Family Loses All In Fire Near Mason

Fire believed started from a gas fired water heater swept through the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keith on Elliott road about 10 a.m. Sunday while the family was absent. It caused damage to virtually all furniture, clothing and other articles in the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith and their 4 children, Billy 8, Robin 6, Cindy 5 and Teresa 3, were visiting Keith's sister in Webberville at the time of the fire and were not advised of the blaze until Sunday afternoon.

Firemen said the bathroom and a bedroom were badly damaged by fire and the rest of the house suffered heavy damage from smoke and water.

A neighbor turned in the alarm. Keith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Keith, live across the road from their son's home, but they too, were absent at the time of the fire. Neighbors located them in Flint and advised them of the fire and they, in turn notified their son in Webberville.

Keith is employed by the Darling Freight company of Lansing as a dock man. The family spent Sunday night with Keith's brother in St. Johns and are now living temporarily with Mrs. Keith's mother, Mrs. Paul Hildreth, 731 Harris street, Lansing. Keith hopes soon to find a furnished house or apartment in Mason into which he can move his family.

Three of the 4 children are in school. Billy attends the Steele Street school in Mason and Robin and Cindy the Webb school, near their home.

The family lost all their clothing except what they were wearing. Mrs. L. R. Holmes, 213 N. Walnut street, Mason, has offered to serve as a collector of clothing donations for the family, especially the children.

2 Candidates Still Needed

Mason needs at least 2 more candidates for city council. Failure of candidates to file nominating petitions will force the council to resort to the draft.

As on Wednesday noon 4 candidates of the required 8 necessary for the election to fill the 4 posts open had filed. Those in the fold are Robert Greenleer, Melrose Hudson, David Stone and John Hamlin.

City Clerk Harold Barnhill reported that 2 other petitions are being circulated for Louis Lee and Loren Shattuck.

Last week incumbent Claude Cady had petitions being circulated in his name but he announced this week he would not seek election.

The other 3 council candidates whose terms will expire are Richard Morris, Vance Kennedy and Howard Schlichter. None of them are seeking re-election.

Deadline for filing nominating petitions is Saturday noon.

Jeep Purchased

Mason firemen will have a new piece of equipment to toss into the grass fire wars this spring. Monday night councilmen authorized the purchase of a used Jeep from Al Rice Chevrolet for $951. The unit will replace the old beat up veteran campaigner which has proved to be a good weapon in the grass fire wars.

Tax Take

Mason taxpayers beat the deadline Monday in ever increasing numbers with a larger amount than in other years. Taxpayers came through with 90.8 percent of the taxes levied for county and school purposes against Mason property. Last year the percentage was 88.

Appraisers Start Columbia Project

John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, signed a contract Wednesday with Delbert C. Peterson, Lansing real estate broker, for appraisal of property for the Columbia road-US-127 overpass.

Mackie said 9 parcels of property will have to be acquired for the overpass scheduled to be under construction next fall. Appraisals are scheduled to be completed by March 15.

Mackie is giving the Columbia overpass his personal attention in an effort to rush completion on the project. The intersection is now one of the most dangerous in Michigan, having grolled up a score of several deaths and injuries.

Hearings Set On Projects

Special hearings will be the order of the night at the council meeting on Monday, February 17.

Hearing dates were set for determining the necessity of 2 sewer jobs. One is the sanitary sewer extension which is proposed to serve the new Lutheran church. The other is a revamped version of a proposed storm sewer in the McRoberts, West Cherry and South street area.

At the hearings objections and recommendations will be heard concerning the projects. In both cases benefitting property owners will foot most of the bill with the city at large picking up some of the cost. Also on February 17 bids will be received for processing another 5,000 cubic yards of road gravel in the city pit.

'It Might As Well Be Spring'

These youngsters photographed bounding home from Mason's Steele Street school Tuesday insist that spring is here. Tuesday's and Wednesday's 50-degree weather put adults as well as youngsters in a mood to fly kites, roller skate down the sidewalk or play a fast game of hop-scotch. This week has been a winter wonderland to rival anything in the land of Dixie.

Council Approves Recreation Vote

Mason voters will have a chance to do something about the subject of a community recreation program besides talking about it.

Monday night Mason councilmen authorized an April 6 vote on a proposal calling for levying a 1-mill tax for a period of 4 years to finance a year-around recreation program. The vote of the council to place the proposal on the ballot was unanimous.

Based on the present city valuation the special millage, if approved, would raise between $7,000 and $8,000 per year.

Mason's summer recreation program is costing the taxpayers about $3,000 a year, a sum budgeted by the city. In addition the school provides facilities and bus transportation for the swimming program with the school district taxpayers sharing this cost. If approved by the voters the collection of the recreation millage will start with the July, 1964, tax statement.

County Seeks Coordinator

Three candidates for the position of special education co-ordinator in the county were interviewed by members of the Ingham intermediate board of education at a meeting in Mason Monday evening.

No names of candidates were revealed at this time.

The person chosen will fill a post vacated several months ago by Martin Dean who now is director of services for exceptional children in the public schools of San Diego, California.

City Buys Fluoride Equipment

Mason's delayed fluoridation program is a step nearer. At Monday night's council session an order was placed for 4 fluoridation units to be installed at the city's 4 wells.

The water treatment advocated by Mason dentists a year ago was approved several months ago but installation of the equipment was postponed to enable a full study of Mason's water supply.

Layne-Northern company has completed that study and made its recommendations for revitalizing the city wells.

Plans call for giving the wells an acid treatment which will clean out screens and boost water production.

The Layne-Northern survey was ordered after last summer's drought brought on a water use ban.

Cost of the equipment to add fluoride to the city water supply will be $3,270.

Wreck Injures 2 Mason Girls

Two Mason girls, Joyce Walker and Mary Lou Morse, were injured in a traffic accident on Lansing's north side Thursday and were treated at Lansing General hospital after the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle at Case and E. North streets.

The driver of their car, Glenn E. Walker, 22, of Mason was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions and driving on an expired operator's license.

The driver of the other car, Veryl R. Rogers, 32, of Lansing also was ticketed for making an improper left turn.

Both drivers told police a hedge on the corner obscured their view.

The same set of rules will apply to a board of canvassers which must be secured by the school district for school elections. Applications for the city job can be secured at the city hall.

Mason State Elects Perkins as President

Mason State bank has a new president and vice-president. Ray Perkins was elevated to the president's post from his vice-presidency position when President L. R. White stepped down after 60 years of active service with the Mason financial institution.

At the organizational meeting Tuesday directors named Al Rice for the vice-president job.

White, in announcing his decision to the board, said: "After 60 years of active participation in bank management, I thought it in the best interests of the bank for me to step down from the presidency."

The veteran banking official will remain as a member of the board of directors.

Oren Hall was re-elected executive vice-president and cashier. Assistant cashiers re-named by the board are Lyle

Riggs, Claude Cady and Joseph Dean.

Members of the board besides Perkins, Rice, White and Hall are J. B. Dean, Reno R. Root, Gus Kean, Glen Dunn and Winston Dancer.

Perkins came to Mason in 1948. In 1963 he sold his hardware business.

White joined the bank staff on August 21, 1905. He served the bank in various capacities as assistant cashier and cashier. In 1956 he was elected vice-president of the bank. In 1959 he became the institution's president.

At Tuesday's meeting the board heard reports showing that the Mason State bank is experiencing good growth. Deposits are increasing and number of depositors are on the increase, too. Additional services offered by the bank are drawing good customer response, the directors and officers pointed out.

Council Gives Okay For Trailer Zoning

Mason councilmen went along with the city planning commission Monday night in granting a zoning change requested by Don Vander Veen Sr. The 11 acres north and west of US-127 will be changed from its motel designation to a trailer park designation.

Vander Veen has plans for building a trailer park at the site. Two weeks ago several residents in the area voiced objections to the establishment of the trailer park.

Along with okaying the zoning change, the council also presented a new trailer park ordinance.

The ordinance, when finally passed, will regulate the construction of a trailer park, set up rules of operation, establish license fees and cover other requirements.

Councilmen have previously announced that when and if a trailer park is built in Mason the house trailers scattered throughout the city will be required to move into some trailer park facility.

Another zoning matter was presented to the council and the council in turn forwarded the request to the planning commission. This one involves changing the multiple dwelling classification of the former Claude Perrin property on State street to general business. The request for rezoning came from William Thorburn, who recently purchased the property.

Fast Service

Councilmen Russell Bement, Howard Schlichter and Vance Kennedy didn't waste any time taking care of a street lighting complaint sent to the council Monday night by Herbert Southwick. During recess the committee took a trip to Columbia and East streets and agreed with Southwick that lighting was inadequate. When council reconvened the committee's proposal that a light be installed at the cemetery entrance was approved.

Smoke, Smoke, Smoke that Cigaret

Smokers Not Afraid of Cancer

Mason is still a cigarette country despite the government reports that smoking cigarettes can cause lung cancer.

A survey of some of the leading merchants handling cigarettes in Mason shows conflicting reports, but generally speaking a whole lot of folks are still smoking the little white tobacco-filled cylinders despite what the government says about them being dangerous to health.

One large supermarket reports that tobacco sales generally have gone up during the past week. The government report warning of the cigarette menace was issued just 11 days ago.

Another drug dealer said cigarette sales dropped off the first 2 or 3 days after the report was issued but now appear to be picking up again. He said, however, the pipe tobacco and cigar business has increased.

Another super market manager said he couldn't see much change in cigarette sales since the report came out.

One drug store reported that many persons are buying the various tablets, chewing gum and other products which advertise that using them will cure anyone of the smoking habit.

One restaurant owner said "we are not selling as many cigarettes as we did." He added that he thought cigarette sales were down about a third with the sale of pipes and pipe tobacco holding about steady.

Another drug store reported cigarette sales off about 25 percent and pipe and tobacco sales up about 30 percent. But this drugist said he believed cigaret sales are climbing back now that the first scare is over.

Another Mason restaurateur said he couldn't tell exactly whether his cigarette sales were down, but that he did know a lot of his patrons are now smoking pipes.

"And I'm giving away a lot more matches than I used to," he added.

Another food store manager said he could see little difference in cigarette sales now than before the government report. He said pipe and tobacco sales were about normal.

An now, to cap it all off, comes a German scientist who says it isn't smoking that causes lung cancer, but the fumes and vapors in the air from various modern day automobiles and other gadgets.

A committee meeting for the affair was staged January 16 at the home of Mrs. Schell.

Mason School Contains New Library Exhibit

Four hundred and 10 new library books, including a substantial number of adult fiction and non-fiction titles, of interest to grown-ups as well as students, are on exhibit at Mason high school and Mason junior high school. The exhibit is open daily from 8 to 5 and will last through January 24-31. Some 50 publishers contribute their best books to this collection, whose usefulness as a book selection resource for teachers, librarians, administrators and interested parents is demonstrated by its nationwide circulation. It is a service supplied without cost or obligation.

Covering more than 35 subject classifications at the junior high level, and more than 40 at the high school level, the collection is completely organized and curriculum-related. It presents the new titles of early 1963 in all their wide variety and colorful appeal from stories of adventure, humor, family life, interesting people and romance, to literature, poetry and drama, on to history, problems of democracy, science and man, today's world and careers and guidance.

For every reader, teenage, young adult and adult, these new books of 1963 will be a challenge, a stimulus and a rewarding reading, according to Mrs. Vaughn Snook, librarian. This is the one opportunity to see them in a completely organized and representative collection, which relieves browsing and book evaluation of its usual frustrations, she added.

