Allocation Board Sets County Millage Shares

Ingham county's annual battle over splitting the available 15 mills of taxes among the townships, school district and county government is over.

At the final meeting of the tax allocation board in Mason Tuesday the preliminary figures stood the test of a final vote with just one change.

The county will receive 5.83 mills for its operation. School districts will receive amounts ranging from a maximum of 9.112 to 8.112, depending on the townships within the school district. The intermediate board of education will get .058 mills and the various townships requesting millage will get the following: Delhi, Meridian and Williamston townships will receive .5 of a mill each and Leroy, Leslie, Stockbridge and Wheatfield will each receive one mill. In its final action the Leslie millage was jumped from .5.

The vote on the millage split was unanimous.

Serving on the allocation board under the statute are County Treasurers Harry Spenny, Intermediate Superintendent of Schools Alton Stroud, Vernon Ebersole, representing the county's largest school district, Supervisor Horace Bradshaw of Lansing representing the county's largest municipality, Supervisor Jack Patriarche of East Lansing representing the county board of supervisors as chairman of the ways and means committee and Durward Rainsberger, appointed to represent the county at large.

Firms and individuals putting up the money are Bill Couch, The Dancer Co., Mason Foodland, Tony Simone, Glenn Osterle, The Ingham County News, Norton Pontiac and Renwick Garypie. Mason police working on the massive case of vandalism theorize that a pellet gun was used to spray many windows in the community with BB gun-size pellets.

Chief Tim Stolz urged anyone with information about the vandalism to call him. He said confidential information would be honored by his department and the informer who qualifies for the reward would not be identified unless he wished to be.

Cast Starts Rehearsal For Centennial Pageant

The Mason Area Centennial is made up of many divisions and one of the more important is the spectacle division. Its main function is to organize the Centennial's Historical Spectacle. Jeanette Dart is general chairman.

This division will receive the major attention of the Rogers Company director, Edmund Nejaimey, who will be in Mason until the end of the centennial celebration.

As the centennial is made up of many divisions, so is each division made up of many committees. One committee of this division is the scenario and title committee, headed by Warner Kean.

The script for the historical spectacle, Mason in Motion, will be written individually and professionally for the Mason Area Centennial. Kean's duties include gathering all the historical data concerning the Mason area for the Rogers Company script department.

Mrs. Leonard Carter is at the head of the cast committee. Her concern is to obtain the number of people required as cast members for the Historical Pageant. The cast auction was held on Wednesday, May 19, and rehearsals started last week, although additional cast members are needed. Men are particularly in demand. Those with trimmed (Lincoln type) beards, gay '90's mustache, sideburns, or goatees and untrimmed, pioneer type beards. Women are also needed. Anyone wanting to join the centennial fun in this way can call Mrs. Carter or Jeanette Dart. No special talent is required, only a lot of fun is involved.

In addition to the cast, there will be a choir of one hundred voices. Anyone wishing to take part in the choir can meet at the junior high school, in the old shop building on the north side of the street, at nine p.m. on Wednesday. Male voices are especially needed.

The properties committee is headed by Richard Woodland. It is his duty to search out the many items needed for the pageant. These items range from elaborate carriage down to book matches. The matches Woodland can manage without help, but he would appreciate knowing where he could borrow five covered wagons, or wagons that could be covered; five teams of horses; two buggies; the elaborate carriage; old fashioned tripods; a canoe; old wooden bathtub; a cow; one chicken in a crate.

Jay Day is chairman of the construction committee. The function of this committee is to provide for the erection, maintenance, dismantling and salvaging of the stage framework and platform.

Costumes are furnished by the Rogers Company, but the care and distribution of these costumes falls to the costume and make up committee under the direction of Mrs. Charles Hubbard. Carl Barto is in charge of the

Each caravan will be loaded with entertainment including 2 bands, several variety acts and musical groups.

The Williamston caravan will pass through Holt and Webberville, arriving in Williamston about 7:30. Cars in the caravan will be parked at St. Mary school parking lot on High street. The entertainment section of the caravan will set up on Putman south of the main traffic light.

On all caravans, men, women and children will dress in centennial costumes. The Keystone Kops, the Kopperettes and the Chickens will also lend fun to the outings.

All caravans will begin at the parking lot of the high school. A police escort has been arranged for each caravan and police and civic organizations have been alerted in all towns to be visited by the caravans.

The rest of the caravan schedule includes: Aurelius, Onondaga, Eaton Rapids and Charlotte on Thursday, June 10; Holt and Lansing on June 14 and Dansville and Stockbridge on June 16.

People are invited to join the caravan at their beginnings in Mason or to join as the caravans roll along towards their destinations.

Shelter Survey Begins

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is conducting an extensive survey to determine how much fallout shelter space is available in smaller buildings, including multi-family dwellings, small commercial and industrial buildings in Ingham county. This pilot survey is being conducted by the Engineering Firm of Davenport Associates, Grand Rapids, at the direction of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Detroit District. The survey crew started working Mason Tuesday.

The survey will include buildings which did not qualify under the original national fallout shelter survey, because they did not contain enough space, and new buildings that have been constructed since the earlier survey. Additional survey items to be considered in qualified buildings are the amount of usable water and food in each, and adequacy of existing sewers. This will determine the amount of supplementary shelter supplies needed and storage space requirements. Work is currently in progress and will be concluded within the next 4 months.

Coffee Table Quips

BOB RAAB

This week I am happy to announce that the News has another young man by the name of Dick Holmes. Dick has had plenty of successful advertising experience. Dick, as advertising manager, and I will be working together to better serve the people of Ingham county in promoting their businesses. So here is a hearty salute and a welcome aboard, Dick.

Folks, don't forget the Merchant's Moonlight Madness sale June 21st. There will be plenty of fun and excitement that night and real good buys, I might add.

Well, rumor has it now that a local barber has information leading to the return of the now twice departed grave marker for "Old Reliable". Why don't you come clean, Ed? Many people don't realize it yet, but those who didn't see the Rubloff program the Kiwanis club put on missed some real fine entertainment.

This is a short week and so is the column so we will look forward to being with you next week.

Farm Bureau Secretaries Hear Communications Talk

"Word power is dynamite," said communications expert, Melvin Woell, at a Farm Bureau secretaries conference, May 25 at Camp Kett, near Cadillac. Secretaries from 30 county Farm Bureaus participated in the 2-day meeting which highlighted the importance of good communications. Attending from this area was Jean Seut, secretary of the Ingham County Farm Bureau.

"The art of using words in effective communications is the most important challenge of our time," said Woell, manager of the Information Division, Michigan Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization, as he pointed out that 90% of business failures are due to lack of adequate communications.

Woell stressed that it is people who give meaning to words and that "communications are also involved in attitudes. Learn how to use the tools of communication and you can unlock doors to the future," he told the secretaries.

Using a recent study as an example, he said that a group of high school youngsters who failed to pass exams on a wide variety of subjects were given a full year's training in vocabulary as an experiment. Later, when given the same tests which they had previously failed, 85 per cent of the students passed, proving the importance of word-understanding to the basic learning process.

Techniques in all forms of communication, including writing and speech, were discussed and studied in workshop sessions at the two-day conference, with the objective being of better serving the 60,000 farm family membership throughout the state. Assisting Woell were communications specialists, Charles Bailey and Donna Wilber, of the Michigan Farm Bureau staff.

The second day of the conference was spent projecting ideas for office procedures and record-keeping in the Farm Bureau's county offices to meet the growing needs of the membership. Under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Gardner, coordinator of county offices, the secretaries reviewed the results of a two-year project in the form of a manual to aid them in their specialized work.

Colorful Parade at Williamston

WILLIAMSTON - One of the biggest Memorial Day parades was Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Those who made up the procession looked shining bright in their organizational uniforms.

The parade's starting point was from South Putman and South street. All participants were ready at 10 a.m. and the parade then started its grand march through Williamston, with the color guard at the head followed by the firing squad, Junior band, Lin-Ette's, Gold Star Mother's car, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Blue Star Mothers, American Legion Auxiliary, Women's Relief Corps, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scouts, Explorer Scouts, Boy Scouts and the Senior band.

The parade moved from South Putman and South Street, north on South Putman to the center of Williamston's business district where it turned right at the light and then proceeded to the city hall where the American Legion placed a wreath. The marchers then moved down East Grand River, turning left to East Cedar street, then north, to the County park and down to the river. At the river edge everyone stood in silence as Oliver Ley, president of the American Legion, cast the first wreath on the water. This was followed by the casting of wreaths by the Blue Star Mothers. The Firing Squad then fired a volley and taps were played.

