Pay Hike Tabled One Week

County employees will have to wait another week before they find out whether or not they will receive a substantial wage increase effective January 1966 and amounting to 6.7 percent.

At the Ingham county board of supervisors meeting Thursday, a decision on the recommended pay hike was tabled to enable the supervisors time to study the plan. A final decision will be made at the next meeting Friday, October 26.

By delaying this decision, the supervisors automatically put off the decision on the record high $5,105,032 fiscal budget. The budget was prepared with the idea the committee approved salary increases would be accepted. Should the pay raises be approved it will mean an added cost to the county of approximately $90,000.

The pay hike would affect 285 county employees and also allow for 11 new county employees. Robert O. Bruegel, chairman of the salary committee, said the salary problem areas were in the sheriff's department and the prosecutor's office.

"We need better starting salaries in order to attract competent, experienced people," he said.

The 11 new positions are to be in the sheriff's department, county clerk's office and the health department. The sheriff's department is provided with 6 new patrolmen in the proposed new pay schedule.

The board also received a briefing on a new 5-year road construction program which is estimated to cost some $6,490,000 by the Ingham county road commission.

Under the plan existing roads throughout the county would be improved.

The 5-year project outlines an expenditure of $1,050,000 in 1966, $1,030,000 in 1967, $1,080,000 in 1968, $1,170,000 in 1969 and $1,150,000 in 1970.

Okemos, Onondaga, Waverly and Holt roads are the primary work areas for 1966 along with the Waverly road bridge and Lake drive.

Two sections of Waverly, Haslett, Holt and Hamilton roads will be improved in 1967. Plans call for work to be done on Haslett, Aurelius, Tyrer, Hagadorn and Holt roads in 1968.

In 1969 construction improvements are scheduled for Jolly, Onondaga, Haslett, Stillman, McRice, Fogg, DeCamp and Barnes road.

Recover Stolen Car In a Ditch

Alert detectives from the Ingham county sheriff's department recovered a stolen car last week. While working on another case, captain Versie Babcock and Det. Don Perdue noticed an abandoned car in a ditch on Waverly road across from the VFW national home.

Investigation showed that the car had hit a nearby road sign, keys were in the car and it was out of gas. In checking various police agencies, the detectives traced down the owner.

The vehicle was taken from the Wayne Gibson Used car lot in Eaton Rapids.

378 Miles of Road, 27 Bridges In County Are Found Inadequate

According to the roads and bridges committee of the Ingham county board of supervisors it will take "millions of dollars" to put Ingham county roads and bridges in adequate condition.

Louis Neller, committee chairman said this week that highway inspections of the Ingham county road commission show 385 miles of roadway and 37 bridges in the county are not up to par.

The county has a total of 1,087 miles of roads. Of these 107 miles of primary roads, and 278 miles of local roads are not adequate, according to Neller. Also 11 bridges on primary roads and 26 on local are called inadequate and hazardous by the committee.

Neller sees the need of continuous planning and study

Task of Razing Theater Starts

The old Mason theater is coming down as of Tuesday morning.

Owned by the Mason State bank, the building is being razed by the Ace Wrecking company of Lansing. For several months officials have been waiting for the work to commence.

When the debris has been cleared away, the bank intends to use the area for parking facilities. Wreckers are now working on the inside, but should start on the outside roof and walls within the next 2 days.

The theater, which was owned by Roy J. Adams, Herbert Fox and Gail Farr respectively, shares a common wall with the Mason city hall. Just recently the city paid $500 to have the wall reinforced, so the adjacent building could be torn down.

Centennial Nets $7,000 Profit

A grand total profit for Mason's centennial celebrations is $7,164.23, Leonard Carter, centennial treasurer, announced today.

Proceeds were gained from selling wooden nickels, centennial plates, a 100-year history of Mason and many other miscellaneous items and events. The centennial committee is still considering suggestions as to where to use the money.

Suggestions will be accepted up until November 15 and should be directed to N. Richard Magel, general chairman of the event.

The profits are to be put towards a non-profit project. There will be a complete financial statement of the centennial's credits and debits printed in next week's Ingham county news.

While the centennial book-keeping records are in the process of being closed, there are 2 people in Mason who have just begun their job of selling souvenirs.

Board Delays Welfare Merger Appointments

The Ingham County Welfare board, at a meeting last Wednesday, delayed appointments to the new merged county-state welfare operation to await signature of the bill passed by the state legislature which merged welfare operations throughout Michigan with the exception of Wayne and Oakland counties. Governor Romney is expected to make the law retroactive to October 1. This was the deadline set by the federal department of health, education and welfare.

The state act will mean about $400,000 savings annually to Ingham county, county welfare board members said, "and the savings might reach $1 million".

Under provisions of the bill the state would pay welfare costs above one mill levy on assessed valuations in Ingham county. The assessed valuation of the county is placed at $700 million. It now assesses for welfare operations more than 2 mills, which equaled approximately $1.6 million for 1964.

The state also will boost its share for county welfare costs to 40 percent. It now is 30 percent.

School officials here said Swab was a good student and achieved high marks in school, but that he was not much of a mixer with the other students.

Jim Frew of the Dancer Company was re-elected to the board of directors of the women's apparel division of Michigan Retailers association at the annual meeting in Frankenmuth.

City Will Start Over Again With Deal for Garage

The city's moral responsibility to former councilmen and institutions demonstrating faith in the city government was upheld at Monday night's council meeting Monday.

In a 6 to one vote, councilmen authorized John O'Brien, city attorney, to take the necessary steps which would legalize a null and void purchase of the Rice garage building on S. Jefferson street May 18, 1964.

The original purchase price of $52,500 was paid to the Reniger Construction company of Lansing which built the new Al Rice building on N. Cedar street and owned the S. Jefferson building.

"As the situation stands now, the city doesn't have possession of the building, and it will have to pay rental of $500 a month for use of the building until the purchase can be renegotiated," O'Brien said.

Before the final vote was taken the issue was opened to the floor so that all in the council room could express their opinion.

Glen Coon, a member of the council when the first decision to buy was approved, told the councilmen that he came to the meeting as an interested citizen only and said he was of the opinion that the city should make all efforts to legally gain possession of the building.

"Every man errs, but to renege on an agreement entered into in good faith is not moral or right. I, therefore, urge you city councilmen to think what is morally right and vote to purchase the building in question," he said.

Councilmen were each given a chance to express their feelings on the issue and explain why and how they had decided to vote.

Vaughn Snook, newly-elected councilman;

"As I have said before, I have conflicting interests in that I feel an obligation to the former council's decision, but also feel a somewhat stronger obligation to the voters who have indicated that they would like a new city hall.

"If we don't go through with the purchase there is the possibility of costly rental and court fees that could be inflicted on the city. Taking this into consideration I will vote yes on the resolution on the condition that if and when the new city hall is approved by the voters, the Rice garage will be sold."

Muri Eastman, councilman, who also is a fireman and auxiliary policeman;

"I asked last week that the issue be tabled because I wanted to feel right about my decision in my own mind. I feel that by going into court the city and taxpayers would lose more money, not to mention friends, and the thing to do is get a disposition on the building."

Abe Cohn, Ex-Coach Dies at 62

Abraham Cohn, 62, for many years a teacher and athletic coach died suddenly of a heart attack last Friday night while refereeing a football game between Haslett high school and Lansing Gabriel high school at Haslett.

Funeral services were Monday afternoon at the Ball-Dunn funeral home here with burial in Maple Grove cemetery.

Cohn was generally known by his friends as Abe. He came to Mason high school as a coach after serving 20 years as a coach at East Jordan.

In 1947 he left Mason to accept a position as a coach at Eastern high school in Lansing. He retired in 1951, but since that time has been active as a referee. While at Eastern he also taught classes in commercial subjects.

Cohn was a native of Hibbing, Minnesota. He participated in many sports events and youth activities here. He attended the Mason Methodist church but was not a member because of his Hebrew faith. His home was at 727 Roosevelt street in Mason.

He was a member of the Coaches' Hall of Fame and was active in the Masonic lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Helen M.; his father, Joseph, who makes his home in Israel, and 3 sisters, Mrs. Thomas Desmond of Alexandria, Virginia; Mrs. Jacob Stocker of Maryann, Minnesota; and Mrs. E.K. Ricke of New Orleans, Louisiana.

There is an extra incentive this year to have everyone give their "fair share". The goal for 1965-66 has been jumped up $2,500 over last year with the extra funds earmarked for an expanded recreation program for Mason and its surrounding townships.

The goal figure for this year has been set at $14,744 and Community Chest officers are hoping for all donations or pledges to be in by the first week of November.

To achieve the higher goal workers are asking contributors to go the extra mile and give "just a little bit more". Dewayne Evans, who is working in the area of Mason businessmen and is also chairman of the Mason Community Chest board, said he would be asking businessmen to consider the rising cost of living and the expanded services that the Community Chest now offers to everyone in Mason before they sign their pledges.

Chest Mark Hits $2,250 Of Its Goal

A mark on the Community Chest goal thermometer hasn't been placed yet, but funds are starting to come in. About $2,250 has been reported collected so far in the campaign and workers are just starting to make their collections.

City, State To Share in Drain Job

A contract between the city of Mason and the Michigan state highway department which would clear the way for a storm drainage outlet on N. Cedar at Curtis streets, was approved at Monday night's city council meeting.

The state cannot be assessed for any such improvement, but can offer to contribute to the construction costs in a certain amount.

In the contract, the Michigan state highway department agreed to participate for benefits for the drain outlet in the sum of $1,161. The mayor and city clerk were authorized to execute the contract.

Bids were opened for the processing and stockpiling of 10,000 cubic yards of road gravel in the city pit on S. Barnes street for the city's use.

Submitting bids were Searlett Gravel company of Holt; 50 cents per cubic yard, and Weaver Gravel company of Danville; 55 cents per cubic yard. Councilmen accepted the lowest offer.

Other business at the meeting included authorizing the city engineer to submit complete plans for curb and gutter, storm sewer, excavation, grading and black-topping on Okemos street north from Jefferson street to the Mason city limits.

No one appeared at the public hearing to express opposition or approval of the proposed abandoning of McRoberts street south of South street to the Kipp road-US-127 intersection.

Starr Gazing

by Edie Starr

What is happiness? Various people would give you various answers. One woman once told me she was completely happy and content when her house was scrubbed, her children scrubbed and she could relax over a cup of coffee. So be it. For her anyway.

The word itself is overused. Happiness is an elusive entity--it is seldom perpetual and most generally it is a relative state. Everyone strives to be happy. Some even attain happiness for a time.

At this particular moment in time, at the ranch on Harper road, happiness is a speckled pup. I've heard it said that you can tell a poor man by the number of dogs he has. If this is true, our own private war on poverty is being lost. We are kooky over dogs. At the moment we have 3. Ridiculous--of course--but 3 we have and kooks we are!

The first to bring us joy was our black dachshund. She was a Mother's Day gift from Pappy and the kids. Being a high type animal (low to the floor only), we chose a high type name. None other than Lady Ingeborg Verhouvern. With a name like that, she soon decided she was a people, so to thump her down a bit, we dubbed her "Inky".

Next in line came our red pappadachshund. He, too, needed a good name, so after much deliberation we decided on Johann Sebastian Augerbach. (What instrument was it that Bach was adept on?) We call him Auggie-doggy. For a spell we were content with the mamma and pappadachshund, although each time a new family joined them we had serious democratic debates over keeping a pup or four. These debates were highly democratic. The House (the kids) and Senate (me) were always overruled by the president (Pappy).

Recently a speckled pup was offered to our No. 1 son. Begging ensued. Words like, "But, Dad, I'll clean up after her" . . . etc. finally won out and happiness came in the back door in the form of "Sam". This name may mislead you. Actually, she is Samantha. This morning when the toes of the foot went right on through the toe of the sock (Sam was chewing again) Father decided she might be part witch indeed. She's part Beagle and part Bassett, which I guess in truth makes her all curbstoney. But she brings us joy and an occasional laugh and in spite of herself we love her.

So to you who have read this far I can only say--if you are seeking happiness . . . looking for joy . . . or need a friend--buy a dog.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER PARSONS

Couple United in Double-Ring Rites

The First Baptist church of Mason was the setting of the October 9, 7:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony, uniting Miss Jane Marie Warner of Mason and Roger W. Parsons of Holt in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Warner, 438 E. Ash, Mason and was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Major Parsons, 4193 Greenwood avenue of Holt.

For her wedding, Miss Warner chose a street-length white, lace-trimmed sheath. Her shoulder-length veil was secured by a rhinestone crown. She carried white chrysanthemums and pink roses with satin streamers. Mrs. Janet Jones, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She was dressed in a mint green lace covered street-length sheath and carried pink and white chrysanthemums.

City Choral Group Wants More Singers

Some 42 singers appeared for the opening rehearsal of the Mason Choral society on Tuesday, October 19. Meeting at Mason high school, the singers read through most of the music which was performed at last year's program of the "Messiah."

The Mason Choral society, which is preparing for a Sunday, December 12, performance of Handel's oratorio, is under the direction of Warren Erick of the Mason public schools. Piano accompanist for the group is Mrs. Harry Smith.

The Rev. Paul A. Tidemann, chairman of the group, reports that more male singers are needed, especially tenors. A much larger group of singers is expected in succeeding rehearsals.

Next Tuesday's rehearsal, October 26, will be held at the junior high chorus room which is located in the manual arts building on Oak street across from the junior high school. The open house at Mason high school makes this change necessary for this one week. Rehearsals will be held every Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. Singers are welcome to join the group. A $1 registration fee is charged to cover the expenses of the society.

Take Part in Observance

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Felt Plains and Leslie Methodist churches will participate next week in one of the most important annual observances of Methodist women throughout America. It is the "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial." More than 1,700,000 women in 36,000 local women's societies and guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The call is sponsored by the woman's division of the Methodist Board of Missions. The division is the national body under which all local women's societies and guilds function. It is also one of four major units of the Board of Missions.

Though the observance of the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial varies from place to place, Methodist women usually gather in churches or elsewhere for a program meeting for interpretation of mission projects to which money from a special sacrificial offering will be given.

Each year there is a theme for the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial. For 1965, the theme is "Attempt Great Things for God." Those are the words of William Carey of England, who is considered the father of the modern Protestant foreign missionary movement. He went to India as a missionary in 1793.

Artistry of Homemaking Brings On Warm Feeling

It's delightful in here this morning! As an artist I stood back and looked at my creation. The last batch of grape jelly had been poured into the glasses. Held up to the light they are a pure ruby. What a joy and satisfaction to behold! The grape aroma fills the room. The sun is also streaming in from the big east window bathing this yellow room in a dazzling flood of sunshine . . . and happiness.

What a good feeling! Yes, it's good to feel good again and it's good to feel like writing again. I had an operation this summer. Several had assured me that it would be just like a vacation. Oh, the books I was going to read. Had saved two to enjoy without having to stop to get meals or iron and things like that. Those books haven't been read yet. In the hospital my eyes played tricks on me. Then life has been playing tricks.

Then this morning something said, "Stop! Pause a bit. Now!" It's good to be back at my typewriter. The cover hasn't been off in months. I've learned a lot during that time. Perhaps during no other similar period in my life has so much been crammed. Never had I had so much about which to write.

We moved. A German student lived with us for a year.

We've found that there are a lot of nice people in the world. Whatever would we do without the kind words and comfort of neighbors and friends? I especially enjoy the friendship of the wee girl across the road; Mary Jane Bearup. Her wave and "Hi, Bell" make me mighty grateful and happy that they are our neighbors.

There are a lot of folks who have shared their favorite recipes with me. I'll include a couple next week. Have YOU been putting something off? Start today!!!!

St. James Society Learns of Church Volunteer Work

The St. James Rosary and Altar Society met for their regular meeting Thursday, October 14, in the church hall. A rummage sale, which is slated for November 5-6, was discussed during the business meeting. A stole which was knit by Mrs. Joseph Fontana was given to the Altar Society for their use.

Speaker for the evening was the Rev. Father Thomas McDevitt of the St. Johns Student Center of East Lansing. He is the Diocesan Director of Papal Volunteers for Latin America.

Volunteers for this organization work in capacities similar to the Peace Corps, but are under the direction of the bishops of the United States.

Doctors, teachers, nurses and other technical specialists give 3 years to help with economic development, promote medical clinics and keep the rise of Communism down. These people, all laity of the Catholic church, work with the clergy. The Diocese of Lansing now has 3 volunteers in Latin America. A question and answer period followed the talk.

