of production.

Secretary Benson has indicated he may ask congress to abolish acreage controls on corn.

The total tax bite by all levels of government in the U. S. has been running about one fourth to nearly one-third of the country's income, according to the Tax Foundation.

Feeder Stock Prices Are Up

Lamb feeders will be paying more for feeder stock this fall than they paid a year ago, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

He reports Omaha lamb prices for good and choice feeders were around $21.75 in early September and $22.75 above the year before.

There are several reasons for the higher price tags on the available feeders, Avery said. John Ferris, Michigan State university livestock economist, claims cheaper feed grains, improved range conditions, better prospects for wheat pasture in the west and higher slaughter lamb prices all point toward continued strong competition for feeders this fall.

Ingham County News, Mason, Mich., October 3, 1957 D-2

Farmers May Over-Plant Under New Wheat Program

Under the feed-wheat program, Michigan farmers can "over-plant" their wheat allotments this fall and still not be liable for marketing quota penalties.

But, as usual, there are a couple of "catches." The new limit is 30 acres; and all the wheat must be used on the farm where produced.

Farmers must apply at the county agricultural stabilization and conservation office before they plant their 1958 crop or before Oct. 15, 1957, whichever is later. The application shows how the wheat will be used.

Under the program, a farmer must use all the wheat on the farm where produced either for seed, human food or livestock and poultry feed. He must also be the owner of livestock or poultry to which the wheat will be fed.

A crop grown under the feed-wheat program is not eligible for price support.

Farmers participating in the 1958 wheat acreage reserve can't use the 30-acre feed-wheat amendment. Some might want to cancel their agreements to qualify for the feed-wheat program. They have until October 4 to do so.

The county agricultural agent can help farmers plan which program fits their setup best.

Ferris also said there may be some difficulty in finding the "right kind" of feeders. He expects them to come in with more flesh and pre-finish lambs scaling under 75 lb will be scarce.

Because of possible earlier marketing of fed lambs this winter, he said there may be more than the usual advantage of selling in late winter rather than earlier.

What a farmer can afford to pay for feeders will depend on his situation and abilities, Avery said. But as a rough guide he might figure on corn to cost around $1.15 a bushel this winter, legume hay $20 a ton and the selling price for high choice to prime slaughter lambs to be around $22 a hundred in January, he explained.

Slaughter lamb prices should hold above a year ago through the rest of 1957 and into early

MSU Suggests Sale Booklet

Michigan State university extension dairy specialists are mailing out questionnaires to owners of purebred dairy cattle in the state.

To find out if purebred breeders are interested in starting a state-wide catalog of salable purebred cattle.

The county and state extension offices receive many requests for both male and female breeding stock, according to M. H. Avery, county agent. Such a booklet containing information on good breeding stock would be of service to both buyers and sellers, he said.

Avery explained that the purpose of the questionnaire is merely to find out if purebred breeders are interested in starting a catalog. Clint Meadows, MSU extension slon dairy is handling the questionnaires. He says no decision will be made until results are tabulated.

Herds Number 10,000

The campaign to Make the Holstein-Friesian Certificate of Registry Mean More has zoomed by another milestone—the 10,000th herd in official breed improvement program. This latest reflection of breed progress represents nearly 30 years of continuing effort in bettering both the type and the production of the registered Holstein cow, according to the Holstein-Friesian association.

Accurate dairy records provide the facts on which to base a long term breeding program, the framework of successful dairy-ing.

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES of Carlisle Waltz receive a preview of a corn crop which will be the main attraction at an area corn day Tuesday, October 8. Several hundred farmers from several counties are expected to attend the all-day event. (Photo by Mel Avery quite a while back.)

Corn Field Day Is Planned For Waltz Farm Tuesday

Carlisle Waltz will show some of the latest tricks of producing and harvesting corn at an area corn day Tuesday, October 8. His farm is located about 3 miles west of Mason on Columbia road. The morning session will feature tours of demonstration plots and corn drying methods. In the afternoon there will be picking and shelling demonstrations. Women of the Mason Methodist church will have a lunch stand on the farm.

Good Planning Makes Confined Hogs Profitable

Multiple or assembly line farrowing is becoming more popular with hog farmers. And many farmers are raising hogs in confinement on concrete, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Two big reasons for the interest in a confinement system are to increase income and to improve efficiency of production, explains Avery.