Then the parade proceeded on to the park platform and played the "Star Spangled Banner," the Lin-Ette's, consisting of 40 girls, ages 4 through 13, all dressed in red corduroy silver trim and white marching boots, did a baton routine in step to the number being played.

Following the benediction, taps were played and then the band closed this Memorial Day ceremony by playing, "America."

The famed "Historical Color Guard" of Saranac, Michigan shown in the photo above has been obtained to appear in the Mason Centennial parade June 19. This unit carried the colors for the State of Michigan in the 1965 Inaugural Parade for President Lyndon B. Johnson and is the only one of its kind in the country today. The men represent all of the great wars of American history with an authentic uniform and weapon from each era. Sponsored by the LeRoy L. Dausman American Legion Post of Saranac, they may be seen in outstanding parades all over Michigan. From left to right they are as follows: WW II Army Master Sergeant, (Drill-master); WW I Doughboy; Civil War Union soldier; Spanish American War Roosevelt Roughrider; Revolutionary War soldier; War of 1812 soldier; Civil War Confederate Infantryman; WW II Marine and Korean War Paratrooper. Kneeling in front are the group's 2 Civil War Drummer Boys who provide marching cadence. Everyone interested in capturing a picture of American history on parade are urged to bring their camera and photograph this famous group.

Dansville Honors Its War Dead

DANSVILLE - Dansville paid tribute to its war dead Monday with a parade and services at the cemetery.

The parade moved from the Dansville school to the cemetery. The procession was led by a police escort, followed by 2 Dansville school bands, 2 cars carrying elder veterans, a group of marching veterans, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies and a large group of young bicyclists, members of the fire department with an old-time pumper, a 4-wheeled open buggy, a surrey "with the fringe on top", pony carts and 20 horses and riders.

The services at the cemetery opened with a prayer by Rev. Robert Sawyer, pastor of the Dansville Free Methodist church. Elbridge Wolfgang then spoke on flags and Debra Rouse read a theme on "What America Means to Me".

The bands then played the National Anthem and 2 girls sang a number.

The services concluded with the sounding of Taps by Darrel Braman.

On the return trip from the cemetery the parade paused at the main intersection of the village and played a few selections.

Civil War Statue Is 60 Years Old

The Civil War soldier standing atop the granite pedestal in the Stockbridge township square has kept his lonely vigil for 60 years, reminding those who look his way of those from the area who lost their lives during the conflict between the north and south, and also the Spanish-American war.

Although the Civil War was over in 1865, it wasn't until 1894 that work was begun to obtain a permanent memorial. At that time Mrs. M.J. Brownell, president of the G.H. Ewing Women's Relief Corps, led the organization in the drive to obtain such a memorial.

Finally, in 1896, the first $15 donation toward the monument fund was received and, through various money raising projects, the fund gradually grew to $400.

In 1904, the people of Stockbridge and vicinity were asked to make contributions to the fund and a soliciting committee, consisting of Edwin Parkes, A.G. Miller and Edward G. Pierce was appointed. In January 1905, a monument committee, consisting of C.E. DePuy, A.G. Miller and Mrs. A.L. Soules took over the work and obtained bids from various companies. The firm of Leslie and Mitchell of Jackson was awarded the contract to furnish a Barrie granite monument for $1,300, to be in place on the square by May 30, 1905.

On that day, appropriate dedication services were conducted, with a group of school children, the town band and others taking part.

The big moment came when Nellie Miller pulled the cover from the monument while Mrs. Grant Richmond recited "The Flag that Betsy Made."

Through the efforts of A.G. Miller, a Civil War mounted cannon was obtained and placed on the opposite corner of the square.

Grant Richmond said that he could remember when the old cannon used to be fired during Memorial Day activities. He explained that the gun would be turned to the east, loaded with its powder charge and stuffed with hay. He said at that time there was a barn located between the residence of Mrs. Robert Brown and the Baptist church.

Also participating in the service were: Rev. John Jeffrey of the Unadilla Presbyterian church; Rev. Millard Heron, Gregory Baptist church; and Rev. Kenneth Boyd, Stockbridge Baptist church.

Special music for the evening was furnished by the high school glee club, directed by Miss Nettie Stephens, who sang two numbers, "I See God," and "The Lord's Prayer."

WANTED

Centennial Keystone Kops are serving warrants on several Mason women accused of cutting the beard off of Dick Magel, Mason centennial chairman. Those who are being sought with warrants issued by Kangaroo Court Judge Howard McCowan include Mrs. Robert Brooks, Mrs. Warner Kean, Mrs. Larry Abbott, Mrs. Harry Freeman, Mrs. C.J. Hubbard and Mrs. Gerald Bodamer. Prosecution witnesses claim that the women, all members of the under-recovered Rebels chapter, conspired and did in fact subdue the chairman against his wishes. Other witnesses however are claiming that the chairman could have resisted a little more strenuously had he so desired. The Rebels are expected to be arraigned in Judge McCowan's courthouse square court Friday night at 8 p.m.

Coe Emens Succumbs

Death claimed Coe F. Emens, 55, Wednesday evening at his home. He had been ill for several weeks. He lived at 3433 W. Columbia road, Mason.

Mr. Emens was born on May 23, 1907, at Prattville, son of Alfred Emens and Belle Silvernail. He had lived in Mason since 1940, coming here from Dearborn where he had 2 retail markets. He attended school at Prattville and also attended Michigan State University.

Surviving are his wife, Fern L., 3 children, Coe F. Emens, II, Mrs. Mary J. Wilson, Mason; Mrs. Judith A. Silsby, Mason; 3 brothers, Dr. John R. Emens, president of Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana; Dean of Springfield and Virgil of Alvoron, Ohio. Also surviving are 4 sisters, Mrs. Wilfred McDonald, Detroit; Mr. Verle Haller, M. Clemens, Mrs. Harriet Perrine, Coldwater and Mrs. Janice Cox, Pittsford, Michigan.

Services were held Saturday, May 29, at 2 p.m. from the Ball-Dum funeral home, Rev. E. L. Sutcliffe, of the First Methodist church of Mason officiated. Burial was at Maple Grove cemetery.

Palbearers were his nephews, William D. Emens, J. Richard Emens, Alfred A. McDonald, Stephen K. Perrine, Donald E. Emens, and Gerald Emens.

MASON IN MOTION - The Movement started last week when the centennial pageant committee began to amass the talent for the official centennial pageant scheduled to be shown for 5 nights during the centennial week. These pictures were taken as the volunteers were signed up for the more than 500 parts in the pageant. The event will be at Mason Athletic field and will feature Mason history from Indian days through the arrival of the pioneers, the Gay 90's, Roaring 20's, World Wars I and II and even including the assassination of President Kennedy. Tickets to the pageant are available from centennial queen candidates from now until the pageant at a reduced price. The pageant committee estimates 25,000 people may see the spectacular during the 5-day stand.

Maple Grove Votes for Annexation

Voters of the Maple Grove school district went to the polls Tuesday and by a thumping majority, voted to merge the school district to the Lansing school district. Political annexation of Maple Grove by Lansing was accomplished about a year ago.

The voters Tuesday were faced with 3 propositions, as follows: 1.-Shall district annex? That carried 266 yes to 16 no votes. 2.-Assumption of operations millage of Lansing. That carried 256 yes to 27 no votes. 3.-Assumption of building and site millage of Lansing. That carried 256 yes to 26 no votes. Maple Grove will keep its school debt of about 2 mills. Lansing rejected assumption of that debt April 5.

Beards and Belles

Belle and Beard Chatter Seems like no one hated fun at the Kangaroo Court Friday evening! Maybe they hated the cold, since it called off the Ice Cream Social, but the street dance went off as planned ... in the Junior High School gym. The paddy wagon sang its theme song long and loud as it brought miscreants to justice. And sometimes it seemed there were more miscreants than there was justice!

It was pie in the eye for Hugh Silsby Friday evening. It was he who committed the grievous sin of using city property improperly. He used the fire hose on everyone in sight during the water pistol fight between the Chicken chapter and the City council a week ago, and was caught in the act ... by a camera.

The trial of Jack Davis, Jim Brown and Warner Kean has been held over until next week. Kean escaped from custody and led the Keystone Kops in a game of "in and out the window" at the courthouse. Finally in desperation, the Kops threw him off the roof. It will take Kean until next week to recuperate.