Coffee and cookies were later served by the committee consisting of Mrs. William Reeser, chairman, Mrs. Edward Tucky, Mrs. Justin Brady, Mrs. Tony Simone and Mrs. J. B. Bergeon.

UNICEF Trick or Treat Party Set for Oct. 30

Methodist and Baptist churches of Mason will join in hosting a trick or treat party Saturday, October 30 when they will canvass the city for funds to aid the United Nations fund known as UNICEF.

Boys and girls from 7 to 12 years of age from both churches will gather at the social room of the Methodist church at 1 p.m. from where they will go out in supervisory teams to canvass assigned areas.

Sponsors of the program point out that this United Nations program is designed to give the children an opportunity to do mission work while having fun at Halloween time by trick or treating with a useful purpose and learning to give rather than just receive.

The United Nations Children's fund was established in 1946 by the United Nations General Assembly and is governed by a 30 nation executive board. The pennies for UNICEF idea at Halloween time has grown until in 1963 3 million children collected $2 million to be used in 106 countries for food supplements, medical care and social concerns in needy areas. Other countries also have this same program.

Statistics show that one penny will buy 5 glasses of milk for some child or vaccine to protect it against tuberculosis. A dime will provide 50 vitamin capsules and $50 will start a clinic in an area where none exists.

UNICEF is not covered by the local Community Chest but it does cooperate with other worldwide mission organizations.

Slop Day At M.H.S.

Homecoming was a big thing this past week at Mason with each day of the week designated for a specific class or activity. Thursday was one of the favorite event-packed days.

It was designated as slop day--all students could come to school wearing any type of clothing or costume they wanted in recognition of the special day.

After the initial chuckles over various costumes at the beginning of classes Thursday morning, the students began to look forward to a hootenanny scheduled for noon in the cafeteria. "A whole lot of singin' went on" and ended too soon for many of the kids.

Flames licked up at the sky for the big pep rally and bonfire which was held on the high school grounds Thursday night.

Slop day was only superseded by Friday, the day to dress up, crown the king and queen, hold the parade, see a 0-0 tie game against O'Rafferty and wind up the evening with a casual dance at the high school.

Meet Mike Fietz, Mr. Farmer

Williamston Youth Makes Good On His Own

By LULA HOWARTH

WILLIAMSTON -- The research that brought out the prevalent idea that the younger generation is "soft" wasn't conducted among the members of F.F.A. groups.

There is nothing conducive to an inactive or indulgent life for a young farmer. He isn't ushered into a shop by a whistle but he probably has been at work before the city worker was awake and he will be working through two shifts of shop workers.

When a young man like Mike Dietz starts out on his own on a farm enterprise when he graduates from high school, rents a farm, makes the operation suitable for modern dairy methods, sets up house-keeping alone with his dog as companion 12 miles from his family home, he didn't pick a soft job nor did he choose a life that featured entertainment or recreation.

The spot where he lives is flanked by trees in autumn colors; there are green meadows and wheatfields showing a promise of another season. There are birds and wild life but no indications of night clubs, fancy cafes, billiard halls or bowling alleys.

Mike is doing the thing he likes to do and he is making a success of this work.

Anyone else wishing to speak at this time. RESOLUTION
Date: October 18, 1965
By Councilman R. Morris:
Resolved by the City Council of the City of Mason, in regular meeting, this 18th day of October, 1965, that the contract dated this 18th day of October, 1965 by and between Michigan State Highway Commission and the City of Mason concerning the State's participation for benefits in the form of a storm drainage outlet for M-36 (Cedar Street) and Curtis Street in the sum of $1,161.80 be accepted, and the Mayor and City Clerk be authorized to execute said contract and that a copy of this resolution be attached thereto.

Moved by R. Morris and seconded by Loren Shattuck, with the vote thereon being as follows:
Morris, Yes; Hamlin, Yes; Shattuck, Yes; Eastman, Yes; Snook, Yes; Cady, Yes; Pearsall, Yes.

RESOLUTION
Date: October 18, 1965
Resolved by the City Council, City of Mason, at a regular meeting this 18th day of October, 1965 that; WHEREAS, this Council did, on May 18, 1964, unanimously adopt a resolution for the purchase of certain property on the northeast corner of Oak Street and South Jefferson Street in the City of Mason, Michigan, commonly known as the Al Rice Garage property, for a price of fifty-two thousand five-hundred ($52,500.00) dollars, and

WHEREAS, said Council authorized the Mayor and City Clerk to negotiate the details of said purchase, and

WHEREAS, the sum of fifty-two thousand five hundred ($52,500.00) dollars was borrowed from the Dart National Bank and the Mason State Bank, of Mason, Michigan, and

WHEREAS, the City Attorney has ruled that, because of the failure of this body to follow certain provisions of the Charter of the City of Mason, and the statutes of the State of Michigan as to financing that said purchase is null and void.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:
That the City Attorney be, and is hereby, directed to renegotiate the purchase of said property, and to pay therefor the sum of not in excess of fifty-two thousand five hundred ($52,500.00) dollars, and that the City Attorney is further authorized to take such steps, under the law, as are necessary to comply with the Charter and the Statutes of this State in financing the purchase of said property.

Moved by Claude Cady, and seconded by Muri J. Eastman, with the following members voting thereon:
Morris, Yes; Hamlin, No; Shattuck, Yes; Eastman, No; Snook, Yes; Cady, Yes; Pearsall, Yes. Yes, 6, No, 1.

After the resolution was presented and before the vote was taken the following remarks were made:
Councilman Snook felt he had conflicting obligations in this matter. 1. He felt a moral obligation to the councilmen who had engineered the purchase. 2. He also felt as long as he was elected by the people, and the people did not seem to want it, he was obligated to them. But after weighing the facts as they had been presented he now felt he would vote Yes.

Councilman Eastman stated that the reason he insisted at the last meeting on not bringing it to a vote at that time was so that more information might be received on the matter. Now that I have received some legal information and have weighed the obligations pro and con I feel now I will vote Yes.

Councilman Shattuck said his first impression was that the people did not want the purchase and he was not satisfied that yes was the proper vote, but after hearing some of the problems involved and feeling a moral obligation, he was going to vote Yes, but his basic support is for the new facility proposal.

Councilman Hamlin, I have not changed my mind and I will vote No.

Councilman Morris, I have always thought it was a good site and would keep the price of a suitable building down where the City could afford it. I will vote Yes.

Councilman Cady, I did not think it was a bad buy at the time, and I do not now think it a bad deal. I will vote Yes.

Councilman Eastman made a motion that the audience be permitted to express their views.
Seconded by Hamlin, Carried.

DeWayne Evans asked the question, Does the City have the money to purchase this property at this time? The City Attorney explained that as of this time, they do not, but at the end of the year there are certain unused funds that are transferable and at the end of eighteen months the money could be available.

Melrose Hudson asked if the bond issue that is proposed were approved, would the building be disposed of, Mayor Pearsall assured him that if the bond issue were to pass the city would not have a use for the building. But the Mayor added that it is the way it would seem now, but in a year or two perhaps the building would be needed very badly. He said he would hate to say definitely that the building would be sold.

Here Mr. Hudson asked if the bond issue that was proposed was going to be enlarged to cover the $52,500.00 already spent? The answer was absolutely not.

Roscoe Griswold also was interested in whether or not the building would be sold if the bond issue was defeated. He was told that if that happened perhaps the building would be needed.

Warner Keas said he thought it was a step in the right direction to get the building deal straightened out, and get title to it. Then to sell it at some figure even if a loss was taken. He said it was not suitable for what it was bought for.

Councilman Cady presented 2 more claims that were approved by the finance committee.

Party Fetes Trudgeons

There was a farewell party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Irving Trudgeon, the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of Arbutus Chapter No. 45 Order of the Eastern Star recently on the 7th floor of the Masonic Temple, S. Capitol avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Mrs. Budd Rutter, the Associate Matron was general chairman of the affair and had charge of all arrangements. A delicious buffet dinner was served at 8:30 p.m. The chairman and Mrs. William Wotring themed the party "Scouting For Stars and Rainbows". Mrs. Wotring and Mrs. Craig Wotring handled the attractive decorations of which huge rainbows and smaller ones with figurines of Girl Scouts were used in profusion with strips of rainbow colors running the length and center of the tables. Scattered autumn leaves were also used. On the wall in back of the table where the honor guests were seated, was placed a huge rainbow, a huge star and Girl Scouts and the names Dorothy and Irving in cut-out letters which were the names of the retiring officers. Seated at the honor table were, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Trudgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Budd Rutter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Richards, Mr. and Mrs. William Wotring and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armour, the chaplain who invoked the blessing, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ricketts.

Mrs. William Wotring was also in charge of the delightful entertainment which consisted of 2 groups of student dancers from 2 local dance studios. One student was her daughter Miss Lynn Wotring.

A gift was presented to the retiring Worthy Matron and Patron from the officers of this year. The officers were table hostesses also. Mrs. Charles E. Gutzki and Mrs. Merle Anspach were in charge of the publicity.

ing and then do what is best, possibly sell the garage."

Loren Shattuck, councilman who served on the former council:

"Basically my reasoning is that I was elected to do what is responsible and best for the people of Mason and, due to financial facts now known, I will authorize the building's purchase.

John Hamlin, newly-elected city councilman:

"As far as I can see, the city is still going to lose money one way or another, my vote remains no."

Richard Morris, councilman who served on the former council:

"I always thought the location was good for a city hall and with the Rice building the city would have a start toward a good city hall. I feel it is a good buy."

Claude Cady, councilman who also served on the former council:

"At the time of the original purchase I didn't think it was a bad deal for the city and I don't now, I will vote 'yes.'"

The issue was then open to the floor for discussion.

Dewayne Evans, 766 E. Maple street, Mason: "Does the city have the necessary amount available to complete the purchase?"

"The city will have about $60,000 in surplus monies from unexpended funds at the end of this year," O'Brien said.

"The balance can be borrowed on a note for expected tax revenues which would be approved by the Michigan Municipal finance commission. Within 18 months the city could own the building."

Explaining the city's position further, O'Brien said that he would be in a good position to re-negotiate with the sellers and that there was a possibility the city could get the building for a lower price.

Answering a question posed by John Hudson, McRoberts street, Gilson Pearsall, mayor, said that the council wanted to be quoted in the minutes that they were in favor of selling the building should the new city hall vote be affirmative, but that a mandatory clause in the resolution requiring the sale would be too binding on a future council.

Warner Kean, Roosevelt street, Mason, stated his opinion on the issue: "I have to go along with buying the building, but not the idea of making the sale of the building hinge on the city hall vote. 'It isn't progress or community growth to move from the existing facility to the garage. I think the city should sell it as quick and for as much as possible. Business-wise I think it would be smart to sell and sell now.'"

County News headed "School May Do Landscaping" has been brought to my attention. I can well understand your problem and I cannot help but advise you against being "penny wise and pound foolish!"

You were wise in having a competent landscape architect design your landscaping. You are on the right track when you believe you can buy the required plant materials and have them planted by school employees, under proper supervision.

Keep in mind that maintenance is as important as planting and Board Member Rexford Stribley is right in supporting the hiring of a competent person to supervise all the lawn work for all the schools.

However we cannot go along with him when he says "this is a highly inflated field - there is no magic to digging a hole and putting in a tree!" It does not take "magic" but it does take "know how." You can waste more money planting plant materials that do not grow because of improper planting and maintenance than you would spend for a competent supervisor.

Finding the proper man at what you would consider a "reasonable" wage is indeed difficult. I do not think the nursery and landscape field is as inflated today as most other businesses. Competent and experienced workmen are hard to find and they demand a wage comparable with that of School Board members or parents of school children. If I knew of such a man as you want I would let you know but, believe me, I have dozens of nurserymen and landscape contractors asking me for the same information.

As to the trees and other nursery stock you expect to purchase, I urge you to buy quality nurserymen and not look for bargains. You will get what you pay for and the best stock will be the cheapest in the end.

If I can be of further service to you in any way please let me know.

John Hamlin, newly-elected city councilman:

"As far as I can see, the city is still going to lose money one way or another, my vote remains no."

Richard Morris, councilman who served on the former council:

"I always thought the location was good for a city hall and with the Rice building the city would have a start toward a good city hall. I feel it is a good buy."

Claude Cady, councilman who also served on the former council:

"At the time of the original purchase I didn't think it was a bad deal for the city and I don't now, I will vote 'yes.'"

The issue was then open to the floor for discussion.

Dewayne Evans, 766 E. Maple street, Mason: "Does the city have the necessary amount available to complete the purchase?"

"The city will have about $60,000 in surplus monies from unexpended funds at the end of this year," O'Brien said.

"The balance can be borrowed on a note for expected tax revenues which would be approved by the Michigan Municipal finance commission. Within 18 months the city could own the building."

Explaining the city's position further, O'Brien said that he would be in a good position to re-negotiate with the sellers and that there was a possibility the city could get the building for a lower price.

Answering a question posed by John Hudson, McRoberts street, Gilson Pearsall, mayor, said that the council wanted to be quoted in the minutes that they were in favor of selling the building should the new city hall vote be affirmative, but that a mandatory clause in the resolution requiring the sale would be too binding on a future council.

Warner Kean, Roosevelt street, Mason, stated his opinion on the issue: "I have to go along with buying the building, but not the idea of making the sale of the building hinge on the city hall vote. 'It isn't progress or community growth to move from the existing facility to the garage. I think the city should sell it as quick and for as much as possible. Business-wise I think it would be smart to sell and sell now.'"

County News headed "School May Do Landscaping" has been brought to my attention. I can well understand your problem and I cannot help but advise you against being "penny wise and pound foolish!"

You were wise in having a competent landscape architect design your landscaping. You are on the right track when you believe you can buy the required plant materials and have them planted by school employees, under proper supervision.

Keep in mind that maintenance is as important as planting and Board Member Rexford Stribley is right in supporting the hiring of a competent person to supervise all the lawn work for all the schools.

However we cannot go along with him when he says "this is a highly inflated field - there is no magic to digging a hole and putting in

The Melting Pot

By HAYDEN PALMER

We're all going to get a Christmas present from Uncle Sam this year—from his mints, that is. The new silverless quarters will be placed in circulation for the Christmas buying rush. The exact date for the release, however, has not yet been set.

One hundred million of the new coins already have been minted and around New Year's production of silverless dimes and half dollars will begin.

These new coins are composed of a layer of copper between 2 layers of cupronickel. Cupronickel is a copper nickel alloy of which the present nickel coins are made.

The new coins are expected to ease the coin shortage which has existed for some time.

Although the new coins won't have silver in them as the ones we're used to, you can buy just as much with the new ones as you can with the old.

Apparently a good revenue agent has to have a strong sense of smell. Two of them arrested 2 men in San Francisco the other day because the agents said they were able to smell the whiskey from a distance and traced it to a shed in one of the men's yards. The 2 suspects were indicted by a grand jury for possession of a 55 gallon metal pot full of the stuff. The agents said the whiskey was of excellent quality.

Some people pick the odddest places in which to get married. Take William C. Pool and Eva June Walker, for instance. They are both employed by a carnival and chose the top of a ferris wheel for the ceremonies. Pool operates a carousel and his wife is a ticket taker.

The ferris wheel was stopped at 40 feet in the air and a justice of the peace performed the ceremony. After the ceremony the couple took the night off from work and spent it taking rides on other devices in the carnival, which had set up its equipment in El Paso, Texas.

Alasdair Fraser, 25, was haled into court in London, England, on a charge of stealing his neighbor's car. He said he didn't really intend to steal it, but took it to teach his neighbor not to leave the keys in the car. The judge couldn't quite see it that way and fined Fraser $168.

London police are looking for some thieves who apparently have a fondness for cheese. They hijacked 8 tons of it in a truck last week. The cheese was valued at $5,000.

Four years ago Mrs. Connie Cedar of suburban Chicago saw a woman walking a dog. The dog was wrapped up in what Mrs. Cedar called "some ugly looking burlap thing". It made her so mad she sat down, took some old fur pieces and fashioned a canine fur coat.

Ever since that day she has been producing ideas for dog fashions.

Now she is planning on November 15 a dog fashion show which will show what the well dressed dog will wear this year.

"I think a dog's garment should complement the wearer's best lines", she says. She favors something that is neat but not cumbersome, such as the soft cinch belt and the wrap around breast and loose collars. She likes a collar made of fur and with rhinestones on soft cloth.

