UGLY? WELL, HARDLY! Yet Linda Lamphere won the Mason school's ugliest person contest this week. The event was a money-raising project of the Teens-for-Polio committee. Linda won out over 7 other contestants by collecting $51. At a penny a vote the Mason freshman garnered 5,100 votes for the dubious honor. But it was all a joke.

Until an hour before the contest deadline Friday, Jim Birney was ahead in the voting. His votes tallied $40.46 and he was considered the winner until Linda broke the wire with an extra $20. The 8 contestants collected $169.70 which will be turned over to the March of Dimes funds. Other candidates vying for the "ugly" title were Polly Diamond, Douglas Dancer, Elaine Watkins, Shirley Chapman, Dennis Cady and Bob Cheney.

Dairy Equipment Jobber Will Move to Mason

Mason will become a state-wide shipping center for McGuire Dairy Equipment Sales, Inc., by February 1. The company, now located on North Grand in Lansing, has purchased the McCann Oldsmobile building on North Cedar in Mason.

The McGuire firm, owned by Wayne McGuire, jobs dairy equipment, selling through a state-wide dealer organization. The company is its own dealer in the Lansing area.

The Mason building will be the main office of the firm and will serve as a depot for some of the equipment. Much of the equipment, McGuire said, is trucked directly from manufacturers to customers. The new firm has 7 employees.

The McCann building was vacated last year when Max McCann, owner, closed his Oldsmobile agency. The building was erected by A. G. Spenny & Sons Oldsmobile agency right after World War II.

Mason's Fox Theatre Changes Hands

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Farr of Holt are stepping into big shoes when they take over the operation of Fox theatre in Mason Sunday. The Holt couple purchased the business this week from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fox who have operated it 19 years.

The theatre building has provided the community with entertainment and culture since 1881 when it was built and dedicated to the head of one of Mason's first families — John Rayner.

Through the years it has provided a place for stock companies and road shows, local talent shows, lectures, church services, political conventions, private parties and for nearly 40 years moving pictures. When President Garfield was assassinated, the building, then known as the Rayner Opera House, was even used for a memorial service.

Mr. and Mrs. Farr are new in the theatre business. Their experience has been limited to just attending movie houses. Yet, like the Foxes before them, they plan to learn from scratch.

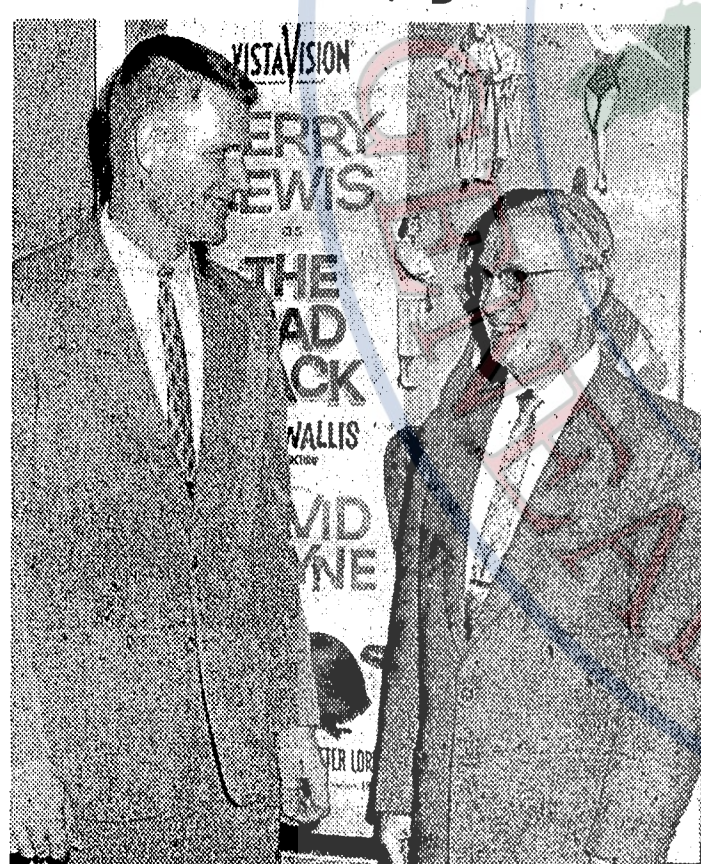

The theatre will be known as Farr Theatre under the new management.

When the Foxes arrived in Mason, they, too, knew nothing about theatres. In fact, Fox recalled, it took 45 minutes the first night of ownership just to stoke the fire and find the light switches. For the present, Farr said, his family intends to live in Holt. He is employed at Atlas Drop Forge.

During the early years, the opera house was managed by Walter Root followed by Elias Culver and Charles Henderson. Most of the time the operation functioned at a profit. For nearly 20 years, Mason churches sponsored lecture courses. Reserved seats and season tickets were usually sold out months in advance.

But in the years preceding 1920, road shows seemed to lose their hold on community life, moving pictures arrived, and the opera house fell into bankruptcy and for a few years was juggled in the hands of several Lansing real estate agents.

In 1922 Roy and Ralph Adams, now deceased, purchased the opera house and although remodeling it somewhat for film presentations, preserved its opera house characteristics. There were special box seats, the balcony and the ornate entrance. Later Roy Adams purchased his brother's interest and operated the theatre until the Foxes bought him out in 1939. The theatre was gutted by fire prior to the Foxes' arrival and was closed for 6 months. When the theatre reopened, Adams renamed the old opera house from the Pastime to the Mason theatre.

Mason's first established movie house was on West Ash, where Stover Backofen is now located. Charles W. Browne, then postmaster, operated the theatre. After a few years in that location, the theatre was moved to a Jefferson location, to the building now occupied by the PX Store. The Browns named the theatre Pastime.

The Foxes changed the name to Fox theatre soon after buying the business. In 1940 the theatre was completely remodeled. The main floor was lowered about 6 feet to grade level. New seats were installed along with a new lobby and theatre front. The Foxes were always quick to adopt new film equipment and techniques.

Within the past few years, the Foxes installed wide screen, and new seating. Fox recalled that the entire floor of the old movie house was lowered at the same

City Assessor Increases Real Estate Valuations

City Assessor Dean Taylor will break his sad news on his revision of property assessment figures next week. That was the report he turned in to the council at Monday night's meeting.

Taylor's figures aren't quite complete but they will probably jump Mason's property tax base from the present $3,933,151 to around $6,500,000.

The report has been long in coming. Six years ago Forrest Jarry of Dansville started the job for the city—a job for which he collected $5,000. He never did complete it. A year ago the council authorized Taylor to complete the work and gave him a March 1, 1958, deadline.

The new figures will be used to determine city taxes to be paid when they become due July 1, 1958.

According to City Treasurer Doris Austin, letters will go to all property owners the first part of February notifying them of the new assessment figure on individual parcels of property.

Property owners will have an opportunity to register complaints when the board of review meets Tuesday, March 11. The board will meet again Tuesday, March 25, to go over any changes made.

Monday night councilmen reappointed John Hassinen to the board for a 3-year term. Other members of the board are Earl Whipple and Frank Guerriero.

The city treasurer pointed out that the new property value figure will still be below the state figure of $7,314,176 which is used to determine school and county taxes. The new figure will affect only the city tax.

In discussing the valuation increase Monday night Councilman Dewayne Evans, finance committee chairman, pointed out that the increase in valuation doesn't necessarily mean city taxes will jump. The amount of tax is levied according to the figure set in the budget as necessary to carry on city business. It is up to the taxpayers and the councilmen, they elect to hold city expenses in line, he added.

City Assessor Taylor arrived at his new figures in a systematic manner, according to councilmen. Each piece of property in Mason has been surveyed, photographed and inspected and scored on a point system. The points are used in determining the value of the property. The figure represents reproduction cost less depreciation.

Mason taxpayers are getting it from all sides this year. Along with the property tax revision, forms have already gone out to businessmen for listing personal property. The new personal property tax rolls will attempt to plug some of the holes which have developed in collecting the tax.

Besides the regular personal and property taxes Mason people will be hit for a special city debt for the first time on the July statement. The special general obligation bond issue was voted last fall.

Mason people will also start paying a boost in water and sewer charge rates come July 1. The jump will apply on the $185,000 special revenue bond the city is negotiating on.

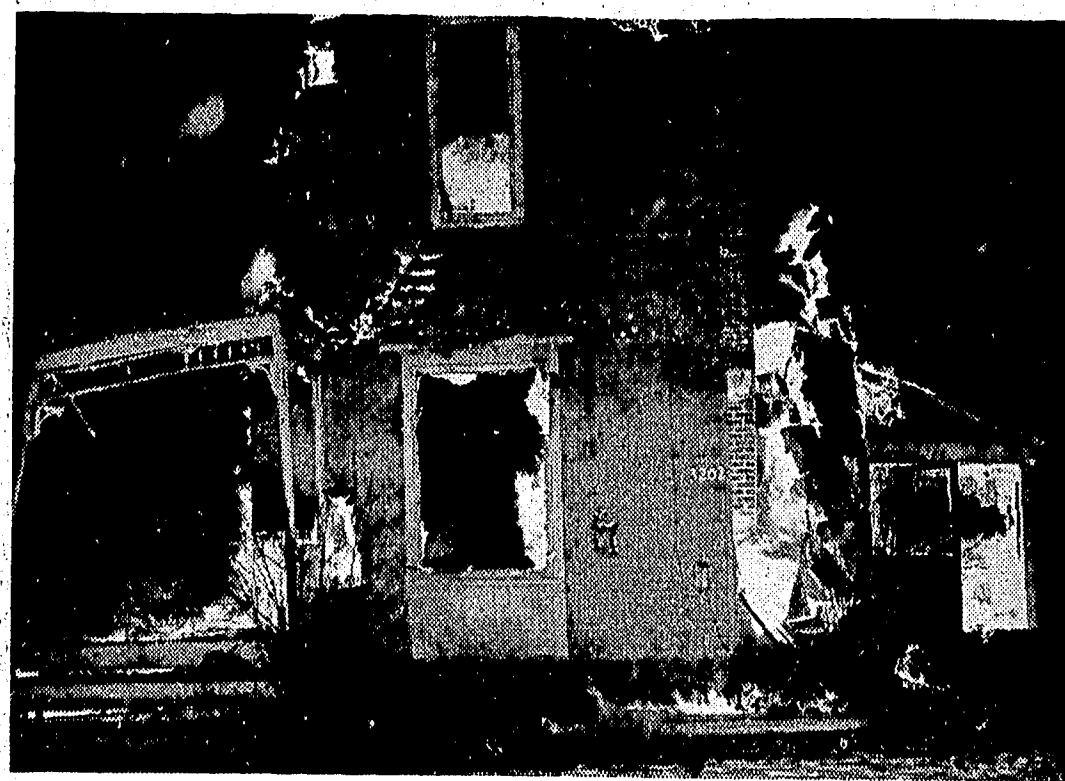

Youths Confess To Gas Thefts

An automobile wreck on Fogg road early Monday morning led to the arrest of 4 youths involved in Bunker Hill gasoline thefts. The early-morning head-on crash was the result of some wild "chicken" driving, according to Captain Versie Babcock of the sheriff's department. He said the cars were driven by Leon Rice, 21, and Raymond Haywood, 19, both of Leslie.

Two passengers were also apprehended. One, a 15-year-old, was turned over to probate court. The other, Mike Durgan, 19, of Leslie was arraigned along with Rice and Haywood before Justice of the Peace Leonard Rouse at Leslie Thursday. Rice pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny and paid fine and costs of $29.30. Durgan and Haywood were to be arraigned in the afternoon.

Henry Mizga of Fogg road, who lives near the scene of the accident, reported the theft of 26 gallons of gasoline Sunday night. The accident was not reported to police as state law requires, but Babcock and Deputy Donald Haynes heard about the crash and upon questioning, the youths confessed.

A string of gas and auto parts thefts were also cleared up by sheriff's officers this week. Ted Soderberg, 21, and Clair Bouts, 18, both of Mason pleaded guilty to a handful of thefts when they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Roy Adams in Mason Thursday. Sentencing was suspended for 3 months pending further investigations. Among the thefts solved by the pair's admission were those at Tuttle Orchard, Slusser gravel pit, Ketchum gravel pit, Floyd Weldon and Lewis Albert.

THREE KITCHEN CHAIRS represented the household goods of the Clark Benjamin family after fire destroyed their home in Bunker Hill township Tuesday evening. Leslie and Mason firemen battled slippery, snow-filled roads to reach the burning house at 3202 Williams road but upon arrival they found the 11-room farm house doomed. (Arch's photo.)

Fire Destroys Home in Bunker Hill

Flames sent Mr. and Mrs. Clark Benjamin and their 4 children into Tuesday night's snow storm in a spectacular fire which leveled their 11-room Bunker Hill farm home. Loss was estimated at $15,000 by Leslie firemen.

All they were able to save of their belongings were 3 kitchen chairs. Records of Birney school district of which Mrs. Benjamin is secretary were also saved. The Benjamins are newcomers to the Bunker Hill area. They purchased the Ralph Bitzer farm on Williams road last summer, moving from Shiawassee county.

Flames, fanned by the stiff east wind, gained too much headway before Leslie firemen, the first department on the scene, arrived. When Mason firemen skidded on the scene the home was almost gone.

Benjamin went out the back door a little after 6 to do the chores. He glanced up and saw flames playing around the chimney and called the Leslie firemen. The whole attic was afire so he rushed his family outside and let the contents go.

The Benjamins carried $8,000 on the house and $4,000 on the contents with Farm Bureau Insurance. Adjusters were on the job early Wednesday morning.

The Benjamins spent Tuesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Patterson, on Haynes road. The Pattersons live in Florida.

Farm Bureau women are sparking a drive for clothing, bedding, food and other necessities for the Benjamin family.

In a plea for community help, Farm Bureau women ask contributors to leave articles at the home of Mrs. Arlo Wasson at 226 E. Oak street, Mason, or at the home of Mrs. Chellis Hall, 2 miles west of Mason on Columbia road.

About all that could be salvaged from the wreckage was a quantity of meat in the home freezer in the basement.

Farmers Mutual Meets Saturday

Stockholders of Ingham County Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company will meet Saturday for the annual meeting. The group will meet in the circuit court room.

Besides going over the annual report stockholders will choose a secretary-treasurer for a 2-year term. The term of Louis Stid, present secretary-treasurer, expires.

Directors for each township in the county will also be voted on. Vacancies from Leroy, Locke and Stockbridge townships must also be filled.

John C. Grentenberger, president of the company, has one more year to go on his term.

The losses report will sound a little better this year.

The company paid out a total of $56,819 in claims for 1957. In 1956 the total was $70,130. Most of the big losses in 1956 came on fires started during the big electrical storm of May 12, according to Stid. Electrical storm losses were low last year, he added.

The meeting will start at 1:30 p. m.

Perkins Joins Bank Board

Stockholders of the Farmers' bank added Ray Perkins, Mason hardware store owner, to the board of directors at the annual meeting Tuesday.

All other officers were re-elected. L. H. Harrison is president; L. R. White, vice-president and cashier; and W. O. Hall, assistant cashier.

Members of the board of directors are Perkins, Harrison, White, Hall, J. B. Dean, Reno R. Root, Dean Taylor and Gus Kean.

In 1937 the Farmers' bank operated with a 7-man board of directors after the resignations of Earl Salisbury and L. B. McArthur and the death of Jason Taylor.

Tellers are Lyle Riggs, Mary Jane Smith and Mrs. Thelma Hines. Bookkeepers are Mrs. Nellie White, Mrs. Ila Worthington and Mrs. Betty Lou Palmer. In the December 31 statement

Local Roads Get More Aid

Township roads are going to get more money for road construction under a new program.

In Ingham county $125,000 will become available this year for matching townships in constructing township roads. Under the former program of state aid Ingham had only $55,000 available to match township road funds.

The townships get their own funds for matching through state sales tax revenues.

There are about 800 miles of local township roads in Ingham which can be improved under the new program.