A few of the other verdicts handed out by Judge McCowan were an overdose of pie for a man because his wife was up town without her bonnet and pin. A woman was dragged in because the Kopperette "didn't like her," and one man took a ride in the paddy wagon because he was "too ugly." A shaved and shorn man was additionally shorn, of money, for a badge because he didn't live in Mason. That's a crime anytime! And one woman lost her unmentionables climbing out of the fall.

Even a young boy was dragged before the bar of justice for shooting a water pistol in the crowd. Judge McCowan had thoughts of setting him free because of his tender years, but instead sentenced him to a ride

County School Board Has 2 Vacancies Open

Board members from each of the 13 school districts in Ingham county will meet at the office of the Intermediate Board of Education, 147 W. Maple street, Mason, next Monday at 8 p.m. to elect 2 members to the intermediate board for terms of 6 years each. The 2 candidates who have filed are both incumbents. They are David Diehl of Dansville and Mrs. Eleanor Lucke of East Lansing.

The group also will discuss new federal school legislation which nationwide involves a program costing $11 1/3 billion. Of this the Michigan program will involve $25 million and for Ingham county approximately $750,000. The legislation is known as the Elementary and Secondary Education act--1965.

The act covers a program to attempt to improve educational opportunities available for children from low income families or granting funds to school districts in which a number of such children are enrolled. Schools then could use the grants to finance a broad range of programs to meet the special needs of these children.

The act also establishes a 5-year program of federal assistance aimed at increasing the supply of learning materials within elementary and secondary schools. Grants will be used to purchase textbooks and other library resources.

It also grants funds for establishing supplementary educational centers and services which will work with the schools towards furnishing broader educational opportunities for all.

The act also provides for building and operating a series of national and regional laboratories for educational research and training.

Another title of the act appropriates funds to strengthen and improve the state departments of education and assist them in fulfilling the educational needs of the states. The Michigan Department of Public Instruction is eligible for approximately $830,000 under this title.

Those who missed seeing the boys can have that pleasure when they skidmish on the courthouse lawn June 19th. Then on June 26, they will hold a field exercise at the football field.

A welcome project of the evening was hot coffee sold by the Jaycee Jills!

Death Claims Mrs. Babcock

Mrs. Horace Babcock of Nashville, mother of Capt. Verslie Babcock of the Ingham county sheriff's department, died at her home Monday.

She had been sick just a few days. She would have been 84 next week.

Besides Capt. Babcock, other survivors are sons Lt. Farrell Babcock, head of the identification bureau of Michigan state police; Bill Babcock of Alamogordo, New Mexico; Forrest of Nashville and Ivan of Hastings; 2 sisters, Mrs. Etta Kingstall of Bear Lake and Mrs. Mary Woolridge of Wyandotte; a brother, Gene Buckner of White Cloud; 16 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

The act also establishes a 5-year program of federal assistance aimed at increasing the supply of learning materials within elementary and secondary schools. Grants will be used to purchase textbooks and other library resources.

It also grants funds for establishing supplementary educational centers and services which will work with the schools towards furnishing broader educational opportunities for all.

Have you seen a one room school ... from the inside? Several of the Junior High Centennial Belles had never been inside a room school before last Wednesday evening at the spelling bee at the Pink school. And they had never used kerosene lamps. Or had lemonade that had been made in a pickle crock. Have you?

Crash Takes 4 Students

Traffic tragedy that cost the lives of 4 Michigan State University students early Saturday morning, appeared to have a sobering effect on Ingham county drivers over the Memorial day holiday week end.

The 4 MSU students killed were Lars Johnson, 21, of Grand Rapids; Nancy Ward, 19, of Pontiac; Richard McClear, 20, of Webster, New York; and Eileen B. Nelson, 19, of Filion, Michigan. The accident occurred shortly before 2 a.m. Saturday as the 4 were returning from a fraternity party.

The holiday traffic toll in the state was 21, three less than that of the Memorial day holiday last year.

Scouts Brave Cold To Meet

Cub Scout pack #736 braved the cold wind to meet around a campfire at Camp Kivans Thursday evening, May 27. An Indian theme was carried out complete with teepee and totem pole. The boys wore Indian costumes fashioned from burlap and various available materials. Bright red feather headresses, which the boys had made at their den meetings, added much color to the scene.

After the Flag Ceremony about 25 boys participated in tug-of-war games with their fathers and mothers.

Harry Gibbs, Mark Oswald, Philip Stanton, Dana Galvin and Gary Richey won heats in the sack race. Two of these boys are brothers of Cub Scouts and not yet in the Scouts. Gary Richey finished in the champion spot.

A race up and down one of the steep hills wore the extra pep from some of the boys. Mark Pick found himself winner of the race.

Every No. 2, of which Russell Every, Larry Holly, Harry Gibbs, Mark Pick and David Good are members, took first place in the antelope walk.

Indian wrestling and leg-locking kept the boys entertained for the next few minutes. It was decided that Stanley Force took first place in this activity.

Returning back to the campfire circle, Jim Crawford was awarded his Bobcat pin and Harry Gibbs his Wolf Badge.

Newcomers

Club Names New Officers

WILLIAMSTON - The Newcomers club of Williamston met at Walt Koss's Colonial Inn, Thursday, May 28 for dinner and a meeting.

While dining the "Wayfarers," a folk singing group of 7 high school boys and girls entertained them.

The business meeting included the election of these officers: Mrs. James Mooney, returning president, presented the gavel to Mrs. William Campbell newly elected president. The outgoing officers, Mrs. Dorothy Pollock, vice-president and Mrs. Donald Reusch, secretary - treasurer, made way for the newly elected officers, Mrs. Judy Perry, vice-president and Mrs. Dwight Kampe, secretary - treasurer.

Three floral center pieces which adorned the center of each dining table, donated by the Chamber of Commerce of Williamston were given to persons with the lucky drawing number. Winners were Mrs. Robert Fitch, Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. Andrew Erish.

Mrs. Annette Schaefer, of the Mason Home Extension service explained the various aspects of the extension program.

The Newcomers club is planning to add this program to their monthly meetings.

A special meeting will be scheduled for sometime this summer to discuss and vote on this newly proposed plan. The monthly meetings will resume in September. This was the last meeting until fall.

The Newcomers club was originally started in November of 1963. It was the first of its kind in the Williamston area.

Along with the Chamber of Commerce which sponsored it and the merchants of Williamston who contributed to it by giving a gift certificate from their places of business there were also Mrs. Charles Gregory, Mrs. Norbelle Hayward, Mrs. Larry Van Tassel, Mrs. Frank Baker, Mrs. Paul Gibbs and Mrs. Harold Pletz who presented these certificates and a booklet containing the "History of Williamston," to each new resident. They also gave the new residents an invitation to attend a luncheon at Brook Hollow Country club, given by the People's Finance and the Hayward Agency.

After several of these luncheons the newcomers formed their own club extending the same hospitality to any other newcomers to the Williamston area.

In 1964 a constitution was adopted and the first officers were elected. One of the amendments to the constitution was "that the newcomer could only be a member for a period of 2 years and would then be an alumnus."

The 4 MSU students killed were Lars Johnson, 21, of Grand Rapids; Nancy Ward, 19, of Pontiac; Richard McClear, 20, of Webster, New York; and Eileen B. Nelson, 19, of Filion, Michigan. The accident occurred shortly before 2 a.m. Saturday as the 4 were returning from a fraternity party.

Land of the Free

EDITOR'S NOTE: This editorial as timely as it is, was actually published as part of the Mason school yearbook in 1896. It seemed worthy of being dusted off and reprinted.

America has reached an age of achievement and of honorable renown; she stands pre-eminent among the nations of the world; she has in her accumulating masses and in the operation of her new systems hidden powers which promise a happy and a glorious prosperity.

Education has reached a stage unequalled in the history of the world. Never were her prospects brighter than at the present time.

Everything that modern ingenuity can contrive is now being used for the progress of mankind, but no invention which has ever yet been made, is so complete in its workmanship that it can not be further improved; and never has there been a demand for any article that some skillful hand has not been equal to the task.

Wonderful have been the discoveries in natural science. Though we can not understand the workings of nature; great scientists after years of experiment have made known to us some of her admirable methods. Yet secrets still lie hidden within her caverns awaiting some skillful hand to unravel their mysteries.

