LET'S TAKE A LAST LOOK is probably what 10-year-old Jeff Sedgman is saying to his sister Robin, age 9, as they indulge in a little summer's-end reflection at Mason's Rayner park. School bells tolling the end of summer vacation are just a few short days away. The youngsters, both students at Cedar Street school, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sedgman. The scenic park will no doubt be the last contemplative stop for many local youngsters before September 9th rolls around.

School Millage Passes By 686 to 653 Vote

HOLT - Holt-Dimondale voters approved a levy of 2.5 mills for school operation Tuesday by a vote of 686 to 653.

The total vote of 1,345 was regarded by school officials as a heavy one. There were 6 spoiled ballots.

This was the 3rd election in 5 months on the proposal. It was defeated first in April and again in June. This August election was called after members of the Holt-Dimondale school board were petitioned to place it on the ballot once more.

The 2.5 mill levy is for 5 years. It will mean a tax increase for residents of the district of about 1.3 mills. Dr. Maurice Pernert, superintendent of the Holt-Dimondale schools, said Wednesday.

Here is the vote on the millage issue by precincts:

Precinct	Yes	No
Precinct 1	198	175
Precinct 2	167	162
Precinct 3	173	125
Precinct 4	148	191

Precincts 1, 2 and 3 are in Holt. Precinct 4 is in Dimondale. There were 3 spoiled ballots in precinct 1 and 3 in precinct 3.

Tax Deadline Is Monday

Deadline for settling up Mason city taxes is Monday, August 31. There will have to be a lot of settling, too, according to City Treasurer Doris Austin. If taxpayers are going to escape the 4 per cent penalty for late payment which will be added starting Tuesday.

In order to give taxpayers a chance to get in under the wire the Mason city treasurer will be at the city hall until 8 p.m. Monday night.

Up to Wednesday morning 67.9 per cent of the city taxes had been paid. This is a slightly higher percentage than that recorded last year on the same date.

Hospital Changes Front Doors

Mason General hospital will soon be in the midst of a remodeling project ordered by the state fire marshal.

The hospital has been ordered to replace the folding-type doors on all hospital rooms with solid-core doors specified by the state fire marshal.

The project involves more than just hanging doors. Also included is installation of door frames on which to hang the doors.

Lost and Found

Honesty is its own reward. Johnny Clark of Colorado, visiting Mrs. Grover Akers, lost a $50 bill at Thorburn Lumber Co. last Wednesday. Thorburn employees figured out that it must have been Clark who lost the money. Ross Thorburn confirmed the belief with Mrs. Akers and Clark now has his money.

Tim Brown found a purse containing a large amount of money Monday in front of his house. He reported the find to city police who found the owner. The money had been collected to pay for a funeral dinner.

Mason Voters Approve Swimming Pool Bond Issue

Yeggs Hit Restaurants

Mason police are investigating 2 burglaries which occurred here on 2 consecutive nights during the past week.

Burglars broke into the Family cafe on S. Jefferson street Sunday night and took about $120 from a cash register, Chief Tim Stolz of the Mason police said. Stolz said they gained entry through a rear window of the building.

Burglars Saturday night broke into the Haley restaurant at 310 S. Cedar street. They smashed a cigarette machine but obtained nothing. The restaurant has been closed for 2 months.

A police patrol car crew discovered the break-in.

Storm Causes Damage

Farmers and gardeners who thought Mother Nature had forgotten how to make rain found it wasn't true over the week end. Not only did she remember the rain but she added a strong wind.

Saturday night the wind did considerable damage in the Mason area, felling trees and generally creating havoc. Power and telephone crews had a busy night restoring service to some sections. Trees were felled in the southeast and south sections of town.

Richard S. Aseltine, 15, was cut and bruised about the hands and arms when his motorcycle hit a tree on Columbia road, felled in the wind storm. The collision sent Aseltine's cycle into the air. Aseltine was treated at Mason General hospital.

The large mobile home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Martin was moved a foot off the cement block foundation on which it was resting, snapping off sewer and water lines.

The rain came too late for what was to have been a bumper Ingham corn crop. Some farmers estimate that the grainless weeks took 30 to 50 bushels of corn per acre from the top of the crop.

Farmers maintain that the week of rain which started last Wednesday came about 3 weeks too late.

Men Mason Chase Fish To Arctic Circle

Eight Mason men are chasing the king-size fish way into the Arctic Circle this week.

They are fishing Great Bear lake in Northwest Territory just 43 miles from the Arctic circle where all the big ones are supposed to be. They expect to return September 1.

Mason will have its swimming pool. By a thumping vote of nearly 2 to 1 voters in the school district went to the polls Monday and cast the majority of their ballots in favor of building the $200,000 facility.

The vote was 770 for the pool issue and 413 against it.

The issue of a pool for the use of children and adults in Mason and the surrounding rural areas in the school district has been discussed pro and con for years. A pool committee headed by John O'Brien waged an intensive campaign to get the project.

Its efforts were crowned with success Monday.

The pool, about 75 feet long by 35 feet wide, will be an addition to the senior high school, but it may be a year before it is completed and in use, school officials said Tuesday.

M. Chandler Nauts, Mason superintendent of schools, said the procedure would follow somewhat these steps.

The matter will be brought before the board of education which will seek to employ an architect to design the pool and the building to house it. That may come up at a meeting September 9. It will require 6 or 8 weeks to obtain the approval of the Municipal Finance commission for the project.

Another 2 or 3 weeks will be required for advertising and sale of the $200,000 bond issue.

After the bonds are sold it will require another 3 weeks before the money is made available. Then, and only then, can the contract be set.

All this preliminary work should cover about 2 months' time and construction work will require from 8 to 10 months, which will bring the actual opening date of the pool probably the latter part of next summer.

The Mason board of education will proceed as quickly as possible to build the swimming pool addition to the senior high school in accord with the wishes of the Mason school district taxpayers, Glenn E. Oesterle, president of the board, said Tuesday.

"I am especially pleased with 2 aspects of Monday's election," Oesterle said. "First, it is good that there was a relatively high turnout for the election. While the votes in some elections on money issues in the past several years have been larger, 1,187 voters is a good turnout and is representative of the feelings of the school district. Secondly, the size of the majority of 'yes' votes reflects a strong feeling in the district in favor of the facility."

Oesterle pointed out that one effect of Monday's vote which people should keep in mind is the operational costs which come with any additional building. He also saw in the future the problem of completing the senior high school by adding the classrooms needed to raise its capacity from 600 students to the planned 800.

"I am genuinely happy," he said, "to see such a fine facility added to our high school and community. It makes Mason that much finer a place to live. It is good to see people positive and enthusiastic about providing high quality education and facilities, and I know that as we face future challenges this rising enthusiasm will grow."

Ingham Gets Sign Test

Drivers who use Sandhill road between Okemos road and Phillips road will be guinea pigs for the Michigan State highway department and the federal bureau of public roads.

State road officials have received permission from the Ingham county road commission to use the stretch of county road for a 3-month sign legibility experiment.

The study will determine the necessary sign brightness for optimum legibility in a rural area. Similar studies will be made in urban and suburban areas.

A portable sign will be erected on Sandhill and observers will record the driver reaction. The tests will run from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Testing is scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights beginning this week and extending through the first week in November.

County May Vote on Churches, Hospital Share in Estate of Herbert Halstead

The Ingham Intermediate board of education, meeting Tuesday night in Mason, gave approval for a vote by residents in the county on the establishment of an Ingham intermediate community college district. It would include all school districts in Ingham county except a portion of the Stockbridge and Leslie districts which lay in Jackson county. Jackson already has a county community college district.

If the voters approve such a setup it would mean that Lansing would abolish the community college as a part of the Lansing school system and it would become a part of a county facility with its own, separate board of trustees.

At the present time Lansing is represented as having reached a position where it cannot accept non-residents of Lansing in the present Community college facility.

A county-wide citizens' study committee has recommended the establishment of the Ingham Intermediate Community college district and the Lansing board of education has approved this recommendation.

Before the proposal comes to a vote, it must be approved by the state superintendent of public instruction. This request is expected to be in his hands later this week.

If the proposal is approved by voters of the county the Lansing Community college will be expanded to meet an expected increase in enrollment. The Ingham Intermediate board in its resolution favoring the establishment of the intermediate community college district, points out that millage for the combined operation and capital outlay shall not exceed one mill on the equalized valuation of the proposed district.

Swedish Girl to Spend Year with Mason Family

A 16-year-old girl from Sweden arrived in Mason a week ago to make her home as the guest of Miss Kristine Fry and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fry, 3694 W. Columbia road. She is Ylva Carlstedt of Kungsbacka, Sweden, a town of 6,000 population near the metropolitan center of Gothenburg, a city of half a million people.

Miss Carlstedt will enroll as a senior at Mason high school when classes start next month. Miss Fry also is a senior.

Miss Carlstedt plans to study speech, U.S. government, English, U.S. history, effective living and sociology. She speaks English quite fluently and she has studied it for 6 years in Sweden. She also speaks German, French and some Norwegian.

She will graduate next June, but her diploma will not be recognized in Swedish schools, she said. When she returns home she will have 3 more years to go to school in a school of higher learning than high school levels. This school in Sweden is known as a gymnasium. From there she will go on to the university. She does not know yet what life career she will choose.

She already has visited Mason high school to select her subjects.

In the meantime she is looking forward to a busy and active school year in Mason. She has been here but one week and has had little opportunity as yet to establish any opinion of our way of life, but she hopes to remedy that soon.

She and her host family are planning trips to Port Huron where another Swedish girl is living, and to the Straits to see the Mackinac bridge and then over into Canada.

Ylva boarded an American plane in Copenhagen Tuesday, August 18. It was a chartered flight and brought about 40 or 50 young Swedish students to the United States, along with numerous American students who had been spending the summer in Sweden.

The Fry family met Ylva at the Detroit airport and drove back to Mason. The young visitor said the countryside through which they passed was much like that of her homeland. She said it rains considerably in Sweden during the summers and there is much snow and very cold weather in the winter.

This is her first trip to America.

ica. What little she has seen of it thus far, she says she likes very much.

Foods in her country and here are about the same she said, but the favorite dish among her people she describes as brown beans and ham.

Ylva likes the sports of her homeland. She says over there they enjoy skiing, ice skating, football, golf, tennis, basketball and horseback riding.

Ylva's parents are Svante and Vera Carlstedt. Her father is in federal service. Her mother is a homemaker.

Miss Carlstedt is in America under the auspices of the Michigan Council of Churches and its Youth for Understanding program.

PROSECUTOR
REPUBLICAN

THE CONSCIENCE OF A CANDIDATE

Any candidate for public office should be proud to tell the voters where he or she stands.

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the State Senate from the 24th District.

The decision to run was based on what I believe to be the basic issue of this campaign: WHAT CAN OR SHOULD BE DONE TO HALT THE TREND TOWARD GOVERNMENT CENTRALIZATION?

S. Don Potter

As a member of the Ingham County Board of Supervisors and as a Councilman in the City of Lansing, I have often encountered problems that could and should have been solved at the local level. Too often, these solutions have been made impossible by restrictive state and federal laws.

If moninated and elected, I will serve full-time, working in close cooperation with local governmental units to restore a proper relationship of functions and responsibilities.

I am a Republican because I believe the Republican philosophy of government is reasonable and right. The Republican Party can and must provide the leadership we need now. The alternative is turning our fate over to some Big Daddy in Washington.