Members of town boards are meeting with the county road commission to map the 1958 construction program. The road commission suggests improvements and township officials decide which roads will be constructed this year.

The county has taken over all township road maintenance, under a 1957 amendment to highway laws. It is the same provision which gives more state revenue for township road construction.

Last Friday township officials of Alameda, Aurelius, Delhi, Leslie, Meridian, Onondaga and Vevay met with the road commission on 1958 construction plans. On Friday of this week officials from Bunker Hill, Ingham, Leroy, Locke, Stockbridge, Wheatfield, White Oak and Williamson.

Lansing township officials and the road commission will confer at a later date.

Fair Directors Sign 1958 Acts

Ingham county's 1958 fair is still 8 months away but directors are well on the way to having the main attractions lined up.

A delegation of directors spent last week end in Detroit at the winter meeting of the Michigan Fair association signing attractions.

The 1958 fair, scheduled for August 11 through 17, will feature some outstanding new programs in addition to some of the old faithfuls.

Directors lined up the Thunderbird Hell Drivers for the Monday night thrill show. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thursday afternoon harness racing will be the grandstand attraction. Friday night the 4-H home talent show will take over in front of the grandstand and on Saturday night a new feature, professional wrestling, is signed. W. G. Wade's No. 1 midway unit will again play the Mason fair.

Directors also signed contracts for advertising material while at the Detroit meeting.

Those making the trip were Harry Spenny, fair secretary, and Derwood Dickinson, Clarence Puffenberger, K. G. Brown, Clayton Hulet, Otto Hartig and Joy O. Davis.

Flames Damage Armstrong Home

Flames routed Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong and family from their home at the corner of Hull and Coy roads Tuesday night. Mason firemen extinguished the blaze which started in the basement near the furnace after about $1,000 damage was done. The house is owned by Montie Woodard.

Firemen said hot ashes from the furnace fell onto nearby cardboard boxes. Armstrong is a son-in-law of Leland Austin, former Mason fire chief. Armstrong, too, often assists Mason firemen. Only this time they assisted him.

Dairymen Honor Herds At Banquet Thursday

Ingham dairymen and their families gathered at the Grange hall in Leslie Thursday afternoon to pay tribute to dairymen in general and outstanding dairy herds in particular.

Seventy-three herds on record in Ingham dairy testing associations, averaged at least 400 lb of butterfat during the past year. Of the 73, there were 12 herds that surpassed the coveted 500-lb figure.

Top butterfat producer in the county, according to Dairy Herd Improvement association records, was the 42-cow Holstein herd of W. C. Wright of Williamston. His herd produced 14,624 lb of milk and an average of 568 lb of fat. Close behind Wright was Hugh Oesterle & Son of Webberville whose herd of 33 Holsteins produced 14,584 lb of milk and an average of 563 lb of fat.

Rev. Samuel Wenger of Leslie Congregational-Christian church, gave the main talk of the afternoon. In pictures and words, he described his tour to Europe last year when he herded several Ingham herders destined for German farmers. Ingham farmers and business men made the gift possible. Rev. Wenger explained German farm operations and showed European farming techniques.

Leslie Closes School Doors To Non-District Students

By Clara Strange

Closed door policies of Ingham high schools toward tuition pupils is keeping County School Superintendent Alton Stroud on the road.

Last week Stroud met with board members from Leslie and Housell, Labertaux, Seville and Clark districts to discuss the problem. Representatives from Sanders and Rives were invited but did not attend. All except the Rives district are in Ingham county. The Rives district is a Jackson county unit.

All schools send high school pupils to Leslie now. All will be affected when Leslie puts its policy of not accepting new tuition pupils into action next year.

Due to overcrowding the Leslie board maintains that no new tuition pupils will be accepted. Those already enrolled will be allowed to finish.

The 6 schools now send a total of 66 high school pupils to Leslie. Basing a guess on the school census figures, by 1962 the 6 districts will have a total of 105 pupils of high school age.

The Leslie board proposed that the districts merge with the Leslie system.

No decisions were reached at last week's meeting. The representatives returned to their districts to arrange for district meetings to hash over the problems with school electors.

School districts sending pupils to Williamston on a tuition plan face an even more crucial problem, according to Stroud.

The Williamston school board will not accept any tuition pupils next year—not even those already enrolled in the upper 4 grades.

One hundred members attended the 93rd annual meeting of the Congregational-Christian church of Leslie Wednesday at Fellowship hall. The Woman's Fellowship served dinner preceding the meeting.

Reports of the past year's work were given by chairmen of committees and officers.

Officers and committees elected for the current year are: Moderator, J. Burdette Shaft; organist, Mrs. Clayton Jewell; assistant organist, Miss Nonda Whitney; clerk, Mrs. Wesley Brownlee; treasurer, Mrs. Merton Baldwin; Sunday school superintendent, James Gray; assistant, J. Burdette Shaft; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Oliver Eckert; assistant, Mrs. Hugh Hoskins; Sunday school secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. Burdette Shaft.

Pastoral service and pulpit, Hartley Troman, Mrs. Harry Burgess, Morris Whitney, Mrs. M. J. Cosgrove and Earl Miller; auditing committee, Mrs. Burton Walker, Mrs. Harry Burgess and Maurice Cavanaugh; and custodian of kitchen utensils, dishes and silver, Mrs. Dan Miner.

Trustees, H. E. Copper, Schyler Bowler, Jack Bayliss, John Gings, Arthur Sheathelm, Paul Jupp, Dr. C. Martin Cloutier and Robert E. Brown; religious education committee, Mrs. Robert E. Brown, Mrs. H. E. Copper, Mrs.

Funeral services were conducted for Darlene Lee Martin, 3-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Martin, 1998 Catholic Church road, at 3:30 p. m. Monday at Caskey funeral home.

Darlene was born at Mercy hospital, January 15 and died at University hospital, Ann Arbor, Saturday, January 18. Burial was in Oaklawn cemetery, Stockbridge.

Surviving besides her parents are brothers, Robert and Kirk; a sister, Carolyn; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hooker of Cadillac; great-grandparents, Mrs. Carrie Boober of Cadillac and George Hooker of Ewart.

Baby Does Not Live

Gravestone services were held for Gloria Jean Hawhurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hawhurst, of Stockbridge, at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Oaklawn cemetery, Stockbridge. The baby was born at Mercy hospital, Sunday, January 19, and did not live. She is survived by a sister, Donna, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Smith, Stockbridge. Arrangements were made by Caskey funeral home.

Legal Papers Found

Attorney E. A. Densmore has some problems in clearing up the estate of fellow attorney O. J. Hood. In going through Hood's papers he found 20 deeds and leases, some of which had been filed, 114 wills and 10 abstracts. He has the legal papers at his home for those who think some of them may belong to them.

Visitors Join Prison Friend

Like the man who came to dinner and stayed, 2 Lansing women went to the Ingham county jail Tuesday night to visit and they stayed.

Barbara Dabny, 17, and Louise Doster Rhodes, 29, visited their foster brother, Benny Doster, at the jail. A family squabble erupted and the women tore at each other. Deputies took them to the office to cool them off and they sprang at each other again.

After a night's lodging behind bars they appeared before Judge Adams Wednesday morning charged with disturbing the peace. Both pleaded guilty. Judge Adams deferred sentence for 3 months.

Richard E. Miller and Robert M. Guy, both of Lansing, appeared before Judge Adams Monday after cooling their heels in jail Sunday. They pleaded guilty to a charge of destruction of property. Judge Adams assessed each $30 in fine and costs and ordered each one to pay $22.50 in restitution.

The Lansing men started a fight with a Lansing couple waiting for a light at Logan street and Holmes road. They kicked in the window of the other car and caved in the door.

The driver of the car carrying the Lansing men didn't want any part of the fight and drove away. He ended up in jail anyway when he was brought in for leaving the scene of an accident.

Charles Sharrard, Flint, found guilty of driving while intoxicated by a justice court jury last week, appealed the case to circuit court Wednesday. He also pleaded guilty.

Charter Lions Are Honored

Charter members of the Leslie Lions club were honored at the meeting Monday in the cafeteria of Leslie high school. The speaker was Leonard Burleigh, past district governor.

Those honored were Ford Chapman, Leonard Rouse, J. Richard Schmit, Lloyd Dutton, Leonard Robinson, Otto Fancher and Otto Hecksel, all of whom were present, and William Richardson, who was not able to be there.

The new members were welcomed into the club. They are Joseph Aikens, farmer; Frank J. Carr, railroad conductor; Maurice Cavanaugh, insurance; Carl Jenkins, 5 and 10 cent store owner; and John J. Kennedy, retired.

Prizes for taking in new members were presented to Lions George Luecht, Frank Annesi and Ford Chapman.

Dinner was served by the Band Boosters club.

Clarence LeRoy Taylor, 50, died at his home, 5485 Weber road, Leslie, Wednesday evening after a long sickness. Christian Science services will be conducted at Leucht funeral home in Leslie Saturday at one o'clock with Walter Strange officiating. Burial will be in East Rives cemetery.

Mr. Taylor was a native of Jackson, but he had lived in the Leslie area for the past 20 years. He was employed by the Hungerford Construction company of Jackson.

He is survived by the wife, Rachel, and sons, Ted, Danny and Dick, all at home.

Mrs. Lester C. Kraft underwent major surgery Monday at Foote hospital, Jackson, and is reported to be convalescing satisfactorily.

2 Mason Men Tell 'em How

Mason's 2 roving ambassadors are off roving again. Russell McBride, Wyeth Laboratories Inc. executive, leaves Willow Run Sunday by plane for the Wyeth International plant in San Gonzales, Brazil. Ben Weaver is telling them how to do it in Washington.

Last spring and summer McBride was in San Gonzales supervising the construction of a new Wyeth lactose plant. He is returning to give more assistance.

McBride will be gone a month or 2. Weaver, an official of the H. W. Madison company, is attending a migrant labor conference in the capital. He is in charge of procuring migrant labor for Michigan cucumber, fruit and beet growers.

Candidates Face Filing Deadline

Mason's manhunt is almost over. City Clerk Harry Spenny has 5 nominating petitions safely locked in the vault and 4 more in circulation.

If all 4 of those with petitions file them by the Saturday noon deadline Mason will have a primary election.

Those who have already filed are Mayor Paul Richards, Councilman Nels Ferryby, Harry Smith, Richard Jewett and Paul Cheney.

Petitions are still in circulation for Councilman Richard Morris, Keith Otis, J. E. Shafer and Almon Fulton.

Under Mason's charter the present council has the task of drafting candidates if less than twice the number to be elected file petitions. Mason's primary will be on Tuesday, February 17, if it is necessary.

The 8 candidates with the most votes in the primary will run for the 4 council posts open at the spring election April 7.

Chamber Will Meet

Former Chaplain Schedules Revival at Baptist Church

A former army chaplain and now a minister at large for the Northern Baptist Theological seminary of Chicago, will head up a series of evangelistic services in Mason beginning Thursday, January 30.

Rev. Arthur P. Sengpiel has scheduled 4 meetings in Mason. Besides the January 30 date, he'll conduct services January 31, and 2 times on February 2. Meetings will be at the Mason Baptist church. The January 30 and 31 meetings begin at 7:30. Meetings on February 2 are at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Sengpiel conducted 23 evangelistic crusades last year in 8 states. In the course of his specialized ministry in the past 6 years, there have been recorded almost 4,000 decisions for Christ and the church, according to Rev. Clarence Rodd, Mason pastor.

In addition to his army career, Rev. Sengpiel has had counseling background of 20 years ministry as a pastor, public school teacher, author, Chicago skid-row mission worker and for the past 6 years evangelist of the Baptist seminary in Chicago.

The Mason crusade will center on psycho-spiritual techniques in living, Rev. Rodd said. Rev. Sengpiel points out that many today are suffering from tensions, the speed of life, fears and insecurity. They can be helped, he claims, by a return to peace with God.

... peace with God ...

"Many disorders that lead to self-explosion rather than self-expression are adequately handled when a person turns to Christianity and the comforting arms of the church," he said.

Holt Defeats Non-League Foe

Holt proved again Tuesday night that it could knock off Ingham County league basketball teams. The Rams defeated Haslett 51-48 but had to stave off a last-quarter Laker rally to do it.

It wasn't an impressive victory but Holt always managed to come up with the right play at the right time to keep Haslett off stride.

Dick Chapman, had another good night for the Rams. He bagged 19 points on 8 field goals and 3 free throws. Leroy Kennel and Don Livensperger gave the Rams and Chapman lots of support. Kennel scored 16 points and Livensperger added 10.

Don Tabor's 14 points made him top man for the Lakers. Coach Oland Dunkel 2-platoned his team with 10 men figuring in the scoring.

Holt grabbed a 12-6 lead in the first quarter but the Lakers came back in the second to narrow the gap to 20-17.

In the third quarter Holt padded its lead by 5 points but Haslett came back in the last period to outscore the winners 17-12.

Businessmen Aid March of Dimes

Businessmen will swell the Mason quota of the March of Dimes polo fund with their activities during the next week.

Saturday Morse's Restaurant will turn over all coffee money to the fund drive.

On Thursday Culham's Hamburger Shoppe will have its annual pancake eating derby.

Between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m. volunteers will help the regular restaurant staff serve pancakes and sausage with all proceeds going to the polo drive.

Densmore's IGA, Jim's Market, Mason Foodland, Beebe's West-side Grocery, Alderman's Market, George's Market and A & P will furnish the pancake flour, sausage and syrup. Paramount Coffee of Lansing will supply the coffee and Mason Dairy will provide cream and milk.

BEMENT GOES TO MAYO

Russell Bement will leave Friday by plane for Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, for a series of serious leg operations. Mrs. Bement plans to accompany him. Bartlett Smith will pilot the plane.

In closing the estate of the late Oscar J. Hood, I have found:

Slippery Roads Plague Drivers

Tuesday night's greasy snowfall kept sheriff's officers on the move checking out minor car collisions.

The peak business came Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Only personal injury case was that of William J. Bissell, 22, Dansville, who slammed into a car parked on Meridian road at 7 a. m. Thursday. He was treated at Mason General hospital for a leg injury and released.

Thursday morning's fog also slowed drivers on Ingham roads.

Kiwanis Governor Speaks in Mason

Harold Pletz, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis division 9, provided a pep talk for Mason Kiwanians Tuesday night. Pletz, an East Lansing resident, succeeded Clarence Adlof of Mason as top division officer this year.

Pletz told Kiwanians that the motto We Build has never been changed since the organization was established in Detroit 43 years ago. Pletz noted that the Mason club is one of the oldest in the international organization and one of the most active. The governor pointed out that Kiwanians have but one objective—to serve others. He urged them to constantly push for a better community, nation and world.

Flint Democrat Makes Bid For Congressional Post

George D. Stevens tossed his hat into the Democratic race for sixth district congressional seat Tuesday.

Stevens is a veteran campaigner. He was unsuccessful in a bid for the job in 1948 and in the general election of 1948 Congressmen William Blackney nosed Stevens out by 650 votes.

The Flint attorney is the second Democrat to eye the congressional seat of Republican Charles Chamberlain.

A few weeks ago Don Hayworth, who was unseated by Chamberlain in 1956, announced his intention to run.

So far no one has come forward from the Republican ranks to challenge Chamberlain.

Stevens is 43. He resigned his post as Democratic party chair-

Crash Awakens Sleeping Driver

Carl Lundberg, 24, Leslie, will have a hard time chewing his food just because he picked the wrong time to go to sleep early Sunday morning.

Lundberg fell asleep while driving his car south on US-127 near Leslie at 3 a. m.

The car swerved into the dividing strip on the 4-lane highway, struck a pile of dirt and snow and skidded 300 feet.

The Leslie man received treatment at Mason General hospital for cut nose and lips and a broken bone in his face. The impact also loosened his teeth.

According to Special Deputy Jack Hubbard, who investigated the crash, the Lundberg car is a complete washout.

Four Judges Are Chosen For Cherry Pie Contest

Mrs. Shirley Goering, Ingham county demonstration agent, has announced judges for the cherry pie baking contest to be staged Saturday, February 1, at Mason high school.