Labor is the only road to success. Even this beautiful world of ours was not created without the labor of the Great Master, and only after many years of patient toil and labor did Columbus finally succeed in accomplishing his great work, the discovery of our native land, America.

Without our labor his efforts were in vain, except for our labor it would exist only in its rudest state, and arts, sciences, literature, refinement and religions would perish. But we Americans are an industrious people; the labors of many centuries have made our country what it is today. Wise men tell us it was intellect that did it. Intellect, that glorious gift of the Divinity, which guides labor and leads the way to all wonders and discoveries; but intellect, in its most abstract form can not develop itself without the co-operation of its fellow-associate, labor. Through the medium of labor it does all that it does. It is even dependent upon labor to carry out all its mechanical operations.

The intellect of today does not exceed that of former ages. But relying on the marvelous successes of the past and on the excellent advantages of the present, our country stands without a parallel.

America has put on the starry flower of liberty, and stands ready to reap the bountiful harvest, whose promising seeds were sown in ages past. Justly it can be said that success is full of promise till we get it, and then it is as last year's nest from which the bird has flown.

Clinton Makes a Move

If Clinton county officials mean it, they have taken a giant step toward curtailing juvenile drinking.

Law officers, the probate judge, municipal judges, circuit court judge, and county prosecutor have announced that juveniles brought before them on drinking charges can expect and will get the worst under the limits of the law.

In a joint communique the court and law and court officials warned that "all youths under 21 found guilty of being in possession of intoxicating beverages will get at least 3 days in jail or in the juvenile home."

Teenage drinking is not something we can sweep under the rug by repeating that often-heard cliché, "It isn't a problem here. All the problems are in the larger cities."

It is happening here.

Check the beer cans tossed around school parking lots. Check with those who pick up the cans and bottles left behind after Saturday night dances uptown in Mason.

Curbing the juvenile drinkers is just part of the problem. Adults who furnish the stuff to minors should get slapped down twice as hard.

Ten candidates are seeking 3 school board posts at the school election Monday, June 8. They are Glenn Oesterle, Russell P. Rowe, Edward L. Tuckey, James L. Maddix, Mrs. Roberta Cotton, Kenneth Kalember, Robert L. Leonard, Marvin Lott, Wallace L. Bailey and William A. Barnes. Ingham county school superintendents gathered at Dines in Lansing Monday evening at a dinner to pay honor to James H. Vander Ven, superintendent of Mason public schools, and Forrest G. Averill, superintendent of Lansing public schools. Both superintendents are retiring July 1.

Five Mason men are fishing for perch at Beaver Island this week. Dr. C.J. Hubbard, Elmer Juderjohn and Mel Battige left Wednesday in a plane piloted by Dr. Hubbard. Harry Smith and Jerry Surateaux arrived at the island in a Sycamore Valley Flying club plane Thursday.

Corporal Lyman Smith, 28, is one of the first Mason men to be released from the army by the point system. Smith enlisted May 8, 1941 and has accumulated 100 points. He arrived at Fort Sheridan, Illinois this week and is expected home soon.

Six men sitting on a jury in Justice William S. Seelye's court Monday decided that a pointer owned by L.A. Davidson of Williamston was guilty of consorting with dogs that killed A.H. Oesterle's sheep. Dan D. McCullough, prosecuting attorney, demanded that the dog be surrendered to Clay M. Braden, dog warden for execution, but the jury recommended that the dog be confined to a chain at the Davidson farm except during the hunting season.

C.P. Mickelson has purchased a Dori touring car from D.P. Whitmore, agent.

About 30 parents and friends of the pupils and teacher gathered at the Hawley school last Friday for a program, after which refreshments were served. Bernice Whipple, the teacher, was presented with many useful gifts from her pupils.

Answer to Fetid Problem

Mt. Pleasant Times - News

Three of the brightest luminaries in the spotty Republican firmament from three of the biggest states in the nation met the other day in a summit conference on the question of what to do about Lake Erie, on whose soiled shores their states border.

It seems that, due to pollution, the fish aren't jumping and the living isn't easy--not, at least, for those who once hauled in $2.5 million a year in catches or for those who have the ridiculous idea that this magnificent souvenir from the last continental glacier should be used for swimming and pleasure and not just freighter traffic, waste disposal and algae farming.

The upshot of the meeting between Governors Rockefeller of New York, Rhodes of Ohio and Romney of Michigan was that the situation did indeed smell and that somebody ought to do something about it.

Romney warned that if state and local governments didn't, the federal government would. Rhodes opined that they ought to, anyway, since the three states provide Uncle Sam with 47 per cent of his revenue. Rocky seemed to concur in this.

Accordingly, after four and a half hours, the meeting adjourned and the minutes were forwarded to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which has scheduled a conference on pollution in Detroit on June 15.

In fairness to the governors, however, they are far less complacent about the lake problem than the people they govern, who go on unconcernedly polluting one of their greatest resources.

But bouncing the ball to Washington won't necessarily end their headache, for it won't be for want of trying if one of these days one of these three R's doesn't find himself sitting in that lonely spot where the buck finally stops -- the White House.

There's no use of my blushing and stammering around and trying to make out I am not elated over having an item appear in the "Life in These United States" department of Reader's Digest for February. In addition to the elation over getting the item in print was the further lift resulting from the $200 check received with the notice of acceptance. (Yes, I know; the price is supposed to be $100 but somehow my check was for $200. I don't know why. I didn't ask. If the Reader's Digest is satisfied with the deal, I am not going to complain.)

Reader's Digest articles are copyrighted, so I am probably prevented from quoting the item which takes up not quite three inches on page 9 of the magazine. I can say it was about a farmer who advertised a team of horses in the Ingham County News. He had no intention of selling the horses. He inserted the ad just to get acquainted with other horsemen and while away long winter days talking about horses. He met so many interesting people by advertising his team for sale, he put down the 25c per week for the ad as entertainment cost. February 21, 1946

at the Mason school, in my opinion. She has the same sweet and wholesome look, the same good manners--the beauty and dignity which go with character--as Verlee Aseltine. Marilyn is a mighty sweet singer, too. She sang like a lark at the Lyon-Salisbury wedding Sunday afternoon.

I never realized until Sunday night at chore time how much silage 50 steers could consume. I had my feet under the L. B. Barr table at noon. So did my wife and daughters. It was a great feast. There were T-bone steaks, homemade bread, farm-grown asparagus right from the locker plant, a pie made of locker-fresh cherries, and all the other trimmings. Mrs. Barr is an accomplished cook.

At four o'clock I remarked that I would like to help with the chores but had left my work clothes at home. That's no out at the Barr farm. L. B. said, "I guess I can fix you up. I keep old caps, boots, sweaters and overalls in all sizes to accommodate just such willing workers. Last week I had Dick Mills help me out. Before that I outfitted Doc Corsaut." That's how I learned about the silage consumed by 50 steers. I pitched down enough for Sunday night supper and Monday morning breakfast, with a hearty snack for Monday noon.

Last Thursday night Rubinoff presented a masterly violin concert at Mason high school. He punctuated the program with several observations about Mason--observations that ought to bear more weight than those offered by some of us who live right in the community.

One of his comments was, "I can continue this concert all night--what else is there to do in Mason."

How true. Those of us who live in the area might not be aware of the "night life" situation in Mason. We have our homes, family life, church and club and school activities, but what of the stranger who visits Mason (or who might visit Mason)? What is there for him to do to while away the time?

Rubinoff stayed in Mason's vanishing motel. Of the town's restaurants, 2 of them are closed after 8 p.m. While the others dish up regular meals, they aren't designed for occupying a whole evening. There's the Teen Center, but Rubinoff thought his violin might not carry over the Beatle music. The 2 ice milk outlets have limited recreational use. Mason has no theatre, no summer playhouse, in fact nothing that would occupy an adult's time.

Barbs and Praise

There used to be a time when I thought that former highway Commissioner John Mackie was building freeways at too fast a clip but after returning to Mason down US-27 Monday night with everything intact except the nervous system I think he short-changed us by not building another racing strip to the north country.

It was bumper to bumper with a 3-mile backlog in the Mt. Pleasant area getting around a couple of crumpled fenders.

Michigan's north country never had a Memorial Day week end quite like this one. One wonders what it would be like if the weather had been warm and sunny.

For those who are going to vacation in the Higgins Lake area, stop by Polly's Pantry on the west side of the lake just off the freeway. Mr. and Mrs. Don Lehman recently purchased the business which has the reputation of turning out the best baked goods in the Northland.