Dogs are all relatively young, she says, and few are too fat so she doesn't have to worry much about creating an illusion of youth and slenderness.

Good luck, Mrs. Cedar with your show. Maybe it's something we've needed for a long time.

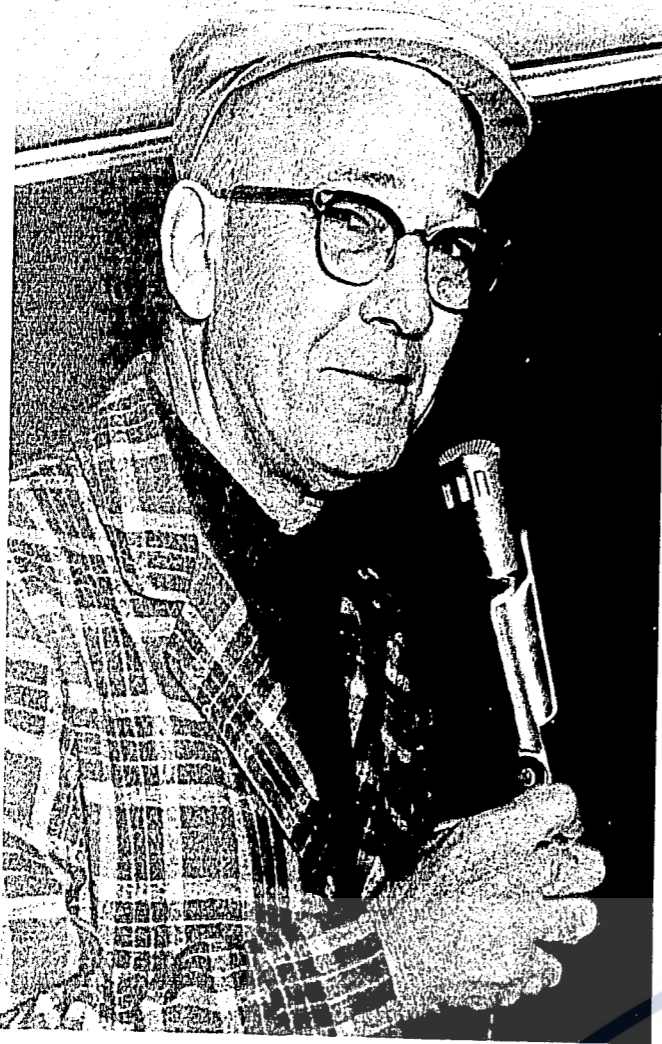

I always enjoy bands at football games and their intricate maneuvers as I guess almost every football fan does. But somebody, it seems, is always trying to take a little fun out of life.

An art instructor in a school in Missouri has let it be known that he thinks too much emphasis has been placed on performance.

Members of the bands would learn much more in the classroom than they would marching around forming triangles and such, he says.

Jerry Rogers, 18, of Indianapolis kissed his mother and it saved him 30 days in jail.

Honored Citizen

MAURICE B. RICKLY, Mason's first and only announcer for the Mason high school football games, is the Ingham County News's distinguished citizen this week. Interested in the youth of Mason, he served for 10 years on the Mason board of education, 9 of those years he was president of the board. Two years ago Rickly served as area chairman for the Mason Community Chest campaign. He is an active member of several Masonic organizations, the El Kurapeh Capital City Caravan club, for which he is announcer for their Golden Gloves events and the First Presbyterian church of Mason. Rickly and his wife live at 227 E. Cherry street and moved to Mason in 1932. He is a medical technologist and is employed by the Central Pharmacal company.

It's Hunting Time Again in Michigan

The hunting season is upon us in full force this week, but if you plan to hunt on private land, be sure you have permission.

The state is divided into 3 zones for hunters. Zone 1 is in the upper peninsula, Zone 2 is the upper half of the lower peninsula and Zone 3, the lower half. Ingham county is in Zone 3.

The Michigan Department of Conservation points out that hunting seasons in Michigan gradually are becoming more liberal as modern game management techniques allow a greater harvest of "surplus" wildlife.

However, along with this widening range of hunting prospects comes a more complex set of hunting regulations. Hunting seasons have to fit the game, not the people.

Below are some of the major fall seasons and bag limits: DEER: Archery season -- October 1-November 5, statewide, except Allegan County where the season runs October 1-December 15. Gun season -- In Zone 1, November 13-28; In Zones 2 and 3, November 20-December 5. These dates for the deer season are new this year.

PHEASANTS: October 20-November 10 in Zones 2 and 3. For Zone 1, see "Rules for Hunting." Limits, two per day, four in possession.

GROUSE: The ruffed grouse (partridge) season runs October 1-November 10 in Zones 1 and 2. In Zone 3, there are two seasons; October 20-November 19, and December 6-31. Limits statewide, five birds per day, ten in possession.

WATERFOWL: The duck season runs October 11-November 19 statewide, with bag limits of four per day, eight in possession. Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset, same as last fall, but no hunting is allowed on October 20 before 10 a.m. Pheasants and other small game become legal targets that day, requiring a morning quiet period. The goose season is October 1-November 30 in Zones 1 and 2. In Zone 3, goose hunting will run October 11-November 30. Ask for special "Rules For Hunting Waterfowl" for more details.

RABBITS: In Zones 1 and 2, the season runs October 1-March 1; in Zone 3, it runs October 20-March 1. You can take five per day and have 10 in possession.

SQUIRRELS: Gray and black squirrels, Zone 1, October 1-November 10. Gray, black, and fox squirrels, Zone 2, October 1-November 10. All three species are legal in Zone 3 October 20-November 10. Limits, five per day, ten in possession.

It all happened like this: Rogers had been sentenced by Indianapolis Judge Saul Rabb to 90 days in jail for driving a stolen car. The youth turned to his mother and kissed her goodbye. Judge Rabb was moved by this show of affection. "That shows he's a nice boy", the judge said and cut the sentence to 60 days.

Paul S. Mosesion, a Fresno, California attorney, enjoys a dish of shish kebab, but he will have to forego one of his favorite foods for the next 2 weeks. He was rushing home when he was stopped by police and given a speeding ticket. When he told the judge the reason for his hurry was that he wanted to get home to prepare some shish kebab for a

Each week the Ingham County News inquiring reporter asks a question of 5 persons at random in downtown Mason. This week's query was: "Do you think Mason should have a city supported senior citizen's program?"

Mrs. Frank Tunks, Doble road, Mason:

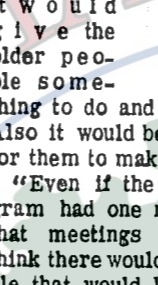

TUNKS

"Yes, I think it would be a nice thing for Mason to have. I worked at a luncheon for senior citizens in Alaledon township and was able to see how much the older people enjoyed themselves."

"I know that such a program would give them some place to go and something to look forward to. It is just the idea that the senior citizens would have a place to go where they could be with friends their own age."

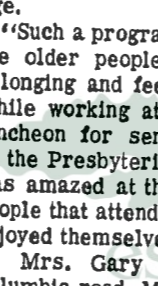

Mrs. Harold G. Grimm, Rolfe road, Mason:

GRIMM

"It would be very nice to have a community supported senior citizen's program for Mason. It would give the older people something to do and a place to go. Also it would be a good place for them to make new friends."

"Even if the club or program had one night a month that meetings were held, I think there would be many people that would like to attend. Harry Spenny, S. Hall boulevard, Ingham county treasurer:

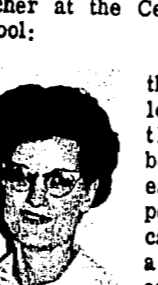

SPENNY

"I definitely think Mason should have some sort of program for its senior citizens. I have always felt the city should provide the senior citizens with something to do with people their own age."

"Such a program would give the older people a sense of belonging and feeling wanted. While working at the special luncheon for senior citizens at the Presbyterian Church, I was amazed at the number of people that attended and really enjoyed themselves."

Mrs. Gary Nesbitt, E. Columbia road, Mason:

NESBITT

"With a senior citizen's program in the community, I think it would show the older people that we are interested in them and are grateful for the many things they did for Mason."

"After all the senior citizens of today were once the main stays of the community and still are. I think it would be a nice gesture for the community to have a place for older people to meet and enjoy themselves."

Mrs. Harold Glynn, N. Meridian road, Mason, a teacher at the Cedar street school:

GLYNN

"I think there are a lot of things that would be of interest to older people who can't get out and go as easily as a younger person. There are many people that are unable to drive and don't have anyone to take them that would enjoy having planned activities specifically for them."

"I am sure if the older people were offered a place to gather they could come up with many ideas of things to do or places to go."

School Buses Are Big Business

This Year's Budget Appropriation Is $90,000

School buses are big business at Mason. This year's budget appropriation for the transportation section of the schools is $90,000 as compared to $46,434 which was spent by the school last year. For the 1963-64 budget the board expected to buy some new vehicles so they set aside $82,970 to carry out the transportation program.

The unused funds will be transferred to this year's bus fund. The school has 5 new school buses on order and expect delivery on a 36 passenger bus any day now.

Included in the transportation budget are drivers' salaries, mechanic's salary, gas-oil, tires-tubes-batteries, miscellaneous expenses, vehicle replacement and insurance.

"Contrary to most thinking, the school district is not reimbursed 100 percent for its transportation costs," Paul Cheney, school business manager, said. "We have to comply with all the state requirements and then we qualify for 75 percent of our total costs."

The state penalizes the school $8 for each unauthorized student that is picked up by the school buses. "Our bus routes are flexible and are determined by what is safest for the children not what the state will pay," Cheney said.

Much of the credit for a smooth running and efficient bus system is due to the efforts of Cecil Hall, chief mechanic for the school. He has been working for the school since 1960 and has complete charge of bus maintenance which includes all major and minor repair jobs.

Hall can remember when the school district bought its first bus. "It was in 1938 when the Wilson school burnt," he said, the school board was asked to take care of the school-less children and transportation was necessary.

"J. B. Dean and myself were both on the school board at the time and we each sold different models of buses, but because the state law prohibited board members from doing business with the school, J.B. and I were sent to Lancing to buy the bus," Hall said. "The funny thing about it is we came back with a bus model that neither one of us handled."

Mason's transportation has mushroomed from one bus in 1938 to 25 buses in 1965. Carl Barto is probably the original bus driver, but Lawrence Oesterle has driven bus the most consecutive years.

A driver for 21 years Oesterle says he prefers to drive for the high school students because they are quieter. One of his favorite memories associated with bus driving was the day a mother sent a note to him.

The note said: "My son has missed school for 3 days in a row, on Monday the bus came too soon and he wasn't ready; Tuesday the bus didn't come at all (the weather was bad) and on Wednesday the bus came too late and my son didn't think it was coming."

"Parents are to be given credit for cooperating with the schools while our transportation problems were worked out at the first of the year," Cheney said.

With the opening of the North Aurelius school and the Alaledon school, plus the closing of Oak street in front of the junior high school, a complete revamping was needed to efficiently transport students.

"The school now has all the buses centralized at the outlying schools and the senior high," he said. The out-area schools are used for transfer points with express buses going directly to the junior and senior high schools from there.

School buses in the Mason district really get used. They day and last year traveled some 1,070,235 miles. School drivers must pass rigid tests before they can qualify to average about 950 miles per drive a bus. Some of the requirements are a yearly physical examination, a beginners 3-day driving school and a 1-day refresher class each year, a chauffeur's license and an unquestionable character. Driving for the Mason school district are Lyle LaCock, Mrs. Sylvia Jindra, Mrs. Joyce Rector, Mrs. Rosella Taylor, Art Brown, Harold Ginter and Lawton Hedglen, all in the Alaledon area.

In the N. Aurelius area the drivers are Mrs. Donna Anderson, Erwin Sherwood, Mrs. Gerald Chapman, Earl Alderman, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Frances Cook, Mrs. Helen Rosebury, Charles Rens, Melvin Darrow, and Lawrence Oesterle.

Drivers for the Cedar-Steele area are Carl Barto, Seth Heins, Thurlow Yager, Milan Maybee, Jack Davis, Gary White and Mrs. Martha McKenzie, the school district's first woman bus driver.

Making special bus runs at noon for the kindergarten children and special education students are Mrs. Fern Olin, Mrs. Barbara Ketchum and Mrs. Frank Phillips.

VALUABLE EMPLOYEES - Lawrence Oesterle, Mason's school bus driver with the most consecutive years on the job, and Cecil Hall, bus maintenance man who keeps the vehicles running, play an important role in getting the school district's students to and from school safe and sound.

The Dodger

Now is the time of year when thousands of students return to the college campuses. If one takes the time, and watches these students as they hurry to and fro with registration cards, schedules, etc., he will notice, possibly, the one different applicant among the others. This applicant is known as the draft-dodger, disrespectful dissenter, or a host of other common titles. He is commonly seen wearing ragged shorts, sloppy sweat-shirt, dirty tennis shoes, and hair so long he looks like Robinson Crusoe.

The draft-dodger is usually carrying, among other things, all the latest class-closing sheets, class schedules, and a long list of sections he might get into in order to secure a full time schedule which is necessary for dodging the draft.

Dodgers are usually found among the non-preference students. This is because their preference course is not offered. The reason for this is simple. There is no university or college which offers a complete conglomeration of courses in any specific field simply because the credit hours total 12. Most courses in a specific field require study, not merely attendance, and therefore the draft-dodger does not want to get stuck in them.

They are an entirely selfish breed, these draft-dodgers. For they not only are shifting the responsibility of serving their country or others, but also they are gobbling up at fantastic rates the courses needed by fellow students to complete a sensible sequence of study.

The only way we can cure the terrible, shameful influence of these dodgers is to require of them at least a 2 year course in R.O.T.C. at their college or university. This, of course, may not be the entire answer, but it is a start. Let's return to compulsory R.O.T.C.

Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan ASC state committee announced today that the 1966 agricultural conservation program will include new beautification-conservation practices.

County ACP development groups will meet next month to formulate their local programs. Such practices may include the establishment of protective vegetative cover, grasses, legumes, trees or shrubs including ornamental shrubs and perennial flowers.

Water impoundments, structures to control erosion and run off, the establishment of vegetative cover to provide habitat, food or shelter for wildlife and other practices which provide substantial soil and water conservation benefits and which enhance the appearance in the area are also included.

Light said many of the soil and water conservation practices carried out since 1936 under the ACP, such as trees, shrubs, wind breaks, ponds and vegetative cover have beautified the countryside.

Milk Producers Group Anticipates Progress

Dairy men can't count on another Prohibition era to boost milk sales, Michigan milk producers association leaders were told last week.

MMPA general manager Jack Barnes warned more than 300 elected officers of the state's largest milk marketing organization they must be prepared for progress.

"When Prohibition came along and abolished the legal sale of alcohol in the 20's, milk sales received an unexpected boost," Barnes said in a report at Michigan State university's Kellogg center.

"That was because working men who had been accustomed to taking their beer pal to the corner saloon at lunch-time had to switch drinks, and a lot of them chose milk," he said.

MMPA celebrates 50 years as a milk marketing cooperative in 1916. Barnes told the leaders about plans for marking the milestones and reviewed some events of the past half century.

He emphasized that heavy retail sales of milk by great chain stores, plus numerous other factors, will affect marketing by the farmers who produce milk.

"We must be ready to meet change with change," Barnes said.

Convenience and nutritional value will keep milk an essential item in the competition for consumer food dollars, Barnes said, but farmers must be aware of the total economic picture and act accordingly.

"Unlike Prohibition, the next great social change we see might have an adverse effect on milk sales," Barnes said.

The day-long session of MMPA leaders was called to help prepare the way for participation by the association's 11,000 members in decisions that will affect their future.

MMPA President Glenn

Lake, of North Branch, told his fellow leaders they must "analyze, criticize and 'futureize'" their association to maintain "strength through unity."

"When we analyze, let us be keen, fair and complete," he said. "When we criticize, let us be constructive. And when we talk of the future, let us be sound in our judgement."

Lake discussed the marketing accomplishments of MMPA, and told of some activities and achievements on a national scale which have resulted from united activity by the National milk producers federation. Lake serves as federation president in addition to his leadership role at MMPA.

The Commodity Credit Corp. in the 1964-65 market year bought 9 billion pounds of milk in the form of milk products, chiefly butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk, Lake said. Nearly 1.7 billion pounds of fluid milk (about 5 percent of all Class I bottling-milk sales) went to school lunch programs, special school milk programs or for

Black Walnut Trees Future Investment

Plant black walnuts now and you will receive the blessings of your children who will use this valuable crop.