Choosing the county representative for the state bake-off on Thursday and Friday, February 13 and 14, will be Mrs. Emory Carlson of Lansing, adult evening school gourmet cookery instructor; Mrs. Joan Larvin, home economist of the home service department, Consumers Power Co.; Jean Gilles, Lansing consumer information agent; and Mrs. Bertha Edgar of Aurelius, former speech teacher.

Registration for the contest, open to girls 14 to 20, will close Thursday evening, January 23. Enrollment may be made at the county extension office in Mason or with home economics teachers in high schools throughout the county.

At the bake-off, entrants will bake a lattice-top cherry pie, with furnished materials. Each girl will be judged on the basis of her pie, recipe, method, poise, and a 3-minute talk, "What the Cherry Pie Baking Contest Means to Me."

Some high schools in the county have had so many entrants that eliminations have been planned at the schools, with winners eligible to enter the contest at Mason February 1.

Grange Holds Regular Meet

Wheatfield Grange No. 851 had its regular meeting Tuesday evening. The charter was draped in memory of Bertha Showerman.

The community service chairman announced that Christmas decorations for patients' rooms at Ingham County hospital were made and delivered, along with individual gift wrapped boxes of homemade candy for Christmas.

As a project the Grange has taken 17 of the patients with little or no family attention, to look after them during the year.

The Grange also purchased and decorated a Christmas tree, which was used by Community Aid, Douglas school, for a mail carriers party, Dennis school and Pollok school for their Christmas program.

A letter was read from the Lawrence Smiths at Plant City, Florida. The lecturer's program theme was Transportation. Roll call was answered by "The Earliest Method of Transportation I Can Remember." The 5-year road expansion program was discussed. The Ten Grange Commandments were read as an incentive for the new year.

Hospital Employees Compete In Efficiency Idea Contest

In a contest unique in hospital history, a total of $4,000 in cash awards will be offered to Michigan hospital employees who have produced the best money and labor-saving ideas during the past five years.

The contest was announced jointly today by Michigan Hospital Service, the Blue Cross organization, and the Michigan Hospital association.

Purpose of the competition is to seek out the leading economy measures developed by the association's member hospitals and to publish reports and make known these measures to the hospital field in general. It also is expected that the contest will demonstrate publicly some of the dramatic ways in which hospitals have advanced their operating efficiency and improved their service to patients.

Hospitals individually have achieved remarkable savings in recent years through internal operating improvements rivaling the best in industry.

William S. McNary, Blue Cross executive vice-president, pointed out that Michigan Hospital Service is co-sponsoring the contest because savings in hospital operation bring direct benefits to all Blue Cross subscribers.

The search for new hospital achievements offers a grand award of $1,000; first awards of $500 each to hospitals in 4 size groupings and 10 special awards of $100 each.

Each of the 200 member institutions of the Michigan Hospital association is being invited to encourage its employees to submit written reports on savings methods and processes which they have initiated. A committee of leading Michigan citizens will be selected to judge the contest entries and presentation of awards will be made at the association's annual convention next June.

Military News

Oesterle Takes Basic

Carl Oesterle is serving with the army at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He went into the service in November and is nearing completion of his basic training.

Oesterle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Oesterle, formerly of Webberville. His address is Pvt. Carl Oesterle, US 5626753, Co. A, 12 Bn., 4th Trng. Regt. Inf., USATCA, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Pvt. Lawrence G. Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, Webberville, completed 14 weeks of advanced artillery training on Jan. 17 with the 9th Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colo. Bauer entered the army last July and completed basic combat training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He is a 1937 graduate of Webberville high school and was a farmer in civilian life.

Lt. Col. Mulford C. Lockwood, son of Floyd H. Lockwood, Williamston, recently was assigned as a veterinarian in the army medical service school, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Colonel Lockwood entered the army in 1912. The 44-year-old colonel is a graduate of Lansing Eastern high school and of Michigan State university. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1953 and is a member of Alpha Psi and Delta Omega fraternities. His wife, Evelyn, is with him at the fort.

Jack Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hart, is stationed with the national guards at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He entered the service January 11.

Pvt. Richard B. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Smith of 1550 Onondaga road, Mason, completed 4 weeks of individual combat training January 10 at the marine corps base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons. Trainees learn that all marines are basically infantrymen, whether they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers, or with aviation units.

Court Action Slows Down

Business was slow during the first full week of the January term of circuit court. Jurors were excused Thursday and did not return until Wednesday for the justice court appeal case of Raymond Darnell, Jr., Lansing man convicted in Lansing municipal court of driving while intoxicated.

The justice court appeal cases scheduled for Monday and Tuesday never reached the trial stage. They were settled beforehand.

Jurors will not return for duty until Monday.

BROWNIE TROOP MEETS

Fifteen members of Brownie troop No. 130 met Wednesday afternoon at Steele Street school. The girls made valentines, Valentine place cards and finalized plans for a trip Friday to Heathwood dairy.

Parliamentary Procedure Is Discussed by 4-H'ers

Nancy Haight conducted a quiz on parliamentary procedure at the meeting of Webberville 4-H club Monday at the home of Connie Monroe.

Judy York, president, conducted the business meeting, after which Judy McGowan, safety chairman, read an article on first aid. Mrs. Art Chase asked each member to discuss with their family what they would do if they awoke and their house was on fire.

At the next meeting Jean Vorce, Judy York and Eleanor Foreman will give a demonstration on what they would do as baby sitters if the house they were staying at caught fire.

Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Elmer Foreman and Eleanor Foreman attended a meeting at Mason recently on Understanding 14-21 Year-Olds. Eleanor took part in the panel of teenagers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cook, leaders of Busy Beavers club, were chosen leaders of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were recently entertained at a dinner at Kellogg Center, as guests of Marshall Wells and radio station WJR. Their broadcast will be heard Sunday, January 26, at 7:30 a. m.

The regular meeting of the club was conducted at the home of Janet Prentice Sunday evening. During the business meeting plans were made to attend a hockey game in the near future. After games a potluck lunch was served. Sunday afternoon several of the members went skating on Avery lake.

Members of Gunn 4-H club met Tuesday evening at the home of Robert and Nancy Eberly in Holt. Several guests attended the meeting. Max Benne, IFYE representative, gave a talk and showed colored slides of Denmark.

Cake and jello were served at the close of the meeting.

Max Benne, IFYE delegate now a student at MSU, will give an illustrated talk Saturday, January 25, at Webberville Community hall, West Locke 4-H club members and parents will be guests of the Webberville club. Parents may also attend. On the committee are Sandra Dockstader, Sandra Hodge, Judy McGowan, Judy York, Nancy Haight and Eleanor Foreman.

Linda Lowe and Linda Hummel conducted games, and Sandra Hodge led group singing. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Willing Stitches is the name of the newly organized 4-H sewing club led by Mrs. Frank McCalla.

At the second meeting of the club, which was conducted Saturday, members worked on their individual projects. Valerie and Sheryl Harvath and Helen Scofield were received as new members.

Nichols photography members and leaders toured Van's Photo shops in Lansing for their regular meeting last week.

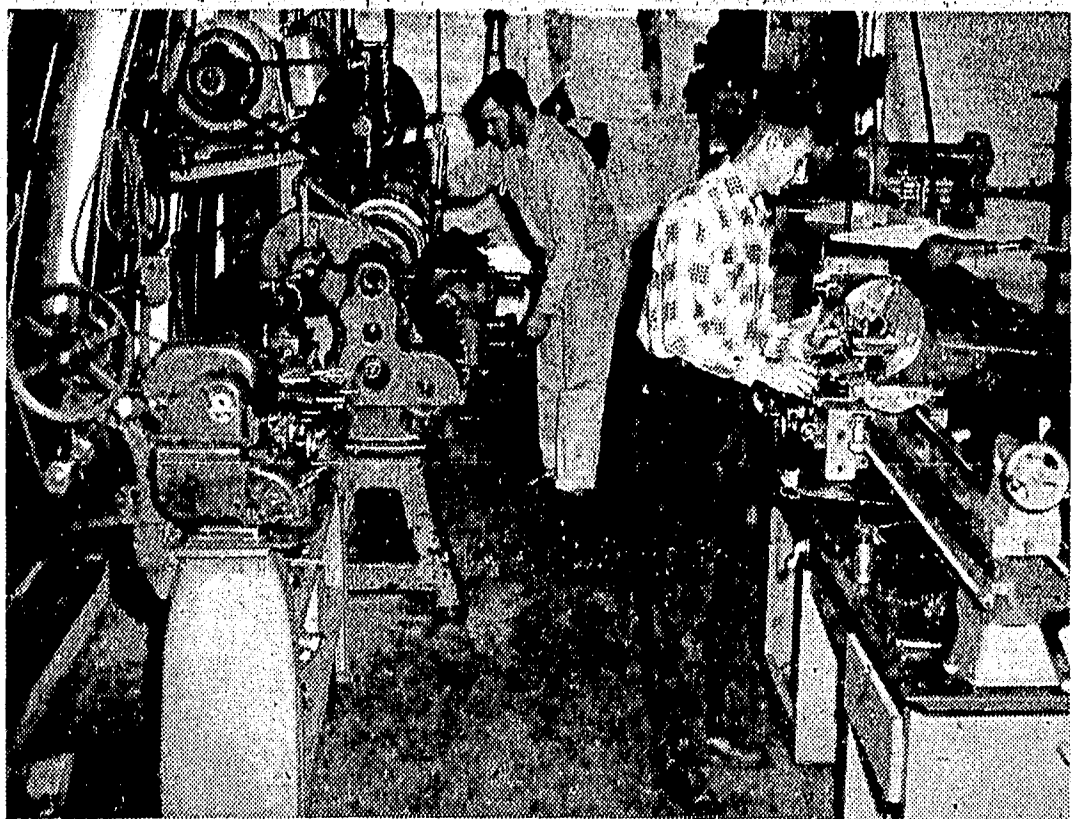

A guide took the group through the dark room, and showed them the drying and printing process. They saw the pictures inspected, packaged and marked for delivery.

They also learned how slides are made up and mounted. The group also took pictures. Afterward, they returned to the Charles-Brooks home for refreshments and a business meeting.

Joe Bullen was elected president; Sue Lamb, vice-president; and Sandra Bibbins, secretary. The next meeting will be Monday, February 3. Pictures taken on the trip to Van's will be observed and the advisability of exhibiting them discussed. Junior leaders for the photography project are Joe Bullen, Rex Bullen and Terry Brooks.

Jolly 4-H'ers will take enrollments Wednesday, January 29, for summer projects.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend the meeting at Delhi town hall, beginning at 7:30 p. m., according to Kenneth Fellows, community leader.

NEW MASON INDUSTRY is the B & H Machine and Equipment Co., located in the former Ferris Co. garage on Eden road. A partnership of 2 Lansing young men, Len M. Box (checked shirt) and Charles W. Hardman, the firm has all the equipment necessary to repair or duplicate any piece of machinery. B & H has the equipment for brazing, tool and die work and welding. Besides doing custom work, the firm will do some manufacturing of its own. (Ingham County News Photo).

Extension Groups Plan Use of Family Dollar

Mrs. Douglas Fry and Mrs. Bruce Deeg gave the lesson on planning the use of the family dollar at the meeting of Phillips 12 extension club Wednesday at the Fry home.

The hostesses served refreshments at the close of the meeting. Eight members were present.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, February 11, at the home of Mrs. Loren Everett on Phillips road. There will be a baked goods and white elephant sale at the meeting.

Ten members of Southwest Wheatfield club gathered at the home of Mrs. Frank Everett Friday for their monthly meeting.

Mrs. Dan Patrick, vice-chairman, conducted the business meeting. The sale of cards was discontinued temporarily. Members answered roll call with New Year's resolutions they kept.

Mrs. Howard Leonard was welcomed into the club. Mrs. Marion Pollok baked a cake honoring the wedding anniversary of Mrs. Earl Smith. Mrs. Smith received a gift from her Sunshine Sister, and also won the guest prize.

Mrs. Loren Murphy and Mrs. Wendell Johnson assisted the hostess in serving dinner at noon, after which Mrs. Frank Everett and Mrs. Wendell Johnson, leaders, presented the lesson on planning the use of the family dollar. In February the group will meet with Mrs. D. V. Robertson.

Modern Moms extension group met with Mrs. Raymond Pratt Tuesday, January 14. Mrs. Charles Strayer was co-hostess.

Project for the evening was weaving handbags. The next meeting will be Tuesday, February 4, at the home of Mrs. Leonard Blood. Mrs. Gerald Durbin will serve as co-hostess.

The Millville extension group met Thursday, January 16, at the home of Mrs. George Rachou. The meeting began at 11 o'clock.

Cards of thanks were read for Christmas boxes. Plans were made for a home nursing course.

After a potluck dinner the lesson was given by the leader, Mrs. Clark Nottingham, and assistant leader, Mrs. Rachou.

Peppy Homemakers club met at the home of Mrs. Walter Elis last Wednesday with 9 present.

The next project for the group will be on Swedish weaving. Mrs. Hattie Higdon has offered to coach beginners at the next meeting Wednesday, February 19, at the home of Mrs. Ron Lewis at one o'clock.

Members of the College Cross-Roads extension club discussed the planning of the family dollar when they met at the home of Mrs. Merritt Gates Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Russell Kleis gave the lesson. Mrs. Gates served lunch and later showed how to construct crepe paper flowers. The group also authorized donations to the March of Dimes and a scholarship fund. Mrs. Mark Adams was a guest at the meeting.

Hi-Lighters extension group met with Mrs. Alva Cronkright Monday. Mrs. John Graf presided at the business meeting.

Nine members answered roll call by telling how they earned their first dollar. It was announced there will be a home nursing course at Millville hall starting Thursday, February 6. Mrs. Marguerite Schubert and Mrs. John Graf gave the lesson on planning the use of the family dollar. The hostess served lunch.

Alameda Center extension group met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Roy Knopf with 16 members and a visitor present.

Mason Taxpayers Make Till Ring

City Treasurer Doris Austin's tax collection job is 90.74% completed at least as far as county and school taxes are concerned. When the January 20 deadline arrived Monday she had $134,767.71 in the bank out of the $148,063.72 on the books.

According to the treasurer, another 5% of the taxes will be paid before she turns to unpaid accounts over to County Treasurer Laurence Parker. Mason residents can still pay their taxes at the city hall up until March 1. After that they will have to be paid at the county treasurer's office.

Up until March 1 a 4% penalty will be charged. After March 1 the 4% penalty is charged plus an additional penalty of 1/2% per month until the taxes are paid. Collections are slightly ahead of last year, according to the treasurer. When the deadline arrived in 1957 an even 90% had their payments under the wire.

Road Officials Attend Meet

Robert O. Schaeffer and Ward Vicary, Sr., are in Washington, D. C. this week, representing the Ingham county road commission at a convention of the American Road Builders.

Have You Met

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Iacovoni and their 2 sons, David, 21 months, and Steven, 6 months.

The Iacovoni family moved to Mason January 1 and resides at 326 West Columbia. They came here from their home town, Lansing.

Mr. Iacovoni is a prison counselor at Jackson prison. He graduated from Michigan State university, where he majored 4 years in police administration. He also served in the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Iacovoni were married 4 years ago this summer. Before the children arrived, Mrs. Iacovoni was employed at Weisinger Paper Co. in Lansing. Now the children keep her pretty busy at home, she says, and there is little time for hobbies, but she does like to sew.

The Iacovonis are members of First Christian church in Mason. Mrs. Iacovoni said.

Letters to Editor

Veteran Gives His Version

In last week's paper it was stated I wrote a letter to the board of supervisors charging Supervisor Woods with holding a grudge to the point he refused to give me my soldier's tax exemption.

I wrote the letter upon advice of the Veterans Administration. I have had tax exemption every year until now.

I am 60% disabled and never have been questioned about the exemption. I realize there is a deadline on such things and am more than willing to abide by this but you need to get the exemption paper first.