J. A. Hofer, hog researcher at Michigan State university, has been studying the confinement system. Tests comparing pasture and confinement arrangements for raising hogs indicate rate of gain and investment are higher under confinement while annual use cost of equipment is lower because of more extensive use, he claimed.

Tests also show that feeding and watering require less labor with the confinement system because automatic equipment may be used. Manure hauling is the big problem, Hofer says many farmers overlook it when planning a confinement system.

In deciding whether to go to a confinement system, farmers need to consider cost of production, volume of operation, specialization and marketing programs, Avery said.

According to Hofer, the confinement arrangement isn't likely to replace raising hogs on pasture. He says both systems have their advantages and the choice will be determined by the individual situation. The most efficient

By JIM BROWN

Just south of Gaylor is a sign which identifies the location of the 45th parallel. Crossing the line last week homeward-bound from the Straits, we didn't take the time to examine it closely. Instead we sped homeward to have a look at our own parallel line — the 42½.

Parallel lines, I have learned from geographers at Michigan State, are nothing more than map-making conveniences. Some maps show only 3 or 4 parallels, some show none and others have more. The parallels coincide with degrees of longitude. There can be a parallel for every degree.

The geographer told me there are two 45th parallels — one halfway between the equator and the north pole and the other between the equator and the south pole. So if you live in the Mason area, you can give your address as 42½ degrees north.

The fact that crime doesn't pay became a reality for my wife Sunday afternoon. Desiring to take an afternoon drive, I goaded her into doing the piloting. As I pushed her into the driver's seat, she mumbled something about not having her driver's license with her. I told her she was overly cautious and that her attitude was indicative of her brief driving experience.

As we traveled toward Lansing on Cedar street just north of Jolly road a car and trailer driven by an extremely happy driver was spotted by a state trooper. The wife was in the left hand lane of the divided highway and momentarily blocked the execution of law enforcement. After the trooper had stopped the trailer, he motioned us over, too.

In the nicest way, he told my (by now very nervous and sweaty-handed) wife that he wasn't arresting her, but merely wanted to point out the danger of hogging the left-hand lane of traffic.

"And may I see your driver's license?" the trooper said.

The jig was up. Stopped only to offer a friendly suggestion, the charge had now mushroomed into a crime less than murder.

The officer, now definitely with the upperhand, asked for some identification. The wife fumbled for her suitcase-type purse and dumped it on the seat beside us. There were beads, coins, Kleenex, a ball of string, a compact, a newspaper clipping and other merchandise, but no identification. She pacified the trooper by showing a doctor's appointment card.

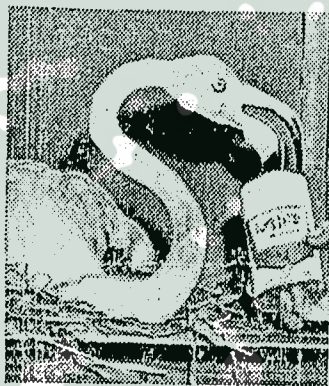

Merely smiling and not saying a word was probably the worst thing I could have done. As we continued on to the capital city, I received the blame for forcing her to drive in the first place.

are compiled is collected by daily telephone calls to buyers cooperating in the program. The information is analyzed and issued in summary form.

To insure integrity of prices issued by the department, buyers permit representatives of the department's marketing news service to check information given by them over the phone with invoices to producers which the buyers maintain on file.

At present the information being reported will reflect the activity occurring only in the 47 southern counties of the state. The buyers reporting the information are located throughout the 47-county area, and one or more are buying from producers located in each of the counties included.

Later this program will be increased to cover activities as much as possible throughout Michigan. In charge of the work in the Michigan department of agriculture at Lansing is C. J. Echterling.

Yields in 1957 Third Highest

Further improvements in total crop prospects during the 2 months are helping to make 1957 production the third largest on record. In general, feed crops are good over much of the country with the exception of the eastern drouth area which widened during August.

Major crops registering gains include corn, cotton, soybeans, spring wheat and grain sorghums. These gains outweigh a heavy loss in flax and small decreases in estimates for barley, oats and several other crops.

Estimates for the feed grains as of September 1 total nearly 135 million tons, about 4% more than last year. The record grain sorghum crop in the Great Plains has greatly affected the feed crop outlook in that area for 1957.

Yield prospects for corn continued to show further improvement in several important areas during the past month with production now forecast at 3.2 billion bushels—up 4% from the August estimate but 7% below the excellent crops of 1956.