Don likes kneading dough better than cutting hair from Mason heads for dough.

There were lots of happy Mason people in the Higgins Lake area and some not quite so happy. Russ Frees was in the latter group. He looked quite frustrated when I bumped into him on the state park beach as he was field stripping a new outboard motor which refused to run.

Rubinoff didn't seem the type that had to be spoon-fed his entertainment. He may well have enjoyed the pause between concerts to get to bed early.

The violinist was outspoken in his praise for Mason youngsters and their manners. He praised school administrators and he pointed out how well school property is cared for. If we accept Rubinoff's criticisms of the community, then we're going to grab onto the flowers he tosses too.

As he spoke of the goodhouse-keeping at the high school, I glanced down at the row of auditorium seats in front of me. Though the school is now 6 years old, the seats looked as though they had just been unpacked from the factory. As you can tell a lot about a woman by the house she keeps, so you can tell a lot about students by the school building they occupy. Mason's high school building is a monument to good citizenship.

Mason's Civil War Cadets add a note of realism to the centennial activities. They were an inspiration in the Memorial Day parade.

Jim Brown

Mr. and Mrs. Frees go for state camping in a big way. It has to be a big way when they set up camp with their 7 children.

Michigan's north country is out-rivaling Florida as a retirement capital. In these days of pension plans the woods are becoming full of those who would rather do their living in Northern Michigan than lay on the beach in Florida.

Building contractors are setting up shop all through the North to handle the boom in year-around housing along Michigan streams and lakes.

At the Brown Budget Buster ranch on the south shore there was little of the advantages of retirement over the week end as all hands tackled the best crop of leaves in years. There was one gold bricker in the crew. Vern ran a pitchfork through his leg and used the incident as an excuse to sit it out.

For an accomodating, friendly and competent medical service, I recommend Mercy hospital at Grayling. They had their hands full over the holiday removing fish hooks from humans as well as a pitchfork from Vern and taking care of the many other chores brought on by vacationers.

Goals for 1965

The Ingham County News supports these objectives:

1. A popular vote to secure the people's choice as to what type of city hall - fire station is needed.
2. Expansion of new and completion of existing city parks with emphasis on playgrounds and picnic areas.
3. Continued planting of trees with provisions requiring subdividers to plant at least one tree on each lot before acceptance by the city.
4. A community center with regular hours and projects for senior citizens.
5. An industrial park to be operated by a non-profit community corporation with the avowed purpose of attracting desirable industries.
6. A Mason museum.

Navy recruiters throughout the state are accepting applications of young men between the ages of 17 and 31 that are interested in enlisting in this select group.

Those that are enlisted in this company will be sworn in the navy in a special ceremony at Tiger stadium prior to an afternoon baseball game with the Washington Senators on July 19, 1965. The company will be presented with a Tiger pennant and will remain to watch the ball game prior to departing for the naval training center at Great Lakes, Illinois, to begin their 7 weeks of basic training.

They will remain together as a company until the completion of their recruit training. For further information, young men are urged to see their local navy recruiter.

As I See It

By Hayden Palmer

This is the time of year when you wish you were young again. This is commencement time when all the sweet girl graduates and the senior boys with their hair neatly combed and wearing their Sunday best will march up the aisle to receive their diplomas.

Graduating classes these days have a lot more fun than we had when I graduated from high school.

For instance, there is the Junior-Senior prom. In my day we never heard of such a thing. And the seniors never took a trip, either.

And there never were any parties of any sort, as long as I can remember.

But these youngsters of today are deserving of all these little affairs. They have completed their work and done it well through 12 years of study. Now they are ready for college and a career.

And today you have to have such an education if you want to get anywhere in this fast moving world in which we now live.

Commencement programs haven't changed too much, however, nor have the Baccalaureate services. Today, however, I think the seniors have better speakers at Commencement programs and at the Baccalaureate services too.

In my day the Commencement orators talked long and loud and said practically nothing.

We didn't have any caps and gowns when I graduated, either. I think that idea when it was promulgated a few years ago is a good one. It gives the graduate a dignity which by the time he is a senior he should be able to recognize.

Schools are a lot different today, in other ways. The curriculum is given a lot more attention than it did a few years back. We never used to hear of such subjects as Modern Math, Humanities, social studies. And we never had hot lunch programs either.

We used to study reading, writing and arithmetic, spelling, history, algebra, chemistry, physics and such foreign languages as German, Latin and Greek. But we did learn to spell, and that is something that a lot of people going to school today don't learn. Why, I don't know, but in my work I have occasion to read a lot of writing by a lot of different people. In much, the spelling is bad.

I have asked many educators why their students don't learn to spell. I have not yet received a definite answer.

But all in all, we can be mighty proud of our schools of today. More attention is given to the education of youth now, I believe, than ever before in our history.

The requirements a teacher must have before taking over her classroom duties are higher than they ever have been. Instruction is better and schools have better equipment in carrying on that instruction.

And so all these hundreds of high school seniors who will be graduating in the next few days can be thankful that they live in a time when education of youth occupies the high plane it does today.

And I wish to congratulate all of them for the work they have accomplished and with them every success in their chosen careers through the years ahead of them.

Area Girls Are Offered Camp Chance

Huckleberry Holiday, a building-centered day camp, combining learning with fun and friendship, will be offered to all girls, ages 6-11, by the YWCA this summer. The program will be centered in the YWCA building at 217 Townsend street and will consist of two 2-week sessions and one 1-week session.

The first session begins on June 21 and ends on July 2, the second runs from July 6 to July 16, and the last session starts on July 19 and ends July 23. Classes are held daily Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the program includes a wide range of classes and activities designed to suit a variety of interests.

During the morning hours, girls will attend classes with small groups of girls their own age. These classes will provide the opportunity to learn or to further develop skills in arts and crafts, and swimming, and will also include dancing. Girls will have an opportunity to work on a variety of projects in these classes, and special projects will be available for those who have particular interest in a certain area.

At midday there is a break in the Huckleberry Holiday schedule. The girls will have time to enjoy the sack lunches they bring from home and to take a short rest before the daily assembly. Midway through the day's schedule, the assembly includes a variety of activities. Often this is an opportunity for one group to display their achievements in crafts or dramatics to the rest of the girls. On other days, girls are entertained by their favorite counselors or the whole group may join in singing or games.

The afternoon schedule for the Huckleberry Holiday program includes swimming for each of the age and ability groups, as well as time for creative dramatics, work on the huckleberry holiday newspaper, games, special programs and just getting acquainted with new friends.

Twice during the two - week session and once during the one-week session this daily schedule will be interrupted for special programs. These two days or one in the case of the one-week session remain open for trips, tours, special events, outdoor experiences, picnics, cookouts, nature hikes, and other special activities planned by the girls and their counselors.

The Huckleberry Holiday staff under the leadership of Miss Robin Fox will include highly qualified teenagers who are part of the YWCA Training for Teens program.

Registration will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Saturday, June 5, at the YWCA, 217 Townsend. The cost for each two-week session is $10 for the first child and $7 for the second member of the family, and for the one-week session, the first child $5, the second child $2.50, plus 50¢ YWCA membership. For further information, contact the YWCA.

Michigan Mirror

By ELMER E. WHITE
WORK UNDONE
Likelihood of a special session in the Michigan Legislature this year grows greater every day.

Government reorganization and fiscal reform appear the most likely areas which will remain undone when the regular session ends. If the session closes on schedule it would be up to the Governor to determine when a special meeting would be held. He is also given the power to set the topic or topics for consideration at any such session.

Government reorganization will automatically revert to an executive responsibility if the legislature fails to accomplish it by the end of this year.

For this reason it is still unknown whether Gov. George Romney would call a special session on it or whether he would prefer to let the year pass without action on the constitutionally-ordered changes.

Fiscal reform also raises some question about the Governor's intentions. He and many legislators are on record that action is needed before 1967.

Election activity next year would automatically preclude any action on fiscal reform, which at this point is defined as an income tax-centered package.

No politician wants deliberately to make himself unpopular in an election year.

If the legislature adjourns on schedule, however, the burden will be on Gov. Romney to decide whether reform is really desirable this year. He must also weigh carefully the chances of getting his or any other reform package through the two houses. He tried it once before in September, 1963 and failed to gain passage.

With doubt in the minds of legislators on whether the Governor would call a special session, it now looks as if the lawmaking body will try to stick by its present adjournment schedule.