It was also stated that Supervisor Woods had been to my home 3 times and that I then lost the exemption paper.

Neither I nor my wife ever saw Supervisor Woods at our home and you can't lose a paper you never had. Had such a paper been left with us we would certainly have filed it out and returned it on time to Supervisor Woods.

I hold no grudge but I feel I should have what I have a right to. Wouldn't you?

Dansville

Leslie Youth Earns Honor

Larry Hendershot, 18, and already an experienced farmer, plans a lifetime of farming upon graduation from Leslie school this spring. The Leslie youth is Ingham Future Farmer of America boy of the week. He was selected by Leslie chapter members.

Larry is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Hendershot. They live on Territorial road south of Leslie. A senior at Leslie, Larry is taking a general course with emphasis on agriculture and shop.

Naturally, he's active in FFA work. His supervised farming program has included dairy, beef, corn, oats and hay. And just to prove that farming can be profitable, Larry's projects have grossed about $5,000.

Larry is secretary of the chapter. He was reporter last year and has served as chapter delegate to regional FFA conferences. The Leslie youth is also a veteran 4-H club member and be-

Bankers Get the Check

Dinner Honors 4-H Leaders

Leaders and friends of Ingham 4-H clubs will be recognized at a dinner at Mason Methodist church Thursday, February 6, beginning at 6:30. The annual event is sponsored by the Ingham County Bankers association.

Max Benne of Okemos, delegate to Denmark last summer under the International Farm Youth Exchange program, will give an illustrated talk. Other highlights of the evening include special recognition of 10- and 11-year 4-H club members and leader awards to 5-, 10- and 15-year leaders. Awards to leaders will be made by Wallace Bailey of the New York Central railroad.

W. H. Shepard, president of the bankers association and assistant cashier at Bank of Lansing, will welcome the group. Dolph Rab-doux, president of the 4-H Service club, will give the response.

This year special recognition will be given to IFYE delegates and IFYE host families.

Eaton Rapids Turns Down Onondaga Annexation Bid

Request from the Onondaga Riverside school district for annexation to the Eaton Rapids system was turned down by the Eaton Rapids board of education at a meeting last week.

The Eaton Rapids board acted after receiving a letter from the Onondaga board, signed by Wanda Jarvis, secretary, stating that it had voted January 7 to petition for annexation to Eaton Rapids.

At a special meeting of the Riverside school board and the school district there were 78 eligible voters present. Dr. Burton Thorne of the department of public instruction and Alton J. Stroud, Ingham superintendent of schools, were present. Gale McMichael conducted the business meeting and discussion. Duane Winright, Richard Jarvis and Robert Noble were the acting tellers for the voting, which resulted as follows: Leslie, 23; Eaton Rapids, 39; Springfield, 12; and no vote, 4.

Onondaga is now sending 23 high school students to Leslie and has about 90 elementary students in its Riverside school. Ward Lentz and Ralph Baldwin, Onondaga board members, met with the Eaton Rapids board in December and said they were "shopping around" for a place to send their high school students after this year.

Leslie has told them, they said, that it will not accept their pupils unless they annex. A number of Onondaga students at one time took their high school work in Eaton Rapids, but none has gone to Eaton Rapids in the past 9 or 10 years, local school officials said.

The Eaton Rapids board's action rejecting the Onondaga petition was taken with only brief preliminary discussion. Board members said there isn't room for more high school students in the already overcrowded system.

Police Nab Pair On Larceny Charge

B. F. Whittaker and Joseph R. Scott, both of Leslie, have pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny by trick. They were arraigned in Justice of the Peace George Hutter's court Friday charged with receiving money for portraits and not delivering them. Captain Versile Babcock of the sheriff's department said 49 complaints have been registered against the 2 men. Most of the complaints were from East Lansing, Dansville and Leslie.

The men operated Scott photography studio in Mason until the first week end in January when they vacated their quarters on Maple street.

Sheriff's officers made the arrest Thursday night. Scott is a guard at the state prison in Jackson. Whittaker is retired.

Judge Hutter scheduled trial for the men on February 20 at 1:30. He released Scott and Whittaker without bond.

Fireman Clips Car

Fireman Jerry Smith didn't fare too well in making the fire run to the Benjamin blaze Tuesday night. He skidded on icy Ash street and piled his car into a new Olds belonging to Richard Lowe. Both cars were damaged but Smith still had time to catch the fire wagon.

Dinner Honors Good Farmers

More than 100 farmers and their wives and government agricultural advisors paid tribute to the Ingham soil conservation movement Friday. The group met at Dansville town hall for the annual presentation of awards to outstanding conservationists.

Awards went to Henry Buckingham, Hugh Oesterle & Son, Steffy Brothers and Ludell Cheney.

In the soil conservation district election, Clifford Allen succeeded Dorn Diehl on the board of directors and Gerald Elfert succeeded himself. Others on the board are Paul Simpson, Bert Schertzing and Lynn Haynes. Diehl was chairman of the group and did not seek re-election. Elfert is treasurer. The board was expected to meet this week to select 1958 officers.

After a dinner prepared by the Dansville Methodist Booster club, Frank Suggitt of the Michigan State university land and water conservation department discussed "Michigan's Changing Scene." He stressed continued improvements in conservation practices.

Others on the program included Lynn Haynes, Paul Simpson, Bert Schertzing, Gerald Elfert and M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

Entertainment was provided by Mary Sheathelm, Diane Felton and Ruth Ann Cooper of the White Oak 4-H club.

Jackson Man Dies On Rabbit Hunt

Zenon Borejko, 37, of Jackson, died from a heart attack in a Bunker Hill township swamp Sunday afternoon. His body was not discovered until Monday and after about 50 policemen and neighbors had combed the farm in search of him.

Borejko was hunting rabbits on the farm belonging to his brother-in-law, Alphonse Mikolonis, about 8 miles east of Leslie on Haynes road. Borejko was hunting alone. When he didn't return to the farm house late Sunday afternoon, Mikolonis called sheriff's officers. Officers and neighbors searched the farm until 11:30 without avail. The search was called off until early Monday morning when the body was discovered by William Wilson, a neighbor. Borejko's dog, who had apparently stayed with his dead master throughout the Sunday night search, showed Wilson where the body lay.

Borejko was a brother of Victor Borejko of Mason.

Mrs. Freeland Dies in Jackson

Mrs. Nellie Freeland, wife of the late Gage Freeland, died Sunday at the Una Lee nursing home in Jackson. She had been there since the death of her husband October 27, 1957.

Before his passing, Mr. and Mrs. Freeland made their home at 235 West Dexter Trail for 18 years. They cultivated flowers and shrubs and made their house and yard a place of beauty. The couple had no children.

Funeral services were conducted for Mrs. Freeland Wednesday. Burial was in East Liberty cemetery, Jackson county.

TOP AWARDS for soil conservation went to these 4 Ingham farmers this year. Shown receiving plaques at the annual soil conservation dinner in Dansville Friday are Henry Buckingham, Hugh Oesterle, Irving Steffy and Ludell Cheney. Bert Schertzing, right, director of the district, made the presentations. He pointed out that the awards go to the entire families of the winners. He cited Steffy Brothers and Oesterle & Son as outstanding examples of farm family cooperation. (ICN.)

Whipple Again Heads Insurance Firm

Ray Whipple will head Michigan's largest windstorm insurance company for another year.

Whipple was re-elected president at the annual meeting last week of Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance company with its main offices in Hastings. He just finished a one-year term. The Mason man was a director of the company for 9 years.

Another Whipple took his place on the board of directors. Jack, a son of Ray, was made a member of the board last month. He is the company representative for the southern tier of Michigan counties.

Ray Whipple succeeded Harrison Dods of West Branch last year as head of the company.

Windstorms are not news to the Whipples. Ray Whipple, since his school days, was associated with his father, Earl, and brother, Russell, in E. D. Whipple & Sons. The firm built barns all over Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Repairing and rebuilding barns damaged by windstorms is a

Ashland Oil Co. Guarantees Gas

Guaranteed gasoline! Money-back guarantee for A-plus gasoline has gone into effect at more than 4100 Ashland Oil, Aetna and Frontier service stations.

"It's the most extensive newspaper advertising campaign in our company history," announced a spokesman for Ashland Oil & Refining company, and its affiliates, Aetna Oil Company, Louisville, Kentucky, and Frontier Oil Refining Company, Buffalo, New York. "The A-plus power-performance guarantee is offered to every one of the 7-million-plus car owners in our 10-state marketing area."

Supplementing the newspaper promotion are regular sports network broadcasts of college basketball games, radio spot and TV announcements.

The guarantee specifies that A-plus is "More Powerful—or your Money Back!" The driver is asked to give A-plus a "fair, full-tank trial," and is promised, if he does not get more power and better performance from his first tankful "we will refund every penny you paid!"

specialty of the firm. That's how they became associated with Michigan Mutual.

Earl retired from the firm last year. Russell died in September. The construction firm still is carried on under the name of E. D. Whipple & Sons.

Jack Whipple has also been with the building firm. He also operated his own plumbing business. He is a graduate of Mason high school.

At the annual meeting the company changed its charter so that the firm will write general inurance and not limit its efforts to the windstorm insurance field.

The company, which has been a strong Michigan insurance company since it was organized here in 1885, will assume the name Hastings Mutual Insurance company when it begins writing general insurance.

The new charter will permit the company to offer its 103,857

Men of Church Discuss Unity

After a breakfast in the church parlors Sunday morning at 8, members of the Presbyterian Men's Council discussed church unity from both area and denominational standpoints.

Gerald Strickland, president of the organization, William D. Dexter and Laurence Parker were on the panel which launched the discussion.

Dick Mills and Harold L. Barnhill prepared the breakfast.

MSU Museum Opens Doors To Farmers Week Visitors

Farmers Week visitors at Michigan State university January 27-31 will have a special opportunity to visit the MSU museum in its new quarters.

The museum will open exhibits on 2 floors from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. during Farmers Week only, and then will close its doors temporarily to allow workmen to prepare for the grand opening.

The museum was moved last summer from the basement of the auditorium to larger quarters in the former library building. Extensive remodeling and exhibit preparation are nearing completion in portions of the building, with museum officials hoping to open in the near future.

Members of the MSU fisheries and wildlife department will conduct a series of special conservation programs for youth Tuesday through Thursday at the museum during Farmers Week.

At 1 p. m. Tuesday the visitors will attend a program on game fish. Wednesday's program at 10 a. m. concerns game birds. The final program in the museum's lecture room at 2 p. m. Thursday is to cover game mammals.

Some of the museum displays available to visitors concern geological exhibits, fossils, the development of life, man's culture, pioneer Michigan life and Michigan birds and animals.

Pupils Have Friday Off

Mason school pupils will have all day Friday to slide and skate. There will be no classes so that teachers can grade semester exams and mark report cards.

Are you neglecting yourself?

Many mothers are so busy looking after their families that they often neglect themselves. Are you like that? Do you, for example, give your children plenty of milk but neglect to drink enough yourself. You should drink at least three glasses of milk a day—especially if you're over thirty-five.

Milk, you see, helps rebuild body tissues as they wear out. Helps you feel more vigorous and alert. Milk keeps your skin smooth and free of premature wrinkles. Even gives your hair more sheen. That's why you—feel younger . . . look younger . . . when you drink more milk.

FOX
The Sad Sack
Sun., Mon., Tues.

Hal Wallis' "The Sad Sack," starring Jerry Lewis as the army's perennial misfit, will open Sunday at the Fox theatre. David Wayne, Phyllis Kirk, Peter Lorre, Joe Mantell and Gene Evans co-star in the Paramount VistaVision comedy, with George Dolenz, Liliane Montevecchi, Shepperd Strudwick and Abraham Sofaer.

Based on the cartoon character created by George Baker for Yank magazine, "The Sad Sack" is the story of a present-day army incompetent whose good intentions never get him anywhere but in a jam. He involves 2 unwilling buddies in hilarious adventures at an American army base and in North Africa. A pretty WAC major, a psychiatrist, tries to give sound advice and lend a helping hand—with small success.

FOX
The Tin Star
Thurs., Fri., Sat.

The mixture of a rising star and a distinguished veteran on a single movie sound stage has long been the signal to take to the storm clouds. All the ingredients for a human hurricane are present in the Perleberg-Seaton production of "The Tin Star," opening at the Fox theatre Thursday.

The highly-acclaimed action drama stars the long-established favorite, Henry Fonda, and sky-rocketing young Anthony Perkins, and tension during the initial shooting was thick as a tornado's funnel.

Fonda portrays a former lawman who has turned to killing wanted men for reward money, and Perkins is the novice sheriff he teaches the art of gun handling.

Sharing Pleasures Is Best Method of Enjoying Them

By MRS. RAY PECK

Birds! What a lot of fun they are! They say that the only essential equipment for seeing and enjoying them is a pair of eyes. I'd add to that a family to share your love and enthusiasm for them... for just as in anything else its lots more fun sharing things together.

You should also be prepared for having folks grin when the mention of birds is made for it seems like a joke to some folks. Cartoons help them along.

We surely do enjoy our binoculars. We get in some lively discussions as to wing bars and stripes which is easily settled by looking through them.

We never received so many Christmas cards with birds on before. And an increasing amount of letters have bird sketches at the top. It surely is nice to know that there are kindred spirits around... and who share their knowledge and information with us.

Quite a few neighbors and friends call us when they spot a new bird at their feeder or see one in their vicinity.

A couple of calls have come long-distance. It's fun knowing folks who are observant of this bird life, which with just a little study, can be made into real pleasure and adventure. It really makes you wonder where your eyes have been all these years and how come you never saw so many kinds before. In our case it has been the girls who have led us on with such a curiosity about all the outdoors. I've always enjoyed hikes and watching birds but for 8 years now we've had to know or look up, "Mama, what kind of a bird is that?"

So through the years we have built up quite a library of nature books as birthday and Christmas gifts. There are 2 more on the list to come off this spring with Sammy's and Susy's birthdays.

Cardinals are beautiful any time but last week I gasped and Susy thought I was hurt or something. I pointed out into the yard a few feet from the dining room windows and there sat Mr. Cardinal. It was so beautiful we all stood transfixed. In that pure white fresh snow he looked prettier than any picture we've seen in a long time. The nicest thing about it is that we can shut our eyes and practically see him any time that we want to.

The little chickadees are real pepper-uppers too. They are clowns who perform right against the glass in all kinds of weather.

They are so full of energy and enthusiasm for life. We love these little birds and can not resist calling to them. They are so friendly.

The children consider the tufted titmice their best friends for they were the first ones to come to our window feeders and were the first ones to come into the house and eat with us. Since then other birds have hopped upon our window sill and looked us squarely in the eye... but youngsters are loyal to first loves. So the titmice remain the favorites to them. We have learned to know many of them in a special way. One has a ruffled tail. One pecks on the glass in an irritated sort of way as though the food didn't suit him. One has a crooked and twisted bill. (Could he be part cross-bill?) Then there is one who is pathetic little fellow. Last winter he injured his eye and he became the object of much love and attention. (And speculation as to how it happened). We all tried to keep him supplied with sunflower seeds and cracked hickory nuts. I have stopped to go and crack hickory nuts for him only to be told by Susy that I should have picked the nutmeats out for him. When I told her that he had more time than I did she grinned as though she doubted it.

We like the white-breasted nuthatches and they are here the year round ridding our many box-elder trees of those pesky box-elder bugs.

In fact we think they do a good job as we seldom have one of the bugs bothering us. We give this credit to the nuthatches and Downy woodpeckers. They go up and down and around our trees all year round doing this good deed for us.

Eight big bluejays come every day and surely look beautiful. They love corn and as there is plenty of it there is enough for all.

A Hairy woodpecker and red-headed woodpecker came this week to add to the colorful array of winter visitors. Three mourning doves were here for 2 weeks but we have not seen them this week.

Our biggest surprise is a red-bellied woodpecker. Now why did the person who names birds give the name "red-bellied" to a white-bellied creature? We had to do some looking in several bird books to come up with the correct name for him! At first we thought he was a sapsucker or odd flicker. He is always alone and seems to scare other birds away.