If the Republican philosophy is to prevail, it must be stated as a positive alternative. Effective Republicanism is not opposition simply for the sale of opposing. It is a clear, vigorous, positive program dedicated to bringing government close to the people.

Sincerely,

S. DON POTTER

Area Couple Repeats Vows In Trinity Lutheran Church

A pretty double-ring ceremony was solemnized recently in Trinity Lutheran church in Lansing when Miss Mary Kaye Barnhart and Darrel Wayne Foess exchanged their nuptial vows before an altar adorned with gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride, with her uncle, Richard Perry, approached the altar in a floor-length gown of white nylon over taffeta. A crown of seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of illusion. Her bouquet was yellow roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Macel I. Barnhart of 226 S. Homer street, Lansing, and Carroll F. Barnhart of Anaheim, California, formerly of Dansville, are the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foess of 2021 Turner street, Lansing, are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Vicki Councilman donned a street-length gown of yellow lace over taffeta for her duties as matron of honor. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and bronze chrysanthemums. A crown held her veil of tulle to match her gown.

Mrs. Donna Luttrell, an aunt of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Her gown was of green and yellow net over yellow taffeta. Miss Kristine Perry, a cousin of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid wearing a gown of yellow nylon over yellow satin. Both carried bouquets of yellow carnations and bronze chrysanthemums.

Future Bride Honored Sunday

A shower honoring Miss Gerry Brownlee, future bride of Randy Powers was staged Sunday, August 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers, parents of the prospective bridegroom. Mrs. Guy Baker, sister of the bridegroom-to-be, acted as co-hostess.

Relatives from Ionia, Breckenridge, Leslie, Ashley and Alma were in attendance. Games were played with prizes going to Miss Brownlee, Mrs. Ralph Muscott and Mrs. Moore Brownlee, mother of the bride-elect.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, walked down the aisle attired in a floor-length gown featuring a neckline and skirt trimmed with sweet-heart lace. The fingertip-length veil was held in place by a seed pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of pink orchids and white carnations.

Mrs. Roland Smith of Eaton Rapids was the bride's matron of honor. Miss Cynthia Corwin of Onondaga and Miss Myrna Bodell of Onondaga, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. All their gowns were street-length pink organza with bell-shaped skirts and scoop necklines. Each carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Walter Smith, brother of the bridegroom, attended him as best man and groomsmen were Jerry Bugbee and Phillip Dack. Seating guests were Rodney McMichael, brother of the bride, and Tom Smith, brother of the bridegroom.

Debbie Bodell served as flower girl and Kenneth Bodell as ringbearer.

It's Not By Accident that . . .

Hometown Newspapers Continue in Business

Dependent as they are upon advertising revenue for survival, one would think that the daily newspapers, radio, television, magazines or "throw aways" would "run them out of business."

Such Is Not the Case . . . And for Some Very Good Reasons:

1. It is still the most thoroughly-read publication invited into the home.
2. National outlets and their advertising media are abstract quantities until they are identified with the local firm.
3. It is by far, the most economical means of reaching the most persons, in the most receptive frame of mind.
4. The mere fact that advertisers are alert and aggressive enough to offer their merchandise in the "show window" of the community, marks them as progressive and good business firms.
5. An active market place (a hometown newspaper) is essential for progress and communication of ideas.

Village Officials Irked: So Dansville Dresses Up Dump

DANSVILLE — Operation of the Dansville dump has won praise from township and village officials as well as residents. The dump was reopened last week to Ingham township residents only, after being locked out for almost two weeks for leveling off. William Creager has made appointed manager and directs disposal of trash and maintains a fire for burnable trash.

Township and village officials were irked by the unsightly and fire hazard conditions at the dump and ordered it closed several weeks ago. Fencing was put up on the south side of the dump along Howard road with a gate at the disposal area. Dumping of the trash had not been regulated and piles of trash were strewn hither — skelter over several acres.

Leveling and cleanup was ordered by the officials and a manager appointed to regulate the dumping. The dump is open to residents Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Creager has been instructed not to permit any non resident to use the dump. Violators will be prosecuted, both boards have promised.

Winner of the Republican Business Women's club bond at the Ingham county fair was Mike Tolonen of East Lansing. Runners-up were Ethel Craft, Lenora, and H. V. Whitney, Aurigle, road, Lansing. Each guessed 467, 470, 470 peanuts and beans. The winner's guess was 469.

Presentation of the Bond will be made at the club's September 3 meeting. It will be a dinner meeting at the Lansing YWCA. Reservations for the 6:30 p.m. dinner should be made with Mrs. Edward Schlenz or Mrs. Evelyn Atwood. Judge James Kallman will be the speaker.

Munith Resident Stricken on Way To New York City

STOCKBRIDGE - Word was received here Wednesday that George Liebeck, postmaster at Munith and president of the Munith Lions club, is in serious condition in Community Memorial hospital in Toms River, New Jersey, where he was taken last Saturday following a heart attack suffered as he and Mrs. Liebeck were motoring to New York City to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters.

Mrs. Liebeck telephoned Hugh Brown of Stockbridge and informed him of the situation. She said she was driving the car as Liebeck had complained of not feeling well, when he was stricken. They were a few miles out of Toms River, which is about 60 miles north of Atlantic City.

Mrs. Liebeck flagged down a passing motorist who arranged for an ambulance to take Liebeck into the Toms City hospital.

Liebeck is expected to be under treatment at the Toms River hospital for several weeks.

Farm credit specialist reports to his boss

(He saved the boss $280.22 last year!)

The man on the left is a PCA fieldman... one of the most highly skilled farm credit specialists in the community. The man on the right is a PCA Farmer-Member... and one of the fieldman's bosses. Because PCA is owned by its farmer-members, the fieldman works for the farmer. He doesn't try to "sell" them anything. He's on their side... putting all his agricultural and financial training to work for them. He counsels on everything from taxes to the price his farmers should pay for feeder cattle. Naturally, your PCA man does not charge for these services. But his biggest job is arranging the soundest credit terms for the members of his PCA... working out low-cost loans where interest is charged only during the time the money is actually used... and repayment schedules fit into the farm operation schedule. This can run into big savings. This fieldman saved his "boss" $280.22 interest charges by consolidating his farm production expenses into one PCA loan! Low-cost loans, sensible repayment schedules, and expert financial advice are just three reasons why most responsible farmers belong to PCA. It will pay you to belong, too. Get all the details at your local PCA office... headquarters of Modern Credit for Modern Farming. A phone call will bring a PCA man to your farm.

Law and Order

Police Chief Tim Stolz is issuing fair warning this week that his department intends to enforce completely state laws covering tobacco usage by minors and city ordinances covering the curfew and public behavior.

Actually, such a warning shouldn't be of much news value. People might well say that enforcement of the laws is what people pay policemen to do. Yet, the action taken by the Mason police chief is news because the trend nowadays seems to be to ignore the laws when they interfere with "practicalities."

The chief said in an interview with the News this week that he has about given up warning juveniles and informing their parents about law violations of their offspring. Too often, he claims, the parents resent the police observations preferring to think their youngsters to be innocent of the accusations or worse, not caring whether they be true or not.

From now on, the chief says his department will arrest juveniles caught smoking in public and otherwise disobeying the new Mason conduct ordinances. The results of such arrests will lead the youngsters and their parents into probate court.

Contrary to some thinking, laws are made to be obeyed. If they are bad laws or out of date or contrary to modern-day mores, it is still not the responsibility of any policeman or magistrate to wink at them. It is rather for the state legislature or the congress to alter or toss out such improper legislation.

If the coming days see the Mason police department marching youngsters and parents towards the probate court, it should be clearly understood that the officers are doing the job they're being paid to do. In our opinion, Chief Stolz and his men have a wholesome respect for law and order that other police units across the country might well copy.

More than a Pool

A New Breed evidenced itself in the Mason school district Monday when electors turned out to approve a school swimming pool proposal nearly 2 to one. Equally exciting as approval of the swimming pool itself is the affirmation that the community could endorse such an imaginative proposition. It leaves great expectations for a people willing to make a sacrifice at the local level to create such a facility.

There are those who have said that Mason is backward, divided in spirit, split between "oldtimers" and "newcomers." Nuts.

Monday's vote reaffirmed great decisions by Mason area people in the past: Creation of Mason General hospital entirely through donations, installation of water and sewer facilities back when many other towns and villages weren't looking at the future, an aggressive curb, gutter and blacktopping policy, an effort at a pay-as-you-go plan for school facilities which has resulted in the district being comparatively well off.

The Mason school district evidenced a greatness Monday that indicates a bright future for the area.

The curses of a bride-to-be and all her kin were heaped on a hapless ice cream dealer and his manufacturer last week. And it was lucky that shot-guns were not brought into play. Ice cream these days is employed not only as dessert but to convey message of betrothal. The guests were to jab their forks into wedding bells and entwined hearts and thus be informed that one of Mason's sweetest young girls has almost got her man. Ice cream orders were mixed. The individual ice cream tokens were delivered on schedule, just as the time came to serve the dessert. But horrors—the ice cream was for the wrong kind of a shower. A handsome and suggestive stork had been cast into each mold. Everyone in the kitchen blushed and the man who delivered the ice cream choked up and sobbed. The bride-to-be favored going ahead with the stork models but better judgement prevailed and after a short delay plain vanilla was served.

Numerous (2) requests have been made that the story which won one of the prizes at the Kiwanis club story contest last week be given the public. Yes, it was a true story and there are at least a dozen witnesses who will testify that it is the truth.

Last summer Mrs. Kathryn Ludwick (mother-in-law and a good one) was going up to the lake to spend a few days. She took her canary bird along. When the party arrived just before dark the numerous grandchildren rushed to the car to help unpack. Little Charles Haun, grandson of Mrs. Ludwick, grabbed the bird cage. He ran for the cabin, stubbed his toe, and fell. The crash knocked the bottom out of the cage and the bird gained his freedom. There is no truth to the statement that canary birds do not like freedom. The bird flew around the cabin and into a tree out in front. The Ludwicks, Browns and Hauns were in hot pursuit. Grandmother and Aunt Gertrude were frantic. The bird coasted around among the trees and finally alighted on a branch about 8 feet up. Grandmother thought she could coax the bird back into his cage but nothing doing. He appreciated his freedom. So one of the boys shinned up the tree to catch the bird. He almost reached it when the canary flew to another tree. Another boy started up that tree. Just as he almost had the bird the canary set sail and flew out over the lake and then circled back to underbrush along the bluff. Other native birds began to chirp their twilight songs about that time and the canary was lost in the shuffle.

The whole family crashed up and down through the brush and kicked up gophers, chipmunks, an old rubber boot and a broken oar but failed to flush the canary. So as generalissimo I sounded recall and formed the company in a line of skirmishers along the bluff. Then at the ready we advanced. The military maneuver was successful. We kicked up the bird. The canary skimmed over the brush and the smaller trees and alighted in the very top of an oak on the edge of the bluff. It was so near dark by that time that it was difficult to distinguish the bird. Grandmother and Aunt Gertrude were beside themselves and prospects for a peaceful vacation appeared remote indeed.