The indicated yield of 44.2 bushels per harvested acre compares with the record 45.4 bushels last year and the average of 37.8 bushels.

With the exception of Kansas, yield prospects improved during August in the western Corn Belt but decreased sharply in several eastern and southern states, largely because of drouth damage. All western states have yield prospects considerably above average.

North Michigan Breeders Arrange for Feeder Sale

Beef cattle feeders will have a chance to pick up fast gaining top quality feeder cattle at the 1957 Northern Michigan feeder cattle sales.

Three sales are scheduled: Gaylord, Oct. 10; Alpena, Oct. 16; and West Branch, Oct. 17. All sales begin at noon, according to W. L. Finley, extension beef cattle specialist at Michigan State university.

At the Gaylord sale, 500 yearlings and 1,100 calves are consigned; 150 yearlings and 500 calves will be at the Alpena location; and 2,000 calves will be auctioned off at West Branch. More than half of the animals are steers.

Cattle are from commercial beef cow herds and bred by purebred registered beef bulls. Most cattle are Herefords with a few lots of Angus and Shorthorn plus a few groups of crossbreeds.

Nearly every county consigning feeders is Brucellosis certified. However, all heifers at least 12 months old will have a health certificate issued by the Michigan department of agriculture.

Michigan State university experts will help sort cattle into uniform groups by sex, weight, quality and breeding. Most lots will contain 5 to 15 head. MSU specialists will also be on hand to help buyers select animals and set up feeding programs.

Sales are sponsored by the Northern Michigan Beef Breeders' association, Thunder Bay Beef Breeders' association and the Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf association.

Our Businessmen on the Farm

One of the wonderful things about doing business in a farming community such as Mason is that most store customers are actually businessmen themselves! Yes, farmers, who represent a large segment of Mason customers, know the problems of business for they, too, are businessmen. They know the tax problems, the law of supply and demand—and what's more they must endure the sobering effects of weather conditions. Yes, it's a pleasure for merchants to have the confidence of such customers and in that spirit we have dedicated our methods of doing business. The following merchants collectively reach across the counter to congratulate fellow farmer-businessmen. You, especially, are welcome in Mason always!

FARMERS MUTUAL Fire Insurance Co. located in Mason is the first company most Ingham county farmers turn to for insurance protection. The mutual company paid $70,130.32 in losses during 1956. Prompt payments, plus the convenient location of the company and its solid financial condition have helped in the company's growth over the years.

John C. Grettenberger is president of the company and Louis A. Stid is secretary-treasurer.

Providing both fire and lightning insurance protection since its founding, the company in 1955 instituted a new package form of extended coverage which among other things insures against windstorm damage. Officers and members of the company are anxious to discuss farm insurance on your farm. You can be sure that your policies with Farmers Mutual will be handled in a most professional and satisfying way—and incidentally in a very economical way.

Confederate Navy Was Thorn in Yankee Side

The Confederate navy gets another boost in Ghost Ship of the Confederacy by Edward Baykin. Raphael Sommes was the skipper, and the Alabama was the ship. Built secretly in Liverpool, the Alabama proved its speed and seaworthiness to the tune of 60 Yankee ships captured, burned, or sunk. This record has never been equaled by surface raider, aerial squadron, or U-boat ace. The Alabama was finally sunk by the Federal sloop of war Kearsarge in the English channel outside Cherbourg.

While the white eyes were away at war, the Indians played and preyed on the plains. They could also cook with a pot and eat it too, we find in The Indian Tipi by Reginald and Gladys Laubin. When cooking a beef paunch they used it as a receptacle, filled with water and stones. Aside from the stones, this resulted in a savory soup and an edible container. The history, construction, and use of Indian tipis is the main topic of the book, complete with diagrams, methods and materials used. Summer campers might well take over some of the Indian models, as they had advantages not realized in present day tents.

A fountainhead of information for builders or anyone who can read is Don Graf's Data Sheets, now in the reference collection. Listed as containing thousands of simplified facts about building materials, planning, and construction, a random sampling comes up with these tables: Safe loads on white fir joists, dimensions for shuffleboard courts, store front awning bar details, deep well plunger pumps, estimated cost of electric fixtures and brick patterns for sidewalks.

Not so concise and more explanatory is Roy W. White's Building Practice Manual. It provides detailed information on the kinds of computation which are commonly required of the building craftsman on the job, and to provide simple methods of estimating.