Free to teachers, librarians and other school personnel are curriculum-related catalogues, which are annotated and fully indexed by subject, author and title. The numbered books, both on the covers and in the catalogues, make every title directly accessible whatever the approach or interest.

These exhibits are supplied by Books on Exhibit, a national promotional operation which neither takes nor fills orders.

Chamberlain Nominates Appointees for Academies

Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain of Michigan's Sixth District today announced his nomination of candidates to compete for the annual appointments to the nation's service academies.

In releasing the names of the candidates, Representative Chamberlain stated, "I have received a record number of applications this year from an outstanding and well-qualified group of young men. While I am pleased to see the impressive results this group, compiled on the competitive Civil Service examinations," he continued, "it has been very difficult to select the limited number I am allowed to nominate."

The congressman advised that his choices were based primarily on the civil service examinations and the boys' high school academic records.

This year the sixth district is allotted 2 appointments to each of the U. S. Naval Academy and the U. S. Military Academy and one appointment to the Air Force Academy. Final selection of the appointees will be made by the academies and announced in late spring. Those chosen will enter the schools in July.

The candidates nominated by Chamberlain this year are:

Oesterle, Mason; Gary D. Owen, Flint; William G. Paine Jr., East Lansing; Lawrence E. Schlanser, East Lansing; James A. Stewart, Montrose; Kenneth L. Wrook, Holt.

Church Unity Discussed

HOLT — Rev. Stanley Forkner, Michigan director of Christian Education for the Evangelical United Brethren church spoke to the Women's Society of Christian Service at its monthly meeting January 14, at the Holt Methodist church.

Rev. Forkner spoke on the question topic, Shall We Unite. He told of the similarities of the United Brethren church and Methodist church, their heritage and doctrine. He spoke of uniting and that the 2 churches are much alike and also explained the difference of uniting and a merger of the churches where one church would completely lose its identity.

"PARDON ME". Mason's Leslie Jones with the ball came off the bench to take over at center and did a fine job Friday night against Eaton Rapids. WILLIAMSTON — Members of the Ingham County Elementary School Principals association met Monday evening at the Williamston Memorial elementary school with Helen Kuehn, principal of the school, as hostess.

The business meeting was conducted by Elsie Cobb, principal of the Dansville elementary, who is president of the association. The group was led in a discussion on the elementary principal and instructional leadership by Virginia Price, elementary principal at the Emma Smith school in Stockbridge.

In addition to those already named, the meeting was attended by the following elementary principals: Mrs. Vera Raley and Bernard Brown of Haslett; Clifford Mitchell, Stockbridge; Brewster Lewis, Moss Cora Swartz and Arthur Lang, all of East Lansing; and Gus Organek of the Sheridan Road school.

The principals will have their final meeting of the year on April 13 at the elementary school in Munnich.

Drain Cost Has Leslie In Uproar

LESLIE — Leslie's new county drain recently completed has the village in an uproar.

The school board says it cannot and will not pay 30 percent of the cost of the job—$52,000—and Gerald Graham, Ingham county drain commissioner, said he has no way of forcing the school board to do so.

Because the school district has refused to pay the full assessment, Graham explained, it has been necessary to spread the balance over the rest of the drainage district.

This increase brought objections from the village.

In January, 1963, Graham tentatively set the village share of the drain cost at 12.7 percent. In December, Graham presented revised figures setting the village share at 39.1 percent.

Township, county and state highway shares were reduced which increased the village share, but Graham pointed out, the village derived the most benefit from the drain.

But the village council said it had a verbal agreement with Graham and doesn't think the village should be assessed the larger share of the cost.

In the 2 townships which cooperate with the city—Wheatfield and Williamston—there were 51 fire calls during the year which included 6 automobile fires, 10 dwellings, a house trailer and 24 grass fires for a total loss of $11,470.

Twenty-four of the 51 alarms were caused by careless burning of rubbish, Chief Wilbur Smith said. Fuel oil burners accounted for 6 others.

The fire department equipment is owned by the city of Williamston and Williamston and Wheatfield townships. The department also serves Locke and Leroy townships on a call basis.

PAUL P. CHIEN'S

Business Outlook

According to all indications the national economy is rather encouraging for the year of 1964. We not only expect to have a tax cut for the over-burdened American taxpayers during this decade, but also there will be a much smaller federal deficit for the federal government's budget. In a democratic country it is a most rewarding experience to see the governmental policies always shifting back and forth according to public demand.

Since the day of the New Deal most government agencies feel the only way to keep our economy up is to pump money into circulation with the inflationary trend as well as increase government employment which causes the monstrous bureaucratic structure.

We all feel relieved, President Johnson is calling for elimination of waste, submitting a budget to congress in the amount of $97.5 billion dollars which is about 500 million dollars less than anticipated. At the same time Governor George Romney also stresses economy in government and more efficiency of its operation. As taxpayers it is gratifying for our leaders to return to their sanity for an economic and efficient government to encourage private industry to accumulate working capital for their plant and equipment improvements and replacements.

I am sure during the next decade that foreign production will compete with our own production furiously for the consumer market. If we do not try to improve our production methods, reduce our cost, increase our production efficiency with our own government's encouragement, we will have difficulty surviving in peaceful international economic competition. The wonders of a democratic system takes a little while to be aware of the need and wants of the people but sooner or later it reaches the people.

Girls Adopt Viet Nam Child

OKEMOS — "I am deeply indebted to you," writes Bui Thi Xep, expressing her thanks to 18 Okemos high school sophomore girls. Last March these 18 students joined together to adopt a Vietnamese foster child, under the Foster Parents Plan.

She is the only member of her family with an education.

Each month $15 is sent to her. The money supplies her with a cash grant, clothes, food and other supplies. The OHS girls plan to support the child until they graduate.

IT'S THE WAY YOU HOLD your mouth that counts. Mason's scoring leader, Don Wright, had the secret Friday night as he pumped in the points against Eaton Rapids.

Howell Here Friday

Bulldogs Bag 90 Points In Stopping Greyhounds

Mason came up with a basketball game Friday night of the type which every team and coach dreams about. Passes which could have been bad ones turned into brilliant ones, shots which had no business going through the hoop did. Defensive moves which might have left an opponent open ended up successful. The result was a 90-69 win for Mason over Eaton Rapids.

The game didn't start as a walk-away. Through the first quarter the Greyhounds kept pace with the Bulldogs but Mason entered the second quarter leading 20-16 and finished the period in front 44-21. From there on out there was no doubt.

Friday night Mason will entertain Howell. The Highlanders again have been having a rough time in basketball but upsets are made to bolster the morale of such teams. Mason can not afford to lose ground in its fight to get back into the thick of the Capital Circuit race.

Eaton Rapids will take to the road Friday night and see if it can't get back in winning stride at the expense of the O'Rafferty Raiders.

Against the Greyhounds Mason came up with some balanced scoring. Don Wright led the pack with 22 points on 8 field goals and 6 free throws. Stu Thorburn also had another good night with 19 points and Mike Combs was right behind him with 18. Roger Hill came through with 10. The surprise package, though, was Leslie Jones. Jones, used sparingly so far this year, got his opportunity when Center Gary Jackson picked up 3 quick fouls. Taking over the pivot spot, Jones worked the backboards well and also came through with 11 points.

For Eaton Rapids Jeffery McManus was high with 19. Nell Twichell tossed in 18 and Jim Phinney added 12.

The Greyhounds could not handle the pressing Mason defense and the fast break. While Mason's shorter squad was played on even terms on the backboards, the Greyhounds couldn't get the ball up the floor on many occasions.

Freshmen Drop Game

Mason's ninth grade basketball team bumped into trouble at Eaton Rapids last week. The freshmen lost to the Greyhounds 63-56. It was the first loss for Mason.

Mason blew a first half lead when it was outscored in the third quarter 18-10. The Greyhounds padded the margin by outscoring Mason in the last period.

Brian Doolittle and Paul Allaire were the only Bulldogs on target. They scored 17 points each.

Williamston Pulls Off Victory over Dansville

Williamston had a tough time Friday night in disposing of Dansville but finally accomplished the act when the Aggies lost their shooting eyes in the final quarter. The result was a 63-53 decision over the Aggies, the seventh straight win for the surprising Hornets.

Dansville's downfall started when Arnold Wireman, Aggie mainstay, fouled out early in the third quarter. Without Wireman Dansville lost control of the boards.

It was even through the first 3 quarters with Dansville grabbing a 14-10 lead in the first period. By the end of the first half the Hornets had come back to knot the score at 29-29.

Through most of the third period the Aggies and the Hornets stayed on even terms. Then Wireman retired.

Taking a 2-point lead into the last quarter, the Hornets tightened up defensively to hold the Aggies to only 8 points. In the meantime the Hornets pumped in 16 points to win with the 10-point margin.

Colin Curtis topped the Aggie shooters with 19 points. Jack Allen added 14 points to the Dansville total.

Milo Gaffner was the game's top scorer. The Hornet ace scored 20 points. Jim Oesterle was next with 14 and Mike Langham added 12.

With the almost total freeze-out in the fourth quarter the Aggies, usually a hot shooting group, managed only 24 per cent of its shots while Williamston shot at a 31 per cent clip.

In the reserve game Williamston took a 54-50 decision.

Dansville has a busy week coming up. Friday night the Aggies play at Leslie. The following night the Aggies of Coach Searl Briggs go to Portland for a game with Portland St. Pat, one of the top teams in the state.

Fowlerville Is on Target

Fowlerville remained one-half game up on Williamston in the Ingham County league race Friday night by downing the Leslie Blackhawks 66-53. It was the tenth win for the Gladiators.

Fowlerville erased all doubt as to the outcome in a hot first quarter which found the Gladiators piling up a 22-12 lead. The Fowlerville pace slowed in the second period but still the Gladiators were able to pad their lead by 2 points.

In the third quarter Fowlerville pulled out of sight and then put in its shock troops. Leslie was able to pare some from the margin but not enough to make a game of it.

Gordon Hetrick was the top shooter of the night. The Fowlerville ace tossed in 28 points on 12 field goals and 4 foul shots. Ron Sober added 16.

For Leslie Roger Parr was the only sure shooter. He put down 23 points on 9 field goals and 5 free throws.

Stage Set For Holt

Friday night's critical game in the Capital Circuit is set for the Okemos gym. The Chiefs, leading the pack in Circuit play, will face the challenge of the No. 2 team, Holt.

The Rams stayed close on the heels of the powerful Chiefs by virtue of a 66-46 win over Haslett last week.

A big second quarter scoring explosion by the Rams cut off any upset hopes of the Lakers.

In Friday night's championship contest will pit the taller Chiefs and their ball-control style of play against the scrambling, run-and-shoot racehorse game of the Rams. The run and shoot brand of ball was slow in getting up a head of steam at Haslett. The Rams moved to an 18-14 lead in the first quarter and then Coach Dan Hovanessian's boys caught fire. With Mike Oakes pointing the way to the basket Holt rolled up 26 points in the second period while holding the Lakers to 7.

From that stage on it was all over for the Lakers even though they got through the Holt reserve forces for slight edges in the scoring.

Eleven Rams figured in the scoring with Fought getting 14 to lead the pack. Oakes finished with 13 with most of them coming in the second quarter uprising. Main led the Haslett attack with 16 and Ron Ruby put down 13.