So I made what I thought was a heroic gesture. I said, "You claim you had rather see the bird dead than to slowly starve because of his freedom. So here goes." With that I picked up a rock and hurled it at the bird. No sir, not in a solid month of throwing could I have done the trick again. It was a direct hit. The canary never knew what hit him. He was knocked out of the tree and fell 20 feet to the roof of the cottage. One of the kids was boosted out to the porch roof and from there he climbed onto the roof of the upright to pick up the bird.

The canary was on its back, completely out except for a feeble kicking of its legs. I quickly found I was a villain instead of a hero. Grandmother and Aunt Gertrude evidently thought more of the canary than they did of their in-law. They wanted me to put the bird out of its misery. Right then and there they wanted me to tap the bird over the head and give it a decent burial. But I had had enough. I threw the bird into its cage, grabbed a swimming suit off the line and said "I'm going for a swim. I'll bury the dead when I get back." I had my swim and finally returned to shore where I was greeted by a chorus of reproachful glances.

They had not even gone into the cabin to be with the bird in its last agonies. Their hearts were too tender. Their grief was too intense. So I went inside the cabin to get the bird and give it the coupe de grace. Was I surprised? As I stepped inside the cabin I heard a chirp. There was the bird on its perch. Then he swung into full song. I gave a shout and the family came rushing up the hill and swarming into the cabin. The canary staged a real show. He sang as never before and Grandmother and Aunt Gertrude, through their tears of joy, joined in the chorus. He is still in good health and spirits despite his short period of unconsciousness.

Guest Editorial

So Who Cares?

A public office, we used to say, is a public trust. Is it now accepted that it should be a place to line your pockets while you can?

This week various publications are probing into the Lyndon Johnson family. Before Mr. Johnson ran for Congress, this family could be accounted poor in the goods of this world. But during his terms as a Congressman, as a Senator and as Vice-President, a small sum inherited by his wife has been parlayed up to a fortune estimated at as low as $7 million by the Washington Star, and as high as $14 million according to Life Magazine this week.

Both publications report that little of this is openly in Lyndon Johnson's name. Most is held either by his wife, or daughters, or through a network of holding companies whose purpose seems to be to conceal true ownership and to protect Lyndon Johnson from public criticism. The important thing, however, is that most if not all of this fortune seems to have been made not only while Lyndon Johnson was a public servant, but because he was a public servant. He seems to have been serving himself at least as generously as he served the public.

But, these days, who cares? Well, there are still a few of us. The President of my boyhood was Theodore Roosevelt, who was poorer when he left public office than when he entered it. No one has ever accused either William Howard Taft or Woodrow Wilson of having made a thin dime out of the presidency.

Was Warren Harding corrupt? In a way: he did not care if his friends made money out of government. But he made none for himself. When he died, the only important item in his estate was his stock in his newspaper, the Marion, Ohio, Star.

No one ever accused Calvin Coolidge of making a cent out of public office. The same is true of Herbert Hoover, with the addition of his private life.

ditional difference that he took not one cent in salary while in government. Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman also have spotless records.

Dwight Eisenhower lived on his salary as General and President, and left office with nothing but his savings, plus the profits from his book which have gone into his Gettysburg farm. You can say that John Kennedy was too rich to need to steal, so we will never know. I can answer that, rich or poor, I hold this Irishman to have been money-honest.

We come down now to Lyndon Johnson. If a man uses public office to get financial favors to himself, then by any definition, this is corruption. And on this definition he is the most corrupt man ever to have entered the White House in my time.

And yet, who cares?

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, during the lifetime of his brother, started an investigation into the Bobby Baker case. Lyndon Johnson's connection with it was so clear that the Kennedys were about to dump Johnson as Vice-President as a liability they could not afford to carry. But at this point the telescopic rifle of Lee Oswald intervened, with the result that all investigation into Bobby Baker was dropped, and it was Robert Kennedy who got dumped by Lyndon Johnson.

Will these facts, now being disclosed, help Barry Goldwater? Maybe some, but probably not enough. Because there are, in our electorate, too high a percentage of people who "don't mind of Ol' Lyndon's bin a-gittin' his, effen he sees I keep on a-gittin' mah lil ol' gov'mint check."

What about the left-intellectuals, those ordinarily shrill watch-dogs of our public morals? Well, they are too busy mincing and weaving about the place, squealing that Barry Goldwater is a "dangerous fascist," so a little matter like common honesty could not interest them less. Therefore, who cares?

Thoughts for the Week

Read I Thessalonians 5:8-15

Be patient toward all men. See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men. —I Thessalonians 5:14-15

OUR whole life has changed very markedly in the last few years. Our total life is being exposed to the life of others in ways that we never dreamed. Our image of people and their station in life is being changed drastically. We are having to make adjustments, both within ourselves and in our communities, to new concepts and situations.

The need for tolerance based upon the spirit of Christian love is more apparent each day as we experience new relations with people who are unlike us in many ways. The tolerance that comes from within, growing out of a heart of love, gives peace and freedom for the expression of both heart and mind.

This kind of tolerance is a foundation stone of a free society in which each person can share in a growing hope for the future. It makes for security and extends a helping hand to those in need. Many blessings grow out of the heart of true tolerance.

PRAYER: Dear Father, help us to live with others in ways that will bear the fruit of peace and harmony. Give us understanding hearts that we may share life at its very best. Guide us in every relationship of life. In Christ's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Many blessings grow out of true tolerance.

Reading newspapers from other states is an avocation of mine and one of my favorites is the Tulsa Herald of Tulsa, Texas. Not only is H. M. Baggary the most prolific editorial writer in the business but he also features half a page of editorial comment from other editors, mostly Texans.

Politically speaking, he is an ardent New Deal, Fair Deal, New Frontier Democrat who shouts it from the editorial pages and from his own radio station.

His thoughts are his own—for that we can be thankful.

With tongue in cheek, though, he had an editorial last week which was headlined, "Maybe America Needs Goldwater."

The gist of the gist was this: What America needs is a change in Washington.

She needs something different. It needs a kind of administration which calls itself conservative.

From there on out he spends his efforts poking fun at anyone dissatisfied with the way things are and maintaining that a change would bring home to Americans that under the great white father administration of the past 30 years we really had Utopia.

"When a child gets everything he wants, he sometimes needs to be denied," so says Brother Baggary.

He also tosses in another cliché, "When a man begins biting the hand that feeds him, then the hand needs to stop feeding him for awhile permitting him to go hungry."

That may be true of dogs, bears, lions and Texas mountain lions but I just don't believe man falls in that classification.

There are too many people who think that man is most contented when some great power in Washington takes care of him from womb to tomb.

There is no denying that the less fortunate who can not do the job themselves need help but spreading that help to confuse the unfortunate with those who are too lazy and lack the moral fibre to assist themselves is not responsibility of the government under the American way as I read it in the history books.

To paraphrase another old cliché, A successful citizen in these days of the race toward socialism is a person who can make more money than his government can spend and a successful government is one which can find such citizens and convince them they are lucky to live under such a system where laziness is rewarded.

Son Tim found a silver (imitation) brooch in the backyard the other day and asked his mother if it was the crest she had when she belonged to that paternity house at Michigan State.

Both President Lincoln and Kennedy, were concerned with the issue of Civil Rights. Lincoln was elected in 1860; Kennedy in 1960. Both were slain on Friday and in the presence of their wives, both were shot from behind, and in the head. Their successors, both named Johnson, were southern democrat, and both were in the senate. Andrew Johnson was born in 1802 and Lyndon Johnson was born in 1902.

John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839 and Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939. Booth and Oswald were both assassinated before going to trial. Both Presidents' wives lost children through death while in the White House. Lincoln's secretary, Kennedy by name, advised him not to go to the theatre. Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln, advised him not to go to Dallas.

John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln in a theatre and ran to a warehouse. Oswald shot Kennedy from a warehouse and ran to a theatre.

The names, Lincoln and Kennedy, each contain seven letters, the names Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson each contain thirteen letters. The names, John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald, each contain fifteen letters.

Does history repeat itself? Andrew Johnson was not re-elected.

Ulysses S. Grant (a Republican) was elected—his name begins with a "G".

May Cut Sewer Charges

HOLT - Sewer rates in Holt may be reduced.

Supervisor Joe Kiersey Monday night appointed a committee consisting of himself, Kenneth Hope, chairman of the board's health and sanitation committee and Richard Dart, township treasurer, to discuss with R.W. Petrie and associates of Benton consulting engineers on the sewer project, to determine if it would be possible at this time to lower the sewer service charges.

Dart told the board Monday night that all sewer accounts are in good condition and rates could be lowered if it did not mean refinancing. If refinancing is necessary to reduce rates the matter would have to wait until 1965.

The rate cut, if it is accomplished, would be between 10 and 15 percent, Kiersey said.

He said the committee would confer and be ready to report back to the board at its next meeting on September 14.

Kiersey also told the board that during the past 6 months Norman G. Pearce, assistant assessor has done an excellent job and asked that his services be continued for another half year. The board approved his request.

Kiersey pointed out that the task of checking assessments in the township is about 1/3 completed and the tax rate is down about $8.70 from last year. The supervisor pointed out that that means each mill in the 34.6 mill tax spread in Delhi is about 25 cents less than it was. The tax rate for Delhi in 1964 will be about $83 per thousand of assessed valuation, Kiersey said, which is a drop of $8.70 per thousand from the 1963 tax figure.

There are 36 sections in the township which must be checked by the assessors. About 12 have been completed.

Miss Enid Lewis, township clerk, called for a different per diem pay schedule for election workers. She proposed that workers who work more than 18 hours should receive pay for 1 1/2 days work. She said workers start at 6:15 a.m. on election day and continue until the votes are counted. Sometimes this takes until midnight or even longer, she said.

She proposed that 6 workers in each precinct report for work at 6:15 a.m. and that 2 others come on duty at 6 p.m. Polls normally are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Workers receive $20 per day and the chairman of each precinct receives $25.

The board approved the proposed pay schedule.

The board also:

Received communications from the secretary of state and the city of Lansing relative to the count of persons residing in the Maple Grove area, recently annexed to Lansing. The Maple Grove population is estimated at 3,075 persons which reduces the population of Delhi township from 11,339 to 8,314.

Received a communication from the township zoning board recommending that the Harmony Hills plat be not approved in its present form. The zoning board said some lots do not conform with township zoning requirements as to frontage.

Approved claims totalling $4,812.35.

Mrs. Craig Given Fond Farewell

STOCKBRIDGE - Last Tuesday evening the Stockbridge Baptist church was full as the regular missionary meeting began with Rev. Kenneth Boyd reading the scripture.

Then, midway through the reading, the pastor stopped, smiled and said, "Ora Craig, This is Your Life."

The meeting had been changed to a farewell party for Mrs. Craig, a longtime Stockbridge resident, member and officeholder of the Baptist church.

The church which had been the center of her life, for which she had worked and supported, was now honoring her as she prepared to move from the community.

Among the many presentations to Mrs. Craig was a plaque, given for her 45 years of service as clerk of the church. She was also given a "This is Your Life Book," which contained pictures and letters from friends who were unable to attend the party.

There were 4 former pastors of the church who came to bid her goodbye and during the evening, there were phone calls from many who lived too far away to come.

The calls came from as far away as Minneapolis, Minn., and L'Anse in the upper peninsula. A special speaker system had been installed so that everyone could hear the conversations.

Mrs. Craig left Sunday to become the first resident of the newly opened Olds Manor Baptist Home in Grand Rapids.

Someone at the party was overheard to say, "Mrs. Craig has always been here and has been so active, the church cannot help but feel a great loss."