An adjournment extension could avoid a special call, as was done in 1962 when lawmakers wanted to prevent Gov. John B. Swainson's demand for re-apportionment work. At that time, as in other years, the legislature simply recessed its session to the end of the year.

By extending the session, the legislature gains the ability to work on remaining problems at its own pace rather than at the will of the chief executive.

NOW IS IMPORTANT
"The challenge to education in Michigan in the next decade lies not so much in the future as it does in the present," says State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

Bartlett, who soon will leave Michigan to take a federal position in the education field, says failure to plan today for tomorrow could easily mean catastrophe on the morrow.

"No longer is it possible, especially in education, to allow the years ahead to take care of themselves, willy-nilly, without planning, without direction and without action."

Practical planning, the school chief says, must encompass at least the next 10 years of increasing enrollments, more and greater knowledge and growing educational requirements.

"To be consistent with our past and to give substance to our democratic faith and belief... education must offer the opportunity for every person to develop to his maximum potential," said Bartlett.

"We can no longer tolerate the critical loss in human talent we are now sustaining because our educational programs do not and cannot meet the varied needs of our many social-economic levels."

Included in the state educational system by 1975 will be special programs beyond present ones for the mentally, physically and emotionally handicapped child, for vocational - technical training, and for senior citizens. The latter will be encouraged, Bartlett says, by early retirement programs and the increased need for adults to learn new skills.

Bartlett's crystal ball also pictures the possibility of free public education at the community college level and better use of teacher talents. "Teachers will do more teaching and less book-keeping, milk money collecting and the like."

Michigan has been just about doubling its educational dollar investment every decade since 1940 and likely will continue this rate, predicts the present school chief.

Birds Are Fascinating

Back to birds again! Didn't intend to and then this robin put on this show right outside the window. There he was busy making a nest, it certainly was fascinating. From an upstairs window it was close!

All this was right in plain sight so one could see his eye blink ... and if the load of grass was too much for one trip he would spew out a blade, or stalk, as it was dry grass.

He was such a busy little fellow. I became so interested that all work was left and I became a real bird-watcher.

But I wasn't the only one this spring to do that! And if not, why not? That is one of the benefits of keeping house that I mentioned a couple of weeks ago ... and expected adverse comment on. Having a house to run is fun!

Now to get to that. Expecting that someone would trap me, I wrote that "I say that it is!" It may not be fun for everyone. I know that. For me, I like it! Home is a haven from a world of conflicts.

And where will they let you take off a forenoon to watch a bird? At what job can you dictate just what you are going to do for that day? Some days, yes, but not every day.

It's a pretty good life. Least I make it sound too easy and a good thing ... In case some husband reads this, there are days that are very difficult. The expression housewife use is "worn to a frazzle." True!

But a home becomes a place where a wife can use all, some or none of her creative ideas. It's a challenge comparable to no other job to make a "castle" that just fits "her" family. Each person adds something to make it part of him. Pictures, records, books, vases, flowers, keepsakes, a favorite chair and colors ... Have you ever seen two homes exactly alike?

Somehow we each add something that makes it mean us. Have you ever gone to a house not knowing for certain if that was the house where a friend lived ... and you didn't have to go inside to know that 'this is it'? Even the curtains sang it out.

What was piled on the porch or strewn in the yard were previews. In fact, that is the idea most passers-by get of us, only what they see on the outside. That gives us our reputation as a housewife or how we "keep house."

Most of the time we just turn into our driveway getting the view from one angle. To get an allover picture of what it must look like to others it is fun to drive past our own homes. Have you done that lately? Somehow, it does beat the Dutch! Just how did that shade get left at that odd angle and visible for half a mile down the road?

Mason Gets Forest Guest

Roy Hart, 1140 S. Jefferson, watched through the window of his home last Saturday shortly before 8 a.m. as a deer entered his yard and came within 20 feet of the window. He said the deer appeared to be a yearling doe. After wandering aimlessly about the yard for a few minutes it took off in the direction of Sycamore creek.

Hart opined that the deer may have arrived for the Centennial and jokingly remarked that the deer arrived without the customary badge of either a Centennial belle or a Brother of the Brush.

"The deer", he said, "had no beard, wore no badge, necktie or Centennial hat or bonnet."

Home Entered

WEBBERVILLE - Burglars entered the home of Milton Lowrie, 2996 N. Webberville road Monday while the family was absent and took a transistor radio and a quantity of women's apparel. Lowrie reported to the Ingham county sheriff's department.

Head Start Program Approved for Holt

HOLT - The Holt public schools have been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity to participate in the "Headstart" program. This is a program for helping 4, 5 and 6 year old children of limited opportunity. It is intended to provide pre-school experiences for youngsters who will enter kindergarten for the first time in the fall of 1965.

The aim of the program is to improve the prospects of these children being successful in school. To this end, the children enrolled will receive physical and dental examinations, with referrals for care if needed. Various social services will be made available to them, and a variety of educational activities are carefully planned to meet the needs of the individual child.

According to Ted Sample, director of the Holt project, "Our Headstart program will need widespread community support; from local government agencies, community clubs and organizations and voluntary agencies; from individual volunteers; and, most importantly, from parents themselves. We especially need volunteers who might have some free time during the day to work in the program."

The program will start June 23 and run for eight weeks. Persons having questions about the program may contact Sample at Elliott school, OX 9-2106.

State To Aid Project

Proposed Bond Issue Will Not Increase Taxes

HOLT - Citizens of the Holt school district will be asked to approve a bond issue of $875,000 for a building program at the June 14 school election which will result in no increase in taxes, school officials said this week. Although a bond issue of this size would normally require a tax levy of about three additional mills to meet principal and interest payments, the board of education of the Holt-Dimondale school district intends to take advantage of provisions of the state of Michigan's school bond loan program to finance the building program.

The school bond loan program is designed to assist local school districts which are experiencing rapid growth, and consequently are required to build themselves heavily for new buildings. The program provides that school districts levying 7 or more mills for debt may borrow money from the state to make principal and interest payments on additional bonds.

If the new building program is approved by the voters at the June 14 election, no additional levy need be made since the existing debt already requires a levy of more than 7 mills. Rather, the state will loan the necessary amount to pay the principal and interest on the new debt to the school district until such time as a levy of 7 mills will permit payment on the new bonds. In other words, the school bond loan program has the effect of creating a "tax ceiling" of 7 mills for debt service on future debts.

Residents of the Holt area who have lived here for some time will recall that at the time the present senior high school was financed, in 1956, a similar arrangement with the state was used. At that time the school bond loan program was in its infancy, and the millage limit was 13 mills, rather than the present 7. However, the debt situation of the Holt district at that time was such that, for the first 2 years principal and interest payments were met with funds borrowed from the state. Beginning in 1956, these payments were made from local tax revenues and the money borrowed from the state was repaid. It is interesting to note that, with the increase in the valuation of the district, an annual levy of less than five mills now services this debt.

The proposed building program to be voted on June 14 covers a wide range of needs. Most immediate is that for additional elementary facilities. The ever-increasing elementary enrollment in the school district will exceed 2,000 children by September, 1965, which will tax the capacity of existing buildings. In order to have adequate space for the following year, major classroom additions to the Elliott and Dimondale buildings, and additional special facilities at Midway and Sycamore schools. Thus, both the demands of increasing enrollment and the need for more extensive facilities to house a modern educational program can be met.

Another important aspect of the proposed building program is the Education Center, to be located at the west end of the Midway school site. This building will provide a centralized office location for the growing number of specialist teachers who serve more than one building throughout the district, as well as for the board of education and administration. Construction of this building would free classroom and office space presently being used by these people in several buildings. Two classrooms at the Junior high school, presently used for administrative offices, could be returned to instructional use, for example.

Other important provisions of the new building program include remodeling in several of the buildings, a blacktopping program to include existing walks, drives and parking lots, as well as play areas at the elementary schools. Still another part of the proposed program is funds for site purchases, since the construction proposed at the elementary schools will expand all the present elementary buildings to their maximum size. Thus, in order to allow for future building needs, it is important that funds be available for site purchases now.

The proposed building program is the result of much thought and planning by citizens' committees, the board of education and the school staff. It is believed to present the best possible solution to the present needs of the school district.

Four teacher resignations were accepted by the board. They were those of Mrs. Helen Vaydik, elementary teacher at Elliott school; Mrs. Susan Gibbs, instructor in elementary vocal and instrumental music; Mrs. Noreen Crowe, elementary teacher at Sycamore school, and Mrs. Viva Schmidt, elementary teacher at Midway school.