The Lakers face another tough task Friday night. They will take on the Gabriels 5 in the new parochial gym. The chances of success are remote.

Chiefs Romp Past Howell

Okemos, with Bill Breckenfield still pumping in baskets at a hot pace, had no trouble taking care of Howell Friday night 79-62. The Chieftain scoring ace collected 25 points while seeing limited action.

Friday night the big game arrives with Okemos meeting the challenge of Holt. The battle looms as a contest between the fast break and ball control.

The Rams, giving away height, will try to get the job done with superior speed and a tight defense.

Okemos will rely on ball control and the outside shooting plus backboard superiority.

Over at Howell Friday the Highlanders started out as if they had an upset in mind. At the end of the first period the Livingston county boys were in front 18-17. Then the Chiefs went into full gear. In the second period the league leaders pumped in 24 points. The best the Highlanders could do was muster 4 points. That was the end of any upset threat.

Breckenfield garnered his 25 points on 11 field goals and 3 free throws. Gary Hawkins was next with 14 and Mike Baker put down 11 for the Chiefs.

Howell's scoring leader was Ron Arnold with 16. No other Highlander reached the double figures.

Juniors Win

Mason's 7th and 8th grade basketball teams took their games Wednesday night at the expense of Waverly. Thursday night the Mason junior high squads will play at Holt.

Gabriels Tops O'Rafferty

The scene was changed Saturday night to the new quarters of the Gabriels basketball players but the result was the same. The Rocks rolled past O'Rafferty 88-62 in the dedication game in the new Gabriels gym.

A second half spree shoved Gabriels way out in front and enabled the Rocks to stay in a third place tie with Mason in Capital Circuit play. The Raiders, with a 2-4 record, remain in a fifth place tie with Eaton Rapids.

Four Rocks celebrated the first game in the new gym facility by hitting in double figures. Steve Kutas bagged 19 points. Skip Drouin came up with 15, George DeLuca added 14 and Brian Novosack contributed 12.

Pat Hartford was the big shooter for O'Rafferty with 17 points.

Letters to the Editor

Education a Must

Read Em' and Laugh! Mr. Ward complains about us who criticize he and Mr. Tea Party for criticizing former President Kennedy, the editor criticized Mr. Stabler for criticizing Gov. Romney, the Republicans criticize President Johnson for aiming for paradise, the Democrats criticize Gov. Romney for wanting the same paradise. Most everyone wants the same result; a peaceful, prosperous nation, but each wants to be the one to accomplish it.

President Johnson and Gov. Romney have one thing in common, they do what they believe is right, without giving in to outside pressures. We should have more like them. It is possible to disagree with a person without condemning his family, his background, or his associates, without malice or hate.

Our school board comes up for criticism, especially when higher school taxes are asked for. I think each person who is against increased taxes should visit a board meeting. It is not fair to object without knowing the facts. When you realize the enormity of managing school affairs, trying to balance the bills with the income, would you be willing to give of your time to serve the community?

Education is the greatest heritage we can leave our children, money, property, business of any kind, they can lose overnight but education is always theirs once they have it. Through the centuries since time began, buildings have decayed, people have come and gone, cities have disappeared, only knowledge has remained constant.

Our welfare tomorrow depends on what our children learn today, let's not short change ourselves. Let's dissolve our differences work on the points we agree on and pool our initiative in creating new solutions to old problems.

Consider this; have you ever looked at a fresh baked loaf of bread and wondered which part will start to mold first? Will it be in the center, this end or that? No way of telling which holds the destruction of the whole, it depends on the condition the bread is kept. Like with society, we cannot remove this man, that group, or that race, claiming they bring decay to all, because each man has the potential of being good or bad, depending on his surrounding conditions.

We have to destroy the bacteria of hate, poverty, illiteracy, crowded housing, unemployment, and surround our society with love, education, tolerance, to return to the freshness of the day of creation. Let's try—we can do it together.

Likes The News

We have taken the Ingham County News for quite a while and enjoy it more than any paper we can get. When ever we want to buy anything we usually look in the for sale or want ad section of your paper and find what we want or know of someone who can tell us where to get what ever we are looking for.

We just enjoy the whole paper. It always has interesting articles of different nature in it. So again we have enjoyed it very much.

MR. & MRS. LAVERN BURLLEY, Eaton Rapids

P. S. I want to let you know also that my grandfolds took the paper for many years, as long as I can remember. And my folks, also.

Keep It Coming

We certainly want the Ingham County News to keep coming. Grandpa says it has been coming as long as he can remember and he will be 90 years old the 28th of February.

Suggests Club Is Used

I do not presume to tell you how to run your business, but it is time that someone questioned the veracity of your policy concerning your lopsided letter column.

On numerous occasions you have stated that letters must be limited to 300 words or less, and there has been an occasion when a letter was returned to the writer with a personal note from you stating that the letter was too long for publication, although it contained only a few words over the 300 word limit.

However other letters containing from 600 to 800 words are printed in your letter column every week. The majority of these lengthy, rambling, rantings are submitted by persons who seem to like to hide behind a fictitious name and take pot-shots at those who have the courage to stand up and be counted.

Is this the reason that they get priority over the other writers, or are all of these anonymous letters written by a certain "Mr. Big" who is holding a club over the editor? Is this what you call a fair and impartial policy? Do you think this form of shadow boxing improves the quality of your paper?

I suggest that in the future you conform to the policy you have laid down for all letter writers, and if you want to print the lengthy ones sent in by B. Careful, C. Little, X. Ray, and other mysterious unknowns, you could print them under the heading, Fictitious Detective Stories.

RALPH DAVIS
Irons

EDITOR'S NOTE: Threat of a club to the head of editors is an everyday occurrence in newspaper work and at the Ingham County News such threats are ignored by knobby headed editors. Since limitations are responsible for the 300-word suggested curb. On occasion this space limitation is flexible thus the letters sometimes get longer if space permits. Sam Clemens' use of Mark Twain as a pen name didn't make Tom Sawyer any less entertaining. Neither did the use of a pen name by Supreme Court Justice John Voelker detract from his Anatomy of a Murder, or from his decisions under his own name while serving on the Michigan supreme court. P. S. Writer Davis' letter has 250 words, well within the limit.

2000 View Dog Sled Races At Onondaga Drag Strip

LESLIE — Sunday's weather was hardly conducive to good dog sledding, but 2,000 persons gathered at the Onondaga drag strip Sunday afternoon to watch events staged by the Great Lakes Sled Dog association.

Snow was shoveled along the track where 15 teams competed in the men's open race, 5 teams in the women's race, 6 in the junior race and 14 in the tots' race for children under 8 years of age.

The temperature was up in the 40's and to provide some comedy, George Brew of Grand Rapids ran his race at a trot in a T shirt, swim trunks and bright pink mukluks. His sled was drawn by 7 German Shepherd dogs.

The men's open race was won by Frank Hall of Jackson with 10 dogs, the women's race by Janet Hall of Jackson with 6 dogs. Jimmy Marcinlak of Plainwell won the tots' race and Alex Chisholm of Lansing was the winner of the junior race. He drove 3 Alaskan malamutes.

At the start and the end of the program the dogs raced without sleds because of the poor track conditions due to the high temperature.

The men's race was over a 1 1/2 mile course, the women's and junior races over a one mile course and the tots' race over a 100 yard course.

One of the entrants in the tots' race was a 2-year-old who was placed on the sled at one end of the 100 yard course and his father stood at the finish line and urged the dogs along.

Racing teams were present from Canada, Ohio, Illinois, South Bend and Goshen, Indiana, and the following Michigan cities and villages: Niles, Grand Rapids, Roscommon, Berrien Springs, Lansing, Jackson, Pontiac, Mattawan, Detroit, Comstock Park, Clawson, Charlotte, Rockford, Decatur, Grant, Belleville, Saginaw and Mt. Clemens.

Max Dumbauld of Leslie was a judge in the contest.

Other races scheduled by the association will be at Grand Rapids January 25; Grant, January 26, and Petoskey, February 8 and 9.

Wild Geese in His Backyard Leslie Village Marshal Will Care for Them for FFA Boys Until the Arrival of Spring

By Charlotte Camp

LESLIE — Donald Haynes, village marshal, of Leslie is keeping a flock of wild geese in his back yard.

While other wild birds fly off to the southern areas when cold weather comes, this particular flock simply moves from their summer home on the Grand river, to the back yard of Haynes who cares for them until spring.

The birds belong to the Future Farmers of Leslie high school. The group raised them as part of its outdoor projects and clipped their wings to prevent flight. During the summer they are kept on the "Wild Hundred," a parcel of land which belongs to the Leslie FFA and is used for many of their projects.

Haynes had raised ducks and geese in the past and volunteered to care for the geese in the winter.

Deputy Haynes said that while he was successful at raising ducks and geese, his first attempt at it was not very fruitful. It seems that he was given the wrong instruction book for the incubator he purchased to hatch the eggs in and out of the first batch of 240 eggs, only 1 hatched. The rest simply cooked.

Haynes loves all kinds of animals and has cared for quite a variety over the years. Once he even had a peacock, but had to get rid of it.

At present there are 3 dogs at the deputy's home, although only one of them is actually his. One is a mongrel that had been injured when hit by a car. Haynes put a splint on his broken leg and the canine recovered rapidly.

Then there is a spaniel that Haynes found during the hunting season. The animal had been badly wounded, so Haynes took him to the veterinarian and then tried to locate the owner. Not able to find the dog's master, he took him home.

Oh yes . . . the peacock. Well, it seems that he talked too much. "He was a very beautiful bird," said Haynes, "but he made a loud noise that sounded just like someone calling for help. He yelled so loud that he could be heard all over the neighborhood, so we had to find him another home."

More Parking Lot Lighting Sought

LESLIE — Leslie merchants want more light in the municipal parking lot on S. Main street.

The Leslie Improvement association of which Norman Mitchell is president, sent a letter to the village council Monday night asking that body to consider better lighting at the rear of the parking lot.

In other action the council: Authorized the clerk to contact Lyle Hepfer of Lansing and arrange to have the village books audited during the 1st or 2nd week of March. The village fiscal year ends on February 29.

Received a letter from the city of Bellevue stating that that city is looking forward to greeting the president of the village of Leslie on Mayor Exchange day, May 18.

Many other towns around Mason have been having such meetings and they report they are pleased with the outcome. Since this was the first meeting here, it did not have much publicity, so the election of officers was delayed until people have a chance to become familiar with the project.

After dinner, group singing was enjoyed and Mrs. Wayne Bullen, accompanied by Mrs. Robbins, presented a solo.

The group will meet every Friday noon at the Vevay town hall. Members are asked to take their own table service to pass. The next meeting is planned for January 24. Conley, minister of education, commented that it was good to see that even though older people across the country were complaining that our nation's youth were not as serious about things as they should be, here was one group of youth in a typical American community who showed the deepest intentions. "We are proud of these youngsters, and of the homes, churches, schools and community which have combined to produce them," he said.

Mason Scouts Make Freedom Trail Hike

Six first class and one life Boy Scouts of Troop 98 and an adult leader took off from Adrian after leaving Mason on what is known as Freedom Trail. It is a road now and goes between Adrian and Tecumseh, approximately 14 miles long.

To earn an award for this trail hike, the boys must carry a pack weight not less than 10 pounds or more than 15 pounds.

After checking in at the sheriff's department in Adrian, and receiving a map of interesting historical marking they shoved off.