For the home decorator there is Goodheart-Willcox's Painting and Decorating Encyclopedia, complete with color charts and samples of stained wood. It goes into tools, materials, methods, and estimating, not to mention special finishes, safety rules, blueprints and mathematics.

Cabinetmakers, antique dealers and lovers of fine furniture should see World Furniture Treasures by Lester Margon. Subtitled yesterday, today and tomorrow, the book is filled with illustrations of the classic types of furniture, along with diagrams of construction with all dimensions. If you can't afford to buy the furniture you want, whittle it out in your spare time.

The first 50 years after the Civil War was celebrated by a significant publishing event, the Photographic History of the Civil War. Thousands of American homes have housed this 10-volume record, filled with pictures from the Brady-Gardner collection of negatives. Now, with the centennial of the Civil War a few years hence, the Photographic History is available once more. All 10 volumes, too, but now in 5 books, and all at the Ingham county library.

It is more than voluminous, says Henry Steele Commager, it is also authentic, intimate, universal, and remarkably eloquent. Even in these days of audiovisual aids for every purpose, an hour or 2 with these books is a revelation. The first 3 volumes are in the chronological order of campaigns and battles, while the remaining volumes go into special topics like Federal military railroads, defending the National Capitol, Federal and Confederate artillery.

There are references to and pictures of Michigan troops, of course. The Elk River bridge in Tennessee is pictured while being built by the First Regiment, Michigan Engineers. This same outfit accompanied Sherman on his March to the Sea, and is shown in camp, presumably waiting orders to build a bridge over the sea.

Colorful Michigan troops were the Fourth Michigan Infantry, pictured in their leggings and tasseled caps from the north woods. We also see the Twenty-first Michigan Infantry, who fought under Sheridan and Sherman. From Gettysburg we get the picture of men from the 24th Michigan, strewn on the field of battle.

Michigan, called upon for one company of infantry, by the close of the war had sent 11 regiments and 2 companies of cavalry, a regiment of heavy artillery, 14 batteries of light artillery, a regiment and a company of engineers, a regiment and 8 companies of sharpshooters, and 33 regiments and 2 companies of infantry. Of 87,364 Michigan soldiers, 14,753 gave their lives. Population of Michigan in 1860 was 743,112. Pictures of the boy soldiers in these volumes do more than make the statistics come alive.

A prominent member of the cast in the Civil War drama is reevaluated in Mighty Stonewall by Frank Vandiver. This is an example of history written to be read. While the book claims complete documentation, it can be read like a historical novel. Besides his military life, we find out about Thomas Jonathan Jackson as a boy, a husband, a soldier, and a mortally wounded man. From him we have some of the most famous last words, "Let us cross over the river, and rest under the shade of the trees." What river was it, Vandiver asks, the Potomac or the Jordan?

Not the army means, but a naval battle of the Civil War is the concern of William and Ruth Keith in Tin Can on a Shingle. Completed in 132 workdays, John Ericsson's Monitor had a rough

OES Honors Past Officers

Past matrons and past patrons night was celebrated by members of Leslie OES 155 last Monday night at the Masonic temple. Key items with the Eastern Star emblem were presented to each of the honored guests.

Members of the chapter purchased a new Bible for their past matron and presented the old one to the Past Matrons club. Their president, Mrs. Dorothy Carter, accepted it.

Mrs. Florence Jewell was given her life membership pin. Refreshments were served by a committee, Mrs. Velda Cosgrove, Mrs. Joyce Dickinson, Mrs. Fern Rouse and Mrs. Lucille Barden.

Club Women Meet in Lansing

Ingham County Federation of Women's club president, Mrs. Charles K. Parkhurst, opened the September meeting of the group last Wednesday at the Woman's clubhouse, Lansing.

Mrs. Earl Pettit of the Haslett Woman's club, treasurer of the County Federation led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and Mrs. Harmon Everett gave the official welcome from the hostess club, the Woman's Historical society.

Mrs. Walter Strange of Leslie's EOTC club, second vice-president of the County Federation, gave the response. Mrs. M. A. Phelps of the Woman's Historical club gave devotionals using the theme chosen by Mrs. Parkhurst as a guide for her programs, Victorious Living.

Mrs. W. J. Baumgras conducted a quiz. Franklin Zweig, staff aide of the community service council, and Ron Gervais, publicity chair-