This week other bird visitors came to this area to add to our list. They are the evening grosbeaks and such pretty birds. Along the river road and bridge leading into Bannister you will see them. We stopped along side of the road and watched them Sunday after church. They are yellow with black and white wings and tails and about the size of a starling.

Watch the fence rows and road-side as you drive along. Better yet to go for a walk and see what fun it is to discover tracks and tracks in the snow with your youngsters. It's almost a perfect guarantee for a good night's rest. You may not even want to get up in the morning!

Here's a little bird quiz of ten common Michigan birds twisted some. Can you figure them out? Answers next week.

Resurrection Tags Mason With Last-Minute Rally

Mason's basketball game with Resurrection Thursday night lasted just 2 minutes too long. After leading most of the way Mason dropped a 56-49 decision.

Except for Gary Fewless the Bulldogs stopped Resurrection cold. Fewless scored 31 of the 56 Resurrection points.

With 2 minutes to go Mason was in front by 2 points. Troubles started when Doug Walters stepped to the foul line and sank 2 free throws on a technical foul.

The Rocks went into a stall and drew 2 more foul shots when Mason became a little over anxious. They made good on both of them.

Friday night Mason will try to break the losing habit against Howell. Everything will be in Mason's favor, including the home court and a bevy of homecoming queens and all the hoop-la that goes with a homecoming game.

Mason must find a way to finish strong. The last 3 games Mason has played have all gone the same way with Mason commanding the lead most all the way but folding in the last quarter.

Though Mason lost to Resurrection, it was probably the best game Coach Don Little's crew has turned in so far this season. Mason made a higher percentage of shots than the Shamrocks, Mason controlled the backboards, Mason's defense throttled Walters, the Lansing strongboy, but Mason lost.

Just how well the defense held Walters is proved in the box score. Walters, who has been hitting at a 19-point plus clip, scored 10 points and 6 of those were foul shots.

Mason started out looking as if it was going to be an easy night. The Bulldogs worked in 10 points before Resurrection could pick up a single point. Once the Rocks broke the ice it didn't take long to close the gap. Mason finally finished with a 11-8 lead.

In the second period Fewless started hitting. Before the half ended Resurrection copped a one-point lead.

The third quarter was even all the way with first one team and then the other edging out in front. When the period ended Mason had a 3-point lead. All through the first part of the final quarter Mason managed to hang onto the lead but Walters' 3 foul shots gave the Rocks the spark they needed.

Fewless' 13 field goals and 5 out of 6 free throws put him in front in the scoring department. Walters' 10 points was second high for the Rocks.

Mason didn't have a hot shot to compare with Fewless but the team balance was better. Bruce Horton was high with 14. Jerry Willis had 10 and Larry Wheeler and Tom Clapper collected 9.

Mason lost the game at the free throw line. The Bulldogs pumped in 21 field goals to 20 for Resurrection but scored only 7 out of 14 free throws. Resurrection popped in 16 out of 21 free throws.

Clapper played his best game of the year. He set up several good play patterns which paid off with easy lay-up shots.

Haslett Hangs onto Second With 59-34 Win over Leslie

Haslett held onto its second-place position in the Ingham County league race Friday night by stopping Leslie 59-34.

The Lakers have a 5-1 record and are just behind Stockbridge which has a 6-0 count.

Friday night Haslett will entertain Williamston. The Hornets are the league's mystery cagers. They have scoring potentiality, they play good basketball but they lose the important games.

Leslie will jump from the frying pan into the fire Friday night. The Blackhaws will take on Stockbridge in the Panther den. The Panthers will probably claw and maul Leslie pretty severely.

Everybody on the Haslett team got into the act in the Leslie game or the score would probably have been even more one-sided. Coach Oland Dunckel used his entire squad and 11 of them contributed to the scoring.

Leslie cleared his bench, too, but only 5 men hit the basket.

Don Tabors' 14 points were high for Haslett. Jerry Shoemaker was next with 11.

Bill Stacey, a freshman guard gave the Leslie fans something

Big Blues Whip Howell 67-48

St. Mary maintained the status quo in the Capital Circuit by downing Howell 67-48 on the Highlander court. The Big Blues and Resurrection remain in a tie with 31 records behind Holt's 44.

The Big Blues will tangle with Holt Thursday night. It is their chance to upset the Ram band wagon but it will take some good basketball. Though Holt has not been brilliant at any time this year they have always managed to come up with a good enough performance to pull the game out of the fire. They did just that when St. Mary and Holt met the first time this year.

In that game St. Mary had 2 players in action who will not be around for Thursday's game. Rick Barrett, the Big Blues scoring sensation, still has his foot in a cast. Jerry Spagnuolo was cut from the squad because of disciplinary reasons.

If Holt could do the job the first time with the 2 St. Mary stars carrying most of the scoring load it stands to reason that the Rams have the edge in the second contest Thursday night.

Howell will play at Mason Friday night. The Highlanders have not shown too much this year though they do have a couple of good basketball players in Ted Ochampaugh and Doug Gerkin.

The St. Mary-Howell contest was a lopsided affair. Howell's brief fling at glory came in the early stages when the Highlanders managed to move in front briefly but as the game progressed they became hopelessly out-distanced.

The first quarter ended with St. Mary on top 11-0. When the half ended the Big Blues had a 30-23 lead.

It was the third quarter that snowed under the Highlanders. They managed only 4 points while St. Mary posted 19.

In the last period Coach Len Lapka cleared his bench and against the reserves the Highlanders did a little better but they still couldn't make a contest of it.

Hurley Smith sparked the St. Mary attack with 21 points on 10 field goals and a charity toss. Doug Tallaferra came through with 14 and Keith Gunderman and John Newhouse each contributed 12.

Gerkin's 10 floor shots for 20 points contributed most of the punch to Howell's attack.

to cheer about with his performance. He dropped in 17 points to account for half the Leslie scoring and played a great all-around game. He hit for 9 free throws in 10 attempts. Don Coppennell was the only other Blackhawk who seemed to know where the basket was. He scored 8 points. Haslett had the scoring edge in every quarter. The Lakers led 17-4 at the end of the first quarter and were in front 35-20 at the half. Leslie made a game of it in the third quarter but in the last period the Blackhaws collapsed again and came up with another 4-point effort while the Lakers hit for 10.

Hornets Sting Dansville 46-20

Dansville cagers could hardly buy a basket Friday night. As a result Williamston powered its way to a 46-20 victory. Dansville hasn't had such a low point total since the pre-schedule basketball days when there was a center jump after every basket.

The Aggies managed only 8 field goals and 4 free throws. Williamston scored 14 free throws and 16 field goals.

Williamston had a hard time getting started. They led 6-5 at the end of the first period, jumped to 21-11 and then fell back into the same rut as Dansville in the third period. Both teams scored only 5 points in the slowdown.

It wasn't until the final quarter that Williamston finally pulled away out in front. The Hornets came up with 20 points while the Aggies slipped even lower with a 4-point total.

Chuck Gubry's 23 points was the best scoring effort of the night. He had enough points to beat Dansville all by himself. Dick Rathburn scored 11 to rank behind Gubry in the Williamston scoring column.

Glenn Wireman was the top Aggie with 8 points. Brother Charlie was next with 6. Sam Cook was the only other Aggie to score from the floor. He hit twice.

Friday night Williamston will go against Haslett in the Laker gym. The Lakers have second place riding on the outcome so should be up for the game.

Dansville will travel to Fowlerville Friday night and then meet Okemos Tuesday. The Aggies had better find their shooting range or it will be a long week for Coach Searl Briggs.

Tuesday night Williamston will play at Stockbridge. A Williamston victory over the Panthers would come under the heading of an upset.

Mason Takes 2 Junior Hi Games

Mason picked up a pair of junior high school basketball victories over at Stockbridge Friday afternoon. Both the seventh and eighth graders were hard pressed to pull the games out of the fire. The seventh graders rallied in the third quarter and saved a 25-23 win. Coach Maurice Strail's crew went into the last half trailing 19-13 but Danny Ayers and Jim Phillips sparked a drive which tied the score at the end of the third period. Both teams had a hard time finding the range in the last quarter. Phillips came up with 4 points, though, to only 2 for the Panthers.

Mason had a 2-man attack. Phillips accounted for 16 of Mason's points and Ayers scored the other 9.

The eighth graders got back on the beam with a 34-30 victory after being outclassed by Charlotte last week.

Mason had the edge in the scoring in every period except the third. Mason was ahead 15-10 going into the last half. Stockbridge came up with 12 points in the third to 10 for Mason but Mason padded its lead by 2 points in the final quarter.

Dave Arnold sparked the Mason attack with 12 points. Larry Wright and Kim Strickland each contributed 5.

Both the Mason seventh and eighth graders had trouble with the large Stockbridge floor.

Holt Runs String to 4 Straight Wins To Tighten Grip on First Place

Holt maintained its grip on first place in the Capital Circuit by downing Everett 51-36 in Lansing Sexton's gym Thursday night.

The Rams are in first place with a 4-0 record.

Friday night comes the big test. Holt will take on Resurrection in the Sexton gym. The Shamrocks lost their first game of the season to St. Mary. Since then they have battled out league and non-league foes alike with the exception of Jackson St. John.

If Resurrection bows to Holt it should be all over but the shouting for the Rams. Resurrection would be out of it with St. Mary the only other team to give much of a challenge and without Rick Barrett the Big Blues aren't the threat they were before the holidays.

Everett will play St. Mary Thursday night. The Vikings are in bad shape. If they win every game left on the schedule they will still post one of the poorest Everett records Coach Ted Bauer has come up with. The Vikings have already lost 4 straight conference games.

The Rams certainly didn't experience any trouble with Everett Thursday night. They outshot the Vikings 13-7 in the first quarter and piled up a 25-17 lead in the second. The third quarter went to Holt 11-7 and the final period was 15-12.

Holt played conservative ball. Leroy Kennell topped the scorers with 12 points. Dick Chapman contributed 11 and Don Liven-sparger added 10.

Hugh Mallory, a 22-point average shooter for the Vikings had a hard time clutching Holt's Jerry Orr. He ended up with 8 points and 4 of those were free throws.

Lloyd Beardsley topped the Viking scorers with 10 points and Bill Powers came through with 9.

Auto Club Race Run Off Smoothly

Sunday's road race sponsored by the Mason Gremlins auto club went off without a hitch.

The reliability run was completed without mishap with 7 of the 9 starters crossing the finish line. Two drivers missed a turn and lost their way. They ended up near Gregory.

Dave Trout came home first with the elapsed time of one hour, 20 minutes and 5 seconds, just 3 seconds off the time of the pace car. Don Williams was runner-up. Tom Shepard drove the third-place car and Gary White came in fourth.

The winner received the cowbell for Top Driver. Three successive wins by one driver will retire the trophy.

The next reliability run is scheduled for February 2. This road test will be open to all drivers of any age or sex. Prizes will go to the 3 top drivers.

Chieftains Hit At Speedy Clip

Okemos hung in the Ingham County league cage race Friday night by stopping Fowlerville 70-52.

The Chiefs now have a 4-2 record. Friday night Okemos will rest and sweat out the Stockbridge-Leslie and Williamston-Haslett games. Both Stockbridge and Haslett must stumble in order to let the Chiefs back in the race for the title.

Okemos' next game is on Tuesday, January 28, when Dansville comes to town.

Fowlerville will play Dansville Friday night in a game which could go either way. Dansville has a 2-4 record while Fowlerville is in sixth place with a 1-5 count.

Joe Luttrell grabbed the scoring star role away from his teammate, Ted Warner. Friday night to pace the Chieftains attack. He scored 22 points with most of them coming in the hot first half. The Okemos starters played a little over half the game and still the score mounted.

Warner took a back seat to Luttrell but still managed a fine 17 points.

Bill Tsch dropped in 13 points to lead Fowlerville. Mac Tomlin added 10 and Larry Crowfoot hit for 11.

The Chiefs couldn't miss in the first half. They grabbed a 19-12 lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 41-19 with a 22-point uprising in the second quarter. The rest of the game the Okemos reserves played on even terms.

Reserves Drop Close Contest

Mason's reserve basketball team blew their game with Resurrection Thursday night in the last 15 seconds. Resurrection came out on top of a 45-43 score.

It was a close battle all the way with the lead changing hands many times. Both teams ended the first quarter with 10 points each. The first half found Resurrection in front 21-20.

Mason came back in the third quarter to take over a 35-31 lead. The Bulldogs clung to the lead right up until the last minute when a Resurrection long shot broke up the game.

Mason was handicapped in the last part of the contest when Pete Robinson had to leave the game with a bad foot. He kept Mason in the contest with his point production until forced to retire. He topped the Mason attack with 17 points on 7 field goals and 3 free throws. Raymond Strayer turned in a good all-around game and notched 9 points for Mason besides.

Schoolboy Cagers Set for Action

Forty-three fifth and sixth graders showed up at the second grade school basketball clinic Saturday morning.

Coaches turned their charges loose on set shots, foul shots and correct defensive stance.

Sixth graders formed 4 teams and will play a regular schedule. Team captains are John Hassinen, Mike Combs, Paul Oesterle and Roger Hill. Saturday the first round of games are on the schedule and more instruction will be given in basic play pattern and basketball rules.

Republicans Face Showdown Battle In Effort to Upset Williams Dynasty

By Elmer White
Michigan Press Association

Republicans are looking for a candidate 7 months before they try again to wrest the state's top office from the Democrats.

Many will come but only one will be chosen.

The party is working on its "new look" as 1958 gets underway—setting up a $228,700 budget and getting issues organized for the campaign.

They believe Gov. Williams, 5 terms in office and expected to try for a sixth, is in a more vulnerable spot than at any time in his history-making career in Michigan politics.

Democrats, remembering the handshakes, cannot be budged from their confidence in Williams, who brought the party off the back streets and peopled state government from top to near bottom with the party faithful.

Every appointive office is held by Democrats, all administrative offices are in their hands. The last bastion of Republicanism—the legislature—is the party's next major target.

There has been an almost complete turnabout since Williams, appointed by a Republican governor as a member of the liquor commission, made his debut in 1948 with a victory.

He was the only Democrat at the inaugural January 1, 1949.

SISTER IN-MUFTI—Sister Mary Dominic Ramaccioti, U.S.-born mother superior of a girls' home for orphaned girls in Rome, Italy, poses with two of her charges while wearing street clothes. It's seldom that a Catholic sister poses in conventional clothing rather than the habit, although a very few orders engaged in social work have that dressing privilege.

All-A List Contains Ingham Students

Robert Carroll, Mason sophomore; Harold K. Hodge, Haslett freshman; and Nancy L. Kelley, Leslie senior, were among the Ingham contingent on the all-A list at Michigan State university for the fall term.

Dr. John Hannah, university president, entertained the 181 All-A students at his traditional dinner Wednesday night at the Union building.

Lyle Blair, director of the Michigan State university press, spoke about the role of the University Press with the university.

Carroll is the son of John Carroll of Mason. He is a geology major.

Hodge's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Hodge. He is a freshman with a major in mathematics.

Miss Kelley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kelley. She will graduate this spring from the college of elementary education.

There were 36 Ingham county students on the list.

Lansing-Portland Section Of New US-16 Is Now Open

Another section of new super-highway on the Detroit-to-Muskegon expressway (new US-16) is open to traffic ahead of schedule. The highway department opened 8½ miles of new 4-lane divided highway on the Lansing-Portland link next Monday, 6 months ahead of schedule.

A 9½-mile section between Coopersville and Marnie in Ottawa county was opened in December, 7 months ahead of schedule.

Part of the future 165-mile Detroit-to-Muskegon superhighway, the new 8½-mile section opened Monday runs from near the C. & O. railroad southeast of Portland in Ionia county east to near M-100, in Clinton county, connecting with existing US-16.

Carl Goodwin & Sons, Allegan, started work April 23, 1957, on a $2,647,000 contract for the 8½ miles of new divided highway.