On the way to Tecumseh they visited the Erie and Kalamazoo railroad marker. (The first steam engine this side of the Alleghany mountains.) Sierra Heights college, Old Raising Center church, old cemetery, stop at the home of a niece of one of the original settlers, a historical museum is there but is not open in winter. They arrived at Tecumseh where leader Jim Armstrong and son, Steve, met them with the night's camp-in gear and food. They checked in at the city police station at Tecumseh and received other instructions as to where to camp.

As some of the scouts were trying for an explorer award only canvas shelters were used.

The next morning after the scouts had their breakfast, camp was broken. A local citizen inspected the camp grounds, gave them an okay and asked them to come again.

On the return trip they visited such historical places as Aunt Laura Haviland marker, honoring the founder of the Underground Railroad, cave on the hillside where slaves were hidden and the spring where they got their water. Many other interesting historical places were visited. The Mason scouts checked out at the sheriff's department in Adrian, then received the award.

The life scout making the hike was William Ely. The 1st class scouts were Tony Sedgman, Fred Carrier, Charles Gregg, Tom Bateman, Kim Augustine, Mike Beratta, adult leader; and Lee Austin substituting for Scoutmaster George Raymond. Raymond was in the hospital. The drivers of the cars were Walter Augustine and Nellis Bateman.

The Freedom Trail is sponsored by the Freedom Trail committee, Wolverine council, Boy Scouts of America.

Family Service Agency Books Annual Meeting

Strengthening Families Under Stress will be the subject of John R. Mauff, field consultant of the Family Service Agency of America, when he speaks in Lansing, Thursday, January 23.

Mauff will be the guest speaker at the 53rd annual public dinner meeting of the Lansing Family Service Agency. The dinner, expected to be attended by 150 persons interested in the welfare of Lansing area families, is set for 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the YWCA.

The theme of Mauff, who is now aiding a committee of local persons in a study of how best to extend casework services of the FSA to the greatest number of area families in need of its help, is taken from the new slogan of the national FSA, Strength to Families Under Stress.

The Family Service Agency provides services in the areas of marital relationships, parent-child relationships, unwed mothers who wish to keep their children, the older person in the family, the family beset with physical or mental illness and with juvenile problems.

The local agency, A United Community Chest agency, located at 615 north Capitol Ave., served more than 1,500 Lansing area families in the past year.

Mauff, who has a graduate degree from the University of Chicago, studied families from the vantage points of the Chicago relief administration, the Cook county division of old age assistance, Goodwill Industries and the family service division of the Salvation Army before he became associate secretary of the family and children's division of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. He has been field consultant for the FSA which serves rich and poor alike for the past 11 years. Michigan, Ohio, and

Davis Pushes Plate Sales

Sales of 1964 auto tab licenses is moving rapidly. Joy O. Davis, branch manager, said he plans to set up a special license service for Williamston and Leslie next month.

He plans to set up an office for the convenience of Williamston car owners at the Signs-Brunson Ford showroom on 4 Friday nights in February, February 7, 14, 21 and 28, and at Leslie Wednesday nights, February 12, 19 and 26 at More's.

Davis also advised motorists to get their license plates early to avoid a last minute rush. The deadline for new plates is February 29.

James M. Hare, secretary of state, said his office is offering this "door step" license selling service to make it relatively easy for persons living in smaller Michigan communities to get licenses.

The "community services" project, started in 1953, has proven so successful that it now has become an established practice of the secretary of state, Davis said.

The program is possible because fee branch managers are willing to put in "extra evening and week end" hours to bring license services to outlying communities so that persons will not have to drive miles to the nearest branch office, Hare said.

He praised newspapers, police, sheriffs and others who "have cooperated in every way possible" and community organizations who have permitted the use of a variety of sites in setting up license sales outlets.

Republicans Set Stage For Dinner with Ike

Ingham county Republicans launched a campaign to gather a delegation of central Michigan citizens to attend the Dinner with Ike fund-raising program at Detroit's Cobo hall on Wednesday, January 29.

The dinner, which will link 35 cities together from coast-to-coast on closed circuit television, is the major fund raising project of Michigan Republicans for 1964. Max E. Murningham, Ingham county's Dinner with Ike chairman, commented.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, at the personal request of Governor George Romney, has agreed to fly to Detroit from his winter residence in California, to deliver the major keynote address of the Republican party's presidential campaign year effort.

Murningham, in announcing the drive to secure $100-a-plate contributions, said, "This is an opportunity for Michigan Republicans to contribute to their party and have dinner with one of this country's foremost Americans."

A special train will be available, leaving Lansing at 5:15 p.m. on January 29, and returning at 1:45 a.m. the following morning. "Local contributors can ride the train without charge by showing their Dinner with Ike tickets," Murningham said.

"Half of all money raised by General Eisenhower's Detroit appearance will remain in Michigan to finance the Republican party's state and local efforts in the November general election," Murningham announced.

A 41-man Greater Lansing committee for the Dinner with Ike program was named in Murningham's announcement.

THERE IT GOES WINNING MORE HEARTS AGAIN!

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control.*

*An extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically . . . and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as new and just as exciting. Take performance, for example.

There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Harold R. Palmer

"I never was out of a job."
Douglas A. King makes that statement with pride.

King, principal of Leslie high school, believes that work never hurts anyone.

He was born in Lewiston, Michigan, Montmorency county, January 21, 1929, and upon reaching school age attended the Paul school, a rural school in Albert township of Montmorency county. He completed both the 1st and 2nd grade courses in one year and then was forced to leave because the school was closed.

He enrolled in the school at Lewiston which had instruction only through the 10th grade. In 1944 he graduated from the 10th grade with the last graduating class of the school. After that year the school reverted to a kindergarten through 8th grade program.

So King then enrolled for his last 2 years of high school work in the school at Atlanta, Michigan, where he graduated in 1946. That fall he enrolled in Alma college, graduating from there in 1950 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

He was now ready to begin his chosen vocation and he began it in the schools of Lewiston where he had spent many years as a student. He taught the 4th and 5th grades at Lewiston from 1950 to 1951 when the Korean struggle was in progress.

King was drafted and finally found his way into the United States Marine corps. He had his boot training at Parris Island, South Carolina, and then was transferred to Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, where he was assigned to a Fleet Marine Force.

This outfit went on maneuvers to Viequez (Isle of Nothing), Puerto Rico.

Viequez was steeped in history — old history. Christopher Columbus once visited there and King recalls the only village or town in the area was known as Isabelle Segunda, named for Queen Isabelle II of Spain, the lady who financed Columbus' little sailing venture which brought him to the shores of what is now the United States of America in 1492.

Honorably discharged from the Marine Corps

In 1953, King returned to teaching, taking a position at Tawas City. About that time King decided to purchase a farm near that of his parents in Lewiston and teach part time and farm part time. He worked the summer of 1953 in an aluminum door shop.

He did not sell his farm until the fall of 1963. The fall of 1954 found him back with his first love, teaching, this time at Johannesburg in the senior high school and coaching athletic teams in the junior high school.

In the summer of 1955 he worked for a carpenter.

But that same year he was named principal and basketball and track coach at Johannesburg high school.

For 5 years he held the office of principal and then was promoted to superintendent of Johannesburg schools. In his new role he also taught government and biology, physical education and a class in driver education.

During week ends and vacation periods he cut pulpwood to make a little extra money.

Then came the offer of a post as principal of Leslie high school. He took it and arrived in Leslie to take over his duties August 1, 1963.

In 1952 King and Miss Audrey Mowery of Lewiston were married. They have 4 children, David, 9, in the 4th grade; Gaye, 8, in the 3rd grade; Dennis, 6, in the 1st grade, and Robbyn, 3. The family home in Leslie is at 416 W. Bellevue street.

King has twice been Past Master of Lewiston lodge No. 581, F. & A.M., in 1957 and again in 1960. In Johannesburg he was active in both Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts and was institutional representative for both organizations.

Both he and Mrs. King are members of the Lewiston chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

At one time he had visions of becoming a professional baseball player. He did play semi-pro ball in Atlanta. In college he played in the outfield and did some catching on the Alma college team.

He is an avid hunter, enjoying going after deer and smaller game. He enjoys skiing and fishing also and is a lover of all sports, especially baseball.

Since coming to Leslie he has not had much time to devote to his hobbies and extra-curricular activities because of the rush of work involved in taking over a new post in a new section of Michigan.

But he hopes to rectify all that a little later when the rush of work lets up a bit.

Immunized against forces that gave it severe anemia in recent years, Michigan's economy should be in excellent health during 1964.

This is the report of Dr. Eli P. Cox, director of Michigan State university's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Writing in the January issue of the Bureau's Michigan Economic Record, Dr. Cox says that the Department of Commerce has predicted a 1964 output of 7.8 million automobiles, a forecast higher than that of the industry itself.

If the department's forecast is reached, Michigan will be assured of "a very good year," he says.

Even if it is not realized, Dr. Cox adds, "Michigan will not have a bad year for the simple reason that forces which caused it to have bad years during the last half of the 1950s and the early 1960s are no longer at work."

Most of the state's economic ills during the past decade were rooted in the auto industry's "boom and wane" movements following the depression, he believes.

After nourishing spurts during World War II and the Korean War, the industry began to suffer in 1956.

This was when, according to Dr. Cox, demand for automobiles "had slipped back to a more normal level," military needs shifted from wheeled vehicles to aircraft and space gear, and automation and industrial decentralization reduced the state's manpower needs.

Michigan lost more than 200,000 nonfarm jobs between 1955 and 1961. In 1962 the state showed solid signs of recovery after a period of adjusting to the inevitable economic changes.

Just as it accounted for a good deal of the state's economy woes in recent years, the auto industry also holds the key to Michigan's future, according to Dr. Cox.

This fact, he adds, is "less disturbing than it once was," for the industry enjoys renewed stability, as evidenced by:

An almost sole concern for the civilian market, whose demands are not as erratic as those of the military market. Signs of mild decentralization, indicating that the industry's decentralization has "pretty well run its course."

Indications that even in unusually bad years national auto demand has achieved a "built-in floor" of about 7 million units.

While 1964 looks to be Michigan's best year since 1955, it won't be rosy for all concerned, Dr. Cox warns.

He reminds that there is "still a hard core of unemployed people" who are virtually unemployed because they have skills and education not in step with our technical society.

He also warns that the labor market will be flooded this year with high school graduates representing the first big batch of the post-war babies.

Editorial Comments

Up to the Legislature

Circuit Judge John H. Vander Wal of Kent county has ruled that the state law forbidding the sale of milk in gallon containers is constitutional. Further, he has enjoined the Grocers Dairy company of Grand Rapids from continuing to sell milk in gallon containers. The legal opinion was offered Thursday after the company and the state department of agriculture had presented cases for and against the milk law in a special hearing before Judge Vander Wal.

Judge Vander Wal, of course, did not rule on whether or not the law made sense. He ruled on its constitutionality only. The Grocers Dairy company will appeal the decision to the supreme court which may or may not agree with Judge Vander Wal.

It's regrettable that this case must clutter up the judicial calendar in Kent county. The battlefield should be in the state legislature, the mother of this ridiculous monster that forbids the sale of milk by the gallon in Michigan.

Every state bordering Michigan affords its people the freedom to buy milk in gallon containers. Only Michigan, because of legislative action, restricts such sales in the midwest.

The avowed reasons? Exponents of the state law claim that the gallon container is an "odd size" and would be confusing to consumers. They also claim that it might be unsanitary.