The board also: Authorized use of the school athletic field for the Delhi fire department's July 4th celebration.

Authorized Mrs. Alice Fleishman, English instructor at Holt senior high school to be a member of a panel group at the National Council of English teachers in Boston next November 26 and 27.

This effort has expanded these last three years to include the directorship of the entire Delhi Township Recreation program. She has done more than a little bit to promote adult programs as well. She has been noted for giving extra hours to this work and making financial contributions from her own pocket to add little extras.

"Many students and adults know her best as the friendly school safety officer on the corner of Aurelius road and Cedar street. Three years of service on this busy intersection has strengthened her faith in young people.

"The compliment that best typifies this lady comes from another of her sex. Most women are somewhat jealous of the success and happiness of other women. Unlike most, our candidate has a genuine interest and thoughtfulness in the happiness of others. The award this year is presented to Mrs. Merle H. Burt."

Mystery Solved

This week's mystery farm photo was an easy one to identify, evidently. The picture was of the C. Edward Johnson place on West Columbia road across from Mason General hospital. Publication of the picture brought more than 150 replies. Winner of the $5 award for correctly identifying the farm was Mrs. Bruce Pless of Dansville. The Johnsons can have a free mounted enlargement of the picture by stopping into the News office. Another mystery farm will appear next week.

2 Holt Firms In New Location

HOLT - Richard's Dairy and Wayne's Bakery of Holt are now operating from the same outlet in the building on the northeast corner of Cedar st. The new arrangement as of Tuesday, June 1, offers a more central location for both businesses to serve the Holt area.

IN THIS DAY WHEN PRESIDENT JOHNSON is making a big push for highway beautification, a nature beauty spot is being desecrated by a Michigan state highway. The rose garden of the Wilson E. Campbells on College road on the banks of the Sycamore will soon have bulldozers running through it instead of visitors viewing roses. The beauty spot is in the way of re-located US-127 in its sweep through Alaiedon.

Beauty Spot To Disappear

Nationally Famous Rose Oasis To Give Way to State Highway

The "Rose Oasis" garden of the Wilson E. Campbells on the corner of College road and Sandhill road along Sycamore creek will soon be an "Arboretum" of the past. Known by rose growers of the American Rose Society and friends from coast to coast, this rose garden of over 600 bushes was planned and started in 1963 when the Campbells bought the corner acreage property, building it up as a part of highway beautification, a personal project, with Almy Crab trees, pines, shrubs and perennials along College road.

President and Mrs. Johnson are stressing highway and land beautification but it seems our Michigan highway personnel are not looking for such improvement by private ownership and interest, and have now planned the highway through the Campbell property taking not only pines, fruit orchard, but the famous rose garden.

A small fruit orchard was planted along Sandhill road 11 years ago, a fenced vegetable and herb garden made, and a formal rose garden for hybrid teas, Floribundas, and climbers was laid out northeast of the home which faces to the north. Except for the trees along Sycamore creek, there was only one small pear tree on the land when purchased.

In the spring of 1964 when the Campbells moved from their former home in East Lansing, there was the arrival of hundreds of pines, spruce seedlings, plus the first shipment of shrubs. Through the years specimen trees and shrubs have been added for permanence to beautify this corner property.

Part of the rose collection consists of species, shrubs and old hybrid perennials not found in many gardens. Through the years this garden and home has been a meeting place for National and Great Lakes District members of the American Rose Society, not only for admiration, but for preparation for judging schools, since Mrs. Campbell, a rose judge herself, conducted 2 of the judging schools in Michigan in recent years.

The Campbells became members of the Greater Lansing Rose Society soon after its organization in 1946 and at the same time joined the National American Rose Society. Since then they have attended twenty six National Conventions making a host of friends who likewise have the growing of roses for a hobby. Both have been President of the local Society, and Mr. Campbell was General Chairman of the American Rose Society Convention when it convened in East Lansing in 1952. He was given the "Consulting Rosarian of the Year" award of the district in 1961.

Mrs. Campbell has likewise been active in the Great Lakes District organization work and its affiliation with the parent organization. Serving a term of three years on the National Prizes and Awards Committee, she is now the Chairman of District Awards Committee made up of representatives from each society in the state. This office also involves representing the District on the National Nominating Committee. For her participation in District activities she was the recipient of the second Honor Silver Medal Award, receiving hers in 1962. Only 3 such awards have been given in Michigan. Mrs. Campbell is a member of several local Garden Clubs, a long time member of the Michigan Horticultural Society and the Pacific Rose Society of Los Angeles, and a life member of the American Herb Society. This gardening hobby grew from a volunteer teaching of horticulture when a music teacher in Kentucky under the Board of National Missions for the Presbyterian church.

The Wilsons and their 3 sons and families are reluctant giving up one of the beauty spots in Ingham county. They will soon become residents of Eaton county along the Grand River, with the hope that no highway will trespass on their property.

Senator Potter Reports

This is the final week for passage of bills in their house of origin. In other words, bills that were introduced in the Senate must be passed by the Senate and sent on their way to the House by Friday midnight. The reverse is true in the House.

Last week the Senate passed fewer bills than the House, but managed to stay just about even so far as the work load is concerned. We simply did not have as many items on the calendar.

Many of the major items of legislation have passed their first test. However, keep in mind that there still exists a wide difference of opinion between the House and the Senate relative to the spending Michigan will do during the next fiscal year.

The Senate hopes to keep state spending within the $788.5 million figure established by Governor Romney in his budget. There has been some significant shifting of emphasis, but the total should be fairly close.

The House is quite a bit over that. The best guess now is that state spending might hit the $822 million mark when the dust has settled. Frankly, our present revenue structure cannot handle this burden.

The Governor has continued his discussions with a number of legislators about fiscal reform, but I would be extremely surprised to see any comprehensive taxation matters debated and passed this session.

The odds are growing that when the legislature returns to the Capitol in September, taxation will be added to the pressing problem of governmental reorganization. If that is the case, then the legislature will be in session well into December.

This brings me around to a number of letters that I've received recently. Often the writer will refer to the "part-time" nature of the legislature. Let me assure you that this is just not so. Since the start of the session, I have worked six full days a week. This will continue through the summer, even though the legislature is not in session. Even now, the various committees assigned to me have scheduled many public hearings which will be held during the summer months. When I am not concerned with this, I will be touring the district to meet with as many of you as possible in order to better serve you during the next session.

My schedule is not much different from those of my colleagues. The deadline has prevented me from answering my mail as promptly as I would like. Our secretaries are extremely busy keeping track of amendments to bills now on the calendar, providing us with the bill analysis developed by various departments, and relaying to many messages that have flooded the Capitol as the deadline draws near. I hope to catch up sometime this week, but please be patient.

Almost forgotten last week was a bill that will save the people of Michigan several thousands of dollars. This measure passed the Senate, and is now in the House. Basically, it permits the state to buy legal advertising from local newspapers on a column inch basis. It will save the state thousands of hours of bookkeeping time. This measure had the full support of the Michigan Press Association, and this organization is to be commended for its public spirited efforts.

The legislature timetable requires that we meet early in the morning until late at night. This has prevented as detailed a study of the measures before us as many of us would like.

In answer to many inquiries, I will not vote for the proposed legislative retirement plan. In my judgment, the proposal, even as amended, is out of line with other programs in the state. It seems to be that we might better spend our time thinking about how we propose to pay the bills of the state without driving the property owner to the wall. Then too, many other state workers are covered by retirement plans far less adequate than the legislative retirement system. If there is to be any improvement in programs, it seems to me that is the place to begin.

The Cooperative Extension budget came under fire in the Senate again. Thanks to some determined effort, a number of us were able to thwart efforts to chop huge chunks from it. However, an effort to enrich the budget failed, and many Senators told me that they would be watching the activities of the Service very carefully during the next few months.

USDA To Aid Farmers In Event of Emergency

The United States department of agriculture is ready to offer aid to farmers in the event of an emergency, Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan ASC State committee said this week. Each county has a USDA county disaster committee organized. These committees are ready to function immediately in the event of an emergency.

The chairman of the county

ASC committee acts as disaster committee chairman. Other members of the committee are the county agricultural extension director, and the Farmers Home administration supervisor. The ASC county office manager acts as secretary to this committee. Assistance offered by the United States Department of Agriculture includes donated livestock feed, emergency hay and grazing privileges, cost sharing to help return cropland to its former productivity and low interest loans. Another type of assistance not realized by the majority of people and one in which urban as well as rural people benefit during a disaster is the availability of the USDA surplus foods.