Plenty of seed nuts are available. You do not have to remove the husk; plant 2 to 3 inches deep.

Black walnut timber is the most valuable wood we grow, says Elton Twork, area forester for the conservation department. Woods-grown trees of good quality are bringing as much as a dollar a board foot as standing trees.

Trees grown in fence rows and door-yards do not usually bring so much because the buyer has to take the risk of finding metal embedded in the trees. Such trees cannot be used for producing the high-value veneer.

The future volume and quality of wood in trees now growing in fence rows or other open places can be improved by cutting off the lower branches to a height of 12 feet or more. This can best be done when the trunk is from 4 to 6 inches in diameter.

use by veterans and the military services.

Marketing "tools" for the milk industry are provided by Federal Orders and other programs, he said. Milk and milk products are widely accepted diet essentials.

But dairy men cannot take these things for granted, Lake said. They must remain behind programs and policies designed and executed by dairy farmers themselves.

He noted that MMPA's success in bargaining for farmer prices has come in spite of Michigan's relatively low retail milk prices.

OFF TO NEW JERSEY - Lewis Wilson, 2317 W. Harper road, Mason has sold his 5-year-old cow, Levvina Mar, to a New Jersey buyer for $3,750. The sale was made at the Blue Water classic in Lapeer last week. The contending bidder for the animal was a buyer from Venezuela. The cow was sired by Formar Var Lochinvar from the Michigan Animal Breeders' cooperative of East Lansing, had a record as a 2-year-old of 552 pounds of butter fat, at 3 years of age, 688 pounds and at 4 years, 812 pounds.

New Farm Bill Policy Explained

Frank Light, Chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, was called to Washington, D. C. recently at the request of secretary of agriculture Freeman, for a farm program policy review.

This meeting, held October 14 and 15, was an in-depth study of the recently passed Farm Bill. Thirty people from the states are at this important meeting.

"The new Farm Bill is the most far-reaching and important farm legislation since 1938. The Bill has 8 titles, covering all major agricultural crops and dairying," Light said.

The dairy section of the Bill allows the establishment of a Class I based plan if approved by referendum. This program would reduce surplus dairy production, while maintaining or increasing the dairy farmer's income.

A feed grain program will be extended for 4 years, for price support loans and purchases to program participants at about the same levels as recent years. Farmers, by diverting acreage from feed grain production to conservation uses, would receive, as in the past, payments in kind to help maintain income.

The voluntary wheat certificate program will be continued for 4 years, with modifications which are aimed at boosting income to wheat producers by about $200 million nationally each year. The significant change from current operations would provide for wheat used domestically as food at 100 percent of parity and a variable export certificate to supplement wheat farmer's income.

Both the feed grain and wheat programs will be on a projected yield basis. If Michigan wheat producers maintain the same production in 1966 as in 1965, the new bill would increase their income by about $10,000,000.

Light also stated that the new provision of the bill, called cropland adjustment, will authorize the secretary of agriculture to enter into 5 to 10 year contracts with farmers to convert their cropland into conserving uses during the next 4 years.

It is expected that about 8 million acres per year would be added to this program until it reaches its peak participation of 40 million acres in 1970.

Within a short time, farmers can learn the complete details of the new farm bill from their local ASCS county office.

Strawberries' Future Uncertain In Michigan

The future of Michigan's strawberry industry is more uncertain than most other fruit crops, but scientists estimate that state growers will probably maintain their share of the total U.S. output between now and 1980.

This would increase Michigan's output to 50 million pounds in the next 15 years, 33 percent more than in 1960. Yields are expected to rise from 3,780 pounds to about 7,000 pounds per acre.

These projections were made as part of Project '80, Michigan State university's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential by 1980. Studying the future of the industry are R. P. Larsen, horticulturist; Myron Kelsey, agricultural economist; Paul Wooley, entomologist; and George McManus, Jr., agricultural agent in Traverse City.

They say that Michigan's position in the strawberry industry has been maintained by its closeness to fresh market outlets and by its good freezing outlets for one-third of the crop.

But they note that the West Coast and Mexico have improved their position by strong variety and cultural development programs and improved processing technology. But a strong variety program could improve Michigan's competitive position in relation to these areas.

While the future of strawberries in Michigan is uncertain, there is a new possibility in the fruit production area. Apricots may become an important commercial crop in the state by 1980, according to Michigan State university scientists.

If presently available and/or future varieties prove satisfactory, at least 1,000 acres can quickly come into production, they say.

Varieties are currently being tested at MSU's agricultural experiment station in South Haven.

U.S. Companies Urged To Aid Latin America

U.S. companies should consider projects aimed at solving mechanization problems in Latin America, but they must not go there as "carpetbaggers," a Michigan State University agricultural engineer has warned.

Dr. Carl W. Hall said, "We must put something into the Latin American economy, and they must share in the efforts. Otherwise, the antagonism against North American will continue in spite of our good intentions."

He said this move by American industry would be "an investment for future economic growth of the area and for hemisphere solidarity."

Speaking at the Agricultural Research Institute, National Academy of Sciences, the chairman of MSU's agricultural engineering department pointed out that development of mechanization in Latin America will not occur without development of industry, education and transportation. Before mechanization can be brought to these countries, the U.S. must overcome such deterrents as unfavorable economic policies in Latin America and a 30 to 40 per cent illiteracy situation.

Control and better varieties as other means to be considered for increasing productivity in Latin American countries.

One of the most limiting factors in the development of Latin American agriculture is the quality of its labor. "The labor is often not trained or educated to work in an advanced technology," said Dr. Hall.

To show some of the improvements which could be made in these countries, the agricultural engineer pointed to the relative efficiency of Latin America and the U.S. in the production of corn. He noted that 50 years ago in the U.S., it took one man-hour to produce a bushel of corn. Today, the job takes about 4 minutes. This compares to an extreme of 21 man-hours per bushel where corn is produced and harvested manually on the small, upland farms of Ecuador.

Much of this difference could be overcome with mechanization, Dr. Hall indicated. Some machines designed and used in the United States can be used in Latin America if properly adapted.

"But these machines cannot always be transferred directly," he said. "Pilot projects should precede shipping machinery to Latin America or manufacturing large quantities of machines for these countries. Otherwise, machinery junk yards will result — to their disappointment and to our embarrassment."

"American industry can work more closely with these countries to spur international trade so that in 10 to 25 years we can trade with them as we now trade with Europe, Japan and other parts of the world."

Agriculture in Action

Concerned about an apparent lack of public understanding about farm problems, a group of Michigan farm women have set out in serious fashion to do something about it. They have established a committee on "Public Information and Understanding"—bearing the unlikely combination of "P.I.U." for short, and have set about correcting the difficulties in rural-urban communications. In doing so, they emphasize the importance such communications play in modern life and the tremendous costs we all pay when they break down.

Sensibly, the ladies compare the breakdown of communications between minority groups, which includes modern agriculture, and the rest of the "consuming public"—to the kind of dispute which happens within families.

There, on the surface, a wife may complain about a certain attitude or activity of her husband, not realizing that she is really taking this method to complain about something else. Yet neither person is aware of the true nature of the complaint. The wife, as she appears to herself is saying one thing; as she appears to her husband, she is saying another; and all the while, she is expressing some different and possibly deeper grievance locked securely within her subconscious.

Now apply this to agriculture—to farm programs and the price of food. The housewife has better food available to her at a lower cost (19 cents out of each "spendable" dollar) than at any time in history. Basically, she knows this.

Yet she is confused and frustrated by what she reads about farm programs and agricultural subsidies. She knows that the new farm bill just pushed through Congress carries a fantastically high price tag—more than $18 billion. She suspects that in taxes she is paying for many dollars worth of food each year which goes into federal storage and which she is not allowed to carry home.

Without realizing how strongly farmers themselves oppose such politically oriented "farm programs," the housewife may blame agriculture. Even as she knows better, the complaint is expressed, "Food costs too much."

Correcting such impressions, no matter how gained, will be the task of the P.I.U. Committees in every county.

Area Farmers Attend Bureau's Annual Meet

The farmer of the future must have more know how in the area of farm management, Elton Smith of Caledonia, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau told a group of 300 guests and members at the Ingham County Farm at the bureau's annual meeting last Wednesday in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall at Holt.

Smith went on to discuss the expanded program of the farm bureau and the changes in the field of agriculture. He spoke of the need for a strong legislative program for farmers and more work in the field of marketing farm products and in research.

Alvin Launstein of Williamston, president of the Ingham County Farm Bureau, spoke also of the work of the farm bureau. He said it is an organization designed to make rural America a better place in which to live.

One of the principal purposes of the annual meeting was to obtain members' opinions on a series of resolutions which they had suggested. These resolutions covered extension work, the one man, one vote concept, school dropouts, a state income tax, braccero labor, automobile safety and workmen's compensation for farmers.

The bureau approved all but one of the resolutions. That one concerned school dropouts. The bureau said it was not in favor of the establishment of vocational schools in the county for dropouts.

Three judges, chosen by a committee, selected Mrs. Eileen Droscha of Aurelius as the county's Farm Bureau queen. She will compete in a contest to choose the state queen at Michigan State university November 9, 10 and 11.

Five directors of the county Farm Bureau board were elected. They are Chellis Hall, who will represent Vevay and Leslie to townships; Marlow Kahres, representing Lansing and Delhi townships; Stanley Fay, White Oak and Stockbridge townships and Raymond Powell, Wheatfield and Williamston townships. Each will serve 2 year terms. Henry Buckingham of Aurelius township was chosen a director at large for a 3 year term. The program opened with a dinner at 7:30 p.m., followed by the business session at 8:30 p.m., the crowning of the queen, introduction of guests and prizes for the most attractive table decorations.

Holt Pilot Wins Award For a Task Well Done

HOLT — Lieutenant Paul (Jim) Armour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Armour, 4213 Dallas, Holt, recently was presented with the Air Force "Well Done" award.

During inclement weather Armour and a student pilot were flying on an instrument instructional mission in a T-37 aircraft. During the flight they experienced a failure of Armour's ultra high frequency radio.

After entering the overcast at 4,500 feet, Lieutenant Armour's main inverter failed and approximately one minute later the spare inverter failed, rendering his AC-powered instruments inoperative.

Armour continued his approach on partial panel, broke out of the overcast at 700 feet made a circling approach and landed. For his professional manner in handling the emergencies which prevented a possible loss of lives and saved the Air Force a valuable aircraft, Armour was given the "Well Done" award and a desk lamp with a jet plane and pilot.

The Air Force career man is married to the former Shirley Chapman of Mason. Lieutenant and Mrs. Armour have a son Paul, 1-1/2-years-old and live in Selma, Alabama. They will be visiting their families for 3 weeks in November.

The Lyman Armours have another son, Tom, who is on a geographical survey ship, USS San Pablo. He has been out to sea for 140 days this trip doing duty at Scotland, Amsterdam, Holland and England.

The NCR (No Carbon Required) type of card provides a separate sheet for the student to take home each 6 weeks. This provides the parent and student with a permanent copy of the student's record for home use.

Last year the high school curriculum committee spent considerable time in research with a study of over 100 report cards from various schools throughout the state.

The first report cards will be released today to all DHS students.

Mason Man Is Freed On $750 Bond

Albert Judson, 47, of Mason, accused of shooting Michael Noe, 17, of 4780 Walker road, Leslie, during a disturbance at Judson's home, last September 2 is free on $750 bond pending trial on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon and injuring a person by the discharge of a firearm.

Judson stood mute when arraigned before Judge Sam Street Hughes in Ingham circuit court. Judge Hughes entered a plea of innocent.

Noe was hit in the neck, back arms and legs last September 2 by a blast from a shotgun, sheriff's officers charged.

They quoted Judson as saying Noe and some other youths persisted in throwing stones at a yard light near his trailer home just outside Mason. Judson said he has been harassed by teen agers for the past 5 years.

Noe was hospitalized at Mason General hospital and eventually recovered from his wounds.

Co-Op Extension Service Farm Views And News

By R. C. LOTT

How much nitrogen should be applied for the most profitable yield of corn? If potash is plowed down, will additional potash in the starter fertilizer increase corn yield? Which corn hybrids yielded the highest this year in the variety plots?

These questions and many others will be answered at Corn Day scheduled Friday, October 29, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The plots are located on the southeast corner of Columbia and Clark roads or 2 miles north and one mile west of Dansville on the Diehl Farms.

The 41 different plots cover nearly 40 acres. Each plot will be harvested by a picker-sheller. The corn will be weighed and yields per acre calculated at 15-1/2 percent moisture. This all involves considerable time and effort by Dave and Dorn Diehl assisted by the Ingham county corn committee and agricultural extension agents.

On the county corn committee are Grant Putman and Kenneth Kurtz of Williamston, Dave Diehl of Dansville, Gerald Diamond of Mason and Fred Ruthig of Leslie. Each plot will be labeled, moisture percent and yield stated during corn day.

Four of the 8 rows in each plot will be left unharvested for people to observe stalk and ear qualities. A heavy wind and rain has blown many of the stalks over this fall making the harvest more difficult.

The fertilizer program consisted of plowing down 100 pounds per acre of muriate of potash - 0-0-60 plus 325 pounds of urea 45% nitrogen. The starter fertilizer was 225 pounds per acre of 8-32-16. According to soil test, this was sufficient plant food for a 125 bushel yield goal.

Dave Diehl says that due to the serious July drought, he'll feel happy to get 100 bushels per acre. The question of yield will be answered on corn day.

There will be no formal program. One can observe and study the results of the 41 plots in one hour's time but are welcome to stay longer and look over the plots and exhibits in more detail.

So be sure to circle Friday, October 29, and attend Corn Day - Rain or Shine.

Readings, poetry and interpretive and choral speaking will highlight the literary program. Area junior and senior high school and college students will appear in these productions. Puppet shows will be staged in a special "Children's Corner."

The musical schedule will include programs by the Lansing Junior symphony, an ensemble from the Lansing symphony, the Morley Gates VFW band and the Lansing Federation of Musicians.

A Gas Dryer
not only ends lifting, lugging and hanging clothes
BUT IT DOES A BETTER DRYING JOB!

MAKE THIS SIMPLE TEST

Take two bath towels...dry one outdoors and the other in a friend's clothes dryer. Note how much fluffier and wrinkle-free the towel is that comes from the dryer. Do a load of laundry in her dryer and count how many pieces you can fold and put away that you would ordinarily iron.

And in addition a work-saving modern Gas Dryer will do all these extra jobs

- VALET SERVICE—wrinkles can be removed from corduroy, velveteen or wool garments by placing them in dryer for short tumbling period with damp sponges or bath towels. Place sponges or towel in dryer before putting in clothing to build up steam. Use medium heat setting. Bath towels leave lint on dark cottons, so damp, colorfast sponges are best. There must be moisture to release wrinkles and prevent shrinkage. Remove garments before completely dry and hang on wooden or plastic hangers until completely dry.
- FLUFFING OR DUSTING draperies, chenille bedspreads or other articles that need airing. Place in dryer on "no heat" setting and allow to tumble for 5-10 minutes.
- REMOVING MOTHBALL ODORS from clothes that have been stored. Use "no heat" setting and short tumbling time.
- BATHING SUITS & SNOWSUITS can be dried in preheated dryer with bath towels (which have been in dryer during preheating). Dark towels are advisable with dark fabrics.

Governor Romney Reports

Last week I held a Governor's Conference on Natural Beauty for Michigan. The Conference's steering committee is meeting to prepare a report on the recommendations of the 650 citizens who attended, and will initiate a follow-up action program.

Our goal is to make Michigan the best-groomed State in the nation. To accomplish this goal many action programs are necessary, including changing public apathy about beautification.

I have been extremely pleased at the success of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce in coordinating, at my suggestion, the anti-litter effort through "Keep Michigan Beautiful" Program. This effort has cost the taxpayers of Michigan exactly nothing! It is an excellent example of how industry has led the way toward making Michigan a better place to work and play.

But obviously we need to consider much broader problems than just litter. We must consider all of the things which pollute our water, our air, and our scenery, in all sections of the State - on our highways and county roads, in our cities and towns, our parks and beaches, our lakes and streams.

We must be realistic in promoting beauty in Michigan. After all, there are other reasons for beauty besides the esthetic values that it offers.