Certainly, legislators cannot really believe these 2 arguments. For sure, people in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin don't believe them.

George Cope, manager of Grocers Dairy company, has said that nothing his dairy has ever marketed has met with greater consumer response than when his dairy made gallon milk available. Without any promotion at all, sales rose from 604 gallons the first week to 13,000 the last week. Customers volunteered to sign petitions and do just about anything to make such containers legal in Michigan.

This restrictive state law is clearly out of step with logic and with the people of Michigan themselves. The legislature could and should beat the state supreme court to the punch by voiding the monster law it created. It is a sure thing that legislation to make gallon containers legal in Michigan will be introduced in the legislature during this session.

Legislators who sincerely want to do what is best for Michigan can make heroes of themselves by supporting the legislation.

Supreme court meditations ought to be reserved for logical questions. There isn't a pinch of logic in the present state law which discriminates against milk consumers.

Give It a Chance

It is doubtful if there was a single constitutional convention delegate who was satisfied that the new constitution drafted for the state of Michigan was perfect. There probably was not a single voter in the election which voted for the new constitution who was satisfied that the document was without flaws.

A constitution cannot be all things to all people—even though the politicians who administer it try to use it for that purpose.

No doubt there are many things in the new document which are not the best—but, let's give the document a chance. Let's see what works. Let's see what provisions and changes over the old constitution are practical. Let's keep a box score on the features which are impractical and then give the people a chance to amend those provisions as they see fit.

The group of maverick legislators from both parties who announced last week that they would undertake a major campaign to toss out the new document are way off base. They are hollering "Uncle" with the new constitution only 3 weeks old.

The same goes for Gus Scholle, the professional agitator, and his court cases.

Let's give the document, imperfect as it is, a chance.

Tolls vs Free Shipping

(Reprinted from the Governor, N. Y., Tribune)

For many years Canada has had a sort of standard or stock policy on St. Lawrence and Welland canal tolls. They have been free to all comers and remained that way as long as the canals were purely Canadian in ownership.

The reason was that Canadians have always wanted to use the river for cheap transportation. So much of the country is accessible from the water that the low cost water transport could be considered a national benefit.

When the St. Lawrence Seaway was built the Americans had other ideas. Not only because of powerful commercial interests, but basically because the seaway could never be considered of benefit to the whole of the United States, the U. S. government insisted that the project be made to pay for itself.

Tolls were worked out on the basis of payment in 50 years. But not long ago Canada reacted by making the Welland canal once again toll free, as it had been until the opening of the seaway. The action was justified by the reasoning that Welland canal traffic was basically lake traffic which should not have to pay for the seaway.

Now that the big lock twinning project at Welland has been announced, it is beginning to look as though tolls will be re-applied there mainly because the cost would otherwise be too stiff. At nearly $400 million, the new locks would be a pretty handsome gift to the lake shipping industry.

The change, if it comes, will probably please the United States, particularly those interests which want seaway tolls increased and would, in fact, like to see them high enough to discourage traffic. Canada will still be looking for a compromise.

Twinning the locks at Welland should contribute to increased efficiency and thus should be paid for by the shipping interests. But tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway and especially high tolls for what amount to political reasons are objectionable to Canadians. Changing the basis of repayment from a 50-year plan to one of 100 years or more would probably please Canadians and re-establishment of Welland tolls, a change the Americans want, might be a good opportunity to strike a better bargain on St. Lawrence charges.

Meditations

Read Hebrews 4:12-16

The word of God is alive and active. It cuts more keenly than any two-edged sword, piercing as far as the place where life and spirit, joints and marrow, divide. It sifts the purposes and thoughts of the heart. (Hebrews 4:12, NEB.)

A MAN in Sarawak who had just learned to read said, "A book is like a human being." He was finding human fellowship through the printed page.

God gives to us a still larger fellowship through the reading of the Bible. Both the human and divine speak to us with each reading. We find that the human fellowship of the Scriptures gives us insight and guidance. We find divine relationship when we encounter Jesus Christ in the Gospels. These accounts relate us at once to God in man, Jesus Christ our Savior. The Gospels set Jesus' way of life for us.

The Bible is God's Word, alive and active. It lives for us in our fellowship with Him through daily reading. The Bible comes alive for us when we apply its truth in our daily lives.

PRAYER: Our Father, we come with praise for Thy Word revealed in Christ and in the Bible. We pray this Book will always be a part of our daily fellowship with Thee and with one another. Bless all those who read and make Thy Word the meditation of their hearts. These things we ask in the Master's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The human and the divine speak to us in the Bible, our textbook of life.

barbs, praise and consequence

Dick Brown

Robert Pickup didn't live up to his name when he spoke at a Michigan State university conference a couple of weeks ago. Instead of Pickup coming up with a pickup he came through with a letdown for those people who struggled to pay their real estate taxes by Monday's deadline.

The executive director of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan told his audience that in the next decade the increased tax load will be carried by a proportionately smaller number of taxpayers.

He estimated that the total population will increase by 23 percent in the current decade but the 22-64 age bracket which is essentially the taxpaying group that has to support governmental services, will increase only 15 percent.

Pickup also came up with another observation which bears repeating. He cited the tendency on the part of the government to answer problems by pumping in more and more money to be used to do things the same old way.

Finding new ways to answer the problem of cost of the welfare state approach is a necessity inasmuch as proportionately fewer people are going to have to pay a proportionately greater share in order to pay for the needs of those who have not yet started to produce, those who have laid down their hoes and those who have retired to the sidelines from the assembly lines at an earlier age.

Any family with children at the debating age when it comes to family decisions, will recognize the use of the old saying that "Father knows best."

A few weeks ago a Mason father relied on that remark but with peculiar consequences.

In this instance the family was sitting around the table eating supper. Junior complained that his milk was lumpy but father, thinking back to the pre-homogenized milk days, thought that the lumps were globs of cream and ordered the draining of the glass but quick.

That's just what junior grudgingly did with much fuss and fanfare.

When Mother put the glasses away after washing the dishes she found the source of the "lumpy milk." It seems the glasses were stacked underneath the parakeet cage and had become somewhat splattered.

People in Ingham county have much to be grateful for. A report by the state revenue department shows that the sales tax collections in Ingham are the highest in the central Michigan area, an indication that the economy is healthy in Ingham.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, the state collected $73.23 per capita in Ingham. Compare that figure against the $33.40 per capita collected from Clinton county people or the $40.20 per capita collected from Eaton retailers.

Either Ingham people spend more or people in the surrounding counties do their buying in Ingham.

Equally enlightening were the figures on percentage of retail sales increase. Ingham's retail sales increased 8.48 over the previous year. Clinton increased its retail sales only 2.18 percent.

Come to think of it maybe we people in Ingham are spendthrifts and the people in Clinton are socking away their cash.

The Spinal Column is the latest publication being printed at the News. It's a 15,500-circulation weekly mailed in the Union Lake, Walled Lake and Novi area. The newspaper is as unusual as the name itself.

Tom Colford edits the weekly and though he has thought about re-naming the paper to something less unusual (News, Press, Times, etc.) readers won't stand for even thinking about it. Tom's motto is: The Backbone of Suburban Livers. The word Livers in this case being those who live in the suburbs and not the liver organ of the body.

The Spinal Column will be the center of attention Saturday, February 1, when members and guests of the Michigan Press association will be entertained at the News printing plant. Jim Glotta, former Mason chef and one of the G's of G & G Catering Co., is setting the table for 200 guests. We're expecting publishers from throughout Michigan to see the new offset printing equipment in operation. The Spinal Column will whirl through the Goss Suburban offset press while the guests look on.

While the February 1 date is reserved for publishers who will also be attending the annual MPA meeting in East Lansing that week end, the News welcomes at other times all others who are interested in seeing the offset printing plant. We like visitors.

Take a lawyer and give him a newspaper and you'll start reading some pretty wild stuff.

Last summer we told you how in Birmingham, Lawyer-Legislator-Publisher Hank Hogan tore the tag off a cushion—the kind that reads "Do not remove under penalty of law." Then he called the FBI.

The FBI no sooner had that crime wave under control than Christmas came to the Hogan household. With Christmas came oodles of presents with warranty cards attached. Manufacturers wanted all sorts of information: Who bought it (male or female), where it was bought (department store, appliance store or discount house, heaven forbid), or what prompted the giver to purchase this particular brand.

Since Hogan received the items as gifts, it wasn't easy to answer these questions.

But if he didn't send in the cards, what kind of an unthinking, irresponsible provider would he be? His family would be left unprotected should something happen to their power tooth brushes, knife sharpeners, shoe polishers, barometers and mechanical pencils. And if he did send in the cards and save the copies, he would have to build a filing room instead of a family room in his new house.

So it was back to the law books. And after thorough research came this report from Lawyer Hogan:

"I firmly believe that the real purpose for most warranty cards today is to give the manufacturer some inexpensive research as to who is buying his product so he knows how and where to advertise it.

"You will notice that this form is never sent to the company's legal department, but rather, in most cases to the sales department.

"This form in itself has no relationship to the product's durability and whoever thought up the questions never had anything given to him for Christmas.

"If you read the cards carefully, you will find out that they are not as valuable as you might suspect. They tell you where to send the broken pieces in case the expected happens and what the manufacturer isn't responsible for.

"Since most manufacturers publicize their warranty anyway, the purchaser isn't any better protected by holding this magic card than if he or she tosses it in the waste basket.

"It's only advantage is that it has the address of the manufacturer."

The new salary schedule primarily provides a basic teaching raise at all levels. It was pointed out that if accepted, this improvement would still not bring Williamston up to the salary average of other schools in the area.

The pay increase would cost the district about $24,000 a year if approved.

The school board also voted to eliminate trips to the bowling alley as a part of the junior high physical education program.

Romney Reports

The latest figures on the highway accident death toll in Michigan during 1963, stand in shocking contrast to statistics which record Michigan's remarkable progress in many other fields.

Provisional figures from the state police, which could increase as late reports trickle in, show that 1,858 persons were killed on Michigan streets and highways last year.

This is the 6th highest figure since state police began keeping records in 1933. It is the highest death toll since 1955, when 2,016 lost their lives in traffic accidents.

Someone has said that the death of one human being is a tragedy while the death of thousands is only a statistic. We must remember this equation as we try to understand the real dimensions of the traffic accident problem.

The National Safety Council has estimated that traffic accidents in Michigan cost $285 million, but that is only the dollar loss. Too often, we fail to consider the human cost - in lives, in suffering, in reduced earning capacity, and in families deprived of loved ones.

What is being done to reduce the terrible toll which carelessness takes each day in Michigan traffic? The education of young drivers not only in the mechanics of operating an automobile but in the heavy responsibility which they assume when they drive - has been an important step for ward in making our highways safer.

The driver education program authorized by the legislature in 1955, has almost doubled the number of trained drivers in our state. Spot checks have tended to verify the impression that their driving is better than the driving of those who did not receive the training.

The state and local safety commissions which work together on education, enforcement, and determining the cause of accidents have made enormous contributions to the cause of safe driving.

In the very near future, I will ask the Legislature to adopt a traffic safety program which I believe could be a solid step in the direction of reducing highway fatalities.

I am confident, too, that the implementation of the new constitution in the next 3 years will further strengthen the role of government in traffic safety.