Now, Republicans claim they are reviving in their party the same spirit Democrats brought into their first of 10 years of political dominance.

Republicans have a budget for next year and an organization—rebuilt from the ground up in all of Michigan's 83 counties.

They will pay state chairman Lawrence L. Lindemer $21,000 this year, plus a $9,000 expense account. They will keep their publicist, Arnold J. Levin, and give him an assistant.

Democrats have shown the way of modern politics with professional-type television shows, statewide tours and year-round campaigning.

But most important, Republicans say, are the issues.

"After 10 years in office, the governor admits, the state is bankrupt—he admits he is a failure," said Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Pennville).

They point to the flight of business and industry to other states, charging that the moves are being made to escape Williams' proposed tax increases. They talk sincerely about the unhealthy economic climate produced by Williams' long record of little sympathy for businessmen's problems. They remind it is not so much what business faces today as what might be thrown at them anytime while Williams holds the whiphand.

Democrats deny the assertions pointing to valid surveys showing that taxes are only a minor factor in the moves.

"But the businesses and industries are moving out anyway—perhaps not so much because they are threatened with ruin, but because they have been led to believe they might be," said one observer.

The most potent issue, one that Republicans have ignored or only lightly considered in the past, is that Williams has been in office for 10 years.

Few officeholders can come up with a convincing answer to the "time-for-a-change" argument.

Even some Democrats are uneasy about the latest Williams proposal.

The governor first said tax boosts should not be forthcoming this year. Within 2 months, he proposed a $21,000,000 a year increase in the state intangibles tax.

This, of course, was aimed at the wealthy coupon clippers who live off vast stores of corporate wealth and those whose fortunes are invested.

Shortly after the announcement, protests started flooding

Missiles Mean More Workers

With nearly 1,000 small and large manufacturers in the Detroit area ready to swing into missile production in 1958 on a large scale, the U. S. labor department's bureau of apprenticeship and training is expanding its program to help create the huge pool of skilled manpower needed to get missile production off the ground.

Henry R. Przelomski, newly appointed state supervisor for the bureau of apprenticeship and training, emphasizes that the need for skilled manpower in Michigan is greater than it has ever been before—even more than in World War II days.

Department of labor surveys indicate that the truly skilled workman is coming into his own during the next decade and that there will be need for quantity with the quality.

We intend to help Michigan industry to meet the new challenge of our times with an expanded program of training, a program that is in operation now but which could be utilized to a far greater extent, Przelomski added.

Four other contracts, totaling $1,236,000, were also required for interchanges at Wright and Grange roads, grade separations at Clintonia, Jones, Peake and Cutler roads, and a railroad separation at the C. & O. railroad. About 32½ miles are already open on the future $331 million Detroit-to-Muskegon expressway. In addition to the 9½-mile Coopersville-Marnie section, a 23-mile stretch between Brighton and Farmington was opened December 13.

Construction was recently started to provide another 11 miles of superhighway on new US-16 west of Portland. One section runs from the Grand river, at the southeast limits of Portland, west to Portland road, a distance of 2½ miles. An 8½-mile stretch is under way from near State road (M-66), about 8 miles west of Portland, west to Nash highway.

Lansing from the widows and the aged retired citizens whose early thrift and wide investments are keeping them solvent and off welfare rolls.

About 57,000 individuals now file intangible tax returns, according to Gerrit Van Coevering, director of inheritance and intangible tax division. And it is suspected many more should be doing so. It is difficult to enforce collection of this type of tax.

Regardless of other factors, the intangible tax has certain political advantages because it hits a relatively small proportion of the population. But a large percentage of those affected are retired, having saved their money when the dollar bought more than it does today.

About 40% of the taxpayers pay less than $50 each. This equals 3½% of total revenue. Only 4% pay more than $1,000, which makes up 60% of the tax. Many now exempt because their savings return are too low, would be caught if the present proposal becomes law; those already covered would be paying about one-third more.

In 200 Years

U. S. Weather Will Be Hot

Yep, those old timers were right. It was colder in the "good old days."

Climatic conditions in the United States are due to climb to subtropical temperatures within the next 200 years.

So said Professor Erling Dorf of Princeton university in a lecture at the University of Michigan.

The average temperature has been rising gradually since the last ice glacier age about 12,000 years ago although the earth experienced a "little ice age" from 1600 to 1850, he maintains.

An authority on paleobotany, Professor Dorf based his conclusions on plant fossil remains which, he says, are better indicators of the past than remnants of fossil animals.

He explained that animals can escape an advancing glacier by running away and when fossils of such animals are found, the location often does not indicate their native habitat.

Plant species typical of warm and cold climates indicate more closely the true temperature existing in the particular period in which they are found.

Backing up his theory of continually increasing temperature, Professor Dorf reported the findings of scientists in related fields. Records of sea levels indicate the oceans have been rising at the rate of 2 feet per 100 years since 1920, due to melting glaciers," he said.

Warmer temperatures have already had some effect in various parts of the world. In Canada the crop line has extended 65 miles northward since 1920.

Good News on Traffic

Two years ago Michigan left off hand-wringing over traffic fatalities and did something about it. With the exception of 2 months, there has been a steady decline in traffic deaths and injuries in Michigan during the past 2 years. This has happened despite increased traffic on Michigan highways and despite an increase in the national traffic toll.

From having the worst record in traffic deaths 2 years ago Michigan has corrected conditions until the state's record for highway safety is now one of the best.

What has been done? New highways have been engineered and constructed with the safety factor uppermost. Improved highway marking has cut accidents. The state police highway patrols have been augmented by 418 men. Many counties, Ingham included, have beefed up their highway patrols. Populous townships have established patrol systems. Michigan has enacted the 65-55 speed limit to replace the former law which set no maximum speed. Here in Ingham and many other counties, township speed limits have also been established. Driver-training is another factor. Support of the safety program by public officials, the press and radio and TV is another factor.

What can be done to further reduce traffic deaths? Captain Shirley G. Curtis of the state police has several suggestions.

Between 25% and 50% of highway accidents are caused by drivers who have been drinking liquor. Michigan is one of the states which does not recognize blood alcohol tests. That's why so many drunk drivers in Michigan are acquitted, why so many drunk driving offenses end up as reckless driving charges.

Another remedy would be a system whereunder drivers who have had their licenses revoked wouldn't find it so easy to go into circuit court to get them back. Another is a tighter license examination system. Highways are so congested that driving should no longer be considered an inherent right, but a privilege.

Michigan people are hearing good news about the reduction of traffic deaths. We can hear even better news if we continue unabated our war against highway slaughter. The war is well started but not yet won. The Michigan highway death toll last year was close to 1,600. It was more than 2,000 in 1955. We have come a long way, but there's still a long way to go.

Merging of Townships

There is no good reason, except the big reason of politics, why townships and even counties can't merge. There is little possibility or probability that they will merge under the present system of state aid.

Michigan counties and their townships were laid out under the assumption that good agricultural land was available in all of them, and that they would become populous enough to support local government. Townships and counties were laid out even before horse and buggy days, laid out when people traveled on foot to reach the town hall. Even on the fringes of a township 6 miles square it would take only an hour to reach the hall. From the far reaches of any county the journey to the county seat could be made by horseback or horse and buggy in half a day. Areas of townships and counties were unchanged with the coming of railroads and highways.

There are many townships in Michigan with scarcely enough permanent residents to fill township tickets. There are counties lacking valuation enough to even begin to support themselves. But the township and county officers cling to their posts. They get their pay from state subsidies.

Even the bigger counties could well consider merger. Ingham, Eaton and Clinton, all affected by the industrial expansion of the Lansing area, have established a tri-county planning commission but nobody dares mention that nasty word of merger. Under present laws only Ingham gets enough highway money back from the gas and weight taxes to build roads good enough to handle Lansing traffic. County lines between Ingham and Eaton and Clinton do not stop traffic, or welfare or industrial development. They do stop consideration of merger. They do stop consideration of surrender of local powers and prerogatives when unity of action is considered.

So nobody in the populous counties has the right to point fingers at northern counties over failure to consider merger of townships and counties. We're all in the same category. We don't even care to discuss it, as Paul J. Adams, Michigan's new attorney general, learned at a meeting of the Michigan Townships association last week.

Tops in Euphemism

Senator Tom Winery of Kent county has reached the top in euphemism. He has introduced a bill in the legislature to have the name of Michigan Reformatory at Ionia changed to Hilltop Academy and Trade school.

That's not only the top of the hill; it's the top of the mountain of euphemistic endeavor.

The Ionia institution was known as the State House of Correction until 1901 when the name was changed to Michigan Reformatory.

A major part of the cure for what ails the men incarcerated at the institution is facing the facts, learning to tell the truth, shunning falsehoods. They know that the reformatory is not an academy. The men are there because they have pleaded guilty or have been convicted of felonies. They know they are not enrolled in an academy. They know that use of such a name for a prison is false and misleading, actually a fraud.

If men serving time for crime are taught to mislead the public there would be little hope of any cure, or any correction.

The bill seeking to change the name of the Ionia Reformatory to Ionia Academy and Trade school ought to be laughed out of the legislature and its introducer with it.

Safety Access Highways

While dealing with euphemism, let's turn our attention to Michigan's new highways such as US-127 between Mason and Jackson. They are called limited access highways, because drivers are permitted to enter and leave at certain points only. Every farm driveway is not an added hazard. Every crossroad is not a danger point. There are no farm driveways. There are no crossroads, only safe interchanges.

Limited access is like the local and limited trains which once served the public. A limited train was actually unlimited in that it did not make local stops. Its passage was unlimited from that standpoint.

While such expressways as US-127 between Jackson and Mason are limited as to entrances and exits, and driveways and crossroads, a truer name might be safety-access roads, or accident-limited highways.

Down by the SYCAMORE

The Ingham County News centennial is upon us, or will be within a year. Last week the centennial edition was started to the point where copy was written. The edition has been on the drawing boards for several months—a topic which has been kicked around at the office and slept upon at home.

The time has come to stop the kicking and to stop the sleeping. Research and writing chores are at hand. If anyone knows any early history or the location of any old pictures, around or before the turn of the century, please speak up.

Pictures should be of events or buildings. Few family groups can be used.

Complete files of the first years of the Ingham County News are now available in the state library in Lansing. They were unearthed in Nebraska 2 years ago after long burial in Wisconsin. They have been microfilmed with the film available in Lansing and at the Ingham County News office in Mason. But the files are better for steady work and that's why there's going to be a lot of commuting between this office and the state library until the early history is completed.

One of the startling things the old papers revealed Friday was that had it not been for Leslie, Onondaga and Aurelius townships and the city of Lansing, Abraham Lincoln would not have carried Ingham county either time he ran for president.

I had always believed that Ingham county and Michigan were sold for Lincoln. Michigan favored Lincoln by only 25,000 votes in the first election in 1860, and Ingham county gave Lincoln a majority of only 345. In 1864 Lincoln carried Ingham county by only 2 votes on the unofficial returns and I didn't get far enough along in the files to learn the report of the official canvass.

From research done so far, it is safe to assume that many of the assumptions about Ingham's history have not been based on fact.

Another assumption that went glimmering Sunday was that the best skaters performed on Sycamore creek. I had either been wrong for a long time, or while I had been skating on the Sycamore a lot of skaters had improved their styles at Rayner park ponds.

The best father and son team in action at the ponds Sunday was Dr. William E. Clark and Tom. The son was showing the father how to make fancy turns.

Perhaps it is only natural that printers do well in figure skating and writing slogans on the ice with their skates. William Reeser and Ken Sheffer were both performing. In my opinion Ken was a little more legible with Roman letters while Bill had the advantage of writing italics.

Melody and Barbara Betcher, transferring from the Sycamore to the ponds, upheld the west side tradition.

Mike and Diane Hilgert were the 2 skaters with the greatest bounce Sunday. Just learning, they went down a hundred times. And a hundred times they struggled upright and always with a smile. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood M. Hilgert, 810 Barnes.

Some people say that Mason should provide rinks such as Lansing builds and maintains. Such a program would fail at Mason because of lack of police supervision. When the ice softens in Lansing verboten signs are placed and youngsters obey them. They keep off the ice. Here in Mason the youngsters keep on playing when the ice is soft and those footprints and sled tracks freeze up. Knowing how to make and maintain artificial rinks is not enough. Knowing how and having the manpower to keep skaters off the ponds when the ice is soft is equally important.

Adults who have kept limber by skating will be in peak condition for Nick and His Cornhuskers at the Legion hall this Friday night. The Cornhuskers were here 2 weeks ago with the same sweet music they provided in those gay days before the war—World War II, not the Civil War.

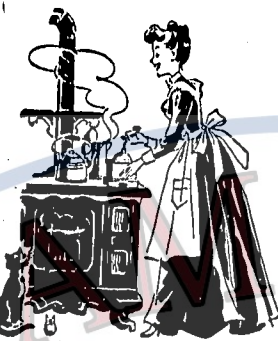

Perhaps Michigan's high court will have to be more careful about separating facts from fiction. One of the new justices, John D. Voelker, is the author of a best seller. He has done his writing under the name of Robert Traver. The title of the book, first choice as Book-of-the-Month for January, is Anatomy of a Murder.

Under possibilities of invasion, a new draft classification is being considered—4G, a notch lower than 4F. Men put in Class G won't have to fight—just keep out of the way.

Mason will soon be greeting one of the liveliest families anywhere—the Paul Chien family. There are 6 youngsters, from 9 down to 2, all quick and bright and full of fun. The Chiens have bought 2 acres of land on Dart road and expect to build this year. They now live in East Lansing.

Ann Landers is going to give advice to the lovers, at the Michigan Press association dinner at Kellogg Center Saturday night. Anyone seeking advice on such delicate matters and too bashful to write a letter to Ann may confide in me before Saturday night and I'll ask Ann personally.

It could be that Ann will get more and better advice than she gives. Farmer Peck's Wife and her husband will be there.

What Car Has The Best Brakes?

Read this

"After testing a 1958 CENTURY, one of four Buick Series (all but the SPECIAL) equipped with new deeply-finned aluminum front brake drums, it is our agreeable duty to report that these are the best brakes on a Detroit sedan by far that we have tested, and that they are, conservatively, a 100 per cent improvement over conventional Detroit brakes."

Direct quotation from the new issue of SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED in a report entitled: "THE SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED 1958 AWARD IN RECOGNITION OF OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT AND SIGNIFICANT CONTRIBUTION IN THE AUTOMOTIVE FIELD PRESENTED TO THE BUICK MOTOR DIVISION GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION, FOR MAJOR ADVANCES IN BRAKES."

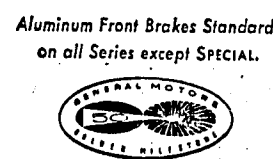

NOW—more than ever—when better automobiles are built Buick will build them

22 emergency stops from 60 mph—and Buick's brakes still effective!

As a result of this grueling brake test, SCI stated: "We find it the rule for Detroit sedans to brake quite efficiently for the first few stops, but then they deteriorate rapidly." But here's what happened in the Buick Century: 22 "crash stops" were made from 60 MPH, and afterwards, the brakes were still fully effective. Says SCI: "This was by far the most severe test we ever have submitted a sedan's brakes to, but after it was over the Buick's brakes functioned perfectly. . . . Buick has done it, has achieved a much better product, and has set a new standard of brake quality for Detroit."

"Crash Stop"—fastest full stop possible for a car traveling at a given speed.

THE UNIQUE OPEL

—the imported car made by General Motors in Germany—can now be ordered through authorized Buick dealers.

DANGER AHEAD!

Beautiful, yes. Beautiful as only Nature in all her purity can be. But dangerous too; dangerous to the ships at sea and the men they carry. For an iceberg's greatest bulk lies unseen beneath the surface... and against it, the unwary cannot survive.

Many of the things which, on the surface, appear the most tempting and beautiful contain hidden dangers and unsuspected pitfalls.