Friends came from Stanton, Plymouth, Holt and Lansing as well as from the immediate area.

The board approved the transfer and the dance permit.

Mrs. White Tuesday said she and her husband have leased the building and purchased the equipment. She said she could not state just when the restaurant will be reopened as there are some small repairs to be made.

The restaurant has been closed since last January.

That's the time to rake out dead grass and debris, taking care not to pull out roots of live grass in the process. Foreign Students Tell Impressions of Life Here

HOLT - The Holt Triangle Farm Bureau club enjoyed a family picnic with special guests, A. Soenganda and Soepandar Wistatmadja, students from Indonesia last week at Portage lake.

Swimming, boating and water skiing were the favorite sports for the day.

Soenganda and Wistatmadja, Exchange students for Farm Youths at Michigan State university, have been adopted by members of the Holt Farm Bureau club for the year and are entertaining them in their homes, serving as hosts for special events, entertainment and sightseeing tours and acquainting them with the typical home life of the average American Farm Youth.

Soenganda in a conversation with Mrs. Robert Olson of Holt said that the picnic at a lake and boating were firsts for him as they didn't enjoy these things as a family in his country.

He stated that in family life, in Indonesia that the father is the supreme authority and placed on a pedestal of high respect but lacking the close relationship of father and son and father and children as you have observed it in American families.

In Indonesia, he said, the children are cared for entirely by the mother developing a close relationship with her.

Parking Lot to Replace Old Landmark

STOCKBRIDGE - One of Stockbridge's oldest and best known buildings will soon be nothing more than a memory.

The former W. G. Reeves machine shop on Wood street, is being torn down to make room for a parking lot.

Paul Spadafore, purchaser of the property said the lot will provide space for about 30 cars and will be completed sometime in late September.

The shop building has quite a history since part of it was a church at one time and another section was a house. According to Spadafore, the house portion is the oldest building in Stockbridge.

The main section was once an Episcopal church and was moved to its present location from across the street by the late Mr. Reeves.

William Rupert who is demolishing the old building said one section was fully insulated, even to the floors and that instead of wood, there is 6 inch channel iron in the corners.

Access to Buildings Needed By Handicapped, WSU Aides Say

DETROIT - "Since one out of every six persons in the United States has a permanent physical disability, every architect, builder and home remodeler should be conscious of their problems."

This is the belief of Miss Elizabeth Ferris, counselor for physically disabled students at Wayne State University.

"Chances of these disabled persons to lead a more normal life are still being blocked in many cases by architectural barriers," she says.

"Many buildings, including the homes of friends, are inaccessible to them because of narrow doorways and high steps."

Her views are echoed by others at Wayne who are concerned with the mobility and readjustment of disabled persons. These include Dr. Joseph N. Scheffer, chairman of the Physical Medicine Department in the WSU School of Medicine; and Prof. Barbara Jewett, chairman of Occupational Therapy in the same School.

The principle of aiding adjustment through easier access in buildings is widely recognized by such professional persons. But homeowners do not give the matter sufficient attention they believe.

Besides the permanently disabled there are many temporary occupants of wheel chairs, they point out. These people would like to continue their educational, recreational and employment activities but are blocked by curbs, stairs, narrow doorways or hallways, these authorities agree.

The average homeowner may improve access through providing at least one no-step entrance to the house and by making doors at least 32 inches wide.

Miss Ferris is on an architectural barriers committee making a city-wide effort in Detroit to inform builders of the problems of the handicapped. The Detroit program is part of a national campaign to eliminate architectural barriers from older buildings and to prevent their being built in the new ones. The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped are the sponsors of the campaign.

Wayne State University, which has 145 handicapped students currently enrolled, is providing an expanding program of facilities for them. The latest dormitory even includes specially designed suites to accommodate wheel chairs.

Leslie's School Equipment Tops

By Charlotte Camp
LESLE - When the doors open September 10, Leslie high school students not only will be entering a new building, but one that has been equipped with the very latest, up-to-date facilities.

The building, with 53,000 square feet of floor space, was built at a cost of $776,991.46 with an additional $86,399.54 being spent on equipment.

One of the outstanding features of the school will be its language laboratory, equipped with the most up-to-date facilities available.

In this room there are 30 individual classroom headsets which are operated from a central control panel by the instructor. The language instructor, by the mere twist of the wrist, will be able to send out a tape recording of the lesson to all of the students at one time, or just to one individual.

The control panel is also wired so that the class may be divided into 6 student groups, with each group working on a different level of achievement.

In addition, there are 2 headphones located in the corridor outside the room for outside study.

In the mathematics room, students may write on the desks if they wish, a heretofore unpardonable sin in a public school.

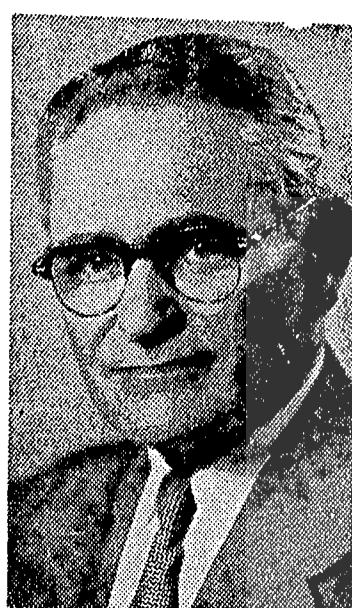

Each desk in this room has a laminated graph and sphere on its surface which can be used along with blackboard instruction. Pencil markings on the desk tops can easily be wiped off. A graph and sphere, similar to those on the desks, is permanently marked on the blackboard and there is a large slide rule that fits over the entire top of the blackboard area.

Principal Richard King said that students have been visiting the new school almost every day, showing great interest in the building and its modern facilities which includes 12 windows.

The first accident involved a pickup truck and a car on Swan road. Sheriff's officers said the truck driven by Richard W. Streets, 17, of 610 Clinton street, Stockbridge made a left turn without its turning lights on and ran into the passenger car driven by Larry Earl Lehman, 21, of 14886 M-52, which was passing the truck on its left.

In the other accident Alfred Cornford, 68, of 3675 Carter road, who was driving a piece of farm equipment, said he was making a left turn from Carter road into a field and as he cleared the road, the other car hit his vehicle in the rear.

Cornford told officers the driver of the other car did not identify himself but said he didn't want the police called. Then he left the scene.

Fast Thinking Averts Possible Accident

STOCKBRIDGE - Two drivers did some fast thinking Saturday evening and their resulting action probably averted what could have been a serious accident.

Wayne Collier was driving into Stockbridge on east Main street with his wife Marion and daughter Debbie, and as they neared a curve at the edge of town they saw a truck coming from the opposite direction. Collier said he realized immediately that the truck was coming too fast to make the curve, so he waited till the last instant to be sure, and he then veered sharply to the left to avoid a collision.

The truck driver, 17-year-old Carl Richard of Allen Park, cut to his left and the vehicles crossed in front of one another. His 12-year-old brother was a passenger in the truck. Collier who was traveling at a moderate speed kept his car in the road but Richard who declined to estimate his speed came to a stop in the front lawn of Mrs. Harold Ward after skidding some 100 feet.

Village marshal Harold Frye, who investigated the incident said Richard had no operator's license on his person and their was no registration for the truck. He is scheduled to appear in justice court Saturday morning.

Frye notified the boy's parents, who came to Stockbridge to return the boys and the truck to Allen Park.

Richard and his brother were quite shaken by the incident but got another jolt when they learned that Wayne Collier is also the police commissioner of Stockbridge.

Then the boys enjoyed a hearty meal while waiting for their parents to arrive, and since there were no restaurants open at that hour, where did they eat? Why, at police Commissioner Collier's house, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson also operate a similar dance at Grand Lodge on Wednesday nights. These parties will be continued, Mrs. Watson said.

Stockbridge Lad Has Own Ideas Concerning Politics

By Charlotte Camp
STOCKBRIDGE - Since many newspapers are now sending reporters out onto the street asking questions about the forthcoming elections, current issues, government and various other topics, we thought it would be interesting to try our hand at it, too.

The first person that came along was 14-year-old Gary Horst, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Horst of Stockbridge. Gary is a newspaper delivery boy and from the answers he had to give, it is apparent that he reads the papers he delivers.

Some kids call Gary the local philosopher, others say he sure is a talker but all agree that he always finds an answer to everything and his Sunday school teacher says that because of Gary's questions and answers, the class sometimes gets into some really deep discussions.

Gary knows that the Democrats control the U.S. Senate and when asked the primary difference between the Democrats and Republicans, he said, "The Democrats are advocates of much foreign aids and high expenditures while the Republicans are more conservative in these fields."

His opinion of Gov. Romney? Gary said he thinks Romney has done a lot for Michigan, and that he is definitely one of the nation's better governors. He said, "Romney uses a business approach to the office which is very effective. As an example, Gary said, 'Romney took over American Motors when they were losing money and brought them out of it. He did the same for Michigan after becoming governor.'"

Who does Gary expect to win the presidential election? "I think Johnson will because he seems to have a better approach to things, and thinks things out better before making public statements," Gary went on saying, "Johnson came into the presidency during a very critical time and I think he handled the job very well."

His opinion of Goldwater? Gary said: "Goldwater has some good ideas but sometimes he goes too far out on the limb and then has to climb back to more solid support. Maybe if he handled his ideas better, he would be all right, but he has to rephrase too many of his statements, so I guess I am not the only one who has trouble following him."

Civil rights: "There are 2 extremes with no middle. Demonstrations are all right but what good are riots and sit ins on street corners? They just cause aggravation and look ridiculous without doing any good. Then they put people in jail and bomb churches and that is just as bad."

With a sly smile, Gary said, "I am not mature enough to have the answers, but it seems like someone would."

Regarding his hometown government, Gary said, "I think the council is doing a very good job with what they have to do with, a limited budget and all."

Asked what he planned to be when he is older he said, "A lawyer is what I have always wanted to be. I think it would be a great challenge and besides, I never really thought of being anything else."

Gary said he does a lot of reading, especially newspapers including the editorials. He has been delivering papers for only a year but already has money saved which he says will be used for college when the time comes.

Bank Adds Electronic Machine

STOCKBRIDGE - Beginning September 1, a new electronic bookkeeping machine will be in operation at the Stockbridge State bank.

John Dancer, bank vice-president, said the new system would provide greater accuracy and faster service for the bank's checking account customers.

Dancer said that a code number would be assigned to each account and that the number must appear on all future checks and deposit slips.

He also said that cards with the code number would be issued to all those having checking accounts and that anyone having a supply of checks on hand can have their number stamped on them by bringing them into the bank.

German Student Enrolls At Stockbridge School

only knowledge of corn was that it is something one feeds to the pigeons in Germany.

On a visit to a large store, Christa was amazed at the difference in the manner of buying. "In Germany," she said, you enter a store and a clerk asks what you would like, they show you the merchandise and either you buy or you don't and leave. "Here," she went on, "you go in a store and look all over the store you look, from counter to counter, rag to rag. It's fun, and I like it but I am afraid I may get the habit."

Has she observed anything else in such a short time? "Yes," she said. "Kids going steady, girls wearing boys rings and boys wearing the little rings of the girls. I never saw a girl wearing a boy's ring which is 3 sizes too big."

What does Christa think of going steady? "Nothing doing," she said, "ties one up too much."