But despite these steps and others designed to save the lives of Michigan citizens, traffic fatalities will continue to rise unless every driver comes to a full understanding of the terrible suffering and tragedy which carelessness can cause.

No reinforced police patrols, no educational programs, no new legislation can reduce the traffic slaughter as effectively as the combined commitment of every driver to respect the lives of others as they would their own.

It's Barn Building Time Down Stockbridge Way

STOCKBRIDGE — On September 13, 1962, fire caused by lightning, destroyed the big barn and its contents on the Wilbur Tisch farm south of Stockbridge.

In each of the last 2 winters, a barn has been constructed to house the cattle and forage on the farm.

After the fire, members of St. Jacob's Lutheran church, of which Tisch is a member, gathered to clean up the debris, and also to help cut logs for new construction.

"With the loss of the barn," said Tisch, "it was a difficult decision to make, whether to remain in the cattle business or convert to straight crop farming."

The silos, wells, tanks, corals and fences on the 420 acre farm were all usable, but only a chicken coop remained to house the 120 breeding cattle. With winter near, it was necessary to split the herd and shelter the animals on the farms of relatives and neighbors.

During the winter of 1962-63, a pole barn designed for fattening cattle was constructed. This barn is 84' x 60'. Severe weather slowed the project somewhat, but it was ready in time for the spring calf crop.

During the summer, cattle were fattened in this barn, and an adjoining site was selected on which to build a brood cow barn. In late summer 200 loads of gravel were hauled in, graded, and cementing begun and poles were set for a 60' x 60' building. For siding on this barn, Tisch used white pine boards, already well painted, taken from a barn under demolition on M-52 at the Washtenaw County line.

With Nelson Peterson and son, Raymond, whose sawmill is near Watervliet, doing the sawing, logs were cut on the Tisch farm. Oaks for 2 x 8's, 24 feet long for rafters and joists. Ash and maple were used for 2 x 6's and 2 x 4's.

With Reginald Ford in charge, work on the barn was started during Christmas week and fairly decent weather helped speed operation.

tions, according to Tisch. In their spare time and off days, Harold Ford, Linwood Miller, Vernon Proctor, Arthur Mver and Jerry Hughes also furnished labor for the project.

The new barn is roofed in now and workmen said the weather will have to get pretty rough to hold them up much on the inside finishing.

Pointing to a herd of 58 Black Angus brood cows, Tisch said, "If the weather is like it was last year, those cows will appreciate a snug place to calve, starting in mid-February."

Down a straight stretch, starting at the Tisch farm, and east on M-52, many farmers have recent barn problems. Two were demolished by windstorms, one burned and 7 were demolished for highway expansion.

Summing up 2 hectic years, Tisch said, "Insurance money wouldn't replace the old barn at present building costs, so we will have to adopt to new ways of cattle handling. The cattle business is in a rough, price wise," he said, "but this is an election year and maybe things will get brighter."

Stockbridge Moves Ahead

By Charlotte Camp
STOCKBRIDGE — One of ten hears the comment that nothing ever changes in a small town.

That statement does not apply to Stockbridge, a town of some 1100 population located in the southeastern part of Ingham County.

There have been some changes during the past year and more are to come in the near future.

Dr. Ernest Porszolt, osteopathic physician, is located in a new office building on west Main street. The building was completed earlier this year.

C. W. Glenn and sons, automobile agency moved into new facilities on North Clinton street, which were completed last fall.

The Rural Telephone company has occupied a new building on Herbert street. The structure, located near the company's main office provides room for storing equipment and vehicles.

Most recent of the new buildings to be occupied is the one on S. Clinton street, housing the new Wilde's super market. Art Wilde moved from his former downtown location last week into the new facilities, constructed in the shopping center style, with ample parking facilities directly in front of the store.

The building on Clinton street in the downtown area, formerly occupied by C. W. Glenn and Sons, is undergoing alterations and will soon be the new headquarters of the Dancer company, a mercantile organization with stores throughout southern Michigan.

The former Wilde building has been purchased by Howlett's hardware and the Stock-

Stockbridge Woman Dies

STOCKBRIDGE — Funeral services were Friday at the Stockbridge Methodist church for Mrs. Sarah N. Proctor, 80, who died Tuesday, January 14, while shopping. Burial was in North Stockbridge cemetery.

Mrs. Proctor was a member of the Stockbridge chapter of the Eastern Star and the Methodist church.

She is survived by 4 daughters, Mrs. William Pyper of Gregory, Mrs. Earl Showers and Mrs. Loal Townsend, both of Dansville and Mrs. Edwin Brickman of Detroit; 4 sons, Asa and Rowland of Stockbridge, Vernon of Munith and Clayton of Ypsilanti; a sister, Mrs. Bangs Richmond of Gregory, 22 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Their House Fell Down Jaycees Hope to Build a New One Out of the Pieces

STOCKBRIDGE — The Stockbridge Junior Chamber of Commerce, which was instrumental in getting a skating rink for local ice enthusiasts, wanted to provide a warming house near the rink. Last week, the group had a building donated for that purpose, by Dick Lantis, local merchant.

Last Saturday the members of the Jaycees gathered for the purpose of moving the building. The boys got off to a good start and thought they had it made, when suddenly there was a crash of splintering wood and they found themselves with a pile of lumber.

A spokesman for the group said however, he thought they could salvage enough material to build the desired structure but that it would be a mite smaller than originally planned.

The ice rink, located at the athletic field, has been in use since the week before Christmas, and the efforts of the Jaycees have been appreciated by many persons, young and old alike.

MASON

By CHARLES SCHAEFER, Mgr.

The biggest "Do-It-Yourself" facility ever to be presented to Mason - with the largest participation - will be on August 2nd, when you will be able to dial long distance station-to-station calls yourself to more than 80 million telephones throughout the continental United States and Canada. The facility is a $3.8 million "package" now being prepared for the Lansing metropolitan area to provide this service -- which you will want and like. Doing-it-yourself, you will find that this long distance service will be faster, more accurate, and the calls will be easier to make. Detailed instructions will be given prior to August 2nd - a very important date in the telephone history of Mason.

GUESS WHO walks farthest in an average day:

- ☐ HOUSEWIFE ☐ POSTMAN
- ☐ HER HUSBAND ☐ SHOE TESTER

We really don't have figures on how many miles a "shoe tester" may be expected to pace off in a day. But a recent survey shows that, of the other three, the housewife is by far the champion hiker. She walks nine miles a day, which is five miles more than her husband averages, and three more than the postman. As an aid in saving steps--miles of 'em--nothing beats a handy extension phone. Why not call our Business Office and find out how little it costs to have an extension phone installed.

WHAT'RE THE PROSPECTS of finding gold in your telephone? It's not so far-fetched as it sounds! Because of gold's rare ability to withstand corrosion, tiny amounts of it are used on certain telephone parts to prolong their usefulness. How much gold per set? About one penny's worth. It's hardly enough to dig for, but it's plenty to improve your "prospects" of trouble-free service for years to come!

Teachers Edge Out Alumni

STOCKBRIDGE — The pace may not have been as fast and the score may have been lower than many basketball games, but it can be said that all of the participants thoroughly enjoyed the game Friday night between the faculty and alumni at Stockbridge high school.

The game primarily a contest of defense, saw the teachers edge the "old timers" by a score of 44 to 37.

Earlier in the evening, the Stockbridge JV's defeated Jackson high school's sophomores.

In the faculty-alumni game, the score was close throughout and was tied a number of times, but the teachers netted 3 quick baskets in the final 2 minutes to ice the victory.

Duane Clark and Herb Seegert led the faculty with 19 and 11 points respectively, while Ed Watson and Pat Long had 11 and 10 for the alumni.

Proceeds of the game are to be used toward the purchase of glass backboards for the gym at the high school.

New Faces On Faculty

STOCKBRIDGE — Beginning with the second semester on January 27, 2 changes will be made in the teaching staff of Stockbridge Community schools.

At the E. L. Smith elementary school, Mary Ellen Knott will replace Mrs. Richard Wilde as fourth grade teacher and at the high school, Martin Rosenberg will replace Mrs. Wayne Thomas as teacher of junior high vocal music.

Miss Knott, a former Stockbridge high student, is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan and Rosenberg is a graduate of New York College of Music.

In other school news, Jesse Batchelor, superintendent, has announced the schedules for exam week, which will end the first semester on January 24.

Final examinations will begin on Wednesday and end at noon on Friday. Buses will leave the school at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday and at noon on Friday, January 24. The early closing will provide teachers with time for grading papers.

Hot lunch will be served as usual on Wednesday and Thursday but not on Friday, according to Batchelor.

Ag Class Raising 100 White Rock Chickens

STOCKBRIDGE — The Junior Agriculture class is raising 100 White Rock Arbor Acre chickens for their co-operative project. The chickens were hatched in Alabama, and are now 6 weeks old. Donavan Cronkrite, ag teacher at the school said the birds had increased their weight by 2 1/2 to 3 pounds in that time.

The new shop class at Stockbridge high school recently sent a note of thanks to C. W. Glenn and Sons, automobile dealers, in appreciation for the car hoist now being used by the group. The hoist was donated to the school by the Glenn agency.

James Strayer, former science teacher here, visited the school one day last week. Recipient of a Science Foundation Fellowship, Strayer is presently attending classes at the University of Michigan, studying courses in botany and zoology. Strayer said he isn't certain what he will do after completing the studies, but that he might seek a teaching position at the high school level.

DODGE CHARGER — This sleek, customized competition roadster called the Charger will be featured in the Dodge exhibit at the Chicago Auto Show to be held Feb. 8-16 in McCormick Place.

Exhibits Feature Of Farmers' Week

Farmers' Week at Michigan State university, February 3-7, is slated to be filled with programs and exhibits for all types of farmers, homemakers, young people and those interested in new developments in agriculture and agribusiness.

Kresge Art Center will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day for art enthusiasts. Exhibits of paintings from the Newark Museum will be on display. A demonstration on the use of pottery wheels is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

A rural defense exhibit showing first aid practices, ways for medical self-help and emergency food supply in case of emergency will be set up in the Union building. Spartan stadium will be the site for most of the Farmers' Week exhibits. Some of the feature exhibits show the new methods of free stall dairy housing, improved egg grading equipment, cattle grading and marketing, new swine feeding equipment and farm machinery.

TelFarm, a new educational program in farm management, is the theme of an exhibit by the Department of Agricultural Economics. Data supplied by farmers who wish to find out how their farming practices stack up with those of other farmers will be analyzed by the 1620 computer. This will be in the new engineering building.

The agricultural engineers have prepared exhibits showing the latest in building plans, liquid manure handling, rural civil defense developments, waste disposal and solar heating and drying. Other exhibits include controlled heating units, new harvesting and threshing equipment, tillage and planting equipment, power transmissions for tractors, student careers and other implications for the future.

For the women, the home engineering laboratory has a modern up-to-date kitchen with all the conveniences and the latest in home laundry facilities.

For the high school students, there is an exhibit and information describing opportunities in the fields of agriculture.

The animal husbandry department has several displays showing meat grading. The MSU meats laboratory will be open to visitors and the university's swine, beef, horse, sheep and dairy herds can also be seen.

The dairy department will be exhibiting its loose housing barns and milking parlor. The Brown Swiss and Jersey herds housed there are used primarily for breeding purposes and is one of the most intensively inbred herds of cattle in the United States.