During the period following the Palm Sunday tornadoes, USDA surplus foods were made available to disaster victims in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan, Light said. Farmers received more than 12,000 bushels of corn on a donated basis to sustain their livestock herds. At the present time farmers who were disaster victims are eligible to request cost sharing to renovate their cropland.

Counties in Michigan have indicated that requests for cost sharing are substantial. "One desirable part of this program," Light said, "is that farmers who report performance of debris cleanup practices are eligible to receive their cost share payment immediately. All too frequently we tend to minimize the possibility of disaster but it is helpful to know that each county has a committee organized and ready to provide service as it is needed."

Family Living Tips

Interesting design can be created with fabrics having diagonal weaves. Michigan State university textile and clothing specialists suggest that diagonals are most effective in designs that:

1. Have set in sleeves--raglan or kimono sleeves create difficulty, and cannot be used unless accompanied by a special cutting chart.

2. Have slim skirts--gored or flared skirts will generally have bias seam edges which will force the diagonal to run in different directions.

3. Have a simple classic line--clothes which have many pattern pieces or intricate seaming details will create a multitude of problems in order to keep the diagonal lines going in one direction.

The primary rule to remember when selecting a pattern for your diagonal fabrics is to avoid bias cut seams or bias bands which will show on the right side.

Milk, cheese, and eggs are foods with "built in bargains." Food experts at Michigan State university say these foods are always good buys because of their good nutritional returns.

Protect the spring cleaning you have done by doing a thorough job of cleaning fireplaces, radiators, hot air grills and ducts. Dust and grime accumulated for months will cling to them and sift onto clean floors, walls and furniture unless you do a complete cleaning job, say Michigan State university home management specialists.

Do not purchase stretch fabrics a size smaller with the idea that they will stretch to fit. Michigan State university clothing specialists report that stretch is a comfort, not a size factor.

Prompt refrigeration of fresh foods is a must if you want to preserve the full value of the product. Food and nutrition specialists at Michigan State university offer several suggestions. Raw meats should be covered loosely to allow air circulation to retard bacteria growth. Raw fruits should be stored in closed containers--not in open trays or baskets provided in many refrigerators. Potatoes should be held at a low temperature, below 50 degrees if possible.

Eliminate wood damaging insects from your home immediately when discovered, say Michigan State university entomologists. The more serious the damage the harder it is to control the insects and repair the damaged areas.

Control measures will depend on the type and extent of the damage present. First identify the problem and then apply the proper insecticide to halt the damage.

Mason School Libraries Offer Lots of Service

In Mason's 2 school libraries—one at the junior and one at the senior high school—are 6,500 books, not including reference volumes, such as encyclopedias.

The senior high school has approximately 3,500 volumes and the junior high school about 3,000. This averages out to about 4 books per pupil in the senior high school and about 3.3 books per pupil in the junior high school.

Although the national standard is 10 books per pupil, Mrs. Dorothy Ferris, junior high school librarian, and Mrs. Margie Snook, librarian at the senior library, both say that in the comparatively short time that the libraries have been operating on a modern base, the growth in the Mason schools has been good.

When the new senior high school was completed the library was moved into that building and the present junior high school was left without a library.

The junior high school started to build one in 1961 and in 4 years has collected some 3,000 books for the 3.3 per pupil average, which is considered an excellent growth.

The junior high school library also has in its files 260 film strips on various subjects. There are similar film strips in the senior high school, but they are not in the library. They are kept by teachers in their classrooms, Mrs. Snook points out.

The books in both libraries are both fiction and non-fiction. All are available for loan to students. Also in both libraries are several newspapers and many magazines. In both libraries, too, are books on almost any subject one may name. Much emphasis is placed on science and math books.

Both libraries also keep clippings from newspapers, magazines and scores of pamphlets in vertical file cases.

Files also contain pictures, occupational materials and armed forces materials, and at the senior high school materials covering various major colleges of the country.

There are 817 junior and senior high schools in Michigan. Of these about 700 maintain libraries.

Mason is one of them.

Hospital Had Plan In Operation

Families of patients confined to the Mason General Hospital during last week's tornado alert can rest assured that patients were given every consideration for their safety and well being.

Hospital officials were alerted to the approaching dangers of the storm and when the official alarm was given the employees acted in an orderly efficient and pre-arranged manner and in minutes all patients were moved to the inside corridors of the hospital which are considered to be the safest place for the patients.

A previously scheduled disaster meeting was held following the all clear and the disaster planning committee of the hospital had some first hand experiences and problems to work with.

State Police Start Plan For Driver Emergency Calls

The state police Friday have started an experimental citizen's band radio operation to help handle motorist emergency calls in 16 counties in east central Lower Michigan.

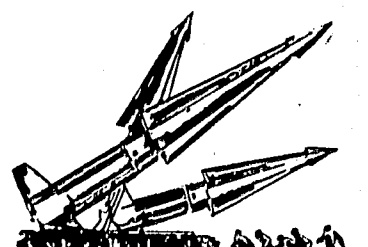

Equipment for the program has been installed in the seven posts in the third state police district. The posts are Bay City, East Tawas, Bad Axe, Sandusky, Flint, West Branch and Bridgeport.

The counties served by the posts are Arenac, Alcona, Bay, Genesee, Gladwin, Huron, Iosco, Lapeer, Midland, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Roscommon, Saginaw, Sanilac, Shiawassee and Tuscola. Citizen band voice radio is an amateur operation licensed by the federal communications commission. It is used by some individuals as a hobby, by others in civil defense, for business and similar activities. It has both mobile and stationary transmitters.

State police citizen's band equipment will operate on channel 17 and communication with a post should be only for emergencies. These would include accidents, traveler illness, drunk driving incidents, and other situations where life and property may be endangered and police assistance is needed. CB operators who observe such emergencies will notify the posts which can be contacted through the call letters of KNM-7902.

The east central section of Lower Michigan was chosen as the area best suited for evaluating citizen's band service to motorists. The third district posts serve areas which are not only economically different—metropolitan, rural, industrial and resort—but also have different highway types which include freeways, expressways, other trunklines, and county roads.

Students, Thrilled, Tense As School Year Nears Close

By LINDA LOWRIE
Williamston High School
WILLIAMSTON - As the final days of the school year approach, students are becoming alternately thrilled, tense and studious. Everyone is becoming excited as the summer hastens on and all are making plans to keep the days filled. But in the meantime, school and homework beckon.

LINDA

At an assembly Tuesday morning, seven Senior students were honored with awards and scholarships, the reward of 4 years of diligent work.

Gary Dwight received a special math award, for attaining a high score on the Michigan Math exam and reaching the finals.

Bob Maler and Gary Dwight were the two winners of the Bausch and Lomb Science award. This award is given to the outstanding science student on the basis of his science accomplishments throughout high school as well as achievements and interest expressed in this field.

Mike Honey received a $25 award for the best essay on "The Golden Rule." The Committee of churches of the Williamston Kiwanis club had sponsored the essay contest, open to all seniors.

Linda Lightfoot, who is majoring in home economics, received recognition as the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow." At the same time, Georgia Rose, a junior, was given recognition as the Williamston Correspondent to the national high school magazine, "Co-ed."

Marilyn Robinson received a $100 scholarship from the Michigan Business Schools association for 6 consecutive terms of attending Lansing Business university.

We thank the people of our community for the consideration they give to funeral processions.
It is generally understood that cars should not pass through a procession. When approaching a funeral procession from the opposite direction, it is respectful to reduce speed but do not stop (unless so directed), as the cars behind might collide.

OUR FUTURE

This is a day of congratulations... a time for the rewarding of those who deserve it. They have finished a job. It is also their Commencement... young graduates must survey their individual and personal futures. It is beginning time for each. Unless they have learned well to do their duty instead of demanding their rights... unless they are qualified to take prosperity without pride, and adversity without anguish... they are unprepared for the future God has for them. This is a glad time, but it is also a most frightful, serious occasion. Eternal vigilance is the demand made by the world on those reaching this commencement hour. Today the pattern is formed, the die is cast. May every graduate from something-to-something in America, remember the words of St. Paul, who said: "Finally, brethren, whatever things are true, whatever things are honest, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are pure, whatever things are of good report, if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do; and the God of peace shall be with you," through Your Future.