Kishpaugh said that while Christa has been here but a week, she fits in so well, we don't think of her as a visitor but a member of the family."

And that is what Christa had hoped very much to become - one of the family.

Tax Fighter Goes After Court Post

BY PATRICK JARVIS
EASTERN MICHIGAN NEWS BUREAU

FLINT - A judge who has been called a "one-man army" against city income taxes is seeking election to the new Michigan Court of Appeals.

Judge Donald R. Freeman, a member of Flint's Municipal Court, successfully led the fight against an income tax that would have put an additional burden on the paychecks of city residents and those who live in the suburbs.

It was Judge Freeman's contention that such a tax was illegal, and his group not only defeated it in an election, but also carried a fight to the Michigan Supreme Court after the Flint City Commission had passed it over the voters' veto.

Judge Freeman's fight not only was successful, but the voters were given a sudden windfall - the refund of more than two million dollars after the court victory.

Judge Freeman's entire career has been marked by his fighting for the rights of the average consumer and voter.

He has been a constant foe of consumer frauds and juvenile delinquency, and has been honored for his work in both fields.

Voters who would like to see this kind of a judge on the new Appeals Court bench are urged to cast their ballots for Judge Donald R. Freeman, who seeks election in the primary Sept. 1.

These voters can find his name on the non-partisan ballot and can help promote this man - a judge who is known as a fighter for the people.

19th Century Missive Decries Life in Michigan

By Ruth Stillman

OKEMOS - One hundred and twenty years ago many people in the east held living in Michigan in very low esteem as is revealed in a letter owned by Archie Barnes, 87, who was born and brought up on a farm south of Okemos.

The letter is a single sheet of paper 12 x 15 inches folded to form the envelope and was sealed with wax. It is addressed to Miron W. Barnes Sanford post office, Ingham county, Michigan. In the upper right hand corner is "Paid 25."

Sanford was the name given to the post office later called Okemos and the address was the grandfather of Archie Barnes. The letter is dated at West Henrieta, N. Y. March 4, 1844 and is from a sister of Mr. Barnes. In it she implores them to come back east "where peace and plenty reigns."

The following are some quotes from her letter in which she says that they had just received on March 1 a letter from the Michigan family sent on December 20.

"I am very sorry to hear that you have had such hard luck - and what is worst of all such bad society - and now what shall I say to entice you to come back this spring for I feel that you and your little family are like a little flock of sheep among a field full of ravening wolves who will seek to devour you - come back as soon as the Lake (Lake Erie) opens, - One of our neighbors went out there, he said he had $300 when he went;

stayed there until it was all gone and then he come back and he thanked God that he ever got back alive for they were sick and everyone picking on them - you had agree last summer and you will have it again as soon as it comes warm weather.

"Lot (apparently the writer's husband who had been in Michigan) says when he was out there $10 was about all he got for 6 months work and they were the greatest set of villains that he ever saw. I hope the Lord appears to Barnes in a dream and says Arise and take thy wife and children back into the land of Israel."

After telling about her children and family things she closes, saying that she is paying the postage as he has ways for his money.

"I have hens enough to find me in postage money, kiss the little ones and tell them any wants to see them."

The elder Barnes who came to the new settlement of Okemos in 1842 was not only a farmer but also a skilled cabinet-maker and made furniture not only for his family but for other new comers along with various sizes of coffins from native wood such as cherry and walnut.

So it is in regards to this wood-working skill another letter is written from his brother-in-law. Quote:

"Clocks are in good demand here - I can get them for 4 dollars apiece and if you think you can sell them so as to make anything on them I should like to send some out to you - I can get the parts for them and you can case them - I think something could be made on them - I could get a pair of trunks and fill them with goods and peddle them if I come out next fall."

There are pieces of furniture made by this pioneer still being used by local families. Barnes was also the grandfather of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Palen of Mason who died several years ago.

Many local people remember the music that set toes a-tapping as Mrs. Palen and the present Mr. Barnes played duets on the dulcimer and violin at community affairs.

Barnes also possesses a yellowed copy of the Ingham Democrat (begun in Mason) dated May 18, 1846 which was owned by his grandfather.

Mother and 2 Children Hurt

HOLT - Mrs. Joan L. Smith, 25, of Potterville and her 2 children, suffered injuries Sunday night when their car went out of control on Holt road near Gilbert road in Delhi township and tipped over in a ditch.

Mrs. Smith told Ingham county sheriff's officers that her car spun out of control on a slippery portion of Holt road and landed on its top in the ditch which was 8 feet deep.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

"The difference between a .350 hitter and a .250 hitter is about 40,000 bucks a year."

A big difference.