MSU's new Abrams Planetarium will be a featured attraction. The circular auditorium seats 260 persons, and a Farmers' Week special will be 30 minute "trips to the moon" on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Many other departments will have exhibits on display, including the army ROTC, biochemistry, botany and plant pathology, entomology, forest products, fisheries and wildlife and horticulture, to name a few.

Besides the exhibits, each of the departments has its own program for those who have a special interest in one of these areas.

Farmers' Week programs, available from county extension offices, given more details on exhibits.

Ton of Gold Cow On MSU Campus

A ton of gold certificate has been awarded a registered Jersey cow owned by Michigan State university, East Lansing. This award is for cows producing 2,000 lbs. fat or more during 4 or less consecutive lactations on official test.

The award went to the cow, Michigan Richard Rinda, which produced 2,101 lbs. butterfat—more than a ton—from 38,749 lbs. milk. The certificate was presented by the American Jersey Cattle club from its headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

The production of Michigan Richard Rinda far exceeds that of the "average" dairy cow in the United States. All tests were checked both by Michigan State university and the American Jersey Cattle club.

The Ton of Gold award aids Jersey breeders in selecting cows with consistently high production over a long period.

Over one-third of Michigan's Lower Peninsula and the entire Upper Peninsula average over 60 inches of snow each year. This combined with Michigan's location -- within 600 miles of over one-third of the nation's population -- has increased the use of Michigan winter sport centers twenty-fold in the last 20 years, according to Michigan State University tourist and resort researchers.

Compare the Farmhand Feedmaster with all others...

That's why the Farmhand Feedmaster is so popular with modern, profit-minded farmers. It offers advantages over all other feed-making methods... you make the feed you want, when you want it, in the amount you want... you reduce handling and storage costs... you make your feed from known quality grain, hay, corn, milo, etc... profitable... especially with a feedmaster.

Cold Hurts Potatoes In Storage

Cold weather in Maine and Idaho, have caused shrinkage and damage to some potatoes held in storage. As consumer demand has continued good, and sales by producers have been light, prices have strengthened... Because of the boost in the duty on U. S. broilers to Common Market countries (to 13 cents) exports from this country to the 6 nations declined 38 per cent in 1963, from the year before. Farmers in the Common Market countries boosted 1963 output 13 per cent. Chicken eating in the EEC increased only 4 per cent... Prime steers averaged $22.70 per hundredweight in Chicago the last week of 1963, the lowest in 17 years and 25 per cent below a year earlier... Japan is now the largest cash buyer of U. S. dry skim milk, cotton, soybeans, tallow, raisins, currants, hides and skins... If Americans consumed bread as the Russians do, U. S. wheat acreage would have to be increased 20 per cent to meet total domestic and export demand at the level of 1962-63... States outside the corn belt are cutting spring pig crops more sharply than in the midwest, about 9 per cent compared to 6 per cent in the north central states... Higher sugar prices are encouraging consumers to use more corn sugar and synthetic products. Also sugar growers are encouraged to boost their production of beets and cane... The USDA has announced that it will serve as its own insurance company in the protection of farm surpluses owned by it or stored as collateral by farmers for price support loans. The change becomes effective July 1.

Nut Production Above Average

Production of the 4 edible tree nuts—pecans, almonds, walnuts and filberts—is expected to exceed the 1962 harvest by 74 per cent and be more than a third above average. Only walnut output will be smaller than last year and only filberts less than average. But almonds will run sharply above last year's crops and the average, according to the USDA.

3.2 Billion Live on Earth

The world's population increased by 185 million persons from 1960 to 1963. Present world population is almost 3.2 billion. Asia has nearly 2 billion or about 56 per cent of the total. The Americas have 441 million, Europe 437 million, Africa 272 million and the Soviet Union 225 million.

Provide Extra Heat For Your Baby Pigs

Providing extra heat for baby pigs could be the best investment you ever made.

Infrared lamps are the most economical for protecting newborn pigs from the cold, but electric underfloor heating may also be profitably used. Either system decreases pig losses, according to agents at the Ingham county extension office.

"Swine management research conducted in the last 40 years indicates that over 90 per cent of the total pig losses during the suckling stage occurs in the first 3 days after farrowing," reports Dennis E. Wiant, Michigan State university agricultural engineer. "Lack of heat causes approximately 60 per cent of these losses. Side effects of chilling causes another 20 per cent."

"A pig saved through the application of additional heat represents a savings of 100 lbs of feed. That's because the average sow will eat approximately that amount of feed during gestation for each live pig she farrows."

For keeping pigs warm, Wiant points out that infrared lamps are cheaper to buy and operate than electric underfloor heating systems. A good lamp can be purchased for about $2—and only one of these is needed per litter. Furthermore, the baby pig can adjust himself to the most comfortable temperature by moving near or away from the lamp.

But electric underfloor heating has its advantages, too. Since the heating systems are permanently imbedded in the floor, no above-floor protective screens or guards are needed. This simplifies the job of cleaning and disinfecting the farrowing facilities.

Thermostats are always used with electric underfloor heating, and may also be used with the infrared lamp system. These controls ultimately result in a saving in electricity because the power is used only when it is needed.

"The infrared lamps cost less to operate because they require less power," says

Wiant. "Usually, about a 400-watt cable is needed to heat the same area that can be kept warm with just a 250-watt lamp."

Infrared lamps are also more easily moved and require less time to warm up a given area. Permanency of installation prohibits moving the underfloor heating units from place to place, and they need to be turned on at least 24 hours before the sow farrows.

With the underfloor system, temperatures should be held at 90-95 degrees for the first 2 or 3 days, then gradually reduced to about 75-80 degrees. Infrared heat lamps must be used for additional heat when the air inside the building is 45 degrees or below.

"Bedding is not used with underfloor heating," Wiant contends. "It may reduce the efficiency of the heating units and may hinder movement of the pigs, thereby increasing chances of crushing by the sow. In addition, bedding hinders manure removal."

Information on heating plans and installation is available by writing to the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Michigan State university.

Farm Briefs

Michigan's dry bean production in 1963 was the highest on record—15 per cent over the previous record set in 1962.

Total harvested acreage in Michigan—6.6 million increased by 200,000 acres during 1963.

Lower total acreage planted to wheat in Michigan in 1963, caused a lower total crop, but the yield per acre—38 bushels tied the 1958 record yield.

Foodgrain output—mainly wheat, rye and buckwheat—is on the increase in Michigan, with a one-third greater yield in 1963 over 1962.

Michigan produced just over 100 million bushels of corn for feed in 1963, the second highest on record. This is due, to some extent, to new shorter-term corn varieties produced by Michigan State university research allowing replanting of June-frost killed corn.

Heating Hay Helps Pest Fumigation

Ever try to heat up a load of hay in Michigan winter temperatures?

This is one of the jobs confronting men working with the fumigation of certain commodities so they may be certified for shipment from areas in the state now quarantined for cereal leaf beetle. These areas are in the southern and western part of the state in 17 counties.

The fumigant used by state and federal men to destroy cereal leaf beetles is methyl bromide. But it is not effective at low temperatures. The solution is to heat the commodity to be fumigated first.

After considerable experimentation the best way found to prepare hay or straw for fumigation is to force hot air into the tarpaulin-covered load. And to be really effective, the hay or straw must be loaded in a particular way. Information on this is available from the plant industry division offices in the Michigan department of agriculture in Lansing.

The department has fumigation facilities for truck lots at Jonesville and Sparta. Plans are to open another at Charlotte. Methods are now being sought for heating hay for fumigation that is already in boxcars. Currently there is extensive rail movement of hay from quarantined areas to hay-short regions in the southeast. The USDA's plant pest control division is cooperating with its Michigan counterpart in developing hay heating and fumigation methods.

Under the quarantine the commodities besides hay or straw requiring certification before movement outside a quarantined area are small grains, corn, fodder, sod and farm machinery. The quarantine no longer requires fumigation or treatment of small grains that have been stored for 90 days, but the commodity must be certified for shipment.

The Michigan department of agriculture needs several days advance notice of certification and fumigation in order to give better service to shippers.

Cow Sets High Production Mark

A registered Jersey cow owned by Michigan State university, East Lansing, has recently received a 100,000 lb milk award from The American Jersey Cattle club, Columbus, Ohio.

The award went to the cow, Napoleon Beauty Rinda, which produced 101,348 lbs milk—more than 50 tons—containing 4,930 lbs butterfat. The production of Napoleon Beauty Rinda to date far exceeds that of the "average" dairy cow in the United States. All tests were checked by Michigan State university and the American Jersey Cattle club.

The 100,000 lb milk award aids Jersey breeders in selecting cows with consistently high production over a long period.

Potato Output 5 Billion Cwt

World potato production in 1963, is estimated at just over 5 billion hundredweight. U. S. output was 3 per cent bigger than the year before and more than 12 per cent above average. Canadian production was above average, too. Western Europe's crop was larger. So was that in eastern Europe. Russian production was up 9 per cent from the year before but still 20 per cent below the average.

The Soviet Union was the largest producer with almost 1.5 billion cwt. Poland was second with $14.6 million cwt. Other large producers were West Germany with almost 569 million cwt.; France, 344.6 million cwt.; U. S. slightly over 275 million cwt.; East Germany, 244.1 million cwt.

Seek to Curb Beef Imports Into U.S.

Government officials are conducting informal discussions with several foreign countries with the hope of reducing beef imports into the U. S. Our imports of beef which ran 5 to 6 per cent of the total U. S. production 2 years ago are now running 10 to 12 per cent of the total U. S. output—a very significant gain. Cattlemen feel that it's this great increase in imported beef which has put so much pressure on fed cattle prices. The chief suppliers of beef imports to the U. S. are Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, Mexico and Argentina.

USDA economists recognize that foreign beef imports have been a factor in lower fed cattle prices but contend it's the boost in U. S. output which has been the major influence in the lower prices cattlemen are getting for their fed cattle.

Ranchers have been holding back more and more breeding cows in order to increase the size of their calf crops—which eventually grow into steers and heifers for the slaughter market. USDA economists figure if breeders would cut out more cows from their herds and send them to market, there would be more cow beef to satisfy consumer demand—a type of beef which foreign beef currently is helping to fill.

Many cattlemen have been hurt seriously by the low cattle prices. Fed cattle prices are expected to show some strength, or at least work up a little bit, in another month or so as more of the heavy weight steers are marketed. But USDA economists don't believe there will be complete recovery of cattle prices in 1964. There should be some recovery, they say, because the number of cattle on feed is down.

Wheat-Control Plan is Back

How many Michigan farmers realize that the controversial wheat-control plan which they voted down last May is back again for serious consideration by congress?

The administration and secretary of agriculture are backing the "McGovern Wheat Bill" (S-1946) which contains the same program that farmers rejected last year. The new version uses an indirect approach and considerable public stress on so-called "voluntary" features.

There are only 2 real differences. This time the farmer will not be allowed to vote in a referendum involving the wheat certificate scheme. The "voluntary feature" is merely the right to ignore, if he can, all probable benefits of the wheat program. Getting no benefits, he can try to survive, if he can, without them. It gets harder. Only to this extent is it voluntary.

To gain whatever "benefits" the program might offer, the wheat farmer must comply with allotments and other provisions of the old wheat certificate plan which, in Michigan, was rejected by an 80 per cent vote last May 21.

Included is the complicated support price schedule that applies differently to either certificated or non-certificated wheat. The portion of the wheat crop which the secretary of agriculture (using a complicated formula) considers as needed domestically for food, would receive the certificates. These bits of paper would have a determined cash value. They would, in effect, follow the wheat to market.