Beautification programs are a good investment for the people of Michigan. I am sure that many of our Michigan industries have been impressed by a beautiful community and have located where they are today because the citizens had pride in their town, and took the lead in making it attractive.

We are proud of the industries of our State. They have provided us with a standard of living far above that of most states. Our industries have been leaders in many areas of activity, including beautification.

You know how I feel about water pollution. Now is the time for communities and industry to take the lead in cleaning up the waters of our State.

We can no longer use the excuse that we cannot afford to keep our streams and lakes clean. We must accept the costs of pollution abatement as moral and economic facts of life.

Uncontrolled air pollution also causes economic loss and threatens our health. I am pleased to report the legislature approved my budget so that a program can be developed to control air pollution. By means of engineering, laboratory controls, and intensified education we can make needed improvements.

Our highways are the talk of the country. In fact, one stretch of our expressway system was selected as the most beautiful in the Nation last year. And it is interesting to note that, in this section of highway, only the natural beauty that is so typical of Michigan was utilized.

The people who are already working on screening the nearly 500 junk-yards along our highways are to be commended. But hiding the problem behind a bush is not the real solution. In Michigan, the leading automobile production State, we have a challenge to research this problem so that a long-range solution can be found.

Michigan can boast of one of the best park systems in the Nation. Many communities have programs to eliminate unsightly buildings. It is encouraging, too, that leading power and utility companies are now considering burying their lines in certain scenic areas.

Already, we have the framework for state and local leadership to do much of the work that needs to be done. We should build on these established organizations and look to them for expansion of their efforts. And you may be sure that agencies of state government -- our Conservation, Highway, and Health Departments, and the Executive Office -- will support action when necessary and appropriate.

GROWTH OPPORTUNITY
Forecasts for higher education enrollments in the 1963-70 period were startling when they were first issued early in the decade.

Now that the predicted period is well under way, the forecast is still startling, particularly because it has turned out to be a very conservative estimate. Experts said as early as 1961 that enrollments in Michigan's public colleges and universities would be boosted as much as 10,000 students a year in the 1963-70 period.

This year the increase hit just under the 20,000 mark.

Predicting even a year ahead is becoming more and more difficult. Last year the 12 schools getting state support estimated they would have 147,312 students this fall. The actual enrollment was nearly 2,900 above this estimate.

Largest of the state universities, Michigan State, came close to its prediction of 35,571 students. Only nine more were enrolled last month on the East Lansing campus.

Only Grand Valley State College undershot its estimate. The forecast enrollment was 1,200 but student numbers are 1,170. This still represents a sharp boost from the 530 students enrolled last fall.

The newest state college is now leaping toward its long-range size projection.

NEW BIG JOB

Much new responsibility was placed with Michigan's Department of Administration under the 1965 government reorganization law.

The department previously included seven divisions. The two best known responsibilities were accounting and budget. Others were building engineering, property management, purchasing, motor transport and office services.

Added by the new law, taking effect next year, were jurisdictions over the state building commission, building authority and veterans trust fund board.

Retirement systems for various lower court judges; municipal, state, and public school employees, and the State Police also will come under the reorganized department.

Headed by a controller appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the Governor, the department of administration prepares the state budget requests for the various agencies. The controller then works out the final budget which goes to the legislature after consultation with the Governor.

This department has been in the news more than usual the past two years because it has been largely responsible for getting under way the giant capitol development project now becoming a reality.

Maintenance of all state office facilities, purchase of materials and equipment, disposal of surplus and salvage, acquisition and operation of the state motor pool also come under control and supervision of the Department of Administration.

TAX DEATH

Public reaction to the controversial state income tax question could prove fatal to incumbent legislators if an independent survey is any indication.

Legislators are more aware of this than probably anyone else, as evidenced by their reluctance to conduct the proposed referendum which would allow eventual consideration of a graduated income tax. Some lawmakers remember the public was told they would not face an income tax if they would approve the 4% sales tax.

The recent poll did not actually propose an income tax. It only sought to measure if respondents favored a change in the constitution which would permit a graduated income tax. But researchers' responses showed that the public wants no part of any kind of income tax.

The statewide survey by the Michigan Taxpayers Association got an average return rate on a mailing. The results of the return reflect essentially what many lawmakers have been saying for years, and now say is the reason a referendum is unnecessary.

Nine out of 10 respondents oppose a state income tax, and the same number said they would vote against legislators who enacted one.

Many felt the annual discussions of tax reform are just a disguise for more new taxes, another point which has been heard quite frequently in the state Capitol in recent weeks.

Car Tips Over, Leslie Pair Die

LESLIE -- Death came Saturday to a Leslie couple while on an automobile trip near Lexington, Kentucky. Killed were Roger J. Bickel, 57, and his wife, Louella, 54, when their car left the road and turned over.

Four other persons, passengers in the car, were injured. They were Roger Bickel, Jr., 28; Deborah Bickel, 12; Betty Tedder, 25, and Lorrie Redder, 18, both of Route 2, Leslie.

The group were on their way home to Leslie from Florida where they had spent a week. Details of the accident were not available, except that the Bickel car went out of control.

Mr. and Mrs. Bickel had lived in Leslie for at least 10 years, officials at the Patience-Montgomery funeral home in Jackson, where the bodies of the victims were taken, said.

Bickel was employed as a machinist at the General Products plant in Jackson and Mrs. Bickel had been employed for the past 10 years as a nurses' aide at Mercy hospital in Jackson.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at the SS Cornelius Cyprian church in Bunker Hill with burial in Woodlawn cemetery here.

Be Alert For Fires

Every week should be fire prevention week on the farm. And, expensive, special equipment isn't necessary to put out a farm fire. But, it is important to have necessary equipment available and in working order in case of fire. In the event of fire, call the fire department and your neighbors immediately. Don't wait for help to arrive. Go to work with your own equipment. Delay increases the chances of a fire getting out of control.

Specialists in rural defense at Michigan State university report that water is still the best fire control weapon. You should always have plenty on hand. They advise locating a one near each small building and one by the barn entrance. Buckets should be submerged in the barrels so they are handy at the time of the fire.

Automatic water systems should be operated by an electric circuit independent of building wiring. Of course, water will not put out all types of fires. Commercial chemical fire extinguishers of carbon dioxide or dry-powder are best on liquid fuel and electrical fires. Dry-powder extinguishers are especially good for gasoline blazes and should be carried on all motorized equipment.

Wet mops, brooms and bur-lap bags are excellent for beating out grass and brush fires. Garden hose, hand pump garden sprayers, an orchard sprayer mounted on a tractor, water buckets and barrels of sand and sawdust mixed with baking soda are excellent for extinguishing building and farm machinery fires.

Attractor and plow can throw a fire break around buildings. A short handled shovel to throw dirt on fires in farm equipment is also an excellent fire fighting tool. One should be carried on all motorized equipment for safety. Ladders should be quickly available for fighting fires and rescuing trapped persons. Even considering the possibility of a fire can be a big help in an emergency.

Child Runs Across Road Into a Truck

A 3 year-old Mason girl narrowly escaped death when she ran into the side of a truck on Columbia road just west of Every road last Wednesday evening.

Brused and badly shaken was Janette Johnson, 327 1/2 Elm street, Mason. A witness told investigating Ingham county sheriff's men that the youngster was crossing the road and ran into the side of the truck driven by Melvin J. Brown, 54 of 116 Meech road, Dansville.

Brown told the officers that he didn't see the Johnson girl, but did see several other children playing near the road ahead of him and was slowing down when the incident occurred.

Holt Teen Injured in 2-Car Crash

HOLT-Linda G. Boehme, 19 of 1512 Hogsback road, was treated at Mason General hospital for injuries she received in a 2 car accident in Holt last Wednesday.

The car she was driving collided with one driven by James C. Dalton of Lansing on US-127, Ingham county sheriff's deputies said. Dalton told officers he was attempting to make a left-hand turn and had his turn signal and brakes on.

The woman said she realized the car was either stopped or going very slow, but didn't see either the turn indicator or the brake lights. No ticket was issued.

Cash Not Enough

There are people in the world who believe that a cash contribution is all that they are required to do for their communities.

The best way to get somewhere in life is to know where you are going and get up sufficient steam for the journey.

"FROM HERE"

...it appears our world needs a lot of 'fixin' up.' Too often, too many of us do our day-to-day job in a half-hearted way. We lose our perspective...our relationship to the world. We get to feeling our importance.

Right there is our undoing. When a man loses humility, he is on the way out. This man, with his wrench, looks at the world from way up. He wonders if he did his best on the foundation underneath him...if the high walls will support the structure he is atop. Both are basic to good building. The church, too, is necessary in the building of character, in the transforming of souls. It will help us greatly in the training of people to help fix our world. It will make good stewards of us who will be more anxious to share the fruit of the vine. So let us attend church or Synagogue every week. Let us, in earnest, help this man 'fix up' our world.

Yes is The Church
The Church is Yes - from a contribution for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the Church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support the program of the Church. Be a faithful member and attend services regularly.

Auxiliary Will Mark Anniversary

HOLT — The post house of the Oldsmobile Higgins post No. 3727 will be the scene Thursday evening of a program to mark the 25th anniversary of the post auxiliary. The post house is located at 2108 N. Cedar street in Holt. The program will start at 8 p.m.

Eight charter members of the organization will be honored. All are still active and 3 Gold Star mothers will be paid tribute. The 3 are Mrs. Erma Higgins, after whose son the post was named; Mrs. Gertrude Chumack and Mrs. Mildred Kutchey.

The oldest charter member is Mrs. Louise Johnson, 68, who has promised to bake a 25th anniversary cake for the occasion.

The anniversary dates back to October 10, 1940 when the old City of Lansing auxiliary No. 3727 was chartered. In March 1957 the City of Lansing post and the Robert S. Higgins Post 9 Veterans of Foreign Wars was merged. The name of one post and the number of the other were retained into the Robert S. Higgins Post 3727, which the auxiliary also assumed. The Higgins post had no auxiliary at the time.

In 1958 the Oldsmobile post of Lansing was merged with the Higgins post and the title of Oldsmobile-Higgins post was adopted. The auxiliary now carries the same title.

The posts had been meeting at the Lansing Civic Center, but late last year the post purchased the former Presbyterian church property in Holt and moved to its new quarters in January of this year and the auxiliary went along too.

Community Players Score In Trilogy, 'The Oresteia'

Tackling a most difficult vehicle to produce, the Community Circle Players did an admirable piece of work in their presentation of Aeschylus' trilogy "The Oresteia" last Thursday night at the Barn theater on Okemos road.

The presentation was an invitational preview and the audience thoroughly enjoyed this bit of Greek mythology which is laid in Athens some 2000 years ago.

"The Oresteia" is heavy drama that requires only the finest acting to be a success.

Under the guiding genius of Waymen M. Underwood, the director, the Players came forth with a performance that would have done credit to No. 1 road company of professionals.

Public performances of the play were presented last Friday afternoon and Friday and Saturday evenings. It will be presented again at the Barn next Friday and Saturday evenings.

The story of "The Oresteia" depicts the return of King Agamemnon of Troy and his murder by his wife, Clytemnestra, a scheming and wicked queen who plots and murders with impunity. She is aided in her nefarious operations by Aegistheus.

The opening chorus sketches the bloody history of the House of Atreus and narrates the sacrifice of Iphigenia which Clytemnestra makes justification of her act.

Orestes, the son of Clytemnestra and Agamemnon, returns to Athens and, with his sister, Electra, plots the murder of Clytemnestra and Aegistheus.

Orestes is driven forth, maddened and aroused to vengeance by his matricide.

He is tried at the Aeropagus and is purified by Apollo.

Mary Lynn Rooka shone brilliantly in the role of the murderous Clytemnestra and Bruce Pickering as Orestes turned in a most capable performance.

Others who displayed histrionic ability were Helen Shaw as Cassandra, the captive prophetess; Mable Young in a poignant role as Orestes' aged nurse; Earl Zetterhom as the ill fated King Agamemnon, John Fouts as Aegisthus, Esther Armstrong as Athena and Larry Glalster in the role of Apollo.

Three young girls comprised the chorus with Underwood in the role of their leader. They were Merrilyn Brand, Lucia Ryder, and Pat Shaw.

The costumes, scenery and lighting added lustre to the play which was a real feather in the cap of the Community Players. If you haven't seen "The Oresteia" you have 2 more opportunities — next Friday and Saturday nights. Curtain is 8:30 p.m.

New Club Pep Rally Sparks Forms at Dansville

By CHERI RUEST
Dansville High School
DANSVILLE — It was announced last week that a new club is to be formed at Dansville high. The new club will be called the College Club. All Juniors and Seniors who are interested in attending college are eligible to join the club. The purpose of the club is to acquaint college prep students with the various universities and colleges in Michigan. The organization will meet once a month with a representative from a college. Last Monday the students met with Vernon Jensen from the University of Michigan. He discussed information concerning scholarships, aids, and general admission to the school.

The journalism class announced last Friday that the yearbook subscriptions have reached 185 so far. The drive, which started on October 5, will end on October 19.

The journalism class as well as the rest of the student body received the tragic news of the death of Roy Hunt, husband of the commercial teacher, Mrs. Alice Hunt.

Club meetings took place last Monday during the 5th period. The clubs that met were F.F.A., the F.H.A., and the Student Council.

The F.F.A. boys met with their girls and discussed the new club. See NEW CLUB, C-6

Holt May Pick Honor Student Every Month

HOLT — The student council at Holt high schools in the process of organizing and scheduling the activities pertaining to the present school year.

Among the topics being discussed are their constitution, the student handbook and the organization of a food committee. Also under consideration is the naming of an honor student of the month to be chosen by the faculty. The student would be selected according to high scholastic average and citizenship grades.

Another topic of discussion has been school pennants. The student council, with financial assistance from other organizations, plans to purchase a pennant which will represent each school in the Capitol Circuit league for display in the Holt high school gymnasium. Just recently the officers of the student council spent a day on the University of Michigan campus to attend the 20th annual Student Council conference for senior high schools. Comparisons were made of student councils throughout the area. Through lectures the members of the student council were introduced to new ideas for more efficient operating of their councils. Daniel Hovanessian, sponsor of Holt's council, accompanied the group to Ann Arbor.

The building and grounds mission has many worthwhile projects on their agenda. Miss Annette Thomson is directing this group. Plans for one locker check per month are under way. The commission hopes to explain the reasons for these locker checks in the near future.

Another project of the commission is sponsoring "Clean up week". This will be proposed to the student body. Competition between classes will be a part of this project. All of the council, which represents officers and 4 representatives from each class, is working to accomplish all the projects that are already under way and expect that others will be introduced in the future.

The council officers are Dewey Marlatt Jr., president; Lee Pawlowski, vice president; Tomene Griffith, secretary; Deborah Danelley, treasurer; Annette Thomson, building and grounds commissioner.

Holt Juniors Working On Class Play

By PAT MARTIN
Holt High School

HOLT — The Junior play, "Mr. Blandings Builds a Dream House" is taking shape and members of the cast have been busy learning their lines and rehearsing. The play will be presented November 12 and 13.

Jim Spencer and Linda Galka have the leading roles of Mr. and Mrs. Blandings.

Others in the cast are Barbara White, Mike Priest, Linda Adams, Judy Rasey, John Leonard, Eric Bickle, Allen Good, Shirley Thies, Lynn Griffin, Peggy Duline, Sheryl Hill, Bruce Sawyer, Lee Pawlowski, Bruce Stevens and Shirley Robertson.

Mrs. Karen Larson is directing the play. She has 2 assistants, Randi Donahue and Sue Sullivan.

The GAA initiation brought some oddities in wearing apparel at Holt high school. Initiates were required to wear a full slip under a straight skirt and 2 sweaters. They also had to wear a flat shoe on one foot and a tennis shoe on the other.

The fun began at 7:30 p.m. Limburger cheese was the fragrance of the night. The cheese was placed on the girls and then they were sent on a scavenger hunt around Holt.

Upon their return the initiation ritual began and then, full-fledged members. Refreshments were served to close the evening.

Lynn Ried presided over a Key club meeting last Wednesday in the shop room of the high school. Members discussed plans for a dance they are sponsoring after the football game with O'Rafferty high school October 22. The club also is planning a car wash Saturday at the Holt Standard station.

Okemos Teens Find Pleasure In Giving Service to Others

HASLETT — The crowning of our queen, Alana David, took place during the half-time last Friday night at Haslett.