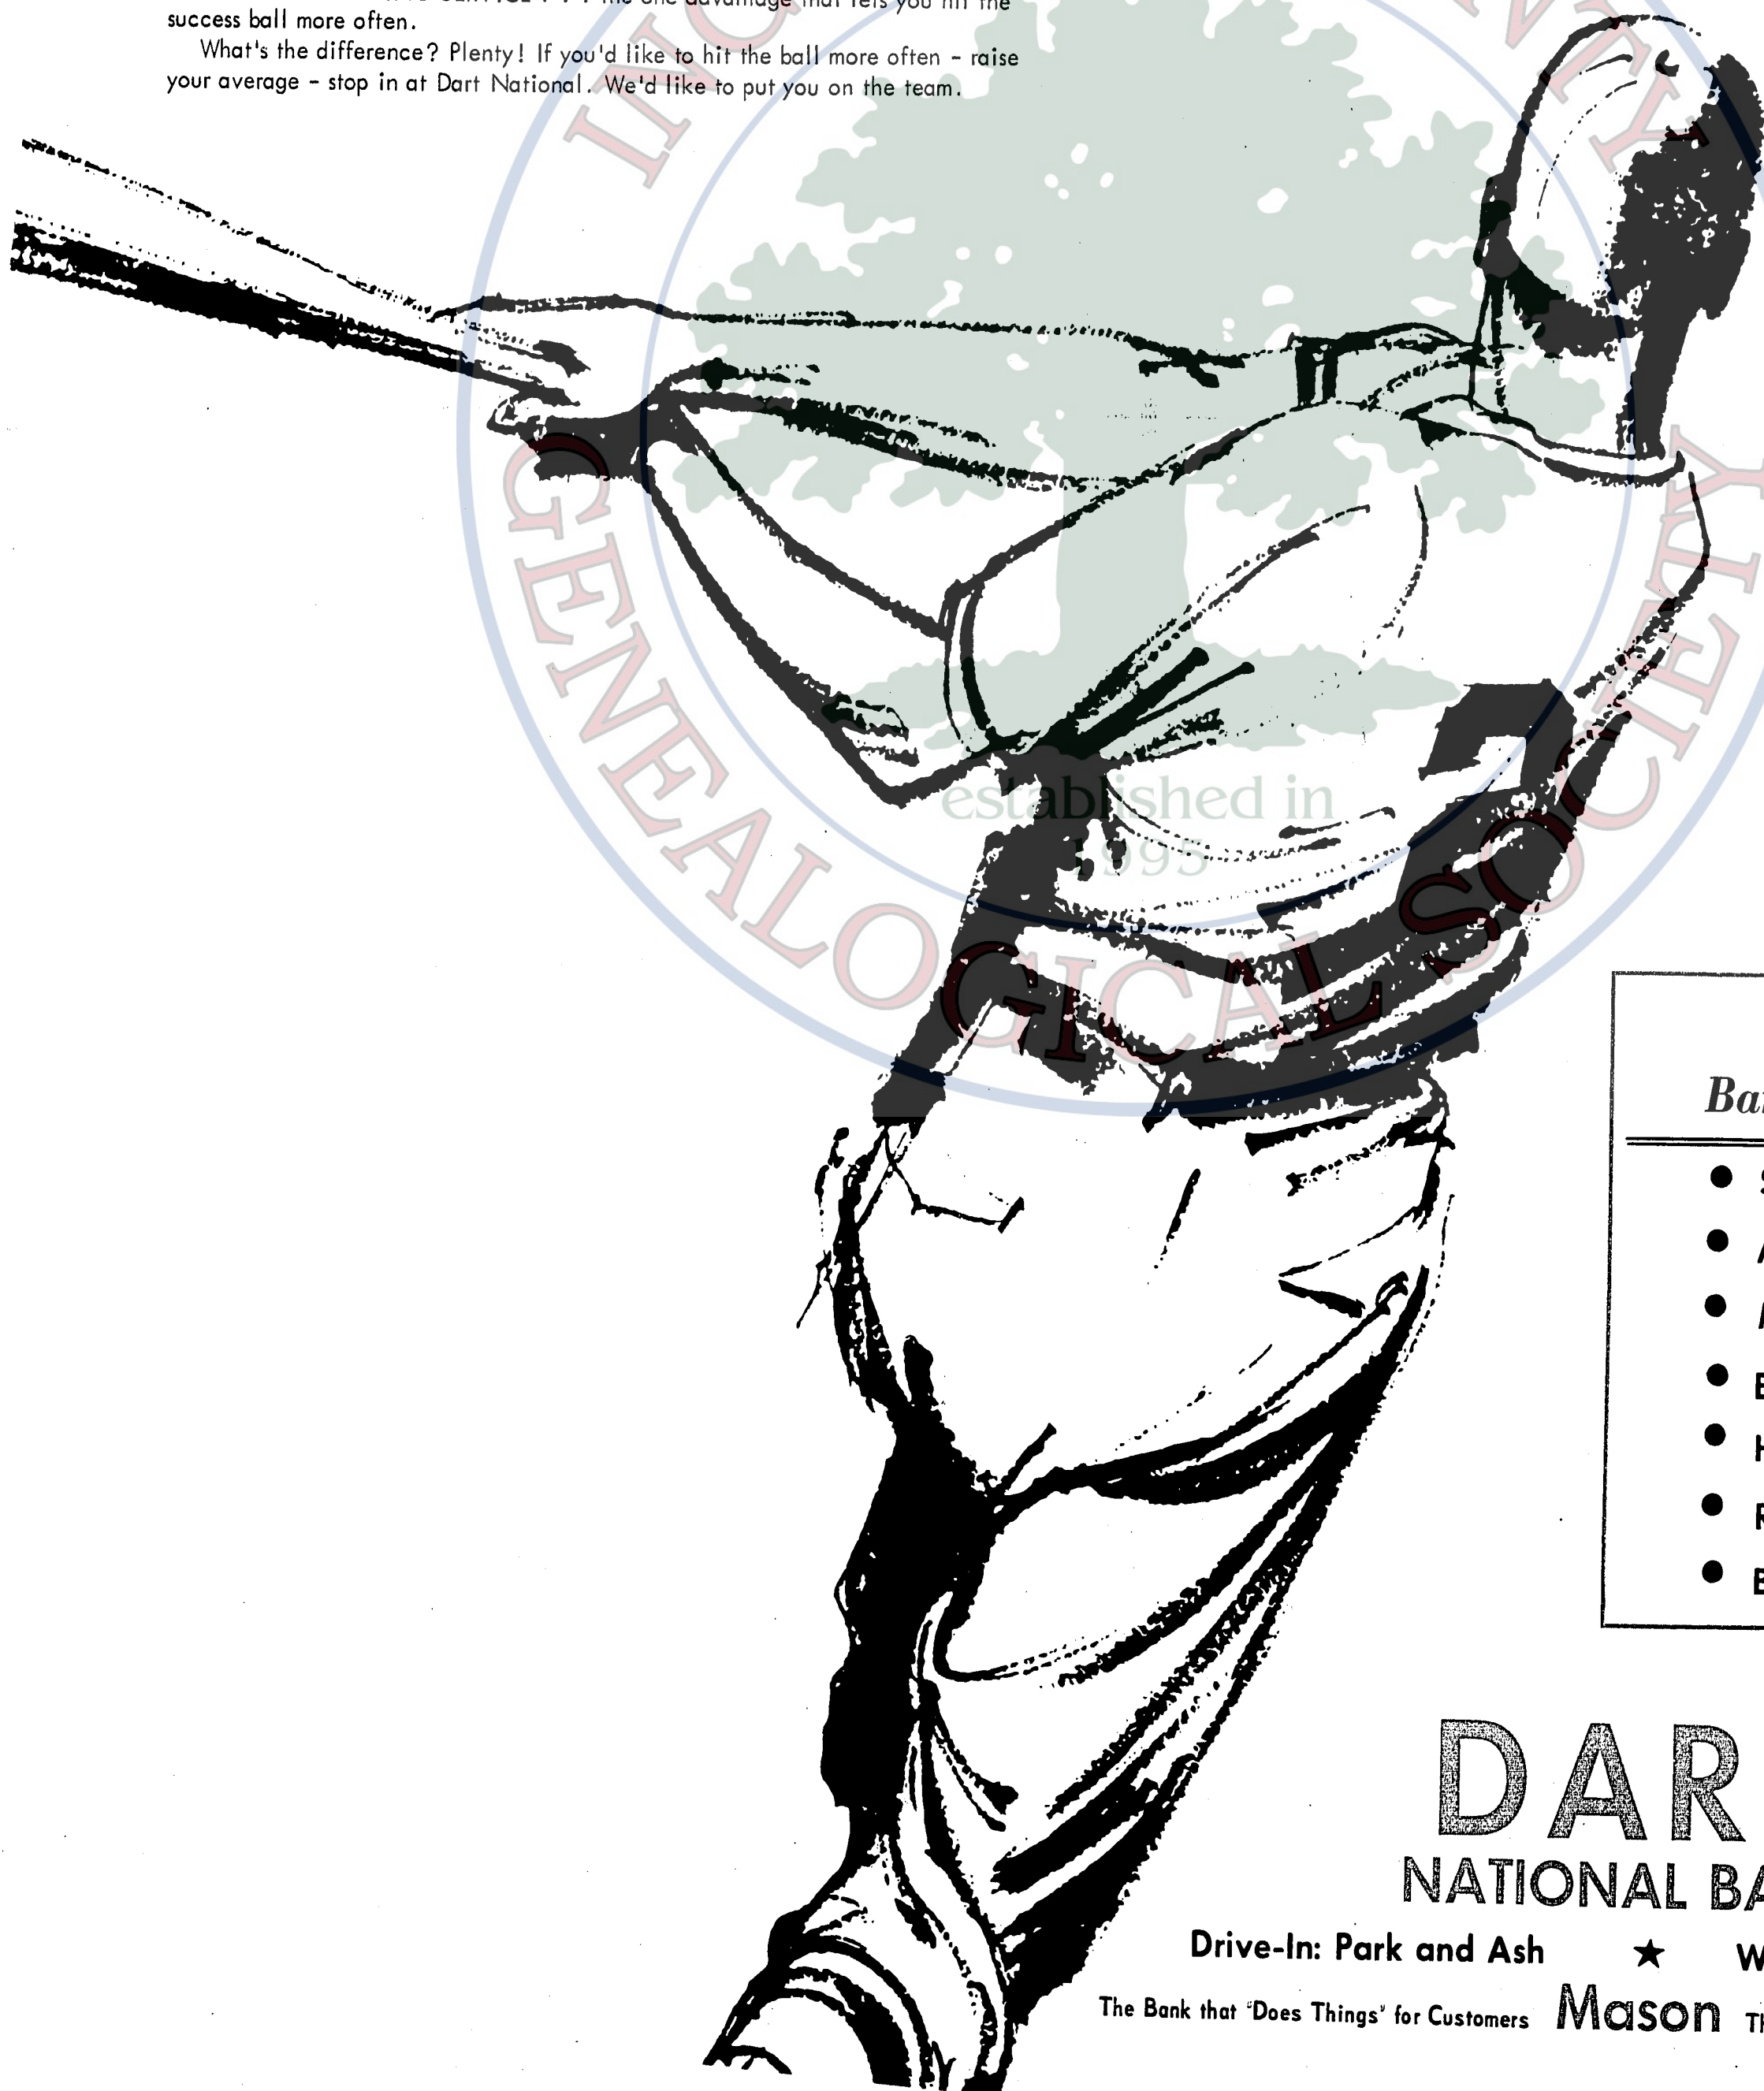

Yet the .350 hitter earns the big money by getting just one more hit for every 10 times at bat. The "little difference" makes him a star.

In sports, in business . . . in banking . . . so little difference separates the very best from those who just miss the mark.

Are you a .350 hitter? . . . or a .250 hitter when it comes to your financial life? Are you in position to hit the ball that extra time in every 10 times at bat?

You are . . . IF you are on the Dart National Bank team. Our "players" earn top bank interest, yes, but equally important, our team members automatically share in FULL BANKING SERVICE . . . the one advantage that lets you hit the success ball more often.

What's the difference? Plenty! If you'd like to hit the ball more often - raise your average - stop in at Dart National. We'd like to put you on the team.

Costly Problem
One of Michigan's most pressing problems, the mental health picture, poses some statistics well worth pondering.

Approximately one-sixth of Michigan's general fund is spent for direct care and treatment of mentally ill and retarded patients. In the current fiscal year this will amount to more than $100 million.

Additional funds will be spent this year for new and expanded mental health facilities, but experts in the field say much more could and should be done.

Indirect costs of mental illness are also great when computed in terms of work absenteeism, welfare costs due to homes broken by this problem, and legal costs arising from behavioral irregularities.

Perhaps even more staggering are the personal figures involved in records of mental and emotional illness.

The Michigan Society for Mental Health estimates 180,000 school age children are in need of psychological attention, while only about 30,000 are actually receiving such help.

There are about 800,000 persons all told in Michigan with some form of mental illness, but only 37,000 of these are in state institutions, according to Society officials.

Some relief for the imbalance between need and existing care is being provided through the relatively new community mental health facilities, but the Society says there is considerable room for improvement.

Recent figures indicated slightly over 17,000 persons in the state are being served in community psychiatric out-patient clinics. Each is hard pressed to meet the demands for service at this time.

The chief sources of relief for this problem lie, according to Society spokesmen, in future community action and greatly expanded and improved programs for children needing institutional care.

Dynamic State
Michigan's contributions to world progress, primarily through industry and education, will be in the spotlight next May when the 12th annual Michigan Week is observed.

More than one billion dollars in industrial and agricultural products are being exported from Michigan annually, one of the factors considered in deciding on the theme, "Michigan: Dynamic in World Progress" for the May 16-22 event.

Woodward C. Smith, vice-president of Central Michigan university who has served in various capacities for several previous Michigan Weeks, heads the 1965 promotion.

Continuing the tradition, the Governor formally announced the theme for 1965. Smith and his planning committee were busy with Michigan Week activity for some time before this, however.

Research by the Greater Michigan Foundation, the sponsoring agency, shows about 1,000 Michigan industries and businesses are engaged in foreign trade and investments.

This volume of activity means that 8 out of 10 manufacturing workers in the state are employed by companies involved in foreign trade.

Another major contribution to world progress is being made by Michigan's colleges and universities, which are involved in assisting educational institutions in many nations and in training students from all over the world on state campuses.

Measures Interest
Some indication of the continuing growth of tourist interest in Michigan is evidenced in the requests for maps and information reaching state officials.

One aspect of Michigan's varied information services which is a good measure of the total picture is the at-the-scene highway tourist centers.

Highway officials note that the number of tourists stopping at these information centers in the month of July alone was up by nearly 10,000 over last year.

Strategically located at Ironwood, Menominee, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Huron, Monroe, New Buffalo and Mackinaw City, the roadside centers are easily accessible to most travelers either at their point of entry or the very popular stopping places.

The Mackinaw City station, for example, gave good indication of the popularity of that region during July. Of 99,741 requests for information at the seven stations in July, some 40,733 were made to the Mackinaw City station.

Information activity during the first seven months this year has led highway officials to predict they will serve about 300,000 visitors in 1964 as compared to 280,000 last year.

100 Witness Work

Land Plane Demonstrated At Carroll Glynn Farm

More than 100 persons witnessed the land plane demonstration at the Carroll Glynn farm in White Oak township last Wednesday. The demonstration was successful in leveling dead furrows, back furrows and fill in the shallow field pockets that collect water and ice, and cause damage particularly to wheat, beans and alfalfa.

Although this may be a new practice, it is not a new idea; it is a new practice to the extent that different and more efficient equipment is being suggested. This equipment has been used in the west for years.

Farmers have used floats and other devices to smooth the soil surface and fill small depressions. The land plane is able to do all the same thing more effectively and efficiently.

Most of the advantages to preparing land by smoothing it are obvious, such as making it easier to do a good job of plowing, planting, cultivating and harvesting. Because of the earth moving, small depressions 1" to 4" deep are eliminated.

The removing of depressional areas is seldom the entire answer to surface drainage however. The tile system and surface drainage waterway and ditches are still needed, maybe more so after smoothing. Smoothing only makes the drainage system more efficient.

Preparing cropland fields by using the land plane will become a popular one with owners who have fields composed of heavier, darker, nearly level soils. It is just another example of a better way for doing efficient farming.

The district "land plane" can be rented for $2.50 per acre or $2.50 per hour from the Ingham Soil Conservation district. Orla Sheathelm, 3230 E. Dansville road (phone 623-3467) is the manager of the "land plane."

It will be kept at the Sheathelm farm and can be picked up and returned there. The equipment can be towed with a pickup but can be hauled short distances better by tractor.

The hydraulic hoses are installed on the "land plane," however each user will furnish his own couplers for his tractor. The district assumes responsibility for normal wear and breakage. Users will be expected to pay for unusual breakage or damage which occurs while they have the "land plane." The "land plane" could be damaged by hooking large stones, trees or stumps, etc.

It is recommended that SCS technicians help with the layout of the planing or smoothing job before using the "land plane." Some of the factors needing consideration are soil type, depth of topsoil, trash, stoniness and surface water disposal systems.

Glynn said his cost of planing his 17 acre field to be $42.40 for the equipment rental, and that he would be reimbursed $31 as an agricultural conservation payment. "Land planing" has been included as an ACP practice for the first time this year. The Ingham Soil Conservation district purchased the land leveling equipment last spring to assist farmers with this practice.

Flossie's Diner

Operated by Florence Depew

Restaurants play an important part in the business and social life of any city and in Lansing, the Flossie Diner at 629 E. Kalamazoo plays an outstanding role in this realm. (phone IV 9-8076) Seeing a marvelous potential in this area for a good friendly diner serving real "honest-to-goodness" delicious food, the business has been operated with an eye to the future and has kept pace with the growth both in procedure and equipment. That is apparently why it continues to attract a large and discriminating patronage.