They would become key weapons in the federal supply-management control arsenal.

Non-certificated wheat would have support prices related to world prices, to the feeding value of wheat in relation to feed grains, and other criteria. Here again, farmers would have to comply with allotments of the ASC committee.

This new farm bill continues to call for highly restrictive and all-inclusive farm controls of the most drastic kind. The insistent goal is control.

Michigan's Youth Career Program for Farm Week

"Michigan Agriculture with Michigan."

That's the theme of this year's Farmers' Week, scheduled February 3-7, on the Michigan State university campus. In keeping with this theme, a program specially designed to acquaint Michigan's young people with careers and job opportunities in agriculture and related fields will be presented.

On Tuesday, February 4, a program called "Expanding Horizons for Youth" will be sponsored by the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics. Careers in 18 areas of agriculture and related fields will be explored. This program will be repeated on Thursday.

A panel designed for high school juniors and seniors who have additional education in mind will be presented on Tuesday afternoon. On Tuesday evening, the "4-H Show Boat" will provide entertainment.

This program consists of 4-H singers, dancers, comedians and musicians from several Michigan counties who will display their talents and provide entertainment for all interested.

Several students who have been part of the International Farm Youth Exchange will be featured in a Wednesday afternoon program. "My Home Abroad" in Italy, Iran, Venezuela, or wherever they spent their time with the IFYE is the name of the program in which the students can tell of their experiences in these foreign countries.

Agricultural and related field career exhibits will be on display during the entire period of Farmers' Week.

Michigan's Soil Shy of Magnesium

Magnesium deficiencies are cropping up in the light, sandy soils of northern Michigan. And this so-called secondary element is becoming a primary problem for soil testers.

"Some soils that test low in magnesium are not actually deficient," explains Eugene C. Doll, Michigan State university soil scientist.

"Obviously, our interpretation of this soil test is not perfect. The test is now being studied to correct the situation."

Doll points out that magnesium deficiencies are not widespread and can easily be corrected by applying dolomitic limestone. Both oats and alfalfa have responded to this treatment in field tests in Kalkaska, Grand Traverse and Presque Isle counties.

Magnesium deficiencies are common on those soils that have either not been limed or have been limed only with calcic limestone which contains no magnesium.

Ingham Dairy Banquet Scheduled January 28

Ludell Cheney, chairman of the Ingham County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, this week reminded farmers of the sign-up period for 1964 feed grain program which will begin February 10 and will extend through March 27, 1964.

County ASC Committee Chairman Ludell Cheney said the feed grain producing farmers of this county will be afforded every opportunity to take part in the 1964 program. The USDA county official noted that again in 1964, the program, as in past years, will be entirely voluntary.

Cheney said that in making the announcement 2 weeks before the sign-up period begins, department of agriculture officials considered the fact that this will give grain farmers a chance to think and decide as to their choice. Before February 10 each feed grain producer in the county will be mailed the feed grain payment rates for his farm and other information about the program.

The county ASC chairman outlined these advantages of the 1964 program for those who take part:

1. It will provide higher average payments.
2. It means eligibility for price support.
3. There is an assured income from diverted acreage.
4. If so desired the grain producer may elect to take advance payment.

Residents planning to check alarm clocks with the telephone company's time service will dial a new number, beginning at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, January 12.

C. F. Schaefer, local manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone company, said phone users should dial 487-1212 to obtain the correct time.

He said the change to the new time service number is part of the plan that will bring direct distance dialing to phone users next August.

Schaefer said Michigan Bell customers in Holt, Mason, Dimondale and Pottsville as well as phone users in Lansing will dial the new time service number starting Sunday morning. He said the change also will be made in 4 communities served by the General Telephone company of Michigan in the Lansing area—Bath, DeWitt, Williamston, and Grand Ledge.

Incidentally, Schaefer said the time is checked for accuracy by Michigan Bell frequently each day with the Naval Observatory in Washington, D. C.

March of Dimes Mothers To Deliver Health Leaflet

Mothers who will be marching for the March of Dimes throughout the nation this January will distribute millions of copies of a leaflet entitled "One Minute Warning," which gives the latest facts about birth defects and arthritis.

According to local March of Dimes volunteer leaders, these two disease areas are of concern to millions of people in this country. About 250,000 of our children are born each year with a serious birth defect. Arthritis and the rheumatic diseases afflict upward of 11,000,000 Americans.

The National Foundation-March of Dimes is fighting these diseases with the same three-pronged attack which helped conquer polio as a public health problem. Using the experience gained in spearheading the development of the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines, March of Dimes funds currently finance:

- a nationwide scientific research program aimed at finding causes and cures for birth defects and arthritis;
- a nationwide network of treatment centers which help bring top-quality medical care to victims of these crippling;
- a nationwide professional education program which channels latest scientific findings to scientists, physicians and their associates; and
- a nationwide public education program.

Latest addition to this public education program, according to Dr. William S. Clark, director of the medical department of The National Foundation, is the "One Minute Warning" leaflet.

"Our purpose is to reassure the public that much is being done in the fight against these two great crippling," Dr. Clark says. "The American people are financing the fight with their contributions to the March of Dimes, and they have a right to receive periodic reports of what is being accomplished."

language, the pamphlet, which takes only a minute to read, suggests these precautions for a pregnant woman:

- See your doctor early. Be sure to tell any other doctor you may consult, for treatment of other conditions, that you are pregnant.
- Take no drugs on your own initiative. Tell your doctor about any you have been taking. Especially, stay away from "tranquilizers," "mood adjusters," and "happy pills."
- Learn your Rh factor, blood type, and your husband's. Inform your obstetrician.
- Follow the diet your doctor prescribes.
- Avoid excessive smoking and drinking.
- If pregnant, don't knowingly expose yourself to infectious diseases—particularly German measles.

For the person who suffers from arthritis, the leaflet stresses: "Follow ONLY the advice of your doctor." Several other points of advice are given, among them, "Remember, there are no quick cures, no short cuts. Good results from treatment require time and patience."

If your home has been missed in the distribution of this pamphlet, you can obtain one free of charge from the local March of Dimes headquarters.

MALIBU S.S. SERIES

These two Super Sport models are Chevrolet's finest. Front bucket seats, door-to-door carpeting and an all-vinyl interior in seven colors. A wide choice of transmissions and extra-cost high-performance engines. Plus a whole host of other options.

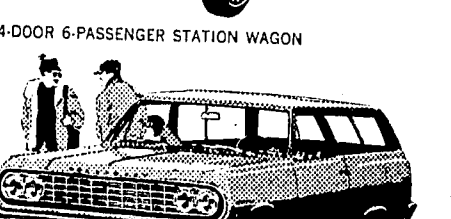

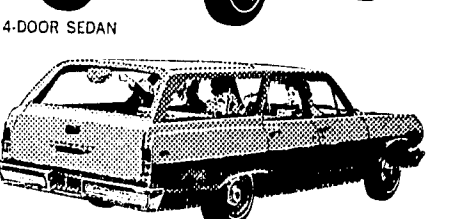

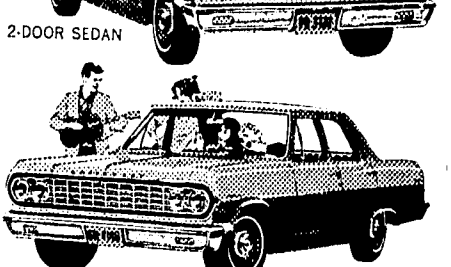

MALIBU SERIES

Chevelle's middle-of-the-line series, the Malibu, retains many features found in the two Super Sport models. Like all Chevelles, it's a good foot shorter than big cars, making it easy to park and handle. Yet inside it's surprisingly spacious and comfortable.

300 SERIES

Chevelle's most economical series— but don't let its gentle price tag fool you. The 300 has all Chevrolet's traditional value and reliability. Full Coil suspension. Body by Fisher. Flush-and-dry rocker panels. Your Chevy dealer will tell you all the rest.

Complacency Is Cattle Program Foe

Two costly cattle diseases, bovine tuberculosis and brucellosis, that have cost Michigan residents millions of dollars over the years have reached their lowest incidence in history. This is the result of a cooperative program between state and federal departments of agriculture. Leaders now fear that a feeling of complacency may develop that may erase gains already made and lead to an increase in disease. This occurred once before.

In brucellosis only 142 herds are now under quarantine, with reactors for the past 3 months averaging only 64 each month. In 1954 when an accelerated program was initiated over 7,000 herds were under quarantine, with between 1,500 and 2,000 reactor cattle disclosed each month, it is recalled by Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre.

Today Michigan has 26 certified brucellosis free counties, and the goal for complete certification of the state has been set for July 1, 1965. Together with this reduction of brucellosis has come a parallel reduction in undulant fever in humans which stems from the disease in cattle. There were only 6 undulant fever cases reported last year.

But with this victory comes the danger of calling the troops home and forgetting all about the war against these 2 cattle diseases. This can be costly. It happened once before.

In the 1920's many millions of dollars were spent in eradicating bovine tuberculosis, but Michigan became an accredited state in 1931. Complacency set in with the livestock industry feeling nothing further need be done. Follow up work lagged. In the next decade testing was not vigorously pursued. Month by month, year by year, the number of reactors mounted. By the 1950's disease had gained another foothold. When the accelerated program was resumed, as many as 6,000 reactors were condemned in a single year. This drive had the cooperation of an alarmed industry, with the Cooperative Extension Service, livestock owners, veterinarians and others all in the program. A special livestock health study committee, made up of all segments of the industry, was set up and for months held frequent meetings to implement the program.

Much more money was spent in reducing the infection than would have been required if funds had been actively utilized for an adequate control program over those years of complacency.

Holt Firm Lauded

Zelle Implement company of Holt was named to the Sterling Circle of top ten J.I. Case dealers at the close of the fiscal year. The Holt firm placed fourth out of all Case dealers in North America. Judging was based on overall retail volume.

New farm credit plan that meets farmers' long-range credit needs

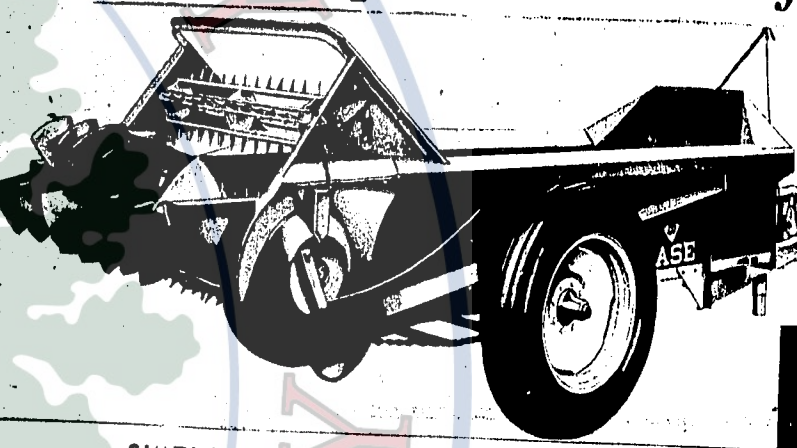

Costs for improvements, machinery and equipment have climbed until it is no longer practical, or possible, to pay for them with short term (1 year) credit.

Use 1-2-3-4 and up to 5-year "intermediate term" loans to buy silos, tractors, implements, bulk milk tanks, irrigation equipment, home improvements and other farm needs.