The junior's float "Mary Poppins" received first place in the float contest. The band played "Chim Chim Cheree" for the winning float. In second place was the sophomore's float "Molly Brown". The band played the music.

The Youth Fellowship of Okemos Community church sponsors work projects that are attended by many Okemos youth. Last year they had their first work project and the reaction of the students was so enthusiastic that this year they are being planned on a regular basis. The group already has had one project at the Coldwater State Home and Training School, which 45 teens of many religious backgrounds spent one day touring the institution and entertaining a group of 72 mentally retarded girls.

JOEL

The next project will be a "winterizing" day for area shut-ins and a work day in the tentative planning stage for Highfields, the opportunity camp for boys now being established near Onondaga.

Okemos high school's Honor society is also planning work projects with a large scale project in the Ozarks slated for the spring.

The Student Parliament is sponsoring the annual Community Services Day towards the end of October. Donations will be made to charities selected by student parliament from money raised by auctioning off the parliament members as slaves for the day. See OKEMOS TEENS, C-6

ROYALTY - Bonnie Teachout and Tom Brainard, Stockbridge Homecoming king and queen.

Queen Crowned, Panthers Win At Homecoming

By RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge High School

STOCKBRIDGE — Homecoming night was a big success all around for Stockbridge high school last Friday.

Most important was the Panther win over the previously undefeated Dansville Aggies.

The newly formed pep club, the band and the rest of the spectators yelled their hearts out as the Panthers came from behind to score the winning touchdown with only minutes remaining in the game.

Congratulations to the team, you did a great job. The half time was filled with homecoming activities. While the band played appropriate music, the class queens and floats paraded around the field. Each queen was introduced, and finally the big moment came when Bonnie Teachout was named as this year's Homecoming Queen. She was crowned last year's queen, Carol Hardt.

The junior class float, depicting a rocket about to lift off from Cape Kennedy, won first place in the float judging contest. The sophomores were second with their "Statue of Victory." Third place went to the seniors while the freshmen float was fourth.

Finally, the class rings arrived Tuesday, much to the joy of the juniors. They were allowed to pick them up during a morning study hall and anyone who didn't have a free period received theirs at noon.

After the game, the band with all members wearing their hats backwards to signify victory, led a parade through town, back to the school.

Queen Bonnie and her court reigned over the homecoming dance at the school from 9 to midnight. Music was furnished by the Diamonds, a four piece band.

The newly formed Stockbridge high school pep club has a mascot and he was at the game Friday night helping lead cheers right along with the cheerleaders. You probably didn't recognize him because of the panther mask and long tail he was wearing. (He is seventh grader Eddie Aluk)

There was a rousing pep meeting at the school Friday afternoon. Members of the band were excused from classes early so the band could be playing the fight song as the students entered the gym.

The cheerleaders led a few cheers and put on a short skit.

The spirit jug was also awarded to the class that yelled the loudest during the rally. For the first time in the history of the jug, it was won by the freshmen. The rally ended with the singing of the school song and two hearty yells of BEATDANSVILLE.

Mothers of Players Feted at Webberville

By MARSHA LOTT
Webberville High School

WEBBERVILLE — The first "Moms Night" to honor the mothers of the football players was a big success at Webberville. At pre-game ceremonies each player and his mother were introduced and the boys then escorted their mothers to their seats of honor on the football field. The cheerleaders made signs for each mother to wear with their sons' number on it.

After the game the players and their moms met for refreshments.

The F.H.A. had a "Mothers Tea" last week in the Home Ec room. The mothers of the girls attended and the initiation of new members took place. Following the program refreshments were served.

The various classes have had class meetings to decide on the activities they wanted to sponsor during the year. Some of the activities they plan to sponsor are dances, fun nights, car washes, bake sales and other special events.

The West Locke 4-H Club had a hayride Saturday night at the home of Janis Waters. After the hayride everyone enjoyed sloppy Joes and punch.

Parade at Williamston Is Big Homecoming Event

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston high school students launched their Homecoming program last Friday night with a parade which started at 7:30 p.m. at the parking lot of St. Mary's school, moved south to Grand River avenue, west to Jackson street and south of Jackson to the football field where Fowlerville and Williamston met in the Homecoming football game.

Robert Mittendorf was the parade marshal in the parade that included these units: Police escort and traffic control, Williamston high school band, The Linette Twirlers, fire department units, an automobile carrying the senior queen candidate, the senior class float, an entry by the Turner Implement company, Boy Scouts, an automobile carrying the junior queen candidate, the junior class float. Cub Scouts, an entry of the Williamston Implement Company, an automobile carrying the freshman queen candidate, the freshman float, parade marshal, new car dealer entries, junior and senior cheerleaders.

Four prizes were awarded for the floats, provided by the Williamston Chamber of Commerce. First prize was $25, 2nd $15, 3rd $10 and 4th $5. The Chamber of Commerce also sponsored the parade.

The first prize went to the junior class, which also provided the Homecoming Queen, Miss June Lowrie. Mike McNelly, a senior, was the Homecoming King.

The junior class which in past years have taken last place, this year came up with a winning idea. Their float scored 285 points out of a possible 300. The theme of the float was centered on a Dutch festival. On the float was a windmill with a water wheel that actually splashed the water around. Outside a dike was a water pond complete with ducks.

The seniors and the sophomores tied for 2nd place. The senior class float, built on a bus chassis had a revolving Aladdin's lamp with lights playing on it. The sophomores with their theme of India, built an elephant with the slogan "Trunk 'Em."

The freshmen produced the best Freshman float ever. They built a volcano with smoke erupting from the top. Their slogan was "Scorch 'Em."

The junior varsity float depicted a football field with the slogan: "The team that sticks together wins."

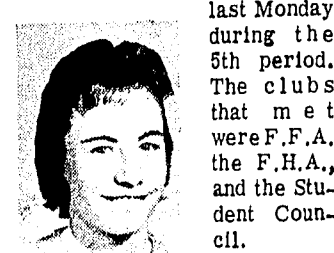

The floats all took a lot of time and work in their construction and many considered these floats this year the best ever shown and the most difficult to judge.

The coronation of the Homecoming queen took place at half time of the game. Dee Dee Shields, the 1964 queen, and her escort, Ralph Pierce, handed down their honors to Mike McNelly and June Lowrie. Members of the court were: Tom Mouser and Sandy Schneemann, freshmen; Bill Schoff and Sue Bixby, sophomores; Mike Huffman, junior, and Jo Lyn Schroeder, senior. Bill Strong and Ingrid Lemke were honorary king and queen.

At the Homecoming dance following the game, Bob Carey, disc jockey spun records for dancers. The theme of the dance was based on Germany. Murals on the walls along with other decorations set the theme.

and the juniors who worked in it appreciated the new building greatly. It is 3 times as large as the old one, and is a much easier and more pleasant to work. The old concession stand was left standing for the F.F.A. or any other clubs wishing to sell things during the games.

Last week any juniors or seniors wishing to do so had a choice to sign up for one of 2 tests. The math teachers provided any interested student with samples of the Michigan Math Scholarship test, which will be given on November 19. Snook, a counselor, talked to the junior English classes and sent a list around for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, to be administered on October 23. This test is offered by the College Entrance Examination Board to any schools wishing to use it.

Although we tied the game with O'Rafferty, 0-0, everyone was in great spirits for the record hop after the game, and for the dress-up dance Saturday night. Music for the latter dance was provided by a band from Albion.

The boys taking wood shop worked hard last week to finish building the new concession stand in time for Homecoming.

All classes and many clubs met for business meetings Wednesday. The F.H.A. is making plans to attend the Regional meeting Saturday, October 23. The Annual Club has sold many advertisements and has started planning the 1966 "Blackhawk".

The class meetings discussed mostly the floats for the Homecoming's "Royal Night of Victory." Most classes have started working on their floats so they will be completed by October 29.

A skit put on by the cheerleaders made the pep meeting Friday a little peppier. The band played the Star Spangled Banner to begin the pep meeting and the School song to end it. In between, several cheers were yelled and a pep talk was given by Tony Beershboch, an injured varsity player.

Style Show, Card Party Planned by Holt Group

The Holt Welcome Wagon Newcomers club have visions of beautiful clothing and an evening of card playing, fun dancing in their heads for the group's big evening Thursday, October 21.

In existence for 3 years and having approximately 70 members, the women are in a frenzy of last minute plans for their annual style show and card party to be held at the Holt high school gymnasium. The party which will begin at 8 p.m. and continue through midnight is expected to attract some 300 women from all over the county.

Narrating the style show will be Mrs. Lynn (Elenora) Bullen, fashion co-ordinator from The Dancer's Store in Mason. All the models will be wearing apparel from the Dancer store.

For the show there will be 5 adult models, 5 teenage models, including Holt's homecoming queen, Miss Diana Dart, and 2 young children. Each model will have 3 changes of clothing so any number of styles will be on parade.

There will be 3 specific groupings of styles, Mrs. Bullen said. They will be of sportswear, afternoon dresses or suits and coats, hats and shoes.

Models will be wearing the festive colors for this season of pastel melon and mint green.

Models will be wearing the festive colors for this season of pastel melon and mint green. Also featured will be the new fall wools primarily in shades of burgundy. For a look to future styles, the young teens will be wearing the mid-calf courages boot.

The style show is to start promptly at 8 and is expected to last for one hour. After having their apparel described while on stage, the models will then move through the card tables so all can see the styles and inspect the fabrics.

Then the style show guests can settle down to an evening of any kind of card games they prefer to play. Any number of door prizes will be given out to those attending including an electric blanket, various gift certificates and a fruit basket. Refreshments will also be served throughout the evening.

All proceeds from the style show-card party go to the Holt schools library. At last year's party the Newcomers club was able to make some $70 which was given to the schools for new books. This year the club intends to do the same. About 100 tickets have already been sold to the event and the women expect about 200 to be sold at the door Thursday night.

The adult models include Mrs. John Brubaker, Welcome Wagon hostess for the Holt area, Mrs. Robert Atkinson, Dallas street, Holt, Mrs. For-gus Parks, Keller road, Holt, Mrs. Marlene Yokum, Park lane, Holt, and Mrs. Clayton Curry, Gunn road, Holt.

Meetings for the Holt club are held every third Thursday of each month with a special program planned for the evening. So far the women haven't planned any activities that include their husbands, they work together for the community's benefit exclusively.

Another activity that the group participated in was Michigan Week last year. The Holt club along with Mason and East Lansing sponsored a tea during Michigan week and expect to help again this year.

Officers for this year's Newcomers club include Mrs. Jerry Simpson, president, of Hall street; Mrs. Harold Parsons, vice-president, of Summit street; Mrs. Atkinson, secretary; Mrs. Jerry Stevens, historian and publicity chairman, of Adelpha street.

County 4-H's Learn of Yarns, Fabrics, Styles

With fall and Christmas here or on the way, women have turned to the enjoyable hobby of knitting. Following the trend are young 4-Hers who decide on a project each year, complete the project and then put it on display at the fair for its evaluation.

Recently 8 area 4-H club members modeled sportswear and pre-teen fashions for a 4-H clothing and knitting day which was at the J.W. Knapp company in Lansing.

Over 150 members and leaders had the opportunity to see first hand new styles, colors and trends in fall fashions, fabric and yarn.

Helping with the program were Mrs. June Johnston, personnel manager at the store, and Mrs. Annabelle Shewell, who discussed how to develop "magic through your wardrobe," Miss Sue Carey, who showed new fashions in sportswear and teenage clothing, and Miss Janice Moore, who gave hints in buying fabric and yarns.

Models for the show included Vicky Mueller and Sylvia Wasson of the Mason City Slickers 4-H club; Joyce Pollok and Jeanne Hills of the Skeeter Hill 4-H club of Mason; Mary Thorborn of the Sandhill club of Mason; and Becky Robinson, Beverly Lemon and Diane Warvel of the Holt Well-Dunn 4-H club.

Buyersmanship was also a topic of discussion at the special day. Miss Rhoda Peck, extension 4-H and youth agent for Ingham county, talked of buyersmanship in reference to the part it now plays in 4-H clothing and knitting projects.

At a special program devoted entirely to knitting last Wednesday, October 13, over 50 4-H members, leaders, parents and yarn dealers in Ingham county attended.

This was staged at the Delhi township hall in Holt and was themed "young moderns knit clothing." The program was co-sponsored by Ingham county 4-H clubs and the Emile Bernat and Sons company of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Ruth Hohn, a 4-H leader in Burt Lake, Michigan, represented the yarn company.

Knitted garments that had been made by 4-H members were included in her wardrobe of fashions with over 20 knitted garments modeled by the following county 4-Hers: Robin Oesterle, Laura Floeter and Linda Barnhart of Williamston West Locke club; Kathy Deeg, of the Bullen club; Nancy Farnsworth, Regina Felton and Karen Thorburn of the Mason Sandhill club; Gail Parmalee and Carol Walton of the Canaan Lumberjacks, and Cindy White and Cindy Tomlin of the Grand Valley 4-H club.

Mrs. Hohn told about new yarns, gave some guidelines for yarn and pattern selection, new ideas for project work for beginning, intermediate and advanced knitters, plus also showing some new knitting techniques.

This Week's RECIPE

Sallies from Sally

By Sally Robinson

A real fall meal favorite of the William Parsons family, 615 E. Ash street, Mason is a "Nutty Noodle Casserole." Mrs. Parsons, who has 7 hungry youngsters to keep happy, says her children really like cheese, especially in her easy-to-prepare casserole.

Nutty Noodle Casserole
2 pounds of hamburger
2 medium sized onions
2 cups of mushroom soup
2 cups of milk
1/2 pound sharp cheese
1 can of chow mein noodles
1 pound of noodles

Dice and brown the onions and combine with the 2 pounds of hamburger. To this add the mushroom soup, milk and sharp cheese. Cook a pound of noodles and stir this into the mixture.

Bake this for 15 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Then spread the chow mein noodles over the top of the mixture and bake for another 15 minutes.

This will easily serve 8 to 10 persons.

Williamston Yule Bazaar Plans Set

Finishing touches are being completed for the Christmas in October' bazaar to be held at the Williamston Community Methodist church on Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

There will be a real Christmas tree decorated for the festive event, plus a pantry with jam, jellies, baked goods and goodies. Also planned for the event will be a coffee shop with coffee, pies, sandwiches and fried cakes.

Enthusiastic, ambitious and lots of fun are a few words that describe Mrs. William (Buddy) Porter. About 2 weeks ago she held an open house coffee at her home to get the area and residential volunteer workers for the Mason Area Community Chest campaign organized.

This week she and Mrs. Paul Cheney instigated participation in a Presbyterian workshop meeting on a large group level rather than just one or 2 people to represent the Mason church.

The idea started as a caravan of cars winding their way to Howell, but the idea snow-balled and soon Mrs. Porter thought it would be more fun to charter a bus and everyone go together.

It is hard to predict what type of fun-thing Mrs. Porter will be working on next week, but one thing is sure, she is always ready and willing to do her part in making an organization click.

This week's household hint comes from me via one of Mrs. Gibson (Helene) Howitt's home economics classes. When a recipe calls for a greased pan, don't get your hands all gooey. Tear off a small sheet of waxed paper, wrap it around your hand, dip it in the shortening and go to it. It is an easy method with nothing to clean up later. (P.S. I'm still looking for household hints—have you sent yours in?)

Just for a lark and relaxing time, try to make time to visit your favorite summer recreation spot before the snow flies. This past weekend I helped close up the family cabin for winter and without all the resorters the place takes on a whole new, QUIET atmosphere. Very enjoyable, especially when the scenery is sporting all the beautiful fall colors.

Mrs. Leland Austin just returned from a vacation which was spent visiting relatives. The primary portion of her trip was spent in Memphis, Tennessee. She says the leaves are the same beautiful colors down South as they are here.

Many people have remarked about Mrs. D. L. Bray's hickory nut cake recipe that was printed last week. The big question is where do you get hickory nuts? Mrs. Bernard Plakke does 2 things at once in the fall; first she takes a Sunday afternoon drive to see all the beautiful trees and secondly, her travels take her out Meridian road toward Leslie and down some of the side roads, where she says there are loads of hickory nut trees.

The trees are usually in front of a home and the farmers are more than welcome to let someone pick up the nuts, provided they ask first, Mrs. Plakke said. Happy hunting.