In addition to being an energetic worker in her own business affairs, the proprietor, Florence Depew (known to many of her friends as "Flossie") has never refused to lend a hand in civic and community affairs. In these matters, she shows an open mind and a generous attitude. These qualities undoubtedly account for her wide circle of friends in this area.

Her ardent belief in the soundness of this section's expansion is no greater than the belief of those who are acquainted with Florence that she and the Flossie Diner will continue to serve well and to prosper.

Holt Standard Service & North Lansing Standard

In the world of business there are many dependable men and many progressive men but few are they who may be termed as both. These rare few are what keep the "wheels of progress" rolling.

Three such men are Gary Hall, Jack Bullock and Gary Bowser, who operate the Holt Standard Service (formerly Bogue's) at 1943 S. Cedar in Holt, and a second station at 229 W. Gd. River at Seymour in Lansing; North Lansing Standard Service. (Phone OX 4-0202 or 485-3332)

Since taking over the operation of these standard stations, these men have left nothing undone in providing patrons with the very best in automotive service and products. They specialize in rust proofing, front end alignment and general repairing and render a prompt, efficient and courteous service.

Jack Bullock, Gary Hall and Gary Bowser are outstanding examples of success gained through proper use of everyday opportunities. They are quick-thinking men who are stabilized by having to their credit backgrounds of dependability in all dealings.

We needn't point out how or why these men are important in the area's progress for it is clearly evident. The success of their stations has been due in our estimation to their ingenuity and fair prices.

With the increase in the pace and the competition in the business cycle, a growing community can be confidently sure with such men as Gary Hall, Jack Bullock and Gary Bowser in positions of leadership, setting a pace for expansion yet holding steadfast the principles of honesty, dependability and fair play.

(MI 5-8741) They feel that extra service is the best way to win new customers and to keep present ones who return often to enjoy their favorite drink among friends amid a cheerful and congenial atmosphere.

Willard's Hi-Lo Markets

Three Locations to Serve You

Continued patronage of a business establishment proves that the management has a thorough understanding of the necessary services to be rendered and that prices have been kept competitive at all times with the quality of the merchandise maintained year in and year out. We are therefore proud to include Willard's Hi-Lo Markets, located at 1910 W. Saginaw, 1400 E. Michigan and 4206 N. East in Lansing. (phone IV 5-0385, 484-7835, and IV 2-4769) These friendly stores feature a full line of quality staple groceries, fresh meats and produce, dairy products and frozen foods - all attractively displayed and reasonably priced.

People whose community pride runs high, the owners, Lou Willard and sons, Wayne and Roger, have identified themselves with many civic efforts in the Lansing area but our main points of praise in this issue are directed to their basic business policy. This could not have come about without their unswerving aim to give the utmost in service and in value. By so doing, they have retained the respect of customers, the loyalty and regard of employees and the confidence of the community.

We are certain that in the future as in the past the Willards will spare no effort to justify this confidence and will continue to maintain these popular food stores in a manner of which Lansing can be proud.

Bob's Gulf Service

Popular with Car Owners

The men who operate Lansing's service stations are among the most important in bringing good will to the city for their establishments are often the unofficial greeting headquarters for newcomers and they are the last persons to attend those leaving the area. Lansing seems unusually fortunate in having men of high calibre in this important business and foremost among these is the friendly and well known proprietor of Bob's Gulf Service at 3206 W. St. Joseph. (phone 489-8592).

You can rest assured when you fill up with good Gulf Gasoline at this friendly station, there will be no missing on the highway. Taking care of the crankcase, changing oil, complete lubrication, expert tune ups, minor repairs of every nature and tire service are specialties here, and they pick up and deliver anywhere in Lansing. This friendly station handling quality Gulf Oil Products is indeed a credit to the community.

Bob, while doing a fine job as "ambassador of good will" is willing to do even more. He is a booster for the Lansing area and makes every effort to keep his station in step with local progress. His help in community affairs is as cheerfully given as are the little free extra services that motorists always receive at Bob's Gulf Service station.

Hunting for Big-Time Sport

Thrills a minute accompanied to the stirring sounds of hounds hot on the trail of northern Michigan's "King of the Forest." That's the taste of excitement which hunters will savor with the start of the Sept. 1-15 bear season in the Upper Peninsula. For most of these rugged sportsmen, the things that really count in this sport are the heart-pounding action of the chase, the strategy making to tree one of these bulky animals, and the swift-footed teamwork of men and their dogs. And don't sell short the kicks they get from recounting their day's doings around the campfire at night. These are the moments to remember which will bring them back for another series of cross-country pursuits during the Oct. 1 - Nov. 5 bear season above the Straits and the Oct. 3-5 hunt in the northern Lower Peninsula. —Mich. New Law Will Ban Freeway Hitchhiker

The state police have called attention to 2 new Michigan laws effective Friday, August 28, which specifically prohibit pedestrians traffic, including hitchhiking, on all limited access highways and drag racing by motor vehicles on any highway.

The one involving pedestrians also bans bicycles and other non-motorized traffic on the limited access highways. This is an extension or amendment of a previous law which affected freeways only in these respects. The freeways are the controlled access highways.

The pedestrian ban is designed to increase safety factors for travelers on the high speed roads. It is pointed out that the stopping of vehicles to pick up or let hitchhikers off creates a hazard for other traffic.

Hitchhiking on the freeways, a practice followed by some college students and other person going to and from their homes particularly on week-ends and vacation periods, has added to the enforcement problem of police patrols in having to remove the pedestrians from these roads. Pedestrian trespassers can now be also arrested on the limited access roads as well as the freeways.

The drag racing ban specifically strengthens law enforcement's hand in dealing with drivers who have staged impromptu or planned racing contests on the streets and highways. These contests have endangered participants and, in some cases, resulted in death or injury to them as well as having caused accidents for other highway users.

Also in the association are representatives of various Federal agencies responsible for food and drug work.

Withholding Tax Ruling Is Upheld by U.S. Court

R. I. Nixon, Detroit district director of Internal Revenue service said this week that internal revenue regulations requiring employers to deduct and withhold income tax from each wage payment to employees have been upheld in the U.S. District court.

In a recent test of regulations which interpret the tax withholding provisions of the law, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of West Virginia rejected an employer withholding plan under which required income taxes are deducted from one out of four weekly paychecks.

Ruling in a suit brought against the Government by A. Karl Summers, president of Premier Photo Service, Inc., Judge Charles F. Paul said:

"The Congress undoubtedly had more than the collection of taxes under consideration in devising its plan. The Congress extended to employees the 'easy installment payment' plan so extensively advertised in commercial selling."

"The Congress, and properly so, sought to avoid the impact of a too large deduction from a single pay, which the plaintiffs' device entails. The regulation simply carries out the Congressional intent discernible from the statutes themselves, and is a valid exercise of the administrative regulatory powers."

Bertrand M. Harding, acting commissioner of Internal Revenue, said that the court decision reaffirms the agency's position that any withholding plan which defers the time of withholding is in violation of the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

It is not permissible, for example, for the employer to defer withholding of the income tax from the 1st, 2nd or 3rd paychecks in a month, and then withhold the accumulated tax liability of the employee from the 4th pay period.

In addition to failing to meet the requirements of the law, such a plan could work hardship on the employee, Harding said. The employee who does not carefully budget his income might find the amount of his last paycheck of the month insufficient to meet his expenses.

Harding called attention to Sections 7512 and 7215 of the Internal Revenue code. These provide that any employer required to collect, truthfully account for and pay over these taxes, and who fails to do so at the time and manner prescribed by the law and regulations may be required to deposit such taxes in a special trust account for the

TB Cattle Reactors On Decline

The number of Michigan cattle reacting to tuberculosis tests has dropped in the past 5 years to 36 reactors for every 10,000 animals tested from 116 reactor cattle per 10,000 tested in 1959.

These surprising reductions are disclosed in a report to Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre by Dr. R. M. Scott, tuberculosis project leader in the state. The accelerated drive to eradicate this costly disease in cattle is conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Livestock Disease Control Division and the USDA's Animal Disease Eradication Division, for whom Dr. Scott is an employee.

Dr. Scott said in 1959 the number of reactors disclosed was 5,924. In the fiscal year 1963-64 the number had declined to 959 reactors.

Ther percentage of reactors disclosed in relation to the number of animals tested was 1.16 per cent in 1959 and 0.36 per cent in 1963-64, Dr. Scott explained.

He attributed the reduction of infection, in addition, to excellent co-operation of the industry, extension service, farm organizations, and many others to 5 factors. He listed these thusly:

1. Concentration of effort on known infected herds.
2. Examination of other types of livestock on farms where cattle have been found infected.
3. Close co-operation with meat inspection officials to trace back any tuberculosis found in animals at slaughter.
4. Follow up on origin of all reactors and exposed animals.
5. Increased frequency of countywide testing of cattle for the disease.

Why Amitrol T Is Best to Use

Michigan State university researchers have figured out why just 2 pounds of Amitrol-T is as effective for controlling quackgrass as 4 pounds of plain Amitrol.

"The reason is that ammonium thiocyanate, a chemical compound in the Amitrol-T, increases the movement of the weed killer through the quackgrass," reports S. K. Ries, MSU horticulturist. "About 20 per cent of both Amitrol and Amitrol-T is absorbed through the quackgrass leaves, but twice as much Amitrol-T is translocated throughout the plants."

Ries made these findings in recent research conducted with W. F. Donnelly, former MSU graduate researcher now with a commercial chemical company.

Do It Right; Seek Advice, Then Build

Fred Schilling of Eau Claire is convinced it pays to seek advice before building a large apple facility.

Recognition of the need for proper planning and the desire to consult with experts before starting to build paid off for Schilling.

When Schilling decided to build a storage facility to handle apples from his 65-acre orchard, he sought aid from Glen Antle, district marketing extension specialist for southwest Michigan. Antle arranged a meeting with Michigan State University horticulturists, food scientists and agricultural engineers with considerable experience in designing fruit storage facilities.

Besides apples, Schilling also has 35 acres of peaches, 30 acres of tart cherries and additional acreage of pears and sweet cherries.

Antle convinced Schilling that it was advantageous to purchase a small tract of land located nearly one mile from his farm, but on a state highway and build the storage facility at that location. Loaded trucks can travel the state highway at any time of the year, but not to the proposed farm site.

The $135,000 facility has ample apple packing space for four cold storage rooms equipped for controlled atmosphere and regular cold storage. Compressors are housed in a separate low-cost building located so it won't interfere with future expansion plans.

Each of the 42-foot square storage rooms has capacity for 12,500 bushels of apples in crates or 15,000 bushels stored on pallets. Although Schilling plans to rent storage space this year to other growers, it won't be long until he has enough of his own apples to more than fill the facility.

The building was designed so heat from the controlled atmosphere units would warm the apple packing area during the winter months. Two wells at the storage can also be used for irrigation of nearby crop land.

are August 31 through September 3. "State Show climaxes our entire year," said Russell Mawby, state 4-H club director. "New clubs start organizing in October and immediately go to work on projects ranging from archery to vegetable judging. Counties send only their top project winners to East Lansing."

The event brings many rewards beyond prize ribbons and premiums. Young people get inspiration and ideas and meet many new friends. Also, this trip to the MSU campus influences many youngsters to seek higher education.

Thousands of parents will be on hand to share the experience. Wednesday has been set aside as parents' day to recognize the crucial role "mom and dad" play in 4-H. State Show is filled with countless examples of family cooperation.