Men, like ships, need warning and guidance—and nowhere can they find greater help, greater love and protection than in their Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Strong-Arm Doesn't Work

Farmers Must Find New Economic Lever

Agriculture cannot copy big labor or big business to gain a greater bargaining power in today's economy, claims Dr. Thomas K. Cowden, dean of the College of Agriculture at Michigan State University.

At a recent national meeting of farm cooperatives, Dean Cowden pointed out that agriculture is a biological industry.

"We cannot turn it on and off at any stage of production," he said in explaining the comparison.

"Industry can adjust production to the market demand very easily. When it cannot sell all its products, adjustment problems are shifted to the labor force, which is laid off, or to society."

Dean Cowden expressed a belief that farmers, as a whole, are not willing to use "strong-armed methods" to enforce strikes. Labor, he added, has only its services to sell. On the other hand, farmers sell products that are the result of their labor, capital investment, management and the entire farm operation.

"It appears that agriculture should and can take steps to see that the government takes an active part to see that as much competition as possible is maintained in all other sectors of our economy," the dean said. "It is also important that a balance of bargaining power between labor and industry be maintained."

The dean emphasized that he was not pessimistic about the future of American agriculture and declared that the next 25 years should bring greatly improved standards of living for farm people.

"Progress in agriculture," Dean Cowden concluded, "will be made by permitting and encouraging scientific and technological advances to proceed and by adopting governmental policies to promote a competitive economy consistent with our twentieth century environment."

Most Farm Leaders Show Distaste Over Remedies President Suggests

By CARL COLLIN

The president's special farm message to congress didn't meet with much enthusiasm. In fact, it got a right cold reception from all quarters on the hill.

About everything in it has been expected; there weren't any surprises. Main points that brought criticism from both houses were the request for authority to slash price supports as low as 60% of parity for basic crops and milk, and the request to give the secretary of agriculture authority to set planting allotments.

The consensus is that there is hardly any chance for the passage of the president's requests. Even Senator Aiken (R., Vt.) senior member of the senate agriculture committee and in the past a supporter of administration farm policy, said he wouldn't introduce the president's proposed legislation.

Democrats, naturally, were severely critical of the administration's proposals.

There's some talk now in Washington that congress might try to get through a simple legislative package calling for a freeze of current price supports and acreage allotments for key commodities for another year or so, but there's considerable doubt if this deal would weather a presidential veto.

Marketing people are trying to figure out where all the hogs are which farmers were holding back to feed "wet" corn. Contrary to expectations of most people in the trade, says Drivers Journal, heavy hogs are scarce this month. Average weight of barrows and gilts on the Chicago market so far this month at 238 lb is as light as the average has been in January since 1911. It compares with 241 lb last January, 241 lb 2 years ago and 250 lb 3 years ago.

Chickens are produced or more farms than any other product, according to the census. Eggs and poultry are the third largest source of farm income in the U. S.

The corn-hog ratio so far this month at a little better than 16:1 is one of the best on record for January. In 3 years since 1941 has the ratio been better in January. Highest returns for hogs in 4 years and lowest corn prices since 1943 are responsible. Last year the January corn-hog ratio was 13.3, 2 years ago, 9.2, and 3 years ago, 11.

Kansas wasn't the top producing wheat state in 1957. It turned out about 100 million bushels, while North Dakota produced an estimated 118 million bushels. From all reports, Kansas might be back up there in first place this year. A lot of acreage in the soil bank last year will be back in wheat, moisture supplies are excellent, and the winter wheat crop is off to one of the best starts in years.

Some top farm officials have claimed that most of the higher costs of food have been due to the so-called "built-in" cost service. But a recently published price-spread study by USDA refutes this.

"Consumers are buying more processed, ready-prepared and convenience foods now than ever before," said the report. "But these added marketing services (the so-called built-in cost service) do not seem to account for a major part of the rise in the marketing bill in recent years— which was largely the result of increases in volume and unit marketing costs."

Many of the convenience foods cost little, if any more than the same food in less highly processed form. Some of the convenience foods involve savings in transportation and storage costs. Others, such as frozen concentrated orange juice, effect economies resulting from new technologies.

Veterinarians say hogs can "catch" influenza from humans. The virus is the same, and the vets believe we may be in for a bad siege of swine flu this spring after farrowing time, when hog numbers will be greatly increased. Keep this in mind and talk with your vet about what to look for and what to do in case your hogs don't act right this spring.

There were 3% fewer cattle on feed January 1 of this year than at the same time in 1957. In Michigan there were about 8% fewer.

Milk output in Michigan in December at 408 million pounds was about the same as a year ago. Production per cow continued at record levels but number of cows continued to decline. Egg output in Michigan last month at 148 million was off 5% from the same month in 1957, making production for the year below 1956 but 5% above average. Agricultural research scientists believe castor beans and safflower have possibilities as important new crops in this country. The structure of castor and safflower oils suggests a vast number of new products could be made from them.

Scientists are using a virus to control tent caterpillars. They collect dead caterpillars which have the virus, grind them up, and add water to them to spray foliage. The stuff is potent. The effect of the virus even carries over in the winter to succeeding generations.

Country & Town Chestnut in your pocket?

By JIM BROWN

If you've got a horse chestnut in the left pocket of your topcoat, you're wearing Paul Simpson's coat. And he wants it back. The Leslie farmer lagged behind as those attending the soil conservation district banquet in Dansville Friday got up to go. When Paul went to the coat rack, there was only one coat left. It wasn't his. He's willing to swap with the guy who's got his horse chestnut.

Soil conservation is one of the few federal programs that wins almost universal acceptance.

The idea of conserving natural resources is not an outcome of over-production, gross waste or politics. It's a fundamental duty manifest in all people to conserve and use wisely whatever natural resource is at their disposal. In the case of farmers, the natural resources include water and soil. And as indicated at the meeting in Dansville, Ingham farmers are well aware of their obligations to preserve soil and water. It is nearly unique these days for anyone to worry much about conserving anything. Today's tempo of life is anything but conservative. Governments haven't practiced conservation for years. Those who practice soil conservation live up to their responsibilities to past and future generations. Certainly a wholesome attitude.

John Thomsen has become one of Mason's busiest home builders. He had open house at a new home on Columbia street Sunday afternoon. Nice carpentry work, John.

If money did grow on trees it would just be another surplus commodity the federal government would start worrying about.

How are you coming on those New Year's resolutions?

MMPA Protests Support Slash

Representatives of Michigan Milk Producers left Monday for Washington to confer with federal officials and to protest the proposed cut in dairy price supports.

President Glenn Lake and the directors making the trip are unhappy with the prospects of the cut in dairy support price. In fact President Lake expressed dissatisfaction with the whole farm support program outlined to congress last week by President Eisenhower.

MMPA has another battle going. The sales committee is trying to extend the present $5 price on Class I milk for 2 months.

Beet Industry Seeks Students

For the third consecutive year 2 scholarships of $1,000 at Michigan State university are being offered by the beet sugar industry of Michigan.

Anyone eligible for admission to Michigan State university as a freshman and a resident of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan may be considered for the awards.

One of the unique aspects of the scholarship program is that the awards will be spread over a 3-year period with approximately half being apportioned for the freshman year. The remainder will be utilized by the recipients at the direction of the budgeting committee at the university during the sophomore and junior years.

Scholarships will be determined on a percentage basis with scholastic ability, need and activities being considered in the final decision.

Young men interested in the agricultural scholarship should make application to the dean of the college of agriculture at MSU, East Lansing, and young women should apply to the dean of the college of home economics.

All applications will be screened by scholarship committees of the 2 schools and 5 candidates will be selected from each of the 2 schools. Final winners are to be determined by a special committee including personnel of the university and the sugar beet industry.

Ingham Bulls Rate High

Two registered Holstein bulls owned by Fred Angell & Son, Lansing, were rated as preferred pedigree sires—the highest attainable honor in the selective registration program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Oak Edge Finel Roglo 1279483 and Oak Edge Finel Bonle Duke 1289800 both qualified for the coveted rating on the basis of the outstanding performance of their ancestors. Designed as a means of selecting potentially outstanding young sires, requirements for preferred pedigree include high standards of type and production on both sides of a bull's pedigree.

MMPA Milk Sales Report Indicates Production Rise and Sales Slump

After hitting a 9-month low in November, milk production in the Detroit market moved sharply upward during December while Class I sales dropped.

In a report to the sales committee of Michigan Milk Producers Association, it was revealed that total milk deliveries to the Detroit market during December exceeded 158 million pounds—8 million pounds more than the same month last year. Of this amount 68.7% was sold as Class I (drinking) milk—a drop of 5.6% from November. Milk sold as Class I was paid for by dealers at the rate of $5.00 per hundredweight.

The remaining milk which had to be manufactured into butter, dry milk powder, cottage cheese, etc., was sold as Class II at $3.30 a hundred. These uses of milk resulted in a farmers' base price of $4.65 a hundred; an excess price of $3.48; and a blend or average price of $4.52 a hundred. All are f. o. b. Detroit prices for milk containing 3.5% butterfat.

The prices quoted are based on the $5.00 Class I price negotiated by MMPA. This was 61¢ above the Federal Order price and added more than $860,000 to the amount of money Detroit shippers received for milk—an average premium of about $55- for each shipper included in the super-pool.

Although farmers' pay prices were down slightly from November, average gross income for each shipper in the market was $591, up $27 from November and $3 above December, 1956. This figure is before deduction of transportation, dues and advertising charges which range from 35 to 50 cents a hundred depending on the farmers' location in the market.

Average milk production per farm during December was 12,958 pounds—up 961 pounds from December, 1956. There were 12,251 shippers on the market—a drop of 88 from the previous month and 306 less than a year ago.

The drop in Class I sales was, reported as largely a seasonal occurrence, accentuated this year by longer-than-usual shutdowns of some Detroit factories over the holidays.

Similar trends were noted in outstate Michigan markets where average prices were off from 3¢ a hundred in Marquette to 21¢ a hundred in Sault Ste. Marie.

Farmers Should Complete Their Haying Plans Now

Hay mixtures of alfalfa, bromegrass and ladino clover make up the most popular roughage crop on most Michigan farms.

In 1957, about 1½ million acres of alfalfa and alfalfa mixtures were grown for hay production in Michigan.

State farmers liked these mixtures because they are high yielding and, providing the crop is harvested at the right time and without weather damage, the forage is of top feeding value.

M. H. Avery, Ingham county agricultural agent thinks that farmers buying seed now for spring planting will want to plan for more legumes in order to cash in on their top feed value.

It's also not too early to organize the haymaking system to get high quality forage, Avery added. Don Hillman, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State university, says that a ton of hay or grass silage that is harvested at one-tenth to one-third bloom contains about twice as much protein and is 30 per cent more digestible than a ton of the same crop that is left until full maturity before it is harvested.

Weather is something farmers have to keep an eye on. Generally, weather conditions are often more favorable for haymaking during early June. This is when hay should be harvested in most of Michigan, Hillman states.

One way to avoid the hazards of weather damage and leaf loss is to put up part of the crop as grass silage, dry the hay in the barn or feed green chopped hay.

Several Ingham county farmers have visited the extension office in Mason to pick up copies of the new wagon rack plan for feeding chopped hay direct from the field.

The plan is in circular 733—Wagon Rack for self feeding chopped hay direct from the field. The plan is in circular 733—Wagon Rack for self feeding chopped hay.

Grange Picks Grand Rapids For National Convention

Grand Rapids will be host to the 92nd Annual Session of the national Grange, the nation's oldest and second largest farm organization, November 10-19, 1958.

William J. Burke, Michigan State Grange Master, has just received word to that effect from Ray Teagarden, chairman of the national Grange executive committee, following the committee's approval of the site.

Delegates at the 1957 session at Colorado Springs, Colorado, chose Michigan as the host state for 1958. The convention will be held in the Pantlind Hotel and the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids.

This will be the fifth time the national Grange has met in Michigan. The first time was at Lansing in 1887 and again in 1902. The convention held at Grand Rapids in 1919 and 1943.

Delegates representing the approximately 800,000 members of the National Grange in 37 states will act upon several hundred resolutions from the state Granges and the actions taken will determine national Grange policies for 1959. Grange membership is presently at an all-time high.

Teagarden added that the resolutions come almost entirely from the rural atmosphere of some 7,000 local Granges and go through county and state sessions and special study committees before reaching national Grange delegates.

Grange policies cover many national and international affairs in addition to those commonly thought of as farm problems. These include: world peace, education, health, taxation and transportation.

MSU Meetings Indicate Solid Farm Future

Corporation type farming and how to boost dairy income are 2 topics that are getting top billing at Michigan State university's Farmers Week this year.

Farmers Week is January 27-31 on the MSU campus at East Lansing.

The current talk about integration, contract farming and the disappearance of the family farm has prompted a discussion entitled "Where do we go from here?" scheduled for Wednesday morning, January 29.

Agricultural Economist Glenn Johnson will outline the probabilities of the development of corporation-type farming and contract farming and how fast they will come. Another agricultural economist, Art Mauch, will list some of the choices farm people have before them today.

Many agricultural leaders have presented plans which they feel will raise dairy income and stabilize the industry in Michigan. On Thursday morning, January 30, an agricultural economist, 2 farm organization leaders and a dairy marketing group president will tell how they think dairy income might be boosted.

Appearing on the program are John Donoth, MSU agricultural economist; John Speelman, president of the Michigan Farmers Union; Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers association; and William Brake, master of the Michigan Grange.

Visitors will have a chance to quiz the speakers on their views.

Soil Bank Did Something

Production on American farms in 1957 fell about $1 billion short of what it could have been. But no one is moaning.

Indeed, federal officials seem rather pleased. For this was according to plan. The government paid nearly 1,000,000 farmers more than $700 million to hold about 27,000,000 acres out of crop production.

This escape from embarrassing abundance was engineered under the soil bank program. The figures on what was not grown come from the department of agriculture and are, of course, estimates. To us they look like somewhat wishful estimates.

For instance, the department has guessed that about 43 bushels of corn per acre would have been grown on the land held out of corn. Now, the national average was only 3.8 bushels higher.

And the majority of the acres put into the soil bank were so poor or so drought-struck that they would have produced little or nothing.

We trust that congress will take a careful look at these estimates of what the nation gained — or lost — by holding land idle last year. For it would be a mistake to believe that the soil bank plan is going to solve the farm problem singlehanded.

Even so, with tighter administrative plugging of some of the abuses and with more emphasis on the conservation reserve section the soil bank is a much more reasonable program than high price supports. For it subsidizes cuts in production instead of the increases which make for mounting surpluses. — St. Johns Republican-Tribune.

Lewis Wilson Holsteins Top Ingham County Test List

Thirty-four Ingham county dairy herds on IBM averaged over 40 pounds of butterfat for December, according to the report from Michigan State university.

The 27 registered Holsteins owned by Lewis Wilson of Mason were high with 55.8 lb fat and 1488 lb milk.

Herds averaging 52.7 lb butterfat were:

H. Covert and Son, 37 registered Holsteins, 127 lb milk; W. C. Wright, 44 registered Holsteins, 1333 lb milk; Davis and Ellis, 22 grade Holsteins, 1426 lb milk; Carlton Eldred, 19 registered Holsteins, 1302 lb milk.

Herds averaging 49.6 lb butterfat:

Ray Lott and Son, 38 registered Holsteins, 1240 lb milk; Russell Kleis, 21 registered Holsteins, 1271 lb milk.

Herds averaging 46.5 lb butterfat:

Chellis Hall, 49 grade Holsteins, 1209 lb milk; H. Oesterle and Son, 37 registered Holsteins, 1085 lb milk; Raymond Powell, 26 grade Holsteins, 1209 lb milk; C. A. Diehl and Sons, 48 registered Holsteins, 1209 lb milk; Robert Hunt, 15 registered Holsteins, 1116 lb milk; Denzil Hill, 22 grade Holsteins, 1178 lb milk; Donal Parks, 16 grade Holsteins, 1023 lb milk; Graf Bros., 54 grade Holsteins, 1302 lb milk; Earnest Shaw, 26 grade Holstein, 1178 lb milk.