ALL ABOARD - Among the 22 representatives from the First Presbyterian church of Mason to attend an all-day workshop in Howell are (left to right) Mrs. Harlan Smith, Mrs. Lyle Oesterle, Mrs. David Lambertson, Mrs. Robert Seyfarth, Mrs. William Porter, Mrs. Cecil Hall, Mrs. Ralph Strope, Mrs. Leslie Palmer and Mrs. Paul Cheney. The group all rode over to the meeting together on a chartered bus.

City Presbyterian Club Goes Enmasse To Meet

The women's association of the First Presbyterian church of Mason tried something new and found it to be lots of fun.

A Presbyterian workshop meeting for several counties was conducted in Howell Monday for association officers and future officers. In the past only 3 or 4 women have attended to represent each church.

Some 23 women from Mason decided to do things together and all of them went to the meeting in a group via chartered bus. In the words of Mrs. William Porter, "It was a ball!"

Needless to say they were the largest group attending from any one church. Those attending from around the state were so pleased to see so many women with such enthusiasm, they gave the Mason women a standing ovation.

A prayer was given by Mrs.

On the 30 minute bus ride over the women were led in a few cheers by a former cheerleader, Mrs. Kenneth Sheffer. Adding to the fun were 2 pennants made by Mrs. Joan Carrier for the group to display.

Then came an old-fashioned hymn sing, which everyone participated in with gusto.

Following the workshop meeting, the women boarded the bus for the trip home, but there was no time for singing or cheering. It was a time to talk over all the new things that had been learned at the workshop and decide how to initiate some of the new ideas at the Mason church.

The familiar saying "a good time was had by all" certainly applies to the women's association day spent in Howell.

Those attending the workshop included Mrs. Ralph (Bess) Strope, Mrs. Ray Yeutter, Mrs. Alfred Powelson, Mrs. Dan Gilerist, Mrs. Cecil Hall, Mrs. Bernard Plakke, Mrs. William Porter, Mrs. Paul Cheney, Mrs. Leslie (Eleanor) Palmer, Mrs. Stanley Cornwall, Mrs. U. # 'Justice Handcuffed In Probate Courts' Judge Drake Asserts

"Justice is being handcuffed in Michigan's probate courts in dealing with children," Judge Robert Drake said last week.

Judge Drake, a former judge of probate in Ingham county, is now deputy administrator of the Michigan supreme court assigned to probate courts.

He made the statement in an address delivered at a conference concerning juveniles for police, courts and schools at Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

"The new concept of the juvenile court, initiated in 1899," he said "was to increase the court's ability to dispense justice for children. In addition to the interests of the accused and society considered in criminal cases, at least two further factors are present in children's cases -- the youthful age of the respondent, and the need, according to at least our present social structure, for adequate parental relationships. This new, more adequate concept in terms of justice for the child was to offer greater choice for disposition by the court and be known as 'individualized justice'." (Cite Dean Roscoe Pound.)

"In actual practice, the facts are clear that due to lack of authority and facilities for disposition we have done exactly the opposite of what was planned. We have handcuffed justice in the probate courts in dealing with children."

The probate court has jurisdiction to age 17, but Judge Drake pointed out that over half of all major felonies in Michigan are committed by persons under 17 and this amounted to over 26,000 major felony apprehensions of persons under 17 last year.

"Let's compare facilities available for those under 17, committing most of the major felonies, with those available for persons over 17. As you know, the probate court has no authority to commit to jail except in very limited situations pending a hearing. At the local level, there are only 22 of the 83 counties that have a detention home of any description. There are none above the Bay-Muskegon line.

"On the other hand, we take it for granted that a jail will be immediately available for persons over 17. There are 81 in the 83 counties. In addition there are city and municipal jails. In counties where there are juvenile detention homes, space is typically extremely limited and it must serve for all children, most of whom have committed offenses far less serious than felonies.

"The largest group are runaways, and truant, and those reflecting strictly home and school adjustment problems. The greatest number the juvenile courts have on official caseloads have committed no offense whatsoever; they are the mistreated, beaten, abandoned, and neglected children. Of 23,000 on caseloads statewide, only 9,000 have committed any offense; 14,000 have committed no offense of any sort.

"In Ingham county the capacity at our juvenile home is 17, covering all types. In the county jail, there is room for 112, and there are city jails in addition. We are better off than most. Statewide, there is a capacity for 5,096 in jails, as compared to capacity for 572 in detention homes. At the state level? There is a present capacity for some 800 at Boys' Training School, and there has been much progress in recent years. However, we are still far short of the 11,000 beds for persons over 17.

"It is not true, as has apparently been assumed, that probation will work for juveniles, but we need more sophisticated facilities for those over 17. The reverse is true. Whereas, new placements, even in different communities, and jobs are possible for adults, this is not true for children. We must provide an alternative home, school and training for life if these important factors are missing!

"I am not arguing for a great string of juvenile jails. We have enough or too many jails to go around now. We do desperately need, however, facilities appropriate to the needs of the great preponderance of children flooding juvenile court dockets."

In order that we remain on course for our polar star, what is needed to bring justice into our guidance system in relationships with children? I. Consistency in our Relationships as Agencies Dealing with Youth

From the view of the juvenile court, midstream between diagnosis and our feeble capacity for disposition, one of the most glaring departures from any definition of justice, he declared, is the inconsistent and downright conflicting theory the juvenile is subjected to in running the prescribed course of agencies in a typical community.

"Consistency is necessary for even the normal child," he said. "Why do we subject a child who already has problems to such bewilderment? First the school counselor, then the child guidance clinic, the police investigator, the court investigator, the detention home staff, perhaps a psychologist or psychiatrist, the judge, a probation officer, perhaps a foster home or two, institutional staff, and a parole officer. These are par. Each of them went to a different school and goes to separate seminars each year to learn some new theories, and what's wrong with the way the rest are doing the job. We diagnose the blazes out of these kids. By the time they have run this obstacle course they know more theories than the psychiatrist at the state hospital where they're likely to wind up. Is it any wonder they make up their own rules?"

"This meeting can well be a start in the right direction of providing the vital ingredients of consistency based on any concept of justice from the receiving end. Through communication and resulting coordination of effort a program of effective justice can be developed."

A first step, he suggested, is to set up communications to establish the type of coordinated and combined effort essential if it is to be effective. This must be accomplished, he said, primarily at the local level since people, rather than regulations handle the cases.

He said the following can be accomplished:

1. Establish emergency detention and shelter-care procedures. (This can also include obtaining facilities since a combined effort is employed.)
2. Establish interviewing procedures. (Police-school; police-court; school-court; and other combinations.)
3. Determine responsibility for form and extent of investigation by various agencies (avoiding duplication).
4. Determine responsibility for diagnosis by various agencies. (Avoiding duplication, inconsistencies, and conflicts.)
5. Determine responsibility for therapeutics, utilizing all existing placement and supervision facilities. Provide for follow up.
6. Develop jointly and cooperatively additional facilities required for appropriate and effective care of children.

"This can best be accomplished by forming a nonprofit corporation, he said. Local service clubs, foundations, private interested persons, as well as schools, courts, and police want to help with such programs and should be included.

He listed factors involved as school drop-outs, broken homes, racial discrimination, slums, and youth unemployment, problems for which the several agencies and others in the community must ultimately provide remedies. No one agency can offer solutions acting alone. Schools cannot solve alone the problems of drop-outs because of the second factor - broken homes (not all of them are legally broken). Here police and courts can help. Racial discrimination will best and ultimately be overcome only by including proper example by local leadership. Unemployment can be solved ultimately only by an effective, purposeful job in the community. This is the point at which they become self-respecting citizens and rules of accepted society have demonstrable meaning for them. They become persons instead of problems. Few really want to be problems.

The speaker pointed to efforts being made in Ingham county which is establishing near Onondaga, an opportunity camp for boys to be known as Highfields.

This was brought about, he said, by coordinated effort on the schools, police, courts, service clubs, a small local foundation, building and construction trades and private individuals, working together by donating their time, talents, services and money to provide a program on 356 acres with existing buildings and others being constructed with all labor donated. He said other communities have joined forces for similar projects.

Giving these boys a chance to become effective is absolutely essential to the most meager definition of justice

State Car Accident Fund Gets Fee Hiked to $25

Have you ever thrown $35 out the window? Even the thought of it would make most of us cringe. And yet, this is exactly what an estimated 300,000 Michigan car owners will be doing between November 1 and February 28 of next year. The $35 in this case is the amount each uninsured vehicle owner in Michigan will be paying into the new Michigan Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, and though it should do some good in helping to pay a claim for an innocent victim of a negligent driver, he doesn't realize a nickel's worth of benefit.

"Many of Michigan's uninsured don't know that the $35 they must pay into the fund isn't buying them any insurance," Secretary of State James M. Hare said.

"Apparently some misinformation has gotten out that the $35 fee they pay into the Fund is insurance protection. In reality, this is a penalty they must pay for the privilege of remaining uninsured."

"These drivers are still subject to Michigan's financial responsibility laws. If they are proven negligent in an accident and a claim is filed against the Fund, guilty drivers must repay the Fund in full or be charged with a misdemeanor, which could result in the loss of driving privilege, fine, and possible other penalties."

Hare cited a hypothetical case:

"Say John Jones, an uninsured auto owner, was proven negligent in an accident which seriously injures four persons. Medical costs and property damage cost the victims of the accident $2,400. The victims file a claim against the Fund which is paid in total. The Fund then sets out to collect from Mr. Jones. He must make full restitution to the Fund which could mean that he might have to liquidate whatever assets he may have. He may be paying back the Fund for months, perhaps several years. And this could have been an avoidable expense if he would have provided liability insurance on his car."

Hare reminded that insured drivers pay only $1.00.

"This $1.00 actually buys insurance protection," Hare asserted. "It gives the vehicle owner same type of protection he now receives from commercially purchased uninsured protection riders that cost three and four times more."

"It protects against contingencies such as persons driving stolen vehicles and out-of-state uninsured drivers who become involved in Michigan accidents."

Hare cautioned on dropping private coverage, however.

"While the Fund covers against any accidents with uninsured drivers which occur in Michigan, it does not protect against out-of-state accidents which all commercial policies do," Hare said.

"My advice to all Michigan vehicle owners is simply this...buy liability insurance right away."

Holt Pastor Opposes Prayers in Classroom

HOLT — "Don't pray in school."

That summarizes what Rev. Paul R. Martin told a Men and Religion luncheon at the Lansing Y.M.C.A. last week. In fact, that was the subject of his remarks.

Declaring that "it's time that Christians become as concerned about the rights of others as was Jesus Christ," the pastor said that "we violate the rights of others when we expect them to help us, through their taxes, to cancel."

He said it was not right to expect those people of Jewish faith, Roman Catholics or atheists to support Protestant indoctrination with their tax money.

Rev. Martin said that "perhaps all church members will become more responsible in their teaching and evangelism task when they understand they cannot use the public schools and their teachers to do their job."

Letters

Don't Knock 'em

While watching two teams play Sunday I was able to stand back and observe things from an objective point of view. My reason for writing this letter is to point out to the fans that we should not harass our high school refs. One comment I heard was "We should have adult referees". I realize that the fathers of the boys playing could not be expected to do this job, but how many other men in town would be available and willing to come out and give a little time for "our" kids?

We have a hard enough time getting coaches let alone referees. So, I say, scout around and find some adults willing to referee instead of running down the Mason High school football players who are doing the refereeing. I did see some plays that probably should have had a penalty called or where a whistle had been blown too soon; but in Mason's game last Friday against O'Rafferty I saw the same thing with experienced refs - so - remember, these boys are giving their time to their little "brothers" and should be given our full support, win, lose or draw.

Anyone interested in refereeing call me at 676-2229. Dick Hovey, Sec. Mason Pee-wee Football.

10 Commandments for Teenagers

1. Stop and think before you drink.
2. Don't let your parents down; they brought you up.
3. Be humble enough to obey. You will be giving orders yourself someday.
4. At the first moment turn away from unclean thinking--at the first moment.
5. Don't show off driving. If you want to race go to Indianapolis.
6. Choose a date who would make a good mate.
7. Go to Church faithfully. The creator gives you the week, give Him back an hour.
8. Choose your companions carefully. They are what you are.
9. Avoid following the crowd. Be an engine--not a caboose.
10. Or even better--keep the original Ten Commandments!

Miss Foreman Explains Australia School System

This is the second in a series of articles being prepared for The News by Miss Eleanor Foreman, of Webberville, an American school teacher who is in Australia under the sponsorship of the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE). In this article she tells of the educational system in the country "down under."

By ELEANOR FOREMAN
News Special Writer

BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA - The tables were turned on me! A visit to an Australian high school to observe the domestic science department (home economics) turns into me being the guest speaker and I didn't actually observe a class. But I did learn much about education and I'd like to share it. I visited Banyo High School in Brisbane.

Education in Australia is compulsory from the ages of 6 to 15 and in some states 16. It is provided free in schools controlled by the government. In all states there are in addition, numbers of non-government schools offering kindergarten, primary and secondary schooling for which fees are charged. These schools are usually controlled by various religious denominations and in many cases include boarding facilities.

Correspondence courses are offered at all levels. In the outback, many children have school by correspondence which is taught in their homes by their parents or a governess. They may go into a town for a year or two of high school. One of my host brothers is taking an accounting course by correspondence. Upon completion he will be employed as an accountant.

There are 7 years of primary school and five years of high school. A student may leave at the end of his junior year and get a job or he may continue on for his senior year. It is a matter of choice if he continues.

who in turn charge for entering, and many other similar means. It's all in good fun and as much as $200 is collected in the day's activities.

A surprising number of individuals volunteered their summer time for more extensive programs such as Head Start and work camps sponsored by the American Friends Service committee.

The most amazing thing about all this great interest in service is that all of the projects, with the exception of Head Start and the A.F.S.C. camps, are proposed and planned by the young people themselves. One boy who is deeply involved in the service movement summed up the general feeling about the projects in these words, "The benefits from a work project are twofold; first, as adolescents we can take what we feel is a vital role in the service of our fellow man and secondly, and perhaps most important, we can learn how to live with, know and like all types of people."

Those who complete their senior year are usually going on to continue their education at a college or university.

Secondary schooling covers a wide range of subjects - academic, technical, commercial, and domestic science. Many students attend technical schools where they get specific areas such as agriculture, woodworking, homemaking, and other subjects.

Education methods follow the English pattern and coeducational schools are not as prevalent as in the United States. Learning is strictly from the book.

Teaching is by the rote method with pages of nightly homework rather than by the unit method and special projects. A syllabus is used. This means that everyone follows the same course and does the same thing in their classes. Schools are based on passing exams at the end of the year. Great stress is put on passing the exams. Academic status is publicly acknowledged in the newspapers after the exams as to whether a student passes or fails.

Teachers are much the same as they are in the states although our teachers seem to have more responsibility than those here. They are hired by the government and may be transferred to another school at any time. Whereas, our teachers are hired by the local board of education.

If a teacher marries, she must resign. But they often are rehired because of a shortage of teachers. Only 2 years of teacher training is required. But a teacher must continue his education by taking one class a year towards a degree. They need 10 units to get the degree, therefore, it takes 10 years. The government feels that it will interfere with their teaching if they take more than one class.

All students are required to wear uniforms. Each school's uniform is different. I can see an advantage to this in that there is no competition among the students to be the best dressed.

The classroom is very formal. The students rise as the teacher enters and are not seated until she tells them. They also rise when the teacher leaves and they are not dismissed until the teacher excuses them.

The day began at 9 a.m. with a parade of classes and also the senior boy cadets. The flag was raised and "God Save the Queen" played. Afterwards announcements were made by the headmaster. This was all done outside. Then the students were off to 8 classes each 40 minutes in length. They have 20 minutes at 11 a.m. for what they call "little lunch". At this time they will eat a sandwich, fruit, or biscuit (cookie). They also have one hour later for lunch. School was dismissed at 3:30 p.m.

The homemaking classes were small. One class had only 5 students. The major emphasis is placed on foods and sewing. Other areas are also taught, such as child care, consumer buying and housing. The classes meet only once a week. In other words, Thursday might be the day for domestic science and all areas are covered. There were 4 domestic science teachers in that school.

Girls participate in sports as well as boys. It is compulsory for girls to participate. The major sport for girls is softball. The boys participate in many of the same sports we have. They participate in cricket, football (rugby), soccer, tennis, field events, swimming, and most other international sports. Friday afternoons are usually devoted to sports.

The school year is about 38 weeks. The first term begins in February and ends the first week in May. The second term begins the middle of May and they have two weeks off in August and it finishes in December. They have six or seven weeks off before starting a new year. Since their seasons are different, their school vacation or holidays as it is called, comes during their summer, as ours does.