The state's 14,000 adult 4-H club leaders will have their day on Tuesday. Leaders with 20, 25, 30 and 35 years of service will receive "Clover Awards" at an early evening banquet. All leaders will be honored at a special evening program in the MSU auditorium.

Mawby notes several new procedures and trends in the show this year. "No market livestock classes in beef, sheep or swine will be shown or sold in the show," he reports. "This is because the number of county market livestock shows and sales has increased significantly in recent years."

Educational sessions of interest to adults as well as the 4-H'ers are growing. Mawby reports. Tours to research buildings and crops and soils research plots south of the campus are planned to keep Michigan folks informed on scientific explorations in agriculture.

More than ever before, contestants will visit with judges about the strengths and weaknesses of exhibits. This improves the educational value of contests, Mawby says.

State Police Map Holiday Road Plan

With a high traffic volume expected in Michigan over the Labor day week end, the summer's last major holiday, the State Police will operate special patrols from noon Friday, September 4, to midnight Monday, September 7, in an effort to hold down accidents, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

During the 78-hour holiday in 1963, 6 multiple death accidents killed 18 persons, more than 1/2 the weekend's toll of 35 which was the highest for a Labor day period since 1949, when 38 died.

Childs emphasized that chances for multiple death accidents are greatly increased during holidays because motoring trips are generally family affairs and there are many more cars on the roads.

"However, high holiday tolls are not inevitable," Childs said. "Michigan records show there were only 12 deaths for the Labor day period in 1958 and 13 the year before. Drivers can assure themselves a safer holiday trip by driving courteously and reasonably at all times. Bring the family back alive."

The State Police special patrol schedule will be in effect from 3 to at least 9 p.m. each day. Pass days are cancelled.

The State Police will be assisted by 114 members of the Michigan National Guard Friday, Saturday and Monday, serving as second men on two-man patrols or on point controls.

CROP Buys Beans For Foreign Use

Three Church World Service trucks loaded out of Saginaw and 2 more out of Henderson this month to complete a 320,000 pound purchase of beans by Michigan CROP for shipment to Burundi, Algeria, and Haiti.

These shipments were made possible by contributions left over from the 1963 campaign—purposely held to meet needs that might (and did) arise before the 1964 harvest and CROP campaign materialized.

The 1964 campaign slogan, "EVERY FAMILY FEED A PERSON," is expected to provide many additional truckloads of good, nutritious Michigan beans.

Bumper Seed Wheat Crop Certified Earlier

Herbert R. Pettigrove (left), Secretary, Michigan Crop Improvement Association, and Robert Moore, Elsie, Certified Wheat Grower, inspect the large full heads of wheat that produced high wheat yields for Michigan farmers this year. Said Pettigrove, "Most Michigan farmers indicated yields that ranged from 40 to over 70 bushels per acre." High yields can be attributed to proper management, certified seed, and excellent growing conditions. Certification of wheat seed was made 10 to 12 days earlier this year due to the record number of over 90° days in June.

Mason Sets An Iffy in Switzerland Tenure Talk

Members of the Mason board of education have scheduled a special meeting for Friday morning, August 28, at the offices of School Superintendent M. Chandler Nauts in the junior high school building to discuss teacher tenure and hear a report on the progress on construction of an addition to the Alameda elementary school.

A regular meeting of the board is planned for September 9. Regular board meetings usually are on the 1st Monday of each month, but the September meeting was put over to Wednesday, September 9, because the first Monday of that month is a legal holiday—Labor day.

You Notice Little Things Here, Doug Sanders Says

This is another in a series of articles from Douglas Sanders, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Switzerland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanders, Mason, and is a senior at MSU. His address is: Doug Sanders, % Mr. C. E. Zahn, Division of Agriculture, Laupenstrasse 25, Berne, Switzerland.

We've all been places and seen many new things, but so often the little things seen from day to day tend to go unnoticed. It's strange that in another country, how these little things that we tend to take for granted, take on new dimensions and meaning. When traveling in a foreign country, many things appear new but become common place after only spending a short time there.

In Switzerland, the roads in most cases are a winding maze covering the country-side. Seldom are they straight. They wind around the hills and mountains and some of the roads have hair pin turns on the hillsides. I only wish you could be here with me and see some of the wonder of the country-side and the beautiful scenery with the winding roads so much a part of Switzerland.

The Swiss have an ingenious way of keeping pop or soda fresh after the bottle has been opened. Instead of having a separate bottle cap stopper, the bottle tops are constructed to stay on the bottle. The cap is porcelain with a rubber ring around the bottom of the cap which fits into the top of the bottle. This is held in place by a wire lever system.

Another difference in Switzerland is that water is never served to you at a restaurant unless you order it. However, in the United States ice water is on the table when you arrive or brought to you before you place your order. These are just a few of the everyday things so common in Switzerland. There are many more. Many differences are also present in the United States between families, cities, and between people in different walks of life. Taking time to notice a few of these differences can add more joy to your life and appreciation for the world around us.

Law Officer Receives Thank You

Robert Brown of Leslie has a warm spot in his heart for the Ingham county sheriff's department and especially one of its officers, Deputy Robert Murphy. Brown had occasion to go to Flint last week and when about 12 miles from his destination, his car developed a flat tire.

As Brown was preparing to take off the flat tire and replace it with a spare, Deputy Murphy, on his way to Clio on police business, drew up alongside.

He stopped and inquired if he could be of any help. Brown assured him he could, so Murphy climbed out of his car, removed the wheel from Brown's car and replaced it with the spare, put the flat tire and wheel in the trunk, and then drove on.

Brown was especially thankful for the deputy's help, because he has a heart ailment and changing tires is not regarded as the best exercise for persons with weak hearts.

As I See It

By Hayden Palmer

The past week saw another teen-age battle in Ingham county. It ended with one boy being stabbed.

The incident has brought sorrow into 2 homes and shocked a community. One boy is in a Lansing hospital, the other is facing a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon to commit the crime of murder.

It all began because a group of East Lansing youngsters came to Haslett to "crash" a dance at the high school, investigating officers say. This led to free-for-all fighting, which is beginning to be a common occurrence among certain groups of teen agers these days.

What passes through the minds of these youngsters when they forget the Christian way of life and fight like animals in a jungle? Are they the types of individuals who thrill to the sight of blood or the destruction of property?

Perhaps the time has come when legislative action is needed to provide laws which will give police the power to deal with these youngsters with the same authority as that given them to deal with adults.

This is not a condemnation of all teen-agers. Those who engage in these lawless acts are in the minority—but it is a minority that, unless it is stopped, could turn this nation into barbarians.

Haslett for the moment is in the spotlight of publicity because of the fighting of teen-agers. But the same thing could happen anywhere.

In fact, Mason police last week received a tip that a group of youngsters from another town were coming here to crash a dance. Police cars mobilized, expecting another battle such as that in Haslett but nothing happened. A group of youths from another town did come to Mason and attended the dance. There was no trouble and the dance went off without incident.

Educators, who work almost constantly with juveniles, blame boredom for some of the troubles arising among teen-agers.

They point out that these youngsters with nothing to do find time hanging heavy on their hands, so they get together and cook up plans to visit another town where in many cases they become embroiled in arguments with other teen-agers and soon fists begin to fly.

But in these recent cases there have been weapons involved—lethal weapons.

Police had a report last week that a boy armed with a gun was seeking out an "enemy" in another town with the idea of using the gun if necessary.

Already youngsters have reached the stage where they hurl bricks, bottles and stones at police cars and law enforcement officers.

That happened at a melee at a ballroom on the shore of Lake Lansing a few weeks ago. Officers believe that last week's affair at Cornell and Haslett road was an aftermath of the brawl at the dance hall.

Sheriff's detectives have questioned several young people who were at the scene of the fighting last week. They all tell much the same story. There was a dance at the high school. Many of them attended. Then a group of youths arrived from East Lansing and there were reports of fights and many of the teen-agers deserted the dance to go to the scene of the melee. There, some of them took part and the others sat in cars and watched.

When officers arrived the groups dispersed.

Here in Mason police have been equipped with 2 new ordinances which they believe will strengthen their hand in curbing any outbreaks of juveniles.

One is a curfew ordinance. The other is a disorderly statute. Both went into effect here this week, and both of them have teeth.

The curfew ordinance provides that any minor under the age of 12 will not be permitted on the streets or other thoroughfares of the city between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian or some other person over 21 years of age delegated by the parent or guardian to accompany the child.

The law provides also that no minor under the age of 17 shall be permitted on the streets and other city thoroughfares and parks between the hours of midnight and 6 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian or someone over 21 years of age delegated by the parent to accompany the minor.

Any person over the age of 17 permitting, assisting or abetting or encouraging any minor under 17 to violate provisions of the ordinance is guilty of a violation of the ordinance and may be punished upon conviction thereof by a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 90 days or both fine and imprisonment.

The ordinance covers any youngsters in or on any motor vehicle or in any public place.

In other words, as Chief Tim Stolz of the Mason police points out, for every child picked up for violation of the curfew ordinance, a parent could be arrested.

The disorderly conduct ordinance also has clauses which could curb teen-age outbreaks. The ordinance prohibits among other matters "loitering about or in any street, alley, park, public place or public building or collect or stand in crowds or arrange, encourage or abet the collection of persons in crowds for illegal or mischievous purposes in any street, alley, park or public place or building."

Nor shall any one "disturb the public peace and quiet by loud, boisterous or vulgar conduct or words, or by improper diversion" or "obstruct, resist, hinder or oppose any member of the police force or any peace officer in the discharge of his duties as such."

Chief Stolz says his men will enforce both ordinances to the letter.

"Right now," he said, "it appears that things are quiet and normal here. We hope Mason youngsters will see fit to discourage any gang activity."

The meales of the past few weeks have shown that the youths involved have no regard for law or order and whether an ordinance or two will faze them remains to be seen.

If these laws fail to deter them, then it is about time that parents of youths bent on destruction and fighting, sat down with their offspring and showed them the error of their ways.

If that fails then perhaps persuasive use of a policeman's nightstick may help.

Tomatoes to Come In Bigger Boxes

The 10 pound wire handled tomato carton, a long familiar sight in grocery stores, may soon be a thing of the past.

"Although the wire handled carton has been used only in the southwest Michigan area, it has always enjoyed wide usage and success," reports Glen Antle, district marketing extension agent in the Benton Harbor area.

Yet the produce trade wanted something different. So tomatoes are now being sold in 20-pound boxes.

One of the real problems has been overfilling the 10 pound carton, says Antle. But this is no problem with the new tomato box since sales are made on the basis of 20 pounds of tomatoes per box.

Teen-Agers Win Fashion Award

What do teen-agers look for in fashion? The answers came quickly when 28 high-school girls from Winchester, Mass., national winners of the "top fashion teen" award, spent three days in New York recently. They like uncluttered styling, lots of color, clothes that launder easily, long dresses for "formals," and Bermuda (not short) shorts. They dislike too-tight pants and bouffant hairdos.

The contest, sponsored by Du Pont, involved about 22,000 teen-agers in more than 300 high schools all over the country. Epitomizing the well-mannered look these girls like, a jacket outfit and a jumper by Bobbie Brooks in easy-care fabrics of "Dacron" polyester and cotton were modeled by two of the Winchester girls, Mary McGee (left) and Alex Clair (right) and given "high marks" by the rest of the team.

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again... the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and arithmetic—lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.