Herds averaging 43.4 lb fat:

Kenneth Kurtz, 30 grade Holsteins, 1023 lb milk; Fred Graf, 52 registered Holsteins, 1240 lb milk; W. D. Friermuth, 23 registered Holsteins, 1209 lb milk; Ralston and Pfister, 39 grade Holsteins, 1178 lb milk; L. Foster, 20 grade Holsteins, 1085 lb milk; Howard Burgess, 22 registered Holsteins, 1147 lb milk; Basil Pruin, Jr., 23 grade Holsteins, 1054 lb milk.

Herds averaging 40.3 lb butterfat:

Stimson and Litchfield, 50 registered Holsteins, 1085 lb milk; Gould and Kaczynski, 23 registered Holsteins, 1054 lb milk; Emens and Phelps, 31 grade Holsteins, 1147 lb milk; C. Blossy, 32 grade Holsteins, 1054 lb milk; Dr. P. L. Troost, 20 registered Guernseys, 806 lb milk; Sweet & Lovette, 31 mixed, 837 lb milk; Lawrence Stowe, 65 grade Holsteins, 1147 lb milk; J. Irradiation Tests Fail To Halt Beet Respiration Bombarding sugar beets with high energy electrons apparently won't reduce sugar losses by respiration before beets are processed, reports M. H. Avery, Ingham county agricultural agent.

Uncontrolled losses of sugar by respiration while beets await processing rob the industry of thousands of dollars each year. Some of the sugar in the beet is used in the respiration process.

Michigan State university agricultural engineer, Dennis E. Wiant, and U. S. department of agriculture plant physiologist, Freeman W. Snyder, tested to see if the rate of respiration could be cut down by irradiation and then checked the rate of respiration.

Wiant and Snyder report that high energy electron irradiation had the opposite effect of that which was wanted.

Small doses of irradiation speeded up respiration but did not cause any visible injury to roots. Higher doses of irradiation injured surface tissue but the rate of respiration did not increase as much as with smaller doses. Apparently the damaged tissue slowed the rate, scientists felt.

The speedup in the rate of respiration caused by the high energy electron irradiation lasted for several days and then subsided gradually. Wiant and Snyder add.

Scientists are continuing their search for a treatment that will reduce the loss of sugar from beets by respiration.

Small Trees Are Ready

The time has come when those persons who are thinking about planting trees this spring must get in their orders if they wish to get the species of evergreens which they want, says Al Twork, district forester for this area.

Seedlings and transplants are available from the forestry division of Michigan State university and state department of conservation. Order blanks are available at the county extension office.

Many species of evergreens are adapted to southern Michigan but the white pine is still tops for this area.

Red and Scotch pine are usually attacked by the European shoot moth and the larvae of the saw fly. These pests require spraying the trees for insects if the trees are to develop as they should. White and Norway spruce can stand the competition of grasses and weeds very well. They are good trees to plant on the better soils where this competition is usually tough. The larger transplants are best under such circumstances.

Foresters do not recommend that Scotch pine be planted unless the needed care can be given. Growers of Christmas trees cannot afford to grow this tree unless they can do the spraying for insects which will be necessary. Also, they should plan on shaping the trees during June and July. Scotch pine seedlings are sold only by private nurseries. Information on planting and site selection is available through district forester at extension office.

Mary Huttling Is Wed
Miss Mary Huttling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Huttling, became the bride of Roman Shraibman, son of Mrs. Regina Shraibman of Westphalia, at the immaculate home of Mary church last Saturday. Breakfast was served at the Poplars on US-16 by Mrs. Martha Couchois of Ottawa Hills, sister of the bride.

Robert Scheppeler of Okemos returned last week end with 7 pike over 20 inches in length. Dr. and Mrs. Lester E. Wolcott of Ottawa Hills are spending 10 days in Denver, Colorado, attending a clinic at the University at Denver.

Mrs. Sharon Field of Santa Ana, California, is visiting at her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whites of Hillcrest Drive, until late in the summer. Reservations at Chad's Manor, the Spartan Terrace, Motel Topper, and Winslow's indicate a large turnout for Farmers Week at Michigan State university next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tomlinson of Indian Hills spent part of the week at the Tip-Up Town festival at Houghton Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, owners of Coral Gables, have returned home after spending 3 weeks at San Diego, California, before their grand opening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson of Ottawa Hills spent the past week in Kansas City, Missouri.

Randy Scott of Okemos entered the armed forces last week. He is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Duane "Tiger" Bricker of Western Michigan university, Kalamazoo, was home last week visiting his mother who has been sick during the past year.

Miss Lynn Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson, has been initiated into Kappa Phi sorority at Western Michigan university.

Clare Duncan, former pianist at Muncy's Bar and other night spots in the Lansing area, now employed in the Chicago area, visited at the Spartan Supperette recently.

Tom Giber of Ottawa Hills spent the past week end fishing at Lake Odessa.

Read II Timothy 1:1-7.

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits. (Psalm 103:2.)

Harold W. Ruopp describes an occasion when he telephoned to know if he could speak to the city editor of a large metropolitan newspaper. The editor's secretary replied somewhat abruptly, "I doubt it; he's very busy."

"I'm sorry. I simply wanted to thank him for his splendid editorial yesterday."

"Oh," she said, "just a minute; I'll see if I can get him."

The editor was soon talking. After receiving Dr. Ruopp's thanks for the editorial, the editor took fifteen minutes of his busy time telling about the tribulations of a city editor.

When the phone conversation was over, Dr. Ruopp said half-aloud, "That magic word, 'Thanks'."

If a city editor of a large metropolitan newspaper would give the above response on being thanked, how must God respond when we thank Him for our many blessings?

God showers upon us a multitude of blessings every day. We can complain, we can take them for granted, or we can be thankful for them.

PRAYER

During this season of expressing gratitude to Thee, O God, we pray that thanksgiving will continue to be a part of our daily life. Help us to be more thankful to Thee for all Thy benefits to us. In our Saviour's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good."

Dairy Supports Urged

Since Secretary of Agriculture Benson made public that the support price of dairy products would be lowered about April 1, there has been quite a lot of talk among dairy farmers.

They, of course are opposed to the lowering of our milk price. Practically all other businesses and industries are receiving some aid from the government. Why shouldn't the dairy farmer?

I don't believe in government aid. Only when our products go below an operating price is it justified. We, as dairymen, have a chance right now to help ourselves by writing to our Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson; our senator, Charles E. Potter; and our congressman, Charles E. Chamberlain; and let them know, how we, as dairymen, feel and what we know about our situation.

Today we are receiving about the same price for our milk as we were in 1925 but our operating cost is a lot higher today.

Machinery, repairs, fuel and many other things are from 1 1/2 to 3 times higher than they were at that time.

I have written to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Senator Potter and Congressman Chamberlain and received favorable answers.

Senator Potter intends to present a bill to congress to change the law now in effect. He also says congress should set a limit below which support prices cannot fall, and by doing so should give consideration to the economic well-being of the dairy farmer.

The dairy farmer could help himself a lot more than he does by producing a better quality product. Anyone selling milk or cream for drinking or manufacturing purposes should come under grade A or some other law whereby the milk would be cooled properly. Milking cows would be housed in clean quarters and thus be forced to produce a high quality product.

No wonder many other spreads for bread are becoming more popular when much of the butter sold out of the stores has an unbearable smell and taste.

Milk never is any better than it is when it leaves the farm. If the housewife could go to the store and know she was going to buy good tasting and good smelling butter she would use more of it and more of our dairy products.

The farmer doesn't receive much practical recognition in Washington. If there are things we don't like we should let them know.

The wheel that squeaks is the one that gets the grease.

Editorial Finds Agreement

May we add our sincere congratulations to you for your excellent editorial of December 27 entitled "Good Highways Save Lives."

We are sure all forward-looking road officials will salute your comments and greatly appreciate your assistance in educating the motoring public to the advantages of expressway-type construction for major arterial highways. Unfortunately, the words "limited access" and "controlled access" still seem to arouse antagonism in some communities where drivers are unacquainted with benefits from such arterial

Governor Defends Tax Plan

Bank depositors, widows living off the income from small estates, old people with their savings in securities, the fellow with a few shares of stock—all can relax now, the big scare is over.

The increases I am proposing in the intangibles tax won't hurt any of them.

Some of them, under my proposal, will get tax reductions. Others who paid the intangibles tax last year, will be exempted under the proposed formula. Many will be entitled to refunds. The only reason we are considering any tax increase at all is because the state is running out of money to meet its bills. The combination of deficit financing by the last legislative session and the national decline in business has put us in a grave crisis.

Here are the outlines of the intangibles tax changes I have recommended to produce $20,625,000 estimated additional revenue.

The present credit of $20 for each taxpayer would be increased to $60. This would exempt all those whose income from securities etc. is less than $1,000, or who own less than $30,000 of non-income-producing securities.

About 11,000 persons in this group who paid $15 or less in tax last year would be entirely exempt under the new formula.

Also, this would mean a tax cut for those whose income from securities was between $1,000 and $1,600, or who own non-income-producing securities worth between $30,000 and $40,000. There were about 8,000 taxpayers last year in this category, which includes all whose tax was between $15 and $36.

These 19,000 taxpayers in the lowest brackets would pay the tax due at the old rate, and then get a refund if new rates are adopted by the legislature.

The present tax rate of 3 1/2% on income from securities would be raised to 6%. This rate is high-

Hilltop Academy Draws Fire

I haven't checked on Webster's definition of a spendthrift but if I were asked to write out the definition for spendthrift I could do it with 4 words—A spendthrift is an economy-minded Republican.

Right here amidst all the hoopla about the state's hopeless financial condition, right at the time the state notifies the schools that they will have to stall off the school aid payments 60 or 90 days due to the lack of funds, an inspired Republican representative from Grand Rapids, Thomas J. Whinery, introduces a bill to change the name of the Ionia reformatory to the Hilltop Academy and Trade school.

My, my, what a wonderful gesture to the bandits, rapists and con men of our fair state.

I certainly don't want to be little Rep. Whinery's motives but I don't think he has considered the extra hundreds of thousands of dollars this move would cost the taxpayers of Michigan.

The scrapping and replacing of all existing printed material used in the business of operating a large prison would cost between $25,000 and $50,000.

As it stands now when a bandit finishes his term he is given a new suit of clothes, a hearty handshake and the address and phone number of his parole officer. Operating the prison as a college will force courts all over Michigan to change their present procedures. Anyone can see how holding graduation exercises for one, 2 or a dozen parolees or graduates, as they will no doubt be called, would prove to be too expensive for even an economy-minded Republican.

Judges could no longer sentence convicted criminals indiscriminately to prison terms. The 1-, 2-, and 3-year terms would be eliminated entirely. After all, can anyone think of a bigger crime society could commit against a second story man than sentencing him to a half term in college. In doing that we would be graduating a lot of half wits from Hilltop Academy and who could blame them if they went back into the burglary business.

No, we could not have this. Terms would have to start either in the spring or in the fall. Convicts convicted in between the starting of the academic terms would have to be held in their respective county jails until the fall term. The minimum sentence would be 4 years. Any additional sentence would be doled out all it might take longer to make a cumulative out of a hatched murderer than it would a bank robber.

This procedure would bring several thousand prisoners up for release. I mean graduation, at the same time and a befitting graduation ceremony could be arranged.

The holding of prisoners in county jails until terms started in Hilltop Academy and Trade school, the changing of court procedures, graduation exercises etc., probably wouldn't cost the state over a couple of million dollars.

After the Republican legislature passes this bill and then doesn't have the money to administer it they can jump all over Gov. Williams because the money isn't there.

Of course at graduation exercises the current Republican candidate for governor would be the commencement speaker. He could no doubt get himself a lot of votes talking to men that had been enclosed behind high walls for 8 or 10 years.

Because of not being acquainted too well with what had been going on in the outside world they would probably believe everything he told them and come out and vote the Republican ticket.

State Finance

In the press and over the air waves we hear that the financial ship of state has hit the rocks, and has gone down into bankruptcy. If these are facts, why doesn't someone have a sheriff post a notice as to when and where the bankrupt sale will be. There could be taxpayers who might want to buy a few little things, maybe a small $100,000 bridge with a little trickle of water running under it, or a couple of swivel chairs, a desk or 2 if there are not too many feet marks on them.

Where there is life there still is hope. I would try and find the Indian chief Squanto who helped to build this great state just trading furs. Maybe with his help and the millions of $100 sheepskins we the taxpayers pay every year, the boys who do the spending could make a comeback.

With a big 198 days before the next election, I see that the elephant and the mule have locked tails. The debris is flying, caustic words are being traded, and with the long stretch ahead for complaining we could have one of those old southern type elections, known as the pistol packing ball box.

Just the other day at a political get-together, some sensible citizen made the remark, "It would be great if we could draft a man for the governor of this state like Henry Ford, II." I second that idea. If this could come to pass, the state capitol would get a fumigating, a renovating, and after that economy, plus a business administration would dwell under the big dome. I would bet on the old boobtail nag. If a real sound business man would accept the governorship he would be elected hands down, even though he be a dark horse.

If the state is bankrupt, and the federal government is about to spend $30,000,000,000, and taxes keep going up there could be a lot of American people go broke.

I can recall when even banks went busted. Don't you recall those days. And we were not spending then like we are now.

Will the Haskell bill pass, allowing the Bible to be read in our public schools? My guess is no. But it should be passed.

Should a public official use the $100,000,000 bridge without paying if he lives on the other side. (Yes). . . I will have to pay, so will you. If you want to cross it. A public official was once our public servant. Are we today his servant?

Grosse Pointe Principal Joins State Commission

Clarence J. Messner of Grosse Pointe, recently appointed to the Michigan conservation commission, has wide experience in both conservation and education.

The new commissioner is principal of Pere Gabriel Richard school in Grosse Pointe—a position he has filled since 1930.

In the field of conservation, Messner is associated with various state organizations. He currently is a member of the Michigan Natural Areas Council and the state committee on conservation and education.

He also is a former president of the Michigan Audubon society and the Michigan Botanical club.

Born in 1902 in the copper country of the Upper Peninsula, Messner is a graduate of Michigan State Normal college and received his master's degree at Colorado State college of education. At the time of his appointment by Governor G. Mennen Williams, Messner was working toward a doctorate at the University of Michigan.

The new commissioner has written numerous articles on education, natural science and conservation for various publications.

Cheney's Award Recalls History

When Ludell Cheney received an award for outstanding soil conservation Friday, it was the 123rd anniversary of his grandfather David Cheney's birthday. The grandfather was born January 17, 1835, and purchased the original 71 acres of the Cheney holdings on College road in 1861.

The award was made by the Ingham Soil Conservation District at a meeting in Dansville.

David Cheney was a good farmer who took pride in his work, Ludell Cheney recalls. The grandson said his grandfather would have been proud to know that the fertility of the Cheney soil is being maintained.

Ludell and his son Richard are the third and fourth generations to live on the farm. Ludell Cheney's father, Willis, also operated the farm. Richard Cheney is in the army, but helped farm the place after being graduated from Mason school.

One difference between success and failure is the habit of keeping your mind on your work, not work on your mind.

Congratulations!

You got through 1957 without being among the 95,000 or so people who met their death in accidents last year. Was it luck or did you plan it that way? For your sake, for the sake of your family and the community at large, let's hope you did plan it that way. Make farm safety your first order of business, today and from now on.

"... We Need 'em Fast!"

THE SCENE IS the traffic department of any of the hundreds of manufacturing plants in Michigan. The time is 4:00 P. M. on any day of the week. The traffic manager is talking long distance to a supplier in another state about some parts needed for production.

"Send 'em by truck," he says, as he prepares to hang up, "we need 'em fast!"

He knows from experience that motor transport is the fastest link between shipping and receiving. He knows he can depend on it. In fact, he and thousands of his fellow traffic managers have been the men most responsible for the rapid growth of motor transport. Once they experienced the efficiency and speed of trucks, there was no satisfying them with anything less—and today their companies could not operate successfully without truck transport!

That's something for every wage earner in Michigan to think about.