Higher education is also stressed here. Each state has at least one university and there are 9 in all. Undergraduate and graduate courses are offered and the university standards are very high. Their standards are recognized overseas. Many government scholarships are available for those who might not be able to get a higher education.

There is confusion here as to our terms, college and university, since we use them interchangeably. Most people have been trying to figure out how we fitted college in-between high school and university and still graduate at 21 or 22. College here refers to a special school such as an agricultural college, teacher's college, or some private schools. University refers strictly to a university where a degree is obtained.

There are many similarities and differences in our two educational systems but each country is trying to give every person an opportunity to develop his abilities and skills, which is the purpose of education.

advisor, Edward Rawson, in the Ag room. The boys listened to various committee reports. They were happy to see that their older sale has been quite successful. The group next plans to place signs indicating the village limits around the entrances to Dansville.

The members of the Dansville F.H.A. chapter discussed their program of work for the year. The program was set up by the program of work committee at the beginning of the year. It includes all the meetings of the chapter, the dances that the chapter will sponsor, all of the parties which the F.H.A. will give, and all other activities in which the F.H.A. will participate this year.

The club officers and class representatives put on a skit after the discussion. They portrayed gardeners tending to rose bushes. The treasurer, Barb Voss, portrayed the rain, signifying that no F.H.A. chapter can function without money. The reporter, Becky Butler, was portraying the fact that every F.H.A. chapter needs good publicity. The songleader, Barb Parrott, was the pruner of old and new ideas. The vice president, Diane Traver, was the spade, which dug up new interest in F.H.A.

The girls were also informed about the Red Rose chapter in Michigan. This is a special recognition which goes to an outstanding chapter in Michigan. This is one of the goals of the Dansville chapter this year.

The Student Council reviewed the recent Homecoming festivities which they sponsored. The possibility of having an exchange student was also discussed. The group asked to have all future meetings during the noon home-room period.

The Dansville Aggies traveled to Stockbridge last Friday night for their game. The Aggies lost 12-7. This was their first loss of the season.

Gentlemen:

Enclosed is check of $6.30, in payment for three ads in your paper, warning and how to avoid that danger, by taking advantage of a wonderful opportunity of stocking their deep freezer with 18¢ perch. All season to date, fishing and "sales" have been extremely light.

BUT, this past week end, Oct 16 - 17th., it seems everyone must have read "Ingham County News". We had "customers" as a result of our ad in INGHAM COUNTY NEWS; from "Counties of 'Kalamazoo'; 'Calhoun'; 'Jackson'; 'Barry'; 'Clinton'; 'Ionia'; 'Shiawassee'; and 'Livingston'. They told of reading our ad in your paper.

Some could not believe the ad to be true; so they brought copy of the ad, asked for Mr. Henry Engelhard, of the Bay Port Fish Co., "on the right hand side of the fish dock" and questioned whether this ad is correct! Upon meeting Mr. Engelhard, viewing the perch, many of them "still 'jumping' after scales had been removed", there was no more hesitating. They quickly purchased "50" and others as much as "100" pounds perch at 18¢ per pound, plus a penny per pound for scaling; and hurried homeward to spread the good news amongst friends, relatives, in-laws and out-laws.

You just can't afford to miss advertising in INGHAM COUNTY NEWS if you desire to pass along valuable information.

Very sincerely yours
Henry Engelhard

Dansville Church Plans Roll Call October 22

The Dansville Free Methodist church will reach the halfway point in its fall Enlargement campaign next Sunday October 24. Starting at 10 a.m., the day will be known as Roll Call Sunday. Each department will have the goal of 100 percent attendance. Each department superintendent will have a scroll from which the names of the Sunday school members will be called to give each member opportunity to answer to the roll call.

An outstanding feature of the day will be the special broadcast of all the activity. The church will present a news cast which will be tape recorded and will be sent to the Enlargement campaign opponent at Clawson.

Rev. Dale A. Woods, district superintendent, will be here with us during the morning and will deliver the sermon during the worship service at 11 a.m.

Junior Bowlers In League Play

WILLIAMSTON --The Williamston junior leagues began their first week of bowling, October 16, at the Gold Star Lanes.

This year there are two junior leagues; the Bankers junior league and the Bantam Keglers.

Each league is composed of 12 teams. Both boys and girls from seven years through eighteen years of age make up each of the teams.

The junior league's coach is Mrs. Phyllis Comer who instructs and supervises the teams.

The two leagues will bowl every Saturday until March. They are sponsored by Peoples State Bank of Williamston and Webberville.

The Bankers junior league plays 3 games every Saturday and the Bantam Keglers play 2 games.

This week's high scorers for the Bankers junior league were: Stephen Harkness 189 (single game) and 518 (series); Chari Fate 170 (single game) and 424 (series).

The Bantam Keglers high scorers were: John Comer 121 (single game) and 237 (2 game series); Carolyn Woods 168 (single game) and 250 (2 game series).

MASON DIDN'T HAVE TOO MUCH LUCK in the passing department against O'Rafferty but on this play the ball ended up in the right hands. Mason's Paul Allaire was brought to a halt by Sam Migaldi after the Mason end took a short pass over the line. Mike Kap-uscinski, No. 14 in white, was in position to help drag Allaire to the ground. Other O'Rafferty players are Ken Zelenka and Don Brockhouse. Mason players are Ross Ginter and Paul Jancha.

HARD BLOCKING AND TACKLING was the strong suit for both Mason and O'Rafferty Friday night when the CC foes battled to a scoreless tie. Here Mason's Carl Lawson puts the stop on Phil Rashid in a not-too-gentle a manner.

Mason and O'Rafferty Wage Scoreless Defensive Battle

Mason and O'Rafferty hooked up Friday night in a defensive struggle featuring sharp tackling but little in the way of offense. The result was a 0-0 deadlock, the fourth tie for the Raiders who have one win to go with the ties. Mason has a date Friday night at Haslett. It should be quite a game. Haslett hasn't been setting the world on fire either although the Lakers and Mason both have played above average ball.

Mason has a good defensive unit and will have the edge in the weight department. The Bulldogs will have the edge in the speed and have shown a little more on offense.

O'Rafferty will take on Holt at the Ram field Friday night. This should be one of the Capital Circuit's best games.

Both squads are tough on defense but Holt has shown much more in the way of an attack. Mason did everything Friday night against O'Rafferty but score. On one occasion the Bulldogs punched to the 8-yard line but ran into trouble with a penalty. On a fourth down situation Ron Webster faded back to pass but found himself being chased toward midfield by half the O'Rafferty team. He reversed himself and ran the ball 25 yards but was fore-ed out a yard short of the all-important first down. It was the longest run of the night.

Mason was even tougher than Gabriels on defense. The Bulldogs didn't let the Raiders beyond the Mason 40 all night.

It was the linemen's night to show off.

Brian Doolittle led the Mason attack with his best game of the year. He stopped Raider runners 13 times and came up with a picture block on Webster's run. Other Mason linemen who came up with sparkling defensive play were Barry VanderVeen, Paul Jancha, Ron Cook, Terry Ellena and Dick Miller.

O'Rafferty had its defensive standouts, too, including Sam Migaldi, Don Brockhouse, Dick Carrow, and Pat Perma.

Haslett has some good sized backs to toss at Mason. Mike Nestell is a 165-lb quarterback. Jack Bamford at 170-lbs and Jeff Erskine at 185 lbs give the Vikings some beef and they aren't slowpokes, either.

Haslett has a new coach in Tom Penrod and lots of sophomores and junior players. Some of these nights the Lakers are going to jell and when they do the opposition will know it.

Fowlerville Scrambles Ingham County Leaders

Fowlerville proved that there was still some steam in the old boiler Friday night. The Gladiators cut down Williamston 12-7.

The Fowlerville win coupled with the Dansville loss throws the Ingham County league into a mad scramble. The Glads along with Dansville and Williamston all share the lead.

The field will stand a good chance of being pared Friday night when Williamston locks horns with Dansville while Fowlerville takes on Leslie. Fowlerville drew first blood against Williamston Friday when Dan Perrou plunged over from the 5 in the first quarter.

Williamston then came on with a drive which was climaxed when Mike McNelly grabbed a pass from Bob Koss. The same combination worked for the extra point and Williamston was in the lead.

The 7-6 margin stood until midway in the third quarter when Fowlerville's Pat Devine pulled in a punt and raced 45 yards with what turned out to be the winning touchdown.

JV's Drop Close One To O'Rafferty 11

O'Rafferty's Raiders scored a touchdown early in the third period to defeat the Mason J.V.'s 7-0 Thursday night.

Mason again had trouble moving the ball on offense, when good yardage was picked up, a penalty would off set the gain.

Mason played most of the first half deep in its own territory, managing only once to move the ball across the 50-yard line. If the defense had not played heads up ball the score wouldn't have been 0-0 at half time.

Late in the third quarter Mason's Jim Powers passed to Dale Aldrich who raced 98 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back by an in-motion penalty.

Both teams were plagued by penalties and were ineffective on offense. Dave Stroud, Jim Powers, Terry Rockhold, and Gay Potter led the defensive team in an outstanding performance.

Stockbridge Upsets Dansville's Wagon

The never say die Stockbridge Panthers nursed a slim 6-point lead through nearly half the game against Dansville Friday night but were forced to come from behind in the final minutes to gain a 12-7 victory over the previously unbeaten Aggies.

The winning touchdown came on a spectacular play that brought 1500 cheering fans to their feet as quarterback Tim Howlett completed a 70-yard pass play to half-back Rick White.

After battling through a scoreless first period, Stockbridge opened the scoring in the second quarter following a 68 yard sustained drive. Steve Collins carried the final two yards. The run for extra point was stopped short of the goal line.

Dansville came back strong just before the end of the first half. Quarterback Jerry Ernst hit end Jack Baker on the Panther two yard line, but the clock ran out with Stockbridge holding a 6-0 lead.

The third quarter was a repeat of the first with both teams having scoring opportunities but neither being able to cash in.

The fourth period was a different story as the two determined teams ran, passed, blocked and tackled, giving everything they had to get more points on the scoreboard. The turning point in the game probably came when Dansville drove to the Panther's 25 yard line but was held on downs by a stubborn front four of Mike Loso, Barry Meyers, Joe Singer, and Don Camburn. Stockbridge took the ball over but couldn't move. Their fourth down punt was high and short and the Aggies got the ball back deep in Stockbridge territory. Dansville quarterback Jerry Ernst rolled out around left end on a bootleg play for the final yards in the Aggie's drive for their only touchdown. The all important extra point was scored by fullback Jack Prince and Dansville had a one point lead with less than four minutes remaining on the clock.

The Panthers were not to be denied on this balmy homecoming night, and on the second play from scrimmage after taking the Dansville kickoff came the electrifying play that left the fans buzzing. Quarterback Howlett dropped back to throw, had to shake off two would be tacklers, and lofted the ball high and deep. Downfield, as the spectators watched the ball in flight, Rick White had beaten the Dansville defenders by two steps. Everyone held their breath, waiting to see if the ball would reach Rick who was nearly 50 yards downfield. It did and he pulled the ball in and raced 30 yards for the winning touchdown. The play covered 70 yards.

Stockbridge is now in a 4-way tie for first place in the Ingham county league with Dansville, Williamston and Fowlerville. All have identical 2-1 league records. The Panthers are now 2-3 overall.

Score by quarters;
Stockbridge	0	6	0	6
Dansville	0	0	0	7

Spartans Lose

Webberville's Spartans came out on the short end of a 24-6 score Friday night. The Spartans lost out to Portland St. Pat, Central Michigan D leader. Webberville scored its touchdown when John Swain passed 4 yards to Jack Jolley.

Rocks Crush Haslett

Gabriels continued its domination of Capital Circuit teams by rolling over Haslett Friday night 34-0. It was no sweat for Coach Phil Brooks' powerhouse.

With the defense limiting Haslett movement on the field and the offense clicking smoothly the Rocks picked up a first period score when Chris Clark went over from the 2. In the second period Clark climaxed a Gabriels drive by plunging over from the one and then Don Cook took over.

Cook started by taking a 25-yard pass from Tom Jacobak and then went over again on a 15-yard sprint. Just to keep his hand in he picked off a Haslett pass and returned it 30 yards for the final Rock tally. John Grace booted 4 of the extra points.

The Rock defense limited the Lakers to 67 yards.

Friday Haslett will take on Mason on the Laker field. It should be a close match. Both squads have not much to offer in the way of a season record but they still have teams capable of playing sound ball.

Blackhawks Swamp Pinckney With Ease

Leslie fattened its Ingham County league record Friday night by running over, around and through hapless Pinckney for a 52-7 romp.

It won't be quite so easy Friday night when Fowlerville plays at Leslie. The Glads have new hope after dumping Williamston and re-entering the championship picture in the Ingham County league.

Pinckney has a Friday night date at Stockbridge.

The Friday night win was the first of the season for the Blackhawks and victory could never be sweeter. Neither team could get going in the first period in spite of the fact that both teams scored, but in the second quarter Leslie broke loose for 20 points, that pushed Leslie's lead to 26-7 and from there on in it was easy.

The Blackhawks came up with 20 more points in the third quarter and wound up the romp with another touchdown in the fourth.

Leslie's air arm was a thing to behold. The Blackhawks scored 5 times through the air and accumulated 200 yards on passes. Chuck Lay tossed 2 of them and Chris Snow tossed 2. Lay also was on the receiving end of a touchdown pass from John Gingas.

On the ground lay plunged over for a score and added an extra point. Jim Bobzien scored touchdowns on runs of 39 and 20 yards and grabbed one of the scoring passes. Lon Cooper did his share of the scoring, too, collecting 2 touchdowns on 2 passes covering 49 and 38 yards. Bob Bodell scored the other touchdown on a pass from Snow. It was the best display of Leslie offensive talent in years.

Rams Whip Chieftains Hounds Chew Up Howell

Although Holt high school defeated Okemos 20-0 Friday night, the Rams are still one game behind the Capital circuit leader, Gabriels.

Holt captured its third victory in 4 league games with 5 players picking up points. Ed Walsh scored the first 6 points on an 18-yard pass from Pat Brown to cap a 60-yard march in the second quarter.

Joe Bochenek put the Rams 2 touchdowns ahead at intermission when he scored on a one-yard run. Lynn Ried and John Adams teamed for a 32-yard pass to set up the 6 pointer.

Okemos, now 1-4 for the season, shut out the defending champion from them until the last second of the game when Tom Greenhoe grabbed a desperation Okemos pass and ran 7 yards for the touchdown. Ried and Tom Drumheller scored the extra points.

Friday night the Rams will tangle with the defensive whizzes, the Raiders of O'Rafferty. O'Rafferty is in the thick of the Capital Circuit battle in spite of the fact that it has won only once. The other games ended in ties.

Larry Heins Is Grid Winner

Upsets did in many of the Ingham County News football contest players last week.

Larry Heins of Dansville was declared the winner. He can pick up his $10 check at the Ingham County News.

The field is wide open for all you experts for the coming week. Take a look at this week's entries and get your guesses in the mail or drop them off at the office. The rules are simple and $10 can come in handy.

Eaton Rapids came through with its first win of the season Friday night by downing Howell 27-18.

It took a fourth quarter rally for the Greyhounds to do the job.

Friday night Eaton Rapids will take on Okemos in what should be a fairly even match. Both teams have had tough sledding although the Chiefs must be rated the favorites in this one.

Howell doesn't see any action until Saturday night when the Highlanders face up to Gabriels at the Sexton field. It should be quite an experience. The Rocks are running all over most everyone and Howell probably won't be an exception.

Eaton Rapids opened fast, taking a 14-6 lead in the first quarter thanks to a couple of good runs by Howard Ledergerber who plunged over from the 2 after a fumble recovery and a 76-yard kickoff return after Howell had scored on a plunge by Denny Cunningham.

It looked as if Eaton Rapids had shot its bolt. Howell took over the play and scored in the second period when John Thell went over from the one although the Greyhounds left the field at the half in front 14-12.

Howell continued to hold the upper hand and grabbed the lead when Cunningham again reached paydirt from the 2. That's the way the scoreboard stood until 8 minutes remained in the game then Eaton Rapids came to life. Bill Gayton put the Greyhounds in front to stay with a 46-yard pass to John McHugh and then with 2 minutes remaining Gayton plunged over from the 2.
